WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Department is asking the Vietnamese government to clarify circumstances surrounding that country's detention of three Americans whose cht was intercepted in the South China Sea last week.

The Vietnamese informed U.S. officials Monday that it has detained the three Americans after the yacht Brillig was towed to Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, last' Saturday.

Estrogen Requires Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) - Brochures warning of cancer risks now are required with every estrogen prescription. The Food and Drug Administration says starting today, the brochures must tell women receiving the drugs the risks of taking the female sex hormones. The most serious risk is cancer of the lining of the uterus, FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy said Monday. That risk increases if estrogens are used "too frequently or too long," he said, and can be five to 10 times greater than for a woman who has never taken estrogens.

Women Ask Fair Shake

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sixty women with doctorates in various sciences are meeting with government, business and academi leaders to find ways that women can get a fairer shake in science. In the so-called "enlightened" world of science, women make up less than 10 per cent of the work force and those with doctorate degrees get salaries 19 per cent below their male counterparts. Paricipants in the conference on women in scientific research, which began Monday, say that when all the reasons and excuses are analyzed, the bottom line of the equation reads sexual discrimination.

'Sovereign Immunity' Issue

NEWPORT, Ky. (UPI) - A federal judge has indicated that lawyers representing victims of the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire will have a difficult time persuading him to declare the "sovereign immunity doctrine" unconstitutional. A long-established concept in English, Common Law, sovereign immunity originally was designed to keep the King of England out of legal hassles. In modern times, the doctrine protects state and local units o government from some types of damage suits.

Expressing open skepticism Monday during arguments on the sovereign immunity issue, U.S. District Judge Carl Rubin said, "Clearly, any jurisdiction can limit and protect its sanctuary.

"May not the state prevent a raid on its treasury which would benefit the few, at the expense of the many?" he asked. "Isn't it the obligation of a state to operate that state for the benefit of all inhabitants?"

My Son Knows Only Cows,

Says Spy Suspect's Mom

MIAMI (AP) — Federal prosecutors say their case against Carl John Heiser III is a strong one. But the mother of the man accused of failing to register as an agent of two communist countries maintains there's nothing to the charges.

"The FBI is trying to make something big out of nothing," Dorothy Heiser of Boca Raton said recently. "Carl doesn't understand politics. He grew up in Texas. He understands horses and cows."

After a lengthy investigation by the FBI, a federal grand jury indicted the 32-year-old Heiser along with two other persons. They are Carl Lutz Wieschenberg, a West German who was arrested with Heiser as he prepared to catch a flight to his home in the Bahamas, and Manfred Hardt, a West German industrialist.

Cut Taxes, Not Lunches

ths: $32.40.

President Carter is about to divulge his tax reform package, and it would seem that most of his grand words about equity and simplicity are going to die a fast death. Mr. Carter still will ask for a hefty cutback on business deductions for the "martini lunch," and we suppose he can point to this as evidence of how he's making the tax code fairer. But in fact, as reports out of the Treasury Department indicate, Mr. Carter's reform package is going to leave virtually unchanged the basic structure of the tax rate system. And as to simplicity, reports also from the Treasury suggest that while some parts of the system will be rid of complication, others will be complicated further. No doubt some will complain that Mr. Carter is defaulting on his promises, and indeed we will say that he has defaulted on one of them, if, as has been reported, Mr. Carter does renege on his promise to eliminate completely the double taxation of dividends. But considering that most of the other promises cloaked behind the rhetoric of equity and simplicity would have put the U.S. economy on the sickbed, we figure that the economy won't do badly by this package. Admittedly, it would be a better package if, at the last moment, Mr. Carter should quit his campaign against martinis, get rid of double taxation, and strike out his proposal to treat capital gains as ordinary income. But the one thing that Mr. Carter is going to propose that makes this package laudable is permanent tax reduction. The $22 billion that Mr. Carter wants to leave yearly in the economy is going to gladden just about everyone. Individual tax cuts, amounting to $15 billion, are going to be in order for all groups save those in the $100,000-a-year and up income brackets. The other $7 billion is going to go to business via reductions in the corporate tax rate and increases in the 10 per cent investment tax credit. Both measures represent progress in Mr. Carter's economic thinking.

Whereas Mr. Carter was ready to stimulate the economy by passing out $50 to everyone last spring, Mr. Carter now is ready to stimulate the economy by slashing tax rates permanently. One-time rebates are here today, spent tomorrow; the ineduction, by contrast, enables consumers to expand their purchases over time. This expansion invites an increase in the supply of goods produced, which in turn expands employment and real incomes. Similarly, with permanently lowered business taxes, businessmen can expand their plants and add to their equipment over time, thus increasing production and creating jobs.

In fairness, of course, it should be noted that for four years Rep. Jack Kemp, a New York Republican, has been advocating permanent tax cuts on both individual and corporate income. And right now on Capitol Hill there's an admirable tax reduction package, co-authored by Mr. Kemp and his fellow Republican in the Senate, William Roth. Whichever tax reform bill is successful - the Roth-Kemp or the Carter bill - it is nice to know that the Democrats are following the Republican suit. For a change there is a bipartisan recognition of at least one point of public policy, the need to reduce taxes

The fledgling Seminole Governmental Employes Federal Credit Union has begun a membership drive today, and credit union organizers are hoping county courthouse employes will take advantage of low-interest loans, automatic loan protection and life insurance coverage on savings accounts offered through the credit. "It's also a way to help attract good workers and keep them," says Gerri Cordle, president of the credit union's board of directors and a county personnel analyst.

To join the credit union, county employes must pay a $1 membership fee and maintain a minimum account balance of $5.Credit union membership is open to all county employes, including those who serve the Board of County Commissioners, clerk, property appraiser, supervisor of elections, tax collector and sheriff. Elected county officials may also sign up.

Here's what county employes will get by joining the credit union:

-Low interest rates on loans. Credit union loans will carry interest of 12 per cent per year. Depart-ment stores and other businesses offering credit cards charge from 18 to 30 per cent interest, and loan corporations charge at least 29 per cent. And the unpaid balance of a credit union loan can be paid back at any time.

-Automatic loan protection. If a member of the credit union dies while paying back a credit union loan, the loan is automatically paid in full. -Life insurance coverage on savings accounts. An amount equal to a credit union member's savings with the credit union will be paid his beneficiary if he dies. The beneficiary would also receive the amount of the member's savings, - No middleman's profits. The credit union is a nonprofit organization, and officers of the credit union

A War Needs Villain By WALTER R. MEARS AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON TODAY

WASHINGTON - In order to wage the moral equivalent of war, you need the moral equivalent of an enemy. Without villains, there's no way to keep score. So President Carter has fixed his sights for the new phase of his energy campaign, zeroing in on the oil industry he accuses of plotting history's biggest ripoff. The issue may not be quite that simple, and the tactic may not gain congressional approval o the legislation he wants. But at least it will be more colorful now that he's settled on somebody to campaign against.

"... As is the case in time of war, there is potential war profiteering in the impending energy crisis," Carter said last Thursday. "This could develop with the passing months as the biggest ripoff in history."

He went on to suggest that only the enactment of his energy program will insure the American consumer against robbery by the oil and gas companies. He read them out of the free enterprise system "because prices are not free," but instead influenced by OPEC oil rates and b industry control over the rate of production. A Man's Worth Not Influenced By Education

DEAR ABBY: My husband works long hours (without overtime pay) in a position of importance with a large, nationally-known firm. He's had six years of college, but some of the men who operate machinery make more money than he does. This hurts.

For example, our neighbor never even finished high school. He does manual labor, but because he belongs to a union, he earns more and has more benefits than my husband. It doesn't seem fair that with all age with this problem. It might my husband's education he isn't even help some of the boys who able to give his family as much uneducated some

On the other hand, if she doesn't, the boys consider her a stuck-up-snob. Which would be better, to stop and be sociable, or to act like a snob? WANTS TO BE SOCIABLE

DEAR WANTS: One of the first things a mother teaches a little girl who is old enough to walk down the street alone is, "Don't talk to strangers or ever get into a car with one!"

Whether the girl is 6 or 16, the advice is still good. To refuse invitations to socialize from strangers in automobiles is not snobbish, it's sensible.

Cosell Assault On Tap

DENVER (AP) - Step right up and win a Monday night football brick. Business is booming at the weetwater pub since owners began a raffle with the winner getting to toss the brick through a television set at sportscaster Howard Cosell.

Football fans here, upset at ABC-TV for not scheduling their Denver Broncos for a Monday night television ap pearance and claiming Cosel deliberately has omitted Denver from the halftime highlights on occasion, have taken heir ire out on Cosell.

They contend Cosell has the clout within the network to get the Broncos on the tube, but hasn't because he believes Denver has a mediocre team. The unbeaten Broncos, atop the American Football Confertheir fifth game Sunday, routing the world champion Oakland Raiders 30-7 in Oakland. Exercise Better Than Girdle

DEAR DR. LAMB - For 26 rears my husband has told me years my husband has told me girdles do absolutely nothing for the figure. The body should be free of any binding gar-ments. I thought they would help support stomach muscles. Do girdles do more harm than good? I'd appreciate a reply to settle this argument between

Also, ches muscles my husband says taking deep breaths in as far as possible will do it. I say pushing the hands together in front of the chest is more effective. Which is right?

I need to lose about 10 pounds but am really more interested in firming up. I have loose skin around my abdomen. I am 47, weigh 155 and am 5 feet 9. 1 have been doing exercises for the abdomen, letting the legs come down slowly while lying on my back. While I am still lying down I raise up to touch my toes withoug bending my knees. Can I actually firm this pad of loose fat if I continue? Will diet help?

DEAR READER - You von't like my answer. You can hide a certain amount of flab and fat with a girdle but when it omes off the truth comes out work of muscle will weaken it. that is why leg muscles will shrink and weaken while a leg is in a cast. If you want to firm up your abdominal muscles you need to develop a conscious effort to keep your abdomen a little firmer and develop good posture. Abdominal exercises help keep the muscles firm. The ones you are doing are fine for that. Consciously keep your stomach muscles taut while doing them for better effect. I am sending you the Health Letter number 3-7, Girth Control: Avoiding The Big Middle, to give you more details on exercise and a word about dieting. Yes, the diet is im-

you are going to open hands like this one you had best make the best guesses. After this successful guess South struggled along for a long time, but when the smoke of battle had cleared away the defense had pulled in eight tricks and 500 points tricks and 500 points. At most other tables the final contract was one notrump by East. Some declarers made it, others wh went down; but all scores were less than 100 points. State Rep. Vince Fechtel says he'll lead an effort to try to reverse a state decision to close the Seminole Regional Juvenile Detention Center at Sanford by 1980 and merge the facility with the Volusia detention center near Daytona Beach.

William Page, secretary of the state Department iealth and Rehabilitative Services (HRS), last more ounced that juvenile detention centers in Se Lake counties are to be closed and the programs com bined with centers in Marion and Volusia c

Services, says HRS is proposing in its 1978-79 budget request $1.7 million for construction of a 78-bed juvenile detention center near Daytona Beach to replace the current Seminole and Volusia centers. The new center would house detained juveniles from Volusia, Seminole, Flagler and Putnam counties.

Fechtel, in a telephone interview from his Leesburg office, said he's fighting to keep open both the Lake and seminole detention centers which are currently understaffed. The Seminole center at Sanford is a 13-bed facility which in recent months has housed as many as 27 juveniles with many forced to sleep on mattresses on the Fechtel said the latest figures he has from HRS show an average daily juvenile population at the Sanford center of 16.4 juveniles. He said the Volusia center is averaging 19 juveniles daily. The legislature mandated cuts in detention personnel over the state, according to Rachin, and HRS developed a plan designed to realign juvenile "catchment areas" served by detention centers. "It is important to keep in mind that juvenile referral rates are dropping in both Volusia and Seminole counties," Rachin said. "There are fewer children and risks. according to state Department of Education projections." He said there also seems to be a downward trend statewide on the number of juvenile arrests. Rachin said HRS envisions "a consider saving" to result from the consolidation of Seminole and Volusia juvenile detention centers - at least 15 per cent reduction in operating costs by eliminating duplicated services. Rachin said plans call for police and sheriff's deputies arresting juveniles in Seminole after the detention center consolidation to transport the juveniles to the center near Daytona Beach. He said officers now are bringing Flagler County juveniles to Volusia and Putnam County juveniles to the Marion County center.

"Our projections show that there's really going to be no imposition, either staff-wise or costwise, on the centrally located facility," Rachin said. But Seminole Sheriff John Polk said he sees the
