HOOVER'S LAW COMMISSION IS FACING DEMISE

Lack Of Funds And Attitude Of Congress
Not To Give More Is Seen As Final Blow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—President Hoover's law enforcement commission was threatened with financial extinction today due to its failure to submit a report to Congress on the trend of its inquiry into prohibition enforcement.

Armed by the commission's "star chamber" speech and its failure to report developments, dry leaders on Capitol Hill were ready to abolish it by withholding all appropriations for the coming year. This would automatically eliminate the commission since the federal statutes forbid anybody serving the government without pay.

The continuing may be settled during the Christmas recess of Congress by the commission changing its attitude and filing a report to its credit. Under such a course is sent to Congress, it would appear, the leaders would terminate its activities.

Senator William J. Harris (D) of Ga. and his dry day, led the movement against the commission. He threatened to turn the Senate over to Congress if the commission failed to deliver a report to Congress. In this stand, Harris had the support of numerous drys and all the vote of the majority of the Senate and House.

Such strong prohibitionists as Senator Carter Glass (D) of Va. and William Borah (D) Idaho supported Harris' position.

"I fear the President's commission might be an immediate casualty," said Harris. "We have a strong, all-federal commission in the Senate to make reports to Congress as well as to the president. I want the position taken by Senator Harris."

This went further. He described the commission's policy of holding secret hearings and keeping its actions secret except to Congress as a distinct plus as a legislative body, which created the confusion. He was highly interested and arrived with Harris to file on the commission's application.

The wet Lake Mary endorses Harris' statement, bringing both sides and drys into accord in the Senate at least for the time being. Senator Tyron (D) of Md., who has succeeded the former Senator Edgar (D) of N.J. as the wet leader, declared he would support any step taken by Harris to turn the commission's session into the open.

Lake Mary To Have Christmas Tree As Fun For Children

Plans are being made for the presentation of a Christmas tree at the community building in Lake Mary on Christmas Eve, an announcement yesterday by Leo Page, chairman of a committee representing every church organization on the little town which is located six miles northwest of Sanford.

Mr. Page said that the community trip will be arranged for the entertainment of the founders of Lake Mary, and that any child who attends and is under 12 years of age will receive a gift from the tree on the night of the affair. He further declared that this Christmas affair will be a continuation of the custom of the past several years.

The Christmas Tree committee, which Mr. Page is chairman, consists of Homer Gleason, secretary; R. D. White, treasurer; and representatives from the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, the Community Church, Methodist Church, the Parent-Teacher Association, the Improvement Society, the Crystal Lake Social Club, and the Lions' Aid Society.

Building permits in Tallahassee for hotel apartments and restaurant construction issued through architects board of State Hotel Commission totaled $60,000 in October, according to Commissioner Ben H. Bostain.

Cold Wave Is Still Plaguing Mid West

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—(INS)—Recovered from the paralyzing snowfall which lasted two days, Chicago and the Central West were back in shape, though a severe cold wave still persisted. Wind chill temperatures at day time had ranged down near zero. Cold winds from the west made outdoor work and increased the strength of the gales. The official temperature index of the local thermometers showed 20° below zero at 10 a.m.

YULETIDE SPIRIT IN WALL STREET IS STILL CHEERY

Financial Section To Have Big Christmas
Despite Stock Drop

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(INS)—Wall Street's 1929 Christmas will be undimmed, despite a drop in the market yesterday. It never happened, in fact, that the financial district received less spirit than did the rest of the city.

Yuletide cheer is in the air. Banks and business are "ringing in" the new year, talking of the new year they are to receive. Christmas is indeed the window of opportunity for large business men. The buying is fastened with a firm hand and the Salvation Army is making full force.

The New York Stock Exchange will give Christmas credit to its chief, T. C. Jackson, who started the present one-day-a-week system of trading.

"I fear the President's commission might be an immediate casualty," said Harris. "We have a strong, all-federal commission in the Senate to make reports to Congress as well as to the president. I want the position taken by Senator Harris."

This went further. He described the commission's policy of holding secret hearings and keeping its actions secret except to Congress as a distinct plus as a legislative body, which created the confusion. He was highly interested and arrived with Harris to file on the commission's application.

Both sides and drys are in accord in the Senate at least for the time being. Senator Tyron (D) of Md., who has succeeded the former Senator Edgar (D) of N.J. as the wet leader, declared he would support any step taken by Harris to turn the commission's session into the open.

Morgan And Bass Will Battle Tonight In Garden For 130-Pound Boxing Title

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK Dec. 20.—They are going to play one of those final "consolidating singles" at Madison Square Garden tonight, the prize being the 130-pound championship of the boxing world. This title, held over a four-year reign by Ted Morgan, of the coast, is gradually intended to consolidate for the fact that Bill Bass has played him for a hum-dinger. Too small for the light-weight, too big for the feather-weight, he is a hybrid of the profession and must seek his destiny where he may. Yet good men have held that title—Johnny Dundee and Bernstein, for instance—and Morgan by no means is in the world of them.

A pound champion, his very ability has left the division without the life blood of real contention and so it is fortunate that a fighter as good as Benny Bass comes forward tonight in the role of challenger. Bass is another anomaly of the ring. Two years ago, he was fighting Tony Cannone for the featherweight championship, with a broken collar bone, a sad episode that is remembered to this day.

He almost stole the show that night with one arm and they were sure that he couldn't miss the title the next time he came back for more. One little extra ounce soon became an extra pound, the pound became two pounds, then three. Bass no longer was a feather-weight, championship contender because he no longer was a feather-weight. Never was he a light-weight, unfortunately.

This had descended for him that middle ground that is the abode of neither fish nor foul and so to-night we find him fighting another of those "neutral-weights" for the championship of hybrids. They are making a real championship meeting of it, with the limit placed at the title distance of 18 rounds and a bonus that may scale up to $50,000. They still remember Morgan around here for the great fight he made with Joe Glick the last time he had his title on the counter.

Bass, however, is getting the play in the betting. They always favor the puncher, when everything else is equal; and Benjamin undoubtedly can lay them in. Morgan, too, is the oldest champion in the lists with the point of continuity and maybe they think he is about due for the wash. He can't win them all; for a fact, and tonight's defense will be his sixteenth since he took Mike Halligan for the title out on the coast in 1925. However, when men like Glick, Joey Sanger, Cannonball Martin, Dunder and Santiago Zorilla can't beat him he must be no worse than even money with Bass.

The fight, by the way, is the first championship that has been held in the Garden since September of 1928, when they pulled a decision out of the hat and gave the featherweight title to Andre Roulin, after Cannone had won so far away that he finished almost in privacy. As a champion who is keeping the title in circulation, Mr. Morgan is therefore more than welcome.

American Public Is Well Stocked With Christmas Money

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—The stock market debacle notwithstanding, the American public had plenty of money in the banks for the Christmas spending spree, which is now in full swing.

Individual deposits in all banks of the country—national, state, savings and others—amounted to about $55,000,000,000, a considerable gain over last year. Of this gigantic wealth, approximately $20,000,000,000 was in savings deposits.

Just what will be the country's Christmas bill no official would venture to predict. One suggested a billion dollars, but on learning that would represent only $434 per capita he considered the estimate conservative.

The Christmas bootleg bill will be tremendous. That for flowers, sweets, theaters, dinners, and other entertainment will run into many millions, to say nothing of the hundreds of millions that are being spent on more substantial presents.

Reports reaching the Treasury and Federal Reserve Board indicated there has been satisfactory Christmas trade over the country, although it was believed it would not surpass that of the previous record year.

Officials found the recent market break had reduced the buying power of a considerable number of persons.

VAN SICKEL AND CRABTREE STILL OUT OF PRACTICE

Florida's Basketball Prospects Are Dim As Stars Are Absent

By Frank B. Wright
GAINESVILLE, Dec. 20.—Two Gators who have been outstanding in basketball at the University of Florida for the past two years—Dale Van Sickel, captain and guard, and Clyde Crabtree, for two seasons the leading scorer, have not yet reported to Coach Brady Cowell and in all likelihood will be lost to the hoop squad for the coming campaign.

Absence of several candidates, who left early this week for Christmas vacation jobs, has slowed up the practice of the Florida basketeers. Coach Cowell, facing a rather grim outlook, has announced resumption of practice Dec. 27, but at that date

several of his leading prospects

probably will not be able to return.

Four of the most promising players of the season are freshmen from last year, a fact which certainly will not cause Florida to be looked upon as a strong team in the South this year, and at the present time Coach Cowell's strongest five embraces this quartet, and Dale "Muddy" Waters, veteran guard, who will take rank as one of the finest defensive players in Dixie.

Emmingshain and Hirsh have looked the best of the forwards to date and both are up for their first whack at varsity competition.

Leonard McLaren, the pint-sized forward with two seasons of experience to be figured in the running, as is, is DeFord, another candidate of promise who, as yet, however, has not been able to round into condition.

The sophomore Jim Baker

seemingly has moved out Ben Clemmons, last year's varsity center. Among the guards, Waters, North, Colson and Perrine have shown the best work thus far.

Burke, a sophomore, will likely be used a great deal this season, but his talents as a varsity performer have not been shown inasmuch as a football injury kept him from reporting last week, and he is among the several candidates filling holiday jobs. In the event Crabtree does not report, Mentor Cowell may have to shift Perrine to a forward, as a shortage of men at that position is felt.

Bass, however, is getting the play in the betting. They always favor the puncher, when everything else is equal; and Benjamin undoubtedly can lay them in.

Morgan, too, is the oldest champion in the lists with the point of continuity and maybe they think he is about due for the wash.

He can't win them all; for a fact, and tonight's defense will be his sixteenth since he took Mike Halligan for the title out on the coast in 1925. However, when men like Glick, Joey Sanger, Cannonball Martin, Dunder and Santiago Zorilla can't beat him he must be no worse than even money with Bass.

The fight, by the way, is the first championship that has been held in the Garden since September of 1928, when they pulled a decision out of the hat and gave the featherweight title to Andre Roulin, after Cannone had won so far away that he finished almost in privacy.

As a champion who is keeping the title in circulation, Mr. Morgan is therefore more than welcome.

THE RUBY OR THE EMERALD? - - - By Burris Jenkins Jr.

Florida's Material For Boxing Team Is Exceptionally Good

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 20.—Florida has sufficient boxing material to maintain two fairly strong teams in the opinion of Coach John Plombo.

Capt. Phil O'Connell and Ray Carter, both lightweights, give Florida a pair of exceptional ring-men. O'Connell won the Southern Conference feather title last year, but increased weight has forced him into the next division.

Leading bantamweights include George Dykes and John Minardi. Three promising featherweights are Owen Mikell, Marshall Flowers and Oscar Bisant. The welterweight laurels are being contested for chiefly by Clarence McNamee, John Marsalis and Buck Collier. In the middleweight division there are five prominent aspirants, Sam Slavin, John Shirley, Dick Ramsey, Tony Lupto and Sam Pasco.

The veteran John Marsalis hopes to clinch light heavy honors, but in Bill Sult, the Florida boxing mentor sees a rugged competitor. Three very fine prospects in the heavyweight division insure Florida of strength in the unlimited class, Carlos Proctor, Joe Hall and Irving Ashkenazy.

Florida's 1930 basketball schedule shows conference games with only three institutions—two each with Georgia, Clemson and South Carolina. The games with Georgia will open the Florida season late on January 10 and 11.

A road trip, meeting Stetson, Rollins and Southern will be taken January 16, 17, 18, and return games are on slate later in the season. The Clemson games are February 12 and 13 and the South Carolina tilt is booked for February 14 and 15.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—Despite demands of the Mukden government that all Soviet troops be withdrawn from Chinese territory as a preliminary to the negotiations for a settlement of the Sino-Russ controversy over the Chinese Eastern Railway, Soviet troops still occupy the Manchurian cities of Harbin and Manchuria, according to dispatches from Mukden today.

Adults, Too, Prefer "No Dosing" for Colds

Millions Adopt External Remedy Made Famous As Treatment For Children's Cold

A generation ago, when Vick's Vapordol was originated, that idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is always from needless "dosing."

Mothers of young children especially have been quick to appreciate this better external method of treating colds, because there's nothing to swallow and, of course, nothing to upset the little ones' delicate stomachs. Year by year more and more adults, too, have found Vick's equally good for their own colds.

Just rubbed on, Vick acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster and, at the same time, it releases medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

Ever-increasing demand for this better method of treating colds is shown in the familiar Vick slogan. Made famous when Vick reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly"—later raised to "21 Million"—there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

New Christmas Idea Of Trees Is Praised

By Mrs. Henry Wright
It seems a very fitting and beautiful thing to see the old Southern celebration of Christmas giving way to a new and better thought. The older ones of us can remember when the day was ushered in with a volley of fire crackers which continued their machine gun battle of explosions till evening fell, punctuated occasionally with the alterations of anvils fired in some mysterious manner to make a mighty fuss.

Later in the day the young bloods "rode fantasias" with troops of prancing horses tearing up and down, bearing their riders in false faces and carnival costume. It was a merry and hilarious time and the memory of it still bears its exhilarations but how infinitely lovely is the exchange of emphasis from noisy sound to the quiet glow after the lighted living trees in the gardens and parks, such blessed holiday time sees an increasing number of these Cities' towns are encouraging the event, and it is a matter of pride to the residents that our city has its own tree in Central Park.

It is especially fine to see how the Florida Power and Light Company has responded to the request of the Rose Circle of the Garden Club in offering prizes which will encourage the outdoor trees and now comes a private donor of a prize for those so situated that they cannot compete for the Power Company's prizes. There should be many coupons filled in and sent in to The Herald.

Let us have "light."

S. was held on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple, with the officers of 1929 in charge of the program in the form of a drill honoring the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Elizabeth Huff.
