At Least 24 Dead In European Flood

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Relief supplies for thousands of homeless victims of central Europe's worst flood in centuries poured into stricken Austria and Germany today.

Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and Saar were the first to offer bedding, food and clothes to thousands of families made homeless by the raging Danube and a dozen tributaries. Their five-day rampage has claimed at least 24 lives on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The aid began to arrive as rescue workers struggled to reach submerged Austrian and German towns where inhabitants were still stranded on rooftops and upper floors. More than 3,000 American soldiers have been taking part in the rescue work.

Sketchy reports from Czechoslovakia and Hungary indicated those two Danube Valley countries have been hard hit by floods. Prague and Budapest radios said Communist authorities had ordered entire farm communities evacuated and many hamlets were under water and crops destroyed.

It was not known what the death toll was in the two Iron Curtain lands. Nine deaths were reported last night in Communist East Germany.

In West Germany, skies cleared and flood waters began to subside but thousands of acres of rich farmland were still under water. Countless houses, bridges and industrial plants were damaged—some beyond repair.

Eisenhower canceled his own plans to address the state executives because of the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Milton Eisenhower.

On the sidelines, Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina recommended that American representatives go back to the Geneva conference to bring on an Allied show-down on the Indochina crisis.

The program he urged Langhorne offered at the first business session of the 46th Annual Governors' conference.

While he outlined it, Vice President Nixon arrived at the Glens Falls airport in Washington and headed by motor for the conference where he will speak tonight in President Eisenhower's place.

2. Strengthening the financial power of the states by reducing or eliminating federal parity in taxes on gasoline, paraffin, telephone and telegraph messages, retail sales, electricity, admissions, transportation, liquor, tobacco, estate and gifts. In exchange, reduced federal grants for highways, unemployment relief, education, school lunches.

3. Adequate payments, in place of taxes, for federal property in the states.

4. Realignment of federal-state powers.

5. A declaration by the governors that they intend to maintain essential services to the people.

6. An adequate payment by the U.S. government for each class. Cost will be $200 million for the first course. Classes will meet on Friday nights each week for three to four hours.

Crim hopes to perpetuate the Gavel Club and offer courses in Sanford at least twice yearly. "Of the enrollment costs," he said, "20 per cent will be set aside to provide scholarship for a needy, worthy student from the Sanford area to attend the college of his choice. In this way we are actually performing a civic gesture while learning leadership."

West Germany Ready To Field Army

BONN, Germany, (AP)—Disarmed coastal duties such as keeping harbors and shipping lanes open along the German coast. It would be hard hitting now, wehrmacht of West Germany's next two years to bolster Western defenses against Russia.

Rail action by France and Italy on the languishing European Defense Community (EDC) project is required before the Germans can start building up this force.

All preparations have been completed—on paper. If EDC is ratified, the National Defense Commission in Bonn can press button and the wheels of the new German military organization will start to turn.

The plan calls for 72 divisions, six of them infantry, four armored and two motorized, plus an air force of 1,500 planes and 80,000 men, and a 20,000-man navy.

Each army division would have 12,000 men, with service and supply troops of at least equal strength.

The Luftwaffe would consist of jet fighters and fighter-bombers and reconnaissance and transport planes. Its functions would be limited to air interception and support of ground troops. It would have no strategic mission.

The navy is to be restricted to privided if EDC collapses and no alternative is quickly agreed upon.

French statements say the man rearmament to the EDC on May 27, 1952, when they signed in Paris the treaty to create a six nation defense force including West Germany.

This force, commonly referred to as the European Army, would embrace two million men in a 44 division army. The French would have 14 divisions, the Germans and Italians 12 each, Belgium and the Netherlands 3, Luxembourg 2 and Czechoslovakia 1.

This cadre force can be equipped and trained within 12 months after ratification, the commission says.

But German participation in European defense would mean more than just a half million fighting men.

With 49 million people, West Germany has a larger population than either France or Italy. It is capable in the event of war of building a bigger armed force than any other power on the European continent except Soviet Russia.

Apart from this big, untapped pool of manpower, Germany has one of the world's greatest industrial centers—the Ruhr. Trailing only America, Russia and Britain in industrial production, the Ruhr could turn out a flood of supplies for EDC.

This is what Europe will be depend what weapons the Germans have approved it.

If there is a new wehrmacht, how will it be organized?

The first soldiers in uniform will be 190,000 volunteers to form cadres and training units for the later wave of draftees. This cadre force will number 30,000 officers and non-commissioned men.

Over 225,000 Germans have volunteered for service already.

The Defense Commission says the first of these volunteers can be put into uniform within a month after final ratification of the EDC.

This cadre force can be equipped and trained within 12 months after ratification, the commission says.

Then the drafting of young civilians for 18 months training will start.

The full force of 300,000 men will be ready to take the field alongside Allied forces within 12 more months.

The bulk of the tanks and other heavy equipment needed by the Germans to equip this force will be supplied by the United States. Some of the planes for the Luftwaffe also will come from America.

Defense planners believe West Germany can start producing small arms and ammunition within 12 to 18 months from a starting point. But they would need up to three years to produce heavy equipment like tanks and planes.

The six EDC nations are to do

A New Era

"The lamps are going out in Europe. We shall not see them lighted again in our lifetime." So with only too much truth said Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary, in August, 1914. The first world war had started; the weather had been blowing up for it all through July. As Grey saw, a new era in world history had begun.

1914 is now seen to have been the start of a war which has lasted with interruptions ever since. Nor is there any assurance of a state of real peace for years to come. The present armed crisis resembles the state of a householder who sleeps with a revolver under his pillow, and is roused two or three times nightly by threat that the long-pested enemy is breaking in.

The last 40 years have also seen epoch-making inventions, the radio, television, radar, the atomic and hydrogen bombs, and the new medical discoveries. It seems clear now that the so-called modern era of history, which began either shortly before or after 1900, ended in 1914. A new name should be found for the present era.

Why Suppression?

The Department of Labor has done a curious thing. It prepared a 10-page statistical study, "Negro Women and Their Jobs," copies of which have been distributed to public libraries and put on sale at the Government Printing Office. It showed the educational professional attainments of Negro women, and revealed that they averaged less pay than white women. Now the booklet has been withdrawn from circulation.

The reason given was that it tended to bring out differences between the races. No one denies the facts, which are generally known. Why should they not be published?

It is to be hoped that the motive was not fear that if this discrimination were made known, something might be done about it. It looks as if the Department had been listening to some one influential who did not wish the present situation to be changed. Problems are never solved by closing your eyes to them.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

A little lower than the angels—Psalms 8:5. No one has fully explored the majestic possibilities of a human life. Many have done magnificently, many have done well, but no one has completely used his utmost powers and opportunities, no one but a certain carpenter that humanity crucified.

HAL BOYLE

Pair Is Gathering Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—"It is a rather pleasant experience to be alone in a bank at night."

Now who would say a thing like that? Well, as a matter of fact, Willie Sutton, the notorious bank bandit, tossed off the remark while philosophizing on the rewards of a career that has kept him behind prison bars most of his life.

It is one of several thousand quotations collected by Jim Sheppard and Ann Gillis, an organization in who bosses NBC's "What's What That?" the most durable of all TV panel quiz programs.

Feeling that Bartlett did a good job for his day but that someone ought to also preserve the acerbic wit and gilded wisdom of the current generation, Sheppard and Miss Gillis are bundling together for book publication the quotations they feel best reflect our times.

Here, for example, are a few gems from their collection which should give posterity a kind of insight on the kind of human beings who dwelt in the middie of the 20th century:

"A committee is a group that keeps minutes and loses hours"—Milton Berle.

"May the Lord bless you real good"—favorite benediction of evangelist Billy Graham.

"Politics is the diversion of trivial men who when they succeed at it, become important in the eyes of more trivial men"—George Jean Nathan.

"Age is no matter . . . You can be foolish at 20, charming at 40, and irresistible at 60." Mme. Chanel.

"It's not a question of whether he makes progress only when his neck is broken"—James B. Conant, former president of Harvard.

"Washington is a place where half the people are waiting to be discovered—and the other half are afraid they will be"—Rep. H. R. Scott of Pennsylvania.

"A good smile is harmful to a dancer. A good calf is better than a good head"—Agnes de Mille.

"The way for the armed forces to win an atomic war is to make certain it never starts"—Gen. Omar Bradley.

"The only normal and classic things I ever created are my children"—Pablo Picasso.

"If a man is vain, flatter. If timid, flatter. If boastful, flatter. In all history too much flattery never lost a gentleman"—Kathryn Cravens, author.

"I haven't sold Bibles all my life"—Frank Costello.

"The work was killing me; they called me out of bed at all hours of the night to receive the resignations of prime ministers"—Vincent Auriol, on vacating the office of president of France.

"American soldiers have taught me better than I could have learned in any other way what America means to me"—Francis Cardinal Spellman.

HANDWRITING ON THE WALL IN WASHINGTON

Knowland Emphatic About Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Red China will cause confusion when they try to get into the United Nations. They cause more if they get in. The very thought they might get in has caused confusion here already.

It was this thought which for a while had Sen. Knowland of California, Republican Senator leader, acting like the junior, or senior, secretary of state. He appears to have calmed down now.

He was so incensed July 1 over the idea Red China might get a U. S. seat he served notice if it happened, he would resign his Senate leadership and head a move to take the United States out of the world organization.

This, said Sen. Johnson of Texas, the do-it-yourself "unfriendly" statement. Johnson is leader of the Senate Democrats. But some other Democrats questioned Knowland's profundity in the matter.

There seems to be unanimity the United States should fight against seating Red China in the U. S. but not pulling the country out if the Communists get in.

But there could be no doubt the consequences might be profound if Knowland carried through once Red China got into the U. S. and succeeded in leading the United States out of the other door.

American withdrawal might wreck the U. N. which the country leaders had helped create.

It may not be wise to let the Chinese get in, but the U. S. should not pull the country out if they do.

Withdrawing could result in rendering America's world leadership alienating its friends, destroying its alliances, driving it into isolation and, if the U. S. survived, leaving the Communists free to use it against the United States.

As an alternative to that, the United States, once out of the U. N., might set up a block of non-Communist states that would work together tighter and better than they have in the past.

At the least, the consequence of a walkout would be so far-reaching as to require a major change in American foreign policy. Any walkout itself would be a major change.

So such a step, before taken, would call for, in President Eisenhower's words, the "most solemn reflection" by the two men most directly responsible for foreign policy, himself and Secretary of State Dulles, and the best brains available.

Then, and only then, should the United States act.

BLOWLY returning consciousness is one of the difficult problems confronting oral surgeons and dentists when they anaesthetize the patients for tooth removal. It may take from a few minutes to a few hours, and the patient may develop a slight headache.

It is believed that the reason for this tissue injury when the teeth are removed. With this injury, a substance called histamine is given off into the system.

Good Results

Recently a group of patients were given antihistamine drugs prior to and after dental surgery.

It was found that, instead of the usually large number of the patients having signs reactions, 14 out of 20 reacted.

Then, and only then, should the

United States act.

By HERMAN H. EUGENEHL, M.D.

A frequent complication of oral surgery or removal of teeth is what is known as a "dry socket".

A "dry socket" is a discharging bleeding socket with a foul odor which occurs in the socket of an extracted tooth.

Dental pain usually accompanies a "dry socket". It was found that most persons who suffered from this complication following extraction were helped by the antihistamine drugs.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mr. E. R.: About a week ago

some debris blew into my eye.

Will it come out by itself?

Answer: You should seek medical help. A foreign body in the eye may carry germs and cause sevvere infection or even ulceration of the cornea or window portion of the eye.

So this time go "all out" for added convenience.

Be sure that your new refrigerator is large enough to refrigerate and freeze for your size family. Your dealer will tell you.

JAMES MARLOW

Knowland Emphatic About Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Red Chi-

nae will cause confusion when they try to get into the United Nations. They cause more if they get in. The very thought they might get in has caused confusion here already.

It was this thought which for a while had Sen. Knowland of California, Republican Senator leader, acting like the junior, or senior, secretary of state. He appears to have calmed down now.

He was so incensed July 1 over the idea Red China might get a U. S. seat he served notice if it happened, he would resign his Senate leadership and head a move to make it himself, Knowland added to have calmed down now.

Instead he was considering whether the Senate should go on record as saying Congress would not seat the Red Chinese if it seated Red China.

Dulles can be so calmly sure that he can't be any doubt of his earnestness in wanting that policy made to his liking, if he had to make it himself, Knowland added to have calmed down now.

He said he was considering whether the Senate should go on record as saying Congress would not seat the Red Chinese if it seated Red China.

Iced Coffee — a Proven Summer-Time Cooler

Pre-Cooled Method

Make regular strength coffee. Cool in a nonmetallic container for not more than three hours, or cover tightly and chill in refrigerator.

Quick Double-Strength Method

Make coffee double-strength by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses.

Quick Method with Coffee Ice Cubes

Brew extra coffee at breakfast time, and pour in freezer tray to make coffee ice cubes. When frozen, you can make iced coffee at any time by pouring regular strength coffee over the cubes.

If you need to make a cool drink in a great hurry, pour hot instant coffee, made by following instructions on the jar, over接受ed toothbrushes. Remember here, also, to make pillows for melting ice. In each case, serve the coffee in tall glasses, with a simple sugar syrup for any sweetening, add cream to taste.

Fall Style Show Opening Today In New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—It's going to be smart to be sleekly next fall, the international fashion press learned today with the opening of the New York wholesale collections of fall styles.

Comfort also is given a large play by American designers, who are introducing the bloused silhouette after a season in which the tight miniskirt and Princess lines have suffered for lack of fashion.

The newest dresses shown by leading designers have an easy, loose look above the belt, retaining the slim skirt for daytime. However, skillful use of pleats and flares has been made in some while preserving a slender appearance.

The bloused-blouse dress showed in the Paris spring collections but was not generally adopted by American designers last year. It appears to return to the easier way of dressing that most Americans can wear, love, and also makes it possible to hide a few extra bulges around the middle.

The tight-miniskirt Empire line is still present in many collections but a choice is now offered with the usually comfortable look the newest and therefore the smartest in the lineup.

Suits fall over a wide variety of jacket styles, with the slim skirt preferred, day or evening wear and hemline about the same or occasionally a trifle shorter than those of spring and summer. One leading suit designer shows the longer jacket as the highlight of his collections, but the "blouson" jacket seems a favorite. This is a bloused effect resulting in a belt at the waist similar to the blouson jacket of World War II. Flared and barrel-shaped jackets rounded at the top and straighted in around the hipline are also prominent and popular.

The trimmest suit and even the suit with reversible jacket lined in fur is seen frequently, often as a part of the popular costume suit, which consists of a smart dress covered by a tailored jacket.

The costume is the top favorite, with practically every collection showing either a dress with belted bodice and matching full-length blouse. This is the highly versatile breakfast-to-dinner outfit which permits a woman to go from office to cocktail party or dinner perfectly dressed for the occasion when she removes her jacket.

Handsome fabrics make new headlines for fall, with much emphasis on tweed for any hour. There are several different combinations in which the dress emerges with open neckline and broad sleeves, ready for any after-five occasion. There are feather-weight silk-and-wool tweeds suitable for both suits and dresses. The combination of satin and tweed is a new note for fall, highly effective and apparently suited for white acceptance.

Blouson and charcoal gray remain top for basic costumes but the combination of sheer linens and black is newer, and the fad color of the season is purple.

The soft, black crepe dress, which most women feel is a necessity in any wardrobe, gains new stature this season, and will be seen in quantity in shops across the country. It is done in either silk or rayon, simple, skilfully tied, to be dressed up or down with jewelry and accessories.

The top coat烟囱ette of the season is the draped one, which is being drawn in slightly at the hemline, in something resembling a barrel shape. This usually is a few inches shorter than the skirt hemline.

There is a rounded, smooth blouse to both suits and coats this season. Shoulders are natural, and the dropped shoulder line is important.

Armholes are loose above the waist, drawn in below either at hipline or hemline.

Hemlines take a dramatic play, with big collars on coats and suits, open decolletages on dresses. The sailor collar is shown in many versions on coats, suits and occasionally on dresses.

Then comes a cup of papaya nectar, one cup of pineapple juice and the juice of one lemon. On the home stretch, during the last 20 minutes, whirl the oven to 500 degrees and bake every two minutes with the nectar juice mixture. Baste like mad. Dip this great meat into the meat. This almost-frozen meat will exhibit the chef. Give him a cold beer and let a jockey remove the meat and serve it.

If you cannot get chevrons try this recipe with lamb:

Ives has eaten in the finest places all over the world, but the thrill he remembers is that supplied by a Persian meal in Arabic. He's still got it.

"I had played for King Arash, and in thanks they sent a mutton, but what a mutton! It was raised in king's private garden, fed by his camel dung 500 years old. What farming! To eat that mutton was a great sensation. The refreshments and decorations carried out a blue and pink color scheme and each guest was given a whistle as a favor."

Those present with Patti-Beth were Mary Gary, and Sidney Lloyd, and Brenda and Vicki Lovell.

Two Governors Ask Showdown With Ike On Highway Program

Strolling In Sanford

EVELYN OROWITZ, 20, of Cliffwood, N.J., proudly wears her royal regalia after being crowned "Miss New Jersey," winning out over 11 other finalists at Palisades Park, N.J. She will represent her state in the "Miss Universe" pageant at Long Beach, California.

Just got a letter here from Tom Lemon, former City manager, who is now an insurance agent for the Universal Life and Accident Insurance Co. in his former residence and home town Bloomington, Ind. Addressed to Fred Perkins, publisher of The Herald, the letter said in part: "I sure miss all you crackheads I used to know. I don't have much time to think about much anything except work. We are all settled in a large suburban home and settling down to Hoosier living. The state and local politicians and general public are trying to push me back into politics as evidenced by the enclosed. By the enclosed, Lemon means a clipping from a Bloomberg newspaper with headlines, "Lemon Usurped To Run For Mayor in 1965," at the upper right-hand corner of the front page. Lemon formerly was mayor of the city. In the story, it is stated, "Tom Lemon will run again for mayor of Bloomington. This was the 'big buzz' at a Democratic meeting in Indianapolis. What happened? Among local Democrats, and state and district, Democrats. Paul Butler, South Bend, Indiana Democratic national committeeman, was the headline speaker, but the 'buzz' for Lemon was the significant undercurrent of the gathering. Lemon returned to Bloomington recently to become a district director of the new Indiana Life and Accident Company. It was understood that Lemon was recently approached by a group of friends about running for mayor next year on a bipartisan Citizens ticket. Lemon is said to have replied that if he decided to have the race, it will be on the Democratic ticket."

Plans are underway for the annual Jersey Fishing Derby to be staged next month. Chairman of the affair is M. L. Robson Jr. Approximately 500 youngsters participated in the affair last year.

Miss Marion Ette, 1933 Florida Citrus Queen and Orange Bear Queen, will be the guest speaker Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Yacht Club. Miss Ette will speak informally on the promotion of Florida and this state's citrus by the Citrus Exposition and Cypress Gardens. As Citrus Queen, Miss Ette won a trip to England where she appeared on several nationwide television programs beamed from New York City and Chicago.

Report Made On Nuclear Engine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The land-based model of the world's first nuclear submarine engine "has already produced more than enough power to send an atomic submarine around the world, fully submerged and at full speed."

The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee said so today in a report to the Senate and House recommending a series of changes in the basic Atomic Energy Act.

The engine, a land-based "prototype" of the atomic engine now installed at the USS Nautilus, is located at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing site in eastern Idaho.

Speaking of prospects for economic atomic power for industry, however, the committee said only that such an objective "is on the horizon, though not within our immediate reach."

The legislation which the committee recommended would generally carry out President Eisenhower's recommendation for changes in the 1946 Atomic Act to allow exchange of some nuclear secrets with Allied nations and permit private industry to enter the atomic power field.

The bill as a whole was unanimously approved by the 18 member committee, but some members expressed sharp dissent on some provisions. The Senate may begin debate on the measure late today or tomorrow.

The committee said such information would include "data necessary to the development of defense plans, the training of personnel in the employment of, and defense against atomic weapons, and the evaluation of the capabilities of potential enemies in the employment of atomic weapons."
