"I would that all persons were temperate in their habits," he said, "but it has been shown in history that mankind cannot be made good under computation. Temperance is a virtue to be in-culcated in a people by education and persuasion."

In New Hampshire the House of Representatives convened with one seat vacant—that of the Rev. Napoleon J. Gilbert, Catholic priest who was elected despite his public protestations. In Minnesota Floyd B. Olson, in his inaugural address at the state's first farmer-labor party governor, urged repeal of the state newspaper suppression law

After their long week's in making "Whoopee," the Eddle Cantor screen musical comedy that comes Saturday to the Milane Theatre, the ladies of the ensemble discarded their "Ten Gallon Stet-son" cowgirl headgear with fine western whoops to welcome the newest mides in millinery. Claire Morrison, one of Cantor's lovely play-mates in the picture, is shown with a new wide-brimmed, nut brown felt that becomes her small face. It sets well back on her forehead, with the broadest kind of a fold and a cunningly contrived knot.

The autumn shades of brown and green give the hat a seasonal attraction, but it is also available in the brighter blues, wine red and purple.
