

RISKO LOSES TO ROBERTI ON FOUL IN SIXTH STANZA

Cleveland Boxer Had Good Lead Over Opponent When He Unintentionally Lands Blow Below The Belt Line

DAVIS J. WALSH NEW YORK Aug. 16.—(INS)—Strange things, these heavyweight eliminations. They never eliminate anybody, even a guy who can't fight.

Therefore, it wasn't surprising that this couple of Roberts fellow, otherwise Roberto Roberti, still was in the tournament today. It doesn't matter that he didn't get long in there in the first place. He got in last night and now of course he stays in. The reason they call them elimination tournaments is that once upon a time, all of the contestants failed to survive, one of them died of old age.

All of which has almost nothing to do with the fact that Roberti won on a foul from John Johnny Risko in the sixth round last night. It was a palpable foul, though unintended, and Referee McAvoy had no alternative, but to declare the loser the winner, if you follow my discourse, Roberti was accepting a great slaughter, until John went home with that left hook down below.

Risko, of course, remains in the tournament. He was only a technical loser last night. Whereas, I have seen actual losers go right back in for the next shot just as though he had maimed somebody frightfully the last time out. Besides this guy Risko is beginning to grow up on me like a neglected wart.

The last time he bowed himself around here, he staked George Godfrey to about 45 pounds in weight, with other concessions in proportion, and then "bullied" him out of the play. Some didn't like that decision, but the writer found he could waste no sympathy on a man who allowed a much smaller opponent to even act as though he was winning.

John gave Robert 34 pounds last night and did much the same with him that he had done with Godfrey, to wit, he led to him constantly with long, swinging punches. It didn't make any difference that only some of them landed. Roberto did almost no leading at all, and when you do that, you lose 101 times out of a possible 100.

The boys in the front pew thought they noted some improvement in Roberto's technique and the chances are they were right. The gentleman simply couldn't have stayed as bad as he was before, or else they would have had to throw him away.

He came into the ring with a plaster over his left eye. This was deep stuff. John knocked the thing off, only to discover that the organ was quite undamaged. This screwy trick so enraged John that he gave the young man a plaster over, under and on both eyes for the rest of the evening.

Roberto did right well in the opening round, at that, almost holding John even with left hands. In the second, he actually took the pace, jabbing his long left to the head, hooking the punch into the rotunda and finally cutting John's mouth with a right cross.

Then John went to work. He rushed the Italian all over the ring, leading often with long left swings and getting home with lefts and rights in the body. Roberto came nicely in the middle of the round with straight lefts and a right to the head, but Risko's rushing had him breaking ground all the way and the end of the round saw him in obvious distress.

The fourth went to John by a large plurality. He even staggered the Robert with a straight left to the mouth and then went on bashing him almost without a respite, which is one of the worst things to be without. The Robert finally flashed out with a right that clipped John's visage and did him a lot of good in a very academic sense, if any. However, this was about the only demerit entered by the Robert during this round.

The fifth was much the same. So was the sixth, or what there was of it.

Roberto had every advantage here one. But there is none so important as the one he lacked. He simply refused to give himself the chance his height, weight and punching ability merited.

The punch that ended it simply was one of those things. You aim it one place; it lands another. As is usually the case, the man fouled didn't appear to be hurt as badly as he evidently wished to indicate. However, that is beside the point.

He was hit low and that usually settles the matter. It did last night.

JOE HOLSINGER WILL SERVE AS BACHMAN AIDE

Kansas Coach Has Enviably Record Handling Elevens And Also As An Athlete

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Aug. 16.—(ANB)—A product of the golf links of Kansas, the wheat fields of the Sunflower state—a boy who went to college, worked his way through yet who found time to participate in several branches of athletics, and make enviable records in each, Joe Frank Holsinger, Kansas Aggie '28 latest addition to the University of Florida coaching staff comes to the scene of his first assignment thrilled over the possibilities and atmosphere of Florida, and firmly determined to work hard and assist Charley Bachman and staff make Florida's athletic teams among the greatest in the country.

Quiet and unassuming, but with a rich personality, it doesn't take long to like Joe Holsinger—twenty-four year old last January 20, scaling five feet, eight inches, and tipping the beams at 170 pounds. One can easily observe why Joe might be one of the greatest backfield men produced in the Missouri Valley in recent years, but it requires a long while to learn that Joe is a golfer of exceptional ability. Football and golf are his main sports, though in high school at Kansas City, Kansas, he participated with colors in basketball and track.

He was twelve years old when he became a caddy at Kansas City. After four years of "bag totin'" Joe ascended to caddy master and helped to defray his high school expenses that way. He made second team all-state guard in basketball in Kansas for two years, and would have gained high recognition in football, but no all-state grid teams are picked in scholastic circles.

In the fall of 1924 Joe entered Kansas Aggies. Tom Sebring, former Florida coach, had met Joe twice on "Go to College Tours" about Kansas, and was an influence in his enrolling in Manhattan. His first year he played football basketball and golf, but after his sophomore year, abandoned the basketball. Joe craves outdoor sports—golf, hunting, flying, football and the like, so in his last two years at the Kansas Aggies, Joe confined his athletic skill to the gridiron and the golf links.

As a sophomore in football, he gained All-Missouri Valley honorable mention. As a junior he made second All Valley team, and last fall he made the first All Valley eleven, despite the fact he missed the final three games of the season, due to an attack of pneumonia. On the All-American team selected each fall by Robert Jones and Warner, young Joe received honorable mention.

In the opinion of Coach Bachman, who influenced Holsinger to take up coaching and come to Florida, Joe is one of the two greatest players he ever tutored. Tom Sebring, who made All-Time Missouri Valley end, ranks as the other. Though he specialized in engineering at Manhattan, Joe likes boys and sports, and is ambitious to make a great success in the coaching field.

As a tribute to his golfing progress, Holsinger for three successive years was elected to captain the Aggie links team, and the last two years, led his mates to the valley team championship, not having been defeated in twenty-five consecutive matches. Last year he had a competitive low medal average of 72.8, ranking second in the valley, while the previous year his low medal figure of 72.2 led all competitors.

Bachman's new aide is still a member of the bachelor's club, but if you ask him about a certain young lady up in Columbia, Mo., his bright blue eyes sparkle, so it may not be long before the state's population is increased by another arrival from the Mid-West.

With Bachman, Joe Boden, the 1923 Penn State All-American, Nash Higgins, and Holsinger Florida enters the approaching grid campaign, with the largest and strongest coaching staff in the history of Gator football. Coach Bachman is determined to make Florida teams consistent winners, and is eagerly awaiting the opening game on Fleming Field September 3.

ARMY OFFICER IS KILLER

WEST CHESTER, PA. Aug. 16.—(INS)—Major J. D. Russ, U. S. army, was killed and his companion, Lieut. Col. Edmund Butcher, was severely injured when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad milk train at Oxford, near here today. The men were reported to have been on their way to Philadelphia in a car bearing a Georgia license when they drove squarely in front of the train, witnesses said. The car was buried 50 feet away completely wrecked.

BRAVES' OWNERS TO RETAIN RAJAH FOR NEXT SEASON

Hornsby To Be Given Bank Roll To Help In Building Up Club; Fans Back Pilot Who Is Popular With Hub

BOSTON, MASS. Aug. 16.—(INS)—Rogers Hornsby, manager of the hard-luck Boston Braves, will be retained as the Tribal leader and allowed $250,000 with which to purchase minor league pitchers this winter, it was reliably reported here. Boston fans, always ready to support a never-say-die spirit, are back of the "Rajah."

They point out with pride to the indomitable spirit and effort which changed Rog from a 17-year-old lad who "couldn't hit the ball out of the infield" to the league's champion batter, and feel sure that he will have the Braves up with the leaders in a short time.

Backed By Record It is common knowledge how the "Rajah" won a pennant and a world's championship with the Cardinals two years back. Nobody figured them to come through in the Spring but they did. He took the Giants last year when Manager McGraw was sick, and did a great job of it.

Rog made his basketball debut back in the Fall of 1915 with the St. Louis Cardinals. He was only 17 years old when he reported, just a thin lad, apparently one of the many youngsters getting a tryout with a big-league club. Coming from a class 'D' club, at Dennison, Texas, where he had hit for only .227, Hornsby had no imposing reputation behind him.

He hit for .246 that Fall, and certainly did not look like a world beater those days. He weighed only 125 pounds. But at the end of the season he went home determined to make himself a big man and he did. Living out in the open as much as possible eating foods which would aid him in his plan, and taking excellent care of himself, he was a much different appearing lad when he reported for practice next Spring.

CHANGED BATTING STYLE He changed his batting style and set himself to improving his hitting. From early morning to late at night he practiced batting, as long as he could get anyone to throw a ball over to him.

His average climbed, that season from .246 to .313 and from then on the figures showed a continual improvement until within a few years he was setting the pace for other batters of the league. He tried many infield positions in those hectic days until he found one that doesn't move his men around like he has played for the past half dozen seasons.

There's only one boss on the Braves—Rogers Hornsby, but he doesn't move his men around like puppets. He allows them to see their own initiative at times.

London Birth Rate Falls Continuously In Past Seven Years

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(INS)—London is becoming a place of fewer children.

The London County Council's annual health report has just disclosed that the birthrate has fallen continuously since 1921, and, although the population has remained about four-and-a-half millions, the proportion of children under 15 years of age has fallen from 30 per cent in 1901 to 26 per cent in 1921—the last census.

"Assuming," says the report, "that the present decrease, both of birth and infant mortality, to continue until after the next census, the children under 15 years of age will then form less than 20 per cent of the total population."

The births during 1927 numbered 73,263, compared with 78,825 in the preceding year. In the last quarter of 1927, the births fell below the previous lowest recorded for this quarter.

SENTENCES BOY BURGLAR MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(INS)—The reform school instead of the knife will be relied on to cure Wallace Phelps, Memphis eight year old "boy burglar," it was declared in juvenile court by Judge Canille Kelley, woman judge: Wallace has just undergone an operation for tonsillitis as a "sure cure." But parents hesitated at further use of the knife to the child who he turned over to the reform school in an effort to break him of the habit of leaving home at night and entering houses of neighbors.

Sugar Beet Crops Escape With Little Damage From Hail

DENVER, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Prosperity appeared on the horizon for the 1928 sugar beet farmers of Colorado as the hail season passed with very little damage to the fields; adequate water was available for growth, and a high price was assured during the marketing season.

A total of 154,000 acres were planted in the state this year. It is estimated that the yield will be slightly more per acre this year than last when it was 134 tons.

Through a Supreme Court decision recently handed down, members of the Mountain States Beet which affects 45,000 acres, will receive $7 per ton for the beets, the same as last year.

The decision of the court made it possible for a farmer-member of the growers' organization to sell his beets without the consent of the association, which failed to negotiate a contract with the great Western Sugar Company.

According to reports, this has been an ideal year for the raising of sugar beets. Insects, including the webworm, have been negligible. Nebraska, with a record breaking acreage of 74,000 acres, promises big returns to the growers. Their prospects are equally as good as those in Colorado.

At Macon, Savannah and Augusta owing to washed out highways. The Oconee and other rivers were at the highest point in their history. The high waters rushed into the Central of Georgia lumber yard near Milledgeville and washed away 200,000 feet of lumber.

The big steel bridge over Fishing Creek on the Macon road has been swept from its foundation, and the steel bridge to Dublin over Cap Creek was pulled loose at one end. Scores of wooden bridges in south Georgia have been washed away. The main highway bridge across the Oconee leading to Sparta and Augusta was under water.

Thousands of dollars damage was done to the pecan industry near Thomasville when torrential rains and gales destroyed many trees.

Power dams in North and South Carolina have been threatened by the swollen creeks and residents in the path of the flood were warned to leave their homes.

Several Atlantic Coast line trains were marooned near Quitman but it was understood the passengers were taken off by rowboats.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. Aug. 16.—(INS)—All train service on the Southern Railway between Asheville, Salisbury and Spartanburg was stopped today due to landslides and washouts caused by torrential rain in this section during the past few days.

The French, Broad and Swannanoa rivers were rising at the rate of one foot an hour and were reported to be out of their banks at several points. Numbers of families have been driven from their homes in the lowlands as a result of the flood. Authorities are warning people who live along the rivers to abandon their homes.

A landslide between Old Fort and Riffe Creek covered the railway tracks, making traffic impossible. Southern Railway officials said it probably would be 24 hours before a train could be moved on the line between Asheville and Salisbury, but they hoped to have the line open to Spartanburg late today.

RASKOB CHALLENGES HOOVER NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(INS)—A clarification of his views on the prohibition question was asked of Herbert Hoover today by John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

"If Mr. Hoover believes the Volstead Act should be amended to supply an honest, common sense definition of intoxicating liquors I think that he ought to say so," he said.

FORD HAS NARROW ESCAPE

SUDBURY, MASS., Aug. 16.—(INS)—Henry Ford was alive and enjoying his historic Wayside Inn today only because of his agility and quick thinking when he came near being the victim of one of his own make of automobiles. Coming here from Benson, Vt., and while inspecting the place with an elderly friend, Mr. Ford started across the old Boston Post road. A youth in an open flivver bore down on the two pedestrians.

Government Using Armored Trucks To Transport Money For Payrolls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Government department heads here have just admitted they have been doing something that police commissioners of cities throughout the century have been advising business houses not to do—carry large payrolls through the streets.

Hundreds of paymasters have been killed in futile attempts to protect their money satchels from bandits. Millions of dollars have been stolen from commercial houses in this manner in the United States. Still Uncle Sam's paymasters, continued the hazard of carrying their large payrolls from the Treasury Department to their bureaus located in various sections of the capital.

Accompanied by one or two armed employees, the government executives carried the currency by diverse methods. Some journeyed to the office in taxicabs. Some chose private automobiles while the less wary carried their valuable bag on street cars or even walked.

But now official Washington is going to abide by the unofficial ruling of the police chiefs of the country. They are taking precaution against theft. Being late to recognize the danger of robbery they believe they have gone a step farther in this regard than the commercial houses. They have provided armored trucks, the most modern yet designed, and as "hold-up proof" as an army tank. It would be folly to question its effectiveness in bullet fire.

Now Use Trucks The trucks, two of them were purchased by the Treasury Department for use of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. They have been placed in service to deliver the payrolls to all departments of the government.

The trucks are of two-and-one-half tons and are covered with heavy armor plate. The plate covers both sides and the rear while in the front of the chauffeur and armed guard are protected by bullet-proof glass. There are turret holes for pistol fire from the inside.

The administration hopes to effect a treaty to outlaw war with all nations. But in the capital it has just taken the preliminary steps for a probable battle with payroll bandits.

Four College Boys, Ship Grounded Off Arctic, Are Found

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 16.—(INS)—With hope rapidly waning that they would even be found alive, the four American college youths who set out in two canoes to reach the Arctic circle, today were reported safe in the wilderness south of Fort Churchill.

Word of their safety was brought back to civilization by corporal J. J. Mallory, R. C. M. V., stationed at Pelican Narrows. The news came after four weeks anxious waiting.

A radio message had been sent to Malloy sometime ago ordering the "mountain" to proceed north and bring the party back. Malloy had not received the message, but he accidentally came across the group of young men.

The party has changed its plans and are now using a route to reach Fort Churchill that will keep them fairly well in touch with other men in the wilderness. They have also been equipped with fresh supplies and rifles.

The party is composed of John Fuller, 21, of Keokuk, Ia.; Max J. Kane, 19, of Iowa City; Gordon Armstrong, 20, Lake Iowa, and Peddar C. Boddum, 24, of Crystal, Ia., all are college men.

Ship Grounded Off Mexican Coast But Is Not In Danger

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—(INS)—While ships off the Lower California coast of Mexico sped today to the assistance of the Panama mail liner Ecuador, on the rocks of Cape San Lazaro, a check by company officials revealed that close to 200 persons are on board the stricken inter-coastal vessel.

The Ecuador grounded on the barren Mexican coast at 3:28 A. M. today according to wireless messages picked up by the Mackay Federal Telegraph Company. Latest advices stated the vessel was resting easily and in no immediate danger. Several ships were in the vicinity and one was believed near the Ecuador whose master wireless assistance was needed to get off the rocks.

Several ships were in the vicinity of the grounded passenger liner whose position is about 335 miles south of Los Angeles. So far however, the Ecuador has been unable to get into communication with any save the San Mateo which is 175 miles distant. The Ecuador refused assistance from the San Mateo, evidently believing it would be possible for one of the ships closer by to render necessary assistance sooner.

A Royal Dish

WHEN a Queen enters a kitchen, she is bent upon concocting a kingly dish, and usually Her Majesty has but a few minutes to spare. Fit for Royalty is that popular delicacy known as Chicken à la King. There is one way to prepare it that is so simple that even a Queen might concoct it to turn her hand to it. All that is required is one green pepper, a can of boneless chicken, a small can of mushrooms, a small can of tomatoes, a small can of condensed milk, and a white sauce.

Pastor Is Missing After Charges Are Made By Daughter

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Aug. 16.—(INS)—The Rev. Charles E. Driver, 35, pastor of the Louis Street Non-Denominational Church of Paterson, N. J., has been missing from the home of his sister, Mrs. Kenneth Fulton, of Linden, near here, since Saturday, August 4, it was learned here today.

The minister and his wife had been visiting friends in this city since July 28, when he went to Linden. The Rev. Mr. Driver, who was at liberty under $3,000 bail in connection with serious charges involving his 15-year-old daughter, left his automobile in Linden and disappeared the day he arrived there, according to reports received here.

Paterson authorities wired the WilliamSPORT police, asking them to search for the missing pastor, but thus far no trace of him has been found and relatives here and at Linden claim they have no knowledge of his whereabouts.

Fruit Soups For Summer

THE vogue for fruit soups during the hot summer months is increasing. Perhaps one reason why the chilled fruit soups are usurping the place of jellied consommés is because the former combine qualities of both a fruit cocktail and a summer soup. In this way the clever hostess makes one course do for two.

Seminole County Progresses

On the front page of The Herald today appears the announcement of a new agricultural industry for Seminole County—grape growing. At Longwood, and to a lesser extent at Oviedo, experiments are being made. By winter, according to Wade Entzminger, pioneer citizen of Longwood, there will be at least one hundred acres of Seminole County land devoted to growing grapes.

The growing of grapes will not interfere with Seminole County's present money-making crops, celery and other truck. While the lands now devoted to this purpose continue to produce and bring money by the millions into the county, the high, sandy tracts now largely undeveloped can be turned into productive grape vineyards. Grape growers, who have been experimenting in Florida, have discovered that sandy soil suitable for citrus growing is also ideal for grapes.

Any news of expansion and diversification of Seminole County's agricultural pursuits is heartening. It is a forecast of a more prosperous future for every citizen of this county. It is a reflection of a progressive spirit ever watchful for opportunities to exploit the soil of a rich farming section to its fullest extent. But most important of all, expansion and diversification enable Seminole County to adhere a little more closely to the proverbial policy of carrying its eggs in a considerable number of separate baskets.

Where The Fault Lies

Much has been said for and against the jury system. The question has precipitated an unceasing debate between those who point to the numerous miscarriages of justice, in substantiation of their claims that the jury system is inadequate, and those who declare that to discard the custom would mean to destroy one of the fundamental rights given to the people living under a democratic government.

Charles H. Tuttle, a federal prosecuting attorney in New York, discusses the problem, presenting a defense of the jury system but criticizing some of its defects. Mr. Tuttle justifies the theory of juries with the assertion that "the preservation of liberty requires that the people themselves have opportunity to interpose directly between the individual and bureaucratic power to accuse and try for crime. Federal government and state guarantee that through the grand jury the people themselves interpose between the state's power to accuse for crime and that through the petit jury they can interpose as regards the state's power to try for crime."

Drawing a comparison between the federal and state jury systems, Mr. Tuttle finds that both allow far too many excuses for shirking service. The men most qualified by training, experience, mentality and responsibility too often obtain exemption or are excused. Such a situation, he declares, has done more to discredit the jury system than anything else. And Mr. Tuttle's criticism is made more pointed with the indictment that "for bad verdicts, given by inferior juries, I blame the very class of men who complain most loudly about it."

As a means of restoring the jury system to the high plane which it should occupy, the official urges the reduction of the number of exemptions, strictness in the rejection of excuses and the building up of a sense of civic obligation and honor of jury service. "In short," says Mr. Tuttle, "the real remedy is not with the legislators and lawyers, but, as in the case of all fine things of civic character, with the citizens themselves."

TO PRISON FOR HEALTH

Warren McCray, once governor of Indiana, wiser in experience, retires to his farm and takes up his life just where he began as a politician. He was the breeder of pure-bred cattle, became enamored of the idea that it would be a pleasant thing to be the head of the commonwealth, but before he was through with it all he was in the hands of the law. The indications are that he was really bankrupt when he assumed the executive responsibility, and in order to replenish his losses, stretched his borrowing power with banks that were under official obligations to him. He has been amply punished for his transgression, so there is every hope that he may be completely reestablished in public confidence and in his business relationships. Friends made it possible for him to acquire his old farm, which circumstance, after all, indicates that there are foul weather attachments.

The most interesting thing in the whole episode is the recovery in which seems to be complete. Strangely, it came about behind prison walls. When McCray was sentenced, the shadow of death was upon him. We would hardly suggest the moral that a sure road to health is to the gates of the prison and yet one does not have to go to his own imagination to appreciate the advantages of prison life as contrasted with a nerve-racking routine which bedevils business men generally. Obviously, the distinguished prisoner in question led good hours. His food, while not plentiful, was sufficient. The end of days with the average person is hastened by too much indifference to wholesome routine and food. If

Mrs. McLendon Gives Lovely Bridge Party

Mrs. A. C. McLendon was hostess at a lovely bridge party Thursday afternoon at her home on Park Avenue, honoring her sister, Mrs. A. E. Morrison, and Mrs. T. J. Bages of Tampa, who are her guests this week. Brilliantly decorated garden flowers were used in decorating the rooms where the guests played bridge and scores were kept on tallies ornamented with a floral design.

After several progressions of bridge had been played scores were totaled and Mrs. Don McDonald, who held high score, was awarded a pair of silk hose. The cut prize, a box of Coty's face powder was won by Mrs. Robert Masaka, and Mrs. McLendon presented her honor guests with linen guest towels as mementos of the occasion.

After the awarding of the prizes a delicious salad course was served to the following guests: Mrs. T. J. Bages, Mrs. A. E. Morrison, Mrs. Robert Masaka, Mrs. J. E. Courrier, Mrs. J. R. Adams, Mrs. L. E. Estridge, Mrs. C. F. Proctor and Mrs. Don McDonald.

Marie Raffo Society Holds Regular Meet

The August meeting of the Marie Raffo Society was held Monday evening at the home of Miss Evelyn Edenfield on Tenth Street. The meeting was presided over by Miss Maude Caroway, and in the absence of the secretary, Miss Elizabeth Clark acted as secretary.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the dues and pledges were paid. Mrs. Thornton was announced as the leader of the Study-Class. A program for the fourth Sunday night in the month was chosen, the cast selected and the first practice will be held Thursday evening.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the hostess served delicious refreshments, consisting of cake and punch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Lila Thornley.

Nellie Turner Circle Meets Wednesday

The Nellie Turner Circle of the First Baptist Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. G. Gannon on Sanford Avenue, with Mrs. Gannon and Mrs. C. B. Budd as hostesses. The rooms of the home were attractively decorated with quantities of bright summer flowers which were artistically arranged in bowls and baskets.

Several important matters of business were discussed and settled as this was the last regular business meeting of this year. It was decided to have a spend-the-day party next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. F. Marshall on Palmetto Avenue. At the conclusion of the business session the hostesses served delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, sandwiches, and iced tea. About 16 members were present at the meeting.

QUALITY BAKERS OF AMERICA
Bread Goods

We want to tell you how proud we are for our right to use the above Emblem of the Quality Bakers of America, which stands for Quality in its truest sense and is a constant source of inspiration to us to stand fast and true in our determination to give the public consistently reliable and satisfactory service.

There is a story associated with our membership in Quality Bakers of America that we believe will interest you. We will not attempt to tell all of it to you at one time. We will present it to you in short talks, touching on one or two high spots each time. In this way, we hope to sustain your interest in what we think is one of the most far-reaching series of Business Letters yet given to the public.

We say "far-reaching series of Business Letters" because of the influence we believe they will exert in establishing a more intimate and more friendly relationship between the Public and Business—not only our business but every other business.

There is no discounting the fact that in these days the public wants to know how business is conducted before it will voice its confidence or give it loyal support. It wants to know who are back of business—whether they are men who can be counted on to give them full honest value for the dollars they spend. It all simmers down to a question of Faith on the part of the people and Sincerity and Honor on the part of Business.

We do not want you to think for a minute that we propose to set ourselves up on a pedestal, reaching far above the heads of business men in our line or in any other. That would be foolish. It would make you accept what we say with a grain of salt; in fact, you would not hesitate to classify us as blow-hards, those fellows that proclaim their virtues so blantly nobody with any sense believes them.

In this letter we want to make this point only:

We are able to conduct our business on a Uniform Quality and Service basis because we are obligated by a solemn pledge to co-operate with a body of 90 wholesale bakers who in turn are backed up in their efforts by a Central Bureau that is always helping and checking all of us for the common good of every member of Quality Bakers of America, but more particularly to see that we do not slip at any time in our dealings with the public which are maintained through the grocers who are our earnest co-workers in the distribution of our products.

With 90 men using their combined talents to produce unquestioned Quality and to give the Public full and satisfactory Service, we are stronger as a body than any one of us could possibly be standing alone. Is not this just common sense?

A seven-day sale, marking the ... firm's removal to its new quarters
... at 203 east First Street, will be
... opened tomorrow by the Hill Har-
... ware Company, according to an
... announcement today by R. A.
... Newman, manager. The bargain
... event will continue through Sat-
... urday, August 25.

The hardware company has oc-
... cupied its new home, formerly
... the Ball building, for several
... weeks and elaborate preparations
... have been made for the sale.
... members of the establishment ori-

Unidentified Girl Found Shot, Burned

CROWN POINT, Ind., Aug. 17.—
... (INS)—Shot through the face
... and then burned alive, the body
... of a young woman, apparently
... about 25 years old, reposed in an
... undertaking establishment here to-
... day. All attempts to identify her
... have failed.

Police first believed the body
... was that of Adeline Zaccard, al-
... leged sweetheart of Angelo Fran-
... cisco, who was shot to death in
... an automobile near Mount Pros-
... pect, Ill., yesterday. Francisco
... was believed to have participated
... in the West McHenry, Ill., bank
... robbery on Monday and to have
... been killed by town guards who
... answered the alarm.

The police theory was that
... Miss Zaccard had been "taken for
... a ride" by members of the slain
... Francisco's gang to seal her lips
... against betrayal of the other four
... bank robbers.

CLARK GETS OLD'S PLACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—
... (INS)—President Coolidge has
... decided to appoint J. Reuben
... Clark of Utah as under secretary
... of state, it was learned today.
... He succeeds Robert E. Olds, of ... Minnesota, resigned. Clark has
... been assisting the State Depart-
... ment in the settlement of Mex-
... ican-American claims. He was re-
... commended by Secretary of State
... Kellogg.

OFFICIALS' WIFE INJURED

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(INS)—
... Mrs. William Woolf Smith, of
... Washington, D. C., was injured
... today in a railroad accident. Both
... of her legs were badly bruised.
... She is the wife of the general
... counsel of the veterans bureau.

Fifty Million Fund May Be Democrats' Bid For Farm Vote

... though it is felt that if organized
... it should be of very substantial
... size.

Financial circles do not question
... the ability of governor Smith's
... friends to get together $50,000,000
... capital in short order once the
... plan is definitely approved. There
... is doubt, however, among practical
... politicians of both parties, as to
... the political soundness of the idea
... one important democratic leader,
... for example, pointed out that
... while he knew nothing of the pro-
... ject, it appeared in the abstract to
... be unwise for the reason that it
... would represent Democratic as-
... sent to the oft-repeated Republi-
... can contention that additional
... credit is the farmer's salvation.

Raskob declined to say whether
... the project had been presented to
... Governor Smith for his personal
... consideration.

POLA WILL GO TO GERMANY

PARIS, Aug. 17.—(INS)—
... Pola Negri, Polish film beauty
... who won her reputation at Holly-
... wood, expects to go to Germany
... to make pictures, her husband,
... Prince Serge Mdivani, announced
... today. The Prince revealed that he
... had become his wife's manager
... and that he is going to Berlin to
... confer with German film producers
... in an effort to get a contract for
... Pola. Her American contract al-
... ready has expired. The Prince said
... that he and Pola would return to
... the United States, but will spend
... only part of their time there each
... year.

"Lone Wolf" Sought By Boston Police

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—(INS)—A
... "Lone Wolf," emulating the
... tactics of Harold Walters of
... Richmond, Va., the "Lone Wolf"
... who terrorized the Back Bay
... District a few years ago and who ... is now serving a life sentence in
... Charleston State Prison, today
... was sought in a round up staged
... by the police in the South Boston
... District.

Gaining entrance to the bed-
... rooms of two girls and attacking
... or annoying at least 25 others on
... the street, Boston's new "Lone
... Wolf," today had struck terror
... among the girls and young women
... of the South Boston District.

AIR MAIL PILOT SAFE

OLD FORT, N. C., Aug. 17.—

... count in a local newspaper of a
... payroll discrepancy in his depart-
... ment, amounting to a little more
... than $100, H. Robertson, county
... construction foreman, fired a
... bullet through his brain and died
... instantly today.

Bad Weather Delays Flight Of Rockford

COCHRANE, ONT., Aug. 17.—
... (INS)—The monoplane Greater
... Rockford, which reached here
... yesterday on the first leg of a
... proposed flight to Stockholm,
... Sweden, will not take off today
... for Mt. Evans, Greenland, the next
... stopping off place, because of un-
... favorable weather conditions.

Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer
... the pilots of the plane, made the
... 800-mile jump from Rockford, Ill.,
... to here in seven hours and 49
... minutes. They had intended leav-
... ing this morning for Mt. Evans,
... Greenland, a hop of 1600 miles,
... where the flight across the Atlan-
... tic was to begin.

IN VIOLENT ERUPTION

NAPLES, ITALY, Aug. 17.—
... (INS)—The eruption of the vol-
... cano Mount Vesuvius increased in
... violence today. A new mouth has ... opened in the crater from which
... molten lava is streaming. Dr.
... Malladra, director of the Mount
... Vesuvius Observatory is growing
... anxious over the increased
... activity of the volcano.

BOY SLAYS FRIEND

MCCROBY, ARK., Aug. 17.—
... (INS)—An "unloaded" pistol to-
... day cost the life of Jesse Daniels,
... 12, when his pal, Jack Heath-
... ington, asked Jesse to stand against a
... wall as target in make-believe
... gun play. The boys found the ... revolver in an attic and believed
... they had removed all the shells.
... One remained to pierce the heart
... of young Daniels, leaving his chum
... grief-stricken.

TEST ATLANTIC PLANE

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y.,
... Aug. 17.—(INS)—The sequi-
... plane Roma, with Roger Williams,
... Captain Sabelli and Capt. Piero
... Bonelli, who will comprise its
... crew on the flight to Rome, took
... off from Roosevelt Field at 6
... o'clock this morning on what is
... believed to be their final test
... flight.

PHYSICIAN IS DROWNED

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Aug. 17.—
... (INS)—Dr. W. B. Rose, prom-
... inent Little Rock Physician, drown-
... ed today in the Cache River near

Vessel, Wrecked In Hurricane, Sighted

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 17.—
... The coast guard cutter Modoc
... today was proceeding to a point
... off the North Carolina coast to
... blow up a wrecked ship.
... Nothing was known here as to ... the identity of the vessel, but it
... was thought it was a schooner
... wrecked in the recent storm
... which swept the Atlantic coast.

Airplanes Will Influence Future Architecture, Says Illinois College Professor

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 15.—(INS)—Architecture of the future will be governed more by the increasing use of the airplane than by any other one factor. This is the opinion voiced today by Prof. L. H. Provine, head of the department of architecture of the University of Illinois here. The view of Professor Provine is based on the demand the airplane makes for sufficient space for both handling and taking off.

"In spite of the fact that automobiles are becoming more numerous every day, modern architecture will not be affected by them nearly as much as by the airplane," Provine said.

Automobile Problem
Parking of automobiles is one of the great problems of the archi-

and the 1941 and express trains, something must be done to facilitate their landing almost at will. The tops of buildings are the logical place in crowded cities of the landing stages, because in this day of great speed distance from the landing field to the center of the business district must be cut as much as possible. Therefore, it would seem that the tops of buildings that today are just so much waste space must be utilized for this purpose.

Landing Fields
The cost of building landing fields on the tops of buildings will not be great. A certain amount of going in the downtown sections will secure a certain amount of uniformity in the height of buildings so that their tops will be of the same level. With a stretch of roof height of even elevation, the cost of building a landing field would not be great. The construction of the buildings to hold up the field would not be expensive, nor would the building footings need be materially increased in size.

"The platforms would in all probability be constructed at a uniform height for a given locality depending upon the nature of the business housed within the area involved. Also streets can be bridged at the roof lines of adjoining buildings thus permitting runways of any desired length," he concluded.

A New York hotel has found it necessary to equip each room with a corkscrew, Mr. but this is a dry land!—Buffalo Courier-Express.
