Woman's Club

Notes From All Departments Of The Sanford Woman's Club

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has designated Sunday, Dec. 7th for the observance of Tuberculosis Day. "Four years ago, through the efforts of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs a bill passed the state legislature to acquire land for the purpose and set up on it a state sanatorium for tuberculosis. Land was given but the sanatorium has never been built. The state needs that sanatorium desperately. Florida is the only state so largely sought by sufferers from tuberculosis which provides no place for their cure or care, and notwithstanding the fact that for the number of its population Florida has a larger health appropriation per capita than any state but one in the United States. The State Federation of Women's Clubs, recognizing the need unanimously voted that further delay was to be deplored and to assist in a movement with a sanatorium as the end."

"Churches, schools, labor unions, fraternal orders and other organizations to the number of 200,000 at least are being asked to join the anti-tuberculosis workers of the country in the observance of the fourth National Tuberculosis Day. Personal appeals are being made to clergymen of every denomination, school principals and leaders of various organizations, urging them to cooperate.

The chief aim of the national movement is to secure the presentation in the churches of the tuberculosis problem and the need for cooperation of church members and others. Last year over 60,000 churches gave attention to this subject on Tuberculosis Day and many churches contributed the collection of one service for the tuberculosis campaign fund. While the Tuberculosis Day movement is strictly educational and not for the purpose of raising money the churches of the country are urged to cooperate in the Red Cross seal campaign."

Mrs. E. W. D. Dunn, chairman of the health committee and an able corps of assistants will sell the Red Cross seals in Sanford. Not only are club members urged to purchase the seals but the townspeople in general are asked to contribute in such a splendid work of building a sanatorium, by a generous patronage, as the proceeds derived from the Red Cross seals will be used for this purpose. The local pastors have been requested to observe Tuberculosis Day.

The Music Department of the Woman's Club met in their room in charge of Mrs. Hoy. An instructive and delightful programme was rendered. Mrs. Polk, Miss Mahoney and Miss Davis having prepared good papers on the subject of music festivals, oratorios and religious music in America. Mrs. W. and religious music in America. Misses Chandler and Stanton, Mesdames Hoy, Fox and Newton gave short notes on the lives of the special composers of the day: Payne, Duels Back, Chadwick, Parker, Mrs. Beach. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Chandler and the program committee for the success of their work. It was unanimously voted to begin chorus work at once. Mrs. Hoy sang a fine selection from Dudley Buck, "Fear Not Ye, O Israel;" "At Dawning," Cadman, Mrs. Claude Herndon; "Sundown," H. Parker, Miss Gaines.

Moved and seconded that council adjourn. Carried.

Change in Reporter-Star

The rumored sale of the interest owned in the Reporter-Star by Mr. G. C. Keller to Col. W. P. Walton of Kentucky was confirmed yesterday.

Col. Walton is a brother of Mr. E. C. Walton who owned the paper conjointly with Mr. Keller. The brothers will now become associated in the conduct of Orlando's afternoon publication. Mr. Walton has the reputation of being an active and successful newspaper man, and will bring length of experience and breadth of judgment to the duties which he will assume about the first of the year.

Mr. Keller has made no definite plans for the future, it is understood. His health has not been good of late, and he will likely spend some time in renewing his physical vigor before taking up active business again.—Orlando Sentinel.

Baseball on the Square

In these degenerate days, when so much of the sport in horse racing, boxing, etc., is conducted for the benefit of the gate and door receipts, rather than for "blood," one often hears the remark that league baseball, and especially the "world's series" are handled along the same lines. The last number of the Saturday Evening Post contains a well written article by Connie Mack, in which he gives several facts which seem to prove quite conclusively that the "world series" was, to use Mr. Mack's own language, "on the level." The article shows how thousands of dollars might have been made by a frame up, but the money was all sacrificed because the managers and players care more for the honor of winning than they do for the extra money. There is perhaps no better authority on professional baseball in the world than Connie Mack, and this article should go far in putting the sport on a still firmer basis in the hearts of Americans.

The METHODIST REVIVAL

The revival being held at the Methodist church this week is very successful and many new converts have been added to the church. Rev. J. A. Bowen, who has the meetings in charge has greatly endeared himself to the many people who have the pleasure of his acquaintance and he is expected by his reception here and the work he is doing that has been extended to the other side and the encouragement he has received by the large attendance at all the meetings. The Alabama Christian Advocate has the following to say of him:

Rev. J. A. Bowen, one of the North Alabama Conference evangelists, will continue to make Birmingham his headquarters and will then go to Sanford, Florida, Nov. 29 to assist the pastoring Rev. H. T. Gaines in a meeting. Sanford is on beautiful Lake Monroe, a part of the St. Johns river, and when there were some years ago an account of its many artesian wells, boasted of more fallows of water per acre than any other place on earth. It is a land of beautiful lakes, hills, oranges and other fine fruits. Mr. Dr. Bowen, however, eschews the

THE ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICE

MOST BEAUTIFUL AND IMPRESSIVE

LARGE AUDIENCE WITNESSED THE EXERCISES

THIRD ANNUAL LODGE OF SORROW OVER ONE HUNDRED MEMBERS MARCH IN LINE FROM LODGE ROOM TO STAR THEATRE

The Elks Lodge of Sorrow or Memorial Day was most fittingly observed Sunday afternoon at the Star Theatre and though the exercises started a few minutes ahead of scheduled time the theatre building was well filled and many came in after to swell the crowd.

Few lodges in existence pay as much attention to the memory of their departed brothers or hold such beautiful and commemorative exercises to keep alive their memory and this being one of the cardinal principles of the Elks has done much to strengthen the lodge and add to the membership.

After a prayer by Dr. Brown Miss Rena Murrell gave the Thanatopsis and rendered this immortal poem in a manner that certainly brought forth praise for the young lady; applause not being allowed during the exercises.

Miss Gaines rendered "The Land of the Soul" and the audience was carried there with the singer for her voice has a depth and expression that always gives enjoyment to the hearers.

Judge Landis, the orator of the occasion, according to the program made good the title and gave one of the most interesting lectures that has been enjoyed by a Sanford audience.

The oration was followed by a selection "He Shall Come Down Like Rain" by the octette composed of Misses Overman, Ward, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. F. P. Powell and Messrs. Polk, Murrell, Lloyd and Wildman, all of these artists and their singing was one of the features of the occasion.

Dr. J. A. Neal had the hardest task on the program giving eulogy to the departed, each one of whom he claimed as a personal friend and his glowing tributes to their deeds in life and their memory after death was one of the best ever rendered at a memorial service.

After the selection by the quartette of "Remember Me" and the ritual of the lodge the audience joined in the singing

Methodist's Meet Tallahassee

HOLD ANNUAL CONFERENCE IN HISTORICAL SPOT

TALLAHASSEE IS FAMOUS IN STORY AND HISTORY OF EARLY DAYS OF METHODISIM

The Florida Conference is to meet in Tallahassee, in Trinity church on Wednesday morning, December 10th, and for a week the Methodist preachers and laymen composing that important body will be busily engaged with the business of the church.

This is a great occasion in the life of the Methodist itinerant preacher. A week of association together with his fellow comrades is an inspiration to him, and after all the reports are in, and the conference work is done, the last item of business is the stationing of the ministers for another year of service.

It has been seventeen years since the conference met in Tallahassee, and the preachers and delegates will receive a most cordial welcome to the red hills of the state.

Tallahassee, the Capital City of our state, situated among the old red hills of Leon, is an historic spot, for our Methodist people. It was here that the first session of the Florida Conference convened, when Bishop Joshua Soule presided.

This will be eight times that the Florida Conference has met in Tallahassee. The first, eighth, nineteenth, twenty-seventh, thirty-sixth, forty-third and fifty-third sessions were held here.

First session, February 7, 1845, Bishop Joshua Soule presiding, T. C. Benning, secretary.

Nineteenth, December 12, 1862, Bishop Nineteenth, December 12, 1862, Bishop J. O. Andrew, presiding; P. P. Smith, secretary.

Twenty-seventh, January 4th, 1871, Bishop W. M. Wightman, presiding; U. S. Bird, secretary.

Forty-third, December 16th, 1886, Bishop Eugene R. Hendrix presiding; Frederick Pasco, secretary.

Fifty-third, December 9th, 1896, Bishop Charles G. Galloway, presiding; Frederick Pasco, secretary.

Of the Bishops who have presided in Tallahassee, only one remains on this day: Bishop Hendrix. The others have gone to the home above.

Bishop H. C. Morrison, who is to preside over the seventieth session of our conference is no stranger to our Florida people. In fact, he is one of us. Florida is his home by adoption, and we are glad to have him as a citizen of Florida.

Dr. Frederick Pasco is a familiar figure at the sessions of our conference. He has served as secretary of the conference year after year since the thirtieth session held in Jacksonville in 1874, giving

"Blest be the Tie that Binds" and the benediction closed the exercises. The memorial services of the Elks, always enjoyed by the people and friends and relatives of the members was probably enjoyed to a greater degree on Sunday. The rain kept many from attendance but the theater building was comfortably filled and the services were beyond the average, if such a thing is possible.

LONG LOOKED FOR BRICK HAVE ARRIVED IN SANFORD

BEING HAULED TO CELERY AVENUE TO BE LAID

GOOD NEWS TO CITIZENS

SANFORD ROAD DISTRICT WILL NOW BE PAVED WITHIN RADIUS OF NINE MILES OF CITY

The brick for the Sanford special road district has arrived. Now what do you think of that right in the face of the prediction of the wise ones who said that the brick would not get here before the first of January at least?

But the brick are coming and as fast as they arrive they are being hauled to Celery avenue where the first laying will be made. All of us will agree that Celery avenue needs the brick more than any other section and now that the season has started for the vegetable movement the brick should be laid on Celery avenue and the road made good before the heavy hauling of the celery begins.

This will give the special district about twenty-five miles of brick roads and will be the special road district in Florida that has taken advantage of the new road law and bonded for bricks roads.

This action as the part of the Sanford special district has been applauded by the rest of the state and now that we have made good on the proposition other sections of Florida will follow and good roads will soon be the slogan.

PROGRESS IN FLORIDA ROADS

The State Coming to the Front in the Matter of Good Roads. Interest in the progress Florida is making in building and keeping up good roads is not far and wide and is favorably commented on in many of the leading industrial and trade journals of the country.

A total of 2,848 miles of good roads were built in Florida last year at a cost of more than $1,000,000, according to an official report just made public.

Half of the roads were surfaced with sand-clay, 857 miles with marl or crushed stone and of the remainder 8.5 miles were constructed of brick.

A number of Florida counties have voted bonds for road construction in recent months, and it is estimated that the expenditures this year for improved highways will amount to $3,000,000 or more.

Nothing has demonstrated more notably the progress that Florida is making than the building of good roads in that state. These roads are paying handsome returns on the money invested in them. They would pay a very satisfactory return if nothing but the increase in the value of lands which they cause was taken into account.

Not only is Florida building roads, but she is constructing very substantial ones, brick being used for the purpose in some counties.

Another City Directory

L. B. Buck, representing the Polk Directory Co. is in the city today looking over the ground preparatory to publishing a new city directory. As to whether the city will stand for another one just at this time or not will be determined by the advertisement and Mr. Buck is busy interviewing them today.

GETTING READY FOR FAIR

THE MID WINTER EXPOSITION PROMISES GREAT RESULTS

WILL BE ONE OF THE GREATEST EVENTS IN HISTORY OF THIS SECTION

A trip through the grounds of the Orange County Fair Association, where will be held the Midwinter Exposition February 17-21, revealed the fact that the buildings and grounds are being put in order for this coming event that always throngs the city with visitors from far and near.

The ladies' rest-room, which Secretary O'Neal declared to be the best of any fair ground in the state, has received additional improvements. In the rear of this building a splendid new tennis court has been built.

More than two hundred strong, healthy rose bushes are being cared for which will be full of roses when the exposition takes place. In this connection it may be stated that the grounds have been additionally adorned with much shrubbery, including palm trees, camphor trees, etc.

It has been determined to make the public exhibit a greater feature, and for this purpose, new sheds will be added which will greatly increase the capacity.

New shavings are everywhere upon the grounds for putting the walkways in a new way in the most perfect road.

All of the buildings are undergoing a complete renovation, and the Stoddard Contracting Company of New York has been engaged to make all of the splendid decorations that will adorn the grounds.

A new automatic building has been erected, which will also serve as a parcels room.

What Su, t. Hugh Allen calls his experimental farm will furnish visitors with the proper understanding that celery, lettuce, turnips, radishes, strawberries, beets, mustard, onions, carrots, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and even rhodes grass, are grown to perfection in Florida soil. This garden is a most pretty spot to be seen about the fair grounds, and is second only to the rose display.

Another Lyceum Attraction

Those having season tickets for the Union Lyceum and others who attended the Chicago Glee Club entertainment will be interested in learning that another attraction will be at the Imperial on Dec. 11th. Dr. Claude W. Duke, traveler and lecturer will deliver his famous lecture, "Some Social Aspects of Christianity."

Mr. A. F. Turner, secretary of religious work, Young Men's Christian Association of Tampa says: "Dr. Duke's strong personality, splendid oratory, together with his bright flashes of wit and his altogether pleasing manner on the platform make him a lecturer of the highest order. At the Young Men's Christian Association we find that he draws better than almost any one we have been able to secure, not excepting well advertised lecturers from abroad."

Tickets may be reserved at Maxwell's store Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 10th and 11th. Downstairs 50 cents. Balcony 50 cents. Those holding season tickets will use the seats shown on the tickets.

Basket Ball

The Sanford High School basketball team will play the Kissimmee High School team. Those representing the local team are Albert Fry and Frank Costas, forwards; Howard Gilbert, center; Sherman Raith and Joel Field, guards.

POSTOFFICE BUILDING DELAY SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

ARCHITECT'S OFFICE AT WASHINGTON IS CROWDED

WORK IS YEARS BEHIND

COMMERCIAL BODIES AND CITIZENS GENERALLY SHOULD TAKE UP MATTER PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Like the brick roads our public building seems to be a joke with many who understand but little the devious ways and means employed in these large undertakings and that these improvements cannot be built in a day.

The Herald stated that the new Sanford postoffice had been secured but it would be years before the department would get to it, as there were many public buildings in the United States and the building department was years behind with the work. It will actually be from three to five years before plans can be prepared in the architect's office at Washington and the site for the building has never been selected.

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 20, 1913. Secretary Commercial Club, Sanford, Florida.

Dear Sir: I have the honor of enclosing herewith a set of resolutions of the Portland Oregon Chamber of Commerce, and would invite your consideration to the following observations:

Sanford has received an appropriation by Congress of $70,000.00 for the purpose of erecting a United States Postoffice building.

It will be from three to five years before plans can be prepared in the Architect's office at Washington under present conditions.

There are 744 authorized buildings at present in the architect's office at Washington all subject to this same delay.

The architect's office at Washington at present has the same number of clerks that it had twenty years ago, with the same wage rate, and no authority to increase either except by act of congress.

A bill, No. 3063, which has the support of the architect's office and treasury department at Washington was recently introduced in the U. S. Senate to relieve this very unbusinesslike situation, and authorizes the architect's office, with certain limitations, to employ outside architects so that these buildings may be constructed in the near future.

Could you aid in this work by enlisting the influence of your delegation in congress in behalf of this bill?

Very truly yours, PORTLAND CHAMBER OF COM. E. G. Gillner, Sec'y.

FLORIDA FARES WELL

Don't Know Where Money Goes But It Is On The Way

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Florida has fared very well in the government estimates for harbor and river improvements for the next fiscal year. The estimates sent to congress by Secretary McAdoo include the following:

- For government postoffice at Palatka, $3,000.00.
For the improvement of St. Lucie Inlet, $100,000.00.
For additional work in St. Petersburg harbor, $1,500.00.
For continuing work in Tampa Bay, $6,000.00.
For removing water hydrants from various Florida rivers, $5,000.00.
For dredging work in the Apalachicola river, $15,000.00.
For work on Blackwater river, $5,000.00.
For work on Holmes river, $3,000.00.
For deepening and the clearing of the St. Johns river, $300,000.00.
For work on the channel from Clearwater harbor to Tampa Bay, $3,000.00.
For improvement on Lake Crescent and Dunn's Creek channel, $3,000.00.
For work in Santa Rosa Sound, $5,000.00.
For a new lighthouse on Florida reef, $75,000.00.
For aids to navigation on the St. Johns river, $56,000.00.
For aids to navigation in Tampa Bay, $13,000.00.

STATE NEWS

"Dixie, one of the most valuable, as well as one of the most beautiful places in Orlando, changed hands last week," says the Orange County Citizen. The purchaser was E. A. Thomas and the Citizen gave the readers a view of the attractive place from the water front. A large full size picture given was evidence of the truth of the Citizen's remarks about its beauty. The place is certainly beautiful, and the owner can hardly fail to enjoy life amid such surroundings in Florida.

Building in St. Petersburg started at an unprecedented rate for the month of December yesterday, eleven building permits being issued the first day. The permits for this one day call for forty-seven more rooms to be added to the dwellings of the city. Last month was slightly behind the month before in building activities, but December promise to outdo all records if the lead is maintained.

The board of county commissioners of state institutions has elected Dr. Drew B. Handley of Worthington Springs to fill the position of physician at the state prison farm. There were numerous applicants for this position, and the endorsements of each were carefully considered, resulting in the final selection by the board of Dr. Handley.

During an altercation over an automobile repair bill at Ft. Landerdale, Herbert E. Fine, a prominent local real estate broker, shot and seriously wounded Harry E. Harmon, proprietor of a garage. Fine was immediately arrested and hurried to the county jail. Harmon is not expected to recover.

Daytona has been discussing a proposed bond issue to provide for the installation of an adequate and proper sewerage and drainage system. The amount that has been talked is a gested is $175,000. The matter is one that very greatly interests all who own property or live in Daytona.

WILL BOYCOTT EGGS

Cabinet Members Wives Join the Independent Housewives

Washington, Dec. 9.—Eggs are to be banished from the tables in the homes of nearly all the cabinet members, whose wives have pledged their support to the egg boycott campaign which is being waged to reduce the price. One of the first to give her approval and join the movement was Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, wife of the secretary of state.

"Any subject that touches the home touches the heart of every woman, whoever she is," is what Mrs. Bryan told Mrs. Ellis Logan, a leader in the boycott movement here when she called upon Mrs. Bryan to obtain her support.

Following Mrs. Bryan's lead, nearly all the other cabinet wives have joined the effort to bring lower egg prices. Pledges have been obtained from Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, wife of the secretary of war; Mrs. Albert S. Burleson, wife of the postmaster general; Mrs. David S. Houston, wife of the secretary of agriculture, and Mrs. William B. Wilson, wife of the secretary of labor.

A monster petition is being prepared, with which congress is to be stirred by Mrs. Logan and her co-workers. It is expected that by next Monday night more than five thousand names will have been signed to the document. Mrs. Logan declares that already fifteen thousand Washington wives have joined the movement. It is planned, the club-women say, to impress congress with the need of legislation that will bring about lower food prices.

NO HUNTING ON SUNDAY

New Game Law Strictly Prohibits Destruction of Sabbath

The new game law and the old game law for that matter forbid hunting on Sunday and this law can be and should be enforced to the letter. It remained for Warren Carson of Kissimmee, however, to catch the first offenders and they happened to be three prominent citizens of Orlando. They were haled before Judge Murphy and he promptly fined them $25 and costs and now the other counties can follow. Carson had and step the hunting on Sunday

THE COMING FARMER

The older farmers—that is, the men and perhaps in some instances the women—will have to look to their laurels or expect them to be taken by the boys and girls, who are not only making a showing for themselves in the agricultural world; but are being entertained by "swell" receptions at the nation's capital.

THE HERO OF TODAY

For years we have been making heroes of our prize fighters and race horse jockeys. But in Ohio we are now making heroes of the boys who grow one hundred bushels of corn to the acre.

BUY PRESENTS AT HOME

Christmas is only about a month off and as soon as the excitement of the thanksgiving season is over, people will begin to make their arrangements for the greatest festival of the christian year.

We are not going to repeat here, the many good and sufficient reasons, which we have often urged in the columns of this paper, why our people should do their purchasing from their home merchants, but we want, at this particular time, to present the matter in a new light—a Christmas light.

O joy, O bliss, the brick are here and our good roads will soon be a certain fact instead of an ephemeral dream. The first car loads arrived yesterday and are being hauled to Celery avenue where the first roads will be laid and the brick will move from the factory steadily until enough has arrived to make the twenty-five miles of Sanford's special road district.

They have converted a fine office building in Sanford into the new Seminole County court house. It has an elevator, too, and everybody's happy.

Married in Orlando

At four o'clock Thursday afternoon a beautiful and stylishly dressed young woman wearing a blue coat with a corsage bouquet of roses entered the court house accompanied by a stalwart young man, who appeared to be two or three years her senior.

It was evident that they were strangers to the place, for they walked almost the full length of the corridor, enquiring in at the several offices before they found some one of whom they made inquiry for the county judge's office.

Judge Martin was on the verge of leaving the building to cast his vote in the municipal election, having just been reminded by a newspaper man that such election was in progress.

District Meeting of K. of P.

There will be a district meeting of the Lodges of the 8th district of the K of P Lodges in this city on Tuesday night, Dec. 9th in their hall over the Imperial Theatre.

Delegates from DeLand, Orlando, Kissimmee, Apopka, Leesburg, Eustis, New Smyrna and many other points will be in attendance.

These district meetings are always well attended and the knights look forward to them with much pleasure for it is usually a good get together meeting and pleasure and profit always follow.

Another feature of the meeting will be the presence of the Grand Chancellor Hon. Joseph Sears of Kissimmee who expects to make the race for Congress from this district and who is well and favorably known throughout the State.

Other prominent knights will be present and add much to the occasion.

GOOD BASKET BALL GAME

Sanford High School Plays Rollins Second Team Friday

Sanford will have the first chance of the season to see a basket ball game when S. H. S. plays the Rollins College second team Friday afternoon. Rollins should send up a team that outweighs a little and has had the advantage of playing against the heavier and stronger Rollins varsity.

Later on there will be a number of games here and it will be a great help to the team to know that they have not only the High School but the whole town behind them. The game will be played on the High School court, Tent street and Palmetto avenue, Friday afternoon.

Death of John Grubb

Colonel John Allison Grubb, who is a veteran printer, and having held a card of the union since 1864, passed away at his home 135 Haverham street on last Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, after a short illness of one week's duration.

Mr. Grubb was 72 years of age, being healthy and vigorous until his death. He was a native of Jacksonville, Florida, but has spent the past twenty-eight years in Savannah, with the exception of two years which were spent in Lakeland where he was associated with the Hon. M. F. Hetherington.

Mr. Grubb was one of the most loyal and fearless labor men that Savannah possessed, always feeling that it was only a duty, to belong to his local No. 189, of the Typographical union, but it was a genuine privilege, and could always be found at his post of duty, attending meetings, attending his liberal hand of charity to those less fortunate in their time of distress and want, he was indeed long suffering, tender and gentle in his ways, always helping the weak, which seemed to be his chief delight and demanding union-labeled goods, union workmen to serve him, and furthermore patronizing the advertisers of the Labor Herald, giving them the reason why, explaining the fact that cooperation is the vital factor in success here and elsewhere.

Banks in Good Shape

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Growth and operations of national banks of the United States are detailed in the annual report of the currency bureau, submitted today by Acting Comptroller Thomas P. Kane to Speaker Clark.

The report contains no reference to currency reform and no recommendations, but details the condition of banks during the year ending October 31. Only six national banks out of more than 7,900 existing, went into the hands of receivers, with aggregate capital stocks of $4,350,000. Satisfactory progress in liquidating the assets of all was reported.

Growth of the banking power of the United States as indicated by loans and discounts, capital stocks and deposits, is pictured over nearly 100 pages of statistics. The movement of government funds to banks all over the country to aid crop moving is referred to briefly. That is explained in detail in the report of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo submitted to congress last week.

Big Floods in Texas

Houston, Texas, Dec. 9.—Ninety-six persons were known to have perished up to noon today in floods that have swept through several sections of Texas.

Twenty-five of those drowned last night or early today were in territory where warnings had been posted for several days. The crest of the flood today was nearing the Gulf in the Brazos and Colorado rivers.

Twenty persons are known to have drowned near Brookshire, in Waller county, today in the Brazos floods. Brookshire is about sixty miles in an airline from the river's mouth and marks approximately the position of the flood crest today.

Tourist Season Begins

The tourist season has begun, our first and only tourist, Peter Miller having arrived in the city and settled down for the winter. Mr. Miller has been coming to Sanford for many seasons and though other cities have tried to get our only tourist from us they have never succeeded for Peter loves Sanford and will listen to no blandishments of other resorts. Peter is like the snow birds, his coming means that the winter season has started.

THE Peoples Bank of Sanford

Is glad to announce to the people of Sanford and Seminole county that its New Safe Deposit Vault is now entirely completed and open to the public during banking hours for inspection.

This vault is unique in that it is entirely separate from the main or Money Vault of the Bank, being located just to the rear of the old vault and is made easy of access to its patrons by an unobstructed passageway from the bank lobby.

Realizing the extreme privacy that many patrons desire in the handling of their boxes, we have had arranged a special retiring booth which may be occupied by the holder of a box while handling same. This is directly to the right of the entrance of the Deposit Vault.

Extending to all a most cordial invitation to call and inspect this new department, we are Very truly yours, thirty-six years of valuable service as secretary of the conference. The conference roll shows eighteen superannuated members. One of these, Dr. Josephus Anderson, passed to his reward this year. There are two superannuated members and 129 on the effective list.

There are seven districts as follows: Bartow, J. R. Cason, presiding elder; Jacksonville, Ira S. Patterson, presiding elder; Live Oak, J. W. Bigham, presiding elder; Miami, C. Fred Blackburn, presiding elder; Ocala, F. R. Bridges, presiding elder; Tallahassee, J. P. Hillburn, presiding elder; Tampa, O. A. Flower, presiding elder.

These seven districts cover the entire state of Florida, except the extreme western part, which belongs to the Alabama Conference. Two districts, Marianna and Pensacola are in that territory. D. B. Sweet in Florida Advocate.

Game is Plentiful

Hunters returning from the chase bring back deer, turkeys and plenty of quail and squirrels and report that game is plentiful. On Wednesday of this week the Ananias Club will pitch their tents on Rice Lake (wherever that is) and will keep open house to all their Sanford friends for three days and nights. The days will be devoted to hunting and fishing and the nights to political speeches and all the officials from the highest to the lowest will come in for their share of praise and censure. These meetings are looked forward to from year to year and the boys anticipate some great times. Dr. Puleston is down on the program for a poem on the split skirt and D. L. Thrasher for a speech on Municipal Reform and many other citizens are expected to contribute to the joys of the occasion. Among those who will pitch camp on Wednesday are Arthur Yowell, J. D. Davison, P. M. Elder, R. J. Holly, F. L. Woodruff, J. N. Whitner, Capt. R. H. Marks, Dick Calhoun, W. H. Underwood, Geo. DeCotter, E. A. Douglass S. Hunge and several others.

Complimentary Party

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Henry Wight entertained a few friends very informally complimentary to a very charming visiting lady, Mrs. E. L. Reese, of Pensacola, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Barnes. The afternoon was taken up with pleasant conversation and fancy work, while the ladies were delightfully entertained with readings and musical numbers, given by Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mrs. R. E. Tolar, Mrs. Geo. L. Hoy and Mrs. F. P. Strong. Mrs. Hal Wight and Miss Margaret Wight served delicious refreshments which were oyster patties, sandwiches, pickles and coffee. Among those invited to this pretty affair were Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mrs. E. L. Reese, Mrs. G. H. Fernald, Mrs. F. P. Strong, Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Allan Jones, Mrs. C. M. Berry, Mrs. R. E. Tolar, Mrs. J. W. Dickins, Mrs. Herring, Mrs. Geo. L. Hay, and Mrs. J. C. McDaniel.

Lake Hodges' Accident

Lake Hodges is able to resume his run as flagman on the Coast Line after limping around for several weeks. He was walking on the top of the cars the other night and in a dense fog stepped from a high car to a flat loaded with axes and sprained his ankle.

Real Winter Promised

Washington, Dec. 8.—Real winter will prevail over most of the country during the coming week. "The week will open with low temperatures, probably the lowest of the present season," said the weather bureau's weekly bulletin tonight, "over the interior districts east of the Rocky mountains and with frost to the middle gulf of Mexico's coast."

Dr. Sam Puleston will address the Ananias Club at Rice Lake on Friday evening on the subject, "Why I Have Become a Lecturer," and there will be many visitors present to hear him.

Among the prominent visitors to the city yesterday was Senator A. E. Donegan of Kissimmee. He was accompanied by Tom Griffin of Kissimmee and S. S. Griffin of Ocala.

Mrs. E. O. Tyler of Tampa is the guest of her daughters, Mrs. R. J. Holly and Mrs. E. B. Brown.

Cecilian Music Club

Saturday afternoon the Cecilian Music Club met at the usual time in Mrs. Munson's studio. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Two new names were proposed for membership. After the business meeting the following pretty program was given by members of the club: Tarentelle, L. M. Sougate, Helen Peck, Duet, Twelve O'clock Gallop, H. DeBarry, Serita Lake and Mrs. Munson, Sixth Waltz, Hausset, Violin, Elinor Herring, accompanied by Helen Peck; Dance of Brownies, Effie Kamman, Serita Lake; Carolling of the Birds, Mischie, Helen Peck; Garland of Old Fashioned Roses, Serita Lake; Rosary, Nevin, Helen Peck, piano and Elinor Herring, violin. The last number on the program was a beautiful chorus, Silver Threads Among the Gold, sung by the whole club and accompanied by Serita Lake.

GETS BRIDES MIXED

Bridegroom on Honeymoon Trip Gets Into Wrong Sleeping Car Section.

By H. M. EGGERT. Their wedding had been a very quiet one, just as their courtship had been quiet. Cynthia Mears and John Roberts had been engaged for more than two years before he could afford to marry, and something of the sedateness of married life had already settled down on them. Then a sudden promotion, with a considerable increase in salary, had changed all John's prospects. The future looked rosy.

John was thirty and Cynthia twenty-six. There had been no wild romance associated with their engagement. They loved each other fondly, but they were under no illusions. "We must have no fuss, no wedding party, and above all, no foolish pranks or rice throwing," John said on that evening when he brought Cynthia the wonderful news that they could now be married. Cynthia had agreed cordially. Her parents were dead and she lived alone in a boarding house. There was no one to give her away. John was assisted by Charlie Murtagh, his best man. The marriage was performed at noon in a little uptown church, and immediately afterward the couple left for the station, en route for Florida, where they were to spend their honeymoon, John having obtained a month's leave of absence for that purpose before taking up his new duties. Cynthia wore a plain traveling dress at the ceremony and John a business suit. Charlie accompanied them in the carriage to see them off, and there was no rice throwing on the part of anyone.

"Do you know, dearest, Charlie seems more frustrated than you do," said Cynthia, smiling, as the carriage rolled away. Charlie certainly looked perturbed, and John who was in the secret, smiled at Cynthia and whispered that he would explain the cause when they were aboard the train. The truth was that Charlie was secretly

"I Can't Find the Tickets." engaged, and the part that he had played that morning, instead of being, as it was, a rehearsal, had shattered his nerves when it brought him the realization of the ordeal which he was shortly to undergo. He was fidgetting nervously with his watch. "Well, we'll make the 1:14 with ten minutes to spare," he said. "The 1:14!" exclaimed Cynthia in horror. "Why, it is the 1:04, Charlie!"

Charlie had misread the time-table, and the next through train would not leave until eight. John bawled to the driver to whip up his horses, and the vehicle dashed into the station with two minutes to spare.

Charlie was fumbling nervously in his pockets, and his face was the color of chalk. "I can't find the tickets," he stammered.

"Then I'll get some more, you chump," yelled John, and made a dash for the ticket office. Happily there were no purchasers there, and it was only the matter of a moment to procure two more tickets and a drawing-room section. At the door of the waiting room he encountered Charlie, wandering aimlessly about and looking for him. Outside he saw Cynthia's brown hat and veil. John brushed Charlie aside and ran toward Cynthia, who was just getting aboard the train. He swept past the porter and followed her into the drawing-room section, turned and slammed the door.

"Well, thank God we pulled that off, dearest!" he exclaimed, and a scream awakened him to reality. The woman in the section was not Cynthia at all. The train was moving, too, and just as John looked at the strange girl in the compartment, the carriage rolled past Charlie upon the platform, waving two tickets in his hand and shouting furiously.

No, this girl did not in the least resemble Cynthia, except for the brown hat and veil and a certain similarity of gait and figure. Cynthia was a blonde and this girl was a decisive brunette. Cynthia's hair was gold and this girl's was black. Cynthia was slim and "willowy," and this girl was decidedly well-plump.

"What are you doing here?" she cried in terror, which John's abused face and dishevelled appearance certainly warranted. "Help! Help!" The door was burst open and a man came in. He was at least three inches taller than John, and athletically inclined. If one might judge from the bulging muscles about his chest and arms. He strode between John and the girl.

"Who is this fellow? Has he been molesting you, dearest?" he demanded. "He called me 'dearest,'" said the girl, beginning to look tearful.

The man turned to John. "Unless you can explain your presence here satisfactorily within one minute," he said, "I shall first give you the thrashing of your life and then hand you over to the conductor."

"I'm perfectly willing to explain my presence here, sir," answered John hotly, "but first I must find my wife. She is aboard this train. God help us if she isn't." A happy thought struck him. "Help me to find her," he said, "and then we'll have the explanations."

"I'm willing to give you every opportunity," answered the other. "Suppose you let me see the number of that ticket in your hand." He took it from John. "E. 7," he said. "This is E. 6. According to that ticket your wife ought to be in the next compartment."

He flung the door open and called the conductor. "Is there a lady in E. 7?" he asked.

"No, sah," answered the man, grinning. "E. 7 is vacant, sah."

"But let me explain," cried John, thoroughly mortified. "I only bought that ticket five minutes ago. Of course E. 7 is empty. They wouldn't have sold the section to me if it hadn't been. I was almost late for the train and left my wife on the platform while I bought that ticket. My former number was—G something."

The other watched John make his labored explanation with a cynical smile. "I certainly want you to have every opportunity to explain why I found you in my wife's section," he said. "Conductor, is there a G section on this train?"

"Yes, sah, right behind," answered the portly.

"Then suppose we go there," said the athletic man, linking his arm in John's. "G—what did you say?"

"It was G 11 or 12," said John. "I'm not sure which. But if my wife isn't there you'll find one of those sections empty. But she must be there," he added eagerly. "Come on, in heaven's name."

They passed through the section and the next one was G. The door of 12 stood open and an enormously stout lady was standing there, fanning her burning face briskly.

"No, no, this is not she," cried John, "the expression of sarcastic interrogation upon the other's face, and turned across the aisle to 11. The door was locked.

"Conductor!" shouted John. "Who is in this section?"

The man came hurrying along. "I guess it's empty, sir," he said, producing a key, and opened the door. Section 11 was guileless of any occupant. The stranger turned to John.

"Will you take your thrashing here or back in Section E?" he asked, buttoning his coat across the chest.

"For God's sake let me find my wife and I'll take it wherever you like—and give you as good as I get," John answered. Then suddenly his eyes lit upon two figures that had entered the car. "There she is!" he shouted exultantly.

Two women in brown hats and veils were coming down the aisle. One was John's wife, the other the strange woman, and both were radiant with smiles.

"John, dearest!" exclaimed Cynthia, falling upon his neck. "Just think! That horrid Madame Hameses sold Julia precisely the same hat that she sold to me, and she charged forty-five dollars for it because she said that it was an exclusively Parisian design. O, I haven't told you. What do you think! This lady is Julia Devou, an old school-chum whom I haven't seen for goodness knows how long."

"Julia Styles since this afternoon," said the double, blushing charmingly. "Harry and I were married at 12 o'clock at the—"

"Harry!" exclaimed Cynthia, and she took the tall man by the shoulders and swung him round hard so that he faced her. "Harry! Harry Ross!" she exclaimed.

"You, Cynthia!" he muttered, and all the athletic valor seemed suddenly to have gone out of him.

"When have you been all these years, Harry?" exclaimed Cynthia. "Never mind, you shall tell me afterward. Just think, John," she continued to her husband, "if that silly old Charlie Murtagh didn't put the tickets in my traveling bag, after all."

"Charlie Murtagh!" exclaimed Julia. "A stout young man with a pink face and a whitish-brown mustache, blue eyes, high forehead, and wears striped ties to match his socks?"

"Why, Julia, do you know him?" "Know him?" cried Julia. "Why, he is to marry my sister Annie two weeks from Wednesday!"

"I guess," said Harry Ross, "that we'll convert that prize-battle into a couple of cigars while the ladies adjust their relationship. What do you say, sir?"

"Roberts," said John. "I think all things considered, that your solution will afford peace with honor to all concerned."

"My, but I'll have something to say to Charlie when we get back from Tampa!" meditated Cynthia. (Copyright 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

STILL MANY USERS OF SNUFF

Manufacturer Corrects Impression That Custom Is Dying Out—Some Incredibly Expensive Grades.

A millionaire snuff manufacturer sat in his $6,000 French car watching the bathers.

"And so," he laughed, "you think snuff-taking is dying out, eh? You think the snuffmaker's trade is extinct, like that of the armorer? Well, you're off—off, off."

"Snuff-taking increases—not, I admit, in Fifth avenue or Rittenhouse square. But it increases. I sell more snuff today than I ever did. The 'Chinese,' especially since the abolition of opium smoking among them, have taken up snuff."

"But the rich Chinese, the mandarins, don't get their snuff from me. No, they get it from Portugal, from families owning secret, old-time recipes, who charge as much for the exquisite melanges as $300 and $500 a pound."

"This snuff the Chinaman ages like wine. He carries it about with him in priceless bottles of jade, of agate and rock crystal. He hands it about only at state banquets."

"This Portuguese snuff, at $900 a pound, is the best. The worst is the snuff of Symrna, which is made of 25 per cent. walnut sawdust, 10 per cent. brown earth, 5 per cent. oxide of lead and 60 per cent. cigar stumps."

Not Far From The Truth.

Mrs. Knoall was greatly puzzled—and not without reason. The fact is, she happened to meet Mr. Newlywed one morning as he was rushing to catch his train, and ventured, with her usual solicitude for other folks' affairs, to hope that Mrs. Newlywed wasn't having trouble with her servants.

"Oh, no!" said Mr. Newlywed. "We've got three!"

Then he dashed off, leaving Mrs. Knoall gasping. Three servants, indeed! Why, it was common knowledge in Suburbville that the Newlyweds were anything but rich. How on earth, then, could they afford to keep three servants? Mrs. Knoall felt forced to call on the bride that afternoon to make investigations.

On his return home in the evening Mr. Newlywed was greeted with this question:

"John, whatever made you tell Mrs. Knoall this morning that we keep three servants?"

John smiled. "Well, don't you, my dear?" he asked. "It seems to me that we always have one going, one coming and one here!"

Guy de Maupassant as a Clerk.

Guy de Maupassant's manner of life as a junior clerk in the French education office is the subject of an interesting article by one of his old colleagues. We rather that he absented himself from his duties on the ground of illness on an average about three days a week, and that was how he obtained leisure for literary composition. None the less he was very anxious to retain his clerkship until his literary prospects were secure.—Westminster Gazette.

Flowers on Wrong Grave.

After periodical pilgrimages extending over 15 years to the cemetery at Beeston, J. Daniels of Nottingham was informed by the local urban council, under whose control it is, that during all this time he has been visiting and placing flowers on the wrong grave. The blunder, they said, was due to a former sexton getting the numbers of the graves mixed in entering them in his book.—London Chronicle.

Feminine Ambition Rebuked.

The instinctive masculine attitude toward feminine ambition is sometimes manifest in early years. Three-year-old Richard was observed in the barnyard one day, following with solicitous attention the movements of a hen who was trying to crow. Finally he inquired kindly, though with evident disapproval: "Is anything the matter wif you?"

Child's Pathetic Death.

A bad school report, which he thought would induce his parents to punish him, caused a boy of twelve years to commit suicide at Reinickendorf, a suburb of Berlin, a few days ago. The child crept at dusk into a stable and hanged himself with a halter from a low beam.

Tactful Mr. Cumrox.

"I want to talk to you about becoming your son-in-law," said the young man. "I can't advise you," replied Mr. Cumrox, "on the subject of becoming a member of the family. As your sincere personal friend I ought to speak freely, but as a husband and father I am restrained."

Sanford 14, Kissimmee 1

S. H. S. opened the 1913-14 basketball season with a game against Kissimmee High School at Kissimmee on Friday.

Sanford went into the game crippled by the loss of Speer, who would have played forward but for a badly broken arm that will keep him out of the game for the rest of the season.

The game was one of the best High School games ever held in Sanford. From start to finish over play was right in the game.

The two teams will play again here on January 9, and it will not be any walk over.

The following is Friday's lineup: Sanford: Fris, Carson Bryant, Coates, Tiller, Butler, Gilbert, C. (Capt) Newton, Coates, C. (Capt) Newton, Field (Capt), R. G. John, Routh, L. G. Jarel.

The returns of the city election were crowded out of Friday's edition owing to the rush of business and having several anxious inquiries about the same we give the actual figures for the benefit of those who are concerned:

For Mayor: D. L. Thrasher 169, For Aldermen: W. W. Abernathy 149, John Adams 164, J. D. Davison 162, C. C. Dingo 166, B. W. Herndon 159, R. C. Maxwell 164, H. E. Tolar 168.

SANFORD, LUCKY SANFORD

THE PRIDE OF THE STATE AND GREATEST VEGETABLE SECTION IN THE SOUTH FROM FLORIDA GROWERS NEWS

Sanford, "Lucky Sanford," "The Celery City," is very much alive at the present time, this being the beginning of the celery season, at which time comes the great harvest of succals to reimburse the growers for their work of toil.

Up to the day I was in Sanford there had been 39 cars of lettuce shipped, the first car going out on the 14th. The shippers report that the market for good-sized, well packed heads is from $2.75 to $3.25 per crate delivered.

This man stated that there was every prospect of a good market this year, for the reason that the rice it could snap out of all crops being raised farther north, at the same time hardening the heads.

There are planted in Sanford this year 288 acres of cabbage, 340 of lettuce, 545 of celery, 80 of peas, 100 of cauliflower, 2 1/2 of Romano, and 1 1/2 of English peas.

Sanford is in the new county of Seminole, lately divorced from Orange county. Around this county has shown itself in the progressive class.

Sanford is in the artesian belt, which settles the question of cheap water. It is also the section where both irrigation and drainage waters flow through the same pipes.

The last census gave Sanford 6,000 population, and the residents are claiming a modest 500 gain since that time.

Sanford is splendidly located on the St. Johns river at the point where it broadens out to form Lake Monroe.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

Law Shank, the muchly lauded people's mayor of Indianapolis, has failed to make good and in the face of a crisis ignominiously fled and thus showed his true colors. The New York Packer sizes him up as follows:

Another idol has turned to clay. Law Shank, famed far and wide as the mayor of Indianapolis, is mayor no more. Law fooled some of the people all the time and all of the people some of the time, but at that point the opinions of P. T. Barnum and Abraham Lincoln clashed.

Law had a Barnum start and a Lincoln finish.

Of all the politicians that were foisted himself upon a law abiding community Shank perhaps is the star performer of them all. It required several years however for the people of Indianapolis to find him out. Things under his administration have been going from bad to worse. Last week the climax was reached, and the business men of the town told him if he did not do better they would impeach him. He in turn told the labor unions if a strike was called he would resign. No sooner had Law issued this ultimatum than the whole town went on a strike.

What indeed was a glorious endorsement of the administration of Mr. Shank's friend.

To Save Money. Economy, rightly understood, requires careful study and consistent action. A knowledge of market prices and money values are necessary for an intelligent solution to the high cost of living. But such knowledge of itself does not suffice. Consistent action is equally, if not more important. The "head and heart" of a family must be one in their efforts. They must work in unison.

Cheap Filter. The most impure water may be purified by filtering through charcoal. Take a large flower pot, put a piece of sponge or clean moss over the hole in the bottom, and fill three-quarters full of equal parts of clean sand and charcoal. Over this lay a linen cloth large enough to hang over the sides of the pot. Pour the water into the cloth and it will come out pure.

Fair Opening. This question is from a Connecticut woman's paper, dated 1790. "We had roast pork for dinner, and Doctor S., who carved, held up a rib on his fork and said, 'Here, ladies, is what Mother Eve was made of.' 'Yes,' said Sister Patty, 'and it's from very much the same kind of critter.'—Christian Register.

Individual Responsibility. In the great scheme of things, all interests are so interwoven that no one can live his life without having it affect countless others, for endless time, so that it becomes a great responsibility upon each one to build his little part wisely and well.

Very Often Overlooked. Many often overlook the fact that the spray will not stay in. To remedy this, mix a little kerosene with the paint and it will stay in perfectly, and then force the screw in. This will drive just as tight as if driven into a hole.

Almost Hopeless Case. Mrs. Minnie is worried about her new husband. She fears he will never become clean and refined, because he cannot learn to put on a monocle without twisting his mouth up to one side.

Luxury and Dissipation. Luxury and dissipation, soft and gentle as their approaches are, and silently as they throw their silken chains about the heart, ensnare it more than the most active and turbulent vices.—Hannah More.

Circumstances Alter Cases. Mrs. Crawford—"I thought you said you weren't going to the sewing circle?" Mrs. Grayhaw—"But, my dear, I didn't know then about the things you have told me."—Judge.

One Little Ring. It is astonishing how soon the whole confidence begins to unravel if a single link of the chain is indulged making. He you could put your head through.—Charles Estwick.

Have Thought for Dollars. While traveling a temple the Chinese asked us the value of the dollar, in order that the dollar may not be offended at the sight of disorder.

Neighborhood Characters. Every neighborhood has some woman who is reported as the informant of official news agency.—Athens Globe.

Bitter Sweet. Women swallow all one mouthful the lie that flatters and drink drop by drop the truth that is bitter.—Denis Diderot.

Smoked When Making Laws. In the recent death, century smoking was allowed in the British house of commons.

Nest 100 Years Old. Sparrow's nest over 100 years old has been found in the trunk of an old ash tree in Cumberland, England.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Notes From All Departments Of The Sanford Woman's Club

Club Calendar, Week Beginning Dec. 9
Dec. 9 Social. Prizes. Mrs. R. R. Brana, hostess.
Dec. 10 Literature, Benjamin Franklin, Articles of Belief and Acts of Religion, Mrs. G. H. Waldron. The present day value of Franklin's Philosophy as expressed in Poir Richard's Album, Mrs. J. N. Whitner. A Biographical Sketch of Franklin, Mrs. M. S. Dickens. Roll Call. Current Events.
Dec. 11 Welfare. Health. Preventive Florida Diseases, Dr. Fulton.
Dec. 13 Music. McDowell, representative American Musician. McDowell's Compositions. The McDowell Association at Peterborough, N. H., and Open Air Pageant Plays. Work of McDowell Choruses in New York.

Attention is called to the following from the constitution of the Woman's Club: "Any member failing to pay her dues by November 1st shall forfeit her membership, due notice thereof having been sent by the treasurer." Owing to the fact that this is the first year of the club's existence, and that many members have not received their notifications, the time has been extended, but it is earnestly requested that all dues be paid not later than January first, so that the chairman of each department may be informed who are members of their special department.

The general business meeting of the Woman's Club was held in the club room Thursday afternoon with a large attendance. Mrs. J. W. Dickens presiding. After roll call, and announcements, reports from the different departments were heard, which showed much activity and enthusiasm among the club women of Sanford. The Welfare department reported the establishment of a "Lest Room" in the Pico building, where strangers in the city shopping or the townspeople will be made most welcome. This room will fill a need in Sanford and has been made possible through the generosity of the public spirited Mr. J. W. Dickens, who has subscribed towards its maintenance. A household shower for the room was announced.

Mrs. B. W. D. Dunn of the Welfare Department announced that the Christmas party will be held at the club room from Mrs. Dunn or from Mrs. Phillips, Co.

Mrs. Laura Fish announced that the club proposed to open a market at some convenient place in the city for one day, Dec. 30th, said at the various stalls all kinds of market stuff will be on sale. The ladies agreed the stock to be donated—much of which was readily promised. The money made will go into the general treasury, and plans are being made to start a real "home" for the Woman's Club. At the conclusion of the business Mrs. J. W. Dickens read a most interesting report of the recent celebration in Orlando.

Motion to adjourn carried.

"Did you know that Mr. Edward Hatch, Jr., of the American Civic League says in an article in the New York Times of January 23, that this is a 'fine winter for flies,' that the number of typhoid flies next spring will be enormous, and suggests that every one interested in Civic, Health and Improvement Clubs begin now to take immediate action to see that all garbage, refuse, etc., is provided with means to keep it covered.

Did you know that Assistant Surgeon General Rucker, of the United States Public Health Service in an article last published points out that disease is carried by rats—that the best method of getting rid of them is by starving them, and says, 'In starving rats the prime point of attack is the garbage can,' and urges municipal ordinances requiring all garbage receptacles to have tight-fitting lids. It is practically impossible to keep flies, rats and other insect-carrying animals from feeding on the ordinary refuse and garbage cans from which the cover is off as often as it is on, from the usual hooded street cans, which is always open."

Did you know that the Woman's Club of Sanford has established a system of garbage collection in our town and kept an operation during the hot weather by keeping a close espionage upon the garbage cans, the man who collects the garbage and securing the cooperation of the municipal authorities. "You can do no greater thing for the health of your town, save only the establishment of a system of sewage."

Civics Committee Federation Woman's Clubs, Zona Galis, Chairman.

Editor of the Herald:

Kindly allow me to speak in your column to answer a few things with reference to a "kick on cleaning up." Your correspondent, who by the way failed to sign his or her name, had either been asleep for several weeks, or else failed read the paper, else they would have been cognizant of the fact that "no lay abiding citizen had been served with a notice to clean up." The cooperation of the townspeople, property owner and householders was requested, but certainly there were no notices served upon any one. It is true that many letters were written to corporations, business men, real estate people and owners of "vacant lots," too, asking them to assist in the good work of cleaning up and beautifying the town and in many instances cordial support was given the department, but in justice to the city authorities let me say here that the strongest support came from the city not the townspeople as a whole. Neither was any favoritism shown. From the mayor and aldermen of the lowly man on the street forces there seemed to be a unanimous desire to cooperate and give satisfactory service. A large force of men and several wagons were placed at the disposal of the department. Mr. Williamson, in charge of the street forces, courteously responded to the many calls from the various sections of the town and distributed his men in every section of the city, thereby giving the entire town a portion of the time allotted for the campaign. The parks were thoroughly cleaned up and many of the vacant lots also, but after all, it was impossible to do it all that was needed, for there are so many vacant lots in Sanford, whose owners have absolutely no pride, it would require three months of continuous labor to clean them up, and the rest of the year to keep them in order. The chairman and members of the Welfare Department and especially of the cleaning up committee are most grateful for the support given them by the city authorities, their employes and all others who contributed in any way to the success of the campaign.

LOU EMITH TERRELL

My old friend, Thorndyke, of the Falls Beach Post gets off the following attack on the church chair that is too good to be lost:

"Some day I'm going to create a piece of work that will immortalize me down through the ages yet to be. For several years I've kept tabs on church choirs, and I've seen the sniffling of horns of the alto when the bass pulled a few notes out of the cellar of his megaphone, and noticed the glare of the contrasts when the soprano run in a dime's worth of trills which the tenor voices were never there."

Nothing special. But every seat will be taken. You are invited. We have just bought a supply of chairs and you will be given a comfortable place. They are not folding chairs either. The pastor, George Hyman, will preach at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. A live, up-to-date Sunday school at 9:45.

Dr. Samuel Puleston has kindly consented to address the Welfare Department next Thursday afternoon, Dec. 11th on the subject of Florida disease. It is believed that his announcement will, in itself, insure a full attendance of the members, but realizing the vital importance of the subject the entire Woman's Club is cordially invited to be present.

The information which Dr. Puleston will give will not only be valuable in the preservation of health but will also teach the club women in making good their order of assistance in improving the sanitary conditions of our city.

Each member of the Welfare Department has the privilege of inviting one person to attend meetings of the Department, and in this way, others who are not members of the club may share this opportunity with us.

The attention of Sanford Club women is called to the General Federation Magazine, for which Mrs. Aylett Fitz is now taking subscriptions. This magazine is necessary for the woman who wishes to keep abreast with the latest information along social, civic, literary and artistic lines of club activity. It is for its suggestion and full of inspirational influence. For a limited time Mrs. Fitz is able to give the yearly price of 10 cents, although the magazine is a regular dollar periodical and she wishes names of subscribers sent her at once.

The "shower" of furnishings for the rest room, which was requested to be held last Friday afternoon was poorly attended. The room, formerly the telegraph office on Railroad avenue near the old depot is open to receive visitors, although the carpenters are still at work. Furnishings for the room are still selected and any articles sent will be received by the lady in attendance, or in the event of her absence they may be left at the tailor shop next door.

The press committee of the club is as follows: Welfare, Mrs. J. N. Whitner; Literature, Mrs. C. C. Woodruff; Social, Mrs. Geo. A. DeCottet; Music, Mrs. M. Martin. Each member of the committee is urged to send in reports of their respective departments.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION

Ladies of the Presbyterian Church entertained at Beautiful Sunday Home.

It is customary each year for the ladies of the Presbyterian Church to have a get together reception at the home of one of the members. The purpose of promotion of the ladies of the church and to have the stranger women who have become acquainted with the people of Sanford.

This year the pleasure was given at the beautiful home of Mrs. W. R. Stevens of Park Street. The reception of Tuesday night, Dec. 8th, Mrs. Stevens home is abundantly gratifying and entertaining and has been a most successful one. The decorations were greatly admired by the guests who were present and the party decorations in the rooms were all white with a touch of yellow and pink. The motif was red and white with a touch of yellow and green and the dining room in pink and green and over the table long streamers of pink and green were suspended from the chandeliers making a most artistic effect.

In the receiving line were Mrs. and Mr. Stevens, Mrs. C. H. Dincer and Dr. Brownlee and the guests of each and every guest fell at once to a most cordial welcome. The guests seated and standing indulged in pleasant conversation and the evening was interspersed by several fine selections by Mrs. J. W. Barnes and Miss Green, both of whom are artists of expression and elocution. They were most heartily endorsed and Mrs. Barnes responded with several other selections in which the character sketch was perfect and brought forth much laughter and applause.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where Mrs. Paston presided at the head of the table, pouring the coffee and Mrs. W. M. McKinnon and Mrs. C. O. Taylor served the salad. They were assisted in feeding the multitude by Miss Gibson, Lucy Whittner, Esale Purdon and Miss Green.

The most delicious sandwiches, potato salad, olives, pickles and other delicacies formed a luncheon that was up to the high standard of the Presbyterian Church and the guests were prone to linger a little longer in the dining room and late hour found some of the guests lingering in the hall and in the parlors. The reception was one of the most delightful affairs in the social calendar of the city of Sanford, and the ladies who were present voted it a most perfect affair and one that will live in the memory of them all.

Their thanks are due to the hospitable host and hostess and the ladies whose untiring efforts made the affair such a success.

Your correspondent, who by the way failed to sign his or her name, had either been asleep for several weeks, or else failed read the paper, else they would have been cognizant of the fact that "no lay abiding citizen had been served with a notice to clean up." The cooperation of the townspeople, property owner and householders was requested, but certainly there were no notices served upon any one. It is true that many letters were written to corporations, business men, real estate people and owners of "vacant lots," too, asking them to assist in the good work of cleaning up and beautifying the town and in many instances cordial support was given the department, but in justice to the city authorities let me say here that the strongest support came from the city not the townspeople as a whole. Neither was any favoritism shown. From the mayor and aldermen of the lowly man on the street forces there seemed to be a unanimous desire to cooperate and give satisfactory service. A large force of men and several wagons were placed at the disposal of the department. Mr. Williamson, in charge of the street forces, courteously responded to the many calls from the various sections of the town and distributed his men in every section of the city, thereby giving the entire town a portion of the time allotted for the campaign. The parks were thoroughly cleaned up and many of the vacant lots also, but after all, it was impossible to do it all that was needed, for there are so many vacant lots in Sanford, whose owners have absolutely no pride, it would require three months of continuous labor to clean them up, and the rest of the year to keep them in order. The chairman and members of the Welfare Department and especially of the cleaning up committee are most grateful for the support given them by the city authorities, their employes and all others who contributed in any way to the success of the campaign.

LOU EMITH TERRELL

My old friend, Thorndyke, of the Falls Beach Post gets off the following attack on the church chair that is too good to be lost:

"Some day I'm going to create a piece of work that will immortalize me down through the ages yet to be. For several years I've kept tabs on church choirs, and I've seen the sniffling of horns of the alto when the bass pulled a few notes out of the cellar of his megaphone, and noticed the glare of the contrasts when the soprano run in a dime's worth of trills which the tenor voices were never there."

Nothing special. But every seat will be taken. You are invited. We have just bought a supply of chairs and you will be given a comfortable place. They are not folding chairs either. The pastor, George Hyman, will preach at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. A live, up-to-date Sunday school at 9:45.

Sunday Service at Presbyterian Church

Moses, the Philanthropist will be the theme for the morning service. His mountain top experiences will be used to show the true base of patriotism.

The evening service will have for its topic Hobab, the Kenite. When Hobab visited the camp of the Israelites in the wilderness he was invited to become guide and scout for the Israelites by Moses, who realized the value of Hobab's knowledge of the locality.

Last Sunday there were eight persons received into the church either by letter or by profession. The Sanford Church Orchestra will furnish several numbers for the evening service.

Those who may be interested are invited to attend the Sunday school at 9:30 and also the midweek prayer meeting Wednesday evening. The Brotherhood class is growing and will prove interesting to those who may care to become members.
