MILLER'S NEW SUBDIVISION TO OPEN SHORTLY

Sanford Grove, Located Quarter Mile East of City to Be on Market Soon; Contains 175 Acres of Wooded Lands

Sales Firm Conducts Publicity Campaign

Many Improvements and Erection of Many Homes Will Be Carried Forward At Once.

Sanford Grove, a handsome new subdivision, adjacent to the city limits of Sanford, will be offered for sale this week, according to announcement today. New York and Philadelphia capital is interested in this property. Florida Realty Associates, Inc., of Daytona, Sanford, and Philadelphia, Pa., is handling the development and sale of the property. Sanford Grove is one of the most pretentious of the several tracts recently offered for sale in the suburbs of Sanford.

Sanford Grove is a tract of beautiful wooded land about 175 acres in extent, and is located one quarter of a mile east of this city. The property is high and dry, with beautiful views in all directions and is reached by good roads from all points. Geneva Avenue, which runs directly east from Sanford, passes directly through the property of the corporation, is well known

The tract upon which Sanford Grove has been laid out is owned by E. C. Miller, a manufacturer of New York City, who is well known wherever metals are used, as the originator and owner of Magnolia anti-friction metals, and other "Magnolia" metal products. The Magnolia Metal Company has been owned and operated by Mr. Miller for the past 39 years. Mr. Miller's customers in the metal business are scattered all over the entire world, and his investments in Florida are extensive, located for the most part in Sanford and Seminole county.

During the past week Mr. Miller directed his efforts and energy from his office in New York City toward the erection of the proposed new Forrest Lake Hotel, to be built on the shores of Lake Monroe.

Florida Realty Associates, Inc., a Florida corporation with its executive offices in Philadelphia, is specializing in developing and subdividing large tracts of land in the suburbs of thriving cities of Florida, and this organization has, after much investigation, taken over the work of development and improvement of Mr. Miller's property at Sanford Grove.

Developing Florida Lands Florida Realty Associates, Inc., has been organized for the purpose of investing in and development of real estate in and near the most rapidly growing cities of Florida. This corporation is operating under a plan which has shown evidence of becoming a very important factor in securing northern and eastern capital for the development of the resources of the state of Florida.

Its eastern offices are in the Land Title Building of Philadelphia. The general Florida offices will be opened in Daytona in the very near future. The officers and directors are: President, N. A. Perryman, president of the Mi-Grape Company of Atlanta; Vice-President, J. I. Mather, of Philadelphia and Daytona; Secretary and Treasurer, Joseph L. Baum, of Philadelphia; Directors: F. J. Niver, executive vice-president of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company of Daytona; J. D. Van Peik, president of the chamber of commerce at South Amboy, New Jersey. Mr. Baum, who is also general sales director, is an experienced and successful sub-division sales director. Gilbert Williams, of Philadelphia, is northern sales manager.

Florida Realty Associates, Inc., has representatives in 15 of the largest cities of Florida and in 40 cities of over 50,000 population each in the north. It is bringing realty operators and investors from all these sections into Florida this winter. An intensive campaign of advertising covering the new development at Sanford Grove, is being conducted throughout the north and east with excellent results. The corporation has an advisory board consisting of 15 widely experienced realtors and business men in various centers where it operates. This advisory board, after making exhaustive investigations, passed favorably on Sanford and the property at Sanford Grove before this development was offered to the public.

In an interview, Mr. Baum said: "This is the first organization of its kind to operate in Florida. It is a concentrated effort to bring more people and more money into the state, and at this time more particularly is directing its efforts toward Sanford Grove, the city of Sanford, and Seminole county. The combination of the 10 cities plan of investment in business and development properties, with the extensive selling organization throughout the North for handling all kinds of properties in all parts of Florida, has attracted the attention of many investors, large and small, in various parts of the country east of Denver and north of Florida."

J. I. Mather, managing director combination be deemed advisable.

strumental in the organization of several of the nation's chains of furniture stores; and also in the enlistment of Atlanta capital in the construction of the new resort hotel at Inlet Terrace near Daytona.

Many Developments Contemplated It is the intention of the owner, Mr. Miller and the Florida Realty Associates, Inc., to immediately begin the erection of a number of dwellings at Sanford Grove. Each house will be sold with a generous size lot on easy terms, at prices averaging from $5,000 to $7,500. The general sales director has opened offices in the lobby of the Valdez Hotel, in order to be on the ground near the new property at Sanford Grove.

Formal announcement of the opening of this new subdivision at Sanford Grove has been made in the newspapers in all of the principal cities of Florida, beginning Saturday, Feb. 21. Booklets, photographs, folders, maps, price lists, restrictions and all other necessary data and information will be supplied to all those inquiring either through the Philadelphia offices or through the various offices of the associates of Florida Realty Associates, Inc., at Daytona, Jacksonville, Orlando, West Palm Beach, Miami, Bradenton, Tampa, Lakeland, Palatka, Fort Pierce and Fort Myers, and also through the various northern associates in over 40 cities throughout the North, East, and Middle West.

20-STORY COURTHOUSE

MIAMI, Feb. 19.—A suggestion that Dade county build a 20-story courthouse is to be taken up for consideration by the county commissioners at their meeting. A Ten Eyck Brown, Atlanta architect, advises the commissioners that he will be present at the meeting with sketches of such a building, designed ostensibly to take care of the needs of Dade county and of Miami, should such a com-which would be "hardly within the bounds of possibility." No direct mention of Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, is made in the special board report. General Mitchell was one of the 70 officers and civilian scientists questioned by the board in reaching its conclusions, however, and the proposals urged by him for a unified air service are dealt with and opposed as "illogical and undesirable."

"It has been claimed by certain witnesses who appeared before the board," the report said, "that a separate United States air force if aided by submarine, could by seizing bases at proper distances, carry an offensive campaign European or Asiatic powers. While respecting the professional abilities and opinions of such witnesses the board is unable to regard such claims seriously."

of Sanford was in evidence at the Shrine Circus which is holding forth here this week and the big top was crowded to its capacity with Sanford circus fans. The same program of sterling acts was presented as on the opening night and were well received.

As Tuesday's night's performance was called off owing to the heavy rain, the newsboy's circus party will be held tonight. The boys will come under the guidance of W. H. Stone, circulation manager of The Sanford Herald and will be the guests of Bob Morton for the evening. Mr. Morton also invites the Boy Scouts of Sanford to attend tonight's performance and every Scout in uniform will be admitted free to the big show.

Tonight will also be visitors' night and Shrine members and their friends from Eustis, Orlando, and DeLand will be on hand to give the local Shriners a big boost in attendance. Another capacity crowd is looked for tonight and judging from the out of town ticket sale, Eustis will furnish more than her quota of visitors.

MIAMI, Feb. 19.—If arrangements can be made for their convention here the Investment Bankers' Association of America can be brought to Miami for their annual meeting next December, says Thomas N. Dvart, president of the association who is here to investigate the hotel and make plans for the gathering.

Sounds and Smells Of Racetrack Stir Nearby Residents

WEYBRIDGE, Eng., Feb. 19.—Residents of the very select neighborhood of Weybridge in Surrey long ago protested to the authorities regarding the noise and smell which they have to endure because of the proximity of the famous Brooklands automobile racing track.

These protests so far have fallen upon deaf ears, but the last has not yet been heard of, for the owners of the St. George's Hill estate and 10 Weybridge and Byfleet residents have served a writ upon the Brooklands Automobile Racing Club with a view to having the track closed on the grounds that noise of racing constitutes a nuisance, destroys the peace of the rural neighborhood and causes serious deterioration to property.

For 18 years the majority of air-plane and auto experiments and tests have been made at Brooklands, and it is claimed that an automobile passes through stiffer tests here within 24 hours than is possible in a full year on roads. This threat of legal action has not deterred club officials, who have arranged full program race meetings for the ensuing year.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

WHAT DOES GOD REQUIRE? And now, Israel, what does the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul.

THE CALL OF THE SOUTHLAND

When the wintry winds are blowing, And the snow is drifted high, There's a way I would be going, And I mean to by and by.

I would leave cold, black New England, With its front and ice and snow, And travel toward the sunny Southland, To a lovely spot I know.

Where the orange trees are growing, All about is verdant green, With the soft, warm breezes blowing, Rippling the blue lake's placid sheen.

Where fruit grows in abundance, And bright-hued flowers in riot, All nature's gifts, in great reundance, Are found within this climate mild.

Drifting down the smooth canal, With tall palms on either side, Forgotten are all things banal, And tranquilly on we glide.

Oh I can scarcely bide the time When I shall be upon my way, To sojourn in that sunny clime Way down in Florida.

Well, how is your subdivision today? A blowout is not necessarily the cause of a parked car.

We don't know how he knows, but young Pantagruel, a columnist from up North, writes, "A girl in the cab is worth two in the bus."

England is building a seaplane which it is said will go five miles a minute. That is three hundred miles an hour. Such a plane could go from New York to Sanford in about four hours.

It is one of the ironies of the chase that the noblest buck of them all should walk into the camp to be killed by the cook, as occurred in the case of a Lakeland party of hunters this week.

Someone said something once about getting the A. C. L. to place marks at the various railroad crossings within the city limits, and that seems to be about as far as it went. In the meantime we will wait until the horse is stolen before locking the door.

Word comes from Marion Geer, formerly advertising manager of the Sanford Herald, now connected with the Palm Beach Post, that advertisements are being turned down daily by the Post through inability to handle so many. The merchants of Palm Beach must certainly realize the value of advertising.

Uncle Sam can make his silver dollars more popular if he will mark the price down to 98 cents and guarantee them to buy a dollar's worth.—Tampa Times. We've found silver dollars pretty popular with us "common herd," even though they aren't marked down to 98 cents and won't buy a dollar's worth.

The publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce, to whose attention the article "Greenback Millionaires" in Liberty was called by The Herald, has advised Paul L. Kinkead, author, writing him that Sanford is the heart of the largest celery producing section in the world, and has shipped to him a crate of celery, just to prove it. It is hoped that Mr. Kinkead may again have an opportunity to mention Sanford.

The Herald's Platform

In the first column of this page Herald readers will see for the first time The Herald's platform for Sanford. The various planks of this platform have been injected after thorough investigation of the city's needs and careful consideration of the subject.

This platform does not by any means attempt to include everything which would be of benefit to Sanford. Such would require a list that would fill an entire column. We have merely attempted to list here ten improvements which, if secured, would be of the most material benefit to Sanford. No doubt many will contend that one, or several, of our planks are of comparatively little importance. There may be some who will say that the organization of a Y. M. C. A. which we have not even listed should come far ahead of the extension of our white way. Perhaps they are right and we should certainly not want to act as judge in such a dispute.

However, these ten planks of our platform are all good and will all react for progress and advancement when they are secured. And they will be secured. In all probability the "oldest inhabitant" will live to see the day when The Herald's "Platform" must be torn down, because it will have outlined its usefulness, and a new one constructed. In all probability the "oldest inhabitant" will live to see the paved boulevard around Lake Monroe and construction of the St. Johns—Indian River canal. And as the various planks are realized they will be taken out and new ones put in their place and as the "Platform" changes Sanford will grow and prosper. And when all the planks, as they read today, shall have been taken out, Sanford will be a great city and known all over the nation.

Food For The Child

The statistics are not readily available concerning the number of grown persons suffering with indigestion or stomach trouble of one kind or another, but without resorting to hyperbole we believe we can safely say that the majority of men and women today have this ailment and that many of them, who think they have strong digestive organs, but who are troubled with headaches, backaches, poor eyes, or insomnia, are in reality suffering from poor digestion. How often do you find men of fifty who brag about the number of pies they could eat when they were young, "without ever feeling it"? How often do you find men who tell gleefully of the good old days when they ate thirty pancakes for breakfast? But don't you usually find that these men are now suffering with high blood pressure or dyspepsia?

The matter of a person's diet is a problem of the most important to be confronted. And it begins when the baby is handed its first bottle, or even before that. Many a man's digestive organs are ruined before he is even old enough to know what it is all about, simply because some negligent mother didn't take the pains to ascertain the most suitable foods for it to live on.

And from the time when a child first begins to toddle around until he is well out of his teens, the evils of bad nutrition are ever before him. He is inclined to eat everything which comes into his hands from cream de menthe parfaits to stove wood. And most of them eat all of the time except at the three regular times of day when they are supposed to.

Here's just another job for the parents. Most parents attend carefully to the child's morals, his religion, and his education; but his digestion, they let take care of itself. The United States Department of Agriculture has sent out a few suggestions for the diet of a child. It simply asks a few questions on "The foods I gave my children". What foods are you giving to yours?

Did my child take a quart of milk in one form or another?

Was the milk that came to my house handled in a clean way?

If I had to use skim milk in any way, did I see that baby had the fat some other way?

Were the fats wholesome as in milk, cream, butter, salad oils (uncooked fats)?

Did I make use of all skim milk by using it in preparing all foods thoroughly cooked?

Was the bread toasted?

Did I remember that cereals do not take the place of meat, eggs, fruit or vegetables?

Did I keep in mind that children who do not have fruit and vegetables need whole-wheat bread or whole grains served in other ways?

Did each child have an egg or equivalent amount of meat, fish or chicken?

If I was unable to get milk, meat, fish, poultry or eggs, did I serve beans, rice, etc?

Were fruit or vegetables not on my child's bill of fare, why not?

Did the fruits or vegetables disagree with the child, should I have cooked them more thoroughly?

Should I have strained the food or removed the skins or seeds?

Was the child given sweets between meals to spoil his appetite?

Was he allowed to eat sweets when he should have had milk or eggs, or cereals?

Was the child made to eat slowly and chew his food carefully?

A young child should have plenty of milk, bread, and other cereal food; and an egg once a day or its flesh equivalent; a small portion each of carefully prepared fruits or vegetables, with a small amount of sweet food after his appetite for other foods is satisfied; his diet should not be one-sided.

—U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SANFORD'S FORUM

Mr. R. L. Dean: Sir:— It appears from your editorial page for Feb. 18 that your remarks regarding the plight of Floyd Collins have not gone unnoticed. You should be glad to know that people are reading your paper, for if it were not worthy it would not be read. It is also evident that you are a good sport and a gentleman. Otherwise you would not publish such adverse criticism without comment.

Many unfortunate people are injured by automobiles in this country daily, their injuries often proving fatal. Editors often speak lightly of these occurrences without being severely called to task by their subscribers. I think your work here has been very commendable, that you have and are doing Sanford a great service, in publishing the good paper you are. The outlook for Sanford and for your paper's prosperity is good.

L. M. STEPHENSON.

A FASCIST INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK WORLD

In Italy the Fascisti have a brand-new idea of something else to do, and that is to branch out internationally. When the Grand Council of Fascism meet in Rome tomorrow for its annual conference it will have before it this proposal: "Preliminary examination of the possibility of a universal understanding between the Fascist and similar movements."

Hands for the complete suppression of all opposition. The Fascisti might tie together a very congenial organization by combining with the Prussian landlords of North Germany, the Ludendorffites of South Germany, the Horthy partisans of Hungary and our own rough-and-randy Ku Klux Klan. They would make a mistake, however, if they tried to tie the knots too tight. This would have to be a federation loosely joined. Nowhere outside of Italy has Fascism yet appeared with the bombast of Mussolini or the true grand-opera manner.

As Brisbane Sees It

Coolidge Horse. Rockefeller Camel. Don's Bell France. Next Summer's War Game. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, to get exercise necessary for work, rides an electric horse. It is an imitation, and remains in one place, but gives you the walking, trotting, galloping exercise of a live horse. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., as becomes a man, at least twice as rich as the President, rides an electric camel. The latter, a ship of the desert, shambles, rocks and lurches, exercising the liver and spleen as well as any osteopath can do. And you don't have to go to the Desert of Sahara. You can ride your camel between directors' meetings.

SAMUEL JOHNSON on his trip to the Hebrides wrote Mrs. Thrale that a ship has all the disadvantages of a prison, with the additional disadvantage of being unsafe. An electric camel has all the advantages of a real camel, with the additional advantage of being safe.

ON THE west bank of the Hudson, near the Catskills, only two generations ago, Mr. Rockefeller's great-uncle would go out trading horses, usually starting with two second class horses, and coming back with two first class ones. Little did he dream that his great-nephew would live to ride an electric camel and be the richest man in the world.

What will the Rockefeller be doing two generations from now? Not all the power of money can control that.

FRANCE is alarmed about another serious drop in the value of the franc. French financiers have sold, according to a dispatch from Edwin L. James, of the New York Times, fourteen billion of francs in foreign countries. If accurate, this means that Frenchmen are exchanging French money for foreign money.

BUT NO matter what French and foreign financiers may do, the wise man will remember that 999 out of 1,000 Frenchmen have absolute faith in their country. The French people are thrifty and enormously rich. Gambling in the franc to diminish its value is not only hostile act to a friendly nation, but also a very dangerous game.

A "WAR GAME" this Summer will test Hawaii's defenses. The United States Atlantic and Pacific fleets combined will try to take the Hawaiian Islands. Theorists will decide which side won. The main idea is to test the Hawaiian Islands' protection for the Panama Canal in case of war starting from Asia.

IF WAR should come from Asia, the Hawaiian Islands would be no more important than Timbuctoo so far as defending the United States is concerned. Attack from Asia would come through the air, far above Hawaii, and the Hawaiians wouldn't know anything about it.

THE GOVERNMENT might better make experiments as regards the defense of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, New York, Chicago, and other cities, all open to airplane attack.

THE GENERAL Staff says the Hawaiian Islands could not be captured if well supplied with fighting airplanes. That shows at least a gleam of intelligence. But the main supply of airplanes is needed on the American Continent, on both sides, and in the middle, not merely off in Hawaii. If this country had not been painted foolishly at that Washington Conference, we should have our great protective base for airplanes at Guam, maintaining there at all times an airplane force sufficient to serve as a permanent warning to all Asia.

This continent ought to be able to point to Guam as the leading airplane base of the world, and say, "Strike at the United States, and from this point we shall destroy you."

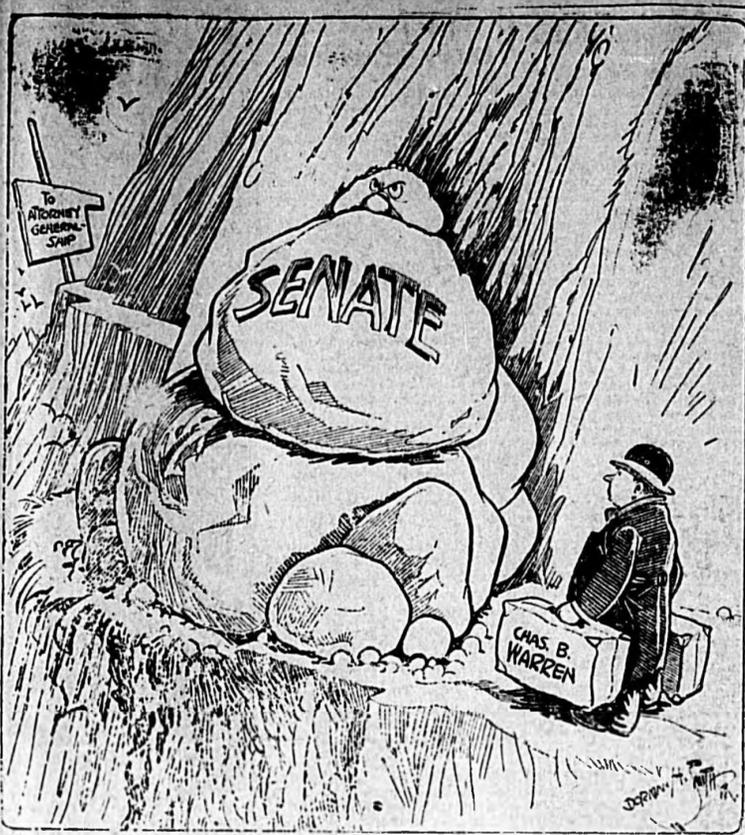

INSTEAD, we became sloppily sentimental, shed silly tears down the backs of the British, the Japanese and everybody else, lent them our money, agreed to protect them permanently in their Pacific island possessions. We crowned our display of folly by agreeing not to fortify Guam, which should have been our most valuable possession in the way of defense, and is now utterly wasted.

THE EASTERN States soon will witness the birth of a gigantic power concern, harnessing up various power sources and supplying many States. In the beginning the great enterprise, which promises "a smokeless age and smokeless cities" will probably be divided into two huge concerns that will fight each other for supremacy.

Rates, of course, will be agreed upon, as high as the public will stand.

IT MAY SEEM strange to you that Niagara, creating some time ago, should be harnessed to pay profit to a few private individuals, instead of being used to supply power, at the lowest possible rates, to all the people. But console yourself.

ANOTHER BLOCKADED PASSAGE

QUALITY COUNTS

ST. PETERSBURG INDEPENDENT

At a time when the market for grapefruit is not strong a St. Petersburg firm which packs citrus fruits for the eastern market has received an order for four car-loads of grapefruit a day for the remainder of the season. The fruit is to be shipped to Philadelphia and New York, where grapefruit from other points in the state has been selling slowly. The price paid for the St. Petersburg fruit is well up to the mark. There is a reason for this big order. For several years the firm referred to have been packing fruit in St. Petersburg and have been careful to ship only fruit of the best quality. The grapefruit as it came from the groves, was washed and polished and then culled strictly and carefully. No single fruit that was a bit off-color or damaged was allowed to go to the packing bins. Indeed, fruit that would pass in most packing houses was thrown out and sold as culls. By sticking to this plan of shipping only the very best fruit the firm established in the East a reputation for their brand, and the wholesalers came to know that they were certain to get high-grade fruit when they bought that brand. And therein lies the reason the market has always been good for them and they have been able to sell at top prices when other packing houses here and in other parts of Florida were getting low prices. Quality counts always. It is the high-grade product, known to be such, that is in greatest demand and brings the highest price. A business house that insists on quality first is certain to get trade and keep it, and will get higher prices than a competitor who is less careful. The people usually are looking for the best in anything they buy and will deal with the house or man that has a reputation for handling only goods of the highest quality. It pays in the long run to put out only goods or services that are worth the money, whether it be grapefruit or clothing or shoes or labor or professional work.

IN SPIRKLAND

GAINESVILLE SUN

News come from Maine, as always at this time of year, that a Penobscot ice breaker has been seen. This is a privilege few have enjoyed. Just when the ice breaker was doing when seen the report does not tell, but he must have been having a good time, for there is still plenty of ice to break in Maine. This ice breaker was seen in company with a pack of young procks. It is very much to be desired that the next person who sees an ice breaker or a prock will furnish a more accurate description of these animals than any of the accounts now available. The Maine plunkus or ding-maul is well known. It has a small body, but a tail about six or eight feet long, with a lump of bony gristle at the end as large as a football. This is its sole but sufficient means of defense. The mountain gouger, or bowger is also often seen in Maine. He is an animal that captures those insect-pert woodsmen who lose their sense of direction and go astray in the woods. Less common are the kicke-smifter, who lives in old men's beards and in circular lakes; the swamp gahoon, an animal that makes snowhove tracks, and the tree squeak, which makes a noise like trees rubbing together in the wind. Other Maine woods animals are the kankagee, the mountain rabbit and the philandoo bird, the scrawbow, the swamp swiver, the wampus cat and the whittem-puff. The side-hill badger is known elsewhere, that creature provided with two short legs on one side and two long legs on the other to enable him to browse comfortably on the sides of steep mountain. The wunk is a strange animal that digs a hole and pulls the hole in after it. In some localities hunt the wunk's hole takes the place of cross-word puzzles, but in the nature of things it is a pastime rarely successful. Then there is the lurlus, and the winno-welver, the twittering teeper, the cheucker and the drowsy cover. In short, the woods are full of a variety of interesting creatures that have been shamefully neglected by the natural scientists. We call upon the scientists to give us further information about these animals. The public has a right to know more about them than such poetical statistics as James Whitcomb Riley compiled in "The Flying Islands of the Night." "But Dwainie hides in Spirkland And answers not at all."

MISS BARNES BECOMES BRIDE OF WILLIAM CONGDON AT PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING THURSDAY

Beautiful in all details was the wedding of Miss Agnes Blanche Barnes, the lovely, only daughter of Mrs. Irene Harwell Barnes, and William Davidson Congdon which was solemnized Wednesday at 6 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. F. D. King officiated in the presence of a large gathering of friends.

The church was artistically decorated. Palms and ferns were bunched about the altar, interspersed with tapers. Tall baskets, filled with delicate hued snapdragons and sweet peas were arranged in front of the greens and banching Cathedral candles were placed at each end of the altar. The soft glow from the candles gave a pretty effect over the church. Flowers for the family and close friends were marked with pink tulle holding sweet peas and ferns.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program was given by Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Miss Mabel Bowler and Miss Margaret Davis.

As the bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played, the wedding party advanced. The ushers R. F. Cooper and M. C. Haddock marched down the side isles. Next came the bridesmaids, Miss Leola King and Miss Adele Rines.

Miss King and Miss Rines were gowned in orchid georgette, fashioned over staid designed in long straight lines. They carried arm bouquets of orchid sweet peas.

Mrs. R. F. Cooper, matron of honor, entered next. She wore a lovely gown of pink tulle made with tight bodice and full skirt. Her slippers were cloth of silver and she carried an arm bouquet of orchid sweet peas.

Master Volie Williams was ring bearer, carrying the ring in the heart of a lily. He was dressed in a black Lord Fontleroy suit and preceded the little flower girls, Guinn Piner and Sara Ellen Easen who were dainty in white organdie. They scattered rose petals from tulle-tied baskets.

The bride entered alone and was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Charles Congdon who acted as his best man.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a full bridal toilet of white Mollie-o-crepe, a surplus tunic being draped at the lower part of the costume, the gown was beaded with pearls and sequins. She wore a veil of tulle edged with old family rose point lace, which was held to her head by a wreath of orange blossoms. Her slippers were white satin with orange blossom buckles. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, lilies and roses.

Mrs. Congdon received her education in Kissimmee and Orlando and later attended Rollins College and by her charming personality her won a large circle of friends. She has lived in Sanford for the past year and has been prominent in church and social circles.

Mr. Congdon is formerly of Galt, Ontario, but is at present a value employee of the Atlantic Coast Line, stationed at Jacksonville, where the happy couple will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Congdon left immediately after the ceremony in their car. The traveling costume of Mrs. Congdon was of printed crepe with accessories of sand color.

Mrs. Howell Hostess To G. I. A. Members

Mrs. Robert Howell in her usual genial way entertained the Grand International Auxiliary members Wednesday at her attractive home on French Avenue, with an all-day party.

At 1 o'clock a delicious chicken pilau luncheon was served. The afternoon was informally but very delightfully spent in quilting in an old fashioned way.

The subject of the day, "Kindness and Gratitude" was introduced by Mrs. Alfred Lilla. Mrs. R. H. Walthour read a very interesting article on "Why Aren't We Kinder?" Mrs. J. E. Coarier gave a beautiful poem on "Kindness." Mrs. L. M. Telford read an unusually interesting article, "A Trip on the Railroad of Life from Regeneration Station to the Celestial Terminal." This reading covered a number of selected passages of Scripture.

The hostess then served orange ade and wafers. Those present to enjoy this delightful day were: Mrs. A. J. Metcalf, Mrs. J. E. Courter, Mrs. Byron Walker, Mrs. Alfred Lilla, Mrs. F. L. Crossley, Mrs. L. M. Telford, Mrs. F. K. Smith, Mrs. L. Z. Sieviking, Mrs. Robert Howell, Mrs. R. H. Walthour, Mrs. Robert Jenkins, Mrs. J. M. Moye, Mrs. A. P. Bandy, Mrs. L. Grow.

MEMBERS WELFARE DEPARTMENT HEAR HOSPITAL BENEFIT REPORTS

The regular business meeting of the Welfare Department of the Woman's Club was held in the club house Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. J. G. Sharon presiding.

The main feature of the afternoon's meeting was the report of Mrs. S. Puleston, who was chairman of hospital day, which was put on last week for the purpose of raising funds for the Fernald-Lawton Hospital. While tag day and the charity ball were sponsored by the Welfare Department, the committees were not even confined to the Woman's Club, but included every one who was interested and the response was splendid.

For Tag Day, Mrs. Harry T. Bodwell was appointed chairman and with 25 women who were efficient helpers, the day closed with most gratifying results. Mrs. Hal

Wight was chairman on sale of tickets for the Charity Ball of the same evening, and she was assisted in selling tickets by a number of ladies.

Mrs. W. T. Langley had charge of the punch and securing the punch tables. Mrs. E. F. Housholder was chairman of the decorating committee and Mrs. R. A. Newman of the floor committee. Each chairman and her committees did their work wonderfully well and to them is due the splendid result of the day.

The amounts taken in and disbursed were as follows:

|                                |          |
|--------------------------------|----------|
| Total receipts of Tag Day      | $613.18 |
| Expenses                       | 20.45    |
| Total                          | $592.73 |
| Total receipts of Charity Ball | $310.20 |

Expenses for hall, music, etc., 131.70
$178.49
Total receipts for tag day and ball $771.18.

DEBATE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Presbyterian Literary and Debating Society will hold its regular meeting at the Presbyterian Church parlors Thursday night at 8 o'clock. ## Chuluota CHULUOTA, Feb. 19.—Mrs. L. Howell, Mrs. Beale Baxter and Mrs. Charles Brunley were guests of Mrs. J. E. Snyder at bridge Wednesday afternoon at the Betty Anne Tea Room in Sanford. The proceeds of the affair were given to the fund being raised for a pipe organ at the Episcopal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bane, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, were guests in Chuluota this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber, Canton, O., are visitors in Chuluota.

Mrs. W. N. Gille and her daughter Sara Nell Forrester are ill with influenza.

In a benefit given by the Parent-Teachers' association at the Lincoln Cafeteria $77 was raised toward purchasing a piano for the school house. Music by the school band and radio concerts provided entertainment for the occasion.

More than 150 people attended a radio concert at the school house Feb. 12. J. A. Rogers acted as host.

The decorations were miniature reproductions of the cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born at Hodgenville, Ky., which were made by students in the hand crafts department of the school. Seven tables were covered with white linen and decorated with red and white paper hearts.

The piano for the school building arrived and will be placed in the auditorium shortly.
