

Assaid Gives Birth To Healthy Boy

Susan Assaid

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

A healthy baby boy was born Monday to Seminole County Jail inmate Susan Barrett Assaid, 30, who has pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the death of her 5-year-old daughter.

Assaid was taken by ambulance to Central Florida Regional Hospital at about 3:30 a.m. Monday.

Arrangements for the birth of the baby had been carefully and quietly worked out by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and hospital officials.

Assaid gave birth to a 6-pound, 8-ounce son at 3:55 a.m. Monday.

Seminole County Sheriff's Department spokesman John Spolski

said the boy measured 18½ inches long and was unnamed.

He said Assaid was taken back to the jail at 1 p.m. Monday. The baby remained in the hospital today.

Reportedly, Assaid saw the baby for only a short time.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services will have jurisdiction over the infant.

Spolski said he has no information on any possible attempts by persons who know Assaid to adopt the child.

It has been reported that an Orlando couple is interested in adopting the baby.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services may receive custody of the baby.

Doug Whitney, DHRS legal counsel, was unavailable for comment today on the adoption possibilities.

Assaid is scheduled to be sentenced in the manslaughter case next month. Sentencing had been scheduled for May 12 but was postponed until after the birth of the baby. Sentencing is now set for June 16.

According to court records, Assaid told detectives that her boyfriend, Donald Glenn McDougall, 26, had beaten and tortured her 5-year-old daughter, Ursula Sunshine Assaid, for 55 hours before the child's death on Sept. 25.

Assaid had been indicted on first degree murder and aggravated child abuse charges. She agreed to plead guilty to manslaughter in exchange for her testimony against McDougall.

Both Assaid and McDougall, according to court testimony, dumped Ursula's body into an Altamonte Springs pond after placing it in a weighted sack.

They then left for California to look for jobs but were returned to Seminole County by Riverside, Calif., police.

Riverside police said Assaid walked into the station and volunteered information on her daughter's death.

McDougall still faces the first degree murder charge and prosecutors have said they intend to ask for the death penalty if he is convicted.

McDougall is being held without bond in the Seminole County Jail. McDougall and Assaid lived with Ursula on Highland Street in Altamonte Springs.

Neighbors had told police there were numerous loud fights at the Highland Street home. Some testified Assaid was a good mother until her involvement with McDougall, a self-proclaimed tennis pro described as having a violent nature.

Although Ursula's body was badly decomposed when discovered, Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay said the most probable cause of death was a blow to the skull or body which need not have been forceful enough to damage the skull.

Abscam

High Court Silent: Convictions Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today dealt a telling blow to congressmen snared in the Abscam investigation by refusing again to examine the "sting" operation run by FBI agents.

Without comment, the justices let stand the convictions of four members of Congress, rebuffing claims the government used outrageous means to unfairly lure them into accepting illegal payments.

The court also turned aside arguments that the well-publicized undercover operation, which resulted in the convictions of six congressmen and Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., violated their immunity from prosecution for legislative acts.

The legislators now face fines and sentences of up to three years each.

In 1982, the high court turned down three appeals, including two by former Philadelphia city council leaders convicted in the Abscam operation. It could still face an appeal by former Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., whose conviction was reinstated earlier this month.

In addition to Kelly and Williams, other lawmakers convicted in Abscam were Reps. John Murphy, D-N.Y., Michael Myers, D-Pa., Raymond Lederer, D-Pa., and Frank Thompson, D-N.J. Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., was also convicted, but he has not appealed to the Supreme Court.

All either resigned or were defeated for re-election. None has gone to jail yet. At issue in the appeal rejected today were the convictions of Myers, Lederer, Murphy and Thompson.

During Abscam, undercover agents offered bribes to public officials in exchange for political favors. The lawmakers were videotaped taking money from FBI agents masquerading as Arab sheiks seeking help with immigration problems or aid in investing money. In return for promises of sums of up to $100,000, legislators were to use their influence to smooth the sheiks' problems.

Appealing to the Supreme Court, the lawmakers argued they had been victims of a government entrapment scheme. Lederer said the government lured members of Congress.

While the Justice Department conceded politically motivated investigations were wrong, it maintained Abscam would have collapsed if the lawmakers simply refused to take part in illegal conduct.

High School Graduation Nears

Seniors in high schools throughout Seminole County are getting anxious for that long-awaited graduation day. It won't be long now. See the special section in Wednesday's Herald detailing how many will graduate this month and highlights of each of the graduating classes.

Veterans Honor Fallen Brothers From Past Wars

By Jane Casselberry

No sunshine patriots these—the veterans of America's wars and others who gathered in the rain Monday to attend Memorial Day ceremonies paying tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice fighting for their country.

"God gave us this weather to remind us wars are not fought in sunshine and hot weather, but all kinds of weather," Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn told the patriotic gathering in Sanford.

The ceremonies were scheduled to take place at 11 a.m. at the flagpole in Veterans Memorial Park, but because of the rain they were held in the open space under the Sanford City Hall. "I always wondered why we left this open," commented Mayor Lee P. Moore in his welcoming remarks.

Irving Leary of Disabled American Veterans Seminole Chapter 30 gave a stirring recitation of a poem on the American flag. Ruthia Hester, state president of the Amvets Auxiliary, introduced Mrs. Glenn.

Organizations taking part included the Sanford Amvets, which was host for the event; American Legion Post 53, DAV Chapter 30, Fleet Reserve, Military Order of the Purple Heart, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10108 and VFW Post 10139 and their auxiliaries.

DAV Chaplain Sam Martin gave the benediction.

A ceremony was held in Casselberry, by the VFW and American Legion posts and their auxiliaries with retired Brigadier Gen. Donald K. Yost as master of ceremonies. Keynote speaker was retired Col. A.J. Castellana. Also participating on the program were Dyke E. Shannon, American Legion Department of Florida adjutant; retired Chaplain Walter B. Feagins, U.S. Navy; and Casselberry Mayor Charles Glascock.

Memorial Day observances were also held at the Oviedo Cemetery and Longwood Memory Gardens.

What Did School Board Get From Frisco Trip?

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

San Francisco is famous for distractions such as China Town, Fisherman's Wharf, Telegraph Hill, the Golden Gate Bridge, Lombard Street, Ghirardelli Square, the Cannery, great restaurants and a myriad of entertainments.

But Seminole County school officials said they saw little of any of these on their recent trip to the bay area.

They were busy attending lectures and seminars as part of the National School Board's Association convention.

Attending the convention were Superintendent Bob Hughes, School Board Chairman Roland Williams, board member Nancy Warren and board attorney Ned Julian Jr.

Air fares and convention registration fees for the four cost the school district more than $3,500.

Here, in the attendees' words, are what Seminole County taxpayers got for their money:

Hughes said he attended several workshops on the superintendent's role in the administration of schools such as 'How To Recognize and Reward Good Teachers', 'How To Make the Best Use of Principals', and 'What You Should Pay Administrators and How To Evaluate Them.'

Hughes said he also attended a workshop entitled 'How to Consolidate and Close Schools Without Enraging the Public,' a particularly useful session considering that the School Board recently decided to close Crooms High School and merge it with Seminole High.

Hughes said he also attended the convention's last general session which was addressed by form Secretary of State Henry Kissinger who spoke on foreign policy, diplomacy and the part played in those areas by the U.S. educational system.

Hughes said the entire convention was "very beneficial."

"I'm sorry we couldn't afford to send all our board members," he said. "My goal would be to send all five."

Besides the workshops and speeches, Hughes said the convention included exhibits by several firms showing off items such as the latest in school furniture, buses, architectural plans, and computers.

Board chairman Williams said he found the convention "very enlightening."

"It broadened my scope concerning what's happening nationwide — the desire for achieving excellence was explored, concern over the drop in student test scores, a drive to certify teachers."

Williams said he attended seminars on evaluation of principals, how to determine merit pay for administrators, how to recruit more qualified administrators, and planning for school growth.

"The gain was through the exchange of ideas," he said. "Through discussions with other board members from all over the country. That makes us better board members."

Mrs. Warren agreed.

"I think the whole School Board should go. It's an opportunity for us to get out of Seminole County and see how the rest of the world operates."

"I attended many seminars but I think you learn the most from talking to other board members."

"After all, we don't educate children just for Seminole County. We educate them to live in the world. It's important we know what's going on in other parts of the country."

Mrs. Warren said she noticed some of the other school districts from the North are trying hard to hang on to the quality they once had, "while we're striving for the quality they had."

Mrs. Warren also said Florida school districts are generally much bigger than ones in other states which may be township or city-wide rather than county-wide.

One of the most beneficial sessions for her, Mrs. Warren said, was a workshop on board chairmanship.

"It taught us things we should know to chair a meeting, how to be more efficient," she said. "It was training I wanted since it's possible one day I will be chairman." Mrs. Warren is vice chairman of the Seminole County School Board.

The discussion included a look at three different styles of meeting, she said.

"It gives you a good idea of where we are in the scheme of things," she said. "Our board is fairly formal. We use Roberts Rules of Order. Some boards are more loosely organized, they have no agendas. Some provide for public input before attacking agenda items."

"I'm convinced our method is very productive. At least we get through our business."

"One thing we're not doing, by comparison, is trying different ways to involve and encourage the public. But then it's not a town meeting."

Mrs. Warren said she attended the workshop on merit pay for administrators which covered how to identify competence and establish criteria for good performance.

"I believe professionals should be evaluated and rewarded for the type of work they do," she said. "It's obvious there's a move toward merit pay based on competence."

NATION IN BRIEF

U.S.—Soviet Arms Accord Predicted By This Fall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An official travelling with Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger in West Germany is predicting the United States and the Soviet Union will reach an interim agreement on limiting medium-range missiles in Europe by fall, it was reported today.

The Washington Post said the Reagan administration official stressed, however, that such an agreement could only be signed if the Soviets believe the United States will go ahead with deployment of Pershing-2 missiles in Europe unless an arms compromise is reached.

And to convince the Soviets, NATO allies need to remain united behind plans to deploy the missiles by the end of the year, he said.

If the United States gets that support from NATO countries, "I think we will have an agreement by fall," the official was quoted as saying.

Weinberger declined to predict when or whether such an interim agreement will be reached, the Post said.

Weinberger arrived in Bonn Sunday for two days of talks centering on the planned deployment of the missiles in West Germany if no agreement is reached at Geneva.

Inagural Aid Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The use of military personnel as chauffeurs and aides during President Reagan's inauguration was of questionable legality, the General Accounting Office concludes in a report.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., requested the report after he gave his monthly "Golden Fleece" award to the Inaugural Committee for using 1,533 military personnel as chauffeurs and aides "to 274 Inaugural VIPs as well as several hundred additional inaugural celebrants."

Proxmire said Monday the GAO report said there is "no specific authority" for the Pentagon to provide drivers, personal escorts and social aides for inaugural activities.

The cost to the Defense Department was estimated at $1.8 million for the chauffeurs and aides said Proxmire, a member of the Senate defense appropriations subcommittee.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Monster mudslides triggered by record mountain snowmelt slammed into valleys in Nevada and Utah, wiping out lakes, destroying homes, killing at least one person and forcing the evacuation of thousands from an amusement park. Officials warned that the 18-foot wall of mud and water crashing down Slide Mountain near Reno and the 20-foot slide Monday night in the Salt Lake City suburb of Farmington were just the beginning of western slides and floods. In the central Utah town of Fairview, officials raced to evacuate the 1,100 residents before a mudslide damming Cottonwood Creek today could give way, letting dammed-up water inundate the town. The mudslides and floods are being triggered by the heatwave melting of snow that piled as high as 66.5 feet at Donner Summit, and reached 30 feet in many places through the Sierras. More of the same combination of deep mountain snow and exceptionally hot weather caused widespread flooding in Wyoming, Washington, Utah, Colorado and northern New Mexico. A switch from temperatures in the 90s to readings below normal was expected to begin today in Utah, which would slow the snowmelt. Two people, including a 2-year-old boy, drowned during the weekend in flooded streams and rivers in Utah. Tornadoes, hail and high winds raked the Plains and Florida. Tornadoes touched down near Vero Beach and Sweetwater, Fla., Abilene and Goldsmith, Texas, northwest of Hobbs, N.M., and near Jerseyville, Mo. Thunderstorms dumped golf ball sized hail at Lake Trammell and Dickens County, Texas, and swept Gunnison, Colo. with wind gusts of 55 mph. The wall of mud and water outside Reno wiped out two lakes, crashed through an earthen dam and pushed tons of mud, boulders and water into a popular camping area. Officials said the rubble created new dams which could give way and cause more flooding.

Economic Summit Ends With Onus On U.S.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — Leaders of the largest industrial democracies head home from their seven-nation summit today, agreed on a broad strategy to maintain the emerging economic recovery and spread it around the world.

Monday afternoon, Reagan, on behalf of all the presidents and prime ministers, read the final declaration of the three-day economic summit and called it "a message of hope to the people of the world and to future generations." Flanking him in a packed fieldhouse at the College of William and Mary were Pierre Trudeau of Canada, Helmut Kohl of West Germany, Amintore Fanfani of Italy and Yasuhiro Nakasone of Japan and France's Francois Mitterrand. Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain left the summit early to campaign for re-election.

During candid private talks around an oval conference table Sunday and Monday, West European leaders pressed Reagan to ease the United States' projected $200 billion budget deficit, which they blame for high interest rates they fear in turn will slow recovery.

The "Williamsburg Declaration," as it is being called, included that view, described by all as sharply but cordially expressed.

"We must all focus on achieving and maintaining low inflation, and reducing interest rates from their present too-high levels," the statement said. "We renew our commitment to reduce structural budget deficits. In particular, by limiting the growth of expenditures."

Reagan, involved in a budget deadlock with Congress over how to reduce the U.S. deficit, argued that the U.S. recovery will bring interest rates down regardless of the deficit.

See related story, page 4B

But Mitterrand told reporters Monday, "The U.S. authorities are aware of the problems. It is up to them to find an answer to this problem."

Reagan won the show of unity he wanted from the allies — sensitive to the growing nuclear freeze movement — Sunday, however, pledging commitment to global arms control and deployment on schedule of medium-range nuclear weapons in Western Europe if Moscow does not join in an agreement.

In the economic joint statement issued Monday, the seven leaders agreed to:

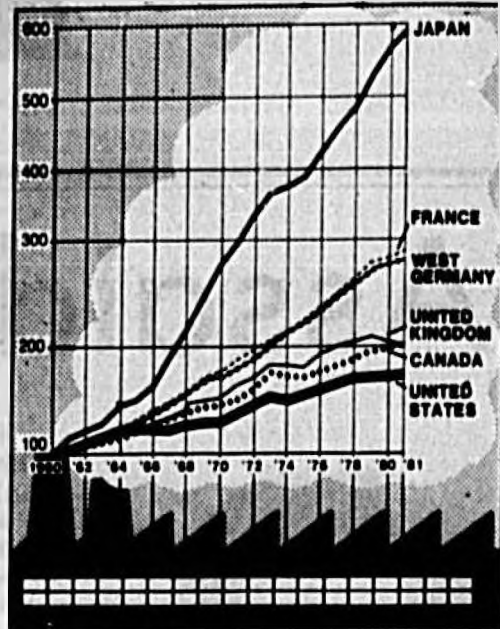

—Halt protectionism and, as the economic recovery proceeds, to "reverse it by dismantling trade barriers." The statement emphasized expanding trade with and among developing countries.

—Help ease the Third World debt problem through a combination of economic measures on the part of debtor nations themselves, more open markets, private and official financing and ratification of increased financial resources for the International Monetary Fund.

—Study possible ways to improve the international monetary system to reduce wildly fluctuating currency exchange rates and consider what part "might, in due course, be played in this process by a high-level international conference."

—Maintain economic relations with the Soviet bloc "compatible with our security interests." East-West trade took a relatively low profile in the summit. In contrast to last year's Versailles meeting that ended in rancor over the issue of the Siberian natural gas pipeline.

—Pursue monetary and budget policies aimed at higher productive investment and greater employment.

The seven major industrial democracies have recorded steady growth in the productivity of their manufacturing labor forces during recent years. But the Japanese work ethic has outstripped them all.

Hitchhiker, 22, Raped In Church Parking Lot

A 22-year-old Massachusetts woman reported that she was sexually assaulted early today in a church parking lot in Altamonte Springs.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said the woman, who is staying in an Eatonville motel, was standing in front of the Club 438 in Altamonte Springs at approximately 12:30 a.m. when she accepted the offer of a ride from a man in a silver colored car.

The man, she reported, drove her to the parking lot of the Peaceful Zion Baptist Church at the corner of Oak Avenue and Lake Mobile Drive in Altamonte Springs. He showed her a small gold-colored badge and told her he was a police officer and advised her if she did not give him what he wanted he would put her in jail, according to police reports.

At this point the woman tried to leave the car, police said, but she was dragged back.

The man then removed part of her clothing and raped her, police said.

She then managed to get out of the vehicle with part of her clothing and ran to a residence at 389 Longwood Avenue for help.

The man kept part of her clothing and sped away, police said.

CONVENIENCE STORE ROBBERY

A man carrying a pistol entered the Lil' Champ store at 1119 East 25th Street in Sanford late Friday and announced: "Hit the floor. This is a hold-up."

Store clerk Flo Baker of Sanford said the gunman jumped over the counter and advised her to open the register. He then took the money and asked if there was any more, she said.

She said that was all there was, but the robber went to a desk and looked inside before fleeing.

In an altercation at another convenience store, a clerk was injured when three men pushed a stack of 14 cases of Budweiser on top of him when he refused to sell them beer.

Police said Sanford 7-11 clerk William Matthews was offered "a couple extra dollars" if he would sell the men some beer. When he refused the men went into the 4107 Orlando Drive store's game room and one of them grabbed two six packs valued at $5.38 and walked out the front door.

When Matthews went into the game room after the other two men, they pushed the cases on top of him and fled.

Police said Matthews, 39, was injured in the head, back and right leg.

BURGLARIES PROBED

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Marion Matthews had to take his case to the Sanford Police Department when a burglar stole $75 in cash from a bedroom in his home.

Matthews told police someone removed the screen to his utility room and apparently entered the home at 1100 W. 18th St. by lifting an unlocked window and crawling through.

The money, $45 in bills and $30 in change was taken from a closet.

The concession stand at Randall Chase Park, off Mellonville Avenue in Sanford, was broken into between 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and 11 a.m. Thursday.

Letting Kids Die At Home Easier On Family: Study

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Letting terminally ill children die at home rather than in a hospital can help alleviate much of the emotional trauma for the child's family, says a study of parents of dying children.

The study examined 37 families with children treated in the Home Care Program at the Midwest Children's Cancer Center at Milwaukee Children's Hospital. The children subsequently died.

"Parents of patients who received terminal care in the hospital were more anxious, depressed and defensive and had greater tendencies toward ... interpersonal problems than parents of patients in a Home Care Program," the study said.

"Siblings of patients who received terminal care in the hospital were more emotionally inhibited, withdrawn and fearful than their counterparts in the Home Care Program."

The program, which is voluntary, was started at the hospital in 1978 and is supervised and directed by a nurse specializing in cancer. She is responsible for teaching family members how to deal with the youngster. The nurse also provides technical and support assistance.

Once the decision to join the program is made, the child's drug treatment is halted.

Using a standardized personality assessment test, researchers found that among 24 families which used home care, no score reached 70 or higher, which marks clinical significance of a personality or character problem.

But among 13 families whose children died in hospitals, parents recorded a score of 70 or more in categories of bodily complaints, depressive moods, denial of problems, anxiety and self-doubt and alienation and confusion.

Parents of children who died in hospitals that did not reach a score of 70 or more scored significantly higher than home care patients in discomfort in interpersonal relations, impulsivity and social maladjustment.

. . .School Board Trip Discussed

Mrs. Warren said the exhibits she saw will help her visualize items that come across the desk as purchase orders.

On a positive note, she said it was good to hear in the opening general session of the convention, in a talk entitled "What's Right With Our Schools," that there are some students out there working and there are some teachers doing an excellent job.

Julian said he attended workshops at the convention put on by the National Council of School Attorneys. And, he said, he appeared on one panel dealing with labor negotiations with the executive director of the Montana School Boards Association.

Julian said he listened to presentations on the current status of the law pertaining to student publications and the First Amendment, on religion in public schools, censorship of books in school libraries and defense of school boards in civil rights lawsuits.

He said he also listened to a discussion on Public Law 94.142, the federal regulation which stipulates that handicapped children are entitled to "A free and appropriate" education.

Based on this discussion, Julian said he believes Seminole County is in compliance with this law.

Further, he said he heard a discussion on the current status of discipline in public schools and how the law relates to expulsions and suspensions.

But the primary area of litigation against school boards now, he said, is in the area of student publications and constitutional guarantees of free speech.

The discussion on this topic at the San Francisco convention Julian termed "worthwhile," although he admitted such conventions, from the standpoint of attorneys, "are not always worthwhile."

As for free speech, Julian said the discussion included a Florida case which involved an abortion clinic advertising in a school newspaper.

The case was settled with the School Board allowing the advertising to continue.

"For the most part," Julian said, "student newspapers are like any other newspaper as far as the First Amendment goes, except as the content affects the orderly conduct of the student body."

Lebanon Plans Its Own Troop Pullout Initiative

United Press International
Lebanese officials have become concerned that a failure of American efforts to achieve a pullout of foreign forces from Lebanon might leave them "in the lurch" and are plotting a new diplomatic drive to win the withdrawals.
A Foreign Ministry official said Monday in Beirut that Lebanon would seek an Arab summit and a possible role for France to break the impasse in getting Israeli, Syrian and Palestinian forces to withdraw from the country.
Syria has refused to withdraw its 40,000 troops from Lebanon, blocking Israel's planned withdrawal of 30,000 troops. Another 10,000 Palestine Liberation Organization fighters are positioned in the country.

PLO's Arafat 'Impotent'

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — A mutinous faction of the Palestine Liberation Organization claimed PLO guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat is "impotent to move against" their widening revolt over his policies.
Arafat became a double target Monday, with PLO dissidents increasing charges that he is leading the Palestinian movement to liquidation and the right-wing Voice of Lebanon reporting he narrowly escaped assassination.
The report on Beirut's Christian Phalangist radio station said gunmen on the Syrian-Lebanese border ambushed Arafat and his driver early Monday, killing the driver.
"The report is completely baseless," said a spokesman for Arafat, 53.

Bus Driver Charged In Crash Which Hurt 47

ZELLWOOD (UPI) — Police have charged an excursion bus driver with having defective equipment on his vehicle, which crashed after a wheel fell off and injured 47 children in a weekend accident.
Nathaniel Bell, an assistant principal at Eustis Middle School who operates a small excursion bus line, failed to inspect the wheels of his 1981 bus properly, the Florida Highway Patrol said.
Bell was taking the Lake County school children to an Orlando amusement park when the right rear wheel fell off on U.S. Highway 441 Saturday. The bus spun 180 degrees and turned over on its side.
Only one child remained hospitalized today. She was reported in good condition.

And How It Will Be Financed

Lawmakers At Odds Over Education Plan

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House-Senate conferees agree that academic standards in the high schools need stiffening, but they don't agree on whether the change requires more money from the state this year.
The 10-member conference committee on high schools met Monday and it was disclosed that progress was made over the weekend as several senators and representatives met in informal sub-committee deliberations.
Rep. Sam Bell of Daytona Beach said he and Sen. Bill Grant of Madison had pretty well agreed on state high school graduation standards, which would be tougher than most of the standards established by the 67 school boards.
Bell said there is no agreement, however, on what the cost would be during the upcoming fiscal year for the standards, which would be phased in over the next several years.
The Senate schools bill has little new money in it. The House bill provides substantial additional funding for education, with most of it coming from a corporate profits tax increase.

Senate Education Chairman Jack Gordon of Miami Beach, chairman of the conference committee, said he and Rep. Jon Mills of Gainesville reached agreement on several issues, including a program to bring retirees with expertise in business, science and other specialized areas into the classroom as visiting teachers.
Gordon and House Education Chairman Carl Carpenter of Plant City agreed that their staffs would draft proposals based on the informal agreements and that the conference committee would meet to consider them late today.
This is supposed to be the final week of the Legislature's work because the 60-day regular session ends at midnight Friday. Legislative leaders have resigned themselves, however, to an extension of one or two weeks.
Another conference committee is meeting on the budget, trying to mesh together an $11.5 billion House plan, which implements the House school plan by appropriating the corporate tax increase money, and the Senate's $11.3 billion no-new taxes proposal.

The tax hike is included in the agendas of both conference committees, but its fate will actually rest with House Speaker Lee Moffitt, Senate President Curtis Peterson, a handful of other legislators and Gov. Bob Graham who will begin battling in secret talks about the middle of this week.
Once the legislative leadership decides whether to raise taxes, and if so, which ones and how much money to produce, then the budget and education conferees can make their decisions that depend directly on how much money is available.
The House eventually adopted the state graduation standards that were the heart of Peterson's "RAISE" bill to improve the public schools, although disagreeing on a few provisions and the timetable for implementation, so the Gordon conferees haven't been too far apart on this issue.
Bell reported Monday that a package of new diploma standards, including four years of English, three of science and three of math, had pretty well been worked out.

A total of 24 credits eventually would be required beginning with 22 credits three years from now, which would be a couple of credits more than currently required by most school boards.
One point that continues to leave the two sides at odds is whether the first year of implementation of the standards imposes new costs on the school boards that should be picked up by the state.
A sixth period of academic work in every high school would be mandatory with the beginning of the move toward the state standards, with a seventh period probably necessary later.
Senate bargainers contend that the state already is paying for this sixth period. House bargainers disagree, arguing that requiring a sixth period is up to the discretion of school districts and they don't use state dollars for it.

Memorial Weekend Ends With Florida Death Toll Approaching Predicted 30

By United Press International
Florida's highway death toll crept up toward the predicted number of 30 deaths as the 78-hour Memorial Day weekend ended at midnight.
As today began, at least 27 people had been killed in traffic accidents and more delayed reports of deaths were expected. The Florida Highway Patrol had predicted last week there would be 30 deaths in the state over the long weekend.

See related story, page 4B

There were no holiday traffic fatalities in Seminole County. However, there was one traffic-related death. A 24-year-old Sanford man was killed by a single gun shot to the head following an argument over a driving incident near Longwood.
Richard John Garnsey of 2764 Ridgewood Ave., was fatally shot Saturday night. A second man, Juan B. Mendoza, 47, of 924 Lake Irene Road, Altamonte Springs, was also injured in the fracas and was in fair condition today at Florida Hospital-Altamonte with a gunshot wound to the jaw.
According to Seminole County sheriff's reports, the incident began near U.S. Highway 17-92 and Dog Track Road when one of the victims apparently cut in front of the other after which they stopped to argue.
Mendoza was apparently shot in the jaw with his own gun, the reports said, then drove to his home, followed by Garnsey. While standing in Mendoza's living room, Garnsey was shot in the head, investigators said.

Among the casualties were a 34-year-old mother and her infant son, Pamela Susan Johnson and 16-month-old Michael Alvin Johnson of Daytona Beach were killed in a head-on collision at 11 p.m. Saturday on State Road 400 in Volusia County.
A rookie police officer also was numbered among the weekend victims. Officer Stephen O. Corbett, 21, of Miami was struck down as he was helping victims of an accident.
Corbett, who graduated from the Dade County police academy in February, died as he was settling out flares around an accident scene on Interstate 95 at Hallandale Beach Boulevard to warn oncoming motorists. Corbett was hit by a car and his body hurled 100 feet.
A head-on collision claimed two lives in Volusia County at 6:15 p.m. Saturday. Raymond Lopez, 22, of DeLand, was driving a car traveling eastbound on State Road 40 when the automobile crossed the center line and smashed head-on into a westbound vehicle driven by David William Viano, 22, of DeLand, the patrol spokesman said. Both men were killed.
In addition to Corbett, at least three other pedestrians have been killed over the holiday weekend.

Optometrists Can Dispense Drugs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Amid warnings that the long battle between optometrists and ophthalmologists will come back to the Legislature next year, the House has passed and sent to Gov. Bob Graham a bill giving optometrists the right to dispense drugs to their patients.
Proponents contended, however, that to deny optometrists the right to dispense drugs and to require them to refer cases to ophthalmologists would restrict health care in rural areas.

The bill (SB 168), which was approved by the Senate earlier this month, passed the House Monday on a 70-46 vote. The House considered the Senate bill in lieu of its own more restrictive measure (HB 189).
The battle between optometrists and ophthalmologists has raged for years in the Legislature and the courts, with the ophthalmologists arguing that by dispensing drugs optometrists are practicing medicine without a license.

Medicare: Time To Take The Cure

Rep. Edward R. Madigan of Illinois, a Republican who follows health legislation in the House, says there is no chance that Congress will approve a recent administration proposal for a cost-saving reform of the Medicare program. Medicare clients would have to pay a larger share of the bill for a short stay in the hospital but in return would pay less toward the cost of long-term hospitalization in cases of catastrophic illness.

The rejection of this reform is of limited significance for the future of Medicare. Its problems are so complex and serious that no single treatment will save it. What this report from Capitol Hill tells us, however, is that the season for reforming Social Security and Medicare is now officially closed and will not reopen until 1985. Having just voted to postpone the next Social Security benefit increase and to subject benefits to taxation for the first time, says Mr. Madigan, Congress is not about to court more problems with senior citizens by tampering with their Medicare benefits.

It is discouraging that Mr. Madigan does not deny that Medicare will go broke in 1988. The projections of ballooning costs make this an undeniable forecast, assuming the program is allowed to continue on its present course. Mr. Madigan says his colleagues are not inclined to do anything about Medicare until its problems reach the proportions of a "crisis".

Mr. Madigan does not describe the crisis, so we will do it for him. The government announces in 1986 or 1987 that Medicare is facing a deficit of $20 billion as its costs rise past $100 billion a year and revenue from the Social Security tax rises at a lesser rate. An emergency cutback in services is proposed. The sick and elderly will be interviewed on the evening news, telling how they are being turned away from doctors' offices and hospitals. Tears will be shed on the floor of the House and Senate as members vote for a major increase in Social Security taxes to save Medicare.

That, more or less, is the formula for crisis-management in Washington. This time around, it would be refreshing if the administration and Congress would explore the possibilities of crisis-avoidance. There is no great mystery about what has gone wrong with Medicare, so there is no reason to wait for the bubble to burst.

Rep. Claude Pepper is proposing that a bipartisan commission be assembled to recommend options for Medicare reform in the manner of the commission that offered solutions to the Social Security crisis last year. President Reagan should give the proposal serious consideration. A commission appointed now could do its work during the 1983-84 hiatus on political discussion of the Medicare problem. Either Mr. Reagan or a successor could use the commission's study and recommendations to begin working with Congress in 1985 to avert the Medicare deficits otherwise due by 1988. Such a study would deal primarily with issues of policy — what Medicare would promise to its clients and how the program would be financed. Part of the problem is that when Medicare was conceived as an insurance program in 1966 no one anticipated the effect that new technologies would have on the cost of medical care. Drugs, for example, were being used to treat heart conditions now treated with $20,000 bypass operations or $10,000 pacemaker implants. A major public debate may be in order to reach a new consensus on what level of medical care tax-supported programs like Medicare should undertake to provide.

But some of Medicare's problems need not wait for future policy decisions. Fraud, waste and abuse are said to be eating up $7 billion of the $57 billion being spent on Medicare this year. The Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services is relying on 90 investigators to monitor not only Medicare but all other health and welfare programs in the department. It is no wonder that unprincipled doctors and other health care professionals have easily milked the Medicare system with outrageous claims.

Ironically, Medicare is one of the most praiseworthy programs undertaken by our government on behalf of the people. It has relieved millions of aging Americans of the fear of being unable to cope with the cost of illness on their retirement budgets. There is no reason why a country as rich as ours cannot provide this peace of mind to its elderly citizens.

Medicare is running afoul of maladministration and greed. Those conditions are not incurable. The best way to save the patient is with a reform effort beginning now — free of the pressure of a "crisis" that is otherwise bound to occur.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hey, c'mon, Congressmen! So we might overthrow a government or two — boys will be boys, you know!"

By Sam Cook

The Orlando Twins, Central Florida's closest imitation of major-league baseball, return to Tinker Field Friday to open a nine-game homestand with the Columbus Astros.

The Twins, lodged in second place in the Eastern Division of the Southern League (AA), play the Astros three games before taking on the Savannah Braves on Monday. After four games with Savannah, the O-Twins host the Jacksonville Suns for two games.

Because of Minnesota owner Calvin Griffith's parsimonious ways, many of these same Twins you'll see on the homestand will be in the major leagues in two years. Calvin, and expensive ball players, are soon parted. That, of course, doesn't mean they'll be any good, because the big-league Twins are never very good — but at least they'll be able to say they made the big time.

The O-Twins don't draw very well. Some baseball experts theorize this is so because they don't promote. "Giveaways are the name of the game," said Daytona Beach Astro (A) General Manager Don Miera. "We have a giveaway every night we're at home."

Miera knows what he is talking about. The Astros' average attendance is 1,600 fans. They draw from as far away as St. Augustine. The O-Twins, meanwhile, usually bring in around 400. When they do have a giveaway night, sometimes it works, and sometimes it bombs. The famous San Diego Chicken was in town on a Sunday a few weeks ago and they only drew 1,700-plus, which is horrible for a national attraction.

"They didn't promote it, that's why they didn't draw," said Wes Rinker, who said he could have filled the 2,000-seat Sanford Memorial Stadium with the same bird.

Rinker would like to get one of the two expansions the Florida State League will offer next year. He meets all of the requirements of seating and lighting which the league requests. He would need affiliation with a major-league ball club if he gets a team.

On June 14, Rinker will stage a test-tube game between the Daytona Beach Astros and the Tampa Tarpons. A big turnout could turn some FSL heads. It's probably a three-team race for the Northern Division franchise among Sanford, DeLand and Leesburg. DeLand drew just 800 fans in its effort last year at Conrad Park, which at the present time doesn't have the seating to satisfy the FSL. Leesburg will hold its game later this summer.

"If Sanford wants a team, we need the support of everybody in the community," emphasized Rinker. "The community can show that support on June 14. And in addition we're going to have an oldtimers baseball game between the old Sanford Giants and the Daytona Beach Islanders."

Tickets for the game are available at the Stadium, located on Mellonville Avenue. For $3 the whole family can attend. Little Leaguers who are dressed in uniform will be admitted free with their coach.

DON GRAFF Experts In How Not To

Things may be, as usual, fairly tough all over but they are much more so for the generals and admirals in Buenos Aires these days.

Their regime, a favorite of some strategically situated Americans such as United Nations Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick but a bust with the folks back home, is in deep trouble. They know it and are looking for an out — any out.

The possibility they are working on most strenuously is, in the light of Argentine history of the past 40 years, an odd one.

The armed services are now trying to cut a deal with the Peronist party they threw out of office in a 1976 coup that launched a military terror in which thousands of Argentines and others — estimates range from a minimum 6,000 all the way up to 30,000 — disappeared.

The thinking seems to be that since the Peronist leadership initially unleashed the troops on the people in response to the escalating guerrilla violence of the '70s, it shares the blame for the consequences and will be less inclined than other political elements to seek retribution when the country is returned to civilian rule later this year.

Or the officers may simply be realists — which would be a precedent of sorts in Argentine politics. Recognizing that the Peronists are the inevitable inheritors of the power the military is relinquishing, they are trying to make the best of a bad situation that is also of their own making. Scrambling to salvage some of the pieces of their power and prestige after the debacle of last year's Falklands war, they made a public promise of elections with which they are now trapped. The voting is set for October.

If the officers had any lingering doubts as to how low they have fallen in esteem at home and abroad, such were resolved with the release at the end of April of their long-delayed report on the terror's victims. They accounted for only 2,050 individuals, denied knowledge of thousands of others known to have disappeared and criticized families of the vanished ones for continuing to press the issue.

The report sparked denunciations and demonstrations at home and affronted protests from Italy, France, Spain, the Vatican and the secretary-general of the United Nations. After a delay of several weeks, possibly indicating difficulty in formulating a consensus position or conceivably a futile hope that the issue would go away given time, the U.S. State Department also weighed in with an expression of "disappointment."

But then look at it this way. Most of the other governments involved were concerned about numbers of their own citizens among the disappeared. Americans got off lightly in that respect and have only our relationship with the present and future Argentine government to think about.

Will Hearings Hurt The St. Johns?

The Friends of the St. Johns River has become concerned with the Senate hearing on the St. Johns Water Management District. These hearings could easily lead to steps that would damage the future of the river. It is important that the citizens are informed on these issues so that the will of the people prevails over that of certain special-interest groups.

The hearings conducted by Senators Langley, Carlucci, and Kirkpatrick seem to be concentrating on two major issues. These issues need to be addressed separately, for one does not affect the other.

The first issue is the use of ad valorem taxes collected by the district to purchase wetlands in the upper basin. These wetlands serve the natural function of cleansing the water. They also hold back the water during heavy rains and slowly release it during the dry season when it is needed. It has been well established, and most people agree, that in order to have any chance at all in saving the St. Johns River from becoming a dead sewage ditch, a large percentage of the wetlands along the river has to be preserved and, in some cases, restored.

JACK ANDERSON Cruelty Against Afghans

WASHINGTON — Eleven days ago the State Department issued a public denunciation of Soviet atrocities in Afghanistan, specifically the repeated aerial bombing of civilian population centers that are without means to defend themselves. The announcement called the air raids "intolerable by any standard of civilized behavior."

Secret cables to Foggy Bottom from our embassies in the region make clear that the State Department's formal charges understated the degree and extent of Soviet depredations in Afghanistan.

The cables tell of towns and cities systematically bombed into rubble; entire villages massacred; men, women and children summarily shot; women and girls raped; and suspected rebel sympathizers subjected to torture.

Soviet troops are apparently indulging in the same kind of unrestrained savagery they showed toward German civilians in World War II — when at least they had the excuse of retribution for Nazi atrocities in Russia.

Here are some of the grisly details of atrocities committed by Soviet troops and soldiers of the communist puppet regime's army:

— The Guldara Valley, which is headquarters for a major Afghan resistance leader, has been the repeated target of attack. "It has been made clear to the local population that normal life... will not be allowed to continue," one confidential cable states. It continues: "On April 30, for example, a group of more than 20 elders, women and children who attempted to complain to the occupying regime forces about the severity of the bombardment were summarily shot. A man who tried to work his fields near Guldara met the same fate at roughly the same time, this time at the hands of the Soviet troops."

— In another village of the region, the terrified populace fled to escape the troops' violence. The abandoned homes were "systematically looted" by Soviet soldiers and Afghan army troops.

— In some areas where resistance has been the most stubborn, the Russian-Afghan occupation forces have adopted a "scorched earth" policy, destroying crops and buildings to leave the guerrillas — and the entire civilian population — without a means of existence.

— The fighting has even spread to the Shomali region just north of Kabul. The repression has been particularly ruthless there. "Many villages and towns have been flattened, and civilian casualties are high," a cable reports. Travelers throughout the area report that Soviet soldiers are selling looted goods along the roadside.

Why are the Soviets acting so terribly in Afghanistan? A classified cable seen by my associate Lucette Lagnado concludes that the Soviets have given up any hope of winning the hearts and minds of the fiercely independent Afghan people, and are interested only in holding onto the country's strategic real estate.

"Since Andropov's coming to power," the report states, quoting a recent defector, "Moscow's policy of controlling Afghanistan, rather than the Afghan people, has become even more apparent than it had been before."

The repression and terror have had a noticeable effect on the surviving Afghans, according to a report on the situation in Kabul: "The litany of killings, arrests, robberies and other cruelties is endless. (Afghans) throughout the town are so preoccupied with stemming a flood of woes and injustices that they are often listless and seem unfeeling in the conduct of their professional lives.... (They go) from one personal catastrophe to another...."

Not all the Afghans are demoralized, though. Assassinations of Russian personnel in the cities are frequent. And in the countryside, the outgunned but determined guerrillas continue to resist the Soviet terror with every means at their disposal.

WILLIAM RUSHER Health Care Is Too Costly

NEW YORK (NEA) — Most Americans are well aware that medical costs are skyrocketing, but they seldom complain because their own medical bills are almost entirely covered by Medicare, Medicaid or a group health insurance plan of some sort. That's a little like the husbands Luigi Barzini told us about some years ago, all of whom were proud to have somebody else's wife as their mistress but remained serenely confident of the fidelity of their own. It never occurred to them that it all had to balance out in the long run.

The truth is that we are each paying through the nose for all this medical care, in one way or another. Medicare and Medicaid are financed by the taxpayers, and as consumers we are also the ultimate financiers of every health insurance plan created by private business, since its cost is inevitably passed along to us. And it's a whole of a bite: nearly 10 percent of the GNP.

But because the actual bills are paid by a third party — i.e. government or an insurer — there is no effective downward pressure on medical costs. We blithely demand medical procedures we don't really need, and let doctors and hospitals steadily raise their fees, secure in the mistaken assumption that somebody else is footing the bill. Even in 1982, with the general inflation rate dropping to less than 4 percent, health costs rose by 11 percent.

The theoretical solution to the problem is: let the free market do its stuff. Require each individual to shop for and purchase his or her medical care on the open market, from a health maintenance organization (HMO) — a group of physicians banded together to provide comprehensive medical care for a fee fixed in advance. Then each of us could be reimbursed, by Medicare, Medicaid or our private insurance plan, to whatever extent these might provide coverage, any excess cost being paid out of our own pocket.

That would put downward pressure on medical costs, sure enough. Most people would shop around for the most comprehensive care at the lowest cost; and the HMOs, eager to keep their charges competitively low, would not run up their operating expenses unnecessarily.

But, pending the massive reorganization of our system of medical care that this solution would require, the Reagan administration is backing a series of reforms that would unquestionably help a lot. Some bills have been introduced in the House by Rep. Barber Conable, and four in the Senate by Sen. Robert Dole. They deserve prompt passage.

One bill would limit the tax-free treatment of employer premium contributions to health insurance to $2,100 a year for family plans and $840 for individual plans. (Currently, the sky's the limit.) This ceiling is high enough to leave most low-income employees unaffected.

citizen in the district. Why, then, does it appear these three senators are often singling her out for their wrath?

The Friends of the St. Johns is a citizens group that has been working for the past eight years to preserve and restore the St. Johns River. We have monitored the Water Board's actions and regularly attended their meetings. With this background, we would like to make three recommendations to these senators:

1. That nothing be done to harm or slow down the purchase of wetlands along the St. Johns River. Ad valorem taxes need to be used to ensure that enough wetlands can be purchased to save the river.

2. That specific issues such as private airplane use be addressed with positive policies that would apply to all water districts.

3. That the senators thank all the board members who are serving and representing the average citizens' best interests; this includes many members of the board, including Mrs. Pignone.

St. Johns, Inc.

Touchdowns, Not Fumbles Foretell Lawrence's Future

Coach Jerry Posey's Fighting Seminole football team didn't look like an 0-10 team last Thursday night in the Spring Jamboree at Apopka. Then again, it didn't look like a 10-0 team either.

Probably the most-improved area was intensity. These Seminoles were excited. They wanted to play. They wanted to hit people. And they did — before and after the whistle. One young man was even escorted to the sidelines for a little over exuberance with one of the Lyman Greyhounds.

But, what the heck, there's nothing wrong with a little extra-curricular activity when it comes to football. It's a very emotional game and the great and good players play with emotion.

When it was all over, though, the scoreboard read the same as it did 10 times last year. Opponent 14, Seminole 6. Of course, it was only a jamboree, but the Tribe had looked at it as more. Posey and his spirited boys looked at it as a chance to salvage something from what has been a miserable sports year at Seminole. Just one district championship will grace this year's trophy case. Coach Emory Blake's Lady Seminole track team is responsible for that. And, for good measure, it added the regional hardware, too.

While Seminole's intensity was great last Thursday, it may have been too great. They may have tried too hard to erase the scar last year's an 0-10 season. A player must play under "controlled intensity" to be effective.

Take William Wynn, for example. The junior linebacker also doubled up at tight end for the Tribe and had several memorable runs. He would line up on the left side, delay and then cut across the field to where quarterback Mike Futrell would hit him with a flare pass.

When running this kind of pattern, it is necessary to be patient or it won't work. Then you have to catch the ball and turn up field. That's where the fun begins for the powerful 6-2, 200-pound Wynn. He has pretty good speed and he's strong. Sometimes the tacklers looked like the pins at Bowl America as they tumbled in their attempts to impede his charge.

Sam Cook

And, William Wynn is the biggest difference — along with the enthusiasm — between last fall and this spring. He missed all of last fall with a severe bruise on his leg. He's a tough middle linebacker and he's going to make the Tribe's running attack that much better while he's grabbing short passes and turning them into 20-30 yard gains.

And, as you know, Seminole will always have running backs. Sprinter Clifton Campbell, Tim Lawrence, Dexter Jones, Jo Jo McCloud and Daryl Edgemon will more than take care of their responsibilities. Seminole might have even come out on top last Thursday if Lawrence hadn't made a mistake while trying to imitate one of his heroes.

The flashy junior was off to the races with a 10-yard gain when he began carrying the ball like the cliché "loaf of bread." Lyman knocked it loose and recovered in Seminole territory, and later went in for a score.

But that probably won't happen again. Lawrence is a dedicated young man, not subject to showboating. It was probably just a temporary loss of memory on his part. They'll be more touchdowns than fumbles in this lad's future.

Maybe even enough to erase a nightmarish season.

Seminole defensive coordinator Dave "Mr. Intensity" Mosure has a word with middle linebacker William Wynn during a break in the Tribe's loss to Lyman in Apopka's Spring Jamboree last Thursday.

Big Week Ahead For Leading KOC

Knights of Columbus will get a big test this week as it tries to hand on to first place in the second half of the Sanford Junior League season. Because of the Memorial Day holiday, four of the teams play just one game this week. KOC, 4-0 in the second half, however, faces first half champ Rotary Wednesday at 5 p.m., then takes on Kiwanis at 7:15 Friday night at Chase Park.

The Rotary-KOC game may not be all its built up to be though. Last Friday, Rotary won by forfeit over Ball Motor Line which didn't have enough players. Rotary's coaches then scheduled a practice, but, some of the players chose to skip practice to sit in the stands. Those players, Mike Edwards, Johnny Wright, Clay Hickmon and Craig Dixon, were allegedly benched for Wednesday's game which prompted catcher Eddie Korgan to say that if the other four didn't play, he wasn't going to play.

So, if the coaches decide to bench the players, Rotary may have four starters sitting on the bench which will take a lot of punch out of the lineup. Of course, aside from not playing a game for about a week, Rotary won't be hurt because it won the first half. All of this has Moose coach Bill Dube pretty steamed. Dube's team is battling KOC for the second half title and needs all the help he can get from other teams against KOC.

In Wednesday's other game, Ball Motor Lines faces Kiwanis at 7:15. The other Friday game pits Moose against Elks at 5 p.m.

David Rape, of KOC, continues to maintain the best batting and pitching records in the league. He enters the week with a .708 batting average and is 4-0 as a pitcher. Steve Warren, who joined Elks at the beginning of the second half, is hitting .778 after playing four games, but does not have enough plate appearances to challenge Rape for the batting title.

Moose pitchers Terry Miller and David Goldstick each have five wins. Goldstick has one loss and

Sanford Baseball

Miller has been handed three defeats.

Team batting averages: Rotary (R) .349; Knights of Columbus (KOC) .326; Moose (M) .292; Kiwanis (K) .253; Elks (E) .185; Ball Motor Lines (BML) .164.

Hooton Hits, Hurls Dodgers To Win Over Phils Bases Loaded Walk Lifts Padres Past Expos

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Burt Hooton drove in four runs and pitched a seven-hitter and Steve Yeager belted his seventh homer of the season Monday night to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Hooton, 3-2, struck out four and walked one and tied his career-high of RBI in a game. He had not had a hit in 14 at-bats this year.

The Phillies took a 1-0 lead in the first when Joe Morgan walked, went to second on Gary Matthews infield single and scored on Mike Schmidt's single to left.

Los Angeles took the lead to stay in the third. Consecutive singles by Yeager, Rick Monday and Bill Russell loaded the bases with none out and Hooton lined a Marty Bystrom pitch down the left-field line for a double that cleared the bases.

Philadelphia closed to 3-2 in the fourth on Ozzie Virgil's second homer of the year, a drive into the left-center field seats.

The Dodgers added two more runs in the fifth on Yeager's two-out homer and an RBI single by Hooton.

Russell had three singles to lead the Dodgers' 10-hit attack.

Padres 5, Expos 4

At San Diego, pinch hitter Rupert Jones drew a walk off Steve Rogers with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night, giving the San Diego Padres a 5-4 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Steve Garvey led off the ninth with a single, his third hit of the game, and Terry Kennedy grounded to first baseman Al Oliver, whose throw to second sailed into left field as the runners moved to second and third. Sixto Lezcano was walked intentionally to load the bases, but Tim Lincecum popped out and pinch hitter Jerry Turner struck out. Jones, batting for pitcher Gary Lucas, then walked on a 3-2 pitch to force in the winning run and hand Rogers his second loss in nine decisions.

Lucas, 1-3, who pitched two innings of relief, got the triumph. It was the Expos' third straight loss and the defeat broke Rogers' personal six-game winning streak by Rogers.

Montreal tied it 4-4 with two runs in the fifth inning off starter Andy Hawkins. Tim Raines walked with one out and scored on Bryan Little's triple to left. Andre Dawson then singled in Little.

San Diego took a 4-2 lead with a three-run fourth inning. Garvey led off with a double and scored on Kennedy's single. Lezcano then followed with a two-run homer.

The Padres scored a run in the second on a single by Garvey and Kennedy's double to right center, but the Expos took a 2-1 lead on a solo homer in the third by Raines and Tim Wallach's bases-empty blast in the fourth.

Pirates 5, Braves 6

At Pittsburgh, Dale Berra smashed two homers and drove in three runs Monday and Jim Bibby picked up his first victory as a starter since returning from arm surgery in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 8-6 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

N.L. Baseball

Dave Parker and Jason Thompson added consecutive solo homers and Lee Mazzilli and Berra went 3-for-4 as the Pirates collected 14 hits off four Braves' pitchers.

Bibby, 2-5, snapped a personal five-game losing streak in his longest stint since coming off rotator cuff surgery that sidelined him all of the 1982 season. He gave up three runs on seven hits and three walks in five innings.

Cardinals 9, Reds 1

At St. Louis, Darrell Porter drove in four runs with a homer and triple Monday and John Stuper notched his sixth victory to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-1 rout of the Cincinnati Reds.

Porter, who had only one hit in his previous 12 at-bats, capped the Cardinals' four-run first inning off Ted Power, 1-3, with a two-run triple to right center.

Stuper tossed his second straight complete-game victory over the Reds to raise his record to 6-2. He scattered nine hits, struck out four and walked one.

Following an error by center fielder Eddie Milner that allowed Willie McGee to reach base in the third, Porter blasted his seventh homer, just to the right of the 414-foot sign in center field.

Astros 9, Cubs 7

At Chicago, Terry Puhl's two-out, two-run triple snapped a 7-7 tie in the eighth inning Monday and led the Houston Astros to a 9-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Alan Ashby opened the eighth with a single off Bill Campbell. 2-2, Campbell struck out the next two batters and, after going to a 3-0 count, intentionally walked Omar Moreno. Puhl followed with a triple to the right-center field wall.

Bill Dawley, 3-1, pitched three innings for the win and Frank DePino hurled the final two innings for his third save.

Giants 5, Mets 0

At San Francisco, Fred Breining, Andy McGaffigan and Jim Barr combined on a five-hitter and Darrell Evans hit his 11th homer

Monday to power the San Francisco Giants to a 5-0 triumph over the New York Mets.

The triumph was the sixth in the last seven games and 18th in the last 24 for the Giants, who returned home from an 11-5 road trip.

Breining allowed two hits over the first five innings in notching his fifth win in nine decisions. McGaffigan and Barr each hurled two shutout innings.

Evans' homer came in the first inning off Neil Allen, 2-6. Allen gave up two more runs in the second on a walk to Jeff Leonard, singles by Tom O'Malley and rookie Brad Wellman and an infield out by Milt May.

The Giants added two more runs in the fifth. Johnnie LeMaster and Evans led off with singles to put runners on first and third and Max Venable hit into a double play as a run scored. Jack Clark then doubled and scored on a single by Jeff Leonard.

The only hits until the ninth for the Mets were a pop-fly single by Bob Bailor in the first inning, a ground-rule double by Hubie Brooks in the fifth, and a single by Tucker Ashford in the eighth. George Foster and Darryl Strawberry added singles in the ninth.

L.A.'s Howe Enters Drug Rehab Center; Elia In Fracas

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When Los Angeles relief ace Steve Howe didn't report to the ballpark for Saturday's game, Dodgers general manager Al Campanis telephoned his house.

Howe's agent, Tony Altanalo, told Campanis that Howe was having car trouble and couldn't make it.

Steve Howe's problems are much more serious than a faulty car.

Howe, who was thought to have overcome drug and alcohol addiction over the winter, has been readmitted to a drug rehabilitation center at his own request, the club announced Sunday.

Howe, 25, notified the Dodgers late Saturday that he needed help.

"Steve is going through a very trying period and he requested assistance from the club," Campanis said. "He has requested help and we want to do everything we can to help him in a full recovery. Arrangements were worked out to admit Steve to a treatment center."

In 14 games this season, Howe had not allowed an earned run in 22 1-3 innings and had a 2-1 record with a National League-leading seven saves. He coined the phrase "Canard Heat" to refer to the Dodgers' bullpen, which has been the most effective in the league.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago Cubs' manager Lee Elia, nearly fired a month ago after blasting Chicago fans and press, Monday shoved a television cameraman following a 9-7 loss to the Houston Astros.

Chicago general manager Dallas Green later issued a statement indicating Elia's job was safe.

"I heard both sides of the story and I feel satisfied that the incident is over," Green said in a statement read by Cubs spokesman Bob Ibach.

The cameraman, Dan Brown, entered Elia's office after the game and the manager said, "No cameras, no cameras."

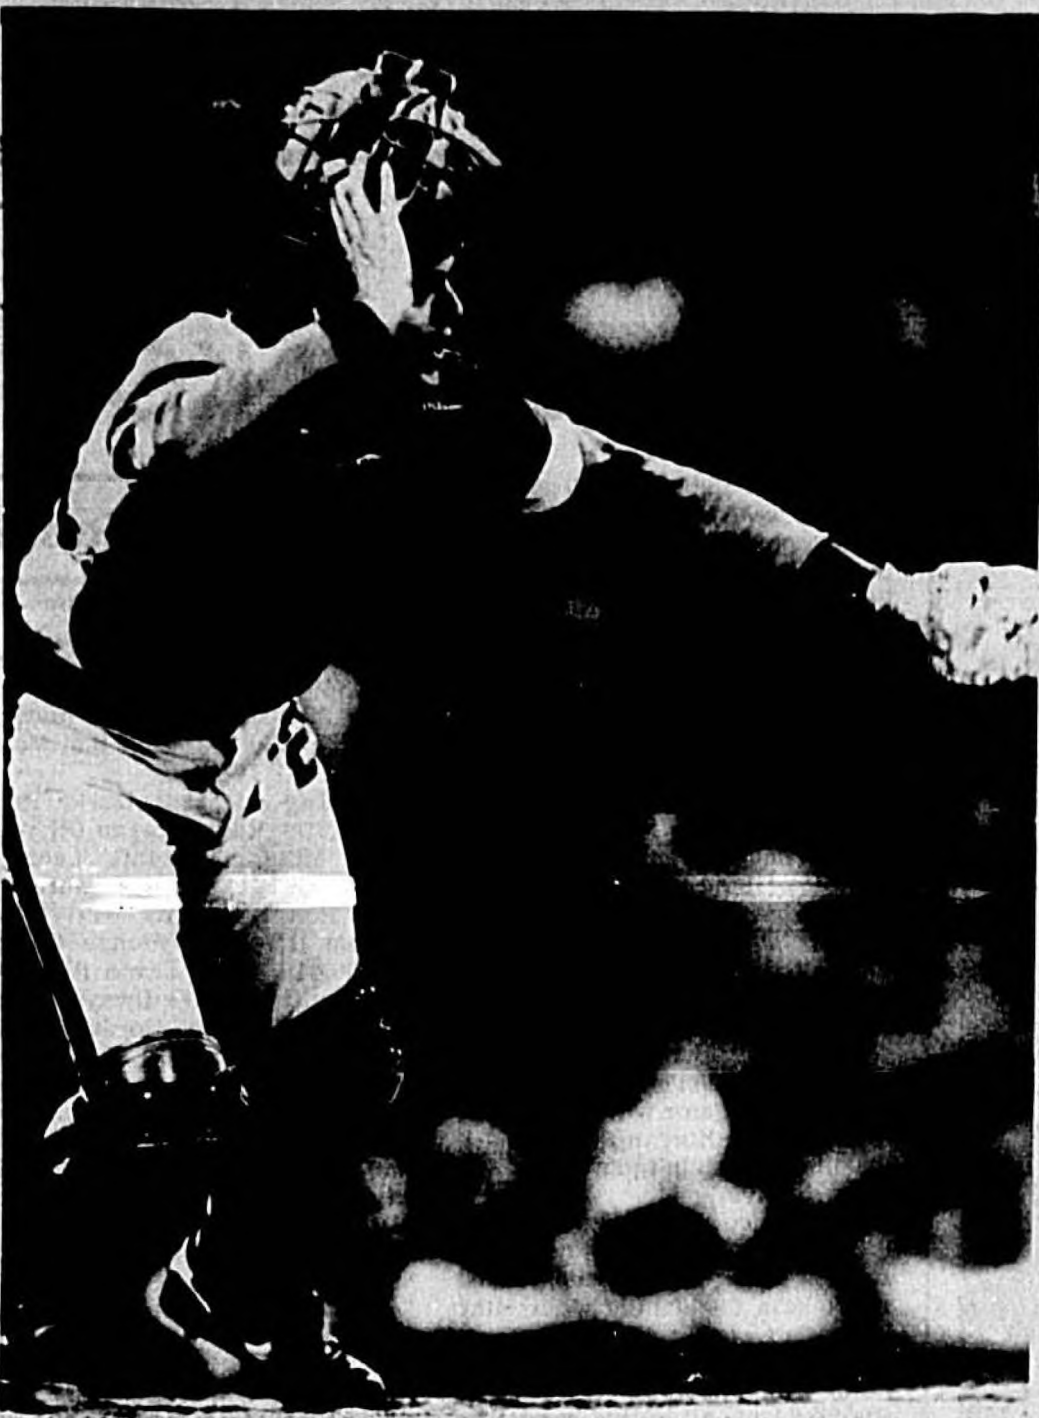

STEVE HOWE

Burt Hooton helped the Dodgers with both his arm and his bat Monday in L.A.'s 5-2 victory over Philadelphia. Hooton, 3-2, knocked in four of the Dodgers' runs and catcher Steve Yeager added a home run as L.A. took a two and a half game lead over the Atlanta Braves, who lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-6, in the National League's West Division.

Carlton Fisk, Chicago White Sox catcher, cracked three hits in four trips to the plate Monday including a home run and rookie Ron Kittle added a game-winning homer as the Chisox edged the Boston Red Sox, 6-4.

Fisk Batters Old Mates With 3 Hits; Garcia Sparks Jays Extra-Inning Win

A.L. Baseball

BOSTON (UPI) — Former Red Sox Carlton Fisk went 3-for-4, homered and scored three times and Ron Kittle cracked his 11th homer Monday to lead the Chicago White Sox to their fourth straight victory, a 6-4 decision over Boston.

Fisk also had a double and a single and is now hitting .418 with eight homers and 23 RBI in 23 games against the Red Sox since leaving the team at the end of the 1980 season.

Harold Baines drove in two runs for Chicago, which has hit 23 homers in its last 11 games. The four-game winning streak matches the Chisox's season-high, set earlier in the month.

Britt Burns gave up a two-run homer to Tony Armas in the first, then settled down to pick up his second victory in four decisions. Salome Barajas pitched the final 2 2/3 innings to gain his third save.

The White Sox tied it 2-2 in the third on singles by Jerry Dybzinski, Fisk and Baines and a sacrifice fly by Greg Luzinski. Kittle then led off the fourth with a homer off starter and loser Bruce Hurst, 4-3, who had pitched a two-hit shutout against the White Sox last Wednesday.

Fisk led off the fifth inning with his fourth homer and one out later, Luzinski chased Hurst with a double to left. Mark Clear came on and gave up a run-scoring single to Tom Paciorek to make it 5-2. The White Sox added a run in the sixth when Fisk singled with two out, stole second and scored on a single by Baines.

Blue Jays 6, Tigers 4
At Detroit, Damaso Garcia's run-scoring single ignited a two-run 10th inning Monday night that lifted the Toronto Blue Jays to a 6-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory snapped the Tigers' five-game winning streak and, coupled with Boston's loss to Chicago, lifted the Blue Jays into first place in the American League's East Division. Alfredo Griffin opened the 10th with a line double down the left-field line off reliever completing a sweep of a four-game series.

Winfield's triple came off Steve McCatty, the fourth Oakland pitcher, after loser Tom Burgmeier, 1-2, had allowed three straight singles as New York tied the score. Graig Nettles singled with one out and was replaced by pinch runner Bert Campaneris, who took second when Andre Robertson singled for his third hit of the game. Ken Griffey's RBI single scored Campaneris, sent Robertson to third and finished Burgmeier.

McCatty walked Roy Smalley on four pitches to load the bases before Winfield's triple drove in three runs. Winfield's first RBI since May 7, Don Baylor's squeeze bunt scored Winfield to make it 9-5 and Campaneris had a bases-loaded single to score the sixth run of the inning.

Rich Gossage, 2-1, pitched two innings of two-hit relief to gain the victory as Oakland tumbled to its fifth straight loss.

Oakland took a 5-4 lead in the top of the eighth off reliever Bob Shirley. Rickey Henderson walked and stole second for his third steal of the game and 18th of the season. After a walk to Mike Davis, Gossage replaced Shirley and Dwayne Murphy sacrificed the runners to second and third and Henderson scored on Jeff Burroughs' sacrifice fly.

Indians 6, Angels 5
At Cleveland, Pinch hitter Broderick Perkins singled in Andre Thornton from third base with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night, giving the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory over California that snapped the Angels' seven-game winning streak.

Mike Hargrove led off the Indians' ninth with a single and went to second on a wild pitch by loser Luis Sanchez, 5-2. After Thornton was walked intentionally, Mike Fischlin ran for Hargrove and Toby Harrah beat out a bunt to load the bases. Julio Franco then forced Fischlin at the plate but Perkins, batting for Alan Bannister, lined a single to center to give Neal Heaton, 3-1, the victory.

Porter Wins End-Of-The-Month Race

Racing

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — LeRoy Porter drove the Hoosier-shod Lewis Green Firebird to victory in the 50-lap End-of-the-Month Championship on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Bruce Lawrence took advantage of overheating problems on early leader Barry Ownby's new car to stretch his winning streak to four in a row.

The four-cylinder feature went to former midwest supermodified chauffeur Bob Clark.

Rick Clouser continued to dominate the street stock division, with his brother Dale defeating all opponents in spectator racing events.

After many false starts, the green flag was waived on the late model main, with inside third row starter Lee Faulk making a gutsy move which carried him right up to the point on lap one.

Previous week's winner Porter was soon up to second and moved up to first place on lap 13. Ten laps later, Smokey Yunk Jr. decided to park it on the backstretch right in front of Duke Southard. The Duke hit the brakes, was nailed from behind and hit the wall head on.

After three more caution periods which brought the Ability Flooring Firebird of Lee Faulk right up on Porter's rear bumper each time, the pair finished in that order, followed by Joe Middleton, All-Pro regular Kenny Price and Titusville city councilman Bill Posey.

Michigan's 'Stupid Law' Lifesaver

DEAR ABBY: Because you were one of the first to give national publicity to the importance of piling infants and children in car seats, I hope you will think this is important enough to print.

Dear Abby

REGULAR READER, DETROIT NEWS
PUBLIC ACT 117 OF 1981
THAT STUPID LAW
(An open letter to the Muskegon Chronicle)

"Dear Editor: I would like to tell your readers how mad I was when I was forced to go out and pay $45 for an infant seat, and to top it off we couldn't fit everybody in my pickup truck with that big bulky thing.

"On April 2, my wife was forced to go off Highway M-120 into a ditch to avoid a collision — that's 55 mph to a dead stop. The back of the child car seat was facing the windshield (as I was told the law required for 4-month-old infants). That seat broke off the ashtray, cracked the dashboard and chipped the windshield. Our baby didn't have a scratch on her!

"I would like to thank God and whoever else is responsible for passing that 'stupid' law."

GREG HIBBARD,
HOLTON, MICH.

DEAR ABBY: Our 9 1/2-year-old daughter (I'll call her Angela) has been sleeping with my husband and me in our king-size bed (in the middle between my husband and me) since she was 7 months old.

This began when she had roseola with a high temperature. We wanted her close to monitor her temperature in the middle of the night in order to be able to administer aspirin and/or tepid baths, should she need them. Angela was born to us in our late 30s, is an only child and was wanted and prayed for for years. We are a very close and loving family.

She is a pretty big girl now, and it is most uncomfortable to have three in a bed because she sleeps sideways and moves about a lot. Plus my husband and I need and want the cuddling and intimacy we would have if we were alone.

Angela feels very secure and loved in the "family bed," and we are glad we were able to give her that experience, but it's time for her to move into her own bedroom. It is next to ours and beautifully furnished.

The problem is obvious: She absolutely refuses to leave our bed! She says she's "afraid" to sleep alone. In all other ways she is very independent, "grown-up," secure and normal.

Can you help us?

THE THREE OF US

DEAR THREE: Angela should see a child psychologist to help her overcome her fears of sleeping alone. Your pediatrician should be able to recommend one. Or, call the nearest mental health clinic. Three is a crowd, especially in this case. Hurry. You and your husband have a lot of catching up to do. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: My father hit the ceiling when my 17-year-old brother said he wanted to make dinner for the family last night.

Dad said, "No son of mine is going to put on an apron and start cooking! That's for sissies!"

I tried to explain that lots of men cook nowadays, but Dad went on and on about how cooking was a woman's job, like sewing, housekeeping and taking care of the kids. He said men were mechanics, carpenters, policemen, firemen and so forth.

What is your opinion?

ANGRY IN TEXAS

DEAR ANGRY: Your father is wrong. Some of the most accomplished cooks in the world are men. Men also sew, keep house and take care of kids. Tell your dad that there are also female mechanics, carpenters, policemen and firewomen.

Art Classes For Adults, Children

Art Classes for adults and children begin June 13 at the Research Studio School of the Maitland Art Center.

The Research Studio School offers a variety of courses for the beginning and advanced art student. Students are given individual instruction by qualified art instructors on the peaceful grounds of one of Florida's national historic sites.

Classes for adults include: beginning and intermediate watercolor techniques, painting, oil and acrylics, drawing techniques, silkscreen printing, ceramic sculpture and pottery, basic photography, advanced photography, advanced color photography, lithography and advanced lithography.

Classes for children include: beginning and intermediate drawing, painting, pottery and basic photography.

Two new courses have been added to the summer season of adult classes at the Center: Beginning Calligraphy, a course designed for beginners who want to develop a beautiful hand writing and Photography For Laughs, an unusual course in "unphotography" for the student who wants to learn just enough to be considered armed and dangerous when attempting to take a photograph.

Search Is On For Outstanding Dad

Sunday, June 19, is Father's Day.

The Herald is searching for the annual "Outstanding Dad," but we need the help of readers.

Write a letter and tell us in your own words why you think a certain father is outstanding. First, write your full name, address, including street, city and state, and your telephone number at the top of the first page. Then, add the name, address and telephone number of the favorite dad you are nominating. Please type or clearly print your letter containing information about Dad.

Submit letters to PEOPLE Editor Doria Dietrich, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford 32771, no later than Wednesday, June 8, the deadline for judging.

'Thanks' From Key Club Lieutenant Governor

In An Around Longwood

Chamber Honors Business Students

Karen Warner

Every month the Longwood/Winter Springs Chamber of Commerce pays tribute to deserving area students by awarding them the honor of "Business Student of the Month." Students eligible for this award are chosen from among members of their own schools, based on students' individual skill, awareness and business aptitude. This month four area high school students were chosen to receive such an award.

Cathy Wilcock of Lake Brantley High School was presented the Business Student of the Month award from Peggy Aycock. Cathy has recently placed first in the state of Florida in competition of office procedures and she is planning a career in Computer Science. She will attend the University of Central Florida later this fall.

Sandy Jones of Lake Mary High School was presented the award by Ann Sanders. Sandy has also placed second place at the district level in a recent competition.

Yi Hui Yao of Oviedo High School received the honorable award from Patay Munsey. Yi Hui has managed to maintain a 4.0 grade average, and is also seeking a career in Computer Science.

And lastly Marsha Dickerson of Lyman High School was presented business student of the month award from Walt Lee. Marsha's accomplishments include recognition from the National Honor Society. Congratulations to them all.

On June 8, coach Mike Platt of Longwood Elementary School is pleased to present a gymnast mini olympic at the school. This exciting gymnast meet will include all of the third, fourth and fifth grade girls from the school's tumbling club. Mike said that over 50 girls from his beginners and advanced tumbling clubs will be competing for over 70 gold, silver and bronze medals. Girls from each of the grade levels will hold competition in four areas of contest.

Contest events will cover balance beam competition, vaulting, tumbling routines and floor exercise. Judging will be done by coach Mike Platt and other area coaches and professional people.

The meet will be held in the school's auditorium, and will last about an hour and a half, starting at 7:30 p.m. The mini olympic is open to all parents, students and the general public, and it is free.

The PTA and Goal and Advisory Committee of Sabal Point Elementary School is sponsoring a pancake breakfast on June 4, from 9:00-11:00 a.m. in the school lunch room. The purpose of the breakfast is for parents to meet the newly elected PTA officers. Tickets must be purchased prior to the breakfast at a cost of $2, and may be obtained from the school.

Elections of new PTA officers, as well as voting on PTA by-laws was part of the annual PTA meeting held at the school on May 24. Special guest speaker at the meeting was 1979 Teacher of the Year, Karen Coleman. Prior to the meeting was a display of arts and crafts made by the students, as well as a concert put on by the school's advanced chorus.

This column is for and about the people in the Longwood community, and therefore requires readers' participation. If you have any news of community interest, or know of someone that has done something special, party plans, or special company, call me at 323-9034.

Burns To Address Trinity Grads

Popular talk show host for WKIS radio, Gene Burns, will be the commencement speaker at Trinity Preparatory School's 15th graduation ceremonies, Saturday, June 11 at 9 a.m.

The private educational day school, affiliated with the Episcopal Diocese of Central Florida, will graduate 68 seniors, Headmaster, The Rev. H. Benton Ellis announced.

Bishop of the Diocese, The Rt. Rev. William H. Folwell, will make the presentation of diplomas to the Trinity graduates.

This will be the first commencement ceremonies to take place in the school's new 12,000-square-foot Thomas C. Dickinson, Jr. Memorial Activity Center, which had its dedication and open house on April 6.

For Dependable Service Come To Dun-Rite Transmission

In its 15 years of business here under the ownership of Jack Green, Dun-Rite Transmission Service at 775 N. Highway 17-92 (just north of Seminola Boulevard), Casselberry, has earned a good name in this area and Gary and Laurel Walts, who bought the business six months ago, plan to keep it that way.

"We don't take our customers to the cleaners, we run a reputable business," said Walts, who moved to this area from Collinsville, Ill. When he relocated here he brought with him an experienced mechanic, Dale Willman, to help with his new family run business. Joe Rainey is service manager, and Frank Muniz and Hank Teeter, are also mechanics. Laurel is the bookkeeper.

They are complete drive line specialists repairing "anything from the engine back"—rear-ends, transmissions, standard and automatic shifts, drive shafts, and mufflers for foreign and domestic cars.

Dun-Rite offers a 5-Year, 50,000 mile transmission warranty good anywhere in the United States. If your car's transmission breaks down on road, call Dun-Rite and they will provide free towing service in the Seminole County area if they are going to do the work.

Walts has installed new lifts and equipments and Dun-Rite now has the capability of working on motor homes, front-wheel drive and four-wheel drive vehicles.

"Transmission overhaul can be quite expensive if you don't head it off," said Gary, who offers some tips for clues to look for in order to take care of small problems before they become big ones. With summer coming on, remember that transmission fluid must be changed more frequently in hot weather. You can save a lot of transmission problems by changing the fluid more often and by installing a transmission cooler.

It is possible to tell if your transmission is overheating by the appearance and odor of fluid. When it becomes excessively hot, the fluid may have a burnt odor and be brown rather than red in color. Causes for overheating can be improper rocking, such as when trying to get a car out of mud or sand, and operating under a severe load, such as towing a trailer in hilly areas without adding a transmission cooler.

"It's cheaper to have your transmission fluid changed in the long run," said Gary. "Keeping a close check on the transmission fluid is an essential part of car care. It is critical not only to check the level, but also the condition, which can be a clue of possible mechanical trouble."

Most transmission failure can be attributed to overheating.

See the Dun-Rite Transmission ad in today's Business Review for $8.88 transmission tune-up offer and $24.95 muffler installed.

Dun-Rite is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call 831-5377 for an appointment.

Have Your Hearing Tested By Orange Hearing Specialists

If you are hard of hearing, you don't have to put up with the inconvenience and embarrassment of not being able to hear the sounds and conversation around you.

The specialists in custom-made hearing aids at the Orange Hearing Aid Centers will be glad to help you.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding should have a hearing test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss.

An annual hearing test is advisable if there is any trouble hearing clearly. And even those wearing hearing aids or those who have previously been told nothing can be done for them should find out about the latest methods of correcting hearing problems.

In Seminole County, Orange Hearing Aid Centers have well-equipped testing facilities at 120 S. U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, and at Medco Discount Drugs.

2701-D S. Orlando Drive (Highway 17-92), Sanford.

Orange Hearing Aid Centers offer a special 30-day trial period, satisfaction guaranteed, with every hearing aid obtained at their office. Everything they sell is Highways 17-92, unconditionally guaranteed for one year. Their well-qualified specialists repair and service their hearing aids on the premises.

Irwin Pensack, president of Orange Hearing Aid Centers, has a master's degree in audiology. Bernard Fisher, a licensed hearing aid dispenser certified by the National Hearing Aid Society, is at the Casselberry center, which is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

For the convenience of Sanford area residents, Harry Powers, certified by the National Hearing Aid Society, is in Sanford at the sub-branch at Medco Discount Drugs every Monday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. He has the equipment and expertise to test and adjust hearing aids as well as provide service and repairs.

Space-age technology has come to the hearing aid industry, and a hearing aid has been developed that only costs pennies per year to operate. This is a far cry from the $25 to $70-per-year operation costs of the average hearing aid. The newer, rechargeable aid also automatically controls speech-interfering noises and can be "custom adjusted" for correct hearing on the spot.

Orange Hearing Aid has a full line of hearing aids.

For further information, call 834-8776 for the Casselberry office or 323-5702 in Sanford.

Handcrafted Gifts Customized At The Mare's Nest, Longwood

The Mare's Nest with its assortment of handcrafted gifts and decorating accessories is nestled in Historic Longwood. Located at 228 W. Warren Ave., just half a block west of the city hall. It was formerly in the Brower's Barn. The charming shop has been in Longwood for two years and moved into one of the section's quaint old houses on March 1.

Most of the items in the shop are the clever creations of the owners, Lois and Wendell Glisson, who specialize in custom work. In conjunction with the shop, Lois operates a "doll hospital", where she lovingly restores, repairs and redresses all kinds of dolls and does custom designing.

She is now teaching classes in stenciling, thick scratch and candlewicking. This summer she is offering workshops on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons on such things as stenciling T-shirts and cross stitch for youngsters 9-13 years. Preregistration is necessary. To register call 331-5546.

Registration is also being taken for the "Christmas in July" classes on ideas for holiday gifts and decorations to be held monthly beginning July 5.

Ever since Miss Piggy became a glamorous star of television and movies, folks have been going hog wild over things porcine—and you will, too, when you see the adorable new "pig line" at the Mare's Nest. There are stuffed piggy doorstops, laundry bags, kitchen magnets and magic wands to wave over your food and remove unwanted calories (for the person who eats everything), to name a few.

Just as cute are Lois' stuffed pelicans, mice and "Sassy Cats" and dolls. There are gifts for all ages from the crib up. If you are looking for something different for Dad for Father's Day, Lois has a unique gift suggestion—a personalized wooden suit hanger, which can be painted with a variety of shirts or coats and Dad's name. She also has personalized gifts for graduates.

Wendell Glisson's specialty is woodworking. He makes doll furniture—cradles, rockers and beds—ducks to hang on the wall, wooden weather vanes, plaques and country-rustic furniture.

They are also carrying some supplies and raw wood work for those who like to paint their own.

Some of the other items you'll find at The Mare's Nest include wooden bowls, baskets, pottery, ceramics, patchwork, stenciled or candlewicked pillows.

Do Economic Summits Really Do Any Good?

By Jim Anderson
WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — This was to be the summit that could not fail. There were to be no losers after the near-calamity of the eighth annual economic summit at Versailles last year. But by avoiding the possibility of failure this time around the leaders also lowered the expectations of success and raised a more fundamental question.

Why bother? Their summit drew an estimated 3,000 journalists, made a tempting target for terrorists, paralyzed this historic town and took up space in the world's newspapers.

The commotion cannot be justified in terms of economics, because a gathering of foreign or finance ministers, or their deputies, could accomplish as much.

Analysis

The answer has to be seen in political terms.

There were serious differences between the Americans and the other nations on such things as high interest rates and how best to help the Third World, which has not shared in the economic recovery President Reagan predicts soon will spread to the rest of the world.

The summit also did not prevent any kind of remedy for fluctuating exchange rates, which on Monday saw the franc reach historic lows against the dollar. Nor did it resolve the continuing lack of economic communication between the seven richest nations of the world.

But in political terms, the benefits are considerable:

—Ronald Reagan came out as a leader who persuaded his economic and political allies to publicly accept his general view of the world as it applies to relations with its economic neighbors.

—Pierre Trudeau, by realising the United States on defense issues and making that very clear to journalists who report to Canadian voters, established his credentials as an independent personality from the Americans. In Canadian terms, that is not a minus.

—Francis Mitterrand, who clearly lost in economic terms to Reagan's open market philosophy, will be able to fly home to report to his parliament that he did as well as any French president could.

—Margaret Thatcher, who left early to resume the battle on the political hustings, will be able to say that Labor party opponent Michael Foot would not have been able to agree to the language that emerged in Williamsburg and, therefore, would be out of place in the western world if he were to become prime minister instead of her.

—Helmut Kohl, the relatively unknown West German replacement for the world-class Helmut Schmidt, finally has stature on his own and will go to Moscow and Romania in the next month as a national leader in his own right.

The economic summit will, therefore, continue, despite the doubts of the people who work for the political leaders. They believe the preparations, the distractions and the risks make it questionable.

The leaders, basking in the warmth of television lights, think it is all worthwhile.

362 Die On U.S. Roads During Holiday Weekend

Police reported today that at least 362 people died on the nation's highways during the Memorial Day weekend, boosting the holiday traffic toll over last year despite beefed-up patrols and regional drunk driving crackdowns.

A United Press International count showed at least 362 people died in traffic accidents over the weekend, which began at 6 p.m. local time Friday and ended at midnight Monday.

Last year, 341 people were killed in motor vehicle accidents over the Memorial Day weekend. In 1981 the total was 420.

California led the count with 40 deaths, followed by Florida with 27 and Texas with 21. Alabama and Pennsylvania each had 16, Ohio and Georgia 15, Colorado 14, New York 13, North Carolina and Indiana 12, Missouri 11 and Illinois and Michigan 10.

The National Safety Council predicted 350 to 450 people would die on U.S. highways during the weekend and said between 17,000 and 22,000 other people might be seriously injured in holiday traffic accidents.

Among the injured were 47 school children ages 10 to 16 whose bus rolled over Saturday in Florida on the way to an end-of-school celebration.

New York police monitored more than 16,000 motorists and arrested 49 under the influence of alcohol and two impaired by drugs in a crackdown marked by random stops at checkpoints to determine if drunks were behind the wheel.

"It's definitely a success," a spokesman said. "If it prevents one person from getting hurt, it's a success."

Other states reported success in curbing the number of drunken drivers on the road. Michigan state police "Operation Care" patrols made 160 drunken driving arrests during the holiday weekend.

State police nationwide put additional patrols on high-risk and interstate highways as part of the Care, or Combined Accident Reduction Effort, program started in 1977.

Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas reported nine deaths each, Iowa, Minnesota, New Mexico and South Carolina eight, Kentucky, Louisiana and Massachusetts six, Arizona, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia five, Connecticut and Montana four, Idaho, Maryland, Nevada, New Jersey and Oregon three, Wisconsin, Nebraska and South Dakota two, and New Hampshire, Utah, Hawaii and West Virginia one.

Vietnam Controversial On Memorial Day 1983

United Press International
Memorial Day ceremonies honored America's war dead from the revolution to Vietnam, along with military men killed recently in El Salvador and Lebanon, and a stockbroker in New York offered the most unique tribute by climbing the 110-story World Trade Center to unfurl an American flag.

Cities and small communities across the nation put on parades, dedicated plaques and had 21-gun salutes Monday. Some people marked the day with quiet cemetery visits.

The Vietnam War remained the most sensitive subject with veterans from that war refusing to march in an American Legion parade in Sag Harbor, N.Y. At the new Vietnam War Memorial in Washington, D.C., Deputy Secretary of Defense W. Paul Thayer placed a wreath and said, "There are few memories more painful than the Vietnam War. There are few wounds that took longer to heal."

Six Vietnamese restaurants in Houston opened their doors to Vietnam veterans and their families to thank the people who fought their war.

"We wanted to do something to remember the servicemen who died and honor them and those who came back," said restaurant owner Tran Vuong Quang. "And this is our way of reminding them of one of the nicer things about Vietnam: the food."

About 250 veterans and their families gathered in National Cemetery at Little Rock, Ark., to hear Gov. Bill Clinton urge Americans to honor those who died in the small conflicts as well as the major wars.

"We should remember the eight who died trying to rescue our hostages in Iran — including one brave Arkansan — and Lt. Col. Albert Schausberger, who was killed last week in El Salvador," Clinton said.

Six wreaths were tossed over the side of the World War II aircraft carrier Intrepid, now docked in New York City, to honor a Marine corporal killed in an explosion at the U.S. Embassy in Beirut.

Lebanon, last month. About 1,000 people attended the ceremony.

A 21-gun salute was fired by the USS Constitution, permanently docked at the Charlestown Naval Museum in Boston. The nation's oldest commissioned warship, a veteran of the War of 1812, fired one cannon round per minute starting at noon.

In Sag Harbor, N.Y., the Veterans of Foreign Wars, consisting mostly of Vietnam veterans, refused to march with the American Legion, made up mainly of WWII vets. The differences were over style. The VFW vets marched in solemn silence, while the American Legion parade had floats, antique cars and drill teams.

Dressed in suction cup boots and a sparkling suit, "Spider Dan" Goodwin, 27, of Chicago, became the first person to scale the northern tower of the World Trade Center. He concluded his 3 1/2-hour climb by unfurling an American flag from atop the 1,362-foot skyscraper.

Goodwin was hauled over the top of the skyscraper by waiting police officers, who patted him on the back and arrested him. He was released after being escorted to police headquarters and issued a summons for "staging an unlawful street show," a Port Authority spokesman said.

At the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia, Thayer placed a wreath and unveiled two plaques honoring those who served in the Vietnam War.

Taps also sounded during a wreath-laying ceremony at the USS Arizona Memorial in Pearl Harbor where 1,177 officers and men on the ship died on Dec. 7, 1941.

Flags were placed on all 17,000 graves of veterans at the Marietta National Cemetery in Marietta, Ga., near Atlanta. Buried there are soldiers who fought in the Revolutionary War, Civil War, World War I, World War II, Korean War and Vietnam War.
