International Violence And The U.N.

Once again the chatter of sub-machine guns has erupted. This time to destroy the international understanding which the XXth Olympic games in Munich was doing so much to create.

It was a further proof that the ancient hatreds which have existed long before the Ottoman Empire slid into history and the emerging State of Israel became a fact, still burn with fanatic fervor.

Although the immediate results of the slaying of two Israelis and the capturing of 13 in the Olympic Village are known as this comment is written the end result is not.

Yet this shocking outbreak of violence is enough in itself to sound alarm bells that should be heard and heeded in every capitol of the world.

At no place should they be more listened to and attended than at the United Nations. For the time is long past when this great hope of mankind to substitute law for war needs to be supported by all nations.

Especially is this true of the Great Powers, where the representatives of both the democratic and communist regimes now have the responsibilities for support and enforcement.

While this Arab attack on the Israelis is the peak of this challenge, there is another event taking place with 17 nations meeting in Washington seeking ways and means to stop hijacking.

Hijacking in itself is an attack on people and property which has revealed the most callous attitude by the hijackers towards the lives of the passengers and crews.

Some of the hijackings have had obvious political motivations, yet this cannot be accepted as the prime cause nor should it be allowed by the international community to be accepted as a forgivable excuse.

At the Washington conference, which will be going on for a full two weeks, the hijacker who must be denied sanctuary by every nation.

The American Secretary likened the hijacker of today to the pirate of yesteryear who was stopped only when "ports of call were denied."

"Piracy in the skies will die the same death when the doors of welcome are universally slammed on hijackers around the world," he asserted.

This is a logical and common sense solution, but it just does not fit into the complexities of international affairs which only too often must make way for the internal and external politics of the nations most concerned.

That is why it must be the United Nations, the only international association where the chance for the handling of such violence as took place in the Olympic Village and is still a hazard to airplane travel exists, that must shoulder the burden.

These sentiments are not at all new. Ever since the UN was born, it has been an instrument more for debate than for action, more for encouraging hopes than realizing them, more given to splintering problems into a multiplicity of goals than driving with single-minded zeal to a realizable target.

The sticking point is and has been that here is an international policeman that carries no club. We are not bold enough or wise enough to suggest any solution.

But a solution must be found and soon. This is an issue that all the leaders of the world cannot duck without placing the future of all at hazard!

Cosmonauts' Earth Orbit For Year?

By FRANK MACOMBER, Military-Aerospace Writer, Copy News Service

U.S. space officials believe the Soviet Union is preparing for a manned mission that would have cosmonauts in earth orbit for a year or more.

A flight of at least 12 months and perhaps more would be required to test man's endurance in space under prolonged weightless conditions before either the United States or Russia could attempt a manned journey to the planets.

Nobody knows how long man can survive in space, even with the best earth-like environment around him.

But Dr. Charles Berry, National Aeronautics and Space Administration director of medical research and for many years known as "the astronauts' doctor," says two-month flights like those scheduled for the last two of the three Skylab missions next year aren't nearly long enough to prove that men could remain in space for 18 months to two years without physical or mental deterioration.

The Russians discussed no plans for a year-long manned flight during their recent talks with U.S. space officials to plan the mid-1975 lineup of American and Soviet spacecraft in earth orbit. But that is not unusual, for they seldom discuss their space plans in detail.

They do, however, discuss a reality, and only then if they are successful.

The chief problems in a year-long flight would be in the storage of enough consumables, such as water, food, power and spaceship "shirt-sleeve atmosphere" to keep the crew healthy and active.

Political Notebook McGovern Wishful Thinker on Taxes

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Sen. George McGovern, in his second try of the year at an economic plan, correctly sensed that Americans want a fairer tax system. But he is no more candid than President Nixon about the real prospect of higher taxes in the years ahead.

Mr. Nixon and top administration officials have been saying since spring that a heavier tax burden is not in sight.

McGovern in New York said, and repeated for strong effect, that "No American who makes income in federal taxes (under McGovern tax reforms) that he does now."

That sounds like an open-ended promise not to institute a general income tax increase, even though McGovern's reforms are designed to pick up an extra $22 billion by closing many tax loopholes.

These bullish assurances about the two major party presidential nominees don't register well when set beside the budget outlook for the next four years. As noted in a recent column, the prospect is that by fiscal 1977 the federal budget will have been enlarged by another $100 billion—to the vicinity of $350 billion annually.

Mr. Nixon and his people want us to believe that economies in government, and prudence in adopting new programs, will keep tax rates steady.

McGovern wants us to think that soaking the rich and chopping at the big defense budget will avoid the pain planned 56-day limit, to provide better tests of man's endurance in space. The first mission is scheduled for 28 days, the last two for 56 days each.

McGovern faults Mr. Nixon for allegedly having a "secret plan" for property tax relief. If he is elected, McGovern says, he will propose allotting $15 billion in federal monies to local school systems, to "assure substantial property tax relief."

The fact is that the federal government can't offer such assurances. Even if the dispensing of U.S. funds to schools should be tied to cuts in the use of the property tax for schools, counties and other local taxing units may simply apply heavy and rising levies to other purposes.

County Commission Actions

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

Proposed goals and purposes for Community growth were presented to the County Commission by Seymour Benson, president of the Seminole County League of Civic Associations. He requested a moratorium on any zoning changes of a substantial nature not be made until after certain stipulations had been verified.

Among those he pointed out were that all zoning applications should include names of all owners of the property; a legal description of property and current zoning of surrounding properties, as well as a statement of actual use proposed for questioned property.

Benson further recommended that a listing of all schools serving the area be listed, which he felt would indicate enrollment and construction would have on schools currently in operation in the area. Police and Fire protection should also be part of available information on applications for zoning as well as an updated analysis of the water supply and sewerage facilities.

Prominent concern should also be placed on the roads in the proposed area, as well as a study of the environmental impact of new construction.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond listened to Benson's entire presentation and as well as the effect that the study of this nature which is much more comprehensive and specific, is and has been under way by County Planner David Farr in concert with the Chairman for some time now. He recommended that Benson get together with Farr and compare their plans of study.

County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond told Pearson that if every county employee were to be released for one hour each to go vote, it would mean a loss of 40 work weeks in that one day and that he did not consider that fiscal responsibility.

Drummond did agree to a part of the stipulation regarding time allowed to be granted to those with special problems such as a working mother who has to deliver children to and from schools or nurseries with specific hours which might cause conflict with working hours.

The school reported heavy enrollment for both day and night classes. Much of the activity was brought about by students enrolling in the new courses available this year in the expanding vocational-technical program at the college. Several new members have been added to the faculty this term and new classrooms are being readied to accommodate more classes.

Referred To State Court Turner Loses Bid

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that Pinellas County state attorney's office from Corporation Services in Winter Park be handed back by next Tuesday.

The ousting is an independent firm that secures registration for corporations to do business outside the state.

Turner's lawyers maintained the records were necessary to conduct business.

Young specified that on return of those materials the company would automatically be ordered to keep the files intact.

Burgess, representing Glenn W. Turner Enterprises, Inc., argued that the matter was before a federal court because his client's civil rights to do business in interstate commerce had been violated.

Asst. State Atty. Ray Markey contended that the issue should be resolved in state court.

Just Doing Civic Duty

By RICH OPEL, Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Gerald Lewis calls it evidence of a corporate conspiracy to take over a town, but a Florida Power Corp. spokesman says there's nothing so it beyond a company doing its civic duty.

What is it? "The Florida Power Papers."

MIAMI (AP) — Gerald Lewis, a Miami Democrat running for the Public Service Commission, called a news conference Tuesday to reveal the two packets of papers.

He said the papers show Florida Power Corp. hired an expensive New York public relations firm, Bozell and Jacobs Inc., in 1961 to secure the defeat of a new charter and out four officials in the central Florida office of Winter Garden.

"This set in motion a chain of events which eventually led to the overthrow of the government of Winter Garden," said Lewis.

Florida Power gave a different version. Without confirming or denying authenticity of the papers, the firm's public information Director said the corporation was active in the 1961 elections, but was guilty of no wrongdoing.

"We felt it was an obligation not to let our service to that community go by default," said William C. Johnson, the firm's director of public information.

4 Viet Vets Favored By High Judge

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Four antiwar veterans jailed 28 days ago on contempt charges were ordered freed on bail Tuesday by a U.S. Supreme Court justice and their attorney says the activists may leave their cells as early as Thursday if the judge who put them behind bars sets a low bond.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas ordered the four members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War released pending appeal of the contempt charges lodged against them by U.S. District Judge David L. Middlebrooks.

The federal judge has sent them to the Leon County Jail twice for refusing to answer questions before a grand jury investigating an alleged VVAW conspiracy to disrupt last month's Republican National Convention with violence.

Six other VVAWs are under indictment on conspiracy charges. All six presently are free on $25,000 bonds, also set by Middlebrooks.

The four VVAWs to be released under Douglas' order are Robert Wayne Beverly, 27, of Austin, Tex.; John Chambers, 24, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Jack Jennings and William Bruce Horton, both 23 and both from Gainesville, Fla. Middlebrooks, reached at his Tallahassee home, said one he received Douglas' ruling he would do what it instructed.

Defense attorneys and VVAW leaders expressed delight with Douglas' decision but were more cautious when asked the vote when might be freed.

"We are going to try to have a hearing before the judge (Middlebrooks) as soon as possible to discuss the background of these men so he will realize they're not a risk to the community and that there is no risk they will flee," said defense attorney Judy Peterson of Gainesville.

"If the judge sets a reasonably low bail we could have them out by Thursday," she said. "If the bail is high, it will take longer."

Mike Oliver, coordinator for the VVAW Defense Committee, said "They might stay in jail a hell of a long time if the bail is set at $25,000," he said.

"We're hoping the judge will realize that these guys have shown time and time again that they're willing to appear in court, want to appear and want the truth to come out," he said.

But even if the four were released on bond, Oliver said, it would make no difference in their refusal to testify to a federal grand jury about the alleged "convention conspiracy."

"Absolutely not," Oliver said. "We're against the entire grand jury system the way it's operated now under this Justice Department."

MIAMI (AP) — William Douglas, a physician who claimed it was "reasonable" for the federal government to force taxpayers to aid Communist nations, has been sentenced to 120 days in jail in addition to five years probation for failing to provide accurate tax data on his federal returns.

Douglas said that while the U.S. government was fighting Communism in Vietnam, it was supplying war materials to Communist countries, and maintained that it was "reasonable" to try to force a taxpayer to contribute money to aid Communism.

Douglas, founder of the political telephone network "Let Freedom Ring," was sentenced in U.S. Dist. Court Tuesday night for improperly filing of income tax forms for 1966 and 1967.

"The company ran newspaper ads, maintained personal contact, let the community know our position," he said.

The two packets appear to be correspondence between Florida Power officials and the New York public relations firm of Bozell and Jacobs Inc., which prepared a "Plan of Action." Assorted other memoranda are included.

In the papers, the plan includes "securing the defeat of the new city charter" and "replacing the incumbent mayor and two of the

After Memorial Services

The Games Must Go On...Brundage

By BOB JOHNSON
Associated Press Sports Editor
MUNICH (AP) — Athletes and officials from the competing nations clogged the Olympic Stadium Wednesday in a memorial service for slain members of the Israeli team led by Avery Brundage, 84-year-old president of the International Olympic Committee, said the terror would not disrupt the 20th Summer Games.

The memorial service which was attended by 80,000 people. And as the mourners filed out of the cavernous stadium, attendants began watering the field in apparent preparation for the resumption of athletic activity following a day of mourning.

However, Brundage's statement made it appear that any Committee meeting would only a formality to endorse a decision made by the IOC executive before the memorial.

One source said IOC members had been canvassed informally before and during the ceremony, and that no IOC meeting would be held.

THE OVERHEAD SMASH

The overhead smash is one of the most thrilling and satisfying strokes in the game (if properly executed). Kramer, Gonzales, and Head all had a devastating overhead smash.

To learn how to hit a consistent overhead smash, you should practice daily for periods of fifteen minutes; this is sufficient time to hit a large quantity of balls without getting too tired. It is best to have your partner initially hit you easy jobs (a lob is a ball hit high in the air). As you successfully smash his lobs, have him challenge you with more difficult lobs.

In figure 1 we see the player incorrectly positioned. His left hand is not raised, and his racket is not completely dropped behind his back.

To hit a proper overhead smash, get sideways to the net and quickly drop the racket behind your back (figure 2). Notice that the player has raised his left hand; this allows him to protect himself from the sun and helps him follow the ball. He finishes the stroke by swinging the racket up to meet the ball in front.

Should you buy an aluminum racket? Or is your old wooden racket good enough? Read Dave Korneich's new putting clinic, "What A Difference A Racket Will Make!" For your free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dave Korneich, c/o this newspaper.

Putt-Putt Tourney Set For Fern Park Course

Professional golf has its famous "World Series" this weekend with the major tourneys being held in Central Florida and they'll act like it when the action begins Saturday morning.

Top single prize in the tourney is a check for $400 which will go to the victorious professional putter. Defending state champion and a fellow who'll be in the field this weekend is Eddie Turner.

Also on the agenda are a $200 pro-am tourney, an amateur am-am, a $200 pro-pro along with the most lucrative crown for area putters, the $300 Central Florida tourney.

Turner will have plenty in the way of competition as he bids to repeat as the state putting champion. Among those who will offer a stiff challenge are Steve Morris, Danny Anders, Charlie Zeni, Gary English, Dale Fair and Warren Morris. Zeni has been having quite a year at the Colonial Drive course and he continues his prowess here he'll be a tough man to catch.

Still another strong contender for state honors is the Florida Tech student, Mike Pfeiffer, who won $4,000 in the recent World Putting Championships at Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

In the team competition several of the top pros have formed tough units in an effort to subdue the opposition. John Rankin has drawn Pfeiffer for their pro-am. Steve and Warren Morris also figure to be up among the top finishers. Perhaps the best team, was paired at least, is the combo of Fair and Turner. English has joined with Joe Marazziti.

Minnesota Reunites NFL's 'Odd Couple'

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 6 (AP) — Fran Tarkenton and Bud Grant, on the surface, would appear to be the National Football League's Odd Couple—Tarkenton, outspoken and daring; Grant, impassive and demanding.

Tarkenton returns to quarterback the Minnesota Vikings and ad boldness to an offense some critics say is conservative. But the Odd Couple could have some surprises in store for their opponents in the 1972 season.

The Vikings rely heavily on Page and his front four associates, tackle Gary Larsen and end Carl Eller and Jim Marshall. But they have a lot of talent in the other positions—including middle linebacker Lonnie Warwick, defensive backs Charlie West and Karl Kasulke.

There's nothing like experience and we have a lot of it on our defensive unit," says Neill Armstrong, defensive coach.

Grant, who has a 46-21-3 five seasons as Vikings' coach, is a 12-game winner. "I don't think he feels he has anything to prove. He wants only to earn his way into this team."

"We won't make a living out of his running," said Grant, who feels Tarkenton's greatest assets are his mobility, his competitiveness and experience of 11 NFL seasons.

That probably means the Vikings have not rewritten their playbook for offense that was criticized frequently last year, even though the Vikings were 11-3, and that was blinged in part for a 20-12 loss to Super Bowl champion Dallas in a first round playoff.

The clinic, set for tomorrow night at 7 p.m. at the Seminole High School Gym will feature all of the assistant coaches as well as head coach Rogers, who will talk on their individual coaching contribution to the Seminole squad.

Captain Rogers will discuss lineup to the audience. Bill Young is the defensive coordinator and his talk on that subject of the Seminole game, others who'll give talks are...

Final Congressional action is pending on the "Golden Age" National Parklands Passport. If approved, it will make the passports free to those age 62 or over.

The passport costing $10, permits entry to all National Park System areas where admission is charged. It does not, however, cover campgrounds and other special services for which a user fee may be charged.

Special use fees include charges for guiding service, cabin rentals, parking, boat launch, picnic tables, lockers, elevators, and camping.

The Parklands Passport may be purchased at all National Park System areas where an entry fee is charged. Applications for the free Golden Age National Parklands Passport must be made in person and require proof of age presented.

As Tiger Scout Metro Playing Waiting Game

By JACK MURPHY
Clyde News Service

First, there is the boredom. All those empty afternoons of sitting in hotel lobbies, walking and window-shopping, seeing movies, waiting for night and the ball games.

Charlie Metro goes to lots of movie matinees and the time passes swiftly if he's watching a western. Charlie likes action and excitement and there's not much of either in his life since he took off his baseball uniform and became a scout.

It's not the job he wants, but it's a way of staying in the big leagues. He works for the Detroit Tigers and his territory ranges from California to Texas. Even though he'd rather be back in uniform, Charlie does not feel he is dominated by his current occupation.

"I am convinced," he says, "I am as valuable to my ball club as a 12-game winner. The information I provide Billy Martin (manager of the Tigers) can be very useful. Scouting shows are important in baseball than it is now. We could learn from the football people."

Metro is one of three Detroit scouts who send weekly reports to general manager Jim Campbell which evaluate the talent in the major leagues. The reports are Jack Tighe and Frank Skaff. On most summer nights, Metro occupies a chair in the press box at the ball parks in Los Angeles, Anaheim or San Diego.

He was sharing the company of Ron Taylor, batting practice pitcher for the Padres, on a recent evening at San Diego Stadium when somebody mentioned the transient nature of baseball. Metro lasted for only 32 games as manager of the Kansas City Royals in 1970, yet he thinks leading a ball club is the best job known to man.

"They say managers are tired to be fired, but I never believed that. You can't take a job in that spirit. Even with a bad ball club, I expected to win every day. I've never met a ball player who didn't think he could hit every pitcher or a pitcher who believed a hitter could beat him."

"That's why I want to manage again, to get back into uniform. I love it; I thrive on the pressure."

That made sense to Ron Taylor, Taylor is on the Padre payroll, but he's not playing in the ball games and he can't convince himself he's run out his string.

"Nobody ever believes he's going to die. Right? Well, a scout should know what he's doing about his career. He knows it will have to end someday, but, somehow, he puts aside his knowledge of either the bride or groom, but never mind the technicalities. Charlie returned to his room, dressed in a blue suit, and joined the wedding party.

MAJOR HOOPLE'S FOOTBALL FORECAST

By MAJOR AMOS H. HOOPLE
Fearless Forecaster

Egad, friends, never in the history of collegiate football have there been so many top-drawer meetings scheduled for opening week. It will happen matter for so early in the season. This week's card is replete with outstanding inter-sectional clashes, interstate, intrastate and conference engagements—um-kump!

Selecting the premier attractions of the day is a well-nigh impossible task even for an experienced prognosticator such as your correspondent picks Arizona to whip Colorado 21-14. However, we should have a go at it. For starters we'll take the Nebraska-UCLA meeting, under the lights in Los Angeles and the Georgia Tech-Tennessee at Ray Atlanta, 28-21. Oregon to make a successful 1972 debut by edging host Missouri, 28-21. Virginia to upset South Carolina, and Temple to make a big splash—Ho-Ho Ho—by hanging a surprising 18-16 defeat on Syracuse.

'Twill indeed be a weekend of surprises. And perhaps the biggest surprise of all will come at Little Rock where the visiting Southern California Trojans are out to narrow victory over the highly-regarded Arkansas Razorbacks. Yes, dear readers, the Trojans will take it by a 24-22 count—bar-rump!

Yanks Take Turn Down AL East's 'Team To Beat'

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
The Baltimore Orioles are the team to beat in the American League East. You can bet on it, cause everyone keeps beating them.

Tuesday night was the New York Yankees' turn with a 7-5 victory that added the Orioles with their fourth defeat in five games and dropped them from a first-place tie down to fourth, which is the equivalent of a disaster area for the three-time AL champs.

Detroit took over sole possession of the top spot with a 4-2 triumph over Cleveland. The Tigers are one-half game and three percentage points ahead of the Boston Red Sox, who rallied to beat Milwaukee 5-3. The Yankees, also one-half game out, trail Boston by one point while Baltimore is one full game and seven points behind the Orioles.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox set up a crucial two-game series against trailing Oakland by beating Minnesota 5-3 while the A's were idle. In the only other game, Kansas City whipped Texas 7-2.

National League scores: Los Angeles 9, Cincinnati 4; Atlanta 5, Houston 3; Chicago 2, New York 0; St. Louis 5, Montreal 3; San Francisco 4, San Diego 3; 11 innings.

The contenders all play one another over the next few days—Detroit at Baltimore and New York at Boston for three games apiece in the East and Oakland at Chicago for a pair in the West.

The Yankees erupted for five runs against old nemesis Dave Rader in the first inning and were never headed, although the Orioles rallied for three runs in the ninth against Sparky Lyle.

The Yankees got two decisive runs in the fifth on doubles by Felipe Alou and Rich McKinney and an RBI single by Kinnear, and joined the wedding party.

Youth Bothering Devine In Rebuilding Of 'Pack'

By MIKE O'BRIEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—At least in paper, the Green Bay Packers have filled many of the holes responsible for their fall to a 4-8-2 record last season, their worst since 1968.

But their apparent improvement may be offset by one of the National Football League's toughest schedules. It includes Dallas, San Francisco, Washington, Cleveland, Oakland and Pittsburgh with Minnesota. All but perennially tough Oakland made the playoffs in 1971.

The rebuilding Packers have one of the NFL's youngest teams, a source of concern to Coach Dan Devine.

Guard Gale Gillingham is the best of an interior line that includes tackles Francis Peay and Dick Himes, center Ken Bowman and guard Bill Laska.

The runners are led by John Brockington, whose 1,109 yards on the ground was a league record for rookies. Dave Hampton toward the end of his rookie season. He completed 78 of 163 passes for 1,210 yards and seven touchdowns, and most of the 17 intercepted came in the first half of the season.

Behind Hunter is rookie Jerry Tagge, a Green Bay native and first round draft choice who led Nebraska to the national collegiate championship. Both are expected to profit under Bart Starr, the former brilliant quarterback who retired as a player this summer but has stayed on to coach the quarterbacks.

Carroll Dale, who still has super-berm moves at age 34, is set on one wide receiver. Sam Dickerson, who spent his rookie year on the taxi squad, rookie Leland Glass and second year man Dave Davis are pushing John Spill for the spot.

Rich McGeorge has good speed for his 235 pounds and could become one of the league's best tight ends. Backup Len "Graveyard" Garrett is an excellent blocker.

Dan Devine

MacArthur Lane, a 220-pounder who rushed for 977 yards with St. Louis two years ago, was obtained for Donny Anderson in an exchange of running backs. Anderson's pass catching ability may be missed, but Lane's blocking could make Brockington and Hampton even more effective.

Devine hopes better conditioning and more experience will improve a pass rush that dumped opposing quarterbacks only 19 times last year. Clarence Williams and Alden Hoche are the defensive ends and Mike McCoy and Bob Brown the tackles.

McCoy, however, is out until mid-September with a broken foot.

The linebacking appears improved, especially with former all-pro Dave Robinson fully recovered from a 1970 Achilles tendon injury.

Top draft choice Willie Buchanon, called by one pro scout the best college cornerback he had ever seen, is key to a secondary burned for 21 touch-down passes last year.

Jim Hill, acquired from San Diego, brings 9.7 speed with free safety, Ken Ellis, Al Matthews, and Charlie Hall are fighting for the other two jobs in the secondary.

Patterson Wants Ali; Not Ready For Frazier

Why has Floyd Patterson insisted on fighting Muhammad Ali in Madison Square Garden on Sept. 20?

Was it for money? He could have earned at least a couple of million dollars fighting Joe Frazier for the world heavyweight title. He was offered the fight but he turned it down, saying, "I'd rather fight Clay. I don't think I'm ready for Frazier yet," indicating that Ali was a softer opponent and giving up a chance at an unprecedented third world heavyweight crown.

The Ali-Patterson bout will be shown locally at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium via closed circuit television.

Patterson is reported to have made over $8 million during his 20-year career. He has retained at least half of that amount and is probably the richest athlete in sports.

He could have fought a lot of meaningless opponents, picking up thousands along the way and eliminating the risk of facing the certainty of retirement that a loss to Ali will bring.

The truth is that he has wanted to fight Ali, above all, for the past five years for a number of reasons.

The 37-year-old two-time world champion wants to prove that Ali did not carry him in their first fight in Las Vegas in 1967, that Ali tried desperately to knock him out but couldn't and to prove that a well-known sportscaster is a rumor monger.

The other reason is that he honestly thinks he can win a third title and is using Ali as the test. He tested himself for Ali by beating Oscar Bonavena, the much younger Buenos Aires ball, proving that he is still capable of beating the top contenders in his division. If he can beat Ali, he is convinced he can beat the title from Frazier.

"Howard Cosell (ABC-TV sportscaster) planted the idea in everyone's minds that Clay carried me," says Patterson who still refuses to call Ali his Muslim name. "Clay knows better."

Patterson doesn't cherish money as much as pride. That's the real reason he is sacrificing millions to fight Ali.

Marcel, a Polish immigrant,

Marcel, a Polish immigrant, kicked eight field goals of 50 yards or more—including a 62-yarder—and 104 consecutive extra points at Hillsdale, Mich., College.

The Packers finished second from the bottom in the NFC in passing last year, but quarterback Scott Hunter showed progress toward the end of his rookie season. He completed 78 of 163 passes for 1,210 yards and seven touchdowns, and most of the 17 intercepted came in the first half of the season.

Behind Hunter is rookie Jerry Tagge, a Green Bay native and first round draft choice who led Nebraska to the national collegiate championship. Tenting Tonight?

It would certainly provide spacious shelter, but that's not exactly the idea here. A ground crew prepares a balloon for a flight at Washington Crossing, N.J., holding the mouth of the 60-foot bag open while propane burner hot air is forced in by the gasoline powered fan in foreground. The inflating burner has a capacity of four million BTUs per hour. Below, as the hot air rushes in the balloon begins to lift off the ground, almost ready to soar skyward.

Priest, Nun Draw Prison Sentences

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The government has dropped conspiracy charges against the Rev. Philip Berrigan and seven others in an alleged plot to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

The move came Tuesday after the imprisoned antiwar priest and a Catholic nun in his peace movement were sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Berrigan's sentence will run concurrently with the six-year term he is now serving at the federal correctional facility at Danbury, Conn., for destroying draft board files in Maryland in 1968.

The defense immediately filed notice of appeal to the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court in Philadelphia, and the nun remained free on bail.

Berrigan and Sister Elizabeth were convicted of exchanging mail in violation of federal prison regulations during the summer of 1970 while Berrigan was at the Lewisburg (Pa.) Federal Penitentiary.

The other defendants in the conspiracy trial, now free of further prosecution were the Revs. Joseph R. Wenderoth and Neil R. McLaughlin, both of Baltimore, Md.; Dr. Eghal Abraham, a Pakistani scholar now living in New York; and Anthony and Mary Cain Sobolik of Harrisburg. He is a former priest, his wife an ex-nun.

Suit Seeks Names Of Nixon's Backers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Common Cause today announced it had filed suit in U.S. District Court here to force public disclosure of the financial backers who contributed more than $10 million to President Nixon's re-election campaign prior to April 7.

The suit was against the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President and its branches, charging them with violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act of 1925. Common Cause is a public-interest group.

John Gardner, chairman of Common Cause and a former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said in a statement that "the President and his advisers did not read the law very carefully in taking the position that they did not have a file of reports or reveal any names prior to April 7."

April 7 was the effective date of the new Federal Election Campaign Act, which requires disclosure of all contributions of more than $100.

U. S. Voices Sorrow In Athletes' Deaths

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government will do all in its power to protect Israeli athletes traveling in America, President Nixon vowed as he expressed sorrow and outrage at the death of 11 Israeli athletes captured by Arab terrorists at the Olympics.

Congressmen, candidates and administration officials joined Nixon in condemning the assault which ended Tuesday with the killing of nine Israelis held hostage in a burning helicopter.

Two other Israeli athletes were shot dead when the Arab commandos invaded the Israeli Olympic compound in Munich early Tuesday.

Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern appealed for new determination to "stop the killing... before we come to believe that violence is the only way of life."

Speaking in Los Angeles, he said, "Once again the shame of violence has stained our times. It is a recurring nightmare which shadows our brief years together as human beings."

The White House issued this statement shortly after Nixon returned to Washington late Tuesday.

"The President has been watching these developments closely throughout the day. He was deeply shocked at the outcome of this tragic incident and offers his heartfelt sympathy to the families of the innocent victims."

In San Francisco earlier, Nixon told newsmen he had telephoned Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir to offer "the total cooperation of the government of the United States."

The most prominent Jew on the U.S. Olympic team, swimmer Mark Spitz who won seven gold medals, said before leaving Munich for his home in California late Tuesday, "As a human being and as a Jew, I am shocked and saddened by the outrageous act in the Olympic Village."

Palestinian Cause Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Palestinian terrorist slayings of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics aroused outrage and revulsion in many parts of the world. Some usually pro-Arab quarters commented that the Palestine liberation cause was being hurt by such violent acts as the Munich attack and the Tel Aviv airport massacre that took 28 lives last June.

President Nixon branded the Munich terrorists "international outlaws of the worst sort who will stop at nothing to accomplish their goals."

Nixon said he felt a sense of deep outrage. Sen. George McGovern, Nixon's Democratic party rival in the November election, said he was "sickened by the outrage."

Israeli newspapers demanded revenge.

U. N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim cabled Premier Golda Meir that "words cannot express the revulsion and shock which all people of good will must feel at this appalling event."

Israel Reels In Tragedy

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

JEHUSALEM (AP)—Israeli newspapers and officials today criticized West German security at the Olympic Games and the papers demanded revenge from the Arab world for the killing of Israeli athletes at Munich.

Premier Golda Meir's cabinet met in emergency session for the second consecutive day.

The nation reeled with shock over the killing of 11 of the 25 members of its Olympic team. Only hours earlier, Mrs. Meir had drunk a cognac toast and the Jewish state had rejoiced over premature reports from Germany that nine Israeli hostages had been rescued.

Later came the terse official statement: "The government of Israel announces in profound sorrow that 11 members of the Israeli Olympic delegation have been murdered by Arab terrorists."

Newscasters' voices cracked as they told the country of the massacre. Radio Israel's usual gay breakfast music was replaced by the funeral march from Beethoven's Eroica Symphony.

B52s Seek To Check Drive Commies Increase Attacks

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. B52 bombers struck North Vietnam today as part of a campaign to check increased attacks in that part of the Central Highlands.

South Vietnamese officers reported two new attacks within seven miles of Pleiku and Kontum.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of two F-4 Crusader jets that collided while refueling over the Gulf of Tonkin but said the pilots were rescued unhurt. The tankers or plane's tail was slightly damaged but it landed safely on the carrier Hancock.

Bad weather from the aftermath of Typhoon Elsie cut the American air war against North Vietnam to about 190 strikes Tuesday, the U.S. Command said.

MAKING FRIENDS is usually no problem for the very young of any species. As demonstrated by Elise Caplan, 4, and the young assistants of organ-grinder Tony Bruno. Bruno was hired to ballyhoo the opening of a new movie in New York, and stole the show as far as some people were concerned.

FOUR ANTIWAR VETERANS jailed 28 days ago on contempt charges are ordered freed on bail by a U.S. Supreme Court justice, and their attorney says the activists may leave their cells as early as Thursday if a low bond is set.

WILLIAM DOUGLASS, a physician who claimed it was "treasonable" for the federal government to force taxpayers to aid Communist nations, is sentenced to 120 days in jail in addition to five years probation for failure to provide adequate tax data on his federal returns.

Shriver Hits Nixon Acts

By LARRY KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Campaigning under the shadow of mass political murder at the Olympic games, Sargent Shriver has told angry Jewish students that sanctions against Arab states might increase terrorist activities rather than decrease them.

Leaping from Boston in early morning to Portland, Maine, to Springfield, Mass., to Albany, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate pressed his attack on President Nixon, saying Nixon presides over an "unethical" administration and has received campaign contributions "payoffs" from the U.S. oil industry.

But hanging over the day was the course of events in Munich. Late in the evening in Albany announcing the death toll to a suddenly stilled and somber party of local Democrats.

Shriver spoke of the "unbridled terror which ravages the world tonight and seemingly all the nights of our lives."

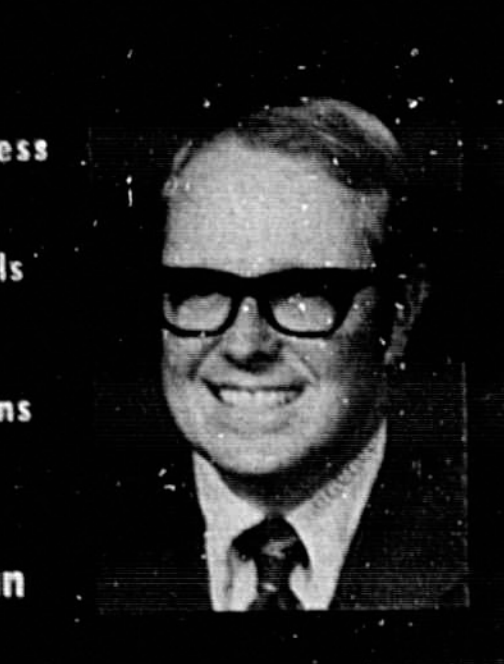

The candidate arrived at the Albany hotel to spend the night and found 150 Jewish students from nearby New York State University camped on his doorstep demanding that he address them.

They wanted commitments from the McGovern-Shriver campaign on an end to Arab terrorism.

He was asked by the students to commit himself and the campaign to economic or military sanctions against Arab states which may harbor terrorists. He gave this reply: "I would not be opposed to such sanctions if it can be shown to me they would be effective. I'm afraid that kind of sanction sometimes increases terror rather than decreases it."

Also Courts Space Workers McGovern Woos Jews

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. George McGovern goes before potential voters today, promising his presidency would not be the end of freedom for Israel nor the elimination of jobs for aerospace workers.

And, in an interview with a Seattle television station taped Tuesday for release today, McGovern said "any laboring man or woman who supports Richard Nixon ought to have his head examined. These people have gone through the mill under the Nixon high-interest, low-employment policies."

The South Dakota Democrat, who said last week in New York that he doesn't believe there is such a thing as the "Jewish vote," softened that stance slightly in an appearance before the Southern California Board of Rabbis. He said today he doesn't believe in a "monolithic Jewish vote."

But the Democratic presidential hopeful went after Jewish voters just the same, asking the rabbis "to judge me on the basis of all my actions over my 15 years of public service, and not on the basis of the Jewish position says—or prints—or whispers."

In a speech for the rabbis, McGovern reiterated his oft-stated intention of militantly supporting Israel if elected. President Nixon, McGovern asserted, is interested in helping Israel only until the Soviet Union is out of the Mideast.

McGovern is generally believed to be in trouble this year among Jewish voters who usually support the Democratic candidate.

McGovern said his proposed heavy cut in the defense budget, which is the cause for much of the Jewish opposition to him, would nevertheless "increase the effectiveness of our presence in the Mediterranean."

But the Democratic presidential candidate pressed his attack on President Nixon, saying Nixon presides over an "unethical" administration and has received campaign contributions "payoffs" from the U.S. oil industry.

But hanging over the day was the course of events in Munich. Late in the evening in Albany announcing the death toll to a suddenly stilled and somber party of local Democrats.

David To Sea, Julie To Capital

MAYPORT NAVAL STATION, Fla. (AP)—Here today and there on the dock at Mayport Naval Station young couples ching together in final goodbyes before the guided missile cruiser USS Albany put out to sea Tuesday afternoon.

Julie and Lt. J.G. David Eisenhower weren't among them.

President Nixon's daughter and her husband said their farewells privately.

Eisenhower went on duty early as officer of the day as the ship with its 1,000 men prepared to depart for its regular six months duty with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

After that, it is scheduled for an overhaul in Boston Navy Yard, lasting about eight months.

The cruiser, distinctive in appearance with its tall control island and rockets mounted at the bow, stern and sides, saw its home port changed from Mayport to Boston over the weekend to allow dependents to collect travel allowances.

A moving van loaded the couple's personal possessions at the plush garage apartment at 227 Beach Ave., just off the ocean in Atlantic Beach, where the Eisenhowers lived since last August.

The couple, guarded constantly by Secret Service agents, made two public appearances during the year in the Jacksonville area.

'Drug Bust' Defendants Get Probation

By MARION BETHEA
Justice tempered with mercy... phrases given only lip service by some. Not so with Circuit Judge Dominick Salvi, who Tuesday placed two of the defendants in the December "drug bust" shoot-out at K-Mart shopping center on probation.

Eddie Sanders, who gave a poignant plea for clemency, was placed on 18 months probation by Judge Salvi, who withheld adjudication of guilt and imposition of sentence. Sanders, 24, was also ordered to pay court costs and the fee of his court appointed attorney, Gerald Rutberg. Sanders could have received the maximum sentence of 20 years in prison. Sanders was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury the week of April 17 of the offenses of a criminal offender having a firearm and aggravated assault. He was convicted of the crime of attempted robbery.

Rutberg told the court Sanders is a "showcase case" of a probation prospect, and that he wished he had "200 persons like Sanders. I'm proud of him," Rutberg said, and went on to detail that the defendant had been released on recognizance prior to trial, immediately began employment until the trial. Sanders was incarcerated a few months and then again released. Rutberg emphasized Sanders was a rare example of the court system being good for an individual, and that his conduct has been exemplary.

"If Sanders can't make probation," Rutberg contended, "we ought not to have probation."

Sanders admitted his errors, citing as a mitigating circumstance a lack of education with eight years of schooling. Now, he said, he is enrolled at an adult high school program, married, and starting from the bottom to become an electrician.

Sanders told the court that he wanted to be self-supporting and not sent to prison to become a burden on the taxpayer, who he said would "support me like an animal in a cage by paying me to watch over me."

Judge Salvi told Sanders he had spent a great deal of time on his case and that he was the court's responsibility, "I want you to remember me," Judge Salvi stressed, "and this is my bullheadedness I see something in you worth saving."

Precluding granting of probation Judge Salvi said that even should drugs be legalized in the next 20 years this would not affect the terms of his probation that he not use drugs.

After being granted probation Sanders said "thank you." Judge Salvi smiled and remarked, "I wish you all the luck I can."

The second probation involved Richard Valley, who entered a guilty plea on the same week as Sanders to the charge of attempted aggravated assault.

Judge Salvi mentioned to the defendant that he was torn between sentencing him to prison or placing him on probation. La Valley at first made no statement, and later his words to the court were inaudible.

La Valley's attorney, Edward Kirkland, Orlando, made no statement in his behalf, and the court took note of the fact the youth's parents were not present.

Furrowing his brow in deep concentration, Judge Salvi explained he was not as confident of the defendant's success on probation as he was in the case of Sanders. However, Judge Salvi said, "It is my inclination to give you the benefit of the doubt and grant probation."

Subsequently Judge Salvi placed the defendant on 4 1/2 years probation, withheld adjudication of guilt and imposition of sentence. The defendant was ordered to pay court costs of $200.

Mrs. Penny Oloff, cashier of Citrus Bank of Ovidio, will attend the fall meeting of the Florida Association of Bank Women in Palm Beach Sept. 8-10. Theme of the meeting will be the "Changing Image." Mrs. Ruth B. Harrison, speaker of NABW will be one of the featured speakers.

The NABW is an organization for women holding executive and official positions in banks, savings banks and loan to trust companies. There are approximately 9,000 members in the United States and foreign countries.

Chinese Accent Bar-B-Q

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Barbecuing is getting a challenge from Chinese foods among the male chefs. Chopping the vegetables, meats or seafoods appears to give the average man a sense of accomplishment. He especially is proud of his slight oil band that straggles cooking the Oriental way highlights. A Star-fried South African Rock Lobster dish is one the family will enjoy and it also makes an excellent buffet dish.

STAR-FRIED SOUTH AFRICAN ROCK LOBSTERS
3 pkgs. (8 oz. each)
South African rock lobster tails

1/2 cup oil
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup fresh peas
1 cup sliced cooked carrots

1 bunch scallions, sliced 1/2-inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed chicken broth
1 tablespoon cornstarch

With kitchen shears cut away underside membrane from rock lobster tails. Carefully pull out meat in one piece and slice. Heat oil in wok or heavy aluminum fry pan. Add cabbage, celery, peas, carrots and scallions. Stir over high heat until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with salt, sugar and soy sauce. Add rock lobster pieces and sauce. Stir until meat is opaque. Mix chicken broth and cornstarch and stir into mixture. Cook, while stirring, until slightly thickened. Serve hot, spooned over rice. Makes 6 servings.

Sherbet From Mexico

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor
A friend of ours, back from a visit to Mexico brought us a delightful privately printed cookbook, "Villa Montana Cuisine" by Ray Cote with the collaboration of Melva Sannerbeck.

Villa Montana is in Morelia a suburban Santa Maria Hills and Kate Simon in her book "Mexican Pleasures and Pleasures" says it is one of the most comfortable and comforting inns in Mexico.

And James Norman in his guide book "In Mexico" writes that Raymond Cote, the artist and gourmet owner of Villa Montana a 50's magnificent things with food. Cote himself says he serves just plain old-fashioned cooking, a lot of it based on recipes given him by his guests.

One of the most attractive recipes in Villa Montana Cuisine is for a Tropical Sherbet. When served it is gentle, they found it wonderfully refreshing and a great combination of flavors. Cote says that in the sherbet recipe fruits can be varied to suit your taste so long as you keep the same proportions of corn syrup which prevents sherbet from crystallizing. Here is our adaptation of this delectable frozen dessert:

TROPICAL SHERBERT
1/2 cup sugar
1/3 cup light corn syrup
1/3 cup lime or orange juice
1 can (1/4 ounces) crushed pineapple undrained
1/2 cup peeled banana, about 1 ripe banana
2 cups milk

In a medium mixing bowl stir together the sugar, corn syrup and juice. Undrained pineapple, banana and milk until sugar is dissolved. Pour into a small jar or 3 to 3 1/2 inches. Freeze until partially frozen.

Remove from freezer and turn sherbet bowl first with a hand-operated or electric rotary beater until light and creamy. Return to freezer. Cover tightly with wax paper or transparent plastic wrap. Freeze until firm. Remove from freezer about 15 minutes before serving. Makes about 1 1/4 quarts.

Note: If sherbet isn't served for a day or so after it has frozen until entirely firm, turn into 1 or 2 freezer containers, cover tightly and store in freezer.

SATURDAY TEA
Orange Crisps Tea with Lemon ORANGE CRISPS

Adapted from a delightful cookbook "The Kitchen Scholar" by Malvina C. Kimard and Marjorie P. Blanchard (Claid).

1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons orange juice
1/2 cup chopped (medium fine) pecans

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking soda and salt. In a medium mixing bowl cream butter and sugars, beat in egg and orange juice, then nuts. Refrigerate for 30 to 45 minutes. Drop small amounts of batter (1/2 of a level tablespoon) about 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until browned around edges, 8 to 10 minutes. Remove with a wide metal spatula to wire racks to cool. Makes about 8 dozen.

Tamale Piques Appetite

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Hearty one-dish concoctions help any family budget. When a combination Tamale Pie appears on the table, don't expect leftovers. Serve this with a green salad or a grapefruit/orange combination and ice cream or sherbet for dessert.

TAMALE PIE:
1 cup yellow cornmeal
3 cups chicken broth
1 tablespoon vegetable shortening
1 green pepper, chopped
1 large onion, chopped
1 pound lean ground chuck
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup chopped ripe pitted black olives
1 can (1 lb. 12 oz.) tomatoes
1 tablespoon chili powder
2 tablespoons Angostura aromatic bitters
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 cup grated sharp American cheese

Mix cornmeal and cold chicken broth. Bring to a boil and stir until very thick. Cool. Melt shortening in a skillet. Add green pepper and onion and saute until tender but not brown. Add chuck and cook until meat is browned and crumbly. Drain excess fat. Stir in salt and flour, olives, tomatoes, chili powder, aromatic bitters and garlic powder. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce bubbles and thickens. Spoon cornmeal into a 1 1/2-quart baking dish. With the back of a spoon spread the cornmeal in an even layer over the bottom and sides of the dish. Fill dish with meat mixture. Sprinkle top of casserole with cheese. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for about 30 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DINNER FOR FOUR:
Savory Veal Balls with Tomato and Sour Cream Sauce
Noodles Green Beans Salad Bowl
Fruit Compote Beverage
SAVORY VEAL BALLS:
1 pound ground veal
1/2 cup butter, melted
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 1/2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 egg, beaten
2/3 cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
1 jar (16 ounces) spaghetti sauce with mushrooms
1/2 cup commercial sour cream
Minced parsley
Combine veal, 1/2 cup butter, lemon rind, water, salt and pepper; shape into 12 balls. Dip in egg coat with bread crumbs. Brown meat balls in 2 tablespoons butter in a large skillet. Remove from skillet; drain off fat. In skillet blend spaghetti sauce and sour cream over low heat; cook gently several minutes. Return meat balls to sauce. Garnish with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

PETITE LITTLE CABBAGES

Brussels sprouts, those petite little cabbages that are said to have originated in Brussels, are an elegant vegetable to grace your most festive holiday table or buffet. They come frozen in a specially seasoned butter sauce and in convenient cooking pouches that seal in cooking aromas. Look for them in your grocer's freezer case.

Give this luxury vegetable a sweet-sour accent with the addition of a zesty vinegar-honey dressing spiced with mustard and enriched with crisp bacon bits. It's a pleasing flavor complement for the hearty flavor of the Brussels sprouts.

Rosh Hashanah (Jewish New Year), Time Of Tradition

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year (Sept. 9-10), differs from the calendar New Year in that it is not a time of whoopee, of abandoned revelry that signals the year's last fling. Rosh Hashanah is "a time to take stock of ourselves," according to a St. Louis, Mo., rabbi, "and try to right the wrongs we have committed." Gathering of the family and close friends is important and food is an essential part of the ritual of "thinking good for letting us live and reach this season." Traditional foods include the challah, apples dipped in honey for a sweet new year, herring for fruitfulness, sweet carrots resembling small gold coins as a hope of prosperity in the coming year and honey cake.

For Rosh Hashanah, here are Honey Cake, Carrot Tzimmes and Herring Salad recipes from the cookbook, "From Generation to Generation," kitchen-tested kosher recipes compiled by The Women's Touch, D'nal Amnona Sisterhood, St. Louis, Mo.

HONEY CAKE

- 6 egg yolks
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup oil
- 1 cup honey
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup cold coffee
- 6 egg whites

Beat egg yolks well. Add sugar, oil and honey. Alternate dry ingredients with coffee and mix thoroughly. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter. Put in an ungreased tube pan and bake at 350 degrees

New Way To Serve Pasta

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

When you want a tangy main-course dish, consider serving spaghetti with sliced ripe olives and grated Parmesan cheese. Adding ripe olives to the pasta is a fairly new idea and gives delightful results.

Prepare the spaghetti dish with a soup (hot or cold) and accompany the pasta with a mixed salad. For the salad use several kinds of greens — tomato, escarole and chery are a good combination — and add cucumber and tomatoes. If the cucumber is large and seedy, peel it and slice in half lengthwise and with a teaspoon scoop out the seeds, now thinly slice the remaining cucumber and it will be ready to add to the salad.

For dessert choose a fresh fruit compote and cookies or a pudding made with fruit. SPAGHETTI WITH RIPPED OLIVES AND CHEESE: 1 package (8 ounces) thin spaghetti

1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Cook the spaghetti according to package directions; drain in a colander, return to clean cooking pot.

Add butter, toss until butter melts, add cheese, olives and parsley and toss again. Serve at once.

Makes 3 to 4 servings.
Note: If you like garlic flavor, crush a clove of garlic and add it with the butter.

SATURDAY NIGHT REFRESHER

Naomi Hacker's Clam Dip with Accompaniments
Ice Cream and Fruit Sherbet Cookies Beverage
NAOMI HACKER'S CLAM DIP

A delicious new version of a popular recipe:
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) minced clams

Radishes
4 large or 6 small scallions, minced (including green tops)
8 drops hot pepper sauce
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1/4 teaspoon salt
Let cream cheese stand at room temperature about 1 hour to soften. Drain clams well, reserving liquid. With a fork, vigorously mash 1/2-cup butter cream cheese. Drained clams, 4 minced radishes, scallion and liquid a few drops at a time to desired dip consistency — only a few tablespoons should be needed. Place mixture in serving dish and decorate top with 2 thinly sliced radishes; dip looks especially pretty when edges of radish slices are pushed into dip about one-quarter of the way, so that radish edges are exposed. Serve with crackers, potato chips, carrot or celery sticks.

- for one hour.
- CARROT TZIMMES: 1 cup grated raw carrots, 1 cup grated raw sweet potatoes
 - potatoes: 1 cup grated raw apples, 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup corn flake crumbs
 - oil: 1/2 cup oil, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - wine or orange juice: 1/4 cup wine or orange juice, 350 degrees

- HERRING SALAD: 1 large jar herring snacks, 1 bunch scallion greens
- (not bulbs) diced: 1 grated carrot, 1/2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoons mustard seed, 1 cup sour cream
- Cut herring into very small pieces. Add onion greens and carrot. Add sugar, mustard seed and sour cream. Marinate overnight and serve cold.

Oriental Beef Is Low In Calories, Very High In Flavor

Oriental beef with snow peas is good news for the low-calorie crowd. Made of thinly sliced sirloin steak and vegetables that are practically calorie-free, it's a hearty satisfying dinner for the ravenously hungry dieter.

Stir-frying is the method of cookery used to prepare Oriental beef. Ingredients are sliced thin and cooked quickly. It is easier to cut the meat if the steak is frozen just long enough to make the outer surfaces firm. Then a very sharp knife is used to slice the meat diagonally into very thin slices, which are marinated for about an hour.

A Chinese wok or an electric fry pan is an ideal utensil for stir-frying cooking, for the meal can be prepared right at the table. First the beef slices are started cooking in hot oil. Then snow peas (pea-pods), celery and mushrooms are added as cooking progresses.

Drizzle a little light from the Chinese wok, with kumquats and watermelon pickles on the side. Oriental beef is delicious to eat and easy on the waistline. Everybody will love it.

2 Turner Aides Get Jail Terms

Two employees of Glenn W. Turner's Dare To Be Great were jailed in Clearwater Wednesday, while the Florida-based motivational school faced legal tests in Georgia, Mississippi, Kansas and Ohio.

Pinellas County Circuit Judge B. J. Driver slapped 60-day jail terms on two Dare To Be Great officials after they declined to answer questions — comptroller Antonio Lopez, 46, of Altamonte Springs and assistant comptroller Ronald C. Hallam, 31, of Winter Park.

They were released on $5,000 bond each. Forty-three other employees of Dare To Be Great, which says it sells personality development courses, testified without incident at the hearing Wednesday in Clearwater.

Pinellas County Asst. State Atty. Allen Allweiss said Lopez and Hallam refused to tell how the firm is run, how accurate its records are or how much money Glenn W. Turner makes from it.

Dare To Be Great is a subsidiary of Glenn W. Turner Enterprises, Inc., owned by the self-made 37-year-old Orlando millionaire of the same name.

In Jackson, Miss., Atty. Gen. A. F. Sumner and 43 district and county attorneys Wednesday filed suit, asking for a court order to bar Turner and Dare To Be Great from operating in Mississippi. Sumner said the suit charged fraudulent business practices, operation of a lottery, violation of Mississippi securities laws, chain-letter selling in a pyramid sales scheme, and doing business in the state without a letter of authority.

So that we don't get repetitious on the subject, yesterday my personal observations were offered on the Olympics debacle, let's give some space to an unidentified student at Seminole High School who did take the time to write his or her thoughts to us on the matter.

"A very recent and tragic event has touched the heart of many people. The slaying of 11 innocent people. I am deeply troubled by this tragedy and the interruption of a peaceful sports event. For once I thought I would see a peaceful gathering of thousands of people of all races. But it seems this can no longer be. I am a young person and this hurts me. I hope this will not continue. My generation has pledged peace. But after this event I wonder I can only ask myself, why? And I hope we all do. Then maybe there will be an answer in the years to come. I look forward to that. I hope it will happen soon.

Thank you for listening.

This is addressed to those apathetic voters who fluff off the claim that "every vote counts." John Kuhn and Herbert McCarley campaigned for a city council seat at Oviedo. Unofficial returns in Tuesday's election: Kuhn, 72; McCarley, 70. But there were five absentee ballots to be counted in the official canvass Wednesday afternoon. Two of the absentee ballots were disqualified by the election officials. That left three absentee votes to be counted. Final, official tally: Kuhn, 73 votes; McCarley, 73 votes. So, each vote does count.

Thomas Freeman will be guest speaker at a 6:30 p. m. meeting on incorporation of Lake Mary planned by Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce today at the Lake Mary School cafeteria. He will speak on the charter for the proposed incorporation. A covered dish supper will be held in conjunction with the meeting.

The program was arranged so that the people could have a better understanding of what the committee is trying to do to get things in order to present to the legislative delegation this fall. Residents of the area involved would then have the opportunity to express their feelings on incorporation in a special election by referendum.

All interested persons are invited to attend whether they are included in the proposed boundaries or not.

On Tenants In Arrears Housing Board Clamps Down

public housing units.

Rev. Goldie Eubanks, president of the Tenant Council, consisting of renters and other community black leaders, stood outside and complained he was not permitted to enter the session held at the authority's Castle Brewer Courts general office.

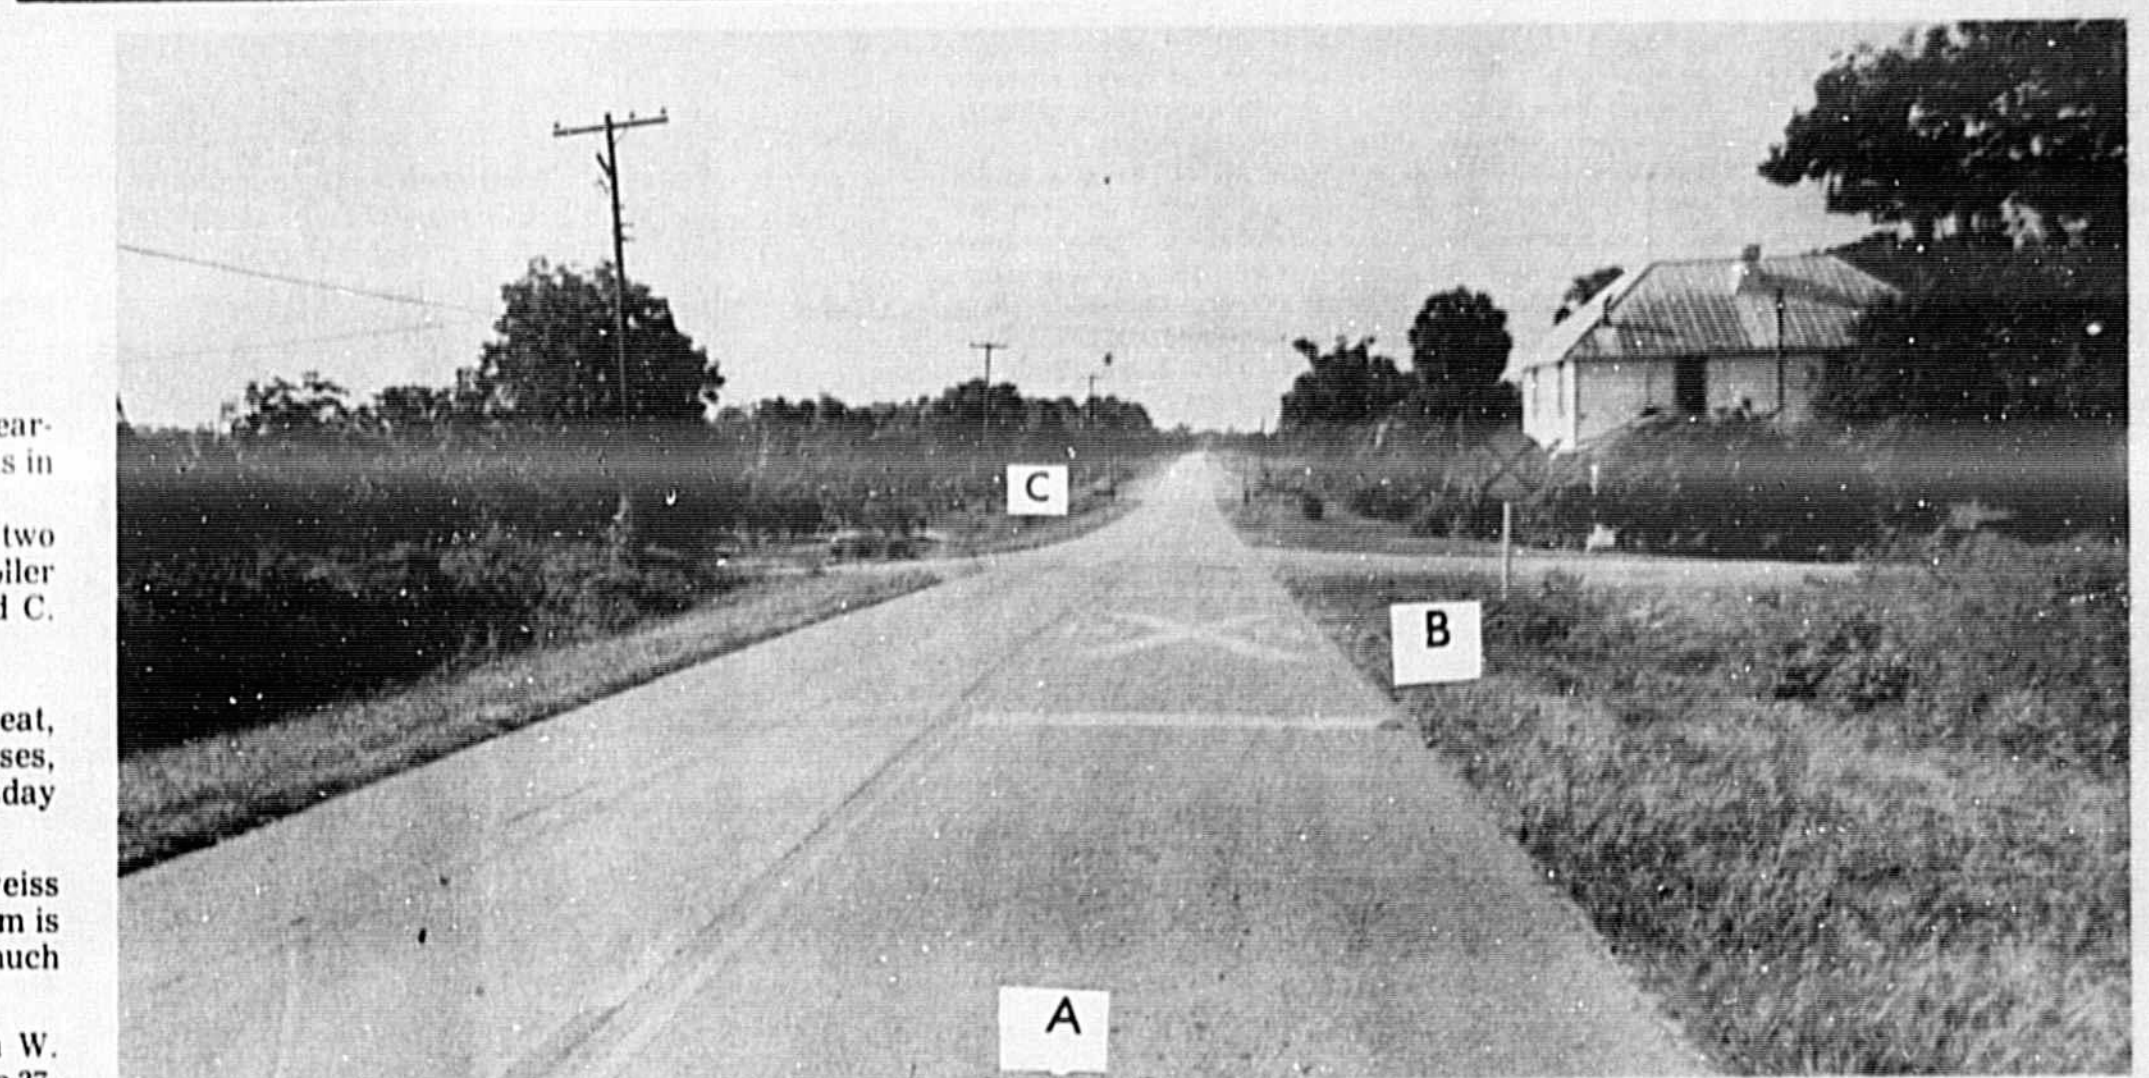

Inside the session, the HUD men were advising the commissioners to help in the election of a new council, which will be composed of tenants only. It was explained by Masters that only tenants could serve on the council.

Authority attorney Ned Julian Jr. said Ruthia Higgins Dixon, "Tenants Council" member, was not a public housing resident but was directing other tenants to criticize the authority's operation.

Masters replied the council should be chosen by 100 per cent of all tenants, not just a few residents.

He further urged the authority to set up a grievance committee composed of two tenants, two lay people, chosen by the authority and the four together select a fifth person. The grievance committee will hear all tenant complaints and then one of the group will bring the problems before the authority for deliberation.

Masters also advised allowing only the spokesman for the Tenant Council to appear before the board, not the entire council. Smith said, "Since we've had this new board, the tenants have not done anything they have not wanted."

FOLLOWING ALL SAFETY RECOMMENDATIONS, THIS CROSSING IS A DEATH TRAP!

FHP TROOPERS conducted a series of tests on this crossing on SR 431 and determined that if you are in your auto (A) traveling 35 m.p.h., 30 m.p.h. UNDER the permissible 65 m.p.h. speed limit, you can not see an approaching train until you are well past the warnings (B) and by the time you brake your auto to a stop, you will be on or beyond (C) the railroad crossing. (Related photos page 2A, taken by Gary Taylor)

Troopers Seek Action Crossing Is Deadly

The two troopers, after running a series of tests on the rural crossing, have recommended to Weaver that a stop sign be erected if warning lights can't be obtained.

A seven-year-old Sanford girl, Toni Helman, was killed at the crossing less than two weeks ago. It was the second fatality report following a certain fatality. But for the first time, two State Troopers have set out to do something about an unprotected crossing.

Troopers C. L. (Tommy) Tomlinson and R. W. (Bob) Lovinger have written a letter to the mayor of Altamonte Springs, Fla., asking that the city install a stop sign at the crossing. The troopers said the crossing is a "death trap" and that the city should take action to improve it.

Churches Now Subject To Pay Utilities Taxes

General Robert Shevin stating the city has no such authority for exemption either by charter or special act.

Therefore, Mayor Swofford ordered that the churches be billed effective immediately to comply with the opinion of the attorney general.

City Council authorized certificates of payment to the contractor and architect for the city's new city hall and civic center.

City Attorney S. Joseph David Davis Jr. told council that the buildings "look good" and will be "beautiful when landscaped." Payment in the amount of $25,354 was authorized for the civic center and $33,438 for the city hall.

Authorization also was given for payment of an invoice from the county tax assessor in the amount of $835.55 which represents one-half of one per cent of the levy of $165,123. The assessment invoice was for the 1971 city tax roll and Mayor Swofford reported to council the city soon will receive a similar bill from the tax collector.

Jerrold Bross Is Exonerated

Charges and counter charges have been hurled by both candidates in the heated political tiff, but in yesterday's deliberations by the grand jury, Bross issued an affidavit stating he appeared voluntarily before the august body and not at the request of the grand jury.

Bross further stated it was his desire to testify, although not required to do so, and waived all rights of immunity for prosecution in the matter.

Specifically, the grand jury met to "conduct an investigation of campaign violations pursuant to the mandate of Chapter 104.43 Florida Statutes as said charges were presented to the chief judge of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit on or about Aug. 15 by candidate Abbott Herring.

Testimony before the grand jury yesterday was given by Herring, Bross and Jim Schmidt. The grand jury also considered all related documents marked as exhibits and made a part of the record.

Sanford Attorneys Kenneth McIntosh and Ned Julian Jr. presented the case as special requested legal counsel after Herring and his staff disqualified themselves.
