

Sandwiches Offer Something Extra

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Americans love sandwiches. Inventive eaters put some exotic vegetable, fruit and meats combinations between slices of bread. That is why such sandwich devotees will enjoy a Middle Eastern kebab treat that combines the best of both worlds. A takeoff on shish kebab which is classically skewered lamb cooked over charcoal is the Sandwich Kebabs a la Americaine. Here, beef is used with tomatoes, green pepper, mushrooms and pickled peppers. These are basted with a savory marinade, broiled and served in a Middle Eastern flat bread called pita. Another Middle Eastern touch is the topping of yogurt sauce. In some areas these sandwiches are called falafel or souvlaki. If there is no pita available in your area, use American club rolls.

SANDWICH KEBABS A LA AMERICAINA

BASTING SAUCE:
1/2 cup olive or salad oil
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 garlic clove, crushed
1/2 teaspoon rosemary, crushed
1/2 teaspoon marjoram leaves, crushed
1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
1 pound round steak, cut into 1-inch pieces
Unseasoned instant meat tenderizer (optional)
1/2 cups hot or sweet pickled cherry peppers, drained
1 large green pepper, cut in chunks
1 large tomato, cut in wedges
1/2 pound large mushrooms, halved
4 pita leaves, halved,

OR 4 club rolls, split
Yogurt sauce

Mix oil, onion, lemon juice, garlic, salt, rosemary, marjoram and thyme until well blended; set aside. Sprinkle round steak with tenderizer as label directs or marinate in basting sauce to tenderize. Arrange on eight 10-inch skewers; meat, pickled peppers, green pepper, tomatoes and mushrooms. Place skewers in broiler pan or on grill and brush with basting sauce. Broil or grill 5 to 10 minutes, turning once and brushing frequently with basting sauce. For each sandwich, remove meat and vegetables from one skewer and place in halved pita bread or in club roll. Spoon yogurt over meat and vegetables. Makes 4 servings.

To prepare yogurt sauce, combine until well mixed: 1 cup plain yogurt, 1 tablespoon minced pickled peppers and 14 teaspoon thyme leaves.

College Students Eat Big And Here's New Treats

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

With all the ongoing changes on the college campus, one fact remains constant — college students love to eat. And they appreciate those care packages from home that are filled with tasty tidbits. With many students camping, hiking and backpacking a good selection of energy-filled cookie bars always is welcome. To mail, wrap cookies in waxed paper. Pack firmly in an airtight container lined with aluminum foil. An empty coffee can makes a good container. Either pack this in a cardboard box and wrap box with brown craft paper to mail, or wrap can with packing material and then craft paper for mailing.

ENERGY-PLUS BARS
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 egg
1/2 cup orange juice
1 cup non-fat dry milk (dry form)
2 cups unsifted flour
1 cup wheat germ
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup raisins

Grease 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. In large bowl, cream butter until light and fluffy. Beat in sugar, corn syrup and egg until smooth and well blended. Stir in orange juice. Add dry milk, flour, wheat germ, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt; stir until well mixed. Fold in nuts and raisins. Spread mixture in prepared pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 45 minutes or until richly browned. Cool in pan. Cut into bars. Store in airtight container. Makes 36 (2 1/2 and one-half inch) bars.

OATMEAL BARS
2 cups prepared mincemeat
1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 rind and juice of 1 lemon
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
1/2 cups unsifted flour
1/2 cups quick oats
1/2 cup firmly packed light or dark brown sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine

Grease 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. In large bowl stir together mincemeat, corn syrup, water, cinnamon, lemon rind, lemon juice and nuts. Set aside. In another bowl stir together with pastry blender flour, oats,

Spaghetti Always Well-Received

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Spaghetti always is a welcome meal treat in most families. Youngsters, especially, will often eat spaghetti with a hearty sauce when they won't eat anything other than hotdogs and hamburgers. The pizza craze is a prime example of youths' romance with pasta and its varied toppings. For a change of taste sauce with added nutrients, add flaked tuna to a spaghetti sauce that has been "plumped up" with canned tomatoes and slowly simmered.

SPAGHETTI WITH QUICK TUNA SAUCE
1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes
1 envelope (about 1 1/2 ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
2 cans (6 or 7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked
8 ounces spaghetti

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water

In saucepan, blend tomatoes into spaghetti sauce mix. Stir in oil and thyme. Simmer uncovered 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add tuna, simmer 5 minutes longer. Meanwhile, gradually add spaghetti and salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve spaghetti topped with tuna sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Longwood Treasury Facing Another Cut

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The lack of fiscal management and unbridled spending are two reasons why this city has been faced with financial hard times this year, in Council Chairman J. R. Grant's view.

And even though at his insistence some $50,000 was cut from planned spending early in the year and some money was saved in salaries after three police patrolmen quit, Grant estimates council will be looking toward slashing another $25,000 from the expenditure column early next month.

"I have not changed my mind about raising property taxes," he said, adding an increase in that tax can not, under law, be levied in the current fiscal year anyway. He has said he will go along with a modest increase in the water rates, pointing out these revenues would not help operate the city government.

This position is that water revenues should remain in that department for expansion and improvement and not filtered into the general fund as has been the practice, if not the policy, in the past.

"We lacked about $11,500 of balancing the budget when the last cuts were made," Grant said today. "Including the $11,100 found recently in unpaid bills from 1974 and the bill we expect from Mack Cleveland, another $25,000 has to be cut from somewhere."

Cleveland is the attorney retained to defend the city in a $100,000 plus lawsuit filed by the engineering firm of Glace and Radcliffe. The Winter Park firm claims the city owes the money for engineering services on the defunct sewer system. "A private business could not be run the way this city has been," Grant said, adding problems with the city's financial management cannot be blamed on the lack of a full time administrator on the city hall payroll.

"Even when the city had a full time administrator the job was not being done. Moray which should have been paid by Sanlando Utilities in utility taxes was not being collected," Grant cited as one example.

The city discovered last week that although Sanlando Utilities serves four city subdivisions with water service the 10 per cent utility tax up to $1 per utility monthly has not been collected.

Williams 'Tied' To McCain

Three judges, including Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court Judge Volie Williams Jr. say Supreme Court Justice David McCain contacted them about pending cases.

Meanwhile, McCain's lawyer, James Russ of Orlando, says Chairman William J. Rush, D-Port St. Joe, and staff director Marc Glick were unethical as lawyers in a House impeachment committee investigation. Russ has asked for a Florida Bar investigation.

These developments were revealed Wednesday in Tallahassee in the committee's inquiry into allegations that McCain favored certain lawyers, was influenced by outside forces in judicial decisions and failed to report campaign contributions.

Williams said he received himself after receiving a telephone call from Melbourne lawyer James H. Nance in which Nance said McCain wanted to remind the judge he was handling his sister-in-law's divorce, the newspapers said.

Nance denied strongly that he ever relayed any message from McCain and that any suggestion he conveyed such a message is "absolutely false," the newspapers said.

After Williams' removal from the case, it was assigned to Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court Judge Dominick J. Salfi, who immediately removed himself without a detailed explanation.

The newspapers said Williams said in the

'Principals Union' Causes Stir Board Ponders Suit Over Bargaining

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Disturbed by the prospect of principals and other school officials forming a union, the Seminole County School Board is considering a lawsuit against the state agency responsible for setting up guidelines for collective bargaining.

The issue surfaced at last night's school board meeting after officials learned the Public Employees Relations Commission (PERC) says that only the school superintendent, his assistants and 12 directors are considered "managerial" by the commission. (Related story on Page 2A).

The remainder of the county's instructional personnel — including principals — would be allowed to form their own union and bargain collectively. Calling it a "state of emergency," Board Member Allan Keeth called for a suit against PERC.

"I only know one thing to do," Keeth said. "I move that the board introduce a lawsuit against PERC to resolve this once and for all."

School Board Atty. Doug Stenstrom, agreeing that a suit may be the best way to go, advised the board to hold off until he's had a chance to contact the Seminole Education Association (SEA) to get their reaction.

Stenstrom felt SEA officials may want to join with the school board as a second party to the suit against PERC because SEA is made up of the county's teachers, librarians and counselors.

The reason SEA might side with the school board is that their bargaining unit as it's now comprised may not meet the new guidelines as outlined by PERC, Stenstrom said.

School Supt. Bud Lauer said PERC notified Seminole officials yesterday of the newest turn of events. "PERC is saying principals have a right to organize and bargain collectively," Lauer said.

The school superintendent said, however, that no principals or other personnel considered "managerial" by school officials have indicated any interest in unionization.

Also, Lauer said he felt the legislature is going to "pounce on PERC" during this session and resolve the matter once and for all. PERC is a state agency designated to set up collective bargaining guidelines throughout the entire state.

What SEA would do about this latest turn in events is up to the association's executive board and its legislative assembly.

However, SEA Executive Secretary Gene Grooms said he and Lauer sat down and considered "mutually agreed" who would be included and excluded from the bargaining unit.

"When it comes to principals, we don't see how they can be classified as non-managerial. They hire and fire and make up budgets. That's gotta be managerial in this county," he said.

Grooms said PERC has already promised SEA its certification, with some reservations about whom is included in the bargaining unit. "I hope they don't mess us up," he added.

Lauer said the only way the PERC ruling could harm the county would be if principals and other personnel decided to set up their own union and seek higher wages and other benefits through collective bargaining.

Although SEA has been recognized by the board as the sole bargaining agent for Seminole County's teachers, librarians and counselors, it has not received final certification from PERC.

That certification is expected on March 28 at a PERC meeting in Miami.

School board Chairman R. G. "Bud" Feather suggested a special meeting next week to decide whether or not to sue PERC. That meeting is set for 4 p.m. Wednesday in the county commission chambers at the courthouse.

Between now and then, Stenstrom said he would investigate the meaning of PERC's latest ruling and report his findings to the board.

Stenstrom also promised to contact SEA officials to see if the teacher's union wishes to join the school board in a fight against PERC.

Farm-City Event Slated May 13

By MICKEY LOCHRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

The seed for a May 13 "Farm-City Festival" was planted this morning during a joint meeting of the Agri-Business and Commercial Committees of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The one-day event will feature produce booths at the downtown area and the Sanford Plaza, and a "Old McDonald's Farm" exhibit in the downtown area and the plaza with small farm animals in open pens for the children to pet.

Portion of a downtown street will be blocked off for the exhibit.

Main purpose of the festival, similar to last fall's "Farm-City Week," is to draw visitors to Sanford from the surrounding areas to promote commercial sales in the two business areas.

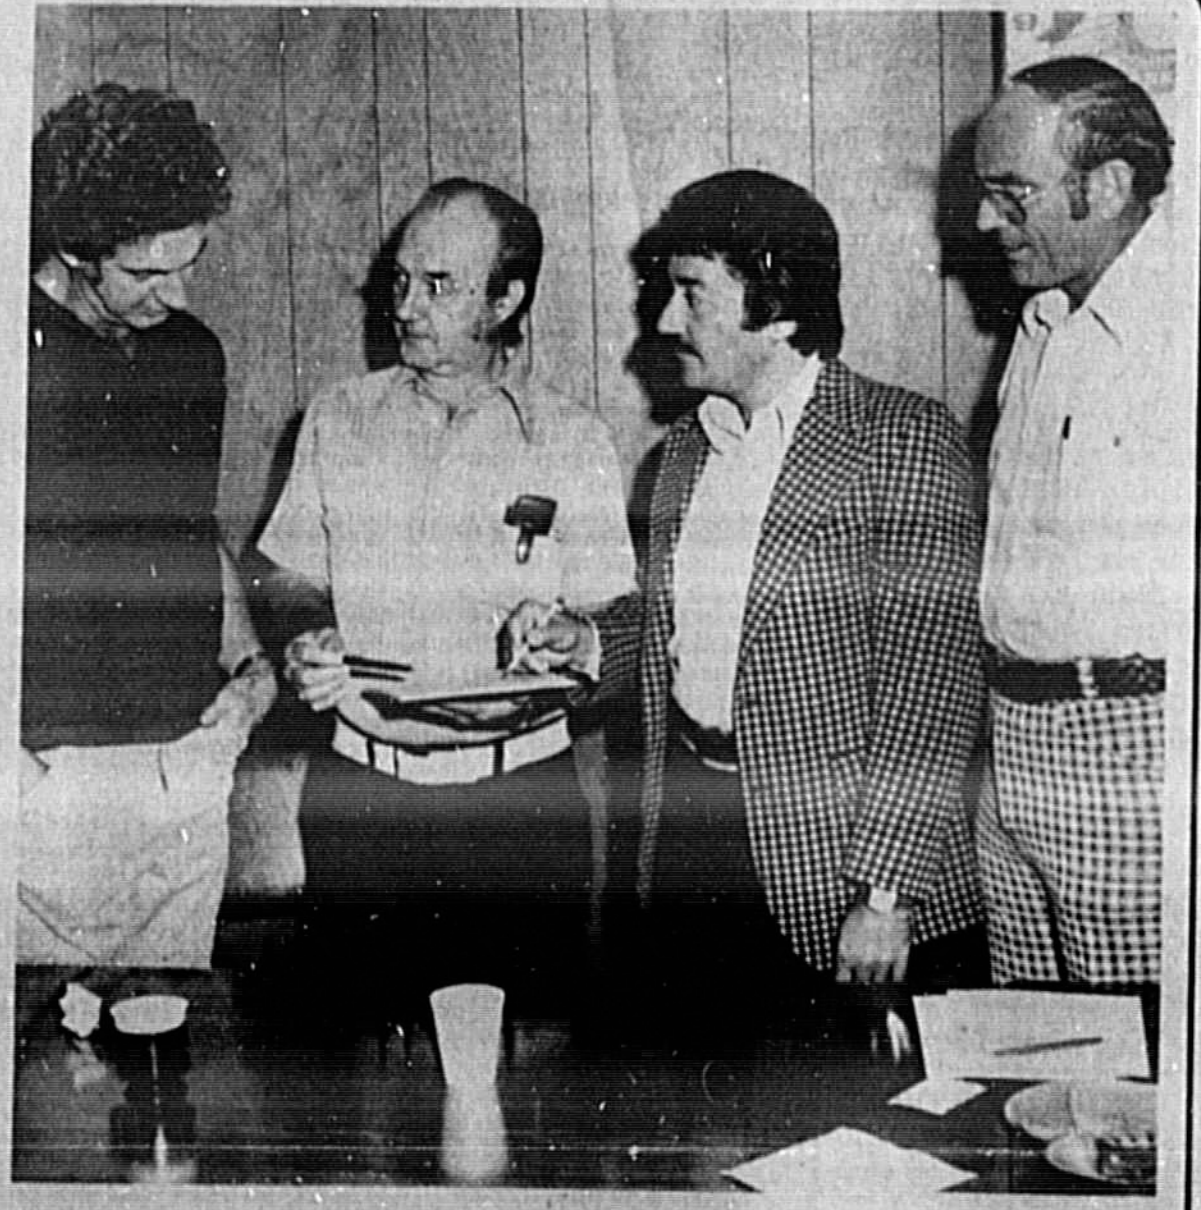

Times for the festival have been set for noon to 8 p.m. for the Old McDonald's Farm exhibits and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for the produce sales.

Produce will be set up on booths outside the store fronts.

Meeting in this morning's conference were members of the two committees and Ann Zane, president of the Downtown Business Association, and Al Bowling president of the Sanford Plaza Merchants Association.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the chamber said he will solicit manpower help from the civic organizations in town and from the Future Farmers of America (FFA) in the schools.

Horner, remembering the "lackadaisical" participation by the downtown businesses during "Farm-City Week" last year, said he is encouraging the merchants "to try and

School Paving Issue Aired

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

Concerned with developing an "overall picture" of various paving requests from county schools, Seminole County Commissioners yesterday asked county engineer Bill Bush to draw up a procedure for those requests to be considered at budget time.

The matter came up after Commissioner Dick Williams relayed requests to the Board from three schools for paving work that needed to be done.

The work — which would be done at no cost to the county — involved construction of a sidewalk at Sabal Point Elementary, the paving of a parking lot at Lake Mary Elementary, and the resurfacing of a recreation court at Casselberry Elementary.

But Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski cautioned "if we're involved in it, there's a cost to the county. I can see this as a real con of worms."

Chairman Sid Viblen Jr., said the county should consider requests "from the elected school officials, and not from their employees or from PTA groups."

Viblen agreed with Kimrough's concerns for a true cost of construction, and for an evaluation of the effect on current road projects.

Commissioner Mike Hallaway declared "The taxpayers are going to lose out" if the county doesn't look at the overall picture of school needs.

Viblen then asked Bush to come up with a procedure for handling the requests.

The elimination of "courtesy busing" — busing children who live less than two miles from the school — this Fall spawned a rash of requests to the county from parent-teacher groups for the construction of bike paths to insure the safety of the children.

While the county has a policy of taking on roads requests from cities if the municipalities foot the entire bill, they operate on a "bait-and-switch" technique of handling school requests.

Commissioners meeting in a work session with School Board members set six months ago,

Kelly Reveals Federal Grant For Red Bug Lake Parkland

WASHINGTON—U.S. Rep. Richard Kelly (R-Fifth Florida district) announced today the award of a $195,350 grant from the Bureau of Recreation, Department of the Interior, for the acquisition of 40 acres of water-oriented parkland near Red Bug Lake Road.

Mrs. Nancy Brunner, Congressman Kelly's Seminole County aide, said the future development of the park will include facilities for swimming, fishing, canoeing, picnicking, hiking and nature study.

The development grant for the recreation park in Casselberry, two miles east of SR 406, is awarded through the director of the division of recreation in Tallahassee, Ney C. Landrum, and will be matched with local funds. Mrs. Brunner said.

The grant application was filed by Seminole County commissioners last August, she said.

Student Loans Probed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—State and federal officials are investigating evidence that money owed on defaulted student loans was collected but never turned over to the government. The loans were part of the U.S. government's Guaranteed Student Loan program in Texas. Estimates by state officials on the amount of money involved in Texas range from $800,000 to $8 million, and while the scope of possible wrongdoing is not yet entirely clear, it is possible there may be violations elsewhere.

Officials of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Office of Education say there is no indication thus far that the problem extends beyond the Texas regional office in Dallas.

Savings Idea Wins Suit

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—The challenge for a small savings bank here was to find a way to compete with the big, multiservice banks that had the sole legal right to offer checking accounts. Slowly, the solution took shape at Consumers Savings Bank. It was the NOW account, in which depositors can write checks on their savings accounts, which still earn interest. The idea caused a court fight, but NOW accounts won. Other banks in Massachusetts and New Hampshire took up the concept, and now the Ford administration is proposing that banks in other states be allowed to offer NOW accounts. NOW stands for negotiable order of withdrawal.

Schools Happy With Turlington Move

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Causing a subdued but audible murmur of satisfaction, School Supt. Bud Lauer yesterday informed school officials State Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington has reconsidered and will ask for a recount at Rosenwald Elementary School.

Lauer told school officials he was in touch with Turlington's office late yesterday and was told the commissioner will ask the Florida Board of Education for a Rosenwald recount.

Turlington's reversal could save the county $67,000 in state school funds lost because of a three-week ball boycott at the school near Altamonte Springs.

Florida's education commissioner reversed his decision yesterday morning after a lengthy telephone conversation with State Senator John Vogt, who voted to try and win back the funds—even if it meant introducing a general bill to the legislature.

Vogt said this morning that Turlington will request the regulations be changed permanently to allow a recount at any school where extenuating circumstances have occurred.

Turlington's letter was in response to a plea from Lauer, who all along has remained optimistic that the state would grant Seminole all funds due the county.

Also at last night's meeting, School Board Atty. Doug Stenstrom told the board that the U.S. Justice Department and the school board have asked U.S. District Judge George Young to delay hearings on a suit until the results of an FBI investigation are studied by justice department officials.

The suit was filed by three Rosenwald parents, requesting that the school not be phased out of this fall and turned into a center for handicapped children because the phasout places too much of the burden on the black community.

Stenstrom said the justice department investigation should be completed in three to four weeks.

The boycott was in protest to a school board decision to close Rosenwald. It sparked, also, a countywide ball boycott at all Seminole schools for three days.

Stenstrom said the justice department investigation should be completed in three to four weeks.

Indicted Doctors Keep Jobs At Chhattahoochee Hospital

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The head of the state Health and Rehabilitative Services says two indicted doctors at Chhattahoochee state hospital will remain on the job.

"I don't have any intention of suspending them at this time," Secretary O.J. Keller said Wednesday.

Dr. Peter B. Ivory, hospital superintendent, and Dr. Albert Fulton, director of the clinical staff, were indicted by the Gadsden County grand jury on charges of trying to pressure a staff psychiatrist in his testimony on whether Robert Scott Sanders could safely be released.

The grand jury found that the two tried to have Dr. Harold W. Conran "force, withhold his testimony or information" by using "force, deception, threat or offer of pecuniary benefit."

Survey Rips FSU President

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A survey released by faculty members of Florida State University says that teachers believe "the university's president's leadership style was deplorable."

President Stanley Marshall stepped Wednesday before the Faculty Senate as it approved the survey from a special committee.

"He was perceived as being unaccessible, insensitive to the faculty, and remiss in support of the academic and intellectual mission of the university," the report said.

At odds with the faculty, Marshall has offered to resign. The Board of Regents has scheduled consideration of his offer for its April 7 meeting at Florida A&M University.

Crittenden Ties Gurney To 'Freebies'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A former state Republican leader grew told the jury of a bar-becue at Larry's home in the summer of 1971 attended by Gurney was offered a free condominium apartment from a builder he had helped.

Earl M. "Duke" Crittenden, Gurney's 1968 campaign chairman, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a misdemeanor charge of conspiracy in an illegal fundraising scheme.

He then took the stand as the prosecution's second witness in the trial of Gurney and four co-defendants.

The wealthy Orlando citrus grower told the jury of a bar-becue at Larry's home in the summer of 1971 attended by Gurney was offered a free condominium apartment from a builder he had helped.

Earl M. "Duke" Crittenden, Gurney's 1968 campaign chairman, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a misdemeanor charge of conspiracy in an illegal fundraising scheme.

He then took the stand as the prosecution's second witness in the trial of Gurney and four co-defendants.

put that thing in my name. That's all there is to it."

A couple months after that Crittenden said he talked with Gurney on the telephone and explained his refusal.

"He (Gurney) said there would be no problem, they were making other arrangements," Crittenden said.

The bribery charge against Gurney involves the condemnation. He also is charged with four counts of lying to a federal grand jury.

Gurney and the four co-defendants—former federal housing officials K. Wayne Swinger and Ralph Koontz, and ex-aides James Groot and Joseph Bastien—were charged with conspiring to build a $233,000 slush fund from builder kickbacks by promising Gurney's influence in government sponsored housing projects and federal mortgage commitments.

Crittenden said that Gurney was involved with Williams by telephone and welcomed him aboard as a fund raiser following a meeting in the senator's home on Jan. 19, 1971.

Thirteen months later, Crittenden said, he learned there were no records kept of $125,000 that was raised by Williams.

Crittenden said he talked with Gurney by telephone in June 1972 after Williams assured him he had told the senator about the records situation.

"I told him (Gurney) I was very much relieved he knew about it," Crittenden testified.

"He agreed with me it was a mess."

Dickinson Conspiracy Outlined

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Federal prosecutors began presenting their extortion-conspiracy case against former state Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson Jr. with dozens of documents from the Cabinet office which he directed for nearly a decade.

The documents detail procedures which led to the granting of state charters to Palm Beach Mall Bank at West Palm Beach, American Security Bank of Martin County at Stuart and First State Bank of Winter Garden.

Dickinson is accused of conspiring to extort money, stock and other property from the bank organizers in return for granting charters.

Frederick C. Prior of West Palm Beach and H. G. Banks of Winter Park are named unindicted co-conspirators in the federal grand jury indictment against Dickinson returned last Nov. 21.

Prior is a former law partner of Dickinson. Banks is president of Combanks Corp., a seven-bank holding company.

Richard L. Adams, president of Palm Beach Mall Bank, testified Wednesday that Prior was issued 1,000 shares of stock in that bank when it began business in 1969, and he sold the stock on March 19, 1971.

Edward O. Stripling, a bank examiner in the comptroller's office, testified that Prior was the biggest stockholder in American Security Bank of Martin County with 8,000 of its 40,000 outstanding shares.

Thomas E. Berrell, vice president and cashier of the Commercial Bank of Winter Park, one of the Combanks group, testified that records showed that bank paid legal fees to Prior on four occasions.

He said the initials of approval for payments were those of Banks.

Prosecutor Anthony J. LaSpada told the jury of six women and six men that Banks was granted immunity from prosecution and will testify for the government in the trial, expected to last a month.

Defense attorney Walter Arnold asked Berrell on cross-examination if ex-Sen. Edward Gurney had been a director of the bank. But U.S. District Judge W. Terrill Hodges directed the witness not to answer, because the question didn't pertain to this case.

Barron, Askew Agreement Reached On Environment

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Senate President Dempsey Barron says he's reached a compromise with Gov. Reubin Askew on a plan to reorganize Florida's environmental agencies.

Under the compromise, Askew would control a new regulating agency which would issue virtually all environmental permits, such as to developers for dredging and filling. Barron has pressed for creation of such a one-stop agency to issue the permits.

Barron said the compromise envisions making the Department of Natural Resources, an agency under Cabinet control, the keeper of state resources.

The permit-granting functions of the Department of Environmental Regulation, the Natural Resources Department and the Department of Pollution Control would be merged into the new Department of Environmental Regulation.

Control of state sovereign lands would be transferred from the DEP to Natural Resources, and the trust fund abolished, Barron said.

Askew would appoint the new department's secretary and an environmental regulation commission which would set state pollution control standards.

The new department would become the central permitting agency.

However, all permits involving changes in sovereignty state lands, such as dredge and fill, would have to be approved by the Cabinet.

"It's a one-stop environmental agency with some decentralization into the field," Barron said.

The new department will have five districts, each with two sub-districts. The districts will follow the lines of the five water management districts in Florida.

Under the proposal, the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission would be left untouched, retaining its power to comment on all projects by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Department of Natural Resources would become the state's sole land management agency, as well as retaining control over salt-water fisheries, Barron said.

"I think we're generally in accord between the Senate, House and governor on the structure of the bill," Barron said, adding that some specific details have not been completed.

"Everybody I've talked to about it likes it," he added. "I think it will fly."

Barron and House Speaker Donald Tucker, D-Tallahassee, originally had proposed consolidation of three agencies into a super-agency under the Cabinet with Harmon Shields as head. Their plan excluded the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Askew had proposed reorganization of environmental agencies into three new departments, including the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

deposition he may have talked to Salfi about the telephone call.

McNulty reportedly has told the Judicial Qualifications Commission that McCain called him about the pending appeal in 1972 of the bribery conviction of a labor leader who helped McCain in a political campaign.

The appeal court upheld the conviction but the Supreme Court overturned it because the $1,000 given to Collier County officials was for a permit the Collier County did not need. Therefore the court ruled, no bribery was involved. McCain voted with the majority.

Circuit Judge Pfeiffer, Townbridge of Stuart said McCain called him in the fall of 1971 "about sentence and work release action by me" for Katherine B. Lee, who was charged with uttering a false instrument.

Meanwhile, Rich and Glick have asked the Bar to remove the secrecy of its investigation of Russ' charges against them so there would be no question about what is happening, Rich said.

Both denied any unethical conduct.

Russ cited disciplinary rules involving statements by lawyers outside the courtroom in criminal cases, actions by lawyers who are elected officials to gain favors for themselves or clients, and banning false statements about judges.

Foreign Arms Sale Justified

The end of the 10-year-old embargo against arms sales to Pakistan and India is certain to continue the debate over whether it is proper for the United States of America to sell billions of dollars worth of military supplies to other nations each year.

Undersecretary of State Joseph J. Sisco gave part of the reason for such sales when he said that India gets arms from the Soviet Union while the United States denies defensive military hardware to Pakistan.

India was an excellent customer of Russia between 1964 and 1973, getting nearly $1.3 billion in airplanes, guns and tanks. During the same period, the United States supplied Pakistan with $160 million in equipment. An embargo, invoked during the 1965 India-Pakistan war, allowed only the sale of U. S. spare parts and ammunition to Pakistan. From 1963 to 1973, the U.S. sold $29.7 billion in arms and ammunition. Russian sales totaled at least $15.6 billion — the figure is a discounted one because nobody is really certain of the full scope of Soviet activity. It is clear that the Soviet Union is ready to assume much of the arms business should the United States refuse to help its friends.

Some liberals cite the recent Cyprus conflict as an argument against selling weapons overseas because both the Greeks and Turks used weapons supplied by the United States. The question is what difference it would have made if the weapons had been supplied by Russia?

The fact that nations will get arms if they want them was demonstrated in 1967 when the U.S. refused to sell Peru F-5 Freedom Fighter aircraft. Peru then bought 14 supersonic jets from France.

Liberals argue that the U. S. wants to sell arms primarily to improve the nation's balance of trade. That is not the case, but the economic value of defense contracts are a fact of life. For every billion dollars of foreign arms sales 91,000 jobs are created in America.

The United States does not sell arms indiscriminately. We have refused in the past to furnish weapons of war to Latin America, to Asia and even to Europe if we believed that they would be used aggressively.

The measure of U. S. arms sales abroad is not dollar volume, but how much self determination they assure the nations that would disappear from the ranks of freedom without them.

Mine Accord Needed

Congress is heading for another showdown with President Ford over legislation to control strip mining in the United States of America.

Both the Senate and House are advancing strip mining control bills that contain some of the same objectionable features which led Mr. Ford to pocket veto a 1974 bill. At the time Mr. Ford said the legislation was needed but the cost in lost coal production would be too high.

The new bills would levy a 3-cent a ton tax on surface-mined coal to pay for restoring the surface to its approximate "original contours." Mr. Ford has said a 10-cent-a-ton tax would be sufficient for restoration.

The bills also forbid mining in national forests. Mr. Ford wanted to permit mining when it would be "in the public interest" as designated by the agriculture secretary. The ban on national forest mining locks up an estimated seven billion tons of coal reserves.

Our need for fuel demands that surface coal deposits be mined. It is possible to do so without reckless disregard for the environment. Both the President and Congress agree on that, and it is regrettable that Congress is so unwilling to compromise with the Administration on the proper approach to the problem that another veto confrontation on strip mining seems inevitable.

Around The Clock

Knowing first-hand how difficult it is to promote a successful sporting event, I am impressed with the overwhelming response which sponsor Paul Smith has received on his golf tourney.

The 5th Annual was held this past weekend at the Mayfair Country Club, and according to Smith, there were 120 golfers who participated in the event — including 11 from other states.

Perhaps the most astonishing aspect is that Smith personally underwrites the entire cost of putting on this two-day extravaganza. If he only had a little support, well, there's no telling how big this tournament could actually be.

Congratulations, Paul... and may you have many more successes.

Incidentally, speaking of the Mayfair CC, host pro Bob Bratler now has himself an assistant. This will permit Bratler to compete in more events elsewhere while at the same time provide excellent golfing instruction for the local club members.

For those of you who haven't yet met Bill Ozelak of New York, he's a most pleasant fellow (and he promised to knock at least 10 strokes off my game — which would have me in the 90s then.)

Since there seems to be so few of us willing to publicly oppose the pro-ERAers (Equal Rights Amendment), let me remind you of still another reason why I believe it's wrong to have ERA approved.

It's going to hurt wives! Before ERA reared its head, all of the 50 states legally required a husband to support his wife. Constitutional scholar Prof. Paul Freund of Harvard Law School points out that the ERA will be contrary to all of these state laws by making a husband liable for support of his wife ONLY IF SHE IS UNABLE TO SUPPORT HERSELF!

And before some of the vocal ERAers "pova-pov" the statement, just look at what's happening in the state of Colorado.

In that state the law that required a husband to support his wife and family was declared unconstitutional!

If you have any feelings on this matter, it's best if you let them be known to our state legislators.

Found a couple of cute photos on my desk — some young puppies and what looks like Chinese kittens, and was told Ruth Stamm was in looking for some help.

Don Oakley Student Rights Have Court Day

The U.S. Supreme Court has a habit of handing down vague, sweeping decisions, and then leaving it to the states and lesser jurisdictions to try to live with the consequences.

The result is that the same or similar cases keep coming back to the court involving questions which the court, in its Olympian detachment, deigned not to answer the first time around.

A prime example is the court's last guidelines on obscenity, which seemed to dictate that local standards, not national ones, were to be the governing factors. Until, that is, on appeal the court ruled that a local community should not have applied local standards, which happened in a case that arose shortly afterwards.

Last January, the court decided that high school students may not be suspended for disciplinary infractions without at least a "rudimentary hearing." But it did not spell out the procedures required for long-term suspensions or outright expulsions.

Before school administrators had time to absorb this decision, the court ruled in another case that students may sue school board members who are guilty of intentional or malicious "or otherwise inexcusable" deprivations of the students' constitutional rights.

While acknowledging the existence of a "good faith" immunity for school authorities, the court held that such immunity did not shield an official from liability for damages "if he knew or reasonably should have known that the action he took which led to the injury was official responsibility would violate the constitutional rights of the students affected."

The upshot is that while some educators and "all rights" spokesmen have figured the Supreme Court's venture into this particular thicket, others warn that trying to ignore what the court means by "reasonable" knowledge of constitutional rights will only cause a rash of new court cases.

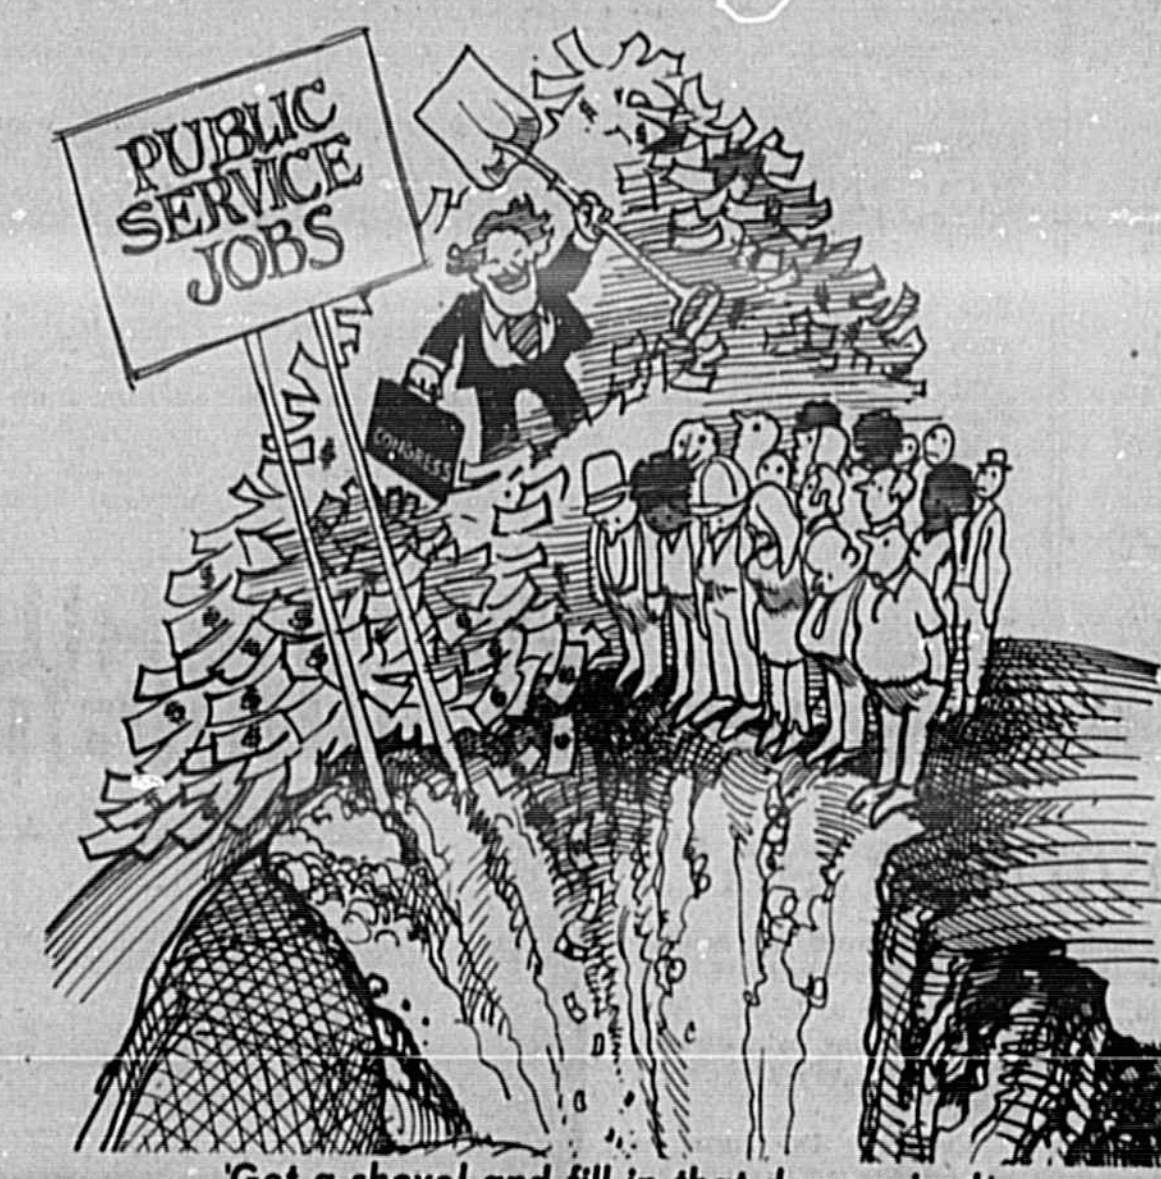

Others predict that school board members will hesitate to serve unless they have a lawyer at their side at all times. One school board member, in Sacramento, Calif., has resigned because liability insurance against punitive damages is not available to board members in that state.

So as the situation stands now, students and presumably have the right to hear charges and evidence against them, at least in serious matters, and school officials had best take care. But do these new student rights extend to the right to cross-examine their accusers?

In yet another case involving this question, the Supreme Court declined to say, if it best the law back to the lower court level, where it may safely be guessed it won't remain for very long.

Confucius might have said it: A grain of salt outweighs a ton of wishful thinking. The salt of skepticism which Americans have accumulated regarding Southeast Asia has grown to mountain size. With all due respect, there is simply no way President Ford is going to convince them that it is a matter of American "honor" or national interest or even of practicality to send more military aid to Cambodia.

Letter To The Editor

Help Would Be Welcome

It just came to my attention this week that on Feb. 28, 1975, a three Judge Federal Panel in Albuquerque, N.M., declared "The Wild Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act Unconstitutional and permanently enjoined and restrained the Federal Government from enforcing it."

Protection of wild horses and burros reverts to the individual states as a result of the court ruling. Historically it was the failure of the state and local officials to enforce the minimal state laws pertaining to Wild Horses and Burros that spurred efforts of protectionists to obtain legislation on the federal level which in turn led to enactment of Public Law 92-195 in 1971, placing the animals in the custody of the Secretaries of Agriculture and Interior and directing them to establish a protection, management and control program. The legislation was passed without a single dissenting vote in Congress, which indicates a clear mandate by the public that it wants wild horses and burros given equal consideration with other public land use. I have been a member of the "Wild Horse Organized Assistance" from the outset and worked for the passing of the Wild Horse Act.

The decision is the result of a suit filed by the New Mexico State Livestock Board and others against Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton, The United States of America and others.

The animals are now at the mercy of commercial mustangers who can capture and sell them for up to 21 cents per pound on hoof, on your land and name, public lands! A government official has expressed an opinion to me, that he doubts there will be a single wild horse left in area in sixty days, and WIDA has received reports that in some areas the slaughter has already begun.

I received word on March 10, that the decision will be appealed and WIDA has filed briefs as a friend of the court in order to lend its support to the appeal.

You as a public citizen of our area can help us. 1. It is imperative that YOU write, call or wire the Governors of the ten Western States where wild horses are found, and respectfully ask them to lend their efforts toward emergency measures in their states to block what will no doubt once again subject the animals to slaughter and capture to the extent that existed prior to the passage of the law. A list of Governors appears below.

2. Please write to our Congressional delegation in Washington, expressing your dismay and shock that the legislation enacted by the last Congress has been declared unconstitutional. Emphasize the fact that we are now in an EMERGENCY SITUATION that requires quick action if any of the wild horses are to survive.

The Governors are:
The Honorable Ray Castro, Governor of Arizona, Phoenix, Arizona 85026
The Honorable Edmund G. Brown Jr., Governor of California, Sacramento, Calif. 95813
The Honorable Richard D. Lamm, Governor of Colorado, Denver, Colorado 80202
The Honorable Cecil D. Andrus, Governor of Idaho, Boise, Idaho 83707
The Honorable Thomas L. Judge, Governor of Montana, Helena, Montana 59601
The Honorable Mike O'Callaghan, Governor of Nevada, Carson City, Nevada 89701
The Honorable Jerry Apodaca, Governor of New Mexico, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501
The Honorable Robert Straub, Governor of Oregon, Salem, Oregon 97308
The Honorable Calvin L. Rampton, Governor of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah 84101
The Honorable Ed Herschler, Governor of Wyoming, Cheyenne, Wyoming 82001

Unless those of us who are concerned and interested in the Wild Mustangs act, and do so now, "There won't be a Wild Horse left on the Range!"

Christmas, 1972. A terrible earthquake leveled the city, killed 10,000 people and injured another 15,000.

Not a hospital was left standing. But miraculously, the ambassador's residence, complete with its own wells and electric generators, survived intact. It would have made an ideal casualty hospital. Yet the Sheltons, living in splendor in the spacious building, never opened their doors to the injured.

Since the quake destroyed the embassy, its functions were moved to the mansion. The embassy personnel, however, had to work on the lawn under awnings and tents because Mrs. Shelton wouldn't let them work inside.

She made one concession. American staff members were allowed to use two toilets on the lower floor. But the embassy's Nicaraguan employees had to use slit-trench latrines. One woman, the senior Nicaraguan on the staff, attempted to use an inside john but was shoved out. She quit in a huff.

Nor did Mrs. Shelton want her husband's sweaty employees cooling off in the mansion's Olympic-size swimming pool. She turned off the filter, and a protective coat of algae quickly formed over the water.

Her chief concern during the earthquake was for her pet cat. Later the cat became sick, thus precipitating a national crisis. A solicitor from Sonoma sent a host of vets, including government vets from the Ministry of Agriculture, to diagnose the ailing cat.

They were at the point of flying the pet to Panama for the attentions of a U.S. Army vet, or worse, flying the vet to Managua when one of the local vets diagnosed a kidney problem and administered the proper medication. The cat recovered, and the crisis passed.

Shelton was officially rebuked by cable for his actions during the earthquake. The United States would have been better served if he had been fired.

Footnote: We spoke to Shelton in Managua. He denied that he was following U.S. policy in Nicaragua, denied that he ever met with Nixon in Key Biscayne, denied that embassy personnel weren't allowed to set up offices in the mansion after the earthquake, denied that he had been rebuked by the State Department. We are prepared, however, to back up all the allegations in the story. It may be true that he didn't see Nixon in Key Biscayne. All we can say is that he bragged after his return that he had visited with the former President.

Lost Provinces Hit Seven As Viet Fighting Rises

SANIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The number of provinces abandoned or lost by the South Vietnamese government rose to seven today, and at least three more may be given up, government officials disclosed. The territory conceded to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong includes Hue, the former imperial capital on the northern coast and a city of 200,000 people. Officials said the latest additions to the list of lost provinces are Binh Long, only 60 miles north of Saigon, and Thua Thien, on the northern coast. Hue is the capital of Thua Thien. The abandonment of Quang Tri, the country's northernmost province, was reported Wednesday. Three in the Central Highlands — Kontum, Pleiku and Darlac — were given up early this week, and Phuoc Long, east of Binh Long, was overrun by the North Vietnamese in January. The seven provinces total about 12,000 square miles, a fifth of South Vietnam's total area and a territory slightly smaller than Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island combined.

Portugal Election Postponed

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist military regime has postponed the country's election of a constitutional assembly until April 25, first anniversary of the coup that overthrew the old rightist dictatorship. The ruling Revolutionary Council announced that it ordered a 13-day postponement because of the possibility of confusion caused by the similarity of Marxist hammer-and-sickle symbols used by ultraleft-wing groups. Symbols used by the old rightist regime were also used since an estimated 30 per cent of the population is illiterate. The council also set back the start of the campaign from today to April 2.

Hue Becomes City Of Fear Once Again

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — For much of the last seven years, Hue has been a city of fear. Lying in the shadow of North Vietnam, the former capital of the emperors of Annam was invaded by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces at the start of the 1968 Tet offensive.

South Vietnamese officials said that afterward they found the bodies of more than 5,000 Vietnamese buried in mass graves. They had been massacred or buried alive, hands wired behind their backs, rags stuffed into their mouths.

The city was left a pile of rubble. The walled citadel, built by the emperors of Annam in the early 19th century on the pattern of Peking's Forbidden City, was devastated.

The cease-fire agreement in January 1973 brought new hope. "The spirit was soon back to Hue," one young man said then. "Listen and you can hear it. Look and you can see it. This city lives again."

The population grew to 200,000. Many of them refugees from rural areas taken over by the North Vietnamese. A little more than a year ago the United States put up funds to employ thousands of the displaced in a public works program to erase the scars of war.

Industry and private investment shrank Hue because of its proximity to North Vietnam and its lack of natural resources. The Saigon government tried to promote it to tourists because of its history. But the city had only one small, first-class hotel. There was no good road to the chief tourist attraction, six elaborate tombs scattered amid hills and valleys 10 miles outside the city. In them were buried the royal families of Annam after 1802.

Longwood Gives Dogs New Lease

LONGWOOD — Dogs can roam the streets at will here, at least for the time being, and they will not be picked up and carted off to the dog pound.

While other governmental bodies are criticized for slow and laborious efforts at problem solving, this city's too speedy action has created a new problem.

City councilmen 10 days ago at Mayor James R. Lorman's suggestion repealed the city's antipet ordinance in favor of a cooperative program with the county. The idea was to save money.

The county, only yesterday, approved a model inter-local agreement to provide the service and county officials are not certain whether an agreement signed by both Lorman and Council Chairman J.R. Grant is in proper form.

County Commissioners' administrative assistant Betty Simcoe said today she will examine the Longwood agreement to see if it is in proper form.

In the meantime and for the last 10 days, Longwood has had no program to pick up stray and unlicensed dogs roaming the city's streets.

History first mentions Hue about 200 B.C., when it was the Nguyen military headquarters. The kingdom of Annam, forerunner of modern Vietnam, annexed it in 1312. In 1633, when Annam was split roughly along the lines of the present division between North and South Vietnam, Hue became the seat of Atlantic Alliance leaders may be at the point of asking the diplomatic equivalent of whether the sky is falling.

Soviet chiefs might feel justified basking in a glow of mutual congratulation. Even a casual rundown suggests that things are coming apart for American and North Atlantic Treaty Organization policy. In Indonesia it looks like the vast American investment of blood and wealth is headed toward the drain. In Europe, even in Portugal, Greece, Turkey, Cyprus and elsewhere

Police Check Burglaries, Rape Report

Area Man Charged In Robbery

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

A 29-year-old Longwood man was in county jail today on $10,000 bond charged with robbery by Altamonte Springs police.

William James Gramblin, who listed his address as General Delivery, Longwood, was arrested by Patrolman Norman C. Floyd Jr. and five other officers last night near the Days Lodge on Douglas Avenue after a woman reported Gramblin had forcibly taken her auto from her.

Officers said Miss Ann Brown told them that Gramblin took her keys and said "he was going back to Maine."

A circuit court jury at Sanford has convicted a 19-year-old Edgewater High School student of petty larceny in a Casselberry burglary case.

Carlton Eugene Lee had been charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and grand larceny in the Dec. 23 theft of a television and a stereo from the home of George Guarent, 1941 Crystal Bowl Circle, Casselberry. Circuit Court Judge Robert B. McGregor, however, ruled that witnesses presented by Assistant State Atty. Claude Van Hook had failed to prove that the stolen items were valued at more than $100 and sent the case to the six-woman jury on charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit a misdemeanor and petty larceny.

The jury acquitted the youth on the breaking and entering charge.

The state had accused Levi of being a principal in the burglary. Casselberry police chased a car allegedly driven by Arthur Lee Brooks from near the burglary scene until it was involved in a traffic accident near the Maitland police headquarters on U. S. 17-92 at Horatio Avenue, Maitland.

Officers said two men fled the wrecked car on foot. The stolen television and stereo were Alamonte police today were also investigating the theft of a portable color television valued at $300, from the home of Ty Tarby, 201 Holly Street.

Officers said the house was entered by cutting a kitchen window screen.

Three men were being held without bond today in county jail charged with violation of probation in three separate cases. Jail records listed them as: Arvester Holly, 18, of 1223 W. 13th St.; James Harvey Williams, 23, of P.O. Box 78, both of Sanford, and James Edward Finrock, 40, of Ormond Beach.

Sheriff's deputies reported the home of Aaron Sipes, 803 Cherokee Circle, Sunland Estates, Sanford, was burglarized and Sipes' 1972 Ford Torino sedan stolen after the thieves took car keys from a dining room table.

Deputy David R. Smith reported a six-by-four-foot American flag was taken by vandals who broke into Wilson Elementary School, Paola, via a window and sprayed a fire extinguisher in a hallway.

Sheriff's detectives Sgt. Robert Kunkler and George Hagood today were probing a report by a 15-year-old Altamonte Springs girl that she was raped yesterday in a wooded area by an unidentified man.

Deputy Charles Coffee said thieves broke into four display mobile homes on Palm Valley Drive taking a total of $248 in household goods. Listed as missing were a bed frame, mattress, box springs, two pillows and three lamps.

Montgomery Ward officials reported an undetermined amount of merchandise was taken from a trailer on a rail car at Sanford after the trailer seal was broken.

Deputy R. S. Morton reported a $22 swimming pool pump was stolen at a vacant house at 2560 Tuscaloosa Trail, south Seminole, after thieves used a hacksaw to cut pipes to the pump. Owner of the house was listed as Horse Equity Inc., of Stratford, Conn.

Sept. 28 holdup of a 7-Eleven store at 12th St. and Park Ave., Sanford.

Prosecutor Tad Figgatt told the jury yesterday that Robert Randall, of Sanford, who he said is McClarien's cousin, will testify that he (Randall) was the other man who held the store clerk at gunpoint and fled on foot after the robbery.

Figgatt said the state will present testimony that the pair split up at an auction barn at Fresh Avenue and 12th Street as police chased them following the robbery.

Figgatt said a pistol was found at the barn in a mud puddle.

Judge McGregor yesterday continued until April 20 the sexual battery trial of James Edward Knight, 20, of 1804 W. 19th St., Sanford, after Figgatt reported the 45-year-old woman allegedly raped Feb. 1 in Connecticut.

An earlier trial for Levi in the case ended in a mistrial.

Today in Judge McGregor's court, testimony continued in the robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony trial of 18-year-old Samuel Williams McClarien, of 1106 Pecan Avenue, Sanford. McClarien was indicted in the

Speedboat Regatta Dates Announced

A speedboat racing regatta, scheduled for April 26-27 on Lake Monroe, is expected to draw about 5,000 people to park in crowds on the lakefront and spur Sanford's sluggish economy, co-sponsors of the regatta said this morning.

Labeled, the First Annual Greater Sanford Regatta, the boat race is being promoted by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Central Florida Zoological Society.

Proceeds from the program sales and concession stand sales are earmarked for the Central Florida Zoo.

Jim Ryan, president of the Zoological Society, said he expects more than 100 boats to be entered in the different classes of racing.

He said that the two dates, Saturday and Sunday, are official sanctioned racing dates for the racing association and said he expects racers from surrounding states to attend the meet.

Cash prizes will be awarded to top winners.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the chamber, said a goal of $5,000 has been set as proceeds to the zoo.

Horner also said that the race would provide a boost to the Sanford economy.

Monroe Harbour will serve as headquarters for the racing participants.

Horner said a sailing demonstration will be included in the weekend activities.

Very Important Notice To Taxpayers

Deadline for Payment Of 1974 Taxes
AVOID PENALTIES AND COSTS!

The deadline for paying 1974 Real Estate and Tangible Personal Property Tax is March 31, 1975. Beginning Tuesday, April 1, 1975, a 3 per cent penalty (1 1/2 per cent on personal property) will be lawfully applied to all outstanding taxes. After this listing has been compiled, an advertisement will be prepared. Since this additional cost is charged to this office, we will by law add this advertisement cost to the tax on an individual's property basis. Beginning Monday, April 7, 1975 taxes must be redeemed by paying the tax, plus 3 per cent (1 1/2 per cent personal property), plus the cost of advertising. Avoid These Costs!

CAUTION:
If you purchased a home or property (or business) since January 1, 1974, be certain that some arrangement was made concerning 1974 taxes. Do not presume them to be paid simply because they were estimated at the time of the closing. If you are uncertain — look for a receipt or call this office before the property advertisement! Business, Professional Women Hear League Viewpoint On ERA

By FANNETTE EDWARDS Herald Correspondent

At the recent meeting of the Deltona Business and Professional Women's Club held in the Christian Church on Normandy Boulevard, Mrs. Cecilia McGinnis, president of the Volusia League of Women Voters explained the meaning of the controversial Equal Rights Amendment (ERA).

Four more states are needed to ratify the Amendment, which states equality of rights under law shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex.

"We urge our Florida legislators to vote 'Yes' on the Equal Rights Amendment," she said. The first thing that bothers those opposed to this bill, is the Draft," Mrs. McGinnis explained. "Since the draft is now abolished, this question is academic at the moment. However, women would have the same obligations of serving their country as men, should the draft be reinstated. The military has the sole right of deployment. In a nuclear age any war is a citizen's war. The Atom Bomb thinks ERA has already passed. It doesn't discriminate as to sex or age, nor color or religious affiliation.

"Secondly," Mrs. McGinnis continued, "one of the main criticisms of ERA has been that it will mean common rest rooms throughout the nation. There is no legal basis for this fear, since the constitutional right of privacy in sexual and excretory matters was firmly established by a 1965 U. S. Supreme Court decision.

"Also," Mrs. McGinnis said, "Many women fear their dower rights would be affected. In Florida the Dower Rights Law was amended in 1963 so that at the present time, creditors have priority over widow's rights. The passage of ERA, would convey the same dower rights to a husband.

"At the present time the husband is responsible for his wife's debts, for basic necessities. With the passage of ERA, the husband will no longer be solely responsible," it was explained.

Mrs. McGinnis also said fears that widows would lose preferred exemptions on property taxation were unfounded; that ERA would only affect social security laws where the woman is the major bread winner; and that with Florida's "no fault" divorce law, alimony payments and child custody would be virtually unaffected.

In the case of rape, Mrs. McGinnis said, Florida law does not distinguish between the sexes under the age of 18; with the passing of the ERA, the law for those over 18 years of age would have to be changed to eliminate discrimination on the basis of sex.

"Men seem to be afraid that ERA would rob them of their masculinity," Mrs. McGinnis concluded.

Him On Sunday Never Expect

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, you had a letter in your column in the form of advice for a girl who was in love with a married man. It started with: "Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays."

Had I known that my own daughter would be in need of such advice, I would have saved it.

I hope you can locate it, because your column is the first thing my beautiful (but dumb) 27-year-old daughter goes for in the Chicago Tribune.

Thank you.

HER MOTHER: I located it. And here it is.

"Dear Abby: May I give your readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to any woman who is in love with a married man.

Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays. Never call him at home.

Don't ever expect him to take you out in public, but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollars and cents, you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you.

Never depend on him in times of personal crisis.

Don't believe him when he tells you that his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and she hasn't slept with him in ten years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him if she ever catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and she hasn't slept with him for ten years. Sign Me HIS WIFE.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The letters concerning wedding expenses point to the need for questioning our traditional practice of the bride's parents paying for the wedding. This is a carry-over from the days when daughters were considered financial liabilities, and parents were eager to get them married off.

Why can't the bride and groom pay for their own wedding? When my husband and I were married, 35 years ago, we pooled our money and paid for our wedding and reception, since my parents couldn't afford it. I've known parents who have gone into debt to give their children big, fancy weddings. And at the stage in their lives when they (the parents) should be setting aside money for their own retirement.

DEAR PAID: Harl! We're making progress. Many of the younger generation prefer a more modest and meaningful wedding to those fancy, extravagant ones that would have Papa rubbing Peter in June to pay Paul in July. And I say hooray for the kids!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 9790, L.A., Calif. 90044. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Write to Mrs. Beas' Maternity Mart, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, you had a letter in your column in the form of advice for a girl who was in love with a married man. It started with: "Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays."

Had I known that my own daughter would be in need of such advice, I would have saved it.

I hope you can locate it, because your column is the first thing my beautiful (but dumb) 27-year-old daughter goes for in the Chicago Tribune.

Thank you.

HER MOTHER: I located it. And here it is.

"Dear Abby: May I give your readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to any woman who is in love with a married man.

Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays. Never call him at home.

Don't ever expect him to take you out in public, but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollars and cents, you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you.

Never depend on him in times of personal crisis.

Don't believe him when he tells you that his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin), and she hasn't slept with him in ten years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him if she ever catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another man whose wife is a

Russell Mendez: 'See You Later'

Auto racing has its victory and its defeat. It has joy and heartbreak. It is an unusual sport with more danger due to its nature than any other sport.
The players know that one mishap can end the game. . . not for tomorrow for next week, but forever.
The game ended Sunday, a little past 3 p.m., for Russell Mendez of Tampa when his exhibition car slammed into a guardrail at 200 mph at the Gatornationals in Gainesville. He was a crowd favorite. He always was willing to talk and explain how the experimental car operated. He mingled with the crowd, signing autographs and giving out pictures of the rocket dragger.
Russell Mendez was not a stranger to Sanford. He was a weekly racer at the old Osceola Dragstrip, operated by the Seminole Timing Association.
He drove the car owned by Glen Blakeley to many top eliminator wins. Russell and Glen probably won more races at the Geneva track in the 11 years they ran than any other race.
When the STA was running a charity race for the Little Red School House, Russell donated his night winnings to the school. He always helped promote the sport in Seminole County. He stated on numerous occasions that he enjoyed running here better than anywhere.
Teamed with Blakeley, Russell campaigned cars in all the top classes and more often than not was winners.

This was their third year of rocket racing. They had made a run over 300 mph in the quarter mile. Glen said they were willing to sacrifice speed for safety.
Russell, who was celebrating his 35th birthday Sunday at Gainesville Dragway, told me his race car was the safest one he had been in. He said it handled so well he could drive it in traffic.

The "Free Spirit" was one of several rocket racers of Glen and Russell. They hoped to climax their efforts in a land speed record at the Bonneville Salt Flats later this year.
Right before the fatal run, caused by a sudden cross wind, Russell was in a jovial mood. He talked about giving the 48,000 spectators a run that would be the fastest they had seen.

It was the fastest run they had seen, and most likely it will be the fastest run ever to be seen at Gainesville because rocket cars probably will be banned at most major strips.
When Russell walked to the starting line Sunday, he turned and said, "See you later, Carl." Now, I'm wishing that was true.

Csonka: WFL Will Survive

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Running back Larry Csonka says he hasn't had second thoughts about signing to play in the World Football League and believes the WFL will survive the money problems that threaten its existence.
"It looks to me like there will be a World Football League," Csonka said Wednesday after emerging from a meeting with John Bassett Jr., principal owner of the WFL's Memphis Southmen.
"Right now, this is the first day, after talking with John, that I feel very positive about the WFL."
Csonka, who helped lead the Miami Dolphins to two straight Super Bowl titles, had said last weekend that the new league seemed shaky and that he was disappointed because the WFL appeared behind schedule in attempts to achieve stability.
The 6-foot-2, 237-pound Csonka, running back Jim Kick and wide receiver Paul Warfield bolted Miami to sign an estimated $5.5 million contract with Bassett, whose team had a 17-1 record without the three in the WFL's first season last year.

The owner has said he might sell the trio to another WFL franchise to spread the player wealth if that is what is needed to save the league, but Csonka said the odds were the sale wouldn't be necessary.
"The chances are seven in 10... make that better than 70 per cent, that we'll be here with the Southmen," Csonka told newsmen in his first public appearance in Memphis.
But he said he had "no solid facts" on which to base his estimate.
Csonka said he would rather stay with Bassett and the Memphis franchise but that he, Kick and Warfield had several options open to them if the need for a sale became evident. He would not specify the options, but said, "We would have a say so to a certain extent in the negotiations."

He said the WFL, in its first year, looked much better than the old American Football League in its first season and that the Southmen did not perform like a first-year team.
"I haven't had any second thoughts about signing with John Bassett," Csonka said, adding that other National Football League players looked "with a positive nature" toward the WFL as a possible source of lucrative contracts.
He said he didn't look upon himself, Kick and Warfield as the saviors of the WFL, although their signing last year gave credibility to the effort to form the new league.
"I don't think any three men can be the saviors of a league," he said. "There are other name players involved who are going to play. All the weight doesn't fall on our shoulders. It falls on some other players and the fans as well."

Seminole Falls In Ninth

ORLANDO—Seminole scored two runs in the top of the ninth, but Edgewater scored three in the bottom half of the inning to claim a 7-6 high school baseball victory Tuesday at Edgewater's field.
Edgewater's come-from-behind rally was its second of the game. With Seminole leading 4-2, Edgewater erupted for two runs in the sixth to push the game into extra innings.
After spotting Edgewater two runs in the first inning, Seminole tallied three in the second.
Randy Brown walked and Mike Russell reached base on error to set the stage for a 350-foot home run over the leftfield fence by Ned Raines.
Raines ignited Seminole's fifth inning rally with a single. He stole second, advanced to third on Bernie Mills' ground out and scored on a wild pick-off attempt.

In the ninth, Robert Smith singled and Raines was walked intentionally. Smith scored when Mills reached base on an error and Jim Brodie singled Raines home.
George Simkanich of Seminole struck out 15 and gave up only four hits before giving way to Mark Simcoe in the ninth. Simcoe walked in two runs.
Ray Butler of Edgewater went the distance, striking out 11. He slammed a home run in the sixth.
In a game Tuesday, Kissimmee downed Orlando 6-3.
Kissimmee bunched three hits, a base on balls and three Orlando errors for four runs in the fifth inning.

Ali Bored With Workouts

CLEVELAND (AP)—With their fight for the world heavyweight title drawing near, champion Muhammad Ali expressed boredom after a workout and challenger Chuck Wepner skipped training to go to the racetrack.
"That's the way it was here Wednesday, six days before Ali meets Wepner at the Cleveland Coliseum."
"A fighter is like a race horse. You gotta pace yourself," said Ali, who sparred six rounds while Wepner was at nearby Thistledown watching race horses pace themselves.

"You don't train for every man the same way, or you'll burn yourself out," said Ali, who has trained lightly for his first title defense since he knocked out George Foreman in Africa, a fight for which Ali trained four months.
"I'm not satisfied with my condition," said the champion, who weighs between 225-230 and is carrying a slight paunch.

The spotlight with his three daughters—6-year-old Maryum and 4-year-old twins Jamillah and Rashida—who were introduced in the ring before the sparring session, watched by about 300 people at the Coliseum.
The girls smiled, and Rashida held up her arms and waved in much the same way Ali does.
"They know they're pretty," said the proud father.

Records Tumble At Meet

Thirteen meet records fell Tuesday in the Lyman Freshman-Sophomore Invitational Track and Field Meet at Lyman's track.
"The performances were outstanding," Lyman Coach David Huggins said. "It has been a great year for track. With the great weather teams have been practicing everyday since January."
"The kids are getting better. There is better competition. Track is getting better around here."

Lyman's Bruce Caldwell grabbed two first place finishes. He won the mile run in 4:42.5 and the two-mile run in 10:06.5.
Lyman's mile relay team of George Doffler, Brian Flynn, Bob Berkhart and Danny Williams won with a 3:41.6 clocking. Crooms' Ricky Hill won the long jump with a leap of 20 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

Jax Open Tees Off Today

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—He talks about getting it in "Euell Gibbons country," the woods and weeds. He'll make a comment about his "Laurence of Arabia time on the wrong side of the gallery ropes."
He tries to keep it light and funny, as if it didn't matter.
But Hubert Green is a deeply frustrated young man. "I'm hitting it sideways," he said. "I'm playing terrible."
There may be just the glimpse of a light at the end of the tunnel, however. "I think I've finally figured out what's wrong," Green said before teeing off today as the defending champion in the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.
"At least I've got something to work on."
Green stamped himself one of the game's outstanding young players last season when he took this title and three others and collected more than $200,000. Only Johnny Miller surpassed him in tournament victories.

The top choices in the 150-man field were U.S. Open king Hale Irwin, who hasn't finished lower than sixth in his last four starts; Australian Bruce Crampton, a contender in his last two appearances, and Mike Hill, who has played very strongly in recent tournaments.
Arnold Palmer figures to be the sentimental choice. J.C. Snead, Dave Stockton, Bob Murphy, Les Elder and young hopefuls Eddie Pearce, Ben Crenshaw, Lanny Wadkins, John Mahaffey and Lanny Wadkins.
Miller, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Gary Player are not competing.

SHS Captures Track Second

DAYTONA BEACH—Seminole High School finished second in a four-team track meet Tuesday at Daytona Beach Mainland.

Edwards dominated the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.1.
Edwards also finished second in the 300-yard intermediate hurdles with a 40.5 clocking and third in the long jump with a leap of 20-feet. Calloway took second in the mile run at 4:39.4.
Seminole's 800-yard relay team, composed of Johnny Garton, Herbert Branch, Reginald Davis and Tommy Thompson, recorded a 1:35.4 and the sprint medley team, composed of Thompson, Branch, Davis and Alvin Cummings, registered a 2:04.0.

U.S. Rides Fence On Discrimination

EDITOR'S NOTE—On an issue of reverse discrimination, the federal government has taken sides. It supports two black workers arguing before the Supreme Court that they were laid off ahead of whites because discrimination limited their seniority.

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Unemployment, or today's constant dread of it, is exposing once again a national sore already rubbed raw in pursuit of a contending American ideal, equality of opportunity and achievement based on merit.

It comes down to that emotion-laden word: quotas.

Except that today, as jobs become more precious, the old fight over who should get hired first is compounded by a new argument over who should get laid-off last.

Consider this dilemma, embodied in two cases which have reached the Supreme Court: Mr. Black was turned down for a job which was given, later on, to Mr. White. Mr. Black proved the company had illegally denied him the job on account of his race. The company was ordered to hire him.

Question:—When the company has to lay off workers on the customary last-hired basis, which man has seniority, the one who has spent longer on the job or the one illegally kept from doing so?

—Should the innocent Mr. White be the victim of somebody else's prior discrimination against Mr. Black?

—Should the innocent Mr. Black again be the victim of somebody else's act already judged illegal?

As with nearly all such cases the answer is rarely either black or white. Both want nothing more than fair treatment. Both, ultimately, ask the same question: Why should I suffer for another person's deeds?

In his ringing dissent of 1967, Justice John Marshall Harlan declared: "Our Constitution is color-blind and neither knows nor tolerates classes among citizens." When the Supreme Court outlawed segregated schools in 1954, many who had borne the wounds of discrimination felt the ideal of Justice Harlan had finally triumphed.

Now, a generation later, seekers after justice, sadder but wiser, are convinced that "affirmative action" is the only way to bring about and advantage by history to place where equal opportunity means an end to discrimination.

But when does affirmative action become, as some claim, reverse discrimination?

Among many lawsuits seeking an answer the Supreme Court has chosen so far to review just one, last year's celebrated DeFunis case, in which the Court's decision, after hearing arguments, was not to decide.

That was the case in which Marco DeFunis Jr., white, was denied admission to law school. On discovering that 36 minority applicants with test scores lower than his had been admitted, DeFunis sued. A court order got him into law school pending the outcome of the case, and by the time it reached the Supreme Court he was about to graduate. The Court thus declared the matter moot and declined to rule.

"In a sense," said Steve Ralston, a lawyer for the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, "that nondiscrimination was a victory for affirmative action. It let the lower court ruling stand, which upheld the school's policies."

"Further, the court since then has routinely declined to review a number of affirmative-action cases, most notably the 1974 Mississippi Highway Patrol case."

But that decision, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, La., approved of court-ordered "one-to-one or one-to-two hiring, the creation of hiring pools, or a freeze on white hiring, or any other form of affirmative hiring relief until the patrol is effectively integrated."

Firm Opens New Office

The Sanford consumer finance office of FinanceAmerica Corporation has moved to a new location.

Formerly situated at 118 South Magnolia Avenue, the office will now be located at 101-A West 1st Street. Branch manager is James A. "Gene" Hora, who is responsible for the overall operation of FinanceAmerica's services.

Hora joined FinanceAmerica in 1964 as branch representative for the Fernandina Beach, Florida office and, in 1967, was promoted to branch manager for its Lakeland office. In 1970, he became manager of the Titusville office and, in 1974, transferred as branch manager to the Sanford office.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Hora received a B.A. degree in Business Administration and Economics from Rollins College and served for three years with the United States Navy.

He resides with his wife, Dolores, and three children in Geneva.

Hora is one of several hundred FinanceAmerica managers who provide diversified financial services to consumers in 29 states and to businesses throughout the United States and Canada.

Aluminum Pay High For State

During 1974, Reynolds Aluminum paid Floridians over $1,604,000 for their all-aluminum scrap and beverage cans.

Last year in Florida, Reynolds recycled a record 12,283,222 pounds of the valuable scrap, the equivalent of 282,744,396 cans, an increase of 3,550,480 lbs. over the previous year.

In the Sanford-Deland area, Aluminum Recyclers, Inc. in conjunction with Reynolds, paid the public $32,304.60 for 242,274 pounds of aluminum.

Paul Hayden, Reynolds regional recycling manager, contributed the big increase to "a growing public awareness of the benefits of recycling coupled with the increased value of aluminum scrap."

In June Reynolds increased the price they were paying from 10 cents a pound to 15 cents.

In addition to fixed recycling plants in Tampa, Miami, Jacksonville and Pensacola, Reynolds mobile recycling units cover a network of 68 cities throughout the state on regular pre-announced monthly schedules.

How To Figure Net Worth

How much are you worth? That's the first question you may be asked when you apply for a bank loan to buy a car or a house or even to catch up on routine bills.

Frequently, the answer people give is only a guess, which underestimates their true worth. A lower figure affects your credit rating and possibly the amount of money you're able to borrow. Another reason for knowing your net worth is that it is a first step in estate planning.

Average net worth is not a figure that appears in any governmental reports because it varies so widely, but even newly-married couples pressed by monthly bills are often surprised to find their net worth is in the tens of thousands.

Here is a simplified chart prepared by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants to help you compute your net worth. List all assets at their current market value. For example, list the value of your car at the price the dealer would pay for it. Forget about life insurance unless the policies have cash surrender value. And those jewels and heirlooms—sentimental value doesn't count. Other assets include the present value of vested interests in pension and profit-sharing plans.

A note about your liabilities: if you've listed a market value for assets which was above your cost, estimate tax liability for the gain. This is necessary because if you sell at a profit, you'll probably have to pay income taxes on those profits. Add up all your assets, and then deduct from that the total of your liabilities. The result is what you are worth or, if it turns out to be a minus figure, what you are worth to someone else.

Breakfast Major Item For Good Day

By LOUISE L. GILL
Extension Home Agent

Eat a good breakfast to start a good day.

No matter how hectic mornings are, don't rush off to school or work without a good breakfast.

Breakfast provides food for thought and food for action. Studies show that breakfast eaters don't get that "mid-morning" slump. And breakfast eaters can do better in physical activities.

What is a good breakfast? Any foods that give you a fourth of your daily calorie requirement and a fourth of your daily protein, mineral, and vitamin allowance, make up a good breakfast.

The traditional cereal, milk and orange juice breakfast meets this guideline. But to do some not so ordinary breakfasts like bacon, cheese and tomato on a bun with orange juice and milk. Or a cereal sundae of ice cream and peaches on corn flakes with muffins and milk is good, too.

Even hamburger can be a good breakfast food. Just add milk and fruit to the menu, too. This combination will furnish a fourth of your nutritional needs for the day.

Older, less active people do not require as many calories as growing, active young people do.
