Club Operator Claims 'Vendetta'

Herald Staff Writer

Club Juana operator Michael Pinter, acquitted Wednesday in County Court along with 10 dancers charged with exposure of sexual organs in nude dancing, claims State Atty. Abbott Herring and his chief investigator, Jack R. Fulenwider, have a vendetta against him and the Casselberry night spot.

"I knew Herring and Fulenwider had it in for me and the Juana," Pinter told reporters after the group came cheering from the courtroom. "I was scared but the judicial system works. Herring is unbelievable. Just wait till November. Now people will see how he uses his office."

Associated Press today reported Pinter promptly vowed that his girls would soon bare it all again and that if law enforcement officers "bust us again, we'll file for an injunction to stop the

Both Herring and Fulenwider denied there is any vendetta. "I ust do my job based on the law," Fulenwider said. "Any investigations involving Pinter and Club Juana are based on information requiring investigation," Herring said today at Titusville in a telephone interview.

"As long as we get information we'll continue to investigate. I think it's his (Pinter's) activities that require investigation. I think any investigation . . . he brought on himself. Anytime there are nude performances that in my opinion are violations of the law, I'll continue to file cases. The sheriff will continue to enforce the law and I'll file cases and go to court," Herring said. Pinter and the dancers were arrested May 12 when a combined force of sheriff's deputies, Casselberry policemen and state attorney investigators raided the club on U. S. 17-92.

County Court Judge Harold Johnson directed a verdict acquittal for Pinter and one dancer before the case went to the four-man, two-woman jury Wednesday. The court ruled that state's witnesses failed to prove a prima facie case against Pinter on 10 misdemeanor counts of aiding and abetting and hiring or procuring nude dancing in which dancers exposed their sexual acquittal for Mrs. Theresa Renee Weaver, 18, of Lakeland, was granted because witnesses failed to identify her in court as one of the dancers arrested in the raid, the court ruled. Ralph Erikkson that he's allowed to drink free at Club Juana about 80 per cent of the time and that he's dating a former Club Juana employe. He also said that he would charge the club at least $300 for his testimony as an expert witness.

"The issue today is that Fulenwider doesn't want the Club Juana in his little ballwick," Hanlon said. "He's the single selfimposed censor in Seminole County. If you think he's the sele, self appointed censor of Seminole County, Florida, then go to the jury room and find them all guilty."

Erikkson told the jurors the issue was "what does Sem" County term sexual organs. . . . what is common decency?"

"I challenge you to come out and say this dancing was decent and fit to be seen in Seminole County." Erikkson told the jurors. Judge Johnson, in instructions to the jury, said nudity in itself sn't unlawful. He told the jurors that to find the dancers guilty they must determine from the testimony given that exposure of sexual organs was made in an indecent and vulgar manner.

A half hour later the jurors returned verdicts of innocent for Miss Hall; Marilyn G. Ward, 20, Sanford; Susan J. Ronske, 24 Casselberry; Margaret Ann Davis, 24, Fern Park; Felicita R Goodwin, 18, Orlando; Sandra Lynn Harrison, 19, Winter Park; Diana Brooks, 19, Altamonte Springs; Penny J. Meeks, 20, Gainesville, and Catherine Noris, 21, Winter Park. Following the trial one juror said, "we just went by the law Another member of the panel said, "There was no other verdict

Hanlon told reporters he believes the verdicts have "set a precedent in all of Florida" and the verdicts are an indication that adults can seek adult entertainment. A Casselberry policeman testified during the two-day trial that the front door of the Club Juana bears a sign stating, "If nudity offends you do not enter."

Sanford Kill Techniques 'Cruel': Humane Society

By JACQUELINE DOWD

The Humane Society of Seminole County has complained that the method used by the city of Sanford to kill stray dogs and cats is "terribly cruel and inhumane." The issue centers on a drug called succinylcholine chloride, which produces death by immobilizing the muscles a dog or cat uses to breath. The animal suf-

"It takes them three to four minutes to die," animal control director Ralph Willis said. The Humane Society feels an animal injected with the drug remains fully conscious as it suffocates. Willis disagrees. "The dog suffers 20 seconds maybe, expensive and harder to use. Unlike the drug now used, sodium phenobarbital must be injected into an animal's vein. Willis says that would require more training for animal control employes.

"It's harder to hit a dog's vein than a human's," he said. "And a hurt dog is not going to lie still while you probe around with a needle." Seminole County recently began using a new drug called T-16, a brain depressant which starts acting in six seconds - if it can be injected directly into an animal's heart, Willis said. "If you miss it goes into the lungs and the dog suffers," he said. The old method of killing unwanted animals with carbon monoxide has been rejected because it is too slow. 'It sometimes takes a dog 20 minutes to die," Willis said. In a letter to Mayor Lee Moore, Humane Society President Jack Conlon offered his group's help in

Policeman Suicide Rocks Embattled Detroit Dept.

DETROIT (AP) — The apparent suicide of a top police official who feared his career would be ruined by accounts linking him to alleged department involvement with narcotics has rocked the already troubled Detroit police

The death Wednesday of Deputy Chief Reginald Harvel, a21-year veteran of the force, is the latest in a series of upheavals ir the police department. On Tuesday the city's police chief was fired and replaced by the first black man to hold that post.

Harrises Indicted

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - William and Emily Harris, underground companions of Patricia Hearst, have been indicted for the kidnaping of the newspaper heiress 21/2 years

Shortly before the Alameda County Grand Jury returned the indictment Wednesday, Miss Hearst's attorneys filed a motion for a new trial on the armed bank robbery for which she has been sentenced to seven years in

Bush Mum On Drug War

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIA Director George Bush says he can't talk publicly about what the United States is doing to cut off the flow of narcotics into the country. Bush gave limited testimony Wednesday before a select House commmittee on narcot ics which also heard that the cabinet-level committee responsible for coordinating the government fight against narcotics smuggling has not met in nearly three years.

2.6 Million Pay Raises

Britain's In Trouble

LONDON (AP) - Without help from the International Monetary fund (IMF) to prop up the pound, Britain would have to endure economic policies so savage "I think they would produce riots in the streets," says

Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey. "I think it would mean three million unemployed, and living standards would fall by at least five per cent," Healey said in a television interview late Wednesday.

He said Britain was seeking a $3.9-billion loan from the IMF "to protect our industrial policy against the consequences of speculation against the pound."

The pound opened today at $1.66, down from Tuesday's closing $1.665, but it later climbed to $1.6685. It had slipped to a record low $1.63 on Wednesday.

SALT Treaty Sought

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - With strategic arms limitation negotiations stalled, the United States and the Soviet Union have begun a new probe to see if they can move toward a treaty by the end of the year, according to high-level U.S. officials.

The acid test of how well the two superpowers may do, these officials say, will be Friday's meeting at the White House between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and President Ford.

The officials are skeptical of an imminent break-through, but reporting late Wednesday night on Gromyko's steak-and-wine dinner with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, they credited the Soviets with genuine interest in moving ahead.

missed a complaint filed by a defeated primary opponent of JoAnn Saunders alleging that she was not a qualified candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress.

Judge William C. Gridley ruled Wednesday that Miller Newton did not prove his contention that the circuit court Thad jurisdiction over the case against the Orlando woman. who defeated Newton in Tuesday's runoff.

Mrs. Saunders, who will face Republican incumbent Richard Kelly in November for the 5th Congressional District seat garnered about 9,000 more votes than Newton. Newton, Pasco County circuit court clerk, ran a much better race than, he did in the Sept. 8 primary election, when Mrs. Saunders received 49 per cent of the vote to his 21 per cent. Credit for his strong showing Tuesday was believed due to publicity generated by his legal challenges to Mrs. Saunders' status over her failure to file a financial disclosure statement

Judge Gridley refused to enter a declaratory judgment that Mrs. Saunders was an unlawful candidate on grounds she filed the required form with the state Elections Division almost two months after she swore she had

Newton did "not successfully actuate this court's jurisdiction... and is not therefore entitled to a declaration of rights in this court," the judge ruled. Newton was not available for comment on whether he would appeal or file a complaint with the state Ethics Commission. His court challenge is not completely dead, however, since his lawyers have also filed an amended motion to the first count of the two-count suit. Judge Gridley had dismissed the first count last week but gave Newton the right to amend

That count alleges that Mrs. Saunders "had sufficient funds, or should have had sufficient funds, for paying the necessary filing fee." She qualified for office by an alternative method, filing a petition signed by a certain number of voters. Gridley said, however, that the amended motion would have no effect on his ruling Wednesday.

Absentees Counted, Vote OK'd

The more than 200 absentee ballots cast in Tuesday's second primary election in Seminole County have been counted and the election certified, according to Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce. The official voter turnout in the election was 8,144 out of 50,000 eligible to cast ballots. In the contest between Pasco County Clerk of the Circuit Court Miller Newton and JoAnn Saunders of Orlando for the Democratic nomination for the fifth district seat in the U.S. House of Representatives, Mrs. Saunders polled 2,424 to Newton's 2,307 locally. ### Hold The Line On Defense Costs

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld's hint that the Pentagon will seek a hefty $18 billion increase in the defense budget for fiscal 1977 reflects concern over inflation, a conviction in Washington that the public is security-conscious and awareness of a growing military might in the Soviet Union.

The arguments probably are valid. President Ford had proposed earlier this year more modest increase from the current level of $112 billion. But his $120 billion target envisioned only about a 2 per cent gain in real spending. The rest would have been lost to inflation. The new goal, estimated to be about $130 billion, will allow a hike of 5 per cent or more in military strength.

The American people — and Congress, too are skeptical of detente as increasing evidence is revealed of continuing enlargement and modernization of Soviet forces. Congress already has indicated a commitment to more personnel, planes and ships, despite a plea by Democratic presidential challenger Jimmy Carter for cuts of $5 to $7 billion in the military budget.

Rumsfeld also wants a more sophisticated air The consensus of national opinion seems to upport Rumsfeld's goals.

But opinion is fickle. A population weary of taxes is unlikely to tolerate waste or inefficiency. Defense planners must be wary of ego-satisfying proposals from the armed services.

Requests for each new ship, each new plane, each new infantry battalion must be scrutinized for ency with the objective of maintaining a balance in world power.

As negotiations continue for a new treaty with the Russians on strategic arms limitations, the United States can settle for no less.

The Middle Way

Sweden, which has long believed it was taking the middle way between communism and capitalism, has changed course

After 44 years, the Swedes ousted the Social Democrats rom power in recent elections and launched a less leftist regime. A coalition of the Center Party, Conservatives and Liberals is expected to take over from the Social Democrats and

It would be a mistake to read too much into the shift. It is ikely that the new center coalition will seek to dismantle weden's advanced "welfare state" programs or the country's highly progressive system of taxation. But new programs, such as the takeover of industrial management by representatives of factory workers, are not likely to be pushed. And the tax system will probably not be administered in so arbitrary a manner.

The kind of treatment given Ingmar Bergman, the celebrated Swedish movie director, by his own government will probably not be repeated. His persecution on tax evasion charges drove him into a hospital and then abroad. Perhaps he will now decide to return to Sweden, where he has made all his

In foreign policy, the new government is likely to be less dogmatic and self-righteous in its relations with the United States. That's good, for the estrangement between our two countries in recent years has been unpleasant.

We have much to share with the Swedes in our background and our outlook, not least of which is our firm commitment to democratic self-government. And the long-deferred reversal of political fortunes at the polls in Sweden is a dramatic demonstration of the vitality of the democratic tradition in that North European country. The Swedes continue to chart their own course, now a few

If it is clear that anti-abortionists have little chance of forcing a constitutional amendment banning abortions on the rest of the country, it should also be clear that pro-abortionists cannot force support of abortions from those who are morally opposed to or are uneasy about them. In passing an appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare the other day, Congress voted to prohibit the use of any federal funds for abortions, except in cases where a woman's life is endangered by a pregnancy. Up to now, the federal government has been giving the states $45 to $50 million a year to help pay for abortions for some 300,000

Pro-abortionists can complain all they want that the restriction is a form of discrimination against these thousands of women, and may quite rightly question the morality of condemning them to bear children they do not want or cannot care for - children who in turn will be added to the welfare rolls. It is one thing, however, to give every woman the right to have an abortion. It is an entirely different matter to expect those who consider abortion to be tantamount to murder to allow their tax dollars to be used for a practice which so violently offends their morality.

The argument that to deny a poor woman the JOHN CUNNIFF means to have an abortion is effectively to abolish her legal right to have one is not really relevant. The right of an individual to do something does not necessarily confer an obligation on the rest of society to pay for it. Rather than pressing the tax-support

WASHINGTON - He's an extraordinary man. A radical. His private denunciations of government operations and the failure of the sureaucracy to bring the public into policy formulation make Jimmy Carter's campaign statements look pale by comparison. Almost an unknown. But certainly one of the man in government who is in a position to be objective. Everyone else, high and low, is, in some measure selling a program or defending one. In theory, at least, Lynn's OMB has no axe to grind. Mr. Ford is convinced this is true. So he puts his trust in this man more completely than any previous President relied on his budget chief. Which by any standard is an awesome amount of power in one set of brains. Especially for a man quite definite in his views with little tendency to equivocate. He's known to look askance of those who hedge every answer or argument with . . . "on the other hand, maybe. . Example: Lynn would like to see Mr. Ford

Directed by Mrs. Mildred Caskey, it is the result of considerable research. For example, it brings out the fact that the originator of the school cafeteria program in Duval County was a woman — Mrs. Charlotte Townsend Alderman. At the same time, there are examples of the social life, with shapely St. Johns riverboat dancers in black tights and high heels.

It is the only musical production of its kind to be presented in Deltona. Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. John Perry at
