Seven Church Programs On Agenda

By MRS. R. B. THOMAS JR. The pastor, officers, and members of Second Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church, Grapeville Avenue, invite you to worship with them on Sunday at 11 a.m. and at 2:30 p.m. in observance of the 100th Anniversary of the church. Mrs. Thomas is chairman and Rev. H. F. Richardson is pastor.

A benefit program for the Good Samaritan Home will be held at the Free Will Holiness Church Sunday at 5 p.m. The public is invited to attend. Miss Yvette Moore is sponsor and Mother Ruby L. Wilson is pastor.

Choir No. 2 of New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church will observe its anniversary Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The church is located at Ninth Street and Hickory Avenue.

Choir No. 2 of New Mt. Calvary Baptist Church will observe its annual anniversary Sunday, Aug. 15, at 2:30 p.m. Choirs from the Sanford area will be appearing on program.

The Junior Usher Board of Second Shiloh Baptist Church will observe its anniversary Sunday, Aug. 22, at 2:30 p.m. Various youth groups of the community will appear on program. Miss Brenda Brooks is president, Mrs. Thelma Sharpe, advisor, and Rev. H. F. Richardson, pastor.

The Tropical Merry Makers from the West Indies will present an evening of musical entertainment at Allen Chapel A.M.E. Church at 7 p.m. on Aug. 22. The public is invited to attend. Rev. J. Edward Connelly is pastor.

The Youth Department of Allen Chapel is now finalizing plans for the annual Miss Allen Chapel contest. The coronation exercises will be held in the lower sanctuary of the church on Saturday, Aug. 21, at 7 p.m. Mrs. Annie O'Neal is sponsor.

The Helping Hand Club of Sanford surprised Mrs. George Newsum with a birthday party Saturday evening, July 24. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Malley on West 13th Place.

The honoree and her guests enjoyed a wonderful evening together and refreshments of hot, big chicken and ribs, potato salad, birthday cake and leavages.

A get-well message goes out to Mrs. Casey (Lucy) Jones.

Drug Raid Yields 2 Women, 3 Men

Five persons, including two women, were arrested on drug charges early today by a combined force of state, county and federal agents who raided a Fern Park night club.

In what Sheriff John Polk today described as "one of the county's main sources of narcotics," the force of an estimated 20 persons launched an attack against the Hi-Lo Club and arrested Brenda Ruth Williams, 26, Orlando, with being a principal in the first degree in violating state narcotic laws.

Working as a bartender at the nightclub, she is accused of being involved in the sale of narcotics to sheriff's undercover agents. Her bond was set at $10,000.

Second woman arrested is 32-year-old Patricia Jean Wilfred, a resident of Village Green Apartments in Altamonte Springs. She is charged with being a principal in the sale of narcotics to sheriff's undercover agents but her bond was placed at $200,000.

That's nothing, Guy . . . you oughta see some of the people after they read the new valuations. (Betcha there'll be a tremendous increase in sale of rope . . . there'll also be a premium for space on strong streets . . . cause we're all considering hanging ourselves!)

Assessments Up 15-400% Taxpayers Protesting

The lines to the assessor's office have remained so busy, in fact, that, according to Terry Goebel, assistant tax assessor, a resident of South Seminole County attempted for four hours yesterday to call the office. Goebel explained that there are only two lines to the office but even if this situation were remedied, there are insufficient clerks to man the phones, being busy with the residents in person questioning their assessments.

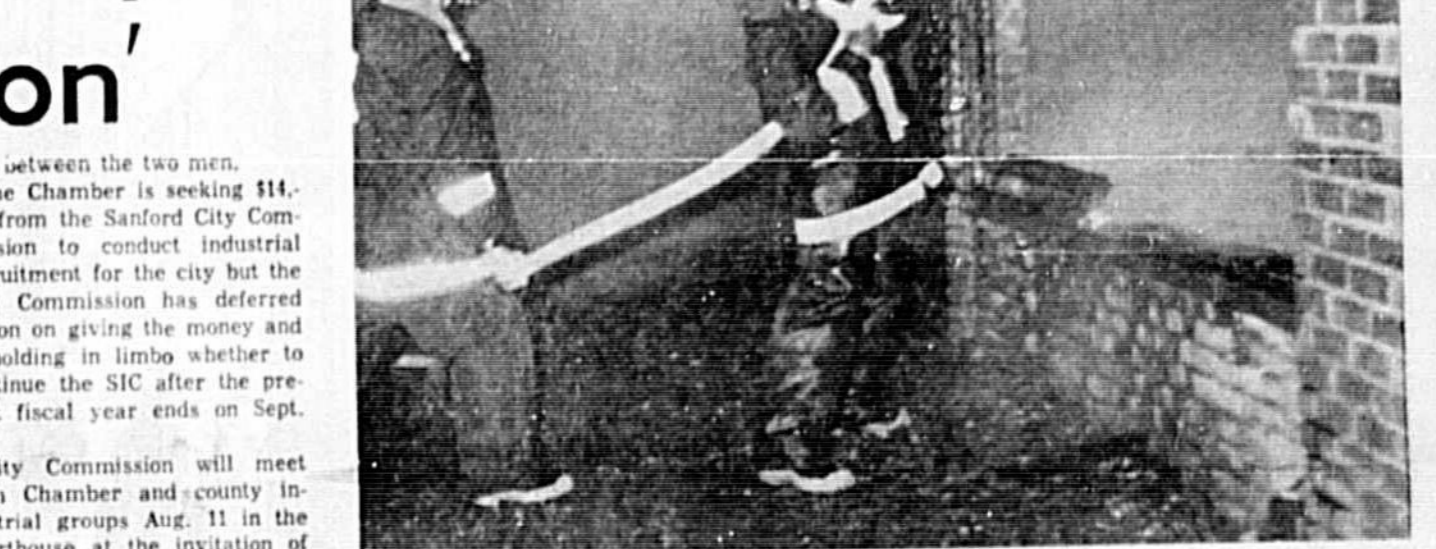

Hodges continued his vehement objections with the statement: "We thought last year's bank assessment at $12,150 was too high but this year's at $494, 310 is ridiculous. We as a financial institution are tremendously interested in the growth of the city and county, but we have grave trepidations concerning the attraction of business and industry to this area as a result of the increase in assessments."

These sentiments were carried to the man on the street . . . each man, poor man, chief of police on all walks of life there was a tremendous influx of irate citizenry at the office of county Tax Assessor D. Guy Allen this morning. Patient clerks attempted to explain the "just valuation" while the telephones continued their constant jingle. (Photo Page 5)

Goebel said that in property assessments, according to Goebel, shows that last year the rolls stood at $19 million, whereas this year's estimates are for $44 million.

Another factor to be taken into consideration is that for some taxpayers the end is not yet in sight, since municipalities also will use the county tax rolls. It may be pointed out that failure to comply with the "just value" law would cost the county state education funds, which may serve as somewhat of a panacea to taxpayers.

According to Goebel, county mileage last year was established at 22.35 mills. (This included . . .) (Cont. On Page 5A, Col. 1)

'Friendly Season'

Caustic comments and flaming tempers were in evidence this morning at the Sanford Industrial Commission (SIC) meeting with exchanges between David F. Kelley, SIC director, and John Kridler, member, lighting the one-hour meeting.

The wordy development between the two men reached a high point after Kridler, who is also Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce manager, said the chamber had been responsible for producing every industry operating in the area.

This prompted Kelley to shout to news media: "Don't you print that. It's a misstatement."

Kridler was discussing the proposal from Seminole County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond that all county industrial groups consider pooling their money and talent into one county-wide industrial endeavor.

Kridler later told The Herald, in making the statement, he was not including the industry located at Sanford Airport but added two of the largest employers at the airport facility were brought to the facility by him.

Both the SIC and Kridler claimed responsibility for bringing General Dynamics to Seminole County and this appeared to be the main bone of contention between the two men.

The Chamber is seeking $44,000 from the Sanford City Commission to conduct industrial recruitment for the city but the City Commission has deferred action on giving the money and is holding in limbo whether to continue the SIC after the present fiscal year ends on Sept. 30.

City Commission will meet with Chamber and county industrial groups Aug. 11 in the courthouse at the invitation of Drummond to discuss the formation of the county industrial group.

Sanford City Commissioner John Stenstrom, also an SIC member, made it plain he is supporting the chamber as the city's industrial procurer.

The portly commissioner said, "I'm firmly of the opinion if we're going to use tax money from people inside Sanford we should promote the city."

Stenstrom added he is bringing people to Sanford who would use Sanford facilities and support Sanford merchants.

"I'm not for using Sanford dollars to turn on Winter Park telephone and Florida Power Corporation electricity." (These two firms furnish the electric power and telephone service to the South Seminole area.)

Arsonists returned early this morning, Fire Chief George Harriett reported, on West 13th Street. First attempt to set a fire failed Monday evening, Harriett said. Hubert Bethea, state deputy fire marshal, is investigating the two fires.

Reduction In Millage Pondered By Sanford

With the higher county property evaluations the discussion topic at every gathering, the Sanford City Commission at Wednesday night's budget meeting took advantage of the higher county figures to debate how far the city's present 16 total mills should be lowered.

City Manager W. E. Knowles complied latest tax information from the county tax assessor's office that disclosed the tax would rise to $54,817 for 10 mills and debt service revenue to $215,756 for three mills.

This would allow the present city 11.5 general government millage to be reduced to 10 mills and the debt service, which was 4.5 mills, to be cut to three mills, or a three-mill reduction from the city's present 16 total millage levy.

Additional new revenue from the state's gasoline and cigarette tax increase would bring in an estimated $12,000 in new city monies, Knowles reported.

Other increase due from state action is the license fees for alcoholic beverages, which has been increased to $2,000.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said he believes the taxpayers would appreciate more a millage reduction rather than rolling the city's utility taxes back to average six per cent, which is now the amount paid by city's big business users as 90-cent to city residents paying 10 per cent.

State law now makes mandatory that all utility users be billed at the same tax rate by municipalities, and the commission would either have to lower residential users to six per cent or boost business firms to 10 per cent.

The Commission chose the latter but deferred taking action until a regular meeting.

Railroad Crossing Signal 'Lit Up'

Extensive research during Tuesday's "daylight" meeting of the Seminole Board of County Commissioners brought to light the reason why no action has been taken on the railroad crossing signal destined for Old Lake Mary and Onora Roads.

Doing the research, while continuing his other duties, was Commissioner Sid Vilhen, who was determined to find out what was the holdup.

The "holdup" Vilhen discovered was that the application for the request was still in the Department of Transportation office in Deland! It had never been filled out and sent to Tallahassee.

Vilhen contacted DOT official H. P. Strogner in Tampa and Milton Smith of Seaboard Coast Line Railroad in Sanford, trying to locate the request but both men reported nothing was in their files concerning the signal. Smith had called Tallahassee and they also stated nothing was in their files.

Jim Haynie, in Deland, was then called and it was he who told Vilhen that the application was not yet processed but he (Haynie) "would get it in in two or three weeks." Vilhen as-

County vs. Casselberry

'Friendly Suit' May Not Be

By HERKY CUSH

"A 'friendly suit' which has little chance of being that was the course of action taken by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners.

The "suit" concerned three-quarters of a mile of Red Bug Road which neither the County nor the City of Casselberry claim is theirs.

Seminole County claims Casselberry should have taken over maintenance of the road when it annexed lands on both sides of the road. Casselberry says, it annexed the land but did not take the road.

Chances of the court action being a "friendly suit" are slim since Casselberry opposed a previous Commission suggestion for same.

Commissioner John Kimbrough felt it best to find the most expedient manner to do the job. "When a cat in a pickin' road" it is.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond asked County Road Supt. J. C. Lavender just how much it would take to repair the road until a decision is reached as to ownership. Lavender estimated it would not take more than $30 for the job.

Drummond then asked the board to allow Lavender to repair the road, saying he felt "a human life is worth that much."

In another bit of action yesterday the Board voted to abandon the Island Pond proposed park site because the cost of the property is too high.

Frank Jones of St. Johns Realty, reported to the Commission the owner of the Island Pond site land is not interested in selling. The county would have to condemn the land or purchase the owner's entire 1,500 acres.

Commissioner Ed Yarbrough reported that slicing up the land around the Island Pond site would only lead to ruin of the natural beauty of the area.

Sid Vilhen, commissioner in charge of the parks acquisition committee, stated the other abandoned park site, Walnut-St. Johns, would not be added to the plan. "This will give us a little more money to work with now," stated Vilhen.

Also brought before the Commission yesterday were two separate complaints of dumping violation.

The most serious of these was taking place at the Crane Stran Canal at SR 436. Someone was said to be dumping raw sewage into the canal. The dumping site was said to be in Orange County but it was being brought into Seminole County. The board voted to send resolutions to HEW, HUD, the financial status for the remainder of the current fiscal year, and it was obvious that it would be necessary to transfer money from several accounts in order to make possible continued operation until the end of the fiscal period.

State Air-Water Pollution Board and the State Health Department asking for help with the problem.

Another violation of dumping laws was said to be taking place near Briarwood and the odor is supposedly driving people from their homes.

A landfill pit near Briarwood is suspect and here also the board is trying to get the State Health Department to move post haste on the situation.

Fire Commission 'Disappointed'

By MARION BETHEA

FOREST CITY — Discussion was held by the Board of Fire Commissioners relative to the budget hearings conducted by the Seminole County commissioners. Much disappointment was evidenced by the fire commissioners in the apparent disregard by the county of the pressing needs for upgrading the fire service in the district.

It was noted that final hearings are yet to be held by the county, and members of the Fire Commission will be notified for the time of another presentation.

A wage readjustment was approved for the following for the district designated: Joe Walters, $465, Aug. 1, 1971; Mike Millard, $465, Aug. 1, 1971; Mike Millard, $450, Aug. 1, 1971; Charles Hambley, $450, Aug. 1, 1971.

Invoices in the amount of $1,710 were approved by the board. Chief William Kinley reported a total of 10 calls this month. There was a discussion of the financial status for the remainder of the current fiscal year, and it was obvious that it would be necessary to transfer money from several accounts in order to make possible continued operation until the end of the fiscal period.

New Town Over Rails

NEW YORK (AP) — With land as scarce as breathing space in New York City, Edward J. Logue, president of the Urban Development Corporation, has proposed a new town to be built over the Long Island City Railroad yards.

The town would include homes for 60,000 people and office and industrial space for 33,000 employees. The $1,300-

Exercise Of The Power Of The Presidency

President Nixon's exercise of the power of the presidency when exerted in the field of foreign affairs seems to be having a boomerang effect...

Fighting VEE

Within a week after it was detected in Texas early in July, the invader from Latin America had killed scores of horses, made many humans ill and had become a problem of national concern. The invader is Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis—VEE for very short—a virulent disease transmitted by mosquitoes and possibly other insects. The Southwest is the threatened area, but the campaign to control it is national, led by the Agricultural Department's Animal Health Division. Right, AHD veterinarian Dr. Lloyd C. Weldon takes a blood sample for analysis at laboratories in Denver and Atlanta.

Dr. Oscar Claybaugh and William Lowry, above, spot on a map of Texas all confirmed VEE cases in reports of sick and dead horses. Right, Animal Health personnel at the Agricultural Research Center in Beltsville, Md., process VEE vaccines for shipment to affected areas. All reports of ill horses are checked out. Below, Dr. Weldon and anxious observers watch a calf with typical symptoms.

Wage-Price Review Urged Of Congress By President

By BILL NEIKIRK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Switching his tactics, President Nixon has challenged Congress to structure a wage-price review board without binding the economy in a straitjacket of controls.

Welcoming a full-scale debate in Congress on the wage-price board proposal, Nixon said Wednesday he is now open-minded about the idea but still skeptical it would ever work or should even be tried. In the past he had rejected such a move outright.

Nixon's new flexibility on the anti-inflation proposal was more vigorously against big wage and price increases in the economy on a case-by-case basis.

As Congress pondered his words, the Labor Department prepared a fresh reading on inflationary trends in the economy with a report on July wholesale price movements.

Nixon's challenge to Congress on a wage-price board was delivered in a roundabout way. He said he would consider such an idea favorably only if hearings convince him it could be done without stifling the economy.

"The problem here is, how can we move without putting the American economy in a straitjacket?" Nixon asked in an impromptu news conference.

He said he would reject any proposal that "would impose a new bureaucracy with enormous criminal powers to fasten itself on the American economy. That, I think, would do far more harm than good."

But, if a wage-price board proposal concerned itself with only voluntary guidelines, he said, that would never work, either. Voluntary compliance with guidelines may work for only three or four months before leading to a new wage-price spiral, he said.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns has suggested a board without enforcement powers to monitor price increases. Some Democrats have suggested a board with strong enforcement powers.

Legislation introduced by 13 Republican senators Wednesday, a move triggering Nixon's response, would set up a board to establish wage-price guidelines and enforce them through government procurement policies or a wage-price freeze.

Col. Henderson Trial Set Aug. 23

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

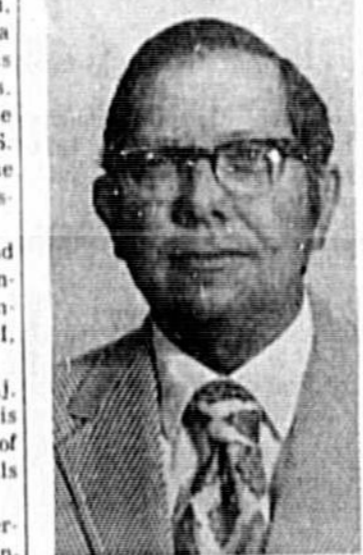

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson, highest-ranking officer under charges arising from the mass slaying of civilians at My Lai, will go on trial Aug. 23 before a seven-member jury.

The trial is expected to last up to 12 weeks. "How do you plead?" the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, asked after the jury was empaneled Wednesday.

To all specifications and charges, not guilty," said Henderson, a much decorated combat soldier in World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

One Vietnam veteran, Maj. Gen. Charles M. Mount Jr., is on the court-martial jury of five colonels and two generals who were seated in one day.

The charges against Henderson, a 36-year-old native of Indianapolis, are that he was derelict in failing to investigate "allegations of reports of excessive killings of noncombatants" at My Lai, failing to report to higher command "incidents and acts thought or alleged to be war crimes" and later lying to a high-level Army inquiry. Conviction could bring a maximum sentence of six years in prison and dismissal from the service.

As Maj. Carroll Tichenor, the Army prosecutor, began questioning the nine-man panel of prospective jurors, one officer, Col. Robert L. Waters, asked to be excused.

"I am biased and I have prejudged and I don't think I am qualified as a jury member," Waters said.

"For or against the accused?" Tichenor asked.

"For the accused," Waters said firmly. "I cannot be impartial." Waters served in Vietnam in 1957-58.

He was dismissed from jury duty.

Tichenor later exercised his privilege of removing one prospective juror without cause, excusing Col. Austin Triplett Jr., an infantry officer who served two tours in Vietnam and was wounded there.

At the time of the massacre at My Lai, Henderson commanded the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division, a subordinate officer who commanded the company involved in an infantry sweep through My Lai, is charged with overt all responsibility for 102 civilian deaths at the Vietnamese hamlet. His court-martial at Ft. McPherson, Ga., is in recess.

The commander of a platoon in Medina's company, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., was convicted of murdering 22 civilians at My Lai. His conviction and life sentence are under Army review.

Release Of PWs Report Is Denied

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A report that American military officials had asked the Scandinavian airline to fly 187 American prisoners of war from Laos to Europe brought a flood of official denials today from both American and North Vietnamese officials.

Later an official of the airline in Rome said the request for the flight had come from a "private individual" in Germany, that it had been a "tentative request" and that it was called off.

The airline official said he had talked with the Stockholm office of SAS, the Scandinavian airline, and the management there "made it emphatically clear that they did not deal with U.S. military authorities."

The official said he did not know the name or nationality of the individual who requested the charter flight.

An SAS spokesman in Stockholm had said earlier that U.S. military authorities in West Germany had asked to charter a DC8 to airlift 187 POWs from Vietnam, the Laotian capital to Rome by way of Bangkok.

"There has not yet been any contract signed, and therefore no fixed time for the transport," an SAS spokesman said. The Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter, which first reported that the flight would be made, said it would be on Aug. 12.

In Washington, President Nixon's news secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the U.S. government "has not been informed of any such plan, nor has the U.S. participated in negotiating a plan, such as suggested in the Swedish newspaper."

Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, called the report "excessive imagination," while Trung Gia Nhan, an attaché at the North Vietnamese Embassy in Stockholm, termed the report a "fabrication" and said it was "totally unfounded."

Thuy speaking to newsmen as he entered the 12th session of the peace talks, said unless President Nixon accepts the Communists' peace plan "the list of captured military men far from becoming shorter will only lengthen."

U.S. military authorities in West Germany said they had not heard of any plan to fly 187 American prisoners of war out of Vietnam on an SAS charter plane.

Wednesday, before the airline's report, Nixon told a news conference that the United States was "very actively pursuing negotiations on Vietnam in established channels," never mentioning, however, specific efforts to gain the release of U.S. prisoners.

Nevertheless the SAS spokesman said his airline was "just awaiting a call from the American side saying they are ready for signing a contract."

"When?" he was asked.

"Today, tomorrow or the day after tomorrow," he replied.

GIs In Defensive Positions

U. S. Ends Offense War

By ROBERT A. DORRIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, announcing the remaining American troops in Vietnam have moved into defensive positions, has, in effect, declared U.S. responsibility for offensive ground-combat operations at an end.

"American forces in Vietnam today, as you can tell from reading the reports, are in defensive positions... frankly just defending the area in which we have responsibility," Nixon told a news conference Wednesday.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird followed this up a few hours later, saying the President's remarks mean the first phase of the administration's Vietnamization program is "virtually completed."

Administration officials have said repeatedly turning over responsibility for ground-combat operations to the South Vietnamese—phase one of Vietnamization—would come sometime this summer.

American battle deaths, which averaged 60 a week in April, have fallen steadily to 13 last week and 11 the week before. The level of fighting in Vietnam has dropped noticeably, and it has been several weeks since U.S. troops engaged the enemy in an offensive operation.

About 225,000 GIs and fewer than 30 combat maneuver battalions remain in the war zone compared to 343,000 troops and 112 maneuver battalions at the peak of the American commitment in April 1969.

Nixon, whose withdrawal timetable calls for the troop level to drop to 131,000 by December, will make another pullout announcement in mid-November.

In the news conference, the President avoided saying directly that the U.S. combat role is over. White House officials have acknowledged the definition of "combat role" is extremely complex and for this reason are reluctant to make up flat statements that could shade into ambiguous situations.

Shifting of the U.S. role in Vietnam does not mean an end to American battle deaths. Although GIs will be concerned more and more with protecting the security of their base areas, officials have emphasized they will not remain in static defensive positions. They still will go out on base-protecting patrols, for example.

Two Army divisions making up the bulk of the major American ground-combat power left Vietnam still are positioned in the region below Quang Tri province and could be used to assist the South Vietnamese should an enemy offensive develop this summer and early fall. There still is significant progress available in Vietnam and Thailand and aboard Navy carriers offshore to back up the South Vietnamese.

Defense officials have indicated that by next summer the U.S. presence in Vietnam will have dwindled to a military advisory and security force numbering about 50,000.

House-Senate conference worked out the compromise, which doesn't please Mansfield and other Senate doves.

Mansfield said in an interview he may receive his original amendment, which would make a U.S. policy to get out of Indochina a nine months if all American prisoners are released. But he said he wouldn't try to attach it to the compromise draft bill.

"I don't intend to be obstructionist," Mansfield said. "I don't intend to filibuster and I don't intend to vote for the bill."

The draft bill is not expected to come up in the Senate until after the month-long congressional recess that begins Friday.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said it should be the first order of business after the Senate reconvenes Sept. 8.

The old draft law expired June 30 and officials say if a new one isn't passed soon they may have to use residual authority to call up some men who have been draftee.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter signed "WEAK AND TEMPERED" from the man who was hooked on prostitutes. He claimed he was happily married and his wife lacked nothing in that department.

I agree with you, he needs a head doctor, but I have a better solution that could solve his problem and save his marriage. If he gets pleasure out of paying for his sex life, tell him to hand his wife the usual fee. She will be happy and he will be satisfied. Some people don't place any value on something unless they pay for it.

HIMMINGHAM, ALA. HEADER

DEAR ABBY: That might solve HIS problem, but what if she prefers to maintain her amateur status?

DEAR ABBY: Why are you so far in everything else, but when it comes to the subject of OBESITY, you are completely without mercy!

A mother wrote she was "heartless" because her 21-year-old son brought his 20-year-old fiancée home, and she was fat!

Why didn't you tell that mother to encourage her son to stick with pride by the girl he loved, no matter what, even if she had one eye in the middle of her head? Instead, you recommended the mother get her son aside and instruct him to tell the girl she should do something about her weight while she was still young.

If I were that young man, I would be more concerned about my mamma's set of values than my girl's bulk.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Aw, come on, now. No one can help being born with one eye in the middle of his head, but a girl who is so fat she can hardly fit into the largest chair in the room, and then eats as if there's no tomorrow as a problem. And someone who loves her should encourage her to solve it.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the heartless mother whose son brought home a fat fiancée. Some men prefer fat women. To them fat is beautiful.

Mamma should leave her son alone. Some of the happiest marriages I know are

Go along with them in an efficient and inspirational manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) - Others appreciate your finest qualities now and do their utmost to help you to progress in your line of endeavor. The social side of life can also be improved appreciably. Be more sure of yourself.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) - Although night-ops and feel low workers seem to be interfering with your advancement, it is only because you do not listen to their fine ideas. Cooperate more and success comes. Show kindness to all instead of being so harsh.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) - You can investigate new outlets that appeal to you, and plan how to profit from them soon. Be idealistic and this will help you become more successful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) - You have to give money matters more attention if they are to be more satisfactory for you now. Try to build greater security for yourself. Think how to make family feel more secure and happier, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) - Get information that will help you have greater rapport with an associate who is most talented but unpredictable. Do not neglect that correspondence that is vital to your well-being at this time. Rest tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) - Instead of breaking up present setup, sit down and discuss matters with associates and all to everyone's benefit. Planning the future more wisely is possible. You have excellent potentials—make use of them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) - State your aims to good friends who can assist you in getting your projects working wisely. You have fine creative ideas; others will appreciate them. The monetary backing you need.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) - Try not to alienate those who mean a great deal to you either at home or in business. Safeguard your credit to avoid trouble. Don't lose your temper at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) - Study new projects to decide which ones can be put in operation that will not ruin whatever present good set-up you may have. You can get them off to a good start right now. Have a little time for fun tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) - If you discuss your obligations with experts, you find you can then handle them with speed and efficiency. Know just what your true position is. Get those bills paid that are pressing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) - Discuss with an associate his ideas that have merit and state your own views wisely. If you act stubborn, you get poor results. Avoid trouble of all kinds in it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) - Discuss an artistic touch to whatever work you are doing; you make a big impression. For the better. Teach while young not to hang on to things and conditions after they have more than served their purpose, and this life is most successful, especially where the government is concerned. Give a good academic education.

Geneva Gems

By LIZ MATHIEUX

"Little Liz" (that is Oliver's Elizabeth) and the boys were up to see her dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jones.

While there Liz said that they really had no grand visit with everyone and as usual she returned loaded with lots and lots of goodies . . . to eat!

It was not too long before they had arrived when the boys scattered again and now David is visiting up in Alleville, Ala. with his uncle and aunt, Roy and Marie-Jones. Star is going to visit with Evelyn and Charles Stokes up in Marietta until school starts. I hope that they will get down to visit with Trudi and Donald and Jeanne who are just down the road a little ways in Smyrna, Ga. The other girls are just staying home and while Olivia is studying like a lawyer at Scripps Junior College, Sister Sheila is actively engaged in her work at Southern Hill over in Orlando.

That's the trouble children grow up too soon and all one has left is a discarded toy or a few pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clancy of Orlando (she will be remembered as Beverly Galtin) enjoyed the trip to the beach. They are excited about their new home which is under construction down on Buck Lake which will surely be a show place if our bright ideas Sue has anything to do with it.

How is this one for the books after being with me for over a week while Joe was in the hospital, my mother decided to go back to Jacksonville Beach, reluctantly, she says, she felt in love with the peace and quiet in Geneva and then she came back after having been away only two days. She says that she just couldn't stand it but I know that it was to bring us some goodies!

Janis Brady is visiting in Apopka with her family and friends. Her cousin, Pam Tiedel, is visiting with her grandmother, Mrs. Thelma Edwards in Jacksonville.

Debbie Terrell is home from the hospital and is doing just fine. I am happy to tell you.

Speaking of folks being home, Elife and David Oldham are home from an extended stay over at their beach home in New Smyrna Beach. Elife tells me that she is actively engaged putting the wheels of progress in gear with preparations for her forthcoming trip to Germany this Christmas. She says that if I am willing to help, maybe we might be able to work out an agreeable situation . . . you never know.

The John Paul Casseys are now the proud owners of the two lovely lots which are located directly behind their home. The Casseys recently purchased and prepared for the C. W. Ketterings, I hear that John and Paula went down to see that Great Masterpiece Sunday.

Speaking of family get-togethers, the Oldham family recently had their family reunion over at the lovely New Smyrna Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. David (Elife) Oldham. It was where they also celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Galen Oldham and David, Sr.

Invited to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. George Oldham and daughter, Corrie; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and children, Lass and Robyn; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lamb and children, Brenda, Don and Mari; of course the Oldham family. David, Jr., Edward means 1 column by 2 inches. Too small for an ad to be noticed or effective? You're reading this one!

Jacoby On Bridge

It was shortly before the end of March, Marc Antony lost no time getting to six hearts after Caesar gave him a jump raise. Brutus opened the queen of diamonds.

Antony studied the hand and saw that he would need two spade tricks to score the slam. The normal play would be to tackle the spade suit by leading the deuce from dummy, rising with the king and leading back toward dummy with the ten. The line of finessing the 10. This would insure his contract any time West held the spade jack or against some "revel" holding of the jack in the East hand. He drew four rounds of trumps, stripped the hand of diamonds and clubs and led the queen of spades from dummy. Cassius, sitting East, could do no better than take his ace and lead back the seven, which Marc allowed to ride to dummy's 10.

"Why did you make that play?" asked Caesar.

"Brutus had such a tough time before discarding the four of spades on my fourth trump lead that I decided to play Cassius for both honors."

"Why?" asked Caesar. "Brutus, an honorable man?"

"Yes," he said, replied Antony, "but I am not too certain about that matter."

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE R-22: Ronald J., aged 17, is taking a psychology class next term.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "are women weaker than men just because they weigh less?"

"For example, if you compared a 125-pound woman with a 125-pound man, wouldn't she be as strong as he is?"

"And is it true that women are more nimble-fingered than men?"

"If so, why?"

Women have a higher percentage of fat in their bodies than do men.

Be Ronald's example of the 125-pound woman vs. the 125-pound man, wouldn't she be stronger, physically.

For he possesses more lean muscle tissue.

Women, however, gain several advantages in this having more fatty tissue.

For they can float water more easily, since fat is relatively lighter than lean muscle. Moreover, their extra fatty tissue gives them their attractive curves.

The male body is more angular, hard and with greater elastic gravity.

And it isn't just physical strength that makes the man stronger.

For Prof. Hrdlicka made a survey of Indian women, who did the hard manual work in their villages.

And they were just as much weaker than the Indian men as a true of white woman vs. white men.

The difference in muscular strength of men vs. women has a rate of 29:18.

Thus the 125-pound woman is 62 per cent as strong as the 125-pound man!

Woman's extra fat seems to insulate her better from the cold, as is evident in the flimsy winter garb of females vs. man's males.

Women's hearts also beat faster, for as a rule the smaller the creature, the faster its pulse rate.

Children thus have a faster pulse than do women and a woman's heart beats more times per minute than a man's.

Women are also less combative than men so they do not crave the physical contact sports, like boxing or football, that delight men.

Send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25¢. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped address envelope and 25¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

They'll Go To The Head Of Class In Classy Fashions From Penney's

Shirts, skirts and sweaters are making their annual excursion back-to-school this fall. This year they're accompanied with jeans, knickers, short sets and blouses. Penney's is suggesting that a contemporary look is a layered one with shirts and sweaters worn one on top of another. That perhaps explains the presence of so many knits.

Both shirts and sweaters are seen in narrow knit styles that comfortably layer one on top of another. For instance, a long-sleeved shirt is worn over a skinny turtleneck sweater with a short-sleeved T-shirt over all. Each layer is not necessarily matched to the other. The sweater may be striped, while the shirt is checked and the T-shirt may bear a pattern. The look may seem outrageous, but oddly enough they blend together for a fun fashion look.

Colors are bright and happy with one color played against the other. Rich earth tones are prevalent, but red and brick are among the most outstanding.

Penney's believes their back-to-school sportswear is versatile enough for any student to mix, layer and coordinate, the separates for a contemporary fashion look.

THE CLASSIC LOOK for back-to-school . . . foul-ard print shirt tucked into a button-front knit skirt with striped yoke. Both from Penney's.

Sylvia Richardson, Raymond Coniglio Exchange Vows In Double Ring Rites

Miss Sylvia Marie Richardson and Raymond Coniglio were married June 26, 1971, at 8 p.m. at Central Baptist Church, Rev. Robert E. Loy officiated at the double ring, candlelit ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Richardson of Sanford, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coniglio of Sweetwater, Pa.

Miss Valerie Gramkow, organist, presented a recital of appropriate nuptial selections and accompanied soloist, Mrs. James Butler.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown of silk organza lavishly embellished with sheer embroidery and ribbon inserts on the front panel, portrait neckling and long, full sleeves. Her tiara was of imported silk illusion was secured to a petaled headpiece.

Miss Flora Mae Wells attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Debbie Roman, Lynne Schroeder, Debbie Russell and Cathy Coniglio. They were groomed in long pink organza creations with wide-brimmed picture hats.

Ernest Bellevue served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Paul Coniglio, Johnny Fambro, David Stevens, and Buck Russell.

The church social hall was the reception site immediately following the ceremony. Assisting were Miss Ellen Oney, bride's host; Mrs. Eva Mower, pouring; Mrs. Tom Russell, cake; and Mrs. Lamar Downer, rice hats.

The newlyweds are making their home on Marina Isle Island where the bridegroom is self-employed.

The banquet on Thursday night was the crowning event of the week! It was, according to the delegates, the finest they had ever attended!

All-in-all, it was a wonderful week, one long to be remembered!

The Loop Look
To camouflage the not-quite-small-enough waist, belts are better worn on the hips than the waist. But if a chain belt is worn in the waist, instead of letting the excess belt hang straight down, try looping the belt. This breaks up the horizontal stripe and makes the waist look smaller.

An Unresolved Problem:

How Can Nation Deal With Inflation?

By JOHN CUNIFF, AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A last-minute wage agreement has averted a threatened steel strike but it leaves unresolved the problem of how the nation can deal with inflationary expectations.

Unless some miracle of productivity can be achieved—and the steel industry is hardly the one in which miracles may be expected—the agreement will force up prices of numerous manufactured items.

Price increases already have been announced for basic steel. Manufacturers who use steel may be expected to follow with their own.

The three-year, 31 per cent increase comes as no surprise. It follows a pattern. In the first half of the year wage increases for all industries averaged 31.3 cents an hour.

Union leaders, no matter how broadminded, can hardly be expected to seek less than that what they feel is obtainable. To do so, even in the name of statesmanship, would be to break faith with their members.

The parallel situation for the steel companies is whether they should, for the good of the country, refrain from raising prices or, because of their obligations to shareholders, protect their profits.

Suggesting that the answer hardly perplexed them was the speed with which U.S. Steel announced an 8 per cent increase for most products, less than 24 hours after signing an agreement with the steelworkers.

George Meany, AFL-CIO head, has suggested that the only way to free business and labor from such decisions is to toss the ball to the President.

Many economists also have been clamoring for strong presidential leadership on the wage-price battlefield, perhaps in the form of an incomes policy.

Such a policy could involve a formula which labor and industry could use in determining permissible, noninflationary increases. It could involve a wage-price review board. At its extreme, it might include a freeze on wages and prices.

In the absence of such a policy, it seems reasonable to assume that the only possibility of a union or an industry forcing an increase would be if it believed inflation was being lifted.

Inflationary psychology is one of the most persistent symptoms of the current ailment.

Meanwhile, news from the Labor Department offers little hope for miracles of productivity. Output per man hour rose sharply in the first quarter of the year. And while it continued to rise in the next three months, the rate in manufacturing industries fell from 3.3 per cent to a disappointing 1.1.

If productivity had continued high or risen, there was some hope that industry would be able to withstand its higher costs. That possibility is now diminished.

Won't Take No For Answer

By FRANK MACOMBER, Copy News Service
What, you may well ask, has become of the American missionary over the years since the government began sending Peace Corps emissaries abroad?

He is, it is encouraging to report, still very much a part of Americana in the underdeveloped nations of the world. The church prescribed the role of the missionary — to carry the word of God to distant lands — generations before President John F. Kennedy established the Peace Corps in March, 1961, to help needy foreign countries develop skill and manpower.

Take Robert Krocker and his attractive wife, Wanda. They are not characters out of a movie from the mid-1950s, when it was fashionable to chronicle the events which befell U.S. missionaries in darkest Africa.

The Krockers are real-life missionaries serving with the Mennonite Brethren Church's Board of Missions and Services, Hillsboro, Kan. So are their three children, Gordon, Cherie and Cyndi.

The Krockers, Gordon and Cyndi will soon leave their San Joaquin Valley, Calif., home for faraway Kinshasa in the Republic of the Congo. Cherie will stay behind to attend the Columbia Bible Institute at Clearbrook, B.C., Canada.

Kinshasa formerly was Leopoldville, capital of the Belgian Congo. The government changed the name after the long and bloody years of rebellion and civil war which wracked the country from 1960 until 1967 as it emerged painfully from the role of a Belgian colony to a independent nation.

The Krockers will be making their second pilgrimage to the Congo, this time for a three-year stay.

They were forced to cut short their first assignment during the Congolese rebellion, leaving so hurriedly that most of their belongings were left behind, Krocker recalls.

Why the second tour, at great personal sacrifice, to a nation still considered hostile to the white man in many regions?

"We think there is still much work to be done in the Congo among a people that as yet know little of the Christian religion, but whom we believe will accept the word of God in time," Krocker explains. "The missionary in the Congo has a second assignment too. That is to persuade the Congolese that to embrace communism would mean their eventual downfall. So our job really is to teach and persuade the Congolese to accept the Lord and reject the Communist doctrine. The Communists are seeking a foothold in the Congo. It is a challenging assignment for the whole family."

NEW HOME FOR SCOTTY'S
Scotty's Home Builders Supply will open formally its new store in Sanford on Friday, the 9,200-foot facility is situated on a 2 1/2-acre site at 700 French Avenue. Cooking Corner Roast Beef For Barbecue

By SUSAN DELBOLT, Copy News Service
If you're planning a special barbecue party to impress guests, consider a roast of beef instead of traditional burgers, franks or steak.

Heavy-duty aluminum foil
Scotch tape or freezer tape
Tear off long sheets of foil and mold over grill, letting ends drop down one foot. Cover the grill completely, overlapping the foil. Seal with the tape. It will not burn, since it is on the outside. Turn up the bottom edges all around about two inches and fold firmly. Leave a small opening in the top that can be opened and closed for draft. Remove cover. When the fire is ready and the meat in position, place the hood over the grill, making sure the damper is open and pressing foil to sides of grill all around. To baste roast and replenish charcoal, simply lift off the hood, then replace.

BARBECUED BEEF

FILET

1 3-pound beef filet*
1 cup hot water
2 ounces dried mushrooms
1 tsp. sugar
1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced thickly
1 bunch green onions, sliced
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 cup butter
1 can beef consommé
1/2 cup tomato juice OR dry red wine
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tbsps. minced onion
1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. Tabasco
Season the beef with salt and pepper. Build the fire on one side of the grill. Make a foil pan about 1 inch larger all around than the roast; tear off heavy-duty aluminum foil. Fold to make double-thick, turn up edges and miter corners to make it firm. Place this pan beside fire under place where meat will rest. When charcoal is burning nicely, place roast on grill. Insert meat thermometer in thickest part. Cover grill with hood, have damper open and let meat roast for 45 minutes or longer. Listen and smell to judge the cooking. Combine consommé, tomato juice and seasonings. Lift hood and baste. Add damp hickory chips, a few charcoal briquets if needed. Again cover and continue roasting, basting once or twice more, adding more hickory or briquets if needed.

Roast will be done when the meat thermometer registers 140 degrees Fahrenheit for rare, 160 for medium and 170 degrees for well done. Remove roast to carving board or platter. Slip foil pan with drippings onto a cookie sheet for support. Combine drippings with any remaining basting sauce. Skim off excess fat, simmer until slightly reduced, add additional seasonings if needed, and serve with the roast.

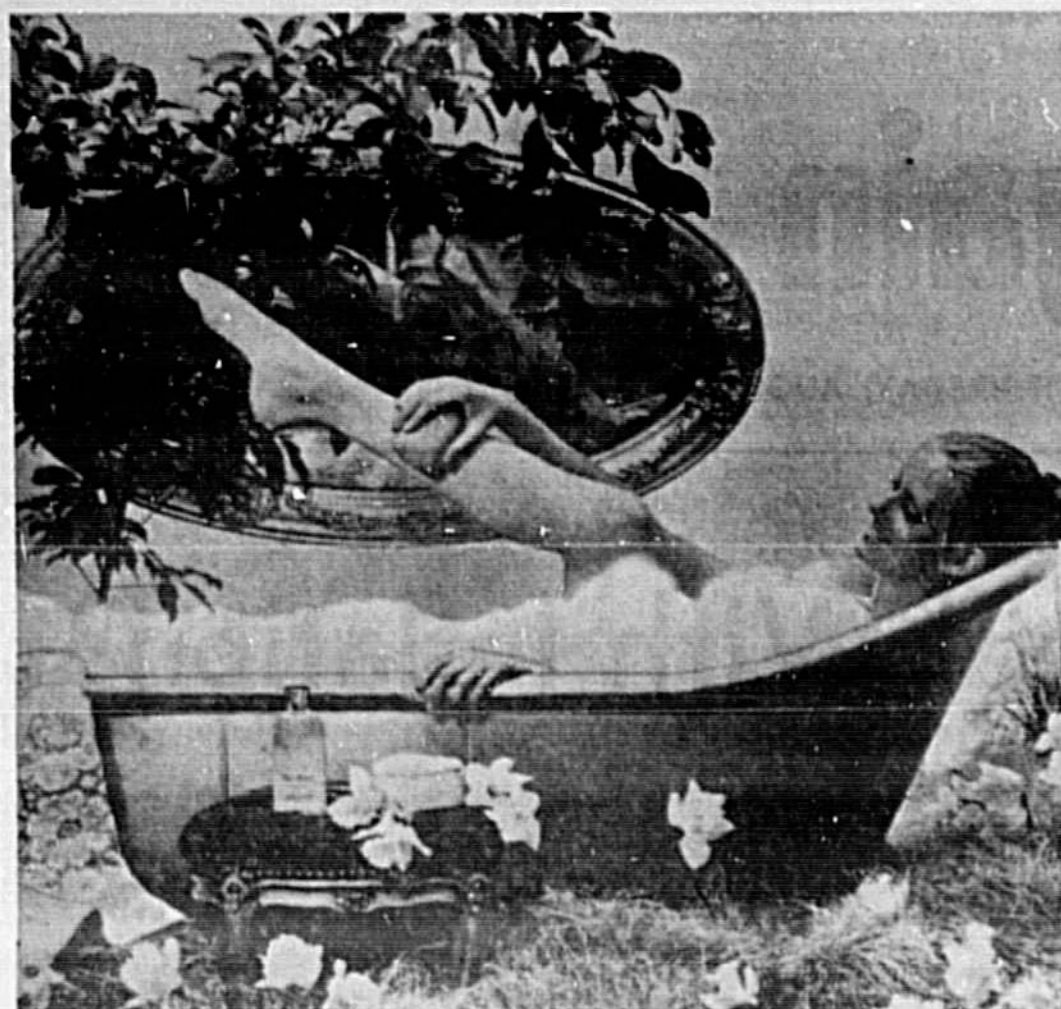

GRILLED ROAST OF BEEF SAVORY SMOKE-FLAVORED SAUCE

Roast of beef
Salt and pepper
Sauce:
1 can beef consommé
1/2 cup tomato juice OR dry red wine
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tbsps. minced onion
1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. Tabasco
Season the beef with salt and pepper. Build the fire on one side of the grill. Make a foil pan about 1 inch larger all around than the roast; tear off heavy-duty aluminum foil. Fold to make double-thick, turn up edges and miter corners to make it firm. Place this pan beside fire under place where meat will rest. When charcoal is burning nicely, place roast on grill. Insert meat thermometer in thickest part. Cover grill with hood, have damper open and let meat roast for 45 minutes or longer. Listen and smell to judge the cooking. Combine consommé, tomato juice and seasonings. Lift hood and baste. Add damp hickory chips, a few charcoal briquets if needed. Again cover and continue roasting, basting once or twice more, adding more hickory or briquets if needed.

*Tapered ends of filet are less expensive. Have butcher cut two end pieces together and tie to make roast.

Gilberg's Opens Store For Fashion Fabrics

Gilberg's brings the fashion fabric action to Sanford Plaza. From one small store in 1940 more shared for opening by the end of this year, Gilberg's typifies the success story of one of the nation's fastest growing businesses. Dealing exclusively with fashion fabrics and notions, the all-new Gilberg store offers the modern shopper ease and convenience in fashionable merchandise at popular prices.

Distaff Doctor Replies To Women's Questions

By Eleanor B. Rodgers, M.D., Copley News Service

Q. Are all women anemic like the advertisements imply?

A. A woman who has normal menstrual periods—monthly and of moderate amount—and who eats a well-balanced diet, will not be anemic just because she is a woman.

When there is profuse bleeding or constant bleeding in small amount, anemia tends to develop. Probably most anemic ("thin-blooded," "low iron") women are anemic because of poor diets. Animal proteins, green vegetables, eggs, apricots are a few foods high in iron. Vegetarians have to be particularly careful in their choice of foods.

Q. I skipped a menstrual period and have had some spotting since. Sometimes I think my breasts feel more tender than usual. Could I be pregnant?

A. The most common reason for skipping a menstrual period in the child-bearing years, if it has not been skipped before, is pregnancy. However, there are other reasons and a definite diagnosis demands a complete examination and possibly a pregnancy test.

An ectopic pregnancy—one that does not grow in the uterus where pregnancies usually grow—is suggested by your history. If, for example, a fertilized egg begins to grow in a tube, there may be irregular bleeding from the uterus following a skipped menstrual period. The tenderness of your breasts is also suggestive, although there are times when breasts are sensitive without a pregnancy.

With growth of a fetal pregnancy, pain from stretching the tube walls is inevitable. Rupture may occur with a large intraperitoneal hemorrhage. Early diagnosis is desirable so that a tubal pregnancy can be removed before rupture occurs.

Diagnosis of an ectopic pregnancy is often difficult and many times a patient who is not acutely ill must be watched a while before a decision is reached. A threatened abortion of a normal pregnancy may have similar symptoms, a ruptured ovarian cyst also. An appendicitis and a tubal infection have to be considered. The important thing is to see your doctor or clinic without delay whenever there is irregular bleeding and unusual signs and symptoms.

You cannot define all the possibilities of this situation in a few sentences. There is no substitute for the years of experience your doctor brings to you when he decides what should be done.

Q. I would like to use an IUD as a contraceptive device, but I am afraid it really works by causing an abortion. Is this true?

A. The means by which an IUD prevents pregnancy is not yet certain. There have been several theories, most of which are based on the supposition that, with an IUD in place, the early embryo moves so fast through the tube that, when it arrives in the uterine cavity, the living is not ready for implantation and it passes on out.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Audie Murphy was the most decorated American hero of World War II. The World Almanac recalls that at age 29 he had received 34 U.S. medals, including the Medal of Honor, and was credited with having killed about 240 enemy soldiers. A Texas farm boy, Murphy enlisted in the U.S. Army in June, 1942, and served valiantly in Italy and France.

NOTICE TO VETERANS IN THE SANFORD AREA

WHO HAVE HONORABLY SERVED THEIR COUNTRY IN TIME OF WAR AND PEACE, AND WHO ARE OTHERWISE QUALIFIED FOR BURIAL IN OAKLAWN MEMORIAL PARK.

Because of the lack of burial space and the distance of National cemeteries from the central Florida area, we are assigning to veterans FREE BURIAL SPACE.

As an honorably discharged veteran of the United States Armed Forces, you may be qualified for burial space in the veterans section without any obligation, except a one time perpetual care charge of $25.00. You must be able to show proof of honorable discharge.

OAKLAWN MEMORIAL PARK OF SANFORD has had an overwhelming reception to the veterans FREE BURIAL SPACE program. . . . Therefore to fill the many requests we have increased the size of the Veterans Garden.

If you feel you can qualify, you must contact us immediately because of the limited number of spaces available.

Charm For Furniture Math Adds To Good Looks

By BARBARA HARTUNG, Copley News Service

Some furniture is getting quite smart. It can add, subtract, multiply and divide.

In a way, this kind of furniture with a high intelligence quotient is frequently the most intelligent choice for the small home owner or the apartment dweller who must have rooms and furniture do double duty.

Take, for example, Kemp's Brigadier collection of campaign furniture with 17-inch square cubes. They're stackable so they can be grouped in threes to create a vertical entertainment center.

They can be placed side by side for a horizontal display shelf. They can be placed singly, doubly or in threes for a cocktail table or end table. And on a moment's notice they can do some quick mathematical changes.

Add to this the mummy roller white or hit-or-miss orange pressure-plastic coating which makes them resist most household hazards.

Brown Saltman's new Interplus collection features a table with mathematical talents as well. American black walnut is combined with chrome or satin brass striping to emphasize the design element of the contemporary tables, which are a modified Parson's type design.

Used in pairs, they create a handsome cocktail table; singly they're right for lamp or occasional table. As a bonus, they have a slotted plastic laminate top tray which does a quick disappearing act when not in use.

Flair, Inc. gives a shine to hounds in an Oriental table design as functional as it is aesthetic.

No-worry glass surfaces at the top of the table (18 by 18) by 17 inches) and on the shelf below make these chrome-framed business tables in simulated bamboo a natural for entertaining—especially in a living room or dining room.

Armores have long served as excellent dual purpose pieces. Slightly modified in style, modern versions, too, show their mathematical abilities. An example is Brown Saltman's mobile party cart. It rolls so easily ADDED CHARM — One little cube makes a good end table, two are great for a cocktail table and three stack well for an adult entertainment center — which all adds up to flexibility and good looks. These cube tables (17 by 17 by 18 inches) from Kemp's Brigadier collection of campaign furniture are covered with high-pressure plastic to resist damages and scratches.

Fried To A Crisp? Tan Now . . . Wrinkle Later

By PEGGY WALKER, Copley News Service

Gain a suntan. Gain a wrinkle. The two come together for the price of one.

You can expect a slight delay on the delivery of the wrinkles. They don't show at first. But expect them.

It may take a decade or two, insisting in those long, warm summers of parching the body on the beach before that "golden" tan takes a turn for the worse—leathery wrinkles or maybe even skin cancer.

But the fact is, both are strong possibilities for the person who pursues a tan without precaution.

In spite of warnings from dermatologists, it takes only a glimpse around the beach where sun worshippers gather to realize that many men, women and children still haven't gotten the message.

Too much sun exposure, experts say, can produce not only painful and unsightly sunburn, but speed up the skin's aging process, and according to Dr. Bruce Shulak, a skin disease specialist, "it is the single most common cause of skin cancer."

Add dry, lined, patchy skin, unsightly lips and swollen, blistered lips to that list and you come up with a pretty ugly picture of what the sun can do. And it's not just the fair-skinned who take the brunt of the sun's fury. Even those who return from vacation year after year looking marvelously tan have something to lose.

The old concept, drummed in to the public for years by advertising, that the more sun you own aesthetic concepts, that a glowing tan equates with glowing good health "is simply not true," Shulak said.

"Dermatologists are not saying everybody's old friend the sun is an enemy all of a sudden, and we are not saying avoid it. We are simply pointing out primary problems."

"The effects of the sun are subtle and cumulative," according to the doctor. "We begin to see them after many years. A 15-year-old girl won't see them until she's maybe 40, because damage is a result of a gradual lifetime exposure."

"That's why we try to educate the young to take precautions at an early age."

"The sun in small doses and use common sense," he advised. "Don't bake on the beach for several hours."

Ultraviolet rays, or the sun's burning rays, are the villains in the sun story that cause most skin damage, damage that can be permanent.

Sun screen products help screen out those burning rays and, according to the dermatologist, there are several on the market that "do a pretty fair job" of protecting. They are recommended for those sensitive-skinned persons predisposed to sunburning but not insisted upon for all.

Again, advised Shulak, "it's a matter of common sense." The most sensitive types, he said, are blue-eyed, fair-skinned blondes, but anyone with a combination including any of these features will be most sun sensitive than the dark-skinned, dark haired and dark eyed.

FRIED TO A CRISP? — Experts say a tan is not necessarily a girl's best friend. It may hide a multitude of superficial skin sins, but at the eventual cost of soft, fresh, young-looking skin, and maybe good health.
