Teachers Vote To Push Plan On Retirement

Florida Educational Association Also Endorses Single Salary Schedule

Urge Stringent Gambling Laws

I. D. Bailey Of DeFuniak Springs Is Elected President

TAMPA, Mar. 25.—(AP)—The Florida Education Association voted today to authorize its legislative committee to push for passage at the next session of the legislature the teacher retirement plan voted by Governor Cane in 1937.

The FEA also endorsed a single salary schedule for elementary and high school teachers, based upon the same qualifications and experience; urged stricter enforcement on gambling laws; and support of the amendment making it mandatory for the legislature to provide sufficient funds for each school year.

I. D. Bailey of DeFuniak Springs was elected president of the association. Dr. Carleton Washburn of Wintona, Ill., school superintendent and author of the Wintona plan of instruction, told the association that public schools need "well adjusted, emotionally balanced teachers" allowed to live their own lives like other citizens of the country.

Stocks Tumble To Lowest Average In Last Three Years

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—(AP)—The heaviest of a series of March selling sales topped stocks 31 to more than 35 a share yesterday to the lowest average price in three years.

At the close of the worst day the market had experienced since last November, little remained of the many billions of dollars added to quoted values on the two-year upswing running from March, 1935, into March last year.

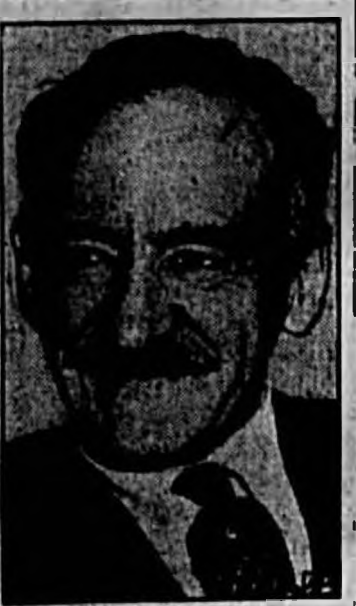

When previous support levels crumbled under the surge of offerings, many margin traders who had survived the autumn decline or had entered the market meanwhile, found themselves in difficulty. Brokers reported margin accounts as being in the red in the industrial groups were bowled over for sharp losses.

Group Organized To Wage War On Cancer

Mr. W. L. Decker, of Sanford, is to be leader in Seminole County of an organization to wage the war on cancer which will begin this week.

April 1 has been set as the date when several of Florida women, under the direction of State Commissioner Mrs. J. R. Ralston White, will begin a fight to make the state cancer-free. They hope to enroll at least 5000 women to be the nucleus of a permanent Women's Field Army whose members will be kept informed of the importance of early diagnosis and treatment of the disease.

French Pretender Awaits Call To Throne

Louis Philippe de Bourbon (above), who claims descent from the lost dauphin, ill-fated son of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette of France, held modest court in New Orleans, La., recently, and said he was awaiting the call of royalists for him to ascend the French throne. He lives in a small apartment in the French residential section of New Orleans.

Watson Releases Roster For State League Ball Club

First Practice Will Begin Tomorrow; Manager Not Here

Peppy Henry Watson of the local Baseball Association today announced a roster of 31 players that have been signed to tryout for posts for the Sanford team during the coming baseball season.

In announcing the roster, Mr. Watson stated that the lights, gas and water facilities for the clubhouse will be installed today and that practice of all members of the roster in the city at present will be launched at the ball park tomorrow.

Manager Lay, who will hold down an infield position on the team has not returned to Sanford from his itinerary in quest of material. Mr. Watson said and added that the full roster of players and the manager will probably not arrive before April 1, when practice sessions will get under way in earnest.

The Sanford representative in the league will open the season at the local park on Sunday afternoon April 17 against the DeLand outfit and baseball officials indicate that everything will be in readiness at the opening call of the umpire.

Mr. Watson reported that the following players had been signed:

Sixteen Persons Die In Norwegian Storm

TRONHOLM, Norway, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Sixteen persons are known to be dead and many others are missing after a gale off North Norway took several fishing boats. A Norwegian Government fishery protection vessel rescued 21 men from the galeing ship which had drifted in an ice pack five days after leaving a port Monday in the north.

Celery Group Votes To Ship 396 Car Quota

Committee Requests Commodities Corporation To Buy 75 Cars Of Crop

Members of the Celery Control Committee at their weekly meeting in Lakeland yesterday recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture shipment of 396 cars of celery to terminal markets during the coming week, J. C. Lettice, secretary-treasurer of the committee, announced today.

The committee also passed a resolution requesting the Surplus Commodities Corporation to purchase 75 cars of the commodity during the ensuing week at $1.00 per crate. The S. C. C. this week allotted for purchase, 100 cars at 90 cents per crate and the Control Committee agreed that a higher price per crate should be paid even though there was a reduction in the number of cars purchased.

The shipping allotment which was almost unanimously agreed upon by members of the committee, represented approximately half of the amount of celery estimated as available for shipment during the week, but was decided upon as all the market could absorb without disastrous effects.

California shipments, according to reports, will continue at 125 cars for another week. It was pointed out, however, that the coming week will probably end celery shipments from that producing area.

At the meeting in Hotel Thelma the prevalent feeling seemed to be that although the market has not yet had time to react to the drastic curtailment of celery shipments during the past week a favorable trend will be expected during the earlier part of the coming week.

Track holdings at principal markets have shown a reduction during the latter part of the week and a further clean-up is expected as the effects of the three-day shipping holiday is felt during the earlier part of next week.

No definite arrangements were made for sending Lovin Raoul to California to contact celery shippers in that area in an effort to promote co-operation in the shipping curtailment which have been enforced upon the industry in this State through the Marketing Agreement.

G. O. Hyde, attorney for the Department of Agriculture, was present at the meeting and explained to the committee members the enforcement of provisions of the act. Mr. Hyde, it was reported, is in Florida investigating two violations of the agreement which have been reported to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Sea Scouts Plan To Conduct Canoe Races

Plans for canoe races on the lake had the building of the Sea Scout second shell boat was discussed at the weekly meeting of the club in their headquarters on the lake shore Thursday night, officials reported today.

During the meeting Skipper Rector Viblen appointed Clifford Bell to the rank of first mate. Bell was formerly skipper of the ship but due to business connections was forced to resign his post and last night was welcomed again into the organization.

The Society also announced that they hoped to have a large number of sail boats on the lake within a short time and reported that plans for a winter regatta were being made.

Those attending the meeting were: Skipper Viblen, Mace Clifford Bell and Walter Ward; William Grogan, Hugh Lecher, Willie Grogan, Hugh Lecher, Joe Criswell, Harry Jamison and Robert King. Non-members attending the meeting were: Vaino Williams, Jacob Richter, and Bill White.

SCORE INJURED AS FISTS FLY IN ANTI-NAZI RIOT

More than a score of persons were injured in a "free-for-all" riot in Philadelphia, Penn., which resulted when an anti-Nazi crowd stormed what police described as a German-American bond meeting, which, it is said, was attended by Wilhelm Kunze, national bund leader. This Philadelphia Inquirer copyright photo shows band members, in uniform, beating off the invaders.

Young Sanford Businessman Is Named As Exalted Ruler

Andrew Carraway, prominent Sanford business man, was elected Exalted Ruler of the local Elks Lodge for the coming year at the election of officers held in conjunction with the Elks' regular meeting in the Lodge Hall last night, retiring secretary, Rev. J. J. Kelleghan, announced today.

Others named to office in the election were: John Zermer, Exalted Lead; Knight; John J. Kelleghan, Exalted Lead; Charles A. Strickland, Exalted Lead; W. J. Toll, treasurer; Edward H. Houck, clerk; and H. H. Coleman, W. R. Dupree, and H. J. Lehman, as trustees.

The retiring Exalted Ruler George Thurston was named as alternate representative to the Grand Lodge convention.

The newly elected officials will be installed at a meeting in the Lodge Hall on April 8. Officials of the New Smyrna Lodge will be in charge of the installation ceremonies.

Mate Is Acquired For Baboon In Zoo

At last a mate has been acquired for "Jerry" Hamadryas Baboon who has whined away five lonely years as a bachelor at the Municipal Zoo.

Mrs. "Jerry" arrived at the Zoo from European headquarters of Louis Rube, Inc. of New York City, dealers in animals, and was the finale for the extensive efforts of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce which for the past several years has tried in vain to secure a mate for the rare animal which is found only in the rocky reaches of Africa.

"Jerry" seems well pleased with his new companion and officials in charge of the Zoo state that he has a much better disposition, having lost his temper and nervousness since her arrival.

The name of this baboon was derived from the Greek mythological wool nymph "hamadryad", although curiously enough the animal bears no resemblance to the nymph.

The Hamadryas Baboons have been worshipped by all the inhabitants of the inner African Steppes, and examples of such worship are found even today in the harems of the Abyssinian natives, who part their hair in imitation of the manner in which it grows on the head of these Baboons.

Cone Will Allow Courts To Decide Legality In Case

Will Take No Action On Britton's Resignation From Board

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Governor Cane said yesterday he would let the courts decide legality of the appointments of Chairman Wendell C. Heaton and C. A. Britton to the state industrial commission.

He will take no action on the resignation of Britton, he said, until the courts rule on an ouster suit recently filed against the two members.

Britton submitted his resignation soon after the suit was started and Heaton predicted this would cause the supreme court action to be withdrawn. Cone's decision to withhold action on the resignation leaves the case in the courts.

The governor said he appointed E. T. Lay of Jacksonville as the representative of industry.

"I said nothing about who Heaton represented," he added. "Since the supreme court case has been started," he said, "I don't know any thing to do except let the court decide it. I have no feeling in the matter, and I will not take sides. I will comply with whatever order the court makes."

Heaton was appointed chairman of the industrial commission in 1935 by Dave Shotts while he was governor. He was reappointed by Cone as chairman after the 1937 legislature amended and broadened the commission law. Heaton is the only major appointee of Shotts to be reappointed by Cone.

Heaton is president of the Florida Federation of Labor, and Britton is vice president. The supreme court action charged they both represented labor, while the industrial commission law provided for one member to represent labor, one to represent employers and one to be neutral.

The supreme court directed Heaton and Britton to answer the ouster suit by March 31, and Heaton said they would do so.

The assessed valuation of rail property in this City is $460,459.54. Mr. Lamson reported and added that amount was apportioned to the debt service and the general fund.

Press Agents Get Terse Warning By Nazis In Austria

American Correspondent Ordered To Leave By Monday

VIENNA, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Nazi rulers of Austria last night warned all foreign newspaper correspondents that they would be expelled from the country if their dispatches displeased German authorities.

As proof that they meant business, George Gedy, veteran correspondent of the New York Times and the London Telegraph and Morning Post, was ordered to leave Austria before Monday night.

The Government press department summoned foreign correspondents and admonished them regarding "atrocity" stories. Foreign correspondents were told they generally had proved to be objective in their dispatches, but that "there have been exceptions."

In a dispatch to the Times last Sunday, Gedy said the first expulsion order apparently was based on his reporting of an incident in which several foreign fliers were retained in the chancellor by a German officer with drawn pistol. The correspondents had gone to the press department for passage to hear Adolf Hitler's speech in Vienna. As they were about to leave they were taken back by a German officer under a threat to shoot.

Later they were released, but they missed Hitler's speech.

FDR Asks Power To Make Public Loans For RFC

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, Senator Glass (D-Va.) said today, has requested that Congress give the Reconstruction Finance Corporation authority to make self-liquidating loans to public bodies but the authority was rescinded by Congress when the PWA was established.

He asked also that the agency be granted additional latitude in financing business and industry. The Emergency Relief Act of 1932 authorized the REC to make self-liquidating loans to public bodies but the authority was rescinded by Congress when the PWA was established.

Since the PWA was no longer empowered to make loans, the RFC proposed to resume them.

Increased Interest Is Shown At Revival

Declaring that there had been an increase in attendance each night since the beginning of the revival services at the First Baptist Church here, Rev. W. P. Brooks pastor of the Church, announced today that the services will continue through next Wednesday night under the direction of Dr. Griffin of Winter Haven.

Rev. Brooks also stated that there will be no services on Saturday night but that services will be held as usual over Sunday with the visiting evangelist preaching at both the morning and evening services.

The local pastor also extended a cordial invitation to the public to attend these services.

Police Investigate Action Of Slain Man

WEST PALM BEACH, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Officers continued investigation today into the activities of a man identified as Charles Edward Davis, fatally shot at Boca Raton, Wednesday by a policeman who said Davis was trying to break into a residence.

Officers said they were trying to connect Davis with a series of robberies in south Florida, among them theft at the Palm Beach home of Philip E. Hill, British financier, Feb. 6.

French Workers Demonstrate In Protest Against Non-Intervention In Conflict

Laboring Classes Plan Mass Meet

Chamberlain Studies Labor Opposition To His Foreign Policy

Insurgent forces, welded into a front 125 miles wide, today rolled over northeastern Spain—a juggernaut aimed to crush the Barcelona government—while French workers massed to protest the "diabolical" pronouncement of the tragic-comedy of non-intervention in Spain.

It seemed the last days of the Spanish Republican regime were being checked off by strafing and bombing planes and artillery, tank and infantry assaults. Ahead of the northern wing of Generalissimo Franco's wall of men and steel lay rich in Catalonia and Barcelona while between the southern wing and the government seaboard lay a neck of land only 40 miles wide.

The French General Confederation of Labor ordered its Paris membership out for a monster demonstration not only to press for an end to French non-intervention in Spain but to protest against Senegal's opposition to Premier Blum and above all the policy of prevention and resistance of employers to collective contracts.

In Britain Premier Chamberlain relented for the week end for study of related problems presented by labor opposition to his "soft touch" foreign policy and the necessity of gaining labor cooperation to speed rearmament.

Rebels, however, and other Nazi leaders were humbling through Greater Germany in a campaign for "ja" votes in the Apr. 10 plebiscite on the Austrian coup.

China's defenders reported victories in several sectors after months of almost uninterrupted defeat.

ROME, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Pasciati Italy last night challenged her neighbors to prove that Premier Benito Mussolini has sent a sign.

Czech Nazi Leader Asks Government For New Elections

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Kondrat Henlein, Nazi leader in Czechoslovakia, last night called on the government for new elections to end a system under which he said his followers were "denied their rights."

He coupled his demand with an assertion that he controlled 1,000,000 votes and 81 seats in the National Chamber of Deputies. This would give his party by far the largest vote in parliament.

The government, through a coalition of Czechs and Slovaks, is supported by 163 of the 800 members in the chamber. The largest government party is the Czech Agrarian party with 68 seats. The recent adherence of two minor German parties to Henlein gave him definite control of 68 seats.

Speaking before a meeting of his adherents, Henlein demanded an end to the existing system under which he said "minority problems are evaded." (There are 3,500,000 Germans among the republic's population of 15,000,000.)

Prior to Henlein's demands, German social democrats withdrew their cabinet member, Dr. Ludwig Czech, minister of health, from the coalition government.

The Germans assured President Edward Benes that although they left the coalition, they would by no means join the government opposition.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored thee: behold, now is the accepted time; behold now is the day of salvation.—2 Cor. 6:2.

The editorial page of Florida's Journalistic Pioneer, the Times-Union is showing signs of coming to life.

It is about this time of year that we invariably envy the ditch digger who always works out of doors.

When about fifty bombers flew over Sanford Friday morning, we couldn't help but breathe a sigh of relief that they were American bombers.

Newer Heights of Prosperity are Predicted—headline. Just to maintain the record of not allowing a single week to go by without such a prediction since Hoover's "just around the corner" bright idea in 1931.

Commenting on our recent paragraph that "People on government relief don't buy celery," a reader of The Herald in another city replies that we are all wrong. "Indeed they do," he writes, "they are the only people who can afford to buy celery any more."

A cartoonist on the Tampa Tribune, George White, enjoys national recognition for his clever farm page cartoons when the Commercial Investment Trust Safety Foundation of New York for the second consecutive year awards him a prize for his safety drawings. Last year he won $250 as a first prize. This year $75 as a second prize. But White is always good whether cartooning safety or anything else.

Much praise is due Mrs. A. M. Phillips and the Woman's Club for their efforts in bringing to Sanford three such splendid concerts as have been enjoyed this winter by the members of the Cooperative Concert Association. Sanford needs such cultural entertainment from time to time, as any city does, and we believe there are enough people in this particular neighborhood who enjoy classical music to make these concerts extremely worthwhile in the future. The good work should go on.

The Senate Finance Committee cut the undistributed profits tax out of the tax revision bill on the pretext of aiding little business. However, most of the little businesses we know do not have any profits to tax, much less any undistributed profits, and did not give a hoot about the undistributed profits tax. What little business would like to see is a modification of the Social Security payroll taxes so that no more revenue is collected through this tax than is distributed to the aged and the unemployed who earned it.

Great Britain, according to Prime Minister Chamberlain, is ready to fight for France and Belgium, but not for Czechoslovakia. It sounds like an open invitation to Hitler to march through Central Europe and do whatever he pleases. However, France might go to the Czechs and then England might have to go to France's aid. That's what happened in 1914. Certainly England had no idea of preserving the national sovereignty of Serbia when that little country was attacked by Austro-Hungary. But England didn't care. When the war started, something bigger than the national sovereignty of Serbia was at stake. Nationalism, however, is a very narrow and selfish view of the world.

The Beauty Of The Bible

This is the four hundredth anniversary of the public placing of the translated Bible in English churches. Many services and various forms of celebration are to be held throughout the year in honor of this occasion.

Lord Sankey recently paid tribute to the "glory and splendor" of the English version of the Scriptures, over the facilities of the British Broadcasting Corporation; and Lionel Curtis, the famous writer and administrator, has recently selected as "the most perfect sentence in English prose", the verse, "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like of these."

In calling attention to this occasion, the Christian Science Monitor says: "Incomparably the most important thing about the Bible is its spiritual inspiration, which has long been theoretically admitted, though its true nature may often have been misunderstood. Its literary grandeur, however, has not always been fully recognized."

"It is only fairly recently that a famous university began to include the Bible in its English Literature syllabus. Yet there is no drama in the English language more tremendous than the book of Job, no story simpler than the Prodigal Son, no elegy lovelier than the lament of David for Jonathan.

"In the forthcoming celebrations the rest of the civilized world will join with Britain in attempting to make appreciation of the Bible at all points as complete as possible."

"I Saw It Happen!"

H. R. Knickerbocker, war correspondent in Europe and Asia; warns America in the current Cosmopolitan that "bully nations gather strength and courage from any sign of their victims' weakness" and that "the only way to keep peace is to make it too dangerous for the would-be aggressor to make war." The secret of how Knickerbocker saw history-making events in Russia, Germany, Austria, and China, he says in his article, is to be there when it happens. How he got there recently in the bombing of Nanking is told as follows:

"Our cars were held up for hours on the road into Nanking by the river of refugees which poured past us on the way out. It was after fifteen hours of driving by night without lights on the Shanghai-Nanking highway, and we were just tired enough to laugh hard when someone said, 'Wherever you find hundreds of thousands of sane people trying to get out of a place and a little bunch of madmen struggling to get in—you know the latter are newspapermen.'"

"We felt happy because of our luck in getting to Nanking without a pass just in time for the dead line on Admiral Hasegawa's ultimatum, his virtual order to all foreigners to leave the city because he was going to bomb it off the map. I was the only journalist. We stayed at the Yangtze Hotel down by the river. We calculated that the Yangtze would be nearer the bombing."

"It certainly was! We went up on the roof at 9:00 o'clock in the morning. At 9:15, thirty Japanese bombers appeared. Fifteen of them flew away from us, and fifteen came up the river toward us. From about five thousand feet they began to dive apparently straight at us. When the first plane loosed its bomb, there were a few seconds of tense uncertainty. The crescendo whine of the bomb, so close that I shivered, climaxed in the explosion. There, two hundred yards away, it hit the Nanking Power Station with a detonation that shook the roof under us and sent billows of debris hundreds of feet into the air."

Knickerbocker first saw Hitler in 1923 in Munich, he says. Daring later to ask Hitler a delicate personal question no reporter had ever put to him, how he got his iron Cross, the correspondent received the disarming reply:

"I was, you know, a dispatch carrier in the war," Hitler said. "Once I was sent across a portion of No Man's Land which we thought unoccupied, but as I passed a trench dugout I heard voices below in French. My own French is very bad, but I pulled out my revolver and fired. I shot an order in German as though I had a squad of soldiers with me. Then I shouted in French, 'Come up and surrender!'"

"First one and then another French soldier came up with hands in the air until finally there were seven. Then I took them back to our lines, turned them over and went back to deliver my message. That is what I got my iron Cross for. But you know, if they had been American or British soldiers, I don't know whether I should have been able to do it."

WHY WOULDN'T it be a good idea for some long-headed and altruistic manufacturer, instead of marring the landscape with signboards, to take over a hundred or so sections of barren public highway, plant them with trees and shrubs, and maintain the planting? A modest sign would give him credit. Instead of billposters he would employ gardeners. Instead of ugliness he would create beauty for the weary roadside pilgrim.—House & Garden.

CANDELIGHT

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

"Across the narrow beach we sit, One little sandpiper and I, And fast I gather bit by bit, The scattered driftwood, bleached and dry. I don't know whether Walter Sexton had a sandpiper for a companion or not but I do know that he gathered driftwood 'bit by bit' and built a strangely appealing haven for beach combers on the edge of the ocean at Vero Beach.

"Driftwood" is framed by coconut palms, swept by the sea. The building is made of driftwood and the whole being looks as if it might have been tossed up out of the ocean and blown by the sea. Mr. Sexton said that he would give a prize to anyone who could name one law of architecture that had not been broken in the building of "Driftwood."

By the front steps yachts from a great pointed boat ground for the lovely clear yellow blooms of a cactus plant. At the end of the house is a little stockade, it wouldn't be a bit surprising to find Orphan's spot, Friday, and the parrot inside, but the out-look was built for sunbathing. There are bedrooms at each end of the house, a balcony overhead, and straight through a wide open court in the center, there is the sea. Saw a sea as it was the day I saw it—green all the way to the skyline, but green in a thousand different shades, jade, emerald, aquamarine, the silver green of a mermaid's seaweed hair in an Arthur Rackham illustration is a fair tale book, the bright bold green of Robin Hood's Doublet, the golden green of the jewel on a lady's finger, and lying all this sea together, the snow white foam of the waves that finally left their blown spume on the sand to gleam there for an instant in iridescent bubbles.

"Driftwood" came out of the sea and still belongs to it. The sea makes a white rime on the copper screens of the windows; the sea blows through the curtains of feed sacks on the stiff breeze that gives a salty tang to the air; the sea whispers to the coconut palms when the trade winds stir the long fronds; the sea has graved its mark on the driftwood tables and chairs in the dining-room; and the dining-room, like Marathon, "looks on the sea."

A bench is made of a piece of driftwood mahogany from the West India Islands. Another of driftwood walnut, and Mr. Sexton said of this one: "It is particularly interesting because the only way driftwood walnut could reach our shores is for it to come down the Mississippi River, through the Gulf of Mexico around Key West and into the Gulf stream and be carried to our place. It could not have the current coming down the eastern shore of the United States."

The main dining table is a great piece of Florida cypress. The chair backs have quaintly carved sail boats and fish. The lights are old ship lanterns of soft weathered brass. The kitchen is part of the dining room and at the back it isn't a kitchen of course it would have to be a galley, and it even has port holes. The front of the dining room is one huge window that frames the sea like a picture.

What sort of man dreamed "Driftwood"? Who is the Walter Sexton? Once he was a little lad, a boy who grew into a man, and the great outdoors, the sea, the Vero Beach life, that Mr. Sexton came there at the age of twenty-five with five hundred dollars and a diploma from an agricultural college and that he had made his fortune. I don't know about these facts but I do know that he is now a business associate of Arthur D. McKee, the steel plant millionaire from Cleveland, and that Mr. Sexton is said to be responsible for much of the beauty of the McKee Jungle Gardens. He is also a citrus grower, a real estate man, and a big game hunter. He has a dairy the with no ordinary cows but some very special kind. A Vero Beach man told me that "Driftwood" was special. He said that they had "A Heron back" and that the day before the party was started in Vero Beach, Mr. Sexton gave a dinner party for his friends, the night I met Walter Sexton at the Florida Hotel, Vero Beach. SOCIAL LIGHTS

A BACKWARD GLANCE at the TOWN'S DOINGS this week shows a TOUCH of the HIGH-BROW and a BIT of the SUAVE. We've been so OVERWHELMED with culture that we had a CONCERT and an ILLUSTRATED LECTURE to conflict. . . but MR DELOACH will lecture on the "Big Four" next month. . . (If you don't know who Mr. DeLoach and the Big Four are then you haven't been reading the paper.) . . . The lovely INFORMAL PARTY given by Mrs. Galloway and Mrs. Wight following the BRANCATO concert provided some of us a HAPPY OPPORTUNITY to see and talk to ROSEMARIE away from the glamour of the FOOTLIGHTS. . . AND TO hear her RAVE about Mrs. Wight's GORGEOUS cyched bedspread EVEN AS YOU OR I. . . RALPH BAGWELL, thought she was AWFUL-Y NICE, and when she came into the room ALL OF A SUDDEN, . . . and without any warning I lost my breath. . . my VOICE. . . and incidentally my POISE. . . The young COLORATURA who is really only a young girl, looked most ENCHANTING. . . and would have even had she not been a SINGER OF REPUTE. . . . But she was certainly RIVALLED by Mrs. Galloway who wore the FILMIST, SOFTEST JUSTY ROSE CHIFFON. . . and Mrs. Bram in her RUSTY-COLORED moire. . . Mrs. Lansley and Mrs. Holly were as gracious and charming as always. . . BUT young PETE Mero had a hard time helping KEEP THE CAT OUT. . . and Genevieve Woodhull and I went in THE BACK DOOR. . . SO, you see, there wasn't a WHOLE LOT OF DOG for the guest. We just CALLED IT HOME. . . I'm wondering. . . if you can keep your eye off Mrs. Wight's GLEAMING white hair, you're better than I am. . . Have you ever found the IDEAL NUN cradled in a TERRESTRIAL OUCH? . . . It's EASY. . . But first you must FIND the OUCH. . . At the concert I had to look two, or maybe three times, at MISS MARGARET DAVIS. . . in her own ensemble of black and dusty pink. . . FROM WHERE I SAT it was easily as attractive as Miss Brancato's gown. . . WE POINT WITH PRIDE to Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith. . . elected Vice-President at Large of the STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS. . . and to Mrs. E. M. Galloway who presided as Parliamentarian at the meeting in PALM BEACH. . . YES, WE POINT with pride to our ladies, so ably representing OUR HOME TOWN about the state. . . and we hope Mrs. Papworth, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Thrasher and the others attending the Federation of Garden Clubs Conference in JACKSONVILLE have had a lovely time. . . When THOSE SIXTY ROMBERGERS WENT BY you'd have thought we'd never seen a plane before. . . I SAW THREE. . . and IMAGINED THE REST. . . I noticed Mary Hurt missed the highly too. . . HOW COME, Mary? . . . It certainly was WORTH HEARING. . . AND I intend to hear the EASTER MUSIC which will be under Mr. Connelly's direction. . . He's much younger than you'd imagine such an accomplished musician to be. . . too. . . The SENIOR PLAY scheduled for next week does sound very PROMISING. . . AND MRS MAXWELL has certainly kept us posted as to its PROGRESS IN PRODUCTION. . . The date is MARCH 30, instead of APRIL. . . Mrs. Maxwell and I made a MISTAKE. . . Oleda Dyson was surely getting FIXED UP for that weekend visit in Gainesville. . . SOMETHING SPECIAL. . . and I hear Marian Estridge has a TOO CUTE visitor. . . Are you liking these BUILDER UPPER SHOES? . . . CONGRATULATES HITLER BERLIN, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish fascist leader, has telegraphed Chancellor Hitler "from the victorious anti-communist front" congratulations on the annexation of Austria. Franco said Anschluss "saved Europe from dire peril and bloodshed." Hitler, it was disclosed today, thanked Franco and expressed hopes for his final victory soon.

Hitler Notifies World That Nazi Flag Stays Put

Der Fuehrer Wildly Cheered In Vote-Getting Campaign

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, Mar. 24.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler last night notified the world that when Germany takes possession of the Nazi flag stays put.

"This I swear, and so do all of us: What we once possess we will never under any circumstances surrender," the Reich Fuehrer passionately assured some 15,000 wildly cheering East Prussians in the opening speech of his plebiscite tour of Greater Germany.

This was the meaning of the swift military occupation of Austria, he said.

He explained many troops were not needed there, as the joyous welcome German soldiers received from Austrians showed.

His compelling reason for ordering such large-scale military action was:

"I wanted to show the world we were acting in deadly earnest."

"I wanted to show the world that this problem admits of no further discussion."

Hitler came here by airplane for the speech, the first in his series of 11 talks to be made prior to the voting on Apr. 19 on the issue of Austria-German union and election of a new Reichstag.

It was his first visit here in two years and he received a tremendous ovation.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goerring, Hitler's right-hand man, meanwhile was sailing down the Danube to speak in Vienna tonight.

Many of his followers in this region, however, saw hopeful significance in the fact he voiced strong faith in direct action in this Baltic city which is midway between the Free City of Danzig and Memel, formerly German but now Lithuanian.

Hitler did not specifically mention Danzig or Memel or the German minority in Czechoslovakia.

But he emphatically declared that when decisions affecting the destinies of German populations were to be made, they would be made by Germany without asking the permission of anyone.

"If the world is deaf to all pleas for justice," he exclaimed, "then the Reich must take justice into its own hands."

"Our task is to help you and God will help you and God has helped us."

His audience roared approval. Justifying his annexation of Austria, Hitler compared the regime of former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg with the counter-reformation in Austria centuries ago.

Just as thousands left that country then, rather than give up their faith, so thousands of Nazis left Schuschnigg's Austria rather than give up their faith in Germany's future.

Again and again, Hitler said, such fugitives "came across the border to me and cried out: 'When will he finally be set free?'"

The Fuehrer said he finally called the Austrian chancellor to Herberstein, for the conference held Feb. 12, and added:

"I told him 'Herr Schuschnigg, you are opposing a country without justification and that country is my country just as much as it is yours.'"

The crowd laughed hysterically when Hitler asserted he offered to run against Schuschnigg in an open Austrian election "and let the people decide."

FREIGHT CARS
"To build one freight car requires materials from 31 different states," Huntley Gilbert of the Pullman Standard Car Co. is quoted in the Railroad Data for Mar. 15. "It provides 1,987 man-hours of employment—approximately a year's work for one man. On Jan. 1, 1937, the Pullman Standard Car Co. had an order unshipped 7,576 freight cars. On Jan. 1, 1938, it had an order unshipped 484 freight cars."

BARONNE, France, Mar. 25.—(AP)—The Marquis de Portago, who has described himself as a cousin of former King Alfonso XIII of Spain, was sentenced to prison yesterday on two charges—falsifying a passport and carrying firearms. The sentences to run concurrently.

COLTER'S HELL and Dixon, and by the following into the heart of the beautiful Yellowstone Park region. In the spring of 1810 he returned to St. Louis and looked up his old commander, Captain Clark. Colter effervesced in his descriptions of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, of the beautiful Tower Falls and of Mount Washburn—scenic wonders never before visited by the white man. Clark politely listened, but his amazing story was too fantastic for the public to accept. Colter's closest friends branded the stories false, believing them the product of his imagination.

The name "Colter's Hell" was given to the district, and little was thought of the matter for years. Then, strange as it seems, the beauties of the section were rediscovered by other explorers, and Colter's claims were justified.

Insurgents Roll On Towards Coast In Relentless Drive

The challenge was issued by Virginia Gayda, editor of the anti-Fascist journal, D'Italia, and carried accusations of heavy French and Russian shipments of arms, men and war supplies to the Loyalists between Jan. 2 and early March.

Political clubs believe the challenge came direct from Il Duce in an effort to frustrate any foreign attempt to intervene in favor of the Loyalists now that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Insurgents are driving upon Calais and Barcelona in what may be the final phase of the nearly 21-months-old war.

Cayda said that not one of the Spanish's emigrants said by "Barcelona's Red representatives" to have transported Italian Legionnaires and materials to Spain and touched at Italian ports, except the steamer Alcantara which last anchored in an Italian port in June, 1937.

Teachers Vote To Push Plan For Retirement

English made his report to a group of teachers who overflowed the municipal auditorium to the bleacher sections temporarily installed on the lawn, and told what his department was doing to improve school facilities.

A change in the method of text book selection, adopted by the 1937 legislature, providing for gradual adoption, has saved more than $750,000, he said, by obviating blanket adoptions.

English explained the work of a building division to help counties with site selection and construction and said his department was making a survey of transportation to attempt to economize on the cost of bus operation.

Carroll's Lauda Legislature M. W. Carothers, of Tallahassee, in his president's address, praised the 1937 legislature for friendly cooperation on school problems and urged educators to agree on a single program to be presented to the next legislature.

The Japanese population of Peking nearly doubled during January, 1938. At the end of that month there were 5,799 Japanese citizens in China, ancient capital who had registered.

The School Child and THE AP

Should it be possible for the 9th grade editors of the "Elin Signal" to have the privilege of saying that their paper is a member of the Associated Press? We are having a challenge with the 9th grade to see which class can put out the best paper, and we want to win.

* Excerpt from a letter received by The Associated Press from Roberta Shearer, news editor of the seventh grade paper of Elin Union Elementary School, Himar, California.

Dear Roberts:

As one of the 1,400 member newspapers of The Associated Press, we thank you for so clearly stating your request. This newspaper is proud to say it belongs to the AP because it believes in the principle on which this unique non-profit, cooperative press association was founded many years ago.

You may not be able to say your school paper is a member of the AP, but you have demonstrated you know what would make any newspaper all its editors would like it to be.

This newspaper, for example, recognizes a public trust. It knows its duty is to report the events of the world accurately, swiftly and fearlessly, so that its readers may have a clear knowledge of what is happening. As a member of the AP, it is able to do exactly that. Perhaps you may have read what the founder of the present-day AP said away back in 1893. It was "The people must be given the facts, free from the slightest bias, leaving to them the business of forming their own opinions."

Throughout the years The Associated Press has provided just such news reports. Long after you are out of the seventh grade — as long as there is freedom in this land of ours — it will continue to report the truth, swiftly and fearlessly. That's why 1,400 newspapers are proud to be members of such a world-wide news gathering organization.

Sincerely yours,

THE SANFORD HERALD

Utility Holding Co. Act Constitutional

Supreme Court Compels Electric Bond And Share To Register Its Securities

Dictatorship Is Charge In Senate

Government's Silver Price Is Cut On Break In Market

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today held constitutional provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act requiring interstate holding companies to register with the Securities Commission and submit financial statements.

The litigation directly involved the Electric Bond and Share Company and 26 subsidiaries. It was picked by the government as a test case and resulted in a government victory.

Meanwhile Senate opponent and proponents of the government reorganization bill accused each other of pursuing a course which might lead to dictatorship.

Senator Walsh, Mass., Democrat, who moved to send the bill back to the committee, said "precisely the same arguments" were being advanced in support of the measure that had been used "to overthrow the democracies of other countries."

Senator Green, R. L. Democrat, countered with the assertion that those who opposed the measure were the "unwitting promoters of dictatorship."

At the treasury Department the price of silver was reduced from 45 to 44 cents per ounce for foreign produced silver. This reduction was the Treasury's first change in its price for foreign silver in nearly two years.

The reduction followed a break of slightly more than a cent in the London silver market because of fears that the United States decision to discontinue purchases of Mexican silver might precipitate the abandonment of its stabilizing influence on world silver prices.

The United States, in retaliation for Mexico's expropriation of American oil properties, has abrogated its Mexican silver purchase agreement, effective Apr. 1, a high administration official disclosed last night.

The agreement has been in effect since Jan. 1 and has been a major factor in maintaining the stability of Mexico's currency system.

Treasury officials declined to discuss the action other than to say a formal announcement probably will be made later. They were understood to feel however that inasmuch as Mexico's expropriation move was accompanied by monetary steps designed to devalue the peso, Mexico had committed a moral violation of the silver agreement.

Officials pointed out that the silver understanding was entered into by the United States strictly on a "favor basis," and that Secretary of State Hull believed it was one of the largest single contributions by this government to stabilization of the administration's "good neighbor" policy.

It was reported last night also that the southern republic's confiscation of the oil properties had caused a suspension of negotiations affecting border lands along the Rio Grande.

Under the silver purchase arrangement which was negotiated last December by Mexican Finance Minister Eduard Suarez, the treasury makes monthly purchases of Mexico's newly mined silver at the New York price of about 44 1/2 cents an ounce. Mexico is paid for the silver in American dollars which are used in making commodity purchases in the United States.

DIPLOMAT DIES

Col. Edward M. House, world war advisor of President Woodrow Wilson and personal envoy to Europe in 1914, -15, and -16, died today at the age of 79 after a long illness.

Edward M. House War Statesman, Is Dead At Age Of 79

Diplomat Was Personal Envoy Of President In War Years

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—(AP)—Col. Edward M. House, internationally known as close advisor to President Woodrow Wilson during the World War era, died today after a long illness. He was 79 years old.

For many years Col. House was active in affairs of the Democratic party. He climaxed this activity when he became personal representative of President Wilson to European governments in 1914, 1915 and 1916.

His widow, daughter, Mrs. Goddon Auchincloss, and son-in-law were with him when he died.

To the end, Col. House treasured the memory of his friendship with Woodrow Wilson.

The sudden lapsing of the extraordinary comradeship of the wartime president and "the little gray man from Texas," which had carried them through national and world crises together, was to Col. House himself a "tragic mystery."

"Big Tree" Story Told In Current Issue Of "Host"

Once again "The Giant Cypress, Florida's Towering Tree" has brought publicity to Seminole County. Appearing in the current issue of The Florida Host, whose circulation covers thousands of guests at leading hotels over the State, as well as being available at many points of information distributed over the nation, is a half page story and cut of the cypress reputed to be the largest in the world.

"Botanists believe it was but a twig 35 centuries ago, when Homer wrote the Iliad. And, like the literary masterpiece, this work of nature has lived on and on and is reputed now to be the largest tree of its kind in the world," the story of the stately tree which daily is attracting numerous visitors read.

"How this magnificent cypress was spared in all the years of Spanish, British, and American colonization is the subject most frequently discussed by its groups of visitors," the story continued.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce was responsible for this valuable bit of publicity, furnishing a cut for use in connection with the story and also facts on which the story was based.

Jobless Census Shows 106,768 L. State Need Work

47 Percent Of Unemployed Lies In Age Bracket 15 To 34

In a detailed report from the nationwide unemployment census conducted last November by Administrator John D. Bizzers, it was indicated that 106,768 persons in the State of Florida registered as either "totally unemployed and wanting work" or "emergency workers" having only partial employment.

As of July 1, 1937 the total population of the State was estimated to be 1,670,000 and those registering in the census represented 6.4 percent of the total population wanting jobs or additional work.

An analysis of the replies to the questions listed on the cards which were filed by 73,434 "totally unemployed" and 33,334 "emergency workers," developed that 25.6 percent of the "totally unemployed" were between the ages of 15 and 24 years of age and 47.8 percent were between the ages of 15 and 34.

It was also found that 39.1 percent of the "totally unemployed" had no other workers in their families. Of males, 46 percent were the only workers in the family and of females, 23.6 percent were the sole means of support for their families.

These figures are from the final tabulations of the census and the totals differ slightly from the preliminary data already released. Subsequent information, it was indicated, will be released for the State covering the occupations and industries of the unemployed and giving data on the partly unemployed.

Both the "totally unemployed" and the "emergency workers" may be counted as unemployed since it includes all persons who registered as working at WPA, NYA, CCC or other emergency work programs.

Of those registering as totally unemployed and wanting work, 43,468 were white persons, 28,101 males and 15,367 females, negroes registering totaled, 23,518, 14,516 males and 15,999 females.

In the survey, 17,965 persons reported that they had no work during the 12 months prior to the census while 5,311 reported having worked one to four weeks and 23,911 reported having worked 5 to 26 weeks during the 12 month period.

Of the 62,174 who listed their income during the 12 month period preceding the census, 61,225 stated that they had received no income and 13,929 reported that they had received $1. to $9 weekly.

All tabulations presented are limited to persons from 15 to 74 years of age who indicated that they were able to work.

These detailed facts from the unemployment census and other tabulations which will be shown in the final state report, provide the basis for deductions which Administrator Bizzers, promised would be most valuable and useful.

"The facts which we are now revealing as to the make-up of the unemployed group are essential as a basis for any reemployment program," Administrator Bizzers stated.

Program On County To Be Given On Radio

Seminole County will be the subject of a special "salute" program to be broadcast over radio station WMBR at Jacksonville, from 8:30 to 9:45 o'clock Tuesday night through the courtesy of the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville and its local affiliate, the Sanford Atlantic National Bank.

Principal speaker during the fifteen-minute program will be T. E. Simpson, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, who will outline Seminole County's outstanding attractions and advantages, particularly stressing the value of Seminole County scenery in the daily diet.

New Rise In Freight Rate Hits Growers

ICC Grants Carriers 5 Percent Rise On Produce Plus Charges On Accessories

A new burden, a 5 percent freight rate hike on all produce shipped via rail, will be placed on the shoulders of already heavily-laden growers in this area beginning today.

According to a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the carriers were granted a rate increase of 5 percent on fruits and vegetables shipped from this State with an additional 10 percent hike in accessory charges, such as demurrage, detention diversion and switching. This, however, was considerably lower than the original 15 percent requested by the carriers.

J. E. Wathen, traffic manager for the American Fruit Growers pointed out that by assuming that the average increase would be 3.1-2 cents per crate at the average load of 365 crates to the car, this would give an average increase of $12.78 per car. By using the rail movement of approximately 9,000 cars from the State for the 1936-37 and the movement from Seminole County of 6,500 cars for the same season, it shows an aggregate increase of $115,000 for the State and $83,000 for Seminole County alone.

As affecting the celery industry, local growers declared that they must pay the increased costs from the small margin of returns they are receiving for their product, and in view of the present market conditions there appeared no chance of the farmers "getting out of the red" this season.

As another effort to stabilize the terminal market prices for the commodity, the Control Committee effected another drastic prorata at their weekly meeting last Friday and are allowing only an approximately 400 cars of celery to be shipped from this State during the week, and as yet little improvement has been noted because of the heavy negotiations although the New York market was reported as slightly stronger today.

J. C. Lettice, secretary of the Control Committee, said today that the Surplus Corporation has agreed to purchase 80 cars of the surplus this week at 95 cents per crate. The Committee had asked the SCC to purchase 75 cars of the surplus at $1.00 per crate.

Regarding the prospects at terminal markets for a price increase, Walter Mewing, sales manager for the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers, declared that although it was too early in the week to make an accurate forecast of a possible market trend, the terminal market price would rise in the event of cooler weather.

With celery a cool-weather vegetable, he pointed out that the (Continued on page five)

Rollins Curator Delivers Lecture On Florida Birds

Board Of Directors Elected By Rotarians For Next Year

Directors for the coming year were elected at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club today at which Edward M. Davis, curator of the Baker Museum at Rollins College, gave an illustrated lecture on birds.

The newly elected directors, as announced by President H. H. Coleman, are Rev. Martin Braun, Roland L. Dean, S. G. Gray, J. E. Ingley, H. J. Lehman, Geo. E. Rollins, and S. J. Shandolfer. President Coleman is an ex-officio member of the board.

Mr. Davis was introduced to the club by Russell Mason, president of the Florida Audubon Society, who said that there are now 150 members of the society in Seminole County.

Declaring that Florida is a reservoir for certain species of birds, Mr. Davis said if such birds are allowed to be destroyed in Florida, they will soon disappear in all parts of the country.

As an illustration of this, he mentioned the egret which he said was once one of the most numerous birds in the State, but by 1896 had disappeared almost altogether as a result of hunters killing them in order to obtain their plumes. Protective legislation, however, has brought about such an increase in their numbers that they are now found in many States along the eastern seaboard and (Continued on page five)

In February of this year Mr. Neel went to Richmond, Va. where an eminent medical specialist diagnosed his case as a malignant throat ailment. The frank statement affected him greatly, and after lying back home the name means employed to take him to the Virginia capital he never was able to attend to business anymore.

The last few weeks of his days were at home except for a brief time at a hospital. He had the care of trained nurses and at his command was practically every other aid and comfort his associates in the Gazette and his army of friends here and afar could render, and his death was not expected.

Pontoon Bridges To Be Built Over Cinca River For Passage Of Artillery

Italy Tells France In Effect To Keep Hands Off Spain

By Associated Press
Generalissimo Franco's forces today occupied Fraga, the "gateway to Catalonia", and advanced northeast along the main highway toward Lerida and Barcelona.

Movement of heavy artillery to help insurgent airmen hammer Lerida's defenses awaited only the construction of pontoon bridges across Cinca River. The principal bridge across the stream was dynamited by retreating government forces. Cavalry units which forded the river made up most of the advance troops.

Spanish government spokesman at Madrid and Barcelona admitted the situation was grave. In Rome, Italy in effect told France to keep her hands off Spain while Italian troops continued to aid the insurgents.

In London the British government received a note from Generalissimo Franco of the insurgents saying his forces would not bomb civilians unless it were necessary. The note expressed sorrow that so many civilians had been killed in Spain's civil war.

Hundreds of Sudeten German mass meetings yesterday defiantly demanded new elections and autonomy for Czechoslovakia's 2,500,000 German minority.

Konrad Henlein, leader of the German front, remained in the background but his lieutenants stirred big crowds in the regions bordering Germany to a high pitch of Nazi enthusiasm.

The biggest meeting was at Reichenberg in northern Bohemia where the Sudeten German deputy Johann Neuwirth warned the Prague government that if it still wobbled to face the facts it must act quickly "before it is too late."

Speaking to an audience of 22,000, he demanded autonomy and immediate elections.

Coast Guard Academy To Hold Examination

Lieut. James G. Michael, vice-president of the Fifth District of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States, said today that the United States Coast Guard will hold a competitive examination on June for appointment of cadets to the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn.

Mr. Michael's announcement followed a letter from Senator Charles O. Andrews in which he advised of the examination and that there may be a number in this vicinity who are interested.

The examination, Mr. Michael pointed out, is open to young men between the ages of 17 and 22 years and the mental requirements are in general those required for admission to an engineering college.

Mr. Michael asks that any local young men who are interested communicate with him or Senator Andrews who promised assistance in any way possible.
