Lovely Social Function
One of the most beautiful and delightful social events of the season was the lovely card party given by Miss Mabel Hand Friday evening complimentary to Miss Leila Michael of Strousburg, Pa., the charming guest of Mrs. H. R. Stevens.

The rooms of the handsome home were artistically decorated with green vines, interspersed with pink flowers and wide streamers of pink, extending from the chandeliers in the ceilings to the corners of the rooms. On the newel posts of the wide stairway, facing the entrance of the reception hall an arch was arranged with a similar arch at the first landing, surmounting only a few steps. The top and sides of these arches were connected by interwoven squares of pink paper ribbon. The arches were covered by garlands of glistening green vines and pink flowers, the whole presenting a very effective effect. Pink and green was the color motif. In a large bay window to the right of the reception hall, festooned also, from ceiling to floor with green vines and pink flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hand, Miss Mabel Hand and Miss Michael stood to receive their guests.

Seventeen tables of five hundred were played. The highest score among the ladies was made by Miss Michaels, the honoree, who won the first prize, a handsome fillagree vase. Mrs. Paul Keely received the booby prize, a pretty needle-book. Nixon Butt made the highest score among the gentlemen, and captured the first prize, a fine leather pocket book. The booby prize for the gentlemen was received by B. A. Howard, a souvenir cigar case. The guest of honor was also presented with a set of dainty gold pins, with pearl settings.

After the games of cards were concluded a delicious chicken salad course was served.

Miss Hand was charmingly assisted in caring for her guests by Misses Renie Murrell, Clarissa Starling, Essie Purdon, Hazel Hand, Helen Rowland, Charlotte Hand.

The guests were Misses Leila Michael, Hattie Tyner, Mabel Bowler, Linda Leffler, Vivian Yeiser, Florence Frank, Martha Fox, Rose Dickenson, Bessie Schumpert, Genie Wicker, Charlotte Keelor, Irene Brady, Louise Shepherd, Penchea Leffler, Belle Smith, Veda Ward, Midge Ward, Annie Higgins, Sannie Williams, Carrie Lovell, Ruth Mettinger, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Rose Clayton, Messrs. Mrs. Keely Entertains
Mrs. Paul Keely was the charming hostess of a very pleasant card party Friday afternoon, Jan. 19th, in honor of her guest, Mrs. A. S. Briggs of Wisconsin. The rooms were decorated with beautiful pink roses and violets. Four tables of bridge were played. Mrs. Lawrence made the highest score and won the first prize, a hand embroidered handkerchief. The second prize was received by Mrs. Geo. H. Fernald. After the cards a salad course was served.

Mrs. Keely's guests were Mesdames Briggs, Keelor, Lake, Carpenter, Brown, Holden, Lawrence, Bell, Smith, Turner, Fernald, Higgins, Hurt, Putnam, Forster, Schumpert, Curtis, Prather, Driver, Misses Mays, Keelor, Schumpert, Clayton.

Mrs. Keely Hostess
Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 23rd, Mrs. Paul Keely entertained at bridge, complimentary to her guest, Mrs. A. S. Briggs. Four tables of bridge were played. Mrs. Chas. E. Bell made the highest score and won the first prize, a hand embroidered handkerchief. The booby prize, brass blotter corners, was received by Mrs. Roy Symes.

At the conclusion of the games of cards a delicious salad course was served.

Mrs. Keely's guests were Mesdames Briggs, Curtis, Newman, Palestine, Holly, Thrasher, Vorce, Miller, Lane, Speer, Herndon, Gonzales, Woodruff, Dickins, Symes, Rossetter, Fox Jr., Bell, Hamilton Barnes, Marks, Putnam, Marks, Gerber, Butt, Miss Hattie Tyner.

GARDEN CITY OF GERMANY

Description of Hellerau, the Ideal Town Recently Built on the Outskirts of Dresden.

Just on the outskirts of Dresden there has sprung into existence during the last two years a garden city, the first of its kind in Germany. Berlin has made attempts in this direction, but they were more as a form of land speculation.

Hellerau is in a healthy location, two miles distant and about 200 feet higher than Dresden. The wooden parts are preserved as much as possible. The 315 acres are divided into one section for cottages, the other for villas. The streets are already laid out and all are to be provided with gas and water connections and with drains. Arrangements will also be made for a supply of electricity.

The cottage section is built by the Hellerau Building society and the houses are rented to members only. Membership is secured by taking a share equal to $47.60 and the liability of the members ends there. Interest up to 4 per cent is paid on these shares and any further profits are divided among the community. Tenure is fixed and the tenant may leave at a year's notice.

Cottages are built to rent at $82 to $150 annually. Each cottage has a garden, a large cellar, separate scullery with built-in boiler, pantry, water closet on the ground floor, easily accessible attic, gas for cooking, electric light and bells, water connection, and if needed accommodation for domestic animals. The smallest cottage consists of four rooms, kitchen and living room on the ground floor and two bedrooms on the upper floor, large enough for a family with two or three children. During last year 150 of these cottages were built and are now occupied. For 1911 an additional 150 are already planned.

In the villa quarter residences are to be had at a rent of $200 to $500 and over, with steam heat, warm water to the bedrooms and other conveniences. Construction is undertaken by the Garden City company according to the wishes of the intending tenant. The house and grounds are then let at a rent proportionate to the cost of building and the value of the land (5 1/2 per cent of the former and 6 per cent of the latter). The land is valued at 12.2 cents per square foot (in the cottage quarter at 9.3 cents per square foot). The tenant must provide four-tenths of the cost of building and 4 per cent interest is paid on this sum.

An artistic uniformity of building is guaranteed by a building commission, the sanction of which is required for all plans. Electric light is supplied from the power station of the German Institute of Technical Arts at a cost of 2.5 cents per kilowatt hour; gas costs 45.4 cents per 1,000 and water 30.8 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Preparatory schools are provided for the younger children; there is an Institute of Technical Arts, and a small nursery which undertakes work in the gardens of new houses and a small school of gardening could easily be attached to this. There is an electric car service from the city out to Hellerau, the run taking about 20

WHAT LOCOMOTIVES EARN

Expert With an Appetite for Mathematics Produces Some Interesting Figures.

An engineering expert with a fine appetite for mathematics has been figuring out for the Railway and Engineering Review just how much railroad locomotives are worth per day to the railroads owning them. He took into consideration the locomotive's earning capacity, making all due allowance for financial loss caused by detention in the repair shop, the increased cost of fuel, water and men to run the locomotive.

The average daily earnings of locomotives on the Pennsylvania railroad was figured out at $131.84, which is slightly above the average for all the railroads of the country. In the east the average is $124.84, and on the western roads $130.84 per day. The locomotives of the Central of New Jersey head the list in the east, with an average of $147.06 earned by each locomotive per day, and the D. L. & W. comes next with $140.83. In the west the Santa Fe locomotives lead with $149.53 earned per day.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

The case of the State versus Mollie Nobles, tried for the murder of her husband last March, was settled late Saturday afternoon at Milton when the jury sitting on the case returned a verdict of not guilty. The case proved one of the most interesting in the present session of the Circuit Court.

A little child was burned to death last week in Tampa, a young lady of Daytona succumbed to severe burns Saturday and Tuesday Mrs. Wiggins, of Fort Myers, was burned so terribly that death relieved her sufferings at an early hour Wednesday.

The vegetable growers of Galloway in Polk county have formed an association for the purpose of packing and marketing their products.

The folks down Fort Myers way are regaling themselves with green peas. The Press says that they will be ready for shipment in a few days.

Smart B. Harris, city ticket agent of the Seaboard Air Line in Ocala was arrested last night, charged with shortage in his accounts. The warrant was sworn out by W. A. McCran, an auditor of the road, who has been here several days going over Harris' accounts. The shortage is said to amount to several hundred dollars. Harris was placed in jail, but made bond of $1,000 today.

United States Judge James W. Locke has just rounded out forty years of continuous service as a Federal jurist in this state.

Palatka is to have a new industry which no doubt will prove to be a great thing for the town. The enterprise will be known as the Southern Portable House Company.

Many new buildings are being erected at fast and the influx of new settlers is said to be greater than usual.

After preaching and teaching schools in West Florida for over a quarter of a century and giving away most of his income in building school houses and churches, Rev. P. G. Woodruff of Crestview has been notified that he has been left a fortune by an uncle who died recently in Colorado.

John A. Newstead, contractor and builder, formerly of Chicago, now of Jacksonville, has secured the contract of building the several canning plants for the Florida Consolidated Canning Company, his bid being accepted over that of several others. These buildings will be mill constructed with concrete floors, corrugated iron sides and roofing, outside boiler rooms, receiving sheds and platforms. All the lumber and iron is cut, measured and matched when loaded on cars at Jacksonville to be shipped to the locations where plants are being built, and the buildings can then be set up like putting together a chair, without any loss of time.

Making the race for the house of representatives from the Second Florida Congressional district, S. J. Hilburn of Palatka has accepted Frank Clark's challenge and will meet the present congressman in joint debate to discuss the issues of the campaign whenever and wherever Mr. Clark designates.

Horse Show Will Be Great

The Field Day and Horse Show in Sanford on February 13th and 14th promises to be one of the great events of the winter season. The various committees report progress and many new entries are being filed every day.

The programs will be printed next week and distributed and will prove a drawing card for the affair.

In connection with the various events the booths will be attractive at the grounds and the ladies who intend to provide over this part of the show are bending every energy to make a grand carnival of show grounds.

Now let every lover of Sanford pull for these two great days and the hospital will be assured for our city.

Mabel Paige Tonight

Mabel Paige and her company of artists will delight the people of Sanford at the Imperial tonight and tomorrow night.

COMMISSIONER FALLS DEAD

Was Speaking At Elks' Club When The Summons Came

Commissioner of Agriculture McLin dropped dead in the Orlando Elks' Club at eleven o'clock Tuesday night.

Mr. McLin was making an address, and had been speaking five minutes, when he suddenly fell forward prone on his face. Dr. Christ was sitting within ten feet of him when he fell and rushed to his aid.

The hall at the time was crowded with Elks, gathered there for an annual picnic, the event being the meeting of the supreme court of the local lodge. Mr. McLin was in Orlando amongst a number of prominent politicians of the state. In attendance at the fair. In the hall Tuesday night, seated around the commissioner were Claude L'Engle, candidate for Congress, Col. George C. Martin, also a Congressional candidate, Hudson Burr, Chairman of the Railroad Commission of the State, and a number of prominent local men including Judge Warlow, Senator Massey, John C. Jones and others. Moses Overstreet was chairman of the meeting when Mr. McLin was called upon to speak. He followed Claude L'Engle. The Commissioner's speech was exceedingly happy. He spoke of the beauty of Orlando and congratulated the Elks upon their fine home.

When he had been speaking five minutes and the clock was on the eve of striking eleven—the solemn hour in Elks' parlors—it was noticed that he suddenly halted. Those seated around him as he stood in front of the court bench, saw his head fall forward, then his form collapsed and fell forward.

Instantly there was great commotion in the hall. Dr. Christ was first to reach his side, but two other physicians, Dr. Edwards and McElroy, were also present and joined Dr. Christ in rendering aid to the stricken man. When the Commissioner was found to be dead, the body was removed to Undertaker Armstrong's undertaking parlors, and his family notified of the tragedy over the long distance telephone. The deceased was 62 years of age, and was born in Tennessee. He had been Commissioner of Agriculture in Florida for three terms, and was entering upon his twelfth year, and was a candidate for a fourth term. It was to him that the credit is due for transforming the Agricultural Department of the state into a useful and active adjunct of the local government, and that he no man stood higher in the estimation of the Florida people. It was universally said of him, even by those opposed to his policies, that he "lived to the line," which was a way of stating that with him honor and justice were ever the first considerations.

Fine Sanford Poultry

Sanford poultry carried off high honors at the county fair. C. H. Dungee on Barred Plymouth Rocks swept the boards and won first prize in every class. Harry Kent had the real thing in White Wyandottes.

Capt. Fatjo carried off blue ribbons on Rhode Island Reds and also on his pigeons and other fowls. W. J. Wilson won everything in the White Leghorn class.

J. A. Takach was winner again this year in the White Wyandotte class.

Sanford poultrymen made no mistake when they placed their fowls on exhibition at the county fair, as no better advertisement could have been given them. There are some fine chickens in the vicinity, although the business is yet in its infancy.

Mt. Dora Booming

Mt. Dora, that pretty little city that nestles among the lakes and hills of Lake county has proved a most desirable location for tourists and to stimulate building the Louisville Real Estate & Development Co., will put on a Big Auction Sale of lots in Mt. Dora on Tuesday February 6th.

A big barbecue and music by the celebrated Sanford band will draw the crowd and the lots will sell themselves aided by the gentle of Col. Moore, the auctioneer.

Stockton Will Move

R. G. Stockton will begin in a short time to move his stock of groceries and meats from his old stand in the Garner-Woodruff Building to the storeroom now occupied by his bakery two doors east of the post-office.

Beginning next week he will follow the lead of the dry goods and clothing houses and put on a removal sale of everything in his large stock of groceries and meats at cost.

ORANGE COUNTY'S FAIR

The Great Show Draws crowds All The Week

AUTO PARADE WAS MAGNIFICENT

Displays Are Good, Races Are Good And The Fair Is A Great Success

Orange county again takes premium among the counties of Florida in the holding of one of the grandest fairs on record. There can never be a fair quite so good as Orange County Fair for, nowhere else can there be such a diversity of crops, such cattle, horses, dogs and chickens, such good school exhibits, such jams and jellies, such fancy work, such machinery and everything that goes to make a county fair a success.

Tuesday was opening day but Jupiter Playus though not invited came anyhow and everybody else left. The automobile parade was postponed until Wednesday and the other events were carried out, the opening speeches being made as usual.

The auto parade was the grandest pageant ever witnessed in Florida. More than one hundred cars were in line containing seven hundred participants. The winners were as follows:

First prize, Mr. James L. Giles. Second prize, Mrs. James Laughlin. Third prize, Mrs. Harry Beeman. Fourth, Mrs. Jennie Moody. The prizes ranged, $50, $25, $15, and $10. The winners of the special prizes:

E. M. E., Mr. Seth Woodruff Flinders, Mrs. H. A. Grant, Eudora, Mrs. E. Evans Mitchell, Mrs. Dr. Whitman Reo, Mrs. S. G. Doherty Ford, Mrs. T. P. Warlow Buck, Mr. Frank Smith of Altamonte Springs.

The following Sanford cars were in the parade and though not prize winners, the general opinion prevails that they should have been:

W. J. Thigpen, purple morning glories over star jessamine. Occupants of car were Mrs. W. D. Holden, Mrs. Forrest Lake, Mrs. H. P. Driver and Miss Laura Fish.

Mrs. Hester, white and yellow daisies, beautifully decorated car. Occupants, Miss Ellen Mahoney, Miss Nellie Evans, Mrs. D. H. Pellett and son and Mrs. Ernest Handle.

Miss Nell Whittner, green basket trimmed in pink chrysanthemums. Occupants, Messes. Mel, Alton, Lucy and Annie Whittner and Mabel Bowler.

Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, basket made of plaited lavender and yellow and decorated with yellow chrysanthemums over asparagus fern. Occupants, Mrs. Thrasher, Mrs. Puleston, Mrs. Newman and Mrs. Bell.

Sanford's handsomely decorated cars, assisted very largely in making the automobile parade a brilliant success. It was the generally expressed opinion of the Sanford visitors at the fair and auto parade that the beautiful Roman chariot was the most striking and original in design and execution. It was by far the handsomest car in the parade and should have had the second prize, with all due respect to the judges and their opinions.

Union Services Sunday Night

Union services will be held at the Baptist Church next Sunday night, by the Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches. This meeting marks the beginning of the Men and Religion Forward Movement in Sanford. Jacksonville has already begun the work. That city of one of ninety centers in the United States and a state convention is to be held there Feb. 18-25. They are sending us two speakers for next Sunday: Mr. W. A. Lloyd, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. R. E. Stafford, an expert in men's work. These are not preachers, but laymen, and are recommended as fine speakers. A cordial invitation is extended to every one to be at the Baptist church that evening. Services begin at seven.

At The Episcopal Church

The Rev. U. F. Root of Apsonia Conn., will occupy the Chancel of the Church of the Holy Cross, (Episcopal), Sunday morning, and will remain in Sanford for a month and will officiate at regular services during that time. The public are cordially invited to be present. Service Sunday morning, morning prayer 10.30. Sermon and Celebration of Holy Communion at 11 a. m.

THE IMPROVEMENT TRAIN

Will Be In Sanford Today Remaining For Three Hours

The Office of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is now cooperating with the Atlantic Coast Line in the operation of a road improvement train. The object of this project is to arouse interest on the subject of better roads, and to teach the farmers and local road officials, the fundamental principals of road construction and maintenance.

This train consists of four coaches as follows: Baggage, exhibit, lecture and private cars.

The baggage car contains a gasoline engine and dynamo, generating power for the operation of the mechanical models, and electric illustrated lectures.

The exhibit car contains models illustrating the proper methods of building earth, sand, gravel, macadam, brick and bituminous macadam roads, and reinforced concrete bridges and culverts. This car also contains miniature models of a crushing plant and steam roller in actual operation, and large photographs illustrating the advantages to be derived from improved roads.

The lecture car is provided with a stereopticon outfit and equipment for giving illustrated lectures at each place where the train stops. When the crowd cannot be accommodated in the car the lectures are given in moving picture theatres or other halls, provided necessary arrangements are made locally.

The officers' car is provided for the accommodation of the officials and assistants having charge of the train.

The road exhibits and equipment on this train are furnished by the Office of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, while the railroad equipment and transportation of the train are furnished by the Atlantic Coast Line.

Mr. H. C. Wells, superintendent of road construction, assisted by Mr. J. R. Shuler, represents the Office of Public Roads. These men deliver the lectures and demonstrate the exhibits. The train is also accompanied by Mr. Wilbur McCoy, Agricultural and Immigration Agent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, and Mr. H. S. Fairbank, who represents the American Association for Highway Improvement.

The train will arrive in Sanford today at one o'clock.

The Wednesday Club

The club held their regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. S. O. Chase Wednesday afternoon. After the reading of the minutes the program for the afternoon was taken up.

Mrs. B. F. Whittner, Jr., entertained the club with the very interesting "Saga of Olaf the Holy," one of the most remarkable men who figured in Scandinavian history, and was as a king most popular and beloved.

"Miracles of King Olaf," a paper prepared by Mrs. Chase, but read for her by Mrs. B. F. Whittner, Jr., who also gave the "Saga of Magnus the Good." Miss Gertrude Speer prepared for the pleasure and instruction of the club as an aid to their Scandinavian studies "A Map Study of Ancient Norway," which was enjoyed very much by the club.

After the program the members had a short discussion as to how they should or could make Library Day memorable as one of the red letter days of the Wednesday Club. It was suggested that they have a book shower on that day for the benefit of the Library, and also that the Wednesday Club present the Library with a copy of the Youth's Companion. The president appointed Mrs. A. J. Key, Mrs. G. B. Waldron and Mrs. C. R. Walker a committee to arrange a program for Library Day in connection with the book shower.

The club is reminded that they are invited to make their club home with Mrs. J. N. Whittner for the month of February. The meeting next Wednesday will be held at the residence of Mrs. Whittner.

Hilburn Will Speak

Hon. S. J. Hilburn, candidate for Congress from the Second District will address the people of Sanford next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the corner of First street and Park avenue. Mr. Hilburn is a good speaker and will ably discuss the issues of the day. Come out and hear him.

Weather Report

Fair Friday and Saturday. Colder in northern portion Friday. Moderate west winds. Celery looking fine and none for sale. Indications point to good prices and large crowd in attendance at Horse Show.

Further light was thrown on the use of the margin system in the dressed beef business in the packers' trial today. Herman Pitthof, the National Packing Company's margin clerk, testified that daily margin summaries played an important part in the purchase of cattle by the packers. With these margin summaries, the government declares, the packers are enabled to keep close check on the work of the buyers. Comparison of cost and profit on each lot of cattle purchased is made.

The Interstate Commerce Commission today began hearing the testimony incident to its inquiry into the rates, rules and practices of the express companies of this country. It is predicted by government officials that this investigation will result in a general reduction in express rates. The commission's experts have completed a report on the subject. The report includes a comprehensive statement as to the earnings of the various express companies, which seems to indicate that the returns are larger than is warranted by the amount of capital invested. The express companies will be called on to show why their rates should not be reduced.

The United States Machinery Company was denounced as an illegal conspiracy operating in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, in evidence given before the senate interstate commerce committee by Chas. H. Jones of Boston at this morning's session.

Men are divided into three classes. There are men who love their liquor, men who sell liquor and politicians who are on both sides of the question. Mrs. R. F. Irvin of Washington, Ga., made that statement to the house judiciary committee today, urging that a law forbidding interstate traffic in alcoholic liquors be enacted.

In defiance of the order of Mayor Henry T. Hunt, that the "hoboes" of the United States cannot assemble in Cincinnati for a four days' convention without being arrested and sent to the workhouse, James Howe of St. Louis, the "millionaire hobo," who is promoting the assembly of vagrants, declared today that the convention would begin today as scheduled and that a test would be made of the right of citizens to a peaceful assemblage.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, "hero of Mafeking," and founder of the Boy Scouts arrived in New York today from England via Panama and Jamaica.

Developments in the proposed conditional inquiries into the alleged "money trust," the "shipping combine" and other interests, have surrounded the fate of these investigations with uncertainty. Common report has it that the "money trust" probe would be halted until after the presidential election.

Oviedo People In Sanford

C. M. Williams was in Sanford Monday.

Mrs. C. J. Marshall visited in Sanford last week.

Mrs. N. F. Lezette was shopping in Sanford, Monday.

Mr. J. H. Lee, Jr., of Sanford, dropped in on us last week. We know not what the attraction is but his visits are becoming more frequent of late.

O. P. Swope, of the Swope Land & Investment Co., was in Oviedo, Monday, with Michigan parties looking at lots and talking bank. If there is anything we do need it is a bank. With the rapid development of this section is one of necessities.

A number of our citizens motored over to Sanford Monday night to see the Lyman Twins. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lawton, who drove their handsome new Ford touring car.

Mrs. E. Curlett was in Sanford, Friday, to meet a party of friends from the north.

Miss Stella Fornell spent the latter part of last week in Sanford.

Miss Mabel Mikesell, who has been visiting her father, U. S. Mikesell, for some time left Thursday for a few days visit to her friends at Windamere.

Sanford Horse at Fair

The races at the fair this week are very good. Charlie Hand seems to have cleaned them up with S. B. Walker. Wednesday's races were as follows:

First Race—2:14 Class Pacing:
Maxie Direct, 1st, Carrie Woodnut, 2d, Lady Hunt, 3d, Elwood D., 4th, Best Time, 2:22 1-4.

Dave Lockhart, her owner, drove Maxie Direct like a veteran, as he is, having her well in hand and waiting for the bunch in all three heats: Carrie Woodnut put up a game, handy race and was well driven, but lacked speed to cope with the fast Maxie. Elwood D., driven by his owner, M. M. Smith, showed wonderful bursts of speed, but lacked work, while Lady Hunt, driven by that veteran colored reinsman, Henry Smith, who got all possible out of her, was eccentric.

Second Race—2:18 Class, Trotting:

S. B. Walker, 1st; Ephraim Toodles, 2d; Dr. Pepper, 3d.

Charlie Hand drove S. B. Walker like he had something up his sleeve, and while all heats were close, there were many who say the race who thought Charlie had considerable speed back. Mr. Igo, of Eustia, his owner, drove Ephraim Toodles, who showed a decided lack of work, but grew better as the heats were raced. Henry Smith drove Dr. Pepper, who looked very much like he had just finished putting in a crop of cabbage, but had plenty of speed whenever his driver succeeded in keeping him on his feet.

Thursday's races were as follows:
First Race, 2:40 Trotting Class.
S. B. Walker, first.
Dr. Pepper, second.
Lord Irvin, third.
Queen Second, fourth.
Time—2:28 3-4; 2:29 3-4; 2:30 1-2.
2:35 Class Pacing.
Joe Douglas, first.
Maud W., second.
Duchess Hal, third.
Little Hal, fourth.
Time, 3:30, 2:31, 2:35.

In the running race, one heat, there were four starters: 1-2 mile dash.
Elizabeth O., first.
Senator Hubble, second.
Carrie Elder, third.
Ban Star, fourth.

ARTIFICIAL RIPENING IS UNDER THE BAN

Crusade Against Vendors of "Green Oranges"

(Cincinnati 10) Times-Star, 11 21 11:11
A crusade against "green oranges" has been started in Cincinnati, and within a few days a number of warrants will be issued for peddlers who are said to be handling them. It developed Tuesday that a number of affidavits had been prepared by Assistant State Dairy and Food Commissioner C. A. Corne and Attorney John Deasy, and that they will be filed either Wednesday or Thursday. The prosecutions are to be made under the unwholesome provisions act. "Green oranges" have been the subject of much discussion since Dr. W. F. Wines, government food expert, took up the subject. It is claimed that the fruit is sold green and made to look ripe by an artificial ripening process which is harmful. Many peddlers have been under observation, and it is against these that the crusade is directed. The warrants will be issued by Magistrate Myers as soon as the affidavits are filed.

Heroism

Who bears the standard into thickest fight,
Through rain of shot and shell moves ever on,
Nor lets it waver in defiance of right,
Nor turns it back before the field is won.

He has the meed of praise
In shouts the people raise
When he returns with spoils of victory,
In age-outlasting words
The sculptured stone records
Deeds of a strong right arm and a dauntless bravery.

Who wears a glad and happy look the while,
His frame is racked by torturing disease,
Who greets his days of anguish with a smile,
His nights of pain as cheerfully as these.

He is the hero grand
To those who understand
How brave it is in silence and alone,
With not a comrade near,
With not a rallying cheer,
To fix all trust in powers that are not of one's own.

Playing the Game.

Life is a game with a glorious prize,
If we only play it right,
It is given and take and build and break,
And often it ends in a fight;
But he surely wins who honestly tries
(Regardless of wealth or fame);
He can never despair who plays it fair—
How are you playing the game?

Do you wilt and whine if you fall to win
In the manner you think your due?
Do you sneer at a man in case he can,
And deem, do better than you?
Do you take your rebuffs with a knowing grin?

Do you launch though you pull up lame?
Does your faith hold true when the whole world's blue?
How are you playing the game?

Get into the thick of it—wade in, boys!—
Whatever your cherished goal,
Brave up your will till your pulses thrill,
And you dare to near very soul!

Do something more than make a noise;
Let your purpose leap into flame
As you plunge with the cry, "I shall do or die!"

Then you will be playing the game!

NERVOUSNESS WRECKS WOMEN'S LIVES

Scientific Discovery That Is The Only Known Cure For The Disease

Nervousness in women is almost invariably the result of some female trouble. For this reason it is useless to take an ordinary nerve tonic or nerve remedy and expect to be cured. The only way for women to cure their nervousness and get well is by the use of Reno's New Health, the remedy which cures all weaknesses and female troubles, stopping the drain and giving perfect health and natural action to the whole system.

When there is a drain upon the nervous system, due to female weakness, you are irritable, miserable and feel as though you wanted to scream or fly. The slamming of a door almost throws you into hysterics, your nerves are shattered and people speak of you as a nervous wreck.

Reno's New Health will cure all drains upon the nervous system, surely and thoroughly relieving Scanty, Profuse, Painful, Irregular or Suppressed Menstruation, Sickly Periods, Constant Weariness and Weakness, Depression, Cramps, Dismissed, Violent Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Back and Groins, Leucorrhoea and all inflammation, Ulceration and Discharges of the Vagina and Uterus.

This wonderful remedy is offered to you upon an absolute guarantee of money back on first bottle if it fails to relieve. Every nervous woman owes it to herself to use this medicine faithfully and become well and strong. It tones, invigorates and strengthens the system and so regulates and helps circulation that every organ is brought to the performance of its natural functions.

Reno's New Health may be used with confidence by the most delicate, young or old. It is purely vegetable and contains no opiates or harmful ingredients. It is the prescription of an eminent Physician who spent his life in learning how to cure women's diseases, and this marvelous remedy is the result of his labors.

Do not let the day go by without starting on the road to health with this scientific remedy which is offered you on a guarantee of money back if it fails to cure.

MORE NEW BUILDINGS

Sanford Draws The People Who Want Good Location

ACTIVITY IN THE BUILDING LINE

This Summer Promises To Eclipse All Former Efforts in Building Line

Sanford is not on a boom but a good steady growth is visible along all lines and city lots are being sold every day to new people who have traveled over the state and decided at last upon Sanford as the ideal location for a home in Florida. The home people are also waking up to the need of more houses and the spring and summer promises great activity in the buildings and other lines. Beside the new building enumerated last week we note the following new houses built, being built and contemplated and the land that has changed hands:

R. B. Smith, of Jacksonville purchased a ten-acre vegetable farm here a year ago and has visited Sanford to arrange to have his property improved preparatory to cultivation.

Joseph Le Febvre, a resident of Iowa, visited Sanford during the week and purchased a tract of vegetable land which he will have improved at once and will return here next fall to make his home in Sanford.

W. H. Funk, who lives in Baltimore, Md., came to Sanford last week to look over the possibilities of the vegetable growing industry as handled here. Before leaving he carried in his pocket a bit of paper giving him title to twenty acres of land. He will prepare it for cultivation at once.

R. L. Whitney, of New York city, purchased eight lots on Sanford Heights last winter when here and has now returned to Sanford for the purpose of erecting a winter home thereon and becoming a permanent resident of Sanford.

The new Catholic school building is rapidly nearing completion.

R. F. Kirby, has sold his two-story residence on Laurel street and has begun the erection of another two-story residence on Laurel and Eleventh streets.

Miss Furen, one of the teachers in the schools there, is having a nice bungalow erected on Laurel street near First.

W. L. Geiger is having a magnificent residence erected on Palmetto street near Eighth. It is a two stories and modern design.

William Tuggles, who is erecting a three-story apartment house on First street and French avenue, has the building well under way and hopes to have it ready for occupancy in a short time.

The residence of John Jenkins on French avenue and Fourth street, is now nearing completion.

Thomas K. Bates, is having a bungalow erected on his vegetable farm at Wejewood.

Some More Attractions

The Athletic games committee, in view of the fact that the Horse Show and Field Association intend to include the evening in their promised entertainment, have concluded to make the following additions to their program. Walking race one mile, sack race 50 yards, Siamese race 50 yards, candle race 50 yards, fat men's race 50 yards, potato race for ladies 25 yards, climbing greased pole, catching greased hog. See the committee as soon as possible and place your entries. Some Athletics with records have already entered for the field day event.

The Sanford Exhibit

Commenting on the various exhibits at the Fair the Orlando Reporter-Star says of Sanford:

Sanford has unquestionably done herself proud. She has put on display every sort of earth grown article known to the northern part of the country, from celery to radishes, and right in the center of the lengthy booth, set up a hunter's tent, with the information posted above it that around the Celery City can be found all kinds of hunting, from the alligators to turtle doves.

Along the wall in the rear of the exhibits are to be seen such signs as these: "Sanford has 650 successful vegetable growers." "Water, the key to Sanford's treasure chest—2,800 flowing wells." "Sanford wanting good roads voted $1,000,000 roads bonds."

Resting in a corner was a bundle of tall ornamental grass. Asked about this, whether or not it was forage, Mr. C. H. Leffler, in charge of the exhibit, explained that it is an ornamental plant, of the name shrubby, with a tender, delicate root, that the old timers used to use for ginger.

An item of interest in the Sanford exhibit was a Cavendish banana plant, bearing the lady finger fruit, comparatively rare in this section. Two barrels reposed in a conspicuous place in the booth, representing the product of the Sanford barrel factory.

Everybody is at the fair this week.

The Sanford Horse Show and Field Day comes next.

The Herald hands it to Orlando. They have a busy little city down there this week.

If that air man cannot fly at Orlando he might be induced to come to our Horse Show and fly over Lake Monroe.

COMMISSIONER MCLIN

In the death of B. E. McLin, the Commissioner of Agriculture at Orlando last Wednesday the state lost a most excellent officer. The editor of The Herald knew and loved Commissioner McLin as a state official and as a friend and this tribute is paid one who deserved all the words of praise that can be bestowed upon his memory.

WHO FOR PRESIDENT?

There are whole forests of Democratic presidential timber, the like of which the party has not known in years.

Scan the list:
Judson Harmon, twice elected governor of one of the largest and strongest Republican States in the Union.

Woodrow Wilson, who has swung New Jersey back into the Democratic fold after wandering about, and, like the prodigal son, feeding on husks for many years.

Joe Folk, who has won national fame because of the grandeur of his personality, and because of the indomitable courage of his convictions.

Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, one of the most amiable and delightful of men, and one of the most solid and brilliantly intellectual. Last but not least, is Underwood, who has gained a national reputation by the colossal powers of his intellect, measured in debate with the brightest intellects now in public life.

Any of these men will lend dignity and splendor to the presidential office.

Let's be boosters, not knockers.

Let's be in a position to shout for the nominee and give him such a ringing, united and magnificent support that defeat will be impossible.—Ocala Banner.

THE ORANGE COUNTY FAIR

It is doubtful if there is another county in Florida which could provide such a variety of excellent products for exhibition at a county fair as Orange, unless it be Hillsborough, which has, however the advantage of including a large city, with great manufacturing industries and an extensive seacoast. But Orange, in those things which are distinctively Floridian, is unusually well provided with the "makings" of a most elaborate and attractive display.

The Orange County Fair is, naturally, a success, because it has such a productive section to draw upon and such enterprising men to conduct it. Orange is a fine county in every respect. It is not only fertile and fascinating, but it is a clean, healthy and law-abiding county. Its two principal cities, Orlando and Sanford are among the most enlightened and progressive in the South. They are the abodes of culture, refinements and peace. Their people will not countenance wrong-doing and the attitude the maintain toward vice and crime has resulted in both of them showing a most creditable record.

Furthermore, Orange County is the center of much of the development now in progress in this State. Its fertile lands are finding ready purchasers among discerning newcomers. The present fair ought to serve as a "puller" for much additional desirable immigration. The Tribune knows of no section of country in the entire South more admirably adapted for homes.

Here's our best wishes for the thorough success of the Orange County Fair. May it make Orange greater and more prosperous.—Tampa Tribune.

THEY STAND BY THE HERALD

To advertise the Horse Show and arrange a suitable souvenir of the event the ladies compiled a fine program filled with advertising. They brought it to The Herald office to print, but on account of the rush of book and job work it was impossible to get it printed here in time for the proper distribution of the books and the book was sent to DeLand. Several of the merchants hearing of this made a good sized kick and stated that if the work was carried out of town they would not take space. Upon calling up The Herald the true status of affairs was explained to them and they were satisfied.

While regretting that any misunderstanding occurred and that the ladies were placed in, an embarrassing position the principle of the Sanford merchants was plainly shown. They believe in patronizing their home institution all the time, and when it comes to printing The Herald always comes in for first choice.

While deprecating the circumstances The Herald cannot pass up the incident without thanking the business men of Sanford for their good wishes and support. This little incident fully demonstrated your interest in your paper and printing office, and in order that no more work need to leave the city in the future The Herald management is today telegraphing for enough equipment to take care of all the work for the vicinity, no matter how large or when it needs to be done.

The Herald has always been your paper and your printing office and we intend to warrant your support in the future.

HAD GREAT LUCK

New York Sportsmen Make Good Catch of Trout

Messrs. Neuhall and Starkey of Far Rockaway, New York, have been in the city for several weeks enjoying themselves like two school boys during a short vacation. Among other diversions they spent a week at Capt. Pagenhart's house-boat, Seminole, which is now located about 100 miles up the river.

The hunting and fishing were especially good and the gentlemen dined on venison, sweet potatoes and trout every day. Both of them are enthusiastic anglers and while they have cast their lines in the streams of almost every state in the union they have to hand it to Sanford in the fishing line.

The first morning out while traveling with rod and reel they landed 60 pounds of trout in one hour and forty minutes. They could have caught more but they are not game hogs and only wanted a few at a time. They expect to return to Sanford before they leave the state in the spring and have one more try at the big fish on the upper St. Johns.

THE UTILIZATION OF WASTE

products to the very fullest extent is, of course, the aim of every industrialist, and the Wood Waste Distilleries Co., Wheeling, West Virginia, U. S. A., certainly makes this possible in the case of the waste material of wood working establishments. By means of their distilling apparatus, ranging from a capacity of 5 to 500 gals., the industrial alcohol and turpentine contained in sawdust are effectively extracted, while the resultant fiber is ready for paper manufacturers. This still will actually pay for itself over and over again every month, and Colonial and foreign fruit canning companies, chemical works, saw mills, varnish makers, oil refineries, sugar refineries, etc., cannot fail to find it a profitable acquisition.—R. G. Dun's International Review

FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE NOTES

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO EVERY FRUIT GROWER AND FARMER IN THIS STATE.

LETTERS FROM MANAGERS

Representatives of Florida Citrus Exchange in Northern Cities Make Optimistic Reports.

For the first time in many years, Florida citrus fruit prices were stronger directly following a holiday than they were before a holiday.

Past experience has led Florida shippers into a dread of the few days following Thanksgiving, and a still greater dread for the few weeks following the Christmas holidays.

To the surprise of every one not posted, the great markets in the United States showed a much stronger tone on the following day after Thanksgiving than it had for the three days preceding Thanksgiving, and today—two days after Thanksgiving—the wires are coming from every direction duplicating orders at price of last sale; but the Exchange is not duplicating orders on any such basis.

In view of the foregoing condition—which is true—and which is only what the Exchange anticipated—the following extract from a letter written November 27 from one of our district managers is interesting:

"Chase & Co's brokers stated to him that they had instructions from Chase & Co. to notify the trade that there was plenty of oranges, not to get in a hurry to buy, but wait for better prices."

They say that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery; but, when imitation gets to the point of unfair competition in trade, the courts have something to say.

The following extract from a letter from our Pittsburg manager is interesting:

"Among the receipts of our competitors upon this market the past week, we have noticed in particular three cars, viz. one from the Umatilla Fruit company, one from Milwaukee-Florida Fruit company and one marked: 'Independent Shippers.' The boxes in each of these cars were marked on the sides with a sign or trademark, which, although not the same as the one used by the Exchange, was evidently gotten up to resemble that as closely as possible without infringing it. This is doubtless a method being used by the shippers to obtain some of the advantages resulting from our improved packs and advertising campaign and the acknowledgement of these advantages is certainly a great compliment to the Exchange."

It is a compliment all right, but the United States courts have decided time and again that this sort of compliment in addition to this comes seriously under the head of certain laws to prevent 'unfair competition in trade,' and the Exchange has instructed its Northern attorneys to secure evidence of all these imitative labels and proceed legally against the shippers so offending.

The Florida Citrus Exchange is quoting oranges today twenty-five cents a box higher than they were a week ago, all grades, and yet the outside shippers don't seem to have found out that the market is advancing instead of getting lower. The following quotation from one of our Southern managers is interesting:

"Only one car of oranges delivered here this week, which came from Carlton of Arcadia. .... have a car en route from A. J. Smith of Wauchula, and they showed me his invoice. The oranges were billed at $1.45, grapefruit Brights $2.20, Russets $2.00 f. o. b. On the bottom of his invoice he says: 'I am putting in some boxes 25¢ oranges, for which I will make no charge.'"

We knew that outside interests were naming some pretty low prices from Florida, one of them having been quoting freely on the basis of $1.05 f. o. b. cars; but this is the first instance that we have run across where outside interests in addition to selling oranges at fifty cents a box below the market, put chromos in each car as a gift enterprise to help make the sales stick.

The following extracts from two letters received from one of our district managers in one of the most important Eastern auction points are interesting:

This from a letter written on November 23: "In view of the auction prices today, it does not look so good, but there was one significant fact about the auction sale—not a single jobber in the city bought a box, it going entirely to the retail trade. This fact clearly shows that we are above what similar goods can be bought for in the open market here."

Note that this manager, with an experience of many years in the fruit trade, feared that the market would be weaker the following day, but he wrote on the following, to-wit: November 24, as follows: "The market today developed a most unusual and most unexpected firmness. The trade went over prepared to pay around $2.75. Had a feeling that Russets might sell around $2.50, Golden $2.75 and Brights a little more, unless they were unusually well colored. Everyone seemed to be struck dumb by the demand that developed. I do not dare think these prices can continue Monday."

The fact of the matter was that the prices ruling on the 24th were from fifty to seventy-five cents a box higher than our manager had anticipated; and the Monday market that he was so afraid of was considerably stronger than the Friday market that he mentioned.

The Exchange is booking its orders today—quotations good for date only—at from $1.90 to $2.40 f. o. b. for oranges. And f. o. b. means f. o. b. packing house. Keep this in mind, and then see how close the outsiders mentioned in the following quotation from one of our agents in one of the Southern points are keeping posted on the markets and trying to keep in line with Exchange prices. And the sad part of it is that these very outsiders will be shouting privately and publicly that "the Exchange has 'busted' the market on us!"

"Regret exceedingly to say that I lost sale of 2,500 boxes of oranges, as same were bought from Roberts and Sligh at $1.85, and $1.90, delivered Mobile, shipment so many boxes until the 15th of next month."

In other words, these 2,500 boxes of oranges for Mobile were sold delivered at Mobile for less money than the Exchange is quoting on plain, young oranges f. o. b. cars packing house, and is unable to fill its orders at that price. And this is the way the Florida Citrus Exchange is ruining the citrus industry in the state of Florida!

Here is another quotation from one of our Southern markets, the agent deploring the fact that although his customer was willing to pay fifty cents a box more than he was paying other people, that our agent was obliged to lose the orders for the following reason:

"For your information, beg to advise, I just saw a telegram confirming a car of oranges at $1.50, and 100 boxes Fancy Brights grapefruit $3.00. This sale was made by the Umatilla Fruit company, Umatilla, Fla."

We make no charge for this advertisement, as if the Umatilla Fruit company can afford to sell its oranges and grapefruit at this price and make a profit on them, we feel that it is only right that the general buying public should know where to go and get fruit that was really cheap.

Here are some sales in the Baltimore auction that are interesting:

"Arrived by steam, total grapefruit averaged $2.11 a box. Color greenish. Oranges averaged $1.92. Color good, quality good. All sold for Arnold Fruit company."

Wonder how the grower of these oranges feels with grapefruit averaging $2.11 at Baltimore, when his neighbor in the Exchange is getting for his grapefruit from $3.50 to $4.00 a box f. o. b. packing house

Last week, we took occasion to remark that a certain prominent Florida dealer outside the Exchange had lost since last year some of the most desirable accounts in Florida, and we stated that the reasons were unknown to us. We also stated that we had seen fruit of some of these brands sell in New York for from fifty cents to a dollar less than they were worth, and from fifty cents to a dollar less than the Exchange could have sold them for per box. Growers may wonder why the Exchange feels that it can get more money for fruit of a given grade at an auction point than any outside interest can get for fruit of the same grade at the same auction and on the same sale.

The answer to this is that the Florida Citrus Exchange when it was first established went into the business with the firm determination to give everybody with whom it dealt, either as a shipper or as a purchaser, an absolutely "square deal." It took the receivers in the big auction markets a year to find out that in the first place the Exchange meant exactly what it said when it promised them that all Exchange samples at auction should be perfectly free, fair samples of the fruit to be sold, and that none of the samples of fruit handled by the Exchange would be "deaconed" or "jerryed" or "fixed." They finally were convinced, however, that the Exchange continued doing business in the auctions on that basis, the more confidence the buying trade had than when it bought Exchange fruit, it bought fruit true to sample, and they felt that they could afford to pay more money for fruit when they were absolutely sure that rest of the car was equal to the sample. They, therefore, have paid, are paying, and will pay, a considerably higher price per box for fruit bearing the Exchange brand, when handled through the Exchange agent, than they will pay for fruit handled by other receivers of similar grade.

Few people have any idea how much sample fixing is done on the auctions. The importance of this, and the results of it, are shown in the following extract from a letter written November 24 from the district manager of one of our biggest auctions: "For your further information—competitors selling through ..... have at last caused so much complaint among the buyers that ..... have apparently taken the matter in hand as regards the 'fixing' or samples, and have announced that hereafter, positively no samples will be handled except by their own man, and that everything will be displayed just as it arrives without any trimming." ..... have caused some of the other receivers to get sore, because the others thought that they were all getting the worst of ..... 's fixing. At Tuesday's sale, the buyers sort of took things in their own hands and caused the grapefruit market to break considerably, by practically laying down ..... 's offerings; for instance, "Royal Poinciana" 54 Brights, which sold on Monday at $4.87, sold Tuesday at $3.62, and 46 Brights, which sold Monday at $4.50, sold Tuesday at $3.12." Thus you will readily see that in the fruit business, as in every other business, if "Honesty is the best policy," the Exchange proposes to take advantage of it.

The following quotation from the district manager in one of our Southern markets simply bears out the general information given before, as to what outsiders are doing, or trying to do.

"..... has bought one car for prompt shipment from Schrader, $1.95 to $2.00 delivered. .... has not bought any more fruit either for prompt or later shipment. He showed me a quotation just received from Doctor Phillips, Orlando—quoting his oranges at $1.40 f. o. b. and grapefruit and tangerines at $3.25 f. o. b."

Now, doctor, you can just as easily get fifty cents a box more for these oranges, and fifty cents a box more for the grapefruit, and seventy-five cents a box more for the tangerines as you can get the quotations you are making.

The Exchange is pursuing in these weekly letters the policy that it has pursued for two years; that is, to continue to endeavor, while it has the strength, to hold the umbrella (continued on last page)

HELPFUL HINTS ON HAIR HEALTH.

Scale and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on any body else's hat. Many a hat-band is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that we think that Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store—The Rexall Store.

Why the "INSURANCE?" Why is the "Insurance" Gasoline Stove so called? Webster defines Insurance "as the act of insuring or assuring against loss or damage." Therefore, the "Insurance" insures that when a burner valve is accidentally opened, it shall automatically close—that when a draft blows out a burner flame, the supply of gasoline shall automatically be shut-off—it insures against the possibility of a careless servant filling the reservoir while the stove is lighted—it insures that the gasoline shall be filtered—it insures best material, careful workmanship and thorough inspection. The "Insurance" is assurance doubly sure. The "Insurance" is very interesting. Call and see it.

Little Pony Was Satisfied After Landing in Areaway.

When Harness Became Disarranged Animal Started on Wild Rampage Through Madison Square—Persons of Leisure Disturbed.

New York.—Eight out of a dozen, Jim, one of the liveliest little ponies that ever came out of Texas, woke Madison Square the other day and for five minutes made the landscape rattle.

Jim arrived here a few days ago as green as grass and with the brand on his flank hardly healed. He was attached to a laundry wagon, but not fond of it. It was his province to haul soiled collars and cuffs from the environs of the square to the Plymouth establishment, 541 West Forty-third street. Something went wrong with the harness. In fact, any kind of gear would have impinged on the nerves of fretful James. He also longed for the plains and for a bite of real grass, and for a life in the open.

A chafing trace was the excuse. Like a thunderbolt this delegate from the Lone Star state leaped out of Twenty-sixth street, and tore right into the park. He proceeded to do things to the scenery. The wheels of the wagon tore up the sidewalk in chunks. Two little boys were driving, or, at least, one thought he was. One jumped when Jim got the bit in his teeth. The other went up into the air and described a curve and came plump into the arms of a fat gentleman, who caught him and said "Hub, just like that, spell it forward or backward. Anyway, he said it and went and sat down with his hand slightly below his heart and grunted.

Jim did not care at all. Up went his heels and parts of the landscape gardening ascended in all directions. The shabby persons of leisure who were sleeping on the benches, rolled off or got up and ran. The nursemaids grabbed armfuls of babies and took to their heels. There was a line of perambulators issuing out of one side of the park and a string of ragged ambulators pouring out of the other. High noon it was and the typewriter young women were coming out for luncheon. The clerks were taking the air. What a flurry of skirts and a clacking of heels, and all because a Texas pony wanted to frisk a bit.

Steady! Whoa there, Jim! That was the sixth park bench that went over. Don't you know you just missed the fountain? Then way out to the east James hit the asphalt trail. He struck it with such violence that his teeth cracked like castanets. A policeman tried to catch Jim's bridle. The Texan wonder sniffed, tossed his head and went straight across Madison avenue and down into an areaway.

Jim tried to take the green wagon with him, but there were obstacles. There was an Indian balustrade there, made of turned supports of brown stone, all standing solemnly like pins on a bowling alley. Bang! Every one of them and the rail on top of them, went down into the areaway and clattered at the heels of fretful James. The pony looked up in despair. There was no more balustrade to burst. Just nothing more doing at all, for when he butted the side of the house and kicked it a little to test its strength the building stood stock still. Jim sat down and looked up in a way which said, "Pretty good while it lasted, eh?"

The wagon was fished out and James was helped out, and in about five minutes after that everything was doing again in Madison Square.

FACTS REVEALED BY STEEL TRUST INVESTIGATION.

That the Public Has Been Robbed of Hundreds of Millions of Dollars is One Point Made Very Clear.

There are excellent reasons why observing citizens have not regarded the Stanley street trust investigation with confidence. Belief even has obtained in well-informed quarters that Congressman Stanley is "four-flushing." No opportunity was overlooked to call before the committee men whose prominence in politics or business was certain to insure wide publicity. Whether the facts to which they testified were equally important seemed to be a secondary consideration. At the same time, Congressman Stanley carefully has refrained from interrogating witnesses who might have given definite and incriminating information in regard to habitual use of the huge capital of the trust to manipulate the stock market and to plunder honest investors. Inadvertently, however, sufficient facts have been elicited to convict the steel trust of wanton violation of the law, as well as ethics of decent business.

It has been shown that the trust was overcapitalized by more than $700,000,000, which practically represents profit to insiders by selling stock which had no tangible value behind it.

It has been shown that J. P. Morgan & Co. received $130,000,000 for their part in this gigantic stock-promoting scheme, and that another scheme to "get $50,000,000 for nothing" was attempted and failed.

The testimony showed that the panic of 1907 was accelerated and used as a lever to obtain control of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, thus giving the trust a monopoly of high-grade ore.

That President Roosevelt was prevailed on to assist in this reprehensible transaction was admitted by the former president himself.

These startling facts crept into the record in spite of obvious efforts to steer the investigation away from the real crux of the evil. They are sufficient to justify the government in taking vigorous steps to put a stop to swindling operations by which greedy promoters have stripped hundreds of millions from the investing public.

Whether the committee will make a serious effort to get to the bottom of these transactions when it reconvenes this month remains to be seen. If it fails to do so, a commission should be appointed which has a more adequate conception of its duty.

THE UNEXPECTED GUEST.

It is not always possible even in a city to get things in a hurry, and the housekeeper who provides for the unforeseen need has no feverish moments when the unexpected guest arrives. She will have in the store room or closet a reserve for just such occasions, and when any is used it is supplied to fill the shelves for the next occasion. Potted meats and fish, canned soups and choice glasses of jelly and preserves, pickles and olives, nuts, fruit cake and cookies are some of the useful supplies. A few cans of vegetables, like corn, tomatoes and string beans may be quickly turned into a salad or a hot dish with white sauce.

Keep a list of the contents of the closet on the inside of the door, and beside it a list of dishes, with the number of the page where found in the recipe book. One cannot always rely on the memory unless the recipe is very familiar.

Then, when in a hurry to prepare a meal a glance will show you your opportunities.

A jar of malted milk will prove a treasure, as it will furnish a cup of hot, refreshing milk after a cold ride or before retiring. With the addition of a few fresh crackers it takes the place of an oyster stew. Very good soups are made by using the tablets of different flavors, and with cheese always on hand and a cup of coffee quickly made, a "hurry-up" meal is easily prepared.

We wish our guests to feel that they are welcome, and there is no better way to prove it than by being a fresh, unruffled hostess. We have all no doubt been entertained where the first course was roasted hostess.

A daintily served, appetizing meal, quickly prepared should be an accomplishment of every woman. When things are wrong, are spilled or spoiled, as will happen even in a trained housekeeper's kitchen, be resourceful; know how to adjust yourself to circumstances. Keep cool, and everybody will be happier and pronounce you a charming hostess.

The Desert.
Have you felt the charm of the desert,
The lure of the cactus land,
When cloud ships white and fleecy
Cast shadows o'er the sand?
Have you seen the smile of the desert
At the close of a restful day?
Each breeze goes by like a woman's sigh,
And here you would live away.
Have you felt the fangs of the desert,
The sting of its poisoned days,
When the cruel sun is gleaming
Or spear-lined, dusty ways?
Have you felt the breath of the desert
When the lips of the wanderer swell,
When the breezes leap o'er the gulches
From the open dors of hell.
Have you felt the breath of the desert
In the noontime's shimmering veil,
When the sky is molten copper
And the sands have hid the trail?
Have you felt the claws of the desert
When the old canteen is dry,
And you quit the fight and pray for night
That in darkness you may die?

FLORIDAT CITRUS EXCHANGE NOTES

over its competitors, and also to inform its uninformed competitors of the values as they really are for citrus fruit. If its competitors, knowing actual values, haven't the business acumen, or the nerve to demand and receive the price their goods are worth, then the Exchange is helpless to aid them, as while it can furnish for them market conditions, and can furnish for them actual values, it is powerless to furnish either the desire or the nerve to ask what they are entitled to.

To those having oranges still remaining on the trees, we would say that good oranges, smooth and well colored and sweet, should bring you, if sold for delivery within the next fifteen days, $1.50 a box on the trees; grapefruit $2.50 to $3.00 a box on the trees; and as we are finding buyers now sending agents all through the state to pick up bargains from the growers who are not posted, we give this information "free gratis, for nothing," so that, while you are not in a position to benefit by the high prices the Exchange is getting for its fruit, you can be in a position to make the buyers pay you for your fruit what it is worth, and if they will pay you what it is actually worth, they will not be in a position to beat down the markets all over the country, using your fruit as a club with which to sandbag your neighbor.

Funny how you will see some people watch one end of their business and pay no attention to the other; isn't it?

The Florida Citrus Exchange has made no secret of its prices, and has made no secret of what good oranges, properly packed, should bring since the opening of the season. And yet there seems to be only one dealer in the state progressive enough to take advantage of this information and work on it.

To A. B. Williford of Arcadia belongs the credit of trying to get us near the Exchange line of prices as he could. When the Exchange announced at the beginning of the season that it was going to open Parson Brown oranges at $2.25 f. o. b., and grapefruit at $3.50 f. o. b., Mr. Williford decided to play this tip, and quoted on his grapefruit $3.50 f. o. b., the same price that the Exchange quoted. He didn't have quite sand enough to quote his oranges at $2.25, but then he knew that he had no Parson Browns, and he figured probably that the early ripening oranges that he would be able to buy and would ship were worth 50 cents a box less than Parson Browns f. o. b. He therefore quoted pretty generally: "Early sweet oranges $1.75 f. o. b. Arcadia."

Notwithstanding that the other packers were in possession of just as full information through the public press of Exchange quotations as Mr. Williford was, they opened up pretty generally with oranges at $1.40 f. o. b. asked, with a perfect willingness to shade these prices on arrival if rejected.

Result: Mr. Williford has cleaned up all his grapefruit at $3.50 f. o. b., and has cleaned up all his oranges at practically $1.75 f. o. b., while his neighbors and competitors have sold at from $1.25 to $1.40 f. o. b. for oranges just as good as Mr. Williford's, and have not been able to make their sales stick as well as Mr. Williford's did. It therefore looks to an outside observer as though Mr. Williford's friends and neighbors have thrown away in the neighborhood 40 cents a box without getting one box additional business or getting their deliveries to stick any better than as though they had asked the $1.75 f. o. b. What is the answer?

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

The shipping of oranges from Clermont has been going on at a lively rate for the past week.

Plant City has moved 16000 quarts of strawberries last week and the growers pocketed $4,800.

Arcadia has a factory which has a daily output of 7,000 jars of twelve ounces each of grapefruit marmalade.

Ten new members have been added to the membership list of the Commercial Club in St. Petersburg, making a total of 153 members.

L. B. Brantley, one of the leading truckers in Clermont, states that his peas have been selling in the New York markets for $10 per crate.

A new hotel is said to be badly needed in Fernandina. The News-Record is urging some one to make an effort to build one, home capital being preferred.

The state is overrun with peddlers; one-legged, one-shirted beggars; advertising fakirs and soliciting agents. It is that way each winter. If municipalities cannot, or will not, put a stop to these hordes of sick gentry it is high time the state legislated against them in no gentle way.

They would serve the common-wealth better by building highways.

A man who had purchased a piece of colonization land in South Florida wrote "back home" that he would take a yellow dog for his purchase and kill the dog in disgust. On careful investigation by a commercial secretary it was learned that he had paid some $75 on his contract, which called for $400 for 10 acres, and that he had priced it to a neighbor at $1,000 and "would not take a cent less."

Yellow dogs at $1,000 each are a luxury.

"Steve" Brown, a lineman in the employ of the Tampa Electric company, was instantly killed, and Robert S. Thompson, his companion, was seriously, if not fatally injured this morning at the Tampa Bay athletic grounds when a transformer pole on which they were both working snapped off at the base and fell to the ground, planting them beneath its weight and that of the heavy transformer it carried.

Resolutions
To the Master, Wardens and Brethren of Sanford Lodge No. 62, F. & A. M., of Sanford, Fla.;

It is with inexpressible feelings of deepest sorrow that we record the death of our beloved brother, J. C. Ensminger, which occurred at his home Tuesday morning, Jan. 17, 1912, in Sanford, Fla.;

"Solomon strikes the funeral chime,
Notes of our departing time,
His remains were laid to rest with Masonic honors Wednesday, Jan. 18, 1912.

"When the sun in all his state
Illumined the eastern skies,
He passed through glory's morning gate,
And walked in Paradise.

Our honored and beloved brother will no longer greet us here. Though his place be vacant, his memory will abide in our hearts. Never again will we hear his voice of love and wisdom in our councils, listen intently as we may, never again will we see the light of brotherly love beaming in his kindly eye or feel the warm or kindly pressure of his hand.

King Solomon said that if a man had friends he must himself be friendly. How fully the truth of this was demonstrated by our brother. He was always a friendly man, charitable and kind, and withal a firm sense of right, with the courage of firm conviction, an upright man and Mason.

Whereas we so keenly feel our loss in separation from our brother, be it resolved that as an expression of our sorrow and longing for his presence our lodge room be draped for thirty days, and

Be it resolved further, that we extend to his family, the bereaved ones, our heartfelt sympathy and love in this hour of sorrow, and bereavement; and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of our late brother and that they be printed in the Sanford Herald and a copy be spread on the minutes of our lodge.

EARLY HISTORY OF ORANGE COUNTY

Interesting Paper of Mrs. J. N. Whitner Read at Meeting of Pioneers at the Orange County Fair

The Following Bit of History of Orange County was Compiled by Mrs. J. N. Whitner of this City and Read at the Meeting of the Pioneers Association at the Orange County Fair

Whatever of pride and enjoyment we citizens of Orange county may feel in her present day achievements, our sentiment can not be praise worthy till we shall have paused and paid our tributes of respect and honor to those of a generation ago, who, by their Christian faith and practice, their sterling characteristics and ability, overcame primitive conditions and made possible, within a life time the civilization we now enjoy.

There is a duty—a privilege—sacred and binding, which devolves upon the few of us who are left, who have personal recollections of the real pioneers, that can only be performed by ourselves. The day is growing late when if we would be their worthy successors we must arouse and prepare for the use of those who shall write our county's history, reminds cent characteristic sketches of the men and women who laid so well the foundations upon which we have built, of their traditions and ideals their manners, social life and religious habits, with incidents anecdotes and facts relative to them.

Therefore, to postpone no longer, let our association today appoint two, interested, responsible persons in each voting precinct, whose duty it shall be to gather by careful research, items of interest connected with its local history. Let these be responsible for the whole precinct. Also, appoint two others in each community within its bounds, to assist in that connected with their own neighborhoods. Each searching for the causes of its beginning, the starting of business, churches, schools and the personnel of its settlers.

If possible let this work be done before the next annual meeting of the association, when carefully type-written statements of the result may be brought in for filing, till a paper time when all shall be compiled into a volume of county history. In no other way can be secured data that will be so minute and accurate, especially that connected with comparatively recent times, and which we perhaps, hardly yet regard, but these facts may some day become ancient history.

When the earliest of our county's shall be evolved from the shadows of the past, and recalled by patient efforts, we shall find it is a part of that story of unsurpassed tragedy and romance, the story of the Seminole wars of nearly a century ago.

For this season Orange county contains many places of interest, of which now, we have only a vague knowledge but when the work is completed of compiling the Seminole war records from the archives at Washington, for which Mr. Wm. Bauskett of Florida was commissioned by our late Legislature, we hope to obtain information which shall be reliable.

Prominent among these places are the military graveyards of two wars, familiar to many persons and for their care appropriations might be obtained from the United States Government.

Some of the localities are well known, where historic and otherwise prominent events have occurred, where earliest settlements were made (many of these are sacred to us now) and where the dead were laid to rest. Only after the utmost care should data be accepted as authentic, but when satisfactorily established the places should be marked even if at present, in very simple manner, and the sentiment which time attaches to such will suggest appropriate and enduring memorials in tablets and stone.

A peculiar pathos lingers around everything connected with the Indians and all over our county are traces of their neighborhood life, and their friends and along the St. Johns River, which they called Welaka are many burial mounds. These mounds, especially, should be preserved from the hands of vandals.

In 1750 the Creek Indians in Alabama separated and many of them emigrated to Florida under a chief name Secoffee and settled in the Western part of the peninsula, which they called Alachua.

These united with the native tribes of the peninsula and together they absorbed many run-away negro slaves from Georgia. Their descendants became the fierce Seminoles and by the end of the century had over-run the peninsula.

This remnant of the once free, proud, red men, crowded back, and driven before the march of civilization, proved a formidable foe to any who dared encroach upon the sunny strip lying between the ocean and the gulf the last left to them of all the continent which by Divine right of inheritance and possession had belonged to their people.

The record of the Seminole War of 1836 reported the establishment of Camp Monroe on the South shore of the lake which bears that name, thus opening the route by which the United States army advanced into the interior of the eastern half of the peninsula for the suppression of the Seminole Indians. The post was occupied by two companies of artillery, four companies of dragoons and some Creek Indians.

Can one imagine the indignant horror of the Indians at the sight of these forerunners of the army of their pursuers, entering the gateway of their retreat? And they would claim even this!

Leaders arose, stimulated perhaps, to a greater degree of daring, by slight trace of the blood of white men in the veins of some of them. These poor savages in their extremity arose to the white man's conception of the loftiest heights of valor for the defence of their wigwams and their hunting grounds.

Under the counsel of Ocoola, and the leadership of King Phillip and Coconochee, son and grandson of the old chief Secoffee, four hundred braves made a bold and desperate attack upon Camp Monroe on the 6th of Feb 1837 a few weeks after its establishment, and but for the greater force of artillery over simple fire arms, the story of the massacre would have been frightful to relate.

With a desperate courage the Indians fought fiercely for three hours. Captain Charles Mellen was killed. Fourteen others were wounded. The Indians loss was twenty-five. It was said afterwards that the Indians became terrified at the roar of the cannon, with twigs and limbs falling from the trees, and thinking that a thunder storm was raging, sent by the Great Spirit to aid the white men, the poor creatures gave up the attack and fled in terror to the woods.

The military records state that after this attack the name of Camp Monroe was changed to Fort Mellon and became the most important and healthful inland state in Florida; as a base for supplies and distribution for the many forts and military camps which were scattered all over Mosquito county, the territory of which extended from St. Johns County on the North southward to Monroe which then extended across the peninsula on the west from Alachua to the Atlantic.

A few of the names of these forts and camps are still perpetuated in our county as Fort Reed, Maitland, Gatlin and Christmas, all having been the scenes of military life.

At Fort Gatlin, now almost within the suburbs of our beautiful county site, Orlando, stands the bleached trunk and bare wide-spread branches of an immense dead Live-Oak. It is said that under this oak the red men and the white met to hold a council. At this late day we can easily believe that the Indians part in that council was but to listen to the arbitrary sentence which would expell them forever to the cold, bleak plains of the West, away from the fairland that they loved, from its shady hammocks of moss-draped cypress and magnolias, its winding rivers overhung with palms and willows and oaks, red hibiscus and white lilies, its grassy prairies stretching off into rolling forests of lofty pines, dotted here and there with clear blue lakes and the wide stretch of the waters in her inland sea, the happiest hunting ground that Indians ever dwelt upon, where a variety of game roamed in abundance and the rigors of cold were scarcely felt. White men had need of this peerless land, and a council was called to inform the red men of the plans for their departure on the ships to be in waiting for them at Tampa, and our fancy suggests that what the children of the forest heard that day, broke the heart of the tree. The Indians are gone. Some went to the West, a few were permitted to remain beyond a line which the white men drew and their descendants still lodge in the swamps of the Everglades.

But the Council Oak stands, her white arms held aloft, a silent protest against the injustice of war, a ghostly presence lamenting her children, a memorial of them, which time, nor storm has expellled in all the years since then. A very beautiful picture has been painted of the Council Oak by a talented member of this association Mr. Alden of Orlando. We may find no proofs but tradition of the story of the oak and the council, but the legend is sweet and we will pass it on.

Before leaving the subjects which will be of interest to our historians, we would particularly emphasize the type of the people whom we have called Orange county's pioneers, as distinct from the adventurous spirits who usually inhabit new countries.

Orange County was populated at two distinct periods, her earliest settlements were a consequence of the Seminole Wars, and the second infusion resulted from the unsettled condition of society incident to the Civil war. A large proportion of the soldiers in the Seminole wars were volunteers. When the time came in 1857 that the regular army was withdrawn, some of the volunteer soldiers remained and many of the camps proved the nucleus of a neighborhood, and the fact must be recognized that in the main these made substantial citizens.

From that period till after the civil war few persons came to the county and few moved away. Some small orange groves were planted and the people produced from the soil mainly what they consumed for food. Large herds of cattle grazed upon the prairies and many persons (in proportion to the standards of the time) grew wealthy.

1868 ushered in the first glow of a new era. In the great readjustment which was taking place in the states north of us, as if by a simultaneous impulse attention seemed fixed upon Florida. The world heard of her orange groves and her balmy climate. Many families in other southern states, disturbed and unsettled in the plantation life in which they had been reared, turned to new scenes. Accustomed to agricultural pursuits, fruit culture seemed natural and attractive and the result was the removal from those states to this county of a class of persons who had many of them lived on the same soil since their forefathers came to America in the early colonial days. Those from the north sought health, climate or investment, each representing a more refined and cultured type than is usually found among the early settlers of a new territory.

This is a meagre outline of the causes which led to the displacing of the original inhabitants of peninsular Florida, and the rapid filling up of our county, from a period immediately after the civil war by a population so cosmopolitan that in every audience that assembled almost every state in the Union had its representatives, besides many foreign countries as well. Such conditions might reasonably have consumed a longer period in adjusting these various elements into a harmonious citizenship, but the spirit and ideals of the majority of them is attested by the public institutions for which they laid the foundations, and upon which their successors have builded, until ours is a civilization of which we may justly feel proud as being equal to, and in some respects superior to what has been achieved in many of the older states.

Republicans in congress caucused to-night and named the committee which will conduct the coming congressional campaign. "Insurgent" and "regular" Republican fraternized in a manner not seen since the party revolt that sheared Speaker Cannon of his power in the last season.

The fight over the $125,000 bill for a Confederate naval monument in the Vicksburg National Military park, which caused vigorous debate at the recent extra session of congress, was renewed in the senate today. Senator Williams of Mississippi, its author, urged action. Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, vigorously opposed it and in the end his objection postponed action for the day.

Sugar universally consumed and universally taxed, is subjected to government control and regulation as to price in almost every country and to varying trade methods as well, reported Secretary of State Knox in a letter which President Taft today forward to congress.

Men and Religion Movement

The Men and Religion Forward Movement was launched in Sanford last Sunday with much enthusiasm. The Jacksonville Committee sent two men to present the facts and start the ball a rolling. Mr. I. C. Baldwin, Religious Work Director of the Y. M. C. A., Jacksonville, and Mr. E. R. Stafford a business man of the same city. Mr. Baldwin spoke in the Methodist church in the morning and Mr. Stafford in the Congregational church.

At 3:30 in the afternoon there was a meeting of the men from the five Protestant churches of the city, which was held in the Methodist church. The church was well filled with men who listened with deep attention to the addresses. Mr. Stafford spoke first on the practical turn of modern christianity and the need of co-operative work by the men of the churches to-day. He was followed by Rev. B. F. Root, of Ansonia, Conn., who is officiating this month at the Episcopal church. He told of the movement as it had come under his observation in Connecticut.

The last speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Baldwin who presented the practical and business end of the movement. Organization in Sanford calls for a central committee from all the churches composed of about thirty-five men. Twenty-five of these men are the chairman of committees in the five churches and serve in similar work on the general committee. The five lines of work carried on in each church and by organized effort throughout the city are as follows:

1. Systematic Bible study.
2. Boys' Work (Boy Scouts etc.)
3. Evangelism, to reach unconverted men.
4. Missions, the world for Christ.
5. Social Service, a clean city.

It is expected that all the Christian men of the city will be enrolled to work in one of these five departments of activity.

When the time came for action practically every Sanford man present pledged himself to the work. A committee of five was called for, one layman from each church to inaugurate the movement. These men are as follows: Messrs. W. W. Abernathy Methodist, Prof. J. N. Perkins Baptist, C. R. Walker Congregational, J. N. Whitner Presbyterian and B. F. Whitner Episcopal. This committee is to meet at the Congregational church at 7:30 Thursday night for organization.

On Sunday night a union mass meeting was held in the Baptist church. Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Stafford again spoke and to a crowded house. The evening service was strongly evangelistic and held the deep attention of the audience. That it is a men's movement is shown by the fact that the choir was composed entirely of men. Mr. C. R. Walker presided at both the afternoon and evening meetings.

The movement has already served a fine result in bringing together so many men to work for a common end. There is every promise of awakening religious interest in the city.
