Reagan 'Hit List' To Please U.S. Chamber Probed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Reagan aide, upon delivering to presidential confidante Lyn Nofziger a list of 18 government employees the U.S. Chamber of Commerce wanted fired, scrawled in a 1981 note to the chamber's president, "We try to please."

Responding to a demand from Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., the chamber Thursday released the note and the "hit list" of employees it considered "unsympathetic to the objectives of this administration's economic recovery programs."

Dingell said a preliminary investigation by his Energy and Commerce subcommittee "raises serious questions of legality" about the decision of Reagan's personnel director, E. Pendleton

James, to transmit the list to government agencies.

Dingell said in some cases, "adverse" personnel actions were taken against targeted employees, and in others, "Strong pressure was applied to remove employees from their positions."

Those listed included 10 EPA officials, about six of whom have since left the agency; Anthony Rolsman, former chief of the Justice Department's hazardous waste section; a half dozen Labor Department employees and Maxine Savitz, deputy assistant energy secretary.

"I always say you can judge a person by his enemies," said Rolsman, now a public-interest lawyer, upon learning his name was on the list.

'I always say you can judge person by his enemies... This is wonderful'

"This is wonderful!"

Four top presidential aides Thursday denied through White House spokesman Larry Speakes any memory of the list or of a 1983 House meeting at which a former ranking Environmental Protection Agency official says they discussed the chamber list.

The chamber made public a copy of a Sept. 9, 1981, memo from Reagan aide Wayne Valls to Nofziger, then a White House aide, to which Valls attached the list.

Valls, in sending a copy of the memo to chamber president Richard Leshner, scribbled on the bottom, "Dick, We try to please. Best, Wayne."

Leshner first provided the list to James Aug. 26, 1981, two weeks after he hosted a luncheon among whose invited guests were James Valls and several industry officials.

John Daniel, former EPA chief of staff, recalled in an interview that the White House later passed a list containing the names of about eight EPA employees to agency administrator Anne Burford.

'Most Hated Man' On Death Row Executed

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — Ernest John Dobbert Jr., called "the most hated man on Florida's death row" for the torture deaths of his young daughter and son more than a decade ago, was executed today in the electric chair.

Dobbert, 46, was pronounced dead at 10:09 a.m. after the U.S. Supreme Court denied his last-minute appeal. About 20 pro-death penalty activists applauded outside the mammoth lime-green prison when the execution was announced.

As increasing numbers of death row inmates reach the end of their appeals, the nation hotly debates capital punishment. An exploration of the death penalty begins in Sunday's Herald.

The condemned man spent his final hours with his family, including his 17-year-old daughter — the sister of the two children he killed. He refused a final meal.

Dobbert was the sixth man executed in Florida's so-called "Old Sparky" electric chair this year and the eighth to die in the state since the Supreme Court reinstated the death penalty in 1976. He was the 23rd executed in the United States since the ban was lifted.

Dobbert, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound native of Milwaukee, Wis., was convicted of first-degree murder for strangling his daughter, Kelly Ann, 9, on Dec. 31, 1971, and sentenced to death. He also was convicted of second-degree murder for the death of his son, Ryder, 7, who died two months after Kelly Ann as the result of constant beatings.

He also was convicted of child abuse and torture of his children, one of whom, Ernest III, ran away from home at age 11 and later testified against his father.

Dobbert, who had claimed he had been a victim of child abuse himself, had been scheduled to be part of a double execution Thursday. But he received a stay until today, and Nollie Lee Martin, also a convicted killer, was granted an indefinite delay while his appeal was heard.

Dobbert, who had been scheduled to die in Florida's electric chair twice before, was turned down by the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta late Thursday and attorneys had rushed his case to the nation's highest court.

The Atlanta appeals court allowed a temporary stay it had granted Dobbert earlier in the week to expire at 10 a.m. today and state prison officials set his execution for that hour.

Dobbert's history of venting his violent rages on his children made him "the most hated man on Florida's Death Row," officials said. Dobbert admitted beating his children, but denied killing any of them.

He was visited late Thursday and early today by several family members including his mother Catherine Dobbert.

Postal Board To Advise 22-Cent Stamp

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Rate Commission is expected to recommend that the cost of a first-class stamp be raised from 20 cents to 22 cents at its meeting today.

The Postal Service requested a 23-cent hike last November. The Washington Post, quoting industry sources, said the commission would recommend a 22-cent increase that could become effective as early as next February.

The commission is the rate-making body that first must approve requests to raise postal rates.

Voter Sign-Up Hours Extended

Push On To Finalize County's Nov. Ballot

Seminole Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard is expanding office hours to include Saturdays for the next five weeks to register those who wish to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 6 general election. She is also ready to prepare absentee ballots to get them in the mail early, if the state cooperates.

Mrs. Goard said she talked to state elections officials Thursday urging that a format of the state ballot for the general election be sent to Seminole County as soon as possible. She told the state officials Seminole County does not have a run-off primary election this year, therefore there is no need to wait for its outcome before the November election ballots are prepared. She said she and her staff want to get the absentees out as soon as possible.

The only decision which must be made before the Seminole County portion of the ballot is ready for printing is the wording for the proposed one-cent sales tax increase for one year.

That decision is slated to be formally made by the county commission at its regular Tuesday meeting, said County Commissioner Barbara Christensen. The issue is scheduled for discussion at a Monday afternoon workshop session.

If the people approve the one cent sales tax for one year, the county will receive about $13 million in revenues to be used to expand the county jail and renovate the courthouse for solely judicial functions.

Mrs. Goard's County Public Services Building will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday beginning this week while her branch office at Sand Lake Center, state Road 434 and Sand Lake Road, Longwood, will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The registration books for the general election close Oct. 4, Mrs. Goard said.

On the general election ballot, in addition to the presidential and vice presidential contests and the one cent sales tax referendum, will be races for a state senate seat, two Florida House of Representatives offices, two county commission posts, a school board seat, property appraiser's and clerk of the circuit court's office.

The state portion of the ballot will also contain eight proposed constitutional amendments.

Mrs. Goard said the ballot for the election will be at least two punch cards long to be voted on both sides and possibly three cards long.

Separate ballots in Altamonte Springs, Winter Springs and Casselberry will include city election items.

Meanwhile, nominees of the Democratic and Republican Parties vying in the general election are: Jim Martin, D-Eustis, and Richard Langley, incumbent, R-Clermont, Senate District 11; Joy Anderson, D-Tanglewood, and Carl Selph, incumbent, R-Winter Park, state House of Representatives, District 34; Donald E. McKenna, D-Orlando, and Thomas B. Drage Jr., incumbent, R-Winter Park, state House of Representatives, District 36; Carl Patin, D-Casselberry, and Barbara

P&Z Blocks Rezoning

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A request to rezone from agricultural to industrial a 19-acre parcel at the northeast corner of Pine Way and Mellenville Avenue was turned down by the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission on a 5-to-4 vote Thursday night after six nearby property owners spoke out against the proposal.

Despite pleas from the homeowners that they be told what type of industry and structures were planned for the property, William C. Hutchison Jr., attorney and trustee of the parcel, would only say it "would not be in the best interests of the owner to develop the tract into something trashy."

"I represented this city for 17 years (as city attorney)," Hutchison said, "and I make sure when I am asking for a change (in zoning) that it is best for the community as a whole."

William Clark, who said he is building a $100,000 home near the tract, said his property would go down in value if the requested rezoning were approved.

Other opponents made similar complaints, insisting their area is now residential in character.

Hutchison said that homeowners in that area are near enough to industrial development "that they are already hurt" and he chided that people "have got to realize change is going to happen. This is not essentially a residential area."

Board member J.Q. "Slim"

Galloway said those opposed to the rezoning would like to see this property used as a buffer zone between residential and industrial development, but he warned that under its agricultural zoning a hog farm could be created there.

Brent Carl, another board member, said a decision on the rezoning was tough. He said the rezoning would be a logical extension of nearby industrial zoning and yet he could understand the opposition.

"I'm up in the air to know what to do," he said.

Member Bettye Smith said none of the decisions made by the board are easy.

Galloway reminded the board would ultimately have another crack at the property through site plan examination if the rezoning were approved and the board could make sure whatever development were planned at the site would not be detrimental to the homeowners.

Galloway and Mrs. Smith's motion to approve the request failed 5-4. Voting with Mrs. Smith and Galloway to approve were board chairman John Morris and member Cliff Miller. Voting against approval were Sheila Roberts, Carl, Gary Davidson, C.B. Franklin and Darrell Grieme.

In other business, the board unanimously turned down a request from Empire of America bank for rezoning to multi-family residential from single family home zoning of a 1.4 acre lot in Sanora subdivision.

15 California Killings Cleared By Lucas Visit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fifteen California killings, including the sex-murders of two little girls, were solved during a secret tour of the state by Henry Lee Lucas, the one-eyed drifter who claims to have killed 360 people, authorities say.

Attorney General John Van de Kamp said Thursday that Lucas, who faces a U.S. record 34 murder charges, took authorities on an exhaustive tour that cleared up 15 unsolved murders.

Lucas, 48, who has been sentenced to die by lethal injection in Texas, has claimed to have killed more than 360 people during an eight-year cross-country odyssey.

Lucas led officers on a 4,000-mile, 10-day trek last month, telling how and where 14 females and one male were murdered.

Tot Receives Dad's Kidney

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Tiny Stephanie Reed, 18 months old, was in stable condition today and beginning the year-long process of growing into the kidney she received from her father.

Doctors at the University of Minnesota Hospitals Thursday transplanted a kidney from Walter Reed, 28, of Brandon, Fla., into the body of his daughter. The operation was the first for a child of her age. She suffers from a kidney inflammation malady so rare it does not have a name.

Reed and his daughter, who is only the size of a 6-month-old, were "doing fine" after the less than four-hour operation performed by Dr. John S. Najarian, the university's surgery chairman, hospital spokeswoman Mary Stanik said.

Without a healthy, functioning kidney, doctors said Stephanie's growth might forever be stunted. Her life has been a series of dialysis bag changes and tube feedings in recent months.

'Texas Troubadour' Dead At 70

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — "Texas Troubadour" Ernest Tubb has died, surrounded by family and friends and hailed by mourning country music colleagues as a pioneer of the honky-tonk style and "last of the cowboys."

Tubb, who wrote 150 songs, recorded 800 and was vaulted to stardom with his 1941 hit "Walking the Floor Over You," died of emphysema Thursday at the age of 70. Services were scheduled at 2 p.m. Monday at Two Rivers Baptist Church in Nashville.

The Crisp, Texas native joined the Grand Ole Opry in 1943 and made his last public appearance there Aug. 14, 1982.

Tubb's "Midnight Jamboree" radio show, which aired at the close of regular Grand Ole Opry performances, gave early experience to such stars as Johnny Cash, Elvis Presley, Pat Boone and Loretta Lynn.

Seminole Unemployment Stands At 5.9%

Jobless Rate Steady At 7.5%

From Staff, Wire Reports

The nation's unemployment rate remained unchanged at 7.5 percent in August, the same as in May and July, but black males made major gains in employment as students left summer jobs, the Labor Department said today.

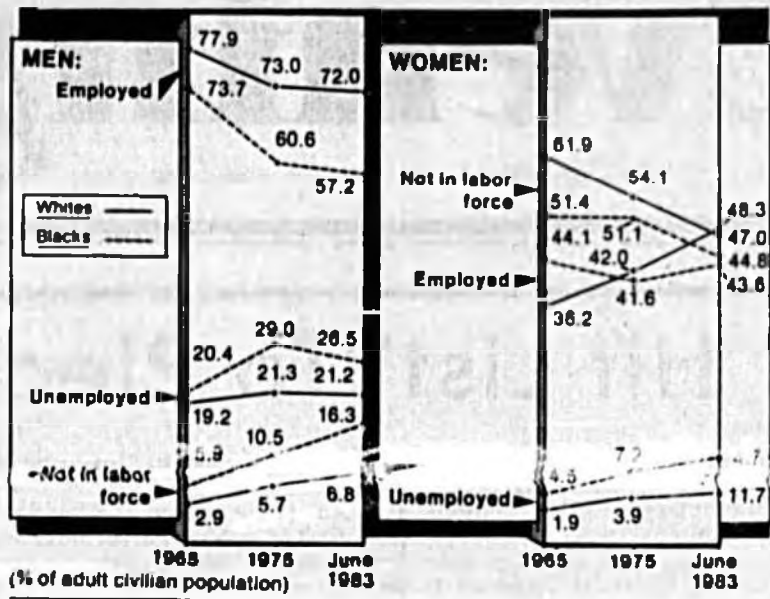

The politically sensitive figures confirmed the economic slowdown from a spectacular first half of the year and suggested there may be little further improvement in the unemployment rate before election day.

But the auto industry added 30,000 jobs in August and the services industries created 45,000 additional jobs.

The unemployment picture in Seminole County is a little brighter than that nationally, according to Jim Dietrich, manager of the Florida State Employment Service Sanford office.

He said the latest figure he has is for July, which was 5.9 percent (up from 5.5 in June), and he said he expects the August figure for the county to remain about the same.

Job orders are coming in at about the same rate and construction is basically the same, he added. He credits the summer rise in unemployment to a slow period for agricultural workers and schools being closed.

The jobless rate for black men improved to 14.2 percent from July's 15.7 percent, reflecting an increase of 100,000 jobs.

The department said about 425,000 young people left the workforce to return to school during the month.

The number of people looking for work remained at 8.5 million. The rate dropped to 7.1 percent in June, the best reading during the Reagan administration, before bouncing back up in July to where it was when President Reagan took office.

During the depth of the recession the rate climbed to 10.7 percent in November and December 1982.

"The employment data for August, when taken together with those for July, suggest that employment growth has moderated from the rapid pace registered earlier in the recovery," Janet Norwood, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said in testimony prepared for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress today.

If the unemployment rate does not improve any more from now on it will be a major disappointment for factory workers who have regained only three-quarters of the jobs lost during the recession that ended 21 months ago, according to department figures.

The rate of unemployment for black teenagers was 41.7 percent in August, slightly better than the 42.4 percent rate in month before.

From Phone In Lobby Of Jail

Man Guilty Of Threatening Deputies

A brazen Orlando man who reportedly made threatening phone calls from the lobby of the Seminole County jail to the sheriff's department and assaulted two officers who approached him after the calls has been found guilty after a non-jury trial.

Joseph Harrison Luske, 42, was found guilty Aug. 30 by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi of two assaults on law enforcement officers. Salfi set Nov. 1 for sentencing.

Luske could receive from six months to five years for each conviction.

According to his arrest report, Luske was originally charged with being drunk and disorderly at 8:14 p.m. April 5 at 33 Spanish Oak Lane, Forest City.

After he posted $100 bond and was released from jail on that charge, deputy John Thorpe allegedly heard him threatening to kill the deputy who had arrested him. The threats were reportedly made from a pay phone in the jail lobby and were directed to the communications center of the sheriff's office.

Communication center workers sent the arresting deputy, Steven Walthers, and another deputy, Anthony Diaz, to the jail to investigate the threats. When they approached the suspect, who was at the pay phone with Thorpe standing nearby, he reportedly threatened to kill the officers. He took a fighting stance and approached them with flat drawn back, ready to strike, a sheriff's report said.

Walthers grabbed Luske by the arm and at the same moment Diaz punched him in the mouth, cutting his lip. Luske was wrestled to the floor, handcuffed and taken to the booking area of the jail, where he allegedly continued to threaten to kill the lawmen.

He was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, for the injury to his mouth.

Acne Medicine Draws $125 Million Lawsuit

MIAMI (UPI) — The parents of a malformed boy who died five months after birth have filed a $125 million lawsuit against the makers of a drug to treat acne and the doctor who prescribed it to the expectant mother.

Lawyers involved in the suit said it was the first in the nation to be filed against the makers and purveyors of the drug, Accutane.

The suit was filed on behalf of Kevin Felix-Baptiste by his mother, Yolanda Felix and father, Kelly Baptiste. It said the experience destroyed their plans to be married.

Named as co-defendants in the suit filed in Dade County circuit court Tuesday were Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc., a foreign firm doing business in the United States as Roche Laboratories, and Dr. Gerald Greenwald, a Miami dermatologist, and his Greenwald corporation.

Porn Convictes Must Buy Books

NAPLES (UPI) — A circuit court judge has ordered a man convicted of selling pornographic magazines to a minor to donate $1,000 worth of books to the Collier County Library in lieu of a prison term.

Judge Charles T. Carlton Wednesday ordered David Wylie Donaldson, 54, who said he can't afford to donate the books right away, to pay his literary debt in monthly installments, beginning next month.

Donaldson thought the sentence was "very fair," and said it was something he would be proud to do on his own.

Donaldson also was placed on two-years' probation in conjunction with his July conviction, but Carlton said he may waive the probation once the books are in place.

Shoplifter Nabbed For Mall Stealing Spree

Altamonte Springs police say that a Maitland man nabbed for allegedly shoplifting at a grocery store Thursday went on an early-morning stealing spree at six shops in the Altamonte Mall.

The man was captured when a police officer saw him being chased from Publix, 486 E. state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, at about 9:42 a.m. Thursday. The officer reported cutting the man off as he ran from the store's manager and an employee who claimed the man had just gone through Publix and collected vitamins and other items in a blue cloth bag. The man didn't pay for the merchandise and refused to stop when the store employees confronted him, police report.

The man allegedly hit his pursuers with the bag and struggled with two policemen who arrested him. He was charged with battery to a police officer.

After the man was questioned, investigators said the man had entered the Altamonte Mall, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, through a private entrance at about 8 a.m. Thursday.

He then proceeded to rob six stores, including Nice Music, Things Remembered, Park Lane, Chess King, Leather Junction and the Jewelry Box.

Anthony John Garan, 22, of 1944 Poinsetta Lane, was charged with six counts of burglary, and six counts of petty

SHOPLIFT AND RUN
A woman detained in a Sanford business for attempting to shoplift $39 worth of goods escaped from security personnel by jumping a wall in the store's office and running away.

According to Ann Norelle, 54, manager of Eckerd Drugs, 950 State Rd., a woman was detained by a store security officer for shoplifting eight bottles of hair curling lotion and a woman's purse 5:30 p.m., Tuesday.

She was taken to the store office by the security officer, but while there jumped over a raised wall and fled on foot westbound, according to the police report.

The shoplifter was described as a heavy set black female with a tapered Afro wearing a khaki dress with dark print.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
A backhoe trailer worth $2,000 was stolen from a service station construction site at state Road 436 and Bear Lake Road, Forest City, Supervisor Richard D. Buchholz, Longwood, reported to deputies that the trailer was stolen Monday.

A temporary power pole worth $185 was stolen from a construction site on Langford Road, lot 123, Chuluota, between Aug. 23 and 24. Joyce W. Patten, 51, of Winter Springs, reported the loss of Shubert Construction Co., state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, to deputies.

Four batteries worth a total of $200 were taken from a truck parked behind a building belonging to Cement Products Corp., at 1850 state Road 427, Longwood, Kenneth William, 45, reported to deputies the theft occurred Monday or Tuesday.

Thomas Edward Flacco, 19, of Lakeland, reported to deputies that his 1979 Ford, which had broken down, was stolen while parked on the roadside of Interstate 4 near Sanford, Saturday. The value of the car was not listed in the sheriff's report.

Building materials worth $300 were stolen from a construction site at lots 24 and 25 on Tropical Drive at 8th Street, Chuluota. The materials belong to Jim Walter's Corp., Orlando. The theft occurred Saturday or Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

Israel Will Not Allow Cease-Fire To Collapse

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israel says it will not allow a cease-fire to collapse in Lebanon's Iklim Kharroub hills and coastal region, where fighting between Christian and Druze Moslem militias has forced hundreds of people to flee their homes.

Security sources reported scattered sniping incidents late Thursday in the 5-mile-wide strip of villages which were raked by a night of heavy shelling that ended Wednesday.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Arens said Thursday in a television interview that Israel was in contact with "both elements" in a bid to stabilize the situation.

He said Israel showed it would not stand by and allow the cease-fire to collapse by sending an armored patrol across the Israeli army line on the Awali River at least 7 miles into the region. The patrol withdrew Wednesday.

U.S. Vetoes Lebanon Resolution

United Press International

The United States has vetoed a U.N. Security Council call on Israel to end restrictions it imposed in southern Lebanon since its troops occupied the volatile region more than two years ago.

The 15-nation council Thursday voted 14-1 on a Lebanese draft resolution that urged Israel to "strictly respect the rights of the civilian population" in southern Lebanon.

U.S. delegate Warren Clark termed the draft "unbalanced" and "myopic" and said it did not take into account the situation in the rest of Lebanon, which is also occupied by Syrian forces.

Among the restrictions the resolution listed were "closing of roads and crossings, the limitation of freedom of movement of individuals and the normal flow of persons and goods between those areas and the rest of Lebanon."

Iranian Judge Threatens Swede

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI) — An Iranian judge's threat to kill a Swedish colleague has prompted an indefinite suspension in the work of a tribunal handling claims arising from the 1979 takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Diplomats said the Iranian judge, Mahmoud Kashani, made the threat Thursday after refusing to apologize for assaulting Swedish arbitrator Nils Mangard, 69, on Monday.

In Monday's incident, Kashani and another Iranian judge, Shafey Shafey, grabbed Mangard by the collar, twisted his arm around his back and pounded him with their flats. The Swede was not hurt and was escorted out of the tribunal chamber under police protection.

Diplomats said the Iranian delegation two years ago filed an official complaint with the International Court of Justice — which set up the tribunal — charging that Mangard was not objective.

Vatican To Interrogate Maverick

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican summoned for interrogation today a leading exponent of "liberation theology," a Roman Catholic movement that supports revolutionary change to aid the poor.

The Rev. Leonardo Boff, a Brazilian, was called to Rome for using Marxist concepts in his writings about liberation theology, which is particularly strong in Latin America.

He is scheduled to appear to explain his views before a commission of inquiry of theologians from the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, the department once known as the Inquisition.

If Boff, 46, fails to satisfy the commission during the closed doors hearing it could condemn his book or ask him to retract his opinions publicly and express full adherence to the teachings of the church.

... 'Hit List'

Daniel said Burford was upset to find the name of Walter Barber, a highly respected career official who had been acting EPA chief, at the top of the list. He said, "She told me she threw it in the trash can."

He said he did not know whether the list was related to the eventual departures of any of those named.

Sources said James, who since has left the government, noted on the memo to Burford that copies also were sent to White House chief of staff James Baker.

White House counselor Edwin Meese, and Nofziger, now a consultant to the president's re-election campaign.

The chamber also released an internal note from Harvey Alter, manager of the chamber's environmental quality division, urging Rolsman be listed because he was "strongly anti-industry and pro-government takeover of manufacturing facilities."

Rolsman said he left the Justice Department in January 1982 because he had "nothing to do" after his unit was merged with another section and he was shifted from his job to become a special assistant to the deputy attorney general.

Soviets Replace Armed Forces Chief Of Staff

MOSCOW (UPI) — Marshal Nikolai Ogarkov, the No. 2 officer in the Soviet military who was given the chore of explaining why a South Korean airliner was shot down, has been removed from his post — but is unclear whether he is in disfavor or being readied for a better job. In an announcement Thursday, the Soviet news agency Tass said Ogarkov was out as armed forces chief of staff, a position in the military hierarchy second only to Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov.

Also listed was Barbara Bankoff, a Carter political appointee who was fired from her EPA job in 1981 and later was reinstated after the 1983 shakeup resulting in Burford's resignation.

Bankoff said Burford had "every right" to fire her because of her political status, but (alled the other career appointees listed "some of the most reasonable, most open, most well-respected people in the agency."

Daniel's personal notes, released previously by Dingell's panel, indicate that the chamber list was discussed March 2, 1983, at a White House meeting to review the mounting controversy about Burford's stewardship of the agency.

According to the notes, presidential assistant Craig Fuller told Daniel in a phone call that the meeting was attended by Baker, Fuller, White House Counsel Fred Fielding and Speakes.

Speakes said Baker, Fuller and Fielding "do not recall such a meeting" and that he would handle all questions on the matter.

"Nobody remembers the meeting," Speakes said.

Daniel's notes, however, state that Fuller told him, "They did locate Chamber of Commerce list — sent from Penn James to Anne (Burford) in 1981."

Without explaining the move, Tass said Ogarkov was replaced by career officer Sergei Akhromeyev — who had been Ogarkov's first deputy chief of staff.

The downing of the Korean airliner worsened Soviet-U.S. relations.

For False Arrest, Assault

Man Suing Sheriff's Deputy, County

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Charging a deputy assaulted him while making a false arrest, a former Maitland man is suing a Seminole County deputy and the county for damages.

Samuel Radabaugh, now of the Jacksonville area, filed suit in circuit court seeking an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000 from both the deputy and the county.

Radabaugh states in the complaint, dated Aug. 23, that on March 28, sheriff's deputy Allan McCormick illegally arrested him for an alleged misdemeanor that did not happen in the deputy's presence.

According to Radabaugh, a woman told McCormick while in the parking lot of Goodings, in Maitland, that Radabaugh battered her. McCormick, Radabaugh said, investigated the claim and went to Radabaugh's Maitland home at 605 Endsley Court.

Radabaugh said he went to his door with his .38 caliber revolver at his side. He said the deputy pulled his revolver and ordered him to drop the gun.

Radabaugh said in the complaint that he then turned and told the deputy he could enter the house. The deputy then reportedly grabbed him from behind, twisted his arm from the back and applied a choke hold, causing Radabaugh to become semi-conscious.

He said the deputy arrested him not for the battery on the woman, but for aggravated assault on a law enforcement officer and resisting arrest with violence.

On June 23, according to the complaint, Assistant State Attorney Ralph Eriksson declined to prosecute the case, stating there was insufficient evidence to legally support a conviction.

Radabaugh claims the deputy acted with malice and had no probable cause to arrest him. He said his reputation was damaged, that he was assaulted, battered, and subjected to false arrest.

Administration Pushing Ratification Of 35-Year-Old Anti-Genocide Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration, predicting the measure can pass this year, is urging the Senate to ratify a treaty against genocide adopted by the United Nations 35 years ago and first sent to Congress by President Harry Truman.

"Ratification would reaffirm in this international legal context the fundamental and timeless American commitment to human rights," the State Department said in announcing the administration's support for the measure.

The United Nations recommended the treaty in 1948 as a result of Nazi Germany's "Final Solution" of exterminating Jews in Germany and in other occupied countries.

Despite executive branch support, U.S. backers were unable to muster enough support in following year for the measure to be ratified by the Senate.

The 1948 convention makes genocide, in peace or war, an international crime and obliges the signatory nations to write specific laws to prevent and punish it.

Some American critics argued that such a requirement impinged on U.S. sovereignty.

Genocide is defined as "the intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national, ethnic, racial or religious group." That would include killing, systematic forcible sterilization of groups or separating children from the group.

The State Department said the administration had completed an extensive review of the legal implications and, "The president concluded that it would be in the nation's best interest for the United States to ratify the Genocide Convention."

The announcement came just a day after President Reagan spoke to the Jewish organization B'nai B'rith.

Department officials expect the treaty to have enough support to win the necessary two-thirds majority in the Senate before Congress adjourns for the session.

According to State Department officials, the treaty has never been invoked in its 35 years of existence by any of the 96 nations that have signed and ratified it.

A Justice Department official said the principal importance of the treaty is that it would act as a deterrent to any thought of genocide by any U.S. citizen or official.

A State Department official said another equally important reason is the "symbolism, which plays a very important role in human rights matters."

The official explained that in international forums dealing with human rights, the Soviet Union has been able to cite the U.S. refusal to ratify the Genocide Convention as evidence that the United States is not committed to preventing such crimes.

U.S. Mercenaries At Center Of U.N. Complaint

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua has lodged an urgent protest with the U.N. Security Council over the involvement of two American mercenaries in a recent rebel air strike, a charge the council promised to take up today.

Defense Ministry spokeswoman Capt. Rosa Pasos, meanwhile, denied that Libyan troops were fighting alongside Nicaraguan soldiers in the war against U.S.-backed rebels.

"This thing with Libya is no more than an excuse for their (U.S.) participation" in the war, Pasos told a news conference Thursday.

"We have said before that our revolution has Libyan aid in all areas — economic, political and defense — but we deny there are any Libyan soldiers on our territory," she said.

Pasos charged the Reagan administration and rebels of the Honduran-based Nicaraguan Democratic Force with using the Libyan troop issue to justify Saturday's attack on a Nicaraguan military school in which two Americans and a guerrilla were killed when their helicopter was shot down.

Nicaragua claimed the two Americans were CIA operatives and swiftly submitted a formal protest to the U.N. Security Council over the attack on the military school near the Honduran border that killed five Nicaraguan civilians.

Stamp Thief Facing 15 Years For Theft From Longwood Home

A man who acted as his own lawyer and was found guilty of grand theft, is scheduled to be sentenced Nov. 15 for stealing $50,000 worth of stamps from a Longwood home.

John M. Ference, 55, of Hudson, Fla., who has at least 6 aliases, may also owe $170,500 in income taxes.

Ference was found guilty Thursday by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi in a non-jury trial. Ference could receive up to 15 years in prison for first-degree grand theft.

According to court records, he is also known as Russel Kermit Rowe, Michael W. Borowiec, John Ference, William Marshall, Glenn Ray Panley, and Jim Thorney.

Ference was found guilty of breaking into the home of Alfred Leonardo, 105 Clove Court, Longwood, between 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Feb. 3. He reportedly went through dresser drawers and took stamps worth $50,000. They were insured.

A month later on March 3, Ference was stopped in Pensacola by police who found $333,000 worth of jewelry, coins, rare stamps, and silver ingots in his van.

He was transported from the Escambia County jail, where he was being held on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, to Sanford to face the theft charge.

According to a letter in Ference's court file, the Internal Revenue Service says Ference engaged in profitable illegal activities starting in 1980 and, according to the value of items confiscated from him, owes $170,518.37 in income tax.

Getting Out The Vote ...

As the presidential election approaches, both major parties have launched plans for multimillion-dollar fund-raising campaigns to finance efforts to register and get to the polls those voters who favor their respective candidates. There is nothing wrong with these efforts, which are to be paid for largely by so-called "soft money" donations that fall outside the areas regulated by the Federal Election Commission. But more voters would participate and such partisan get-out-the-vote drives would be less necessary if the United States had the kind of politically neutral, simpler and easier registration system that other democratic countries have.

In the United States, only 48.5 percent of the potential electorate actually voted in the 1982 congressional elections. Many of those who didn't vote were of age and otherwise qualified but had not registered, often because of needless impediments. Of those in the United States who are registered, between 80 percent and 90 percent do vote — figures comparable to voter turnout in other democracies where registration is made easier. In Britain, for example, registrars actively canvass and write to potential voters; in Canada they visit each household as in a census. In the United States, such government registration efforts are often resisted, particularly by officeholders, who have been elected by voters registered under rules they know and are happy with.

Although failure to vote in this country may be due in part to voter apathy, it is no doubt also due to difficulties in registration caused by unknown rules and inconvenient hours and places of registration. One method that could produce greater voter participation would be mass mailings from election officials informing potential voters of the rules and the places and hours for registration.

Troubled Showcase

"Coups are not something that Costa Ricans do," says one U.S. official.

Yet Costa Rica's Civil Guard, in charge of national security, did the unthinkable. It went on alert this month because Costa Rica's Public Security Minister Edward Solano said he heard rumors the government was about to be overthrown.

Solano, since fired, claimed later he was only joking. If it was a joke, American diplomats probably didn't laugh very hard.

With the United States worried about a Marxist government in Nicaragua and guerrilla strife in El Salvador, the specter of political turmoil in Costa Rica is especially disturbing.

Costa Rica, run democratically since 1948, is supposed to be Central America's showcase of democracy. Still, its government is adrift, and the United States appears to have no comprehensive policy to deal with the destabilizing forces bedeviling Costa Rica.

The roots of controversy stem from an economic recession and a bickering cabinet. Solano, a liberal, was at odds with Alfonso Carro, a highly conservative minister of government administration who headed the Rural Guard.

President Luis Alberto Monge, midway through his four-year term, fired both Carro and Solano, a move it is hoped will help him reassert his authority over his floundering government.

If Monge were to be overthrown, it would be a severe blow for the United States. At this point, U.S. diplomats should threaten a cutoff of U.S. aid if Monge is ousted.

BERRY'S WORLD

By Donna Estes

A few years ago a group of close friends, all Democrats, held five powerful offices in Seminole County — three county commission seats, the county attorney's office and a seat in the Florida House of Representatives.

The county commissioners were: Mike Hattaway, Harry Kwiatkowski and Sidney L. Vihlen Jr. Their close friend, Tom Freeman, was county attorney, while another friend, Bobby Hattaway, held a seat in the Florida House of Representatives.

Bobby and Mike are cousins. With Tuesday's election, another group, this time Republicans, hold even more powerful offices than the Hattaway group.

The group includes: U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, state Rep. Bobby Brantley, County Commissioner Bob Sturm and Commissioner-elect Fred Streetman.

The Hattaway group dwindled away from public office over a 10-year period. Vihlen was defeated in a try for a congressional seat. Mike Hattaway was defeated in a bid for re-election eight years ago by a political unknown at the time, Bob French of Longwood.

Kwiatkowski decided six years ago to retire from the political arena after one term on the county commission and didn't run for re-election.

The county hired Harry Stewart and then Nikki Clayton as staff attorney and Freeman went back to his private law practice full time.

And two years ago, Bobby Hattaway, after four terms in the House was defeated in a bid for a state Senate seat.

McCollum this year won election to a third term unopposed. Brantley won a fourth term unopposed. Sturm is serving the second year of his second term and Streetman was elected Tuesday by a landslide over Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather.

In addition, Fred Hitt was elected Tuesday to the new county judgeship with Sturm as his honorary campaign manager. Jim Stelling, who was Brantley's campaign manager twice, was a major force in Hitt's campaign. Streetman was also a Brantley campaign manager in the past.

Streetman ran a fantastic campaign. He did all the classic things — put up signs, sent a mailing to the voters, had a telephone campaign, walked door-to-door soliciting votes — and everything worked out right.

He carried all of the county's 72 precincts and won by a landslide, capturing 82 percent of the vote.

In recent years, no other candidate for county office in Seminole has won by such a large margin.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Election Season Mood

NEW YORK (NEA) — The dispute over the relationship, if any, between politics and religion has become entangled, probably inevitably, in the presidential election campaign, and the result has been a great deal of confused and imprecise thinking on this important subject.

The Founding Fathers, trying to establish a free and enduring society in the heady years of the late 18th century, sensibly opted for what might be called an "open door policy" on the question of religion, prescribing in the First Amendment to the Constitution that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Whatever may be argued nowadays, neither the founders nor their posterity for well over a century saw any inconsistency between the First Amendment and all sorts of official recognitions of the existence of God — beginning with a proclamation of our national trust in him on the coinage.

But the loss of religious faith, which had been one of the deadliest byproducts of the Enlightenment, and which, as a forthright atheism, became a fixture of most leftist political philosophies during the 19th century, eventually began to have a significant impact in the United States. To the atheists, official manifestations of religious sentiment, or even the public expression of religiously based opinions by private citizens, were at best offensive and at worst dangerous. Preferring not to challenge religion head-on, however, they attacked it indirectly: The First Amendment, they argued, in effect demanded elimination of all references to God or religion from our collective national life.

In retrospect it is remarkable how close the atheists came to achieving exactly that. As long as the American people were free to practice the religion of their choice under reasonably congenial conditions, they seemed not to have minded greatly the gradual attrition of religious symbols and references in their national life, let alone the silent but steady growth of atheism, especially among the intelligentsia.

But ideas have consequences, and by the 1970s the moral consequences of atheism were beginning to have a direct impact on the lives of many deeply religious Americans. Slowly, belatedly, in many cases reluctantly, they organized themselves to do battle for their beliefs.

Immediately they were attacked for breaching the "wall" supposedly erected by the First Amendment between church and state. But the course is nonsense: A religious individual has just as many civil rights as an atheist, and one of them is the right to organize for political action.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Politics And Religion

Recalling presidential election campaigns since the end of World War II, I have the distinct impression that this is one of the quieter contests. The struggle between Ronald Reagan and Walter Mondale isn't anywhere as fierce as the battle between John Kennedy and Richard Nixon or between Barry Goldwater and Lyndon Johnson.

The American people seem more subdued than in recent years. They haven't gone into this election season with anger in their hearts, as has been the case in the past.

Perhaps the attitude towards the election, which I believe I detect, is indicative of a general mood of contentment. Radical passions seem to have run their course in America for the time being. Hardly a soul is speaking of radicalizing American society, which was the demand of militants in the early 1970s. While the world remains a dangerous place, the American people haven't yielded to an ideology of fear. The freezies failed utterly in their attempt to implant such an ideology in the public mind. On the economic count, the country experienced rough bumps in the late recession, but the recovery has been remarkable. Hope has been restored. Altogether, there is little for extremists to feed upon.

This is not to say that the elections outcome is unimportant. On the contrary, the election is very important. The country has the greatest need for steadiness in the next four years. America's defense buildup, commenced after years of neglect, is only started. Lasting national security depends on continued effort. The economy must move from recovery to sustained growth. Major problems must be dealt with intelligently, problems such as massive foreign debt, trade imbalances, excessive public borrowing, and adjustment to technological change.

The American people must be mindful of contemporary solutions for contemporary problems. They must not retreat to the "solutions" of 1852. The country must continue to pull away from a mistaken liberalism which, however well-intentioned, led the nation to miscalculate the situation at home and abroad.

While the American people clearly don't wish to get emotionally worked up about election issues in 1984, one hopes that the electorate has reached sound conclusions as to the issues in the campaign and that it has determined the nation won't return to the redistributionist economics of yesterday and the international policies of giveaway and appeasement.

Thoughtful Americans have a very clear responsibility to turn out on election day and make their votes count. A sad aspect of our national life is that there are still many voters who are herded to the polls like sheep and who don't understand the issues or what is at stake for the country in a presidential election. The herded voter must not be decisive in 1984.

EDWARD J. WALSH

Who's Fairest Of All?

Based on the accusations being hurled by political candidates at each other, the hot issue this season appears to be which party is the fairest of them all.

For years, the political Left has slandered not only conservative politicians but the entire capitalist system as "unfair" to the poor and disadvantaged. This misshapen view of our economic history is ingrained in law in the form of the progressive income tax structure. Businessmen are not only expected to pay more in taxes, they pay at higher rates.

President Reagan's Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 did not make the slightest dent in the progressive slope of the U.S. tax bracket system. It did modestly reduce personal and corporate taxes, and some estate, gift, and excise taxes. For that reason, it has been under fierce attack by liberals for three years now as a giveaway to the "rich."

Internal Revenue Service data for the years 1977-1982 reveal that taxes for all income groups increased between 1977 and 1981, and decreased between 1981 and 1982. According to Kenneth D. Simonson, writing in Tax Notes, the data show that the tax rise was greatest for the lower 50 percent of taxpayers, that is, the poor and the middle class. For 1981-1982, however, the decline in taxes paid has been sharpest for those taxpayers.

The top 1 percent of taxpayers paid 33.1 percent of income in taxes in 1977, while the lower 50 percent paid 4.9 percent. Four years later, the tax share of these groups had increased to 34 percent and 7.1 percent respectively. By 1982, taxes as a percent of income had dropped, thanks to President Reagan, to 31.9 percent for the top 1 percent of taxpayers, and to 6.6 percent for the lower 50 percent. While the wealthy experienced a larger decline in terms of taxes relative to income, the poor and middle class had the largest tax cut in terms of real tax liability.

The measure of all this is economic growth. Estimated growth in capital investment is more than 16 percent for this year. That's the highest rate since 1949. Consumer spending by the poor and the middle class was a strong 8.9 percent for the second quarter of 1984. The producers and investors of America are producing and investing, and paying higher taxes — 13 percent more in 1982 than in 1981.

The numbers tell one story, the liberals, another, suggesting that in the liberal way of fairness, the promise to rescind tax cuts for those mysterious, elusive "rich", is really a pledge to steal from the poor, and impoverish the middle class.

FEMA Wants Control For Emergencies

WASHINGTON — The Federal Emergency Management Agency may be little known to the public, but it has succeeded in drawing serious, unwelcome attention from at least one Cabinet member.

Not satisfied with its role as a mere coordinating agency in the event of some natural or man-made disaster, FEMA is clearly lusting after a far bigger job — nothing less than running the country during any situation it decides is an emergency worthy of its supervision.

FEMA's chief is Louis Giuffrida, a former California National Guard big shot, staunch law-and-order advocate and friend of White House counselor Edwin Meese. Giuffrida likes to be called "General," and he favors martial law as the best way to handle national or local emergencies — with FEMA in command. FEMA's aggressive self-aggrandizement has drawn fire privately from Attorney General William French Smith. In a recent letter to National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane, Smith expressed the Justice Department's concern over the empire Giuffrida has been trying to create for FEMA. My associate Donald Goldberg has seen a copy of the letter.

"This department and others have repeatedly raised serious policy and legal objections to the creation of an 'emergency czar' role for FEMA," the attorney general wrote. "Specific policy concerns regarding recent FEMA initiatives include ... expansion of the definition of severe emergencies to encompass 'routine' domestic law enforcement emergencies."

The broader the definition of "severe emergencies," of course, the easier it would be to declare martial law and put Giuffrida on the czar's throne.

Smith wrote to McFarlane after getting hold of a draft executive order prepared by FEMA.

"I believe that the draft Executive Order raises serious substantive and public policy issues that should be further addressed before this proposal is submitted to the president," Smith wrote. "In short, I believe that the role assigned to FEMA in the revised Executive Order exceeds its proper function ..."

FEMA proposes "layers of FEMA operational personnel inserted between the president and all other federal civil agencies," Smith complained. "Its mobilization exercise scenarios continue to assign FEMA the responsibility of representing the Department of Justice and other Cabinet agencies at meetings with the president and the National Security Council during ... emergencies."

The attorney general contended that "the draft Executive Order seems to legitimize FEMA's authority beyond that of a coordinating agency."

Smith's letter hit a nerve at FEMA, where an internal memo from general counsel George Jett noted the obvious: "A serious difference of view apparently exists between this agency and the Department of Justice as to FEMA's role in national security."

Jett's proposed solution to the problem? Just don't let Justice see any more documents dealing with FEMA's legal authority. "I would strongly recommend," Jett wrote, "that ... no such documents be submitted to the inter-agency clearance process ... until the present policy differences are resolved."

Footnote: A FEMA spokesman referred calls to the National Security Council, but spokesmen there declined comment.

Magician Bill Birchfield, shown here levitating his assistant, will highlight a Clown-A-Round variety show to benefit the Sanford Christian Sharing Center. The show, sponsored by the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, will be held on the Sanford Civic Center stage beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 28. The show will also feature clowns, an escape artist and 10-year-old Sean Hizek who will attempt to lie on a bed of nails and walk on broken glass. Tickets are available only at the door. Admission is $3 for adults, and $2 for children 5-12. Preschoolers will be admitted free.

Low Protein Diet May Halt Progression Of Kidney Disease

BOSTON (UPI) — Chronic kidney disease may be arrested and patients spared dialysis or transplant by adopting a low-protein diet when the condition is still in its early stages, researchers report. The report published in the current issue of the New England Journal of Medicine said beginning the reduced protein diet early may halt the disease progression for years and spare patients years of kidney dialysis. "The key is to begin the diet soon after kidney disease begins progressing," said Dr. William Mitch, a physician at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. "We found that it can have a great impact on the course of the disease." In chronic renal failure, the kidneys cannot remove sufficient waste from the blood. Symptoms occur when certain waste products from high protein foods begin accumulating in large amounts in the bloodstream. The disease inevitably progresses until either dialysis or a kidney transplant is needed. The researchers found the special diet halted the accumulation of protein waste products in the patients and thus slowed down or stopped the progression of the kidney disease. The researchers noted about 70,000 Americans now undergo dialysis and transplantation under a federal program that costs taxpayers $2 billion annually. Mitch was among the group of researchers that included Dr. Mackenzie Walscr, staff physician at The Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, and Dr. Theodore I. Steinman, director of dialysis at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston. They treated 24 victims of chronic renal failure with a low-phosphorus, largely vegetarian diet with small portions of meat and supplements to insure adequate building blocks of protein.

Scientists: 'Star Wars' System Could Trigger New Arms Race

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — President Reagan's proposed "Star Wars" program runs the risk of violating present treaties and could trigger a new arms race that could result in "all-out, complete" destruction, two scientists say. Arms control expert Sidney Krell said development of the high-tech missile defense could subvert efforts to halt the arms race. "If we do not succeed in first creating a strict arms control regimen, which limits offensive weapons, the Star Wars initiative will be a catalyst for a new round of weapons rather than as a catalyst to make the world safer from nuclear weapons," Krell said. Professor Hans Bethe, a Nobel prize-winning physicist from Cornell University, acknowledged parts of the laser defense system "may possibly work" against a limited nuclear attack by the Soviet Union. But, he said, it would give the Soviets incentive to launch a full-scale nuclear strike that would result in "all-out, complete" destruction.

The two Wednesday addressed a conference on nuclear deterrence at the University of Maryland. Before an audience of about 350 people from universities around the country, Soviet and American scientists agreed in their gloomy prediction that a full-scale atomic war would cause cataclysmic fires that would propel unprecedented amounts of smoke, soot and dust into the atmosphere, creating a "nuclear winter." Nuclear war, said Vladimir Aleksandrov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, "is probably the perfect thing for total suicide." Krell, deputy director of the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center at Stanford University, said the administration, in its fervor for a Star Wars defense, runs the risk of violating the 1972 Antiballistic Missile Treaty. That treaty — which bans testing of anti-missile weapons — "is at the base of efforts to approach stability, avoid nuclear war and achieve arms reductions," he said.

Fearless Fister Foresees Seminoles Over Astronaut By 3

Just when you thought it was safe to read your newspaper, the Fearless Fister Forecast has returned.

Other football predictions columnists can claim that they do it the hard way, against the point spread, or that this is the column "where we get down to brass tacks." But no other column has the distinction of being dubbed, "The Real Unusual Column."

Thousands of testimonials have been pouring in and here's a look at what some readers are saying:

"Chris Fister's column is the part of the paper my dog likes to use the best." — Bob Wire.

"I know a winner when I see one." — Bob Uecker.

"Who cares, I just want my bleeping money." Bob the Bookie.

"Where's the beef?" is no longer the most perplexing question of the year. Instead it is, "What is in store for football fans in 1984?"

Here is a look at this week's games:

Seminole at Astronaut

Astronaut always has one of the best 3A teams in the state and this year is no different as the War Eagles are ranked ninth. Seminole will rely heavily on speed, as in blazing. If the offensive line opens up some holes, and it should, the Seminole backs will bolt through for tons of yards. Watch for Cliff Campbell, Dexter Jones and Daryl Edgemon to be in the Astronaut secondary "All Night Long," as Lionel Richie would say. If you don't want to watch the game, the cheerleader to watch is Anita Smith. After tonight's game, Astronaut may want to give Seminole some tickets on the next space shuttle out of here. — Seminole by 3

Boons at Lyman

Boone has been the Metro Conference doormat for the last couple years but Lyman, unlike most other teams, hasn't been able to trample all over the Braves. Boone upset the Greyhounds, 10-6. In last year's season opener and Lyman will not let that happen again. — Greyhounds by 12

Lake Howell at Bishop Moore

Bishop Moore has been a rebuilding team since Harry "The Hornet now the Ram" Nelson departed. Playing strong 4A opponents may not be the wisest thing for the 3A Hornets. Lake Howell may not be as strong as usual, but the Silver Hawks have enough power to swat down the Hornets. Look for Lake Howell's Jeron Evans to be on the receiving end of at least two touchdown passes. — Hawks by 9

Lake Brantley at Colonial

This game is a hard one to predict because Brantley and Colonial always end up in a close battle. Last year, Colonial scored on the last play of the game but missed the two-point conversion enabling the Patriots to pull out the victory. It should be another tough battle tonight, but Lake Brantley will convert a fourth-quarter scoring drive into the winning points. — Patriots by 3

Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo at Melbourne

I never look Melbourne serious after their quarterback lined up behind a guard to take the snap from center. But, the Bulldogs had a fine season in 1983, finishing at 6-4. Oviedo has some injury problems and coach Jack Blanton says the Lions' chances aren't too good if the injured players can't play tonight. But, jump back Jack, Melbourne is in a rebuilding season and Oviedo quarterback Kevin Thompson will find a way to penetrate the Bulldogs' defense.

In an upset, — Lions by 1

Nelson vs. Barbequed Chicken
Lake Mary is idle this week but the Rams got in a little scrimmage Thursday night at Lake Mary High. Prior to the scrimmage, there was a chicken barbeque and Nelson had no trouble devouring his prey. If the Rams can do the same to DeLand next week, heartburn will not be the reward.

LSU at Florida

After seeing Florida squander a lead with less than a minute to play against Miami, I'm not surprised they're trying to curtail the Gator population. It looks like another year of almosts for the Gators and they will almost lose Saturday's game against Louisiana State.

But, not quite, — Gators by 6

Miami at Michigan

The Hurricanes have played two games before most of the colleges in the nation have even played one. The fast start has Miami right where it left off at last season's end, the number one spot in college football. But, the 'Canes won't be on top for long, especially with that unbelievable schedule. Michigan is a big strong team and the Hurricanes will feel more like a tropical depression when this one's over.

— Michigan by 8

UCF AT Northeast Louisiana

The University of Central Florida has more walking wounded than the "Night of the Living Dead." The injuries and inexperience will be too much for the Knights to overcome as they will fall to 0-2 for the season. Look for Darin Slack to have a pretty good day. One or two TD passes.

— Northeast La. by 11

Bucs at Saints

Some lottery in Illinois recently gave away 40 million dollars. The Tampa Bay Bucs gave away a football game last week, but it seems to pale in comparison to the lottery. If they don't shape up, the Bucs may be the next item on the lottery. Whether they're worth 40 million dollars or not is anybody's guess. Tampa Bay will be glad to see the day when running backs and receivers are allowed to wear Velcro on their hands.

— Saints by 18

Patriots at Dolphins

Last Sunday, the Dolphins soundly thrashed the Washington Redskins — and we all know how painful that can be. The Dolphins are Super Bowl bound if they can play like they did last week every week. Instead of the snow plow, maybe the Patriots can get Arnold Palmer's pet tractor to clear the way for a game-winning field goal. Miracles have happened in Miami before, but never to anybody or any team from New England.

Mosure: Intensity Is Back

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Three years ago some guy wandered into Sanford on a motorcycle and asked directions to the high school. He had that glazed look to him. Like he was 200 miles removed from Miami and wondered why there weren't bars on the store windows.

Dave Mosure, a.k.a. "Mr. Intensity," needed a change. Nine years at South Miami High were enough. They had been nine successful years, but Miami was still Miami despite five district football titles in those nine years.

The former Memphis State monsterback was a secondary and a defensive coordinator for two of those titles. He was head coach the past four years when South Miami won three more. "I wanted a change for my family," he said. "We needed a new lifestyle."

Seminole High's football fortunes needed a change, too. They had floundered somewhat since Tim Raines ran circles around the opposition in 1978. The Tribe needed a fresh fix. Something different. It needed someone off the wall. Enough of these straight shooters, bring on somebody just a little left of berserk.

Mosure was the answer. "I can't describe my personality," he said. "Even I don't know what I'm going to do sometimes."

Mosure knew what he was going to do with the 1981 Seminoles. He was going to win. He and coach Hank Daviero took a bunch of underachievers and built them into the "Dare-You-To-Beat-Us" defense. They built it with speed, agility and enthusiasm. The kids didn't know what wild stunt was coming next...but they learned how to play defense. It wasn't unusual to see all 11 Fighting Seminoles within five yards of the line of scrimmage. They dared and they didn't get beat very often.

Too in all-staters Isaac Williams and Lenny Sutton on offense along with a solid job of leadership from Jeff Litton at quarterback and Seminole had a district championship. The Tribe won all its conference games — the first time ever in District 4A-9 competition.

It's three years later. The last two haven't been much fun for the Intense one. Four wins in two seasons. But now, the Miami University graduate said he thinks the intensity is back for his '84 group.

Mosure still has his Yamaha, but he no longer prowls the downtown area for scowflaws. On this Thursday night, he is watching old Vince Lombardi films. It seems natural. One intensity for another. He's cramming some more knowledge about "philosophy and reaction."

The reaction seems to be his cornerstone. He wants his players to react to the given situation. How else can you play that close to the line of scrimmage and not get powder marks?

Mosure said he knows tonight's game against Titusville Astronaut will be a toughy. "Astronaut may be the best team we've played since I've been here," he said. "They are very similar to the one Jeff Wickersham (now at LSU) played on at Merritt Island. They're that good."

"They have an excellent veer attack. We have to shut down the inside game. If we do that, then they'll try to get outside and put pressure on us with rollout and pitch plays. If that happens, it could be a long night."

Mosure hopes his scrambling defense will keep that from happening. But this year the scramble is different. The 36-year-old defensive wizard will open with a pro 4-3. He hopes his players play like pros. "I think it's the best defense for these kids," he said. "This is physically the strongest team we've had here. It has good quickness, too."

The front four impresses him the most. "Our strong point is the defensive line. Their responsibility is to shred the line of scrimmage and make things easy for the linebackers. We also give them some freedom and they're free for various reads," he said.

You've Got To Have Hart

Charlotte Does, Gamble Trips O-Twins In 12th, 4-3

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

ORLANDO — Like the nickname of his former Orlando Boone High state championship team, Charlotte manager John Hart is a Brave soul.

Hart dispatched Mike Reddish from third base on a short fly ball to center field Thursday night for the winning run as the Charlotte Orioles came away with a 4-3, 12-inning victory over the Orlando Twins at Tinker Field.

The victory, twice delayed by rain, gave the Orioles the second-half East Division championship of the Southern League and a berth in tonight's five-game series at Greenville. The winner meets the West Division champion for the title.

"I guess I haven't changed that much," said Hart about his daring move. "When you need a run like that, you have to scrap for it."

Baseball

Charlotte did — all night. The Orioles manufactured four runs from just five hits. The O-Twins showed two homers among their eight hits, but could just push across three tallies. "Charlotte got the clutch hits and we didn't," said Orlando manager Charlie Manuel.

With one out in the 12th, Reddish smacked a sinking liner to right field which went for a triple. Manuel had Kenny Gebhart walked intentionally to set up a possible double play.

Ron Salcedo, though, spoiled the plan by lifting a short fly to center field. Greg Howe grabbed the ball and unleashed a throw to the plate. Catcher Stine Poole tried to swipe and tag, but the ball skipped past him as Reddish scored.

Charlotte scratched out its other runs on a single after a stolen base, and a squeeze bunt by Rick Lockhart. Gerhart tripled home Reddish prior to the bunt.

Orlando received solo homers from Jerry Lomastro and Greg Morhardt. Morhardt's was the clutch blast, coming in the bottom of the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

Charlotte's comeback spoiled an outstanding mound effort by Bryan Oelkers. The big left-hander went all 12 frames allowing five hits and striking out eight. He shut out Charlotte from the fifth through the 11th, retiring 22 of 24 hitters at one stretch. Oelker finished the year at 16-11.

Oriole right-hander Ken Dixon matched Oelkers pitch for pitch until giving way to reliever Nate Snell in the ninth. Snell didn't allow a hit over the final four innings to earn the victory.

McEnroe Reverts To Form, Screams Way Past Mayer

Pro Tennis

NEW YORK (UPI) — No one really expected it to last.

John McEnroe with a big smile and a good boy image just didn't jibe with the talented youngster who screamed, scratched and clawed his way to the very top.

McEnroe felt constrained, fighting himself as well as his opponent, and the crowds were uncomfortable when they were left with little excuse to taunt or tease him.

Normalcy finally prevailed Thursday night. The old John McEnroe was back in full view, causing the officials and fighting with the noisy, jubilant spectators.

It was vintage McEnroe as he told umpire Ken Slye, "You already proved how bad you are," and then received a code violation warning after saying to Slye, "Who do you think you are up there, God almighty."

In the end, despite a sluggish start and what he admitted was a lack of concentration, McEnroe defeated Gene Mayer, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4, to reach the semifinals of the U.S. Open Championships.

Jimmy Connors, the two-time defending champion, earlier beat John Lloyd of Britain, 7-5, 6-2, 6-0, and will face McEnroe in the semis on Saturday. The other semifinal will pair Ivan Lendl and Pat Cash.

The women's semifinals were to be decided today with defending champion Martina Navratilova taking on Wendy Turnbull at 11 a.m. EDT, followed by Chris Evert Lloyd against Carling Bassett.

McEnroe's troubles started early when he fell hard on the third point, landing on his arm, and he seemed to be favoring his left wrist and elbow for the remainder of the set. He also alluded later to some stomach problem.

His biggest altercation with an official since his character reformation earlier this summer occurred in the third game of the second set.

McEnroe thought his serve was out, and he didn't even bother to go for Mayer's routine return.

Slye allowed the point, contending that the electric eye didn't indicate a fault, and even Mayer came to McEnroe's defense, saying to the umpire, "The ball was a foot and a half out and you're telling us that the machine doesn't malfunction. You should do something about it."

The point gave Mayer break point, and although McEnroe got back to deuce, Mayer eventually broke. McEnroe went on to win the set with breaks in the sixth and eighth games.

Rams Trail Palumbo In Opener

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The 1984 prep cross country season gets under way Saturday as Lyman High hosts the Greyhound Opener at Seminole Community College. All of Seminole County's teams will be on hand including girls powerhouse Lake Howell (second in the 4A preseason rankings) and boys favorite Lake Mary (seventh in the 4A preseason rankings).

The Greyhound Opener starts at 8:30 a.m. with the girls junior varsity race followed by the girls varsity at 9, the boys varsity at 9:30 and the boys junior varsity at 10.

Lake Mary will be the favorites in the boys race as the Rams return a number of runners from last year's Seminole County and Five Star Conference champions. At number one for the Rams is senior Matt Palumbo, who will be one of the top runners in the county in 1984.

"He's one of the top two milers in the region coming back," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "And he's the only runner who has made it through the whole Lake Mary program. He started when he was a freshman (the first year of existence for Lake Mary High)."

Senior Bobby Howard, who is one of the most improved runners in the area according to McGee, will be the Rams' number two runner, returning junior Ken Rohr will be number three and senior Harold Pitts, a transfer from Kansas, will be number four.

"Those top four will be the bulk of the team," McGee said. "There's a fight right now for fifth place."

Fighting for the fifth and sixth positions are seniors Jim Shepherd and John Amrhein, sophomore Tom Walt and freshman Eric Peterson.

"The seventh place ranking is good for us because there's so little tradition at this school," McGee said of the preseason ranking. "I don't think the guys realize how good they can be. They'll be kind of in awe of the big teams (Largo) until they get to the point where they can compete with them."

The Seminole boys team also has its sights set high for 1984 with four of its top five returning from last year. Leading the way is junior Billy Penick who will be one of the favorites in Saturday's race along with Bishop Moore junior Rich McKenna.

Returning runners Kelly Faint and Kelvin Abney, both juniors, and sophomore Larry Cosby give the Seminoles a good top four. Getting a good number five runner is now the goal of coach Ted Tombras.

"We need to get a good fifth man and then we'll be within reach of our goal of making the state meet," Tombras said.

The candidates for the number five spot include junior Jerry Hauck, freshman John Herberger and sophomore Randy Drury. Also competing for Seminole include senior Gary Barnett, sophomores Tom Cochran, Bruce Dowlen, Eric Little

Johnson's Blast Tips Dodgers In 18th, 4-3

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Atlanta Braves sure know how to draw out a farewell.

The final appearance of the Braves in Los Angeles this year sprawled out over 18 innings Thursday night, but eventually ended in their favor with a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Randy Johnson led off the 18th inning with a solo homer early Friday morning to hand the Braves their triumph.

"I wasn't thinking homer," said an exhausted Johnson. "I was really tired. I reached back for a little extra. I hit it just right and I know it just cleared the fence. That's about all I got left in me."

Only a couple of hundred fans from a crowd of 28,161 were left in the stands by the end of the game, which took five hours and two minutes to complete.

"It's the longest game I ever played in my life," Johnson added. "I think it's the first game I ever won with a homer in the majors. It's hard to enjoy it right now, though. I'm so tired."

The match equalled the longest game in the National League this year, another 18-inning tolerance test between Pittsburgh and San Francisco. Previously, Los Angeles' longest game this year ran 14 innings June 6 against Cincinnati. In 1982, the Dodgers played 21 innings against Chicago.

Forty-three players were used in the contest and Los Angeles catcher Mike Scioscia was crouched behind the plate for all 18 innings.

"We had a lot of scoring opportunities in a lot of innings," he said. "It's a shame. We hit some balls hard that could've broken the game open."

"But we must try to get something positive out of this. We batted them for 18 innings and we can be proud of ourselves and say we gave 100 percent out there."

Johnson's fourth homer of the season came off Larry White, 0-1, and made a winner of Jeff Dedmon, 4-3. Pete Falcone got the last three outs for his first save.

Cubs 4, Expos 1
Throughout history Chicago has been known as the "Second City," always playing the supporting actor to New York's leading man.

Even in 1969 when the Chicago Cubs gave their fans something to cheer about for the first time in nearly a quarter-century, New York spoiled the fun. The Mets won the National League pennant (and subsequently the World Series) that year, sweeping the Cubs in a crucial late-season series that proved to be the turning point of the stretch drive in the NL East.

After many years of playing second fiddle, it now looks as if Chicago may finally get to play the role of top banana.

The Cubs won their game Thursday night when Bob Dernier led off the eighth inning with a triple off Charlie Lea, 15-10, and scored the tie-breaking run on Ryne Sandberg's sacrifice fly.

The Cubs increased their lead in the National League East to seven games over the Mets

Cardinals 6, Phillies 6
At St. Louis, pinch hitter Mike Jorgensen's two-run triple capped a three-run eighth that lifted the Cardinals. Bob Forsch, 2-4, pitched the eighth inning for the victory despite giving up a home run to John Russell. Bruce Sutter earned his 39th save by pitching the ninth. Rich Schu homered for the Phillies.

Reds 10, Padres 3
At San Diego, rookie Eric Davis hit his fifth homer in four games and Joe Price and Bob Ovechinko combined on a seven-hitter to lead the Reds. Davis became the first Cincinnati player to homer in four successive games since George Foster did it in 1978. Wayne Krenchicki also homered for the Reds and pitcher Eric Show homered for San Diego.

Astros 14, Giants 2
At San Francisco, Craig Reynolds ripped his second major-league grand slam and Bob Knepper threw a seven-hitter in sparking the Astros. Knepper struck out seven and walked one on the way to his 14th victory against nine defeats. Dan Gladden homered for San Francisco.

White Sox 7, A's 3
At Chicago, Greg Luzinski hit a pair of two-run doubles and Vance LaRue cracked a two-run homer, powering the White Sox. LaMarr Hoyt, 12-15, struck out seven and walked three in hurling his 11th complete game in 30 starts. Dwayne Murphy hit his 29th homer of the year for Oakland.

and I think we'll overcome it."

The top returnee for the Lady Rams is sophomore Sue Kingsbury who was ranked fourth in the state individually in the preseason poll. But, Kingsbury has been bothered by a sore hip. "She seems to be doing better," Gibson said of Kingsbury. "But we'll find out Saturday how she is."

Another returning runner from last year is senior Fran Gordon who Gibson said is one of the hardest working runners around. Gordon will be the Lady Rams' number two runner this year.

At number three will be freshman Heather Heikkila, junior returnee Niki Hays will be number four, senior Sonja Walker will be number five and junior Jodie McCurdy will be number six. Also running in the varsity race Saturday is sophomore Lisa Shelby. Junior varsity runners for Lake Mary Saturday will be sophomore Kristen Pawlowski and junior Kim Wager.

Seminole's girls team will be a much improved squad in 1984 led by a pair of talented freshmen and a few returning veterans. The freshmen are Shonda Martin and Dorelle Webster. Martin, out of Sanford Middle School won the mile at the Seminole County Middle School track meet. Webster comes out of Lakeview Middle School.

The returning runners for Seminole include junior Debbie Coleman and seniors Katrina Walker and Glenda Bass. Coleman was the Lady Tribe's top runner a year ago with a best time of 13:08. Tombros expects Walker (14:50) and Bass (14:54) to better their times of a year ago.

Another newcomer, sophomore Jennifer Roberts will also be among the top six for the Lady Seminoles. Other new runners for Seminole include senior Lisa Grant, junior Sherri Sargent, sophomore Renee Starns and Sherina Johnson and freshman Marcie Tooke.

"The potential of this team is limitless," Tombros said. "How quickly the freshmen and sophomores mature and how hard the older runners work will determine how far we go. Our goal is to make it into the regionals."

Lake Brantley lost one of the best runners in the school's history, Kathryn Hayward, to graduation but the Lady Patriots return some strong performers from last year's team. Top returnees for Lake Brantley include seniors Joanne Hayward and Kim Lubenow and juniors Kim Pacetelli and Melissa Meghdadi. Junior Kim Wain will also be among the Lady Patriots top six.

Lyman has 10 runners on its girls team and will split them between varsity and junior varsity in Saturday's meet. Julie Greenberg, a sophomore, is the top returnee from last year and freshman Tracy Fisher is the Lady Greyhounds number two runner. "It's a toss up from there," Lyman coach Joe Laughlin said. "They're the only two experienced girls on the team."

suffering a concussion, threw two touchdown passes and Gary Anderson kicked three field goals as the Steelers evened their record at 1-1 and continued their mastery of the Jets.

"We had a short week and some injuries to overcome," said Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll. "and I think we needed this win."

the best of the talented group. "Fred can be as good as he wants to be," said Mosure about the 6-0, 205-pounder. "He has good feet, strength and technique. He could be awesome."

●Anthony Hall, the right defensive tackle, gets your attention right away with his numbers. Hall is 6-0 and 258 pounds. "Unusual quickness for his size," said Mosure. "Hall and (Tony) Cox give us the best situation we've ever had at tackle."

●Tony Cox, the left defensive tackle, is agile enough to play third base for the baseball team. Cox, like Hall, does well with the fork and spoon. He tips the scales at 253 pounds. "Tony needs to get in a little better condition," said Mosure. "But his quickness is also good for his size."

●Walt Lowry, the right defensive end, is the undernourished member of the group. Lowry is a 180-pounder. "He's not as big as the rest, but he is quick and rangy. It's hard to get to his body to block him," said Mosure.

Backing the front four are linebackers seniors Mike DeBose, Bryan DeBose and Jerry Walsh. Junior Jerry Littles will split time with Walsh. "All our linebackers are good readers," said Mosure.

●Mike DeBose, the man in the middle, is a two-year starter. "Mike gets to where the ball is. He has a tendency to overrun, but that's just aggressiveness."

●Bryan DeBose, the strong side linebacker, is the quickest. "Bryan does a good overall job," said Mosure. "He's a great tackler. He doesn't miss in the open field."

●Jerry Walsh, who plays the weakside, plays bigger than his size (5-7, 158). "Jerry is another good reader who studies their tendencies very well," said Mosure.

Behind the linebackers, Mosure said he has to good ones and two unknowns.

●Brian Brooks, the monster back, started last year. "I look for Brian to have a real good year," Mosure said. "As monster he doesn't have to worry what's behind. He can just go."

●Deron Thompson, the safety, has the speed to make the touchdown-saving tackles. "Deron has really matured as a player," said Mosure. "He will not make the dumb mistakes. He's our center fielder."

●The rookie are Dexter Franklin, Dennis Lawrence. "Both have all the tools, but they're inexperienced. They need work on quarterback reads."

Mosure likens this year's group to the district champs of '81. "I can't compare them because each team has a different personality," he said. "But I like this group. They have found themselves early, but they need is some early season success."

"They're very intense." He wouldn't have it any other way.

and Thomas Luckett and freshman Ted Richardson.

Lyman's Greyhounds, usually the dominant boys team in Seminole County, lost a number of its top runners from 1983 and coach David Huggins said the Greyhounds will be in the middle of the pack in the early going.

"We're in pretty bad shape right now," Huggins said. "We lost a lot of quality runners from last year. Right now, we'll be around the middle of the pack and hope to be up there at the end of the season."

Lyman's top four runners are all seniors including Steve Grundorf, Carl Schmalmaack, Wayne Straw and Tim Jones. Fighting for the fifth position are senior Kevin Frank, junior Chuck Mullins and sophomore Mike Mochler.

"We have a good number of kids out (30) but most of them are freshmen and sophomores," Huggins said.

Among the other county teams Lake Brantley could be surprising while Oviedo and Lake Howell have talent but don't have the depth of the top teams. Lake Brantley's top runner is Chris Rosa. Oviedo's top runners are Ricky Scott and Ken Wirth.

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks will be the definite favorite in the girls varsity and junior varsity races. Cross country has prospered at Lake Howell under the direction of coach Tom Hammonree and the Lady Hawks are shooting for big things in 1984.

Lake Howell has a number of returning runners from last year's squad, which finished third in the state. Top returnees include Lisa Samocki, Amy Ertel, Martha Fonseca, Mary Fonseca, Lyn Lucas and Nancy Nystrom. Other standouts for the Lady Hawks include Belinda Laseur, Michelle Spearman, Rochelle Spearman, Angie Recter, Kim Hammonree and Diane Dimairo.

"The paper ratings are fine," coach Hammonree said of the second place ranking in the state. "But you have to go out and prove yourselves week after week. Our goal is to improve every week."

Lake Mary was ranked sixth in the preseason poll because it had all of its top runners returning. Since then, two of the top five and five returning runners have decided not to run cross country in 1984. Lake Mary has just nine runners competing in Saturday's meet.

"We're hurting," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "We lost five returning veterans and two of our top five. But we have some girls stepping in

Effects Of Cosmetic Facial Only Temporary

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing in regard to facial skin care. I am a 36-year-old female and recently had a facial by a cosmetic representative. She claimed their products are used to treat leather and, therefore, that they soften the skin and prevent wrinkles. Is this true? I do not smoke, drink or lie in the sun. Are sunscreen lotions helpful even if one is in the sun only a couple hours a day?

DEAR READER — Living skin is a lot different from the dead skin used to make leather or other related products. I have no idea what the preparations that were used contained, but having a clean skin treated with a good moisturizer simply helps to trap the skin's natural moisture and prevent loss of moisture from the skin. This helps to eliminate wrinkles and plumps the skin temporarily.

If a person has something wrong with his or her skin, then treatment by a doctor is the best approach. The doctor will use something other than what you can expect from a facial or cosmetics.

You can get radiation from the sun in ways you might not have guessed. Sun radiation is bounced off sidewalks, sand, water and snow. Sun radiation can be a problem for some even in the winter. For particularly sensitive skin, sunscreens and protective clothing are useful on a year-round basis.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you give me some information about bypass operations to replace obstructed arteries in the legs, and also balloon surgery? How successful are they? I was told by one person that when both legs are done, it can cause you to be impotent.

DEAR READER — Arterial-bypass surgery is one of the most successful operations. It was used for nearly 20 years before you heard about bypass surgery for coronary arteries. What has to be done depends upon how much disease you have — what lengths of what arteries are obstructed. It is common to have to open the abdomen to expose the lower aorta.

Impotence is possible because a small artery comes off this artery to the penis. Also, nerves may have to be resected during surgery.

The balloon procedure involves inserting a catheter (hollow tube) with a balloon on its tip into the artery. Once the balloon is at the area of obstruction, it is inflated. The inflated balloon squeezes the fatty-cholesterol deposit back into the wall of the artery, opening it. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Here is another offering from Scottish expert Hugh Kelsey, taken from his book "The Needle Match" (Faber & Faber, Ltd.). Two clubs was a strong artificial opening, with two diamonds a negative response. When South showed his second suit to be clubs, North rightly judged his meager assets to be spectacular and jumped to four hearts. South bid six, and who can blame him?

Having reached this dubious contract, what is the best play? There's no problem if clubs divide three-three, obviously, but otherwise? The contract does have a chance if declarer isn't fainthearted. Declarer should trump the opening diamond lead and play the club ace, followed by a club to the king. Next, the third club is led toward declarer's hand. Should East discard on this trick, South will win the club queen and trump the last club with dummy's heart queen.

If East trumps the third club, South discards a low club. Declarer will then draw only one round of trumps, hoping that East began with only two hearts. Since East is presumably out of trumps, South will discard a spade from dummy on the club queen. East is unable to trump and South can then cash his A-K of spades and trump a spade in dummy. With nothing but trumps in his hand, South can ruff one of dummy's diamonds high, pull the last trump and claim.

Just one more delicate lesson in side-suit management.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 8, 1984
More harmonious conditions will prevail this coming year. Disruptive influences will be smoothed over and, in some cases, completely eliminated.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be sensible about the way you handle matters today but don't play things so close to the vest that you're fearful of taking a chance. The Matchmaker wheel reveals your compatibility to all signs, as well as showing you to which sign you are best suited romantically. To get yours mail 92 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a considerable amount of material opportunity around you today. Situations that are already promising can be enlarged upon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be positive and hopeful regarding the outcome of events that affect your financial well-being. You are luckier than you may realize.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Good things could come your way today that may be denied to others in similar circumstances. Be sure to show proper gratitude.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not be indifferent today pertaining to matters that affect your self-interests. In order to succeed, you must be assertive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Sometimes it is necessary to prime the pump in order to generate a flow. Today if you expect to receive, you must first be a giver.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Actions that you take today will have far-reaching effects. Fortunately, you are in a cycle where you will make all the right moves.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

You may not have as much control over important matters as you'd like today. However, those acting on your behalf will serve you well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Companions may be a shade faster thinking on their feet today but you'll be the one who will recognize the value of their ideas and use them properly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Challenging situations tend to awaken your ingenuity today. Competition will strengthen your resolve, rather than weakening it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Endeavors you attempt on your own today may only be marginally successful, but you could be very lucky in partnership arrangements.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Overall conditions look rather promising for you today and even the negative events will do little to disrupt these harmonious influences.

Gardening

Fall Planting Season Starts This Month

September is a busy month for dedicated gardeners in our neighborhoods. The new vegetable gardening season has arrived. And, now's the time to make preparations for planting annuals and ornamental shrubs. This is a good time for a general clean-up of your landscape, too. And, since warm weather is still with us, we need to continue to be watchful for insect and disease problems.

If you want a flower garden this fall, pick your location and start preparing the soil. Locate it in an area that receives full sun for at least half the day. And, if possible, stay away from large trees. Tree roots will quickly use any nearby fertilizer and water. So, you want to grow your flowers in a spot where trees won't compete for needed soil moisture and nutrients.

We're lucky, we have a wide choice of attractive annuals for fall planting. Some of the hardy types, which will tolerate cold weather include: Alyssum, Candytuft, Dianthus, Baby's Breath, Verbena, Phlox, Calendula, Petunias, Pansies, Snapdragons, and Sweet Peas. All can be planted in late September. Started plants of some should be readily available at your favorite garden center.

This is the last weekend you have to prune poinsettias. These beautiful plants should be pruned regularly during spring and summer to develop more compact growth which will produce an abundance of showy, colorful bracts. If you prune them later than the 10th, you'll reduce flowering by removing buds that begin developing about that time. So, if you want to prune your poinsettias once more — do it now! Cut back the new growth that's about 12 inches long, leaving at least four leaves on each shoot.

Don't relax your guard against lawn and garden pests. It's still warm enough for insects, such as scales, whiteflies, mites, aphids and caterpillars, to cause a lot of damage. Watch your lawn for symptoms of Brown Patch disease, too. And, sod webworms and fall armyworms could still injure your lawn. Start control measures as soon as any problem arises.

You may not believe it, but some landscape improvement projects can end up causing more harm than good. If your house is on an uneven lot, or if you're planning some major change, such as adding a pool, building a deck or patio, or creating a special flower bed — anything that may change the soil level around plants — you may have a problem.

Quite often projects that involve changing the land level, even the addition of what seems like a small amount of soil fill — can have a disastrous effect on established trees and shrubs. By adding fill, you may block some or all of the air and water they need to survive. Symptoms of damage may appear within a month or so. Or, they may not show up for several years. You can bet that if you make a significant change in the soil level around a tree or shrub, it will be seriously affected — maybe killed.

The damage shows up first as small, yellowed leaves, a lot of dead twigs, and numerous suckers along the main trunk. Sometimes large branches will die. The extent of injury depends on the type, age and condition of the tree or shrub, the depth and type of fill, the available drainage, and some other minor factors.

Obviously the deeper the fill, the more serious the problem will be. The type of soil fill is important. Clay soils cause the most injury. It is so fine textured that it almost completely shuts out air and water. Just an inch or two of clay fill can cause considerable trouble. On the other hand, you can add up to four inches of sandy soil without causing too much root damage. Gravel fill is the safest because it lets air and water through freely.

You can expect serious problems with maples, oaks and evergreens such as the pines. Trees, such as ash, locust, elms and sycamores are hardy booted. Time is critical, too. If you leave the fill around a tree for an extended period and injury symptoms appear, it isn't likely that you'll be able to save it. The key is to prevent the damage from occurring in the first place — by taking steps to insure that the tree will have adequate air and water after the fill is added.

This can be an expensive proposition. So, if you need to add soil around a young tree or one that's already in poor condition, you're probably further ahead replacing it after you've raised the land level.

If you're determined to save a tree from fill damage, you need to build what amounts to a custom drain field around it using agricultural drain tiles. In addition, you'll need to build a brick or stone wall around the tree trunk. This can be fairly expensive and complicated — actually a project for a qualified professional. However, if you want to tackle the job yourself, seek expert advice before you begin.

Happy gardening!

Lida And George Stine Honored On 65th Wedding Anniversary

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

Lida and George Stine of Sanford have reached a milestone that few couples live long enough to celebrate — their 65th wedding anniversary. And as Lida puts it — 65 good years.

The couple were honored on the occasion at a dinner party at Holiday Inn, Sanford Marina, given by their two children and their spouses, Al and Liz Stine of Deerfield, Ill., and Judge and Mrs. John (Ann Stine) Hughes of Waukegan, Ill.

"Everybody was so congenial and jolly," Mrs. Stine says, "and the food was delicious. It was perfect — perfect in every way." Right down to serving the champagne, she explained.

Others attending the anniversary dinner party were Mary and Harry Boone, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilke, Mrs. Martha Raborn, Mrs. Genevieve Brumley and Mrs. Beattie Harper.

The Stines were married Aug. 31 in the First Presbyterian Church, Charleston, W. Va., where both of their children were born. The family moved to Sanford in 1940 after Mr. Stine and his brother, Paul Stine,

Mr. and Mrs. George Stine purchased the then Sanford Machine and Supply Company, Machine and Supply Company, purchased the then Sanford Machine Company at a Sheriff's Sale. When George retired in 1960, the business, Stine was sold to Orville Touchton and Wilborn Rogers. Lida, a bookkeeper in a large furniture store in Charleston, was later to keep books for the family business. She knew her bookkeeping, but Lida good-naturedly says she never did learn "a nut from a bolt."

George helped organize the first Little League Baseball Team in Sanford, along with Roy Holler, and was commended by the Sanford Rotary Club for his efforts. A dedicated Rotary member, George holds a 22-year perfect attendance record with the club.

The Stines have been active members of the First Presbyterian Church, Sanford. For 12 years, Lida took church-related study courses in Ormond Beach. She is also a past president of the Pilot Club of Sanford, which "I miss very much," she says.

No anniversary is complete without the "Anniversary Waltz." A pianist played the longtime favorite at the anniversary celebration, but the couple did not dance since Lida, 88, is an amputee. George is 91.

But they can still smile and cherish life's blessings. And as the marquee at the Holiday Inn read, "Congratulations, George and Lida Stine."

Sorry, But The Line Is Busy

DEAR ABBY: Concerning "Mother," who complained that her inconsiderate son takes the phone off the hook when he wants his privacy — bully for him!

I am the mother of two small children and my days are hectic. One day I counted 17 telephone calls! Only five were wrong numbers, hang-ups and sales pitches.

I know that phone companies recommend telephones that can be "unplugged" whenever people don't wish to be disturbed. I don't like that idea because often burglars will telephone a home they have targeted for a robbery, and if the phone is unplugged, they hear it ringing and assume nobody is home. Easy prey.

So for my money, I'll take the phone off the hook whenever I choose. I get my privacy; pests and burglars get a busy signal; and I get my housework done. Don't use my name. My husband works for "Ma Bell."

OFF-THE-HOOKER

DEAR OFF: You're "right on" for your own convenience, but here's a message from the friendly folks who beseech us to reach out and touch someone:

DEAR ABBY: I work for the telephone company, so before you approve of taking the phone off the hook, please consider these facts: R.O.H.s (receivers off the hook) decrease service and increase everybody's phone bill. Repairmen are often disap-ted to locate the trouble when people phone to say their telephone must be out of order. It's been busy for hours.

Dear Abby

Also, taking the phone off the hook ties up the equipment for others.

F.K.L.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I are getting married in a couple of months. She and her mother set the wedding date without even consulting me.

Don't you think this was rude of them? I have a large family and they all live 900 miles away. Most would not be able to attend on the date selected. Both my brothers are in college and my sister is a school teacher, so it's impossible for them to get away before the Thanksgiving holidays.

I feel that since my parents were asked to help pay for the wedding and agreed to go 50-50, it should be held when my family can make it. What do you think?

NOT CONSULTED

DEAR NOT: I think you should tell your girlfriend that the date she selected is unacceptable. Then insist on one that's mutually convenient.

P.S. You're lucky. Not every young man about to be married gets a preview of what his married life will be like.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, "Hungry in St. Paul," a pregnant woman, stated that she is eating Purina Dog Chow as a protein source because she can't afford other protein foods.

As a registered dietitian, I suggest that this woman eat dried beans, powdered milk, eggs and peanut butter for protein. They are sure to taste better and are safer for human consumption than dog food.

Furthermore, "Hungry" should contact the WIC program (special supplement food program for Women, Infants and Children) through her local public health department.

Many people either do not know about this program, or they assume it's for welfare recipients only. Not true. A family of four can have a gross yearly income of up to $18,870 and still be eligible.

W.I.C. DIRECTOR, NELSONVILLE, OHIO

NEW ARRIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. David (Mindy) Barkley of Sanford, announce the birth of their son, Chad Alan, on Aug. 30, at Orlando Regional Medical Center. He weighed 7 lbs., 14 oz., and is welcomed home by two brothers, Adam, 4, and Ryan, 2.

Maternal grandparents are Don and Sue Fann of Sanford.

Paternal grandparents are Ann Barkley of Sanford and David Barkley Sr. of Alabama. Paternal great grandmother is Mrs. Lucille Haeflinger of Sanford.

Art Association Sets Dinner Meet

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association will begin the year with a covered dish dinner Monday, Sept. 10, to be held at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building, corner of First Street and Sanford Avenue, at 6:45 p.m. All members are asked to bring a covered dish.

The program will be given by Joe Mathieux who will present a critique on selected art works. Officers for the new year are president, Bob Garcia; first vice president, Faye Siler; second vice president, Joe Mathieux; secretary, Ida Wall; treasurer, Ruby Brown; and parliamentarian, Mildred Lind.

Man Faces 5 Years In Prison For Violating His Probation

A 26-year-old man living in Columbus, Miss. has voluntarily returned to Sanford to face charges that he violated his probation in 1977 on a charge of resisting arrest with violence.

Paul O. Davis, 26, pleaded guilty Thursday to violating probation on a charge stemming from a traffic accident in 1976. He is to remain in custody until sentencing set by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. for Oct. 19.

He could receive up to five years in prison.

According to court records, Davis was arrested after a traffic accident in Longwood on March 23, 1976. He reportedly interfered in the investigation by hitting the officer. He pleaded guilty to resisting arrest with violence May 4, 1976.

He was sentenced to five years probation.

On March 1, 1977, he reportedly left his home without telling his probation officer where he was going. Authorities did not know of his whereabouts until August when on the 24th he voluntarily returned to Florida to face the charge, according to court records.

In other court action, a Longwood man was sentenced to four years in prison for stealing a truck.

Guido Frank Santilli, 21, was originally sentenced May 12, 1983 for stealing a truck on Aug. 3, 1982. He was sentenced as a youthful offender to four years to be followed by two years of community control, a form of in-house arrest. A youthful offender designation assures that the person sentenced goes to a facility with educational programs and inmates of similar age.

Santilli, however, was not given credit in 1983 for 221 days already served and argued through his attorney on Aug. 9 that the six-year sentence, without credit for time served, was unlawful because it exceeded the state statute which sets a five-year maximum for grand theft.

Circuit Judge Dominick Salafi agreed with the motion to correct sentencing and rescheduled Santilli Wednesday, giving him credit for 221 days served.

Salafi also repeated a previous condition of Santilli's sentence which included a letter of apology and $1,250 restitution to the truck owner, 400 hours of community service, and a $1,000 fine.

Liya Campbell, 30, of Kissimmee, was sentenced by Salafi Thursday to three years for violating probation on a grand theft charge.

Ma. Campbell was sentenced in 1980 to two years in prison and three years probation for grand theft on May 23, 1980, at Robinsons, Altamonte Mall, Altamonte Springs.

According to court records, she tried to leave the store without paying for some merchandise.

On Feb. 29, 1983, she was charged with taking $175 worth of jeans from Bankers Note, 401 east state Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

According to court records, Ms. Campbell violated her probation by being arrested and changed her residence without notifying her probation officer.

She was given credit for 68 days served.

An Altamonte Springs woman who was discovered partially undressed in a restaurant restroom and fought officers who arrested her for disorderly conduct was sentenced to three years probation.

Barbara Jeanette Flickinger, 35, of 611 Ellsworth St., was also ordered Wednesday by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor to attend drug and mental health counseling.

According to an arrest report, a police officer responded to Raffles restaurant and bar in the Altamonte Mall April 13 at 8:42 p.m. He was told by the manager that there was a woman in the restroom not fully clothed.

After another officer arrived, the men entered the restroom and found a woman, apparently intoxicated, leaning against a stall with the left side of her dress down, exposing a breast.

When one of the officers asked for some form of identification, the woman cursed, indicating she wanted to be left alone.

While being handcuffed, the 5-foot-6, 150-pound woman kneed one of the officers in the groin and when she was being led out of the restroom she tried to kick the manager, according to the report.

At the Altamonte Springs police station, the woman reportedly refused to get out of the police car and when she finally did, three to five minutes later, she tried to run away.

Ms. Flickinger could have received a year in the county jail.

A Sanford man arrested in connection with a burglary ring operating in Seminole and Volusia counties pleaded guilty Tuesday to two counts of grand theft.

Jerry Reddings, 18, of 2020 Henri Ave., could be sentenced to one year in the county jail on each count. Sentencing has been set for Nov. 15.

According to a sheriff's report, Redding was questioned and arrested in connection with the activities of a burglary ring March 26. The ring had stolen about $260,000 worth of items from homes in Midway, Geneva, Chulota and Osteen.

Two other men arrested in the case, Lenard Taylor, 21, of 2451 Crawford Drive, Sanford, and Bryan K. "Monkey Man" Knight, 18, of 2441 E. 21st St., Sanford, await trial on burglary and theft charges.

NOTICE
NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, intends to hold a public hearing to consider the enactment of an ordinance entitled:
AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO AN ADDITIONAL 1 PERCENT TAX ON SPECIFIED SALES, USES AND TRANSACTIONS WITHIN SEMINOLE COUNTY AS AUTHORIZED BY CHAPTER 203.33, LAWS OF FLORIDA, FOR CRIMINAL JUSTICE FACILITIES; PROVIDING A SHORT TITLE; AUTHORIZING THE USE OF ORDINANCE; PROVIDING FOR ADDITIONAL PENALTIES; PROVIDING FOR THE DURATION OF THE TAX; PROVIDING FOR A REFERENDUM AND THE BALLOT FORM; PROVIDING FOR THE USE OF THE TAX; PROVIDING FOR EXCEPTIONS AND EXEMPTIONS; PROVIDING FOR NOTIFYING THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY AND AN EFFECTIVE DATE.
of 7:00 p.m. or as soon thereafter as possible, at its regular meeting on the 25th day of September, 1984, at the Seminole County Courthouse, Room 208, North Park Avenue, Sanford, Florida. Persons are advised that, if they decide to appeal any decision made at this hearing, they will need a record of the proceedings, and, for such purpose, they may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, which record includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be made.
ARTHUR H. BECKWITH, JR., Clerk to the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida.

There's Certainly No Comedy In This 'Zone'

By David Handler

"Comedy Zone" is an attempt by CBS to bring some of off-Broadway's fresh young writing talent to TV. This New York-based summer series offers an hour of sketches by the likes of Ted Tally, Wendy Wasserstein, John Ford Noonan, John Bishop and Christopher Durang.

The regular cadre of performers includes such stage actors as Mark Linn-Baker and Tony Award winner Joe Mantegna ("Glengarry Glen Ross"). Steve Landesberg, Dabney Coleman, Jane Curtin and Penny Marshall have appeared as guests.

Top talents all. Here is an innovative, ambitious idea — something terrifically highbrow in this, an era when Jon-Erik Hexum can have his own TV series. You hate to slap anybody on the wrist for tackling it.

But, hey, it stinks!

"Comedy Zone" smelled like trouble. There was a dispute with Steve Allen, who hosted only the opening episode. The director was fired.

The premiere date and time slot were repeatedly juggled. CBS finally dropped it in Fridays at 8 with such short notice that most listings services were caught unprepared. Clearly, network execs lost faith in it.

And you can't blame them. "Comedy Zone" is slow, self-conscious, uneasy and fragmented. It's a mess that will go down with NBC's "Summer Sunday USA" as one of the summer's two major failures, though "Summer Sunday" is funnier.

This show reminds me a lot of "The New Show," last spring's Lorne Michaels fiasco. There's plenty of acting and writing talent here, but no format, no heart, no strong hand guiding it. The sketches clash with each other in tone and style. There's no show.

Allen tried to pull it together in the opening episode. He functioned as a ringleader. But he also did some of his old "Man on the Street" interviews and a stale takeoff of TV headache commercials. He was much too old hat to fit in with a show that aims for being

New Wave.

Dropping him didn't help, though. The sketches just haven't been funny or sharp. Many don't seem to have any point.

Wendy Wasserstein's takeoff of Jane Fonda's "Workout" was vapid. Jules Feiffer penned a pointless dialogue between two aging hippies who believe famous rockers like Elvis and John Lennon aren't really dead.

Most sketches have been of the one-note "Saturday Night Live" variety. A slob father shows his college grad son how to pick up women. Two movie writers giddily concoct a gruesome horror movie. A cocktail party pick-up is done as if the film were running backward.

Are these really our brightest talents? Maybe. But they are not our brightest television talents. What they've done with "Comedy Zone" is take people who are good at one thing — writing plays — and asked them to do something else — write comedy sketches.

Grateful Dead Enters The Computer Age

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Businessmen use them. Scientists use them. Even reporters use them. Now, musicians are getting into the act with computers.

Mickey Hart, drummer for the Grateful Dead, is hard at work writing computer programs for use in future recordings and concert tours by the legendary rock group.

Hart got into computers when he and Dead bassist Phil Leash began writing "The Edge of Magic," a book about the history of percussion instruments. Hart uses a Hewlett-Packard portable computer to work on his manuscript, and to compose song lyrics, while traveling 200 days out of the year with the band.

The drummer also has been doing some work on computers and music at the Center for Computer Reh Music and Acoustics (CCRMA) at Stanford University, where he is using a mainframe computer to discover new ways of modifying the band's sound.

"Reverberation filters and all kinds of signal processing, that's what the stars is," Hart in a telephone interview from the center. "I'm a real live musician and they let me use this facility."

Cleaner sound and new special effects are some of the more interesting possibilities being explored, but Hart stopped short of revealing just what the Grateful Dead's plans are for implementing computer-assisted music in the group's act.

"The more familiar we become with the computers, the more uses we'll find to make them a part of our orchestra," he said. "They're experimenting; we're just not ready for prime time release of this stuff."

"The main things I cannot talk to you about. They're not only patentable, but top secret in the Grateful Dead circle of secrecy."

Hart said some computer innovations being worked out at Stanford could show up in the band's music within a few months.

"Sound, like water, moves in waves," he said. "The computer lets you specify and shape a sound wave, so theoretically you can create sound in your imagination. Once we've developed programs for it, the portable (computer) will be another instrument in our orchestra."

The nine-pound computer that Hart uses can store commands to control various devices used to bend, shape and fine-tune the sound the band produces. Such high-tech controls are in general use in recording studios, but the studio machinery is too bulky and too sensitive to be lugged around from concert to concert.

Have You Hugged Your Teddy Bear Today?

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

You might scoff and label as childish anyone over the age of 6 who still likes to cuddle up to a soft, furry, teddy bear, but teddy bear lovers can stand up to such abuse because they have "Teddy" to turn to for consolation, whispering their secret fears, anxieties and hopes into his perhaps frayed and fuzzy ear.

And there are more of these folks than you might imagine. "Radar" O'Riley of 'M*A*S*H' fame is not the only grownup to bunk with his very own stuffed bear.

"You're never too old to play with Teddy bears," says 40-year-old bear lover, Carol Osborne. "When you walk into the home of a Teddy bear collector you immediately feel loved."

If that's the case, the feelings of love should be pretty overwhelming in Mrs. Osborne's Longwood home where about 30 bears occupy "special places" throughout the house. One sits in an old wicker stroller, another in a highchair and two ride together in an antique wagon.

Only four of Mrs. Osborne's treasured Teddies are oldtimers from the early 1900s. Two are American-made and two are German. Those four all show signs of wear and tear that indicate they have known other lovers.

"A lot of times a true collector doesn't care what the condition of the bear is. It can have completely lost its fur, but still can talk to people and can evoke sentimental feelings.

"You can just imagine some kid taking it to bed and talking to and cuddling this soft, snuggly bear. It symbolizes a lot of love," said Mrs. Osborne, who although she doesn't sleep with a Teddy bear, said, "There are some closet collectors who have a Teddy in their bedroom where no one can see it."

The majority of Mrs. Osborne's bears have been made by a modern-day "bear artist" whose work she admires, she said.

Although all of her bears have names and she talks to them regularly, only one is in costume. It wears a sweater Mrs. Osborne's mother made for her when she was 2. That bear was made specifically to fit into its sweater, she said.

But another bear collector, Longwood's Estelle Palino, who influenced Mrs. Osborne to start on her bear hunt about 10 years ago, said that part of the fun of having bears is, "You can do all kinds of thing with them, put them in hats, breeches, glasses. They all have their own expression and that's why people like them."

To bask in the love of Teddy bears, "You have to be young at heart," Mrs. Osborne said. And apparently a lot of people meet that requirement, or else have an astute business sense, because she said the market is being flooded with bears that lovers and speculators are grabbing up.

Larry Mack, 66, a Five Points flea market dealer of new bears, said some Teddies being made today are aimed primarily at the collectors' market. Although he sells the cuddly toys to children, the bulk of the bears in his shelves, such as the characters named "Elvis Bearsley and Zaza Gabear, are more likely to fall into the hands of speculators who are hoping to see the value of the bears increase after they are no longer made.

"A particular style of bear is usually on the market about two years, and then it's pulled or changes are made in the style, with the hope of making the initially produced product more valuable to collectors," he said.

Old bears are valued at around $100 up into the thousands depending on the style and the availability of that particular bear. It's becoming more difficult to find old bears, because most have already found their way into collections or are still hidden away in forgotten toy boxes, Mack said.

As for the newer bears, the least expensive in Mack's shop sells for about $3. His top of the line bear is a tiny mink Teddy that you have to make an appointment to see. The 7-inch critter could be yours for a mere $215.

"There have just about always been stuffed animals including bears," Mack said. But Teddy bears didn't bear that name until after President Teddy Roosevelt, while on a 1902 hunting trip in Mississippi spared the life of a cub bear, calling it too cute to kill. That merciful act garnered a lot of publicity, Mack said, and spurred a bear maker into asking the president if his line of bears could be called "Teddy." Roosevelt approved and the rest, as they say, is history.

Part of the appeal of Teddy bears, Mack said, is that they have usually been considered an acceptable cuddly toy for boys who have been encouraged to shun dolls. He added that Teddies are just the ticket for anyone who wants to feel loved and to have a buddy to share secrets with.

Although he doesn't collect bears, Mack said, his wife does and he can cuddle up to her collection when he feels the need. He also has fond memories of his childhood bear named "George."

Modern bears can be tossed in a washer for a quick cleaning, Mack said, but that type of treatment is something Mrs. Osborne would never subject her bears to.

She says she doesn't do anything special to preserve her collection.

"Some people might put mothballs around bears, but the bears wouldn't like that at

She's Driving Slow, But Moving Fast

By Dick Kielner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Often actors develop a lasting love for something they learn about just to play a certain part.

Which brings us to Bonnie Bedella. In last year's critical success "Heart Like a Wheel," she played the part of drag-race star Shirley Muldowney.

Ever since, she has hated auto racing as much as ever.

"I had no interest in auto racing before that picture," says Miss Bedella. "In fact, I hate anything that moves too fast. And I certainly have no interest in auto racing now."

But she does have an understandable interest in how fast her career moves, and "Heart Like a Wheel" has certainly given it a big thrust forward.

Before "Heart Like a Wheel," Miss Bedella, 36, virtually had been retired for about six years. She did some TV movies in that period, but that's it.

"I had a couple of children," she explains, "and I decided that I couldn't do justice to both acting and my children — and the top priority was, naturally, the children."

She worked perhaps six weeks out of the six years. Then she returned to the business and was lucky — she picked a winner as her comeback vehicle.

Since "Heart Like a Wheel," she has been hot property and is working steadily.

Even before her period of semi-retirement, Miss Bedella didn't work too much. She has always been very selective about what parts she takes.

In fact, she's selective about life.

"I'm the kind of person who has to do only the best," she says. "If I bake bread, it has to be the best bread. And there aren't that many parts that come along that qualify as the best, with the result that I never did too much."

But she's been in demand since "Heart Like a Wheel" — Hollywood always jumps on bandwagons.

Currently, she is playing an Episcopalian priest in "Death Of An Angel," with Nick Mancuso. It is quite a leap from auto racer to priest, but she's pulling it off.

"I met and talked with several real women Episcopalian priests," Miss Bedella says. "I was hoping to find some clue as to how to portray a priest. What I found is that there is no common denominator. There were all sorts of women among those I talked to, so I decided the clue is simply to be a normal person."

"I grew up going to Catholic schools, even though my parents were Episcopalian. So I know, at first hand, about religious people. I always had felt that there was something different about priests, as though they knew something the rest of us didn't know, but from the ones I met when I was researching this part, that's not true. They're just ordinary people."

Bonnie Bedella, who plays an Episcopalian priest in "Death of an Angel," has become a hot Hollywood property since the success of "Heart Like a Wheel."

Miss Bedella is a New Yorker who got into the theater when she was very young. She either can't remember how it happened or chooses not to talk about it, because all she will say is that it happened "somehow."

"My parents were elderly," she says. "They were old when they had me. And they weren't well, either. So I practically raised myself. I was doing a soap opera when I was 12, and I paid for my mother's medical treatments, her hospitalization and her funeral. And, then, the name for my father."

"Before I was 18, I had been in many Broadway plays. I always looked older than I was. At 14, I was able to rent an apartment and they never even questioned me."

Now that her children have reached an age — her youngest is seven now — when she feels she can safely leave them for a short time, she is going all out for her career. Or as all out as a very selective actress can be.

Soviet Drama Has Come Far, Comrade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet drama has come a long way since the Stalin days when boy met tractor, boy lost tractor, boy wed tractor.

As a matter of fact, Soviet drama has come all the way to off-Broadway, where the Jean Cocteau Repertory will open with Edvard Radzinsky's "Theatre in the Time of Nero and Seneca" at the Bowlerie Lane Theater on Wednesday.

The play was chosen for the Cocteau after its artistic director, Eve Adamson, and four other American directors, took part in a theater tour of Moscow and Leningrad sponsored by Vaap, the copyright agency of the Soviet Union.

"Their purpose was to interest us in contemporary Soviet plays," she said, and it was Radzinsky's work that captured her fancy.

The play deals with the problem of the intellectual in confrontation with authority.

"Seneca, the great Roman playwright, was tutor and mentor to Nero," Adamson said. "The play takes place when Nero is close to 30 and Seneca has left Rome and is in retirement. Nero calls him back. The action of the play occurs in one night outside the amphitheater before Nero's circus will begin — where he's going to kill all sorts of people."

She said Seneca is confronted with a variety

Child Abuse Explored On TV 24

In a pioneering television effort, Channel 24 will broadcast "Child Sexual Abuse," which takes a look at the realities of abuse and practical techniques toward stopping it.

The five separate programs are designed to reach specific audiences: Parents and other adults, 8 p.m., Sept. 17; young children, grades K-3, 8 p.m., Sept. 18; older children, grades 4-7, 8:30 p.m., Sept. 18; teens in junior and senior high, 8 p.m., Sept. 19, and young adults, senior high school, 8 p.m., Sept. 20. Parents are encouraged to watch the appropriate programs along with their children. The final message is positive: There is much that we can do to guard against sexual abuse of children.

The five programs in this series offer prevention information, ways to recognize the symptoms of child sexual abuse, and intervention techniques. They offer children and adults a comfortable vocabulary for talking about sexual abuse and demonstrate ways that children can be taught the safety and prevention skills that will make them less vulnerable.

Viewers are taken into the classroom to witness discussions with children and teens and see an applied theater presentation that uses drama and audience participation to explore the risks and confusions of adolescence.

On The Cover

This is just part of the bear gang that hangs around emitting cuddly love in the Longwood home of Teddy bear collector Estelle Patino. The Daddy bear in this trio even has his own old-time lithograph doll to snuggle up to. Note the button the doll is wearing. Herald photographer Tommy Vincent caught the bears together for this rare family portrait.

of people degraded by Nero who will help him act out his life and relationship with Seneca, "the greatest moralist who has nurtured the greatest murderer."

"It becomes an examination of Seneca's part in Nero's life, his guilt in remaining silent and not taking action about the horrors all around him," Adamson said.

Radzinsky is one of the top Soviet playwrights today but, according to Alma H. Law, his translator, "Theatre in the Time of Nero and Seneca" has been in rehearsal but has not yet been staged in the Soviet Union.

Law, a resident scholar at Columbia University's Harriman Institute for the Advanced Study of the Soviet Union, said Radzinsky was one of the first Soviet playwrights in the 1960s to break away from the old boy-meets-tractor style of theater.

"Boy-meets-tractor developed in the 1930s under Stalin," she said, "when there was great pressure for happy endings and the optimistic show of life at its best in socialist terms."

"That has been changing since Stalin's death and the period of thaw when literature and the arts and everything really began to flower again, particularly in the late 1960s."

She said Soviet theater today focuses heavily on domestic dramas, which range from serious works about the relationships between people to soap opera.

"You have to realize that in the Soviet Union theater is much more seriously regarded than it is here," she said. "If someone wants pure entertainment, they go to a soccer game or the circus. Many Russians, when they see our theater in New York, say 'It has no teeth, nothing grabs you.'

Jerry's Kids Did Well In Labor Day Telethon

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Entertainer Jerry Lewis broke all television charity records by raising a whopping $32,074,566 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association in his 22½-hour star-filled Labor Day telethon.

Officials said they believed the figure, which surpassed the MDA's record set in 1981, indicated a turnaround in the two-year drop of donations attributed to nationwide economic problems and unemployment.

More than 100 stars appeared on the 19th annual telethon broadcast live from the Sports Pavillion at Caesars Palace Hotel on the Las Vegas "Strip" with feeds from Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York City and Los Angeles.

The Jacksons' Victory Tour entertained live from Philadelphia. Other stars who appeared during the broadcast, carried by more than 200 stations, included Diana Ross, Wayne Newton, Tony Orlando, George Burns, Liberace, Andy Williams, Charlie Callas, Bill Cosby, Ann-Margret, Buddy

Hackett and Don Rickles.

When the record figure finally showed on the giant board, Lewis got a hug from co-host Sammy Davis Jr. and a tear from anchorman Ed McMahon.

The figure broke the 1981 record of $31,498,772 and pushed the 19-year total in donations to more than $332 million, a spokesman for Lewis said.

"You have wet eyes there, big Ed? The whole night is worth getting wet eyes from you and that's not vodka, that's wet eyes," Lewis joked as McMahon wiped away a tear.

Lewis, national chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, closed the show Monday by singing "You'll Never Walk Alone."

As he started the difficult solo, he said, "I'm really going to try this because it means 35 years of hoping and trying and it means so much to my kids and it's their choice. ... Dear God, bear with me."

Funds raised by the telethon support MDA's worldwide research efforts and patient service programs covering 40 neuromuscular diseases.

all." They also would complain of the heat if they were kept under glass, she said.

When Mrs. Osborne adds an old bear to her collection she might give it a light spraying with a disinfectant, or if it really needed cleaning, that would be done one section at a time, with a soapy toothbrush. She cautioned against soaking bears during a cleaning and said that they should be rinsed as carefully as they are washed and then towled dry.

She also encouraged closet bear owners to come out into the open.

"Anyone who has an old bear from their childhood shouldn't be ashamed of it. They should bring it out and give it a place of honor in their home and in their hearts."

A Missed Opportunity

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Mary Steenburgen is suing MGM for $10.75 million, claiming she turned down a leading role in the hit picture "The Natural" to accept a part in a movie that MGM never produced.

Steenburgen, in papers released Wednesday after being filed last week in Superior Court, said she and Freddie Fields, then-president of MGM, entered into a verbal agreement in July 1983 for her to star with Timothy Hutton and Jack Nicholson in a movie titled "Roadshow."

But "Roadshow" was never made.

County Prep Teams Kick Off Tonight

Sanford's Fighting Seminoles and Lake Mary's Rams don't go at it on the football field until Nov. 9, but that didn't keep Donald Grayson, left, and Anthony Hall from mixing it up during a preseason meeting. Grayson, Lake Mary's sure-handed receiver, and Hall, Seminole's 253-pound defensive tackle, are two major-college talents that will roam the gridiron in Seminole County this fall.

The Fearless Fister Prep Forecast: Rams Will Surprise Apopka

Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer

In women's professional tennis there is Martina Navratilova — and then the rest. In the Five Star Conference football race in 1983 there was Apopka — and then the rest.

The Blue Darters lost a number of key players, including quarterback Rodney Brewer and wideout James Jones to the Florida Gators, but Apopka also returns plenty of talent from last year's 10-1 team (10-0 in the regular season, 8-0 in the conference). All eyes are focused on Apopka once again as the 1984 football season gets underway.

But, unless you have tunnelvision, you know there are a few teams who could knock off the Blue Darters this season. Last year, Apopka was not expected to be as good as it was and this year the Blue Darters are expected to be better than in 1983.

But, whenever a team is practically given the Five Star Conference championship trophy before the season starts, it usually doesn't wind up on top when the season's over.

There is a lot of talent in the Five Star in 1984 and it is not just concentrated in Apopka. Lake Mary, DeLand, Lake Brantley, Seminole and Lyman all have the talent and the ability to beat Apopka. If Lake Howell gets off to a good start, the Silver Hawks could also be a threat.

Here is a preseason prediction of the Five Star Conference race with last season's records in parentheses. (Mind you, a preseason prediction is subject to change at any price, I mean time).

So, Apopka is beatable. Specifically, by Lake Mary, and one other team on its schedule. The Rams will not only butt down the district door this year — they will kick it in and take the district championship.

Give 'em hell, Harry.

Lake Mary ('83: 6-4 — '84: 9-1) — The Rams will leave a lot of teams seeing double vision in 1984. Lake Mary has two speedy tailbacks in Charlie Lucarelli and Patt Murray and two bruising fullbacks in Scott Underwood and Bill Caughell. The Rams have talent everywhere you look and the extra week of preparation (Lake Mary is idle tonight and opens the season Sept. 14) will definitely be an advantage. It doesn't look like any team will go unbeaten in conference play this season, but, led by Harry "The Ram" Nelson.

Apopka ('83: 10-1 — '84: 8-2) — At Apopka High School they reserve a parking space for the ambulance needed to tow away the defensive players that Sammie Smith runs over. The big senior fullback will also have a huge offensive line to open up the holes so the Darters are capable of putting a lot of points on the scoreboard. The defense though can be scored upon and Apopka's opponents will try to consume as much time as possible when they're on offense in order to keep Smith and the Blue Darters' offense off of the field. Apopka's easiest games will be its first three, but then the Darters will run into some trouble and look for them to be upset sometime in the middle of the season.

Seminole ('83: 4-6 — '84: 7-3) — If you wanted to make a movie about coach Jerry Posey's team you could call it, "Fast Times At Seminole High." The Tribe has another impressive backfield with a number of explosive runners who could break open a game at any time. They include Dexter Jones, JoJo McCloud, Cliff Campbell, Deron Thompson, Daryl Edgemon and Frank Barnett. Consistency in the offensive line will be the key for Seminole on offense. Defense is also a strong point for the Tribe.

Lake Brantley ('83: 8-3 — '84: 7-3) — Lake Brantley built a successful team around its defense in 1983 and it was defense that led the Patriots to one of their best years ever. The offense has the most experience in 1984 and the defense is almost totally revamped. Center Curt Mull, one of the best linemen in the state, anchors an experienced offensive line which will be the Patriots' strong suit. Bill Neville and Andy Craft are also talented linemen. How well the defense responds in the early going will be important to Lake Brantley's success this season. The defense has the potential to be good and if it comes through the Patriots will be in the running for the Five Star title.

DeLand ('83: 3-7 — '84: 6-4) — The Bulldogs just couldn't get going in 1983, but, behind coach Dave Hiss, they are rolling along in '84. DeLand has made a lot of progress over the spring and the preseason and no one can take the Bulldogs for granted this year. Defensive back Ferroll Gordon is a major college prospect. Other players to watch include running back James Patrick, linebacker Lee Pope and defensive lineman John Brown.

Lyman ('83: 6-5 — '84: 4-6) — The defense will have to carry a lot of the burden for the Greyhounds in the early going. With linebacker Mike Henley and defensive tackle Mike Crespo showing the way, the defense could carry the Greyhounds pretty far. Injuries to the top two quarterback candidates slowed Lyman's offensive progress in the preseason. Lyman may be the darkhorse in the conference but the Greyhounds can't be counted out as coach Bill Scott always makes Lyman a contender for the conference title.

Lake Howell ('83: 5-5 — '84: 3-7) — When you're rebuilding it's always good to start with a solid foundation. That's what the Lake Howell Silver Hawks have. But, don't be surprised if Lake Howell crawls out from under the woodwork and surprises a few teams along the way in 1984. Quarterback Alan Jack, receiver Jeron Evans and running back Steve Inman are among the players to watch for the Silver Hawks.

Mainland ('83: 1-9 — '84: 2-6) — Mainland's Bucs caught the disease of a Florida professional football team with the same mascot. But Mainland did something the other Bucs should have done a long time ago — they got a new coach. It might be a rebuilding year but Mainland should win more than one game — but not much more.

Spruce Creek ('83: 2-8 — '84: 0-10) — The Hawks lost a number of standouts from last year's team including running back Melvin Davis (over 1,000 yards) and quarterback Sean Hamilton. Spruce Creek will be a definite underdog in the highly competitive Five Star Conference and winning more than two games will be a tough task.

Inexperienced Lake Howell Won't Take Hornets Lightly

By Sam Cook
 Herald Sports Editor

ORLANDO — When Gen. Custer ran into his problems at the Little Big Horn, there wasn't anyone around to hand him a cigarstore Indian. He might have put up a better fight. His Injuns were the red-blooded kind, not the peaceful sort.

Mike Bisceglia, Lake Howell's football coach, finds himself in a similar position this year. Bisceglia, however, isn't asking, "Where did all those Indians come from?" He wants to know, "Where did all those Silver Hawks go?"

Teams have been decimated by graduation before, but not quite like Lake Howell. Not even Custer could reach for a bigger crying towel than the 42-year-old Bisceglia to dry up the losses (See the Good-Bye Gang).

Thankfully — at least for tonight — Bishop Moore will be his cigarstore Indian. Although graduation stripped the Silver Hawks of 10 defensive starters and nine offensive starters, Lake Howell should be ahead of the game when playing the hard-luck and downtrodden Hornets.

Let's look at the past. Bishop Moore football comes in two eras. During Harry Nelson and After Harry Nelson, D.H.N., the Hornets were a team of pride, spirit and numbers. They were also a state championship team in 1970 — the only state title a team from Orlando can boast.

A.H.N., which began in 1978 when Nelson went to Colonial, was a completely different story. Bishop Moore won nine games and lost 50 until this year. Twice, the Hornets were tortured with miserable winless seasons. Several coaches tried to lead them out of the wilderness, but couldn't.

The new coach on the scene is Caesar Campana. He ruffled some of the parents feathers last year when he suspended some of senior "stars" for a curfew violation. Like his predecessors, Campana is starting over again with the kids.

Also like his forefathers, Campana is returning little. Just five starters and two other part-time players. Quarterback Colin Daley is a senior and he will lead the attack. Junior tailback Pat Bollacker has good speed while fullback Mike Case is a bullsh-type runner. Case and Jim Suggs are two tough hitters on defense from their linebacker spots.

Despite tonight's 7:30 opponent at Orlando, Bisceglia is not about to predict a 1-0 start. "Are you kidding?"

Prep Football

Bisceglia Says:

"We are so young and inexperienced. Why, even our seniors are inexperienced. But we know this was going to happen. We just had a lot of seniors last year."

he asked. "In our position, we can't take anyone lightly."

Bisceglia returns three superb players in Jeron Evans, Harold Crowley and Alan Jack. All are seniors. After that, experience is scarce. Steve Innanen will give the Hawks a good running back and Mike Kelly showed signs of future prowess last year as a sophomore standin for Jay Robey. Jimmy Daniel returns at wideout.

And, that's about it. Everyone else is young or a first-year player. "We are so young and inexperienced, it's unbelievable," said Bisceglia for the umpteenth time. "Why, even our seniors are inexperienced. But we knew it was going to happen. We just had a lot of seniors last year."

Evans, a glue-fingered receiver last fall, will be the leader. He will take over duties for departed Bill Lang (Gator Country) at safety along with his job at hauling in aerials. "Evans is one of our keys," said Bisceglia. "He had a great jamboree with receptions and tackles. He also got an interception. We need that from him every game."

Jack returns, but at a different position. Lake Howell has always been talent-rich at quarterback and Bisceglia hopes he can strike gold again with last year's tight end. "Alan played quarterback as a freshman, so he's not unfamiliar with the position," said Bisceglia about his 6-0, 195-pounder. "He looked good in the jamboree. That's a start."

So the backfield will be Jack at QB, Innanen at tailback and Kelly at fullback. Evans and Daniel will be the wideouts and sophomore Bill Wasson

(6-1, 175) is the tight end.

Crowley, the other important two-way performer, anchors the offensive and defensive lines. "Crowley should be one of the best linemen in the conference," said Bisceglia.

The 6-2, 230-pound senior will play the strong tackle vacated to Jim Royal. Junior Marty Lacore (6-2, 230) fills the other. Senior Mark Rogers (5-11, 200) and junior Rick Green (5-10, 170) man the guard spots with junior Rick Petrarca (5-11, 190) as the backup. Sophomore Steve Trier (5-11, 185) whose brother Darin is the second QB, will be the center.

There are a few more seniors on defense, but the inexperience is just as acute. Crowley and Ken Henderson (5-11, 185) are the tackles along with sophomore Craig Wagner (6-2, 205). The ends are junior Jim Nutter (6-0, 192) and senior Greg Buckley (6-0, 170).

More kids are at linebacker. Juniors Shawne McNeil (6-0, 170) and Dave Williams (6-0, 192) join sophomore Jeff Harris (6-0, 190).

Although the defensive backfield is raw, it does have some exceptional athletes. Evans and junior Lee Chojnacki (5-10, 150) will handle the safety spots. The defensive backs will be Chris Gwynn, Terry Gammons and Efrem Brooks.

Gammons, a 6-2 185-pounder, could be a future blue-chipper. Last year, he played varsity baseball and basketball. He was the leading ballcarrier for the junior varsity. He will also log a lot of time on offense.

Brooks, a 5-10 163-pound senior, is one of the finest basketball players in Central Florida. Bisceglia said he has adapted well to football, too.

"Both Efrem and Terry will hit you," said Bisceglia. "Efrem Brooks had a great jamboree for a senior who had never played football. The secondary doesn't look bad. Maybe we can outrun our inexperience."

Good-Bye Gang

Offense — Darin Black (QB), Tony Cardenas (RB), Jeff Saloman (WR), Jay Robey (RB), Mark Pafford (OL), Timm Weber (OL), Austin Manuel (OL), Zach Martin (OL), Jim Royal (OL), Jack Colson (WR) and John "No Relation" McKay (WR).
 Defense — Troy Quackenbush (S), Robert Kerr (K), Jon Brandon (DB), Bill Lang (S), Mike Palewlich (DB), Jack Johannesmeyer (LB), Marshall Parsons (DL), Steve Cina (LB), Terry Lash (DL), Pat Lacore (DL), Rick Pugh (DL).

Tribe Draws Tough Task With Astronaut Tonight

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
 TITUSVILLE — Jay Donnelly and his Titusville Astronaut War Eagles have won 97, lost 29 and tied 2 over the past 12 years. They have won seven conference, six district and two regional titles. They have made the state semifinals twice.

If you haven't read about a state championship by now — wait a year. Yes, Donnelly, who has turned 40, and is in his 13th season as War Eagle mentor, hopes to parlay an old saying and an anti-superstition into a state 3A title.

"I hope life does begin at 40 as far as championships go," said Donnelly. "And I hope 13 is lucky for us this year."

He might not need luck. With 34 seniors — six returnees each on offense and defense — luck might be the last thing Donnelly needs to take it all. "It's hard to say whether it could be the best team I've had," said Donnelly. "But there is definitely a chance. The intangibles will tell. We know how to block and tackle."

Which should make tonight's 8 o'clock matchup at Draa Field against coach Jerry Posey's Fighting Seminoles very interesting. Posey is no stranger to seniors. 33 of them return this fall for the Tribe.

Are Seminoles' seniors equivalent to Astronaut's? "Well, we'll find out tonight," said Posey. "Astronaut is like they always are — tough. They were 8-2 last year and everybody is back."

Seminole was 4-6 last year. The Tribe lost to Astronaut, 14-6, in a fiercely-contested game. Seminole is 0-4 against the War Eagles since the series began in 1980. All of the games, though, have been close except 1981.

Prep Football

Posey Says:

'Brinson is a college prospect. Depending on how he does this year will determine if he is a major-college prospect.'

'Astronaut is like always... They will execute and play heads up. They don't do things that will help you.'

"We feel we've been as good as them about every year, but we just haven't been able to whip them," said Posey.

Tonight's matchup should be one of Sanford's offensive speed against Titusville defensive toughness and experience.

Both teams, in fact, have great defensive lines. Seminole has potential all-stater Fred Brinson at one end and super-quick Walt Lowry at the other.

"Fred Brinson is a college prospect," said Posey. "Depending on how he does this year will determine if he is a major-college prospect."

Gigantic Anthony Hall (6-0, 253) and almost-as-big Tony Cox (5-10, 248) throw their weight around at tackle. When defensive coordinator Dave "Mr. Intensity" Mosure tosses linebacker mitey-mite Bryan DeBose into nose guard, the muscle and the quickness play havoc with many a backfield.

Astronaut can play some havoc, too. They don't have potential all-staters returning — they have genuine all-staters. Frankie Glenn (5-11, 235) and David Montgomery (5-11, 212) both made the all-state team last year. Both run 4.8 40-yard dashes and Donnelly said both will get after you.

Toss in two twin brothers at defensive ends and it gives Donnelly a fine front four. "We call them the bookends," he said about Tim and Tom Hancock, a pair of 6-0, 180-pound seniors. "They both get after you, too."

Two linebackers — Benny Boyd (6-1, 195) and Rick Hall (5-11, 170) also return along with hard-hitting defensive back Darryl Blanford.

Offensively, fullback Steve Godfrey will be the big gun. The 6-1, 193-pounder has 4.7 speed. Junior Clark Cook handles the quarterbacking while returnee Bogey Strathem is his primary target. Jeff Urbano, a 6-3 200-pounder, is a solid tight end who also plays linebacker.

Donnelly, as usual, is worried about Seminole's speed. "They look real fast on the film," he said. "That number 22 (Deron Thompson) can really move and so can number 3 (Dexter Jones). And I hear they got that hurdler (Frank Barnett) out there, too."

The speed is definitely there. Jones and Cliff Campbell will start at the halfbacks while Daryl Edgemon is the fullback. Jo-Jo McCloud is the backup halfback, along with Thompson who is starting on defense, and Barnett will spell Edgemon at fullback.

Campbell (440 daah) and Barnett (hurdles) both placed in last year's state track meet. Campbell, though, is coming off an injury which limited his playing time last year while Barnett is playing his first year of football. At the controls of all this speed will be senior Mike Whelchel. The ball-handling wizard got his feet wet last year and Posey said he sees Whelchel putting his 4.0 grade point average to work on the gridiron. "Mike is a thinker," said Posey. "His selection of play and checkoffs should be very important to us."

Along with Seminole's defensive line, Posey said he feels the rest of the defense should be pretty tough, too. The linebacker corps of Mike DeBose, Bryan DeBose and Jerry Walsh is experienced and solid. Two of the defensive backs — safety Thompson and monster back Brian Brooks — are outstanding.

The other two — either Dennis Lawrence and Dexter Franklin or Eric Urena and New York transfer Brian Brinson — are unproven. "None of them have much experience," said Posey. "We'll need them to come through for us to be solid."

Another question mark is the offensive line. Tackle Chuck Thomas (6-2, 282) and center Strickland Smith both return. Those two along with transfer Danny Stone form a solid group. Sturdy junior Alan Kendall will man a tackle spot and a guard position. The guards, junior Carl Tipton and senior Phil Rinkavage, are both untested in varsity competition.

The receiving corps of Mike Cushing, Charles Bailey and tight end Rob Brumley or Jerry Little is a bit more experienced and steady.

Posey said he knows Astronaut will not be benevolent — especially at home. "Astronaut is like they always are," he said. "They will execute and play heads up. They don't do things to themselves that will help you."

Here's The Beef: Patriots Battle Colonial

By Chris Fiater
Herald Sports Writer

Whenever a Five Star Conference County team goes up against a team from the Metro Conference, there is more than just a victory on the line. For the younger Five Star squad, it's another chance to show its coming of age against an established foe.

Lake Brantley's Patriots proved in 1983 that they could compete with anyone, compiling an 8-3 record, including wins over Metro Conference schools Colonial and Boone.

But, after losing a number of starters to graduation, the Patriots will have a tough task in repeating those two victories. Lake Brantley opens the 1984 season tonight at 8 against Colonial's Grenadiers at Colonial High. The Grenadiers are looking to improve on last season's disappointing 4-6 record.

Last year, Lake Brantley pulled out a 23-21 victory after Colonial scored a touchdown on the last play of the game but failed on the two-point conversion. The Lake Brantley-Colonial game has always been a close one and, since coach Bob Williams took over at Colonial High, the series is tied at 2-2.

"We anticipate a real close game," Williams said of tonight's contest. "It's always been that way since I started coaching here (four years ago). Lake Brantley has a good coaching staff and the kids are good sports. They play good, hard football."

The hardest hit area of the Lake Brantley team by graduation is the defensive line and linebacker. Getting someone to fill in for the likes of All-County performers Byron Bush and Donnie O'Brian will be difficult, but important. Especially against a team like Orlando Colonial. The Grenadiers are traditionally known for their big, strong offensive line.

"Colonial returned a good nucleus of players," Tullis said. "They are competitive every year and every time we've played them it's been a tough game. We look for a very hard ballgame and we're going to have to be fundamentally sound."

The Patriots' defensive line will have a hefty task contending with Colonial's beef up front. Defensive tackles Larry Froemming, and Sean O'Brian; both seniors, are the most experienced of the linemen. Both saw extensive action in 1983. The defensive ends will be Joe Czachowski, a senior, and Peter Phelps, a junior. Both are stepping into starting roles for the first time. Lake Brantley's linebacking corps includes seniors Scott Hubbard and Jeff Morris and junior Mark Bousquet.

Tullis Says:

"There probably won't be one person on the defensive line and linebackers who play all the time," Tullis said.

The secondary is the strongest part of the defense led by senior cornerback Scott Salmon. Salmon was one of the best defensive backs in Seminole County in 1983. Chris Derden, a junior, will start at the other corner. At on safety will be senior Kurt Marn, a standout on the 1983 squad and fighting for the other safety spot are David Dellaccio, Cornelius Friendly and Steve Stark.

The Patriots return a number of veterans on offense including the top offensive lineman in the county last season, center Curt Mull. Mull, a 6-6, 275-pound senior, was injured in practice early last week and missed the preseason jamboree, but he will be ready to go against Colonial. Also returning on the offensive line is senior guard Bill Neville. Matt Gabrovic, a junior, and Greg Riase, a senior, will see action at the other guard slot. Bousquet and senior Andy Craft will be the starting tackles.

There is also a lot of experience in the backfield, led by senior quarterback Dennis Groeclose, a three-year starter. Steve Emmons, a senior, returns at halfback after a productive 1983 campaign. Marn and senior Bobby Garrison will see action at fullback. The starting receivers will be John Mondo, a senior who started last year, and Rich Pearce, also a senior, at split end and Joel Miller, a junior, at tight end.

"Colonial is a good opponent for us to open against," Tullis said. "It will give us an idea of how good we're going to be."

Among the returning offensive starters for the Grenadiers are guard Mike Green (6-2½, 220), center Chris Caslow (6-1, 180), tailback Jay Hazley (5-8, 160) and wide receiver Billy Miller (5-9, 170). Other offensive players to watch include lineman Ron Torbert, receiver-quarterback Ashley Maratas and wide receiver Don Johnson. Defensive starters returning include Green at tackle, Caslow at linebacker and George Leubscher at noseguard. Top newcomers include wide out Ashley Maratas, who is also the backup quarterback, and fullback Tim Beamon.

Williams said he would like the Grenadiers to stick to the ground much more in 1984 after the graduation of quarterback Richie Risko (over 1,700 yards passing in 1983) and receiver Noel Wells. With the injury to quarterback Dana Thyhaen, Williams said Risko will walk on at the University of Central Florida to help out at QB.

Although Williams would like to stick to the ground, he found out in the preseason jamboree that passing will again be the offense's strength. The quarterback this season for Colonial will be Mike Regner.

"The passing game is our biggest strength," Williams said. "We thought we might be able to run a lot more, but we weren't able to in the jamboree (against Orlando Boone)."

Inexperience will be the weakness of the Grenadiers according to Williams. "We played so many close games last year that we had to stick with our starters and weren't able to give the inexperienced players much playing time," he said. "Getting experience will be the key for us and the game against Lake Brantley will be a good test."

Since Williams became coach at Colonial, the Grenadiers have finished no worse than third place in the Metro Conference. This year, Colonial was picked to finish next to last.

"We think we can improve on last year's record (4-6) and if we do I certainly don't think we'll finish next to last in the conference," Williams said. "That (next to last) is not a very good place to be."

Lake Brantley's Patriots know practice makes perfect — even on photo day. The Patriots tuned up for tonight's opener against Colonial by breaking through the banner before a photo session at the high school earlier this year. Lake Brantley hopes to improve on its fine 8-3 season of last year.

Lake Mary-DeLand: Opposites Attract

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The opening game of the 1984 season for Lake Mary's Rams is still one week away, but the Rams' opener against DeLand's Bulldogs will be an interesting one because you couldn't find two more opposite teams.

From their coaches, Lake Mary's Harry Nelson and DeLand's David Hiss, right down to their colors, DeLand's green and yellow and Lake Mary's red and gray, the two Five Star Conference rivals are in complete contrast.

"DeLand reminds me of its coach (Hiss)," Nelson said. "He's clean-cut, sharply dressed, neatly trimmed mustache — a straight-forward guy. I'm just the opposite. Shirt tail out, baggy pants and free-wheeling — that's the way my team is."

While the two teams contradict themselves in many ways, they also have something in common. Both have a lot of talent and are contenders in the conference.

Lake Mary is coming off an impressive 6-4 season in 1983, Nelson's first as the Rams' chief while DeLand, a vastly improved squad, is looking to erase last year's 3-7 record. Hiss is also in his second year with the Bulldogs but he took over last year just before the season started and didn't have the team in the spring.

DeLand opens the season tonight at Jacksonville Bolles. Nelson said he will make the trip to Jacksonville to scout the Bulldogs.

"We've made some good improvements over the past year," Hiss said of the Bulldogs. "We played well in the spring and the other night in the jamboree against Lake Brantley. But we still have a long way to go. We have to stay healthy, work hard and pay the price."

"We have a tough one this week in Jacksonville," Hiss added. "Bolles is no slouch. It's good to start off the season with a tough, non-conference opponent. But Lake Mary doesn't play Friday so it gets to sit back and watch us. Then we have to go down there the following week with them (Lake Mary) knowing everything we do."

Lake Mary has 9 of 11 of its starters returning on offense including three impressive running backs that will give the Rams a devastating ground attack. Senior running back Charlie Lucarelli led Lake Mary and Seminole County in rushing in 1983 (over 900 yards). "Charlie Lucarelli has some of the best moves I've ever seen," Nelson said. Also returning is senior fullback Scott Underwood, who amassed over 600 yards in '83.

Those two alone would give any team a outstanding backfield, but add to that fleet-footed Pat Murray and hard-nosed Bill Caughell, both seniors, and you've

Prep Football

Nelson Says:

'Charlie Lucarelli has some of the best moves I've ever seen.'

'Defensively, Bill Caughell and Don Meyer are two of the best around.'

'Ray Hartsfield is a great athlete who gives you many dimensions at quarterback.'

really got something. Murray, who missed last season with an injury after a promising sophomore season, has excellent speed and agility while Caughell is a powerful runner and good blocker.

At this point, junior Ray Hartsfield is the starting quarterback but Mike Schmit, also a junior, will see plenty of action at QB. "Ray Hartsfield is a great athlete who gives you many different dimensions at quarterback," Nelson said. "Schmit is a big, rangy guy and is pretty consistent."

Hartsfield and Schmit will have some sure-handed receivers to throw to in 1984 including Donald Grayson, Seminole County's leading receiver as a junior last season. Byron Washington, a junior, was also a starting receiver in 1983.

The offensive line lost two big players, Ned Kolbjornsen and Ed Ades, to graduation, but there is a lot of talent returning. The starters on the line include Scott McCaskill at center, David Cox and newcomer Tony Del Rocco at the guards and returning starters Jay Gilliland and Mike Galvani at the tackles.

The Rams also have most of their defensive unit returning led by senior linebackers Caughell, Seminole County's leading tackler in 1983, and Don Meyer, switched to linebacker from defensive end. "Defensively, Bill Caughell and Don Meyer are two of the best around," Nelson said. John Rogers, a newcomer, completes the talented linebacker corps.

The defensive line is also experience with seniors tackle Marty Hopkins, senior end Walt White and senior middle guard Darrin Washington leading the way. Nelson has also been impressed with junior tackle J.T. Burwell and senior end Todd Nedrow.

Top returnees to the secondary include seniors Scott Sperraza and Byron Washington. Hartsfield will also start in the defensive backfield.

"We've got good power and good speed," Nelson said. "Now it's just a matter of being game wise."

"Lake Mary looked tough in the jamboree," Hiss said. "They have outstanding running backs, a tough defense and they also have Harry Nelson. They have a lot of good pluses."

DeLand lost a lot of its starters from last year's team, but the Bulldogs have the talent and, combined with Hiss' coaching, to be a contender. The Bulldogs won two quarters of a spring jamboree then upended Lake Brantley, 10-8, in Friday night's preseason jamboree.

The biggest loss for DeLand was the graduation of quarterback-running back Terry Nettles. However, the Bulldogs have three capable candidates for quarterback along with standout senior running back James Patrick. The three quarterbacks are seniors Ferrol Gordon and Sid Thyhsen (younger brother of UCF's Dana Thyhsen) and Nino Fontana (a standout in the spring jamboree. Gordon saw a lot of action as signal caller in 1983 and he is also an outstanding defensive back. "He's put in a lot of hard work to improve himself," Hiss said of Gordon.

The Bulldogs have some pretty big bodies including offensive lineman Tim Kaiser (6-2, 245 pounds) and defensive tackle John Brown (6-5, 280 pounds). Brown is not the most popular person at Lake Mary High. During the wrestling season in the spring of '84, Brown was at Lake Mary for the Five Star Conference wrestling tournament and left a stain on one of the high school's walls when he spit out some chewing tobacco juice. Robert Rawls later made Brown pay for the stain when he squashed him on the wrestling mat.

Other players to watch for the Bulldogs include tight end Preston Nealy and linebacker Lee Pope.

"They (DeLand) are a good, solid, hard-nosed team," Nelson said. "They should have a much better year than last year and they'll probably surprise a few teams, too."

3 Key Injuries Cripple Oviedo

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The success of Oviedo's Lions in the 1984 season will depend heavily on whether the team can stay healthy or not.

So far, injuries have been a thorn in the Lions' paw as three returning starters are doubtful for tonight's season opener. 3A Oviedo travels to Melbourne to take on the 4A Bulldogs.

The three injured players — all standouts — include fullback Charles "Pop" Bowers, linebacker Mark Howell and tailback Andrew Smith. Bowers will most likely miss Friday's game with a severely twisted ankle. Howell (broken toe) and Smith (hip pointer) are doubtful but may be in the lineup.

"We can't afford to get any more players hurt," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "We started out with 29, now we're down to 26. If the three questionable players (Bowers, Howell and Smith) do play we'll be competitive. We'll have to play a mistake-free game to win without those three."

If it can avoid injuries in 1984, Oviedo will have a good shot at bettering last season's 3-7 record.

The Lions' schedule is one of the toughest in the area as the 3A Lions play three 4A schools (Melbourne, Seminole, Lake Mary) and also tangle with the defending 2A state champions (Eustis). Oviedo, however, is projected to be a 4A school shortly and Blanton said he would like to get a headstart on his future competition.

Melbourne finished at 6-4 in the tough District 4A-11 (Merritt Island, Vero Beach), including a 21-7 victory over Oviedo. But, the Bulldogs lost 18 starters off last year's team and replacing them will be a difficult task, according to coach Tom McIntyre.

"Overall, inexperience will be our biggest problem this year," McIntyre said. "We graduated a lot of talented seniors off last year's team and we have a lot of rebuilding to do. If the younger kids come on and play well, we can be as good or better than last year but we're going to need a few breaks."

Blanton Says:

"We can't afford to get any more players hurt. We started out with 29, now we're down to 26. We'll have to play a mistake-free game to win without those three."

The Lions may be low on numbers this year, but they are high on enthusiasm and have some talented players returning for the 1984 season, according to Blanton.

"Melbourne is a big, strong football team," Blanton said. "They have a very good defense and they will give us a tough game. But, we can play with Melbourne if we play a sound game."

There is not much of a size difference between Melbourne and Oviedo this year. Last year, the Bulldogs were a much bigger team. "Compared to us, Oviedo has good size," McIntyre said. "And we have about the same number of players. From what I've heard, Oviedo should give us quite a game."

"We have average size, and the players are in good condition," Blanton said. "That will help those who have to go both ways. The hard work in the weight room over the summer has paid off."

Among Oviedo's top returnees include running backs Bowers, a senior, and Smith, a junior, and senior quarterback Kevin Thompson. The Lions will rely heavily on those three to get the offense rolling. So, how quickly Bowers heals will be important to the Lions' success in '84.

"The backfield will be our strong point," Blanton said. "Thompson and Bowers are our senior leaders and we look for good things from them this season."

Bowers, 6-1 and 195 pounds, was slated to start at fullback. If Bowers can't play, Larry Grayson will start at fullback. Bowers was one of Seminole County's most versatile players last year as he was one of the Lions' top rushers (over 300 yards) and pass receivers (over 150 yards).

Smith, (5-8, 155) was also a top pass receiver as he averaged over 11 yards per catch. If Smith is able to play, he will start at tailback tonight. Cornell Green will start at tailback if Smith is not able to play.

Thompson, who transferred to Oviedo before last season, was among the top quarterbacks in Seminole County as he threw for more than 800 yards. Thompson (5-8, 160) may have to go to the air a lot tonight if Bowers and Smith are out of the lineup.

The offensive line won't be gigantic, but Blanton thinks it can get the job done. Senior Tim Willis (6-0, 181) will start at center, senior Scott Isner (6-0, 170) will start at right guard, senior Lenny Hill (6-1, 205) will be the right tackle, sophomore Gordon King (6-1, 215) will start at tight end, senior Chris Finch (6-0, 180) will be a left guard and senior Joe Tanner, the biggest member of the line (6-5, 305) will start at left tackle.

The starting receivers include junior Dave Wood (5-7, 155) at flanker and senior Rob Morrow (5-7, 147) at split end.

Howell is the senior defensive leader from his linebacker position. The 6-1, 196-pounder led the team in tackles last year and was one of the top five in tacklers in Seminole County. Unless he aggravates his injury, Blanton said Howell should start tonight.

"He (Howell) practiced on it and it didn't bother him," Blanton said. "And he played a little bit in the jamboree."

"If it bothers him on Friday we might have to put a little wheel on it (broken toe)," joked Blanton.

The defensive line will consist of Grayson at left tackle, James Walker (6-5, 180, junior) at left end, Kevin Rapert (6-1, 190, senior) at noseguard, Tony Cofle (6-0, 221, junior) at right tackle and Fred Hill (6-0, 175, junior) at right end.

Howell and Tom Evans (5-10, 170, senior) are the linebackers. The starting cornerbacks are Green (5-9, 160, junior) and Wood. The strong safety is senior Kevin Clifford (5-8, 168) and the free safety is junior Bernell Simmons (6-0, 170). King will handle all the kicking duties, including punting, kick offs, extra points and field goals.

Melbourne, meanwhile, lost all but one of its offensive starters from last year's team, but some top newcomers will help the Bulldogs get moving in the early going. "Most of the kids on offense are new," McIntyre said. "How quickly they mature will be a key for us."

Marvin Jordan, a wide receiver, is the lone offensive starter returning. Place-kicker Scott Washburn is also a returning starter. Quarterback Jim Toponze started the last five games of the season in 1983 after the number one quarterback was injured.

The defense will be Melbourne's strong suit in 1984 as it returns three outstanding starters from 1983. The anchors of the defense for the Bulldogs will be end Jason Brown and linebackers Brian Hessinger and Gerille Robinson.

"We have a good, quick defense," McIntyre said. "That will be our main strength and the biggest key to our success."

Scott, Lyman Don't Plan Warm Reception For McBryde's Return

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Larry McBryde returns to Seminole County tonight, but don't expect Bill Scott to throw out the welcome mat.

McBryde, who coached 11 years at powerful Maitland Junior High, later spent part of a year running the Lake Brantley High offense. But when Boone High principal Hank Dominey offered a head coaching job two years ago, McBryde jumped at the chance.

"I guess I wasn't even at Brantley the whole year," said McBryde. "When the job came open and the principal called I was gone."

But tonight at 8, he'll be back. McBryde and his Braves venture into Lyman Stadium for a season-opening football encounter with the Greyhounds. Scott's Hounds were 6-4 last year while the Braves were 2-8.

One of those four setbacks for Lyman, though, came at the hands of the Braves. They surprised the Greyhounds a year ago tonight, 10-6, and Scott is still smarting from it. Lyman's only other losses came to Colonial, Seminole and Apopka as it finished second in the Five Star Conference.

McBryde's two biggest obstacles at Boone have been numbers and attitude. "We only had 30 varsity players last year and 15 of them were real players," said McBryde. "Then we got hit with four major injuries."

This year, however, Boone has 33 players of which McBryde said he can count on 25 as dependables. "Attitude has been a problem here, but I think we're turning the corner," he said.

Two of the best are John McLoche and Roger DeLillo. McLoche is a 6-5, 250-pound tackle who has the major colleges interested. "John is a good one," said McBryde about McLoche who bench-presses 380. "If we need two or three yards, we run behind him."

Scott agreed. "That big tackle (McLoche) is tough," said Scott. "We saw him in the jamboree. Boone has a good-sized ballclub with a lot of quickness. They beat Edgewater in the fall jamboree and gave Colonial a hard time before losing last week (in the spring jamboree)."

McBryde's other stud in DeLillo, a hard-nosed defensive end. "DeLillo is 6-3 and 200 pounds," said McBryde. "He has an excellent nose for the football."

Offensively, McBryde said his team will come out

Prep Football

Scott Says:

'Anytime we get inside the 35-yard line, we won't hesitate. Steve Abernethy has really been kicking that ball.'

'All these guys played last year except Sellgson. We have real good quickness at linebacker and with our linemen.'

throwing. "We want to throw the ball 60 percent of the time," he said. "We have a good quarterback in Bobby O'Shea and two good receivers (Allen Hudson and Cliff Currie)."

O'Shea is not a runner, but has a good arm and does not hesitate to throw the ball, said McBryde. "Bobby is a more than adequate passer," said McBryde. "Hudson is a super receiver. I'd be real upset if he wasn't near the top of the Metro Conference in receiving. He has good speed and is a deadly once he catches the ball."

Most of Boone's ground game will be dependent upon the legs of Garret Gordon. Gordon, a 6-0 180-pounder, ran for 45 yards in the jamboree against Colonial.

Boone, nevertheless, will need all its offensive weapons against what should be the best Lyman defense since it won the conference and the district two years ago behind all-state linebacker Mike Hill.

The Greyhounds have another Hill-type in Mike Henley. The 6-0, 180-pound senior linebacker was one of the top tacklers in the county last year and he returns a little bigger, stronger and quicker.

Henley and his partner in opposing backfields Mike Crespo were the mainstays of an undefeated junior varsity team two years ago. "Boston College is real impressed with Crespo," said Scott. "And there are several schools who would like Henley as an outside linebacker."

Along with Crespo at defensive tackle, Lyman returns Greg Smith, a solid 6-1 and 210 pounds. The defensive ends are in the capable hands of Paul Thomann (6-2, 175) and Greg Memory (5-10, 155). Sophomore Mike Sellgson has moved into the noseguard spot on coach Jack Bloomingdale's 50 defense.

Joining Henley backing the line are Avery "Pooh Bear" Merweather (5-9, 155) and Ron Beasley (6-3, 200). "All those guys played last year except Sellgson," said Scott. "We have good quickness at linebacker and with our linemen."

The only untested area is the defensive backfield. Basketballer Ralph Philpott is taking care of the safety spot.

The cornerback slot are up for grabs among Bobby Decker, Ben Wood, Tony Johnson and Robert Thomas.

Johnson, who was at the controls of the undefeated JV team, will also run Lyman's wishbone attack this year. The 5-10 senior was hampered by a fracture of his left hand earlier this year, but he's ready to go tonight, according to Scott. Sophomore Gib Lundquist and Darren Boyesen are the backups.

Mike Sirmans will open at fullback while Crespo and Henley will be at the halfbacks. Merweather, Beasley and soph Benny Glenn will also see action as Scott continues to keep his backfield fresh.

The offensive line is also senior-dominated although center Pat Perkins (6-2, 180) and left guard Byron Overstreet (6-0, 170) were two junior who were able to crack the lineup.

David Leach (5-11, 200) and Jim Odom (5-11, 180) are the tackles while Paul Thorn (6-0, 180) takes care of right guard. John Elwood is the tight end and Clint Baker returns at split end.

While the offense will move the ball and the defense is very solid, Scott lights up when he talks about the best department on the team — the kicking game.

Senior Steve Abernethy has been the top field-goal kicker in the county the past two years. "Anything time we get inside the 35-yard line, we won't hesitate," said Scott. "Steve Abernethy has really been kicking that ball."

GET MORE THAN A LAWNMOWER GET A SNAPPER.

Any lawn mower will cut your grass. A SNAPPER Hi-Vac™ will groom your yard into a beautiful lawn. This 21" self-propelled mower has the power, exclusive vacuuming system and optional attachments to give your lawn just what it needs. Snap on the Thatcherizer and as you mow, lawn smothering thatch is pushed from the ground surface. Now your lawn can breathe.

There's a Thatcherizer for pulverizing grass clippings and a Snapperizer for shredding fall leaves. It takes more than a lawn mower to get a beautiful lawn. A trip to your SNAPPER dealer would be a snap in the right direction. So visit him today. It's a snap with SNAPPER

Chris Petrus
 SERVICE MANAGER

We use only genuine Ford and Motorcraft parts.

"These parts and thousands of others are backed by my free Lifetime Service Guarantee. I'll give you a repair guarantee that lasts a lifetime—and it's free. Here's how it works. When we fix your Ford, Mercury, Lincoln or Ford Light Truck, you pay only once. And I'll guarantee that if the covered part ever has to be fixed again, we will fix it free. Free parts. Free labor. And my Lifetime Service Guarantee lasts as long as you own your vehicle, no matter where you bought it or how old it is. So come in today and find out more about my Lifetime Service Guarantee. I back our repairs for life."

This limited warranty covers vehicles in normal use. And excludes routine maintenance parts, belts, hoses, sheet metal and upholstery.

We fix cars for keeps.
