

All Male Jury Is Deliberating Case Of Tallulah's Maid

NEW YORK (AP)—An all-male jury will start deliberating today the case of Tallulah Bankhead's former maid-secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Cronin, charged with forgery and grand larceny in raising checks signed by the actress.

Both sides rested Thursday after a flurry of poetry ranging from Shakespearean quotations to an original poem by Defense Attorney Fred G. Moritt.

Mrs. Cronin specifically is accused, in a 31-count indictment, of raising more than $4,000 worth of checks written by Miss Bankhead. The defendant has admitted signing the checks but contends she was forced to do so to get back money she herself paid out to keep the actress in "marijuana, booze, cocaine and sex."

Miss Bankhead has vehemently denied the allegations out of court and has said the threatened "expose" was a "blackmail attempt" to keep the case from going to trial.

The tempestuous actress took the stand only briefly during the 12-day trial. Early in the hearing, General Sessions Judge Harold A. Stevens blocked defense attempts to discuss purported events in the actress' private life. He said the issue was whether the white-haired Mrs. Cronin had a right to raise her employer's checks.

But defense witnesses, from time to time, injected lurid statements allegedly concerning Miss Bankhead's personal affairs before they were cut short by the court.

"Who steals my purse steals trash; but he that filches from me my good name, robs me of that which not enriches him, and makes me poor indeed."

Moritt said his client was a "humble maid" at the mercy of "the temperamental star, the mighty Miss Bankhead."

He called the case "a dispute between two elderly ladies, one who tries to look young and one who shows her age rather gracefully."

Mrs. Cronin is 59 and Miss Bankhead is 48 years old.

Egyptian Minister Says Turks Should Defend Suez Canal

ROME (AP)—Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah el Din Pasha of Egypt says the main role in defense of the Suez Canal should be on Turkey's frontier with Russia—not in the Canal Zone itself.

Salah el Din, vacationing here while the U. N. Assembly in Paris is suspended for the Christmas holidays, gave his views at a news conference Thursday.

When asked what would happen if the British refuse to leave the Canal Zone, he said: "We will make it impossible for them to stay."

Numerous bloody clashes have occurred in the Canal Zone between British forces and Egyptian civilians and police since Egypt's mid-October decision to scrap her treaties with Britain.

A military spokesman for the Egyptian embassy in Rome amplified the foreign minister's statement on remote defenses. "You don't want to start defending a canal until the enemy reaches the canal," the spokesman said.

Arkansas Planter Introduces Hoes To Afghanistan

By HAROLD K. MILKA

KABUL, Afghanistan—A sandy-haired Arkansas planter has introduced common garden hoes into Afghanistan and they are paying off with a fivefold cotton crop in the rich valleys bordering Soviet Russia's militarized frontier.

William W. Dickinson, who learned his farming on a 3,000-acre family plantation near Little Rock, Ark., is today the hero of Afghan cotton growers, in part because he taught them what a wonderful instrument the hoe is. It is enough back muscle goes into its use.

Here as an advisor on cotton production under the United Nations Food and Agriculture technical assistance program, Dickinson found many faults with Afghan methods of farming, many of them centuries old.

Instead of row cultivation of cotton the Afghan planters broadcast their seed, then waited patiently for nature to produce a crop.

"The Man With a Hoe" Dickinson took one look at these methods, had a hie-tenth build an American-style hoe by hand, then demonstrated its use in a field of growing cotton.

The Afghan planters, no longer waiting for nature, are likely to be reaped, caught on fast. A nearby sugar factory turned out the first hundred hand-wrought hoes and they were put to use.

Dickinson asked row cultivators to accept using cottonseed hoes for fertilizer. The result, the plentiful production of the new crop, has been remarkable.

From the first year Dickinson's message was accepted, the hoes were used in the fields.

Four-fifths of it snatched up by Russian buyers from across the Oxus River frontier. The remainder, taken from a small town, was sent from a small town to India, Japan and the United States.

The hoes of the first year were made of iron and were used in the fields.

Heavy Influx Of Tax Returns From Gamblers Seen

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—The collector of internal revenue today anticipated a heavy influx of 10 per cent tax returns from gamblers, but only the governor of the state will be allowed to know the names of those who file.

Collector John L. Fahs Thursday announced returns on more than $54,000 from six Florida gamblers.

Fahs said, however, that the federal internal revenue code prohibits revenue officials from releasing any information concerning names, amount or source of income or any bookkeeping data of those who file.

Fahs said the single exception to that was the governor, who may request such information in order to enforce state laws or enforce collection of state income taxes.

He said it was specifically provided in the 1951 law requiring gamblers to purchase a $50 occupational tax stamp, that names and addresses of such purchases would be a matter of public record. To date, 283 Floridians have purchased the stamp.

But, Fahs said, "that's as far as it goes. I have to be governed by the law and I don't have the authority to release any information except at the request of the governor."

Geneva, 450 are now dead."

The communique reference to 78 per cent had no relation to the list of 11,529 prisoners announced last week. It concerned only a group of 585 men not listed there.

Aside from hinting at the fate of American prisoners whose names failed to appear on the Red roster, Communist negotiators offered no further accounting of some 50,000 captured soldiers the U. N. says have not been listed.

U. N. negotiators at Panmunjom again accused the Reds of insincerity and stalling the truce talks.

The Communists, in turn, declared that Allied insistence on banning a Red air buildup during an armistice runs the "risk of throwing overboard completely the whole basis" of negotiations.

The Reds again refused to put in writing an oral promise not to build up their air strength during an armistice.

While the war of words raged on without letup—and without apparent decision—there was no indication that the Korean battle front was about to explode into action, even though the 30-day cease-fire line agreement had expired Thursday midnight.

Most observers expected the "twilight war" to continue for the time being at least.

AP Correspondent William C. Barnard quoted Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander: "We will not sacrifice our men needlessly. What is the use of thousands of casualties if it is questionable what good they will do?"

The Allies continued to press for a full accounting of the 50,000 prisoners they said were not listed on the Reds' prisoner roster. Most of the 50,000 were South Koreans.

High authorities in Tokyo have said the 9,198 American prisoners reported by the Reds was approximately the number they expected to survive of some 11,000 American missing in action. American officers have reported the Reds killed 5,000 to 8,000 captured Americans.

However, U. N. negotiators asked the Communists for an accounting of 1,000 U. S. prisoners whose names were broadcast by the Reds, but were not on the Red list.

The communists, in a written report, replied that 571 died of wounds or disease or were killed by U. N. air raids or artillery. The Reds said 153 escaped, three were released and 332 names were being checked. There was no report on the remaining 25.

Crippling Steel Strike Is Put Off Until January 3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The nation will escape a crippling steel strike on New Year's Day—but will have to face the threat again on Jan. 3.

The Wage-Policy Committee of the CIO United Steelworkers voted Thursday to defer a work stoppage for at least three days. That gives the special USW convention in Atlantic City the final say on calling a strike.

The convention also will make the union's formal answer to President Truman's appeal to avert a strike and submit the steel contract dispute to the Wage Stabilization Board. The steel companies already have agreed to the President's proposal.

Mr. Truman, who says the steel must not be a steel strike in view of the national defense emergency, has declared he will use every law on the books to prevent a nation-wide walkout.

If the convention accepts the President's plan, the USW will study arguments of both sides and outline recommendations. These will not be binding.

An entire new contract between the big union and the country's steel companies is at stake. The union's 22 demands are topped by a call for an 18 1/2-cent hourly wage increase. It also wants a guaranteed annual wage, union dues and other concessions for the men in the mills. Phillip Murray, president of the CIO and the USW, says higher living costs and industry profits justify a substantial wage increase.

The 650,000 USW members employed in the industry now average slightly less than $2 an hour. A phalanx of that strike was put off only until the convention at Atlantic City.

Mr. Truman expressed happiness and hope when he heard the news at his independence, Mo., home where he spent the yule holidays. The hope was that there will be no strike at all.

The steel industry has not made a wage offer and Murray has accused company negotiators of bargaining in bad faith. The industry maintains a pay hike would only add to inflationary pressures.

Murray announced the decision to hold off the strike after a two and one-half hour conference with the Wage-Policy committee. The Jan. 3 deadline did not allow the USW time to study the situation and make a recommendation.

Concession Is Made By UN In Korean Talks

Demand Dropped For Air Reconnaissance As Reds Agree On POW Information

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—The United Nations negotiators made their "most important concession" today in a move to break the long Korean truce talks deadlock. And the Communists agreed to divulge the fate of some 50,000 unaccounted for war prisoners.

The U. N. negotiators said they would abandon their demand for aerial reconnaissance and negotiate the question of troop relations if the Reds would accept without change a new compromise plan for policing a truce.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U. N. spokesman, said the decision to withdraw the demand for aerial observation during an armistice was made "with the greatest reluctance."

"This is by far the most important concession the U. N. Command has made," he said.

Rear Adm. H. E. Libby said the Communists "grudgingly" agreed to supply information on all U. N. and South Korean soldiers they have captured. In return, the U. N. Allies will give the Reds further data on the list of Red prisoners given the Communists.

The Communists indicated Saturday that many of the 50,000 prisoners the U. N. says the Reds reported capturing but failed to list on their official prisoner roster were released at the front and their names were not recorded. Most of the 50,000 were South Koreans.

Nuckols told correspondents the U. N. Command decided to take inspection would detect whether the Reds were building up military airmen in North Korea.

Truce negotiators already have agreed in principle on three points of the six-point compromise proposal offered Saturday.

Largest Destroyer Ever Built Ready For Christening

CAMDEN, N. J., (AP)—The largest destroyer ever built by any navy was in final shape for christening today.

The 3,500-ton Norfolk is the first of a new line of destroyer leaders. Built by the New York Shipbuilding Corp. she is scheduled to join the fleet by next August.

When the Norfolk was ordered late in 1948, she was classified as a light cruiser, with the word "killer" added. The official listing was changed during construction. The Norfolk will carry every submarine detecting and destroying device known to American naval Navy classifiers. Light anti-aircraft displacement is only a few tons less than nine ships of the U. S. Navy classifiers as light anti-aircraft cruisers. Her 500-foot length makes her as long as some cruisers and she will be two feet wider.

The Navy has kept its plans for the Norfolk pretty much under wraps, but it is known she will cost 44 million dollars exclusive of the guns and the many special weapons she will carry.

Some of the great weight of this vessel—she is more than twice the weight of average destroyers—has probably gone into additional protection against atomic attack. On this point, the Navy would say only that the design of the Norfolk "incorporated lessons learned at Bikini."

The main difference between the Norfolk and ships of her size now listed as cruisers is the anti-aircraft, anti-submarine devices she has been built to carry.

The ship has been designed to travel at more than 30 knots. She may be manned by about 40 officers and 500 men.

GOVERNOR PAYS
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Sid McMath has announced payment of $9,170 in both federal income taxes and interest.

The governor said Friday he had made full payment of a claim resulting from an investigation of his financial affairs for the past 15 years by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

McMath said two major items were in dispute in the investigation—traveling expenses which he deducted because those expenses were incurred in connection with my duties as governor, and a loan I took on sale of my former home in Hot Springs.

The governor, a close personal and political friend of President Truman, said he was in $132,222 in back taxes, and $66,715 in interest.

Cop Delivers 7 Pound Baby For His Pal's Wife

Instructions Given Over Telephone By Doctor On Methods

by KEITH MILLER
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A husky cop delivered a seven-pound baby for another policeman's wife by following a doctor's instructions relayed by telephone.

Patrolman Clarence Giarrusso, who delivered the baby Friday, told the story this way:

"We got there just as Mrs. Fernandez fainting. I'll tell you the truth I don't know what the hell to do and the other guys started running around like crazy.

"Sole (a patrolman Fred Soule) couldn't think of anything but putting water on the stove to boil like they do in the movies. He put four pans on four burners and then lit the oven and put another pan in there.

"Sedgebeer (Patrolman Jay Sedgebeer) called for a crash truck. There weren't any police ambulances available at that minute—and finally got Mrs. Fernandez's doctor on the line through headquarters.

"The doctor was delivering the baby himself but gave Sedgebeer instructions and Sedgebeer relayed them to me. All the while Soule was trying to get those five pans of water to boil. When we asked the doctor what you are supposed to do with the water he said 'Nothing. Use alcohol!'

"The policemen, somehow, got the seven-pound girl delivered and 'put her down on some rag.' They hit another snag—the baby seemed to stop breathing.

"There was another excited 'what do we do now?' conversation with the doctor. He gave the following instruction, 'hold the baby by the feet and whacked her on the back.'

"They could see her breathe again.

7 Ships Are Sunk On Europe Coast By Big Hurricane

LONDON (AP)—Howling hurricane winds washed mountainside seas over sinking ships along Europe's Atlantic coast today and set off a series of frantic distress calls.

At least seven threatened vessels, including two American freighters, radioed SOS signals. One ship was driven aground. Others were taking water rapidly and in serious danger.

The 6,714-ton U. S. freighter Flying Enterprise, carrying 40 crewmen and 10 passengers out of Hamburg, said she was listing 35 degrees and "taking water." She was wallowing off the southwest tip of England.

Help was standing by the Flying Enterprise and was at hand or on the way to other threatened ships.

Winds as high as 80 miles an hour whipped up the worst Eastern Atlantic storm in many years.

Ports and airports closed in many areas. Coastal towns from Spain to Denmark were battered. Hundreds of small boats were sunk at anchor on the French and English coasts. Tidal floods hit river mouths all along the shore.

Most transatlantic air travel halted after the Shannon River washed over low-lying Shannon International Airport. Authorities said the field would be unusable until Sunday or Monday.

The Queen Mary finally docked at Southampton 78 hours late. Its captain, Harry Gratidge, said the trip was the worst he had made since 1914. "There was no other word for the sea but 'terrific,'" Gratidge said.

The Holland-America liner Noordam stood by the Flying Enterprise part of the night. The New York Coast Guard said the assistance can be carried out in heavy seas.

Worn Out Land Is Restored By New Chemical Process

TRUMAN CAN WIN?
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican congressman said today President Truman could be re-elected—if the election were held now.

Rep. Crawford of Michigan said a reporter he has been sampling the political pulse in his home state. He said Mr. Truman probably could carry Michigan against any Republican mentioned for the GOP nomination.

In 1948 Michigan went Republican.

Crawford said he'd found a good deal of sentiment among Michigan Republicans for a Tilt-McArthur ticket.

A Tilt case himself, Crawford said he thought Mr. Truman had been hurt by recent exposure of irregularities in the nation's tax collection agency, but not enough to keep him from being re-elected.

Hoover Raps Dishonesty In U. S. Bureaus

Former President Insists Nation Will Be Destroyed If Present Evils Last

BOSTON (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today the country has been exposed in the past year to more dishonesty in officials and governmental departments than at any time in history.

And he warned that unless this evil were stamped out "to the last official concern" the United States would "decline and fall like the great republics of the past."

The former President spoke in a transcribed radio forum program, "Reducing the Federal Wasteline," broadcast by the Massachusetts Committee for the Hoover Report.

Singling out for particular censure the scandals in the tax collecting agencies of the government, he said:

"I have no doubt that if the Hoover Commission's recommendations on collection of Internal Revenue and other political appointees had been accepted two and one-half years ago—when they were made—these scandals could not have occurred."

He said the dangers of corruption in tax collection weren't new to the members of the commission which condemned the present method of selecting tax collectors, and added:

"They are mainly selected by political bosses. They are carefully selected with their appointments, and their fitness is pretty much based on the ability to get votes or rewards for doing so."

Hoover contended three things were wrong with the present system: one, obligation to local bosses; two, lack of professional competence and three, absence of standards of integrity.

He pointed out that the Hoover Commission recommended that the posts of collectors of Internal Revenue be filled through the bipartisan Civil Service Commission.

"Then," he continued, "it requires a vigorous examination to determine their competence for each special field. These special appointments are made with a lack of regard for ability to get votes or please some political boss. If such a man is appointed, he would not be fit to do his job."

White Sees Mims Bombing As Act Of Florida's Against Negro Rights

Some Florida party of parties without Communist influence, bent on stemming the rising tide of Negro equality, were held responsible yesterday for the Mims Christmas bomb blast. It was the party of the Advancement of Colored People.

White gave the opinion in an interview with a Herald reporter at the Ernest Hemingway Hotel last night.

Florida people who, saying they were speaking with a quiet and confident voice, the NAACP official said, "This crime was a direct act of a group of white people in the county of the county to suppress Negro rights, based on their hatred and violence."

This short middle-aged Negro who appears to be white, continued, "But of course we know this is their last battle. They are in a Negro suppression which will fail. Many people don't believe Negroes can achieve. Our total aim is to get a Negro elected to the White House in the 1952 election."

"In the highly improbable event if the Democratic nomination came to me I would not accept," Douglas told reporter.

Since Congress advanced in the matter Douglas has traveled extensively in the United States. Asked what grass roots sentiment he found with respect to presidential possibilities, the senator made his "overwhelming" favor (Continued On Page Two)

Douglas Says Ike Is Great Favorite With U. S. Masses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) today called Sen. Frank B. Rowland (D-Fla.) "a representative of the great masses of the American people" for the presidency.

And he predicted "a great many Democrats" would vote for the general if he becomes the Republican presidential nominee.

At the same time Douglas came up with what appeared to be a flat bid to propose in some quarters that he be the Democratic Party's candidate for President in the 1952 election.

"I am in 12 Southern states," Douglas said, "and I have seen 1,000 colored people, and they are not voting for me. They are voting for the NAACP head who has been admitted freely to positions by only one white man, the NAACP head, and they are voting for the NAACP head."

White discounted any Communist link in the Mims case by saying, "The Communist don't have to cause a riot and instigate in America for the American people to do a good enough job in that respect."

"One of the major reasons I came here was to help clear up this frightful situation," he declared. "Why, you have no idea the clam that case has caused in the Voice of America broadcast."

Harry T. Moore was known throughout Asia and the World for his fine work in promoting equal rights for his race in the "Democratic."

Asked whether the rumor that Moore had submitted his resignation from the State NAACP prior to his death, White declared, "He definitely did not! This rumor probably stemmed from the fact that at the last meeting in Dayton, his position was changed because of a lack of funds within the state to carry out his work."

He added that he had requested (Continued On Page Two)

New Tourist Center Is Designed For Low Cost And Easy Expansion

Durable, simple, expandable and economical construction are the purpose behind Sanford's proposed new tourist center as designed by E. J. Moughton, architect of such civic projects as the City Hall, the new baseball stadium and the three FHA projects currently under construction.

"Actually it is designed to be the wing of a larger building," said Moughton.

Janet shuffleboard court facilities.

Mr. Moughton pointed out that one of the finer features of the structure is the large number of glass awning windows which may be tilted so as to remain open in rainy weather or to control ventilation. The four exits are Venetian doors which also feature the up-up glass panels.

The need for the new tourist center arose when the old tourist center in the Chamber of Commerce building was turned into a Navy recreation center upon the rehabilitation of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station.

Two months ago the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce's Tourist Committee went to the City Commission outlining the need for tourist recreation center and made recommendations for a building. The City had property available but there was no money in the budget for a building.

So the Commission accepted the offer of Sanford Jaycees to spearhead a drive to raise funds for the building in the community.

Red Oil Production

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Russia's oil industry announced today it has reached its 1951 production goal three days ahead of the deadline.

In a telegram to Prime Minister Stalin, the oil industry minister reported that the production schedule for crude and refined oil and other products and for lubricating oils had been completed Friday.

There is no hard and fast estimate of Soviet crude oil production in 1951, but Western embassy economic experts believe it is more than 10 million tons and the largest output in Soviet history.

Some Florida party of parties without Communist influence, bent on stemming the rising tide of Negro equality, were held responsible yesterday for the Mims Christmas bomb blast. It was the party of the Advancement of Colored People.

White gave the opinion in an interview with a Herald reporter at the Ernest Hemingway Hotel last night.

Florida people who, saying they were speaking with a quiet and confident voice, the NAACP official said, "This crime was a direct act of a group of white people in the county of the county to suppress Negro rights, based on their hatred and violence."

This short middle-aged Negro who appears to be white, continued, "But of course we know this is their last battle. They are in a Negro suppression which will fail. Many people don't believe Negroes can achieve. Our total aim is to get a Negro elected to the White House in the 1952 election."

"In the highly improbable event if the Democratic nomination came to me I would not accept," Douglas told reporter.

News Conference Is Slowed By Official; Acheson Rules Out Diplomatic Break

By RICHARD K. O'NEAL
LEIDING, Germany (AP)—Four American ambassadors gave U. S. intelligence officers a full account today of their 40 days in the hands of Communist Hungary. But they withheld news of a conference to tell the world about it was delayed until a Washington State Department official could arrive from Frankfurt.

Col. Park Holland, Flying Air Base commander, announced that the public would have to wait a while for the story of how Russian planes forced the fliers down and how they were treated and finally released yesterday after imprisonment of 42,000 in time.

Col. Holland identified the "high State Department official from Washington" as Mr. Klam, who he said had not landed at Rome-Main airport at Frankfurt.

"Our hands are tied until he gets here," the commander said, adding that Klam was the only man with authority to authorize the news conference. Some 100 reporters and photographers were originally scheduled to meet the fliers at 3 P. M. (3 A. M. EST).

Holland expressed confidence the news conference would be held to meet the press this evening.

The fliers were handed over to U. S. authorities at the Aviano-Hungarian base last night at dusk and then flown to their home base here.

The report of the capture of the fliers, which started at dusk this morning, was a pending action to permit them to eat lunch.

Fighting With Subs

The Russians show signs of drifting by one of the mistakes which contributed to the German failure in two wars. That mistake was the failure to exploit the fullest possibilities of the submarine.

World War I was almost won for Germany by the submarine, which all but starved Great Britain out. The greatest testimonial to the military value of the U-boat was Germany's decision to risk American intervention rather than give up undersea warfare. And the Germans' alarming success in ship sinking was achieved by only a moderate number of submarines. Had they built double the number, they might have won the war before American military power had time to become effective.

Strangely enough Hitler, who studied the record of World War I, repeated the mistake of underestimating the submarine. The toll of Allied shipping taken by U-boats, and a few German cruisers such as the Bismarck, almost won the Second World War before the African invasion got well started. Hitler could easily have built many more submarines and saved on less vital items.

Russia apparently has read this history to advantage. "Jane's Fighting Ships," an authoritative annual publication which manages to get access to an extraordinary amount of secret information, has announced that the Soviet Union has 370 submarines; Great Britain has 63 and the United States a hundred. Rumor has it that current Russian construction includes the building of a thousand more. These Russian boats are thought to be equipped with the "schorkel," a special breathing device which greatly prolongs the time a submarine can remain below the surface.

The United States and Great Britain will remember that in World War I a German submarine sank a British liner off the coast of Cape Cod, and in World War II a German U-boat sank shipping in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. A war with Russia might produce some similar experiences; we should at least anticipate the possibility.

Move To End Duplication

Only a few weeks after a Senate subcommittee criticized the Army and the Department of Agriculture for duplicating the work of each other in food inspection and buying, the subcommittee was informed that representatives of the two departments had begun to draw up a plan to remedy the situation. Such quick response to the exposure of a fault is gratifying. Of course what counts is whether a plan is actually made and translated into effective action, whether the duplication is ended and the coordination improved.

It is gratifying that the beginning of a change in reaction. The specific criticism had to do with the purchase of dried eggs and the inspection of eggs and meats. If the Army and the Department of Agriculture can co-operate in such matters, it is not clear why they should not search out other points at which their activities touch or overlap, to see if other gains can be made. If they can, it is not clear why they should not make a similar examination of its points of contact with other government agencies.

By providing the initial impetus for such a move, along these lines, congressional inquiry can have great value. Committees of Congress seldom have any difficulty in finding examples of waste in government, and usually they do not hesitate to publish their findings. The trouble is that usually nothing is done about it, either by Congress or by the agencies directly involved. This time at least, it starts has been made toward action; we hope it is not a mere gesture.

Britain's Black Market

Black market operators in Great Britain, organized along the lines of the bootlegging gangs of our prohibition days, sold over 50,000 tons of illegal meat in 1951. In a nation where austerity has long been the watchword, this is a tremendous figure. It is the best effort of the black marketeers, who are still able to operate and to deprive thousands of people of their rightful rations of meat.

In every country there are those who are willing to take advantage of the need of their fellow citizens. Often they do so as clever and well organized that they persistently escape detection and capture despite defiance of the law. The one force which can combat the black marketeers is the citizenry, if the citizens who are victimized. A black market cannot function without customers. An alert police force can always stop criminal practices if citizens who are victimized insist that they will prosecute them and insist on prosecution of the guilty.

JACKSONVILLE (Special)—Florida's public health picture looked brighter in 1951 than in any year since the state's population came to an estimated 2,200,000 people, with the prospect that the three million mark would be reached in the Fall of 1952 if the present rate of increase continued.

Leaders that the alarm bell ringing were an outbreak of anthrax in Broward County and a substantial increase in the number of cases of whooping cough.

But even the bad side had a bright side. As the year ended, it appeared that prompt control measures would check the anthrax outbreak and more interest was developing in the immunization of whooping cough.

During the summer months weather conditions proved ideal for the creation of vast swarms of mosquitoes. Entomologists were forced reluctantly to admit that sprays containing DDT, once considered a "miraculous killer" where insects are concerned, was losing its effectiveness when used repeatedly. Apparently the few mosquitoes which survived from the chemical attack were breeding a new crop of "DDT resistant" insects. More attention to eliminating breeding areas and less reliance on chemical sprays was advised as an insect control measure.

Meanwhile the State Budget Commission made an additional $80,000 available to the counties to assist in insect control programs. The State Board of Health declared that an emergency existed.

Another new wrinkle in the war against the insect was the discovery of a substance to "trace" the migration of mosquitoes to determine how the insects would travel from their birthplace. The experiment shows that Florida mosquitoes which migrate from the north with mosquitoes anywhere else in the world to spread and distance of dispersal. Information obtained from the experiment will help in devising improved mosquito control programs.

The Florida Legislature liked appropriations for local health services a record through the State Board of Health $100,000, helping the state appropriate for county health units to $500,000. The state fund supplements money from county, federal and other agencies to bring the total spent on local health services to $1,100,000. Most of Florida's 15 counties, Lee, St. Johns and Collier, without this protection.

Four county health departments, Alachua, Duval, Hillsborough and Volusia, were approved by the American Medical Association to offer residency training for qualified physicians seeking to enter the public health field.

Definite plans were made and sufficient funds secured to construct a badly needed laboratory at the building of State Board of Health headquarters in Jacksonville. The funds were provided by the state, federal and local health, and by matching funds provided by the State Improvement Commission out of Federal Hospital and Health Center funds.

The premature demonstration at Jackson Memorial Hospital and in other parts of the state, continued to make progress with a double task of helping to preserve life in babies born too soon and as a training ground for doctors and nurses all over the state. In addition, a new $1.5 million contract "teams" for the care of premature infants received postgraduate instruction in that field.

In the Bureau of Narcotics control, additional funds were made available from the state to increase the staff of enforcement inspectors. National interest in drug addiction among teenagers brought requests for numerous "teams" from the Narcotics Association clubs and other civic groups. The Bureau director reported "no evidence" of addiction among Florida's school children.

In the field of tuberculosis control, it was noted that the death rate from this disease was dropping, particularly among Negroes, where the tuberculosis case and death rates have been higher than among the general population. The mass X-ray program continued, with approximately a half million persons receiving this service from the State Board of Health's mobile X-ray trailers and other available X-ray units.

In the environmental health field, a significant development was the designation of critical defense areas within the state, with the possibility of obtaining needed public health facilities, such as water supplies and sewage disposal systems, and the strong probability of greatly accelerated housing construction. The areas designated include Key West, Broward County, Sanford, Palatka and Pensacola.

New water plants and systems went into operation during the year at Jay, Sneads, Harlow, St. Armand's Key, the Bantley, Roanoke Island Authority, Hawthorne and Lake Alfred.

The outstanding event in sewage treatment is the completion of the $12,000,000 sewage treatment and treatment plant at Tampa, which went into operation as 1951 was fading away.

The following cities or residential areas also had either completed or under construction sewage treatment plants designed to meet standards of the state health agency's Bureau of Sanitary Engineering: Ocala, Volusia, Duval, Alachua, Santa Fe, and Oklawaha.

Another new wrinkle in the war against the insect was the discovery of a substance to "trace" the migration of mosquitoes to determine how the insects would travel from their birthplace. The experiment shows that Florida mosquitoes which migrate from the north with mosquitoes anywhere else in the world to spread and distance of dispersal. Information obtained from the experiment will help in devising improved mosquito control programs.

The Florida Legislature liked appropriations for local health services a record through the State Board of Health $100,000, helping the state appropriate for county health units to $500,000. The state fund supplements money from county, federal and other agencies to bring the total spent on local health services to $1,100,000. Most of Florida's 15 counties, Lee, St. Johns and Collier, without this protection.

Four county health departments, Alachua, Duval, Hillsborough and Volusia, were approved by the American Medical Association to offer residency training for qualified physicians seeking to enter the public health field.

Definite plans were made and sufficient funds secured to construct a badly needed laboratory at the building of State Board of Health headquarters in Jacksonville. The funds were provided by the state, federal and local health, and by matching funds provided by the State Improvement Commission out of Federal Hospital and Health Center funds.

The premature demonstration at Jackson Memorial Hospital and in other parts of the state, continued to make progress with a double task of helping to preserve life in babies born too soon and as a training ground for doctors and nurses all over the state. In addition, a new $1.5 million contract "teams" for the care of premature infants received postgraduate instruction in that field.

In the Bureau of Narcotics control, additional funds were made available from the state to increase the staff of enforcement inspectors. National interest in drug addiction among teenagers brought requests for numerous "teams" from the Narcotics Association clubs and other civic groups. The Bureau director reported "no evidence" of addiction among Florida's school children.

In the field of tuberculosis control, it was noted that the death rate from this disease was dropping, particularly among Negroes, where the tuberculosis case and death rates have been higher than among the general population. The mass X-ray program continued, with approximately a half million persons receiving this service from the State Board of Health's mobile X-ray trailers and other available X-ray units.

In the environmental health field, a significant development was the designation of critical defense areas within the state, with the possibility of obtaining needed public health facilities, such as water supplies and sewage disposal systems, and the strong probability of greatly accelerated housing construction. The areas designated include Key West, Broward County, Sanford, Palatka and Pensacola.

New water plants and systems went into operation during the year at Jay, Sneads, Harlow, St. Armand's Key, the Bantley, Roanoke Island Authority, Hawthorne and Lake Alfred.

The outstanding event in sewage treatment is the completion of the $12,000,000 sewage treatment and treatment plant at Tampa, which went into operation as 1951 was fading away.

The following cities or residential areas also had either completed or under construction sewage treatment plants designed to meet standards of the state health agency's Bureau of Sanitary Engineering: Ocala, Volusia, Duval, Alachua, Santa Fe, and Oklawaha.

SCRAPS OF PAPER

But now they are scraps of paper. They don't matter any longer. The days ahead are the ones that count!
That has always been the keynote of our Christian religion. One of the greatest of the early Christians expressed it for all time when he wrote:
Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark—for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. (St. Paul in Philippians 3:13, 14)
Let the churches of our community help us to make this a truly happy New Year...
That is no seasonal greeting—it is the call to Christian worship and service for this coming year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reds Hit For Planning War Talking Peace

Chinese Accused Of Trying To Squirm Out Of Accounting For 50,000 Victims

By DON RUTH
MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—In final Korean truce talks of 1951, the United Nations today accused the Reds of planning war while negotiating a truce and of trying to squirm out of an agreement to tell what happened to more than 50,000 unaccounted for prisoners of war.

Subcommittee would up the year still deadlocked on the issues of policing an armistice and exchanging prisoners of war. Both groups scheduled meetings in Panmunjom for 11 a. m. Tuesday—New Year's Day (9 p. m. Monday, EST.)

"By your assumed attitude of victor and your insistence on developing a military air capability (airfields) you have served clear notice to the world that what you have in mind is not peace but war," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, U. N. negotiator. "You have cast an ominous shadow over these negotiations."

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Communists refused to provide data on prisoners in the U. N. says were not listed on the official Red roster until the Allies supply further information on prisoners in (Continued on Page 8)

Flemming Says Crisis To Last For 20 Years

Manpower Chief Demands Steps To Provide More Engineers, Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States' defense mobilization program, or something like it, will last for possibly 20 years, Manpower Chief Arthur S. Flemming said today.

If people understood this, he said, more would approve draft deferments for college students and more high school graduates, girls included, would study engineering, which sorely needs trained personnel.

"I have gone on the assumption that we were going to be involved in some kind of defense mobilization program for the next 15 or 20 years," Flemming said in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," a weekly news magazine.

"It seems to me that if we do not approach it on that particular basis, we get into all kinds of difficulties as far as our reasoning is concerned."

Much adverse reaction to college deferment, Flemming said, arose from those who "figured the emergency was going to be with us for two or three years, and that once they believed the armed forces would have no room for draftees upon graduation.

A shortage of engineers is expected to increase and become one of the most serious problems we are up against," Flemming said, adding:

"We haven't got a chance in the world of taking care of the shortage of engineers unless we get women headed in the direction of engineering schools."

American Fliers After Release By Red Hungary

60 Persons, Including Many Floridians, West Point Cadets Are Aboard

OTTOBILE, Calif. (AP)—Searchers believed today they had located the wreckage of a C-47 Air Force plane, missing since Wednesday with eight men aboard.

MIAMI (AP)—A list of the 60 persons aboard the missing C-47 Continental Charter, Inc. plane missing on a flight from Pittsburgh to Tallahassee, Fla., on Wednesday, was released today.

The entire crew of seven was from Miami, including two cop pilots, two copilots and three crew members, other crew members and key West Coast addresses.

Crewmen were Capt. J. Webb, pilot in command; Capt. Philo A. Alby and H. L. Ritzelbach, and Capt. Victor Harris, also aboard.

Passengers included Mrs. Dorothy Herman Bruce, daughter of Mrs. Betty Herman of East Kensington, Ont., and Mrs. Audrey Malcolm, 24, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Thomas of Jackson, N. Y., both of Miami who were on their way to spend New Year's with relatives.

George and Betty Albert, Sgt. David E. Arnold, Laverne Kroll, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lane, Mrs. Joseph H. Penning, Mrs. Eva Woodard, Paula Paulding, all of whom came from Miami, and Mrs. Marie Camp, Capt. Richard J. Smith, 20, of Key West, were on the plane to visit in person.

Books Will Open Wednesday, Jan. 2 For Registration

The Registration Books for Seminole County will be open in the office of the Supervisor in the Chamber of Commerce Building, at Sanford Avenue and First Street Wednesday, Jan. 2 at 9:00 A. M. according to Mrs. Camilla Bruce, supervisor of registration. The books will remain open through Mar. 31.

Mrs. Bruce said that due to the redistricting of the county commissioner districts in Seminole County, it will be necessary for everyone who lives in the newly created District 2, and Precinct No. 15 to get new registration cards. New certificate numbers and precinct will be given on the cards.

New Precinct 15 and District 2 include the area between Lake Monroe and Sixteenth Street enclosed by French Avenue on the west and Mellonville Avenue on the east. Also included in Precinct 15 is the area between Sixteenth Street and Twenty-fifth Street enclosed by French Avenue on the west and Park Avenue on the east. Residents (Continued on Page 8)

Happy New Year Tempered With Prayers That It May Be Peaceful

New Year's Day To Be Observed Here As Stores Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A troubled world greets 1952 to night with hopes and prayers that it truly will be a "Happy New Year" for everyone of its 350 days—and not just Tuesday.

Throughout the world there will be merry celebrations in "ring in the new, ring out the old." But for many, the observance will be one of prayer at traditional church watch night ceremonies.

Infant 1952 will inherit the cold and hot war scars of old 1951, and its leap-year calendar will have a few edited events of its own, particularly the United States' presidential election.

New Yorkers will welcome the New Year tonight at theaters, cabarets, and Times Square, where tens of thousands mass annually to cheer at the stroke of midnight. Others will usher in 1952 at the city's churches.

Prices of many nightclubs have been boosted for tonight's celebration with a $27.50 per person charge at the Hotel Pierre's Colillion Room topping the New York list.

In Philadelphia, the New Year will be celebrated with the glittering annual spectacle Tuesday of 15,000 gaily costumed Mummers on parade.

The sports spotlight will turn on the annual bowl football game between the nation's top college teams.

At Cuxhaven, Germany, hundreds of Germans are planning a New Year's Eve invasion of the still-forbidden island of Heligoland to light fires of triumph celebrating the British decision to stop using Heligoland as a bombing target.

But at the same time, North German coastal residents will light fires of protest near the Knecht and Sandbank, which the British plan to use as a Royal Air Force target in place of Heligoland.

Other celebrations will be held throughout the world. The British will jam London's Piccadilly Circus. The French will flock to their all-night parties, the traditional "revellions."

Behind the Iron Curtain, subdued for Christmas, revels for the New Year were expected. But the merriment will be tempered by the hopes for peace. (Continued on Page 8)

Shriners, Kiwanis Tie In Salvation Army Dime Boards

Shriners and Kiwanis were joined for the first time in a collection for the Salvation Army at the dime boards, Capt. Eva Williams announced today. Each organization collected $308, with the Kiwanis having a slight edge by a few pennies.

The Rotary Club also did very well, she said, in the collections, bringing in $120. Capt. Williams thanked these organizations and other local groups which contribute so much to the success of the campaign.

This included the Business and Professional Women's Club, Linn Club, Daughters of Wesley of the First Methodist Church, Junior Chamber of Commerce, American Legion and Legion Auxiliary and Pilot Club.

Orders for 3600 worth of groceries for needy families were made possible by the campaign. The 70 gifts included toys to children. In addition, the Home Economic Club, Seminole High School contributed boxes of groceries and gifts for two families. (Continued on Page 8)

Attorney General Ratigan Welcomes Lowell Ozier Into Local Rotary Club For Subversives

Lowell Ozier, building contractor, was welcomed into the Rotary Club today as its newest member by President Jack Ratigan at a special dinner at the club's meeting.

Mr. Ratigan also announced that the Rt. Rev. Martin Baum, bishop of South Florida, for many years of Holy Cross Church, and a former president of the Sanford Rotary Club, will be the principal speaker at the program next Monday.

The club devoted the program of its last meeting of the year to honoring a number of young men, led by Charles Morrison and John Smith, with Aud Lang Syne.

Activities introduced by Mr. Baum included Gene Wheeler of Burlington Middlefield, John George Edwards of Fountain Inn, S. C., E. E. Bridges of Marchand City, La., M. J. Dickens of New York City and R. B. Graves of Fresno, Calif.

Reactivation Of Naval Station Is 1951 Major Event

New Construction Up, Bank Deposits By Nearly $2,000,000

Reactivation of the naval station at San Juan, P. R., is the major event of 1951 for the county, according to a report issued today by the Chamber of Commerce.

The report, which is the annual report of the chamber, shows that the county's economy is showing a marked improvement over the past year.

The report also shows that the county's bank deposits have increased by nearly $2,000,000 over the past year.

The chamber also reported that the county's construction program is well advanced, and that the reactivation of the naval station is expected to bring in a large number of new jobs.

House Is Destroyed When Lamp Explodes

In the first big blaze since the Little Paris building opened a month ago, a four room frame house was burned to the ground and two adjoining buildings threatened when a kerosene lamp exploded at the home of Estelle Thomas 1012 Holly Avenue Friday night.

Firemen arrived just in time to prevent extensive damage to neighboring buildings but were unable to save the house owned by Henry Caldwell when the blaze started. Chief Mack Cleveland said the department was unable to save anything of value from the house.

MAYFAIR NOT SOLD
The Mayfair Inn has not been sold, Charles G. Marian, manager, announced today, despite a report previously published in the New York Daily News. "It is absolutely untrue," he said. "The Mayfair is not for sale at any price to anybody."

Two Men Arrested Selling Magazines

Two magazine salesmen were arrested Friday night following complaints of residents as to their actions and aggressive behavior, and one of the men had a fit while in jail, said Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

It was found that the men did not have the necessary City permits for selling, he added. Such permits are obtained from the city manager after he in turn has received a health certificate concerning the applicant from the City physician, following examination.

Violators are liable to a fine of up to $200, 90 days in jail or both, said Chief Williams.

U. S. May Be Building Last Of The Bombers To Be Flown By Man

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be starting to build the last of the man-flown bombers.

When these big planes reach the obsolete age, a new generation of transonic guided missiles and pilotless aircraft are expected to be ready to take over the long range aerial bombardment jobs.

But, airmen familiar with planning for the future, told a reporter today that doesn't mean the current new heavy-weight bombers will be out of date soon.

For one thing, a lot of huge have yet to be worked out of guided missiles — like how to steer them over the horizon and make them blow up the right target.

The Air Force says two heavy jet bomber type projects — the Boeing B-52, the first model of which is completed and undergoing tests, and the Consolidated Vultee B-26, the swept-wing, all-jet successor to the combination model B-24, a prototype model of which is approaching completion. There are several arguments ad-

Negro Awaits Trial On Breaching Charge

James Spence, 41, was held in custody on a charge of breaching a building and entering the city of Sanford on Jan. 1, 1951, according to the city manager.

The man was arrested at the Sanford Market, on the corner of the street, Police Chief Roy Williams reported. He was found with a lock, a screw driver, an open end wrench and a 12 inch bolt. Just inside of the door was a pair of foot locks. On a table was a flash light. Spence's pocket was found a pair of pliers and a toy top pistol.

Time Comes To Claim Tax Exemptions

Home dead, disabled and widows exemptions along with personal property and automobile exemptions must be filed by Jan. 1, 1952, according to the county clerk, J. F. Doolittle, announced today.

Mr. Doolittle noted that under a new state law all new citizens of the state can become official residents of Florida after one year's established residence and they will be officially recognized as residents of the county after six consecutive months of residence.

These living restrictions, run concurrently so that the six months living in the county will be counted toward the 12 months necessary for citizenship in the state, he concluded.
