The tense, 30 minute session ended with explosive suddenness.
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 25—(AP)—American F-86 Sabres today won the longest jet battle in history.

The Sabres were led by American's top ace, Col. Francis S. Gabreski, 37 Sabres against 80 MIGs.
The flight roared from 35,000 feet to ground level. It produced the biggest one-day bag of Russian type MIG-15s since April 12 when U. S. pilots shot down four, probably destroyed two and damaged 14.

The light was not only the longest but also one of the biggest jet battles of the war. It involved 117 Sabres—37 Sabres against 80 MIGs.
The Sabres were led by American's top ace, Col. Francis S. Gabreski, 37 Sabres against 80 MIGs.

On the ground, United Nations troops Tuesday captured a communication peak west of "Heartbreak Ridge" in the rugged East Korean front.
The mountain, like the ridge the Allies seek in the hills north of Chunchow, a one-time Communist assembly base.

A U. N. unit battled to the mountain top, northwest of Yonpo, through a mine field and small arms fire. It killed an estimated two North Koreans but tallies off the peak in nearly three hours of fierce fighting.
There was a comminatory battle Tuesday around "Heartbreak Ridge," twice lost to counter-attacking Reds in 14 days of bitter fighting.

Gravel-blasting Communists drove U. N. forces off the highest peak in the hills Monday for the second time in 10 days.
Wear American soldiers held on to the steep slopes and repulsed three small Red probe attacks before dawn Tuesday. They report that by Tuesday afternoon there had been no further contact with the Communists.

To the east, the 16-inch rifles of the 8th Army New Jersey pound the Reds in the hills north of Chunchow, a one-time Communist assembly point.
The one and one-quarter ton shells arched miles through the air, dropping in the heart of the Communist defenses on the northwestern front. The Navy said 10 aircraft called the results excellent.

The South Korean private Amnok said hit three times Monday in a fight with Red shore batteries on the East Korean coast. Three South Korean sailors were wounded and two were sent aboard the New Jersey for treatment.
Allied offensives that had won up to 15 miles of rugged ground in sectors along the mountainous eastern front apparently had ground to a halt.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, said Monday that the Reds lost 22,000 killed and wounded and 2,000 captured in the five weeks from Aug. 18 through Sept. 22.
Eighty per cent of the killed and wounded fell in the bloody fighting along the eastern front.
The hardest fighting was for bloody "Heartbreak Ridge."
American troops have been striking at the key neck in the ridge from two directions, north and southwest.

Mounting Costs May Destroy Newspapers

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 25—(AP)—K. A. Engel, president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, contended today that "newspapers have been and can be destroyed by mounting costs of production, just the same as by order of a national dictator."
He referred to the suspension of La Prensa in Buenos Aires, Argentina, which he called "one of the great newspapers of the world."

Turning to trade matters, Engel said that newspaper has become the major problem of newspapers and declared that more newspaper is needed.
The legislative committee's report said "too many newspapers are getting into the hands of those who think only of the business office" and called for publishers with fortitude to fight against "off the record" information, closed meetings, requests to print and other efforts to suppress legitimate news.

The Journalism school committee, headed by Louis Spillman of the Waynesboro (Va.) News-Recorder, reported that 12 southern schools had been awarded by the American Council on Education for Journalism. All told, 556 four-year and 280 junior colleges attempt to teach journalism.
The convention continues through Wednesday. Officers are to be elected tomorrow, preceding the annual golf tournament.

City Budget

Sanford Merchants Association, Andrew Stine requested that solicitors and peddlers be either required to secure City licenses, or prohibited from selling goods or services in Sanford. Mr. Stine was requested by the commissioners to confer with officials of other communities which have adopted such ordinances.
An ordinance was passed vacating streets and alleys in the two new public housing projects, Edward Higgins Terrace and William Clark Court. The Sanford Housing Authority, said Mr. McKibbin will give easements to the City for maintaining utilities in these areas.

The purchase of a carload of six inch cement-astobest pipe from the Johns-Manville Co. was approved. This will be used for water mains in the Wynwood subdivision now being developed by the Phillips Properties.
J. A. Reiver of the Jaro Corp. contractors on the new baseball stadium, reported that some of the long-awaited steel for the project has been shipped.
Mr. McKibbin told the Commission that the well at the cemetery is now fitted with a pump and pressure tank and a three inch main has been laid. Lines connected to the new main will give more satisfactory water pressure, he stated.

The Negro Legion Post was granted permission to use the Municipal Ball Park on Oct. 7 for an exhibition game.
Lowell Oiler of Oiler-Waller Inc. asked the City to release their option on four lots in the Bel-Air area in order that the City might sell them to veterans in accordance with the practice of selling a lot, and allowing an additional lot.

Millions Of Women Exchange Homes For Careers Again

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
That tired old debate about home versus career is being dug out of mothballs by the women's magazines and the press and thrashed out pro and con just as it was back in the torrid twenties when any job besides teaching school was considered pretty daring for a woman.

The whole argument whether or not women should work might as well be filed away in the archives of the past. Today's economic pressures have made it a dead issue.
The most recent Department of Commerce figures show that more women are employed now than at any other period in the history of the United States, including the peak war-work year of 1944.

The total number of U. S. women holding down regular jobs as of August 1 was almost 19 million, which means more than one out of every three females 14 years old or over.
The highest previous total was during the heyday of Rosie the Riveter in 1944, when the nation's working women numbered 18,860,000.

Most of these millions of women are going back to desk or office jobs in simple necessity. The spiraling cost of keeping a family housed, fed and clothed is demanding two pay checks instead of one.
It looks as if this is the way things are going to be for some time to come. Instead of agonizing over whether "women's place is in the home," more and more wives and mothers are going widely back to work, just to keep those home fires burning.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club has chosen a telling slogan for National Business Women's Week, Sept. 23-29. It is "Full partnership for the job ahead."
This is a thoroughly American idea. Since the days of the pioneer U. S. women have stood shoulder to shoulder with their men to meet whatever hardships were in store.

In the days when they were settling the wilderness, the job of hoeing out a home, cooking, spinning and weaving was enough to occupy the time and energies of the woman of the family.
Today, however, most women can dispatch the necessary housework and meal preparation in a couple of hours, which leaves most of the day free for other pursuits—and usually these turn out to be pursuits of a pay check.

The working wife of course must make adjustments in her family routine to allow an eight-hour working day outside the home. But many women are finding this is not so difficult, even if it has children.
After a child reaches school age, the problem becomes relatively simple, as the mother's working hours usually coincide more or less with the children's school hours.

When there are small children in the family, things are tougher. Most people agree that it is better for a mother to be with her children constantly during the first years, if this is possible. But if it is not possible, then a solution must be found, and usually is.
Sometimes a grandmother can take over daytime care of the children, sometimes the extra income earned by the mother can provide for the salary of a competent nurse or housekeeper. All other things failing, there are day nurseries and nursery schools in almost every neighborhood where children can get competent care.

These, of course, are not ideal solutions. But these are not ideal times. And the mere fact that a mother must work means that her children will be neglected or grow up with psychological kinks.
Often the children of working mothers develop an unusual self-reliance and take pride in doing their part in the family partnership of maintaining a home.
Children adjust easily to new conditions, if they understand the reasons for them, and if they are secure in feeling of family solidarity.

In any case, American women are going back to work in ever increasing numbers and Aunt Sammily once more is sharing the load with Uncle Sam.

Haley Committee

The Attorney General had planned to force a Cabinet Budget Commission vote on the question of releasing emergency funds to the crime committee even though the Supreme Court has not yet handed down an advisory opinion on the legality of such a move.
The opinion was requested by the governor at the behest of the Cabinet.

Ervin said his opinion, based on press reports, the governor had not asked the Supreme Court the proper question.
Warren asked the court if it would be proper for him to counter-sign warrants for a legislative committee created by House resolution and given an appropriation although the matter of an appropriation was before the Legislature.

Ervin had held in an opinion requested by the Cabinet that the Cabinet has legal authority to declare such an emergency and give the Haley Committee funds.
But on the instance of Comptroller C. M. Gay the Cabinet asked Warren to seek an advisory opinion from the Supreme Court.

Ervin said he had planned, because the Governor's question to the court did not touch on the real issue, to offer a motion that the Budget Commission declare an emergency and release $20,000 to the Haley group.
Ervin said he wanted to know whether the Cabinet members really wanted to give the House Committee money with which to function.

New Grapefruit Crop Moving To Northern Buyers

LAKELAND, Sept. 25—(AP)—Ten thousand boxes of grapefruit from the season's new crop are on their way to northern markets and another 80,000 boxes are being packed for shipment.
Frank Seymour, manager of the Federal Citrus Marketing Agreement Commission, gave that report today on the progress of this state's big money crop. The 10,000 boxes left Monday.

Seymour reported 5,500 boxes of new season grapefruit were sold in Canada and this nation's 10 big fruit auction markets last week. Also shipped then were 1,000 boxes of old crop oranges and 2,500 boxes of old crop grapefruit.
The auction process received $5.11 per box on oranges grown in the interior of Florida; $5.64 for Indian River oranges; $4.83 for Duncan grapefruit and $4.85 for Marsh Seedless grapefruit. California oranges in the same period brought $5.61.

Seymour made his report to the committee which set the regulations for size and grades of fruit moving in interstate commerce.
The committee proposed that oranges of only No. 1 (russet, brownish colored skins) and higher grades move from Florida for the Oct. 1-15 period. The size of the oranges must be 2 3/16 inches in diameter except that 10 percent of the fruit in a box can be slightly smaller.

The committee members recommended that recent Duncan White grapefruit regulations be retained. They are No. 2 grades and higher with the size requiring 70 or fewer to fill a box.
They also kept the No. 1 grade and size 80 regulation for Duncan Pink grapefruit. For Marsh Seedless it altered the size from 95 to 80 required to fill a box.

March Pink Seedless grapefruit were changed from size 90 to 100. This is small size for grapefruit, but the committee members expressed its opinion the fruit quality was good and the size could sell.
The Haley Committee was created by the Florida House and authorized to conduct an interim inquiry into crime and political corruption in the state.
The Senate rejected a House-approved $20,000 appropriation for the group. Then on the final day, the House passed a $15,000 money bill for the committee.

This died on the Senate calendar when one senator refused to give his consent to its consideration. Senate rules required unanimous consent for consideration of legislation on the last day.

IFR Inquiry

Stanston, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, would be subpoenaed to testify here Monday about the 1949 roundtable conference.
Earlier, the subcommittee disclosed the State Department had turned down a request from Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) for the minutes of the China policy discussions.

A letter from Assistant Secretary of State Jack E. McFall, dated Sept. 12, said that "the record of this discussion was classified confidential."
McFall wrote that this was done "to insure frankness on the part of the non-government people invited to the conference." He informed McCarran the participants had been told their remarks would not be made available outside the department.

The subcommittee is probing for any subversive influences on U. S. policy in the Far East. The inquiry has centered on the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private research group.
Earlier, Colegrove had testified he turned down a job with the office of War Information (OWI) in 1943 because "I did not trust Owen Lattimore." Colegrove said Lattimore made statements to him which conformed to the "Soviet Line."

Lattimore, a Far Eastern affairs specialist who now is a professor at Johns Hopkins University, was a top OWI official during World War II.
Colegrove testified that Lattimore urged him to be head of the OWI Japanese desk in San Francisco, and seemed "a little annoyed I didn't accept it."
Colegrove replied that it was largely because of "personal reasons." He added, "I did not trust Owen Lattimore."

Meat Crackdown

The price chief declared that enforcement efforts would also be aimed at the "sharp practices" which he charged unethical members of the meat industry had engaged in for years.
He declared these practices were part of an effort to undermine controls.

Violations have been uncovered in at least eight cities. He named Chicago, Cleveland, Newark, Springfield, San Francisco, Portland, Los Angeles and Fresno, Calif.
Federal court actions already have been started in Newark, Portland and Cleveland.
One of the first alleged "black market" meat cases has been started at Wichita, Kans. Defendants in this case were identified as Bert O. Persons, doing business as the Eldorado Packing Co. of El Dorado, Kans., and Calvin Virgil Adams, doing business as William's Fine Meats, Wichita.

OFB officials alleged that "unbranded and unmarked" meat found in Persons' truck was traced to Adams' market and then back to Persons' packing house, U. S. Attorney Lester Luther is handling the case.

less for you and at the same time the standard of living of our people is not lowered."
Moreover, he said, there is a "moral aspect" to the problem. "A starving or discontented people can not produce properly, they can not be strong as a defense force or can not resist effectively the lure of the extremists," he explained. Many of the people in our country who voted Communist are not followers of Marx and Lenin. They are simply people who do not have enough to eat or people who do not feel secure about work and their standard of life."

De Gasperi said emigration had benefited both Italy and other countries in the past and suggested this might be a solution now.
"Through a free and unfettered movement of persons we can help each other," he said, "and by the interblending of our civilizations, our ways of living and our peoples we can make it more possible to work together to achieve the great common aims of peace, freedom and security."

This plea for aid in "industrial outlets" for Italy's surplus population is one which is likely to figure largely in the talks with U. S. government leaders for which De Gasperi came to Washington. He touched also on other subjects involved in these discussions.
There are, De Gasperi said, three political problems to be solved before Italy's contribution to the defense of the Atlantic community can be fully exploited.
"First," he said, "to our peace treaty, an awkward and obsolete shackles for the dignity of a free nation."
"The same can be said of Italy's admission to the United Nations."

He also said the question of returning Trieste to Italy must be solved.
West Germany on the Red's demands for unification of the country through nationwide elections.
Johannes Dieckmann, president of the East German parliament, promised his opposite number in the West, Bundesrat President Herman Ehlers, that similar discussion would be given in the East to the views of Bonn Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Adenauer's recent speech reflecting the Communist advances was published in full today in the Soviet-controlled East German press.

The all-German affairs committee of the Bonn parliament met to consider drafts of a resolution to be put before the Bundestag (lower house). A spokesman said the four major German parties were in agreement that while the West wants unity, it will not pay the price of giving up its ties with the Western Allies.

to meet Adenauer again Monday before detailed negotiations begin with the aim of making the enemy of World War II the ally of tomorrow. The Communists said these discussions will cover a "very broad field and will include numerous technical questions."
The High Commissioners said they will reserve "certain specific rights" in their future contracts with Germany, including a "safeguard clause" permitting the Allies to take back supreme control in case of emergency.

These rights, the Communists said, would relate "exclusively" to the stationing of Allied forces in Germany, Allied security, Berlin, and questions involving Germany as a whole such as a future peace treaty and unifications of the nation.
The Germans may be disappointed, too, at the number of other contracts they may be asked to sign covering such matters as cultural relations, restitution to victims of Nazi persecution and decartelization.
Including a period for lunch, today's meeting lasted more than seven hours. At its end Adenauer was pale and tired. He is to report to his cabinet tomorrow and also to the leader of his chief opposition, Kurt Schumacher of the Socialists.

Schumacher refused Adenauer's invitation to assume co-responsibility with the government in the negotiations. The Socialists object to the Allies' proposed "safeguard clause."

256 Jets Tangle In History's Biggest All Jet Air Battle

MIG War Is Getting Grimmer, Red Pilots Equal Luftwaffe, Says Ace

By JOHN HANDOLPH
U. S. COMMAND HEAD-
QUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 26—
(AP)—Allied pilots today destroyed or damaged 14 Communist planes over northwest Korea in history's greatest day of all-jet battles.

There were 256 jets in action. The number dwarfed all previous air battles for a single day. "The MIG war is getting grimmer," said Col. Francis B. Gammeter, America's leading ace. "Their planes are better, their pilots are better and their system is better."

"Whoever is flying these MIGs is usually some of the old German Luftwaffe tricks. They are as good as any German pilot I met in the last war."

(Gammeter's comments, the range of the new jet jets and the unusual eagerness of their pilots in seeking battle hinted the Communists may have thrown a newer model jet, possibly the MiG-19, into the sharpening air war.)

Seventy-seven allied jets tangled with 120 Russian-type MIGs in a sprawling duel Wednesday morning over northwest Korea's Mt. Alt. It was the biggest single jet fight of all time.

Vienna-Rome Train Wreck Kills Twenty

VIENNA, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Vienna-Rome Express crashed into a stationary freight train today, killing 20 persons and injuring 10 seriously. About 30 others were slightly injured.

The dead were believed to be members of an Italian youth group's organization who had been vacationing in Vienna.

The disaster occurred in a mid-night fog at the small railway station of Langenwang, 50 miles southeast of Vienna. The crash telescoped the wooden first class coach in which the Italians were returning home. A heavy baggage car, rammed into the air by the force of the crash, fell on top of the passenger coach and buried the occupants.

Other passenger cars behind were partly damaged by the collision but most of the occupants escaped serious injury.

Reports from the scene said the Vienna Express was traveling about 30 miles an hour in foggy weather when the yards at Langenwang when it hit the standing freight. The engine of the Express was thrown 300 feet. The service car behind it was shoved backward onto the roof of the death car.

The Express left Vienna at 10 P. M. and had safely gone through the Semmering Pass Tunnel, 4 1/2 miles southeast of Vienna. Langenwang is in the Austrian Alps, 10 miles beyond Semmering Pass.

Witnesses listed the track 11 hours after the wreck and main line trains were being detoured. Hundreds of police sealed off the area immediately after the accident to allow a railway investigating commission to probe the cause.

Sanford-Tavares Kiwanians Hear Judge Troy Hall

Boys And Girls Are Most Important Crop, Group Told

"Our boys and girls are the most important crop we have in Florida," Judge Troy Hall, Lake county judge, told Kiwanians here today at an inter-club meeting with the Tavares Club.

He was introduced by Kiwanis District Governor Karl Lehmann of Tavares, and by Howard Monteth, Joel Field presided.

Stressing the fact that the young people of today are the leaders of tomorrow, Judge Hall declared, "The kind of leaders they make will depend on how we train them."

He stated that in his opinion the boys of today are not any worse than those of the past generation. In those days, however, they had less time to get into mischief, he pointed out, as boys often had kindling wood to chop and stock to take care of, while girls were occupied with cooking, washing and sewing.

He contrasted the situation of boys and girls of earlier days with those of the present, surrounded by modern conveniences. Often parents are not home when children return from school and it is not surprising that they get on the streets, and with their excess energy they are apt to get into mischief, he said.

Pointing out that many children who get into mischief are not really bad or malicious, he stated that he thought the four young Negroes who had been over-emphasized, offenders had been over-dramatized in the press.

He stated that Lake county has the largest juvenile court in the state, especially opposing the part that would deny offenders the right of trial by jury. The amended bill preserves the right of trial by jury.

Urging liberal support for the Boy Scout movement as a means of inculcating right principles in youth, he declared that the National Negroes involved in a major felony in Lake county had received proper moral training they might not have committed a crime, the trial for which so many thousands of dollars.

Tavares visitors included Gull Sims, president of the Tavares Kiwanis Club; Ralph Adams, secretary; Jimmy Berg and Gull secretary. (Continued On Page 8)

Sanford Children Hit By Delay In Adding Fluorine To City Water

Delay in adding fluorine to the City water supply is depriving the children of this city of protection against tooth decay, Dr. A. W. Epps, Jr., local dentist, pointed out today.

The delay in adding the fluorine to the City water, he said has been caused by the fact that approval of the State Board of Health has been withheld until I. D. Abraham, water maintenance engineer, secures the Class B rating necessary to get the approval. To secure this, Mr. Abraham is studying a correspondence course.

The Water Works Operator Association is holding up the program, said Dr. Epps as they are the group that gives the Class B rating under supervision of the Board of Health.

Mr. Abraham's license is being withheld because he does not know all about filter plants, Dr. Epps pointed out.

He added that the former went to Black Laboratories and learned about how to apply the fluorine in the form of sodium fluoride. The only danger is to the operator and he knows how to avoid this, Dr. Epps said.

It was more than a year ago, he added, that he told the Rotary Club that he would like to see the children of the community if they could receive the benefits of the fluorine added to the water in the proportion of one part of chemical to one million parts of water. The act set at once to induce the City to add fluorine to its water supply.

As the second teeth form in the growing child the fluorine acts as a hardening agent for the tooth enamel. This, he pointed out, cut down on caries, a form of decay caused by a bacterial plaque that forms on the teeth.

"Bacteria that cause decay can not penetrate as readily if the teeth have been developed in the presence of fluorine," he declared. "In localities where there is fluorine in the water in its natural form such as in Deaf Smith County, Texas, there is hardly any decay in the teeth of the people who have grown up there. In fact, he added, there is only one dentist in the whole county."

The main thing in adding fluorine is that the most benefit will be derived by underprivileged children whose teeth have not been properly taken care of, he declared.

City Acquiring Land For Resale To Telephone Co.

County Promises To Start Improvement Of Drainage Ditch

The County Commission today tentatively accepted an offer of $5,000 made by City Manager Clifford McKibbin in behalf of the City for property comprising the east portion of the block bounded by Ninth and Tenth Streets, French and Laurel Avenues, which the City would sell to the Southern Bell Telephone Company for a new site.

The County Commission meeting in special session, made the offer pending investigation by L. A. Boyle, attorney, into the legal status of the deal.

Mr. McKibbin stated that the Telephone Co. representatives who first considered a portion of the Lakefront South Park for their new telephone exchange building, had approved the property facing on Laurel Avenue. He added that the City Commission Monday night had suggested acquiring the property from the county for resale to the Telephone Co., which had asked that a price be set for the land which includes five lots.

The company, he declared, (Continued On Page 8)

C OF C BATTLE

"I can't tell a lie," said Lyle Wendell, the chamber secretary, who happened late yesterday afternoon. A woman rushed into the office and said there was a rattler on the door.

"After making sure there were no tourists in the vicinity, I took a stick and clubbed the reptile to death."

Big Three Give Italy Free Hand To Re-arm Against Communism

Boyle Sold 23 Law Accounts. Senators Told

$150,000 Was Paid For 23 Clients, Says Max Siskind

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Max Siskind, Washington lawyer, told Senate investigators today he bought 23 law accounts from William M. Boyle, Jr., the Democratic national chairman, in 1949 for $150,000 and estimated he might receive $482,250 in fees from them.

Siskind said he would gladly give the names of the clients in private, but did not want them published in the headlines.

After much sparring, Committee Counsel Francis V. Flanagan finally read into the record, without naming the clients, a list of the 23 cases.

This included the names of each client and the value, as estimated by Siskind, that is how much it might bring to the lawyer handling it.

The total was $423,250. Most of the cases involved government agencies. Several concerned the purchase of war surplus goods from the government.

The largest case, Siskind said, was for $75,000 to the law firm handling it—involved a $10,000,000 railroad reorganization.

The railroad was not identified, but Flanagan said Siskind had told him he received a $500 a month retained in this case, which is in the U. S. District Court and has been before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Siskind said he and Boyle made no written agreement but Boyle paid for the cases in cash to Siskind in any such fashion. Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) said (Continued On Page 8)

Attlee Reported Asking U. S Aid In Iran Dispute

British Hinting Use Of Force At Iranian Oil Refinery

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the Iranian oil crisis has reached a critical point, and that the United States and Britain are giving urgent consideration to possible further action. Acheson told his news conference that the whole question of U. S. relations with the British government in the matter was under discussion at that moment in his office.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee is asking President Truman personally for help in Britain's crucial oil dispute with Iran, informed sources said today.

Britain protested in the strongest terms in Tehran earlier today against an Iranian edict ordering 300 British oil men to quit the world's biggest refinery in Abadan by Oct. 3.

In a personal message to Truman, informed sources said, Attlee will make it clear that Britain is determined to stay on in Abadan.

Attlee conferred last night with his top advisers and military chiefs after they ordered the British oil men expelled.

The informants said Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador in Washington, was expected to seek a meeting with President Truman to deliver a message from Attlee.

The Foreign Office said Britain's protest in the Iranian government, "which is being delivered in Tehran by the British ambassador, Sir Francis Shepherd."

The protest underscored the severity of developments in the month-old war over the $3,000,000,000 Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Premier Mohammed Mossadeq's nationalist government has nationalized the properties of British oil men, which are controlled by the British government.

There was speculation here that Attlee might explain to President Truman, messengers said, the British tactic to safeguard the position of British oil technicians in the country.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—A pulled air defense strip across the country, designed to detect and intercept any unfriendly planes, will be established on an operating basis Sunday.

Deviation from the regulations involves penalties up to a fine of $10,000 and a year in jail and subjects planes involved to whatever action the air force may take. Jet fighters are on call for interception if needed.

FUNERAL SERVICES will be held tomorrow at 4:00 P. M. at the Bland Funeral Home with Elder G. E. Carter officiating. Burial will be in Sylvan Lake Cemetery.

PERK RESIGNS
OCALA, Sept. 26 (AP)—Dr. E. G. Perk said today he submitted his resignation, effective Oct. 1, as a member of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission because he felt the position placed excessive demands on his time.

"I enjoyed the work very much and regret that I do not have time to continue with the Commission," he commented.

Britain, France And U.S. To Make Effort To Bring Italy Into United Nations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today declared their readiness to give Italy a free hand to rearm as an equal partner in the Western alliance against Communism.

An extraordinary three-power declaration and an accompanying Italian-American communique said Italy's oft-repeated request for changes in its 1947 peace treaty would get "favorable consideration."

The three powers said they are willing to lift "heretofore" restrictions and discriminations now in existence which are wholly unwarranted by events or have no justification in present circumstances.

They called on other nations which signed the treaty to act in concert with the Big Three. They also reaffirmed their determination "to make every effort to secure Italy's membership in the United Nations."

Russia has blocked Italy's admission to the U. N. and is expected to oppose bitterly any efforts to change the treaty. Officials familiar with drafting the declaration said the U. S., at least, was prepared to wipe out a total of 33 articles in the Italian pact, and, in addition, rewrite the tone of the preamble which mentions Italy's war guilt.

This would pave the way for Italy to build up its armed forces beyond the 100,000 man limit imposed by the treaty. It also would permit Italy once again to build and acquire battleships, aircraft carriers, bombers and expand its air force beyond the 100,000 man limit.

King Improves, But Has Less Restful Night
LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—King George's doctors reported today the monarch spent a less restful night but still keeps on gaining strength after Sunday's dangerous lung operation.

They also said his general condition is good.

One medical expert said the phrase "less restful night" need not necessarily cause any concern. He explained that the doctors probably have cut down the amount of opiates given to the King to ease his pain as the period immediately after the operation in which all or part of a lung was cut out.

The medical bulletin was the sixth since the operation. It said: "The King has had a less restful night but His Majesty's general condition this morning is good and progress is maintained."

Meanwhile, a Buckingham Palace spokesman disclosed the four doctors who have attended the King 24 hours a day are now able "to come and go."

But at least two have stayed at the palace all the time along with eight nurses.

The bulletin today was signed by three four doctors and the surgeon who operated on the King. The surgeon has called each morning at the palace to consult with the others on terms of the bulletin.

Happy headlines in the morning papers had hailed Bulletin No. 6 last night which indicated the King was better. Medical experts backed up the optimism.

Sgt. Horne Tells Pilot Club About Drunkometer Test

Sgt. W. A. Horne of the Sanford Police Department demonstrated the Drunkometer, which is affected by alcohol on the breath, at the meeting of the Pilot Club last night in the Yacht Club.

Using himself as a guinea pig for the demonstration, Sgt. Horne pointed out how the Drunkometer analyzes the percentage of alcohol in the blood by means of a breath test. He explained, it is contained in a balloon which is blown up by the person being tested. Equal portions of certain chemicals which are placed in the balloon from the breath are blown by means of a mechanical device, registers the degree of alcohol contained in the blood.

The Drunkometer, said Sgt. Horne, is not designed to convict the guilty as much as to protect the innocent. A 16 of 1 percent of alcohol in the blood is sufficient to cause death, he explained. Sgt. Horne said that 3500 of 1 percent of alcohol in the blood is the margin between intoxication and death.

There are 65 pathological ailments that assemble drunkenness, he said, making the Drunkometer (Continued On Page 8)

Fire of undetermined origin yesterday noon damaged a two story house at 716 Hickory Avenue, and destroyed the clothing and furniture of James Davidson, Negro, and his family.

ARMED JAP
GUAM, Sept. 26 (AP)—Two Guam fishermen last night captured an armed Japanese soldier of World War II asleep on a northeast Guam beach.

Three other Japanese escaped. Guam police and Navy authorities went out today in search of them.

The captured Japanese, Fairs Katshin, 35, said he had been an airplane in the war that ended more than six years ago. He had an American carbine and three clips.

Katshin said another group of Japanese, well armed, is on Guam. (Continued On Page 8)

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

God repays fidelity with superabundant measure. He is not stingy in his treatment of his children. Showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.—Ex 20:6

Ten other nations of the world have been allocated 2,000 tons of newspaper each to enable them to spread the word.

We see where Drew Pearson is quoting some expert to prove that there will be no World War III this year. We hope he is nearer right than he was when he was predicting that Germany would not attack Russia.

The autumn cool snap is reported on the way. It was 34 degrees in Miami, N. D. yesterday. But it was a blustering 102 at Blythe, Calif. Sanford where the temperature seldom gets above 90 or below 30 can be thankful, even in this comparatively warm weather.

It is reported that one of the fastidious newly-married ladies of this town kneads bread with her gloves on. This incident may be somewhat peculiar, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on, and unless some of the declamatory subscribers of this "Old Rag of Freedom" pony up before long, he will need bread without a dam on top, and Wisconsin is no Garden of Eden in the winter time. — Melrose (Wis.) Chronicle.

Lated among the 19 U. S. senators destined by the AFL for defeat next year is our own Senator Spessard Holland whom the labor bosses brand as anti-labor. He is in good company, along with Senator Byrd of Virginia, Senator Tom Connally of Texas, and Senator Siennis of Mississippi. The announcement gives credence to the rumor that Claude Pepper will again throw his hat into the senatorial ring and seek to gain from Holland the top job he lost to George Smathers. It is too bad that organized labor takes such a short-sighted view of Senator Holland. He was one of the best governors Florida ever had. And he is proving his worth equally as well in the United States Senate.

Willard Caldwell's announced intention of supporting Judge Adams, Comptroller Gay or Senator Bayard leaves Dan McCarty free to speak freely, and so he does. It only goes to show, he says, "that charges I was backed by the machine are false. I meant what I said in the last campaign. I told the people that my hands were free and that I belonged to no particular group. My desire was to serve my state. In event I become a candidate next year my position will be the same. The price is too high if you have to see your hands to win." It will be recalled the burden of Fuller Warren's attack on McCarty in 1948 was McCarty's alleged backing from the then Governor Holland.

It is not easy to prevent illegal logging. A suit on an Orange last week uncovered some of the fresh water logging and illegal possession of land who would have been that in an additional room over a box full of papers. According to the papers, which we do not have, and some other information, the suit was filed by the State.

New Test in Britain

How long can a government continue to function effectively when its legislative support depends on a bare majority? The Labor government of Clement Attlee in Great Britain, after eighteen months in that situation, has decided that it has had enough. Although able to survive every test its opponents have been able to create, Attlee's cabinet prefers to risk defeat now, in hope of obtaining a larger majority, rather than to go under the daily threat of possible upset in Parliament.

American administrators have sometimes faced a similar situation, having bare majority support in Congress, and a few have gone through periods when the congressional majority was held by the opposing party. In such periods important changes in law or policy are almost impossible to achieve. The Congress cannot be brought to carry out controversial recommendations of the administration, and acts of Congress on controversial issues are likely to be vetoed by the President. This situation has generally presaged a change in administration at the next election. The notable exception was provided by President Truman's victory in 1948, after the 1946 elections gave the Republicans a majority in Congress.

The Attlee government has found its scant majority in Parliament to be a severe handicap. Although it has seemed to push boldly down the path of Socialism, the reverberations from such steps as the nationalization of steel may have caused the leaders serious misgivings. The need to rally support for repeated tests of confidence must have been exhausting, and must often have distracted Attlee and his followers from their other tasks.

Aid For Refugees

Many refugees from the Iron Curtain countries find that their troubles are not over when they make their way into the countries of western Europe. Although such refugees are usually promised asylum, they are frequently ignored and sometimes even jailed and made to face charges of illegal border crossing, European observers say.

Because refugees have been treated in such manner many of the people who escape from the Communist countries apparently do not seek out authorities when they enter American-occupied territories, and valuable sources of information about the effects of Communism on the countries they left are thus lost.

We have proclaimed our desire to aid freedom-loving people everywhere who find living under Communism so repugnant that they will leave their homelands. Precautions at borders are necessary to determine that those who cross are not criminals or Communist spies. But better provision for temporary care and readjustment of political refugees may be needed. The International Refugee Organization, which has operated to aid and resettle escaped political refugees, will soon cease functioning and the problem will become more acute than ever.

People who risk their lives to gain freedom deserve to be met with sympathy and understanding. These refugees know from experience how the tyranny of Communism works. Their knowledge could be valuable to the West.

An Age-Old Problem

Scholars of ancient Egyptian lore have unearthed evidence which indicates that difficulty between labor and employers is not a new problem. A papyrus mutilated by time, to the extent that it is barely readable, recounts the story of a strike staged by workers who were excavating and decorating the tomb of Rameses III, nearly 3,190 years ago.

The papyrus may be the first listing of labor grievances in the history of man. A partial translation of the workers' complaints reads: "It is because of hunger and because of thirst. There is no clothing, no ointment, no fish, no vegetables."

The written record of the ancient strike is evidence that man has long sought the solution to problems of employer-employee relations.

A Need For Blood

The Defense Department is urging all citizens capable of doing so to donate blood to relieve what could be a critical shortage of blood plasma. The Department and the Red Cross had expected donations to reach 800,000 pints a month by July. Instead only a tenth of that amount flowed into the blood banks in that month.

In Korea our troops have less than one week's supply on hand at most times, and a major offensive could result in many needless deaths because of the shortage of plasma. At home the supply is so short that it would not be sufficient to meet any great national catastrophe.

Donating blood takes a little time and may cause a little inconvenience. But it is a small sacrifice in making when we consider those to whom giving blood for their country meant giving their lives as well.

Phone Building

Mr. McKibbin pointed out that the park had not been put to any use. Mr. Boyle was asked to make his report on the legality of the transfer at the next meeting of the County Commission which was set for Oct. 4.

The Commission was questioned by Mr. McKibbin as to when it would fulfill an agreement made a year and a half ago to improve the drainage of a ditch south and west of the new right of way of the freight line of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. The ditch drains the Community.

THE EGG AND I. O. U.

THE WORLD TODAY

By VERN MAUGLAND
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(AP)—When Willard Caldwell took his gun for bear, he's likely to lock out some pretty big targets. Caldwell is a tall, rangy former Florida governor and former Congressman. With heavy Lincolnian brows, a detached, impassive manner and a finely-honed razor tongue.

For the better part of a year now he has been adding with one of the most frustrating jobs in government—trying to whip up public and congressional interest in a full-scale atomic-age civil defense program. Caldwell is administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA).

Recently Caldwell presented the House Appropriations Committee with an estimate of $500,000,000 as his agency's minimum requirement for the year ending next June 30. The figure would have provided $200,000,000 for matching state appropriations in a bomb-shelter construction program, and $300,000,000 for the stockpiling of emergency supplies and equipment.

indicating the danger of attack on the United States is over.

On the basis of protests by Caldwell, Pinetier explained in his testimony before a Senate subcommittee Aug. 30 he meant to say that the United States now is reasonably safe from direct invasion, as distinguished from air attack. Caldwell then assailed the Marshall letter before the committee.

"I am glad to reiterate the position of this department which has consistently advocated a strong civil defense for this nation as an urgent and continuing necessity. My personal convictions are strong that we must have a competent civil defense system in being."

"I wish to reassure you of my desire to support your program. I consider that the build-up of the civilian capabilities in this field is essential, not only from a humanitarian standpoint, but as a military necessity."

in a recent column in the Gaines City Herald.

Associated Press Dispatch from New Jersey states that a chaplain of the Sons of Union Veterans terms the "Immortal and entirely out of order." The Confederate flag "went out of existence at the end of the Civil War. The flag is dangerous."

It seems that the people of the North have taken to the Rebel flag to a much greater extent than the people of the South, and "Dad" Lee thinks it is an indication of growing resentment against the centralization of government and power in Washington.

He points out that such centralization is directly contrary to the principles underlying the American form of government. "There is undoubtedly a deep seated feeling upon the part of the American people, both in the North and South, that it must not be allowed to grow."

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY

No one seems to know just how it started, but Confederate flags have been breaking out like a rash all over the country and the fact is being viewed with alarm in some quarters.

One might think that the staid old Deacons of the Confederacy would whop with knee, but on the contrary, they are very much put out about it and complain that the dear old flag is being abused and insulted and there ought to be a law or something.

On the other hand, some rock-tipped Yankees fear that this widespread display of the Rebel emblem will stir up strife that might lead to another Civil War. They point out that it will tend to revive the bitter feeling that existed between the North and South immediately following the war between the states and something should be done about it.

Personally, I can't see anything to get excited out. Fads like this come and go as there is seldom any deep or sinister meaning attached to them. It appears that the folks who used to get a kick out of displaying a fox or squirrel tail on their automobile, for some reason or another have switched to Confederate flags for a change. Maybe next year they will turn to a rabbit's foot or Coca-Cola bottle.

Perhaps its display at this particular time is a good omen. Perhaps it will cause the people of this nation to stop and consider its meaning and give thought to the future. The courageous and noble men who followed that flag on the battle field would be the first to arise and condemn the present trend toward centralized bureaucratic government, for they were the first States fighters.

flag at this time may well mean that the people of this country want to see the issues joined in the days immediately ahead; that they want a clear cut fight between the socialistic, paternal form of government now so urgently advocated by the bureaucrats and others in high places and the old fashioned constitutional form of government which dignifies the individual rather than degrades him—the type of government that recognizes the right of the states to govern themselves.

SEMINOLE HI

By BEVERLY GRAY

It looks as if fall is on the way by the calendar. With it comes one of the many plays we have during the year. This one is sponsored by Mrs. Nellie Coleman. The title is "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" it will be on Oct. 25. Written by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, it is a delightful comedy that we know you will enjoy.

Well, our first football game is still had plenty of spirit and there was a lot of cheering to help our team. After all we can't win every game just as long as we keep right in there pitching and trying we're bound to come out the winners sometime! And we sure hope that sometime is this Friday night! We'll meet Kustin in an out-of-town game. Try to be there, 'cause we're counting on you!

Incidentally, the band was looking fine last Friday night. We were proud of them, too. And you could hear our cheerleaders all the way to Sanford! Keep the good work up!

The Tri-Hi-Y had a meeting recently and plans are being made for the annual Freshman party. This year it is going to be a "kid" party, where everybody dresses up like children. It will be held Oct. 4. Gossip Hour:

There were quite a few dates for the football game! We saw Freddie Wilson, Wesley Hamill, Mike Whitehead acquiring senior girls. And who was Robert Beck with?

The Student Council has chosen six films to be shown, one every six weeks. They are "Broken Arrow", "Call Northside 777", "You're My Everything", "God Is My Co-Pilot" and "Father Was a Fullback." They sound awfully good and we know you'll enjoy them!

The peach is mentioned in Chinese literature of 3,000 B. C. The word "peach" is based on a Latin word meaning "Persian."

The Celery Ped had a recent meeting and things are beginning to shape up where everybody can get down to work and turn out one of the best collars we've had yet! That's all for now. Be seein' ya.

HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—(Special)—How would you, Mr. Jones, like to have the little lady accompany you to the office every day? And you, Mrs. Smith—would you like to tell brushes door-to-door with your hubby? Here are a husband and wife who have worked together for a year and they like it. But, they quickly add, they don't want to make it a habit.

Rex Harrison and Lily Palmer scored on Broadway last season in the frothy "Hell, Book and Candle." At present they are embarked on a most unusual film project, "The Four-Poster." About their professional association, Harrison commented, "It's stimulating to work together. We can spend more time besides our working hours in developing the characters. I think it's ideal for roles in which you play married people. You get a much greater intimacy, which would take weeks to achieve if you were working with a strange actress."

"Oh, yes, it's much easier," agreed his wife. "But I don't think we shall do it often. Too much association can be wearing even with one's own husband or wife. I'm sure a bank clerk wouldn't want to work side-by-side with his wife every working day."

"It's too difficult to find the proper vehicles, anyway," added Harrison, offering a solid front on the subject. "The only ones who have been able to make a success of it have been Alfred Lunt and Lunt Fontanne, and they are quite the exception."

I wasn't kidding when I mentioned that the "Four-Poster" was most unusual. In it, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison co-star with a bed. And that's all brother, wouldn't you say?

There is no one else in the east. No, Mabel, this isn't another symptom of Hollywood economy. It's a theatrical trick. All hands here it comes off.

The entire story takes place in one house. In fact, in two bed rooms." Harrison explained. "It covers the important points in a couple's life from 1907 almost to the present. Included are their

Woodruff Worried As Gators Work To Stop Big Yellow Jacket Line

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Stop Tech" is the byword at Florida these days and Coach Bob Woodruff makes it no secret that he's worried about that heavy Yellow Jacket offensive squad.

Georgia Tech boasts one of the biggest offensive lines in the country, averaging 205 pounds a man. Small backs, however, bring the full team average down to 195.
A forward wall like that, figures Woodruff, is mighty dangerous, so he gave his Gators an extensive drill in defensive tactics yesterday. The way things look now, Woodruff probably will try to run Florida's offense up rather than attempt to halt Tech's down.

Tech, lacking an A-1 passer, has been primarily on a ground game. Florida's got Haywood Sullivan to handle the aerials and big Floyd Huggins to lead the ground attack.
Tech Coach Bobby Dodd held the Jackets to a light scrimmage with Powell Sheffer and Ed Haskins getting in a lot of punting practice. Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaughn must be working on some new attack formation to throw against Kentucky Saturday. He hung out the "secret practice" sign yesterday. Could he be polishing his heels on some of the crowd and double-wing stuff he played in as an All-American guard at Texas Christian.

He indicated he also is working on a defense to try to bottle up Wildcat Babe Parilli's accurate passes.
After giving his regulars a day of rest, Kentucky's Bear Bryant pulled out all stops and ran the Wildcats through one of their roughest workouts of the season. After this, however, they'll return to short, snappy drills, Bryant said because his players are "pretty well limbered up."

Down at Tulane, Ronnie Kent, the only returning letterman in the backfield offensive, reeled off two touchdowns runs on a muddy field to highlight the Greenies' practice. He whirled 48 and 47 yards on a muddy field against the frosh for scores.
Vanderbilt worked on stopping Auburn plays by freshmen. The regulars did a good job, smothering the frosh. Coach Bill Edwards may be looking for a new backfield combination. Coach John Dodd and Roy Duncan and Junior Terry Fells in addition to star Quarterback Bill Wade.

Auburn's flares spent most of their time returning kickoffs and punts. Coach Shug Jordan was pleased with the run backs Dwight Hill, Jerry Dooley, John Jordan and Bobby Freeman, and gave to let them handle that department hereafter.
Boston got came up with a top-notch game plan. Coach sent 18 through the uprights before missing.
Coach Wally Flutta has selected a probable starting offensive line-up to meet North Carolina. It's lighter than he had against the Tarheels last year when they tied 0-0, but it's faster. He has Zeke Bratowski in the slot, Zippy Morogoff and Lauren Hargrove at half and Dick Hahn at full.

Mississippi State concentrated on defense yesterday and scheduled another long scrimmage for today before tapering off for its battle with the powerful Tennessee Vols.
Coach Bob Neyland had his top-rated Vols going all-out on both offense and defense against freshmen. Doug Atkins, defensive right end, who injured his back Saturday, is listed as doubtful starter against Mississippi State.
Alabama's scrimmage was rugged and Coach Red Drew called an after-noon session today. Bright spots were the passing of Quarterback Clell Hobson and the running of Fullback Tommy Lewis.

Louisiana State, plagued by rain and mud, continued to work on blocking, and about an hour was devoted to offensive scrimmage and defensive setups against Alabama plays.
Little Rock Loses Finals To Barons
BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Birmingham Barons, champions of Little Rock, in four straight games in the Southern Association playoff finals, beat the Little Rock team today.

They'll meet the Texas League playoff champions, the second game will be played three days later. The clubs then return to Birmingham for a three-game set starting Sunday. Outfielder George Wilson and pitcher Babe Newson were the heroes of Birmingham's 5-1 triumph over the Little Rock team in the first playoff game last night.

Wilson hit a home run with bases loaded in the third, and Newson pitched a complete game, winning his first career game. The Barons shut out the Little Rock team through eight innings. But S. C. C. Little Rock scored in the ninth, but the Barons won 1-0.

Tennessee Ranked Top Team But Not Best Crowd Puller

ATLANTA, Sept. 24—(AP)—Tennessee ranks first in the nation in football strength, an Associated Press poll says, but the Vols aren't the top drawing card in the Southeastern Conference.

The top draw is Alabama. Four southeastern list games with Alabama as the most popular on their schedules. Only two teams—Kentucky and Alabama—say that sales for games with Tennessee are highest. Colleges reporting that ticket sales for Alabama outrank all other games on their schedules are Auburn, Mississippi State, Vanderbilt and Georgia.

Tulane is selling more tickets to the Kentucky game than any other. The Tulane-Kentucky game probably will be the best played in New Orleans this fall. Georgia rates first in advance sales at Georgia Tech and Florida. Tulane is first on T. S. U.'s selling list and Duke is first with Tennessee fans, followed closely by Vanderbilt.

Although Georgia Tech doesn't rank first with any of its opponents, the Yellow Jackets are second or third best draw at Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Alabama and Florida. Vandy rates second on Florida's list as well as Tennessee's.
T. S. U. is third best at Georgia and Alabama. Auburn's highest climb is third best at Tech. Mississippi is second to Alabama on Mississippi State's sales list.

Out of conference Miami is second with Kentucky and ticket sales for the Maryland game are second highest at Georgia.

Saddler-Pep Renew Fist Feud Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(AP)—It's time for the annual renewal of the Saddy Saddler-Whitey Pep series for the featherweight title. Ring time is 9:00 P. M. (EST) tonight at the P.M. Gardens.

Illness there is a tremendous last minute ticket surge—and there was a year ago for Chapter No. 2—the 7000 victory over $75,000 and about 15,000 fans. They drew $282,150 last September.
The clock here is Saddler inside of ten rounds. He is 75 fights, was a 3 to 1 favorite the night Saddler knocked him down three times and won the championship on a fourth round knockout, Oct. 29, 1946.

They made Saddler the 7 to 5 choice next out, Feb. 11, 1949, but Willie turned in one of his best boxing exhibitions to win a unanimous decision.
On Sept. 8, 1950, Pep retired on his ring stool, unable to answer the bell for the eighth to the bewilderment of a crowd of 38,781 at Yankee Stadium. It was announced Pep decided his shoulder. Saddler was the 8 to 5 favorite.

F. C. (Jack) Jackson of Atlanta is making his work Bennett's Billiard Parlor during the time Mr. Bennett is vacationing in the Carolinas.

George Tech's football team will be dominated by sophomores this season. The squad includes nine seniors, 18 juniors, 26 soph and three freshmen.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox wound up their 1947 home season with a record Cubs game at Comiskey Park attendance of 1,229,234.
Last night's 24,059 crowd at the Sox' 4-2 win over Cleveland put the Pale Hose 344,831 ahead of their 1946 home record of 383,403. The 1951 total was more than a half-million ahead of last year's 775,934.

The spurt in attendance was due to the early season first-place surge by the White Sox, who since faded to a fourth-place finish.

Stetson 16 After Sugar Game From Naval Air Eleven

DELAND, Sept. 24—(Special)—The Stetson Hatters will be trying for the "Sugar" game with the Filers of Jacksonville Naval Air Station at 2:00 P. M., Saturday in the Station stadium, as the series now stands at one victory for each team.

When the Filers and the Hatters first met in the Gator Bowl in 1947, the Filers won 23 to 0. Last year in the Deland Municipal Stadium, the Hatters won 55 to 0. If the Hatters are again victorious, they will hold an edge of two to one in the series of games.

Head Coach Henry Kretschmer of the Filers was assistant coach when the team first met and again last year.
The Hatters have been combining conditioning for a day game along with the splash they are putting on the offensive machine. While the Hatters stayed on the ground in the Edlin Field practice this and the 7000 victory over Patrick AFB. Quarterback Bill Johnson probably will unlimber his throwing arm Saturday as this is the last game opportunity he will have before the important Furman game Oct. 12 in Greenville, S. C.

After the Navy game, the first string Hatters have an off week while the second string players engage the 45th Troop Carrier Wing Tanks in a game Oct. 4 at Municipal Stadium.
Most of the Hatters who were out in uniform 7000 victory over those receiving major injuries in the game against Patrick were back in uniform. Some may see only limited service against the Filers.

A large crowd from Stetson and Deland are expected to accompany the team to Jacksonville for the game.

Memorial Service To Legion Meeting

MIAMI, Sept. 24—(Special)—An impressively solemn prelude to the 32d national convention of the American Legion will be the Memorial Service for the Legionnaires' departed comrades. It will be held in the Bayfront Hotel ballroom Sunday, Oct. 13 at 7:30 P. M.

Members of the WAC Veterans Association, Chapter 18, Miami, will greet visitors. Col. Thomas J. Kelly, Florida National Guard, will seat distinguished visitors on the platform.
Prior to the memorial address will be delivered by National Legionnaire Charles David Ledford, with Rev. Emmanuel L. Rabbi, a welcome will be extended by Chaplain James A. Boston of the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Naval Station.

The national column of the American Legion will be advanced by the Dade County Guard of Honor, following which the singing of America will be led by Adolph Smith, accompanied by Louise Wilkin, Rabbi Morris A. Skop, Coral Gables Jewish Center, will deliver the invocation. Dorothy Renaux will sing the Lord's Prayer.
Rev. Frank H. Harlow will read the 131st Psalm. The Shrine's Glee Club, directed by Raymond Peet will sing two selections. Rev. Allen W. Brown, Daytona Beach, Florida Legion Chaplain, will deliver a memorial prayer. Miss Renaux will sing another solo.

Following "Taps," the National Champion Male Chorus of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., will sing.
After the benediction by the Rt. Rev. Mons. Edward A. Gilbert, Smith will lead the singing of the National Anthem, accompanied by the Starwood Post, National champion American Legion band, Joliet, Ill. The band will play a concert after the service.

from the play, slap their hands over their eyes and look back over their shoulders to see if they still have a town left."
P. E. After that Oregon State game last week, maybe Dorow would be a little more realistic.

Big Time Football Called Poor Bargain For Players By Ex-Star

By JOHN F. MAYHEW
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 24—(AP)—"Big time football is a poor bargain for the boys who play the game." That is the conclusion of a former University of Michigan player who writes his views in the October issue of Atlantic Monthly.

Under the title "Too Much Football," Allen Jackson, 23, star at guard on Michigan's championship team of 1948, 1949 and 1950, denounces football's old standbys of tradition, glory and character-building.
"The supposed benefits of big-time football are either grossly exaggerated or completely imaginary," he said.
Jackson, a Detroit, is currently a construction worker here.

"The importance of winning makes it absolutely necessary to field the best team possible on important Saturdays, regardless of injury," he said.
"Big-time football has no respect for either the individual's word or his body."
Jackson swiped at football's sacred tradition.
"Michigan tradition means basically that Michigan has always won more games than it has lost and it means to keep on doing so," he said.

Since Michigan prestige and Michigan gate receipts depend on a spectacular winning record, Jackson said, "the perversion of the sporting spirit which has been produced by big-time football."
"When Michigan loses, someone has to pay." He charged this is "the perversion of the sporting spirit which has been produced by big-time football."
"The glory and honor of playing in the Rose Bowl is nothing more than the product of a publicity man's imagination," he said.

Curley Wins Post As Mayor Nominee In Comeback Race

By JAMES F. KING

BOSTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—Staid old Boston today saw one of the nation's last big city political "bounces" fighting in an attempted comeback—in the role of an underdog.

The 77-year-old James Michael Curley, four times mayor of this historic city, won one of two nominations in a non-partisan mayoral primary.

But "the old man"—as he's known among supporters—trailed Mayor John B. Hynes, seeking a second term, by more than 30,000 votes—a clear majority in the four-cornered preliminary race.

The 54-year-old Hynes, a little known clerk at the City Hall during Curley's regime, rolled up 108,438 votes to 77,011 for the man he once served under.

The final showdown comes in the Nov. 6 election. Two years ago Hynes edged out Curley by 18,000 votes.

Still confident even though the records show Hynes made inroads into his one-time stronghold, Curley told his workers:

"Now there's just two of us. The road is now clear, the issues are clear, and we start working tomorrow morning for our success in November."

Hynes, who first came into the political limelight when he sat in a "sitting mayor" while Curley served a five months term in a Federal penitentiary for fraud, declared:

"I have always believed that if you do right by the people, the people will do all right by you. The preliminary election confirms my belief."

Curley was convicted of being a member of a group which took $40,000 from clients on a promise of helping them get war contracts—ever though the court conceded there was no evidence he profited personally.

President Truman gave him a pardon—clearing his record on this and a previous conviction early in his political career when he was accused of taking a civil service position in violation of the name of another man.

About 60 percent of the registered voters turned out—almost twice as many as usually go to the polls in a primary. The Hynes machine pinned their hopes on a heavy vote while the Curley camp counted on the solid bloc he has always got.

While the primary was non-partisan, Hynes won the endorsement of most of the Republican leaders in this traditionally Democratic stronghold. Both Hynes and Curley are registered Democrats.

Party politics played no direct part in the campaign, however.

Joseph P. Timilty, wealthy financier and a former police commissioner under Curley, ran a poor third—polling only 15,748 votes. The fourth candidate in the field—Thomas J. O'Brien, a political unknown who did little campaigning—pulled only 1,409 votes.

build labor unity—seemed to leave out only a few left-wing unions, AFL leaders said it was not their intention to begin any unification effort with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Many said unification with the mine workers "is not within the present plans and intentions" of the AFL.

Lewis, in walking out of the AFL convention here four years ago, called AFL leaders "fat and staidly asleep" and in a year later he "disaffiliated" his 600,000 men unit from the AFL.

Standing ovations were given Green and Meany. Also re-elected unanimously as vice presidents were:

William L. Hutchence, carpenter; Matthew Well, photo-engraver; George M. Harrison, railway worker; Daniel J. Hobbs, teamster; Harry C. Dale, bicyclist; W. C. Brightwright, barber; William Dubinsky, ladies garment worker; C. Doherty, letter carrier; David Charles J. Macfowen, hatter; J. Herman Winter, baker; Dan Tracy, electrician; W. L. Feltz, building service worker; and Sam C. Petrillo, musician.

The convention closed after approving resolutions approved by the resolutions committee. Standing ovations were given to:

Putting the AFL on record in favor of a national labor daily newspaper; civil rights; rent control; (provision) controls allow building service workers (as seen in shows) higher wages; and for U. S. bonds; the Central Airplane Project; defense bonds to be placed only in union hands.

APME President L. R. Blanchard, managing editor of the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, pointed up the importance of the Oatis case, because of its bearing on the free gathering of news, to editors throughout the nation.

Blanchard told interviewers "I think we should get tough with the Czechs."

The Oatis committee report went farther.

Each committee chairman was reminded that annual reports should be made in quadruplicate and turned in at that time.

Miss Ruth Mitchell, a recent member, was initiated with appropriate ceremonies performed by the president and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell. The Code of Ethics was read by Mrs. Ruth Scott.

Announcement was made of the rummage sale which will be held at Puckett and Royal Furniture Store on Sanford Avenue on Saturday, Oct. 13. All members were requested to come to the Yacht Club on the evening of Oct. 10 in order to mark the articles to be put on sale.

Mrs. Messenger urged as many members as possible to attend the Civic Luncheon on Friday which is being sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

There were 22 members present at the meeting.

Iranian Oil

Iran. Britain has planes, ships and troops within easy striking distance of the refinery city, which is on an island in the Shatt-el-Arab River dividing Iran from Iraq.

The British protest to Iran warned that the decision to expel the oil men "must have a grave effect on Anglo-Iranian relations."

The protest was delivered orally in Tehran.

A Foreign Office spokesman said "This Majesty's ambassador left the Iranian foreign minister in no doubt that the Iranian government bore full responsibility for the consequences of this decision."

The Foreign Office spokesman declined to amplify on what Shepherd meant about possible "consequences" of the expulsion order.

If Britain takes a most forceful line toward Iran it would pose grave international problems for all the North Atlantic pact allies.

Iran has a mutual defense treaty with Russia, signed in 1921, that entitles Russia to send troops into Iran if Iran is invaded. This must be taken into account in the reckoning on whether force should be used at Abadan.

Britain contends Iran's oil nationalization amounts to expropriation of British property and that the expulsion of personnel would violate a recent ruling by the International Court of Justice at the Hague.

The court held that neither Iran nor Britain should "aggravate or extend" their dispute and that "no measure of any kind" should be taken to hinder the oil operations.

Iran refused to accept the court's opinion. Britain closed down the oil operations some time ago when storage were filled. British tanker ships were called up for service last summer during a dispute over who owned the oil from the refinery—Iran or the British.

Britain hoped to have some sort of respite from the White House in Washington in time for discussion at a full cabinet meeting in London tomorrow.

Truman Secrecy Order Blasted As Ill Advised

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23—(AP)—One of America's leading newspapermen today said President Truman's new clampdown on information is "ill-advised and poorly executed."

James S. Pope, chairman of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' Committee on Freedom of Information, issued a statement questioning whether the order will aid security.

President Truman ordered civilian agencies handling matters affecting the defense program to classify certain matters as "security information"—top secret, confidential or restricted.

Pope, managing editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, said: "It is impossible for any committee to challenge a genuine effort to protect military security. However, we do not believe that the President's order will protect security much better than another legitimate information about the operation of government."

The Kentucky editor, in San Francisco for the annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association, added: "The greatest security of this country is full understanding and knowledge by the people who are intended—under our Constitution—to run it."

Pope listed these as his committee's chief objections to the presidential order:

1. Every civilian who is the head of any sort of government bureau, department, or agency is encouraged to "classify security material."
2. There is absolutely no definition of security and it is a very difficult technical subject for any civilian to comprehend.
3. There is no authority constituted in this order to which the newspapers can appeal, except in those same government officials who created the order.
4. In other words, the entire government of the United States is being encouraged by this order to seal off so-called security information without any real education on what this is.

Blakind testified that he had no part in getting the government loan for Litho-fol. He said too that he never solicited government business for the company.

When Boyle retired from law practice, Blakind related, he purchased some of Boyle's law practice for an agreed price of $150,000.

"Since May, 1949, I have paid Mr. Boyle approximately $99,000 which represents term payments on the indebtedness of $150,000," he continued. "About $50,000 is still due on this account."

He said he succeeded Boyle as legal counsel to American Litho-fol but insisted the Litho-fol account was not one of those he purchased. Boyle is to take the witness chair tomorrow.

Sinking grinders, check his head and said he wouldn't. Then he added that he and Boyle had done business on this informal basis for several years.

Blakind said there was "not one case" that Boyle or the Democratic National Committee had referred to him since Boyle sold the law practice.

In an often stormy session, Blakind insisted to a Senate investigation subcommittee that the account of American Litho-fol Corp. was not among those he purchased from Boyle. And he declared that Boyle gets as part of a $500-a-month retainer fee he now receives from Litho-fol.

The senators are looking into a $565,000 government loan to American Litho-fol, a firm Litho-printing firm, and the question of whether Boyle exerted political influence to get the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make the loan.

The loan was made in 1949 when Boyle was the company's lawyer here. He has said he had nothing to do with it. Boyle became Democratic chairman that same year and announced he was giving up his law practice.

No mention was made, however, as to whether Yugoslavia's Italian subjects of this ethnic group were necessary to boost the Italian treaty could be changed.

The Italian-American announcement also reported the signing of a agreement under which:

1. De Gasperi has pledged Italy's "determination to lend cooperation fully" to present Western plans for bringing West Germany into North Atlantic defense forces.
2. The United States has given "assurance" to help in giving priorities to Italy's requests for equipment needed to boost electric power and steel output.

Rules Committee Decides Senator Smith Qualified

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—The Senate Rules Committee decided today that Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) should be seated from Congress.

Mrs. Smith had asked the committee to decide her qualifications to sit on an investigating subcommittee because she said McCarthy had accused her of being prejudiced against him.

The rules subcommittee has before it a resolution by Senator Benton (D-Conn) calling for a Senate investigation to determine if there are any grounds for expelling McCarthy from the Senate.

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) said the committee "express its feelings that Mrs. Smith is well qualified" to sit on the resolution.

Hayden, said there were no dissenting votes.

McCarthy had suggested earlier that Mrs. Smith disqualify herself, but said he opposed her "forcible removal" from the subcommittee. In a letter to the full rules committee today, McCarthy declared that nothing the subcommittee does will curb his Communist-in-government charges.

The group has before it a resolution by Senator Benton (D-Conn) calling for a Senate inquiry to determine whether there are any grounds for ousting McCarthy from the Senate.

has promised that it will "contribute as in the past within the limits of funds appropriated to this end by Congress" continued military and economic aid to the Italian government.

The United States will cooperate with other governments in trying to devise "practical plans for an international organization to solve the world's population problem."

Acheson and De Gasperi gave "particular attention" to the possibility of placing American orders with Italian plants, especially those now idle for military production.

The three-power declaration said Italy had "loyally cooperated with the Allies during the latter part of the war as a co-belligerent."

It added that she has re-established democratic institutions, and has lent her cooperation to solve Italy's "unjust democratic government" for the strengthening "of the free world."

Despite this record, the Western Big Three said, Italy is still governed by Russia's "unjustifiable veto" from getting into the U. N. and is also still subject to peace treaty restrictions which are no longer in the line with Italy's role "as an active and equal member of the democratic and freedom-loving family of nations."

Red jet and damaged four. It said no Allied planes were lost.

Then 24 American Thunderjets swooped back into MIG alley in the afternoon and clashed with 35 MIGs.

The score, as reported by Fifth Air Force: one MIG probably destroyed, eight damaged. It gave no report on the American planes.

The afternoon battle was joined at 25,000 feet near Sinanju. The MIGs roared in and forced the Thunderjets to jettison their bomb loads before they had made their target runs.

The two formations met head-on in a vicious attack. They began firing when 3,000 yards apart. The MIG's broke away at about 600 feet as the Thunderjets held steady.

There were two more head-on attacks. Then the MIG's turned and streaked back to their Manchurian base.

In the morning battle, 120 MIGs roared out of the north in a bold attempt to block an Allied assault on Communist rail lines. Seventy-seven American and Australian jets flew in the Allied armada.

Allied fighter-bombers swept in on the rail complex near Sinanju, 40 miles north of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

Twenty-eight F-84 Thunderjets were making the sweep.

Flying cover were 37 P-51 Sabre Jets, and twelve the Thunderjet, and 12 Australian Meteors, a somewhat slower British twin-engine jet.

As the jet armada neared its target, a horde of MIGs flashed out of the north.

The Sabres tangled first with 60 MIGs.

At almost the same time, the Aussies chewed into a group of 40 MIGs.

That left only 20 of the Russian-type jets for the 28 Thunderjets.

The Fifth Air Force gave this box score:

Sabres— one MIG probably destroyed.

Meteors— one MIG damaged.

Thunderjets— three MIGs damaged.

The big air action topped all previous jet battles for a six, on April 12, a force of 72 Sabres and Thunderjets clashed with about 80 MIGs.

This was the second straight day of major jet battles.

Senators Defeat Move To Increase Corporation Tax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—The Senate today voted down, 54 to 33, a proposal to make corporations pay higher taxes on all of their 1951 income.

The vote sustained the Finance Committee in fixing Apr. 1 as the effective date for higher corporate income levies in the Senate's $5,500,000,000 tax bill. Senator Lehman (D-Lib-NY) had sought to make the increase retroactive to last Jan. 1 as in the House measure.

Lehman estimated the Apr. 1 date would save the corporations $500,000,000 in the first year's operations under the new tax schedule.

"This is not time for mollycoddling—either ourselves as individuals, our people or our corporations," Lehman declared.

The House, in passing its $7,300,000,000 tax bill, set Jan. 1 for the start of the five percent rate increase in the corporation tax. The Senate Finance group went along with that boost but shifted the effective date.

The Senate vote was a defeat for a bloc of 15 senators trying to raise the tax boost to the $10,000,000,000 level sought by President Truman. It was the first of 10 amendments sponsored by their group to be called up.

Lehman called the Apr. 1 date "a special favor to corporations" at the time they are making the highest profits in history.

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona, backed Lehman, asserting that "our country is in an emergency and we need the money."

But Chairman George (D-Ga) of the finance committee contended the U. S. now has "the highest corporation taxes in the world" and should try to levy them as equitably as possible.

The present rate of 47 per cent would go up to 52 per cent in both the House and Senate bills, George pointed out. There also is a 30 per cent excess profit tax rate on top of the regular corporate tax.

Specialist Sees Labor Scarcity Facing Growers

HASTINGS, Sept. 23—(AP)—Florida's vegetable growers are now faced with a labor scarcity, Dr. F. S. Jamison of the University of Florida told some 100 vegetable producers yesterday.

There will be a shortage of durable goods during the coming year and Americans consequently will buy more food, said Dr. Jamison who is vegetable crops specialist of the university's Agricultural Extension Service.

But this increase in demand will be neutralized by higher labor and other vegetable production costs, he added.

He advised the growers present from Clay, Flagler, St. Johns, Alachua and Putnam counties to consider reducing their vegetable production along with other Florida growers by 7 1/2 per cent this year.

The meeting was sponsored by the university's Agricultural Extension Service and its Agricultural Experiment Stations.

Dr. A. H. Edkins of the potato investigations laboratory, Hastings, told of "root club," a new disease affecting cabbage, while Entomologist Walter Thames of the Everglades Station, Belle Glade, discussed wireworm control.

Use of rubber-coated picking baskets can reduce potato picking loss from 12 to 2 1/2 pounds for each 100 pounds, according to Dr. R. E. Green of the Experiment Station at Gainesville.

PRISON ESCAPE

BUFORD, Ga., Sept. 23—(AP)—Heavily-armed searchers early today rounded up four hungry, desperate fugitives from Georgia's "Little Alcatraz" prison.

Still evading the posse, for the time being, were two of six who fled Monday from the new $1,000,000 rock quarry prison. Those were Willie and Joe Mauldin, long-term robbers and burglars.

Leaders of the manhunt said they believed they had these two pocketed near a farm home, only a short distance from Buford. More than 100 men with packs of bloodhounds moved to close in on them.

Senate Curbs Tax Exemption For President

Big Tax Bill To Include Ban On Exemptions, On Expenses Of Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Senate voted 77-11 today to wipe out the tax exemption on expense allowances of the President, Vice President and members of Congress, effective Jan. 3, 1953.

The amendment, described by its sponsors as in effect a salary cut, was tacked on to a bill to increase taxes an estimated $5,500,000,000 a year. The bill calls for an 11 per cent boost in income taxes for most persons.

Senator Williams (R-Del.) sponsor of the amendment to remove the tax-free privilege on the expense funds, originally planned to make it effective Nov. 1, this year. That is the scheduled date of the boost in personal income taxes.

But Williams told newsmen he could not get enough votes to put it over without changing the effective date to 1953.

The amendment is not in the House—passed $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill and thus would be subject to action in conference between the two branches.

Hearings Begun On Nomination Of Jessup To U. N.

McCarty Brands Ambassador As Being Close To Communists

By MARYVIL L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) today produced copies of a batch of documents which he said support his contention that Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup has an "unusual affinity for Communist causes."

McCarthy took the material, bound with a cover sheet in deep pink color, before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee standing President Truman's nomination of Jessup as an American delegate to the United Nations. Jessup, a top advisor to Secretary of State Acheson, has served previously as a delegate.

McCarthy was the first witness as the subcommittee started public hearings on the Jessup appointment. In advance of the session, McCarthy told reporters the material he was presenting to the group "should persuade the Senate to refuse to confirm Jessup."

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) said Jessup might take the witness chair late in the day to reply to McCarthy. The Ambassador already has denied similar accusations against him by McCarthy last year.

McCarthy's 28-page compilation contained some copies of documents he has presented before in criticism of Jessup.

He also drew heavily from testimony which has been given by various witnesses who have appeared this year before the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee.

Nowhere in his prepared brief did McCarthy specifically call for Senate rejection of the Jessup nomination. Before he began testifying he said he would "draw your own conclusions."

The state attorney said he would issue a statement regarding the grand jury session within a few days.

Warren Disagrees With Kirkman On Accident Record

Sanford Is Awarded Safety Honor For No-Death Record

MIAMI, Sept. 27—(AP)—Governor Fuller Warren and Col. H. N. Kirkman, director of the Florida Department of Public Safety, added up the State's highway accident problem today and got widely different answers.

They used separate sets of statistics in addressing the third annual Governor's Highway Safety Conference.

Warren, comparing 1950 and 1951 data, said there had been a "spectacular improvement." Kirkman looked at the overall picture of dead and injured and asserted that the situation is "getting worse every day."

The difference in the number of people killed between this year and last year, Kirkman said, is so small the miracle drugs might have been responsible for it.

Warren addressed the first general session of the conference in the layfront auditorium. Kirkman spoke a short time later.

Warren noted that in the first five months of 1951, 25 highway deaths had been reported.

State Attorney Murray Overstreet of Kissimmee declined to discuss the nature of the hearing. Asked of the presence of alleged lottery operators before the grand jury was an indication of a number of cases, he replied, "I draw your own conclusions."

The state attorney said he would issue a statement regarding the grand jury session within a few days.

Publishing Of Incomes Asked By President

Military Men, Party Workers Would Be Included In Proposed Legislation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to require its members and all top government officials—including generals, admirals and judges—to give a public accounting each year of their total income.

Mr. Truman said legislation along that line would help prevent "improper conduct" and "unfounded suspicions."

In a lengthy message, sent to the Capitol in the midst of a Senate inquiry into charges of political influence in government loans, the President said:

"In operations as large as those of our government today, with so much depending on official action in the Congress and in the executive agencies, there are bound to be attempts by private citizens or special interests groups to gain their ends by illegal or improper means."

Truman said he would favor including "the principle that national party officials and employees be among those persons required to file annual statements."

The President's own party chairman, William M. Boyle, Jr., was before the Senate's investigating subcommittee at the moment.

Specifically, the President recommended to Congress the prompt enactment of a law which will require all full-time civilian presidential appointees, including members of the Federal bench, all elected officers of the Federal government, including members of the Congress; and all other top officials and employees of the three branches of the government—pay those receiving salaries of $10,000 or more, plus flag and general officers of the armed services—to file annually a statement of their total income, including amount over and above their government salaries, and the sources of this outside income.

Consideration should be given, the President said, to require that government employees making less than $10,000 should make such statements if their outside income exceeds $1,000 a year.

He added:

"Some items which are not ordinarily counted as income, such as gifts and loans, should be included in the statements filed under this statute."

"Penalties for willful violation of this statute should be equivalent to those for violation of the laws relating to the filing of income tax returns."

The President declared the statements should be accessible to the public, asserting it would "help to prevent illegal or improper conduct and at the same time (Continued On Page Five)

Boyle Admits Big Fees In U.S. Cases

Denies Anything Was Wrong In Representing Clients While Acting Chairman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—William M. Boyle, Jr., acknowledged today that he accepted eight law cases involving government agencies with fees estimated at $158,500 while serving as "acting chairman" of the Democratic National Committee.

From the witness chair of a Senate investigations subcommittee, Boyle heatedly disputed, however, suggestions by Republican senators that it was improper for him to do this.

He said he was a practicing lawyer at that time and had a perfect right to represent any client before any government agency or in any court.

"I never asked a favor from a government agency in my life," Boyle declared.

The cases in question were prior to August, 1949, when Boyle, former Kansas City lawyer, formally became the Democratic National Chairman.

The senators turned to these cases after hammering questions first about Boyle's statement that he had his law practice in 1949 to Max Siskind, Washington lawyer, for $150,000.

Boyle insisted the sale was entirely proper and swore he had never used his political power for personal profit.

Leaving across the table separating them in the crowded hearing room, Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) told Boyle nevertheless that the way the law accounts were transferred to Siskind, without any formal sales contract, "implies that there was an arrangement that you were to receive fees" in the guise of installment payments.

McClellan said, too, that it could "give rise" to the belief that it was an arrangement for "sinking" to do the work and for Boyle to do the work and for Boyle to do the work and for Boyle to do the work.

Boyle said it would be the senators' job to determine if he had done anything that government agencies yielded to political influence.

Senator McClellan (R-Ind.) shook his head at that. He said he had put a different idea from the testimony he has heard before congressional committees.

He acknowledged that he did make an appointment for H. J. Dunlap, president of the St. Louis printing firm, to see RFC Chairman Harley Hise about the loan on Feb. 28, 1949.

But Boyle said he saw nothing improper in that. He added:

"If a person seeks an appointment with an official of any government agency or with members of the Senate or House of Representatives, it is not only proper for the staff of officials of the Democratic National Committee to make such appointments, but it is their duty to do so."

Boyle was the climax witness at hearings by the Senate investigations subcommittee on charges that he brought political pressure to get the loans for American Littoral after the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation) had turned down three applications. (Continued On Page Five)

Both Iran And Britain Told America Stands Ready To Help Find Solution

LONDON, Sept. 27—(AP)—Britain will stand firm in its Iran in the hope that Tehran will bow to President Truman's request to cancel an order expelling British technicians from the Abadan refinery, informed sources said today. The British cabinet was reported to have reached this decision after Prime Minister Attlee received a personal message from President Truman urging caution in the potentially explosive Iranian situation. With the crisis over Iran's oil nationalization building to ominous proportions, the U. S. President appealed to the Iranian government to back down on its ultimatum, and told both Britain and Iran the U. S. is ready to help them to find a peaceful settlement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—The United States has appealed to Iran to cancel its order for expulsion of British oil experts from Abadan, the great Iranian refinery center.

The State Department, disclosing this today, also said the United States has advised both Iran and Britain that it stands ready to render any assistance it can in helping them to find a settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

Moscow dispatches said the Soviet Union was watching the Iranian developments closely. The Russians have a treaty with Iran providing for Soviet intervention in the case of foreign intervention.

With Iran's forces in Khuzestan province, site of the Abadan refinery, placed on an alert, rumors floated that British might land forces to fight nationalist troops in Tehran to a fever pitch.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh barred by a maneuver of opposition deputies from a speaking in parliament, addressed about 100 of his followers who gathered spontaneously as he left the Parliament building. They shouted "Down with the British."

"Don't say that," the Premier cried. "Only pray that God will guide the British."

"Give us permission to start bloodshed and kill the opposition," shouted a speaker.

Mossadegh, who was appealing for public support in his move to oust British technicians from Abadan did not reply but brushed away as a speaker. Then he said: "We only want to recover our just rights and get more money for the prosperity of the country."

Mossadegh said he came to parliament through the support of the people. He said though his National Front Party had only seven seats in the Mollis, lower house of Parliament, his party was responsible for pushing nationalization of the Iranian oil industry.

Mr. Truman addressed 15 paragraphs of his speech to all the women of the nation. The four concluding paragraphs, to respect for the women of his own party who today are observing the 21st anniversary of women's admission to the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee.

By ALEX RINGLETON

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 27—(AP)—Responsible diplomatic sources here reported today that the United States, Britain and France have agreed to divide the Free Territory of Trieste between Yugoslavia and Italy.

Trieste, most important of the North Adriatic seaports, and its surrounding territory were set up as an independent region under the Italian peace treaty, with one half of the area administered by the British and the Americans, the other half by Yugoslavia.
