Answer to Previous Puzzle

Ringing In Ears Has Varied Causes

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has had ringing in his ears for a long time. The doctor told him that his high blood pressure was the cause of it. He has been taking blood pressure medicine for years and his pressure is normal with medication. But he still has ringing in his ears. Could you please tell us what causes this and what medicines can help?

DEAR READER — It is true that high blood pressure can cause ringing in the ears (tinnitus). But there are many causes of tinnitus besides high blood pressure and many people who have high blood pressure do not have tinnitus.

Your doctor is a family physician or internist, evidently, since he is treating your husband's blood pressure. Ask him to refer your husband to a specialist in ear, nose and throat diseases for further evaluation of his tinnitus.

Tinnitus can be caused by medicines, which includes too much aspirin. It can follow exposure to excessive loud noises or ear damage. It can be part of hearing loss or it can ever be from wax in the ears.

Not even every ear, nose and throat specialist's office is yet equipped to evaluate all cases of tinnitus and offer the best available treatment. But it is your best bet. If it is caused by a medicine it can be discontinued.

The treatment depends upon the cause. If it can't be corrected by some measure such as stopping a medicine or cleaning out the ears or a suitable hearing aid if there is a hearing loss, an audiologist can, through testing, often mask the tinnitus sound. That means the person must wear a tinnitus masker if one is indicated. The audiologist must be trained and cleared to test and apply tinnitus maskers before he can offer that service.

To give you a more complete idea of all the causes of tinnitus and what can be done I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-10, Help for Tinnitus — Noise or Ringing

In The Ear. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Some people who have hearing loss and are unaware of it. That loss, which can be detected with testing, may be an important factor in causing the tinnitus.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A good friend, 22 years old, had an operation for the removal of cancerous testicles. I realize he will not be able to father any children. I have two questions: 1) Will he be able to perform sexually when he gets married and 2) What effects will there be on the body due to the loss of hormones?

DEAR READER — His immediate health is the first consideration. It makes a great deal of difference what type of malignancy was present. It is somewhat rare to have both testicles involved, if that was actually the case. But, it may be that to control the tumor the doctors wanted to decrease the amount of testosterone hormone that was present. In that case they would not want to use testosterone replacement. If one testicle remains and he recovers he may well be entirely normal sexually and even have children.

A mature male responds differently from an immature male to a loss of both testicles. He will not change greatly physically and may be able to perform sexually. The Romans found that out with their slaves.

If he needs and can take male hormones, he will have the sex drive and characteristics of any normal male.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

April 17 Things should begin to look up for you this coming year financially. Some of the seeds you've been sowing may be getting ready to yield a big harvest.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Partnership arrangements should turn out to be rewarding for you today, especially if you are involved with someone who has a knack for business. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Give vent to your artistic and creative urges today. You're capable of producing something which will please you and others as well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This could be an exciting day romantically for unattached Geminis. Someone with whom you will hit it off instantly may enter the picture.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Shop around today for an item you've been debating about buying because of its price. There's a possibility it may not be offered at a figure within your means.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're easily motivated today concerning your material goals, but what is more important is that you can come up with the right bright ideas to achieve them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your financial aspects are greatly enhanced today because of your practical attitude in money matter. You're a tough guy to beat when it comes to stretching a dollar.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) With a little imagination, today you have the capability to change something so that it is more profitable for you as well as for someone with whom you're involved.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If your ears are tingling a bit today it could be because associates are saying nice things about you. You may hear of it later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Just because others may feel your present hopes are a bit outlandish, don't let this discourage you from pursuing them. They're more realistic than your associates think.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Progress will come more easily today if you try to find enjoyment, even where serious objectives are concerned. Whistle while you work.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have the ability today to take complicated ideas and suggestions and refine them to their root values. You can make sense of what others can't.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a strong possibility you might be in just the right spot today at the right time to benefit from something good that another has going.

CHOCOLATE TO THE RESCUE

'Mmmm! That's enough to give a pup a sweet tooth this Seminole County Humane Society Animal Shelter resident seems to be thinking as he eyes come of the packages of chocolate covered almonds being sold by the Seminole County Board of Realtors this month. The board is raising funds to help the Humane Society Building Fund. The society needs a new home because it must move from its facility at the Sanford Airport.

New Crime Lab In Seminole?

It's '99.9%' Certain

More than $5 million is almost certain to be spent by the state over a two year period to construct a new crime lab in Seminole County.

"I'm 99.9 percent positive that we'll be able to get approval for the funding," State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, said today from Tallahassee.

"I've met with John Mills of Gainesville, chairman of the House committee considering the appropriation," Hattaway said, "and Gov. Bob Graham is recommending the project as well."

Hattaway said the funding will probably come in two annual phases. The first sum — $445,300 — will be used for land acquisition, plan preparation and getting the site ready, he said. The second sum — $4.64 million — will be used the second year for actual construction.

The Sanford Crime Lab, located at the Sanford Airport, is the work horse of the state, Hattaway said, and similar labs in Tallahassee, Tampa and Jacksonville send their excess work there. The Sanford lab also handles law enforcement laboratory tests for the entire Central Florida area.

Hattaway said the funding will also permit an expansion in the number of personnel at the local laboratory from 39 to 50.

The building to be constructed, he said, will measure 177 feet-by-177 feet and will be of single story design. Parking will be provided for about 60 vehicles.

Also included in the budget request, Hattaway said, is $99,000 for special equipment.

No site has been selected for the new facility.

Prospective sites mentioned are in the Lake Mary area off Rinehart Road and in the Sanford area.

Hattaway said it was lucky Seminole County's facility has been recommended for expansion.

"There's a real short(fall) of money here (Tallahassee). Many programs are being cut out. We are zero-base budgeting with a small inflation factor," he said. — DONNA ESTES

DeLand Man Flies Into Trouble

LOWVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) — A DeLand man who flew a private plane to Lewis County landed in jail when the prospective buyer, a state trooper, discovered that the aircraft was stolen.

Richard Hilmer, 56, of DeLand, flew the small Cessna into the Dufo Airport in New Bremen where he had hoped to sell the plane to State Police Sgt. Gary Hopps of the Lowville barracks.

But when Hopps checked the plane through the Federal Aviation Administration Thursday, he discovered that it had been stolen in Florida in 1979.

Hilmer was arrested and charged with first-degree possession of stolen property. He was remanded to the county jail after his arraignment before Lowville Town Justice Robert King. Hilmer was to appear in court again Monday for a bail hearing.

The plane was valued at $18,000.

Cox Named Housing Authority Director

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Lewis Cox, who took over the reins of the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) last November on an interim basis, has been named executive director of the organization.

The SHA Board of Directors, at the suggestion of its chairman, Edward Blacksheare, chose Cox for the position Thursday night over 50 applicants for the job.

"After reviewing the applications, it appears the position could best be filled by someone in-house," Blacksheare said. "I recommend Lewis Cox."

The appointment was unanimous. Cox, with SHA for slightly less than a year, was originally hired as director in charge of finance. He has been serving in the dual role of finance director and executive director since eight year veteran SHA executive director Thomas Wilson was dismissed by the board last November.

Cox's salary as finance director was $19,000 annually. The board agreed Thursday night it will approve additional compensation — the difference between Cox's salary as finance director and a new salary yet to be set for his job as executive director — for the period between January and this month.

Wilson's salary as executive director was $24,000 annually. The board is to hold a special meeting next week to set Cox's new salary and to give final approval to a budget of anticipated subsidies from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the fiscal year beginning in October.

Cox told the board Thursday night the total of the subsidy to be requested for the 1981-82 fiscal year is $329,400, compared with $272,000 for the current fiscal year.

He said, however, he was also told by HUD officials the allocation is likely to be cut by 15 percent in August.

Cox said he has already cut from the proposed budget the purchase of 75 new refrigerators which were to be used as replacements for worn out appliances in apartments in the six Sanford public housing projects. In addition cuts have been made in maintenance activities.

— He said the only place left where cuts can be made is in personnel.

Linda Williams, deputy director of Housing Management, said problems persist with organizing a tenants council to represent tenants in the housing projects. She said the election of a tenants council held last October was voided because it did not follow HUD guidelines. The guidelines require that representatives of all six housing projects be present when an election to the tenants council is held. This was not the case and it has been difficult to get representatives of all six housing projects together for a new election, she said. Ms. Williams said three representatives from each housing project must be elected by the tenants of each project. Those elected representatives in turn elect officers of the tenants council.

Cox said today the problem basically is a neighborhood squabble between the five projects on the city's west side and Redding Gardens on the east side.

Redding Gardens tenants, Ms. Williams said, have refused to participate.

The tenants council annually receives funding from SIA totaling $1,440 for activities benefitting the projects. The funds cannot be released, Cox said, until the tenants have the elections as required by guidelines.

Americans Earning, Saving More Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans' personal income rose at about a 10 percent compounded annual rate in March, and they continued to put more of it in the bank, the Commerce Department reported today.

Personal income in March grew by $17.7 billion, up 0.8 percent for the month compared to a 0.7 percent rise in February.

Spending increased by about the same percentage, adjusted for seasonally recurring patterns.

But enough money was left over after spending to boost the savings rate slightly for March. It was up by 1 percent.

At the same time, the Commerce

Department revised February's figures to reveal far more savings than originally reported. Instead of the $75.8 billion originally found to be saved in February, Americans actually withheld from spending $92.3 billion, the revised figures show.

Higher savings is considered a good sign by economists because it means more investment, which in turn makes the economy more productive.

Manufacturing wages and salaries grew by about half a percent, while wages and salaries for service industries grew by 1.5 percent. Government pay for the month went up 0.4 percent. Overall, personal income rose at about a 10 percent compounded annual rate in March.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that housing starts in March rose by 5.8 percent. In February, it dropped a record 26.9 percent. The seasonally adjusted annual rate in March was set at 1,284,000 units.

William Cox, the department's acting chief economist, said the ups and downs of the volatile housing industry have been exaggerated this year by unusually good weather that has changed builders' plans.

Despite the March increase in construction, Cox said, "The trend is clearly downward at this phase...."

Thomas R. Harter, chief economist of the Mortgage Bankers Association, whose members finance about one out of every four homes, said "The higher rate is a quirk and the next month's levels will undoubtedly go down."

Harter predicted a growing shortage of mortgage money as people continue to withdraw their savings, reducing the amount available for other people to borrow to finance home purchases.

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the industry's largest trade group, the National Association of Home Builders, blamed high mortgage interest rates for the seven-month downward trend in home sales.

Last Bodies Recovered In Mine Disaster

REDSTONE, Colo. (UPI) — Rescue teams early today recovered the last of 15 bodies of miners trapped more than a mile underground by a methane gas explosion Wednesday.

Marv Meyers, personnel director for the Mid-Continent Coal and Coke Co., said the last body was found in the same general area as the others.

"The families of the men have been told to gather at the St. Stephens Center in Glenwood at 10:30 this morning," Meyers said. "The coroner will meet with them to tell them what happens next."

Glenwood Springs is 30 miles north of the Dutch Creek No. 1 mine, where the bodies of nine miners were recovered early today at about the 6,000-foot level in the mine.

Mary Boland, spokeswoman for the mine company, said five more bodies were found about 1,000 feet from the "slope," the slanting shaft that leads to the surface.

Body bags were sent to the mine and the coroner was summoned late Thursday as mine officials said the chances were remote of finding any survivors.

The bodies were to be transferred temporarily to Farnham-Richardson Mortuary in Glenwood Springs.

"We will be the receiving unit for the coroner's office at this point," mortician Dave Wagner said. "We will work with the families to see what they want to do."

Vince Ayala, whose brother was among those trapped, said he was told all 15 were dead.

"All of them are dead, all 15," said Ayala, who with other relatives had kept a nightlong vigil around a fire in a rusty drum on a gravel road leading to the mine.

Lake Mary Drops Annexation Effort

In an abrupt turnaround, the Lake Mary City Council Thursday abandoned its four-year-old effort to annex the 1,600-acre planned Heathrow development west of the city.

The move came as something of a surprise after councilmen had repeatedly insisted they would continue to push for the Heathrow annexation over objections from Seminole County officials and the Jeno Paulucci family, principal Heathrow landowners.

Despite Thursday's action, Heathrow is not a dead issue. The city's initial annexation attempt of July 1977, which wound up in court after the county sued, is currently before the Fifth District Court of Appeals in Orlando.

Depending on the appellate court's ruling, Heathrow could still end up in the city. When the county challenged the city's annexation effort — primarily on the grounds that it would create illegal enclaves, pockets of county land surrounded by city property — a circuit court upheld the county's position last December. The city appealed.

If the district court overturns the lower court ruling, the city's original Heathrow annexation will stand. If the ruling goes the other way, "Heathrow stays in the county and that's the end of it," said Assistant County Attorney Robert McMillan.

County Inmates Could Be Put To Work This Weekend

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Prisoners serving time on weekends could be performing public work as early as next weekend as part of a two-pronged pilot project designed to ease overcrowding at the Seminole County Jail and fill the labor gap caused by cutbacks in a federal jobs program.

The idea of putting convicts to work instead of locking them up has been on the drawing board for several weeks, but after a meeting Thursday between county commissioner Sandra Glenn, Sheriff John Polk, and Chief Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, it appears the proposal is now reality. The meeting was mainly a fine-tuning session to iron out final details before the first group of inmates begin to labor.

A strong backer of the work release concept, Leffler was of the opinion that jail officials already have the statutory authority to implement a work program, and they need no special order from him. However, he did question a suggestion that working inmates be required to help defray the cost of their supervision.

Leffler pointed out that many prisoners are ordered to pay varying sums to the Victims Compensation Fund, the probation and parole office, and for the services of their public defender.

"These are generally not the most affluent people in the world," he said. "If we weigh them down with any more fines, many may choose to sit in a cell rather than pay it."

The proposal was shelved. Leffler also said that the key to the program's success is proper supervision. "You must make sure those participating report for work and do the job assigned. If you don't, some of them will just lay down and sleep."

Altamonte Springs city fathers are apparently willing to take the chance and have already requested some of the county's prison workers. But Glenn, anticipating the popularity of free prison labor with short-staffed public officials, said she will ask her colleagues at Tuesday's commission meeting whether local municipalities should be allowed to dip into the convict labor pool.

Initially, the new work program will be aimed at the increasing numbers of persons serving prison sentences on weekends. Anywhere from 30 to 90 prisoners show up at the jail each weekend to do their time, and many end up sleeping on mattresses on the floor because there isn't enough room in the 226-bed facility.

As proposed, weekend inmates will begin their sentence by spending their first Saturday and Sunday behind bars. "Having them inside once is a good way to get their attention," according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Duane Harrell. "Give them a taste of what it's like in a cell and the vast majority will want to work."

On subsequent weekends, work program participants will not report to the jail, but will instead go straight to their assigned job site, put in a full day's work and go home.

"They could do any number of things," Polk said. "They could work for the parks and recreation folks cutting grass, trimming hedges, repairing fences. They could do custodial work, clerical duties, routine maintenance, or if they had a specific skill, like welding, they could do that."

"I'm a firm believer in the work ethic," Polk said. "These people should be doing something useful instead of just sitting around taking up space or watching TV."

Then there's the more practical consideration — the fact that 14 county workers will be losing their federally-funded Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) jobs at the end of the month with another 10 CETA employees to work with their final day June 30. In many cases, inmates will be able to "step right in and take up the slack," the sheriff said.

If the experiment with weekend prisoners proves successful, Steve Saunders, jail administrator, said the program could be expanded so that "maybe 10-15" trustees could be used to perform various types of work during the normal Monday-Friday work week.

While the only incentive for weekenders would be to avoid being locked up, trustees (minimum security prisoners) could qualify for what is known as 'good time' off, up to 11 days per month of their sentence, Saunders said.

The ultimate step, suggested by Glenn, would be to use inmates in road gangs to cut highway rights-of-way, resurface and widen roads, pick up litter, lay drainage pipe, and do other hard labor.

"The weekend and trustee aspects of the program wouldn't require supervision by law enforcement personnel," Saunders said. "This would."

A revival of the old chain gang? Saunders said no. "We probably wouldn't use forced labor. We could make them do it, but we would be wiser taking only volunteers" to minimize security risks, he said.

But for now, that's not an issue. "We'll see how the first two phases work out," Glenn said, "and then discuss it again in a year."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Polish Government Agrees To Let Farmers Form Union

BYDGOSZCZ, Poland (UPI) — In a dramatic concession to the independent labor movement, the Polish government today agreed to let farmers form their own union, settling one of the most bitter disputes in the nation's nine-month crisis.

Unions Minister Stanislaw Ciosek, Deputy Agriculture Minister Andrzej Kacala and representatives of Solidarity and Rural Solidarity signed a formal agreement today promising that Rural Solidarity would be registered by May 10.

The agreement effectively overrode a Supreme Court decision in February rejecting such a union, which claims to represent two-thirds of Poland's 3.5 million private farmers.

It constituted a 180-degree reversal of the stand authorities had maintained for months.

Jerusalem Security Tighter

United Press International

Israeli authorities tightened security precautions today for thousands of Christian pilgrims from all over the world packing the annexed Arab sector of Jerusalem for cross-bearing processions marking Christ's crucifixion.

In Rome, Pope John Paul opened the Holy Week Thursday with the rite of washing and kissing the feet of 12 homeless elderly men to commemorate the Last Supper Christ held with his Apostles.

Giscard Escapes Bombs

AJACCIO, Corsica (UPI) — Two time-bombs planted by suspected Corsican separatists devastated the Ajaccio Airport terminal while French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing was less than 500 yards away.

The president on an election campaign swing in the troubled province, was unhurt and later reaffirmed France's determination to continue treating the Mediterranean island as a direct extension of French soil.

Pressure Exerted By Haig

Major Israeli Thrust Into Lebanon Averted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. and diplomatic officials say a major Israeli military incursion into northern Lebanon was averted last week by pressure exerted by Secretary of State Alexander Haig.

The planned operation, described by one source as an "invasion" and another as a "large-scale ground and air strike against Syrian forces" was to relieve the pressure against Christian militia forces in and near the town of Zahle, northeast of Beirut.

It was planned to take place around April 6, the sources said Thursday.

The sources said the Christian groups in Zahle began the fight against the Syrian forces in the belief the Israelis would intervene on their side and finally remove the Syrians as a major military force in northern Lebanon.

The Israeli operation did not take place, but officials said it was narrowly averted.

During Haig's trip to the Middle East, reporters on his plane were told by two senior officials "the Israelis were under great pressure to take action" and "they were not prepared to see the Christians slaughtered by the Syrians."

The fighting has slackened somewhat in the past 10 days, according to U.S. assessments.

One official close to Haig said his personal intervention with the Israelis defused the situation, in which the Israelis were on the brink of their large-scale assault, using helicopters and fighter-bombers against the Syrian forces.

Haig argued in his talks with Israeli officials, including Prime Minister Menachem Begin, that any such attack would undermine his attempt to resume the peace negotiations, and destroy any chance of bringing Jordan into the process.

Sanford Man Sentenced In Fraud Case

The 22-year-old Sanford man awaiting trial on a second degree murder charge in connection with the January death of a two-year-old girl has been sentenced in circuit court on an unrelated charge of unemployment compensation fraud.

Bernard James Beaton was sentenced to three years probation and ordered to pay $370 restitution.

Beaton was accused of unlawfully obtaining benefits on Aug. 13 when he told unemployment officials that he was not working when he was in fact, employed by the city of Sanford.

Beaton is scheduled to stand trial later this month for the murder of Tiffany Benthall. Benthall died Jan. 14 at Seminole Memorial Hospital of massive internal bleeding caused by a lacerated liver. The child also had a large, deep bruise on her head as well as several lesser cuts and bruises.

Beaton, who lived next door to the dead girl in Apartment 25 of the Higgins Terrace housing project on Third Street and Pecan Avenue, is charged with beating the child and throwing her in the air, causing her to land on her head.

SWEET TOOTH BANDIT

Someone went to a lot of trouble just to steal a few dollars worth of sweets.

Sanford police said someone shut off the power to Carl's Market, 606 W. 11th St., about 10 p.m. by throwing the switch to the main outside fuse box. Then, when the building was dark, the bandit apparently threw a cement block through a window and took $3 of assorted candy.

BURGLARS STRIKE HOME

Sanford police were continuing their investigation today into the Tuesday morning burglary of a home in which nearly $2,000 worth of valuables were taken.

According to a police report, the home of Firth J. Sykes, 48, 2006 Grandview Ave., was broken into around 8:35 a.m. when someone forced open a rear door.

Taken was a diamond watch, pendant and pair of earrings, a coin collection, an unknown number of $2 bills, and a .38-caliber revolver. Total value of the stolen merchandise: $1,957.

ROBBERY SUSPECT ARRESTED

An Orlando man was arrested and charged with strong arm robbery by Altamonte police only minutes after Newell's Service Station at 1159 E. Altamonte Avenue reported a robbery Tuesday afternoon.

Identified as the suspect was Arthur Jackson of 905 W. Livingston Street, Orlando, who witnesses say drove onto the station lot about 3:15 p.m. and loitered about the station for several minutes.

According to one witness who was buying plants, the suspect paced outside the office before entering through the front door.

The Newell receptionist, who was sitting at the desk, told police a man came into the office and asked if there were any openings for employment. When she replied that there were not, the man left the office, the woman said.

She then went outside the office herself, but was told by the man who was purchasing plants to go inside and call the police because the man appeared to be planning to rob the premises.

The receptionist said she then ran back into the office where she found the suspect standing over the station's open cash bags. She told him to stop and screamed for help. The witness buying plants ran in to stop the suspect, a struggle ensued, and the robber barely managed to get away, leaving the money bags inside.

Witnesses told police the suspect jumped into a brown and tan Ford Torino and sped away, going south on Longwood. After police were notified with the report and description, that area was immediately surrounded with squad cars that searched for the car.

One of the officers spotted a stalled car fitting the description and apprehended the driver.

Anna Strauss Dotson, 73, of 708 Jamestown Drive, Winter Park, was driving down Seminole County Road 426 about 6:45 p.m. Wednesday when a five-pound steel trailer pin came crashing through her windshield and landed in her lap.

Dotson received only minor injuries.

She told county sheriff's deputies she did not see where the pin came from or if anyone had thrown it at her car.

Disaster's 75th Anniversary

Why 1906 Quake Haunts Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — The earthquake struck San Francisco, sending the streets undulating like shimmers of heat off the desert floor, at 5:13 on the morning of April 18. It was 75 years ago.

It caught Enrico Caruso under the Peralta bedspread in Suite 580 of the Palace Hotel, tossed his 40 pairs of boots around the parlor like a temperamental diva gone mad and left him weeping.

John Barrymore, having just finished a run in a play called "The Dictator," had met a delectable morsel who he had lured to the St. Francis Hotel. He was on his second bottle of champagne. The trembler set him off on a 40-hour binge.

It affected others more prosaically. "I was asleep," recalled State Sen. Tommy Maloney, now 92. "I jumped up out of bed, looked outside, and the telephone poles were doing a hula."

He was living at 288 Branan St. at the time, above the family place of business.

"I ran downstairs to see if the saloon was still there," he continued.

The saloon withstood the quake. But then the fires started.

"That night," Maloney went on, "the house burned. Did the saloon go, too? Did it ever! We had only the best whiskey."

Maloney has belonged for years to a group called the South of Market Boys, survivors of the '06 quake. And every year on its anniversary, they gather at Lotta's Fountain (named for famed actress Lotta Crabtree of the Gold Rush days), where Third intersects Market Street, there to commemorate the greatest natural disaster ever to strike a major American city.

Among them also is William F. Murray, who was 6½ years old at the time but remembers it vividly, particularly the fire. Murray grew up to become chief of the San Francisco Fire Department until his retirement in 1971.

He recalled: "We were living on Telegraph Hill on Dupont Street, which is now called Grant. My sister was an infant. When the quake hit, my mother pulled us into bed with her and started praying.

"The funny thing is, it didn't do any great damage to any of the buildings in our area except for the chimneys. It didn't even break a plate in our house."

"The next day, another kid in the neighborhood and I went down to where the fire was burning, in the produce district, on what is now Front Street. I was a kid who always seemed to be wandering around. I got chased home."

"On the third day, the fire came up to our neighborhood. My mother took my sister and me down to Pler 7 at the water, where we slept in hay piles with blankets over us. The next day, we rode the tailgate of a Wells Fargo wagon to where Galileo High School is. We passed a sulphur works going up, and a fireman told us to hold our noses. He didn't have to."

In the history of San Francisco, the fire and not the actual parting of the earth wreaked the greatest devastation, accounting for 80 percent of the virtually total destruction of the city.

At the time, San Francisco was a thriving metropolis of 400,000 people, sixth largest in the nation, and Los Angeles was a sprawling hamlet of little more than 100,000. Surely, the earthquake and its effects changed the destiny of the two California cities.

The holocaust also imbued in people like Murray a profound sense of the history of his community. He was a founder of the San Francisco Fire Department Museum and is president of the St. Francis Hook and Ladder Society, which is dedicated to preserving fire history by restoring ancient apparatus and collecting memorabilia.

Coincidentally with the 1981 celebration of the anniversary of the quake is a three-day muster involving 150 fire departments from across the nation and even a couple from Europe.

San Francisco, where old Victorian houses are very much a part of the continuing landscape, has this obsession with its roots — bawdy though they may be, going back to the Barbary Coast days. Observing the rites of a great disaster doesn't seem to faze its citizens at all.

Yet, San Francisco, smug and rebuilt with a burgeoning "Manhattanized" skyline, faces the danger of a repetitive holocaust. If another 8.3 (on the Richter scale) earthquake were to hit the nearby San Andreas fault, as many seismologists have predicted, the results could be as disastrous as in 1906.

"It'll be worse," direly predicted Andy Casper, current chief of the SF Fire Department, "because there's so much more to burn now." Meaning the outer reaches of the city, which were only sand dunes to the west and south 75 years ago but now contain jammed neighborhoods, rows upon rows of flammable houses.

"There are more gas lines under the street now than there were then," explained Casper. (Busted gas lines touched off the '06 conflagration.)

"There are more cars, more gasoline and gasoline stations, which we didn't have then. And there's no way I can see to keep them from going up."

Casper painted a gloomy picture of inability to cope because there just aren't enough resources at his disposal. San Francisco does have a high-pressure water system now that it didn't have in '06, with 1,400 hydrants, but they don't cover all sections of the city.

There is also a system of ground cisterns with minimal capacity—75,000 gallons, except for a huge one near City Hall with 240,000 gallons. With pumps capable of gushing 1,500 gallons per minute, their supply isn't going to last long.

Still, the feeling was mostly festive as San Francisco contemplated 75 years of deliverance from the big '06 shake.

Caruso wasn't that happy about it. The greatest tenor of them all, born in the shadow of volatile Mt. Vesuvius in his native Italy, took a ferry boat over to Oakland the next day and never returned.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Strong winds and chilly temperatures remained in the Mid-Atlantic states today and a cold front moved into the Northern Plains region where some 70-degree temperatures tumbled into the 30s. Montana had readings in the 60s and 70s Thursday, but temperatures today dropped into the 30s and 40s. Winds at 40 mph pushed through North Dakota, triggering a dust storm and limiting visibility to 1 or 2 miles. Temperatures dipped below freezing through much of the upper Ohio Valley and Northeast Thursday, leaving farmers worried about crop-killing frost. Orchard operators in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley, the heart of the state's apple region, sought to shield their fruit from the chilly temperatures.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 75; overnight low: 62; Thursday's high: 82; barometric pressure: 30.35 and rising; relative humidity: 71 percent; winds: East Northeast at 13 mph.

No 'Crime' In Florida DNR

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A statewide grand jury says there's no reason to suspect criminal activity in the Florida Department of Natural Resources — but the department needs to correct many "serious shortcomings" in its handling of the purchase of environmentally endangered lands.

Incompetence in the DNR wasted at least $40 million of a $240-million program to purchase such land for the state, says the prosecutor who headed the specially convened grand jury's 14-month investigation of the department. "I think you would be conservative in an estimated 20 percent of what has been spent (about $200 million) would not have been spent" with proper management and resources in the department, said Assistant State Attorney Mo Atwater. "I wouldn't even want to estimate the high end," he said.

The jury's report was sent Thursday to

Gov. Bob Graham, House Speaker Ralph Haben and Senate President W.D. Childers.

In the report, the jury tries to lift the cloud of suspicion from the department — whose former director, Harmon Shields, faces a five-year prison term for soliciting kickbacks on land deals, and whose former chief land negotiator, Steve Smith, Sr., faces sentencing in Duval Circuit Court today for accepting unlawful compensation.

Graham Confident Refugee Aid Coming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham said Thursday he received no assurances during a visit with administration officials that the federal government would provide more assistance handling Florida's new refugees.

But Graham said he renewed his call for more help in meeting costs resulting from the influx of more than 100,000 Cuban and Haitian refugees into the state in the last year.

He said he was confident that the White House and Congress would begin acting in that direction "in the next few weeks." During his daylong visit, Graham met with Vice President George Bush; Thomas Enders, a Latin affairs specialist in the State Department; and Julia Taft, believed to be President Reagan's choice for refugee affairs coordinator.

The meeting with Bush was kept confidential by mutual agreement, but after all of Graham's meetings were over he told reporters he believes the administration should consider military action against Cuba if Russia invades Poland.

Graham would not say what reaction he received, but added he believes the administration is receptive to forcing the Russians to "recognize that we have the same logistical advantage over Cuba that they have over Afghanistan and Poland."

It was the second time in recent weeks Graham has made tough statements about relations with Cuba.

"The Caribbean is no longer isolated from the mainstream of international politics," Graham said. "The Soviet Union should understand that we've got the same power to exercise options over countries that are close to our border."

"I think the United States should be prepared to explore all of those options. We cannot permit the Soviet Union to act with impunity."

Being Fat May Have Saved Her Life

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A 200-pound, 72-year-old woman drove her car off a 40-foot embankment and was trapped for five days, but she was spry enough to greet her hairy rescuer with a "Hi, Moses!"

"If I wasn't so fat, it might've killed me," Goldie Brady said. She was rescued Thursday, apparently little the worse for wear. Her first words for her long-haired, full-bearded rescuer were just the "Hi, Moses."

Lights blinded Mrs. Brady while she was driving home Saturday night from playing bingo, causing her car to plunge over the side of a 40-foot cliff, she said.

The car landed on its roof. Mrs. Brady was thrown into the back seat, and the impact flattened the top of the car, wedging her hips between the roof and the back seat.

She said she thought she was unconscious for two days, and when she came to, she was unable to free herself.

"I woke up and said, 'I'm not home in my bed and my teeth are missing,'" she recounted Thursday. "That was the first thing I thought about. My dentures got lost."

"I've got an awful bunched-up knee and a hand cut real deep, but I guess I'll live," Mrs. Brady said later from her hospital bed where she is recuperating.

Asked what she thought about during her ordeal, she said, "I was afraid I'd get dehydrated. That's about all I thought about. They say if I wasn't so fat, it might have killed me," she said, estimating her weight at 200 pounds.

"I've been drinking a whole lot of water, eating ice cream, stuff like that," she said.

She hasn't been on the scale since her accident.

"You know the first thing I said to that man? The man who got off the road — he was going to use the bathroom and he saw my feet sticking out and came over to the car."

Coal Contract Talks Resume Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some independent coal operators are pressuring industry negotiators for a quick settlement of the nationwide strike by the United Mine Workers, now in its 22nd day.

Contract talks were set to resume today, but both sides said they anticipated no major developments; and that the session would probably be quickly recessed for the Easter holiday weekend.

A five-hour session was held Tuesday, during which Bobby R. Brown, president of the huge Consolidation Coal Co. and chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, rejected proposals by UMW President Sam Church Jr.

Some independent mine operators announced Thursday they might rebel against the industry negotiating arm and seek separate bargaining with the UMW.

North American Coal Co. of Cleveland said if prospects for settling the strike continued to be dim, it would renew an earlier offer to negotiate independently. "If something isn't resolved by next Tuesday, we'll be back in Washington," said Robin Turner, vice president for government and labor relations, for North American.

In a telephone interview Thursday, Church said "We're going to do everything we can to get rolling."

He said, "I think ... the ball will be in their court and we'll see what their reactions are."

NATION IN BRIEF

Apartment Fire Kills 6, At Least 27 More Injured

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A fast-moving five-alarm fire today sent thick smoke spiraling through a 10-story apartment building that catered to senior citizens, killing six people and injuring more than two dozen others, authorities said.

Police said six people were confirmed dead and at least 27 others were injured and taken to hospitals. One hospital alone, Truman Medical Center, reported six patients in critical condition.

The fire was reported at 3:10 a.m. EST today and the flames quickly spread from the lobby. Fire officials said the stairs "acted as flues." The "hallways loaded up real quick with smoke," Deputy Fire Chief Charles Fisher said.

Fire department spokesman Harold Knable said 184 people were evacuated or removed from the building — one-quarter of them by ladder.

Ballroom Fire 'Suspicious'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A "suspicious," five-alarm fire in a ballroom forced the evacuation of about 1,500 guests from Manhattan's Statter-Hilton Hotel early today, authorities said. It was the second suspicious blaze at the hotel in a week and a half.

Nine guests were taken to Bellevue Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Firemen battled for almost two hours before bringing the smoky blaze under control at the 1,800-room, 21-story structure across from Madison Square Garden.

Cancer-Battling Chemical

ATLANTA (UPI) — The same chemical that makes carrots orange appears to be effective in battling cancer, researchers from Albert Einstein College of Medicine said today.

Dr. Eli Seltzer, reporting to a meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, said the human body manufactures vitamin A from that same chemical — B — carotene.

Seltzer said he and his colleagues at the New York school found through experiments with mice that B-carotene can limit or prevent the growth of transplanted cancer cells in the animals, prolong life span even after a large number of cancer cells are present, and increase the effectiveness of chemotherapy and radiation treatment.

Garwood Wants Back Pay

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Marine Pfc. Robert R. Garwood, convicted of collaboration with the enemy in Vietnam, has asked the U.S. Court of Claims to award him $147,000 in back pay he claims was earned during his 14 years in Vietnam.

Vaughn Taylor, Garwood's lawyer, filed a motion in Washington March 30 for judgment in Garwood's behalf regarding the money. The Marine Corps, however, has notified Garwood it will fight his receiving the money, and a complex legal battle is brewing.

Hostages OK, Doctors Say

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Doctors examining 31 former hostages at a government reunion said the group was "functioning well" after their 444-day ordeal in Iran, and hinted they may compile a report for use in the event of another hostage crisis.

"Lessons learned from this group should be of use should a similar situation occur in the future," the doctors said as the three-day medical gathering at the Greenbrier Hotel came to an end.

Now Here's An Elusive Consensus

During recent years, trips to the Middle East have become almost unavoidable rites of passage for U.S. secretaries of state. Quite properly, secretary of State Alexander Haig has lost no time in making the expected rounds to Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

The limited purpose of his week-long visit was to define Reagan administration policy priorities and "the establishment of a warm relationship with the leaders of the four countries." It was, in brief, a base-building mission.

But whatever else Haig may have learned from these personal contacts, he must return to these shores with a better understanding than before that building a U.S. policy base on the shifting sands of the Middle East is next to mission impossible.

In that broadly defined region stretching from North Africa to the borders of India, it is sobering to contemplate three little hot wars and one big undeclared one. The war between Iraq and Iran drags on. The Soviet Union has found it necessary to send 20,000 more troops to combat growing guerrilla resistance in Afghanistan. And new fighting has erupted in a battle-ridden Lebanon between rightist Christian forces supported by Israel on one side and militant Moslem, PLO and Syrian peace-keeping troops on the other.

The historic conflict between the Arabs and Israelis goes on, for the moment, as an undeclared war. Moreover, Syria has become in effect, a powerful Soviet military base with as many as 10,000 Russian advisers, 3,000 tanks and 400 combat aircraft.

So much fighting around the edges of the world's greatest store of oil is like nothing so much as uncontrolled fires around a gigantic gasoline dump.

The U.S. role, as Secretary Haig sought to make clear, is not so much that of a builder as it is that of a fire department to dampen the flames, prevent explosions and keep out Soviet arsonists.

Unlike the Carter administration, which concentrated on the Arab-Israeli conflict to the neglect of the Soviet threat to the Persian Gulf, the Reagan administration seeks an anti-Soviet security screen — "a consensus of strategic concern," that stresses globalism over regionalism.

To underline this broadened strategic concept, the White House has promised to sell Saudi Arabia air-to-air missiles and extra fuel tanks to enhance the offensive capability of 62 F-15 jet fighters ordered from the United States. And it has tentatively decided to provide the Saudis five AWACS electronic surveillance planes and seven KC-135 tankers.

But, in an exasperating rebuff to the United States, the Saudis, along with the Jordanians, advised Haig and the world that, as far as they are concerned, their primary enemy is Israel — that Israel, not the Soviet Union, is the chief threat to peace in the Middle East. Thus, under this fallacious premise, U.S.-supplied arms to the Arabs seem destined to be pointed and possibly used against Israel, the strongest U.S. ally in the Middle East and a lynchpin in the new American strategy there. Undoubtedly, this gratuitous Arab gauntlet will stimulate some second thoughts in Washington about the wisdom of arming Israel's enemies.

For the moment, Israel is in limbo awaiting the outcome of its national elections on June 23. Moreover, the Camp David peace process with Egypt is likewise on hold. By the time Prime Minister Menachem Begin learns whether he has been voted out of office or will remain, the Reagan administration should be better organized to respond more effectively to the numerous fire alarms sure to be sounding in the Middle East.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Coming on like Haig — tense, strident and confrontational — will get you nowhere!"

The Clock

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

The city of Casselberry has five of its most distinguished citizens to thank for the priceless input being offered in service coordination at the upcoming Senior Citizen Multipurpose Center.

Ground was officially broken last Thursday at the Secret Lake Park site and all five members of the Casselberry Senior Citizens Advisory Council were on hand for the occasion.

Headed by its chairman, James Birkenmeyer Jr., the council has worked tirelessly to see this complex built since its conception back in January of 1979.

Birkenmeyer, who was appointed by the mayor as a city appointee, is the son of 97-year-old Jim Birkenmeyer, recently acknowledged as the oldest municipal employee in the nation.

Mrs. Mollie Stuede, another city appointee, incredibly finds the time to participate in center advisory matters while actively chairing her own senior citizens group.

And Louis Gilpin, also a mayoral appointee has the distinction of being the oldest member on the council. At the age of 85, Mrs. Gilpin continues to prove her aptness in following matters which concern her city.

Additionally serving on the advisory council are two county appointees, Mrs. Elizabeth Redmon and Vince Ballasona.

Mrs. Redmon, the only advisory member under the age of 60, is the council's vice chairman.

Vince Ballasona, a 6-year resident of Casselberry, got involved in the multipurpose center project not only as an advisor for service coordination but has been successful in soliciting material donations for the building. He just recently secured a television for the recreation division.

ROBERT WAGMAN On The Papers For El Salvador

The Reagan administration has defended its decision to step up military aid to the government of El Salvador by portraying the civil strife in that Central American country as a major test of superpower wills.

The president and his advisers insist that the leftist Salvadoran rebels are being heavily armed by Cuba with the latest Soviet and Eastern European weapons. The United States, they say, has increased its arming of the Salvadoran government simply to keep pace with the Communists.

To support this position, the White House issued in late February a "white paper" on El Salvador and a bound set of documents carrying the rather ponderous title "Documents Demonstrating Communist Support of the Salvadoran Insurgency." These captured documents, the White House says, prove beyond a doubt that the rebels are well-armed with the most modern equipment and that the country has become a test tube for communist expansion in this hemisphere.

But several knowledgeable intelligence experts, inside and outside the U. S. government, say that the Reagan administration has access to hard intelligence and other captured documents that directly contradict basic conclusions in the white paper and the bound volume.

At the heart of what are being called the "Salvadoran documents" are 47 pages of handwritten notes captured from the rebels and a written report from Shafik Handil, head of the Salvadoran Communist Party, on his summer 1980 trip to Vietnam and Eastern Europe in search of arms and other aid for the rebel cause.

These documents, say the White House, prove that the rebels were promised 800 tons of "the most modern weapons and equipment" and have actually received at least a quarter of those arms, primarily through Nicaragua.

But, say the intelligence experts, other evidence suggests that little of this aid has shown up on the battlefield although the rebels may have been promised much and although some arms may be stockpiled for them in Cuba. Their evidence includes reports on what has been captured or seen destroyed and on information from captured rebels and Nicaraguan "advisers."

Some U.S. experts think that less than 20 tons of equipment has reached the rebels — and that consists mainly of weapons of World War II vintage and some U.S. small arms supplied by the Vietnamese. Eastern Europe is sending not guns but money, which the rebels are attempting to use — with little luck so far — to buy modern weapons on the black market.

It was a lack of weapons that brought about the quick failure of the rebels' January "final offensive" and reduced them to a hit-and-run style of combat.

Other U. S. intelligence reports depict Handil's account of his tour of Communist capitals as considerably puffed up. A report on the rebel leader's visit to Moscow said that he had been unable to arrange a meeting with any high official or to get any assurances of direct help or even the shipment of arms should the leftists be able to buy them on the black market.

Furthermore, the White House contention that the Soviets and the Cubans are behind the Salvadoran guerrilla movement is disputed by intelligence officials from the Carter administration — among them Robert Pastor, who was the Latin American expert on the National Security Council.

Justice Department Coverups Examined

WASHINGTON — Attorney General William French Smith's top priority isn't violent crime, but reform of the systematic, high-level coverups within the Justice Department, which threaten to undermine the effectiveness of the nation's chief law enforcement agency.

Smith is not responsible for the "see-no-evil" attitude of subordinates he inherited, of course. But the relaxed way that Justice Department probers go after allegations of misbehavior by the big fish remains at the scandalous level reached under the Carter administration.

One example involves Peter Bensinger, whose unquestioned competence and political savvy have enabled him to remain head of the Drug Enforcement Administration during three administrations. Bensinger's success as a narcotics bloodhound is attested to by numerous spectacular busts, which resulted in confiscation of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of illicit drugs.

SCIENCE WORLD

Monkey Aids Quadriplegic

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — When no one else is around Robert Foster, paralyzed from the shoulders down, relies on a tiny, fuzzy monkey named Hellion to be his arms and legs.

Foster, one of 75,000 quadriplegics in the United States, has a friend and a part-time nurse maid in the six-pound brown-eyed creature which runs around his apartment with the energy of a very active child.

Hellion, about 18-inches tall, was trained by Mary Joan Willard, assistant professor of rehabilitation medicine at Tufts New England Medical Center.

The Tufts project, where volunteers are currently training three monkeys, is the first of its kind in the nation, Ms. Willard said. Hellion is believed to be the only monkey now living with a quadriplegic.

"When there is no one else around she is literally my arms and legs," Foster said in an interview at his Watertown apartment. Through behavior modification, Hellion has learned to perform on command with at least 90 percent reliability.

Although Foster, 23, has a live-in aide, he is alone in his apartment about nine hours a day. The young man was severely paralyzed in a car accident in 1976.

Hellion, a 3-year-old female which should live to be about 30 years old, can open refrigerator doors, heat Foster's lunch in a microwave oven and serve it to him with a spoon.

She regularly feeds Foster, who signals to have the next spoonful delivered by making a clicking sound with his mouth.

The brown monkey, similar to those used by organ grinders, can take a soda bottle filled with juice out of the ice box, carry it to Foster's table, open the plastic lid and insert a straw.

After feeding her owner, Hellion — like other good housekeepers — cleans up the mess.

When Foster wants to hear music, Hellion places a cassette into a tape recorder.

When Foster drops his mouth stick, which he uses to turn pages in a book or push buttons on his chin brace of controls, Hellion retrieves it and places it in her owner's mouth.

She vacuums the floor with a mini-vacuum cleaner directed by a laser stick operated by Foster's mouth. She turns a light on or off, dusts the furniture, brushes Foster's hair and performs many other household duties.

Ms. Willard thinks the monkey project is the newest development of its kind since the seeing eye dog.

She would eventually like to start a large program to train monkeys, similar to the well-established guide dog schools.

The monkeys are brought up to maturity in the home or apartment of volunteers. They are then trained in Ms. Willard's modest, roach-infested laboratory.

The monkeys are trained much the same way a child is taught.

"Teaching their skills is pretty much like teaching a 2-year-old. They climb all over the place. But most (monkeys) are more liveable and better behaved than most 2-year-olds," she said.

The monkeys, which undergo full teeth extractions when they reach maturity, are given verbal praise when they complete a task. They are also given food pellets and banana flavored biscuits as positive reinforcement.

When they do something wrong, the monkeys — with electric belts attached to their tails — receive harmless shocks. Each shock is preceded by a beep or tone, controlled by Foster who has a mouth switch located on the chin control of his wheelchair.

The monkey program was funded by the Paralyzed Veterans of America and the National Science Foundation. Ms. Willard said the veterans grant ran out in December and the National Science Foundation funding will end in June.

ROBERT WALTERS Budget Restraints Not Problem

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Rejecting the popular notion that the nation's military strength has been sapped by inadequate funding, Franklin C. Spinney says recent experience "suggests that budget restraints are not the source of the problem."

That's almost heresy at a time when leading politicians and senior military officials are clamoring for approval of President Reagan's proposal to grant the Defense Department an extraordinarily large budget increase.

Spinney argues, however, that too much of the Pentagon's budget is being spent on a modern version of France's infamous pre-World War II Maginot line — an expensive and elaborate defense mechanism doomed to failure because of its inflexibility and inability to withstand enemy attack.

Who is this man insistent upon challenging the conventional wisdom that a bigger budget buys a better defense posture? Is he a member of a radical political organization? A starchy-eyed pacifist? Perhaps even a subversive?

Spinney is, in fact, a former Air Force pilot whose patriotism and integrity are unquestioned. He is employed as a policy analyst in the office of the secretary of defense.

For more than two years, Spinney and a small group of fellow skeptics inside the Pentagon have been giving high-ranking military and political officials a classified lecture-and-slide presentation titled "Defense Facts of Life."

Recently declassified, the presentation marshals compelling evidence to support the argument that the Pentagon's tendency to spend much of its money on complex, high-technology weapons systems produces less combat-ready equipment at a high cost to the taxpayers.

"By ignoring the real world, we have evolved a self-reinforcing — yet scientifically unsupportable — faith in the military usefulness of ever-increasing technological complexity," says Spinney, who argues that ignoring the lessons of history "leads to a modern form of medieval scholasticism — the religion of miracle weapons."

To effectively rebut those who insist that whatever ails this country's military, preparedness can be cured by more money, Spinney cites the recent experience of the Air Force's tactical air operations.

Unlike many other Defense Department components, "tac air" has not suffered during the past decade because of budget constraints. In fact, its average annual growth rate since 1973, after adjusting for inflation, has been 10 percent.

Much of that money has been spent on a new generation of high-technology jet fighters whose performance has never matched their promise. Those supposedly "advanced" aircraft have been grounded because of malfunctions and technical failures far more frequently than the older, less sophisticated aircraft still in operation.

The Army and Navy also are becoming locked into a system in which "increasing complexity increases our rigidity in a game where survival of the fittest makes flexibility a paramount virtue," argues Spinney.

"Our problem is that we have a rigid, planning system that assumes we can predict the future," he adds. "Wars are fought in the present, not in the future... If there is one thing that the crises in Iran, Afghanistan and the one brewing in Poland should teach us, it is that we should be ready to go to war on short notice."

morale. If for no other reason, the charges should be given a thorough airing.

One serious charge of improper behavior was referred to the Justice Department recently. It got the same halfhearted investigation that has become the hallmark of the department's handling of political big shots.

According to the allegation, Bensinger or a subordinate sent a DEA agent from New York to Washington just to hand-carry a Latin American vase the director had bought overseas. To give the trip some faint color of official business, the agent was given a dictation tape to deliver to Washington. According to a DEA source, another agent had feared an impropriety and had already refused the assignment.

The agent who did make the trip said in a taped conversation that he didn't think it was a proper use of his time. He turned Bensinger's vase over to a DEA official at Washington's National Airport — and mailed the dictation tape the next day.

A formal complaint was made to the Justice Department, and it was referred to the Public Integrity Section for investigation. Even though the DEA's New York office was already being probed by the FBI on a variety of other charges, the investigation of the "vase affair" was perfunctory at best. It consisted of an inconclusive interrogation of the agent and a brief interview with Bensinger, who denied any impropriety.

Michael Shaheen, chief of the Office of Professional Responsibility, apparently made only a cursory check on the case, despite Bensinger's rank and repeated inquiries from a senator and various reporters. "After logical leads were pursued, it was reviewed by me and the matter is closed," Shaheen said.

Footnote: Bensinger assured us that there was "nothing to" the vase incident, and insisted the record would show he has "never taken advantage of" the agency he heads. A Bensinger aide claimed the vase was worth $6. The assistance offered to the director's mother, said the aide, was "routine."

Nature In Bloom Heralds Easter Season

It's spring. Along with Easter festivities comes the greening and colorful blooming of Mother Nature to herald the season.

And with this lovely time of year comes some browning too, of many a not-so-green thumb.

What a delight to have experts around Seminole who share their knowledge toward a brighter season for the green — and brown — thumb set.

Saturday there will be a free African Violet Exhibition at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building, Sanford Avenue and First Street.

Sponsored by the Sanford Downtown Business Association and Jean Norris, there are already entries by African Violet growers from all over the Central Florida Area.

All area African Violet growers are invited to enter their plants between 8 and 9:30 a.m. on Saturday. Judging will begin at 9:30 and the exhibition will then be opened to the public from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The Nationally Accredited African Violet Judges will be: Mrs. Eleanor

Tom Fitzpatrick
Seminole Correspondent

Cramond, Deltona; Mrs. Edith Pigot, Mt. Dora; and Mrs. Mary Mansfield, Winter Park.

Jauquita "Jo" Wormington, a third grade teacher at Idyllwilde and, according to Jean, "an avid, knowledgeable, enthusiastic grower of African Violets" has assisted Jean in co-ordinating this show.

Everyone is welcome to this free exhibition, where there will also be door prizes that have been donated by the Downtown Business Association.

Then on Monday, the Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club has planned a program for the residents of Sweetwater Oaks that would be helpful to all homeowners, especially the newly "transplanted."

Tom Davis, urban horticulturist of the Seminole Agricultural Center, will speak to the residents of Sweetwater Oaks about "Planting for Year Round Bloom in Central Florida" at 7:30 p.m., at the Wekiva Presbyterian Church on Wekiva Springs Road and S.R. 434.

Davis will highlight his talk with a slide film presentation, then conduct a question and answer period. He will take any soil samples that have been brought to the meeting, for a complete analysis at the Agricultural Center Laboratory. There will be a $1.00 fee for this service.

The following officers for 1981-82 were elected at the regular April meeting of the Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club: Martha Shoemaker, president; Pauline Diamond, vice-president; Donna Borman, secretary; Vivian Moore, treasurer; Pat D'Amico, librarian; Louise Herod, hospitality; and Marlies Magrab, membership.

Precious Gems and Fine Jewelry was the topic of the day presented by Bob Reynolds, guest speaker at the Sweetwater Oaks Women's Club at their luncheon meeting at Errol Estates.

The officers elected for 1981-82 were: Pat D'Amico, president; Jeanne Glasbrenner, first vice-president; Jane Miller, second vice-president; Julianne Hayward, corresponding secretary; Bunny Adams, recording secretary; and Muriel Trulson, treasurer.

The committee chairman elected were: Ada Townsend, special activity; Ginger Bowman, ways and means; Jane Burke, newcomers; Ann Bushnell, social; and Barbara Atwater, directory.

Installation of the new officers will be held at the next regular meeting on May 13, at the Sweetwater Oaks Country Club.

The City of Longwood has proclaimed Saturday as Evelyn Hart Day.

Evelyn is the Veteran of Foreign Wars Department of Florida, Ladies Auxiliary president, as well as being a well-known resident of Longwood.

Mayor John Hepp, Deputy Mayor June Lormann and members of the VFW and auxiliaries throughout the state will attend the Testimonial Dinner planned in honor of Evelyn by the South Seminole County Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8207 and Ladies Auxiliary.

The cocktail hours is from 6-7 p.m., followed by dinner and dancing.

Kenneth Platt, recently retired from his job with the State Department, and his wife, Jeanette, made their first trip to Florida to visit their niece, Marsha Wait and her family at their Longwood home.

Fortunately Ken, also an author, and Jeanette like to travel, since his job with the foreign aid program took them to many countries during his 22 years in the service of the State Department.

After retiring, they decided they would visit members of their family and see a bit of America before settling down in their home at Moscow, Idaho.

The couple's first visit to Florida was all they had hoped it would be. When they left Longwood, they promised Marsha, John and Bethany that this would not be their last trip...they will return.

From Florida, the went to North Carolina then New York and San Francisco to visit their children and grandchildren.

While John Wait and daughter, Bethany, watched the space shuttle launch from Cape Kennedy (which John said was "a thrilling, incredible emotional experience"), Marsha Wait and Denise Clark were attending the Second Annual Weekend for Women Runners at Camp Immokalee, near Gainesville.

Marsha missed out on the launch, but the family were all "go" for the original Friday blast-off which was postponed.

Rette Bolen, VFW Ladies Auxiliary District 18 president, presented an outdoor flag Thursday to be used at the new Medical Center Facility at the Naval Training Center, Orlando. Among those attending were Barbara McCreery, senior vice president of VFW Post 8207 Auxiliary.

Mary V. Hughes, a freshman from Longwood, has been named to the winter term Dean's List at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn.

Improve Landscape Sensibly

Improving home landscapes is one of the most common question we have asked at this time of year.

Let's face it, a well maintained and attractive landscape is what most homeowners are looking for!

And to the amazement of many county residents it's not that difficult to achieve.

I'll describe a step-by-step home grounds improvement schedule, to help you put all of those suggestions to good use in your landscape.

Your first step will be to make a plan for your landscape. Get your ideas down on paper, so that all the elements involved in improving and developing your home grounds can be seen in relation to each other. You'll need to consider the existing features of your lot, including buildings, trees, drives and walkways and shaded areas.

When planning your landscape, try to keep a final appearance, or goal, in mind. But make sure that this goal is realistic in terms of your family's needs and activities, and the time you'll be able to devote to landscape maintenance.

After you've designed a workable plan for improving your landscape, your next step is to clean up your lot. Remove debris and old flower beds. Prune dead and diseased branches and overgrowth from shrubs and trees. Work your way out to the roadside or street that borders your property. Fallen trees, old signs, broken fences and other debris in these areas can ruin the appearance of your landscape.

When you're ready to start adding things to your landscape, start with the lawn. A healthy, well-cared for lawn is one of the most important features of an attractive landscape. So, the sooner you can establish a thick, vigorous turf, the better. If you can't do the entire lawn at one time, start with the front lawn first.

After you get your lawn in, build some walks and driveways. These will direct traffic away from the lawn itself, and they'll make mowing easier. Walkways that are flush with the ground are easier to maintain than those with low edging plants.

When buying plants, purchase the slow growers first. These will help to establish your landscape more quickly. Also among your first purchases should be the plants you need for the front of the house.

Your next step is to begin a definite maintenance program. Your plants need proper fertilizing, pruning, mulching, and watering right from the start. Set up a schedule and stick to it. The little extra time it takes to properly care for your plants will pay off. Your plants will look better, live longer, and contribute to the pleasing appearance of your landscape.

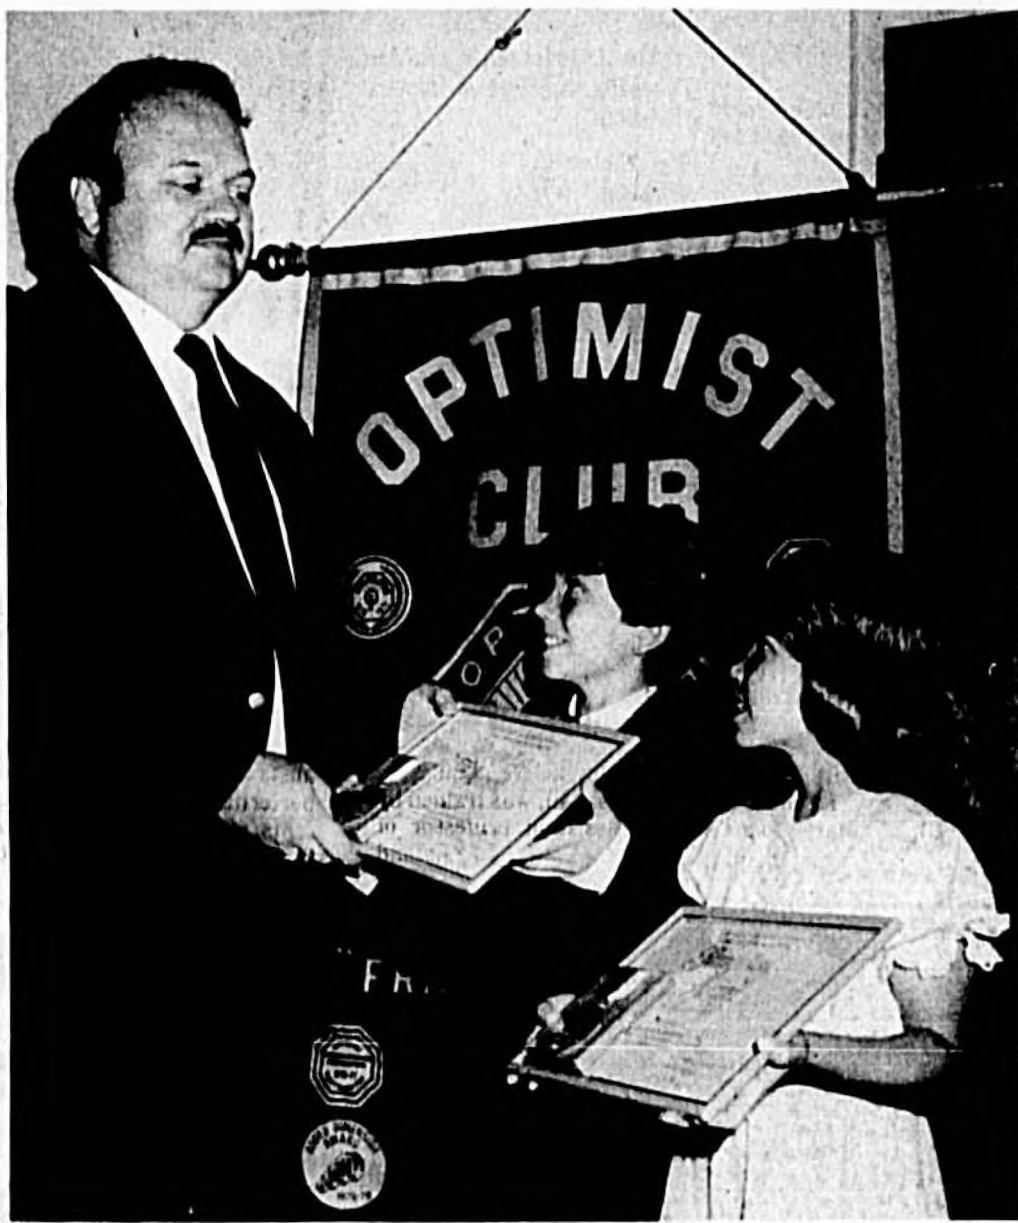

Trees should be planted early in your home grounds improvement schedule, trees are major landscape features, and form the foreground and background for your house.

Another step that'll enhance your landscape is to give your house a fresh coat of paint. While you're at it, paint your fence as well. Dry, cracked, or peeling paint can really detract from an otherwise nice landscape.

And finally, always keep that original plan you designed for improving your home grounds in mind. Make any changes that seem necessary, as you become more familiar with the cultural conditions of your lot. But don't drift too far from your initial plan. Continue and complete any work that you outlined in the beginning.

If you need additional information on landscaping just call or stop by the Agri-Center and ask for our free publication on Low Maintenance Landscapes.

All Extension Programs are open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Man Afraid Indian Is Superior At Lovemaking

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old man who's in love with a beautiful, 28-year-old divorcee. I want to marry her, but she keeps wanting more time to think it over.

In the meantime, she's seeing another man, and I'm afraid he has the edge on me. You see, he's part Kickapoo Indian, and I hear Indians are superior to the white man when it comes to lovemaking. Closely guarded tribal secrets on how to satisfy a woman are passed down from father to son. If there is any truth to that, I'm willing to pay whatever is necessary to find out.

Let me say that I was married for four years and I never had any complaints from my wife, but if Indians are better lovers than white men, I would like to find out why.

Maybe your readers can help. Thank you. ED

DEAR ED: I wouldn't touch your request with a 10-foot totopole. But you can try the Bureau of Indian Affairs or the American Indian Movement.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine is marrying a minister. He plans to perform the marriage ceremony himself. He insists that since he is authorized to perform marriage ceremonies, there is no reason why he should not perform his own.

Somehow this doesn't seem right to me. Can you please find out if such a marriage would be legal in South Carolina? Thank you.

Why Lose Weight Only To Gain It Back?

Most weight control programs are concerned with only one thing — rapid weight loss. They all talk about how many pounds you can lose and how fast. These crash diets are never concerned with lifetime results. And the pounds always come rolling back.

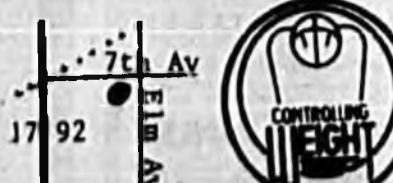

Long-term weight control requires a total life style approach. One in which your ideal weight is scientifically determined, safely achieved and intelligently maintained. And that's exactly what THE NATURAL WAY TO WEIGHT CONTROL is all about. It works with nature, not against it, to help you lose naturally.

Discover for yourself how lifetime weight control can be a reality. If you're going to lose weight, why not lose it for good? Make THE NATURAL WAY TO WEIGHT CONTROL your last loss.

Csonka Zonked?

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Former Miami Dolphins fullback Larry Csonka reportedly appeared Thursday before a federal grand jury investigating a drug smuggling operation.

Csonka refused to answer the panel's questions and invoked the Fifth Amendment constitutional protection against self-incrimination. New Orleans television station WVUE reported.

Csonka has denied any connection with drug smuggling and would not talk to reporters when he left a federal courthouse Thursday.

Sources have not said whether Csonka is under investigation.

The television station earlier reported that Csonka met with undercover DEA agents at a Metairie, La., home and discussed marijuana smuggling. But Csonka backed out of the deal when he became suspicious of the undercover drug agents, the television station alleged.

Oviedo's Brian Philpott and Mike Ripa slammed home runs as Seminole Community College ravaged the Rollins junior varsity 17-1 Thursday at SCC.

"We hit the stew out of the ball," said an amazed Jack Pantellas. "We really stung it. Line drives all over the place. "It was awesome. I was even impressed," conceded the veteran skipper who just last week recorded his 200th career victory.

The win was the 17th in the past 19 games for the streaking Raiders. It improved the season log to 22-15.

Tuesday SCC travels to St. Johns (Palatka) before returning home Wednesday for a double-header with Indian River beginning at 1 p.m.

A week from today the Raiders will make up a game with Florida Junior College.

Thursday's seven-run second inning burst did in Rollins.

Outfielder Jim Melland ripped three hits for Seminole while hot-hitting third sacker Vince Ripa collected two doubles and three runs batted in.

Two of Ripa's RBIs came on a bang-bang play at the plate where Todd Barton held third base on Ripa's shot, then beat the tag at the plate, only to be followed home by Melland who was running with the hit.

"I don't even think the catcher saw the second guy coming," mused Pantellas. Barton stroked three hits for the day including a double and chased home four runs. Along with Philpott's homer he had two other hits as did Tommy Clarke.

Sophomore Eddie Augustine and former Lake Howell ace Bryan Murray limited Rollins to just six hits in the game called after seven innings due to the mercy-killing rule.

"Murray's looking a lot better," said Pantellas about his young right-hander who had been troubled by velocity problems. "He threw a couple of balls pretty hard."

"He should be able to help us by state tournament time," said Pantellas. Rollins 000 010 0—1 6 2 SCC 371 114 x—17 18 0

Seminole Blanked 4-0

Wauchula blanked Seminole 4-0 Thursday despite a 10-strikeout performance by sophomore Greg Hill at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

The visiting 3A power from Hardee County picked up a single run off Hill in the second, then knocked out the young right-hander in the sixth inning with three more runs.

"They had a good ball club," said Coach Bobby Lundquist whose squad fell to 9-18-1 for the season. Seminole could muster only four singles as Freddie Howard, Tracy Walker, Eugene Dealba and junior catcher Greg Register all picked up hits.

Tonight's game with Titusville has been postponed. The Seminoles return to action Saturday, April 25 at Oviedo at 1 p.m.

The District 4A-9 tournament opens Tuesday, April 28 at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Korgan Hurls 2nd No-Hitter, Hammers Two Homers

Eddie Korgan pitched a perfect game and powered a pair of home runs Thursday to almost single-handedly lead Atlantic Bank to a 12-0 win over Seminole Petroleum in the Sanford Little American League.

That game, coupled with Krayola Kollege's 14-10 upset win over Triple I.I.I. Trucking, propelled Atlantic Bank into sole possession of first place.

In Thursday's other game, Butch's Chevron Service topped Jack Prosser Ford 15-3.

Seminole Petroleum, Triple I.I.I.

Trucking, Flagship Bank and Krayola Kollege are all tied for second place, one game behind Atlantic Bank in the tight race for the pennant.

Two games are scheduled for today in the Sanford Junior League, both at Chase Park. Kiwanis (3-0) plays Moose (2-1) at 5 p.m., while Knights of Columbus (3-0) battles Masters Cove Apartments (0-3) at 7 p.m.

Korgan faced the minimum 18 batters over the six innings. It was his second straight no-hitter.

Twelve of the outs were recorded with strikeouts, including the final three batters faced Thursday.

Korgan put his team on the scoreboard with a three-run homer in the first as Atlantic Bank jumped in front 4-0. He singled with two outs in the second and Clay Hickman followed with a home run that made it 6-0.

Korgan opened the fifth with a line drive home run over the right-center field fence and by then the game was all but on ice.

Korgan placed the team with three hits in four trips to the plate, while teammate David Rape pounded a double and single in three official at bats.

A pair of runs by Triple I.I.I. in the top of the fifth tied the score at 6-6, but Krayola Kollege pounded five hits and scored six runs in the bottom of the fifth to take the lead for good.

Jason Heffinton went the distance on the mound for Krayola Kollege, striking out seven.

Chris Smith led the winners at the plate with a double and two singles and Harrison Hampton hit two singles.

Butch's Chevron scored eight runs in the second and seven in the third for an easy 5-3 win. Steve Warren was the winning pitcher, pitching three innings of no-hit ball after relieving starter Myriel Reid.

Warren and Tony Hayes had the only hits for Butch's Chevron and John West had the only hit for Jack Prosser Ford.

Phoenix Survives Kings 101-89

By United Press International
The Phoenix Suns averted playoff elimination Wednesday night with a 101-89 home victory over Kansas City.

Tonight, the Suns will be playing on the road, hoping to tie the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series at 3-3. If the Pacific Division champions can win in Kansas City, they will send the series back to Phoenix Sunday for a decisive Game 7.

Two more Phoenix victories would enable the Suns to become only the fourth team in NBA history to rally from a 3-1 deficit to capture a playoff series.

"We were playing like condemned men," said Phoenix center Rich Kelley, of Wednesday night's game. "When it started, I felt like I had been blindfolded, my back was against a wall and my last cigarette was hanging from my mouth. Because of that, we played like we're capable. That attitude got the pressure off us."

Kansas City's injuries forced Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons to start a makeshift lineup of 6-7 Scott Wedman and 6-5 Ernie Grunfeld in the backcourt, with 6-10 Sam Lacey, 6-6 Reggie King and 6-9 Leon Douglas up front.

And that's likely the lineup Fitzsimmons will use tonight as the Kings attempt to advance into their first-ever conference championship series.

"We're looking forward to Friday night in Kansas City," Fitzsimmons said

Thursday. "The past two days have been like a circus — everybody trying to fire the Suns up as if they're not fired up enough."

In the other Western Conference semifinal series, Houston and San Antonio meet tonight in the HemisFair Arena for Game 7, with the winner advancing to the conference finals against the Kings-Suns survivor.

Form has not held up often in the Spurs-Rockets series, as each team has posted a pair of road victories.

"This has been a wild and crazy thing," said San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck. "It's time the home team won. It's the law of averages."

In the East, the Atlantic Division champion Boston Celtics, who completed their four-game sweep of Chicago last Sunday, still are awaiting the winner of the grueling best-of-seven series between Milwaukee and Philadelphia. The 76ers went ahead, 3-2, Wednesday night with a 116-99 victory in the Spectrum and Philadelphia can wrap up the series with a victory tonight.

The big question mark surrounding Game 6 is the physical condition of the Bucks' All-Star forward Marques Johnson, who strained his back in practice Tuesday.

"It's about the same," he said after Thursday's practice. "It's nothing really serious but it hurts a lot when I make certain moves."

Sanderson Shackles Cubs

By United Press International
With a bat in his hand Scott Sanderson is usually about as big a threat to opposing pitchers as comic strip character Charlie Brown. At least he was until Thursday.

Then, he suddenly turned slugger against the Chicago Cubs, driving in two runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Expos to a 7-0 victory.

"Last year I was so bad as a hitter I was embarrassed," said Sanderson, who hit only .078 and drove in just one run in 64 at-bats.

"Well, I guess, I got lucky. I felt comfortable. But I don't expect this to happen every time. However, if I keep hitting like that, maybe it will make a difference to us winning a few more ballgames."

Sanderson doubled home a run and scored in the second inning to stake

Montreal to a 2-0 lead and his bases-loaded double in the fifth inning capped a four-run uprising that pushed Montreal in front, 6-0.

Oh yeah, he also pitched pretty well, too. Although allowed to pitch only six innings by Manager Dick Williams, he gave up just five hits and struck out four to get a victory in his first outing of the season. Charlie Lea and Elias Sosa allowed only one hit between them over the last three innings.

"Scott was just tired and although it didn't show, I figured 94 pitches was enough for him to throw in his first time out," Williams said.

Left-fielder Tim Raines slapped one hit in two official trips. The speedy former Seminole also drove in a run and stole a base.

Raines, a favorite for the Rookie of the Year Award, upped his batting average to .429.

In American League games, Cleveland edged Milwaukee, 1-0, Detroit blanked Toronto, 2-0, and Oakland topped California, 5-1.

Cardinals 5, Mets 1
Two-run homers by Keith Hernandez and George Hendrick and a solo shot by Darrell Porter powered the Cardinals to their win. Andy Rincon went 6 1-3 innings to score his first victory of the season for the Cardinals with the aid of strong relief from Bruce Sutter.

Phillies 5, Pirates 3
Mike Schmidt homered and Pete Rose banged out three hits to pace a 12-hit attack that carried the Phillies to victory. Dick Ruthven went eight innings to pick up the victory, with Tug McGraw, appearing in his 700th major league game, getting the last three outs to gain a save.

Garland Dries Up Brewers

By United Press International
Wayne Garland Thursday spoiled opening day for Milwaukee by handcuffing the Brewers on six hits en route to a 1-0 triumph for the Cleveland Indians.

Bo Diaz lined a two-out, run-scoring double in the second inning and the 30-year-old Garland made it stand up before a turnout of 54,296 people — the fourth-largest crowd in the Brewers' 12-year history.

"Yes, it surprised me a lot doing as well as I did," said Garland after his first appearance of 1981. "But, I worked hard this winter and in spring training."

Tigers 2, Blue Jays 0

Alan Trammell doubled in the go-ahead run and Kirk Gibson went 4-for-4 to support a combined four-hitter by a trio of Detroit pitchers. Detroit starter Mill Wilcox, 2-0, was replaced by Kevin Saucier in the eighth, who in turn was replaced by Aurelio Lopez.

A's 5, Angels 1

Hot-hitting Tony Armas doubled in his 10th and 11th runs of the young season and Matt Keough hurled a five-hitter, enabling the undefeated A's to complete a four-game sweep in Anaheim Stadium. Rookie Mike Witt, 0-1, took the loss for the hitting-starved Angels.

Line scores in Scoreboard.

Daniel, Hill O'Brien Lead Lady Citrus

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Beth Daniel, last year's LPGA Player of the Year, and two other golfers go into the second round of the Lady Citrus Classic today with a two-stroke lead. Daniel, rookie Kyle O'Brien and Cindy Hill carded 4-under-par 68s Thursday in the opening round of the tournament, which carries a $15,000 top prize.

Two shots back were veterans Sandra Palmer, Bonnie Lauer and Mary Dwyer, who shot 70s on the 6,138-yard layout.

Daniel, who is known as a slow starter, said she was pleased with her round, which included two birdies on both the front and back nines.

"Anytime you shoot in the 60s it feels pretty good," said Daniel, noting her swing was stronger Thursday than it has been most of this year.

"I feel like I'm hitting the ball a little better than I've been," she said.

Hill played more erratically than Daniel or O'Brien, carding six birdies and a pair of bogeys with 10 pars for her 68. But like Daniel she was happy to be in the lead. She said her putting was the key.

"I'm stroking the ball really well," she said. "If I can just keep up the putting I'll be in good shape."

A pack of 10 golfers was three shots back at 71, and among those who shot par 72 Thursday was Nancy Lopez-Melton and all-time LPGA money-winner Kathy Whitworth.

O'Brien said good putting brought her birdies on the eighth and ninth holes to go 2-under at the turn.

She sank a 30-foot shot from the fringe for a bird on the 11th and made a 3-foot putt on the 379-yard par-4 18th hole to go 4-under.

"I had a fantastic putting day ... In contrast to last week where I could not make a thing," she said.

In her ninth tournament this year, O'Brien said she is learning to settle down and play each hole at a time.

Curtis Final Nine 'Strange' Performance For TOC Advantage

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI) — There were a few strange things about the opening round of the $300,000 Tournament of Champions.

The leader played better on the back nine than the front nine, despite a strong wind that picked up after he left the ninth green.

He also birdied the last four holes, considered the toughest on the course.

The leader's name was Curtis Strange.

Strange used his brilliant four-birdie streak Thursday to shoot a 6-under-par 66 and grab a one-stroke lead over Lee Trevino in the 29th annual TOC.

The 72-hole tournament drew 29 players, all tournament winners in the past 12 months. First prize is $54,000 with the last-place finisher guaranteed $3,400.

Bruce Lietzke was in third place at 68, tied with Bill Rodgers. At 3-under 69 were Howard Twitty, Ray Floyd, Don Halldorson and Tom Kite.

Two-time defending champion and last week's Masters champion Tom Watson struggled to a 2-over 74, while Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller, who tied for second at Augusta, shot 72 and 71 respectively.

"Spend a little now to save a lot."

"I would say that any time you can spend a little money now to save a lot of money over a long period it's a pretty good investment. And that's how I feel about insulation and those other energy-saving features in our house," says Mr. Robert McMahon of Cocoa. He and his wife, Jean, estimate they save $30 to $40 a month because of their initial investment in the Watt-Wise Living™ package at the time they built their home.

What's a Watt-Wise™ package? It's a combination of features that meet FPL's energy-saving standards and can be easily included in the construction of a new home. Over a period of years they can save you substantially more than they cost.

Watt-Wise homes have cost-saving features like extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar or heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump. Power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors, with glass areas planned to minimize heat build-up.

Today, there are many ways to save on electricity without giving up comfort. You'll find them in FPL's Watt-Wise Living Program. Today, it's one of the wisest investments you could make. Stop by your local FPL office and pick up a free brochure.

Reagan Waives Requirements For Louis Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Boxing great Joe Louis will join 30 others, including U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers and White House correspondent Merriman Smith, who are buried at Arlington National Cemetery without meeting the eligibility requirements.

President Reagan used his authority as commander-in-chief of the armed forces to waive the eligibility requirements to permit the heavyweight boxing champion to be buried Tuesday among America's heroes at the cemetery.

Louis died of a heart attack Sunday in Las Vegas, Nev. He was 66.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, April 18, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY April 18, 1981
There's a possibility this coming year that you may be required to divide your time and efforts into two specific areas. Don't let things get away from you to the point where your schedule becomes too hectic.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Avoid associating today with individuals whose ethics don't measure up to yours. Bad companions could try to bring you down to their level and cause you complications. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Attend to difficult chores as early as possible today. Tasks left to the last minute aren't apt to be done properly. Watch your thumb.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you won't want to be a loner today, there's a certain clique from which you should veer away. You won't be comfortable in their presence.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you're entertaining at home this evening, omit a person who tends to be antagonistic. He or she could spoil your soiree.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your sense of humor won't be appreciated today if you make someone who has a tender skin the butt of your jokes. Getting a laugh isn't worth it.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may be a bit reluctant to share what you have with others today. This could cause problems if you deal with another who has strong similar views.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In areas where you and your mate usually pull together, you could be straining in different directions today. Don't air your dissension in public.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Carrying old grievances could turn out to be a very heavy burden today. One way to rid yourself of this weight: Strive to forgive and forget.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although you'll just be having fun you must be careful you don't do something in front of friends today which could embarrass someone who cares for you.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Being ambitious is admirable, but today you should try to take some time to stop and smell the roses. Pushing too hard could let joyous hours slip by.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Count not to 10, but to 50 today if someone does something that angers you. Your temper is on a short fuse. You might blow things out of proportion.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be kind today, but also be prepared to protect your interests if someone tries to take unfair advantage of you.

Woman Turning Into Invalid

DEAR DR. LAMB - My wife is 70 and she retired two years ago. Since then she has acquired the habit of lying in bed most of the day reading.
I'd say she spends an average of 20 hours a day in bed. We went to the zoo yesterday but we couldn't enjoy it. She can't walk a half a block without sitting down. There actually doesn't seem to be anything wrong with her. I've tried to get her out of bed, tried to get her to exercise more or go to a doctor but I might as well talk to the moon.

Do you have a booklet on this subject? I hate to see my wife turn herself into an invalid long before her time.
DEAR READER - She will be an invalid if she insists on staying in bed all the time. Since you mentioned the moon, let me say that I studied the probable effects of space flight and being on the moon with my colleagues by putting healthy young men to bed rest. It causes enormous changes. It does affect the circulatory system, including the resting heart rate. It slows down bone marrow activity in forming blood cells and allows the body to lose excess amounts of water.
Some people call it bed disease. There is an optimal level of activity for almost everyone. No one should be in bed unless there is a definite medical indication for it like a body cast or a state of shock.

DEAR DR. LAMB - About five years ago my gynecologist gave me several series of testosterone shots. I had lost all desire for sex and this was to help this condition. Well, it certainly did, and I am now enjoying a new active sex life, at 56, with my husband. We were almost ready to separate on account of my lack of interest.
Because I lived quite a distance from my doctor, he finally gave me a prescription so I could administer shots to myself. The effectiveness began to wear off so I increased the dose. The side effects are a little deeper voice and a quite abundant growth of hair, especially on my face, arms, stomach and chest. In fact, I have to shave my face daily now. Still, it is worth it. Other than the hair side effects, is this medicine safe?

DEAR READER - First, your letter points out that hormones can be an important factor in a person's sex drive. Elderly women with terminal cancer of the breast treated with testosterone have developed exceptional sex drives.
If you take too much male hormones you will develop male secondary sexual conditions, which explains your deeper voice and hair. There can be other complications and you certainly should not continue to take testosterone without checking back with your doctor.

WIN AT BRIDGE

As you can see with a quick look at all the cards, declarer has five diamond tricks, four club tricks and the major-suit aces.
There is a simple play for six. Declarer must take the heart finesse. It works and he bursts into whatever form of happiness a lucky player shows.
Of course, he is far more happy if he is in no trump. In match point duplicate the successful no trump declarer knows that he is tied for top while the successful diamond declarer knows that he is around average or maybe even below average.
One South player went down at six diamonds. He knew that he had a bottom score and he also felt that he didn't really deserve it.
It seems that at his table West opened the deuce of spades. South called for dummy's eight and East covered with the queen.
South took his ace, drew trumps and ran off the clubs in order to chuck dummy's queen of hearts. Then South led a spade toward dummy and played the nine. East, that clever false-carder, produced the 10 and set the contract with the king.

In His Last Supper with his disciples Jesus used the Passover bread and wine as symbols of His coming sacrifice. This is commemorated by Christians when they partake in the Lord's Supper or Holy Communion.

Traditionally they would have been reclining rather than seated around the table as in this mosaic copy of da Vinci's masterpiece.

Easter, Passover Celebrations Set

By JANE CASSELBERY
Herald Religion Editor

This season of the year is a meaningful time for Jews as they celebrate Passover and for Christians as they observe Holy Week and the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Many area churches will be holding special services on Good Friday, Holy Saturday and Easter Sunday.

On Saturday night, Jews around the world will gather in family groups to celebrate the holiday of Passover the ritual meal called Seder, reminds Jews not only of the exodus from Egypt in biblical times, but of responsibilities of freedom in every age.

The Passover Seder is a ritual meal that is rich in historical symbolism. Four cups of wine are drunk in the traditional Seder. Each one refers back to elements related to the Jewish exodus from Egypt:

— Matzo, or unleavened bread, is eaten with bitter herbs, as a reminder of the bitterness of slavery. Salt water on the table also commemorates the tears of slavery.

— Green leafy vegetables, normally parsley, are indicative of the spring harvest.

— A roasted egg and a roasted lamb shank are reminders, respectively, of the festival and paschal sacrifices that were offered when the Jewish Temple stood in Jerusalem.

— A mixture of apples, nuts and wine recalls the mortar with which Israelit slaves built pyramids and other public structures in Egypt.

The broad outlines of the Passover Haggada were formulated in biblical times and expounded upon by rabbis and preachers over the past 2,000 years.

During the meal the children ask, "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

Their parents answer by recounting the Passover story.

In anticipation of the eight-day holiday, Jewish homes are cleaned of leavened products and Passover dishes, pots and utensils replace those used throughout the year.

Children and adults alike prepare themselves by reading the Haggada and researching material with which to enrich their Seders.

Furthermore, today many Catholic and Protestant seminarians read, study and enact parts of the Passover Seder ritual. This is done because some elements of the Seder strongly influenced the development of Christian liturgy.

For the Christian Easter is a time of joy and hope and deliverance from sin and death through Christ. Many will be greeting the Easter dawn with hymns of praise and outdoor sunrise services.

Among the special services scheduled in this area are the following:

GOOD FRIDAY

Messiah Lutheran Church, 510 N. Highway 17-92

Casselberry — Tennebrae Service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Easter Lilies are a beautiful Easter tradition in most churches.

Jews place on Seder table special goblet designated for the prophet Elijah as a reminder of the redemption that will come with the arrival of the messiah, for whom Elijah is the harbinger. Christians believe Jesus is that messiah.

That Old Muppet Magic...

Who ever thought a bunch of puppets could draw top ratings? Analysis. It topped more than 180 other syndicated shows.

"The Muppet Show" is America's No. 1 rated entertainment series in syndication, according to Arbitron's November 1980 Syndicated Program

On a national basis, it again beat the ratings of such shows as "Family Feud," "All in the Family," "Barney Miller," "Sanford and Son" and "M-A-S-H."

Worshippers Pack Holy City

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Jews ushering in the Passover holiday and Christians preparing for Easter festivities Saturday packed the holy city of Jerusalem in a festive show of traditions of both faiths.

Because of their different calendars, Sunday Armenians and members of other Eastern Christian churches start their holy week observances while Catholics, Protestants and members of other Western churches bring it to a joyous close.

The Easter observance will coincide with the first day of Passover, a holiday marking the exodus of the ancient Israelites from Egypt and their emergence as a distinctive nation, more than 3,000 years ago.

Authorities bolstered security precautions against possible Palestinian guerrilla attacks during the holidays. Israeli tourism officials estimate 100,000 worshippers will visit both annexed Arab East Jerusalem and the Western Jewish sector of the city.

The focal point of Jewish holiday interest is the Wailing Wall, a relic of the second Herodian Temple destroyed some 2,000 years ago. Christian interest centers on the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, reputed site of Jesus Christ's crucifixion, entombment and resurrection. Both sites are a few hundred yards apart.

Festive meals interspersed with readings from the Haggadah, the traditional account of the exodus, usher in the Passover holiday at sundown Saturday.

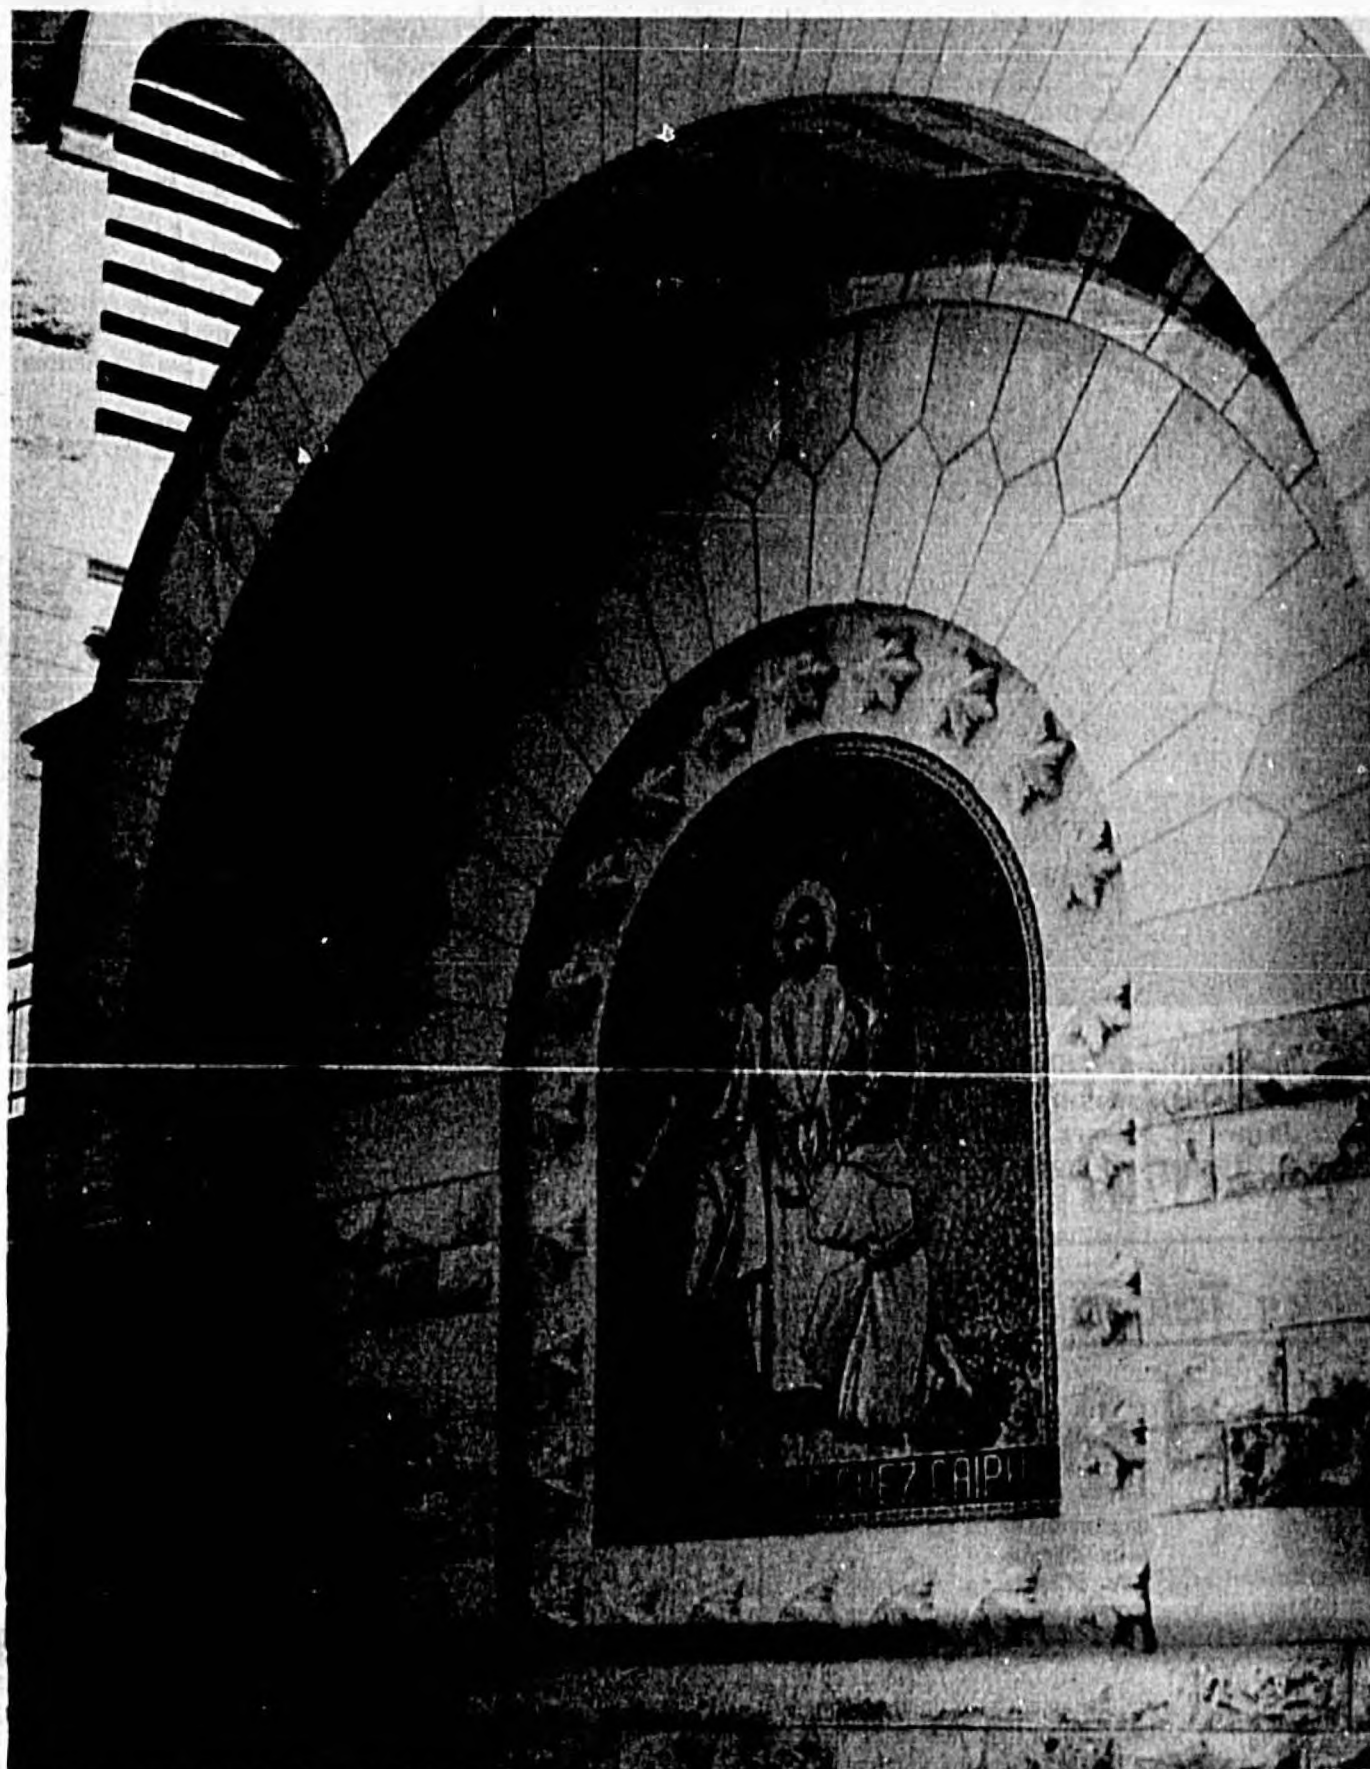

Because it falls on a Saturday, all preparations for the holiday, including the ritual burning of all leavened products such as bread and cake, took place Friday.

Throughout the 7-day festival, Jews eat unleavened bread called matzo, a reminder the ancient Israelites were unable to make leavened bread when they fled Egypt.

Intricate scheduling will enable the Eastern and Western Church worshippers to celebrate their respective holidays, which mark different stages in Christ's passion.

First, Monsignor Giacomo Beltritti, the Latin patriarch, will celebrate the pontifical high mass celebrating Christ's resurrection inside the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the climax of the week-long festivities for the Western Churches.

Afterward, members of the Orthodox churches will file into the church in a traditional Palm Sunday procession, marking Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

FROM TRIALS TO TRIUMPH

Outrages perpetrated against Christ and a contrite disciple Peter, after denying his Lord three times, are portrayed on this mosaic on the Church of St. Peter Galllicantu overlooking the Kidron Valley in Jerusalem. The church is built over the traditional site of the house of Caiaphas the High Priest and an ancient stone mill and dungeon can be seen beneath it. It was here that Jesus was charged with blasphemy for admitting he was the Messiah, the Son of God, in one of the dramatic events of Holy Week that led up to the triumphant Resurrection morning.

Carrying Cross At Colosseum

Pope Leads Prayers

ROME (UPI) — Pope John Paul II carried the symbol of Christianity around the ruins of the Colosseum where early Christians were martyred and said people still suffer for their religious beliefs.

The pontiff, wearing a red and gold mantle over his white cassock, carried a light, black wooden cross measuring almost 6 feet high around the pagan ruins of ancient Rome Friday under a heavy downpour of rain.

In Roman Catholic churches throughout the world similar "Stations of the Cross" services were being held to commemorate the 14 stops made by Christ before he was crucified in Jerusalem.

Some 10,000 Italians and tourists held lighted candles and huddled under umbrellas in the constant rain as the pope, protected by an umbrella carried by an aide, stopped for prayers and hymns at each of the stations.

During his brief address delivered on the Palatine Hill overlooking the Colosseum and near the ruins of the palaces of Roman emperors, who put early Christians to death, the pontiff said people are still struggling for religious freedom.

"We cannot end this day without thinking about, without embracing with memory and heart, those many brothers and sisters of ours in the faith, who, in our time too, are ready to suffer ... in various ways, by various forms of humiliation, discrimination, imprisonment and torture," he said.

Feather Vows To Continue Filing Those Conflict Forms

Several years ago the Florida Legislature adopted a law requiring elected officials to file "conflict of interest" forms whenever they vote on matters which could provide them personal gain directly or indirectly.

In the five months since Robert G. "Bud" Feather assumed his Seminole County Commission seat, he has filed six or seven "conflict of interest" forms.

He can't tell you exactly how many he has filed. He's lost count.

On all the forms at least one question was left blank, however. It is the question asking how he benefited financially. "I haven't benefited financially from any of my votes," he said.

Then why did he file the forms?

"I've always had a policy of being open and aboveboard with everyone," he said. "I want to make it clear to everyone concerned that I'm not trying to hide anything."

The issues on which he has voted positively and on which he filed conflicts include:

—The granting of a variance from the county fire code in the construction of a church sanctuary. He attends the church.

—Approval of a restrictive plat for an industrial park, whose owner holds a mortgage for an unrelated parcel of property Feather owns.

—Approval of a 35-year non-negotiable and non-transferable bond issue for two utility companies purchased by the county six years ago. The stockholders of the companies include Feather's estranged wife's father and grandfather.

—Rezoning approval for a parcel of land, off State Road 434, to permit residential professional offices. Feather owns adjacent property.

"None of these items have been conflicts as the term is defined in the law," Feather said. "I've never been able to completely fill out the forms because I haven't gained financially from any of my votes."

Seminole County Attorney Nikki Clayton said while it appears easy for lay persons to define what a conflict of interest is the law is not that precise.

"There is no rule of thumb," she said. "There are eight-to-12 circumstances under which a conflict could exist. Generally a conflict depends upon whether a person, a member of his family or a principal by whom he is retained stands to benefit by an action." At the same time, she said that an elected official may not abstain from voting unless a conflict or apparent conflict exists and an official may not be prevented from voting on an issue.

"It's good advice for an elected official to file a conflict when he is in doubt," Clayton said.

She also noted that elected officials on July 15 each year file, according to the law, a financial disclosure detailing their finances and obligations over the previous year.

Of the rezoning, on which he voted this past week, Feather said, "All that the rezoning can do for me is provide competition for my property. I sincerely believe the zoning designation, the least intensive category of commercial the county has, is best for the area."

Of the bond issue involving the utilities, Feather said the bonds do not mature for 35 years. All the money his in-laws and other stockholders will receive in the interim is a percentage of connection fees while having to wait 35 years for the partial proceeds from the sale of the utilities — some $742,000.

This was the method provided in the 1975 contract for purchase between the utility companies and the county.

Clayton told commissioners this week that the former stockholders of the utility companies have told her they may file suit against the county challenging the bond issue and the contract.

Of the approval for the industrial plat, Feather said, "I have never dealt in industrial property."

Feather said he will continue to file conflict of interest forms every time anyone questions any of his votes—whether he has a conflict or not.

"And I'll continue to vote as I believe best for Seminole County," he said.

Hunt Wins A 'Jefferson'

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Tom Hunt of 520 Valencia St., Sanford, is one of five Central Florida recipients of this year's Jefferson Award sponsored by WDBO and the American Institute of Public Service.

The ceremony at which Hunt and the other award winners received their medallions recently can be seen over WDBO-TV Channel 6 at 7:30 p.m., Monday. Their resumes will now be forwarded to the National Selection Committee for consideration for national Jefferson Awards.

"I was overwhelmed at being chosen," Hunt said. "I was totally surprised that somebody thought enough about what I was doing to think I would qualify."

The awards are given based on the contributions through public service to the local community. The nominees are evaluated on what they have done, or are doing, and the degree of their commitment to the betterment of the community.

In their letter to Hunt the selection committee stated:

"In troubled and uncertain times we are all experiencing it is rewarding to each of us to know that there are people of your caliber caring for others without thought of recognition."

Hunt has been involved in many local civic endeavors since coming to Sanford in 1974 to be manager of the Southern Bell Sanford Office and in Orlando since his promotion May 1, 1980 as Southern Bell District manager.

However, it was his wholehearted effort on the behalf of obtaining a Ronald McDonald House for families of young hospital patients in Gainesville, that made him stand out among the 350 nominees.

Vice president of Friends of RMH, Inc., Hunt has had a personal understanding of the need for the facility as his son, Eddie, was in Gainesville many times for treatment before his death at the age of 14½ three years ago.

Hunt is responsible for a six-county area including Seminole to coordinate information, education, programs and fund raising activities for Ronald McDonald House.

He said $285,000 has been raised in the past 12 months toward a goal of $500,000. Plans for the building have been drawn up and Friends of RMH, Inc. hopes to break ground for the facility in late May and see it completed by fall.

There are 6,500 pediatric patients at the Gainesville hospital each year with an additional 36,000 outpatients, Hunt said. There were 31 youngsters on sixth floor west recently when Hunt visited there.

"I talked to the parents of a child who had had surgery 27 times," he said.

That is the reason Hunt never misses an opportunity to talk, give speeches and raise funds for the Ronald McDonald House... "no matter where or when," he adds.

2 Dead In Dorm Shooting

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — A 22-year-old psychology student, who allegedly started a fire that forced students to leave their University of Michigan dormitory rooms, was in custody Saturday in the shotgun slayings of two honor students.

Edward Siwik, 19, of Detroit, and Douglas McGraham, 21, of Casplan, were trying to warn other students of the fire and were shot.

Leo Kelly Jr., of Detroit, was arrested Friday in his dormitory room on the third floor of the Bursley Hall. Police confiscated a shotgun, a .22-caliber long rifle and a .22-caliber pistol.

Kelly, who is being held without bond in the slayings, faced arraignment today in 14th District Court.

"Everybody was shocked," said Warren Fudge, 21, one of Kelly's fraternity brothers. Kelly had the Greek letter Omega branded on his right bicep and was a member of the black fraternity Omega Psi Phi.

"He never was the crazy type."

Siwik, who planned to become a pre-med student, was dead on arrival at the University of Michigan Hospital with a massive chest wound. McGraham, an art education major, died during surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The fire was started by a Molotov cocktail thrown into the hallway, Sgt. Harold Tinsey of the city's Police Department said, but caused little damage and was quickly extinguished after the shooting stopped.

"Investigators are attempting to determine exactly what happened and why it happened," he added.

The fire alarm went off, waking Randy Moon, a resident adviser.

He said an indicator panel on the first floor showed the fire was in the Douglas wing. Two other advisers, Rick Snyder and Becky Bradley, went to the wing with Moon.

Snyder waited at the bottom of a stairway to keep other students from entering.

"We opened the (corridor) door and saw nothing but smoke and people milling around in the hall," Moon said. "We yelled for them to get out of the hall."

Moon and Bradley saw McGraham already knocking on doors and entered the 100-foot corridor, housing 40 male students, when shooting began.

"We heard what I thought was a loud firecracker," Moon said. "About a second later, there was a second one. I hit the floor, and Becky hit the floor after the second shot."

McGraham went down, Moon said, but at that time he didn't know he was mortally wounded.

Moon and Bradley turned around and crawled back to the lobby.

Meanwhile, Siwik, who was a student fire marshal, had run into the corridor. He was felled by a shotgun blast at about the same time as McGraham was hit.

Big Bang Is A Bust

ROUND ROCK, Texas (UPI) — Decorators for Westwood Elementary School are under fire for planning to put a large photo depicting Albert Einstein's big bang theory of creation in the school lobby, while ignoring the biblical explanation of creation.

The school board said Friday it had received several objections from parents who wanted Genesis represented as prominently as other theories in the new school, currently under construction.

Because of the objections, the board indicated it would rethink the display next month at a school board meeting.
