

ARMS CONFERENCE ENTERS THIRD WEEK OF BIG EVENTS EASTERN QUESTION TODAY

Promises to Take Up the Time of the Members

CHINA'S RIGHTS

TERRITORIAL AND POSTAL WAS THE PREARRANGED BUSI- NESS OF CONFERENCE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The arms conference entered the third week of its deliberations today with the Far Eastern questions continuing to hold the center of the stage. Formal disposition of questions of extra territorial and postal rights in China was prearranged business of conference on convening this morning.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The continuing "association of nations," which according to reports, President Harding has foreseen as a possible outcome of the armament conference would be the "old league of nations under another name," Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, declared in a statement issued last night.

Senator Borah was one of the irreconcilables in the senate who opposed the league of nations as comprised in the treaty of Versailles. He maintained throughout that fight a position of unalterable opposition to the league, with or without reservations, and for this reason was found in the ranks of those voting against the various Lodge reservations. Senator Borah voted for the Knox resolution, the purpose of which was to repeal the joint war resolutions and enact a congressional declaration of peace.

The "association of nations" referred to in Mr. Borah's statement was described in official circles as a "continuing conference" at which the nations might meet periodically to discuss international subjects. Such a conference was said to be regarded by Mr. Harding as a possible result of the armament conference. The president was said to have already discussed his thought with members of several delegations and to have received assurances that they regarded such a development as a possibility. As a first step toward realization of the idea, it was said, nations not represented at the present conference might be invited to endorse the conclusions reached here.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—A resolution declaring for the relinquishment of foreign postoffice privileges in China was adopted today by nine powers, sitting as a committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions. Japanese delegates did not object to January 1, 1923 as the date for abandoning their postoffices, but felt that they did not have authority to agree to the date without referring the matter to Tokyo. Final action on extra territorial rights in China was deferred until tomorrow.

THEATRE DESTROYED BY FIRE AT NEW HAVEN —NINE PERSONS INJURED

(By The Associated Press)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28.—Three lives were lost and 79 persons more or less injured in a fire which destroyed the Rialto Theatre, a motion picture house, here last night, according to the latest figures on the casualties. It is possible that a further search of the ruins may add one more to the list of dead, as one person who is known to have been in the theatre has not been seen since the fire. Fifty-eight persons were either burned or trampled by the crowd. Twenty-two of the injured were Yale students. All will recover.

NAVY LIMIT MAY SOON BE REACHED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—With the question of land armaments definitely thrust into the background by the developments of the past week, the conference on limitation of armaments entered upon its third week today with another stride toward agreement on naval limitation foreshadowed.

The naval question, at least so far as its most vital element, the "5-5-3" ratio of fleet strength between Great Britain, the United States and Japan, is concerned, is approaching the point of transfer back to the "big five" committee with the report of the naval experts on the facts involved. There is some explanation that a plenary session of the conference itself will be called during the week to reach first decisions on the naval limitation plan.

Whether the experts of the three major naval powers will submit individual reports is not known. There is nothing to indicate whether they are agreed as to the facts and figures they have been studying.

Both the British and American experts are reported as having concluded their examination of the mass of ship data involved in Secretary Hughes' proposal. The Japanese naval group was still toiling on it Saturday, it was said. Spokesmen for any group did not go beyond that estimate of the situation.

A summary of last week's developments as to the naval proposals indicates the following status:

American officers see no reason in arguments advanced by Japan to warrant any changes in the keystone of the agreement Mr. Hughes proposed, the "5-5-3" naval strength ratio.

British naval officers have accepted the ratio although it means ultimate equalization of the American and British fleets in power.

Japanese officers have opposed the American ratio, immediate or future, urging a 10-10-7 relative status instead.

American naval opinion strongly opposes retention by Japan of the battleship Mutsu unless both other powers similarly and in due proportion enlarge their fleets to be retained during the ten year holiday building. There are indications that some members of the American delegation which will decide the American attitude, see strength in the arguments of Japan that the Mutsu might have been included as a completed ship in retained fleets. There was nothing to indicate, however, that a compromise was being considered in the American group on this point.

There are many excellent national slogans, but "Hootch at any price," isn't one of them.

Tearing Down Washington's War Buildings

The last remaining signs in Washington of the great war. The temporary war buildings are rapidly disappearing. Delegates to the arms conference in November will see only a few of these structures which were erected to house the thousands of war workers.

DEDICATION OF PAVILION AND FIRST BAND CONCERT LARGE CROWD ATTENDED

Lakefront Was Scene of Great Gathering Yesterday Afternoon

BAND WAS GREAT

PRESIDENT KNIGHT, OF C. C., PRESENTED THE PAVILION OF MAYOR STEVENS

The new pavilion was dedicated yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd made up of Sanford people and many from other nearby points. The Sanford band, under the able management of Bandmaster Edgar Ball, put up one of the finest programs of music that has been heard in Sanford in many years. After they had rendered three numbers on the program President Geo. W. Knight addressed the people and tendered the pavilion to the city of Sanford in a most able address. He outlined the work of the Chamber of Commerce in the formation of the Water Traffic League and told of the great need of co-operation upon the part of the people in enlarging the water traffic and showing the government that increased tonnage on the St. Johns river entitled the river to larger appropriations for deeper water, and if the various cities acting in conjunction with the Sanford Chamber of Commerce would keep up the good work the St. Johns would soon be filled with boats carrying passengers and freight that would make Sanford one of the largest cities in South Central Florida. Coming back to the pavilion he gave an outline of the work of the Tourist and Convention Committee of the Chamber of Commerce under the able leadership of Chairman Deane Turner and by the assistance of all those public spirited citizens who had assisted in the work, the pavilion had been built almost at cost—the first real step toward improving the lake front—the most valuable asset of this city of Sanford. He also thanked all those who gave of their time and those who had given materials at cost among them being S. O. Shindler, Sanford Construction Co., thru Contractor Pace; J. E. Terwilliger, Bull Hardware Co., Carter Lumber Co., George Venable, Frank Lessing, J. D. Hood, Frank Akers and many others. Col. Knight then tendered the pavilion to Mayor Stevens, who accepted it in a neat speech in which he also thanked the many people who had given their time and money toward the pavilion. He told about the aspirations of the city commissioners in their efforts to beautify the lake front and asked for the assistance of the people in keeping the pavilion clean and making it a place of rest and recreation for the tourists and visitors. He complimented Bandmaster Ball and the Sanford Band and said that they could feel at all times that Sanford and the City Commissioners were behind them and their good work appreciated. The entire band concert was greatly enjoyed and for more than an hour the big crowd enjoyed a program of music of which any city could well feel proud. Johnny Schirard, one of the youngest concert players in the state played a solo part in one selection that brought forth great applause and those present were well repaid for attending the concert.

Cars were parked all along Park avenue and out to the pavilion and on account of the sand near the pavilion some difficulty was experienced in getting close to the band stand but all of this will be repaired shortly by the widening of Park avenue into a hard surfaced street 40 feet wide with ample space on the lake front for turning of cars.

The pavilion is not an expensive or an ornamental structure. It was built economically and by the big-hearted contractors and their employees donating part of their time and the supply men giving all supplies at cost. It will be good for many years to come and while it was built economically it was built well and substantial of palmetto logs and with a wide roof that looks most attractive from the city and from the lake. It is the first time Sanford has ever erected a building on the lake front where people could sit down and enjoy the lake and it also affords an ideal floor for band concerts. It is 40x80 feet and has a good floor for dancing, if it is desired and in the summer time especially will prove most popular with home folks. It stands in the center of Park avenue on the bulkhead and the entrance to the city dock and is the beginning of great improvements on the lake front. The dedication speeches and the band concert gave the people a new insight into the wonderful possibilities of the lake front as the beauty spot and the pleasure resort of the future city of Sanford. It is something that the Herald has been talking about for fifteen years and now that the start has been made we can all rejoice in the fact that the people have seen the vision and the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, the city commission, the Woman's Club and all kindred organizations should be backed by the entire citizenship of Sanford for on our lake front lies more potential possibilities than any other part of Sanford.

Remaining turkeys will live to see a democratic congress.

WOMAN DENIES SUGGESTION THAT SHE HAVE OPERATION DEPRIVING HER OF CHILDREN

Judge Graham Also Denies That He Recommended Operation

(By The Associated Press)
DENVER, Colo., Nov. 28.—Judge Graham today denied he had recommended in court an operation for Mrs. Cassidante that would make it impossible for her to bear any more children, declaring he only told a reporter after court session that such an order might be entered under certain circumstances, which would include the consent of the parties concerned. He declaring that forcing the woman to submit to such an operation was not even in his mind when he made the remark.

DENVER, Nov. 28.—Confronted by recommendation in juvenile court here Saturday that she submit to an operation that would make it impossible for her to bear children, Mrs. Clyde Cassidante, mother of five children, said today she would not allow such operation to be performed upon her. "If I have children it is to the glory of God," she cried when informed of the recommendation. She was brought into court on complaint of social workers alleging her children were undernourished and her home in filthy condition.

STATE RESTED IN CLARK CASE TODAY NOON

Counsel for Defense Asks for Time for Lena to Rest

LENA TO TALK

TODAY FROM ALL INDICATIONS AND ATTORNEY DAVIS SAYS THIS IS HIS PLAN

(By The Associated Press)
ORLANDO, Nov. 28.—State shortly before noon today rested its case against Lena Clarke and Baxter Patterson, on trial here jointly charged with the murder of Fred Miltmore. E. W. Davis, of counsel for the defense requested the court to make the noon recess as long as possible in order to allow Lena Clarke time to rest as she was worn out. This was taken to mean that she would go on the stand this afternoon in her own defense and Davis told newspaper men later that was his plan at that time.

ORLANDO, Nov. 29.—The defense scored the first big victory in the Lena Clarke case Saturday when Judge Andrews allowed the evidence of Chief Vestal to be admitted.

Following the ruling of Judge Andrews the jury was recalled to the room and the witness related the confession which every effort of the defense to prevent had proved futile.

The state followed up its advantage and called to the stand Rena Norman, who had occupied the cell next to the one in which Lena Clarke was lodged the night of the tragedy.

"What have they got you for," she asked the new arrival in a friendly manner.

"I killed a man!" the new arrival replied.

"Later I asked her why she killed him, and she only laughed," he witness testified.

The court room drew a long breath of expectancy when the state called for Dr. A. P. Black, chemist at the University of Florida, who had made the chemical analysis of the stomach of Miltmore.

"I found no trace of alkaloid poisons in the organs sent me for analysis," came the testimony, and another problematical feature of the trial, closely guarded by the state's attorneys, was solved. The doctor explained that morphine, the drug Miss Clarke claimed in her first story to Chief Vestal, had been administered by her to Miltmore, would come under the classification of alkaloid poisons, of which there were a large number.

E. G. Hyder, manager of the Western Union telegraph office in Orlando, was called to the stand by the state to produce the telegrams which had been filed by Patterson for Miss Clarke immediately following the murder. He submitted five messages, filed at 8:47, and they were read as evidence. Their contents throw no light on the crime at Orlando. One to F. J. G. Puffer, U. S. postal inspector at West Palm Beach, asked him to come to Orlando immediately, or send some one else.

Mrs. Miltmore Last Witness.

The state called as the last witness of the day Mrs. F. A. Miltmore. Her testimony was immaterial but the figure in deep mourning was the cynosure of all eyes, and the twelve men in the jury box recorded the last trump of the state at the conclusion of the fifth day of the trial of Lena Clarke and Baxter H. Patterson.

The first week of the most memorable murder trial in the history of the state ended with the state announcing that it would complete its evidence Monday morning. Judge Andrews' ruling permitting the state to offer the testimony of Chief Vestal in regard to the confession of the defendant that she killed Miltmore, to the jury has woven a strong web of direct and circumstantial evidence to prove the guilt of the former West Palm Beach postmistress.

After the state completes its testimony Monday morning the defense will begin its real fight. Three separate campaigns, with each move clearly mapped out, could have been

Chamber of Commerce Should Be Assisted By All Live Organizations

Making a Strong Body Composed of All Other Clubs

Every other club in the city should bend their collective efforts toward making the Chamber of Commerce the central body around which all other organizations revolve. All organizations are doing their share of building up Sanford and they are all doing a great work but their efforts should be co-ordinated with the big work of the Chamber of Commerce in the real work of construction. The Chamber of Commerce is the working organization that has no restriction of membership and every man and woman in the county can be a member if they wish to join, thus giving all an opportunity to work for the county and city. Read what the heads of other organizations say regarding this attitude:

KIWANIS

"We thoroughly believe and heartily recommend that all Kiwanians affiliate with and give hearty support to their local Chambers of Commerce."

"We have record of at least sixteen communities in which there were no Chambers of Commerce and the local Kiwanis Clubs have been the means by which new Chambers of Commerce have been actually organized."—E. C. W. Parker, General Secretary, Kiwanis Club, International.

OPTIMISTS

"By all means every civic club member should affiliate with the Chamber of Commerce and actively support the community organization."

"The civic club is not intended to, should not, and does not attempt, to fill the place of the Chamber of Commerce under any circumstances. It is more personal and social in its relationship, whereas the central organization is designed and intended to meet the general needs of the whole community which the civic club cannot undertake to do."

"Every optimist supports the Chamber of Commerce."—Col. E. Morgan, International Optimist Club.

ROTARIANS

"Join it! Every Rotarian should be a member of the Chamber of Commerce."

"PAY YOUR DUES PROMPTLY. Don't make a collector out of the Secretary."

"Serve it! Assume the work you are best suited to and respond cheerfully when called upon to serve."

"Improve it! The ideas gathered in Rotary and elsewhere should become deeds through the Chamber of Commerce and affiliated organizations."

"The chief object of the Chamber of Commerce is to improve the city in which it is located. It is a business asset to the city. Demonstrate it."

"Insist on the Chamber of Commerce serving its purpose. Help guide it. If you have any suggestions to offer, make them to the organization. Don't criticize on the outside where such will only cause dissatisfaction and do no good."

"Demand a competent force; see that they are allowed some time to rest and gather new ideas."

"Support the Chamber of Commerce. This means more than joining and paying dues and perhaps working occasionally. It means 'Spending'

LAWRENCE HAYNES, TENOR WILL SING AT SANFORD FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9TH

The Music Lovers of "The City Substantial" Are Promised a Rare Treat

At the recent meeting of the executive board of the Campbell-Losing Post No. 53, American Legion of this city, a contract was entered into with the management of Lawrence Haynes, American Tenor, whereby Mr. Haynes will make a special appearance in a recital at Sanford for the benefit of the Legion Post building fund. This is an important step on the part of the Post and marks the first real effort of the local boys to start the fund for their home.

The date arranged is Friday, December 9th, and the recital will be in the High School Auditorium and is given the promise of the support of all of Sanford's civic societies as well as all friends of the Legion. In line with the determination of the Post that whatever they might attempt, is to be of the very highest order, the executive committee carefully reviewed a number of attractions and selected the Haynes Recital as an attraction of the very finest to be had.

In the past Sanford has enjoyed a number of excellent attractions in the musical line, various chautauqua and lyceum attractions have pleased large audiences, but it is certain that at no time in the past, has this city had the opportunity to know an artist of such note as Lawrence Haynes. Mr. Haynes is a native Floridian, he happens to be home on a visit. He is engaged for a long season in Continental Europe with his appearance in Paris booked for the Theatre Paret the latter part of March. His visit to Sanford is a tribute to the genius of the Legion officers, for during the stay of Mr. Haynes in this country, but ten recitals will be undertaken.

Following the High School Auditorium recital on the evening of December 9th, Mr. Haynes will fill his regular itinerary which includes New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington, and Richmond, finishing his tour at Jacksonville, thence returning to France. So that in securing Mr.

Haynes for Sanford, a rare treat is said to be in store for all who support the efforts of the Legion Post in their splendid entertainment.

Young Haynes has studied under the greatest masters. He spent sixteen years in France and Italy and during the world war, at the request of the French government (being an American he was not subject to order) Mr. Haynes was the song-leader of the greatest fighting machine in history, the famous "Blue Devils of France"—he traveled with them, and when they were sent on tour of the Allied world for purposes of propaganda, Haynes sang entirely in the French tongue. He has been quoted the world over for his rendition of "Le Marseillaise" his beautiful tenor voice leading and the great chorus swelled by a hundred voices of a hundred doubly decorated fighting men, the inspiration lives in the memory of millions.

Mr. Haynes sings several selections in French, Italian and Russian, but his program for Sanford is especially prepared and will include the popular numbers that never fail to please. He is not only the greatest American tenor but his name is a household word in Europe. He has the distinction of being the only American tenor in history, honored by "creating a master role. He is the originator of the Paris production of Parsifal, wherein he sang the great role and "arrived," as the French say. Mr. Haynes is supported by artists of the most careful selection. His director is Sig. Marco Mannucci, a musician well known to American musical circles. The entire Haynes organization is of the highest order and Sanford will fully appreciate the recital because of the star and the support as well.

Members of Post No. 53 are as a unit in the support of the event and are all offering tickets in an effort to make the evening of December 9th, one of the greatest local successes in Sanford's entertainment history.

JUDGE ANDREWS RULES ALLEGED CONFESSION OF LENA CLARKE ADMISSIBLE

Jury from the room, instructed the witness to proceed with the confession which he had obtained.

"When Mr. Gordon told me that it was a dead man he had found, I turned from the phone and said to Miss Clarke:

"The man is dead!"

"She replied, 'I only drugged him.'"

"Miss Clarke, you killed that man, didn't you?"

"No, I didn't kill him, I only drugged him," she said."

Chief Vestel then described how he had got up from his seat facing the woman across the desk, and gone around the table and seated himself on the edge of the table near where she sat in her chair. He described how beads of perspiration stood out upon her face and how he had used his handkerchief to wipe them away.

"Miss Clarke, you killed that man! You know you did! and you might as well tell me all about it!"

"Yes, I shot him because he tried to implicate me and others in the postal robbery, and he did it himself," she said."

Following the recital of the testimony which the state sought to introduce, the state's counsel took up the challenge which had been hurled by the defense.

E. W. Davis, from the ranks of the defense, arose to fight back with the legal weapons which he handles so skillfully after they have been sharpened by the "big four" of Lena M. T. Clarke, reinforced by the power of the allied forces of Patterson's counsel. He cited the law governing the use of an involuntary confession as evidence. Turning on the witness on the stand he fired a cross-examination which might have confused a less firm and intelligent witness. But though his questions were put with all the skill of a master at interrogation, the witness in his answers appeared to give the defense no loophole in which to insert a fuse of invidious that would have shattered the confession to which he testified. The effect of the witness's questions on Lena Clarke, the questions which had extracted the confession were sought.

yourself in aiding the Chamber of Commerce to make your city a little better than you found it."—Extract from official Handbook on Community Service, International Association of Rotary Clubs.

"Well, they had the required effect," the witness admitted. "In what position were your arms?" asked the counsel for the defense, and as the witness on the stand broke into a broad smile and said that he couldn't remember just the exact position, the court room was swept by a faint wave of merriment which was quelled when the judge turned to the bailiff, who shouted for order.

As the crowd slowly drifted from the court room with the adjournment following Judge Andrews' announcement that he would rule on the testimony at issue at the convening of court today there was the murmuring which indicates the existence of a unanimity of opinion presaging a victory which had been gained—a state victory on the first real clash of the trial.

The state, which had seemed to be outgeneralled during the first three days of the trial, during the jury selection proceedings and the introduction of its initial witnesses, gradually but surely, bit by bit, as it drew upon the long list of witnesses it had called, yesterday uncoiled the natural sequence of its evidence, to weave the web closer and closer about Lena M. T. Clarke. The fourth day of the trial, with the hand of the defense still uncalled, undoubtedly left the advantage so far resting with the state.

Fourteen witnesses altogether were called by the state during yesterday's hearing. W. P. Brandon, U. S. postal inspector sent to West Palm Beach postoffice went as far back as June, of 1918, when Lena Clarke was assistant postmaster. He testified as to the irregularities in the accounts of Miss Clarke; that the page which contained the record of the April, 1920, money order accounts had been torn out of the books kept for these accounts; also that a number of erasures were found in her cash book. He said that $31,085 of the stolen money had been recovered. He testified that $20,150 of the $32,000, which she had admitted taking by switching the rotary lock on the money pouch to a dummy pouch prepared by her, had been deposited to the credit of her paid money order account with the postmaster at Jacksonville, Fla. She stated in her confession, he testified, that this was to replace the cancelled money orders which had disappeared in May, 1920, and which she told them Millmore had burned. He said that Miss Clarke had covered her shortages by what is known as "kiting," or using the receipts from the new month to cover the shortages in the month which had closed.

Patterson's counsel endeavored to keep the testimony of Mrs. Charles Rock, the public stenographer who had taken the testimony at the preliminary hearing, from being given, but the objection of the defense was overruled. She testified regarding the evidence of Patterson at the preliminary hearing, relative to a conversation he had with a man and woman at Melbourne in which he said he was on his way to Orlando on business pertaining to a $32,000 postal robbery in the West Palm Beach office.

W. O. Thompson, the auto mechanic with Patterson the night he was in Orlando, was called to testify as to the movements, etc., of Patterson that evening. T. P. Rooney testified as to the time the shot was fired from the direction of the room of Lena Clarke, which he heard while seated near the office in front of the San Juan garage. R. L. White, automobile dealer, in his testimony fixed the time of this shot at around 8:15, the same as the time fixed by Rooney. White was seated in his car in front of the Empire Hotel.

Joe Williams and Morris Sanders, negro bell boys at the San Juan the night of the tragedy, were put on the stand by the state. Sanders testified to answering a call to Miss Clarke's room and being given a note with a dollar, but before she could explain to whom she wanted the note delivered a man had appeared behind him in the hall and Miss Clarke had said, "Oh, never mind, here he is now." The man was described by the negro as wearing a straw hat and spectacles.

Sarah Saunders, the negro operating the elevator the night Miss Clarke was registered at the hotel, said that she had taken her upstairs, and also Patterson later in the evening, and that she had brought them down together.

Nick Reiger and Harry Waters, both clerks at the San Juan, were called to the stand. Reiger testified to Mrs. Henry Wilson, from Atlanta, and to later learning that her name was Miss Lena Clarke when Patterson asked for her under that name and giving the room she was in. Patterson was in the lobby with her, he said. Waters testified to her coming down around 9 o'clock and asking for the location of the police station and to Patterson's joining her in the street outside.

Miss Ruth Oliver, the switchboard operator at the San Juan on August 1 last, testified that she had seen

"We have quit talking turkey for Thanksgiving but would like to talk turkey about Christmas."

The Daily and Weekly Herald are endeavoring to bring the people to Sanford to trade. We offer the merchants the best Christmas advertising they have ever had.

All is not gold that glitters and newspaper men have their troubles just like other people. Simply because we smile and carry on is no reason that we are always happy.

The Rotary Club and kindred organizations scatter more sunshine along life's pathway than any other big force in any city. That idea of good fellows getting together, singing songs and telling of their trials and tribulations does much to inspire us to greater efforts.

CHRIS. CODRINGTON.

Chris. Codrington has passed. For many years he was engaged in the business of editing and conducting a newspaper. He fought fearlessly and unafraid all that he thought was wrong and, although he was not always on the side of public opinion, any more than his fellow editors are, he never tempered his editorials to the wandering breeze of public favor, but took his stand and gave blow for blow. He printed newspapers in the early days when printing newspapers and having an opinion was as much as the editor's life was worth, but Chris. Codrington never backed down. His pen at times was dipped in vitriol but it was always launched in the cause that he thought was right and he leveled his guns at a target no matter how high it might be in the forums of the people.

His was a kindly nature and he helped the poor and needy whenever occasion arose and his many kindly deeds were done with it any public notice and without ostentation. He did not like the limelight and preferred to live his life in his own way content to be friendly to his friends and standing by them when they needed a real friend.

As one of his closest and best friends the editor of The Herald misses Chris. Codrington as only an old and dear friend can be missed. We saw him only a few times a year but his hearty hand-clasp and his real friendship were ever there and he will linger long in our memory as one of the old guard of Florida journalism. We shall miss his wit and his Parthian shots and his editorial writings. We shall miss his assistance in helping us to bring about better things in this part of the state. We shall miss him as a brother editor first and as a real friend most of all. His faults we will bury in the sands and his virtues will be preserved forever in the tablets of our memory.

Good-bye, old friend.

VAMPING THEM RIGHT.

From the way Thorn goes after chautauqua agents, he must have been stung, and from the description of the person he says always plays the chief role, it must have been a "sweet darling, vampish" sort of female.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

Good. Also correct. The shows travelling about the country under the guise of "chautauqua" bear the same co-relation to a real chautauqua as a house-cat does to an African tiger. As to what constitutes a "chautauqua" see any reliable dictionary; after that, all discussion is useless. Last season there came to Kissimmee, as to all other cities in this section of Florida, a couple of dames with words sweeter than honey, with garments that were—well, to say the least, that were so—m—u attractive, and a smile that was as sweet as a young girl's first dream of a kiss from her first lover. Uh-huh. They didn't land me—'r I've been fooled before, but they did land a lot of those more susceptible to blandishments. Then erlong come the performance and they put on the show. Everything was velvet for them. Their three squares were provided for and their lodging is guaranteed by "local representative citizens." And thereafter the said l. r. e. had to dig down and rake up the cash to fill the gap that needed bridging. When a minstrel show comes to Kissimmee it comes on its own initiative; it may break even, go in the hole, make a profit; but it doesn't ask a guarantee fund. If these vaudeville shows that travel under the name de weren't a bunch of beggers and grafters, they'd be willing to do the same thing. Why should a man pay a high price to listen to a lecture on "The Sympatation of the Chimpanzee on Relation to the Vomitation of Mount Anetna" when he can for two bits buy the whole thing in magazine form—together with a lot of real good reading upon interesting subjects?

Still, there's something in that vomp business to which the Reporter-Star alludes—and it may be possible that the folks on that paper have not been stung by these same two women—and had to utilize their check-books to issue some documents that wouldn't come under the "had" check ruling.—Kissimmee Gazette.

DON'T KICK YOUR TOWN.

There is no better evidence of a commendable spirit than that of loyalty to the town in which you live.

If a town is worth living in it is worth defending and supporting in its efforts to advance with the rest of the world.

Yet in almost every community you will find people who can see no good in their surroundings.

They cannot recognize the fact that though it may be humble, it yet is home—that it has clothed them, and fed them, and cared for them in sickness and in health, and has furnished them friends who have been steadfast and true.

They often make life miserable for others and invariably make it a reproach to themselves.

But there is a brighter side to this story.

The abuse these short sighted people heap upon their place of abode generally falls upon unsympathetic ears.

Their friends and neighbors know them as they are—as people who might have been valuable citizens capable of constructive work, but whose dispositions have been warped in younger days, possibly through no particular fault of their own.

Their criticisms are listened to with good natured patience, but are forgotten as soon as uttered.

The views of the cronic kicker and fault finder have less weight than those of any other adult element of the human race.

When he thinks he is kicking his town he generally finds he is kicking himself instead.—Exchange.

REAL MEDICINAL VALUE OF FLORIDA CITRUS FRUITS

Recent medical research has demonstrated beyond doubt that citrus fruits are more necessary in the general scheme of dietetics than was formerly supposed. It has shown that the grapefruit or orange eaten as a first course at breakfast is a most valuable body regulator. It has proven that oranges and grapefruit are of value in many forms of sickness, and that there are few persons who cannot benefit by their daily use.

"Citrus fruits may be fed to persons who have delicate stomachs," says the fruit juice expert of the United States Department of Agriculture. They introduce into the system salts and organic acids which improve the quality of the blood and react favorably on the secretions," says the superintendent of one of the largest hospitals in the country, herself a dietitian of international note. "They serve as laxatives and to combat conditions arising from malnutrition. They are refreshing stimulate the appetite."

Orange juice has come to be one of the most highly welcomed drinks in fever cases. When the blood becomes superheated in its effort to burn out invading armies of disease germs—that is the cause of fever—and when the weakened patient feels little desire even for a cooling draft of water, the grateful flavor of orange juice serves not only to allay thirst, but also provides a certain amount of nutriment so nearly predigested as to be easily assimilable in its original form. Orange juice leaves no residue to undergo putrefaction in the colon, as is the case with meat, eggs and most other foods. A fever patient may drink two or three quarts a day without taking an excess of food material which might give rise to further trouble.

Those suffering from malaria are also greatly benefited by making their breakfast of oranges, four or six or as many as can be eaten, and by using unsweetened lemonade between meals.

Pellagra is prevalent among the Chinese, it is believed, not only because of their limited diet of dried fish and rice, but because no lime or lemon juice is included in their diet, as they dislike this most necessary food element.

Undoubtedly we have at last discovered the real province of citrus fruits, for in them we have not only palate pleasure of the most desirable sort, but also health builders and body tonics that would recommend them even if their own fine flavor were not present.

What we must now work out is some way to preserve these valuable juices in bottled or dried form, so that the waste in the regions where these fruits are grown may be done away with, and their valuable acids conserved for all mankind—so that they become more and more a staple food available to the poorest and to the remotest sections of the earth.

Society Gives Up Smoking. Smoking has become such a bourgeois habit that many women of the London aristocracy who have been using tobacco are now shunning it, at least in public.

At the moment the use of tobacco by women has become abnormal; besides, many tobaccoists are manufacturing small briar pipes for feminine use.

Stopping a Hemorrhage. Dr. F. C. Hilgenberg has a novel method of stopping hemorrhage. IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weaknesses result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome.

HAD MIGHTY SUSPICIOUS LOOK

Washington Correspondent Tells of Joke Played by Senators on Veteran Capitol Barber.

One of the most remarkable things about men, he they of high or low estate, is that they never grow up.

Take for instance, that group of elder statesmen in the United States senate. Here is the trick they were caught playing on Sims, the old negro barber at the capitol, who has been shaving them and their kind for forty years.

Sims is a preacher and great Biblical authority when he is not shaving senators. He is profoundly religious.

So, when Senator Harry New of Indiana told Sims that he had a present for him, the venerable barber walked into the trap all unsuspecting.

The senator said he wanted to bestow his present in private. He and Sims went into an anteroom. The senator squatted down and Sims did likewise. The senator took from his pocket a large-sized pair of dice and rolled them out on the carpet.

At this moment a group of senators, in the plot with New, burst into the room. There, apparently, were Senator New and the old barber, despite his protestations of religion, shooting craps. The statesmen were horrified.

"Le Chef" is an Artist, Too. "Chester, the original of Sir William Orpen's famous picture "Le Chef," which the artist had presented to the Royal Academy as his diploma work, is now chef of the grill at the Royal Palace hotel, Kensington, London.

The manager of the hotel, being in Paris on business, called, out of curiosity, at the Hotel Chatham to see the chef whose portrait had attracted such attention. In conversation "Chester" would talk of nothing but a wonderful new sauce he had just made.

He immediately offered him a very substantial salary in return for his services during the season. "Chester" at first refused to leave Paris, but finally succumbed to what is said to be the largest salary an assistant chef has ever earned.—London Times.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW BANQUET

The men and boys of the four chapters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of Holy Cross Parish sat down to their annual banquet Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. This banquet given by the Rev. Father Peck is an annual and most interesting event in the life of Sanford B. S. A. The boys and men, some fifty strong, enjoyed with hearty appetites two beautifully roasted pigs served whole on the dish, each holding a rosy apple in his mouth. With English peas, sweet corn and sweet potatoes, olives, pickles, fruit salad, ice cream, cake, coffee and cocoa. The boys declared they had the best feast of their life.

Chris Matthews carved at one table and Walter Routh performed at another.

After all had feasted to the limit, Father Peck gave the boys a nice little talk and called on the newly elected director of the Senior chapter, Mr. Matthews for a few words. Mr. Matthews in his speech, told of the work of the Chapter for the last year just closed and outlined his program for the coming year, calling on all the boys for their assistance in pushing forward this work. Next Father Peck called on Joe Meisch, captain of the Junior Basket ball team, who spoke to the boys of his team encouraging them for more practice and work. Next Father Peck called on Robert Robinson, who was our delegate to the National Convention of the Brotherhood at Norfolk, Va. Mr. Robinson told of the 1,600 delegates at that convention from all over the U. S. He told of the enthusiasm of these delegates and brought back to Sanford many valuable ideas for our home work. His talk besides being on the religious and educational side also told us about the most interesting trip to Jamestown. Wm. H. Holden, next was called and spoke of the social life of the B. S. A. Again Father Peck introduced in his clever way Lyle Tapp, who told us of his trip through the West, who said that he had learned how to appreciate our Brotherhood here on account of not being able to find a Brotherhood chapter in Pueblo and other cities of the west. Wm. Dufosse was called on to speak on "How he was boosting the B. S. A. at home" and Billy gave a good account of some boys who tried to tell him that the Boy Scouts were better than the B. S. A., and Billy downed them in each argument. Father Peck next called for the Brotherhood Hymn to be sung and it was worth anybody's while to hear fifty boys and men sing this hymn. Again Father Peck called on our newly elected vice-director, Tom Meredith. Tom spoke on the swimming parties at the lakes and other outings the Brotherhood had enjoyed during the past season. Edward Brady said he was slowly grasping the B. S. A. idea and he believed the Sanford Chapter was on a solid rock foundation. Amos Wimlish told how the Brotherhood impressed him during the short time he has been with it.

Wm. Gillon, who was present with his father at the Fathers and Sons banquet has interested his father in the brotherhood and hopes that his father will now be an active member. Alton Gunter told the gathering of a little hunting expedition he and Father Peck and others had. James Hoolahan spoke on how much he enjoyed the pig. We had a visitor from Virginia, Mr. Wade, who spoke for a few minutes encouraging the men and boys in their work. Pig Mason made a right good speech asking all the boys for co-operation in the work, and asking those who do not play basket ball to back up those who do. Bunny Tillis said it was the best organization he knew and does not want to belong to any other. Louis Shipp spoke on better attendance of members.

At this point Rev. Father Peck turned the meeting over to Director Matthews, and Mr. Matthews called for a rising vote of thanks for Father Peck, for this sumptuous banquet, and for the good, Father Peck has done for Sanford through the Brotherhood.

The class then adjourned to the Parish House where they marched in to the church in pairs and at the appointed time approached the Chancel renewing their obligations for another year and receiving their Brotherhood buttons.

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.—Adv.

THE WEATHER

Fair and cooler Monday; Tuesday fair. Colder in the South.

J. G. Ball went to Jacksonville today on a business trip.

Watch for the big Christmas edition of the Daily and Weekly Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Farnelle of Oviedo were among the visitors to the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly attended the funeral of Chris. Codrington at DeLand this morning.

W. L. Morgan spent Sunday with homefolks. He reports a good trade throughout his territory.

Several from DeLand and Orlando and other cities will attend the Legion dinner-dance at the Valdez hotel tonight.

A number of special sales will be pulled off by the Sanford merchants to encourage Christmas trade. See the Daily Herald for real bargains.

Melville's Comedians start a week's engagement tonight in the big tent
on First street, near the postoffice.
They need no introduction to Sanford people.

Many folks from Orlando and surrounding cities were here yesterday afternoon attending the band concert and pavilion dedication on the lake front.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and son, Joe, of Lakeland, were here a short time today en route to attend the Codrington funeral. Mr. Brown is editor of the Lakeland Telegram.

The signs of colder weather are obvious today, although the weather report does not state that any special cold snap will take place. The change in the weather will help the lettuce crop greatly.

The many friends of J. M. Neeley will regret to learn that he was taken suddenly ill in Atlanta, while attending a life insurance convention, and is now in a hospital in that city and is very low.

Messrs. Marsh, Nelson and Huff left Saturday for New York where they will complete the plans for the new cold storage plant. Mrs. Huff and little daughter will spend the winter here, much to the delight of the many friends of the family.

Col. George W. Knight is limping around like he had just returned from the wars. He had the misfortune to sprain one of his ankles the other day stepping off a porch and he has joined the crutches brigade for a few weeks, but it doesn't keep him from attending to business as usual.

The boys of the High School football team returned from Daytona yesterday. They were defeated by the DeLand eleven, but they put up a game fight and were almost victorious when several penalties put on them carried them back and took victory from them. They all had a good time, however, and feel that they put up the game of their lives.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

It looks better, it looks better. Rather dark this morning and a touch of chilliness from the north which might presage a cold spell of some sort. Just think of it, friends. A little cold weather right now would mean thousands of dollars for all of us. Can we get it? Well you know Lucky Sanford and the seventh inning and it is now the last half of the sixth. How did you like our Billion Dollar Band yesterday and our Million Dollar Pavilion?

Bert Melville and Melville's com-

Sanford friends are glad to see them here for a week. Melville never fails to please the people and he has a fine show this season. Watch the Herald for daily programs and attend the show on the lake front in the big show on First street in the big tent.

HOLY CROSS BAZAAR AND SUP- PER

Bazaars are as numerous at this season as in the streets of Cairo, but one that you really can't afford to miss, is the one held by the Women's Guild of the Holy Cross Parish, on Thursday and Friday, December 1st and 2nd at their improved and enlarged Parish House which will just be ready for them. Not only are these women famous as good cooks and generous servers, but there are to be unusual and unique features this year.
An oriental street, with booths representing several nationalities will display fancy work, aprons, hand made lingerie, children's things, candy and growing plants. The Girls Friendly Society will represent Porto Rico and have drawn work for sale. Boys and girls of the various organizations are selling tickets for 10c each, which may be applied on any purchase at the bazaar. There will be a tableaux the last evening showing some of the new fashions. Baamel has charge of this, and the models displayed are from that shop. Sylvia will make her entrance and be seen on the street at 9 o'clock each evening. The last evening she will disclose her identity and the person who has first guessed it correctly, will be awarded the prize.
"Who is Sylvia? What is She?"
And the supper, the first night a chicken dinner for $1.00 per plate.
Listen to the menu:
Roast chicken with dressing and gravy, cranberry sauce, macaroni with tomato sauce and your choice of new potatoes with cream sauce or rice, Sanford lettuce with dressing, Mayonnaise or boiled; hot home made rolls; lemon or pumpkin pie or orange and apricot ice with cake. Tea or coffee. Doesn't it sound good? The second night an oyster supper a la carte, cocktails, stew or fry. Mrs.
Rumph's potato salad, chicken sandwiches, hot rolls again and the same desserts. Be sure and come. Supper served from 5 p. m. until the good things are gone.

SAYS WAR HELPED RELIGION

Big Fight Made Soldiers Better Men,
Is Assertion Made by Man Who Knows Them.

The American soldier came out of the war with more religion than he went in, according to Rev. Henry Russell Talbot, canon of the National cathedral at Washington, who arises to defend the doughboy from the libel
that the "war ruined him."

"He is a better man for having been in the army," asserts the canon, referring to the veteran, the Stars and Stripes states.

Canon Talbot was senior chaplain of the First division of the American expeditionary forces. In a communication to national headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis he admits the American, as he saw him in France, was "uncommonly timid in the exercise of his religion. He was frightened at his own religious shadow or he might have been grossly ignorant of the content and practice of his religion."

But as the First division's senior chaplain, the canon was in charge of all the private belongings of the 1,500 Americans killed in the ten days' fighting in the Argonne, and in line out of every ten of the men's kits found a crucifix, scapular, prayerbook or testament. "And in those days," Canon Talbot writes, "the First division was not carrying anything it did not deem essential."

"There was a kind of collectivism which outruns the ordinary standards of honesty," declares the canon, "but underneath there was implicit, if not explicit, reverence for the Son of Man."

REVEAL THEIR ARMY TRAINING

Ex-Service Men Instinctively Line Up
When a Crowd Is Waiting to Be Served.

Army training still manifests itself
in civilian life, and former soldiers automatically fall into line when they must wait to be served. In the army the men spent a great deal of their time waiting in line for mess, drawing stuff from the supply sergeant and a dozen other purposes.

The old army training revealed itself strongly during the recent hot spell at the Brooklyn Central Y. M.
C. A., when apparently most of the 10,000 members sought to take advantage of the swimming pool. Crowds of young men stormed the locker rooms each evening. The ex-service men set the example by lining up and taking their turns to reach the gate.
As each elevator disembarked its load
the former soldiers automatically went to the rear. Younger men who had not had his training and sought to edge in line were promptly pulled out and sent to their station.
No ex-service man who has stood in line to draw a pair of socks or get a mess kit full of "stun" will permit
anyone to get ahead of him.

Varying Strength of Sunlight

There is practically no such thing as overlighting, writes J. H. Kurlan-der, in describing for the General Science Quarterly a series of tests made by the lighting service department of the Edison lamp works. He adds: "Investigation of places which are said to be overlighted will usually show that,
if anything, they are glaringly under-lighted."
These tests showed that sunlight in an open field measures 8,000-foot candle power (which means that it gives the illumination that would be given by 8,000 candles a foot distant). Sunlight in a street between buildings measures 3,000-foot candles. Shadow in a street between buildings measures 300; under a tree in the open, 500. The light on an office desk next to a south window has an intensity of 110-foot candles; one ten feet in, 70, and one 18 feet in, 50. At inside benches between two exposures only 20.

The Guileless Yokel.

James H. Howard, president of the Farm Bureau federation, said in Washington the other day:
"The farmer is going to market his own product hereafter. The farmer of the past, who let the middleman collar all the profit of the farm, was more guileless than Cornelius Husk."
"Corn, Husk, you know, came to New York to see his uncle. He got off at the Pennsylvania station and asked a policeman how long a walk
it was to his uncle's place.
"You'd better take the elevated," the policeman said, handing back the card with the address on it. "It's a seven-mile walk to where you're going."
"Well, by erimus, I'll walk her,
anyhow," said Corn Husk. "Seven miles, though! Say, ain't there no short cut across the fields?"

Memorial for Baxter Dogs.

At the summer home of Governor
Baxter of Maine on Mackworth Island, Casco bay, are buried all the dogs owned by him which have died since 1887, says a Boston dispatch to the New York Times. The governor is now having made a bronze tablet, giving the names and record of these animals.
This will rest on the face of a big granite boulder, around which the dogs have been buried.
The dogs were all of the same family and strain of Irish setters. The first and great grandmother was Glen corn, given to the governor in 1887 by his father, the late James P. Baxter of Portland, Me.
The governor has raised about seventy-five of these dogs, and while he has sold a few, most of those he has not been able to give to friends.

FORREST LAKE STATES HIS POSITION.
To the Voters of Sanford:
It has come to my attention that efforts are still being made to have the people believe that if elected City Commissioner I would disrupt our present form of government.
Now nothing could be further from the truth than such propaganda, for the following reasons:
First: I will be only one of three commissioners and could not do any act without being joined by one or more of the others.
Second: The City Commissioners cannot under the law abolish the present charter, even though they all combine.
The city charter can only be changed by an act of the legislature, or by a vote of the people themselves.
Furthermore, I have no desire to upset the present form of government, as it is the substance that counts in anything, and not the form.
However, there can doubtless be some improvements made in the present charter as has already been demonstrated, for example, the present method of nominating candidates; but such improvements are matters for the legislature, or for the people themselves, and cannot be effected by the commissioners.
I believe that the administrative affairs of the city can be run on a more economical basis than is being done at present, and at the same time,
with greater efficiency, and if elected
I shall work to that end.
I believe that the law requiring a budget for each fiscal year's revenues and expenses should be rigidly followed, and that the administrative affairs of the city should be conducted on that basis.
I have made no statement or promise of what I shall do if elected, and shall not do so, except such public statements as may be published over my signature, as in this one.
Sincerely,
FORREST LAKE.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR TURNS GRAY, FADED HAIR DARK AND GLOSSY

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.
Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick, and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.
