Special Lake Mary meeting

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary City Commission and staff will hold a special Strategic Planning/Goal Setting Session Thursday, March 31. The meeting will begin at 3 p.m., at AAA Headquarters, 1000 AAA Drive, in Heathrow. This is the second such planning session held in recent months by the commission. In addition to the commission and staff, should one of the four candidates seeking election Tuesday to fill vacant Seat 4 on the commission win the election, he or she will also be asked to attend. If no one receives the majority of votes cast, a run-off election will be required in April, and all four of the candidates will be invited to attend the meeting if they wish. Members of the general public are also invited to attend the planning session.

Downtown stop sign?

SANFORD — Police Chief Ralph Russell has determined that motorists pay little heed to the "stop for pedestrians" sign on E. First Street at Magnolia Square. Russell is proposing the city replace it with a regular stop sign. The reason for this change is based on observing numerous vehicles over a one week period failing to yield to pedestrians attempting to cross the street at this location, Russell said. The matter is scheduled for consideration during Monday afternoon's work session of the Sanford City Commission.

Archaeological dig information

SANFORD — Progress on the archaeological survey being conducted in Seminole County will be presented by Gary Ellis at the quarterly meeting of the Seminole County Historical Society Tuesday. The survey, now underway, is exploring and listing early Indian settlement sites, mounds, etc., within the county. Ellis will also update the society on work being done by Murray Laurie, in listing old structures in the unincorporated areas of the county including dipping vats, barns, sheds, cattle pens, etc. The public is invited to attend the program. Lorraine Whiting, society president, wants persons who may know of old buildings or sites which have not been surveyed, to contact her with the information at 349-5495. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the Agricultural Auditorium, 300 Bush Blvd.

Community Development Week

SANFORD — The City of Sanford will be observing National Community Development week beginning Monday. A proclamation is to be issued at 9 a.m., in the City Manager's conference room Monday morning. On hand for the event will be Mayor Betty Smith, City Manager Bill Simmons, and Community Development Director Charles Rowe. The wording of the proclamation is scheduled to be read at the regular meeting of the City Commission beginning at 7 p.m., Monday evening.

Petition for gambling

Signature drive would bypass Florida Legislature

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Organizers of a proposed riverboat gambling casino venture at Port of Sanford will announce a petition effort this week to seek the 429,428 signatures needed to ask Floridians if they want cruising casinos in November. The initiative will bypass the Legislature which appears unwilling to address the gambling issue this year. Proposals in both the House and Senate have gone unheard, despite a flurry of interest earlier this year. The session ends in 10 days on April 8. Lew Oliver, attorney for Florida Riverboat Corp., said last week the Orlando-based organization will announce a major petition initiative this week to ask voters if they want riverboat casinos on Florida waters. Oliver said the group would also announce a statewide spokesman, whom he declined to name. Oliver said the person may be a nationally-recognized personality, a state politician or Florida Riverboat president Gerald Braley, an Orlando homebuilder. "We want to convey the truth, that this was put together by local people, Orlando businessmen," said Oliver. Florida Riverboat wants to spend $40 million to

Kids scramble at Easter egg hunt

By VICKI DeBORMIER

SANFORD — With sirens blaring, the hook and ladder truck from the Sanford Fire Department made its way through the subdivisions near Lee P. Moore Park in southern Sanford early Saturday morning. Children flocked after it. Not to see a blazing fire, but to see a six foot tall Easter Bunny who emerged from the truck at the park to hug and shake hands with the admiring masses. The bunny had come to celebrate the Run for the Eggs that was sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department. Joining him were a couple of hundred children from a few months old to 12 years old. "This is nice," said Marissa Loren of Sanford who brought her 13-month old son James to the hunt. "I was afraid to bring him to the egg hunt they have at the zoo (next Saturday), because there are so many people there that he'd probably get trampled to death." Though the recreation department's event is considerably smaller than the zoo's event, organizers were pleased with the

Shoplifter who bites sentenced

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A woman convicted of biting a Sanford discount store manager during a shoplifting incident last year, began serving a year in jail Friday. She was also ordered to undergo another blood test for AIDS. Lisa Taylor Jenkins, 29, was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge C. Vernon Mize to 364 days in the John E. Polk Correctional Facility for her conviction of battery, petit theft and assault. She was ordered to have another blood test in 30 days, pay court costs and attorney fees. She was given credit for 30 days time served in jail. She was originally charged with robbery but a jury found her guilty of the lesser included offenses. The charges stemmed from a shoplifting incident Aug. 7 at the Family Dollar Store on Airport Boulevard when, then manager James Carlin attempted to stop a shoplifting incident and was bitten three times by Jenkins. While being treated for his injuries, Carlin said a nurse told him "the woman who bit me was HIV positive." Carlin said he was pleased with the sentence and that the blood test will be in a controlled environment so it is clear the test is administered to Jenkins. After receiving the results of an earlier court ordered test, Carlin said there was no way to confirm the test was the defendant's. "The results could have been from Mrs. Claus for all I know,"

McDonald's eyeing site downtown

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Commissioners Monday will discuss Big Macs and fries when representatives for the fast-food giant McDonald's pitch a proposal for a restaurant downtown. McDonald's wants to build on French Avenue near the W. First Street intersection. The initial proposal regarding needed property will be discussed during Monday night's work session of the Sanford City Commission. The area under consideration is located behind the present Firestone AutoCare Center. Along the north side of the proposed site is an unpaved, (east/west) overgrown city-owned alley, currently used to maintain underground and overhead utilities. McDonald's is asking authorization to open and landscape the alley. It would also be paved to allow for traffic flow in a westerly direction. Another request is for the vacating of the north/south alley near the same site, where the restaurant would be located.

Where were you during Pearl Harbor attack?

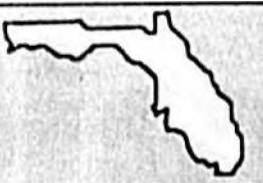

WAY BACK WHEN

JULIAN STENSTROM

I knew it would happen. A "young timer" called the other day to let me know in my Christmas column I wrote the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor one Sunday afternoon. Our caller said he was certain Pearl Harbor was attacked about 7 o'clock, Sunday morning, Dec. 7, 1941. I told him he was absolutely right. However, it was Sunday afternoon, our time here in Florida. I remember I was already in the Army and stationed with the IV Army Corps headquarters in Jacksonville. We had been home for a weekend pass in Sanford.

Right after Sunday dinner (which in those days was at nighttime) I went down to the bandshell at the foot of Park Avenue and hitched a ride. A fellow in a Model A Ford coupe stopped, gave me a lift. He said he was going all the way to Jacksonville. To get from Sanford to Jacksonville in those days you went up U.S. 17. The owner of the Model A had a radio in the car. Suddenly the musical program we were hearing was interrupted and the news of the Japanese raid on Pearl was announced. The next announcement said that all military

Video catches teen waving gun on bus

TAMPA — Just two weeks after cameras were installed on Hillsborough County school buses, one of them captured a wild scene of a teen waving a handgun as passengers screamed.

Two eighth-graders from Madison Middle School were arrested Friday, charged with carrying a concealed weapon on school property. Authorities said they were caught on tape handling the gun.

The incident started Wednesday afternoon after a fight on the bus, police Capt. Sam Jones said.

"It is very clear, you can tell who it is and what they're doing," said Grace Ippolito, the school district's area director.

The gun was confiscated Friday, but it was not known if the weapon was loaded on the bus, said police spokesman Steve Cole. The state attorney's office is expected to view the video and determine whether the gun was used to threaten other students, which might lead to additional charges.

HIV-positive man sentenced

MIAMI — A man infected with the virus that causes AIDS was sentenced to life in prison for attempted murder of the kidnapping and sodomizing of three boys.

Prosecutors compared the attack by Ignacio A. Perera Jr. to a bandit shooting a gun at a store clerk, because he knew he could have infected the boys with the deadly virus.

"It is certainly not illegal to be HIV-positive, but if you have the virus, you are expected to act responsibly and not expose others to it," said Assistant State Attorney Susan Dechovitz.

Perera, 32, was sentenced Thursday by Dade Circuit Judge Michael B. Chavies to five consecutive life terms for kidnapping, raping and trying to kill the three young boys in 1991.

The boys, aged 11 to 13, showed no sign of antibodies to the human immunodeficiency virus in two tests since the separate attacks.

Foster child admitted to hospital

TAMPA — The hospitalization of a seriously ill and underweight foster child has prompted an investigation of her foster home and state workers, state officials said.

The 12-year-old girl, who was admitted to Tampa General Hospital last week, weighs just 55 pounds and has suffered hair loss and sores on her skin and in her mouth.

A medical team is awaiting test results in order to diagnose her condition, Tom Jones, a spokesman for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, said Friday.

HRS officials would provide little information but say they are very concerned about the girl, and whether she suffered medical neglect under the agency's watch.

A complaint to HRS' abuse hot line prompted its investigation of the foster home, Jones said. He declined to say when the probe began.

Four other children were removed from the foster home, Jones said. HRS Secretary Jim Towey said he is not aware of any health problems involving them.

Protester indicted on weapons charges

PENSACOLA — A Houston man who reportedly talked of a "Beirut rescue" suicide attack on a national meeting of abortion doctors and clinic staffers has been indicted on federal weapons charges.

Abortion protester Daniel Ware, 40, is to be returned from Houston, where he was arrested March 10, to Pensacola to face the charges during the next 10 days.

A grand jury Thursday indicted the taxi driver on one count each of being a convicted felon in possession of firearms and transporting some of the weapons on a Greyhound bus without giving the bus company written notice.

The maximum sentences are 10 years in prison for the possession charge and five years on the transporting count.

At a detention hearing last week in Houston, a federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agent testified three Pensacola-area abortion opponents reported Ware showed them a pair of handguns, a rifle with a scope and 500 rounds of ammunition and said he planned to kill as many people as possible at a meeting here of the National Coalition of Abortion Providers.

Ware had come here in late February for the trial of Michael F. Griffin, 32, a Pensacola anti-abortion activist convicted March 5 of murdering abortion doctor David Gunn last year.

The abortion providers met in Pensacola March 12-13, but Ware had been persuaded to return to Houston before then, said Don Freshman, founder of Houston-based Rescue America.

Tuesday, Freshman, Rescue America regional director John Burt and two other Florida Panhandle anti-abortion activists testified before the grand jury.

Should protesters be kept off grounds of abortion clinics?

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Legislators are reviewing the issue of abortion protesters. They feel abortion protesters should be allowed to protest across the street from an abortion clinic but not on the property. Protesting on the property would be considered trespassing. Locals were asked how they felt about this new consideration and why they viewed it that way.

The public was very divided on this subject. Many people felt strongly about their opinion, strongly enough to also voice their views about the abortion itself. Seven were against abortion, two out of the seven felt abortions should be performed only in cases of rape. Seven said it should be the woman's choice. Three didn't express an opinion.

Three held steadfast that individuals should be allowed to protest on the property of an abortion clinic.

Mary Ann Germain stated, "Considering I am absolutely pro-life, I'm against subsidies and any form of support for abortion. I feel protesting should be allowed even on the property of an abortion clinic."

Willie J. Brown, father of 15 children, said, "If a person gets raped, they should be able to do whatever they want, but any other circumstances, it's wrong. I think protesters should be allowed on the property. I think they need to convince the women going in that it's wrong. It's killing a baby."

Mike Fields felt, "It doesn't matter where they protest, either across the street or on the property. I don't think you should interfere with any business, but I do feel abortion is wrong."

Three people were against abortions, yet felt protesting should be allowed off the property.

Felecia Risban said, "I don't think protesters should be allowed on the property but they should be allowed across the street. I'm against abortion so I feel the protesting should be allowed because they could sway the woman's mind."

Angela McMillan felt, "I don't like abortion but I feel it should be done only in the case of rape. I feel they should be allowed to protest but not on the other property."

John Gray firmly said, "I'm totally against abortion. I think it's murder. Even though I'm opposed to abortion, I don't think protesters should be on the property. The property owner deserves the right to have his property respected. They have the right to protest but not to disrespect the owner."

Seven locals voiced their concerns and felt protesting should be permitted only off property lines.

Keith Baggs said, "Everybody has the right to do what is legally accepted. I don't think anyone should be allowed on private property without an invitation."

Vinnie Casati stated, "If they want to protest across the street, it's fine. On the property, no! Everyone has the right to their own body. They got to do what they got to do."

Juanita Shoemo felt "everyone is entitled to their own opinion. Across the street is fine as long as they don't harass people like they did when they were on the premises."

Melvin Abney simply worded his views as, "If they're on private property they should be asked to leave or be escorted off. If across the street and not causing a problem to anyone or anything, fine."

Ben Estrella quietly said, "They should be kept away from the clinic because there has been violence before and there's too much violence in the world already. Confrontation doesn't serve any purpose or do any good for anyone."

Audrey Copeland agreed by saying, "I feel they have a right to protest but they shouldn't infringe on other people's right to privacy and to their opinions. Everyone should respect other people's opinions."

Connie Williams stated, "I think they should be allowed to voice their opinion, freedom of speech. I think being on the premises infringes on the rights of other people and their privacy."

Four individuals felt protesting should be restricted altogether. One of these felt he was unsure of his views of abortion, but two were pro-choice and one was pro-life.

Buck Daniel said, "I figure the lady should have her own opinion. I'm not against or for abortion. I think protesters shouldn't do it and ought to tend to their own business and leave everyone alone."

Garnett McMillan felt, "I don't think they should protest at all. It should be the right of the lady on the property if she wants an abortion. The protesters just get in the way."

Walter Brooks said, "I'm pro-choice. I don't think they should protest on anyone's property! If they're going to do it anyway, then make them do it across the street."

Elsie Smith came to the point and said, "I think abortion is wrong and I think protesting is wrong!"

The junior class at Seminole High School is sponsoring a unique fundraiser in April.

They will be pouring a new sidewalk on campus on April 16. In the meantime, they are selling space on the sidewalk for alumni, parents, boosters and friends to express themselves by having messages inscribed in the wet concrete.

Space is being sold in one square foot portions at $5 each. Purchasers may have their names, greetings, class year or whatever they would like inscribed in the sidewalk to be permanently memorialized there.

For more information call Mary Michalak at Seminole High School (322-4352) by April 11.

Food programs offer variety of options

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Needy residents of Seminole County can receive about 20 lbs. of free fresh fruit and vegetables this Thursday at the Seminole Volunteer Enterprises Inc. offices at Zayre Plaza.

Anyone receiving state or federal financial aid is eligible, said SVE president Jean Metts. The one-time distribution is made under the state Farm/SHARE program. The distribution will be held behind the SVE offices from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Bring your own containers.

The monthly distribution of TEFAP, Temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program, will be Tuesday and Thursday at the SVE offices from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. each day. Residents receiving aid or facing a financial emergency are eligible to sign up and receive staple food packages either day.

Also, residents can sign up for the April 23 SHARE food distribution during TEFAP distribution hours. The program, which is open to all residents regardless of income, allows residents to receive $25 to $30 worth of food for $13.50 and two hours volunteer time to the individual or organization of choice.

Each bag of food should provide a nutritionally-balanced diet for a family of four for one to two weeks, said Metts.

To qualify, provide a signed slip from the person receiving the volunteered help declaring the time you volunteered. There is no limit of the number of bags which can be acquired, but each requires a $13.50 payment and two hours volunteer time.

Multiple charges

John Michael Courtney, 25, of Orlando, was arrested by Lake Mary police Thursday, at Rosecliff and Sir Lawrence drives. Police following Courtney's motorcycle conducted a traffic stop. Police said a check of the license plate revealed it had been listed as being on a different motorcycle. Following an investigation, they charged him with nine counts: Driving with a suspended/revoked license; possession of stolen property; running a red light; having no signal lights; attached tag not assigned; unlawful alteration of a tag; having no motor vehicle registration; driving with no motorcycle endorsement; and having an expired tag for more than four months.

Undercover drug arrest

Sheriff's deputies arrested Gabriel Thomas LaCrosse, 20, of 303 Satsuma Drive, Sanford, at a convenience store parking lot on Upala Road Thursday. Deputies were following up on a suspected sale of a controlled substance to a minor. Through an undercover connection, they reportedly convinced LaCrosse to be at the parking lot. He was arrested on a charge of sale and delivery of a controlled substance to a minor, and sale and delivery of a controlled substance under 20 grams.

Loitering call

Sheriff's deputies responded Thursday to a call regarding a person believed to be loitering near a market in the 1900 block of Southwest Road. When they arrived, they questioned Lee Charles Taylor, 18, 1500 Roosevelt Avenue, which resulted in his being placed under arrest for possession of marijuana under 20 grams, and possession of cocaine, 3 grams.

Domestic cases

Michelle Louise Zapata, 27, 4141 W. Seminole Blvd., was arrested by deputies on S.R. 46 at S.R. 415 Thursday following an altercation with her husband. She was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Ruth Ann Foster, 55, and Herbert Alan Dureding, 73, both of 304 N. Forest, Lake Mary, were both arrested by Lake Mary police Thursday following a dispute. Dureding was charged with domestic violence (battery with injury) and Foster was charged with domestic violence, battery.

Wallace Jerome Crumity, 38, and his wife Alice Crumity, both of 1910 Lake Avenue, Sanford, were arrested by Sanford police at their residence Thursday, following a dispute. Each was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Incidents reported to the sheriff

A bike, valued at $70 was reported stolen Thursday from a garage at a residence in the 100 block of Lake Breeze Circle near Lake Mary.

A 22 year old Deltona man reported being robbed in the restroom of a restaurant Thursday, in the 100 block of Hickman Drive near Sanford. He reported $125 in a back pack, clothing and other items, plus $20 in currency was taken.

An estimated $1,000 in jewelry, a 22 caliber handgun and ammunition, valued at $153 were reported stolen Thursday from a residence in the 700 block of Baywood Drive.

A 1985 Cadillac, reported stolen in Sanford, was found by deputies, abandoned, in Dixie Terrace.

Incidents reported to Sanford police

An attempt was reported Thursday to steal a 1990 Cadillac, parked near a business in the 4000 block of S. Orlando Drive. Police said a car alarm apparently frightened off the burglar.

A 1990 Cadillac, reported stolen from the 100 block of Anderson Avenue, was recovered on Harrison, off Southwest Road Thursday.

A brown 1985 Dodge pickup truck was reportedly stolen early Friday from the 100 block of Hidden Harbor Court.

Teen sentenced in gang fight

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A Longwood teen was sentenced to three years probation and ordered to pay $5,300 restitution for his part in a gang-related fight which covered three cities over last year's July 4 weekend.

Anthony Spurlock, 19, Longwood, pleaded guilty in December to throwing a deadly missile. Spurlock was charged in connection with a fight that broke out when members of a gang called the Sick Boys attempted to crash an Altamonte Springs party.

The brawl continued in Winter Springs and ended with several people being injured in a bottle and brick throwing incident in Longwood.

The Sick Boys range in age from 14 to 25 and most live in the Weathersfield area near State Road 436 and SR 434, according to police.

Spurlock was also ordered to perform 100 hours of community service and pay court costs. He was ordered not to have any contact with co-defendant Richard Moore or the victims.

Sports editor wins award

LAKE CITY — Sanford Herald sports editor Tony DeSormier was a first-place winner in the 1993 Florida Sports Writers Association's writing and design contest.

Competing in the 50,000 and Under circulation division, DeSormier, 33, was the only entrant to win an award in the "Best Enterprise/Investigative Reporting," a category for in-depth pieces about trends and/or developing stories.

DeSormier won the award for his ongoing series on the switch from slowpitch to fastpitch softball in public high schools and the local impact of the change.

Dick Scanlon, Durward Buck, Mieke Cobb, Diane Allen and Arthur R. Brown Jr. of the Lakeland Ledger, won the honor for a newspaper with circulation between 50,001 and 175,000.

Randall Mell, Fort Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel, placed first in the over 175,000 circulation category.

The sports editor of the Herald since January, 1990, DeSormier has won 19 awards in FSWA contests for his writing.

The award will be presented at the FSWA's annual awards banquet on Sunday, April 17, in Lake City.

personnel on pass or leave were to report to their units as soon as possible. The kindly old gent who picked me up in Sanford remarked, "We'll get you there as soon as this old Ford can safely make it." And he did. In fact, when we arrived in Jacksonville, he drove me right to the old Duval County Armory at State and Market streets where we were stationed. So, to most Americans in the Eastern time zone, the Pearl Harbor attack came on a quiet, peaceful Sunday afternoon. As for me, I was just going through DeLeon Springs when the news was first announced.

Not too long ago I wrote about the Sanford sign painter, "Nipper." He painted signs all over town for folks back in the 1920s, 30s and so on. I had one call telling me his initials were "R.N." and that he came to Sanford in 1924. I had several calls telling us where he lived but they were all different until I got a buzz telling us that Nipper and his family resided at 300 Magnolia Avenue.

I figured the caller should know since she was his daughter. She is now Lois Nipper Shepherd. She lives at 1945 Bonanza Court in Winter Park, 32792.

Lois was born in Sanford in 1924 and graduated from Seminole High School with the class of 1942. See Stenstrom, Page 5A.

$100 million to offer gambling cruises on the St. Johns River and Lake Monroe. Company officials say the enterprise will employ 1,000 people at an average yearly salary of $24,000. The venture could produce $5 million to $10 million annually for local governments, officials said.

Church Street Station developer Bob Snow plans to develop a landside entertainment marketplace in conjunction with the cruises.

Oliver said the initiative would seek gambling only on riverboats and not pari-mutuels or major hotels as other proposals seek. Land-based gambling leads to crime and "leaze," said Oliver, but cruises limit access and therefore, negative impacts. Also, cruises deter impulse gambling, he said.

Oliver said Florida Riverboat would also intend, either in the referendum or in subsequent laws, to allow individual county commissions to decide whether to allow gambling in their communities. Oliver said the group doesn't want individual referenda in each county because they would be held in an off-election year when turnout is poor.

Oliver admits the county-by-county commission approval is ironic since Seminole County commissioners voted unanimously last week to oppose riverboat gambling here. Commissioners stated the proposal was "inconsistent with the community values" in the county.

Oliver and Braley said they were disappointed with the vote. "We would really try to get them to change their minds," said Oliver. "We think there's a possibility. We think (gambling) is going to come, not necessarily to the Port of Sanford, but in Florida."

The county's resolution was brought to a vote through the efforts of commissioner Pat Warren, who said she had heard Braley had appeared on a local talk show and suggested commissioners had backed off their earlier opposition to his proposal. Warren said Sanford residents had also told her they were opposed to the gambling.

"I decided to put it to bed," she said. Braley said he did not suggest commissioners had reversed their opposition, but stated they had told him they would wait to see if the Legislature would act. At the port, Snow wants to develop an "entertainment, dining, shopping, specialty retail center" similar to Church Street Station. Snow said the venture would be developed with Jim Rouse, nationally recognized creator of the "festive marketplace" concept. Snow said Rouse would design and operate the center.

Snow said the venture will be independent of the gambling cruises, but could not exist without them. Snow said he will not invest in the cruises.

When asked if the retail-entertainment venture would be feasible in the Sanford area by itself, Snow answered "I don't know that you'd ever be able to make it work without it. I doubt the feasibility study would show it could work."

No guns on school campus

History indicates, even back in the days of the wild west, youngsters did not take guns to school. No doubt Wyatt Earp and others were apparently better capable of teaching right from wrong to their children.

This is almost the end of the 20th century. Did you ever, in your lifetime, imagine that it would become necessary to enact laws prohibiting the taking of firearms into schools or onto school property?

Yet that is exactly what the Seminole County School Board has found it necessary to recommend to the state legislature.

The rule would not only pertain to students and teachers, but anyone on school property except law enforcement officers. Possession of a firearm, even if licensed, could lead to arrest.

The School Board has recommended the state legislature enact a law which would prohibit everyone from bringing guns on campus.

Some may believe that keeping the guns in their vehicles should be allowed. But one look at the vehicular burglaries on the various school properties should be an indication that this isn't a good idea.

The National Rifle Association should not have any complaints about this type of law. While the use of firearms for hunting game is a point of disagreement between opponents and the NRA, we know of no school grounds where hunting is allowed.

The right of self protection, which some say is reason enough to possess a gun, should also not be a reason for taking a gun to school.

Regardless of how a person interprets the right to bear arms, as stipulated in the U.S. Constitution, we doubt if many would disagree with the prohibition of guns at school.

It is an extremely sad commentary on our virtues and values to say that this type of law is needed. Yet, there is no alternative.

We urge the legislature to not only enact such a law, but include stiff penalties upon convictions.

Contact your legislative representative, and lend your support to this total ban on guns at school.

LETTER

Illegal immigrants

In spite of much commentary intended to obscure the cause, the presence of illegal immigrants in the United States is less the result of our government's ineptitude than our economic addition to cheap labor. Canada and Australia — First World nations with borders as porous as ours — have few problems with illegal immigrants because there are stiff and enforced penalties against all who employ undocumented aliens. When illegals can't get jobs and can't get welfare they will stay home or go elsewhere.

Our propensity to define the problem of illegal aliens as a matter of border security, document fraud, abuse of political asylum, or any other non-economic issue is a self-deception. This delusion is fostered by our politicians, business leaders, and more affluent householders who want to keep the private advantages they gain from the cheap employment of illegal aliens.

The exact percentage of our domestic servants, baby sitters, agricultural laborers, factory operatives, maintenance people, and other menials who work illegally defies any reckoning. These migrants work cheaply, and if they are caught and deported, their complicit employers are given a slap on the wrist before they go out and hire a new batch of illegals.

In response to these observations it is often claimed that Americans do not want and will not work these low-paying, menial jobs. If this is true, all who employ illegal aliens are advantaged in their competition with those who obey the letter of the law, and in response to such unfairness few will think it prudent or necessary to hire legally.

If our politicians want to end illegal immigration instead of talk about it, they must propose, enact and enforce laws that make employment of undocumented aliens a criminal offense, also subject to severe civil penalties. The desire for private profit is such that no one can be expected to surrender her own advantage if others are competing unfairly, and the penalties must be severe enough to communicate that the common good is more important than the advantage that any single employer obtains from breaking the law. In time perhaps, such laws would also create a heightened awareness of the public consequences of illegal employment, much as the last generation has become more aware and intolerant of public littering.

Lifelong learning is necessary

Lifelong learning has been a phrase that has been a part of our consciousness for a long time. However, the necessity for lifelong learning is becoming more acute. The computer age is here and the combination of companies reducing the number of employees and the demands of new technology for a different array of skills have made lifelong learning an option that many individuals have chosen.

Projections for the future confirm that companies will be smaller but more profitable. Industrial giants continue to downsize. Currently 50 percent of our exports are created by companies with 10 or fewer employees while only seven percent of our exports are made by companies with 500 or more employees.

Advances in telecommunications are mind-boggling. Dr. Toshiyuki Takezawa, a researcher with Japan's Advanced Telecommunications Research Institute International, spoke into a microphone at a bank of computers the word "moshi moshi." Twelve seconds later a computer in Pittsburgh conveyed Dr. Takezawa's message in English "hello." Engineers call it automatic interpreting telephoning. Estimations are that this interpretive technology is probably decades away. However, within this decade telephones will be capable of simple translations like booking hotel rooms and airline reservations.

SEMINOLE OPINION

Telecommunications is playing a vital role in the movement toward a global economic marketplace. We are also progressing toward a single worldwide network of information networks. In 1876, when Alexander Graham Bell first spoke over the telephone, he probably never dreamed the extent to which our lives would be changed.

Computers, telephones and television are helping to interchange capabilities with each other. Personal tele-computers for home and office will be common. A tele-computer will send and receive messages by voice, image and video.

Computer illiteracy in this computer age was something that has become intolerable for me. I feel that I am unnecessarily limiting my cognitive experiences. Therefore, I decided to visit Seminole Community College to review their course offerings.

Patsy English, one of the counselors at Seminole Community College, assisted me in analyzing the available courses. The college has a wealth of courses, both college credit and vocational courses. The vocational courses are less expensive and should adequately meet my needs. Registration for the vocational program begins Monday, March 28. The Computer Institute offers a sequence of courses from those that teach beginning typing skills to the more complex computer courses. The Computer Institute will be starting in May.

Anyone interested in college credit courses will find a full complement of computer courses at Seminole Community College. Lifelong learning is easily accessible in this community at Seminole Community College. The vocational division offers other institutes accordingly: The Health Professions Institute, The Insurance Institute, The Real Estate Institute and the Secretarial Institute. For additional information contact Seminole Community College at 323-1450.

Nailing Ollie from the get-go

Twenty years ago, while working for columnist Jack Anderson, I wrote a wild-guess story in which I predicted that the military junta then ruling Greece would soon fall. A few weeks later, the colonels bit the dust. Said my employer, with a broad grin: "Joe, once in a while you get lucky."

Five years ago, while working for myself, I finally wrote something that had been gnawing at me for two years. Though the exceedingly popular

Oliver North had worn the silver leaves of a lieutenant colonel, he was in fact a five-star fraud. Now, even Ronald Reagan and the Reader's Digest have jumped on my anti-Ollie train, and I can hear big Jack's words ringing in my ears as I tap this keyboard: "Joe, once in a while you get lucky."

At risk of sounding immodest, I have to tell you my bull-dozers honed in on Ollie on July 7, 1987, the day the misty-eyed, gap-toothed Marine, all done up in olive drab and ribbons, first appeared before the Iran-Contra committee. His baby blues charmed the cameras and millions of viewers who saw him as a lone sentinel holding off the congressional Visigoths who would defund his beloved "freedom fighters," but this Curmudgeon saw a self-righteous, swaggering, absurdly theatrical charlatan who had thumbed his nose at the democratic process.

If he was such a patriot, why had he consorted with the Iranians, an avowed terrorist? Why had he violated his oath to uphold the Constitution, which delegates the financing of wars to the people's elected representatives?

If he was truly sincere, why did he look and sound so syrupy? Why did he tote his Bible around with him and stack his Olliegrams on the table in front of him?

If he was such an honest, stand-up guy, why did he lie to Congress? And shred evidence? And accept an illegal gratuity? Why did he always blame other people for the wrongs that were committed? He had only been following orders, he said. Other people were responsible for the plot to fund the Contras with the proceeds of weapons sales to Iran, and the chain of command probably went right to the top: "I assumed that the president was aware of what I was doing and had... approved."

My doubts about Ollie inspired a surge of hate mail. A man from Texas called me a "jackal" and denounced my columns as "hypocritical drivel." A lawyer from Indiana described them as "pathetic pieces of dishmash." An 80-year-old Michigan woman demanded: "Have you served your country in military combat, put your life on the line for this great nation?"

Slowly, shoveful by shoveful, Ollie the artful bullshitter gouged out his own grave. His biggest mistake, in the eyes of his fellow conservatives, was his trashing of Ronald Reagan in his 1991 memoirs: "Five years later, I am even more convinced: President Reagan knew everything."

A few weeks ago, the grand guru of the movement himself wrote a letter questioning Ollie's veracity. "I do have to admit that I am getting pretty steamed about the statements coming from Oliver North," fumed Ronald Reagan. "I never instructed him or anyone in my administration to mislead Congress... And I certainly did not know about the Iran-Contra diversion."

Now it is very current to call Ollie a liar. Ted Koppel and Harry Smith of CBS. They're on the story now, but we know who got there before them.

Sometimes, a guy just gets lucky.

Though the exceedingly popular Oliver North had worn the silver leaves of a lieutenant colonel, he was in fact a five-star fraud.

Crime bill should strike out

SAN FRANCISCO — I have never been a fan of jocktalk in political life. The endless campaign lingo about slam-dunking opponents and hitting questions out of the ballpark has left me on the sidelines.

But I am even more uncomfortable when sporting life steps being a metaphor and starts becoming public policy.

This is exactly what is happening with the new favorite anti-crime legislation that's known as "three strikes and you're out." This is criminology according to Abner Doubleday.

At heart, the Three Strikes bills are meant to send third-time felons — in some places, violent felons, in other places, all felons — to jail for life without parole. This is an idea that is popular with everyone from California Governor Pete Wilson to New York Governor and former center fielder, Mario Cuomo. It's even popular with jogger and golfer Bill Clinton.

The first of the Three Strikes proposals passed a Washington state referendum last fall. A second variation on the law went into effect here in California two weeks ago. It mandates 25 years to life or triple the usual sentence, whichever is more.

Now, in the midst of spring training, there are bills or ballot initiatives in 30 state legislatures and in both branches of Congress. Georgia, not to be outplayed, just passed a bill that will put a Two Strikes proposal on the state ballot next fall.

I am not surprised at the cheers this idea has received. The real national pastime — one that I share — is watching and worrying about crime. Crime may not be on the rise in the statistics. But it is on the rise among the young. It's on the rise in the news and in the polls that track our concerns.

We worry now about random crime, about violent crime, and Three Strikes laws have become the easiest way for legislators to prove that they are on our team.

But life is more complicated than baseball and so is crime. Not every felon warrants the same punishment. Some first crimes deserve much harsher sentences than they get. Some third crimes deserve lighter sentences than Three Strikes would mandate.

In Washington state, for example both Cecil Emile Davis and Larry Lee Fisher were caught under the same new law. One of these men, Davis, had attacked two people with an ice pick and severely beaten two others before he was picked up for allegedly kidnapping, raping, and cutting another woman's throat.

Fisher, on the other hand, was charged for the third time with robbing a store. He took off with $151 after telling the clerk that the finger in his pocket was a gun. None of his crimes involved violence. Do they both deserve the same life sentence?

James Alan Fox, the dean of criminal justice at Northeastern University — the Boston site, by the way, of the first World Series — puts it this way: "Punishments should not just fit the crime, but the criminal."

That subtlety is rapidly being lost in this sports arena. Under the proposed Georgia law, two-time losers as young as 13 could become lifers. Under one Illinois bill, someone who was caught three times passing three bum checks a year, could be jailed forever.

If Three Strikes sounds like it's tough on crime, it is really tough on judges. And even on police.

A law that makes sentences mandatory rather than presumptive, an absolute rather than a general rule, takes away the judges' role in sentencing. They are stripped of the very quality we choose them for — their "judge"-ment.

As Dean Fox says, "Even in baseball umpires have discretion on the third strike. ...I'd like judges to have at least as much discretion as an umpire."

The law in California already has police worried about facing desperate criminals with two strikes and nothing to lose. It has others talking about geriatric prisons filled with people whose crime prime is long past.

Will these elders fill space that should be left for younger, "active" criminals? Will less dangerous people use up money that should be allocated to — if the word may be spoken before today's filled and angry bleachers — crime prevention?

This is a time when as many people memorize crime reports as batting averages. Two-time murderers and rapists released to rape again soar to the top of the news. No politicians want to face charges that they let any criminal walk — into their town.

But to be rational about criminals is not to be soft on crime. Violent criminals — first — as well as third-timers — should indeed be punished harshly. They should be punished by the quality of their crimes, not just the quantity.

I'm afraid it's going to take a whole league of brave legislators to step up to that plate.

This is criminology according to Abner Doubleday.

I asked her how she found out I had mentioned her father in one of my "Way Back When" columns. Lois had received a call from Mrs. David Gatchell, nee Patty Hodge, daughter of old timer Johnny Hodge. I keep telling you this column each week goes to all parts of the world, both far and near. I thank Patty, also a 1942 SHS grad, for calling Lois and for Lois calling me.

There's one item I must clarify. I had been told Nipper was quite a swimmer. From time to time he would swim from Sanford across Lake Monroe to Enterprise and then back to Sanford.

What could Lois tell us about that? Absolutely nothing. She didn't remember her Dad ever doing it.

For years and years we've heard mostly about Sanford's early school - East Side Primary and Sanford Grammar. Today, however, I am going to tell you a bit about Sanford's second primary school, West Side. It was located between Third and Fourth Streets on the east side of Maple Avenue.

The school was built in 1916. It was opened Oct. 2 of that year with Mrs. Stella Arrington as principal. Teachers were Blanche Pattishall, Ethel Moughton and Edith Stewart.

Some years later Principal Marion St. John had to begin cleaning out closets and other storage spaces so the structure could be redecorated. Among the "relics" found was a scroll which on lined linen paper was a roll of the pupils' names. The list is what some local folks, especially old timers, would call a treasure. I'm going to share them with you today along with the compliments of Sidney Vihlen Sr. so, here they are. Clarabell Beatty, Eva Dudley, Jenny Dancelake, Elizabeth Mitchell, Margaret Mitchell, Thelma McDonald, Harry Crippen, Julia Fortson, Marion Fortson, Archie Pitts, Claude Russell, Lurkin Smith, Horace Thom kins, Briggs Arrington, William Beatty, William Perritt, George Putman, Harold Simmons, Sara Jane Cowan, Georgia Calhoun, Louise Fortson, Helen Wise, Hazel Newton, Mable Rice, Marvin Leavitt, Milton Moore, Earnest Pitt, Everett Rivers and George Leach.

Don't know about you but I can recognize quite a few folks I knew later in my life. But I confess most of them I did not know. But bet a bunch of you old timers can recall quite a few of them.

We attended West Side Primary during our first and second grades. It was not the worst area of Sanford but we can tell you this: A cat with a tail was considered a tourist.

We thank Sid for sharing this information with us because some of these names brought back many fond memories.

attendance at Saturday morning's event. "Looks pretty good to me," said Lisa Jones of the Sanford Recreation Department. "There are a lot of kids here."

Under the gazebo, the recreation department had assembled dozens of cookies, buckets of drinks and the object of the little ones' dreams, cellophane-wrapped baskets filled beyond capacity with sugary treats. "Wow!" said Kim by Fernandez, 5, of Lake Mary, a little awe-struck by the assembled candy.

Her mother Gisella eyed the prize warily. "I hope she doesn't win that," she said. "I'll have to peel her off the ceiling if she eats that much sugar."

Nearly 6,400 plastic eggs, each containing a small plastic toy, were hidden, mostly in plain sight in four search areas near the park's playground. Children, divided according to age, sped across the course and gathered the eggs and searched for the special red, sparkling egg that was the key to the grand prize candy.

Cecelia Roberts, 7, of Sanford sat quietly at the edge of the gazebo after the hunt.

"I didn't find the magic egg," she told her mother. "Maybe we better go buy some candy so we can have some to give the Easter Bunny next week."

Disney World is planning Busch Gardens-style park

By The Associated Press

LAKE BUENA VISTA — The official line is "nothing definite," but plans are well-developed for a fourth theme park at Walt Disney World.

A former San Diego Zoo chief has been hired and small groups of visitors are seeing a promotional video for a Busch Gardens-style attraction featuring roller coasters, gorillas and exotic settings.

But Walt Disney Co. is almost mum on the subject.

Disney spokesman Greg Albrecht said only, "We've made no decision to announce a fourth theme park, and we are still looking at all different options."

But a detailed outline obtained by the media describes a park of thrill rides, fantasy figures, dinosaurs and an animal park with a strong conservation theme.

The 500-acre park, which could open as early as 1997, is detailed in a confidential video shown to small groups of tourists as part of a marketing study.

Insiders say the design is constantly being revised at Walt Disney Imagineering in California, but the basic concept remains the same.

Like the Magic Kingdom, the proposed park is divided into several lands off a central village.

Visitors enter through a lush garden and cross the Safari River, which meanders through the park, to Safari Village and its Tree of Life, an environmental accent piece.

From the park's hub, visitors fan out to four themed lands: the Beauty Kingdom, Dinoland, Africa and Asia.

Rick Barongi, a former director at the acclaimed San Diego Zoo, was hired recently to work on the project, and Disney has contacted zoos about helping with endangered animal survival programs.

Even with the park very much on the drawing board, the repercussions for other Florida tourist attractions already are being calculated.

"It's got more of that fun for the younger adults and older kids than Universal has," said Alan Gould, who researches theme parks for Kidder, Peabody & Co. "And I would have to think this is going to be huge competition for Busch Gardens."

He sees expansion as essential for Disney, considering nearby Universal Studios' plans for a second park, hotels, shopping and nightlife.

Bill Sims, chairman of the Florida Commission on Tourism, said Disney expansion is good for the state in general but could hurt individual attractions.

Attendance at Busch Gardens in Tampa could drop by as much as 20 percent in the first year of a new Disney park, he predicted.

"It will hurt Busch — hurt it bad," Sims said. "And depending on how effectively Disney structures its tickets, it could really hurt other Orlando parks."

Instead of expecting a smaller piece of the pie, Joseph Fincher, general manager of Busch Gardens, sees the pie growing.

"One good thing that has happened with all Disney expansions is that tourism in Florida continues to grow," Fincher said. "Once Disney makes a decision, we will look at our marketing strategy and evaluate our programs."

Spectacular show

The Lake Mary High School show choir will present the "Show Choir Spectacular" on Tuesday, April 19. The show, which will take place in the school's auditorium, will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $3 in advance and $4 at the door. For more information or to purchase advance tickets, call 323-2110, ext. 261 and leave a message on the machine.

Teacher Quest opportunities

The Teacher Quest Scholarship Program provides an opportunity for classroom teachers to be employed with a business during times when school is not normally in session. The purpose is to improve classroom instruction by enhancing teachers' knowledge in scientific, mathematical or computer applications. The computer pays a full salary on a bi-weekly basis. Through the Challenger Trust Fund, the school district will reimburse the employer for one-half the teacher's salary for the employment period. For more information, call Jane Lane at 322-1252, ext. 483.

It's time for a break

Spring Break! Capital S-P-R-I-N-G-B-R-E-A-K! Yes, it's here and, oh, how we students revel in these days just for relaxation.

Starting the afternoon of March 23rd children of all ages headed towards their own recreation sights and began the ancient ritual of "vegging out". The beaches were already swamped with vacationers from all around the country visiting the world's most famous beach and now that we're cut loose for TEN WHOLE DAYS we can join in on the sun soaking and all that goes with it.

Now of course the beach isn't the only hip happenin' spot of preference, there are some who are traveling to Texas, California, and other points in the U.S. and some are opting to stay in the Sunshine State to visit with friends and relatives. But that's not all. A few are going on church retreats, a few are workin' hard. And a select few are turning 18. (Namely, well, me!)

Amid the daytime activities there are night owls who sleep contently while the sun is shining brightly and wait for the perfect moment to rise and prepare for the coming evening.

Club hopping is a favorite sport of the older spring break crowd but with the new curfew the average age has risen slightly.

Downtown Orlando will be flooded with tourists and natives alike but after 12 a.m. (seven nights a week) anyone 17 and under must be inside or accompanied by an adult.

How many of you hang out with your parents?

Yep. That's what I thought. But don't panic yet, the curfew has only passed one round of voting so far.

The second vote is scheduled for April 18th and if it passes there it will go into effect June first.

So maybe your summer will be affected but at least not spring break.

As Seminole High's S.A.D.D. club president I feel obligated to wish everyone a safe and enjoyable vacation.

Please remember that this can be accomplished without drinking and driving.

If you wind up in a situation where your ride has been drinking call your parents to pick you up.

It would be better for them to be mad at you for a short while than to become part of a terrible statistic.

Right?

POP CULTURE™ by Steve McGarry

Born Arthur Andrew Kelm in New York City in 1931—although he later used his mother's maiden name, Golden—Tab Hunter joined the Coast Guard as a teenager, and later became a competitive ice skater. He starred in a host of films in the 1950s and 1960s, topped the record charts and even starred in his own half-hour sitcom.

- 1) What was the title of Tab Hunter's 1957 chart-topping hit?
- 2) In which 1958 movie musical did Tab Hunter play a baseball hero?
- 3) On which 1970s soap did Hunter become George Shumway?

Answers: 1) "Young Love," 2) "Mary, Mary, Mother of Mine," 3) "Love, Mary, Mary"

 □ The American High School Mathematics Examination was recently given to high school students across the country.

At Seminole High School, five students performed exceptionally well.

Chris Titshaw and Jeff Whitaker were named to the Merit Roll. Chris Black, Brent Bradshaw and David Morace won a place on the Honor Roll.

Chris Black was awarded a Bronze Medal for his score. Black, Bradshaw and Morace have been invited to participate in the American Invitational Mathematics Examination on April 6.

□ The Sanford Optimist Club recently selected students from Seminole High School for inclusion in their annual "Teen Appreciation Week" next month. The students are: Erik Sauls (music); Andre Scott (sports); Anthony Sanders (leadership); Diederichs (scholarship) and Chris Black (scholarship).

□ The Sanford Optimist Club also announced their essay contest winners from Seminole High School as well: Ginger Tackett, John Burch and Tom Holland.

There is NO need for dress code

The new Commissioner of Education, Doug Jamerson, has an idea which "is not to stifle student individuality." In my opinion, that's exactly what would happen if his plan for a school dress code passes. Dark pants with blue or black knit shirts for boys and slacks or skirts for girls is Jamerson's idea for a more modified dress code. He says that dress codes increase achievement levels, camaraderie and safety.

Sure, it would be great to improve these areas, but do we really have a problem with them, and would a dress code really help them? The way a student dresses has nothing to do with how they will achieve. A badly dressed student can do just as well as a uniformed student. All one has to do is to put one's mind to it. I don't feel that camaraderie, or safety is bad at our school or most schools in our area. The need for dress codes might be more prevalent in the inner cities.

The way a person dresses, especially in teenage years, reflects what kind of person they are. The way one dresses is a way of expressing one's self. A teenager needs to feel like an individual. Uniforms do not accomplish this.

Dress codes are already strict enough. Even though I know life isn't fair, it is not good to tell people what they can and can not wear. People in favor of dress codes say they can wear all of their nice clothes on the weekends. But who wants to wear nice clothes lounging around the house where no one can see them? That is the whole purpose of buying nice clothes!

The bottom line is that students go to school to get an education. I think this can be accomplished successfully without dress codes.

IN BRIEF

5K for the VNA

The Visiting Nurse Association will sponsor the second annual 5K walk-a-thon on Saturday, April 16, from 8:30 a.m. at Lake Eola Park in downtown Orlando.

Walkers are encouraged to collect sponsors for the 3.2 mile walk around beautiful Lake Eola. Prizes like t-shirts, tote bags, weekend getaways will be awarded to participants based on funds collected. Free food, drinks, balloons, massages, and blood pressure checks will be available following the event.

Funds raised from the walk will go to provide medical care at home for indigent patients. For more information, or to receive your walk-a-thon packet, please call 645-5371.

The Central Florida Visiting Nurse Association is a non-profit, United Way Agency dedicated to caring for individuals in the comfort of their home, in order to promote wellness, dignity and independence.

Popeyes 'Cookin' For Easter Seals'

Popeyes Famous Fried Chicken is "Cookin' For Easter Seals '94" now through April 3.

For a donation of $1, 30 Popeyes restaurants are offering a booklet filled with savings on popular Popeyes food and beverages. Each booklet also contains a registration form to win a four-day, three-night trip for two to New Orleans compliments of Marriott Hotels and Continental Airlines.

More than 90 percent of funds raised for Easter Seals will stay in the area. Program services include Camp Challenge, a 63-acre wheelchair accessible facility that provides a therapeutic and recreational experience for children and adults with disabilities in Sorrento.

For information, call 896-7881.

'Donation: Talk About It' during eye donor month

"Donation: Talk About It" is the theme of the Medical Eye Bank of Florida for this year's commemoration of Eye Donor Month. Donating eye tissue can mean the restoration of sight for a blind person who undergoes corneal transplant surgery.

Since 1978, the Medical Eye Bank of Florida has been providing eye tissue for transplant, education and research into the causes and cures of many types of blindness. The cornea is the clear front covering of the eye. A cornea damaged by trauma, disease or inherited conditions can be replaced by a donated healthy cornea.

"This surgical procedure is a miracle in that it can restore sight to blind," according to William Watson, executive director of the Eye Bank. "But it requires donated eye tissue.

That is why we recommend families talk about donation throughout the year."

The Medical Eye Bank of Florida is currently offering speakers to discuss eye and organ donation. Physicians, corneal recipients and employees of the Bank will provide accurate and up-to-date information about donation and corneal transplantation to groups and organizations without charge.

The Eye Bank, a non-profit agency, is responsible for retrieving, processing and distributing donated eye tissue in Central Florida. It serves the east central Florida counties of Orange, Osceola, Seminole, Lake, Brevard, Volusia and Flagler.

Physicians saluted for caring

Doctors Day will be celebrated nationwide on March 30.

The celebration will be in honor of today's physicians who dedicate their careers to the care of their patients and to the advancement of medical technology. Physicians not only provide care — they care.

Relief from pain during surgery dates back to 1842. In that year on March 30, Crawford W. Long, M.D., administered ether anesthesia to his patient before removing a tumor from the man's neck. His patient would swear later that he felt nothing and did not realize the operation had been completed until he awoke.

It was this milestone in medical history that became the basis for celebrating Doctors Day each year in medical institutions and communities across the country. The first Doctors Day observance was held on March 30, 1933 by the Barrow County, Ga., Auxiliary in Dr. Long's honor and to recognize the dedication and achievements of physicians like him.

DOCTORS DAY • 1994

March 30, 1994

The American Society of Anesthesiologists is encouraging medical society auxiliaries, medical specialty organizations, hospital administrators and community groups to become involved in special activities in honor of physicians of yesterday and today. This year, the focus will be on educating children about the sweeping changes that medicine and anesthesiology has had over the years.

Since Dr. Long's historic use of ether as an anesthetic, the practice of anesthesiology continues to specialize in the management of pain. Faster-acting anesthetics are now being used. Technology and advances in monitoring equipment have improved patient safety during and after surgery. In many medical facilities, patient-controlled analgesia is available, allowing even pediatric patients to administer pain medicine safely to themselves as needed. Physicians, too, continue to benefit from the knowledge of new research and continuing medical education, including the latest in computerized patient simulators for crisis management training programs.

Many advancements have evolved since Dr. Long's historic operation, but none have replaced the physician as the dedicated individual who cares for the patient.

HOUSE CALL

Procedure touted as time, sight saver

By HOWARD SAKOWITZ, M.D.

Cataract surgery has become one of the most common surgical procedures performed in the United States. A cataract is a clouding in the lens of the eye that may cause decreased vision.

Cataract surgery has evolved over the years to restore vision more quickly with a shorter recovery period.

With conventional surgery the cataract was removed largely intact requiring a larger incision and six to 10 sutures were necessary. In addition, the incision took at least one month to heal with complete recovery of vision taking six to eight weeks. Activities were severely curtailed with bending and lifting virtually prohibited.

With the advent of a newer procedure called phacoemulsification, the cataract lens could be broken into tiny fragments and removed through a small incision often requiring no sutures. More importantly, vision recovered much more quickly and normal activities could generally be resumed within a day or two of surgery.

The phacoemulsification technique is impressive, with a high success rate and rapid visual improvement in his patients. However, any surgery must be considered carefully and other non-surgical alternatives such as simply changing glasses can often suffice to improve vision.

As cataracts decrease vision, but rarely threaten the health of the eye, surgery is not considered a necessity. Instead, it is an opportunity to regain vision a person has not experienced for decades.

Howard J. Sakowitz, M.D. and Jon A. Day, M.D. are with the Lakeview Eye Clinic, 901 E. Second St., Sanford.

Fitness Factor

Clinton takes nation on the run

By IRA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Bill Clinton deserves some credit, says running coach Jim Vargo. For a middle-age man with a weight problem, the president can run.

Vargo evaluated Clinton's performance during a recent run in Washington. The conclusion: "He doesn't have bad running form, from a technical standpoint."

And Clinton is capable of bursts that are close to speed, Vargo said. Vargo, who is a mathematics instructor and cross-country coach at Georgia Southern University in Statesboro, got his chance to run with the president because one of Vargo's athletes, Tim Willis, was to carry the Olympic torch in Lillehammer, Norway.

Willis is blind, and Vargo is his running guide. So when the five Americans who had been chosen to participate in the traditional opening of the Winter Games were invited to run with Clinton last month, Vargo was there, too.

Clinton believes in fitness. The president thinks healthy Americans should exercise three or four days a week, for 30 minutes. Further, he practices this. Reporters assigned to trail him as he runs say he usually gets out about four times a week, even in heavy rain, sleet or snow. However, recurring back pain sometimes keeps Clinton from running.

Clinton began the morning run last month with a few minutes of stretches, then took off, Vargo said.

From a coach's point of view, Clinton "is not a picturesque runner," he said. "I don't know if 'plods' is the right term, but he doesn't have smooth texture."

On the other hand, Clinton's form is technically adequate, Vargo said. His ease of motion is at least average, including the heel-to-toe plant of the foot as he runs, Vargo said.

Clinton was running in New Balance shoes, Vargo noticed.

"He said he wore New Balance because they were the only ones manufactured and produced in the United States," Vargo said. "I find it interesting, though, that New Balance is considered the best shoe for overweight runners."

Clinton, 48, carried about 210 pounds on his 6-foot, 2½-inch frame at his last physical in January, the White House said. And Clinton has said that weight control is a big motivation for his running.

Depending on which measure is used, Clinton is either at a good weight or slightly above it. Federal weight tables put him at the upper end of the acceptable range for a person of his height and age. Metropolitan Life Insurance tables, which allow less fat, would consider him a few pounds overweight. Scientists don't agree on which table is better associated with optimal lifespan.

Clinton is not what you'd call "a serious, competitive runner," Vargo said. To do that, the president would have to run six or seven days a week and for well beyond the half-hour that the president normally runs, he said.

But competition is not Clinton's goal. And Clinton stated as much, Vargo said: "He admitted, 'I am a slow runner, not a person who is going to run a 10K and be competitive.'"

In fact, given Clinton's build, Vargo suspects the president would be a better shot-putter than cross-country runner.

Nonetheless, running gives Clinton "that inner satisfaction of accomplishing a goal," Vargo said. "You could see that coming out."

And the bottom line is that the president is deceptively fast.

Clinton does pretty good time, Vargo said. After Clinton found his wind, in the second half of the run on the National Mall, the group was probably doing a 7:45- or 8-minute mile, he said. It took about 27 minutes to run about three miles, the coach said.

Clinton runs his distance comfortably, judging by the traditional test of being able to talk and run at the same time, Vargo said. "Once we got running, it felt like running with old friends," he said.

Clinton mixes politics with athletics. An invitation to run with the president is 30 minutes of political quality time, because Clinton is able to discuss complex issues while on the run.

A New Breakthrough In Hernia Repair

Hernia repair is no longer major surgery. Recent advances like the mesh technique have made it as simple as a one-day walk-in, walk-out procedure.

A new laparoscopic technique now available at The Hernia Center of Central Florida has simplified things even further. Because this procedure requires only small incisions, it lessens pain and further shortens recovery time.

The Hernia Center is operated by Surgical Associates, an established team of skilled surgeons who have practiced in Central Florida since 1973 and have performed literally thousands of hernia operations.

If you're suffering from a new or recurrent hernia, we can help. For an appointment, call

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Aftermath of assassination

SAN CRISTOBAL DE LAS CASAS, Mexico — Rebels in southern Mexico accused the government of planning to use the assassination of the ruling party's presidential candidate as an excuse to attack them.

They claimed in a statement there have been troop buildups and aerial attacks in the region in recent days and said Friday they were shelving a draft peace agreement reached with the government.

The accusations could not be immediately confirmed, and there was no reaction from the government.

The communique was a serious setback to efforts to end the uprising that erupted Jan. 1 in southernmost Chiapas state by rebels protesting Indian poverty. At least 145 people were killed before the government called a cease-fire on Jan. 12.

The rebels said the assassination on Wednesday of presidential candidate Luis Donaldo Colosio "is only a prelude to a grave military offense the federal government is planning against our positions and our forces."

Clinton's release tax returns

WASHINGTON — Buffered by weeks of political pressure, Bill and Hillary Rodham Clinton now have released all their tax returns since 1977, providing a 16-year snapshot of their finances.

When the last of the lot, the Clintons' tax returns for 1977-1979, were released at the White House on Friday they showed that:

- During the years Clinton served as Arkansas attorney general and was first elected as the state's governor, the couple sank an overall $46,636 into their Whitewater real estate investment, mostly for interest on bank loans.

- Mrs. Clinton made about $100,000 in commodity speculations.

- The couple's income over the full 16-year period increased from slightly more than $40,000 in 1977 to a little more than $250,000 in 1992.

Tobacco industry under fire

WASHINGTON — The tobacco industry is under attack from all quarters.

The Food and Drug Administration is threatening to regulate, and possibly ban, tobacco products. The Labor Department wants to outlaw smoking in some 6 million buildings. Businesses already are outlawing smoking, and a congressional subcommittee this week voted to tax cigarettes at $1.49 a pack.

"A rabid anti-tobacco movement bent on prohibition has made the tobacco industry the subject of an extraordinary campaign of vilification," Tobacco Institute consultant Charles Whitley testified before a congressional panel Friday.

The Clinton administration launched its broadest assault yet on tobacco, proposing a ban on smoking in all workplaces from factories to restaurants.

The ban wouldn't take effect until at least next year. But the Labor Department said employers would have to provide a separately ventilated room for smokers if they permit any smoking at all.

McDonald's already has locations in Sanford at 3785 Orlando Drive, and 150 Hickman Drive, as well as 710 Lake Mary Blvd. in Lake Mary.

The initial plans for the downtown Sanford building indicate it would be located from French Avenue, U.S. Highway 17-92) through to Maple Avenue, and between 2nd Street and the rear of the Firestone facility.

The building is planned for 2,000 square feet, with drive through space, parking, and a full playground.

Conklin, Porter and Holmes Engineers is representing McDonald's in submitting the applications. They have informed the city that there have been no objections to vacating the north/south alley by any of the utility operations involved in the area.

The Land Development Plans Review Committee has recommended the commission vacate the alley, pending relocation of all utilities lying within the right-of-way and with the developer paying all costs associated with the relocation.

Following discussion of the proposal at the work session beginning at 4:30 p.m. Monday afternoon, both the vacating and reopening of the two alley ways are scheduled for first reading at the regular commission meeting beginning at 7 p.m.

The commission work session is conducted in the city manager's Conference Room, second floor, and the regular commission meeting is held in the commission chambers of the Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Avenue.

Carlin said outside the courtroom following the sentencing. No one from the state attorney's office or public defender's office accompanied her to the test and there was no name on the results.

HIV test results are not required to be reported to health officials either by name or anonymously in Florida.

A former Altamonte Springs policeman, Carlin continues to undergo blood tests which have been negative for HIV infection. He will continue the tests for two years. The results of Jenkins' test was shown only to Carlin.

As a result of Carlin's case, state attorney Norm Wolfinger urged the Florida Prosecuting Attorneys Association to submit a bill to allow blood tests in similar situations.

Assistant state attorney Jeff Joseph asked that the woman be sentenced to the maximum amount of time possible, noting her four prior convictions, one in Seminole County and three from New York state. Mize sentenced the woman on the misdemeanors because it was unclear if she was represented by an attorney in the out-of-state cases. By taking into account the previous convictions, she could have been given a longer sentence under the guidelines.

"I'm happy that she got the year in jail," Carlin commented. Carlin, who transferred out-of-state following the incident, has moved back to Central Florida.

ST. AUGUSTINE — Seminole County placed four athletes on the Class 4A and 5A All-State basketball teams announced this weekend by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

Tennishla Eason, a junior at Seminole High School and the county's leading female scorer at 21.3 points per game, was a second-team selection to the Class 4A girls' all-state team.

Lake Howell senior guard Deanna Graves also was a second-team choice on the Class 5A girls' team. Lysa Moorefield, Lake Brantley's senior center who led the Patriots to the 5A-District 4 championship, was a third team Class 5A pick.

The county's only male selection was Lake Mary senior guard Jimmy Newberry, who was named to the Class 5A third team.

Two players that Seminole County schools saw more than enough of this past season — Maitland's Vince Carter and St. Cloud's Dana Smith — both were first-team All-State selections. Carter being named to the Class 5A boys' team and Smith making the Class 4A girls' squad.

Maitland plays in 5A-District 4 along with Lake Mary, Lake Howell, Lake Brantley, Lyman, and Oviedo. St. Cloud, which won the Class 4A girls' state championship this year, plays in 4A-District 6 with Seminole.

Other local players who earned All-State laurels were Boone senior Willie Anderson (Class 5A boys second team) and Apopka senior Dondria Copeland (Class 5A girls third team).

Seminoles stand out at Relays

From Staff Reports

GAINESVILLE — Nothing that Andre Scott, Bernard Sparrow, or the Seminole High School 4 x 100-meter relay team does should surprise anyone any more.

On Friday, for example, Scott, Sparrow, and the relay team all posted wins at the rain-plagued Florida Relays at the University of Florida's Percy Beard Track.

Scott added to his reputation as one of the nation's top triple jumpers, winning the event with a meet-record leap of 52 feet, 4 inches, the best triple jump in the nation this season by a high school athlete.

Sparrow came away with a first and fourth-place showing, winning the shot put with a heave of 61 feet, 3/4 inches, and taking fourth in the discus with an effort of 151-8.

Perhaps the biggest win was notched by the 4 x 100-meter relay quartet of Andre Rawlings, Cory Wilson, Derrick Swain, and Charlie Farmer, who beat Gainesville-Buchholz while winning the race in 42.14.

Buchholz is expected to be one of Seminole's main challengers at the Class 4A state meet in May.

Wilson also finished eighth in the 100-meter dash at 11.17.

Richards back in the groove at Bowl America

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — After a slow few weeks (for her), Barbara Richards returned to her dominating ways this past week at Bowl America-Sanford, posting the high series in four leagues and single high game honors in two.

Richards rolled the high series in the Senior Citizens League, Saturday Senior Citizens League, Sanford Pinbusters League and Washday Dropouts League. Her high games came in the Saturday Senior Citizens League and Washday Dropouts League. She also had the second highest game in the Senior Citizens League.

The highest men's three-game series score of the week was a 635 posted by Dick Poretti in the Beachtime League. Nick Newman was close behind with a 630 in the Thursday Night Mixed League.

The best series among the women was a 589 by Delores Jackson in the Thursday Night Mixed League.

The best individual games of the week were 257's rolled by Jay Smith (in the McGuire's Canvas League) and Don Caniglia (during an 886 four-game series in the One On One League).

The honor for best game among the women was also shared between two bowlers as Nancy Norris and Linda Stafford both tallied 215's in the Beachtime League. Richards had the next highest game with a 212 in the Washday Dropouts League.

Bronco pitchers come out smoking

Special to the Herald

FIVE POINTS — Pitchers have dominated action in the early going of the Bronco League season at the Seminole PONY Baseball complex.

In the first month of play, Justin Hawarah of the Refrig-A-Matic Royals and Anthony Corrao of the Lake Mary Marlins have thrown no-hitters. On March 5, the Rockies' Jeff Monaco fanned 10 and threw a one-hitter in a 1-0 loss to the Astros.

BRONCOS
Damian Bonacci doubled twice and scored a run as the Astros rallied for a 3-2 win over the Braves on March 12. Travis Staats added a double and a single. Ricky Rodriguez and Brett Demorett each had a single. Matt McCarthy and Wenck singled for the Braves. Ryan Wilder was the winning pitcher over Chris Drake.

Justin Hawarah threw a no-hitter on March 10 to lead the Refrig-A-Matic Royals to a 9-0 victory over the Winter Springs Phillies on March 10. He also had a double and two RBI. Jeremy Smith contributed a home run, single, two runs, and two RBI. Chris Oase added two singles.

With the score tied 0-0 in the seventh, Don Taylor drew a walk, stole second, moved to third on a fly ball, and scored on Ricky Rodriguez's fielder's choice to give the Astros a 1-0 decision over the Rockies on March 5. Winning pitcher Damian Bonacci gave up seven hits and struck out nine in tossing the shutout while hard-luck loser Jeff Monaco fanned 10 and allowed just one hit, a double to Taylor. Nell Maybin hit two singles and Monaco doubled for the Rockies.

Steve Pace was the winning pitcher for the Refrig-A-Matic Royals on March 5, beating the Sanford Cubs 9-0. Aaron Wood led the Royals with a home run and a double. Justin Hawarah tripled and doubled. Daniel Kelly singled twice.

Winning pitcher Bobby Bierly allowed one run on two hits while striking out 13 as the American Civil Engineering Cardinals topped the Marlins 6-1 on March 5. Derek Jones had a home run and three RBI for the Cardinals.

Justin Hawarah struck out 14 while tossing a two-hit shutout on March 3 to lead the Refrig-A-Matic Royals to a 2-0 decision over the Casselberry Blue Jays. Hawahrah also had a double, single, and an RBI.

Anthony Corrao threw a no-hitter and led the offense with a home run and two runs scored as the Lake Mary Marlins blanked the Lake Mary Rockies 5-0 on March 2. Angelo Petracca, Greg Diml, and Eric Larson each hit a single and scored a run. Jeff Young also singled.

Shane Mathis and Jason Ruedinger each hit two doubles as the Braves thumped the White Sox 15-6 on March 1.

Evan Starcher pitched the Braves to a 4-2 win over the American Civil Engineering Cardinals on Feb. 27. Brett McCutchan and Josh Godkin anchored a strong defensive effort by the Braves.

Winning pitcher Justin Hawarah supported his own cause with a pair of doubles as the Refrig-A-Matic Royals doubled the score on the Grey Developer Astros, 4-2, on Feb. 26. Hawahrah allowed two runs on two hits and fanned 12.

Derek Jones doubled, scored four runs, and drove in a run in the American Civil Engineering Cardinals' 12-4 decision over the Rockies on Feb. 20. Winning pitcher Matt Skelton chipped in with two singles, three runs, and two RBI. Eric Schultz had two singles, a run, and an RBI. Michael Schultz scored three runs.

Jonah Shipley doubled and singled in support of winning pitcher Chris Mahar as the Braves posted a 2-1 win on Feb. 26.

Winning pitcher Anthony Corrao and reliever John Fletcher combined on a one-hitter as the Lake Mary Marlins downed the Casselberry Royals 4-1 on Feb. 25. Corrao led the offense with a single, run, and an RBI. Brian Neilsen also singled and scored a run for the Marlins. For the Royals, losing pitcher Steve Pace had the team's only hit and scored the only run.

Brett McCutchan hit a double and single to power the Braves by the Marlins, 5-1, on Feb. 22. Lubrano was the winning pitcher over Nielsen.

PINTOS
Kyle Kudukis launched two home runs as the Phillies blasted the Marlins 18-2 on March 15. Brad Jacobs tripled and doubled. Heather Vivino and Artie McChesney each hit a double. Brian Maniscalco hit a home run and two singles for the Blue Jays in their 15-10 win over the Marlins on March 12. Kyle Schworling doubled and singled. Billy Blouvelt had three singles. For the Marlins, Devon Ottars hit a grand slam.

Brad Gooch hit for the cycle — a home run, triple, double, and single — to go with three runs and three RBI for the Teph Seal Pirates in their game with the Royals on March 12. Joseph Mancoso added two doubles, a single, and two runs. For the Royals, Clint Sowe had three doubles, a single, and two runs. Mellier added two doubles and a single.

On March 10, the Phillies beat the Astros 16-4. Jeremiah Marks homered for the Advanced Brake Indians in a 9-5 win over the Blue Jays on March 9. Christopher Crass added two doubles and a single. Cameron Graves also chipped in with a hit.

Michael Benge scored five runs as the Sanford Rangers topped the Winter Springs Marlins 19-12 on March 8. Karl Lipscomb and Chandler Robinson each scored three runs. Bobby Cross, Jason Frost, and Tony Green each scored two runs.

The Phillies topped the White Sox 12-8 on March 7.

Michael Reifo had two doubles, three singles, five runs, and three RBI in the Royals' 30-8 win over the Orioles on March 6. Mickey Sayre added a double, four singles, four runs, and three RBI. Allan Melendes, Anthony Moreo, and Nathaniel Mansi each hit five singles.

Mickey Sayre was 3-for-4 with a double, two singles and three runs to lead the Orioles to a 16-5 decision over the Pirates. Mike Reifo also had a double and two singles. Brandon Sasser hit three singles.

Allan Melendes, Brandon Sasser, Michael Reifo, and Mickey Sayre each had a double and four singles for the Orioles in a 22-13 win over the Angels on March 5.

IN BRIEF

ANNOUNCEMENTS

New apartments

SANFORD — Towne Centre Apartments, the new 184-unit rental apartment complex located on S.R. 46, one mile west of U.S. 17-92, will reportedly be ready for occupancy on May 15th. David M. Willner, president of SWT Construction, Inc., says the construction phase is right on schedule.

The community has one, two and three bedroom units starting at $399 per month. "The amenity package is second to none," said Willner.

For information, phone Lynn Edmondson, 322-TOWN.

Paulucci progress

SANFORD — Entrepreneur Jeno Paulucci, home based in Sanford, has announced a new food-service concept which he hopes to expand into shopping malls nationwide: a Pasta Bowl quick-serve restaurant.

The first Pasta Bowl, following a long line of business startups, has been set up in the food court in Orlando's Florida Mall. It serves up a mixed menu of pasta dishes that goes beyond the Italian theme.

"We think pasta is really an international product," said Jeffrey J. Cotter, executive vice president of operations for Pasta Bowl International Inc.

Paulucci, 75, became a multimillionaire decades ago with Jeno's frozen pizza and the Chun King line of Chinese products. Selling out to giant corporations, he later became a residential-commercial developer in Central Florida.

In later years, he has gone back into the food business, starting with Michelina's frozen Italian dishes and then the Yu Sing brand of eggs rolls.

Company on the move

Wansley to relocate to larger facility

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Wansley United Moving and Storage, located at 200 N. Holly Ave. since the mid 1950s, is moving. The business is taking over the old Cobia Boat Company facilities at 500 Silver Lake Drive in Sanford.

"It will be an excellent location and much larger than what we have now," said General Manager Bob Welch. "We will be located near the Lake Mary Boulevard exit from the Greenway, and near the airport," he added.

The new building will contain 20,000 square feet of warehouse, 3,800 square feet of office area, and 8,000 square feet of air conditioned and climate controlled storage.

"We will have the largest climate controlled storage area of any moving company in all of Seminole County," Welch explained, "and possibly in a large area of Central Florida."

"We have just outgrown our present building," he said.

"We've even had to turn a trailer into some additional office space, and the warehouse is just getting too crowded."

Even with 8,000 s.f. of climate controlled space, Welch said 6,000 have already been booked.

The moving company will be moving itself beginning April 1. Welch hopes to be completely operational at the Silver Lake building within two weeks, with everything totally moved by May 1.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has already arranged a ribbon cutting for the new location on April 10.

"As for the 200 Holly Avenue location," he said, "we are negotiating with a high manufacturing company who has indicated it is interested in buying the building from us. Welch would not immediately reveal who the company is or what the manufacturing would involve.

Wansley is affiliated with United Van Lines, but is independently owned and operated.

Seaplanes are a splash

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Florida Seaplanes, Inc., headquartered at the Monroe Harbour Marina in Sanford, has been doing more than making sightseeing trips. Pilot training and special tours are also underway.

During the month of February, Florida Seaplanes trained 13 new pilots from all over the nation and parts of the world. Capt. Rich Hensch, owner and major pilot, says there are 14 already signed up to begin training in March.

"We had a trainee from Argentina," he commented, "and we have a man now who comes from Mexico, just to train in this type of aircraft."

Pilots are allowed to bring friends along on their training flights at no additional cost. If they have a friend who also wishes training, the cost is greatly reduced, by what Hensch calls his "Buddy" program.

"Earlier this month," he continued, "we had a group of senior citizens from Orlando come to Sanford just to experience the excitement we have with seaplane flights. We divided the group in half with some taking a 10 to 15 minute plane ride, while others went on a riverboat cruise. Then they traded places and went on the other trip."

"After their trips and flights, we all gathered together for a Florida Barbecue meal, and it was a good time for all," he observed.

Hensch said this type of activity for special groups appears to be increasing. "The people want adventure without danger," he said, "and we can certainly give that."

operates from three locations. In addition to Sanford, ports have also been established in Kissimmee's Waterfront Park near the downtown area, and at Palm Gardens Marina between Tavares and Leesburg in Lake County.

Hensch observed, "All equipment, facilities and personnel are licensed by the FAA, State of Florida and local jurisdiction, and are fully insured."

The company has new M7-235

Maulie planes, as well as a beautifully restored 1946 C-44 Grumman Widgeon. Recently added is a totally restored 1946 BF Luscombe as a rental aircraft.

Pilot training is for seaplane ratings and performance seaplanes.

Costs are $995 for private or commercial licenses, and $1,295 for ATP. Widgeon training is $350 per hour. BF Luscombe rentals are $80 per hour after checkouts.

Hensch is a retired U.S. Navy fighter/attack topgun trained 747 crew member.

He is pleased with the operation in Sanford. "We have gone beyond the stage of just offering tourist flights," he said. "We are still doing that, but the pilot training and special group arrangements are growing by leaps and bounds, and we are happy to be part of the expansions here in downtown Sanford."

For additional information contact Hensch at 331-5155

Who will be Sanford's Secretary of the year?

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Nominations are now open for Secretary of the Year. The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will accept nominations through April 20.

The winner will be selected by a special chamber board, and introduced during a special luncheon Friday, April 29, at noon, at the chamber headquarters.

Chamber Executive Director Dave Farr said nominating this special group of people is a way to show appreciation for all the work secretaries do for their bosses.

In 1992, Gloria Burke, secretary for Dr. Roger Stewart, received the award.

Last year it was Debbie Whitehead, secretary for Judge Alan Dickey.

Awards should be submitted in written form for secretaries or executive assistants, to the Chamber office.

Chamber membership is not required for a nomination or to attend the special luncheon.

Farr announced that the special guest at the luncheon will be Katherine W. Ramsberger, director of Metro Orlando Film and Television Office, and vice president of the Economic Development Commission of Mid-Florida.

She is scheduled to discuss television and commercial production, marketing and business development in the area through this film and television activity.

Tickets are already available for the Secretary of the Year luncheon, at $8 per person.

For reservations or additional information regarding nominations, phone the chamber office at 322-2212.

Pugh's Filling Station and the Lake Mary Garage as they looked in 1934. Today, the buildings are Country Club Produce and Headrick's Feed Store.

Bunnies and veggies keep things hopping in 'downtown' area

If you haven't been in "downtown" Lake Mary lately, you really are missing a treat! We have cute little bunny rabbits for you to pet and fresh vegetables for you to eat! Things are definitely "hopping!"

Two new businesses have opened up in what is referred to as the downtown area of the city. Headrick's Feed Store has been operating since the latter part of last year and is the home of the cute little bunnies on display in their pen on the sidewalk outside the store.

Earlier this month, Country Club Produce opened for business next door. Both businesses occupy "historic buildings" that date back to the early 1920s. Headrick's Feed Store was originally Gus Wynan's Garage, and Country Club Produce was the Lake Mary Filling Station. The filling station was purchased in 1932, by Harvey Pugh, who sold it in 1945 to Ralph Abells. The building stood vacant for many years prior to the opening of the produce store. There was a barbecue restaurant there in the late 1970s.

Laura and Bob Buraszkeski are the new business operators. The Buraszkeskis are residents of Geneva and met Danny Headrick, the feed store owner, in 1986 when they purchased the property for their home from him. Bob is a licensed general contractor, originally from New Jersey. He and Laura, a native Floridian, had considered for sometime opening a business that would allow her to still spend time with their three-year-old daughter, Carrie. Laura already had a garden started on a half-acre of their six-acre property.

Bob was familiar with the produce business, having worked in the business in New Jersey. What was a shared interest turned into a family business affair. Bob says that one of the reasons they decided to open the produce store was because fresh fruit and vegetables are something everyone uses and needs and something that wasn't readily available to residents of the Lake Mary area.

Laura says that response to the new business has been "very good." See Lake Mary, Page 6B 7B

Pearces married 65 years

Spring breezes in with a whirlwind of activity

Crill and Hubert Pearce are on Cloud Nine over their most recent, and quite unique, accomplishment — the celebration of their 65th wedding anniversary. But to the Pearces, it doesn't seem like 65 years. Wasn't it just yesterday? There's no doubt about it, the couple couldn't have been happier.

"I wish everyone who gets married could be as happy as we have been for 65 years. I wouldn't change a day of it," Crill said. "I thank my God everyday."

The couple were honored, in a pink and white setting, at a gala anniversary reception at the Markham Woods First Baptist Church on March 13, given by their daughter, Barbara Rayburn. During the appointed hours, about 75 relatives and friends, including several from the Lake City area, called to wish them well.

Crill received the guests wearing a purple and pink print dress enhanced with a white carnation corsage showered with pink baby's breath and pink satin ribbons. Hubert wore a white boutonniere in the lapel of his grey business suit complemented with a pink shirt and pink tie.

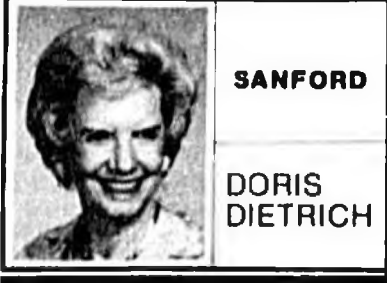

Assisting in serving were Patricia Paschall, punch, and Carol Compton and Frances Mitchell, cake.

Crill and Hubert were married in 1929 at Jasper and moved to Sanford in 1934 where they made their home until about five years ago when they moved to Casselberry.

Hubert founded Central Florida Foods Inc. in 1946 and sold it in 1966. He has continued to follow his profession of tax accounting and is still working at nearly 84. For many years, he was treasurer of the First Baptist Church in Sanford and has been treasurer of the Markham Woods Baptist Church since its founding. He also enjoys fishing.

Crill, 83, has always been a homemaker and was active in her church and community. She said, "We love flowers and we work with them quite a bit."

Besides their daughter, Barbara Rayburn of Casselberry, the Pearces have a son, H.M. Jr. of Lake Mary, two grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Crill radiates sublime happiness. If she had it to do over again, would she? "Oh, yes, without a doubt!" she beamed.

Hobby: Painted cow skulls a must in southwestern decor

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

Some people accidentally stumble on new hobbies. One might say that's how Sanfordite Monica Warner began her unusual art. Warner paints on the skulls of cows, or should one say, former cows. "I love to draw," she said. "I draw on everything, even paper bags. One day I decided to paint on a cow head I had here." Warner's husband of seven years, James, helps her get the medium that she paints on. "My husband works with three or four cattle owners," she said. "When the cow is no longer of service (dead) and the skulls are all that's left, he gets it for me."

Warner told how she prepares the skull for painting. "I get the skull and bleach it for two weeks," she said. "Then I set it in the sun for a day. The sun bleaches it even more. If it's rough I sand over it, then I paint it. I've used oil and acrylic water base. If I want more texture I use oils."

Being a housewife and mother of two sons, Joshua and Jacob, keeps her busy but her five years of painting on the skulls has been her outlet for tension relief.

"I haven't had any art classes," she said. "It's just a God-given talent." Cow skulls have become a common decor in the new Santa Fe look along with Indian figurines and zig zag rugs. "I've had some displayed at the Rib Ranch in Sanford," she said. "People have bought some of my art through the displays there." She was quick to point out that it was also just part of the decorating scheme there.

Warner's real talent was looking at pictures in books, magazines, on cards or on commemorative plates or even photographs and pictures, and drawing from what she sees. "It really motivates me to see something I like and copy it in a painting," she said. "The skulls kind of come to life when you paint on them. It kind of gives them new meaning. I like doing things that are different. I like the Indian and Aztec stuff."

Warner spoke of the technical things to look for when selecting just the right cow skull. "The horn detaches from the skull," she said. "It's like a fingernail. Then a slip horn goes over the bone, so finding horns with the skull is hard to find." Some of her creations are also decorated with leather and feathers. "I tend to do a lot of Indian painting on them," she said. "The first one I did was a western saddle. I prefer Indians best, but I can paint anything on them." She originally started her hobby as a way to decorate her own home in the Santa Fe look and Western/Indian accents.

Later, friends and family liked her work so much that what she has done has become birthday and anniversary gifts. "I got interested in it for my own home decorations," she said. See Hobby, Page 7B

Sheriff, deputies join 'Pasta for Pennies'

What an exciting day for the Orlando Lockhart Elementary School's third grade class of Cheryl Curry Johnson. Sheriff Don Eslinger came to have lunch with them. The event was prompted because of the class involvement in the "Pasta for Pennies" fund-raiser sponsored by Olive Garden to help support the Leukemia Foundation for children.

Mrs. Johnson's husband carried the idea to work at his job, and many of the employers helped with the penny donations. Because of the support from the officers, they were invited to lunch with the class. They asked Deputy Johnson to bring Sheriff Eslinger and two other officers with him. The class wrote letters to Deputy Johnson thanking him for his support, thus, the invitation to have lunch was given. In addition to keeping Seminole County safe, the sheriff found time to come and grant the class its wish, his visit, along with Capt. Greg Futch, Deputy Johnson and Deputy Ernestine Mitchell. It is still the hottest topic being discussed by Mrs. Johnson's class.

Mrs. Johnson's third grade class and Assistant Principal Shirley James wishes to thank the sheriff and his staff for their heroic effort.

Humane Society volunteer gives love to critters

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

FERN PARK — The motto for the Seminole County Humane Society reads "All Life is Precious." Jessica Parker firmly believes this to be true. The director of the Humane Society named many volunteers as great assets but a few names stood foremost in his mind.

One of the names was Jessica Parker. He felt her service and help with the animals was very much appreciated and a real lifesaver.

Parker was born in Orlando but has lived in Fern Park since she was one year old. "I have even lived in the same house since I was one year old," she said. "I'm a fifth generation Floridian." For four months Parker has devoted much of her Sundays and Mondays to the Humane Society.

She told how she learned of the need and began her endeavor. "We get this publication, 'The Treasure Chest' at our house," she said. "I love to go through it and read the ads. One day I noticed an ad that the Humane Society had put in about needing a volunteer to take the animals to the television station on Mondays. I went down and I've been working with them ever since." She offered that she's "always loved animals and wanted to work there for a long time."

Busy is the best word to describe Parker. She babysits three days a week, homeschools and finds time for the animals she loves, not only at her home, but at the Humane Society. Parker takes her little Volkswagen every Monday to Channel 6, CBS Television, for them to show the animals needing homes. This is run on their noon show. She felt the television coverage helps the animals find homes and the success rate has been good.

"I've taken the animals there every week for the last four months, so that's about 16 animals," she said. "Seeing the animals go to a home is the best. I've seen out of the 16, only one or two not find homes. The ones that don't get adopted are sometimes the ones that aren't as pretty or have handicaps."

Parker showed some of the dogs that she cares for. One of her favorites was a hound-type dog with one eye. "There was a problem with the eye and surgery was needed to remove the eye," she said. "It's actually the animals like this that are my favorite. The ones that are the ugliest are my favorites." In fact, Parker makes a special trip on Sundays to give extra attention to the "ugly ones" and to pet and cuddle each and every animal at the shelter. Her duties as a volunteer also involves bathing and walking dogs. "I dress real casual," she said. "Never wear white to work or you'll end up looking as dirty as the dogs you're bathing. Five minutes later they're rolling in the dirt anyway."

A newsletter is published by the Humane Society and Parker suggested anyone interested in finding out more about how to help should call and have their name placed on the mailing list or come to the shelter itself. "I'd suggest especially coming down and seeing the need," she said. "If interested people went down to the Humane Society and saw all the wonderful animals needing help, I'm sure they'd feel the great need and want to help."

Parker works mainly with the dogs. Although she has cats of her own at home and loves them, she feels for the dogs at the Humane Society. "They say a dog is man's best friend," she said. "The dogs stuck in those cages tend to bond more with the humans. Cats seem to enjoy being left alone but the dogs really seem to need the companionship."

Parker spoke of working with the blanket drive around January. "In January there was a blanket drive," she said. "There was an overwhelming response. They had more blankets than they knew what to do with. Many volunteers came down to store the blankets in sheds to keep them from getting wet and to save them for future needs."

References are now needed when adopting an animal from the Humane Society. Parker spoke of the 24-hour hold after application is made. "I like them checking out people adopting an animal," she said. "It looks into past pets and reasons they don't have them. It may prevent us from coming out in a few months to pick up an abuse case."

She described the Humane Society right now as "busting at the seams." After a short caress of the pot belly pig awaiting adoption, she spoke of a Shetland pony that was once a resident. "I've heard a lot of stories about other animal organizations around town," she said. "The animals here are under better conditions. The Humane Society even picks up animals on the highway. There's a rescue group to save greyhounds from poor living conditions and rescue them from abuse at the race track."

Precious may be the way the Humane Society describes life but the attitude of Parker holds true to the word too. She displayed such a concern and love for the animals. Her obvious fighting spirit for the underdog and her desire to make the world a better place for all life was something to be admired. Every organization needs volunteers like Parker.

Anna, a versatile writer, is the recipient of the National Association of English Teacher Award for her essay entitled, "What is Your Most Important Possession in Life?". The talented writer proclaimed that her mind is her most cherished treasure. She shared the essay as well as a short story and poem she has written.

The morning meeting, presided over by Chairman Vida Smith, was held at the beautiful Loch arbor home of Elizabeth Boyd with Kay Hall as co-hostess. They served a delicious assortment of homemade pastries, juices and coffee.

Kathy Krasnoff was recognized for having received the First Century Award from the FFWC ESO. This award is given for the completion of 20 categories which requires reading 100 books to qualify.

Other Sanford ESO members who have received this award are: Charlotte Smith, Carolyn Cornelius, Hazel Cash, Eunice Logan and Elizabeth Boyd.

Several books were briefly reviewed and Stella Oritt reported on Audio Books available to the blind.

The chairman announced the following nominating committee: Libby Prevatt, Hazel Cash and Jean Marcel. Election of officers will take place at the April 20 meeting at the home of Pat Foster.

Garden Club hosts annual card party

The Sanford Garden Club's Annual Card Party and luncheon on St. Patrick's Day was termed "a success and lots of fun." About 60 card enthusiasts spent several hours playing pinochle, canasta, bridge, Kings in the Corner and even cribbage.

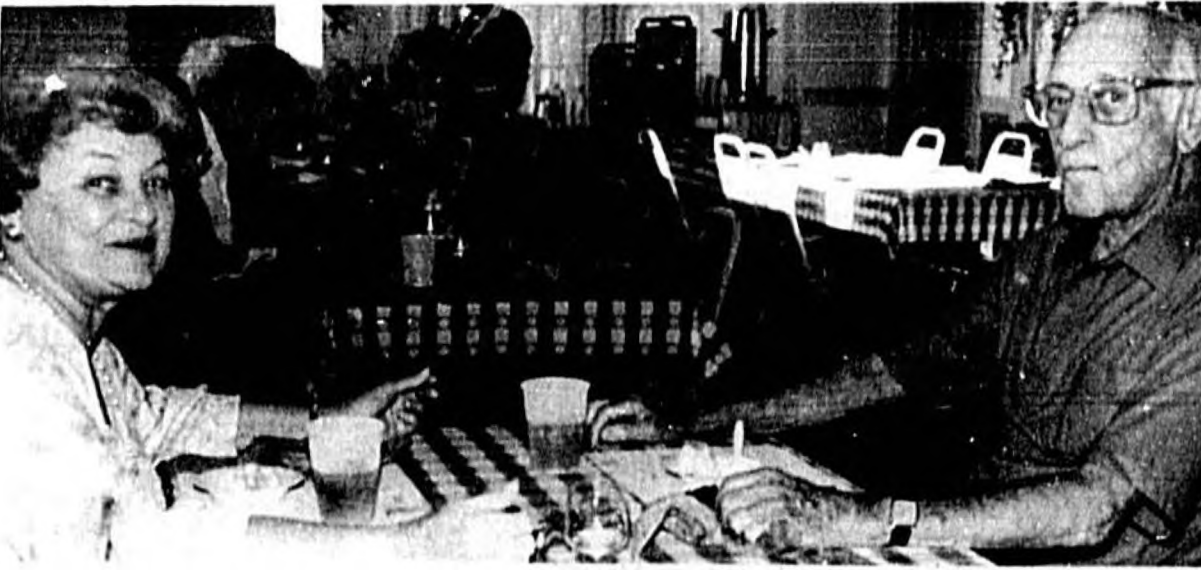

The luncheon included a chicken salad plate which all seemed to enjoy.

Those in charge of the annual event were Batty Akers, Mary Childers and Barbara Bradshaw.

Proceeds from the benefit will go toward sending two youths to summer camp at Wekiva.

receptive." Lake Mary very much still retains a small town flavor and many people have stopped in to wish her well and offer encouragement for the new business.

The store will be open Monday through Saturday with Laura behind the counter to assist you with your purchases. Laura says that she hopes to eventually supply most of the produce from her own garden. She emphasizes that there will be "attention to detail" where the quality and freshness of the fruit or vegetable is involved. And all produce is guaranteed. Laura says this might seem an unbelievable concept to some people, but if you buy something, take it home and then find something wrong with it, she will be more than happy to replace it, even if it has already been cooked!

Laura is also collecting recipes for some of the less common fruits and vegetables that they will be handling in the store, so don't hesitate to ask her for cooking advice.

Headrick's Feed Store and Country Club Produce are located on the west side of Country Club Road, between Crystal Lake and Wilbur Avenues. The buildings retain many of the features present when first built in the early 1900s. Some trees and flowers have been added to the landscape and definitely lend to the "country atmosphere" usually associated with these types of businesses.

Becky Riggs honored at bridal shower

The Kaywood home of Mindy Ellis was the attractive setting for a miscellaneous bridal shower Sunday, March 20, honoring her sister, Rebecca (Becky) Ellis who became the bride of Patrick Forrester yesterday in Winter Park.

The hostess served a delicious buffet luncheon to the guests followed by a large sheetcake decorated in the bride's colors of cobalt blue, hunter green and burgundy. These same colors were repeated in the decorations.

Opening the gaily packaged gifts was the highlight of the afternoon. It didn't take the petite Becky long to tear into the gifts and rip those colorful ribbons off. She received a variety of lovely and useful gifts.

Among those attending were Georganna Bender, mother of the bride, Longwood, and Mary Hillman and this writer, cousin and great aunt of the bridegroom from Sanford.

'64 class reunion

The Seminole High School Class of 1964 will hold the 30th class reunion on July 22 and 23 at the Days Inn South, Daytona Beach Shores. On the 22nd, a poolside reception will be held at 7 p.m., and on the 23rd, there will be a barbecue at 7 p.m.

Family and friends are invited. Hotel reservations can be made by calling 1-800-722-3297. Classmates attending the reunion should contact Peggy Grter Noell, treasurer, 3880 Moore's Station Road, Sanford 32771. Telephone: (407) 323-8367.

There are dozens and dozens of missing classmates. In anyone knows the whereabouts of 1964 SIS grads, please call Billy Higgins, 407-824-5395. The Herald will publish a list of these missing mates at a later date.

Bridge Social

The Sanford Woman's Club monthly Bridge Social was held at the clubhouse with three tables of players.

High score for the day was a tie between Mary Dale Jones and Dib McElrath. Second high was won by Libby Prevatt with Shirley coming in third.

Other players included Charlotte Smith, Tom Hobson, Frances Wilson, Elizabeth Dunn, Vel Logan, Doris Stein, Margaret Gross and Isabel Wilson.

The next Bridge Social will be held on April 13 at the home of Rose Jacobson. Members are asked to make their reservations in advance by calling 322-3849 or 349-5637.

Have breakfast with Easter bunny

Some holiday 'brag sheets' are welcome with gladness

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe you agreed with that woman who complained about those insensitive people who sent bragging in timeographed newsletters every Christmas. She said they told of their teen-agers' sports awards, proms, trips, etc., and all the while she was sitting here with a teen-aged son who was facing neurosurgery.

She cited people who went on and about their wonderful year sending that newsletter to someone "whose relative is battling a life-threatening illness." or the writer who talks of a job promotion to someone who's unemployed.

This woman's viewpoint is totally self-focused. How is everyone who sent her a Christmas card supposed to know what is going on in her life?

What has happened to her good sense — and yours? In case you think I am writing from a picture-perfect life, I was caring for my terminally ill mother one Christmas (she died at Easter, weighing 60 pounds). I was diagnosed with breast cancer and had a mastectomy two days before Thanksgiving. My beloved father-in-law died 10 days before yet another Christmas. And one year, I had to write to say that my brother had been brutally murdered.

The Christmas of '94, I will include the news that I buried the fifth and final member of my parental family. Three weeks ago, the last of my three brothers died of cancer. So now, I am the sole survivor. (Eight of my family have died of cancer.)

Do I want to hear from "insensitive" people who might tell me that someone in their family has cancer? Of course I do! If it's terminal, I will commiserate with them. If not, I will rejoice! Do I want to hear about the wonderful family reunion you had last summer because my own family is gone? Yes! Families are what keep this planet going!

Hardly anybody makes it through this life without feeling the sting of splinters from a heavy cross. Hearing others' good news while bearing your own sad news is called "maturity."

for the meeting will be Donna Samper of Florida Hospital who will present a program of "Positive Thinking for Moms." Child care is provided; everyone is welcome.

New Chevron opens

The new Chevron station in Lake Mary held a grand opening celebration March 18 and 19. The celebration held lots of fun for children. Penny the Penguin and Shamu visited from Sea World, and Ginger the Clown was on hand to help staff give out free balloons and candy. The hostesses helped out with the refreshments.

Patrons registered for prizes both days. Names were drawn Saturday at 4 p.m. Hector A Carrasco won a Sea World year pass. Roy F. Miranda won a cooler and a smoker. Johnathon Culver won a tool set. Jeff King won a bicycle. Bob Douglas won

Volunteers needed

The Seminole Family YMCA is still looking for volunteers to help with their expansion fund raising. If you can help, call the Seminole Family YMCA at 321-8944.

Leader-Daughter Tea

The Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts held a Leader-Daughter Tea Saturday, March 19 from 3:5 p.m. at Victorian Tea Time in Longwood. The tea was the first leader/daughter event for the Lake Mary troops. Seven leaders and 10 girls attended the English-style tea.

The food included tea sandwiches, scones with Devonshire cream, shortbread, fresh baked nut breads and various other desserts. The food was accompanied by gourmet teas such as Darjeeling, Assam, Camomille, Ceylon and Earl Grey. The service unit hopes to make this an annual event.

Olympic sponsors

The Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts is selling program sponsorships for their first annual Olympic games set for April 9. A sponsorship is only $5 and the sponsor's name will appear in the Stardust Olympic program. Any individual or business wishing to buy a sponsorship can call Rollie Nelson at 322-3299 or Leslie Grubb at 869-6339.

pastor. All community churches are invited.

Keeping the faith

"A Few Good Men Keeping the Faith During Difficult Times" was the theme of the observance of the Annual Men's Day Service on last Sunday, March 20, at Providence Missionary Baptist Church, Lake Monroe. Deacon Sylvester Wynn presided over the service with the speaker Prince Grady Roberson of the Triumph Church bringing the message of the morning.

The music was rendered by Triumph Church Brotherhood and Providence Brotherhood. These groups of young men brought joy to the souls of those attending. Pastor Michael Griffin, Deacons Gerald Cussanov Jr., Johnny Joseph, Carlton Edge and the other committee members wish to thank all for helping to make their annual day a success.

Easter Egg Hunt

There's an Easter Egg Hunt for children up to age 11. Yes, come and find your Easter eggs, Friday, April 1 (April Fool's Day) at Centennial Park, from 1:5 p.m. There will be free hot dogs, cold drinks and prizes, sponsored by Celery City Lodge No. 542 and IBPO of Elks. Bring your kids. Bernard Mitchell is excited ruler and Carletha Merckerson, daughter ruler.

Scholarships open

There will be auditions for scholarships Saturday, May 7 at Seminole Community College open to high school seniors and students in the first three years of college. Scholarships of $1,000 and $500 each will be given. Applications must be postmarked by April 23. Call 539-CFJ for information (Central Florida Jazz Society).

Pioneer heritage

I recently chatted with Faye Henderson who spoke to this columnist about finding out that she was the great-great-granddaughter of the late Mr. Nelson and Mrs. Ellen Tills who were recently honored by the city of Fort Myers. Her great-great-grandfather was one of the first settlers in Fort Myers. Tills, one of the original settlers, arrived on the shores of Fort Myers Christmas Day, 1867. 22 months after the first settlers arrived.

Mrs. Henderson said she believes her great-great-grandfather came from the Carolinas. He lived with his wife in Lee County over 40 years. Ellen Tills and Nelson had 10 children. He left to find work in the Bahamas and passed away before he sent for his family. Ellen Tills died sometime in the 1940s and there are about 100 descendants now living in Lee County. Henderson says she remembers her mother, Willette Adams, well known in Sanford. The Hendersons and Adams will attend another family reunion in the near future.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 27, 1994

In the year ahead your greatest successes are likely to come from your independent endeavors. Conversely, in arrangements where partners are involved, there is a potential for mishaps.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might have to negotiate a delicate matter today with one who isn't tough horse trader. This could turn out to be a "no-gainer" for each if there is an unwillingness to compromise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's extremely important in this phase of the cycle you keep pace with your duties and responsibilities. It will be very hard to catch up if you fall behind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you could be under the microscope in your social involvements. Any form of misconduct for overindulgence is likely to be talked about for some time to come.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In a situation today where you feel you are being pushed in accordance with another's will, you might in protest rebelliously do the exact opposite of that which he/she demands of you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone who is generally in accord with your views and opinions might be in opposition today. Usually you would just shrug this off, but today you could cross swords instead.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today if you're managing the financial affairs or resources of another be as prudent as possible. Keep accurate records and don't do anything without first consulting your sponsor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be on guard today because there is a remote possibility you might have to deal with some opposition from a least expected quarter. Forewarned is forearmed.

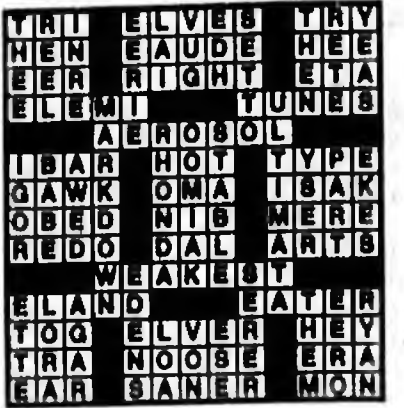

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Excuses might not be of much help today where neglected promises or obligations are concerned. If you're not in control of these matters, they may start controlling you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In your involvements with friends today, be extremely careful you're not caught in the middle between two warring factions. If you are, you might get hammered on from both sides.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Take nothing for granted today in competitive developments. There's a possibility your opposition might have more going for him/her than you first surmised.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You could be more vulnerable than usual today to a high pressured sales pitch. There's a possibility you might impulsively do something foolish that may prove costly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be very careful today how you express your opinions about issues on which you feel strongly, because you might be confronted by someone who holds equally as strong opposing views.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 28, 1994

The year ahead might be a little topsy-turvy for you. Endeavors you thought would be big winners could fizzle out, while other situations that appear to lack promise may produce impressive rewards.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might not be able to have your cake and eat it too today. Something may develop where you have to choose between feathering your own nest or the nest of someone with whom you're involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extremely selective regarding your choice of companions today or else you may collect guilt through association. What they do will reflect on you for good or ill.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you might get involved in a social arrangement where everyone knows one another, except you. If you don't want to feel completely isolated, you'd better take a friend along.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your personal ambitions and your expectations might not compliment one another today. You'll want certain things, but chances are you may not expend the necessary effort.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you fall short of your expectations today, it could be due to your inability to properly evaluate information essential to your plans. Don't make judgments before the facts are in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unrealistic optimism could work against you today. Disappointment is likely if your expectations are built upon a questionable premise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you expect others to be nice to you today, you must set the proper example. Waiting to first see what the other guy is going to do for you is the wrong approach.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have only one person to please today where your work is concerned and that is yourself. If you personally know you've done the best you can, you'll not need additional applause.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A friend who is quite fond of you might be unnecessarily hurt today through either your indifference or a selfish act. If this occurs, it could take a rather long time to repair the damage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone you recently met might not be all that he/she pretends to be. This may become apparent to you when you watch this person perform under testy conditions today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A friend of yours might come to you for advice today. Instead of telling him/her things you think this person will want to hear, be as frank as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This might not be one of your better days for shopping in stores that carry expensive merchandise. Your ability to recognize real bargains may not be operating.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow had the right idea when he urged people to "be up and doing, with a heart for any fate; still achieving, still pursuing, learn to labour and to wait."

That seems to cover the field, but which bit applies to today's deal? After West leads the spade six, how should declarer plan the play in three no-trump?

South won the first trick with his 10 over East's eight. Then he led a crafty diamond jack, trying to look like a man planning to finesse against the queen. But West could see the setting tricks in front of his nose. He rushed in with the ace and continued with the ace and jack of spades. When South led a heart, West won with the ace and cashed two spade tricks to defeat the contract.

From the bidding, West clearly held all three aces. And, assuming West wasn't going to duck one of them for a round, both red-suit aces had to be dislodged to establish nine tricks. But that would require three spade stoppers: one at trick one and one for each time West was on lead with an ace.

It goes against the grain to play second hand high, especially when fourth hands holds a tenace, but look at the difference it makes if dummy's spade king is played at trick one. When West wins trick two with a red-suit ace, he has no defense. As South has the Q-10-7 of spades left, West cannot play on spades, without giving declarer three tricks in the suit.

Keep your high cards to win tricks, not to be trodden underfoot by the opponents' high cards.

Each Defendant is further notified that the Petitioner will petition for an Order of Taking before the Honorable O.H. Eaton, Jr., one of the Judges of the above styled Court, on the 27th day of April, 1994, at 10:00 a.m. in the Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford, Florida, in accordance with its Declaration of Taking heretofore filed in this cause. All Defendants to this suit and all other interested parties may timely request a hearing on the Petition for the Order of Taking at the time and place designated or be heard. Any Defendant failing to file a timely request for hearing shall waive any right to object to the Order of Taking.

AND Each Defendant and any other persons claiming any interest in the property described in the Petition or the above styled Eminent Domain proceeding is hereby required to serve written defenses, if any you have, to the Petition heretofore filed in this cause on the Petitioner, and any request for a hearing on the petition for the Order of Taking, if desired, on Petitioner's Attorney, whose name and address is shown below on or before April 15, 1994, and to file the original of your written defenses and any request for hearing on the Petition for the Order of Taking with the Clerk of this Court either before service on the Petitioner's Attorney or immediately thereafter. To show what right, title, interest or claim you or any of you have or claim in and to the property described in said Petition and to show cause, if any you have, why said property should not be condemned for the uses and purposes as set forth in said Petition. If you fail to answer, a default may be entered against you for the relief demanded in the Petition. If you fail to request a hearing on the Petition for Order of Taking you shall waive any right to object to said Order of Taking.
