Singer Steals Scene On Variety Show

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — As Tony Randall completed a series of exceptionally clever blackout sketches to open Wednesday night's NBC-TV special, "Four For Tonight," I felt that even if the rest of the show bombed, I had my kicks for the evening.

Then came the arful Beatrice Lillie and her songs, "Wary of It All" and "A Lesson With A Fan." Nice work, although I never seem able to appreciate fully Miss Lillie's subtleties.

Next — Cyril Ritchard in his 15-minute segment "Around the World on 90 Pounds," which has some amusing moments, some strained ones.

And finally, in the closing spot, there was Tammy Grimes. She only stole the show.

It's a rare thing when a performer on TV delivers with such totality of talent that I find myself tingling with excitement long after the final bow. But such was Miss Grimes' impact.

She sang about a dozen songs, each in the style that was popular the day the song was introduced, going back some 300 years.

This tiny blonde, whose face blends Marilyn Monroe, Marlene Dietrich and Bette Davis which, though each mood, each nuance as she sang from tenderness to joy to wistfulness with utter command of her warm, penetrating voice, eyes, hands and body. In a business that can attach the adjective "fabulous" to a youngster named Fabian, what do we call Miss Grimes?

For those who missed her, I wish you all an early re-run. The production by Robert Saudek Associates, in magnificent color, rates as the sleeper of the TV season, a tasteful, exciting, very special TV special.

A play that ricocheted a number of profound questions of the French-Algerian barricades made Wednesday night's Playhouse 90 on CBS-TV one of unusual importance.

"The Cruel Day," by Reginald Rose, skillfully placed a civilized, thinking army captain into the Algerian abolition and asked him to order the torture of a teenage rebel boy. The author maintained, as I saw it, that such men must be true to their own souls and refuse to use evil means for future good. He also gave us the other side of the franc: Super-morality and moralists must yield to the brutal immorality of war when a showdown comes along. In

Lyman School Students Fighting Missile Gap

By JACK PHILLIPS
Lyman School is an inland Cape Canaveral school. The junior rocketeers in the Lyman School Missile Club are having the same problems as their big brothers on the East Coast. The seventh grade club from Mrs. Catherine Martin's science class has fired two missiles so far. Neither got very far off the ground but they put on a good show. The first shot was with a miniature Thor-Able carrying a carbon dioxide cartridge ignited by cotton and kerosene. The cotton and kerosene was supposed to make enough heat to blow the end off the cartridge. Instead, the rocket nozzle blew off and the missile went a few inches off the ground before keeling over beside its launching pad. The last firing attempt took place Friday. One of the solid propellant engines failed and the missile, about 15 inches long, stayed earth-bound. Though there's a lot of color and excitement for the junior scientists in this kind of school activity, there's a serious side too. Mrs. Martin, whom the youngsters asked to be their faculty advisor, said the missile club is an attempt to keep students up with latest scientific developments. "They know more about it than I do," Mrs. Martin said of the 24 boys and girls whose scientific enthusiasm often leads to after-school missile building. The club originated among the students. There are a few more boys than girls in the group. The "girls are more interested in how a missile works than in trying to build one," Mrs. Martin said Friday. The club meets every other Friday during the 7A science class. Other Fridays are also devoted to new developments in science: Friday is "the one time of the week that we get away from the textbook which was written about 14 years ago," the science teacher explained. Mrs. Martin, who has been teaching for 12 years, has 208 science pupils at Lyman.

The rocketeers take plenty of safety precautions with their experiments. They get a good distance away from the school and point the missile toward a lake in back of the buildings. Principal Ralph Diggs has been on hand to see that safety is kept in mind. The students have been building the missiles from whatever raw materials they could find. They bought the engines. Bigger things are coming, however. The club is building a four foot missile for exhibition in the Central Florida Science Fair. Though not slated for firing, the missile will contain an engine designed for power by alcohol and liquid oxygen. This will be entirely a home-made production. The club members will make everything themselves, including the engine. Club President Kenneth Dunn, assisted by Secretary Barbara Diggs, has divided the rocketeers in missile building committees for still another rocket project, which will be worked on by design, electronics and engine building committees.

McCanna May Seek Post; Qualifying Begins Tuesday

County Tax Assessor Richard McCanna today said he is seriously considering running for tax assessor in the coming May 3 Democratic primary. Earlier in the year, McCanna had told the Herald that he had no intention of running for office. However, McCanna said today that many people have urged him to run "to insure the continuation of the program already started" by him. Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, suspended by Gov. Collins late last year, has said she is considering running for assessor again. Meanwhile, candidates for 30 Seminole County offices up for election this year will begin qualifying at noon tomorrow. Circuit Court Clerk David Gatchel predicted today that from 40-50 candidates will be in the races. Before a candidate can run he must sign a loyalty oath to the U. S. and Democrat Party and must file a campaign treasurer's and expense report. County offices to be filled in the 1960 general election are county judge, clerk of the circuit court, sheriff, tax assessor, tax collector, superintendent of public instruction, supervisor of registration, justices of the peace, constables, county commissioners from District 1, 2, 3 and 5 and members of the board of public instruction from District 2 and 4. A special election is expected to be called by Gov. Collins to fill the District 2 commission seat vacated by Gatchel when he was appointed clerk. District 3 Commissioner Lawrence Swofford is expected to face opposition, with one candidate already announcing he will run: James Avery, a retired Navy chief, was the first candidate to signify he would enter. District 5 Commissioner Homer Little still has not said whether he will run again. John H. Spatz, has announced he will run in the district. The only commissioner seat not subject to this year's election is District 4, in which Vernon Dunn is the incumbent. Tax Collector John Galloway has indicated he will run again as have County Prosecutor Karlisle Householder and Sheriff J. L. Hobbs.

Senate Begins 24-Hour Days

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate convened at noon today for around-the-clock debate calculated to continue until action is taken on a civil rights bill. Army coats were in place for firing members who braced themselves for the ordeal of another historic talkathon. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) leader of the southern bloc opposing civil rights legislation, was ready with a long opening speech. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, backed by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.), ordered the continuous session after 11 days of debate failed to break the civil rights deadlock. Senators and their aides prepared to spend the nights at the Capitol. Key Senate employees were put on staggered work schedules and the restaurant planned to remain open 24 hours a day. There were unconfirmed reports that efforts might be made this week to advance House debate on civil rights to remove some of the pressure from the Senate's grueling schedule. But House debate is not slated to start until the middle of March and there were no immediate indications of any plans for a speed-up. The Senate has not held a round-the-clock session since 1957 when Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) led a filibuster record with a continuous speech of 24 hours and 14 minutes against a civil rights measure. The longest session in Senate history was 26 hours and 46 minutes in 1954, broken by one 24-minute recess, on amendments to the Atomic Energy Act. After a Sunday recess, the debate ran continuously for another 25 hours and 57 minutes. As the Senate headed into the new round-the-clock session, there were these developments in the hot civil rights battle: Southerners walked a tightrope in opposition to the bill. They were committed to a last-ditch fight but did not want to antagonize moderates, who—if angered—might support even stiffer legislation. Russell said the Southerners had no definite strategy plans for the continuous session. Russell said he regarded the rash of lunch-counter seating incidents in the South as an effort "to incite a race riot and therefore inflame the people of this country against the people of the South."

50 Arrested As Race Riot Breaks Out In London

LONDON (UPI)—More than 2,000 persons battled police and each other with fists and feet in downtown London Sunday in one of the worst outbreaks of race rioting ever seen here. A number of persons received minor injuries in the melee, and 50 were arrested. Nine were taken to court today to answer charges of "insulting the police." The fighting began when paraders headed by Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of Britain's pre-war Fascists, tried to break up an anti-segregation mass meeting in Trafalgar Square. The fighting raged through the center of the city to a point within a stone's throw of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's official residence before order could be restored. Before Mosley appeared in the scene, Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskill had appeared before a crowd of 10,000 to demand a month-long boycott of goods from segregationist South Africa. Mosley's paraders carried placards saying "Be right! Be white!" and "Boycott Jewish goods." They alternated between chanting "Keep Britain white!" and singing "Rule, Britannica." Fighting between the two groups started almost at once, and police who tried to interfere were punched or kicked. Motorcycle police charged into the crowds to try to restore order. "Two men who shouted 'Down with Mosley!' were punched, thrown to the ground and kicked. Mosley heads an organization known as the Union Movement, dedicated to halting the immigration of Negroes into Britain. Thousands have come here since the war, notably from Britain's West Indian possessions.

Search For Jet Spreads To Coast

The search for a missing Navy jet bomber began to spread along the east coast of Florida and the Atlantic today as no clue to the plane and two crewmen had been found since Wednesday. Sanford Naval Air Station officials said at noon that no indication of what happened to the plane, or where it may have crashed, has turned up in a thorough air-ground hunt which has involved as many as 250 searchers. Still missing with the aircraft are the pilot, Lt. G. E. Dotson and bombardier-navigator, Lt. C. E. Faulkner. The lone survivor of the mystery, R. L. Gaudreau, said he only remembers an order to bail out, which he did.

Truman For Defense

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman took another slap at the Eisenhower administration Sunday night, declaring "it is a lot better to have a secure nation than a good campaign argument." In a talk to the inaugural conference for the 1960 sale of Israel bonds, Truman told his audience to "beware of people who belittle the danger to the security of the free world, and use the smiles of Russians to justify slashing our defense budget."

Explosion 'Rocks' Red Missile Base

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—A tremendous explosion believed to be that of a Soviet missile base blasted a Russian military area near the Finnish border on Feb. 28, reliable sources said today. The sources said they had no information on the extent of the blast or what caused it but that it was not believed to be a nuclear explosion. The explosion appeared to have taken place very close to the Soviet military installation at Alakurti, just north of the Arctic Circle and only a short distance from the Finnish border. The Russians took over a strip of Finnish border in that area after World War II and expanded an existing German airfield into a military complex. Soviet installations are believed to include missile sites from which the Russians could launch missiles toward the United States in event of hostilities.

President Lands In Chile; Met By Cheering Crowds

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—President Eisenhower flew the Andean hump today to be greeted here by a large, cheering airport crowd in perfect 80-degree weather. Just before his arrival the government arrested five Communists for painting pro-Castro slogans along his route to the city. Eisenhower, who left Argentina-U. S. relations at their highest point in this century when he departed Chile's neighbor to the east earlier this morning, had been preceded here by sharply differing reactions. Rightwingers regarded his visit as something which Chile should be proud. The center regarded it as a United U. S. recognition of Chile's importance in the scheme of things. The Communists denounced his coming as a "betrayal of the people." A strenuous weekend of "real

Princess, Jones Change Minds; To Stay At Windsor

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Margaret and her fiance Anthony Armstrong-Jones changed their minds today and decided to remain at Windsor for another 24 hours.

The couple will return to London Tuesday, when Anthony will move out of his bachelor quarters and into Buckingham Palace to begin making wedding plans. Tuesday night he and the princess will make their first public appearance when they attend a gala performance of the Royal Ballet at Covent Garden.

Margaret and her fiance have been staying with Queen Mother Elizabeth at the royal lodge since the engagement was announced Friday. They remained at Windsor today to handle the flood of congratulations which poured in since their engagement became known. Armstrong-Jones' move to the palace was interpreted as meaning the marriage would take place soon, possibly within two months.

It was only the first of many changes in store for the commoner who won the heart of the princess while on one was looking. He currently is negotiating the sale of his lucrative photography business. According to court circles, he also is expected to give up being a composer, with a royal rank soon to be supplied by his future sister-in-law, the Queen.

The London press still was filled with questions about the romance and tentative answers. Where will they honeymoon? Some papers guessed the United States.

Where will they live? According to the Sunday Express, a $350,000 mansion near Windsor Great Park was all picked out for them. The couple was being kept from public view as a matter of policy, although they did attend church services together Sunday at the royal chapel in nearby Windsor.

A recent survey in Connecticut found that of 44,000 applicants for new driver's licenses, 20,000 were visually below par but only 4,000 were using corrective glasses.

Family Of Eight Dies; Asphyxiated

THOMSON, Ill. (UPI)—An inquest was planned today into the deaths of a family of eight, apparent victims of a faulty oil heater.

The bodies of Leroy Hensel, 39; his wife, Dorothy, 37; and their six children, Judith, 17; Billy, 14; Leroy Jr., 12; Susan, 10; Patricia, 8; and Jane, 7, were found Sunday.

Edward Schuler of Morrison, Ill., Hensel's employer, discovered the bodies. Schuler wanted to know why Hensel, a mechanic, had not been in work for two weeks. Lemuel Hensel, deputy coroner, said it appeared the Hensels were asphyxiated. Hensel said a damper in an oil-fired space heater had been closed, probably letting the deadly fumes filter through the house.

Schuler said he was alarmed when Hensel did not come to work for several days because the rural home was frequently isolated by bad weather.

But Schuler, who owns an auto dealership in nearby Morrison, said he decided to drive out anyway Sunday "just to check." He was forced to abandon the car in a snowbank two miles from the house and wait the rest of the way on foot.

Schuler said he got a "funny feeling" when he approached the four-room frame house Hensel built himself.

Schuler said he found the only door latched from the inside and two cars parked nearby. A night porch light was still burning. Schuler said he decided to force the latch and walk in. "Right away I knew what I had feared was true," he said. "There in the living room were Mr. and Mrs. Hensel. They were lying there like they were asleep, only there were black and blue marks under their eyes. Schuler said he went outside and walked around a bit before remembering the Hensel children. He returned to the house in hopes that some of them were still alive. But he found that they, too, were dead.

"They were all gone. I had been too late," he said.

Sit-Down Demonstrations To Continue

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Downtown five and dime stores reopened today for what officials fear will be another week of demonstrations in protest of segregated eating facilities in the South.

"We'll keep coming back until they fill the jail," one Negro threatened after a wild, fist-throwing outburst here Saturday that led to the arrest of 78 Negroes and whites.

With trials of many of those arrested set for today, police kept an extra close watch for signs of a new demonstration. They had instructions to permit permitting crowds to form in the downtown area.

Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington took notice of the protests, as did Alabama Gov. John Patterson.

Ellington called the Nashville demonstration "unfortunate" and hinted he would take action against the Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial University if there were further outbursts. Many of the demonstrators Saturday were identified as university students.

Similarly Gov. Patterson called for a meeting of the Alabama Board of Education Wednesday, presumably with Negro students who took part in a demonstration Saturday. President H. C. Trenholm of Alabama State College was to report to Patterson today on an attempt by 35 students of the Negro institution to obtain lunch counter service at the Montgomery County courthouse cafeteria.

Cold Canadian Air Whips Over Midwestern U. S.

By United Press International

A mass of cold Canadian air spread over the mid-section of the country today, sending the temperature below zero over the northern plains.

The winter-weary midlands had a respite today from a succession of storms that swept across the country this month. Only light snow was forecast in the Southwest and snow flurries from the Great Lakes to the Northeast.

However, the Weather Bureau warned that a low pressure system centered off the southern California coast could develop into another full blown snow storm as it moves eastward. The storm dumped nearly an inch of rain on parts of California Sunday night.

Eight Democratic members, including Chairman Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), cited it as evidence that the administration has been leniently concerned with inflation. They said administration policies have had back economic growth and produced a "higher" than necessary rate of unemployment.

Maitland Art Show Called Outstanding

A show by Harold V. McIntosh Jr., who lives on Cape Cod and in Winter Park, at the Maitland Art Center and Research Studio has been recommended as an "outstanding exhibit" by members of the Sanford Art Assn.

It is termed an outstanding exhibit in that the artist is equally skillful in all varieties of subject matter. While portraits are predominant in the exhibit, there are examples of abstractions, landscape and still life. The paintings exhibited are all oils, but this artist works also in water color, and does sculpture.

McIntosh, a brother of Mrs. K. E. Walker, former Sanford resident, is a graduate of the University of Michigan. For the past five years he has been director-instructor of the Lynchburg Art Center, Lynchburg, Va., and has been assistant to Jerry Farnsworth, nationally known portrait painter.

The gallery, which is open daily except Monday from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., is located on Packwood Dr. in Maitland. The present exhibition will run through Sunday, and there is no charge for admission.

U. S. NAVY LEAGUE President Frank G. Jameson, right, was welcomed to the Sanford Naval Air Station by Base Commander Capt. Robert W. Sive Friday. At a luncheon attended by nearly 100 civic leaders from Seminole and surrounding counties, Jameson stressed the importance of the Navy's submarine-fired Polaris missiles as a mobile retaliatory force. A strong U. S. submarine force is necessary because subs can move with their missiles and can keep from being stationary targets, according to Jameson. The Navy League chief stopped at the NAS as part of his nationwide tour of Navy installations. The Navy League is an organization of about 40,000 persons interested in Navy affairs. Most of the League's members are ex-Navy personnel. (Herald Photo)

Happiness Through Health (By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Bursitis

In scientific language, bursitis means an inflammation of a Bursa. A Bursa is a little sac located near the attachment of certain muscles such as the big toe, in and around the knee, the elbow, shoulder, etc. The Bursa is designed to reduce friction between the skin and the bony structure lying beneath the skin. Bad body mechanics play an important part in the inflammation and the irritation in the region where they are located.

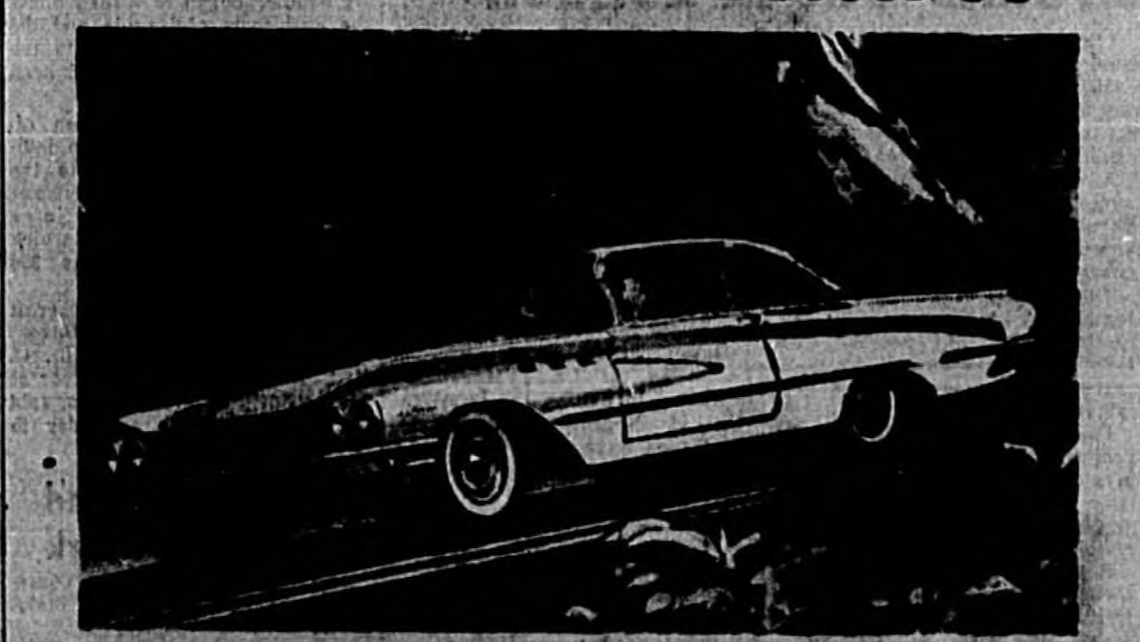

Bursitis being a condition never apt to occur in middle life and old age, is rarely seen in youngsters. When recognized, the inflamed bursa may become clafified, leading to chronic impairment of motion.

Treatment of bursitis is threefold in aim; involves relief of inflammation, correction of body mechanics, and restoration of normal mobility of the affected parts. Chiropractors have been highly successful in caring for individuals afflicted with this vexatious disease. Through adjustments, the Chiropractor gets at the very "root" of the trouble. Are you a Chiropractic Case?

BETTER-BRAKES... BUICK '60

BRAKES HATE HEAT!

Buick's fin-cooled Aluminum Drums got rid of heat quicker so you're safer!

Brakes generate their own worst enemy—terrible heat. Excessive heat is bad because it may cause brakes to lose part of their effectiveness. So the faster you dissipate it, the better off you are.

Buick gets rid of heat faster by using fin-cooled brake drums. On the front wheels, where most of the braking is done, the drums are aluminum. They cool more to make hot but they shrug off heat much faster than drums made of ordinary metal. Buick is the only American car that makes them standard, so no extra cost, because you will be safer with them.

Newest Bomber Is Compliment

Official confirmation by the Navy that the newest super-jet bomber will be introduced into service at the Sanford Naval Air Station is significant for several important reasons.

Locally, it means that the good work the personnel at the station have been doing warrants giving them the responsibility of breaking in the nation's top performing jet bomber and it means that the station will have a continuing program of prime importance.

This second reason is gratifying to Seminole County's special armed forces committee which has been working since 1956 to keep the Navy's interest in the local location and to do anything possible to make the base part of the county life.

All military installations are subject periodically to the transfer rumors, especially when armed forces appropriations are being discussed in Congress and the high brass are talking about streamlining this and that, etc. The NAS here has been no exception, but scheduling of the introduction of Navy personnel in its highest and fastest flying aircraft here would indicate that the base can be removed from the speculation list.

We interpret the action as a compliment to the capability of the units commanded by Capt. Robert Slye and Capt. James Barnage and we congratulate them.

First Of 2-Part 'Untouchables' Series Clever In Building Up Suspense

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — This may get a little hard to follow, so please pay attention.

"The Untouchables," on ABC-TV last Thursday night, was the first part of a two-part story of the "Untouchables" series.

The first part had two parts to it. One part of the first part was Joe Zerkow, a future assassin, who was shown during the hour being snubbed and pulled around of the day when he could assassinate President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Narrator Walter Winchell, whose verbal punching helps move the series along, called Joe "a man of pronounced homicidal tendencies."

Part two of part one — are you with me? — dealt with the efforts of Chicago mobsters to rub the city's honest mayor, Amos Corman.

As part one ended, the mayor's morning coffee break was rudely interrupted by a man in a suit who told him to get ready to go to work. Part two of the story offered things that this series is famous for: supporting players to create a lobby by the star, black, to undercut, a skimming of motivation, and a neat for authenticity in violence as well as in the human touches.

Gradually shown last Thursday night were a body-slumping in a river, a panic professor blowing his brains out, a man in a suit necessary for light and, of course, the extended gun play.

Despite these reservations, the hour was cleverly designed to build suspense and achieved that goal in a highly competent fashion.

Incidentally, if the newsboy seen at the start reminded you of Frankia Darrow, who used to play newsboy parts in the films of the 1930s, there's a good reason. That's who it was. Part one or part two, acting's all the same to Frankie.

Dialing and Filing: There's no doubt in my mind that Hugh Downs is a clear guy than Jack Paar. And there's no doubt in my mind that Paar does a better job of handling the show than Hugh does.

Downs completed his pinch-hitting chore Thursday night. Arlene Francis takes over tonight. In Hugh's hands, the Paar show was a lullaby late night lull. It failed to inflame, abrade or offend and, too often, didn't entertain or amuse.

Let's face it: Paar and Paar's caprices are what makes the show intriguing.

The Channel Swim: "Trullion: Portrait of a Dictator" is being shown by CBS-TV Thursday, March 17, instead of later in the spring. Nancy Wickard realigns Glynis Johns in the cast of "The Valley of Decision," scheduled for Sunday, March 26, on CBS-TV. NBC-TV's "Startime" special for Tuesday, March 15, dips into songs associated with Academy Award-winning films. Jane Wyman and Charles Laughton will be among the performers. Renewed for next season, ABC-TV's "Championship Bridge" series will feature celebrity players. On tap: Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Clare Boothe Luce and, maybe, Greuche Marr. Pat Buttram, new heard on CBS radio, stars as a country editor in a new TV series, "Dew Home," which ABC-TV may run in 1960-61.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — The country's top census chiefs have just completed classroom lessons on how to use tact in questioning the nation's housewives beginning April 1.

One prime rule: "When answers appear unusual, don't look surprised."

Example: The census taker asks a young lady her age. She replies, "25." He asks, "How many children do you have?" If her answer is "10," the enumerator must not appear shocked, but should simply jot down the figure.

What about women who fudge on their age? Jim Vawter, major domo of the census chiefs, told his class that most women would tell the truth about their age. However, say a woman obviously is her late 40s says she was born "April 13, 1930." That's what the enumerator must write down.

And, said Vawter, "You don't ask the lady, 'How old are you?' You phrase it diplomatically and ask her when was the born."

Vawter conducted a seven-day "crash" course for 40 census chiefs. They'll pass the word on to 400 technical officers who in turn will train 10,000 crew leaders, who'll advise 160,000 enumerators.

There will be other instances requiring the kid-glove approach, and Vawter has the solutions. Example: The enumerator rings the bell and a lady answers. Census taker, after preliminary questioning: "Who is the head of the household?" She: "I am." He: "Who else lives in the house?" She: "My husband."

What to do? Say nothing, says Vawter, but under "Head of Household," list the husband.

The toughest situation may come when the enumerator finds several neighbor ladies gathered in the home of his subject. Someone should clear his throat and in a fairly loud voice say: "As you know, ma'am, the information you are about to give me is confidential, and even the Internal Revenue department cannot have access to it."

The neighbor ladies, it is assumed, will take the hint.

Every fourth household will be asked to answer additional, more intimate questions. Here's a musical command over the six-stringed, flamenco guitar.

By so doing, he at least cushions the Amaya family tradition of superb flamenco musicianship and dancing.

Paco is the brother of the famed dancer Carmen Amaya. Their father was the late Jose Amaya. While undisputed king of Spain's gypsies, Jose brought the first Amaya dancing troupe to America in 1940. It included Paco and Carmen's five other brothers and sisters.

But Paco did not learn to play the guitar through formal lessons from his masterfully skilled father.

"It's something I can't do for you," Paco said his father told him. "You'll either do it yourself and learn, or you won't become a gypsy."

Paco did it himself. By listening and observing he became a great musician. He and his sister, Carmen, were soon hailed as one of the most accomplished and exciting flamenco guitar-dancer teams ever.

Paco explains their success this way: "A guitarist must know how the dancer is feeling in order to play that day, and we were like twins."

Carmen and Paco severed their artistic relationship after her marriage to a non-gypsy. She continues to tour the world's concert stages with her famed dancers. Paco is now wandering the world alone with his solo guitar.

At the Liberia, a Cuban nightclub here where he now is playing, Amaya attracts a highly demanding but faithful artistic following. And so, Paco himself, the high priest of all flamenco guitarists, can often be found in Paco's audience when the famed guitarist visits the city.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Milton's case is duplicated many times a day. It is carefully. Then one if you side with Milton or the policeman regarding what age should separate adults from juvenile criminals. And send for the benefit of mental health mentioned below, for it helps orient students who will be entering college soon.

CASE D — 48: Milton M., aged 17, has recently been arrested.

"Dr. Crane," a policeman informed me, "he has previously been in Juvenile Court several times for burglary, and now is involved with a pal in slugging a filling station attendant."

"Milton helped beat up their victim till he has a skull fracture and may die."

"Milton seems smart enough and I feel sure is fully aware of his violations of the law so why shouldn't he be treated as an adult offender?"

"Why should we mollycoddle these violators by treating them as juveniles till they reach 18?"

This officer has a good question. Recently some of our states have been urging that we drop the age for adult responsibility from 18 to 17.

But we might as well go down to 14, for that's when the human brain reaches maturity.

Then, a person, aged 16, has the adult memory span and ability to do logical thinking.

The mental "motor" (brain) is to recognize right from wrong, so if he pulls the trigger on a victim or ribs a home, he knows what he is doing.

Obviously, a person can learn new ideas all his life but the brain's mechanical capacity reaches its peak at 16.

Memory span is one index of adult brain power. The normal child at 4 years can thus recite 6 digits.

"Repeat after me," says the psychologist, "these words—seven-six-eight," and the normal 6-year-old can do so.

But he can't repeat 5 or 6 numbers: At the age of 4, he can also count 4 pennies. But he must be 6 years old to count 13 pennies.

"Oh, but my 4-year-old can count to 30," you may protest. Well, that may mean he is very superior in his I. Q. But it is more likely to indicate you aren't making the child point to each

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — As though he did not have enough worries, Secretary of State Christian Herter shortly before he took off with President Eisenhower for Latin America expressed to associates his deep concern over the Caryl Chessman case.

The world-wide attention it has received is an amazing phenomenon, with direct consequences on America's position in other nations, and even on American foreign policy.

What Herter particularly fears is that as the 60-day reprieve granted Chessman on the eve of his execution—for the eighth time—nears an end, the clamor will increase to an even louder pitch. The official Vatican newspaper is saying that surely now it will be impossible to put Chessman to death after keeping him dangling for 15 years.

The State Department is directly involved because of the telegram sent to Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown by Asst. Secretary of State for Latin America Roy R. Rubottom Jr. Brown gave the telegram priority in his decision to stay the execution and, as a result, senators have lambasted Rubottom for interfering in a matter of California justice.

But an inquiry into the dramatic circumstances surrounding Rubottom's message reveals he had no choice but to pass on the word he received from Montevideo, capital of Uruguay. No matter of fictional suspense and mystery could have rivaled the chain of circumstances leading to Chessman's later reprieve from death in the gas chamber.

The execution was set for 10 a. m. on Friday, Thursday at 9 p. m. the American embassy in Montevideo reached Rubottom on the phone. He was told the nine-man council which is the governing body of the country had passed a resolution bringing to the urgent notice of the State Department the threat of anticipated hostile demonstrations when President Eisenhower visited that country March 2 if Chessman were executed.

Rubottom immediately tried to get in touch with Herter, but he was unavailable. He talked instead with Under Secretary Douglas Dillon who said the question was such a touchy one it should be taken to the White House. Two White House aides were reached and finally Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff

Quotable Quotes

United Press International HONOLULU — George T. Davis, an attorney for Caryl Chessman, states that California Gov. Edmund G. Brown could aid his career if the state Supreme Court gave him "freedom of action" and he commuted Chessman's sentence: "He would have the choice of flopping around and getting no place or walking into the White House."

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, expressing hopes that candidates in presidential primaries will debate the major issues on radio and TV to stir up public interest: "Major issues cannot be discussed in spot announcements. In fact, you can't even sell soap on a spot announcement."

MORRISON, Ill. — Edward Schuler, who discovered the asphyxiated bodies of mechanic Le Roy Hensel and Hensel's wife and six children, describing his premonition when he discovered Hensel's door was latched or the inside: "A funny feeling goes through you when something like that occurs. You know you're going to find something inside, and you're pretty sure it's going to be bad and you're afraid really to see—but you look anyway."

HOLLYWOOD — Beverly Aadland, teen-age "protegé" of the late Errol Flynn, stating she was embarrassed because her mother fired a pistol to scare her mother away from his home, leading both mother and sister in jail: "I don't know what got into mother, it won't be good for my career."

Abdicates As Gypsy King For The Guitar He Loves

NEW YORK (UPI) — Guitariest Face Amaya, by the ancient law of succession, is king of all the gypsies of Spain. But he refuses to take the job.

Amaya abdicated without so much as settling a single blood dispute in the legendary gypsy caves of Granada. He turned down the crown in favor of a musical command over the six-stringed, flamenco guitar.

By so doing, he at least cushions the Amaya family tradition of superb flamenco musicianship and dancing.

Paco is the brother of the famed dancer Carmen Amaya. Their father was the late Jose Amaya. While undisputed king of Spain's gypsies, Jose brought the first Amaya dancing troupe to America in 1940. It included Paco and Carmen's five other brothers and sisters.

Pipe Dream?

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Freight will be moved in capsule containers through the pipelines of the future, says J. L. Burke of Tulsa, president of the Service Pipe Line Co., and passengers may eventually travel that way, too. "Tubular cars moving through a large pipe at high rates of speed separated by air cushions might be the answer to many of our passenger transportation headaches," Burke said.

Lutherans Hear Far East Program

Lt. Cdr. Alvah Mykkanen of Barber's Point, Hawaii, was guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League and the Ladies Aide Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at the church recently.

He told of the economy and religions of the areas in the Far East including Hawaii, New Zealand and Japan. Lt. Cdr. Mykkanen is attached to VR21, an air transport squadron, based at Barber's Point. Following his talk, a question and answer period was held.

Mrs. George Daniels, president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. James Ekern was appointed to serve as chairman of a bake sale, scheduled for March 12.

Mrs. Daniels asked ways and means committee members to make plans for a fish fry to be held sometime the latter part of April. Serving on this committee will be Mrs. Ekern, chairman, Mrs. Morris Hodges, Mrs. John Senarik and Mrs. Claude Bomgardner.

Friendship League Presents Program On Angola, Africa

Mrs. Martha Tynsley, missionary chairman of the Friendship League of the Congregational Christian Church, presented an interesting program on Angola Africa at the February meeting of the group when they met in Friendship Hall.

Mrs. Walter Koehler of Milltown, Wis., a newcomer to Sanford, and Mrs. Howard Rollins of the Ethel Root Circle were welcomed as guests. Mrs. Rollins requested recipes for a unique cook book, which will be a joint project of the two circles.

The devotion topic for the day was "Kindness." Mrs. Etta Claiborn led the group in the devotions.

In presenting the program Mrs. Tynsley told members that life in Angola, Africa, has been a continuous fight for existence against the ubiquitous rock. Corn has to struggle to get through the crevices and harsh soil and the cattle are of poor value.

Missionaries first entered Angola in 1880. After years of struggle, the missions and hospitals have been founded. This must be followed up with medical supplies, missionaries and food. The natives are friendly people. They are sincere, reverent and hungry for the gospel.

Following the meeting, hostesses Mrs. Ralph Hammond and Miss Dorothy Heath served refreshments to members present. A Washington's birthday theme was carried out in decorations and a small American flag was given to each one.

Anna Miller Circle Plans Motorcade To Harry Anna Home

Members of the Anna Miller Circle and their husbands met at the Elks' Club for their monthly meeting. A covered dish supper preceded the get-together with about 75 attending.

Mrs. Thomas Sprouse was chairman of the luncheon, assisted by Mrs. J. Houlehan, Mrs. G. Walters, Mrs. G. Cameron and Mrs. Irene Kent.

Mrs. Harry Adair, president, reported that the Valentine dance, sponsored by the circle, was a huge success. The proceeds of $80 will be added to the fund to supply gifts for children at the Harry Anna Crippled Children's Home at Easter time.

Committee members who worked hard to bring about this successful project included, Mrs. Martin Dyer, chairman, Mrs. Irene Kent, invitations, Mrs. Wade Snyder, entertainment, Mrs. R. Tomlinson, refreshments and Mrs. B. Brown, decorations.

Plans were discussed for a motorcade to the Harry Anna Home, March 19. Members of the circle are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to visit the youngsters at the home. The group will meet at the Elks Club at 1 p. m. and go in a group.

Mrs. Adair appointed a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for the coming year. They are Mrs. Ray Otter, Mrs. William Kleinfelder and Mrs. R. W. Spencer.

The next meeting will be held at 8 p. m., March 8 at the Elks Club.

To remove a grease spot caused by hair rubbing against the wall, place a blotter over the spot and go over it with a warm iron. The grease will be taken up by the blotter.

The size of pearls in costume jewelry grows with each season. Now, they come in both the size and shape of onions. Designer Judith McCann does necklaces, one, two or three strand, in a new bead which looks like it might have come right off a produce counter. Matching earrings are gold hoops with onion pearl drops.

Lundquist Sets Scoring Mark As Seminoles Win 18th Game

By JERRY COVINGTON

Fabulous Ray Lundquist cracked his own scoring record here Friday night as the Seminoles rolled to their 18th victory over the New Smyrna Barracudas by a score of 8-6.

The "Little Giant," who stands only 5-7 came out in the second half of a game when the Seminoles found themselves trailing by two points and broke the game wide open with his great show. He dropped in 18 field goals and four free throws for a total of 36 points to establish a new SHS scoring record. Only two weeks ago, the center all conference guard established a new record of 23 points against Oviedo.

Time and time again in the second half Lundquist and Terry Christensen stole the ball from the stubborn 'Cudas and most of his points came from layups under the basket.

Ray has now boosted his yearly total to 375 points and he trails teammate Jim Gracey by only 15 points for the leading scorer of the Seminoles.

Gracey, who without a doubt, will become one of the first prep cagers in the area to reach the magic 400 mark hit for 10 points and has a total of 390 for the season.

One of the finest exhibitions here Friday night was that of Cowboy Orvatz. The 6-3 center went into the game in the second quarter and quickly picked up four fouls and had to be removed. However, when he did get back into the action he really went to work on the boards and out rebounded the 'Cudas big Bill Hester all the way. He also hit his jump shot well from the corner and picked up eight points. He has become more determined with every game and if he is able to keep his fire it will mean that the Seminoles will be just that much better in the district tournament this weekend in Ft. Pierce.

Christensen was second to Lundquist in the scoring with 13 points.

Coch Glenn Allens JV's flashed out their season with their finest ball game. The win Friday gave them a fine 10-4 record for the season.

While Lundquist topped everyone in scoring Friday night the JV's had a youngster that wasn't far behind. Bubba Davis ripped the cords to the tune of 23 points and established a record for an individual JV performance. Davis has scored well most of the season and has shown great potential but he finally broke out into a sharp performer here against the Barracudas. His layups and jump shots were right on the button all evening as the locals piled up the 78-46 win.

There were several other youngsters who got their share of buckets. Mutt Johnson hit for 20, Butch Riser 12, and John Bonifacio 9.

Builders Hold Mixed Loop Lead

Edwards Builders Supplies, held on to their lead in the Thursday Night Mixed League, by two points after dropping all three games to The Furniture Center last week.

Edwards, rolling their highest scores in four weeks, could have won the rest of the league, but lost to the Furniture team, as this team turned in its highest scoring game to date, a 2,537 score. This leaves the supply team on top with 414 wins and the Furniture team in fifth place with 30 wins.

Scott's Furniture was also hot, as they took all three from Florida State Bank, ending with a 2,133 total. Three wins jumped Pinecrest up to fourth spot with 34 wins and two the Builders in the cellar place with 20 wins.

McIntyre Roofing took the two games from Sanford, giving the owners 10-6 games in second spot, and putting Sanford in third with 20 wins. Carothers and Hunt took the 5-30, both teams also made the 4-70, both teams. Howard and Mary Astro topped the JV, with Louie making the 5-4 and the 7-10, and Tom Strigham taking all six to make the 4-10.

Stack Car Winner

FRANKIE M. J. (UPI) — Bob Morrison of Potomac, Pa., won the 1959 National stock car race Sunday night at Thompson Armory. Len Gannon of Philadelphia was second, and McCoy of Reading, Pa., finished third.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

We took a spin over to Orlando over the weekend to get a look at the Senator pitching staff and what a surprise I received when I walked into the dressing room at Tinker Field.

There stood my old buddy Joe "Bongo" Bonikowski. It was a pleasant surprise too, because we became good friends last season while he was making his debut into pro ball with the Greyhounds.

Joe, who was a $15,000 bonus baby at the young age of 17, was the brightest thrower in the FSL last season and with a top notch infield behind him he could have well ended the season with 20 wins. However, time and time again he would be sailing along with a two or three hit shut out going and somebody would kick one and break up the ball game for him. He ended with a 9-15 record and a fine 2.6 ERA which was good considering the way the Greyhounds went.

We had a lot to talk about, so we jumped in the car and headed for the hotel. I asked him which way he said "to the 'Cherry Plaza, please.' Can you imagine one 'Bongo,' from my little apartment on 6th and Park to the Cherry Plaza in one season?

I asked him when he first found out he would be with the parent club and he said he got the invitation in January. There was no need to ask if he was surprised or thrilled over the break because it was written all over his face. Joe said "of course they just have me down here for a look-see but I am determined to give them 100 per cent and maybe they'll like what they see."

We talked hour upon hour last season and I knew the big Polish kid was determined but determination won't even describe him now. He says that his arm feels great and he also said with all sincerity that he can throw as hard as any pitcher in the Senator camp. He said, "They might ship me this season but I'm going to charge that mound while I am here and you can bet that I'll be in there soon as a big winner."

To me, making the big time in baseball is about 50 per cent determination and the balance ability and Joe has both. He has the fast ball of a Feller or Score and a great desire so we might see him in Griffith Stadium before too long.

The Senator camp is full of rookie pitchers and so for me I'll go along with "Bongo."

United Press International Warren Spahn, usually a man of few words, spoke up today to assure Manager Chuck Dressen he still can take a regular turn for the Milwaukee Braves.

"I know I'm a better pitcher when I pitch every fourth day," said Spahn after his "all out" workout Sunday. "If I don't I don't have my control and I get all fouled up."

Dressen has said that he probably would assign Spahn on a once-every-fifth day rotation this year instead of the once-every-fourth day routine on which the brilliant lefty has worked virtually his entire career.

The 28-year-old lefty was the Mt. of the Braves' workout Sunday when he pitched 15 minutes of batting practice and tested his question-mark knees with about 20 slides in the sliding pit.

At Vero Beach, meanwhile, Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers said he believes he will pace himself better this year than last when a 17-win campaign was marred by the fact that he won only two games after Aug. 12. Drysdale, five pounds heavier at 210 pounds, said he simply wore out himself last season.

Tom Sturdivant, ex-Yankee now with the Boston Red Sox, said he also is experimenting with a new conditioning program. He said he had obtained manager Bill Jurges' approval to pitch three straight days in the spring and then take a day off. The Red Sox

Special Leap Year Program Set For Kennel Club Tonight

That precarious extra day for innocent young men is with us again, and a special Leap Year's program at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club will give the gentlemen a break.

If accompanied by admission-paying ladies, gentlemen will be admitted to the club without charge tonight.

A 10-race slate will start at 8:10 with some of the fastest greyhounds tapped for action.

Racing will launch the 11th week in what is certain to be the kennel club's most successful season in its history. Both attendance and betting totals are

Oviedo Downs Lyman, 55-46

Oviedo High School eagles plowed through their last home game of the season to down Lyman of Longwood 55 to 46, to culminate a season record of 10 losses against 11 victories.

With the victory, the Oviedo team moves into the 7th District tournament play Friday night at Mt. Dora Bible School courts, meeting the Ocoee quintet.

Johnny Teinsky of Oviedo was high scorer of Friday night's game with 22 points, and William of Lyman sank 12 points to be his team's high scorer.

Kenneth Stark's sack nine throws, Mike Duda, Oviedo quietest star, was out of the game due to illness.

In the preliminary junior varsity game Lyman's squad defeated the Oviedo Jayvees 31-29 in a hotly-contested match.

Teams Quit League

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — The Class D New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League will operate with only six clubs this season, President Vincent McNamara said Sunday. Officials of the Olean and Batavia clubs said they would be unable to field teams this season unless working agreements with major league clubs were arranged.

Wins Squash Title

DETROIT (UPI) — Ray Widelski of Hamilton, Ont., was the national squash racket champion Sunday at the University Club. The 24-year-old former resident of Buffalo, N. Y. upset top-seeded Al Chassard of Bethlehem, (Pa.) Widelski, who was second-seeded, lost only one of four sets.

Palmer Setting 'Torrid' Pace On Tourney Trail

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer, newly-crowned Texas Open champion, is stroking his way towards a possible pro golf financial record at nearly a $1,000-a-day pace.

When the 30-year-old Ligonier, Pa., pro posted a closing round 36-39-75 for a 72-hole total of 276 to beat out Frank Stranahan and Doug Ford for the $2,500 Texas Open prize Sunday, it boosted his income in the last four tournaments to $16,417.86.

U. S. Takes Olympic Hockey Title

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — Over all it was Russia, individually the United States.

That sums up the VIII Winter Olympiad which closed Sunday. Russia ran away with the unofficial team title, more than doubling the points of runner-up Sweden, but nothing any of the 700 athletes from 20 nations who competed did here could match the performance of a battling U.S. hockey team.

It won the Olympic championship — and it was by far the most popular triumph in this international winter sports carnival.

That win for the underdog Yankees was the third gold medal of the games for the U. S. — one more than Uncle Sam won in the last winter games at Cortina, Italy in 1956.

Two figure skaters, Carol Heiss of New York, and David Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., won the other glittering medals.

There was lustre enough on these medals, but they didn't shine quite as brightly as the one won by the hockey team.

It beat the tough ones, Canada and Russia, and went through the competition undefeated — to bring the red, white and blue its first Olympic hockey championship.

These men, who didn't figure to beat out the tough Canadians and Russians — although their coach, Jack Riley kept insisting they could do it — got the biggest cheer of all at the closing ceremony when their captain, Jack Kirrane, stepped on the rostrum to receive the gold medal in behalf of the team.

The Blyth Arena, where pomp and ceremony closed the games, was jammed with 3,000 persons, 1,000 above capacity. And there wasn't one of them who didn't cheer when the smiling Kirrane from Brookline, Mass., mounted the rostrum and received the medal from Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee.

Four Teams Get Tourney Berths

By United Press International

The NCAA completed a third of its basketball tournament roster with the addition of California, Ohio State, West Virginia and Navy and hoped to secure a more definite picture tonight in the Missouri Valley, Southwestern and Big Eight conferences.

The newcomers joined NYU, Miami, Notre Dame, Ohio University and Georgia Tech in the regional post-season competition, leaving 17 teams to fill berths for the largest field in NCAA history.

Cincinnati, leading Bradley by a 10-point margin, clinched a tie for the Missouri Valley title by trouncing Tulsa tonight. Bradley, hopes to keep a flame alive against Wichita.

League officers elected at a meeting recently were Lorraine Rown, president; Pat Russell, vice president; June Lucas, secretary and Daphne Beauchamp, sergeant at arms.

Gators Get New Basketball Coach

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Norman Sloan, 33-year-old basketball coach who in four years built The Citadel team into a Southern Conference contender, is the new University of Florida coach.

Florida Athletic Director Ray Graves announced the appointment of Sloan Saturday to replace John Mauer, who will devote his full time to a job as assistant football coach at Florida.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports "reasonable" success with an electronic device that measures the oil content of soybeans.

1924 Model T And Donald Snyder, Who Restored It
His Mother, Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Is At Wheel

32 m.p.h. Will Get You There

From Ohio to Osteen is a long way at 32 m.p.h. That's how Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snyder traveled last week when they came to Florida in their 1924 Model T Ford. Mrs. Snyder said that a sure way to discard tensions is to drive a car that won't go faster than 40 m.p.h. The Snyder's got into the restored Model T, antique auto Feb. 21 and took off from their Springfield, O., home. Their destination was the Osteen home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snyder, parents of Snyder. The couple traveled 1,150 miles at a 32 m.p.h. speed average. The fire-engine red car got 16 miles for each gallon of gas. It took 1 1/2 quarts of oil. The Snyder's spent 30 hours travel time between Feb. 21 and their arrival in Osteen Wednesday. The Model T hit the Pennsylvania Turnpike shortly after it was opened to traffic after a snow storm. Snyder said he has gotten used to people driving up to the back of his antique, peering at it, and then rushing past. "Why Hurry?" is painted in tall letters on the rear of the car. Snyder thought he was driving below the minimum speed limit when a deputy sheriff's car pulled up with light flashing and siren screaming in North Carolina. But the deputy was only another antique auto collector whose hobby enthusiasm didn't stop during work hours. He wanted to see the old car. It turned out the deputy owns a 1924 coupe himself. Going over the mountains between Ohio and Florida, Snyder had to drop the car out of high gear only twice. The Model T has two gears, high and low. It was time to secure the roadster's roof when the Florida border appeared. Heavy rains came down until the couple reached Deland. The only trouble with the car's original parts came when a nut on the exhaust pipe cracked at Jacksonville. Snyder had this fixed when he got to Sanford. The speedometer gear and the radio broke down on the trip, but these weren't original parts. Snyder says the Model T is better for long trips now than when it was built, because of improved roads. His mother recalled that on a trip from Washington to Richmond in 1918, the only stretch of paved road between these two cities was so short it took only a minute and a half to travel it. Cars had to ford the creeks then. Restoring the Model T took Snyder a year. There were holes in the body and fenders. He stripped the car down to its frame and repaired each part before putting it back. Snyder spent 800 hours working on the auto which he values at $1,500. The car has been restored for six months. Snyder has been an antique car enthusiast for about eight years. He has been a member of the Antique Automobile Club of America for that time and is in the Tri-State Antique Auto Club. He also owns a 1924 Model T touring car and has owned a Sears 1908 motor buggy. Snyder said you can go places in the Model T where you can't in the motor buggy. The Model T is in great demand for parades, especially firemen's parades. It has been driven 300 miles to antique shows but this was the first long trip for the restored auto. Snyder, who is a contractor and painter in Ohio, arrived here with his wife the night of his 48th birthday and wedding anniversary. The Snyder's are returning to Ohio this week.

Negro Integration Efforts Mount Throughout South

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — More than 1,000 Negro students from Alabama State College marched to the steps of the state Capitol today, sang the national anthem and the Lord's Prayer, then returned to their campus. There were no incidents although several autos filled with whites drove slowly around the building, their horns blowing. The rally appeared to be in defiance of Gov. John Patterson's warning Monday that if Negroes continued to demonstrate in this Deep South capital, "someone is likely to get killed." The South faced one of the most tense, explosive racial situations since the Little Rock, Ark., school integration crisis of 1957. A call for action by Negroes spread throughout the southern states. Arrests, threats of violence and demonstrations by both whites and Negroes mounted steadily. At a rally in Rock Hill, N.C., Negro student Abe Palmer told cheering listeners: "If we fight now, we'll be free by '63." The trial of 76 Negroes and four whites arrested Saturday in a drive for lunch counter desegregation at Nashville, Tenn., resumed in a tense atmosphere. About 2,500 Negroes stood outside the courthouse Monday singing the national anthem and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Other developments included:

Longwood's proposed ice-machine plant was a step closer to reality Monday night. The Longwood Zoning Commission rezoned the 10-acre site proposed for the factory from commercial to light industrial. The land is just off the Sandalwood Springs road, about 150 yards west of the railroad. The rezoning request came from C. E. Lowe and Donald E. Stephens. They said in a letter to the commission that a masonry building will be erected on the site and the business will not cause any noise or smoke. About 50 percent will be on the starting payroll. The commission also raised minimum lot requirements to 6,500 square feet with a minimum width of 55 feet. The minimum lot size has been 5,000 square feet with a 50-foot width minimum. The commission raised minimum sizes for homes built in R-2 and R-3 residential areas. From now on,

Quake, Fire, Tide Wreck African City

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UPI) — Devastating twin earthquakes, a tidal wave and fire struck the sleeping Atlantic port city of Agadir Monday night, and fragmentary reports placed the casualties at anywhere from "hundreds" to thousands. A second earth shock followed quickly, and then flames began to eat through the wreckage of houses and buildings. The coastal radio station at La Paloma in the Canary Islands said it had heard a report from a Moroccan radio saying there were 2,000 dead. The shock crumbled the city's biggest hospital, some of the largest hotels and the chamber of commerce building. The crowded Moslem section of the city was reported 90 per cent destroyed. "It was horrible," sobbed one woman tourist who reached Casablanca after a 360-mile flight north by car. The tidal wave rolled in from the Atlantic shortly after the earthquake and smashed into the seaside edge of the city like a giant fist. Fires broke out in various places throughout the city. Land communications with the stricken city were wiped out and radio channels were filled with calls for help and fragmentary reports of the disaster. The full extent may not be known for days. Morocco is part of the Mediterranean earthquake belt that extends to Greece, up through Italy and into southern France. The Meleus region of Algiers, 500 miles from Agadir, was hit by a quake eight days ago. Forty-seven persons were killed.

The County Commission today voted to suggest that Gov. Collins call a special election to name a District 2 commissioner to fill the unexpired term of David Gatchel. The board authorized Clerk Gatchel to write a letter to the legislative delegation citing the need for the special election to be held concurrently with the May 3 Democratic primary. After the special and regular elections are held, the legislative delegation then will ask Collins to appoint the candidate with the highest vote to the job until Jan. 31, 1961. The election will put a man in the position until Jan. 31, 1962, as two years remain in the term. Candidates on the special election ballot also will be placed on the regular primary ballot. Gatchel read a letter addressed to the board from City Manager Warren Knowles, who said that the Herald carried a misleading headline—Feb. 23 which said "City Leaders Back Van Hoy For County Commission Post." During a meeting of the city board Feb. 22, Van Hoy was mentioned as a possible appointee to the vacant District 2 post. Knowles stressed in his letter that city board members have no intention of backing any candidate for any elective post.

County Commissioner Vernon Dunn said: "I believe that the Sanford city board should confine itself to city activities alone." Chairman John Krider said the board had enough problems of its own and should not get into any row with city officials. "The only solution is for a special election and let the people decide for themselves," Krider emphasized.

Lost Plane Plea Issued By NAS

Sanford NAS officials today appealed for any information that may shed light on the fate of the missing A3D and two airmen who disappeared on a routine mission last Wednesday. A six-day search for the jet has failed to turn up any clue to what happened to the plane or two of its crew. One of its three-man crew parachuted to safety on orders of the plane's commander. NAS officials said the search will continue indefinitely, but the searching force of some 40 aircraft—including helicopters and planes of the Central Florida Civil Air Patrol—and ground searching parties will be reduced gradually as time passes without trace of the aircraft. Capt. Robert W. Slye, commanding officer of NAS, highly praised Central Floridians who have aided in the search which has covered wide areas of Seminole and Volusia counties, including the Daytona New Smyrna Beach coastal section.

Ike Voices Hope For Peace

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — President Nixon's visit to Chile today, he hopes the May summit meeting in Paris with Soviet Premier Khrushchev "will permit at least a partial relaxation of tensions and a modest advance along the road to lasting peace." It was another triumphant day for Eisenhower in his four-nation swing through South America. Cheered and applauded each time he appeared, he responded with a grin and salutes to the crowds. He told Chilean-American groups this morning that the U. S. repudiates dictatorships in any form and reminded critics of U. S. spending policies that his nation pours a billion dollars annually into South America. Then, in an address to a joint session of the Chilean Congress, he expressed his hope for at least some progress toward peace.

Kirchhoff Heads Conner Campaign

Ed Kirchhoff was elected chairman of the Seminole County For-Deys Conner Committee at an organizational meeting of supporters for the candidate for commissioner of agriculture in the May primary. Laurence R. Johnson was named secretary-treasurer for the group. Conner, farmer, rancher and realtor, who was the youngest speaker of the Florida House of Representatives in the history of the state, visited Seminole last week to initiate the organization of his county organization. He is seeking the post being vacated by Nathan Mayo after 27 years.

Rights Bill Foes Lose Test Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed the 24-hour work day on its around-the-clock battle over civil rights. Debate dragged on past noon after sponsors of a raft of civil rights bills reaffirmed overwhelmingly the continuous session called by Democratic and Republican leaders. A test vote on the marathon session was held shortly after dawn. Southerners, fighting the measures with a talkation, were defeated 54-4. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) brought on the test with a motion that the Senate adjourn at 8 p. m. Its defeat represented a vote of confidence for Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen. Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) took over for the southerners, reading the second half of a speech he started last Friday. He charged the "whole burden" of the legislation to school integration in Louisiana, —the —thenceforth —and the voting rights of Negroes. He said racial "inter-marriage" would be the inevitable result.

Construction Set On Bank Drive-In

Construction of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank's drive-in addition will start today or Wednesday. The $70,000 addition will provide three teller enclosures connected by an overhead corridor on the south side of the main bank building. When the drive-in facilities are finished, bank customers driving north on Park Ave. may turn into the bank area, conduct their business with the tellers and drive through onto Second St. The overhead corridor also connects the teller enclosures to the main bank so that employees may remain inside while going from the main bank to the addition. The drive-in addition will remain open during regular banking hours, 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. on week days, with additional drive-in until 8 p. m. hours on Fridays. The addition will be cement block covered with stucco. The bank expects to speed up service by adding the drive-in lanes. The Carroll Daniel Construction Co., Sanford, is contractor for the project.

Geneva Resident Herlong Opponent

D. Milton Ladd of Geneva has announced he will run as a Republican opponent of Congressman Syd Herlong in the Fifth Congressional District. Ladd said today he has qualified and appointed Guy Allen as his campaign treasurer. Herlong has announced for re-election. "I confidently believe that Florida will cast its vote for Vice President Nixon for president and I feel that Nixon as president should have a Republican Congress. I am therefore filing to give the citizens of the Fifth District an opportunity to vote for a Republican." "I believe in a strong two-party system and feel that it is time the people of Florida were given a choice in the selection of their officials," Ladd's announcement said. A native of North Dakota, Ladd was admitted in the Washington, D. C., bar in 1938 and was admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court in 1941. He was appointed to the FBI in 1928 and later was in charge of district offices and became assistant director of the security division of the FBI. He has done liaison work with Congress and top governmental officials for 15 years. Ladd is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Alpha Delta fraternities, Masonic Lodge, Sanford Rotary Club and Elks Lodge.
