HOROSCOPE For Wednesday, October 5, 1977 YOUR BIRTHDAY Oct. 5, 1977 CHANCES for a rise in status or an advancement are excellent for you this coming year. To accomplish either, you need an ally on the inside who will stand up for you in any eventuality. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Instead of operating logically and weighing alternatives, you have a tendency to do things the hard way today. Unfortunately, but true, find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $8 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify your birth sign. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're too intent on forcing your views upon others today, you'll be asking for trouble. They'll work against you behind your back. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Much to do deals today. These people could cut a few corners, and you could be one of them! CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Some whose toes you've stomped upon may have the opportunity to get back at you today. Chances are he will, if you're not wary. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your physical stamina is not all it should be today. Don't overtax yourself. Leave strenuous tasks for tomorrow.

PHOENIX (Feb. 20-March 20) If you attempt to manipulate others for personal gains today, your well-laid plans could backfire. This would cause you some serious problems. ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're good at opening negotiations today, but you're not a good closer. Take care or you may impulsively do something that's not in your best interests. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your zeal to accomplish things today, guard against being too bossy. Co-workers will resent it and could be outspoken in their protests. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Strive diligently to keep harmony in any profitable arrangement you may have with someone else. You must pull together, and not work at odds. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Chances are you're a bit overprotective today. The tighter you guard the leash, the more the floodings will try to break it. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your usual approach is open and above board. Today you may try something a little devious and be trapped on your own flypaper. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you're very careful, your budget will wind up with a deficit today. Nonessential expenditures could become a critical drain.

Real 'Enemy' To Health: You DEAR DR. LAMB - Why don't doctors do more about preventing illnesses? It seems to me doctors spend most of their time just trying to prolong someone's life who is going to die anyway. Wouldn't it be a lot better to prevent this person from getting sick in the first place? Is this because doctors make more money doing heart surgery and treating cancer than they do preventing it? DEAR READER - Doctors have discovered the real enemy to health a long time ago and there isn't much we can do about it. The enemy is YOU! Doctors would love to prevent illnesses but they can only be successful in this area to the extent that people follow the good advice they have been given. Let's look at automobile accidents. In 1974 when lower automobile speed limits were being obeyed the death rate from automobile accidents dropped 17.4 per cent. But people do not want to slow down to save energy let alone their own or someone else's life. Did you know that your chances of surviving an accident at 71 miles per hour are only about 50-50 at best? The chances of survival improve the slower the speed. At speeds between 51 and 60, the chances are 31 to 1 in your favor. When you are inclined to drive fast just remember the figures. Accidents are the most common cause of death in males and females between the ages of 15 and 34 and most of these are automobile accidents. There is little doctors can do to prevent you from risking your life or others. You are the problem.

Dr. Lamb Doctors ask people to quit smoking. Do they? Who can make a person quit smoking? Yet cancer is the second most common cause of death and lung cancer is the most common cause of cancer deaths. Did you know that 90 per cent of all lung cancer could be stopped tomorrow if everyone would quit smoking? Can the doctors outlaw smoking? Fatal heart attacks are three times as common in smokers as in nonsmokers. Yet smoking is permitted in public places and during commercial travel. Intelligent people who know they are increasing their risk continue to smoke cigarettes. What can the doctor do? There is abundant evidence that limiting your calorie intake and keeping your physical activity up to eliminate or prevent obesity will benefit your health in preventing high blood pressure, elevated fatty cholesterol deposits in the arteries that lead to heart attacks and strokes and premature senility. Only you can limit your calories and exercise. Cholesterol of the liver is the fourth most common cause of death in men between the ages of 35 and 54 and 60 per cent of these are caused by alcohol. Doctors have no authority to make people quit abusing their bodies with alcohol.

Seminole Reacts To Sirica

'I'm Sorry'—Was It Reason Enough?

An Evening Herald survey shows a sampling of Seminole County citizens disagree 3 to 1 with Judge John Sirica's compassionate act of reducing prison sentences of Watergate cover figures John H. Mitchell, John D. Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman from 2 1/2-4 years to 1-4 years.

"I guess you can now call me Minimum John," Sirica quipped Tuesday after he reduced the sentences. "I'm glad it's the last major decision I'll have rendered in this case."

The ruling was the last of many in the five years since Judge Sirica's involvement began in Watergate and its many tangled offshoots.

No more Watergate criminal cases are pending and the 78-year-old judge is considering taking senior status with a reduced workload.

Ehrlichman becomes eligible for federal parole on Oct. 23 if federal judge Gerhard A. Gesell, who sentenced him in the Ellsberg psychiatrist break-in case, reduces that sentence also, as is expected.

If not, Ehrlichman's parole eligibility begins next June along with that of Haldeman and Mitchell.

Their release from prison will not be automatic. When their eligibility date nears, each man will be interviewed by parole officers whose recommendation must then be approved by the U.S. Parole Commission.

Dayan And Carter: A Plan For Mideast Peace Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan, sidestepping a controversial American-Soviet declaration, announced today he and President Carter have agreed on a tentative formula for holding a Middle East peace conference in Geneva.

Dayan, facing reporters in the early hours of the morning following marathon talks with Carter, emphasized the formula must be accepted by his government and by Israel's Arab neighbors. He said it might well be amended in the process.

The surprise announcement was coupled with the reading by White House spokesman Jody Powell of a joint statement that participants in the Geneva conference. As far as Israel is concerned, he said, "Lebanon can come in."

Carter was scheduled to meet with Lebanon's foreign minister this afternoon before returning to Washington following a two-day New York visit that featured talks with Dayan and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy and an address to the United Nations General Assembly.

One of Israel's objections to the American-Soviet declaration was their interpretation that it would call for acceptance of a Palestinian state. The declaration referred to "the legitimate rights of the Palestinians" — a phrase Carter used for the first time in his U.N. address.

American officials have insisted the declaration was not intended to impose a settlement that would create a state and Dayan said, "The Israeli position is that we shall not negotiate over a Palestinian state."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Carter's reference to "legitimate rights of the Palestinian people" has so angered many Jewish supporters that they are not buying tickets to a $100-a-plate fund raising appearance by the President later this month, a dinner organizer says.

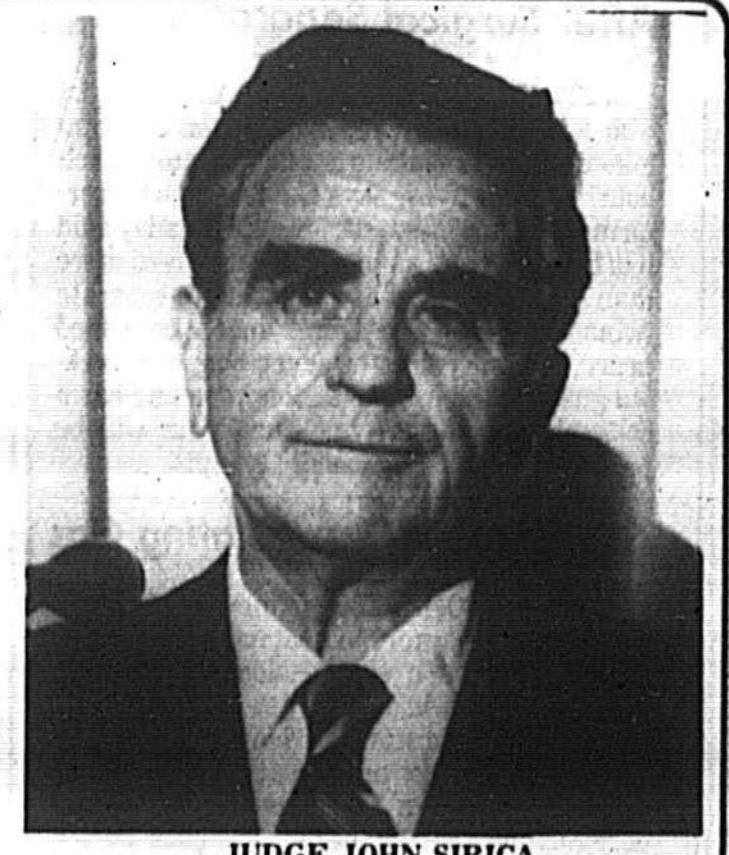

"I have never seen them as upset by anything as they are now," Hershey Gold said Tuesday.

Gold, a member of the executive council of the Democratic National Finance Council and veteran Democratic fund raiser, particularly among Jewish groups, is co-chairman of the fund-raising dinner scheduled for Oct. 22.

Dayan said he would recommend that his government approve a working paper that would, if accepted by other nations involved, become "the agreed procedures for the Geneva peace conference." He said he expected early action by Israel.

"It is something we have been working on a long time," said Dayan. Powell told reporters the working paper already has been discussed with Arab officials and announced that Secretary of State Cyrus Vance will be holding further discussions about it with the Arabs.

In talking to reporters, Dayan volunteered a hint that Lebanon might be added to the list of participants in the Geneva conference.

Infant Makes Medical History After Surgical Separation

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An infant girl who was surgically separated from her conjoined sister is making medical history each hour that she lives, says the doctor who performed the operation. Dr. Steve Golladay said it is the first time an infant has survived more than six hours after an operation to separate twins born with one trunk and a conjoined heart. Golladay said the seven-pound, 3-week-old girl is listed in critical condition and has a 50-50 chance of survival. The infant will be paralyzed on the right side, he said.

Senate OKs Deregulating Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — American families will have to pay more to heat or cook with gas no matter what a congressional conference committee does on natural gas price controls. After a long filibuster, the Senate on Tuesday voted 50-46 in favor of federal deregulation of natural gas prices. The House voted against deregulation, so the issue now goes before House-Senate conferees.

Kissinger Ready With Quips

CHICAGO (AP) — Henry Kissinger did some entertaining at a dinner for Sen. Charles Percy, and the former secretary of state managed to refer to himself as a "god-in-law" to Percy's daughter.

During the fund-raising dinner Thursday night for the Illinois Republican, who has not yet announced whether he will seek a third term, Kissinger also got off this one liner on Bert Lance: "You have to give him credit."

Cleveland's Mayor Bounced

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Three-term Republican Mayor Ralph J. Perk was bounced out of office by two Democrats in Tuesday's nonpartisan primary, despite an intense campaign based on a "war on pornography."

Maverick Democrat Dennis Kucinich and State Rep. Edward Feigan, a party regular, polled 40,003 and 39,724 votes, respectively, to Perk's 36,389 to take the two spots in a Nov. 8 runoff.

Cocaine Charges Dropped

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Cocaine charges against country music star Waylon Jennings have been dropped — temporarily at least.

But Jennings' lawyer says it may be a ploy to avoid giving him a speedy trial.

Black Mayor Makes It Again

ATLANTA (UPI) — Mayor Maynard Jackson won landslide re-election over four opponents, two of them white, Tuesday night as the only black mayor of a major Southern city.

Zamora: '...The Gun Shot Her'

MIAMI (AP) — "One minute I held it (the gun) real tight. I didn't know why, I was scared and before I knew it, it happened so fast...the gun shot her."

That's how 15-year-old Ronny Zamora — injected with a hypnotic drug — described the shooting of his 83-year-old neighbor during a late night session with his defense team.

Jurors Want To See Themselves On TV

MIAMI (AP) — The jury in the Ronny Zamora murder trial spends hours each day listening to debate over television's possible role in the crime. At night the jurors want to watch television.

Judge Paul Baker sequestered the jury when the trial began Monday and banned all television viewing by jury members.

The jurors complained. The judge relented and allowed them to watch anything but news shows and taped excerpts of the trial that are carried on a public television station for two to three hours each night under a statewide, year-long cameras-in-the-courtroom experiment.

Baker's leniency came to an end Tuesday when the jurors sent a request that they be permitted to watch the televised trial tapes — "with the sound turned off, just to see what they look like," the judge said.

Savalas Won't Have To Testify At Trial

MIAMI (AP) — Defense attorney Ellis Rubin today released testimony actor Telly Savalas from testifying in the murder trial of 15-year-old Ronny Zamora.

Rubin released Savalas from his subpoena, saying earlier court decisions would make a fight to hear from the star of "Kojak" fruitless.

"I have no reason to bring Telly Savalas," said Rubin, citing a Tuesday ruling that excluded a psychologist's testimony.

"One minute I held it (the gun) real tight. I don't know why, I was scared and before I knew it, it happened so fast...the gun shot her," he said. "I saw her fall back, no screams or blood. I just didn't believe I shot her. It happened. I was just holding the gun. It happened so fast. I just couldn't go over. I was scared the whole time."

Coffemaker, Too

Burglars Hit APEX — Take Office Equipment

Seminole sheriff's deputies today reported burglars who hit the American Produce Exchange (APEX) office on SR-46 east of Sanford, took office equipment, the coffee maker and sugar.

Also listed as missing after the break-in was the office coffeemaker and a one-pound can of sugar.

In south Seminole, deputies said someone broke a door glass and entered the residence of Caroy Ryals at this Road, Longwood. Listed as missing were a clock radio, $200 cash, an antique Winchester rifle, two replica antique rifles, a stereo and two watches, with a total value of $1,010, according to a report filed by deputy J.E. Alford.

Killer Free On Bond

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A man found not guilty of two murders because he was insane and later released by mistake from a New Jersey mental hospital was released on $100,000 bond Tuesday.

Broward County Circuit Judge Alice Hastings said John Montedoro, 24, "hasn't violated a single law in the state of Florida that we know about."

Deputy Peggy McLeilan reported $86 in half-dollars, total value $200, were missing after a burglary at the residence of Dorothy Barry at 129 Oak St., Longwood.

Montedoro was charged with two shotgun slayings in a remote wooded area near Tinton Falls, N.J., in 1974. One of the victims, Daniel Hernandez, 16, had been seeing Montedoro's girlfriend. Also killed was Hernandez' 10-year-old nephew.

Montedoro was convicted, but an appeals court ordered a new trial. He then was found not guilty by reason of insanity and committed to the New Jersey State Psychiatric Hospital in Marlboro.

Deputies reported $300 cash and a $100 check were taken in a break-in at the residence of Paula Incan at 301 Hickory Drive, Longwood.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Conner Probes State Employee Abuses Of Jobless Benefits

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State Commerce Department officials should rid their agency of employees who have been billing taxpayers out of unemployment benefits intended for the jobless, says Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner.

Conner on Tuesday called for a Cabinet-ordered report on alleged abuses of the disaster unemployment benefits program. He told the Cabinet that four state workers have been indicted for theft of unemployment funds.

Purchase Approved...

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Cabinet has approved the fourth purchase of Honey-moon Island acreage with opponents charging the state got a bad deal.

On a 4-2 vote, the Cabinet voted Tuesday to buy 50 more acres for a park on the small island off Dunedin on Florida's West Coast. The $3 million purchase includes 290 acres of nearby submerged land.

...But Not Unicameral

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A committee of the Constitution Revision Commission thinks each legislative district should have one member, but it wants no part of a one-house Legislature.

The Legislative Committee took those stands Tuesday as five of the commission's nine issue-oriented committees held their first meetings.

Shevin: Laetrile OK, But...

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A new law legalizing the controversial cancer substance laetrile says nothing about allowing its manufacture or sale in Florida, Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin says.

Shevin issued an opinion Tuesday saying the new law only permits doctors to give laetrile to patients who request it, but says nothing about how they might obtain the substance.

Blackfly Battle In Palm Beach

MIAMI (AP) — State agricultural authorities have moved their blackfly-fighting equipment back to Palm Beach after finding the Dade County project too big to handle.

"We couldn't keep our sprays on schedule," said Charles Poucher, head of the Florida Agriculture Department's blackfly eradication program. "It was too big a workload."

The state and the U.S. Department of Agriculture began a spray program in a mile-wide area earlier this year when a heavy infestation of blackfly was discovered in Coral Gables.

Senator Waives Hearing

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Other senator fighting financial disclosure requirements has waived his right to a closed hearing concerning a complaint filed against him with the state Ethics Commission.

Sen. Jack Gordon waived the secrecy requirement Tuesday in a letter to Ethics Commission director Larry Gonzalez.

TALLAHASSEE, (AP) — Dr. Edward T. LaRoe, a coastal ecologist, has been named to head a group developing a plan to preserve Florida's coastline.

LaRoe was appointed Tuesday as chief of the Bureau of Coastal Zone Planning by Environmental Regulation Secretary Jay Landers.

The Volunteer Military Force

Critics of the all-volunteer military, which replaced the quarter-century-old draft four years ago, focus on charges that are mostly myth.

A report prepared by Dr. Richard V. L. Cooper, a senior Rand Corp. analyst, says that the volunteer force is more economically and socially equitable than conscription.

Inequities in the decade of the 1960s weighed most heavily upon blacks, according to Cooper. Of those who qualified for service by reason of age, health, education and mental aptitude, twice as many blacks as whites in proportion to their numbers bore the military burden.

And while blacks made up 21 per cent of all new enlistees in the armed forces in 1974, as compared to 8 per cent in 1960, increase is due to the increasing proportion who meet the eligibility qualifications — up from 12 per cent in 1960 to 45 per cent today.

Significantly, the armed forces today are paying wages competitive with civilian jobs, blurring the geographic and income lines that prevailed during the draft era.

The cost of the volunteer force, too, has been a matter for debate — and is similarly exaggerated.

Pay incentives to encourage enlistments, the Rand study indicates, have little to do with the recent increase in the cost of military manpower. What does complicate the cost, however, is the military's early retirement system — generous by any standards — and the expense of civilian defense employees.

Cooper suggests contract arrangements, more efficient and less costly than civilian workers, and revisions in the retirement system to apply to future recruits as possible corrective measures.

The Rand criticisms are constructive but the conclusion of the report is most significant. The all-volunteer military concept works.

A Home Remedy

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. has announced plans to lay off 5,000 employees in the shutdown of several of its steel plants in the Midwest. Close on the heels, Arco Steel Co. says it is eliminating 700 jobs at two Ohio plants, and U.S. Steel says "several hundred" of its workers will be laid off in similar shutdowns.

These are painful new symptoms of a malaise in the American steel industry that has been evident for years. Imported steel is biting deeper into the U.S. market. Our steel producers are finding it harder to compete in the world market.

Foreign producers do not have trade secrets that give them a competitive edge. What they have are plants more modern and efficient, a labor force with higher man-hour productivity, and more aggressive marketing operations. The salvation of America's steel industry lies in the realm of more realistic labor contracts and in government regulatory policies more conducive to investment in modernization of plants.

As expected, news of the current lay-offs has renewed appeals from U.S. labor organizations for tariffs or quotas to restrict imports. These restrictions would only antagonize our trading partners and invite retaliation, while leaving the real source of the trouble untreated. Foreign steel products entering the United States may symbolize the problem, but the solution lies here at home.

Talent: It's amazing how much can be found in some small towns, and Sanford is no exception, as a whole troupe of local folks will prove Thursday evening when they star in "Sanford Salutes" at the civic center.

"Sanford Salutes" is the show business end of Sanford's celebration of its 100th birthday. It was written, produced, and is being performed by local talent — and it is open to the public free of charge. "Sanford Salutes" is a musical review, depicting the history of Sanford in song and dance. It revolves around an elderly couple sitting on their front porch and reminiscing about the city.

"Momma and Poppa" are played by Jack Horner, executive manager of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, and Gail Stewart, Junior Woman's Club, who is one of the co-directors of the show. Florence Korngan is the other director. The two women are responsible for bringing together 25 performances, by individuals and groups, each depicting some significant moment in Sanford's history.

The show starts with the rivetboat docking at Sanford, the sound of banjos strumming, and a recollection of Jerome Kern's powerful song "Ole Man River."

With a fragile and rhythmic demonstration of the true art of waltzing, the show moves on to a review by professional performer Eddie Rose, doing a review similar to those he did when he was a performer in Vandeville.

The swing era, World War II and other musical moments move the old folks closer to today's Sanford, and by the end of the show even discotheque music has its moments in the presentation of what's happening in Sanford now. Closing the show is a musical salute, followed by the performing of God Bless America — a moving and powerful tribute to not only the city's past, but its future.

One high point of the show will be the first presentation anywhere, anytime, of the song "Sanford Now and Then" written especially for the centennial celebration by John C. Horner Jr.

"We hope to have the city commission approve this song as the official song of the city of Sanford," says Paul F. Jack Horner, "and as chairman of the centennial committee, I say it is the official song for the centennial." Both words and music were written by young Horner to depict the city's first one hundred years and provide a happy hope for the future as well.

The show is divided into two sections, with a 10-minute intermission between. It will be held at the civic center, and Horner suggests the audience "get there early" in order to find seats. The show opens at 7:30 p.m. and is free.

Third Lock As Alternate For Canal?

"Which Panama Canal negotiator is right? ... U.S. ships go to the head of the line even if other ships are waiting to get into the canal." That was Sol Linowitz, the United States co-chief negotiator testifying last week before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"If, after examining the provision, the gringos with their warship say, 'I want to go through first,' then that is their problem with the other ships waiting there." That was Ronald E. Bethancourt, chief Panamanian negotiator in a speech in Panama City.

Such contradictions are adding to the concern of treaty opponents that the two documents have a fatal flaw. That is, that we can expect in the future trouble-free, secure operation of the canal by Panama by giving up the basic rights we now have to operate and defend it.

While the White House sales campaign goes on in Capitol Hill, Senate opponents are increasingly striking a theme that could be described as "ratification, no alternatives, yes."

The alternative most talked about is the Terminal Lake-Third Lock plan. This large scale construction project would update the canal, increase its capacity and permit it to handle all but a few of the world's largest ships. It would take nearly a decade to complete at a cost between $1 and $2 billion. Both the construction project and the resulting increase in canal traffic could strongly benefit Panama's troubled economy.

Another alternative would recognize the importance of viewing the canal in the context of a comprehensive U.S. policy toward Latin America. This one would enlarge the scope of the canal's governing board by adding international directors.

In addition to the group of permanent U.S. seats, the board might include a member from Panamanian seats and a third group of members from throughout Latin America (and possibly other canal-using nations) whose terms could rotate. This would be rather like the business that adds a consumer representative to its board to get the benefit of the customers' perspective.

Another possibility for discussion would be an arrangement for turning over to Panamanian control Panamanian citizens who violate laws in the Canal Zone.

Many times during the course of the treaty negotiations the Panamanians have complained that the Canal Zone divides their country in two. One bridge connects the two halves. I am told by engineers familiar with the canal area that it would be possible to add another bridge to improve access. Could an easement over the bridges be granted to Panama to improve its sense of national unity without compromising our rights of sovereignty in the Canal Zone? I do not know.

Today there should be no reason for unscientific wells. The era of the dividing rod is over. Lehr says modern water wells are dug with the same expertise and geological competence as are oil wells. Computers are the waterwatches of the 1970s. Lehr says digging wells is every bit as advanced an art as constructing dams.

Modern Story Of The Turtle And The Hare

VIEWPOINT

Digging For Our Life

By TIM TIEDE

COLUMBUS, Ohio — More than 97 per cent of the world's water is non-potable. And of the fresh water available, most is locked uselessly in glaciers and polar ice. Yet the situation is not entirely gloomy; the National Water Wells Association says mankind has plenty of untapped water under its nose — that is, under the ground.

Indeed, the association says the potential of American subsurface water alone is statistically staggering. Only 30 per cent of the fresh water in this country is contained in rivers and lakes; twenty times that much is buried in enormous aquifers, or reservoirs, within the first 2.5 miles of the U.S. continental crust.

Some of this water is already being used, of course. NWWA director Jay Lehr says, "Americans are digging wells at the rate of 750,000 a year. Yet in the main, ground water use is moderate at best. Lehr says that Americans consume more than 375 billion gallons of fresh water daily, but only 30 billion of it is from the ground."

This moderate exploitation of subsurface water is foolish, Lehr adds. He adds that it is also risky. Federal figures indicate America has nearly 250 quadrillion gallons of readily available ground water, or 7,000 years worth at present consumption; NWWA says there is more of it should be drawn to conquer the national thirst.

The suggestion seems reasonable. Lehr says ground water is far more clean than surface varieties. Also, it is usually produced "at a fraction of the cost" of the water from lakes and rivers; NWWA has figures to prove that in some cases the cost of drawing surface water is 10 and even 20 times as expensive as sinking satisfactory wells.

Lehr says Europeans learned this decades ago. Ground water is the primary rather than secondary source in most old world nations. Yet in the U.S., where lakes and streams are more prolific, and visible, subsurface water remains virtually a contingency resource. Of America's 100 largest cities, only 18 get their water from the soil.

Why the oversight? Lehr says it's partly psychological: "River water can be seen, ground water cannot, and people react accordingly. Besides, Lehr adds, there is an unfortunate mysticism associated with ground water. "People think we get it by using waterwatches, or something, we don't of course, but it's hard to change the image."

The image of ground water is also colored by a general belief that it is, in the overall, unreliable. Every time a well runs dry, the belief is reinforced. Lehr says the public education in this regard is woeful. Most wells that run dry, he says, are improperly dug; scientifically engineered wells almost inevitably recharge themselves.

Today there should be no reason for unscientific wells. The era of the dividing rod is over. Lehr says modern water wells are dug with the same expertise and geological competence as are oil wells. Computers are the waterwatches of the 1970s. Lehr says digging wells is every bit as advanced an art as constructing dams.

development money shot up from 10 per cent to 56 per cent.

The Economic Development Administration, apparently, is more skilled at pleasing politicians than keeping books. Hundreds of millions of dollars are unaccounted for, including $95 million in New Jersey, $23 million in Louisiana and $14 million in Minnesota.

This doesn't mean embezzlers have made off with the loot; it's more likely the books merely need to be overhauled. Blatnik, Roe and the administration, incidentally, joined in denying any political influence. Pork barrel money was funneled into the Blatnik and Roe districts, a spokesman solemnly attested, because they could justify the need.

Footnote: The investigation of the Economic Development Administration was stimulated by Pat Griffin of Amherst, Mass., who complained about the National Suggestions Box. We created the National Suggestions Box to receive the ideas and complaints of everyday citizens. Letters should be addressed to Box 2009, Washington, D.C. 20013.

GAS GOLF: The rush to pipe natural gas from Alaska to the lower states could cost federal reserves of billions of dollars. A needed help force the oil out of the ground.

But Americans are running short of natural gas to heat their homes and buildings. This has stimulated a move to construct a gigantic pipeline across Canada to transport the Alaska gas.

Premature withdrawal of the gas, experts warn, could cause huge oil deposits to become stranded below ground. They were commissioned by Alaska politicians to conduct the study.

The trans-Canada pipeline is scheduled to take four years to construct. If it is completed on time and the gas is drained off the Prudhoe Bay oil fields, consumers could lose up to 15 per cent of our known oil reserves, the confidential study contends.

Methods be studied for maintaining pressure on the oil before the gas pipeline is opened. Otherwise, declares the study, "Four billion barrels of oil may be the trade-off." This is enough to supply America's total energy needs for a full year.

Blatnik, Roe and the administration have quietly depended on at least 11 New York City major banks. They were sent by New York's Department of Taxation and Finance to check whether the big banks have been avoiding state taxes. "We're going to take a tougher approach," James Tully Jr., the state tax commissioner, told us.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Indira Gandhi's Arrest Blasted By India Press

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Two of India's leading newspapers said today that Prime Minister Morarji Desai's government botched its campaign against Indira Gandhi by arresting her prematurely and jeopardized its future in the process.

Mrs. Gandhi was freed Tuesday by a Delhi magistrate who said the government gave insufficient grounds for detaining her. Seeking to capitalize on the court victory, she immediately resumed her speaking campaign against the Janata party coalition that turned her and the Congress party out of office in parliamentary elections last March.

The Perfect Crime?

LECCE, Italy (UPI) — Police today were investigating what they described as an attempted perfect crime — prisoners bribing their way out of jail, committing a robbery, then returning to their cells with the loot.

The investigation centered on four inmates of the prison at Maglie, a small town near this southern city. A jail guard police believe let the inmates out for a few hours to commit robberies.

should be let out, too. "If anyone 'sorry' is let go, everybody should get out. This opinion is at the top of my head, as I said, I hadn't heard about it until you asked."

A Sanford woman who refused to be identified. "Saying I'm sorry doesn't make matters right. Any convicted felon could say, 'I'm sorry' and be released."

Kenneth Chapman, 413 N. Niblick Lane, Lake Mary, 65-year-old retired man and a Republican. "I'm not sure, but if we did that, nobody would be in jail."

Mr. E.C. Adams, Celery Ave., Sanford, 65-year-old retiree and a Democrat. "Free Mitchell, Haldean, and Christmann. Nixon should have gone to jail along with them. Nixon should be prosecuted and go to jail."

Mrs. Clyde S. Muse, Lake Monroe, 47-year-old housewife and Democrat. "It's ridiculous. They're no better than anybody else. They should serve their time like anybody else. The prison they're in is more like a resort anyway."

Mrs. Maggie Oglebay, 222 Woodmore Blvd., Sanford, 71-year-old retired, unaffiliated politically. "It's a good idea (to reduce sentences after apology). Lot's of people make mistakes."

Donald Hammond, 1137 Cobblestone Ave., Deltona, in answer to the question "Should sentences be reduced on the basis of 'I'm sorry'?" answered "No way. If it is proven that they did wrong they should pay for their wrongdoing. The same way for burglar Lance, who I feel is a good man (far better than the one who put him in)." As for paroling them ahead of schedule — Hammond said, "It is not proper for me to decide as I don't know the extent of their involvement. I don't believe in judging."

Mrs. Eugene Miletta of Lake Harney said she did not feel being "sorry" was a criteria for reducing sentences. "If someone is sentenced they should fulfill the whole sentence." She does not feel that is paroled now that the sentences have been reduced. "This is a different situation than a crime, it is something to think about... but of course it is a crime and they were guilty so far as I'm concerned that sentence should stand."

Samuel McNeely, Sanford. "Judge Sirica made a mistake. Whenever they got served. It should have been even more."

Mrs. Carl O. Brelia, Independent, Casselberry. "I can't see anything wrong with it. After all they didn't commit murder or anything like that. There is far, far worse going on in Washington now — and previous to Watergate. They were searching for evidence of Cuban money, and I'd like to see a matter of government security. Other presidents have done a whole lot worse. I don't think they should ever have been in jail, or should stay there now."

Mrs. Billy Lomas, Altamonte Springs. "I think they should have served their time like everyone else. Just because they are big men, important people does not mean they should be treated any different from anyone else. If one of us has to go to court and we say we are sorry it doesn't make any difference."

Sarah Yee, Casselberry. "I feel sorry for those men, because I feel they were caught in the middle, doing a job they were told to do. I think a lot of them have learned a lot from it, they have come out on top in spite of the circumstances. I think they — and others — deserve another chance. I think they had done something wrong and were truly sorry wouldn't you want another chance? You have to look at it in a compassionate way." Mr. Republican, "but I vote for the individual, not the party."

Mrs. Betty Ison, 137 Lorman Circle So., Longwood. "These three don't do anything more than Nixon did and he is walking the streets a free man. I hate to see anyone in jail who is not a danger to society."

Mrs. Rose Westoney, 2444 S. Grandview Ave., Sanford. "I feel both ways about it. The other men have already served their sentences, put in their time. Why should these men be allowed out earlier? On the other hand, Richard Nixon served no time at all."

Mrs. Nathan Weisman, 109 E. Airport Blvd., Sanford. "I'm so tired of hearing about Watergate."

A Casselberry woman who asked that her identity not be revealed said she was sorry. "I think you have to draw some kind of line between saying, 'I'm sorry' to that and other offenses. Next we will have to let capital offenders go if they say they are sorry. Nixon should have been in jail with them."

But Not For Another Year

Seminole Ponders Library System Exit

Seminole County will participate for another year in the Orlando Public Library System, the county commissioners decided Tuesday. But commissioners voted to study the possibility of leaving the system after next September.

Manpower Gets 'Go' To Apply For Grant

Seminole County manpower officials got the go-ahead Tuesday from the county commission to apply for a federal grant to a program to reduce youth unemployment in the county.

Commissioners voted unanimously to apply for a $15,738 federal grant to fund the program which will include: — Construction of a comprehensive inventory of all career development, employment, training and related services to youths aged 14 to 21. — Establishment of a youth council to assist in planning the program. — Developing links with public and private governmental and educational institutions serving youth. — Administrative Services

Lobbyist Laws A Complex Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around Congress, everybody is talking about lobbyists, but nobody has yet decided what to do about them. So far, there isn't even a clear rule to determine who they are.

Making that determination is not as simple as it sounds. There's little doubt in the case of a Washington lawyer or a former member of Congress, who earns his pay by trying to influence legislation in behalf of his clients.

But it's more difficult to draw a line in the case of a citizen or a group working on a shoeleather basis to influence Congress in behalf of a cause. And that happens every day, on issues that range from abortion to taxes to a dozen other topics.

This is a big season for lobbying, and for any congressman who complains about the business of influencing Congress.

"It is time for the public interest to prevail over the special interest lobbyists," said President Carter, trying to defend his battered energy program against crippling Senate amendments.

He said the lobbying by oil and gas interests for an end to federal regulation of natural gas prices shows the special interests are trying to block enactment of the entire energy program.

Then there is the gathering battle over the treaty to yield U.S. control of the Panama Canal at the end of this century. Before that one is settled, conservative opposition lobbies may spend more than $750,000 trying to block ratification. They are relying heavily on campaign techniques, using mass mailings, advertising and speechmaking to try to persuade constituents to press their senators for votes against the treaty.

Further, the White House has its own lobbyists, five deployed on Capitol Hill out of a congressional liaison staff that totals 20. The cabinet departments have personnel to work for their legislation.

Still, it can be a difficult matchup for any administration, particularly when a corps of skilled and well-financed advocates goes to work on an issue like natural gas prices.

Congress has been trying, so far without success, to shape legislation that would regulate lobbyists, primarily by requiring full public disclosure of their activities. Such a bill almost passed the last session, but adjournment came before agreement was reached.

However, campaign finance limits and disclosure laws have been eliminated, or at least controlled, what had been a major route to influence in Congress come the well-heeled lobbyist or interest. They can't donate enough money to warrant special treatment.

NATHANIEL CROFT
Nathaniel L. Croft, 74, of 560 Melville Ave., Colquitt, died Tuesday. Born in Sanford, Ga., he lived in Sanford for the past three years, coming here from Panama City. He was a member of the Springfield Baptist Church, Panama City. He was a retired automobile salesman.

MRS. EVA KARNS
Mrs. Eva N. Karns, 85, of 419 Kentucky Ave., Deland, died Tuesday in a Sanford nursing home. Born in Ohio, she moved to Deland in 1924. She was a member of First United Methodist Church, Deland.

Survivors include her husband, Augustus E. Karns, Sanford and William F. Karns, Perry; and three grandsons. Perry Lankford Funeral Home, Deland, is in charge of arrangements.

MRS. MARGIE BRIDGES
Mrs. Margie L. Bridges, 53, of 1907 W. Fourth St., Sanford, died Monday. Born in Wilkes County, Ga., she came to Panama City in 1949. She was employed by McCrory's for 18 years and was a member of Central Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Charles D. Bridges, Sanford; three daughters: Mrs. Jeanie Parker, Sanford and Mrs. Betty Ann Bowman, Lake Mary; Mrs. Linda Burnard, Cherry Point, N.C.; son Tony Bridges, Sanford; father, Clarence Chestnut Sr., Avon Park; two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Bridges, Sanford and Mrs. Barbara McRae, Pittsburg.

Mrs. Betty Ison, 137 Lorman Circle So., Longwood. "These three don't do anything more than Nixon did and he is walking the streets a free man. I hate to see anyone in jail who is not a danger to society."

Mrs. Nathan Weisman, 109 E. Airport Blvd., Sanford. "I'm so tired of hearing about Watergate."

A Casselberry woman who asked that her identity not be revealed said she was sorry. "I think you have to draw some kind of line between saying, 'I'm sorry' to that and other offenses. Next we will have to let capital offenders go if they say they are sorry. Nixon should have been in jail with them."

Orlando Public Library system, which also serves Orlando and Orange and Osceola counties. Commissioned as a trimmed $30,000 from the amount the county would contribute to the system in the course of adopting a budget for the fiscal year that began this week.

Kwiatkowski said he wants to know how many persons in Seminole use the library facilities. "I personally don't feel we'll get the information from the library we want," he said after the meeting.

"We need to see whether we might set up our own library system," Commissioner Kirchoff said. "I think $500,000 is a lot of money to operate two branch libraries." The county's libraries are in Sanford and Seminole Plaza, Casselberry. The county owns all the books in both libraries.

"We'll need to explore three alternatives," said Chairman Williams. "One is to continue with Orlando Public Library system. The third would be the second is for the county to run its own system. The second some other way of providing for the county to run its own BERG.

County Parochial Schools: They're Not All The Same

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Christian oriented schools in Seminole County — although they emphasize many of the same moral, patriotic and academic values — vary much in size, curriculum, facilities, faculty, extracurricular activities and tuition.

Of the 15 Christian schools in the area, all but two are sponsored by individual churches or denominations. The two are Sanford Christian School, which moved this fall from its former quarters at Sanford Airport to the facilities of Sanford Church of Nazarene, and the Central Florida Christian School in Maitland.

The schools range in size from 20 pupils at Sanford Seventh-day Adventist School to 470 at Altamonte Christian School, which is in its seventh year under the sponsorship of Palm Springs Drive Baptist Church. Tuitions range from $200 for Liberty School kindergarten, sponsored by Palmteeth Avenue Baptist Church, Sanford and $350 at All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford to $1,875 at the prestigious Trinity Preparatory School at Goldenrod.

The only boarding school in the county is Adventist-sponsored Forest Lake Academy, which moved to Forest City in 1975 from Orlando. There are 450 students in grades 9-12, and about half of them are boarding students. Tuition and fees run from $1,850 to $1,900 (not including room and board). The school offers vocational subjects as well as college preparatory.

The oldest school is St. Luke's School in Slavia, which was founded by St. Luke's Lutheran Church 30 years ago. It has 200 students in grades kindergarten to 8th. The school uses a self-contained classroom format and offers an intramural and intermural sports program.

Altamonte Christian is in its seventh year and offers music, sports and other extras in its kindergarten to 12th grade program.

Trinity, in its tenth year, has an average enrollment of 300 in grades 6-12 and a faculty of 38. It requires more academic credits to graduate (including Latin) than do public schools. While not all the schools

Covenant Christian School, Howell Branch Road (Emanuel Evangelical Presbyterian Church) and Northside Christian School, Northside Christian of Christ, Altamonte Springs.

While most of the schools are operating with the traditional structured classroom, a few are using more modern techniques. The package school according to a statement by the president of ACE Inc., Donald R. Howard, Ph.D., "offers the pastor a place to start, training to supplement his administrative functions, tools to work with, and assistance in converting his church into a full-time Christian center for a community already under the influence of at least one world planner who are following a trend that is leading America into financial bankruptcy, militant passivism, philosophical humanism, moral relativism and eventual political slavery."

Howard in his brochure on how to start an ACE program in a church, states "Our nation's secular schools are no longer a desirable place for Christian youth to obtain their education." He says this is "a generation without goals."

"The results of teaching children there is no God, no hearer, and no standards are already being felt. For at least 20 years, our nation's graduates have left school with diminishing skills, lack of purpose, and a sense of aimlessness. In the turbulent 1960's this was seen in senseless rebellion against all authority. Today, even this passion has disappeared and a generation without hope is turning to accept side of welfare instead of work, the booklet states.

Although ACE was recently the center of controversy in Kentucky where it was criticized for lack of "accreditation with the state" and for content of curriculum which was considered "unscientific," local schools which have used it praise it highly.

Mrs. Jeanne Lowe, looks at it from several angles — as a member of the board of Covenant Christian School, a classroom monitor there and a parent of three children enrolled in the school. "The program has built-in incentives," she explained, "the students see their achievements recognized on a day to day basis. My children are pleased and excited about ACE." She calls it "most unique — a totally Christian education including God in every aspect of learning in the total life view. It's not just a place where you have Bible reading once a day," she said.

By County Fire Station Site Sought

If you're looking to sell a 1/2-acre parcel and find near Interstate 4 and SR-46 west of Sanford, Seminole County's fire division would like to hear from you.

The county is inviting offers of a parcel of land which will be the eventual home of a new Paola fire station, said Gary Kaiser, county public safety director.

The county commissioners last week authorized the purchase of a new site for the fire station on SR-46 within the industrial park. That adds considerably to our station, which is now in a warehouse at 14 Industrial Park.

"We pay $4,500 a year in rent at the industrial park, and we're nine-tenths of a response time," Kaiser said.

The county won't build a fire station on the site for at least a year, but acquiring the site would enable the fire division to locate a trailer and lean-to in the area and move out of the industrial park.

County Commission Puts Ag Center On 'Back Burner'

The Seminole County Commission may change its mind and not vote to build a 10,500-square-foot agricultural center for which it voted to spend $120,000 in last month's budget deliberations.

"I think we should put it on the back burner right now. We have a year to consider getting involved in this," said Commissioner Henry Kwiatkowski Tuesday when the commission decided not to appoint a committee to select an architect to design the building.

"The county's space needs are still in the air," the commissioner continued, referring to a study of court-house office space which will be completed by county staffers by January.

The county commission is considering purchasing the Roumlit building at Park Avenue and W. 1st Street, Sanford. The commission now rents 5,000 square feet of space on the building's second floor for the county's manpower program.

Purchasing the building would provide an additional 10,000 square feet of space which could be used for an agricultural center, Kwiatkowski said.

Commissioners voted to spend up to $1,000 to hire a structural engineer to examine the structural soundness of the Roumlit building. The Orlando consulting engineering firm of Tilden, Denon and Lobnitz Inc. will be paid $30 an hour up to a maximum of $1,000 to carry out the structural analysis.

Slayer Of Teenager Hunted Since Jan

This week's crime, a murder, comes from the files of the Brevard County Sheriff's Department.

On Saturday, Jan. 19, 1974, around 10 a.m., two Titusville men were hunting on a dirt road east of AIA on North Meritt Island, north of Titusville. They discovered a decomposed body in a drainage ditch seven-tenths of a mile north of beacon No. 42.

The lower part of the body was under four to six inches of water and covered with palmetto fronds. The body was clad in blue jeans and a multi-colored tank top shirt.

Identification was made by the victim's mother by the rings on her finger. Positive identification was made by dental comparison. Cathy Lee Schae, a 17-year-old female, had reported missing since Dec. 15.

On the evening of Dec. 15, Cathy left her home in Port Orange with two girlfriends. They went to the WREK Bar at Daytona Beach. At 2 a.m., they left the bar with a year-old Daytona man and went to a house on Rockledge Drive in Ormond Beach. Sometime between 4 a.m. and 5 a.m., Cathy left the house alone. She was last observed walking south on Ridgewood Avenue at Port Orange at approximately 7:30 a.m. on Dec. 15, 1974.

On the evening of Dec. 15, Sheriff's Splitters 102, Shamrock 933, Hiss 933, Rolling Stones 813, Nomads 4, White 615, Dick Rickson 188, Cathy Alley Cats 514, Hooks & Curves 57, Scatter Pins 57, Pin Pals 4, Makeups 43, Beans 218, Go Getters 111.

Shevin Leads In Funds

The Pu$h For The Governor's Seat

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Shevin collected $235,000 of his war chest during a June testimonial dinner — the most push for campaign contributions among a crowded field of contenders for governor has switched into high gear.

Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin is still in the lead with $449,203 in cash contributions, but St. Petersburg financier Raleigh Greene out-collected Shevin by better than 4-to-1 in the past three months to narrow the gap.

Shevin took in $54,841 in July, August, and September while Greene raised $154,151 to bring his total to $218,026.

Ethics Investigations Prompt Tighter Standards

TALLHASSEE (AP) — As state senators tread lightly into ethics procedures...

Legislative Auditing Committee, has ordered a staff investigation of Levy, citing the sensitive nature of his position as a consumer representative in utility rate hearings.

Levy is that he took Mrs. VanLandingham with him at state expense when he attended utility rate hearings and allegedly was gone longer than that utility rate hearings.

There is a real possibility that Levy will lose his job even if he substantiates his denials of misconduct.

If Levy is guilty of the charges against him or punished even though he is innocent, the issue of the sexual conduct of state officials will be forced into the open.

It is widely assumed that some lawmakers are having affairs with their female aides. What will happen if legislators are accused of trying with their lovers at state expense or on state time?

Are the positions of legislators, who make the laws that Floridians live under, no less sensitive than that of the public counsel?

The Levy case raises one of the most sensitive issues involving the conduct of public officials — their sex lives. legislature will act on a finding of probable violation by a lawmaker. The Senate could expel Poston if it finds him guilty of improper conduct.

Cooks Of The Week

Team Work Goes Into Cooking

By ELDA NICHOLS Herald Correspondent Lena Gleason of Lake Mary, admits she's got a good thing going when her husband, Homer, barbecues.

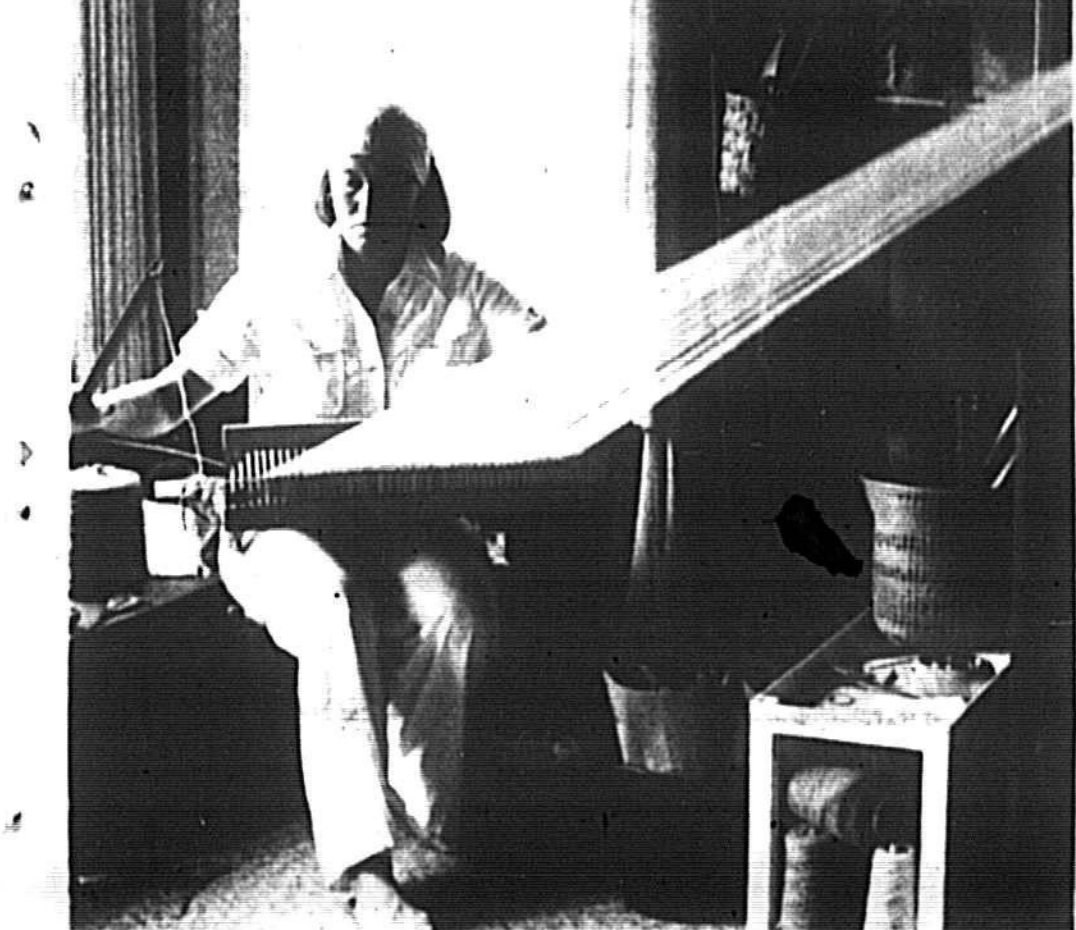

Florida Power Corporation, with their store serving as an office. "We really enjoyed doing that," smiled Lena.

He also suggested a chicken could be placed in the refrigerator and left wrapped, just as it was barbecued, and then later, cut up and warmed in the oven.

cue sauce, then crimp both ends of foil, close to shaft. Use butcher twine and the around one end of the foil, start spit and wind twine around foil so it won't unfold and let the sauce and steam out. Cook about two hours.

Two Area Artists Featured In Creative 'Metamorphosis'

By MARYLIN SHEDDAN Herald Writer Put together 13 artists, each determined to make some kind of impact on the local art scene, each already successful in his or her own right, and each determined to prove that old ideas can be expressed in new ways — and you get "Metamorphosis".

Handicapped Issued Special Plates

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you printed a letter from a person with heart trouble, diabetes, etc. He said he got dirty looks from people because he didn't look handicapped but parked in areas marked "reserved for the handicapped."

Dear Abby

"Is her father going to give her away?" And, "Did you invite him and his new wife to the wedding?"

DEAR STAN: Thanks to you and the others who wrote. Most states provide special plates (free) for the handicapped, but the laws and penalties for violations differ from state to state.

Flying Not What It Was

SEATTLE (AP) - Flying isn't what it used to be. Thirty years ago, Air Canada says, those were the instructions to business on flights from Vancouver, Canada, to Boeing Field here:
1. Wear passengers against throwing cigarettes and papers out the window.
2. Keep the clock wound up in the passenger cabin.
3. Carry a railroad timetable in case the plane is grounded.
4. Keep an eye on passengers when they go to the toilet to be sure they don't mistakenly go out the emergency exit.

Daughters Begin Season With Constitution Study

The Norman deVere Howard Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy began the new year with a meeting Sept. 30 at the home of Mrs. F. E. Roumillat with Mrs. L. D. Hastings as co-hostess. President Mrs. Burch Cornelius presided.
A memorial service for Mrs. W. R. Dyson was conducted by Mrs. Roumillat assisted by the chaplain, Mrs. T. J. Taylor.
During the business session action was taken to promote participation in a poster contest, an objective of studying the true history of the War Between the States and current history of the South. Other goals and activities were planned for the coming year.
The Chapter Registrar, Mrs. M. R. Strickland, awarded a Certificate of Membership to a new member, Mrs. Harold I. Jones, of Altamonte Springs.
The program chairman, Mrs. Troy Ray introduced Mrs. Roumillat who spoke on the U.S. Constitution, giving informative facts and resolutions. She stated that Sept. 17, marked the 100th anniversary of the adoption of the United States Constitution of America.
She emphasized it is a privilege and duty to study the Constitution and participate in activities in commemorating its adoption which gives us the foundation for a free, prosperous, and independent life for every citizen.
Following the meeting the Daughters departed in four groups to take a tour to observe the six historical markers at strategic points in the city of Sanford.

With Corn Flake Crumbs

Southern Favorites Revamped

Ah! The Sunny South. From Florida to Louisiana to the Carolinas, this temperate area of the U.S. has long been known for its unusual mix of lifestyles including unique tastes in food. Classic cornmeal can be found as a staple food item in the deep South, being used in many foods from cornbread to mush. But an even more nutritious and convenient way to achieve a similar texture and corn flavor is to use Corn Flake Crumbs. A simple way to see how these golden crumbs perform in a basic "down home" recipe would be to make Fry Pan Bacon Bread. It's a lot like cornbread, but you bake it in a skillet. Crunchy bits of bacon both in the bread and sprinkled on top give this tasty meal accompaniment a rich and savory flavor. Cut it into wedges and serve it warm with butter. It almost melts in your mouth. Another dish that originated in the South is Key Lime Pie. One version of this Florida-originated dessert can be made extra easy and extra delicious by using a press-in-the-pan Corn Flake Crust.

rich and tender crust adds a special texture contrast to the luscious filling that you whip up with the crust baked. The Key Lime, a particular variety of limes, was originally discovered by the first settlers in the Florida Keys. It was once grown extensively in this area for the purpose of harvesting and marketing the fruit itself. But today, this citrus fruit is used almost exclusively as a source of lime juice, main ingredient in Key Lime Pie. Simply fill the crust with a no-cook filling, chill, and you're ready to serve this never-to-be-forgotten Southern delicacy.

KEY LIME PIE
1 1/2 cups regular all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
one-third cup vegetable oil
2 tablespoons cold water
1/2 pint (1 cup) whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
3 egg yolks
1 can (15 oz.) sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup fresh lime juice (about 5 limes)
or 1/2 cup bottled lime juice
1 drop green food coloring (optional)
1/4 teaspoon grated lime peel (optional)
Lime slices for garnish

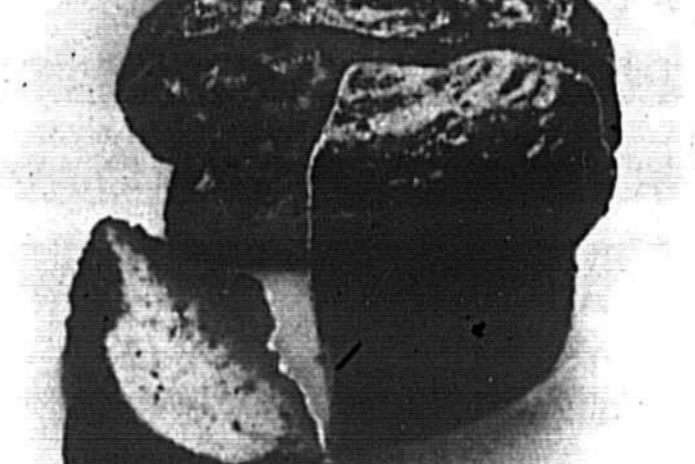

1. In large mixing bowl, stir together Corn Flake Crumbs, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Set aside.
2. Fry bacon in 8 1/2-inch frypan (with oven-safe handle) until crisp. Place bacon on absorbent paper. Reserve drippings.
3. Add vegetable oil to bacon drippings to measure 1/4 cup. Pour into small bowl. Stir in eggs and milk. Add to Crumbs mixture, stirring until combined. Fold in 1/2 of the bacon bits.
4. Spread evenly in the frypan in which the bacon was cooked.
5. Bake in oven at 400 degrees F. about 30 minutes or until golden brown and wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. While still warm, loosen edges and cut into 12 wedges. Yield: 12 servings.

DILLY BREAD—A WINNER Contest Winner Put Dilly Bread On Map

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor Sixteen years ago Mrs. Leona Schuette of Nebraska put Dilly Bread on the map. She won $25,000 for her recipe at the Bake-off and of all the prize-winning recipes, hers has been the most popular. How do we know? Since then we have found many versions of her casserole loaf in cookbooks published all over the country. When recently we talked to Mrs. Schuette on the phone, we asked her how she ever thought of putting cottage cheese in the dough. She said that when she was working on her recipe, she remembered watching her mother bake bread on their farm. For liquid, her mother often used the whey left after she made cottage cheese. Mrs. Schuette, without why at hand, decided to try cottage cheese itself. The other innovation was adding all seed to the bread. How did that happen? Mrs. Schuette recalled that a previous Bake-off contestant had won a prize with an Open Sesame Pie; she was sure that the unusual use of sesame seed had helped make the pie a winner. What interesting herb or spice could go into her bread? Dill seeds! While the loaf was in the oven, a wonderful aroma filled the house. Even without tasting the bread, Mrs. Schuette knew she had hit on something delicious. Now a septagenarian, Leona Schuette thoroughly enjoys her work as a nurse's aid. She still cooks and bakes and enters contests. "I certainly want to make it to Chicago and hope to get to Pineapple," Mrs. Schuette told me. "Chicken" is the national chicken-cooking contest to be held next year in Tampa, Fla., and "Pineapple" is a cooking-with-pineapple

Buon Appetito! Festa Italiana—A Great Discovery

BEEF STEW ON ITALIAN MENU

The Italian calendar is checked for all kinds of occasions for feasts, be they religious, national, days honoring local patron saints, or family events, such as weddings. Singing, costumed parades and traditional foods make these feast days memorable. When Italians move to other lands, they take their feasts with them. Shown here are some of the traditional dishes which are very likely to be served at an Italian holiday dinner. Preparing an authentically flavored Italian meal today is really quite simple and conveniently done with the many jarred and canned specialties in the foodstores. Columbus Day in the United States is a legal holiday in most states and in the homes of Italian-Americans, one of the happiest festas, commemorating the discovery of the Western Hemisphere by Christopher Columbus of Genoa. This event not only changed the political history of the world, but many of its eating habits, for Columbus was able to bring back to Europe and his native land foods which are now Italian favorites. For example, the many varieties of kidney beans, all of American origin, such as the big white cannellini beans which are shown in this photograph. Here these are teamed with European orecchiette (chick peas) in a rich olive oil and wine vinegar sauce and decorated with broad strips of roasted peppers, another treasure which originally came from America. Tomatoes rank high on an Italian menu and here they appear colorfully and flavor-fully in the main dish, Manzo Stufato, which is a savory combination of beef chunks roasted with vegetables. According to recipe researchers at Progress Foods, this dish is traditionally served with fettuccine noodles. Cherry tomatoes and both red and green pepper strips appear on the Italian Tuna Appetizer plate which would make a tasty start for any Festa Italiana. A complete menu for a Columbus Day dinner might include some of these beloved dishes: COLUMBUS DAY MENU Escarole in Chicken Broth Marinated Vegetable Kabobs Italiano Tuna and Fried Peppers Italian Beef Stew Fettuccine Noodles Bean Salad Chianti
