THIS CAR WENT OVER THE embankment along State Road 415 Saturday night landing upright after crashing through woods and underbrush for 410 feet. (Staff Photo)

Auto Crashes Through Concrete Posts Into Water

An '58 Oldsmobile sedan plunged into the water on the south side of State Road 415 shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday night just east of the Osteen Bridge.

The automobile, apparently out of control, smashed through three guard rail concrete posts before cutting a 410 foot swath through heavy grass and underbrush and before coming to a stop upright in about 12 inches of water.

Apparently turning over at least once before coming to a stop, the car was a total loss. Both windshields were smashed and the interior of the car covered with mud and water.

The car was found by Deputy Sheriff Denton Prevatt and Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway who had received the report that a car had gone over the embankment. However, Corp. Jake Raulerson of the Florida Highway Patrol was called to the scene after it was discovered that the crash was in Volusia County.

The car, a new one, had been driven only 4,422 miles, according to its speedometer and was owned by Herbert E. Rawls of 1206 Crescent St., Sanford.

No one was found in the car when the crash was discovered. A billfold, woman's pocketbook, and shoes were found on the front seat.

Corp. Raulerson reported that the owner of the car said "someone brought my wife home badly shook up and with a few scratches." Mrs. Dorothy Stephens, 28, a former telephone operator, was the driver of the car and at the time of the accident was returning home from New Smyrna Beach.

Wholesale Trade Increase Reported

Sales from wholesale trade in Florida in 1954 amounted to $3,402 billion, a 76 per cent increase over the level of sales in 1948, according to the current Economic Leaflet.

The Leaflet, published by the Bureau of Economic and Business Research, College of Business Administration, University of Florida, shows that Seminole County is 17th in rank, according to total sales for 1954.

Total sales for 1954 is shown as 25 million dollars, an increase of $3,600,000 over the 1948 period.

There were 1,714 employes in Seminole County wholesale establishments in 1954 as compared with 1,254 in 1948.

According to the Economic Leaflet, received today, there was an 11 per cent increase in payroll and a 39 per cent increase in paid employes in 1954 over the 1948 figures.

"During this same period of time," says Carter C. Osterbird, associate research professor, and Elise C. Jones, research assistant in the University of Florida Bureau of Economic and Business Research, authors of the leaflet, "the aggregate sales by wholesalers throughout the United States had increased 30 per cent."

Merchant wholesalers, with sales of $1,735.8 million, accounted for 51 per cent of 1954 Florida sales, with those engaged in the sale of food and related products responsible for by far the greatest volume of wholesale sales.

In volume of sales, Dade County led with a total of $645 million, followed closely by Duval with $322.3 million. Gulf had the largest percentage increase in wholesale trade over 1948 with an increase of 57 per cent, followed by Okaloosa with an increase of 46 per cent.

Leading cities in wholesale activity in 1954 are listed by the authors with Jacksonville in top position with $780 million, Miami in second place with sales of $695 million and Tampa third, with $492.

"In comparison with other southeastern states, Florida ranked fourth in the dollar volume of wholesale trade," first in aggregate payroll and first in the number of paid employes and active proprietors of unincorporated businesses.

The Economic Leaflet is sent to Floridians upon request.

Adult Swimming Classes To Begin Tomorrow At Pool

Red Cross swimming classes for adults will start tomorrow night at the Sanford Municipal Swimming Pool, according to an announcement today from Mrs. Muriel Scott, Water Safety Chairman of the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

It is the first time in six years that adults have had an opportunity to take swimming lessons, said Mrs. Scott.

With looking after children, and with so much interest in both water skiing and boating, parents should take advantage of this opportunity to learn to swim, she said.

The classes, which will begin at 7:30 tomorrow night, are for both men and women, for beginners and non-swimmers, Mrs. Scott announced.

There is no charge for the instruction, and for this reason "we would like to have as many turn out for the classes as possible," the instructor and water safety chairman said.

"Some have even signed up from DeBary," Mrs. Scott said.

It was announced today that 25 persons are participating in the Life Saving Course being offered. A Naval instructor has charge of this class.

Mrs. Scott added "instructions will be given on the new method of artificial respiration during the adult swimming classes getting underway tomorrow night."

Other matters to be discussed and considered by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners will come from the floor and from the commissioners.

Fishing Camp Is Becoming Favorite Among Anglers

By MARY FOWLER

At the Volusia side of Lake Monroe bridge on route 17-92 there is a fishing camp which has been growing in importance since it started a year ago. Cars, showing license plates from every state, register there; fishermen find that not only can they rent boats but they can find a mechanic who knows his stuff in repairing their boats or even capable of showing them a good bargain in a new outboard motor and supplies.

Edward Cox is the proprietor and he is no mean fisherman himself. Yesterday he and his wife, with a couple of visiting relatives from the North, caught seven bass, averaging from two and a half to six pounds and on the day before brought in eight good sized fellows.

The camp is so neat and well run that people are happy to make it a meeting place. Recently James Richards left his grandsons and a playmate there for fishing adventure and heeled them with a dollar or so for lunch. The boys spent this for bait and when the Campbell-Losing Post No. 33 of the American Legion has secured approximately seven acres of land fronting on Highway 17-92, one mile south of Sanford, for its new fair grounds, according to Lynn Lyon, Commander.

Commander Lyon, in a release this morning, said "The American Legion Post acquired this land in order to give the people of Seminole County a bigger and better fair than ever."

He explained "By securing this property which is double that of its present location, the American Legion can once again offer the people of the county a cattle show, more and bigger commercial exhibits, and school exhibits, as well as plenty of parking space off the highway."

Commander Lyon has appointed two committees to get the new project underway as quickly as possible. The committees are the building committee and the grounds committee.

Members of the building committee, appointed by the Post Commander, are Joel E. Field, chairman; R. E. Johnson Jr., George O. Maybury, and Karlisle Housholder, members.

The grounds committee will have as its chairman W. C. "Red" Hires with members J. Q. "Slim" Galloway and Sid Richard. Commander Lynn Lyon has appealed to all of the members of the Campbell-Losing Post, American Legion, to join in "with their suggestions and if they can offer any assistance whatsoever to combat the chairman of one of the two committees."

High school band enthusiasts from this area are invited to a fish fry to be held in conjunction with the dedication of a new recreation park at the foot of the Francis P. Whitehair Bridge across the St. Johns River on July 11.

The DeLand Band and Orchestra Association issued the invitation in which they state "This is the first activity to be staged in an effort to raise funds with which a bus will be provided for travel to their different engagements."

Officials of the organization say "There will be a short ceremony dedicating the park, boat rides, pony rides, a refreshment stand, and music by the band.

Fishing Camp

 rangers returned to pick them up they found the boys displaying an enviable catch for the photography. They told of the screams everyone heard from up the lake a bit and rushed there, fearing a young girl had fallen overboard. But it transpired that she merely had a surprise visitor jump in her boat: a huge bass.

"There is a friendly alligator there, too," says Ed Tideman, an ardent De Bary angler. "When we come in after a day of fishing, he swims alongside the boat and begs for a handout. We make for the shore, however, and he tries to lure us back by disporting himself about and show-off antics in the water. We leave, calling out, 'See you later, alligator!'"

It is only about 100 years since most cooking in America was done over open fires.

 and made orchestrations that count up, according to his list, of over 4,000 scores used by the radio and broadcasting companies.

Of Scandinavian extraction, he showed signs of musical precociousness at an early age and had the good fortune to be taken on by the famous musician and psychologist, Dr. Paul Yardin, himself a prodigy who acquired a doctor's degree when he was 21. When Von Hallberg first broke into the orchestration and arrangement field he found this group very poorly protected with regards to their financial security. "After a performance was once given, the composer would receive nothing further for use of his music which might attain enormous popularity but without a penny for the composer. So the youthful musician sparked interest in an organization which now is all-powerful, The American Society of Musical Arrangers, of which he is still vice president; he was also the first vice president of the Composers and Lyricists Guild of America and is on the governing board, available for consultations.

He branched out from piano and fell in love with the rich modulation evoked from an accordion, becoming so enthusiastic and proficient that he talked the well-known accordionist, Charles Magnante into holding a recital at Carnegie Hall to which they invited, not accordion critics but serious judges of musical art. Their performance was so well received that it inspired Von Hallberg to continue this type of study. In between giving lessons in harmony and piano composition, he encouraged young accordionists to perfect their skill. "To show you of how much interest the accordion is now," stated Von Hallberg, "the National Association of Musical Instruments show which will be held this month at the New Yorker, there will be entire floors given over to showing of accordions." Last month he was judge for the American Olympic team of accordionists, with prize winning competitors from each of the 48 states meeting in New York for the final selections.

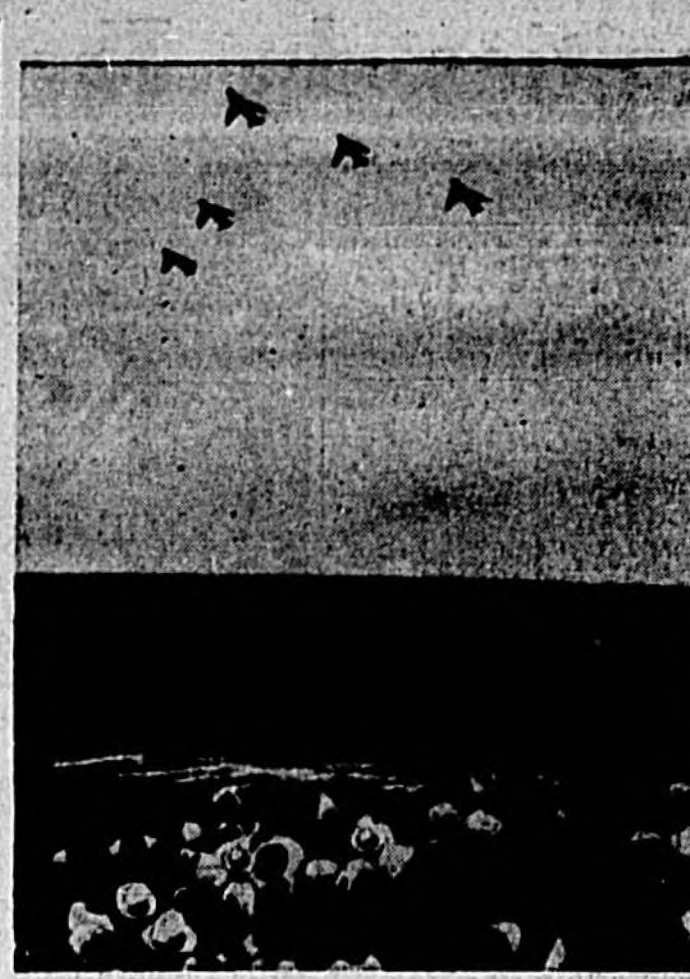

"They were all good," sighed Von Hallberg blissfully. "But none outshone the other until about the sixteenth entrant. He made us all sit up and take notice; his instrument sang, cried and talked to us, Young John La Padula. He will represent the U. S. in Switzerland this August at the Olympic finals when accordionists from all over the world will exhibit their skill. Of course he will meet stiff competition from the Swiss themselves, many of whom devote their life to this branch of music."

Von Hallberg looks youthful now although he talks of retirement. He weighs in at a slender 132-pounds which is most deceptive for he can lift a 200 pound weight with no trouble at all. He became incapacitated one day, he says, when he couldn't lift the corner of a 700 pound piano to place it more advantageously, so he began "exercises with concentration" and found that he could soon become the master of the piano situation with ease. He demonstrates that he can do 10 sit-ups with a 50 pound weight on his shoulder which is a source of wonder to his N. Y. police friends, for they, with an average of 180 pounds, do only five sit-ups with 30 pound weight on their shoulder. So if he should really retire and favor De Bary he may start something most interesting among the former white collar men of this town who find themselves confronted with unwanted weight lifting problems in their gardening. In between lessons in weight lifting there might be a most pleasurable act performed with awaying accordions on the De Bary patios in the golden moonlight.

Citrus Peels Becoming A Medicine Chest Item

By HERMAN M. DUNSMUIR, M. D.

THOSE orange and lemon peels which you are so accustomed to tossing away as useless seem to be developing into an important medicine chest item. Scientists are extracting chemicals called citrus bioflavonoids from the skins of such fruits.

Medical interest in bioflavonoids has been known to science for more than 30 years. Just recently, however, medical interest in them has increased. In fact, they were described at a New York Academy of Science seminar as "the most exciting, broad and hopeful field of biological inquiry today."

There are many natural sources of these chemical substances, but the most potent in orange and lemon peels. While they are somewhat similar to vitamins, it hasn't yet been proved that bioflavonoids are as necessary to human life as are vitamins.

They have been used experimentally against such ailments as the common cold, chickenpox, rheumatic fever, coronary thrombosis, tonsillitis, influenza, polio, and abnormal menstruation, diabetic complications—even tooth extractions. And they are often used as supplemental therapy in numerous diseases.

Apparently these bioflavonoids attack disease on a level pretty much overlooked until recently. Their work, it appears, is carried out in the body's 90,000 mile network of capillaries, or tiny blood vessels.

Dr. Benjamin W. Swislock, an authority on capillaries, believes that capillaries break down or are weakened when some chemical change occurs in the body. Bioflavonoids, he thinks, may strengthen brittle capillaries.

At any rate, more than a dozen drug firms are marketing bioflavonoid products and production of them has been tripled recently.

Chrysanthemum Production in State Expanding Rapidly

GAINESVILLE. — Chrysanthemum production — a new-come to Florida's cut-flower industry — is expanding rapidly. Production has increased 50 fold during the last six years.

Economists Cecil N. Smith and Donald L. Brooks with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations figure that income from large mums and pompons this season will reach $2,000,000. Last season's harvest on 230 acres brought growers $2,450,000.

The economists say this was not all profit. They point out that cost of chrysanthemum production is high — amounting to more than $10,000 per acre.

Irrigation, disease and pest control, plastic covering and fertilizer are among the essentials that push up production costs. Labor costs also are high. With more than 60,000 plants per acre, yielding 30,000 bunches of pompons, more than 1,000 hours of labor are required to produce an acre of flowers.

Pompon production is favored by producers over the larger flowering type. This season in Florida 222 acres are planted to pompons, compared with 11 acres planted to the standard or large chrysanthemum.

In Florida outdoor chrysanthemum production is on a November through June flowering schedule. Growers, using lights to control flowering, schedule major volume of flowering for January and February. Lesser flowering peaks are scheduled for Easter, in May and in June.

Martin County leads in mum production with 115 acres and Dade County is second with 10.3 acres. Other important producing areas include Lee, Charlotte, Palm Beach, Indian River and St. Lucie Counties, as well as several plantings in the Tampa Bay Region.

Chrysanthemum production in north and central Florida has failed to keep up with that in south Florida, the economists say. Favorable weather, including the shifting of the hurricane path away from Florida, has assisted growers to expand chrysanthemum production. Using controlled lighting and new insecticides and fungicides have also enabled producers to enlarge their scope of operation.

Recent repeated hurricane damage to the chrysanthemum industry along the Eastern seaboard has caused a shift of production to Florida. A number of Mid-Western flower growers have migrated to the Sunshine State and started producing pompons.

Man Able To See After 40 Years

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "To really see fried chicken, golden brown, crisp fried chicken... there's just nothing like it."

In these words 68-year-old Lester C. Crismon of nearby Whiteett described the joys of being able to see again after 40 years of blindness.

Blinded in 1916 by Iritis, an inflammation of the iris of the eye, Crismon, a farmer, lived in the world of the blind until an operation two weeks ago at Wesley Long Hospital here.

"It was the red-checked table cloth I saw first," Crismon told a reporter. "It was on the kitchen table and I could see the red and the green and the white on it. It was a Christmas present. And then I saw the green trees and cars going by the house."

BOOK DISTRIBUTED

PORTLAND, Ore. — The Oregon Republican Central Committee today distributed a 250-page book entitled "The Documental Record of Sen. Wayne Morse."

The committee hopes it will help defeat the Democratic senator in November.

The lithographed book is made up of statements by the senator, newspaper clippings, anti-Morse editorials, letters to the editor, excerpts from the Congressional Record and a running commentary.

FATHER KNOWS BEST

And when it comes to card games, father's preferences are Father, Pinocchio, Old Sumner and Crismon in that order according to the latest nationwide survey. This information is particularly appropriate now that Father's Day is just around the corner and many of us are looking around for something to please the man of the house on his special day.

Many people are unaware that three of these four games preferred by Dad over all others require playing cards or equipment different from the ordinary "bridge" deck that most of us use in playing a game of Contract Bridge, Canasta or Solitaire. For example, some of us may not know that the Father deck measures 5 1/2 inches in width as compared with the 5 1/4 inch bridge deck which came along with the patent in 1917. To emphasize the difference between the two decks, just pick up a Father deck in one hand and see how cumbersome it would be to play bridge with them.

Pinocchio, of course, has its own special deck which consists of only 48 cards. There are the Ace, King, Queen, Jack, ten and nine of each of the four suits, each card appearing twice.

As for Crismon, no one can play the game properly without employing a Crismon board. Such players use two rows, which advance along two parallel rows of thirty holes each. Starting from "game holes" at the end of the board, the pegs are advanced from the center row, then back the inner row; the distance between them always shows the player's last move, and the forward peg marks his consecutive total.

If your dad happens to enjoy any one of these three popular men's games, here's your chance to give him a most welcome Father's Day gift by adding to his stock of necessary equipment to enjoy these games. If he's not a Pinocchio, Father or Crismon player, but enjoys Old Sumner, Contract Bridge, Solitaire or any one of the hundreds of card games played by men, he'll welcome your gift of a double-deck of Bridge size cards.

If you give a gift of cards, you'll find that the wide variety will be another eventful day of the year.

Short Agenda Turns Out To Be Long Meet For Commissioners

A short agenda turned out to mean a long meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night. Faced with four items to be considered, the commissioners did not adjourn until 11:30 p. m.

The St. Johns Village project will get underway following the appearance of Sam Lawson, bulldozer, before the board to clear up details regarding sewer lines to be laid in the subdivision.

Block Seven, Tiers 14, 15 and 16, were rezoned last night from an R-1-X (single dwelling area) to R-2 (multiple unit) area. The rezoning will allow the Sanford Housing Authority to construct additional units.

Five year contracts with the Florida Power and Light Company were signed last night following authorization by the Board of Commissioners, to furnish power to operate the sewer lift stations. Heretofore, only short term contracts were signed. The lengthy contracts will give the City of Sanford an advantage of lower rates.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night recognized the efforts of Mrs. Harold Appleby in securing funds for the painting of highway signs at the approaches to the city.

Two complaints regarding street obstructions were made before the Board of Commissioners. One, near the intersection of First St. and Holly Ave., the other in front of the Ritz Theatre on Magnolia Ave.

The Campbell-Lossing Post 33, American Legion made the City an offer in regards to the transfer of property and the purchase of the fair building now inside the city limits. However, no action was made on the exchange of property within the city limits for property outside of the city, neither was there an agreement made on the purchase price of the present fair building.

A proposal was made by Commissioner John Kridler that the present warehouse now on the lakefront be torn down and plings removed from the lake. Commissioners say the building should be dismantled because of safety.

Commission Will Study Pari-Mutuel Betting In County

An application for pari-mutuel betting on harness horse racing in operators of the track in Seminole County, will announce its decision late today.

Seminole Park Raceway made the application for the state controlled betting and according to informants the request from the operators of the track in Seminole County near Casselberry, has a good opportunity of being approved by the Racing Commission.

However, no word has come out of Miami today relative to the action taken on the application. It is expected that the commission, meeting to set dates for Florida Greyhound tracks and horse racing tracks, will announce its decision late today.

Already, in its meeting yesterday, the commission has approved a Nov. 13 opening and Feb. 28, 1957 closing date for the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club in Seminole County.

The earlier date sets up the opening about six weeks from the original "day-after-Christmas" opening observed in past years.

Columnist Relates Seminole County Visit In Article

After three years, a well-known King Features Syndicate columnist from New York is still giving publicity plugs to Sanford and Seminole County, it was revealed today by Forrest Breckenridge, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Three years ago this summer, Alice Hughes, whose well-known column "A Woman's New York" appears in newspapers from coast to coast, visited in Seminole County for several days. While she was here the Chamber of Commerce made sure that she became quite well acquainted with the various attractions of the area, in most instances through personal visits to the various sections of the County.

She spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simpson at their home, "Lucky Acres," at Geneva. Each summer, the Simpsons send Miss Hughes some of the first fruits of the season from their lychee groves located in the vicinity of their home.

In her column for July 5, Miss Hughes reminisced about her visits to the Simpsons and described vividly their experiences in the development of their lychee groves, one of the few such operations in Florida.

In her resume of the area she says, "Geneva, from where the Simpsons send me lychees each year, is close to the City of Sanford, Florida in Seminole County, the heart of the citrus and celery belt. Whenever you see the label of an Indian paddling a canoe, on orange crates, the oranges come from Seminole County. In addition, Sanford is the winter retreat of the New York Giants. This entire area of Florida is especially agreeable, because it is almost totally devoid of tourists' influences. It's a place where people live and work quietly, without the mobs, traffic brawls, skyscrapers and nightclub life such as exists nearly everywhere else."

Lee Reappointed To City's Civil Service Board

Harry Lee was reappointed last night by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners to serve another three-year term on the City's Civil Service Board.

In other actions by the commissioners, Earl C. Faust, owner and operator of Faust's Drug Store, was appointed as a member of the City's Zoning and Planning Commission.

The commissioners last night failed to consider an ordinance establishing a subsistence allowance for Sanford Policemen. It will be necessary, according to the City Attorney, to wait until wage and salary schedules are established for the new budget year.

President Will Seek 2nd Term

Chapman To Serve On FHA Committee

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower is going to run for a second term.

Republican Senate Leader Knowland disclosed this at a dramatic news conference on the Gettysburg College campus today.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty stood by nodding.

Knowland said the President told a meeting of Republican congressional leaders he feels in better shape than he did when he made his Feb. 29 announcement that he would seek re-election.

"We are looking forward to a very vigorous and active campaign under his leadership," Knowland said.

"Are you telling us," a reporter asked "that the President is going to keep his hat in the ring?"

"I'm telling you precisely that," Knowland replied.

He added that Eisenhower "left no doubt in anyone's mind" that he will run again despite his June 9 intestinal operation.

Eisenhower himself appeared before reporters and photographers before and after an hour strategy session with the Capitol Hill leaders.

Knowland was asked whether Eisenhower had given thought to his decision to run again in the light of his recent illness, which followed by nine months his Denver heart attack.

"The fact remains he's in the race," Knowland replied.

The senator said he regarded Eisenhower's comments today as a "continuation" of his Feb. 29 announcement that he would accept renomination.

3 Teenage Girls Narrowly Escape Death In Accident

Three teenagers narrowly missed death yesterday shortly before noon when their borrowed car went out of control and turned over on its top in Death Valley, south of Sanford.

The accident occurred at approximately 11:30 a. m. yesterday, when Patricia Ann Murray, of DeLand, driving a 1954 Ford Coach and traveling, according to Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack at a speed of 60 miles per hour-plus in a construction zone with a speed limit of 30 miles an hour, came up behind a car traveling in the same direction, attempted to pass and then slammed on the brakes.

The car apparently skidded and went out of control turning over on its top, coming to rest with the car facing the highway on the opposite side of the road.

The accident occurred in the area where J. D. Manly Construction Company of Eustis has begun operations on the widening and four-laning of the Sanford-Orlando Highway.

Leaders Looking To Special Meet

Governor LeRoy Collins has started a round of conferences with legislative leaders looking toward a special session.

Yesterday he talked with Senator W. A. Shands of Gainesville, president-designate of the 1957 Senate. Later he drove with Sen. Wilson Carraway of Tallahassee to a conference in Madison with Senate President Turner Davis.

The Governor said he would meet tomorrow with House Speaker Ted Davis.

The Governor is hopeful the session can wind up its work well ahead of the 20 days it could legally run.

The formal call for the special session of the Legislature is being held up until Collins gets a report from a special committee studying ways of preserving segregation.

A special session of the Legislature could appropriate up to $15 million dollars without endangering the financial stability of the state, Comptroller Green says.

Green issued a survey of the state's financial condition yesterday in which he estimated $15 million dollars would remain as "pure surplus" at the end of the current business year June 30, 1957.

Green estimated the treasury would have an actual unencumbered balance of $33,448,698 as of June 30. But he said 25 millions of this should be reserved as working capital.

The comptroller said a 25 million dollar cushion is the minimum required to keep the state on a cash basis during the lean tax collection months.

Gov. Collins is expected to ask the Legislature in special session to appropriate $15 million dollars to help fight the Mediterranean (Continued On Page Three)

Board Rezones Part Of Area To C-T At Public Hearing

Residents Voice Objections

Everybody had their say last night as the Board of Sanford City Commissioners conducted a public hearing on the rezoning of the southwest corner of French Ave. and 25th St. from an R-1-A to a C-T classification.

The property, owned by Howard Hughes was originally divided into three categories, C-1, C-T, and R-1-A. The owner told the Board of Commissioners that the depth of the two front lots would not allow the development of a commercial area because of the depth of the lots and requested that four lots directly behind them be rezoned to comply with the front footage.

The request had been taken from the Planning and Zoning Commission to the Board of City Commissioners and back again in an attempt to settle the rezoning request.

However, neighbors within 500 feet objected to the property in their area being rezoned because of noise, lights, traffic, hazard to children, and undesirable promoters.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners, however, settled the matter by rezoning a portion of the property to a C-T classification, leaving a buffer zone of 15 feet between the rezoned property at property adjacent owned by Clay Williams. The buffer zone, as was proposed by Commissioner John Kridler, would remain an R-1-A.

Spokesman for the group appearing before the commissioners was Jimmy Wright whose home is located directly across the street from the area rezoned last night.

Wright appealed to the Board of Commissioners to keep the area zoned residential. He said, "I purchased my property in 1949, when the building inspector said the R-1-A zone was the highest zone in the City of Sanford. I built there with the understanding that I was building in the highest restricted section and with the understanding that I pay city taxes and would get protection against bear joints and fruit stands," he said.

Referring to a previous meeting, Wright said, "I would like for you to give me the same consideration you gave Mr. Daniels not so long ago when he bought property zoned as commercial. You people overruled the Zoning and Planning Board and upheld his basic rights—I maintain that progress has not progressed enough to rezone these lots." Wright is a former member of the Zoning and Planning Commission.

On an invitation from Mayor F. D. Scott, others in the group appearing before the Board of Commissioners spoke against the rezoning of the area.

Wright, speaking several times in answer to statements from Commissioners and from Howard Hughes said, "If it was progress I would be back home, but I don't see why I or Mr. Williams should be penalized because of speculation."

Clay Williams, voicing his objections to the rezoning before the Commissioners said, "I do not know how many times I've been down here on the same subject." (Continued On Page Three)

Florida State Bank Reports Good Year

Deposits and resources of the Florida State Bank are at an all time high, said Bank President T. E. Tucker today, with resources showing over $104 million, as he commented on the statement of condition as of June 30 and released yesterday.

Optimistic over the future growth of the bank along with the community, Tucker said "The earnings for the first half of 1956 were good."

"We have 1,000 more accounts than we had at this same time last year," Tucker said, "which is a strong indication that Sanford and Seminole County is growing."

The Florida State Bank President said, "We are proud of the progress that our bank has made and we feel like we are keeping pace and assisting with the overall growth of our area."

Speaking of any department of the bank, Tucker said this morning, "Our savings have shown a good, steady growth due to the fact that we pay 2 1/2 per cent on Saving Certificates, the largest interest rate that any insured bank can pay."

"We are grateful to see our savings grow," he said.

Officers of the Florida State Bank, other than T. E. Tucker as President, are: C. H. McNulty, chairman of the board; W. J. Peacock Jr. Cashier; Mary B. Douglas, Assistant Cashier; Ralph W. Peckol, Assistant Cashier; Dallas E. Loop, Personal Loan Officer; and Robert E. Kilpatrick, Assistant Loan Officer.

Directors of the bank are: Andrew Carraway; C. R. Clonts C. H. McNulty, W. A. Patrick, and T. E. Tucker.
