

Eisenhower Was The Man With Magnetic Grin

(Editor's note: A reporter who covered Dwight D. Eisenhower, as candidate and President, for nine years recalls in the following story a series of incidents that add up to a fascinating personality study.)

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower had a look that night of boyish embarrassment.
It was the 56th birthday of his wife Mamie, Nov. 14, 1952. The two of them had been chatting with newsmen on the porch of the Eisenhower cottage at Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia, where they had gone for a rest after his first-term election 18 days earlier.

There was the man of intense, imperious concentration, whether fishing for trout, leaning on a putt, drawing a line on a quilt—or studying a classified document at the moment a visitor was ushered into his White House office.
There was the man whose utterance was warm and cordial and humor in the company of intimate friends.
There was the man, too, who never was quite at ease with the news corps in some public, some private circumstance.
There could be an inbred military sternness that suggested to some that they ought to snap to attention.
Sometimes it was quite understandable, like one summer day in a Colorado trout stream where Ike was having remarkable success. As reporters watched from a highway over-

Thousands Flock To Abilene For Ike's Funeral

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower's home town, already bustling at the news of his death, expected 100,000 to 150,000 persons to flock in Wednesday for his funeral.

The five-star general, soon to be 34th president of the United States, scuffed the toe of his shoe against the porch floor for a moment, and then the famed Eisenhower smile lighted his face.
"Oh, all right," he consented reluctantly.
Mamie disappeared into the cottage and then returned to the doorway, holding before her a beautiful negligee. Ike beamed, pleasure overriding his embarrassment.
To this reporter, Dwight D. Eisenhower was a fascinating personality study.
There was the man with the magnetic grin—the man whose charisma touched off wildly enthusiastic ovations wherever he went, the man whose smile was the news of his travels throughout the world as president—arms outstretched high above his head.

Most of these people probably never even met Mr. Eisenhower," said Madden. "But they still look on him as one of their own, and they want to do anything they can to help."
Police Chief Fred Garten has obtained about 100 men from the Kansas Highway Patrol and the Dickinson County sheriff's office to help his seven-man force. They've stopped giving out parking tickets until after the funeral.
The funeral crowd is expected to be the largest the town ever has seen, far bigger than the audience which crammed Eisenhower Park June 4, 1952, to hear the general announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.
So he saddled up his horse and rode 12 miles through snowdrifts to catch the school bus. But Almon's team lost to Bug Piney, 47 to 43, anyway.

Nixon, deGaulle Stage Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon invited French President Charles de Gaulle to a working meeting at the White House today before the funeral of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.
Other visiting heads of state and representatives of foreign governments will be received formally at the White House at 7 p.m. after the ceremonies.

Flopping Fish

HONOLULU (AP) — A prankster pulled the plug in a large fish pond at Honolulu Airport recently, leaving several dozen golden carp flopping in the starlight.
The flopping fish were quickly rescued by airport custodians who filled the pool.
"It was a good thing the culprit left the plug there after he removed it or we would have a lot of dead carp on our hands," said Henry Chung Wu, custodian supervisor at the airport.
We said the plug has been cinched tight with a pipe wrench to prevent any similar incident in the future.

Blown Beyond The Reef

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Hurricane Colleen was an ill wind that did someone some good.
It swept across the Southwest Pacific in February and ravaged parts of New Zealand, but it was a savior for the little New Zealand freighter Matipo, 298 tons, which had been stranded on a reef 40 miles from Noumea for nine months.
The storm lifted Capt. Athol Buechler, said that the force of the storm over the Matipo lifted the reef.

Standard Military Coffin For Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be buried in the same $80 steel coffin furnished for any soldier buried by the Army.
An Army spokesman said the only difference is that the silver-casket has a $115 lining and Eisenhower, once the commander-in-chief, requested the standard military coffin which was draped by a government-issue American flag.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower was the eighth president or former president to lie in state in the rotunda of the nation's Capitol which was completed in 1853. Abraham Lincoln was the first to rest on the simple wooden bier under the dome. The others were John F. Kennedy, James A. Garfield, Warren G. Harding, William Howard Taft, Herbert Hoover and President Dwight D. Eisenhower.
He saluted upon entering and leaving, then went to make a brief visit at the hotel where Mrs. Eisenhower is staying.

Florida Pays Tribute To Ike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
In schools, churches and business places across the state, Floridians join the nation in mourning the death of former President Eisenhower today.
His visit to Florida postponed by the soldier-statesman's death, the town's famous sponge docks were scheduled to open today.
Also paying his respects to Eisenhower will be Gov. Claude Kirk, who is to follow the funeral train to the prairie land of Abilene, Kan., where the late President's body will be interred.
Eisenhower's predecessor, Harry S. Truman, decided to pass up the journey. The 84-year-old former President will remain in the warmth of Key West, where he is spending two-week vacation.

Flags fluttered at half-staff at public buildings across the state. State and federal government agencies closed, although the post office said it would make special deliveries.
Some city departments remained open but most county offices will be closed except for tax assessors and tax collectors.
Banks and savings and loan institutions closing their doors in Dade, Palm Beach, Brevard, Volusia and other counties, but stayed open for business in counties including Pinellas, Sarasota, Okaloosa and Hillsborough.
The proclamation by President Nixon was for a day of mourning and it is not a national holiday, a church state agent of the Tampa Clearinghouse Association, William C. Franklin, said.

U. S. Mourns Ike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A lot of things stopped for today—schools, businesses, sports events, even the postal service—and his memory was honored at ceremonies across the nation.
Military bands scheduled 21-gun salutes at noon and 50-gun salutes at sunset in honor of their former commander-in-chief.
The stock and commodity exchanges closed in New York City and banks closed in some states.
Many colleges shut down for the day, including Columbia University, where Dwight D. Eisenhower was president before heading the call to public office.
Schools and government offices in many states shut down for all or part of today. Post offices closed and mail deliveries were suspended for the day.

At Broadway theaters, a minute of silence will be observed before curtain rise.
Three major league baseball exhibition games, three American Basketball Association games, racing at Miami's Gulfstream Park and the qualifying round of the Greater Greensboro open golf tournament in North Carolina were canceled.
Train of the Erie-Lackawanna and Chesapeake & Ohio-Baltimore open golf tournament in North Carolina were canceled.

The Mormon Tabernacle Choir set a noon service at the Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.
"The nation and the world will miss his wisdom and valor," said David O. McKay, president of the Mormon Church. "I cherish the memory of my visits with him both here in Salt Lake City and the White House."
About 5,000 people gathered in Anaheim, Calif., Sunday, where bands, choral groups and Holy wood figures led the mourning.
"We all loved Ike," said Jimmy Durante. "He was my friend, your friend, everybody's friend. We sure miss him."
Palm Sunday church services echoed President Nixon's eulogy for Eisenhower.
"We're sorry over the death of President Eisenhower. But we have the happiness of the memory of his dedicated life," said Archbishop Terence J. Cooke, outside of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City where Eisenhower's name was read in the prayer for the dead.
Gila Indian groups and an elderly crowd at the First Presbyterian Church in Phoenix, Ariz., Sunday, Tribal Judge Perry Snow said, "President Eisenhower has always been my favorite general and my favorite president."
In Boston, the Rev. Dr. Fredrick M. Meek, minister of Old South Church, United Church of Christ, recalled that Eisenhower "was a man of war who once said at Boston University that it was the business of the church to put generals like him self out of business."

Mamie Calm And Composed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie Doud Eisenhower's eyes never left the flag-shrouded casket of the husband whose last thoughts and words were for her.
Twice she seemed to fight back tears.
Amid the great assemblage of world and national leaders in the Capitol rotunda, the former president's wife of nearly 33 years was calm and composed.
And so she remains during President Nixon's 16-mile eulogy, through the President's recitation of her husband's last words.

"I've always loved my wife. I've always loved my children. I've always loved my grandchildren. I have always loved my country."
Dwight D. Eisenhower, Nixon said, spoke these words to his wife just before he died last Friday.
When the eulogy was over, Mrs. Eisenhower returned to seclusion and private grief.

Mrs. Eisenhower has sought to restrict this sorrowful part of her life to members of her family, a friend said.

When Eisenhower's body was taken into the rotunda, the grandchildren walked slowly to the steps behind it.

David, 21 today, and Julie, his wife and daughter of President Nixon, and David's sister, Susan, 17, went first, all holding hands.
Also there were Mary Jean Eisenhower, 19, and Barbara Anne, 19, and her husband, Fernando Echavarrria-Urbe of Bogota, Colombia.
Mrs. Eisenhower, John, and his wife, Barbara, did not stand at the steps for the ceremony but went into the Capitol by a door beneath the steps and left that way.

He Goes In Glory: Honored, Respected, Beloved

Dwight David Eisenhower, 84th President of the United States, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in World War II, greatly honored at home and abroad may well be remembered as a leader who embodied the highest of military and political values, and an unwavering devotion to basic American principles of freedom and liberty set an example for all time.

We honor him for all his deeds, but most of all for the way in which he carried out his duties with grace and dignity. He was the man who led us to victory over the Axis powers, and he was the man who led us to the signing of the armistice with the Communists in Cuba.

The Eisenhower legend is one of simplicity and common sense. He was a man who understood the complexities of government and the responsibilities of leadership. He was a man who was respected by his classmates with no loss of dignity.

From that date until he resigned from the Army with the rank of a five-star general to become president of Columbia University and then accept the call to political duty under the Republican banner, his unique talent for leadership which inspired cooperation grew.

His was the word that launched the D-Day assault on the beaches of France which opened the way to final victory over the German war-machine. His was also the spirit that moved post-war Europe into NATO to preserve the freedoms so hardily won. But in all these great ventures, there remained the simplicity, the devotion to the basic values of a British Brigadier from Montgomery's "Desert Rats" told us of this American general who visited their camp without the "fruit salad" which adorned the left breast of so many high-ranking Americans which has characterized the Eisenhower record, and spoke to them, man-to-man, simply, understandingly.

Who can forget the cries of "I Like Ike" which rang out in the 1952 Presidential campaign? Here was a time when the general became a father-figure, representing the decency of American life, and went into office with the blessing of the international wing of the GOP.

Those days were, to be sure 17 years ago. Since then the events which were earth-shaking in their import have clouded that figure, obscured that bold sense of effective Americanism.

But the passing of the former President, almost demands that a pause be taken, that an appraisal of what the "man from Abilene, Kansas" has meant and what his example can mean to the main stream of American life today.

There will be the grand tributes from all over the world. "Ike's" friends are legion. They span the oceans, hurdle the differences in race, nationality or creed. For those simple and enduring virtues which were his, there will be no boundaries.

Not, we would suggest, should any less worthy interpretation of his life be made than the figures were furnished in well-documented biographies, intimate recollections and his own writings.

When the last echoes of "Ike's" have faded away, when all the formalities and traditional ceremonies are over and done with, there will stand the figure of the great general, the honored president, the beloved American who still points his own way to an American destiny of liberty, freedom and justice!

Taxpayer Revolt!

There at all levels of government have risen to the point where authorities appear to be demanding that a taxpayer's revolt. Exorbitant property taxes, it is predicted, will force some people out of their homes. Refusal of voters to approve bond issues are compelling cutbacks in education funds and even the closure of some schools for limited periods.

As a consequence of the rising concern over taxes, we may see in the coming months a new political approach to the whole subject of spending and taxation. For one thing, it is likely that the carefully cultivated illusion that people can get something for nothing from the government will go down the drain, as public officials are faced with the ever-increasing necessity of balancing each new spending program with additional tax revenue or new bond issues.

For another thing, there will very likely be redoubled efforts to make tax systems more palatable and more equitable. Indicative of the trend is a new Treasury Department study that has been submitted to Congress proposing sweeping tax reform for the federal government. The study is a 200-page, 6.5 pound document compiled by treasury experts over a two-year period.

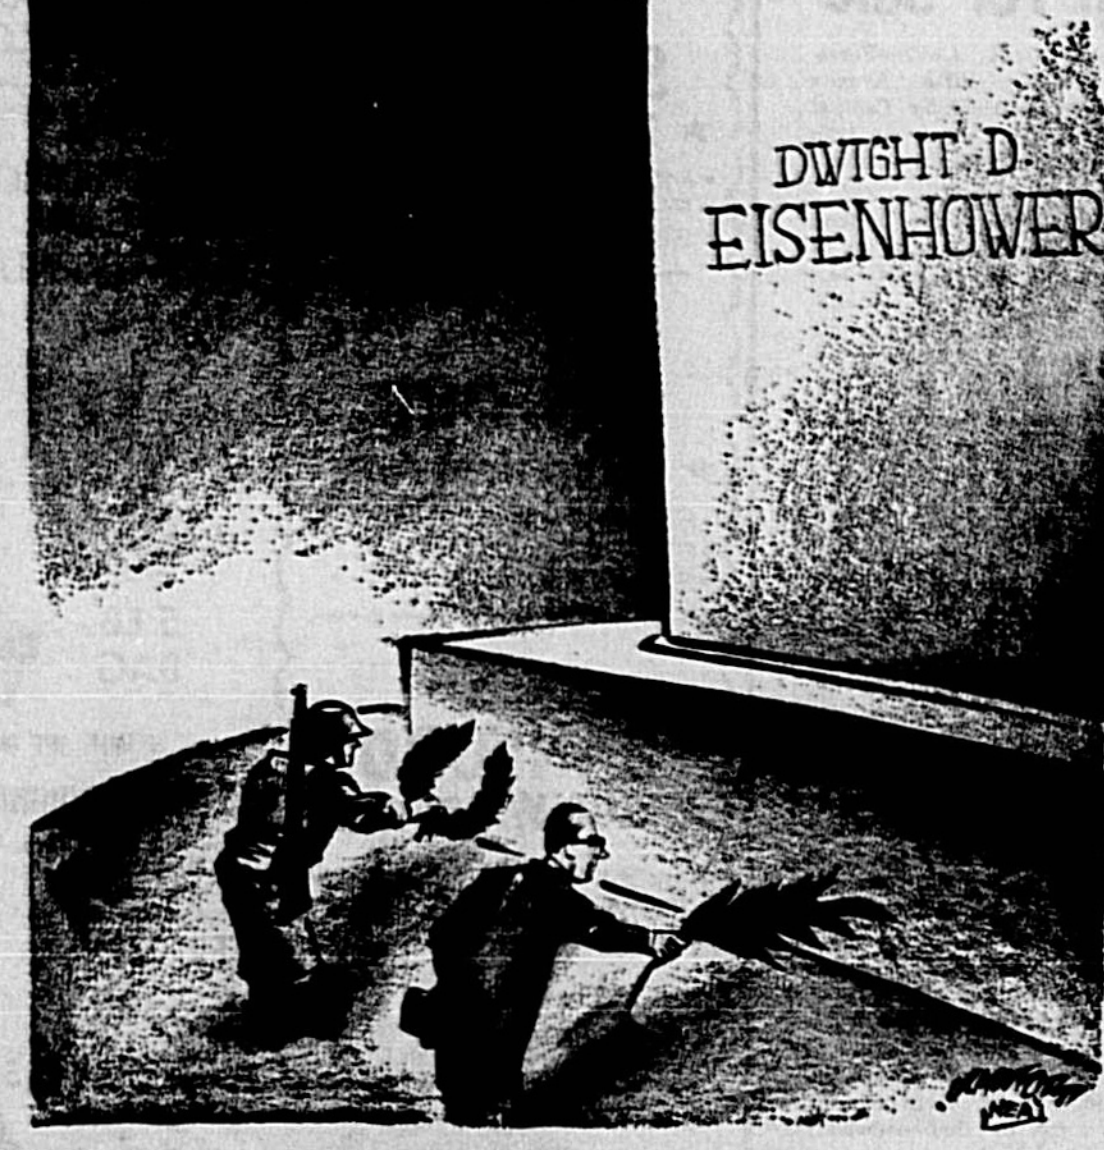

According to the Los Angeles Times-Washington Post Service, "The highly detailed, technical document is probably the most comprehensive tax reform program ever put together by the Treasury Department. As such, it will be the standard for judging all other tax reform bills offered in Congress and the basis for whatever legislation is eventually written on the subject." The news service points out that the proposals in the study are directed at making the tax laws more fair and not at raising money. In the main, they would reduce the federal tax burden of low income families, the elderly and the middle income group. To balance the loss from these groups, the study proposes closure of "loopholes" used by millionaires and corporations.

Other proposals in the study deal with simplifying and changing many of the rules on deductions for charitable contributions, state gasoline taxes, etc. The study passes over some of the standard for judging all other tax reform bills offered in Congress and the basis for whatever legislation is eventually written on the subject.

Crane's Worry Clinic:

All About "Holstein" Lovers

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH. D. M.D.

CASE J-888: Cal. J. aged 32, is a Holstein.

As I drove into the gas station recently while on a visit to our Indiana farm home, Cal greeted me.

"Hi, Doc," he called out and I waved back at him.

"But I am still a 'Holstein lover' as you mentioned in your 'Worry Clinic'!"

You faithful readers of this column will get the point. But my newcomers might be mystified.

Not long ago I mentioned the sexual "fetish," which may be anything that a person employs as a special romantic symbol.

And I bemoaned the fact that nowadays a girl's "masculinity" have often become more important to many men than her general charm and other attractive personality traits.

Among those physical "masculinities," but he is now the fetish for millions of young fellows.

I'd I warned men (as well as women), not to become idolaters about the human anatomy.

And I referred to such male worshippers of the female but as "holstein lovers," since the Holstein cows have the largest udders!

Then I concluded my column that day by telling teen-age girls not to copy a cow's attributes as the major attraction in the human female!

Among the other feminine fetishes that excite men romantically are feminine perfume, soft long hair, silky facial hair and legs on a girl's slip, plus her shedding of hairs at pathetic points in movie plots.

And they routinely value beauty beyond all else, plus those long, dark, wavy (or straight) locks that many girls adore.

Head shavers and curlers also rears their "wolfish" fetich concerning women and

Wide Extent Of Foreign Aid

The reason why we haven't given these nations a hand is hard to fathom... Perhaps the greatest article in the State Department has been on how to get money to the rest of the world they haven't discovered their own light.

It added that the US should be more "open" to the State Department's "openness" to the rest of the world.

Only one of the countries which which had not received aid, however, has a communist government, and the other countries which have received aid, however, have not received aid.

As James and Jameson opposed them, to those men who oppose the truth, men of corrupt mind and unscrupulous faith; for their folly will be plain to all, as was that of these two men—H. Hunt.

Canada To Love And Cherish

By RICHARD WILSON, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Prime Minister Trudeau has a facile low-key manner of explaining away the things which the American public about Canada's chip-on-the-shoulder foreign policy. But there is evidently nothing to do about it but love and cherish our good friends to the north in spite of their stubborn ways.

We do not cover Canada as we already do the rest of the world. It is no wonder that the Canadians are somewhat concerned over the anti-bellistic missiles which may explode over their heads.

But when the prime minister tells us of the policy toward the rest of the Americas there is a creeping sense of wonderment about where the rest of the Americas are. The Maple Leaf has been all these years.

The Canadians are discoverers of the Americas and the rest of the world. They might even join the Organization of American States if they thought they could make a contribution.

And, of course, they continue to trade with Cuba in non-strategic materials, not necessarily approving of Fidel Castro. Prime Minister Trudeau is a master of the modern lingo. If we can just have enough "communication," enough "dialogue" perhaps all this trouble in the Western Hemisphere will be smoothed out.

Canada, unfortunately for her in some respects, is located on the same continent as the United States. This is a great advantage and a disadvantage. It is a disadvantage because it makes it so easy for her to trade with Cuba in non-strategic materials, not necessarily approving of Fidel Castro. Prime Minister Trudeau is a master of the modern lingo. If we can just have enough "communication," enough "dialogue" perhaps all this trouble in the Western Hemisphere will be smoothed out.

US Flexes Muscle For Korea

By RAY CROMLEY, NEA Washington Correspondent

SEUL, Korea (NEA)—Koreans will long time for getting the Public Korea.

It is associated with a North Korean attempt that same week to assassinate South Korea's President Chung Hee Park.

Koreans this reporter has talked to still don't understand why the United States didn't react.

No responsible Korean wanted to start a war with the north. But there is a belief deeply rooted in Asian philosophy that men must stand still under such open provocation. Otherwise, worse provocations will follow.

In Korean reason, to deliberate, actively detestive enemy aggressive acts go unpunished, destroys the people's confidence, convinces the money you are without the will to defend your self and leads him into international relations that could lead to war.

The U. S. is not doing so well in Korea. It was almost a routine operation. Park flourished much of the 36 hours.

The Koreans this reporter talked to after landing, the exercises meant something more. They were dramatic.

They were deliberately carried out in a way to make the North Koreans uneasy.

They came within 90 days of President Nixon's inauguration.

U. S. Unhurt By Bomb Halt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officials say the United States has suffered little militarily from the prohibition against bombing North Vietnam, begun in limited fashion one year ago today.

This attitude would seem to be an admission that the air campaign against the North, launched in February 1965, was not as vital as the Pentagon made it out to be.

But, military men say, the North Vietnamese have gained operating flexibility and are no longer paying as high a price to infiltrate men and supplies southward.

At the same time, however, Hanoi has not been able, or has not chosen, to build up a much larger force in South Vietnam. Its troop level today is about what it was when the bombs were falling—around 100,000.

Former President Johnson restricted U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last March 31 to the narrow panhandle beneath the 20th parallel to encourage Hanoi to enter peace negotiations. Last Nov. 1, with talks imminent, he made the prohibition complete.

There was some concern the bombing halt would bring a dangerous North Vietnamese threat to marines stationed below the demilitarized zone separating the two countries. The United States warned Hanoi in advance to respect the supposedly mutual nature of the DMZ.

Officials say Hanoi still plays the air and those with the DMZ but not to the extent that U.S. forces have been placed in serious jeopardy.

U.S. intelligence estimates 1,500 to 2,000 North Vietnamese operate continuously in the 12-mile zone but few are combat types.

More patrols of construction units sent in to repair fortifications in North Vietnam's 400-mile portion of the DMZ. Small armed units do slip through occasionally to raid Marine outposts.

Four divisions, or around 40,000 men, which were withdrawn to North Vietnam last year remain scattered above the DMZ and pose a potential threat.

The United States still "attempts to remain scattered above the DMZ and pose a potential threat."

Enterprise PTC Donates To Program

By MILBRED HANEY
 Parent-Teacher Council of Enterprise Elementary School voted at its last meeting to make an initial donation of $25 to the summer recreation program now being formulated for the DeBary, Deltona, Enterprise area.

Report on the summer activity was presented by Mrs. Harold Cobb, PTC president.

Members set April 11 as date for a silent auction and it was advised items for the project may be brought to school and placed in boxes in each room or to the school office.

Mrs. Vera Thomas, intern teacher at the school for eight weeks, was introduced by Mrs. Sylvia Hardin, principal.

Current county-wide school situation was outlined by the guest speaker, County School Superintendent Raymond Dunn, who stated it is hoped the addition to the Enterprise school will be ready for use in the fall. Property in back of the present school is now being cleared for the building.

Roomwork was won for the second time by Mrs. Daley Gunn's sixth grade. Honorarium awards were refreshments.

Zoning Change Hearing Slated

The North Orlando Zoning Board has recommended an amendment to the comprehensive zoning ordinance adopted one year ago, changing lot size in R-1 areas (Coronado Homes section), which was denied earlier last week by the village council, meeting as a board of adjustment.

The zoning board will schedule a public hearing (date to be announced) on the matter, after which it will be returned for council action and another public hearing.

Deltona Seeks Better Business Bureau

By WILFRED HANEY

Measures required to establish a Better Business Bureau in Deltona were outlined for about 25 residents attending a meeting of the Deltona Civic Association, Inc. last night.

Speaker was Charles V. Emerson of the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce, "Basically," he said, "formation of a Business Ethics Bureau requires cooperation of all local merchants and contractors, as well as sponsorship and support of the Civic Association and its board of directors."

Emerson offered his assistance and guidance in the association in its efforts to establish such a program.

In other business, Percy Wallace reported county commissioner have approved a request for 20 additional street lights. The matter has been turned over to Florida Power Corporation for action. He also reported that residents of 88 homes have signed up for associations meeting, which represents 986 individuals, or a half-way mark to projected membership goal.

Retirees Eye Beneficial Measures

By WILFRED HANEY

Letters have been mailed to all retired Federal employees, including over 50 in the Deltona-Deltona area, to join the National Association of Retired Civil Employees (NARCE) and the local Deltona-Deltona Chapter 628, in an effort to strengthen the position of NARCE in its efforts to obtain legislation beneficial to annuitants and their survivors.

Several important bills have been introduced in the House of Representatives, notably H. R. 3662, by Rep. T. J. Dulski, chairman of the House p. o. and civil service committee, to provide a sliding scale increase for annuitants.

H. R. 1782, which passed the House in the 90th Congress, has been re-introduced as H. R. 770 by its original sponsor, Rep. D. J. Daniels, chairman of the subcommittee on retirement insurance and health benefits. This bill is intended to reauthorize and liberalize some retirement provisions, increase all future cost of living increases and recalculate certain annuities to survive annuitants. Hearings on this bill were held recently in Washington by its provisions. Chair-

Area Joins Nation In Tribute To Ike

The leaders of American government and representatives of most of the world's nations were there this afternoon at the start of his funeral procession.

Among them: President Charles de Gaulle of France, the Shah of Iran, King Constantine of Greece, King Baudouin of Belgium, West Germany's Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger and dozens more.

The march of mourners halted briefly while King Baudouin, clad in air force uniform with purple sash, presented a white floral wreath. He placed it gently, then stood at sharp attention and saluted.

Again the quiet, respectful, affectionate line moved. By mid-morning half its numbers were children. Schoolers were closed and government offices excused on this day of national mourning.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, De Gaulle, here in mourning a World War II comrade in arms, conferred privately with Nixon on the problem of a world not yet made safe for democracy.

Other presidents, prime ministers, kings and chancellors will be received formally by President and Mrs. Nixon in the early evening.

By then the invitation-only funeral for the hero president, under the soaring gothic arches of Washington National Cathedral, will be over and a funeral train will be carrying the body to the Kansas farm boy back to the plains of Illinois for burial.

Among the throngs that came to the Capitol to pay their personal tribute and murmur their private prayers were thousands of the Negroes who make up three-fourths of Washington's population.

But most were the white, middle class Americans who looked like they were just there to see the funeral.

They blinked in the harsh lights of television as they came in from the cold to the place where their lie lay in state.

Inside, their ranks parted to file by on either side of the plain GI coffin where it lay on its side, draped in the Stars and Stripes of the country he had fought for in war and led in peace.

There, President Nixon had said in eulogy earlier, lay "that rarest of men, an authentic hero."

There lay a man whose last words to his wife were just the ones these people who came through the night might have hoped he would say:

"I've always loved my children. I've always loved my grandchildren. And I have always loved my country."

A small, lent shadow, Mamie Eisenhower, 72, came through the night in a black gown and wept as she looked at the casket for the first time. The President and Mrs. Nixon followed in his heavily armored limousine, surrounded by watchful Secret Service agents at every stop.

Despite a delay in transferring the casket from the station at a cathedral to the casket, after a brief motor journey, the ceremony went off with military precision called for in the detailed, three-year-old state funeral plan.

A few snafus took place, however. It rained, it clouded over, the sun came out, was shrouded by the world's best weather forecasters.

Through the long day, Mamie Eisenhower was calm, composed to the watching world. On two occasions when she appeared that she was stifling tears.

Her son never left her side. His arm was always there for her to clasp with a black gloved hand. He spoke briefly with the president at the ceremony.

The widow and son then had to be escorted to the White House by Secret Service agents.

Across the nation, in Palm Sunday services, the eulogy of President Nixon found echoes in the hearts of many.

Today, a national day of mourning by presidential proclamation, the body of the five-star general lies in the Rotunda until late afternoon, before being carried back to the cathedral by hearse for the funeral itself.

Through the night a train will carry Eisenhower on his last journey west to his boyhood home in Abilene, Kan.

The train is due into Abilene at midnight Tuesday.

The next morning, Eisenhower will be buried under the floor of the chapel of the Eisenhower Library, from the body of his son, David, who died in childhood.

French President Charles de Gaulle, Eisenhower's comrade in arms in World War II, when the United States returned France from Nazi occupation, arrived in Washington as Nixon was speaking Sunday.

He changed from civilian clothes to his general's uniform and went to the Rotunda. The crowds were hushed at the door of the Rotunda as he moved toward the bier, saluted, quietly, saluted again, and departed.

King Constantine of Greece and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia also came to the Rotunda.

Massive security precautions of President John F. Kennedy, when the heads of state last gathered here were ordered into effect for the final day of the funeral.

The U.S. Secret Service, which guards the President, is in general charge of security arrangements, including the foreign security men and local police to insure against incidents.

"CANCER SOCIETY MONTH" was proclaimed for April by Sanford Mayor Lee Moore. Cancer Crusade will be conducted through April 12. Reid Brodie Jr. (right) and Mrs. Jonnie Elam are president and secretary respectively, of the Seminole County unit of the Cancer Society. (Staff Photo)

Reds Suffer Heavy Losses

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy losses and allied blocking actions are forcing the Viet Cong command to reassess plans for its five-week-old spring offensive, U.S. military analysts said today.

Officers said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had lost more than 6,000 men during March in the 3rd Corps area stretching from the Cambodia border through Saigon to the South China Sea.

The analysts said the enemy during the first two weeks of April probably would limit his attacks to rocket and mortar attacks while he reassesses his plans and gets replacements and supplies.

But one officer said that more than 1,000 Viet Cong main force troops pointed to the south and southwest of Saigon could make a dash for the city for publicity purposes.

Enemy actions stepped up in Saigon over the weekend. In 24 hours, enemy gunners fired rockets into the city for the first time in two weeks, bombed a police station and a government post office and set off a claymore mine 100 yards from the national police headquarters. Twenty-three persons were wounded in the terrorist actions, but the rockets fell harmlessly in or near the Saigon river.

Military spokesmen reported that allied forces killed 562 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in more than a dozen fights during the weekend. U.S. losses were put at 42 men killed and 158 wounded, while 20 South Vietnamese were reported killed and 116 wounded.

The U.S. Command reported about 20 attacks by rockets or mortars overnight on allied bases and towns, including a 150-round mortar barrage followed by an infantry assault on a night camp of U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops.

The ground assault touched off a night-long battle 25 miles west of Kontum, in the Central Highlands near the Cambodian border. Twenty-five North Vietnamese soldiers and six U.S. troops were reported killed and 37 Americans wounded.

At least half of the enemy dead were credited to massive American firepower, including bombers, helicopters, gunship artillery, the controversial new Sheridan tanks and armored personnel carriers.

French President Charles de Gaulle, Eisenhower's comrade in arms in World War II, when the United States returned France from Nazi occupation, arrived in Washington as Nixon was speaking Sunday.

He changed from civilian clothes to his general's uniform and went to the Rotunda. The crowds were hushed at the door of the Rotunda as he moved toward the bier, saluted, quietly, saluted again, and departed.

King Constantine of Greece and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia also came to the Rotunda.

Massive security precautions of President John F. Kennedy, when the heads of state last gathered here were ordered into effect for the final day of the funeral.

The U.S. Secret Service, which guards the President, is in general charge of security arrangements, including the foreign security men and local police to insure against incidents.

New GOP Aide Outlines Aims

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

Seminole County moved up another niche this past week when the State Republican Party's Chairman Duke Crittendon announced the selection of County Commissioner Robert Tope as its newly appointed executive director.

Tope, a resident of Altamonte Springs and a successful businessman, revealed that "it took a great deal of soul searching prior to making a decision on accepting this challenging position."

"But, most importantly," added Tope, "I had to be sure in my own mind that through this opportunity I'd also be able to better assist and represent Seminole County in a way not entirely possible before. I'm convinced it'll open many new doors for the county and focus more attention in our direction."

The newly elected County Commissioner did not feel that his constituents would resent his accepting the executive directorship but probably would accept it as still another way of promoting Seminole County through an influential outlet.

"Those people who voted me into office were expressing their belief in a two-party system. And that's what this new job will give me a chance to do. Follow through on the policies established by the State GOP, encouraging all those interested in good government, especially the youth of the state, to have a voice in the government."

ROBERT TOPE, newly appointed executive director of the Florida State Republican Party at $15,000 a year, is interviewed by Herald staffer John A. Spolski (left).

APRIL SHOWERS are due to commence Tuesday to bring out May flowers. Virginia Scroggs brought out the little fliers over the weekend. Herald staffer Virginia Scroggs caught this young lady competing with a bunch of boys down near Altamonte Springs.

Peace Talks 'Slow'

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador Lodge also does not believe a military victory is possible in the Vietnam peace talks, citing evidence that all the participants are "sitting around native."

"For the first time in the history of the war, the key negotiators on both sides are meeting face to face," the chief U.S. representative at the Paris peace talks said in a weekend interview. He now has a structure here in Paris to exchange views with the other side... Through the exchange of statements and rebuttals, each side is learning what is important to the other side."

Lodge refused to answer questions about secret meetings, prospects for a more flexible Communist position, the possibility of a Soviet role in a settlement, or whether mutual withdrawal of foreign forces from South Vietnam is possible without an admission by Hanoi that it has troops there.

But he spilled out the Nixon administration's basic policy position—that the United States is not seeking a military victory in Vietnam, is ready for "serious negotiations" toward a political solution, and wants to reduce the scale of hostilities as soon as possible.

Lodge is ready to market an even smaller, more modest, called the Phoenix, in 1971.

Ford Unveils New Compact

CARLETON, Wis. (AP) — Domestic auto maker to jump into the subcompact area.

General Motors came up with a new subcompact line, a four-passenger car called the XPG-7, which will make its debut in mid-1970. American Motors hurried plans to get a new small car, called the Hornet, to market this fall and another called the Gremlin to market in 1970.

Crysler has plans for a similar car on the drawing boards but reportedly still feels its Simca and Rootes car imports already place it in good position to meet the VW challenge.

Ford used a Western background to show newmen the two-door, four-passenger car which will get its public introduction April 17—the fifth anniversary of Ford's last big success car—the trend-setting Mustang.

Ford invested an estimated $70 million in getting the new car to market more than a year ago.

The decision to go into the subcompact market was not an easy one, for most Ford executives—along with those of the other major U.S. auto firms—had figured the car buyers' love affair with the Volkswagen and other imports already had run its course.

"As a matter of fact, there was getting hotter instead of cooler, Ford was the first

Easy Gourmet Dish To Beguile The In-Laws

No matter how good a cook the bride fancies herself, she is always nervous on that important night when her in-laws first come to dinner. To want to please her husband's parents and impress them with her culinary talent, yet she wants to prepare something that's almost foolproof. What she's after is a gourmet-style, delicious but simply prepared entrée which is not also in mother-in-law's repertoire.

Chicken is always a favorite company dish because it is delicate and can be varied so many ways. A brandy-sauced chicken is especially gala, and chances are will be a new taste delight for the in-laws.

As a suggestion, the boneless chicken breasts are laced with Old Mr. Boston Ginger and Brandy, a 42 proof beverage with full ginger flavor which can turn a cinch dish into a stand-in for Cordou Bleu cooking.

Peach and Brandy, or Apricot and Brandy can be substituted for Ginger if you prefer. It is the rich fruit or ginger flavor that gives this chicken its special personality and will earn genuine praise for even a novice cook. Serve with white rice, asparagus, and sliced potatoes with oil and vinegar dressing, and finish with the flourish of strawberry cheesecake, or a rainbow parfait for dessert.

Here's How To Ease Eyestrain From Too Much TV

By VIVIAN BROWN
All Newsfeatures Writer

Is television viewing harmful to the eyes of young people? "It is too soon to tell, but what symptoms are they doing like," says Dr. Alden Norman Halffner, consultant to the Society for Visual Care.

There is evidence that constant television viewing at relatively close distances "tends to cause some attributes of near-sightedness in young people."

The question is whether this factor will be a long-term one and if it will affect a whole generation of young people.

Young people will continue to watch television, but they should be aware of how to ease the strain of viewing, Dr. Halffner says. More than 80 per cent of everything we learn comes in through our eyes, so they are really precious.

Here are Halffner's suggestions for helping to ease eyestrain while watching television:

- Sit in a comfortable upright position as far away from the television set as possible—the other side of the room.
- Use indirect lighting so that the room is not completely dark. Relative darkness has a tendency to set up fatigue much over the counter, Halffner explains. He has found less imperfections such as bubbles and low grade power and has observed lenses that are not lined up.
- It may be a warning sign that some visual problems exist that should be investigated by a competent person.

An eye examination may determine that one needs glasses. Glasses should be selected for the highest standard of lenses, frames, workmanship.

(For example, there are no regulations for sunglasses sold over the counter, Halffner explains. He has found less imperfections such as bubbles and low grade power and has observed lenses that are not lined up.)

Glasses made from tempered glass or plastic are a great protection for young people who must wear glasses especially if one engages in sports. They will not splinter and harm the tissues of the eyes.

Halffner scratches on glasses may cause problems, even though they are barely noticeable. If glasses are worn, they should be protected when not in use. They should not be thrown into a handbag or rested on a lens instead of on a frame.

Glasses should be cleaned with mild soap and water and a soft cloth, and cleaned from time to time with cleaning tissue, rather than with special cleaning cloths designed for carriers to use.

Sunglasses are designed for the sun. It is a bad habit to wear them indoors for glamor's sake, he points out.

Herbed Lamb Is Festive Easter Dinner Treat

The family expects festive food for Easter and a really festive dish for the occasion is Herbed Roast Lamb. Pood editor, Elia Miller, in the current issue of Family Circle Magazine gives this recipe:

Order the lamb ahead and have it boned and rolled (or do it yourself). It should weigh about five pounds after boning.

When ready to cook, untie roast and spread out flat. Sprinkle with a mixture of Garlic salt, 1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper, 1/4 teaspoon crumbled leaf basil, 1/4 teaspoon crumbled leaf rosemary, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Roll meat and tie tightly so it will keep its shape when cooking. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan.

Roast in slow oven (325 deg.) 1 1/2 hour.

Remove roast to a heated serving platter; keep warm while making gravy.

Four all purpose flour in a 2-cup measure; let stand a few minutes until fat rises to top, then skim off. Return 2 tablespoons of fat to roasting pan. Blend flour into fat; cook stirring constantly until bubbly. Add water to the juices if necessary to make 1 1/2 cups. Stir into pan and continue cooking until gravy cooks 1 minute. Season with salt and pepper if needed.

Plattermates can be baked potatoes and hot buttered cherry tomatoes. Good!

The More Leg - The Lovelier

This year, brides are stepping into a bright new world filled with fashion treasures for honeymoon travel.

Legs are continuing to command fashion attention as skirts hover happily above the knee. This season, color in soft new shades is the key to smart legwear looks for the honeymoon trip.

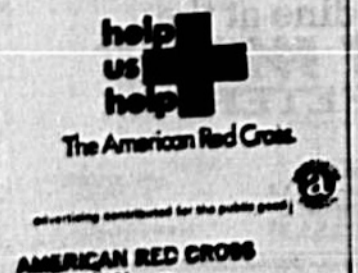

New chiffon tones in hoisery, light and lovely as wedding party colors, are lovely accessories for the pastel fashions of Spring and Summer. The chiffon stockings dress your legs in sheer, wispy color to mix or match with your solid color or print dresses.

To help brides plan a honeymoon legwear wardrobe that's right in fashion and fit, too, hoisery experts offer these tips.

When choosing sheer hoisery, in either chiffon pastels or complexion shades, look for styles made with nylon with special qualities. This strong fiber has unusual ability to cling to legs, and stockings that follow the shape of your legs tend to wear longer.

Chiffon stockings in peach, pink, lemon, lime, lilac, aqua and grey are color-coded as well for the wedding itself. They make the perfect complement to bridesmaids' gowns in romantic summer colors.

You can't be there to help them. We can. Put your money where your boys are.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to get a virgin to keep waiting. A woman's virginity is still the greatest gift she can offer a man in marriage. Even though it may make excuses for him, he still prefers a virgin for a wife. Please don't confuse my signature that I know nothing about life. I was in the business world for over 30 years before I became a priest.

Respectfully,
SAN DIEGO PRIEST

DEAR ABBY: The 41-year-old virgin who is holding out for marriage. Forget it. On her eighth try it's time to "Package returned unopened."

DEAR ABBY: For "Waiting": Lady, you are to be commended. Don't let a cloud sell you if he says, if you don't give him what he wants, he will give elsewhere—let him.

DEAR ABBY: Why all the emphasis on virginity? A man who insists that he be the "one and only" probably doesn't care because he doesn't want the woman he marries to be able to make comparisons and find him lacking. Me? I don't have that problem.

A MAN NAMED "MANN"

DEAR ABBY: I am a U. S. serviceman with three overseas tours of duty, and all my life I've practiced a code of morality some call "Victorian." I've taken tremendous pride in it, and I freely ad-

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) Attend those meetings you like but don't try to delay the proceedings by promoting your outdated plan. Be more progressive instead and learn to cooperate.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) Finances should be the focal point of your activities now. Be sure to make those collections, pay important debts. A slight revision of your budget is vital. Show more wisdom.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those people who needs to be prepared to cope with radical changes from time to time. Teach early an enthusiastic, philosophic attitude. Change is for the best. Don't neglect religion. Your progeny will work very well with others and will live well. Do especially well where anything of a pioneering nature is concerned. We The Women: By Betty Canary

As a devotee of old movies, I want to go on record as saying that in my opinion, a man in a satin suit does not necessarily look feminine and Tyrone Power may washable his way across your magic screen any old time.

Sometimes I wonder why we fight the new look for men. In nature the male has been given the more brilliant plumage, the more colorful and more varied. Homo sapiens has affected the fancier dress. Surely we all know that the first woman who wore high heels, pants, and a man's white shirt were originally worn by women. Actually, with miracle fabrics and modern cleaning and detergent, ruffles and bows and flounces were certainly the more practical of the two.

Shopping with girls can be nerve-racking at times. I'll say this for the store clerk: He obviously knows something about psychology and little boys and women. Actually, with miracle fabrics and modern cleaning and detergent, ruffles and bows and flounces were certainly the more practical of the two.

Polly's Pointers By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY: Mrs. R.G.H. asked how to finish the edges of her stair carpet that is raveling along the sides. She could apply a white household adhesive that dries clear, along these edges. Usually trim the edges, then apply this adhesive. I suggest that she repeat the treatment three times, allowing a day for drying between each application. A firm edge will be formed that will last for quite awhile. If possible she should slip a piece of cardboard (stair cardboard would be great) under the edge of the carpet to insure the carpet not sticking to the steps. Thank you for the many fine pointers—NELLA.

DEAR POLLY: I am planning an old-fashioned washboard and card file box to match my blue laundry room. They are both useful and decorative. I made my file as to the proper procedure for anything in question—JANET.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY: Many years ago we received a gift eight smaller aluminum tumblers in various colors. I love them. They stack and take up the space of only one glass and are unbreakable and safe for the children to use. Years of use and dishwasher washing has removed parts of the green-brilliant coloring. I would like to remove all the color down to the bare aluminum. Steel wool will do the job but only after back-breaking labor. I would like to know a better way. I have tried nail polish remover and boiling—JANE.

Tom Adams Talks Press

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Florida's newspapers need to be more objective and more accurate, says Secretary of State Tom Adams.

But the Democratic Cabinet officer opposes Gov. Claude Kirk's proposal that newspapers be required by law to provide equal space to people they criticize.

"This, I think, is going too far," Adams said recently. "Even the yellowest of journalism is better than a controlled and restricted press... better than governmental interference with the free press."

Adams took a speech to the Gasparilla Chapter of the Florida Public Relations Association as the opportunity to criticize newspapers for political bias.

And he complained that many national editors do not know their subject matter and should "climb out of their ivory towers into the light of reality where the action is."

The secretary of state also called for "better trained reporters to cover the increasingly complex level of government."
