Evacuation plan criticized

BOSTON — The plan to evacuate six Massachusetts towns within 10 miles of the Seabrook, N.H., nuclear power plant "amounts to nothing more than a dangerous gamble," Massachusetts Attorney General James Shannon said Tuesday.

"It offers only the illusion of emergency preparedness," Shannon told a panel of federal regulators.

But the attorney for Seabrook operators scoffed at Massachusetts' quest for "a risk-free situation" and suggested the odds of serious accident are less than those of a 747 jetliner crashing into Boston's Fenway Park.

'Rebel' nun leaves monastery

MORRIS TOWNSHIP, N.J. — One of five rebel nuns who locked themselves in a monastery nearly six months ago to protest the modernization of their cloistered lifestyle has abandoned the protest and left the convent, saying the stress of the widely publicized conflict damaged her health.

Nicole Prescott, formerly known as Sister John of the Cross, left the Monastery of the Most Blessed Virgin Mary of Mount Carmel and returned Sunday to her family's home in Hillside, N.J.

Texas murderer executed

HUNTSVILLE, Texas — An inmate who bludgeoned a man to death because he was angry at netting only $11.50 in a robbery was executed by injection Wednesday morning after the Supreme Court denied his request for a stay.

Leon Rutherford King, 44, was pronounced dead at 1:27 a.m. EST.

King was the first Texas death row inmate put to death this year and the 30th in the state since 1982. Nationally, he was the 107th person executed since the Supreme Court lifted its ban on capital punishment in 1976.

The Supreme Court at 10:56 p.m. EST denied three separate applications by King for a stay of execution. Justices William Brennan and Thurgood Marshall dissented in all three appeals. In one appeal, Justices Harry Blackmun and John Paul Stevens joined in the dissent with Brennan and Marshall.

Judge blasts girl's care

By BRAD CHURCH and J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Seminole Circuit Judge Leonard Wood threatened Tuesday to hold the district administrator of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in contempt of court for failing to follow orders to obtain psychiatric treatment for a Seminole County teenager.

The state agency says it lacks the money to comply with the judge's order and it is not legal for the agency to spend money it doesn't have.

Judge Wood Tuesday ordered HRS administrator Paul Snead of Orlando to appear in Seminole Circuit Court April 6 to show why he should not be held in contempt.

The teenager was placed in HRS custody in February after she attempted suicide and the judge determined there was a possibility she might try again. HRS placed the girl in the Crisis Stabilization Unit in Sanford, a facility for adults with drug and alcohol abuse problems.

On Feb. 14 Judge Wood ordered HRS to transfer the girl to a facility which could provide psychiatric and educational services, but the girl remains in the adult facility.

Michael LaFaye, assistant public defender who represented the girl when HRS took custody of her, says the teenager suffers from severe depression but is not involved with drugs or alcohol. She has been held for 40 days with

"alcoholics and schizophrenics," he said.

LaFaye said outside the courtroom that she is in a "living hell" at the crisis unit. "It is the worst condition for any teenager, let alone diagnosed for depression," he said. "They are keeping her in a rogue's gallery of drug addicts, schizophrenics who hover around her, make advances to her. She has had to fend them off."

LaFaye applauded Wood's actions, saying they were appropriate and he showed "admirable constraint" given the situation the girl is in.

LaFaye accused HRS of trying to delay following Wood's order by legal strategy. "HRS is bogging down the system with procedural maneuvers: appeals, stay orders," LaFaye said.

Land requests swamp county commissioners

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County officials wrestled Tuesday afternoon with how best to cope with the increasingly long public hearings on land-use change requests that have become common because of the increasing population.

This month, for example, planning and zoning commissioners had scheduled two meetings to consider 20 proposed land changes throughout the county.

When planning and zoning commissioners could not complete their review of all the items before midnight the second night, a third meeting was set for March 15. Because of prior commitments, four of the seven members could not attend. The meeting was cancelled although about two dozen residents from Sanford Place had attended to protest certain changes. (Sanford Place is at the southeast corner of County Road 427 and Bedford Road. It had been incorrectly identified as Sanford Landing in an earlier county report.)

"Perhaps we are getting to a stage where we need to look at holding afternoon meetings," said Sue Lewis, chairman of the planning commission. "Have we outgrown the opportunity to stick to an evening schedule?"

"We have to be ready for it," said county commissioner Fred Streetman. "But I am convinced we are going about it the right way. We are providing time for people who have to work."

Tony VanDerworp, county planning director, said state law dictates that 5 p.m. is the earliest land use changes can be considered.

Harry Kwiatkowski, planning commissioner, said staff should try to predict how much time items may consume at a meeting. VanDerworp said the LONGWOOD — City commissioners have been urged to interview the top five candidates for the city administrator position soon.

Acting City Administrator Don Terry has suggested that the interviewing take place between Tuesday, April 4 and Saturday, April 8.

The Screening Committee of the Florida City and County Management Association narrowed the candidates to 10 from among 75 applicants nationwide.

The committee provided the city with two lists of five candidates each and recommended that the commissioners interview the first group. In the event a suitable candidate is not found from the first group, the commissioners could interview the second group.

The top five candidates are:

• Michael Abels, 40, who is city administrator of Defiance, Ohio. Abels holds a doctorate of public administration from Nova University, Ft. Lauderdale, a master's degree in political science from Ohio University in Athens, Ohio and a bachelor's degree in political science from Ohio University. Abels served for four years on the Executive Directors of Northwestern Ohio Community Action Commission. Between 1970-72, he was a United States Army advisor in Vietnam. He is married with two children.

• Steven R. Aynes, 36, who served as city manager of Geneva, Ohio, from March, 1985 until February of this year. He holds a Master of Public Administration from University of Dayton (Ohio) and a B.A. from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. For six years, Aynes was village manager of Constantine, Mich. He also served as administrative assistant to the city manager of Forest Park, Ohio.

• Donald B. Cooper, 38, who was town manager of Castle Rock, Colo. until February of this year. He is a Florida native. He holds a Master's degree in Public Administration from the University of Colorado and a B.A. in political science/history from the University of Colorado. For nine years, Cooper was the city administrator of Craig, Colo.

• Scott Hancock, 33, who is town manager of Centerville, Md., a position he has had for the past eight years. Hancock has an M.A. in management and supervision from Central Michigan University and a

Record number of acres going up in flames

From staff and wire reports

TALLAHASSEE — With the Florida wildfire season just beginning, the state has already seen more acres go up in smoke this year than the average over the last decade.

Central Florida has lost more acreage to wildfires in the first two months this year than in January and February last year, said district forester John Koehler. During January and February, 96 fires in Seminole, Orange, Brevard and Osceola counties claimed 3,331 acres. Koehler said. In the first two months of 1988, he said, 88 wildfires burned 816 acres.

Koehler said 18.4 acres have burned this year in Seminole County.

As of the start of this week, there had been 1,827 wildfires statewide since Jan. 1, only about 61 percent of the 10-year average for the period, said Assistant Chief Charles Maynard of the state Fire Control Bureau. But those fires scorched 86,624 acres, 13 percent above the average for the period.

There are nearly 35 million acres of land in Florida.

Fortunately, Maynard said, there has been no devastating damage so far this year, especially compared with 1981 and 1985, when flames consumed about 1 million total acres and hundreds of homes.

No damage estimate from wildfires this year is available, Maynard said.

"Acres burned is not really a good measure of damage," Maynard said. "It all depends on what burns in the fire."

Body found, local police seek suspect

SANFORD — Sanford police early today said they have a suspect in the stabbing death of a man whose body was found on a city sidewalk at about 6 a.m. today.

Police Chief Steven Harriett said details on the slaying of Tracy Brown, age and address not determined, were sketchy this morning.

A passer-by found Brown's body on a sidewalk on Sixth Street between Palmetto and Magnolia Avenues at about 6 a.m. today.

"He was apparently stabbed. We do have a suspect. We haven't located the suspect," Harriett said this morning.

'Cooling-off' resolution clears legislative hurdle

From staff and wire reports

TALLAHASSEE — A resolution that calls for a statewide vote on a cooling-off period for handgun purchases cleared a major legislative hurdle Tuesday when it was approved by a House committee.

"Eighty-four percent of the people across the state now say they are in favor of a waiting period for the purchase of a handgun," said Rep. Ron Silver, D-Miami, the sponsor of the resolution and chairman of the House Criminal Justice committee.

The committee approved the resolution by a 9-6 margin.

The bill, HJR 2, which must be approved by the House and the Senate, would allow residents to vote on whether they favor a seven-day waiting period before a handgun can be purchased in Florida.

Currently, nine counties have adopted some sort of waiting period but, under state law, that time can be no longer than three days. In Seminole County, commissioners have decided not to adopt a cooling-off period and several cities have urged them to reconsider.

Silver, who also heads "Cool It, Florida," an organization working to place the waiting period on the 1990 ballot via initiative petition, said the group already has collected more than 100,000 signatures.

Silver told members the constitutional amendment did not call for criminal background checks, only a waiting period.

He said he hoped if the amendment were approved by the people, the Legislature would adopt laws that required fingerprinting and criminal background checks of prospective handgun buyers.

But National Rifle Association lobbyist Marion Hammer told the Unions try to tighten screws on Lorenzo

MIAMI — Eastern's unions sought Tuesday to tighten the economic screws on owner Frank Lorenzo by urging consumers to boycott Eastern and sister airline Continental, and by raising concerns about safety at strike-bound Eastern.

In another development, Eastern proposed that its unions be included in a creditors committee expected to be formed Wednesday in the company's bankruptcy case.

The allegations of lax safety and the call for a boycott came one day after New York developer Donald Trump told Lorenzo he was no longer willing to pay $365 million for Eastern's shuttle operation.

Trump said the value of the shuttle linking New York, Boston and Washington has been undercut by the Eastern strike, which entered its 18th day Tuesday.

Mary Jane Barry, president of the flight attendants union at Eastern, urged the boycott at a news conference in front of the Continental ticket counter at Miami International Airport.

"Donald Trump is changing his mind on the purchase of the shuttle, and the world is closing in on America's No. 1 robber baron, Frank Lorenzo," she said.

Crawford opposes DOT bond bailout

TALLAHASSEE — Senate President Bob Crawford went on record Tuesday in opposition to the Department of Transportation's plan to ease its financial crisis by using bond proceeds intended to buy right of way.

"Using the funds from that bond issue to bail out the department from its self-imposed money woes is bad public policy. It will further tax the public's confidence in DOT, which is already at a historic low," Crawford wrote in a letter to Gov. Bob Martinez.

The DOT is suffering a budget crunch of $675 million because of mismanagement acknowledged by Transportation Secretary Kaye Henderson. Local governments and business interests fear the resulting road construction cutbacks could lead to development moratoriums across Florida.

The DOT has proposed offsetting the cutbacks by shifting $68 million next fiscal year from its current right-of-way budget to the construction budget. It would dip into the bond proceeds to replace the money.

Barry Inman, spokesman for DOT, denied the plan would amount to a breach of faith.

Bakker broadcast violates zoning law

PINEVILLE, N.C. — A zoning board has ordered Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker to stop broadcasting their television show from the living room of their home, apparently sparking their sudden desire to relocate to Florida.

The Bakkers have been broadcasting live from their rented Pineville home — a three-story log cabin — since Jan. 2, but the Mecklenburg County Zoning Commission has given them 60 days to stop.

The zoning commission, according to a report Tuesday night on Charlotte television station WBTV, said the Bakkers are in violation of an ordinance that precludes using a single family dwelling as a television studio.

"They are under an order to vacate the premises and cease the use it has been put to now," said Commissioner Charles Weekly. He said the order was issued March 8 and the Bakkers must stop using the home for the broadcast by May 8.

Last week, the Bakkers toured up in Florida where they inspected several sites, including the old Ormond Hotel at Ormond Beach, Fla., and a sports training center on Lake Helen.

But the hotel needs about $25 million in renovations and the owner of the Lake Helen location asked for an immediate $2 million toward the $5.5 million purchase price, then called off the deal when Bakker asked for a month to raise the money.

The Bakkers say they are also considering locations in California.

Committee discusses minority set-aside

TALLAHASSEE — House committee hearings began Tuesday to revamp Florida's set-aside program for minority-owned firms, following an unfavorable audit of the program and a Supreme Court ruling striking minority quotas.

Rep. Willie Logan, D-Opalocka, chairman of the Committee on Small Business and Economic Development, said the high court ruling in a Richmond, Va., case will not require that the Florida program be scuttled.

But it will require the state to demonstrate there has been discrimination against any minority group before they are eligible to participate under the Small and Minority Business Enterprise Act of 1985, Logan said.

The law says state agencies must attempt to steer 15 percent of their business to firms owned by minorities.

"You cannot generally assume a minority was discriminated against because they are a minority," Logan said.

Trident 2 missile destroyed in flight

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — A Trident 2 missile somersaulted end over end and exploded in a spectacular fireball four seconds after launch from a submarine Tuesday in a major failure for the first sea test of the Navy's deadliest weapon system.

With a lone Soviet trawler on hand to witness the brief flight, the three-stage $26.5 million missile, carrying a load of dummy warheads, was fired from the USS Tennessee at 11:20 a.m. EST while the giant submarine was cruising submerged east of Cape Canaveral.

Propelled from one of the Tennessee's 24 missile tubes by a powerful charge of compressed gas, the first stage of the 126,000-pound solid-fuel missile ignited as planned seconds after the rocket cleared the ocean surface. Almost instantly, the big missile began cartwheeling through the sky, witnesses said.

"It went up just like normal, it popped out of the water and then it spiraled around twice and then it exploded," photographer Bill Mitchell said by radio telephone from an observation ship 5,000 yards from the submarine.

"It got about two missile lengths above the water, it was like the engine gimbaled over to one side and then it made two quick loops, end over end. It cartwheeled ... and then it exploded."

An Air Force spokesman, reading a statement, said the first stage fired as planned and that a "malfunction during first-stage powered flight" caused it to "veer off course."

"It self-destructed after about four seconds of flight," he said. "Exact cause of the malfunction can't be determined until telemetry data is studied."

It was the fourth failure of a Trident 2 test flight in 20 launches dating back to January 1987 and was especially disappointing to the Navy because it came during the first sea test of the new weapon system.

The 44-foot missiles are thought to have a maximum range of up to 6,900 miles, depending on how many warheads are carried, and they are believed to be so accurate they can deliver an independently targetable nuclear bomb to within 400 feet of a target.

Critics claim that with such pinpoint accuracy the Trident 2 could be used to knock out "hardened" enemy command posts and missile silos and as such, it should be viewed as a "first-strike" offensive weapon. The missile system has been a frequent target for protesters at the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station since test flights began in January 1987.

The launch Tuesday was the 20th test flight of a Trident 2, built by Lockheed Missiles and Space Co. of Sunnyvale, Calif., but the first from a submarine.

The others were launched from a ground pad at the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station.

Mitchell said debris from the blast fell into the water near the submarine's location but Navy officials said the Tennessee was not damaged. In any case, the explosion created "lots of pieces" and a "mushroom cloud," Mitchell said.

"It was spectacular. It came out of the water, and made two quick cartwheels once the thing ignited and then it self-destructed above the water and then it fell right back on top of the sub."

The Defense Department's latest estimated cost of the Trident 2 program is $51.3 billion, including funding for research, development, procurement of 843 missiles and 11 Ohio-class submarines.

But the total cost of the program is uncertain because the Pentagon has not decided on the final Trident 2 force size.

Police break crack ring

United Press International

FORT LAUDERDALE — Police seized the records of an unlicensed accountant Tuesday, climaxing an investigation they said caused the demise of one of the largest crack cocaine distribution networks in the southeast.

Investigators from four agencies said they have made several arrests over the past 10 months. They seized the records of Othel Turner, who doesn't have an accounting degree and is not licensed in the state, in an attempt to determine how profitable the drug operation was and where the proceeds went.

"It's lots easier to get smugglers than to identify these middlemen," said Fort Lauderdale Police Chief Joe Gerwens.

So far 18 people have been arrested for running the elaborate Broward County drug network that smuggled crack in four states by hiding it in race cars, then laundered millions of dollars in profits by reinvesting through Turner's accounting company.

Those arrested due to the investigation dubbed "Operation Brickhouse" include Anthony and Beverly Kelly, who allegedly made at least $36 million annually through the sale of cocaine, and Oita "Billy" Palmer, who was picked up two weeks ago while carrying $75,000 in cash and a pound of marijuana.

The group became acquainted through the car racing circuit and became heads of two of the biggest cocaine supply networks in the county, said Lonnie Cooper, regional director of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

"They thrive off of each other's organizations and they feed off of people's misery," he said. "If you had asked me four years ago, I'd tell you they were street urethins. But they moved right up and now they are a worthwhile target."

Investigators said they initially tried to break the operation by getting information from street pushers.

Shuttle engine leak found

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA is assessing the impact of a small leak in one of the engines used by the shuttle Discovery during launch March 13, but officials said Tuesday they were optimistic Atlantis will make it off the pad on time next month.

Atlantis, being readied for launch April 28 on a showcase flight to send the $530 million Magellan Venus radar mapper on its way, was scheduled to be hauled from the Vehicle Assembly Building to launch pad 39B overnight for final preparations.

Discovery, meanwhile, which landed Saturday at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., to close out a successful five-day mission, is scheduled to be flown back to the Kennedy Space Center Friday atop a 747 jumbo jet for work to ready it for launch again in August.

NASA officials said late Tuesday that post-landing inspection revealed a small leak in the cooling system of main engine No. 1's combustion chamber.

"Initial indications are that, in one localized area, the layers of nickel and copper from which the combustion chamber is fabricated have begun to separate," the space agency said in a statement.

"To thoroughly assess the nature and origin of the leak, the engine will be removed from Discovery after it has been returned to KSC and taken to the manufacturer for disassembly, detailed inspection and evaluation."

Each main engine's combustion chamber, where oxygen and hydrogen burn at temperatures of 6,000 degrees, is cooled by supercold liquid hydrogen rocket fuel that is routed through a liner. Pressure inside the combustion chamber during engine operation reaches 3,000 pounds per square inch at full power.

State population center moves north

United Press International

GAINESVILLE — After drifting steadily toward the south for a century and a half, Florida's population center has shifted sharply in the opposite direction this decade, a University of Florida researcher says.

"At present, the state 'centroid' is located in central Polk County, about four miles east of the small town of Homeland," says Scott Cody of the university's Bureau of Economic and Business Research. The "centroid is the point where the state would balance if each resident had an equal weight. For example, if on a cardboard map of Florida an identical weight was placed at the location where each person lives, the population centroid would be the point at which the weighted map balanced perfectly on the point of a pencil."

In 1830, when the U.S. Census counted 34,730 state residents, Florida's population center was in Jefferson County in the extreme north.

"In the first half of the 19th century Florida, demographically speaking, was the panhandle," Cody says. "It had 70 percent of the state's population in 1830, but that proportion has declined steadily since then, reaching 7.5 percent in 1980."

"Mirroring the panhandle's decline has been the increase in south Florida's population. In 1830, less than 2 percent of the population — about 500 people — lived south of Lake Okeechobee. By 1980, south Florida's population had increased to almost 3.8 million, or more than 36 percent of the state's total."

"To put it in perspective, for every person living in the panhandle in 1830 there are now 83, but for every person living in the peninsula in 1830 there are now 1,079."

From 1830 on, "Florida's population, like the Suwannee River, flowed steadily toward the south and east," Cody says.

In 1980, that 150-year drift stopped.

"Since the beginning of this decade, the population centroid has moved toward the north — the first time in state history that population movement was not toward the south and the east," he says.

Cody, who reported the findings in a leaflet entitled, "Florida's shifting population center, 1830-1980," says the shift is explained primarily by the rapid population growth on both coasts of the peninsula.

"Originally, the high population concentration in the panhandle pulled the center far to the west," he says. "Now, 92 percent of the population lives in the peninsula, and the movement of the population center is controlled by that."

"The lack of room for expansion in Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties may also be a factor in the recent northward movement," he says. "Growth has shifted to a band of large but less densely populated counties in the center of the state, running from Hillsborough through Orange and up to Volusia County. Faster growth in this central area and slower growth in the Dade-Broward area would pull the population center to the north."

The '80s trend is likely to continue, Cody says.

"Although movements in Florida's population centroid are not likely to be as large in the future as they were in the past, the centroid will probably continue to drift slowly northward in future years, and perhaps even turn a bit toward the west," he says.

Cody's study is based on data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The robber who got away with $70, entered the store, covered his face, jumped over a counter and ordered the clerk to open the cash register. The robber threw the clerk to the floor and told her not to move. She told deputies she felt an object pressed to her back. The robber took the cash and fled.

Accused thieves found in transient camp

FERN PARK — Acting on a hunch that transients were responsible for several recent break-ins and thefts in the Casselberry area in the past month, Seminole County sheriff's deputies searched woods off Lake of the Woods Boulevard, Fern Park, and awakened three suspects sleeping in a camp.

The camp was stocked with some goods that were determined to be stolen and one man was wearing stolen pants. Investigator Tom Artingstall reported. One juvenile cooperated with investigators and was not arrested. A 17-year-old boy and Jeffrey Melwood Berry, 20, of no address, were arrested by sheriff's deputies in connection with the theft of a washer control device from an apartment complex laundry room in rural Casselberry. Casselberry police charged Berry with burglary and petty theft in connection with the theft of items from Quality Marine Supply, State Road 438. Charges are pending against the 17-year-old in that case. Both he and Berry were charged with grand theft and burglary by sheriff's deputies. Artingstall said a 24-year-old man is being sought in the case.

The arrests were made at about noon Tuesday.

Two arrested after cocaine sale

SANFORD — Two men allegedly involved in the sale of $20 worth of crack cocaine to an undercover City County Investigative Bureau agent outside Tony's Bar on 13th Street, Sanford, were arrested there at about 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Edward Lenard Blake, 32, of 48 Castle Brewer Court; and Richard Benard Frederick, 27, of 52 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, are charged with sale of cocaine and possession of cocaine with intent to distribute.

Agents reported Frederick go the cocaine he sold to the agent from Blake at the scene. When Blake was searched, agents reported finding a match box containing 31, large pieces of crack cocaine and the $20 bill the agent used to pay for the cocaine he bought.

Husband, wife jailed after fight

SANFORD — A husband and wife reportedly involved in a domestic fight, who were both allegedly cursing loudly when Sanford police were on the scene, have been charged with battery and disorderly conduct.

Police said Tinisha Thompson, 29, of 9 Lake Jenny Apartments, suffered cuts to her arms. Her husband, Curtis Lee Thompson, 29, of the same address, alleged she hit him in the face several times. Both were arrested at home at about 11 p.m. Bond is $500 each.

Two more charged in arson

CASSELBERRY — Seminole County sheriff's deputies who charged Randy A. Bross, 28, with arson following a fire Friday at the house of his estranged wife, Tuesday arrested two companions of Bross on charges of first degree arson and criminal mischief.

A Casselberry fire inspector ruled the fires set both inside and outside the house at 510 Invanhoe Way, to be arson. Clothing the suspects reportedly believed belonged to Bross' wife's boyfriend was burned and the den of the house set afire.

Arrested in the case Tuesday were David Brenner Coleman, 28, and Steven R. McCormack, 23, both of 1174-B Plaza Del Sol, Marbeye Club, Casselberry.

County jail inmate dies

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A Seminole County jail inmate died from apparent natural causes this morning in Sanford.

Calvin A. Copeland, 34, of 2315 Summerlan Ave., Sanford, who was jailed on charges of sale and possession of cocaine, apparently suffered a heart attack, authorities said. Capt. Roy Hughey said the cause of death will be confirmed in an autopsy.

Copeland, Hughey said, complained he was ill at about 1:45 a.m. today at the jail. He was examined by a jail nurse and returned to his cell at 1:55 a.m.

By 2:08 a.m. he complained again. At 2:10 a.m. a jail guard began CPR on Copeland and county fire department rescue workers were called in.

Copeland was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, at 2:31 a.m. He was pronounced dead at the hospital at 2:58 a.m. Hughey said there is no indication of foul play.

NASA chief Fletcher resigns

United Press International

WASHINGTON — NASA Administrator James Fletcher, called back to guide the space agency in the wake of the 1986 Challenger disaster, submitted his resignation Tuesday, effective April 8.

In a letter to President Bush, Fletcher said that with the resumption of shuttle flights last year, the time has come for him to move on.

"It has been a pleasure to serve you, both in your capacity as vice president and in recent weeks as president," Fletcher wrote. "I look forward to an eminently successful Bush presidency."

A NASA statement said the resignation is effective April 8, and Deputy Administrator Dale Myers will run the agency until Bush names a replacement for Fletcher. Possibly in the running for the job are former Apollo astronaut and former Eastern Airlines President Frank Borman and J.R. Thompson, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

Fletcher, who led the National Aeronautics and Space Administration from 1971 to 1977, was called in by President Reagan to take over the agency after the Jan. 28, 1986, Challenger disaster, which grounded the manned space program.

During Fletcher's latest tenure in office, NASA got money for a new shuttle to replace Challenger, completed a major management overhaul, kept the embattled space station alive and won congressional approval for an advanced solid-fuel rocket booster less susceptible to failure than current models.

Fletcher became NASA's fourth administrator April 27, 1971, after serving as president of the University of Utah for eight years. He left NASA the first time May 1, 1977.

During his first term, Fletcher presided over the critical formative years of the shuttle program.

Democratic power broker joins GOP

United Press International

PANAMA CITY — Former state Sen. Dempsey Barron, a long-time power broker in the Florida Democratic party, said Tuesday he was switching his allegiance to the Republican party.

Barron, who served in the Legislature for 32 years before his defeat last fall by Fort Walton Beach attorney Vince Bruner, made his announcement during a GOP recruiting drive in the Florida Panhandle, a Barron stronghold for years.

GOP officials collected Democratic voter registration cards in a wicker basket. They announced they had 518 party switchers from Bay, Jackson, Washington and Holmes counties, traditional Democratic strongholds.

"I have come here today for the purpose of announcing that from this day forward, I will register in the party that speaks the philosophy that I have spoken since I have been in the Florida Legislature," Barron said.

"You are not ever going to have the people of this state or the nation represented by the McGoverns, the Mondales and the Dukakises. We in the Republican Party had the Eisenhowers, the Bushes and the Reagans," Barron said.

Gov. Bob Martinez, state GOP Chairman Van Poole, Secretary of State Jim Smith and several other Republican powerbrokers began their one-day registration drive in Okaloosa County, where 76 Democrats switched to the GOP.

Among those signing GOP party cards were Okaloosa County Sheriff Larry Gilbert, Court Clerk Buddy Bracken, County Commissioner Ferrin Campbell and Laurel Hill Mayor Gene Clary.

Continental says business as usual

United Press International

HOUSTON — Continental Airlines reported "a handful" of flight delays Tuesday, the second day of a strike by flight attendants, and airline officials said they do not expect more workers to join the walkout.

The Union of Flight Attendants declined to reveal the size of their membership or say how many were taking part in the strike.

But Continental said the union represents only about 5 percent of its 6,500 flight attendants, and only about 50 did not report for work after the strike began Monday.

"No flights have been canceled," Continental spokesman David Measing said Tuesday. "There have been only a handful of inconsequential delays."

Protesters buoyed by Trident failure

United Press International

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — The failure of a Trident 2 missile test Tuesday led to new demands from peace activists that nuclear weapons be abandoned and the money spent on children, the poor and the homeless.

A Trident 2 missile somersaulted and exploded in a fireball just four seconds after launch from a Trident submarine off Florida, a major failure for the first sea test of the Navy's deadliest weapon system.

The test came as members of Witness for Disarmament continued their ninth annual Holy Week march from New Haven to Electric Boat Division in Groton, where the giant ballistic missile firing Trident submarines are built.

The failure of the Trident 2 missile, Hannan said, would help bring attention to the Christian group's cause of funneling money used for weapons to social causes.

Racism as seen by Rome

Virtually everywhere the Vatican looked on the face of the globe, it found racism. In its relatively short commentary on this pervasive human failing, the Pontifical Commission for Peace and Justice singled out for special attention the institutional racism found in the constitution and laws of South Africa, as well as anti-Semitism cloaked as anti-Zionism. Both deserve the Vatican's denunciation because each in its own way provides the underpinning for social, political and economic injustice.

"The Church and Racism" acknowledges failure by church leaders and its members over the years to stand up against racism as well as they should. It also emphasized the church's record of opposition to discrimination.

Regardless of one's interpretation of the church's history as it pertains to racism and discrimination throughout history, the important thing today is that the Vatican has spoken out forcefully against major forms of racism. The report contains instructive material for Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

In its comments on South African racism, perhaps the most perceptive point is that the situation "carries within it the seed of racist reflexes on the part of the oppressed, which would be as unacceptable as those of which they are victim today." Racists should hardly be surprised if they find themselves the object of racial hatred.

Referring to so-called anti-Zionism, the Vatican report again was quite perceptive. The rising anti-Semitism in many parts of the world has sometimes been traced to reactions to Israeli policies against the Palestinians. But, said the Vatican report, anti-Zionism "serves as a screen for anti-Semitism, feeding on it and leading to it." The distinction is worth noting, and is all too often ignored by those who would have their bigotry excused.

Keep SEC in the field

The Securities and Exchange Commission is supposed to protect investors against fraud by the professional money managers who advise them. But the SEC, understaffed and underfunded, has been giving only cursory oversight to the 14,400 individual investment advisers and firms registered with federal authorities.

To "solve" that problem, the SEC now proposes simply to give up registering investment advisers with fewer than 50 clients and less than $10 million of assets under management, leaving the task of regulating them to the states. That's a bad idea.

The SEC may be right that it is inefficient to subject small investment advisers to two different sets of rules and regulators, state and federal. But that argues for better coordination between state and federal efforts, not for the SEC to abandon the field altogether.

Rich kitsch comes to paradise

KOOLE, Hawaii — Once the headquarters of a thriving ranching and farming operation, this community on the Hawaiian island of Lanai is a ghost town today.

Still standing are only three of the town's original structures — the headquarters building of the Koole Co.; a house that provides shelter to a pair of aging cowboys; and a church awkwardly relocated to the front lawn of a hotel now under construction.

Both the relocation and the construction are the work of the Castle & Cook Co., which owns 98 percent of the 141-square-mile island and for much of this century has devoted its Lanai holdings almost exclusively to agriculture.

With 14,000 acres planted in pineapple and an annual harvest that accounts for one-fifth of the crop's global production, Castle & Cook boasts that the island is "the world's premier pineapple plantation."

Now, however, that is changing. Scheduled to be completed next year are the 102-room Lodge at Koole on the cool upland slopes at the center of the island and the 250-room Manele Bay Hotel on a bluff overlooking one of Hawaii's most spectacularly beautiful but least visited beaches.

Those hotels will drastically change the character of a bucolic island that never has had phony luaus, ersatz hula dances, fast food restaurants, sidewalk jewelry peddlers and other manifestations of "civilization" that have overwhelmed portions of other Hawaiian islands.

At the center of the controversy over the future of tourism in the state is hotel developer Christopher Hemmeyer, Hawaii's answer to Donald Trump. Like Trump, Hemmeyer is a master of compensating for tastelessness with gaudiness. Like Trump, he is making money almost faster than he can count it.

Hemmeyer's $350 million Westin Kaula has an immense reflecting pool that covers more than two acres and houses seven life-size marble horses constantly bathed by a 60-foot-high geyser of water spewed from a 54-ton fountain.

He is making money almost as fast as he can spend it.

The hotel on the island of Kauai also has a $2.5 million collection of Oriental and Pacific art, five Jacuzzis, dozens of Clydesdale-drawn carriages, swarms of live swans and artificial islands being stocked with cranes, gazelles, wallabies, kangaroos, zebras and llamas.

But Hemmeyer's most extravagant project is the newly opened $380 million Hyatt Regency Waikoloa, which modestly describes itself as "both the most expensive hotel ever built and 'the most spectacular resort on Earth.'"

Standing atop a lava bed on the island of Hawaii, that hotel has eight restaurants, 11 lounges, 20 massage rooms, 27 live pink flamingos and 1,640 transplanted palm trees. Guests are ferried around the resort in mechanically propelled boats or on a monorail train.

Tourists willing to pay the fees can sign up for a safari to hunt wild boar on the slopes of Mauna Kea, a helicopter visit to the windswept mouth of the active Kilauea volcano or a romp in the water with the hotel's eight dolphins.

Meanwhile, an Australian firm, Qintex Ltd., has paid almost $58 million for control of the Sheraton Mirage Princeville Hotel and a surrounding 7,000-acre resort on the north shore of the island of Kauai.

...THE PRESIDENT WANTED TO SPEND MORE MONEY ON EDUCATION, ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION, THE DRUG WAR AND SOCIAL PROGRAMS WITHOUT RAISING TAXES. WITH THAT, THE GENIE IN THE LAMP JUST LAUGHED AND LAUGHED...

Arrest of Mexican boss spells trouble

WASHINGTON — The recent arrest of the powerful godfather of Mexico's oil worker's union may lead to unprecedented violence against the new government of President Carlos Salinas de Gortari and anyone who tries to clean up the corrupt union.

Salinas put Joaquin Hernandez Galicia behind bars in January for murder and weapons charges. No other single act could have persuaded Mexico and Washington, D.C., that Salinas wants to tackle his country's endemic corruption.

Hernandez, known as "La Quina" (Little Joaquin), has made Mexican presidents tremble since he first took over the 200,000-member oil workers union in 1962. Salinas' predecessors feared that any move against the popular La Quina would result in sabotage of oil wells, or at least a strike that could further cripple the already troubled Mexican economy.

We conducted a three-year investigation of La Quina and it is clear that Salinas will need nerves of steel to keep La Quina behind bars. The last president of Mexico, Miguel de la Madrid, started out with the best intentions, too. But after two years of trying to clean up La Quina's union, de la Madrid gave up.

De la Madrid was elected in 1982 on promises of "moral renovation." La Quina did the new president a favor by throwing him a sacrificial lamb, Hector Garcia Hernandez, an aide to the union leader. Garcia was charged with stealing millions of dollars from the union, and decided he didn't want to be the fall guy. He fled to Texas, but armed thugs hauled him back to La Quina's house in Mexico, from which he was whisked into a Mexico City prison.

Garcia turned the tables, blaming La Quina for skimming money from the union. Garcia also wrote to President de la Madrid claiming that La Quina had resorted to assassination to retain control of the union.

While La Quina was letting Garcia take the fall, he was busy shoring up his power base. De la Madrid began to notice that critics of La Quina kept dying. One, Oscar Torres Panardo, was killed in 1983 when a truck crossed the road and struck the car in which he was riding. The driver of Torres' car was shot to death during the bizarre incident.

A few weeks after the car accident, the leader of one union local was forced out of his post at gunpoint by 50 of La Quina's thugs. The local leader had been an outspoken critic of La Quina and his buddies.

In November 1983, three people who were distributing anti-La Quina pamphlets were dragged into the office of a local union leader, robbed and threatened with death by "car accident."

In the spring of 1984, three union members were killed in Salamanca during a power struggle between pro- and anti-La Quina factions.

Finally, on May 31, 1984, the chief media critic of La Quina was murdered. Manuel Buendia, one of Mexico's best-known journalists who had been dubbed the "Jack Anderson of Mexico," was expertly assassinated by a lone gunman near his office in Mexico City.

De la Madrid threw in the towel. He flew to La Quina's hometown and made a speech, praising the union for making the oil industry "a model of honesty." La Quina began calling de la Madrid "our good friend," and the violence ended.

Salinas was well aware of that history before he arrested La Quina, and he knows it will take more than justice to make the charges against La Quina stick.

De la Madrid began to notice that critics of La Quina kept dying.

GEORGE F. WILL

Turmoil in the party apparatus

WASHINGTON — W.H. Auden said he could never be friends with anyone who liked his steak well done. There is something refreshing about that, a straightforward prejudice presented straightforwardly, not all dolled up as a philosophic principle. Perhaps we should regard politics that way in this especially depressing period.

We are 10 weeks into a new Congress that spent its first weeks in a cowardly minuet concerning a pay raise it seemed to deserve until the Senate spent additional weeks tracking down the swizzle sticks in John Tower's past and improvising rules of virtue for people imprudent enough to contemplate government service outside the safe haven of the legislative branch.

Now comes a fresh excuse for not focusing on important public business, such as a believable budget. Speaker Jim Wright is about to become the subject of another seminar on "ethics." Wright is certainly no subscriber to exacting standards of propriety, but what may be coming his way in the way of chastisement will be yet another episode in a tit-for-tat process of paybacks.

John Tower paid a price for the nature of last autumn's Bush campaign. (When you are deploring the trashing of Tower, remember the mud hurled at Dukakis concerning his alleged psychiatric problems.) Dukakis suffered for the Democrats' treatment of Robert Bork.

Posturing in Washington about peripheral matters (peripheral, that is, to great questions of governance) is bringing on a bitterness that should not be confused with seriousness. There is at work in Washington a political law of inverse proportionality: The anger invested in disputes today is inversely related to the real differences between the disputants.

For example, in the coming argument about the budget there will be sound and fury signifying unwillingness to allow the slight differences between the two sides to seem slight. The fix is in. Both sides are collaborating in sufficient frauds to facilitate a third year of violation of the Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction "law."

The mock debate about the budget will be an example of what Freud called "the narcissism of small differences," the exaggeration of small differences to give a little dispute the appearance of moral gravity. But there was acrimony when those specialists in that, the Democrats, gathered recently in Philadelphia.

The occasion was a meeting of the Democratic Leadership Council. It is one of those political organizations the title of which advertises what the group aspires to but has not attained. The DLC is not to be confused with the leadership of the Democratic Party.

The DLC is a redoubt of "moderates" (e.g., Virginia Sen. Chuck Robb) who met last week to get out of their system their usual argument: We should win by expanding our appeal to the middle class, not by deepening our appeal to our base among the lower orders. The DLC was visited in Philadelphia by the ambulance chaser of the Western world, Jesse Jackson, fresh from the class struggle, a stint walking the Eastern Airline picket line.

In Philadelphia, Ron Brown, the black man recently elected party chairman, said the predictable things about all Democrats pulling together. But then he did what only pessimists predicted: He waffled about attending, as he has promised to do, the democratic unity dinner in Chicago five days before the April 4 mayoral election.

Richard Daley, who is white, recently won the Democratic nomination, beating Mayor Gene Sawyer, who is black. Jesse Jackson is backing the independent candidacy of a black alderman, Tim Evans, against the nominee of his, Jackson's, party. The appropriately named Gus Savage, a rabble-rousing black congressman from Chicago, says that "when Ron Brown brings his Oreo-you-know-what into Chicago, I'll guarantee I'm going to help organize a reception party for him at the airport and to follow him all the way to some white hotel to denounce his coming into Chicago."

The Washington Post delicately describes Savage as "outspoken." National Democrats, their moralism depleted by the Tower crusade, have no words of censure for Savage.

At least national Republicans reacted strongly against the odious right-winger who, running as a Republican, won a Louisiana state legislative seat. (When asked about his statement questioning whether the Holocaust occurred, David Duke "explained" thusly: "I believe there are certainly atrocities in the war.") And Republican leaders in Arizona are fighting the hijacking of their party by lunatics who have made the party officially declare that the United States is "a Christian nation" and "a republic based upon the absolute laws of the Bible, not of democracy."

Arizona politics is not the narcissism of small differences, but it is symptomatic of the political temper of the time, heat without seriousness.

Wright is certainly no subscriber to exacting standards of propriety.

Stocks open higher

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened slightly higher Wednesday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues as investors digested an unexpectedly favorable report on the economy.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 3.75 Tuesday, was up 0.36 to 2266.61 shortly after the market opened.

Advances edged declines 338-317 among the 1,110 issues crossing the NYSE tape. Early turnover amounted to about 7,401,000 shares.

In economic news, the Commerce Department said new orders for durable goods posted their second consecutive monthly decline in February, rather than rising as expected.

It was the first back-to-back monthly decline since the spring of 1986, when declines occurred over four consecutive months, the department said.

The market rallied at the opening on news that inflation at the consumer level rose 0.4 percent in February.

Dollar opens lower

United Press International

The dollar was lower Wednesday in early New York trading against key foreign currencies following a larger-than-expected drop in durable goods orders for February. Gold eased slightly.

The Commerce Department reported new orders for big-ticket durable goods fell a seasonally adjusted 3.6 percent in February from a revised 2.9 percent decline in the preceding month.

January durable orders had originally been reported to have declined 2.7 percent.

It was the first back-to-back monthly decline since the spring of 1986, when declines occurred over four consecutive months, according to the department's Census Bureau.

Market expectations had been for a 0.6 percent rise in durable goods orders and traders in New York said the sharp drop took many by surprise.

of saw grass and not hurt as bad as a 10-acre fire that takes commercial timber or a couple homes."

Homes have been threatened this year, notably in the Palatka area during a fire that burned about 400 acres. The region between Daytona Beach and Jacksonville also was badly burned in 1985.

In 1985 a fire took down power lines in south Florida and cut electricity to Miami, Maynard said. That nearly happened last month during a 10,000-acre fire in Broward County's Everglades.

"This is the increasing problem in Florida," Maynard said. "In the past forest fires were just that and they burned only forest. Now we have what is being called the 'wildland-urban interface' as people move their homes further out from the city."

Flames have not killed anyone this year, but two volunteer firefighters died after a tractor-trailer rammed their pumper truck in thick smoke billowing across Interstate 75 in Sumter County Feb. 27.

March, April and May are traditionally fire season in Florida, Maynard said, because the months are a dry transition period, both in rainfall and in condition of plants, from winter to summer.

This year winter was not as wet as normal, with some areas of the state having received 7 inches or more below average. Dry conditions increase fire danger.

"The whole state is susceptible," Maynard said. "Of course with so many of our fires started by humans, the more people you have in a place the more ignitions you're going to have."

Only about 10 percent of Florida's wildfires are caused by lightning, Maynard said. People start all the rest. Up to a third of all wildfires can be traced to arson or careless debris burning.

staff tries to do that when scheduling hearings. But Streetman said the county also groups the proposed land changes geographically so people who want to speak to more than one item in their area won't have to wait a long time for the second item to come up.

Sandra Glenn, county commission chairman, said county staff should set a maximum number of items per meeting and when that number is exceeded, another meeting should be set. "Some meetings might get out at 8:30, but I don't think you'll see many going past midnight," Glenn said.

On another issue, the two boards asked the staff to consider the possibility of county staff posting signs announcing a zoning change on a piece of property and making sure they stay up where residents can see them.

The signs are now issued to the landowner or developer to be posted in a noticeable place on the property for at least 15 days before the hearing, but they are often torn down or are not placed on the property at all, said Herb Hardin, county land management director.

When residents near the property complain to planning commissioners they didn't see the sign because it was in the back of the property or it wasn't up at all, Lewis said she didn't think there was anything they could do.

Glenn told Lewis county commissioners refuse to issue a decision on the case and require the landowner to reapply for the rezoning within a certain time or be denied.

committee there is no indication a waiting period would help cut the crime rate. She also said she would not object personally to an on-the-spot criminal record check via computer when a handgun is purchased.

But Hammer did say the NRA was opposed to a combination of a waiting period and a criminal history check.

"I don't think this kind of issue belongs in our constitution," said Hammer. "We do not support background checks with fingerprinting. We never have and we never will."

Hammer said federal studies show criminals do not buy their guns from legal sources, but Silver cited the same studies and said the showed about 20 percent of the prison inmates surveyed said they had purchased their weapons via legal gun outlets.

Silver also said the waiting period would help curtail spur-of-the-moment slayings and crimes that occur because guns now are readily available in Florida.

The joint resolution must be approved by the House and Senate before it goes on the 1990 ballot.

Judge

Jeff Deen, assistant state attorney, said holding the girl in a center for adults is a violation of state law.

However, HRS attorney Jim Sawyer disagreed.

Sawyer also said the agency has not complied with Wood's order because it has run out of money and it is not possible to find a psychiatric hospital bed for the girl that is within the agency's budget.

A nurse at the crisis unit told the judge that the girl is the only juvenile there and that her condition has worsened since she was admitted because other residents of the center taunt and proposition her.

Judge Wood said officials at West Lake Hospital in Longwood, a psychiatric facility, have agreed to admit the girl as soon as a bed becomes available. "The hospital is willing to take this lady so long as the court orders HRS to pay for the treatment at the discounted rate offered to the state," Wood said.

"It is most disturbing to me that we try to provide an atmosphere for young children to respect the law, and when it comes to a life and death situation, the largest agency in the state feels above the law," he said.

LaFay said he will continue to follow the case and has heard HRS will try to move the girl soon, although he did not know when.

HRS officials here and in Tallahassee could not be reached for comment.

Youth killed in spring break crash

INDIAN WELLS, Calif. — One youth was killed and three of his friends were critically injured Tuesday in the second fatal car crash involving students vacationing during spring break in the Palm Springs area.

Jon Gregory Treadway, 18, of La Mesa, Calif., was killed instantly when he lost control of the 1989 Jaguar he was driving on Highway 111 about noon and crashed head-on into a palm tree, Riverside County Sheriff's Deputy Gary Eukhelmer said.

His three passengers were all critically injured and taken to local hospitals. They were identified as Jon Posto, 20; Sean Kelly, 19, both of San Diego; and Ramon Summers, 19, of Lemon Grove.

Witnesses told authorities the Jaguar was speeding when it crashed. It was not immediately known if the driver had been drinking.

On Sunday, Sylvia Flores, 22, of Santa Ana, was killed when the speeding pickup truck she was riding in careened out of control at about 80 mph and flipped over on a Palm Springs street.

Both accidents involved some of the 50,000 to 100,000 high school and college students who converge on the desert resort communities each year during spring break.

Yesterday's hero, today's jailbird

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — One week ago, Jim Stack was declared a hero. Now he's in jail.

Stack, 30, was praised by police last week for disarming a man who went berserk on a Greyhound bus, killing a college student and seriously injuring another passenger.

Upon hearing of Stack's heroics, a security agency offered him a job. But, a background check turned up a Texas arrest warrant for parole violations stemming from a 1982 rape conviction.

Stack was paroled for the offense, but instead of reporting to a parole officer in Harris County, Texas, he came to Bloomington, where he had gone to high school, authorities said.

From a city jail cell Tuesday, a cheerful Stack said he would do it all over again even if his heroic actions end up costing him his freedom.

Bloomington Police Chief Mike Miller said he would write a letter on Stack's behalf to the Texas parole board asking members to weigh the events of last Tuesday when considering Stack's future.

Winnetka police to get Uzis

WINNETKA, Ill. — The Village Board Tuesday approved its 1989 fiscal budget, including an allocation to upgrade the arsenal of the 25-member police force with six Uzi submachine guns and 29 semi-automatic revolvers.

"This is not a carryover from the Laurie Dann incident," said Herbert Timm, police chief of the affluent north shore suburb that made national news 10 months ago when a deranged baby-sitter burst into an elementary school and opened fire on a class of second graders.

"We had been studying this at least a year prior to that," Timm said. "Our shotguns are 20- to 25-years-old and are no longer safe for the officers or the community. The 9 millimeter Uzi is a perfect weapon for us."

Many residents, however, objected to the purchase of the Israeli-made weapons and were disappointed when they were not allowed to speak before Tuesday night's vote.

Woman gives birth in subway

NEW YORK — A 25-year-old homeless woman who told police "I am ready" gave birth early Tuesday to a baby girl in a toilet room of a busy subway station.

Transit Authority spokesman Al O'Leary said the woman approached a token booth clerk in the station beneath Rockefeller Center during the morning rush hour and reported she was in labor.

O'Leary said the two officers, Keith Rivers and Mike Piaciotta, found Martha Davis, 26, who told the officers: "I am ready."

The officers took the woman to a toilet room in the station where she gave birth to a girl, O'Leary said.

Mother and child were taken to Roosevelt Hospital where both were reported in good condition.

Of the delivery, Rivers said, "She did all the work."

O'Leary said the woman told officers she was homeless.

Debut films dominate theaters

HOLLYWOOD — Newcomers dominated North America's movie houses last week, with "Fletch Lives," a Chevy Chase vehicle, leading the debut pack with $8 million at the turnstiles.

The other new films at the top of the weekly chart were "Leviathan," No. 2, and "The Rescuers," No. 4. "Lean on Me," in its second week, was No. 3.

Rounding out the top five was Academy Award favorite "Rain Man."

Chase's sequel to "Fletch," the continuing saga of a seedy, wiseguy investigative reporter, opened even stronger than the original in 1,479 theaters.

Second-ranked "Leviathan," an underwater sci-fi yarn, made its debut on 1,393 screens and netted $5 million. It stars Peter Weller and Richard Crenna as intrepid adventurers.

"Lean on Me" grossed $3.6 million. The drama stars Morgan Freeman as Joe Clark, the real life Paterson, N.J., high school principal. It dropped 21 percent and out of the No. 1 spot.

Court hears flag burning case

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The lawyer for a man sentenced to prison for burning the American flag told the Supreme Court the Texas law against such action strikes at the heart of First Amendment protections for unpopular speech.

Noted civil liberties attorney William Kunstler presented his argument Tuesday in a case brought by the state of Texas, which is seeking to reinstate a one-year prison term given to a protester who burned the flag during a rally against Reagan administration policies.

The demonstrator, Gregory Lee Johnson, was convicted under a Texas statute prohibiting someone from desecrating a national or state flag in a way that would "seriously offend" observers.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled on April 20, 1988, that Johnson's protest was a legitimate act of dissent protected under the First Amendment guarantee of free speech and expression.

Kunstler said framers of the Constitution never intended to exempt views that might be regarded as unpopular or distasteful from the First Amendment.

"The right to hear things, to see things that we hate, such as flag burnings ... test the First Amendment," Kunstler said. "We don't need a First Amendment for things that we like."

But Kathi Drew, assistant district attorney for Dallas County, Texas, noting that freedom of speech is not absolute, argued that the state had "compelling interests ... that will override this individual's symbolic speech rights."

One such interest, Drew said, is the "prevention of a breach of peace" or violence that could be sparked by flag burning.

"It is merely fortuitous — it is our good luck — that a breach of peace did not occur with the desecration of this flag," she said. A second compelling interest of the state, Drew said, is the "preservation of the flag as a symbol of nationhood and national unity."

But Justice Antonin Scalia, a consistent conservative on the court, said he doubted that the desecration of the flag would "make it any less a national symbol."

Justice Sandra Day O'Connor asked whether a copy of the Constitution should be considered an even greater symbol of nationhood worthy of special treatment by the constitution.

"I was going to ask about the state flower," Scalia added to laughter.

Kunstler insisted that the case turns on a statute that "singles out communicative impact for punishment" and that the court had "no compelling interest worth considering."

"There's no breach of peace here and no imminent breach of peace at all," he added.

As to the state's identification of the flag as a special sign of veneration and national unity, "it may have different meanings to other people out there," Kunstler said.

Previously, the court has struck down laws requiring citizens to show a special deference for the flag.

In 1943, the court ruled that a West Virginia law requiring children to salute the flag and recite the Pledge of Allegiance was unconstitutional. In 1974, the justices ruled that Washington state officials could not prosecute a man who placed a peace symbol on the flag.

The flag burning case arose Aug. 22, 1984, when Johnson was arrested during the Republican National Convention for burning an American flag in front of the Dallas City Hall. Johnson said his action was a symbolic protest of Reagan administration policies.

While the flag burned, 40 to 50 protesters chanted, "America, the red, white and blue, we spit on you."

Texas murderer executed by injection

United Press International

HUNTSVILLE, Texas — An inmate who bludgeoned a man to death because he was angry at netting only $11.50 in a robbery was executed by injection Wednesday morning after the Supreme Court denied his request for a stay.

Leon Rutherford King, 44, was pronounced dead at 1:27 a.m. EST.

King was the first Texas death row inmate put to death this year and the 30th in the state since 1982. Nationally, he was the 107th person executed since the Supreme Court lifted its ban on capital punishment in 1976.

The Supreme Court at 10:58 p.m. EST denied three separate applications by King for a stay of execution. Justices William Brennan and Thurgood Marshall dissented in all three appeals. In one appeal, Justices Harry Blackmun and John Paul Stevens joined in the dissent with Brennan and Marshall.

The move came after the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Tuesday afternoon refused to grant a stay for King. U.S. District Judge Sim Lake of Houston Monday refused King's stay request.

When told of the Supreme Court ruling at 11:05 p.m. EST Tuesday, King said, "Thank You," and returned to the Bible he had been reading since 10 p.m., Texas Department of Corrections officials said.

King, who did not request a last meal, arrived at 5:38 p.m. at the facility and was visited by his attorney at about 9:40 p.m., officials said.

King, a high school dropout from Bay City, twice was tried and sentenced to death for the April 10, 1978, murder of Michael Clayton Underwood of Baytown.

Underwood was beaten to death with the butt of a shotgun after he and his 19-year-old girlfriend were kidnapped at gunpoint from a Houston nightclub. Investigators said the woman was raped repeatedly by King and a 16-year-old accomplice.

Trial testimony showed King killed Underwood after becoming enraged that the pair had only $11.50 between them.

"You've found me guilty of one of the brutal murders in Houston," King told jurors at his trial.

Congress sends Bush whistleblower legislation

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The House approved and sent to the president legislation to give federal employees who expose waste, fraud and abuse in government additional safeguards against firings or other punishment.

The first substantive bill adopted in the 101st Congress, it cleared the Senate last week on a 97-0 vote and was approved by the House with a voice vote Tuesday. President Bush is expected to sign the measure, nearly identical to legislation that was pocket-vetoed last year by President Reagan.

"This marks the final stretch of a long and winding road in our efforts to re-establish protections for federal employees who blow the whistle on waste, fraud and abuse," said Rep. Gerry Sikorski, D-Minn., the bill's floor leader in the House.

"The only way you're going to find about (fraud) is if people on the inside can talk to us and we can protect them," said Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., a major force behind the legislation.

"It's not just the Defense Department, it's the savings and loan crisis. It's everything that occurs every day of the week," she declared. "It's absolutely essential."

The bill's key features, fundamentally unchanged from the vetoed version, would establish a simpler and fairer standard for whistleblowers to prove retaliation by their bosses and would give them the right to appeal their own cases to the Merit Systems Protection Board if the government's Office of Special Counsel fails to do so.

The legislation requires the special counsel to work in the interest of whistleblowers and gives them increased procedural protection as well as guarantees of confidentiality.

When the bill was on the Senate floor, Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., termed federal employees who risk their jobs, families and health to expose waste and corruption the "frontline soldiers in the battle to save the taxpayers money."

"Giving real protection to these whistleblowers is a very simple and very effective way to cut cost overruns and save taxpayers dollars," Levin said. "All too often, federal employees are faced with extraordinary pressures not to expose waste and mismanagement by their agencies."

The senator cited surveys indicating 70 percent of federal employees with knowledge of fraud do not report it because they fear retaliation.

Cheney sworn in as secretary of defense

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush led the ceremonial swearing-in of Defense Secretary Dick Cheney at the Pentagon and issued a warning against making unilateral cuts in U.S. or NATO forces based on Soviet reforms.

"Let me say clearly: Now is not the time for America and its allies to make unilateral reductions, to relax our defense efforts," Bush said Tuesday at the outside ceremony attended by dignitaries, politicians and Pentagon employees.

Under cloudy skies and in a brisk wind, Bush watched as Cheney was sworn in as the nation's 17th defense secretary in the center courtyard of the Pentagon — an area jokingly called nuclear "ground zero" by those who work there.

Cheney, 48, the former assistant House Republican leader, was officially sworn in Friday but Tuesday's ceremony was intended to show that the Defense Department is ready to go to work after nearly two months without a leader.

Bush told thousands of Pentagon employees watching the ceremony, rich with military pomp, that while he is "positive" about the changing Soviet policy under Mikhail Gorbachev, there are "still more questions than answers."

"We should continue our successful policy of flexibility combined with strength and firm resolve," Bush said.

At a time of tight federal budgets, some members of Congress have proposed reducing U.S. troop levels in Western Europe. Gorbachev's low-key style has also led to suggestions in NATO countries of scaling back military forces.

Cheney, a conservative former six-term member of the House and former chief of staff to President Gerald Ford, followed Bush's lead after being sworn in by Judge Lawrence Silverman of the Circuit Court of Appeals, Washington, D.C.

In his first address as defense secretary, Cheney said that "caution is in order" despite "those who want to declare the Cold War ended."

"Until we see a significantly lessened military capability on the part of the Soviets, we cannot possibly justify major reductions on our own," Cheney said.

Bush called for a "steady, moderate and affordable increase" in U.S. defense spending after 1990. And Cheney, declaring he is "ready and eager to serve," vowed to make "the hard choices" as to which programs are to be cut or funded.

Cheney appeared ready to move quickly. He informally tabbed close associates from the House to be his advisers at the Pentagon and he promised to meet major fast-approaching deadlines on budget and weapons decisions.

A day earlier, the White House forwarded to the Senate the nomination of General Motors executive Donald Atwood to be deputy defense secretary — an appointment announced when Tower was still defense secretary-nominee.

Cheney may also launch a media blitz. Tentative plans were for him to hold a news conference Wednesday, appear on the three network TV morning news shows Thursday and give interviews to the wire services Friday.

The Pentagon has been without a new leader since Bush took office Jan. 20, primarily because of the administration's long, unsuccessful fight for Senate confirmation of Bush's first nominee — former Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

When the Senate earlier this month rejected Tower's confirmation, 53-47, to end a bitter and divisive debate that centered on allegations about Tower's personal life, Bush moved quickly and nominated Cheney 24 hours later.

In contrast to Tower, Cheney, a popular former congressman from Wyoming, flew through the confirmation process and was confirmed unanimously by the Senate last Friday — one week after Tower's defeat.

When Cheney settles into the Pentagon, he will face fast-approaching deadlines and overdue personnel decisions.

Most pressing will be the budget cutting decisions due before Congress the week of April 9. Under Bush's orders, Cheney must find $6 billion to cut from President Reagan's $315 billion defense budget for 1990.

A full strategic review due May 9 will include the delayed choice between the rail-garrison basing mode for the 10-warhead MX missile and the single-warhead Midgetman, the direction of the Strategic Defense Initiative or "Star Wars" program, and the future of the $500 million B-2 Stealth bomber.

A study of Pentagon management is due the same day.

Adams: 'I'm not free yet'

United Press International

DALLAS — Randall Dale Adams, the convicted police killer whose guilt was questioned by the documentary film "The Thin Blue Line," said he hopes to be home in Ohio by Thursday now that he has been released pending a possible retrial.

"I feel pretty good," Adams said Tuesday following his release. "It's nice to be out. But no, I'm not free yet."

Adams, 40, was ordered freed on a $50,000 personal recognizance bond, which means he did not have to put up any money, but will owe the sum if he fails to appear for future court hearings.

Dallas County District Attorney John Vance said his office has not decided whether to retry Adams for the 1976 slaying of police officer Robert Wood.

In a television interview hours after his release with ABC's Nightline program, Adams said he wants a new trial to clear his name.

"That is what I've asked for for 12 1/2 years. I've always said that," Adams said, adding that being a convicted murderer is like "a leper in the eyes of society."

"I'm not afraid of that, no," Adams said about a new trial. "I believe we will win. I believe we have the evidence to prove it."

Erroll Morris, the filmmaker who made "The Thin Blue Line," told reporters, "I can't believe that they would ever bring this case to trial again. They have no witnesses, they have no evidence, they have no case."

Asked what he most wants to do now that he is free, Adams said, "I am still looking forward to going home. It will probably be tomorrow (Wednesday) or the next day. But that is what I've been looking forward to for 12 1/2 years, to go home to the love of the family."

Adams said waiting for him are his mother, two sisters and various other relatives.

Adams walked out of Dallas County Jail at 5:10 p.m. and it was believed he would first head for Houston before being reunited with his family.

Despite spending 12 years in prison for a crime he may not have committed, Adams said he still believes in God, and he told reporters, "I'm going to walk around in his cathedral ... not Dallas County's," referring to the county jail.

In New York, Mark Lipson, producer of the documentary, said he was "thrilled" by Adams' release. "Now when we want to talk to Randall Adams, we can look him in the eye instead of looking through 4 inches of steel bars," he said. "Now what we're waiting for is the district attorney's office ... to admit they made a mistake."

Adams, of Columbus, Ohio, was convicted in April 1977 of killing officer Wood on Nov. 28, 1976. His quest for a new trial took on momentum with the release of "The Thin Blue Line," which contained substantial evidence that Adams was innocent and created sympathy for him throughout the country.

Another Texas death row inmate, David Ray Harris of Vidor, Texas, has all but confessed to killing Wood. At Adams' original trial, Harris said he watched Adams shoot the officer during a traffic stop. Harris has since testified that Adams was not even in the car at the time of the shooting.

Adams' lawyer, Randy Schaffer, filed a motion for a new trial before state District Judge Larry Baraka, who on the basis of testimony during hearings in December recommended that the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overturn Adams' conviction and grant him a new trial.

Baraka said the prosecution, and specifically former assistant district attorney Doug Mulder, misled the jury, allowed perjured testimony from a key witness and withheld crucial documents from the defense. The appeals court agreed and overturned the conviction on March 1.

Adams was within hours of freedom Monday when state District Judge Ron Chapman overturned the $50,000 personal recognizance bail previously set by Baraka, and required that Adams post a $100,000 cash or surety bond. Chapman said Baraka should not have set bail because prosecutors were seeking to have Baraka removed from the case.

Chapman, the chief administrative judge of Dallas County, reversed that action Tuesday.

House GOP expects close race for No. two spot

United Press International

WASHINGTON — House Republicans expected a close contest Wednesday as they selected an assistant GOP leader to succeed former Rep. Dick Cheney, R-Wyo., who resigned from the House to become the defense secretary.

The election came down to a contest between two men with starkly contrasting styles — Rep. Newt Gingrich of Georgia, a conservative firebrand, and Rep. Edward Madigan of Illinois, a low-key moderate little known outside Washington and his home district.

The election also was being held at a time when the leadership of the majority House Democrats is in uncertainty because of an ethics investigation of

Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas.

Madigan, 53, claimed to have lined up the votes of 93 of the 174 House Republicans, five more than needed to win, but Gingrich, 45, expressed confidence he would win the secret ballot.

However, the race was confused by the role of Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., a highly popular conservative who had not declared his candidacy but who was expected to be nominated. At the urging of the Illinois delegation, Hyde stayed out of the race to clear the way for Madigan.

Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., said last week he would nominate Hyde "whether some like it or not." Solomon said Hyde is widely regarded as the best choice to become Republican leader if the current leader, Rep. Robert Michel of Illinois, retires after one or two more terms.

Madigan, a member of the House since 1973, was seen as the candidate of the older, more moderate wing of the party in the House. As ranking Republican on the Agriculture Committee and on the Energy and Commerce subcommittee on health and the environment, Madigan has forged effective working relations with the Democratic majority and thereby wielded considerable influence on legislation.

Gingrich, a former history professor, was making his first bid for a leadership post. He was first elected to the House in 1978 and quickly staked out a role as leader of a group of conservative

"Young Turks" who often urged the GOP leadership to adopt a more aggressive approach in dealing with the Democrats.

He gained national media attention with his demands for strict disciplinary action against House members accused of ethics violations, and he was the most vocal and persistent of those calling for an ethics committee investigation of Wright.

That investigation, which was begun in June, was completed last month and the committee this week began deliberating whether the massive report points to any violations of House rules. The panel is not expected to reach a decision until next month, but many House Democrats fear the report will fault Wright and undermine his position as speaker.

Government gives report on pollution

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Industries spew about 2.4 billion pounds of toxic pollutants into the air each year with the highest levels occurring in Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia and Ohio, federal officials said Wednesday.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., released preliminary Environmental Protection Agency estimates that for the first time document massive emissions of some 320 chemicals, including 60 known carcinogens as well as numerous other chemicals that poison the nervous system.

In addition to revealing the magnitude of toxic air pollution, Waxman said the EPA data also disclosed some surprises.

"For example, the state of Kansas is the site of the release of some 69,000 pounds annually of phosgene, a potent neurotoxin which killed thousands when used as a nerve gas in World War I," Waxman said. "Well over three-quarters of the national emissions of this compound originate in Kansas."

The data were obtained under the community "right-to-know" law enacted by Congress in 1986, which for the first time required U.S. industries to disclose the amount of toxic air pollutants being emitted from smokestacks.

Waxman, chairman of a House health and environment subcommittee, released the data as congressional debate over reauthorization of the federal Clean Air Act is progressing. Waxman is expected to lead the forces trying to substantially toughen regulation of toxic air emissions.

Waxman said the health threat of toxic industrial emissions was hard to establish because of uncertainties about actual human exposure and a lack of knowledge about the effects of many chemicals.

"Nevertheless, it is clear that the release of 2.4 billion pounds of toxic pollutants into the nation's air supply is a serious public health problem," he said.

Waxman cited a 1986 EPA study that concluded emissions of 20 toxic chemicals caused more than 2,000 cancer cases annually nationwide. He said other studies have concluded people living near chemical plants, and city dwellers, face greatly increased risks of contracting cancer.

The EPA data showed the chemical industry was the largest emitter of toxic air pollution, releasing an estimated 886.5 million pounds per year.

Following the chemical industry were the primary metal industry, which releases 215 million pounds annually; paper, 207 million pounds; transportation equipment, 192 million pounds; rubber and plastics, 132 million pounds; and fabricated metal, 110 million pounds.

The state with the largest annual releases was Texas, where roughly 230 million pounds of toxic air pollutants are emitted annually.

Seven other states had more than 100 million pounds of toxic emissions per year: Louisiana, 134 million pounds; Tennessee, 132 million pounds; Virginia, 131 million pounds; Ohio, 122 million pounds; Michigan, 106 million pounds; Indiana, 103 million pounds; and Illinois, 103 million pounds.

The states with the lowest releases were Hawaii, with 957,778 pounds; Nevada, 1.2 million pounds; Vermont, 1.3 million pounds; North Dakota, 1.3 million pounds; and South Dakota, 1.9 million pounds.

Waxman said the Clean Air Act called for prompt EPA regulation of toxic air emissions, but the agency had set limits for only seven substances in the 19 years since the law was first enacted by Congress.

"The agency has been able to avoid the Clean Air Act mandate for regulation of air toxics by declining to formally designate clearly dangerous substances as toxic," he said.

For example, he said the agency has not listed as toxic such substances as formaldehyde, PCBs and chloroform, all of which have been regulated in the workplace by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Japanese military jet crashes

TOKYO — A Japanese air force jet crashed into the East China Sea off southwestern Japan during a training flight Wednesday, killing both officers aboard, the Defense Agency said.

The agency said the Japanese-built T-2 supersonic jet plunged into the Pacific off Kyushu, the southernmost of Japan's four main islands. The aircraft was one of four participating in a training exercise.

The bodies of two officers were recovered by a rescue helicopter, the agency said.

The T-2 (two-seater) was developed by Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd. as Japan's first domestically-built supersonic jet trainer in 1971.

The victims were identified as 2nd Lt. Tatsuo Masaki, 33, and Maj. Toshihiro Kawasaki, 38.

Vietnam allows group to aid Amerasians

BANGKOK, Thailand — Vietnam has authorized a private American charity for the first time to provide housing, food and medical care to the half-Vietnamese children fathered by Americans during the Vietnam War, a U.S. doctor said Wednesday.

"The Vietnamese government has given us permission to examine, treat and immunize Amerasian children in Ho Chi Minh City (formerly Saigon)," said Dr. Charles Mitchell, medical director of the private, Hawaii-based Foundation for Amerasian Children's Emergency Support (FACES).

Mitchell, who is also director of emergency services at Maul Memorial Hospital, said it was the first time since 1975 that such permission had been given to American medical personnel.

He said that FACES had also been given official permission to provide housing and food to the hundreds of homeless Amerasian children living on the streets of Ho Chi Minh City.

FACES founder and director, John Rogers of Honolulu, was still in Vietnam trying to rent a building to shelter at least 50 Amerasian street children, Mitchell said.

Mitchell, who returned earlier this week from his third trip to Vietnam, said he worked with three Vietnamese doctors and three Vietnamese nurses to examine, treat and immunize 41 homeless Amerasians.

He said he used Soviet-made tetanus vaccines, but also delivered donations of polio, diphtheria and tetanus immunizations from Connaught Labs in Swiftwater, Pa.

He said he completed a study of the health problems of Amerasians which found that 78 percent had ongoing medical problems.

Climbers killed in Himalayan avalanche

KATMANDU, Nepal — An avalanche crashed into a group of Japanese climbers, killing three of them in the first fatal accident of the spring Himalayan climbing season, the Ministry of Tourism said Wednesday.

Eight Japanese and two Sherpa guides were climbing from the base camp to their first campsite on 23,733-foot Langtang Lirung when the avalanche struck Tuesday, throwing the three 30 yards down the southeast ridge, the ministry said.

The ministry said the seven other members of the expedition escaped the avalanche. The ministry, citing reports from base camp, said the bodies of the three Japanese were not recovered.

The climbers were members of a 13-member expedition led by Yasuo Katsuyama, 38. The team abandoned the climb after the avalanche, the first fatal accident of the season, said the ministry, which regulates climbing in Nepal.

From United Press International reports

At least 20 dead in Brazil crash

United Press International

SAO PAULO, Brazil — Rescue officials say the death toll will likely rise in the crash of a cargo jet that smashed through a crowded slum area and exploded in a fireball, killing at least 20 people and injuring more than 200.

The Transbrasil Airlines Boeing 707 plowed into the Jardim Ipanema slum Tuesday about 1 1/4 miles from the runway of Sao Paulo's Guarulhos International Airport, destroying dozens of homes.

The crash killed all three people aboard the plane and at least 17 on the ground, officials said. Authorities earlier had reported 21 dead, but that figure included a boy who was presumed dead but later turned up at a Sao Paulo hospital suffering from severe injuries.

A Fire Department spokesman said the death toll would likely rise as rescuers sift through the wreckage of dozens of houses destroyed in the fiery crash. The search for more victims was suspended at nightfall Tuesday, and officials held little hope that additional survivors would be found.

Firemen and government officials reported more than 200 people were hurt, many of them suffering severe burns.

About 80 wood and brick shanties were either damaged or destroyed in the crash, officials said. Rescue operations were hampered because of fire and a power outage, as the crash severed electrical cables in the area.

Witnesses said the jetliner was approaching the airport at low altitude shortly before noon when one of its engines apparently grazed a building. The plane then veered left and plunged into the Jardim Ipanema neighborhood, flattening homes and buildings before exploding in a ball of flames.

"It was like a mass of fire coming at us that wanted to destroy us," said a 30-year-old woman who requested anonymity.

Among the dead was a pregnant woman, Elisa Cunha, 23. Doctors delivered her baby but the infant died shortly after birth, a spokesman at Tatuape Hospital said.

Firemen found the plane's "black box" light data recorder and turned it over to the government for examination, the Brazilian news agency Estado reported.

Airport spokeswoman Lucia Ferreira said the pilot of the plane, Dorivaldo Stanovachi, 39, asked the control tower for authorization to make an emergency landing just before the crash. Later, an aviation spokesman denied that such a request was made.

Stanovachi and two other crew members died instantly in the crash, Ferreira said.

Thatcher defends handling of Pan Am disaster

United Press International

LONDON — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has defended her transport secretary against "totally unfair accusations" that he failed to adequately warn airlines of a possible terrorist attack before a bomb blew up Pan Am Flight 103 over Scotland on Dec. 21.

Thatcher made the comment Tuesday in the House of Commons, where Transport Secretary Paul Channon has faced a barrage of complaints from opposition members of Parliament.

The prime minister said the complaints against Channon were "totally unfair accusations which have been made against him by lesser men."

Members of Parliament have accused Channon of inadequately alerting airlines and airports to the possibility of a terrorist attack on a jetliner. He also has been accused of misleading members on the crash investigation while leaking information to the news media.

Channon defended his handling of the disaster and rejected calls for his resignation, saying he is determined to catch the terrorists who planted a bomb disguised as a radio-cassette player aboard Pan American World Airways Flight 103. The bomb exploded over Lockerbie, Scotland, killing all 259 people aboard and 11 people on the ground.

"It is my responsibility to ensure that our airports and airlines respond vigorously to the threat that now exists from international terrorism," he said. "It is a responsibility that I take extremely seriously and I'm determined to discharge that responsibility."

In Wiesbaden, West Germany, investigators said Palestinian terrorists probably have more bombs like the one that blew up Flight 103 — an assessment that came a day after Britain issued its third warning to airlines to watch for radio-cassette players packed with explosives.

But Arno Falk, spokesman for the West German Federal Criminal Department, said the government knew of no new specific threats and was not planning to issue additional warnings.

"We don't know where they (bombs) would be hidden," Falk said. "We don't know of any in the Federal Republic (West Germany). If we did, we'd get them."

On Oct. 27, West German police confiscated a Toshiba Bombay 453 radio-cassette player rigged as a bomb and set to detonate with a change in barometric pressure during flight. The device was linked to suspected members of a Syrian-based Palestinian group, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command.

Falk noted that in two different statements in November the government said it was "most probable that further such devices were in the hands of the PFLP-GC. We have no concrete proof but strongly assume this would be the case."

China contacts dalai lama

UPI report

BEIJING — A senior Communist Party official charged Wednesday that pro-independence Tibetans had received "terrorist" training overseas and revealed Beijing is in direct contact with the dalai lama, the exiled leader of Tibetan Buddhism.

Yan Mingfu, a member of the secretariat of the party's Standing Committee, also said that Beijing slapped martial law on the troubled region because it learned riots were planned for March 10, the anniversary of a bloody 1959 rebellion by Tibetans.

"Reliable intelligence showed that the rioters had smuggled weapons into Tibet from abroad and some of them who had received unofficial terrorist training abroad had already entered into Tibet," the state-run Xinhua News Agency quoted Yan as saying.

The State Council, China's cabinet, imposed martial law in the region March 7 after three days of rioting by pro-independence Tibetans demanding an end to communist rule.

Yan said Beijing decreed martial law in order to upset plans for more rioting after receiving information from "Tibetan patriots" who support Chinese rule.

"The move was designed to avoid bloodshed and protect people's lives and property," he was quoted as saying. He gave no indication when martial law would be lifted.

Yan also revealed that China has established "direct contacts" with the dalai lama, the exiled god-king of Tibetan Buddhism, in an apparent prelude to negotiations on the future of Tibet.

"We also sincerely hope that the dalai lama would give up his attempt to separate the motherland and sit down to negotiate with the central government," Yan said.

The dalai lama, who fled to India with thousands of followers after the failed 1959 rebellion, has tempered his calls for independence recently and said he is willing to sit down with Chinese authorities.

Polish priest killer to be set free soon

United Press International

WARSAW, Poland — One of four secret policemen convicted in the killing of pro-Solidarity priest the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko will be freed after serving 4½ years of a 14-year sentence, a government spokesman said.

The announcement was made Tuesday by government spokesman Jerzy Urban, who said the jailed policeman had earlier failed in a bid to gain parole.

During a trial in the northern city of Torun in 1985, former secret police Lt. Waldemar Chmielewski was sentenced to 14 years in prison for taking part in the assassination of the priest, who was abducted, beaten and dumped in a reservoir.

Police Capt. Grzegorz Piotrowski was sentenced to 25 years, Lt. Leszek Pekala 15 years and Col. Adam Pietruszka, who masterminded the assassination, 25 years. The sentences of all but Piotrowski were reduced for good behavior.

At a news conference Tuesday, Urban said, "The punishment of Waldemar Chmielewski expires in the last 10 days of April" and he will be released from prison. Chmielewski tried to gain parole last year but his bid was rejected, Urban said.

The four men convicted in the slaying of Popieluszko, a popular priest who frequently gave sermons calling for the legalization of the banned Solidarity trade union, were part of a hard-line faction of the security police.

The mysterious deaths of two other Catholic priests in January sparked speculation that similar factions could be trying to disrupt the reconciliation process between Solidarity and the communist government. The two sides have been holding talks on reforms aimed at restructuring the troubled economy since Feb. 6.

Urban said the shape of a final agreement between the two sides will be decided Wednesday at a meeting of a working group on political affairs.

El Salvador leftists say tactics 'serious mistake'

United Press International

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Leftist politicians who abandoned their armed struggle to participate in Sunday's presidential election said a campaign of intimidation by their former comrades to disrupt voting was a "serious mistake."

Guillermo Ungo, the presidential candidate of the leftist Democratic Convergence party, Tuesday blamed his organization's poor showing on fraud and the rebel effort to frighten voters.

"Fear and the FMLN boycott hurt us badly," said Ungo. "We think it was a serious mistake by the FMLN."

His statements marked the strongest criticism yet by Convergence leaders of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, although Ungo insisted the two leftist groups differed only on tactics, not their ultimate objectives.

The election was won by Alfredo Cristiani of the right-wing National Republican Alliance, known by its Spanish-language acronym ARENA. Cristiani defeated Fidel Chavez Mena of the ruling Christian Democratic Party by a comfortable margin — about 54 percent of the vote to 36 percent — according to preliminary official results.

In Mexico City, the FMLN released a statement Tuesday calling Cristiani's victory "illegitimate."

"The FMLN will insist on negotiating peace, but while there are no real achievements, it will continue to use arms," the statement said. "We will soon present a new proposal to negotiate with [President Jose Napoleon] Duarte's government and with Mr. Cristiani."

Anna Maria Guadalupe, a rebel leader, said at a Mexico City news conference. "The United States has to play an important role in creating conditions to achieve a political solution."

Ungo accused election officials of being "engaged in trickery" aimed at robbing his group — an alliance of political and labor groups sharing social-democratic goals — of a third-place finish.

The leftist candidate received only 3.7 percent of about 1 million votes cast, placing him behind the candidate of the National Conciliation Party, who won just over 4 percent.

"Our figures show we had more than 4 percent, while the PCN (National Conciliation Party) had just under three," Ungo said. Other Convergence leaders said they were not sure whether they would contest the results formally.

Placing third in the election would give the Convergence the right to name candidates to the Central Election Council, the body that administers elections in El Salvador.

Ungo and Ruben Zamora withdrew from an alliance with the FMLN and returned from exile last year.

Federal drug testing plans upheld by court

Two cases decided on a split vote of justices

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court Tuesday upheld wide-ranging drug testing plans implemented by the federal government.

The court's action came in two cases involving drug testing programs in the Customs Service and of railway workers involved in accidents.

In the Customs Service case, the more wide-ranging of the two programs, the court upheld the drug testing program on a 5-4 vote, with a vigorous dissent filed by conservative Justice Antonin Scalia.

In the railway case the court upheld the drug testing program on a 7-2 vote over the objections of Justice Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan.

Justice Anthony Kennedy, the court's newest member, wrote both opinions.

In the Customs Service case, Kennedy said that the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution, which generally prohibits unreasonable searches without a warrant, does apply, but added that since the drug tests are not taken for the purposes of criminal prosecution, such tests do not require a warrant.

"We believe the government has demonstrated that its compelling interests in safeguarding our borders and the public safety outweigh the privacy expectations of employees who seek to be promoted to positions that directly involve the interdictions of illegal drugs or that require the incumbent to carry a firearm," Kennedy said. "We hold that the testing of these employees is reasonable under the Fourth Amendment." In dissent, Scalia called the searches "particularly destructive of privacy and offensive to personal dignity."

Scalia said the drug testing program was not started to catch drug users but was a symbolic gesture by the government to show it was serious about drug abuse.

"Those who lose because of the lack of understanding that begot the present exercise in symbolism are not just the Customs Service employees, whose dignity is thus offended, but all of us — who suffer a coarsening of our national manners that ultimately give the Fourth Amendment its content, and who become subject to the administration of federal officials who respect for our privacy can hardly be greater than the small respect they have been taught to have for their own," he said.

Scalia was joined in dissent by Justice John Paul Stevens. Justices Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan wrote a separate dissent.

In the railway case, Kennedy, commanding a 7-2 majority, said the government's interest in regulating the conduct of railroad employees in order to ensure the safety of the traveling public and of the employees themselves justifies the tests.

In dissent, Marshall, joined by Brennan, called the drug testing a "particularly draconian weapon."

"Precisely because the need for action against the drug scourge is manifest, the need for vigilance against unconstitutional excess is great," he said. "History teaches that grave threats to liberty often come in times of urgency, when constitutional rights seem too extravagant to endure."

George King, spokesman for the National Treasury Employees Union, said he was very disappointed by the decision, but noted it did not deal with random testing. He said the fight against such tests are "still alive" and predicted the union will win the fight. "We will sue as often as necessary to stop random testing," he said.

The customs case was brought to the high court by the National Treasury Employees Union appealing of a lower court ruling that upheld use of the tests for job applicants or employees up for promotion.

More than 3,000 people have been tested for drug use since the Customs Service program began in June of 1986. Five of them tested positive.

In its appeal to the Supreme Court, the NTEU, which represents 9,000 Customs workers, charged the program amounts to an unreasonable search and seizure prohibited by the Fourth Amendment.

For the program to be legal, the union said, the government must first have probable cause or at least some reason to suspect workers of drug use.

The Customs Service program requires urine tests be taken by applicants for jobs that involve drug interdiction or access to classified information or require the carrying of firearms.

The court stopped short of approving the drug testing for those who handle classified information and sent that portion of the case back to lower court for further study.

Any applicant testing positive for drug use will not be considered for a position at the agency, while current employees seeking promotions are subject to dismissal.

The railroad case involved regulations adopted by the Federal Railway Administration that require blood and urine tests be conducted on all crew members of trains involved in accidents that cause death, major injury, property damage or release of a hazardous substance.

The rules allow tests, but do not require them, of workers who are suspected of contributing to an accident or who have committed a rule violation, such as speeding or passing through a stop signal.

Those who fail the tests can be dismissed or suspended and refusal to take a test is subject to a nine-month suspension.

Soon after they took effect in 1986, the regulations were challenged in court by the Railway Labor Executives Association, a coalition of various unions, on grounds such tests are a violation of the Fourth Amendment prohibition against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Witness says North wanted phony bills

United Press International

WASHINGTON — An ex-CIA employee who put in a $13,800 security system at Oliver North's house testified Tuesday the White House aide never paid for the equipment but wanted a set of "phony bills" on the installation.

Glenn Robinette told the jury at North's trial that he was paid for his work at North's Virginia home by Richard Secord, who worked with North in the Iran-Contra affair. The money came out of proceeds from the U.S. arms sales to Iran that were funneled through secret Swiss accounts.

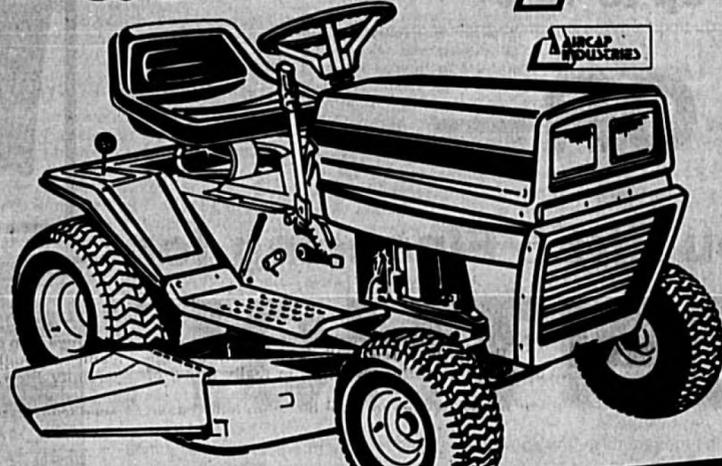

Robinette was about halfway through his testimony when U.S. Judge Gerhard Gesell recessed the trial for the day because an alternate juror had a family emergency, and the judge said he did not want to move forward "without a full complement of alternates."

The prosecution summoned Robinette, a 20-year spy agency worker now a security consultant, to prove one charge against North — accepting the illegal gift of the security system. North never reported to the government, as required, that he received the gratuity.

Prosecutors also are trying to demonstrate that North harbored criminal intent and stood to gain personally in committing 12 felonies, including lying to Congress, tax fraud and destroying official documents. If convicted on all charges, the ex-National Security Council aide and retired Marine lieutenant colonel faces 60 years in prison and $3 million in fines.

The defense claims North never had any criminal intent and was authorized for all his activities in the Iran-Contra scandal by White House superiors. Defense lawyers also say North's "friends" paid for the home security system because the government refused to protect him against threats from Abu Nidal, who has been billed at trial as "the world's most dangerous terrorist."

Buck defense does in Celtics

Milwaukee Coach Del Harris says teams play better defense late in the season — near playoff time. The Bucks displayed their late-season defense Tuesday, and it shut down the Boston Celtics.

Milwaukee held Boston to 17 points in the fourth quarter en route to a 98-86 victory over the Celtics.

"The later you get in the season, the closer it gets to playoff ball, you see those defenses tightening up, tightening up," said Harris.

Terry Cummings led Milwaukee with 21 points, Jack Sikma added 18 and Larry Krystkowiak 16. Reggie Lewis scored 20 points and Robert Parish added 17 for the Celtics.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Indiana edged New Jersey 92-89, Detroit slapped Atlanta 110-95, Denver slipped by Houston 112-110, Seattle defeated Utah 101-96, Chicago clipped the Los Angeles Lakers 104-103, and Golden State routed Portland 151-127.

Hawks' Scutero gets no-hitter

Lake Howell's Brian Scutero tossed a no-hitter to lead the junior varsity baseball team to a 9-1 victory over DeLand Tuesday night.

Scutero finished the night with 10 strike outs without walking a batter although the defense committed three errors behind him. The Silver Hawks, 3-6, snapped a four game losing streak with the victory.

Lake Howell scored two runs in the bottom of the second and third inning before erupting for five runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to put the game away.

Paul Sanchez led the fifth inning off for the Silver Hawks by being hit by a pitch, Bob Coleman followed with a walk before Fred Engle delivered a run scoring single to left field, Bob Andino then singled in a run with a base hit to center before Paul Thompson singled to center to score another run.

SI, GQ link Rose to gambling

PLANT CITY — Cincinnati Reds Manager Pete Rose, under investigation for alleged gambling ties, said Tuesday he will not discuss the baseball commissioner's probe until it is complete.

Two magazine articles also link Rose with gambling. Rose previously has said he bets on horse and dog races. Baseball personnel are allowed to make legal bets at such tracks but are prohibited from betting on baseball games.

The upcoming issue of Sports Illustrated said the commissioner's office has information that Rose may have bet on baseball games.

In addition, Rose's ex-wife, Carolyn Rose, told Gentlemen's Quarterly Rose once refused to acknowledge a gambling debt, for which he received a dead fish in the mail.

Hrudey key to Kings' success

The Los Angeles Kings certainly have the offense to make loud noise in the upcoming Stanley Cup playoffs. Yet how far can goaltender Kelly Hrudey carry a suspect defense?

In a playoff preview, the Kings, bolstered by the brilliant goaltending of Hrudey, displayed a newfound maturity in scoring a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over the Edmonton Oilers.

Hrudey, acquired from the New York Islanders earlier this season, turned aside 28 shots.

Los Angeles leads the league in goals scored with 354, but has given up 317 goals, the fourth-highest total in the league.

"Everybody in this city knows what a great goalie can do for a team and Hrudey is a great goalie," Edmonton captain Mark Messier said. "I'd take him anyday."

In the only other game Tuesday, Calgary whipped the New York Islanders 4-1.

SCC rallies for softball sweep

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Pinch-hitter Stephanie Woodard singled to drive in two runs in a three-run fourth inning as Seminole Community College came back from a 3-0 deficit to post a 7-4 victory over Daytona Beach Community College and complete a sweep of the Mid-Florida Conference softball doubleheader Tuesday afternoon at Raider Field.

The wins boosted the Seminole Lady Raiders to 25-10 on the season and 11-3 in conference play. The Lady Raiders have a pair of conference contests coming up this week, hosting the Lady Vikings of St. John's River Community College

Thursday in an 11:00 a.m. doubleheader before traveling to Lake City to take on the defending national champion Lady Timberwolves in a Friday afternoon doubleheader.

Seminole won the opening game 7-0, holding the DBCC Lady Scots to only five hits. Seminole jumped on top quickly as Tracie Smith walked with one out in the bottom of the first and Kim King launched home run No. 4 of the season beyond the fence in left, giving the Lady Raiders a 2-0 lead.

Daytona's best opportunity to score in the opening contest came in the top of the third when, with one out, Lania Roberts hit a triple between the outfielders in left. But the next two batters grounded out to the pitcher and flew out, respectively, and SCC still had the shut-out.

Bynum pitches SCC to victory

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Sophomore righthander Charlie Bynum of Seminole Community College pitched a four-hit masterpiece, striking out four and walking none, on his way to a 4-1 victory over the visiting Blackhawks of Long Island University in baseball action at Raider Field Tuesday afternoon.

The victory improved the Raiders to 5-19 on the season while Long Island fell to 4-2. The Raiders will travel to Gainesville Thursday to take on the Saints of Santa Fe Community College in a Mid-Florida Conference game and then play host to Northampton Area Community College of Pennsylvania Friday at 3:00 p.m.

"Charlie is an example of someone who really wants it and has worked hard to get it," said Raider head coach Jack Pantelias. "Not like some people who wait around for someone to give it to them. He mixed up his pitches well and did not walk anyone. That's the key. Throw strikes and they have to hit your pitch."

Bynum only allowed two men to reach base in one inning and only allowed three runners to reach as far as second base. His only trouble spot was in the fourth, when Cliffo hit a lead off home run and Lacobellis followed with a double, but he pitched out of the jam without any further damage.

Bynum was nearly untouchable after that, allowing only a single in the seventh (the runner was pro-

Despite having been hit on his left elbow with a pitch last week (to go with a broken finger on his left hand), Seminole right-handed pitcher John Wilkes gave a fine effort against Trinity Prep on Tuesday.

Wilkes' right side gets the job done for 'Noles

By TONY DESORMIER
 Herald sports editor

Last Wednesday, in the Seminoles' game with New Smyrna Beach, Wilkes took a pitch on his left elbow to compliment a broken finger he already had on his left hand.

But on Tuesday afternoon, Wilkes showed there was nothing wrong with his right side.

With Wilkes making a rare starting appearance on the mound, Seminole (6-6) jumped out early and cruised to a 9-4 win over Trinity Prep (4-3) at the Seminole High School field. Wilkes tired in the seventh, loading the bases, but James Joyce came on and struck out the three batters he faced to earn the save.

"Normally, Wilkes is our relief man," said Seminole coach Mike Powers. "But he's been looking really good in our intrasquad games, so today we gave him the nod to start."

"I thought he threw really well for six innings before tiring in the seventh. I'm really proud of him. He's a real competitor."

It helped Wilkes to have his teammates stake him to a 3-1 lead after the first inning. The Tribe added two more in the second, one in the third, one in the fourth and two more in the sixth, giving Wilkes plenty of margin for error. He needed it, surrendering three runs in the seventh before Joyce came on.

"We've been having problems scoring runs, so when we scored three in the first, that was encouraging," said Powers. "Guys down in the order got some base hits."

"We've been really sloppy swinging the bats. We've been taking a lot of batting practice, trying to work on quick strokes and leveling out some strokes. Hopefully, it'll show against Lake Brantley (tonight at 7 p.m. at Lake Brantley)."

Powers gave Joyce as an example of how the Seminole bats are starting to come around. Mired in a slump, Joyce showed signs of breaking out of it by drawing three walks, hitting an rbi double and stealing a pair of bases.

In fact, it was a walk by Joyce to lead off the bottom of the first inning that started the Seminole rally. After Joyce stole second and Ron Cox walked, the next two Seminole batters were retired. Then Harvey Clinger delivered an rbi single to tie the game and Mike Taylor stroked a two-run single to put the Tribe ahead to stay.

The 'Noles added to their lead with a two-run gift in the second when Presley and Joyce walked, then came around to score on a two-base error. Joyce delivered Seminole's run in the third, driving in Taylor with a double. In the fourth, it was Clinger plating Corsi with a double.

Henry June drove in Mike Senechek with Seminole's eighth run with an rbi single in the sixth, then scored the ninth run himself on an rbi single by Taylor.

"Guys who don't normally get a chance to play came through today for us," said Powers. "Trinity Prep is a 1A school, but they have a good club. (Coach) Andy Denicole always puts a good team on the field."

Seminole and Trinity Prep were to tangle again next week in the Florida Baseball School Invitational, but Powers said that the Seminoles are pulling out of the spring break event.

"We had problems sanctioning the tournament," said Powers, explaining that the fact the out-of-state teams that will participate play in metal-cleated shoes, which are forbidden by Florida high school rules. "Besides, we decided that some of our kids would like to have spring break off."

It won't be a complete week of rest and relaxation. Powers has been able to pick another game for next week, an 11 a.m. contest next Wednesday against St. Francis High School of Buffalo, N.Y.

Not even the normally hard-hitting Tracy Brandenburg (swinging bat) could keep the Lake Brantley Lady Patriots from losing to the Apopka Blue Darters on Tuesday night.

It was Lake Brantley's first loss of the season.

Apopka hands Lady Pats first loss

By MARK BLYTHE

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Apopka came out swinging, scoring all of its runs in the top of the first inning, and handed Lake Brantley its first loss of the season with a tough 3-2 victory Tuesday night in prep softball action before 251 fans at Lake Brantley High School.

The Lady Blue Darters improved to 9-4 with the victory. The Lady Patriots dropped to 12-1 and will return to action against county rival Lake Howell when they return from spring break.

"Everything we did tonight was wrong," Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "We couldn't hit, we couldn't play defense and we couldn't score runs when we had people in position."

Lake Brantley stranded a total of 12 base runners during the game with six of them reaching second base. The Lady Patriots managed to load the bases in the second inning but could not come up with the big hit.

The Lady Blue Darters came up with four of their seven hits in the top of the first inning to score all three of their runs.

Donna Acres led the inning off with a single followed by a base hit by Tracy Saffold that placed runners on first and second. Kristi Blankenship then flew out to right center to send Acres to third. Tonya Johnson then tripled over the Brantley outfield to score both base runners before Stacy Ennott singled to bring Johnson in and give Apopka a 3-0 lead.

Brantley came right back and picked up a single run

Walker coasts to Bell win

By JIM MCKENBACHER
 Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Bettina Walker, the Rollins College senior who scorched the revered Ticacuan Golf and Country Club Monday, cooled slightly down the stretch during Tuesday's final round of the prestigious Peggy Kirk Bell Invitational Golf Tournament.

No problem. No amount of superior shotmaking from her closest pursuers could prevent her from prevailing in the individual title chase.

Nor could Walker's attempts to downplay her victory curtail the compliments bestowed on the champ, whose 221 total left her three shots ahead of San Diego State's Karen Engberg and Methodist College's Joy Bonhurst.

Perhaps the ultimate praise came from playing partner Katie Byrne, a Stetson University senior and graduate of Orlando Bishop Moore High School.

"Bettina is always encouraging, and the beautiful thing about it is that you know she means it," Byrne said. "I've played with her several times, and she's always been that way."

Walker's concern for those around her, her soft-spoken manner and baby face can't hide her ultra-competitive spirit.

Teammate Sarah Johnson called her the ultimate perfectionist. Rollins Coach Debbie Austin says Walker's drive to excel reminds her

Six-run sixth makes Klinger, Pirates winners

From staff reports

Pitcher Brad Klinger came on in relief in the fifth inning and ended up picking up the win as the Seminole Honda Pirates erupted for six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to beat the Marina Isle Fish Camp Braves 11-10 in Mustang Division action of Seminole Pony Baseball on March 20.

P.J. Ramsey led the Pirates with a single, double, two rbi and two runs scored. Other Pirate hitting stars were Brad Klinger, Allan Gehr and Matthew Candler. Shaun St. Dennis (a double, rbi and two of her days on the LPGA Tour. "She expects a lot of herself and becomes frustrated with herself if she doesn't achieve it," said Austin. "I think she started guarding it a little on the final nine holes and didn't stay aggressive."

"She's good enough to play on the LPGA Tour right now. From tee to green, she's so strong, and when she's putting, no one can touch her."

Doubtless, Walker's skills were unsurpassed on the front side Tuesday. She reeled off birdies on the par-5 third hole — which she eagled Monday en route to a 36-hole total of 1-under-par 143 — par-3 fourth hole and par-5 fifth hole.

Turning the front side in par 36, she encountered her only double bogey of the 54-hole event on Nos. 14 and 18. She saved par at the par-5 12th with a 30-foot putt after threading her fourth shot through the woods and narrowly missed a 25-foot birdie putt on No. 17.

She refused to make excuses, though many others talked of aching feet.

"I choked," Walker said. "This (losing strokes to par in the final holes) is exactly what happened to me at nationals last year."

Those who follow college golf remember that Walker prevailed in the 1988 NCAA Division II-III Tournament despite problems in the closing holes. Building bulging leads going into the last nine holes does wonders for any normal blunders eventually encountered.

In the bottom half of the inning with Stacy Brandenburg leading off by reaching on an error, Michelle Davis followed by stroking a single up the middle before both runners moved up on a ground out by Tracy Brandenburg. Tina Wilson was then intentionally walked before Shelly Sturdivant hit into a fielder's choice that scored Stacy Brandenburg to trim the lead to 3-1.

Lake Brantley threatened to take the lead in the second inning when Pam Wittig led the frame off by reaching on an error, Chris Rabaja reached on a single and moved to third on an error in the Apoka outfield that scored Wittig. Chris Calabrese then reached on a fielder's choice with Rabaja holding at third on the play. After two consecutive flyouts Davis walked to load the bases before a ground out ended the inning with Brantley trailing 3-2.

Brantley came up with another strong scoring opportunity in the bottom of the third when Wilson led off and reached on an error by the Apoka right center fielder. Sturdivant followed with a single to place runners on first and second. Three consecutive popups, though, ended the threat.

"The only good thing about tonight is that it wasn't a conference game," Betris said. "We hit more popups tonight than we have all season, but with high school kids you're going to have a bad game. I'm glad we had ours now instead of later."

mply picked off first) and retired the last 18 batters he faced as he cruised to the victory.

When told of how well he pitched Bynum said, "I don't know about it being a great game but I sure had fun."

The Raiders picked up two runs both in the second and seventh innings. In the second, Byron Overstreet singled, Jason Wood walked and David Leugers beat out a bunt to load the bases. Mike Pizzuti then drew a walk to force in Overstreet and Scot Copeland hit into a double play to score Wood.

In the seventh, Leugers again reached on an infield single and was safe at second when the pitcher's throw to second was late on Pizzuti's sacrifice bunt. Copeland then singled to load the base and Merly Martin singled to score Leugers. Kevin Monahan followed with a sacrifice fly to center field to score Pizzuti and SCU had a big 4-1 lead.

Ambrosio was the only Blackhawk player with two hits going 2-for-3. For Seminole, Martin went 2-for-3 and drove in a run and Leugers was 2-for-4. Overstreet, Copeland, and Dale Stevens added one hit each for the Raiders and Monahan and Pizzuti drove in one run each.

"The guys played hard," said Pantellas. "LIU has a very good team and it is a plus to beat them."

The Lady Raiders put the game away in the bottom of the third with a four-run rally. King walked and Theresa Lisk and Becky Arrowood followed with singles to score King. Kim Fralix singled to score Lisk and Jaudon Jonas singled to score Arrowood. Fralix continued around to score as the throw from the outfield got away at third.

Seminole added an insurance run in the fifth when Maria Garavuso reached on an error, Fralix walked and Jonas singled to score Garavuso.

Daytona Beach came out ready to play in game two and jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first. Teresa Desmore reached on an error, moved to third on a single by Dianah Price and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jenny Ballard.

The Lady Scots increased the lead to 3-0 in the third when Roberts and Desmore singled. It appeared that SCC would get out of the inning unscathed as the next two batters made outs, but Joey Windham doubled down the line in left to score Roberts and Price.

Seminole got two back in the bottom of the third when Jackie Story singled and Smith bashed a long triple to left center to score Story. Smith later scored on a single by Lisk.

SCC finally took the lead in game two when Jonas and Garavuso singled and Fralix walked to load the bases. Woodard, a freshman from Lake Mary, then singled to drive in two and King singled to drive in the fifth run.

Daytona got a run back in the fifth on a single by Amy Boyd and a pair of Lady Raider errors, but Lisk pitched out of any further damage.

SCC added a pair of insurance runs in the sixth when Fralix and Story, who both singled, scored on a triple by Julie Clark, making the final score 7-4.

Her church menus get good reviews

By TERRI AMM
Special to the Herald

SANFORD — The place is Central Baptist Church in Sanford. The occasion is a "home-made" Wednesday Night Supper, with the entire congregation invited.

Margie Merideth, an active member of the church and our Cook of the Week, presides over the preparation of the supper each Wednesday. The task is time-consuming, but one she enjoys.

Merideth has been involved in the weekly supper since August, getting help from her son, Jim, and a friend.

"The cook they had left and they didn't replace him, so I've been doing it. And it's a labor of love," she said.

It is a sure bet their efforts are appreciated. A recent menu included baked ham, scalloped potatoes, baked beans, tossed salad, rolls and chocolate cake.

Merideth makes the cakes for the suppers at home, so she can use her own mixers. The other dishes are prepared in the church kitchen the afternoon of the supper.

And no Hamburger Helper for this bunch. All the food is "made from scratch," she said. She feels this is why they receive the many compliments they do. Fifty to 75 people eat at the supper each week.

Merideth is active at Central Baptist in other ways, as is her husband, James. She teaches a Sunday School class, ladies 30-39, and he is director of the Brotherhood—a men's breakfast fellowship—and works with the 4-year-olds' class.

Once a month the couple

participate in an "area party," where members of the church who live in their area get together for a covered-dish supper. They rotate the gathering place each month.

Merideth seems to relish feeding a crowd. Members of her Sunday School class come over once or twice a year, and she does the cooking. Desserts are her specialty, so her spread usually includes assorted cakes, candies and pies, along with hors d'oeuvres.

A native of western Texas, Merideth was born in Goodlett, and lived there until she was 18. Her family then moved to Fort Worth, where she met and married James, a career Air Force man from Mississippi.

The couple stayed in Fort Worth about 10 years, and then began a series of moves that took them up and down the east coast, to Europe and the Caribbean. Merideth made homes in Puerto Rico; New Hampshire; Louisiana; Virginia; Woodbridge, England; and then Texas again, in San Antonio. When James retired from the Air Force, they settled in Austin.

Along the way, the couple had two children, Sheila and Jim. Their daughter moved to Sanford when her husband received a job transfer; the Merideths followed in 1983. Jim moved to Sanford a couple of years later, and they now live within several miles of one another. The Merideths have seven grandchildren, ranging in age from 5 to 20 years old. Of all the places they have lived (and she enjoyed each of them), she likes Sanford the best.

Merideth began learning to cook as a newlywed. She said she took along some of her mother and grandmother's recipes when she got married, and struck out on her own. Some things were learned the hard way.

"On one of the first cakes I made, I filled the pan up to the very top, and it ran out all over the oven," she said.

She was raised on "plain old Southern cooking," like pinto beans and cornbread, she said. Two of her favorite foods are bean dishes, the recipes for which are included below. Texas Tumbleweed Beans were served at a restaurant in Austin; she got the recipe when it was printed in the local newspaper there. Bean Casserole is a favorite of Jim's that she has fixed for years.

Merideth and her husband love Mexican food, a taste she said they acquired in Fort Worth. They aren't picky.

"Anything that even sounds like Mexican—we like it all," she said.

Although they usually go out for this kind of food, the Fiesta

Who's cooking?

The Sanford Herald welcomes suggestions for cooks of the week.

Do you know someone whose food is always the highlight of company picnics, church potlucks, receptions or covered-dish luncheons? It might be an acquaintance who has won a cooking contest or invented a new twist to the peanut-butter-and-jelly sandwich.

Novice cooks and ethnic cooks, as well as experienced cooks and master chefs, add a different dimension to dining. Who is your choice? Maybe it's your mother, father, brother, sister, son, daughter, spouse, friend or boss.

Submit your nomination for Cook of the Week to the Herald People editor at 322-2611, ext. 34.

The Cook of the Week feature is published in this section each Wednesday.

Flavorful Greek recipes are as quick as your microwave

Food of Greek origin can add special interest to our family meals. Generally the food preparation is simple, relying on the use of herbs and spices for enhancing flavor.

Traditional Greek recipes have been adapted to the microwave for ease and speed of preparation.

The Greek name for the following light soup is Soupa Avgolemono. It has a unique blend of flavors with a tang of lemon that I believe you will enjoy.

GREEK EGG-LEMON SOUP

1 can chicken broth or 4 cups homemade chicken broth
2 cups water (omit if using homemade broth)
3 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon granules
¼ cup uncooked regular rice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 eggs
2-4 tablespoons lemon juice
Parsley
Combine broth, water, bouillon, rice, salt and pepper in a 2-quart container. Cover. Microwave on 100 percent power for 9-10 minutes or until mixture boils, then microwave on 50 percent power for 18-20 minutes or until rice is tender. Beat eggs; add lemon juice and beat until blended.
Add a small amount of the hot mixture to the egg mixture, blending well. Return all of the mixture to the broth mixture; mix well. Microwave on 100 percent power 1¼-1½ minutes, or until heated through, stirring 2-3 times. Serve sprinkled with parsley sprigs.

Chicken and lamb provide the main ingredients for the following two traditional Greek entrees.

GREEK CHICKEN

1 tablespoon butter

MICROWAVE

MYCOFF

¼ cup almonds (sliced)
2 cups instant rice
1 14-ounce can artichoke hearts (quartered)
1 cup chicken broth
¼ cup dry white wine (may be substituted with apple juice)
3 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon lemon peel (grated)
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
Paprika
3 pounds chicken parts
Place butter and almonds in a 1-quart casserole dish and microwave on 100 percent power for 2-3 minutes or until lightly browned. Set aside.
In a 9-by-11-inch baking dish, combine all the remaining ingredients except chicken and paprika. Arrange chicken pieces on top of rice with thickest part of pieces toward outside. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover and microwave on 100 percent power for 18-22 minutes or until chicken is tender. Sprinkle with almonds. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

MARINATED SHISH KABOBS

1½-2 pounds boned leg of lamb
¼ cup olive oil
1 tablespoon vinegar

1 teaspoon instant onion
1 teaspoon garlic powder
3 medium carrots, cut into 1-inch pieces
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons seasoning powder
1 jar (16 ounces) whole onions, drained
8 ounces whole fresh mushrooms
Trim excess fat from meat. Cut into 1-inch cubes. Place in plastic bag. Combine oil, vinegar, onion and garlic powder; mix well. Pour over meat. Coat well. Close bag and refrigerate at least overnight or up to two days.
Combine carrots and water in 1-quart casserole dish. Cover. Microwave on 100 percent power for 4-5 minutes or until carrots are almost tender.
Coat meat cubes with seasoning powder. Thread meat, carrots, onions and mushrooms alternately on a 10-inch bamboo skewer. Place kabobs on meat rack. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on 100 percent power for 9-10 minutes or until meat has desired doneness and vegetables are tender. re-arranging kabobs once.

Serve the kabobs accompanied by this rice.

SAVORY BROWN RICE

1 cup brown rice
2½ cups chicken broth
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon instant onion
½ teaspoon ground oregano
Combine all ingredients in 2-quart casserole dish. Cover. Microwave on 100 percent power for 8-10 minutes or until boiling, then microwave on 50 percent power for 45-50 minutes or until tender.

Our Greek meal would not be complete without a special salad.

GREEK SALAD

8 cups mixed salad greens
1 red onion, sliced
1 tomato, chopped
½ cucumber, sliced
¼ cup crumbled feta cheese
¼ cup sliced ripe olives

Dressing:

½ cup plain yogurt
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon dill weed

Combine salad greens, onion, cucumber, tomato, cheese and olives in serving bowl; toss lightly. Combine ingredients for dressing; mix well. Serve with salad. Dressing is best if made ahead to allow flavors to blend.

Fruit is always an acceptable dessert to end a Greek meal, or you may wish to serve the traditional Baklava, which is flaky layers of phyllo dough filled with nuts, honey and cinnamon.

PR people aren't all that bad

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter, a high school senior (I'll call him John) accused a girl of stealing his girlfriend's expensive bomber jacket. He made his accusation publicly in a crowded school lunchroom. Actually, the girl had bought the jacket herself from money she had saved from baby-sitting. The poor girl was humiliated and fled in tears. John learned soon afterward that he had wrongly accused this girl, so he had flowers delivered to her in care of her classroom. The girl's mother thought this was an act of "chivalry," but you called it a "grandstand play," then added: "This kid is a natural showman."

He should go far in the P.R. business."

Abby, it's sad that so many people perpetuate the myth that public relations professionals are "showmen," con artists and snake oil salesmen. Today's public relations professionals are ethical, conscientious and honest, and to suggest that the "showmanship" exhibited by the brash, insensitive young man qualifies him for a successful career in the P.R. business is an insult to all of us in that profession.

Please use the power of your column to set the record straight. I think you owe a public apology to all of us in the P.R. business.

A.J. SOLEY, JOLIET, ILL.

DEAR MR. SOLEY, and everyone else whom I offended: It was not my intention to denigrate the public relations profession. It's my understanding that one of the functions of the public relations firm is to create, improve and maintain positive images for people and businesses through publicity and advertising campaigns. (Remember the Tylenol tampering scare—and how well that product recovered?)

Know a hero?

We're looking for the quiet kind.

It may be that boy who saw you drop your wallet and ran after you to return it.

Perhaps it's the retiree who works day and night to knit clothes for underprivileged children.

You may know someone who risked her own life to save another.

The column "Quiet Heroes" focuses on individuals in this area who have done or are doing something heroic, and who have not been recognized.

Therapy helps poor circulation in legs

DEAR DR. GOTT: My legs are swollen and the skin is cracked and bleeding. I keep my feet elevated, with dressings on the legs, but I'm an active person and just sitting is not my cup of tea. My doctor tells me to take water pills and says there's no cure. Is he correct?

Also, using elastic stockings and other types of support hose helps to counterbalance the increased venous pressure in the legs, thereby inhibiting leakage of liquid from overburdened blood vessels.

However, despite the skin treatment, effective therapy must be directed toward moving

DEAR READER: You appear to be suffering the consequences of stasis dermatitis, a form of chronic skin irritation caused by poor circulation in the legs.

When we sit or stand erect, gravity pulls blood into the leg veins toward the feet. This causes a corresponding increase in hydrostatic pressure; that is, pressure in the veins increases, causing a condition called dependent edema.

Ordinarily, venous blood does not tend to pool in the lower legs because of a system of valves that prevents excessive venous backflow. However, if those veins are incompetent (don't fully close), as is the case with varicose veins, the veins will dilate and swell, thereby accepting more blood and further increasing the pressure.

Eventually, the veins balloon out and, aside from becoming unsightly, will stretch. As the venous walls — and the delicate walls of capillary blood vessels — become thinner, colorless liquid from the blood leaks out into tissues. This edema fluid causes swelling, a feeling of heaviness and — eventually — skin irritation.

Dependent edema is seen in conditions other than varicose veins, including heart failure, liver disease, malnutrition and pregnancy. (The edema of pregnancy is due to the fact that the developing baby produces progressive pressure on the pelvic veins, thereby increasing hydrostatic pressure in the legs.)

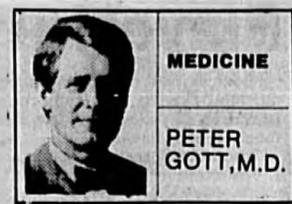

Elevation of the legs and avoidance of prolonged standing will help the ailment by using gravity to encourage blood flow out of the legs. In addition, diuretic medicine, which stimulates the kidneys to excrete more fluid, will often reduce edema.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When you reach a seemingly safe "part-score contract," it is very difficult to give up the play for overtricks just to guarantee the contract. When West led the six of clubs, East won the ace and returned a trump. Declarer put in the 10, losing to West's queen. Back came a spade. Declarer ducked and East won the king. Now a diamond was played. Of course South played low, and West won the king. That was four tricks for the defense, and West still had two natural trump tricks remaining, so the contract was one away. Sympathy to South, who caught a trump stack behind the A-J-10-8 and also found the king of spades and king of diamonds held by the wrong defenders.

There are two things worth noting. First, after the club lead, declarer will make the contract by giving up the play for overtricks. When East plays back a heart at trick two, South should win the ace and play to dummy's queen and jack of clubs. Even though West ruffs, declarer will be able to get back to his hand with the diamond ace to pitch dummy's losing spade on the king of clubs.

Second, West's defensive strategy was poorly conceived. With length in the opponents' trump suit, West should not be trying to develop ruffing tricks. If the opening lead is a spade, declarer never has any chance to make the contract.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 23, 1989

Your greatest successes in the year ahead are likely to come from enterprises or ventures you've already begun. Big payoffs could be in the offing from situations that previously only eked out sparse returns.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try to take a laid-back position today in all of your affairs, even ones that could be a bit testy. Relax and let others worry about what and how to do things. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Outdoor activities where you can use your mental and physical attributes could do wonders for your feelings of well-being at this time. Don't be a couch potato today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Things in general should go rather smoothly for you today because of your natural inclinations to view events in a positive manner. Your attitude will make the difficult easy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A matter of importance to you materially can be finalized to your satisfaction today or, at the very least, put on the track to success. Make it a priority project.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your obvious fairness will attract favorable attention from others today. Should a mediator of sorts be required, you'll probably be pegged for the assignment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Follow your instincts today regarding ways to keep your material affairs in proper balance. Your value awareness will be very keen and you'll know how to walk the narrow line.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're likely to be a much better follower than a follower today. In matters that are of importance to you, take measures to keep the control in your hands.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be very effective today if you handle important developments in ways that do not call too much attention to yourself. Don't worry about instant recognition, because credit will come later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to go where the action is today so that you can enjoy others and they, in turn, can enjoy you. You should be able to blend very comfortably into any group or gathering.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can enhance your image today by underplaying your recent achievements. Exercise humility and let associates do the boasting on your behalf.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The key to getting maximum cooperation from others today is to treat them exactly as you'd like to be treated. Try it, you'll like it — and so will they.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You could be extremely lucky today in ways that will not be immediately obvious. Someone may do something special to advance your interests that you won't learn of until a later date.

Moslems shell Christian ports

United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Moslem militiamen shelled Christian-held ports near Beirut for the 10th consecutive day Wednesday as all crossing points between Moslem and Christian sectors of the divided nation remained closed, police said.

Police said the militiamen, positioned in Moslem west Beirut, sent mortars and rockets crashing into the Christian port town of Jounieh, 12 miles north of Beirut, and into the Christian-held Beirut harbor.

The bombardment caused some damage but no casualties, they said.

The shelling shattered a brief lull in clashes that killed nine people and wounded 11 others in the previous 24 hours. In all, 67 people have been killed and 190 wounded since the fighting erupted March 13.

The violence broke out following a decision by Christian army commander Gen. Michel Aoun to blockade three Moslem-run ports south of Beirut that the Christian government says are illegal.

The fighting, mainly between Christian units of the Lebanese army and Syrian-backed Druze militiamen on hills east of Beirut, also engulfed parts of the "Green Line" that has divided Beirut since the civil war broke out in 1975.

The Druze gunmen are members of the Progressive Socialist Party headed by Tourism Minister Walid Jumblatt.

Police said several shells fell Tuesday on Wadi Abu Jamil, a low-income Moslem neighborhood adjacent to the demarcation line, killing six people and wounding two.

Two women were killed and three people, including a child, were wounded in an artillery attack on Beirut's predominantly Shiite Moslem southern suburbs after nightfall Tuesday, police said.

One person was killed and six others wounded in the shelling of Christian areas east and north of Beirut, they said.

The fighting has kept the airport, many businesses and schools shut and obstructed work at ports, police said.

In another indication of a possible escalation of violence, the last two crossing points linking west and east Beirut remained closed Wednesday for a second day, police said.

Two other passageways along the northern coast of Lebanon and the hills east of Beirut also remained closed, effectively cutting all movement between the Christian and Moslem parts of the country, police said.

The four crossings were closed Tuesday by Syrian-backed Moslem units of the Lebanese army and by Syrian troops.

Japanese debate stop-gap budget

United Press International

TOKYO — Opposition parties ended a two-week parliamentary boycott Wednesday, rejoined debate to pass a stop-gap budget while threatening to walk out again next month over a stocks-for-favors scandal that has rocked the government of Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita.

The major issue pending in the Diet, or parliament, is a $78.9 billion budget to cover government finances for the first 50 days of fiscal 1989, starting April 1.

The opposition parties, led by the Japan Socialist Party, said they decided to suspend their boycott of Diet proceedings because passage of the budget is necessary to keep Japan's booming economy on track.

The scandal, which surfaced last summer, has stalled debate in the Diet as the government refused opposition demands that former prime minister Yasuhiro Nakasone be called to testify over his alleged role in the affair.

The Diet has failed to vote on the government's $464.6 billion main budget for the new fiscal year.

The budget, which represents a 8.8 percent increase over the current year, includes defense outlays totaling $30.2 billion, up 5.7 percent over the current year.

Parliamentary officials said the ruling and opposition parties have agreed to vote on the temporary budget in the lower and upper houses March 30 and 31, respectively.

They said 16 other pending bills needed to implement budget-related programs, including a new national sales tax going into force April 1, would be cleared before a vote on the provisional budget.

The opposition parties said they would boycott debate again next month unless Nakasone testifies before the Diet.

Nakasone, who stepped down in October 1987 after serving two and a half consecutive terms as prime minister, flatly denied his involvement in the affair in a nationally televised news conference earlier this month.

The scandal involving Recruit Co., a major publisher of job placement magazines, and its affiliates has led to the resignations of three key ministers in Takeshita's Cabinet and arrests of 12 business executives and former government officials, including Masahiro Ezoe, founder and former chairman of Recruit.

Recruit was accused of selling unlisted shares to select politicians and business executives in 1986 in return for business favors.

The purchasers made huge profits from selling the shares when they went public a few months later.

The scandal, the biggest to hit Japan in more than a decade, has dealt a severe blow to Takeshita's government and his leadership within the ruling Liberal Democratic Party.

Newspaper polls said public support for Takeshita, who took office in November 1987, has plunged to 15 percent, one of the lowest levels of any Japanese prime minister.

The LDP also has suffered setbacks in a series of recent elections, including those to fill a vacancy in the upper house and to choose governors in two prefectures.

Takeshita's party faces a major election in July when half of the upper house's 252 seats will be up for re-election.

In the biggest previous scandal, former prime minister Kakuei Tanaka was arrested in 1976 on charges of taking $3.85 million in bribes from the Lockheed Corp. to help promote the sale of commercial planes in Japan. Tanaka is currently free pending an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Detainees leave

UPI report

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Four escaped political detainees claiming victory left the West German Embassy in Pretoria early Wednesday as free men after taking refuge there two days ago.

"We have secured a victory and we are very happy about what we have done," said Ephraim Nkoo on leaving the embassy along with fellow dissidents Clive Radebe, Mpho Lekgoro and Job Sithole.

The four escaped Monday morning from Johannesburg's

Hillbrow Hospital, where they had been admitted after taking part in a nationwide hunger strike by detainees protesting imprisonment without trial.

They said they were not in a position to elaborate on their 48-hour stay at the embassy, but said Law and Order Minister Adriaan Vlok "has made certain assurances with regard to our demands."

Casserole recipe below is one that she said is good to make at home.

Her specialties are sweets, a fact to which her grandchildren would attest. Her Caramel Candy is their absolute favorite and has become a holiday tradition. She used to bring it with her on the plane from Texas at Thanksgiving; now she fixes it every Christmas. The grandkids like her other candies too, she said, but none can top the caramels (see recipe below).

Merideth likes any kind of needlework, but is partial to crewel, counted cross-stitch, needlepoint and crocheting. She is an avid seamstress, and makes most of her own clothes.

She is steadfast in the philosophy by which she lives: "Home and family are the most important things to me, along with my church. I'm a firm believer in the saying, 'A family that prays together, stays together.'"

Following are some of Merideth's favorite recipes that she has collected over the years.

FIESTA CASSEROLE

(Microwave Recipe)

1 pound lean ground beef
1 package (1 1/2 ounces) taco seasoning mix
1 can (16 ounces) refried beans
1 can (11 ounces) nacho cheese soup
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
1/2 cup pitted black olives, sliced
1 cup sour cream
2 green onions, minced
Round corn tortilla chips

In microwave-safe, 2-quart casserole dish, cook meat on high 5 minutes, stirring after 2 minutes. Drain off fat; place meat in bowl. Add taco seasoning mix and stir until combined. Spread beans in bottom of casserole dish; cover with beef mixture. Pour soup over meat to within 1 inch of edge of dish. Sprinkle with cheese and then olives.

Cook on high 15 minutes or until mixture is bubbly. Place sour cream over cheese at one side of casserole; sprinkle with green onion. Arrange tortilla chips around edge of dish. Makes 6 servings.

Recipe can be adapted for regular oven by browning ground beef on stove and heating casserole in a 350°F oven until bubbly, and cheese is melted.

BROWN SUGAR POUND CAKE

1 1/2 cups shortening (1/2 cup Crisco & 2 sticks butter)
1 pound light brown sugar
3 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup white sugar
5 large eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream butter and shortening; add sugar and cream again. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately to above mixture with milk. Stir in vanilla and nuts. Grease and flour tube pan and bake 1 1/2 hours at 325°F.

CARAMEL CANDY

1 cup butter
1 pound light brown sugar
Few grains of salt
1 cup light corn syrup
1 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Melt butter in large sauce pan over moderate heat. Add sugar and salt. Add syrup and milk. Stir constantly until mixture boils. Reduce heat and cook, stirring constantly, until candy thermometer registers 245°F (firm ball stage). Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour in pan. Do not stir. Refrigerate overnight. Remove from refrigerator and let stand 30 minutes before cutting. Wrap in plastic wrap. Makes 36 1-inch squares.
To make chocolate candy, add two 1-ounce squares of unsweetened chocolate with milk.

BEAN CASSEROLE

1 package lima beans, frozen
2 cups cooked kidney beans, drained
3 cans pork and beans
1/2 pound cooked ham, cut in small pieces
1 pound sausage, fried
1 cup tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup catsup
1 onion, chopped
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup brown sugar
Cook lima beans, drain and add other beans and meat. Mix tomato sauce and remain ingredients, add to beans. Bake uncovered in a 400°F oven for 1 hour. Makes 8 servings.

REFRIGERATOR BRAN MUFFINS

1 cup boiling water
3 cups All-Bran cereal
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs

2 1/2 cups flour
2 1/2 teaspoons soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups buttermilk
3/4 cup raisins
Pour boiling water over 1 cup cereal, setting aside to cool. Cream sugar, shortening and eggs. Sift dry ingredients, adding alternately with buttermilk to egg mixture. Blend in wet cereal. Add dry cereal and raisins. Store covered for up to six weeks in refrigerator. Bake in greased muffin tins for 20 minutes at 400°F. Makes 36 muffins.

TEXAS TUMBLEWEED BEANS

4 cups pinto beans
2 quarts water
1/2 cup catsup
1 tablespoon chili powder
1 tablespoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons Lawson's seasoned salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons jalapeno pepper sauce
Dash Louisiana hot sauce
Salt to taste

Simmer pintos in water for about 2 hours, until tender.

Check water level periodically and add more if needed to keep beans covered. Add remaining ingredients and cook at least one additional hour. Makes 10-12 servings.

Oystering the night away

Lewis Pope (left), a Rotaract sponsor, and Rick McLamb, Rotaract member, grill oysters for the Rotaract Club of Sanford's annual Oyster Roast on Friday at Lake Golden in Sanford. The event netted about $2,700, to go to the Thomas E. Whigham Scholarship Fund. Whigham was a Sanford attorney who died in October and was a charter member of the Sanford Rotaract chapter.

Phil Gaarder, governor of Rotary's district 698, opens wide for some succulent oyster as his wife, Jane, gets tickled pink. The two were among 200 who showed up to indulge on the saltwater mollusk. About 9,000 oysters were consumed by the hungry patrons, said Colin Galloway, president of the hosting Rotaract club. "Everybody had a great time," Galloway said. "We consider 200 a sellout, and the fact that we sold 237 tickets was beyond what we had expected."
