

General Motors To Cut Prices On All Vehicles

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Price cuts ranging from $10 to $40 on all types of all its cars and trucks were announced today by General Motors Corp. The reductions are effective immediately and come with announcement of downward adjustment in the cost of living allowance to be paid GM employees.

An adjustment of the cost of living allowance given GM employees is part of the contract between GM and its hourly and salaried workers. It is revised according to the cost of living index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Under the terms of the adjust-sion, these apparently would be the major sources of possible American aid.

1. The special $75,000,000 armament voted President Truman by Congress last year. He has a free hand to use it in the general area of China without a formal accounting.

2. The point four program of technical assistance for the war-torn undeveloped areas. The program is now pending in Congress.

3. Loans from the government's Export-Import Bank, like the $100,000,000 credit earmarked last month for Indonesia.

4. A limited share of the Marshall Plan funds voted for Western Europe. France reportedly would like to use some of its recovery dollars in Indo-China. Britain might do the same in Malaya.

Griffin is publisher of the Montreal Poincaré Herald. He was deputy to Roger Laplante, when the San Francisco mayor was chief of the Marshall Plan mission to China before the Communist sweep of last summer.

In the new survey, Griffin will be accompanied by a small group of technical experts, and by Samuel Hayes, an aide of assistant secretary of state William L. Fogel, and William McAfee, an official of the State Department's Far Eastern Bureau.

In the new survey, there will be a two-cent hourly reduction in the cost of living allowance for 200,000 hourly rated employees and a 10-quarterly reduction in cost of living allowance paid approximately 72,000 salaried workers. This revision will be effective Mar. 1.

Help Keep Sanford and Seminole County Growing

We have seen during the past ten years how consistent advertising and untiring efforts on the part of the Chamber of Commerce have brought results to our various communities.

Seminole County has made remarkable strides and although we do not claim all the credit for our present prosperity and growth, we have seen many of the projects for which we have worked realized, and we can visualize continued growth in the future if these efforts are continued:

HOW SANFORD HAS GROWN

1940--2,902 meters	1950--5,114 meters	Increase 76%
WATER METERS
1937--1,811 meters	1950--2,836 meters	Increase 64%

Seminole County 1940--22,304	1950--30,000 Estimate
Sanford 1940--10,217	1950--17,000 Estimate

This has been Seminole County's greatest tourist year and it has resulted from consistent advertising, obtaining proper facilities for entertainment and providing what limited housing facilities we have. If we continue our advertising, entertainment and providing more housing facilities, this business will continue to grow. We estimate we have 2500 tourists in Seminole County. Competent authorities estimate that each tourist is worth $10.00 a day, so you can see how important this business is to our economy.

Backyard Is Termed Neglected Outpost in War On Mosquito

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., Feb. 27 — (AP) — You can make your backyard — and even your living room — key frontiers in the war against mosquitoes this summer.

This was the view today of some of the delegates attending a conference designed to marshal the best methods of fighting nature's No. 1 summer bummer throughout the world. They said the householders' backyard and living room were the most neglected areas in the battle against the pest.

Robert Vannote said that mosquito-control New Jersey has so far not seen any evidence that its posts are taking DDT in stride, but he added: "We've not been depending upon DDT alone anyway. We employ a combination of methods, including drainage, inspection and spraying with a number of things including fuel oil and pyrethrum."

And these are breeding places, he declared, which can well be the situation of professional mosquito-fighters concentrating on ditches, canals and other potential breeding spots in the community.

The views were expressed in lectures by key American experts at a delegates attending a payee sponsored jointly by the American Mosquito Abatement Association and the Virginia state mosquito control commission.

They are Harold P. Gray, of Oakland, Calif., president of the National Association; Perry W. Smith, technical advisor of the Norfolk, Va., mosquito control commission; and Robert Vannote, a New Jersey mosquito expert.

Among the more than 300 delegates are men from Mexico, Canada, Hawaii, Cuba, Venezuela and elsewhere.

President Gray said householders who go in for decorative plants indoors should see to it that they are changed at least every 10 days lest it nurture "thousands" of mosquitoes.

He says that reports of mosquitoes becoming resistant to DDT means that in the coming Spring the summer the "skelter" war might be a little more difficult than previously.

His suggestion for mosquito fighters using DDT or any chemical in this: "Give 'em Hell or give 'em nothing" — meaning that if any chemical is to be used, it should be used in sufficient quantities to effect any tendency to build up resistance to it.

Perry Ruth, of Norfolk, declared that no matter how powerful the insecticide, the important thing is to find out first where the mosquitoes are breeding.

"You have to find them before you can kill them," he said, pointing out that water collecting in a hole could nurture a colony.

Hints To Housewives

When white cotton or linen goods, such as sheets, curtains, or tablecloths, have stayed long in storage, sometimes there is an unpleasant discovery that the fabric isn't white as it once was. It has yellowed in spots or all over.

What to do, is a question frequently put to Margaret Furry, textile chemist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Try the simplest remedy first she advises. Launder the yellowed article carefully and hang it in the sun to bleach as it dries. Or, dampen the article out in the sun. If sun bleaching isn't practical or fails to work, chemical bleach may succeed. Use such chemicals with care, for if too long on a fabric, they will weaken or even rot it.

If using a commercial packaged bleach follow directions on the package. If a bleach solution is made at home, use of the safest to apply is sodium perborate. To treat a small stain, dissolve two or three teaspoons of sodium perborate in a cup of water and soak the stained place for a minute or two. Rinse and repeat if necessary. To treat a larger stain, prepare the solution in larger proportions. Whatever the kind of bleach, be sure to wash it out of the fabric at once, after treatment.

One cause of yellowing during long storage is a chemical change of oxidation that comes with aging of the fiber. Heat of some storage places, such as attics, and also light may hasten this effect. Soap left in a fabric for a long time may cause yellow stain. So may tea and coffee, which often produce faint stains, as first white. Darken with time, iron rust is another yellow stain which can develop, due to some iron compound in bluing or wash water.

Post-storage troubles with such stains on white goods can be reduced by pre-storage care. Have articles thoroughly clean before storing, the textile chemist advises. Wash out any soap or bluing. If fabrics have been treated with chlorine bleaches in laundering, neutralize the chlorine with a little vinegar in the rinse water and then rinse in clear water.

Then store the articles where they will get best possible protection from heat and from light.

FSC President To Observe 25th Year In Office

LAKELAND, Feb. 27 — (Special) — Dr. Ludd M. Spivey observes his 25th anniversary as president of Florida Southern College here during an elaborate program planned for Founders' Week, Feb. 27-March 7.

During Founders' Week this year the college observes its own 65th anniversary as well as Dr. Spivey's 25th.

The tremendous growth and expansion of Florida Southern in the past 25 years is due largely to the efforts and leadership of its dynamic president.

When Dr. Spivey arrived in Lakeland in 1935 from Birmingham-Southern College, where he was dean, Florida Southern consisted only of two buildings in a large orange grove, a faculty of 15, a student body of about 300 and a debt of $200,000.

Today there are 45 buildings, with 10 more planned for construction in the future; a year-around enrollment of 2400; and a faculty and staff of 125 persons. The entire college indebtedness was removed in 1955 — the year accreditation came from the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the year an extensive building program was started.

Besides furnishing the leadership for enlarging the college

Coal Situation

(Continued From Page One) argue its case before a jury, and decided to let Judge Richmond B. Keach rule on the evidence as well as the law.

The big question is whether the union is responsible for the refusal of the coal miners to go back to work.

Keach issued an order Feb. 11 for a return to work, but the miners have ignored it.

The union's attorneys have contended that the miners are acting individually—that the union itself has nothing to do with the present plant, faculty and student body. Dr. Spivey provided the inspiration for a radical departure in educational architecture when he commissioned Frank Lloyd Wright to design the new west campus of the college. The buildings have attracted national attention.

A native of Alabama, Dr. Spivey attended Vanderbilt University and the University of Chicago. He received the degrees of A. B., M. A. and Ph. D. from the latter institution, and also holds the degrees of LL. D. and Ed. D.

Before becoming dean of Birmingham-Southern, Dr. Spivey served several years in the Methodist ministry and now is a member of the Florida Conference of the Methodist Church.

stribe. Once the union's plea was formally entered, the government began attempting to show that the union is responsible for keeping the mines idle to the point of a national coal famine.

Wally K. Hopkins, general counsel for Lewis' union, said he was waiving a trial by jury for "reasons which need not be entered in the record in detail."

Hopkins then moved that Judge Keach dismiss the proceeding. The judge immediately denied that motion and Hopkins entered the plea of innocent.

The courtroom was crowded, mainly with lawyers, newspapermen and close associates of the union or operators. A long queue lined up outside the courtroom door.

The case came to trial after a week-end of frantic but futile efforts to get a settlement of the coal contract dispute that might have let the government drop the charges.

Federal negotiators forced a Sunday session. They kept it running into the early hours of this morning. But the union and the operators could not get together.

In the coal fields, meantime, the 372,000 miners doggedly stuck to their refusal to work without a new contract, despite the court's orders and the snow-balling hardship over the country from lack of coal.

At the White House, Presidential Press Secretary Charles Rosen told reporters there would be "nothing here on coal" during the day. Some congressmen have been clamoring for the president to seek power to seize the mines, believing the miners would go back to work under government control of the pits.

John L. Lewis, leader of the mine workers union, was not in the courtroom. He was attending the funeral of a brother at Springfield, Ill.

The government has not charged Lewis personally with contempt. Lewis twice has made public appeals to the miners to go back to work.

The first witness called by the government was the clerk of court, Harry M. Trull. He testified as to the details of the court order for an end to the strike.

Meanwhile, two judges and a university professor make up the Presidential board which will inquire into the facts behind the railroad strike which originally had been set for today.

Creation of the board by President Truman automatically delayed the strike for 60 days. The dispute, over wages and working conditions, has been going on a year. Conductors and trainmen are the unionists involved.

Mr. Truman on Saturday selected these men for the fact-finding board, which is to report in 30 days: Chief Justice Roger T. Taft, Jr. of the U. S. Supreme Court, Professor Gordon S. Watkins of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Judge Mart J. O'Malley of the Indiana Supreme Court.

An AFL electrical workers union served notice today that it is terminating its contract with Westinghouse Electric Corp. of Pittsburgh.

The contract covers workers in Westinghouse plants across the nation.

Unless a new contract is consummated prior to May 1, a statement said, "it is likely that these local plants will result."

The statement was issued by Daniel W. Tracy, president of the AFL International Brotherhood Electrical Workers.

30,000 NEW "BOOSTERS" FOR FLORIDA...

On February 15, the Common Stock of Florida Power & Light Company, formerly held by American Power & Light Company, was distributed to some 30,000 investors throughout the U.S. and in many foreign countries. All these people now have a direct stake in Florida's future.

WE HOPE that those who do not already live in Florida will come down and see our State for themselves. We're going to urge them to do so. If they do, they'll see that this is the finest place on earth to live.

BEHIND THE BEACHES, they'll find there's more to Florida than meets the eye at first glance... thriving new industries - electronics, wearing apparel, plastics, paper - moving in beside such already well established profit makers as agriculture, minerals, livestock, fishing and forest products.

THESE NEW PARTNERS will find Sunshine Service supplying plenty of power for Florida's growing prosperity. They'll see that Florida's economy is sound and expanding... and that their company is pushing ever outward to new horizons...

Uncontrolled Birthrate Of Dutch Nation May Bring Economic Doom

By GLENN WILLIAMS

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Feb. 27. — (AP) — The Dutch are breeding themselves into overcrowded poverty.

American Marshall Plan officials here say frankly the uncontrolled birthrate will bring mass unemployment and still lower living standards for the Dutch.

Prime Minister Willem Drees, a kindly, fatherly man acknowledges that the birthrate "makes much difficulty."

There was a high birthrate 20 to 25 years ago and those people are now in the best period of life and are having children, Drees says. "The population will make very difficult for us. We must have food, raw materials, and houses."

The Dutch birthrate has run as high as 80 per 1,000 since the war — 25 per cent higher than it needs to be to replace the population. The population has doubled, from five million to ten million, in 60 years. It still is increasing by upwards of 175,000 a year.

A national campaign for birth control and smaller families would be social, political and religious dynamite in this country.

The reasons lie in religious conflict between Protestants and Catholics almost as deep as the which split Europe into warring factions after the Reformation.

Well informed Dutchmen and American observers detect a heaving population race between the rival religions. Calvinists fear the Catholics will outbreed them and dominate the country. A similar fear seems to animate many Catholics.

The religious division spreads throughout the national life. Political parties and labor unions are formed on religious bases, with roughly 40 per cent of the people adhering to each side while independents and Socialists sit insecurely in the middle.

The religious parties are divided on many things. But they cling closely together in backing child allowances that encourage big families and in opposing even discussion of birth control.

At least 50,000 new jobs a year must be found to provide livelihood for more and more Dutchmen. More people mean higher bills for imported food and raw materials — yet even now the government estimates it will be $175,000,000 a year away from making ends meet when the Marshall Plan ends two years from now.

The government is encouraging emigration. But its program of 20,000 migrants a year is falling one third short of its goal.

Its biggest and most costly solution is industrialization. The fertile but limited Dutch farms have about reached their limit. Farm boys flock to town in ever greater numbers. The government is urging industry to expand old plants and build new ones to create 50,000 jobs a year.

But this program extends only a little beyond the end of the Marshall Plan. Also there is a limit to how far such a small country can support itself by new industries in competition with industrial nations like the United States, Britain, Belgium and France.

Dutch officials admit they can not tell whether there will be enough food and jobs to go around in another three or four years.

The problem is hardly recognized outside the government. With few exceptions the ordinary Dutch regard big families as "an unmitigated blessing from heaven," to use the phrase of an American official. Trying to find more and more places for them to live, work and keep on breeding, he says, forces "the mustering of every resource to run as fast as possible in a breathless effort to stay in the same place."

The production of more and more children brings in a large part of the weekly income of many working class families.

Child allowances, paid out of contributions by employers plus other public moneys, encourages child bearing. The more children, the bigger the additional pay.

The allowance is 2.40 florins (83 cents) for the first child per week. It rises to 2.84 florins (75 cents) for each of the next two, and to 3.24 florins (85 cents) each for the fourth and all after it.

Workers' wages average about 50 florins ($13.15) a week. Four children add $11.33 florins a week to his pay — a raise of nearly 25 per cent. Two thirds of the people have two or more children. Nearly one-fourth receive allowances for four or more children.

Large families are not uncommon; one set of parents which produced 10 children in 17 years was recently the subject of an illustrated article in a popular Dutch magazine. That many children would add 50.20 florins to Dad's weekly income — doubling his wages.

The course of nature is encouraged by each instead of retarded by an income pinch. Even the most thoughtful Dutch fear to peer down that course and see where it is leading.

Market Shipments Continue Strong Despite Cold Snap

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 27 (Special) — "In spite of the cold and frosts during the past week, fresh vegetables and strawberry shipments continue in good volume from the State Farmers Markets," William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets, stated in his weekend report of State Market activities.

"No frost damage was suffered in the Pompano Market area and harvesting of the beans planted since the December rain deluge in beginning. A heavy movement of beans, peppers, lima beans, eggplants, cucumbers and squash is anticipated for several weeks.

"Plant City State Market strawberry volume totaled 9,714 crates of 30 pints during the past week, returning to growers in excess of $83,000. Daily prices average ranged from 42c to 47c per pint. About the same volume is expected during the current week.

"In spite of frost and ice during the past 10 days the Blakely State Market has continued daily shipments of berries. The volume continues small, though the quality appears much improved.

"Florida City State Market continues with a heavy volume of tomatoes daily. No frost damage was suffered in this area, in excess of 94,000 bushels moved during the past five day auction at average price of $2.75 per bushel. Returns to growers amounted to $276,000. Beans and squash continue to move in good volume at prices from $3.00 to $4.25 for Pole Beans $3.00 to $3.50 for Tendergreen and $2.50 to $3.50 for squash. The potato movement in that section is good.

"Cabbage in bulk and packages continue to move in good volume over the Palatka State Market Prices, 7c, 8c per 60 pound sacks $1. per 60 pound crate and $22.00 per ton.

"Fort Myers Market reports very light cold snap. A small volume of pepper, eggplant and cucumbers continue to move through this market.

"The Palmetto State Market expects more good than harm from the recent cold snap as the quality and yield of tomatoes appear improved, though the harvesting will probably be delayed a week. Available through the market is a small supply of pepper, eggplant and cabbage.

"The first cucumbers of the Spring deal are anticipated on the Fort Pierce State Market about March 1st, with tomatoes harvesting commencing about the middle of March. Mild weather with scattered showers continues.

"Cold damage to beans is estimated at about 30% of the volume with a 10% damage to corn volume in reported by the Palmetto State

State Highway Patrolman R. D. Harrison reported today.

Mrs. Helen Laiter Alderman, nurse at Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital, suffered a broken nose and lacerations Friday night shortly after 11:30 o'clock when the 1947 Plymouth Sedan which she was driving in order to report for night duty at the hospital was involved in a collision on Geneva Avenue, about half way between the bridge and Park Avenue.

Mrs. Alderman was taken in the Erickson Ambulance to the hospital. According to State Highway Patrolman R. D. Harrison, who investigated the accident, Mrs. Alderman had passed an automobile and ran into the rear of another west bound car, a 1936 Chevrolet driven by Ora Thompson, negro, and containing four passengers, none of whom was reported injured. Damage to the Plymouth was estimated at $500. and to the Chevrolet at $125.

Eltus J. Naughton, Jr., who is associated with the H. James Gut Insurance Agency, narrowly escaped serious injury Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock when the 1940 Plymouth Sedan which he was driving north on the Orlando

"It brings us, the old fight between high and low prices" for farm crops, said Thomas.

He said Senators from the industrial east seem to be demanding high prices for the things produced in the west and other agricultural areas.

If farm prices go down, Thomas added, wages and industrial prices will drop and the depression will strike the entire nation.

Williams countered that the amendment would still leave prices for the basic crops higher than the average for the last 10 years. The amendment would knock mandatory 90 percent supports out from under all the basic crops except tobacco. The farm bill passed by Congress last year provided they should be continued in 1935 before a flexible support formula went into effect. The W. H. Hays proposal is to make the flexible supports apply now.

Anderson went to Florida in 1914 from Pittsburgh, Pa.

He was president of the Highlands County farm bureau and the Lake Byrd citrus packing company of Avon Park.

He was vice president and director of the Superior Fertilizer Company in Tampa.

He was a director of the Florida Citrus Canners' Cooperative in Lake Wales, the Avon Citrus Corporation in Avon Park, the Highlands Citrus Cooperative in Jacksonville, the Blue Ribbon Fruit Company of Avon Park, and several civic and benevolent organizations.

Anderson owned several citrus groves, and had been a leader in developing irrigation and cover crops for citrus groves.

He was a veteran of navy service in the first world war.

He is survived by his widow, Beatrice Bass Anderson, of Avon Park, who was reported visiting today in Gainesville, Fla., and one daughter.

The body was taken to an Atlanta funeral home.

Surprise Party Given in Honor of Mrs. Bessie Smith

The community in which Mrs. Bessie Smith, Sypes Avenue lives, sponsored by Mrs. Mary Stephens brought joy and happiness to Mrs. Smith when to her surprise a beautifully arranged party was awaiting her at her home on Sypes Avenue.

Mrs. Stephens together with other friends in the community left no stone unturned in making this event a gracious one. The party was largely attended by those of the community and to add to her happiness, many packages of groceries together with a nice sum of money was showered on Mrs. Smith. The home of Mrs. Smith was left very happy and grateful to every one.

Senate Asks Acheson About Hiss Remark

Secretary Of State Defends Statement, Tells Of Purge Of Doubtful Employees

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today that Alger Hiss probably would be back in the state department if the decision were up to a White House aide, David Bennett Lloyd. Lloyd is "case No. 1" of the 81 persons McCarthy wants investigated in connection with his charges that there are or were many communists in the state department.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson told Senators today "I would never knowingly tolerate any derogatory person in the department of state."

Acheson told the Senate Appropriations Committee that he did not and does not condone in any way the offenses charged against Alger Hiss, former state department official.

Hiss was convicted of lying about contacting an admitted Communist courier who said he obtained secret state department papers from Hiss.

Acheson's statement came in the wake of a recent remark he made to newsmen, after Hiss was convicted, that he (the secretary) would not turn his back on Hiss, a long time friend.

Acheson said he felt "compassion" toward Hiss because the latter's life could only be one of "deep tragedy" whether his conviction is upheld or reversed.

The secretary of state said he was not in any way attempting to influence or control the jury.

Rotarians Select Civic Building As Number 1 Project

The promotion and construction of a civic club building in which all the civic clubs in Sanford can hold their meetings was voted the No. 1 project of the Rotary Club for the coming year at the regular luncheon at the yacht club yesterday. Braxton Perkins, Jr., chairman of the canvassing committee, announced today.

This project received 35 first choice votes and five second choice votes among the Rotarians. It is already being investigated by a Rotary committee headed by I. W. Spencer, who reported yesterday that satisfactory progress is being made and that the committee hopes to secure the support of the other civic organizations.

Voted Project No. 2 by the Rotary Club were the lake front improvements proposed by Randall Chase which suggested that the beach shall be moved to a more suitable location in Port Mellon Park and that the municipal sewers being along the bulkhead be extended out to the channel, the lake, said.

Project No. 3 was the extension of the sewerage system proposed by Sam Martin who recommended that sewers should be provided for Georgetown and Goldsboro as well as certain other areas in the city where they do not exist.

Identification of the lake front was voted Project No. 4, and industrial development project No. 5. There were several other projects which received a scattering of votes for sixth, seventh and eighth, as well as a few votes for first or second place.

Value Of Ruble Is Raised By Russians

MOSCOW, Feb. 28. — (AP) — The Soviet Union is sweeping price reductions tonight set a new rate for the ruble. Four rubles to the dollar instead of 5.30. The government decreed that the ruble would no longer be defined in dollars. At the same time it revalued the ruble in gold and foreign currencies. "The currency reform in the U. S. S. R. carries over in December, 1947, liquidated the consequences of the second World War in the field of currency circulation and reestablished the full value of the Soviet ruble," the decree said.

Naval Captain Admits Fault In Grounding Of 'MO'

Commanding Officer Of Battleship Admits Responsibility

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 28. — (AP) — Capt. William D. Brown, commanding officer of the battleship Missouri, said today "I and I alone bear the sole responsibility" for her grounding last month.

"As captain of the ship, it was my duty to keep her safe and secure. I didn't do it," the 47-year-old officer told a Naval court of inquiry.

This dramatic reversal of Brown's previous defense tactics came as the court opened its 18th day of sessions designed to fix responsibility for the grounding which occurred in Chesapeake Bay, Jan. 17.

When Brown took the stand in his own defense Feb. 18 and Feb. 20 he testified his "team of officers" fell down when he "needed it most" Jan. 17, and he left "utterly alone" at 10:45 a. m. after being taken from his team of officers was convicted.

"Today, he stood tall and straight before the court and reading from a prepared statement, admitted that despite all of the numerous shortcomings of others which have been revealed in this court room, I could never, and would not, leave the ship in dry water."

The decision to place the ship on the course that took her to ground, Brown said, "was made by me, without the usual concurrence of anyone in the ship. As the court well knows that decision was made on the basis of my firm conviction . . . uncorrected . . . that the main channel which the Missouri was trying to run when she stranded. The spar buoy mentioned were not part of the buoy system marking the range. They were planted in 18 feet of water to mark a channel for small vessels."

Brown said "as concerns my subordinate, whose conduct of duty has been questioned, very frankly that the court will view their performance in the light of day-to-day practice, and not in any sense connected with the (Continued On Page Six)

Army Plans To Centralize General Staff

Chief Of Staff To Be Central Authority; Air Force Boosts Big Bomber Range

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — (AP) — The Army is streamlining its general staff organization to centralize authority in the chief of staff.

Formal announcement of the plan, due to take effect tomorrow is expected today.

The reorganization returns the general staff to its pre-war status. It will have four divisions to handle personnel, intelligence, planning and logistics (transport, quartering and supply of troops).

The new organization virtually abolishes the division of organization and training. Training functions hereafter will be centered in the Army field forces command, with headquarters at Fort Monmouth, Va.

The reorganization also reduces the scope of the special services officer, most of whose duties will be transferred to the adjutant general's office.

General staff divisions are to be reorganized orders to be issued by the chief of staff. For many years the division chiefs have had authority to issue orders of their own.

College Revival Enters Sixth Day

WILMORE, Ky., Feb. 28. — (AP) — Asbury College students resumed classes today — their thoughts on the religious revival kept alive in the nearby chapel by the growing enthusiasm of townspeople and outsiders.

School authorities had planned to halt the meeting at midnight last night but reversed their decision after about 1,000 persons packed the building.

Since last Thursday morning, hundreds of students have filed into the auditorium to offer testimonials and prayers. Others meditated and prayed in their dormitories. No classes have been held during the continuous meeting.

Prime Minister Attlee Revamps Cabinet In Effort To Keep Power

LONDON, Feb. 28. — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee, who won a shaky victory in Britain's national election, has revamped his Labor cabinet. He is expected to announce it within the next 24 hours.

Attlee had an hour's audience with King George VI last night after spending the day forming his new cabinet and conferring with leaders of his Socialist-minded Labor Party.

Just what changes Attlee would make in his cabinet were kept secret. But chief post to be filled was that of colonial secretary, which became vacant because of the defeat of Arthur Creech Jones in his race for re-election to Parliament.

Political observers speculated that Attlee would replace Viscount Alexander of Hillsborough as Minister of Defense.

The changes were expected to be announced before the newly elected Parliament meets tomorrow. Next Monday the King is to outline the government's program in the House of Commons.

With the ruling Laborites whittled down to a majority of only seven seats in the House of Commons, there is much speculation that the program of nationalization of industry and other Socialist measures will be considerably modified to avoid an immediate showdown.

Most political observers speculated that the Labor government will attempt to stay in power at least until the 1950 budget is presented in April.

Escaped Leopard Returns To Zoo, Is Re-Captured

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 28. — (AP) — Oklahoma City's escaped leopard was captured alive at its pit today — felled by a mirage.

Kneebout snop, placed in blinks of large great spotted leopard's jaws cut long enough for him to be captured.

Zoo keeper Julian Frazier slipped a noose around the charged animal's neck and held him while he was caged.

Frazier finally drove the bear back to Lincoln Park Zoo, the only home he had known since he brought her a week ago from the jungles of India.

He had been free since 1 P. M. Saturday when he leaped from a barbed pit, 18 feet deep, and scampered away while onlookers stood frozen with terror.

Thousands of hunters had stalked the cat since his escape. An airplane, helicopters and specially trained dogs were employed in the search.

But an empty stomach and perhaps a yearning for the mate he left behind prompted the fugitive to return the same way he left on his own accord.

The leopard was found propped by park employees and a game warden as he was slinking stealthily toward the last placed net trap.

Frazier had given up all hope of capturing the animal shortly after it escaped.

The "shoot to kill" order was sent out for the leopard, which was less than 30 days out of the jungle. After it escaped, expert trappers and hounds attempted to track down the beast but always were at least 24 hours late.

Frazier estimated the leopard was at least 18 miles from the zoo before it returned to gnaw at the (Continued On Page Six)

City Building Inspector Condemns Baseball Stand As Unsafe For Use

City Manager Clifford McKibbin and City Building Inspector John N. Gilton reported today that the main grandstand at the Municipal Ball Park is unsafe for public use and must be topped off before the exhibition games of the Minneapolis and Jersey City ball clubs begin on Mar. 18.

Following an inspection of the property this morning, Mr. McKibbin stated that the bleachers would be repaired in time for the exhibition games, but added that the grandstand had been seriously undermined in its supporting columns as a result of leaks in the roof that it could no longer be used. The full extent of the damage could not be determined, he stated, until repair crews are able to penetrate beneath the surface.

Steel Plants Slash Output In Coal Crisis

More Than Half Million Workers Idle As Soft Coal Miners Continue Violence

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28. — (AP) — The soft coal strike hampered production at the national steel mills today with soft coal plants cutting output to a minimum.

The steel mills in the three-day-old strike are still well past the half-million mark. That number is 1,000,000 men and 1,000,000 women.

Rebellion against the steel industry is spreading in other parts of the country. Without mentioning any date, Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison told a Labor meeting last night the election may "come some rather than later."

Nearly all press forecasts said new elections would come by June or not later than Fall.

The same happens at the Laborites but to get a sufficient number of votes to win a majority on any number of major issues, which are bound to come up. And Winston Churchill's strengthened opposition, combined with the fact that the Laborites, possibly could elect one of their party (Continued On Page Six)

Hearing Slated For Mar. 16 On Re-Zoning Area

Franklin Terrace Is Being Considered For Zoning As R-1

Faced with the fact that the Federal Housing Authority will not grant loans for building of homes in outlying areas while areas adjacent to the main part of the City remain undeveloped, the City Commission last night decided to hold a hearing at 8:00 P. M. March 16, to consider rezoning of the Franklin Terrace area to R-1.

The matter was brought to the attention of the Commission by J. A. Whidden, a realtor who has been working on the Housing Authority to this effect, and who pointed out that in Franklin Terrace, which the City is now rezoning from R-1A to R-1 status, owners were unable to get FHA loans because Highland Park, an area nearer to the center of the city and adjacent to Franklin Terrace, is not being developed.

Mr. Whidden presented a petition from 16 of the 21 owners of property in Highland Park asking that the Commission reconsider a (Continued On Page Six)

C. Ferris Bryant Addresses Clubs On 4 Freedoms

People Of U. S. Advised Not To Stop With Mere Saving

Rep. C. Ferris Bryant of Oklahoma who was introduced to a civic club luncheon today by Malcolm MacNeill, a Florida's most outstanding young man spoke on the "Four Freedoms." The meeting was sponsored by the Lions Club and was presided over by Cliff Alden, president of the club.

Reading the Four Freedoms announced by President Roosevelt, Mr. Bryant said they were freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from fear and freedom from want. All of these, he said, were great and noble aspirations, but it would be a mistake for the people of this country to stop with a mere declaration of these rights.

Freedom of speech, he said, is a wonderful thing and a great thing even in America today. By no longer there is the danger of our losing it, he said, the danger is in our failure to use it. He called attention to certain merchants and business men who refuse to take any responsibility for the world today for fear of losing a customer or a dollar and he said that until recently the doctors refused to become involved in controversial political issues for fear of losing patients.

"You preserve our freedom for us," they said, "and we will enjoy it." Those who are the most freedom-loving are the ones who leave it to others to speak for them, he said.

He called attention to certain merchants and business men who refuse to take any responsibility for the world today for fear of losing a customer or a dollar and he said that until recently the doctors refused to become involved in controversial political issues for fear of losing patients.

"You preserve our freedom for us," they said, "and we will enjoy it." Those who are the most freedom-loving are the ones who leave it to others to speak for them, he said.

Reading the Hague Convention of 1864, Mr. Bryant said that it was a wonderful thing and a great thing even in America today. By no longer there is the danger of our losing it, he said, the danger is in our failure to use it.
