

SPORTING GOSSIP

Sanford Four, Orlando Nothing
The Sanford boys came back at us yesterday and laid it on the tune of 4 to 0. The celery bunch hit and out-fielded us at all stages, and there was no time when we had a look in. Ray, who pitched for Sanford, having things in his control all the way through, giving up only two hits and striking out twelve men.

Wildner, our little southpaw, pitched a good game and with the support he deserves, will prove a winner. But no kind of pitching by him would have won yesterday's game, for Ray was right there and did not let us get past second.

Right field was one of our weak spots yesterday, for a ball fell safe, scoring one man and counting for a two bagger, which should have been caught. This is not meant to knock Windham, for he is no outfielder.

The game was not as cleanly fielded as the one on the previous day, for in all there were six errors made. Sanford getting two and what is left belongs to us.

Swink and Moreland were the stars. Swink getting two base hits and Moreland out of five times up got three hits, walked once and popped on foul to White the last time up.—Reporter-Star.

Orlando Wins One

Well, we put it to the celery bunch yesterday, 2 to 1, and could have made it more if necessary. As we had three men on bases and only one out, when the winning run was made.

Wilson pitched good ball all the way through. He only gave them two safe hits and they only managed to get two other balls out of the field. Some pitching to allow only four balls to go to the out field. And then he had superb support, the boys tightening up and playing much better than they have of late.

While Wilson was having all this fun, Edwards was having his troubles, which finally caused him to be taken out in the 5th. He was replaced by Lee, who was not much more effective. The two Sanford twirlers gave up seven hits in all.

Boyer seemed to have their goat, for twice yesterday, with men on bases, they walked him and took a chance on the next man up.

Wilson struck out seven, Lee two, and Edwards two.—Reporter-Star.

Cheney Resigns as Manager

Word went out this morning that Mr. John Cheney has resigned as manager of the base ball club. The board of managers received the resignation this morning through the mail.

Ed. Walker was temporarily appointed to fill the vacancy.

The action on Mr. Cheney's part was most unexpected and set the ball fans aflutter.

It was only yesterday that Mr. Cheney was overheard to say on the streets, "These boys are going to win this series if I have to spend a thousand dollars of my own money to see the thing through."

Simultaneously with the announcement of Mr. Cheney's resignation word was passed along the line that some new players are on their way to this city.—Reporter-Star.

Sanford Nine, Orlando Nothing

This writing about Orlando being shut out is getting monotonous, and unless they can get some more players down there and make it interesting for the Collegians The Herald will close up the ball columns and turn the page over to the sewing circle or the farmers' page or something real lively.

The Tourists tried to do something yesterday, just because it was Boosters' Day and the band was there, and they put in the Great Jimmy Windham to do the flinging, but Jimmy was not there, and gave up so many hits that every man on the Sanford team took one on Jimmy, just to show how they liked his pitching. This has never been accomplished before, even in the old days when every boy slugged the ball, and shows that the Tourists are down and out.

Wilson was substituted for Windham and as all the Sanford players had run bases until their tongues were hanging out they decided to take a rest and let Doc twirl his thumbs off.

Lee for the locals was in usual fine fettle, and the fact that the Tourists never made a run decides the ability of the lanky North Carolinians. Little Lowe, he of the piano legs, did the receiving for the Collegians in his old form, having recovered entirely from his accident of the other day.

We will not go into the harrowing details of the game. It would not help matters any in the eyes of the outside world, and then we hate to talk disrespectfully about the dead, but if any of the readers were not at the killing you can take a slant at the awful particular below:

Another Jacksonville Murder

Jacksonville, July 24. Lying in a pool of blood, the back of his head crushed in by repeated blows of a short iron bolt George M. Osborn was found murdered this morning at his little store at 1747 Enterprise street, all available clues leading to the belief that he was struck down at an early hour last night. The murdered man's pockets were rifled and every article of value was removed from his clothing, with the exception of a watch. An iron bolt, the weapon used by the murderer, was found close by, covered with blood and hair, a mute and terrible witness to what bids fair to prove another unsolved mystery for the police officials of the city and of Duval county. Although the police were soon at the scene of the murder after being notified this morning, they found nothing that would lead to a clue as to the identity of the person or persons who committed the foul deed. On the counter of the little store were several packages, indicating that the last act of the murdered man was that of attending to the wants of a customer.

A Few Live Merchants

Our big merchants deserve credit for what they have been doing during the past few weeks, in the way of drawing trade.

We call July the dull season, but it hasn't been dull with our big firms by any means.

They advertise bargains that cannot but attract attention and their stores are bee hives of activity.

It is difficult for the casual observer to realize the good to the community that comes through these special efforts.

True, there are only three or four firms that do the work of drawing the crowds—and they certainly are entitled to "a card of thanks" from the public—but all other business in town reaps more or less benefit from the advertising, but how much better it would be for the non-advertiser as well as the entire community, if all would make some special effort to interest the buying public during the dull season.

With a crash that could be heard for a mile, six persons were killed, two fatally injured and another hurt when a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern train struck an automobile containing nine persons Sunday afternoon at Alexis, about twelve miles from Toledo, Ohio.

Ten negroes, who had barricaded themselves in a cabin, were captured and quiet restored at Plainville, Ga., after an all-night battle between the whites and blacks. Sheriff Owens, of Calhoun, and Dr. Miller, of Plainville, all of whom were shot by the negroes, are resting easily, Johnson being the only one seriously injured.

Inability to reconcile factions of the Republican party in Ohio was given by Common Pleas Judge E. B. Dillon, of Columbus, Republican nominee for the governorship, in which he said he would decline the nomination. He said he would present his withdrawal to the Republican State Central Committee, which will meet there next Wednesday.

Confronted by her husband lying on a stretcher suffering from the wound which he accuses her of inflicting Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace will be placed on trial in the Superior Court at Atlanta today on the charge of assault with intent to murder Eugene H. Grace, at their home in the fashionable residence section on March 5. The trial comes after weeks of waiting on the part of the public for the denouement of one of the most unique criminal crises in the history of the courts of that state. Grace will be brought on a cot from the home of his mother, Mrs. S. L. Hill, at Newnan, Ga.

Good Work of Charity Ass'n

The Associated Charities, although of recent organization and not yet perfectly equipped, was probably instrumental in stemming the tide and changing the current of events in the life of an almost mentally defective and helpless girl last week. An orphan, and seemingly left without relatives, friends or protection of any kind, she had been aimlessly drifting around and was found recently really sick in the depot. Her case was reported to Mrs. J. C. McDaniel, the general secretary of the Associated Charities, who immediately made investigation, and, sending for the city physician, had the young girl removed to a lodging house, where she was taken care of and given all the necessary medical attention. When she recovered she was supplied with the clothing that she needed and a good home with a kind, elderly couple was found, where everything would probably have gone well and the waif would have found a haven of rest. But alas, the unfortunate and undisciplined creature was simply incorrigible. She would not, or could not, for lack of mental ability or from moral perversity, pay any attention or try to do anything she was requested to do in her new home. The old people reported to the Associated Charities that they were now too old to undertake to train their wayward charge.

It was found out in some way that the girl's mother had been a member of the Catholic church, and she was taken to the Sisters of Mercy, who willingly received her. One of the Sisters intended leaving Tuesday for New York City, and it was decided to send their charge with her, if the money for the trip and suitable clothing could be procured for her. The case was laid before a warm hearted generous lady, who is a Catholic, and she subscribed half of the money for the trip and fitted her out with clothing, with the assistance of the Associated Charities, which also furnished the remainder of the money needed for the trip.

The girl left Tuesday with the Sister of Mercy, who will either place her in a parochial school or convent in New York where the current of her life will be broadened, deepened and guided by wisdom and love into safer channels.

LAKE FOR SPEAKER

DeLand Register Writes About Orange's Candidate

Resolved to handle the gavel in Florida's House of Representatives, the Hon. Forrest Lake of Sanford, is making a whirlwind tour of the state in search of votes. And he's getting them.

Mr. Lake is one of the ablest members of the Legislature, a progressive, a man, and loyal friend of the people. He is thoroughly in touch with the needs of the state and can be counted on to support such legislation as will benefit the people. He has visited many counties and is confident of sitting in the speaker's chair when the solons meet in Tallahassee next year.

Speaking of his campaign for the membership, Mr. Lake says: "I am making a fight to be speaker of the house because I desire to serve the people in this place. Many of my friends asked me to make the race and I am receiving many encouraging letters from all over the state from prominent citizens and fellow legislators. I feel sure I will win."

I am not seeking the speakership to gratify my ambition, but to be of real service to all the people. Many vital questions will be before the legislature at the coming session, and I feel that I can carry on the battle with good results to the plain folks if elected. I am not seeking the speakership to gratify my ambition, but to be of real service to all the people. Many vital questions will be before the legislature at the coming session, and I feel that I can carry on the battle with good results to the plain folks if elected. I am not seeking the speakership to gratify my ambition, but to be of real service to all the people. Many vital questions will be before the legislature at the coming session, and I feel that I can carry on the battle with good results to the plain folks if elected.

I have always been a loyal Democrat and an examination of my record will show that I have never faltered in supporting the party, its principles and its candidates.

Mr. Lake has served the Democracy for years, never faltering in his support of its principles or candidates. His is a record of work for the cause. He has always given freely of his time and money when victory was in doubt, and his announcement for speaker is being hailed with delight in all sections of the state.

Sentiment in favor of his election is steadily increasing and his friends feel sure he will win. The great tier of counties along the East Coast are expected to vote solidly for him, while Bradford, Alachua, and other counties will certainly line up for the popular Orange county solon. Mr. Lake's friends are busy in Levy, Hillsborough, Escambia, Pinellas, Walton, Santa Rosa and hope for real support from their delegations. DeLand Register.

A Musical Sunday

Last Sunday music had a special place on the program of the services at the Congregational church. In the morning Mr. Waldron took for his subject "The Phonograph" and used a very fine instrument for illustration, which belongs to Mr. Herndon. D. A. Caldwell & Co. loaned some records, which were used for the children with very fine effect.

The work of the choir at both services, under the direction of Mr. E. T. Woodruff, was unusually rich and pleasing. Particularly enjoyable were a male quartette in the morning and a woman's quartette at night. Mr. Woodruff at night closed the services with a solo, being assisted in the chorus by the choir. It was the old song "Dare to be a Daniel," and was fitted exactly to the sermon of the evening which it followed. This choir deserves the largest credit for the faithful and efficient work it has been doing.

Sanford Herald Becoming An Information of Bureau

NEW PEOPLE WANT THE FACTS

Brick Roads And Tourist Hotel Exciting The People of The North

Sanford is on the map these days. Not since 1910 when the boom started in Sanford lands have there been so many inquiries about celery lands, city homes and lots as during the past few weeks. People who have retired temporarily from the real estate business are renting offices, dusting off the maps and office furniture and preparing for the fall rush that will take place during the months of September, October and November. Farms are being cleaned up, seed and new buildings are going up in different parts of the Celery Delta and improvements being made everywhere. The good people of Monroe are constructing a church and school house and preparing for the brick roads that will bring so many new people to every section of the Sanford district.

The new steel drawbridge soon to be constructed at the foot of Celery avenue will connect with the brick roads on this side and the Volusia county people will build their share of good roads to meet it. This will give the tourist an unbroken stretch of good roads to the beach and the Sanford section will be the greatest automobile country in the south, containing about twenty-five miles of brick roads through the richest winter vegetable farming country on the globe.

The Herald was in receipt of over a dozen letters during the past week regarding the brick roads, from tourists who wish to locate and have winter homes in Sanford and vicinity where they can be assured of good roads, hotel accommodations and amusements.

A country club with golf links will be the next move of the public spirited citizens of Sanford and the people who locate here this season will be made to feel that everything possible is being accomplished to make them feel at home. Several noted sportsmen of Connecticut and New York have purchased the property on the banks of the St. Johns river above Sanford and will construct hunting lodges, have their line yachts and entertain their friends royally during the winter. The real beauties of the upper St. Johns have never been exploited sufficiently to attract the eye of the tourists but this season there will be more sportsmen make Sanford headquarters than ever before. There is no place in the state where the real sportsman can get so much hunting, fishing, boating and automobiling than around Sanford and the people who leave here in the fall to go deer hunting can make the hundred mile trip with an automobile.

Sanford's new tourist hotel ought to be finished or at least far enough in construction to take care of the tourist sportsmen for the late fishing and hunting. If not, arrangements will be made by the Sanford Hotel Co. to provide special quarters, boats and guides for the hunting parties, and the attractions of this section will be exploited this season in order that hundreds of tourists will learn of Sanford and be on the ground early next season, when we can guarantee them the best of accommodations at the finest tourist hotel in the south. Sanford people have determined to have a fine hotel and one will be built.

Looking at our fall prospects from every angle there is opportunity for the building of the finest tourist resort, the finest city of beautiful homes, the greatest shipping center and the recognized fact of being now the greatest farming country in Florida.

Interesting Story In Leslie's Founded Upon Tampa Case

Under the title "The Girl From the Little Southern Farm" Mrs. Leonora Beck Ellis, a well known Tampa magazine and novel writer, who is the wife of R. A. Ellis, an insurance man of this city writes in the current issue of Leslie's Weekly an interesting story founded on the Athanasow case. The story is a study from the frills which literary license is supposed to allow the story is substantially that of Agnes Couch, the seventeen year old Georgia girl, who was lured through a theatrical advertisement to begin an engagement at the Imperial theater, Ybor City, where she was forced to remain against her will until rescued by Arthur Schleman, Jr., who brought the police.

Mrs. Ellis concluded her story with the escape of the girl from the den and does not mention the arrest, conviction and subsequent sentence of Athanasow and Sampson, who have appealed their case to the Supreme Court of the United States in the hope of proving the white slave act unconstitutional. Tampa Tribune.

Sanford Boy Scouts

Some of the Boy Scouts of Sanford recently had a fine treat. Mr. C. R. Walker acted as Scout Master by invitation of Troop One and took the boys for a two days' outing across Lake Monroe to the beautiful Blue Springs. Mr. Fagenhart took them over in his launch and towed along the houseboat belonging to Mr. DeCottes, which served as headquarters during the stay. Much of the time was spent in the water, either at the springs, which are deep, shady and cool, or in the more sunny shallow waters of the lake. The mosquitoes found the boys at night and they did not sleep any too well, but they made up after they got home. Some of Troop Two were guests of Troop One. They were all enthusiastic in the praise of their outing.

Rev. Geo. B. Waldron, Scout Master of Troop One has invited the boys to bring their camping outfits over to Ormond beach, where he is to be during the month of August. It is hoped that a number of the boys can arrange to go. There is no finer beach in the world.

Another Blind Tiger

Lizzie Lewis, a brunette blind tigress, was caught red handed or black handed last Saturday night by Marshal Tillis and put in the city bastille. She faced Mayor Spencer yesterday morning and was fined the maximum of $200 which she promptly paid. On account of handing out a little back talk that was offensive to His Honor she was handed an additional fine of $10.

Mayor Spencer is determined to break up the selling of liquor in Sanford and all that he needs is sufficient evidence to convict when he can be depended upon to do the rest. Marshal Tillis is very active in a crusade against the tigers and deserves credit for the little Sherlock Holmes business that he pulled off on the Lewis woman.

Will Kill All Americans

El Paso, Texas, July 29.—Declaring that he did not care for Americans or for the American government, and inasmuch as the American government had treated them as bandits and thieves, the rebels might just as well act the part. Gen. Inez Salazar, second in command of the rebel army, made speeches in person at Madera, state of Chihuahua, yesterday, positively stating that all Americans in the rebel zone will soon be disarmed and all guarantees of protection withdrawn.

The correspondent of the El Paso Herald, who heard these speeches, telegraphed the news today to his paper.

Believed to have committed suicide by taking poison, the body of J. M. Stegell, who has been agent for the Union News Company at Tampa, was found Saturday night in the rooming house kept by Mrs. Corkish at 396 1/2 Franklin street. Papers in the man's pocket furnished clue to his identity. He was a stranger to the landlady, having moved in only a few days ago.

The plans for a military company for Del and are progressing rapidly and arrangements will be perfected next week. Instructions have been asked of the adjutant general, and as soon as they are received the membership lists will be completed and a mustering officer asked for. There are several here who have seen service in both the regular army and in the Spanish American war, and a number of the boys have attended some of the military schools in the state.

Late this afternoon John Lewis, colored, who works for Mr. A. E. Fraleigh and lives near Madison, went home in a rage of jealousy, shot at his wife with a breach loading gun, missing her, she getting away unhurt, so he went about two hundred yards to the home of Clara Sanders, finding her there, also Sallie Brown, another woman, who was in the house. He shot the Brown woman, the load taking effect in the back. She is in a serious condition and not expected to live. He then hit the Sanders girl on the head with the gun, killing her almost instantly. The murderer is still at large, though Sheriff Stanton and his deputies say they will soon have him behind the bars.

Judge Cohen in Tampa municipal court yesterday handed down his decision in the case of Druggist T. S. Bretton of the Elliger City Pharmacy, accused of selling cocaine without the formalities of a prescription. The druggist was fined $200, with the alternative of spending ninety days in jail. Bretton's attorneys immediately gave notice that an appeal would be made for a new trial and Judge Cohen set Tuesday of the coming week as the date and fixed Bretton's bond at $400 for appearance at that time.

Contracts have been let for the new Elks' home to be erected in Miami and before the work has been completed something like $30,000 will have been expended in providing a suitable club house for the Miami Elks. Reinforced concrete will be the material used in constructing the Elks' home, and it is thought that the work may be completed by the middle of December.

Miami's board of trade will soon have a suitable and handsome home. The board has decided to build and will issue bonds to the extent of $12,000 for the purpose. An excellent site has been selected and the plans for the new building are attractive and interesting.

Last week the value of tonnage in and out of the port of Tampa was greater than any week records have been kept. The total value for all shipping was $611,849, an increase of $104,000 over the week previous which has beaten previous records. Valuable cargoes were many and tobacco was brought in on the Mallory Line from New York, having been taken there from Havana.

South Florida history prior to 1912 does not record in any season of a year such building progress as is evidenced now, not only in Tampa, but in practically every town and hamlet in the southern part of the state. Estimating roughly the value of new buildings in course of construction or planned, municipal work under way or provided for, and the expenditure of various counties in improvements of many kinds, the total in South Florida will fall very little short of three millions of dollars. This for the middle of one of the hottest summers this section has ever known, is taken by those in touch with the situation to be indicative of a winter season for 1912-13 that will crowd South Florida to its capacity.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

A Budget of Opinion "Just Between You and Me"

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A Chief is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em'— So Says Saunterer.

¶ Blessed be the interstate commerce commission! If it never does anything else I shall be forever grateful to it! It has started after the express companies and while it has not yet brought about reform, it will undoubtedly succeed in giving relief from some of the abuses we have been obliged to tolerate for years and years.

The commission has ordered sweeping reductions in the rates charged by express companies. It has also ordered far-reaching reforms in the regulations and practices of the companies and has also imposed upon them a uniform system of rate making.

The order of the commission, while not final, is subject only to a hearing to be given the express companies on October 9. The commission calls upon the companies to show cause at that time why the change in rates and practices should not immediately go into effect. This tentative arrangement of the commission merely means that they desire to give the express companies a fight in their defense. The decision of the commission will cause a general reduction in rates on small packages of about 20 per cent. The average is 30 per cent and the reductions taken altogether range from 10 to 50 per cent. An important requirement of the commission is that the companies shall adopt a distinctive tag or label which will clearly show whether a package has been prepaid or not. In the event of doubt the receiver of a package will not be compelled to pay, and the express companies will no longer have the benefit of the thousands of dollars that have flowed into their treasuries through double charges.

In short, the decision of the commission revolutionizes the express business in this country.

An appendix to the interstate commerce commission's exhaustive reports of the express business of the country discloses in detail the remarkable interlacing of corporate interests between the express companies themselves. The commission shows that in several instances the most favorable contracts given by the express companies to the railroads go to the roads which have directors in common with the express companies. The commission points out that the express companies directors make contracts with themselves as railroad directors. This appendix to the report also discloses for the first time a list of the principal stockholders in the big express companies.

¶ The days of hardship for the horse are at hand. While winter, with its biting cold and slippery streets, causes one to sympathize heartily with the poor animals, there is more real suffering and danger to horses during the hot months.

And it is only by the thought and care of those who have charge of these animals that their lot can be made bearable, for a horse has absolutely no way of making known and enforcing his demands for proper treatment. In this respect, the horse's great rival, the auto, has a decided advantage. When a motor is not properly groomed, or supplied with gasoline or oil, it becomes too hot from overdriving or improper cooling, it stops, and no power on earth can make it start again until the defects are attended to. The horse, however, will continue to work, as best he can, until he drops from exhaustion. Thirst, hunger, oppressive heat, through all these he plods on until his strength is exhausted, while his careless or ignorant driver urges him to further exertion.

In order to remedy this deplorable condition and act, as much as may be, as friend and protector to these poor animals, various organizations of kind-hearted men and women have been formed all over the country. The Boston Work Horse Parade Association, one of the most active in the country, has issued "Twelve Horse Hints for Hot Weather," which ought to be kept constantly in mind by all who are entrusted with the care of these animals. They are:

- 1. Feed lightly and drive slowly.
- 2. Stop in the shade if possible.
- 3. Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in moderate quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still.
- 4. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and the dock. Wash his feet, but not his legs.
- 5. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a wet sponge. Use vinegar if possible. Do not turn the hose on him.

Saturday night give a bran mash, cold; and add a teaspoonful of saltpeter.

Do not use a horse hat unless it is a canopy top. The ordinary bell shaped hat does more harm than good.

A sponge on top of the head or even a cloth is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.

If a horse is overcome by the heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs and give him four ounces of aromatic spirits of ammonia, or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water, or give a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water or, if necessary, chopped ice, wrapped in a cloth.

If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran and a little water and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.

Watch your horse. If he stops sweating suddenly or if he breathes short and quick or if his ears droop or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sunstroke and needs attention at once.

If it is so hot that the horse sweats in his stable at night tie him outside. Unless he cools off during the night he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

¶ Now that men are flying I catch myself looking sharper to see how birds fly, and I am convinced man has much yet to learn from them. The birds satisfy me there are a thousand different ways of flying, and man has added several different ways to them, for no bird flies as man does, not even the condor, who can take the body of a dead horse to an inaccessible cliff on the mountain-side.

I became interested in the flight of a mocking bird the other day. I noticed he made a quick movement of the wings for speedy preparatory for a glide, but when he wished to rise his wing movement was slower, broader and more powerful. The humming bird always has a whirring flight, and he balances in mid-air like a fly when plating with his mate. The quick, choppy flight of the bobolink seems to be awkward, although he adorns it with a song, and the duck appears to work hard for speed, while the gulls and swallows just glide easily. Man still has much to learn in the way of beating the air for a purpose.

¶ Say, young man. If your best girl never made mud pies and played "keep house" with bits of crockery when she was a "kid," freeze her. If you marry her its ten to one shot her bread and doughnuts will come across with a dull sickening thud on your digestive organs that will remind you with tears in your eyes and a glass of peppermint in your flat of the kind mother used to make and you'll wish, all to late, that you had taken our advice. Don't delay, but find out right now what she considered the best grade of mud for pies when she was one of the kids.

The Man Who Can Pay And Won't

The man who can pay his bills and doesn't is one of the public enemies who are responsible for the slow recovery of business. He cripples industry, restrains trade and creates a long line of debtors who cannot pay. He is a brake upon prosperity, a drag upon humanity. He has been a deterrent factor in business the past five years, ranking in depressive effect next to the financial flurry of 1907. The habit of deferring payment, contracted anew in 1907, has become chronic with a number of individuals, firms and corporations, and has served to harass business to an extent realized only by the bankers who carry the accounts of the retailers and smaller manufacturers.

By withholding payment of one bill a procession of difficulties is formed. A hoards his cash and embarrasses B, who has to put off C, and D is pressed to the wall. This chain of evil, started by the prosperous, reaches down through the ranks of industry, commerce and labor, cramping enterprise, confining trade and galling most of all the men at the bottom of the business structure.

The survival of panic times has become grafted upon our business men to such an extent that in some circles the pride in being considered "prompt pay" is now regarded as old-fashioned, and skill in putting off one's obligations has become to be reckoned a desirable acquirement.

But the business situation today seriously demands the clashing of the deliberate slow payer with the cheat. His reformation would free the involuntary slow payer from a plight that is now of his choosing, and would make the wheels of business hum with prosperity.

You who can, pay up. Then those who can't pay will be able to do so. Money will flow faster through the arteries of the country's life, and all the people will be benefitted.—New York Evening Mail.

WE WIN WITH WILSON

THE NEW RIVER STEAMER

The Clyde Steamship Company is a Florida institution of which all of us are proud, and if we give this notable corporation advice or seem to be meddling in its business, let it be assured that it is a family matter and we are only seeking, like Jack Horner, to draw plums from the pie. Therefore, to business.

The announcement that the Clyde would build a new steamer for the St. Johns river especially adapted to the business, caused a stir of excitement in all this section. Very promptly Sanford and Palatka asked for permission to christen the baby, but there were difficulties. Vice President Raymond says he highly appreciates the good will of all his friends and patrons along the river but he is confronted by an established rule that "the ships of the line must be named for Indian chiefs or nations." The rule is a good one, even if it does seem to bar out these applicants—let us see.

Palatka does not insist that the boat be called the City of Palatka; she would appreciate just as highly the use of her name. But that name is not distinctive of her site. There was a Palatakaha where Jacksonville now stands and another at Tocoi and another at the northern end of Lake Monroe, which is sufficiently near to give a show for Sanford. Why should not the name Palatka prove a compliment to these three communities, all patrons of the line, as well as to many others? Because Palatka is not the name of an Indian nation or chief, says Mr. Raymond. All right: why go to bad Indian names like the Arapahoes and Comanches who are distant ones when we have good Indians belonging to our own territory?

When the first white man sailed into the St. Johns its whole valley and the country contiguous from Fernandina to Cape Canaveral, westward to the upper edge of the Everglades and across nearly to Ocala was held by the Timuquans—a distinctive nationality, of high qualities and most handsome appearance. Why should not Timuqua prove an acceptable name for the new steamer if the name of a tribe be desired?

The name would well cover the country tributary to the business that will be done by a river steamer—it is euphonious, appropriate and distinctive.

When the Frenchmen on St. Johns Bluff or Fort Caroline had exhausted the hospitality of the sub-chief in their vicinity they were exhorted to visit the head chief and met him on the bluff at Palatka, afterwards occupied by the Larkin House and then by the Presbyterian church. The meeting was most picturesque and the chief proved himself every inch a man—his name was Outina. If the name of a chief be desired why would not Palatka accept that of a man who originally presided over her destinies when, as now, "Palatka had not one vacant residence?"

But if the fates prove kinder to Sanford than to Palatka, Mr. Raymond should remember that Mellenville was the primitive Sanford. There, when the noble Timuquan race had been reduced to a handful of desperate warriors and fugitive men and women and children, its last chief fought his best fight and drew upon himself the admiration of friends and foes. Caocoochee stood to the attack on the fort at Mellenville with the bravery he always showed in battle and his men came out of cover to offer their naked breasts to the rifles of the white man. Sanford might well ask that the steamer be named Caocoochee in her honor. A nobler red man is not known in our annals—a stouter foe, a firmer friend nor a more devoted patriot. While we honor Leonidas and George Washington we need not look elsewhere for a better name than that of Caocoochee, the Timuquan wild cat who rightly claimed lordship over all the St. Johns valley and the waters thereof as the lineal descendant of a line of chieftains reaching back uncounted ages.

For Jacksonville we only ask that the Clydes do not seek Indian nations or native chiefs in the west—we can give them good Florida names for all their ships even when these have increased to the limit of their desires and of our hopes. Palatka and Sanford and Jacksonville and all the rest of us might join in asking for the name of Timuqua.—Times-Union.

ELECT ALL OFFICE HOLDERS

The Pensacola Evening News springs a surprise on the Federal office seeker by suggesting that all the Democrats who would like fat berths under Wilson should stand their chances at a primary election just like any ordinary politician. Following is the argument put up by the News:

Inasmuch as we have the primary for our elective and appointive state offices and since the state committee, our governor elect and the members of our Legislature favor primaries and because the Democratic National convention has gone on record for primaries for President on down and the Democratic Presidential nominee has subscribed to the platform as adopted by the convention, declaring for national primaries, we believe the primaries should be given a THOROUGH test. We are now trying the primary; let's give it a fair trial while we are about it. We have taken the appointments away from our state executive and put them in the hands of the people so that we might avoid as much as possible any effort for ring rule or organization of a state machine.

Therefore, the Evening News suggests to the state Democratic executive committee a state primary for the nomination of collector of internal revenue and register of the land office, at the same time a primary for the selection of district attorneys, United States marshals, assistant district attorneys, etc., in the northern and southern districts of Florida, and on down the line to city primaries for the nomination of postmasters and collectors of port, etc. Then President Wilson would be relieved of the responsibility of choosing from all those who have proven themselves friends, and by naming those whom he knows to be the choice of the people as ascertained through the primaries, there would be no possibility of any disappointed one accusing him of going back on his friends as they did in New Jersey, when he excused his action by declaring that the said friends were not the right sort of men to appoint to office.

By a primary the Federal offices will be filled with men who are chosen by the people and not by one or two bosses, two Senators and a Congressman or so. Who will say that the people should not be allowed to name their postmasters, collectors of port, etc? The governor of this state appoints the harbor masters, the county solicitors, the judges, but all of these men must run in the primaries so that the governor may know which of the aspirants for the position is more acceptable to the people whom he must deal with officially. If the harbor master, why not the collector of port; if the sheriff, why not the U. S. Marshal, if the solicitor, why not the district attorney; if the clerk of court, why not the postmaster?"

ON THE JOB

If the agricultural department is receiving so many inquiries as to the Sanford celery farms why doesn't Sanford issue a pamphlet with the needed information and make a pot of money while advertising herself? Any Florida community should have business enterprise enough for a little thing like that.—Times-Union.

A point well taken and we are doing just that thing. While rather slow on the advertising game we have taken the time to compile several of the booklets containing valuable information and will send them to any one wishing information not only about our section but about farming in general. Also information for the purchaser of Florida lands. Sanford a few years ago did more advertising than all the other sections of Florida put together, but the fake land propositions became so enamored of our descriptions and statements that they not only used our matter and views for their sections but one company stole our cognomen bodily. It seems good to Sanford people to know that after all the noise and thunder that the real seeker of profitable farming land comes back to the real article.—SANFORD SUB-IRRIGATED LANDS.

Since every issue of The Herald contains information about the Sanford section obtained first hand there is no better way of keeping up with the game than becoming a subscriber to the Sanford Herald.

Will the esteemed Times-Union please take note.

Why, of course we would like to see the Orange county representative, Forrest Lake, Speaker of the House. But what has the newspaper to do with that—it has no vote and it is strictly the prerogative of the legislator. Orange County Citizen.

Won't it sound nice to hear the auto-ists say as they shoot off the Sanford district brick roads at Palm Springs into the mud and sand of the dividing line, "Oh, this is the road to that up-to-date beautiful City of the Gods—Orlando."—Orange County Citizen.

There are several things in Lakeland that this paper has been asked to jump on by the people who wouldn't have the moral courage to jump on a pismire if they thought they would lose a penny's worth of business thereby. When there is somebody or something that really needs to be "jumped on," on when the jumping on will result in more good than harm, this paper will not be found remiss in its duty. At the same time it is not going to adopt the role of a common scold, nor injure the community by holding up to the public gaze every objectionable thing that can be dug up. Lakeland is better in every respect than most towns of its class, and certain defects in its utilities, public conveniences, etc., are being remedied as rapidly as possible. Instead of "jumping on" the things that don't suit us, let us all pull together for the obtaining of improved conditions. Lakeland Telegram.

The Price of Peaches

It is reported that the owners of the peach orchards in Georgia are discouraged with the season's financial returns to the extent that some of them are planning to dig up a portion of their acreage to plant it to corn.

Curious circumstance this, when we in Orlando are paying fifty cents a basket for Georgia peaches. What is wrong? Common sense dictates that there is immense profit for the grower, allowing a high percentage for the cost of the rail road haul and the middleman's profit.

If the grower cannot live, the answer is, some distributing agency is pulling down a profit that is excessive and unwarranted.

This condition of market affairs unfortunately does not apply to Georgia peaches alone. It applies to almost everything that is grown on the farm, and it is undoubtedly the feature of greatest discouragement to the farmer. He comes to feel at last, after such experience as this, season after season, that he has stacked up against too great odds.

His discouragement would not be nearly so great if he knew that there was over production; that his products were actually selling low at retail. But when he finds year after year that the demand for farm products is keen, and that the retail price is maintained to the point of being almost prohibitory to the man of small means, and at the same time he is deprived of a living wage—many of them conclude it is time to quit such a business.

It has been only two or three years ago that there was an over production of coffee in Brazil and a shortage of tea. Yet the price of both commodities advanced. Cotton last year was a drag on the market. On many cotton farms the crop was not even picked. Yet did the price of cotton goods decline?

It certainly seems to be high time that some regulating agency were established to create a reasonably equitable relation between the farmer's income and the income of the distributing agencies. Reporter-Star.

Sanford Six, Orlando Nothing
For the benefit of the readers we chronicle the game of last Friday. Out of respect to the dead we will not write the games again in our own language. It only means a sad tale of defeat after defeat, and loving Orlando as dearly as we do, there is no satisfaction in hitting the old girl when she is groveling in the dust and sufficiently humbled to acknowledge that Sanford has the best ball team that ever put one over the court house.

We give the few little items in Friday's game from our weeping contemporary, the Reporter-Star.

Six to nothing tells the tale of yesterday's game. And these Orlando "goose eggs" seem to be coming fast and furious. Ray, the Sanford southpaw, has a habit of handing us one every time he pitches, and yesterday was no exception, for he was very stingy in handing out singles, giving us only two. Boyer getting one and Stump the other. We started to count up the strike outs he made but got tired and quit.

Wilder for us pitched a fairly good game, giving up five runs and four hits. He would have done much better had he not received such discouraging support the first inning. With good playing the first three men up in the first inning yesterday would have been put out, but things raked along lonely and after so long a time they made a couple of hits and scored in all three runs. It seemed to be the first inning hoodoo of the previous day at work again, but at another place than the pitcher's box.

Things looked good in the second when Stump was on third and Howatt at second with none down, but neither the needed hit nor outfield fly were forthcoming, so two good Orlando men passed away on the bags. Nothing that had the least semblance of a chance for us came again.

Boost Day For Orlando

The base ball management will make an appeal to you tomorrow for five hundred dollars to go toward defraying the expense of the base ball club. The appeal will be made by means of cards of admission to Thursday's game. A thousand of these tickets have been printed, and will be sold for fifty cents each. The sellers will be a number of well known business men of the city.

Fortune has not favored the base ball club so far this year; but the managers are not quitters; they are true sportsmen, in the game to the finish, and they feel that the town should back them up.

The causes for the failure need not be gone into here, but it may be sincerely stated that it was not due to any man's lack of enthusiasm or effort. The gentlemen composing the management have given freely of their money to the cause of the sport. They have not always been in accord, and disension has undoubtedly had much to do with the so far disastrous results. But such disension as has existed was undoubtedly honest, and grew out of the individual effort toward the good of the team.

The team during the past week has been practically made over. The management is a unit in the belief that Orlando today possesses the strongest team in the history of the town. They are now prepared to go after that pennant stronger than ever. Like Paul Jones, they are not quitters, but have just begun to fight.

Are you, the people going to stand back of the management. Are you not in favor of going the limit, once you start? The management has done its part. It has at last gotten upon a footing. Unfortunately at this crisis funds are low. Will you help out? The tickets are fifty cents; not a great sum to be called upon for to support a ball team.

The tide has turned, and Thursday will be boost day, when you should go out and root yourself hoarse and get your real base ball humor back.—Reporter-Star.

Clyde Pounds Resigns

Announcements of a rather startling nature for base ball fans were made today following a meeting of the board of directors of the base ball association.

Clyde Pounds' resignation was made public with the fact that Windham, Gentle, Beardall and Porterfield are no longer connected with the team.

At the meeting, J. G. Wilson was chosen to be the new captain and general manager, to succeed Pounds. The latter's resignation came as a surprise to both the team and the management alike, and it was generally regretted. Pounds told the managers that his resignation was prompted by the belief that it was the best thing for the welfare of the team.

The following line-up was announced for next Tuesday's game: Valden or White, c; Wilson or Wilder, p; Brewster, 1st base; J. G. Wilson, captain manager, 2nd base; Howatt, ss; Bowen, 3rd base; Stump, rf; Lee, cf; Cole, lf.

The management has selected next Thursday as a general boost day for the club, and have had a thousand cards printed for the game, which will be sold at fifty cents each by the young women of the city. This means has been taken to raise funds for payment of the players, and it is to be hoped that the citizens of the city will show a liberal spirit in buying these tickets.

Fourteen games remain to be played and Orlando is now six in arrears.—Reporter-Star.

Ball Moose Meet

The Bull Moose convention met at Ocala Saturday, and shot an open bore gun, charged with invective at most everything under the sun. The appointment of John M. Cheney to a federal judgeship came in for a rap by the way of a resolution. It read:

"We denounce the action of the President of the United States in appointing John M. Cheney to be the successor of the venerable and beloved James W. Locke, judge of the United States district court for the southern district of Florida. We don't charge that Mr. Cheney is not a good citizen. We do not charge that he lacks experience as a civil practitioner and that the motive and reason for his appointment is an unworthy one. We charge that he was appointed to the highest judicial office in the state not because of his ability as a jurist but that the President of the United States traded the office in exchange for votes in the national Republican convention and to pay a political obligation. With loud professions of his regard for the judiciary the President has laid the dirty hands of politics upon the judicial ermine. He has debauched the sanctuary of the people. He has sold a federal judgeship for votes delivered by political mercenaries. We deplore that loss of respect among the citizens of this state for the exalted office. The sacred temple of justice has been despoiled and by a man himself learned in the law, a lawyer and at one time a federal judge and the people of Florida resent the insult and injustice put upon them."

C. E. Wike of Orlando was elected a delegate to the national convention at Chicago, together with H. L. Anderson, Jacksonville; C. L. Knowles, Key West, Henry F. Benson, Gainesville, D. L. Skipper, Zolfo, Earnest Wagner, Pensacola; J. H. Judd, Bradenton; W. C. Hodges, Tallahassee; J. I. Munoz, H. L. Church, C. E. Merrell, Jacksonville, J. W. Williams, Miami.

My Worst Blunder

FAMOUS "BONEHEAD" PLAYS ON MAJOR LEAGUE DIAMONDS

Explained by Leading Baseball Players to

HUGH S. FULLERTON

BY ROLLIE ZEIDER.

First Baseman Chicago White Sox, Who Has Proved One of the Sensational Newcomers Into the Major Leagues.

The worst play I ever made in a ball game in all my life I didn't make at all. I have made a lot of rotten ones since I started in baseball, but this one beat anything I ever pulled off.

I made the play while I was playing up at Winnipeg. I had been going like a house afire all through the Canadian northwest. I was younger then than I am now, which puts me in the baby-in-arms class, as I'm still a kid (I say that to beat some of these fellows who always are telling how young they are).

It won't do to plead youth as an excuse for the play. In fact I never have been able to explain it myself or to understand how I happened to pull off such a stunt. We needed the game, the score was a tie, and the eighth inning came along with the score still even. They got a man on first and a man on third with one out, and the batter was a fellow who couldn't take the ball in his hands and hit it toward left field, so it was up to me as short stop to cover second and take the throw. The fellow at bat was such a bad hitter that I figured it was about twenty to one they would try a double steal and attempt to score the winning run from third. I moved a little closer to the base line and a little over toward second and studied the situation. The fellow on first was a hard runner, fast, and a nice slider. The fellow on third was only medium fast and usually was a slow starter from third on a play like that. I intended to go perhaps eight feet in front of second base, meet the throw and try to hold that runner at third. I hadn't any fear at all that he could score. What I wanted to do was to hold him to third and make a play on the other runner. I figured I could jump back, tag the runner as he did and still hold the runner at third.

The double steal was tried just as I expected it would be. The runner from first came down at top speed, ready to slide, never slacking speed. The catcher made a perfect throw and I went in and met the ball, caught it, motioned to throw to the plate, and then dived backward and tagged the runner who was coming down to second. The fellow on third hadn't moved.

I was so tickled over making the play that I jumped up, yelled at the runner on third, telling him what a slow thinker he was, and then fired the ball ten feet over the first baseman's head to the stands and started for the bunch, tickled to death with myself at having made a fine play. The fellow on third trotted home and when I was almost to the bench I waked up and discovered that my mind had slipped a cog and that the game probably was lost. I had been so pleased at making the first part of the play that I guess I forgot all about anything else and gave them the run I was playing to prevent.

Emperor of Japan Dead

Tokio, July 29.—The Emperor of Japan died at 12:43 a. m., July 30 (which is equivalent to a little after noon today of United States time.)

The emperor had been in a serious condition since July 19, the date of the first serious attack, and life for some time has been maintained only by artificial means.

Immediately upon the decease of the emperor, Yoshihito, the crown prince, succeeded to the throne.

Mutau Hito, mikado or emperor of Japan, was born Nov. 3, 1852. He ascended the throne in 1867 and married Princess Haruko in 1869.

His children are Prince Yoshihito, born in 1879, and proclaimed crown prince in 1889, and three princesses.

His reign was marked by great reforms; and the feudal system, which has impeded the progress of the country was abolished under his rule. The country enjoyed an unprecedented wave of prosperity under his regime, and civilization has made rapid progress.

The emperor introduced western arts and as a result secured for Japan a foremost place among the Asiatic nations. He gave the Japanese a parliamentary constitution which was based on European principles.

Dots And Dashes

Several 100-year old hams were recently found in an underground passage leading to a cellar near a historic old colonial mansion on Providence Island. The hams were packed in wood ashes, and are as sound as the day they were put there. The flavor is so delicious that they readily sell for $1 per pound. The moral is, if you want to preserve hams put them up in wood ashes.

The body of Roy Clarence A. T. Richardson, who was electrocuted in Boston last May, now rests next to that of his mother at Lynchburg, Va. This was the last request of the doomed man.

A special from Albany, N. Y., says that a statewide campaign of education of women and girls in the subject of sex hygiene and the prevention of disease has been undertaken by the state department of health. This educational work will be done by means of lectures, circulars and exhibits, and will be carried on in cooperation with women's organizations. It is also proposed to teach the working girls.

The fraud crop is the biggest in the nation. Its profits last year were estimated at $120,000,000. It is true that suckers are born every minute.

Herman Ridder, who is in a position to know, says that no corporation contributed to the Bryan campaign in 1908.

Big Land Suit

The Tampa and Jacksonville Railway today filed suit against Governor Gilchrist, et al, members of the board of trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund) for 250,000 acres of land in Florida. The case was filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida.

This suit grew out of an act of the Florida Legislature passed in 1895, by which the name of the Gainesville, Rocky Point and Micanopy Railroad was changed to the Gainesville and Gulf Railway. This act gave the road every other section of land along the road which was to be built. Later, in 1905, this road was consolidated with the Tampa and Jacksonville Railroad. The new road built twenty-five miles of track. Under the act of the Legislature which changed the name of the road, the company was to receive 10,000 additional acres of land for every mile of track constructed.

There is a sample cotton stalk in bloom at the Commercial bank which should attract very general attention. The stalk contains any number of bolls and blooms, and is from a field of one hundred acres, every stalk indicating a very heavy yield. This sample is the work of Major Tom and Mr. William Hall, and they say it is as fine a field of cotton as they have ever seen grown in the state. Cotton is always convertible into cash and as the average farmer is always in need of a little ready money, a little cotton crop as a side issue will be found a nice thing to have on the farm about tax paying time.—Ocala Banner.

That the Monroe doctrine expressly forbids a foreign nation acquiring a naval base at Magdalena Bay or other similarly situated points on the American continent is understood to be the substance of a report made Wednesday by Senator Lodge to the Senate committee on foreign relations. Senator Lodge is chairman of the sub-committee to which the Magdalena Bay matter was referred last April, when information was disclosed showing that a Japanese fishing corporation had negotiated for 4,000,000 acres of land of Southern California peninsula, adjoining Magdalena Bay.

The United States has again protested to the Mexican government and to Gen. Orozco, leader of the revolutionists, against attacks on American citizens and property in Northern Mexico. Secretary Knox today officially renewed his notice of two months ago that the United States would hold Mexico to strict account for all damages, and an official notified Orozco that he would be held personally responsible for damages to Americans or their property. President Madero has been requested to send troops to Northern Mexico. He has answered that troops are on the way and has expressed the belief that the trouble would soon be quieted.

A bill by Representative Stanley to define more specifically the term "misbranded" as used in the pure food law was reported favorably today by the House commerce committee. The measure would make it illegal to sell any drug under the name of some other article, make compulsory the printing of the quantity or proportion of alcohol, morphine or other narcotics in drugs offered for sale and prohibit the printing on labels of false curative or therapeutic claims.

Roosevelt today assured delegations of negroes who called to ask the attitude of the Progressive party on this race question that he would do all in his power to secure for the negro full rights under the constitution. Concerning the "Lilly White" movement in the south, Roosevelt postponed a definite answer.

In the midst of a Socialistic lecture at Tallapoosa, Georgia, Mrs. Cates Richard O'Hare, of St. Louis, was drenched with water and her audience dispersed by the fire department. Standing in an automobile Mrs. O'Hare was delivering a bitter denunciation against the employment of children in cotton mills. Mayor C. E. Pearce ordered the marshal to place the woman under arrest, but it is said the official refused to carry out the order. In the excitement some one turned in the fire alarm. The firemen responded quickly and the meeting ended abruptly when a powerful stream of water was directed at the throng.

The body of the young woman found near Catskill, N. Y., Sunday is none other than that of Miss Doris I. Snodgrass. It is said that Miss Snodgrass suffered greatly from insomnia. The mother, a sister and a brother of Miss Snodgrass are in seclusion on a farm near Clarksville, Va. Word was sent to them late yesterday of the finding of the body which will be brought to Martinsburg for interment. Coincident with the finding of the body which will be brought to Martinsburg for interment. Coincident with the finding of the body of Miss Snodgrass the police made public last night the fact that Amelia Dany, eighteen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dany, has been missing since July 113, four days before the disappearance of Miss Snodgrass. The two girls were great friends, it is said.

Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, head of the "strong arm" squad of gambling raiders, who is charged with investigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was tonight further implicated in the plot to get rid of the gambler when "Bald Jack Rose" and "Bridgie" Webber added another chapter to their already amazed allegations. They told District Attorney Whitman that Rosenthal was to have been killed at the

BENEFIT OF THE HOSPITAL

Lyceum Attractions Could Be Held For That Purpose

The following communication handed in for this issue is worthy of the consideration of the Sanford people:

Editor Sanford Herald:

Not having heard anything of the Lyceum course for the coming season it has occurred to the writer that it would be a good idea for the Hospital Association to get a number of these proper authorities and handle these entertainments as benefits for the Hospital fund. The writer believes this would be a very popular proposition if put out for the Hospital Association and conducted by the officials of that organization.

Investigation of Becker ten days before he actually met his fate and that the plot failed because the underworld thugs selected to do the murder lost their nerve at the last moment.

The formation of a Democratic Progressive Republican coalition in the senate and a tentative agreement between house and senate leaders today resulted in a program that will provide speedy action on pending tariff measures. Agreements are in sight on the iron and steel revision bill and the excise tax bill. On the sugar tariff measures an agreement is hardly expected at this session.

Rev. M. Sullivan, a young white man hailing from Warahoota, Fla., where he has a father, brother and sister residing in the hospital at Roanoke, Va., suffering from gun shot wounds inflicted by a posse which pursued him with bloodhounds. Sullivan, who was sent to the Virginia penitentiary last fall from Clifton Forge for check flashing, two days ago was shot near Danville. Howard, a black man, was fatally wounded and Sullivan got away.

Amazed at the sordid confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, who declared that the New York police have been collecting graft from the gamblers and game keepers of disorderly houses to the extent of nearly two and one-half million dollars per year. Prosecutor Whitman today, faced the double task of picking up the trail of graft and running down the men behind the conspiracy. He is in the hope that the trails will converge and that he will bag the big game all at one time.

After a two thousand mile chase through the trackless wilds of northern Canada, Will Ropp said by the authorities to be the most notorious horse rustler and cattle thief in the western country, surrendered to northwest mounted police and today awaits trial. Ropp has confessed a list of offenses which were a revelation even to the officers. The confession details several hundred crimes and Ropp said he probably had committed others beyond his recollection.

The suggestion that a southerner and a Democrat be chosen as permanent chairman of the national progressive convention was approved tonight by Roosevelt, who said on his return from New York that John M. Parker, a New Orleans Democrat, who was named by Senator Dixon today as the probable chairman was his choice, although, he added, it will be of course the work of the convention itself to select the man. Since the announcement was made that ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, is to be temporary chairman, Col. Roosevelt continued, he has received many letters and telegrams from delegates to the convention expressing the belief that as Mr. Beveridge is a northerner and a Republican, a southern Democrat should be permanent chairman.

LAKE FRONT BULKHEAD

Prominent Citizens Are Aroused to Important Matter

WILL BE CONTRACTED SOON

City Council and Hotel Company Will Confer About Plans

This important question just now is occupying the attention of the business men and all the citizens of Sanford. It has been a much mooted question for several years and the question of a new tourist hotel has brought up the subject with renewed interest.

The Sanford Hotel Co. intends to have a conference with the city council and the business men in a few days to devise some means of arriving at the best means for making a bulk head along the shores of the lake.

The Clyde Lane has signified entire willingness to meet the hotel company half way and to their part, conforming to all the lines and making an unbroken front for one whole block.

There is nothing of such vital importance to the city as a lake front and every public spirited citizen of Sanford should boost the project night and day.

SENTINEL'S NEW HOME

Valuable New Machinery and Material to be Added to Its Plant

Two months from date the Sentinel will occupy its new home, to be built for it by Mr. E. F. Sperry a few paces north of its present location and planned with special reference to the needs of a modern printing establishment.

It has never been the habit of the Sentinel to sound its own horn, but its proprietor can modestly claim to bring the dean of the printing craft in Orange county. He has ever endeavored to publish a paper devoted to the best interests of the state and county in general and the City Beautiful in particular.

That we have met with success is attested by our large subscription list and the substantiality of the subscribers, as well as by the liberal advertising and job patronage the office enjoys. For all of which we are duly thankful.

Of late rumors have been rife that the Sentinel had passed into the control of a stock company. Such is not the fact. It is still owned, lock, stock and barrel, by its original proprietor, who rejoices because he will soon be better equipped than ever with the newest and most improved machinery, etc., which will enable him to give his readers a much larger and better paper than ever.

Among the additions to our renovated establishment will be a new model No. 3 three-decker linotype, which will greatly enlarge our usefulness in the newspaper field. The plant as it now stands, is conceded to be the largest and best in this section, and when installed in its handsome new home and supplemented by new material, will be a source of pride to its owner and a credit to Orlando.—Orlando Sentinel.

STATE HAPPENINGS BOILED DOWN FOR THE BUSY

A Brief Resume of Florida Happenings That Will Interest The Hurried Reader

DID GRACE SHOOT HIMSELF

Defense Making Out Strong Case For Mrs. Grace

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 1.—Eugene H. Grace was shot in a scuffle with his wife in their room during a quarrel over the sale of some of Mrs. Grace's property, according to Attorney Branch, who today outlined the defense's case to the jury in the trial of Mrs. Grace. He told the story with dramatic earnestness.

Branch declared that Grace tried to shoot his wife, after choking her, and that during the scuffle which followed the weapon discharged and the ball entered his side.

At the opening of court this morning the defense submitted a list of fourteen witnesses to be called to testify in behalf of Mrs. Grace, who is on trial for attempting to murder her husband. Mrs. Grace appeared pale and nervous. Grace had been brought to the court house on his cot, and placed in an anteroom ready to be brought into the court room the moment his wife was placed on the witness stand to tell her story of the shooting of her husband in the house of the fashionable residential section of the city on the morning of March 5 last.

Attorney Branch, outlining the defense's case, said they expected to show that "every fiber of the state's case is rotten."

"The state's theory that Grace was shot during the night or early in the morning is utterly untrue, and we will prove that he was shot after 11 o'clock in the morning that he got up that morning, wrote out a check and talked over the telephone as late as 10 o'clock," declared Attorney Branch.

"It is ridiculous to say that Mrs. Grace tried to get rid of him for his money. She had given him between $15,000 and $20,000 in a year's time and he was going to Philadelphia to sell her property, to get money for himself when the shooting occurred."

"We are going to show the whole miserable facts. The truth is that Grace wanted to get his wife out of town. Mrs. Grace suspected he had an engagement with another woman. She accused him of it and she said she was going to take back the power of attorney she had given him to sell her property. Grace began scuffling with her to prevent her from taking the documents. He began swearing at her and threatening to kill her, grabbing up his revolver at the same time. Mrs. Grace grabbed Grace's hand in an effort to protect himself, the revolver discharged and Grace was shot."

Overland Man Here

The Willis-Overland Motor Company will turn out more cars for 1913 than during any year in the history of its factory, J. C. Miller, who is the general southern district manager, with headquarters in Atlanta, was in this city on Wednesday making arrangements for the coming season's output. Mr. Miller told a Herald reporter that 1913 was to be the banner year.

This company has taken over several motor trucks, the names of which are not to be released until about the middle of August.

In speaking of conditions, Mr. Miller said: "Our firm will offer the best model car they have ever made. Every new one sent out will carry every modern device known that will add to the beauty of the car or the safety of the riders. Its lines will be along the most approved of any 1913 car placed on the market and in every way a big improvement over any car we have ever made."

Mr. Miller is the direct factory representative and a most enthusiastic Florida booster, he having covered every mile of the state in an Overland car many times. He thinks that this state is right now on the threshold of the greatest era of prosperity that ever confronted people living within its borders.

Wauchula will open the fall term of school, Aug. 5, perhaps the earliest of any in the state.

Here is a speaking truth from the Kissimmee Journal: "It's funny, but it's a fact that men will throw away money patching up roads that won't stay patched, they will break down their horses and wagons on miserable high-ways that have cost thousands of dollars, but when it is suggested that brick roadways be built, they proceed to kick about the cost. There is no road so expensive as a poor road."

Articles of incorporation of the Alachua Realty Company, capital ten thousand dollars, were signed in Alachua last week by C. A. Williams, E. C. Pearson, W. H. Traxler and James H. Parish, incorporators. This is the modest beginning of a company to be devoted to the building up of Alachua county, Alachua and Gainesville, by calling the attention of desirable citizens, north, south, east and west, to the wonderful advantages of a home here among us, where nature so richly rewards all who do her bidding, that success in all walks of life are the rule and not the exception.—Gainesville Sun.

The Cammer Lumber Company has a contract to deliver at the beginning of the shipping season 2,300,000 orange boxes. It is estimated that if laid side by side these boxes would cover a distance of 900 miles. They would reach almost from Jacksonville to New York City. Ocala Banner.

Trainmaster Wagner Resigns

D. G. Wagner, the trainmaster for the northern division of the A. C. L. Ry., expects to resign from his position, the same to take effect about the middle of this month. It is understood that Mr. Wagner has been offered a better position, which he will accept about Sept. 1.

He has been in the railroad employ since a mere boy, starting in the north, where he was employed in a number of positions and coming south to take a position with the A. C. L. about seven years ago. His many friends in Sanford are hoping that his new position will not take him and his estimable family away from Sanford, where they are esteemed and loved by every one. Mr. Wagner is a steward in the Methodist church, member of the Masons, Elks and Knights of Pythias and numbers his friends by his acquaintances. He has resided here so long that he has become identified with every progressive movement for the city's betterment and welded with the business interests.
