Defense Criticism is Rebuked as Unfair

WASHINGTON, July 26.—President Coolidge today rebuked as "unfair" those who have "condemned out of hand, simply through device of misrepresentation, plans of the government for observance of National Defense Day, September 12. He declared that while in full sympathy to prevent war, he did not wish to leave the country unprotected meanwhile.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS BY RADIO TO BOY SCOUTS' MEETING

Chief Executive Points Out Fundamentals of Boy Scoutism in Message Last Night. WASHINGTON, July 26.—Reverence for nature, for law and for God were laid down as the fundamentals of Boy Scoutism and of American institutions by President Coolidge in an address delivered last night at the White House and transmitted by telephone to a farewell meeting in New York for a group of Boy Scouts who sailed today to attend an international gathering of the organization in Copenhagen.

"There was no Boy Scout organization in my boyhood, but every boy who has the privilege of growing up on a farm learns instinctively the three fundamentals of scoutism," the president said. "The first is a reverence for nature. Boys should never lose their love of the fields and the streams, the mountains and the plains, the open places and the forests. That love will be a priceless possession as your years lengthen out. There is new life in the soil for every man. There is healing in the trees for tired minds, and for our overburdened spirits there is strength in the hills, if only we will lift up our eyes. Remember that nature is your great restorer."

"The second is a reverence for law. I am thrilled at the thought of my audience tonight, for I never address boys without thinking that among them is a boy who will lift up his voice and say, 'Somebody there are boys who will be presidents of our fair-roads, presidents of colleges, bankers, owners of splendid farms and useful industries, members of congress, representatives of our people in foreign lands.'

"That is the heritage of the American boy. It was an act of magnificent courage when our ancestors set up a nation wherein any boy may aspire to anything. That great achievement was not wrought without blood and sacrifice. Make firm your resolution to carry on nobly what has been so nobly begun. Let this nation, under your guidance, be a finer nation. Resolve that the sacrifices by which your great opportunities have been purchased on your part, that will give your children even a better chance."

"The third is reverence for God. It is hard to see how a great man can be an atheist. Without the sustaining influence of faith in a divine power we could have little faith in ourselves. We need to feel that behind us is intelligence and love. Doubtfuls do not achieve; skeptics do not contribute; cynics do not create. Faith is the great motive power, and no man realizes his full possibilities unless he has the deep conviction that life is eternally important, and that his work, well done, is part of an unending plan."

"These are not only some of the fundamentals of the teachings of the Boy Scouts, they are the fundamentals of our American institutions. If you will take them to heart, if you will be living examples of them abroad, you will make a great contribution toward a better understanding of our own country, and receive in return a better understanding of other countries, for you will find, exactly what you carry there yourselves. I trust that you can show to your foreign associates in the great Scout movement that you have a deep reverence for the truth, and are determined to live by it; that you wish to protect and cherish your own country and contribute to the well-being, right-thinking, and true living of the whole world."

Fear Expressed Girl Has Been Kidnapped

MIAMI, July 26.—Fear that his daughter, Emma, age 13, a school girl, met foul play or was kidnapped by a passing automobile, was expressed today by T. A. Nelson, carpenter, after an all night search for the child who left home yesterday afternoon of the city and in another section of the city and failed to return. Police and sheriff's deputies are assisting in the search.

Brazilian Federal Forces Wish Exit Civil Population Before Attacking Sao Paulo

Official Communication Says City Must Be Evacuated by Civilians Before It Can Be Attacked With Success. Defeat of Rebels Is Declared easy Matter. Fighting Thus Far Resolves Itself into Warfare in the Trenches—Rebels Stubborn.

BUENOS AIRES, July 26.—Official information received here from Rio de Janeiro explains that the Brazilian federal forces now besieging the insurgents of Sao Paulo are awaiting for the civil population to evacuate the city before undertaking an operation to overcome the rebels. It is asserted that the insurrectionists can easily be defeated when the opportune time arrives.

It is becoming clear from scraps of information reaching here that the fighting between the federal troops and the rebels has resolved itself into trench warfare similar to that on the western front during the European conflict. The advances made by the federal troops are reported in official communications to have been relatively small in regard to distance. This is believed to signify at most the capture of first line trenches only.

The rebels' main defenses are reported to have been constructed under the direction of former Italian and German officers who served in the European war and who have been residing at Sao Paulo. Those defenses are described as most formidable and of a character that would require the heaviest artillery to shatter.

Rebels Well Entrenched. "The rebels are entrenched and well entrenched," the Brazilian federal general, Tito Lobo, is quoted as saying in the course of an interview cabled here from Rio de Janeiro, in which he declares that the government forces did not dare to accept an open combat and that the federal advance was "being effected little by little, methodically and regularly."

Indications are that the federal troops east and north are a considerable distance from Sao Paulo, but in the south have taken some suburbs and are well within bombarding distance of the city. Artillery appears to have been used freely in the past several days and it is feared that the city may have suffered heavily despite the announced purpose of the federal commander to do everything possible to avoid excessive damage.

Reports that more than 70 persons were killed in the Aepollo Theatre in Sao Paulo confirm rumors that the death list in Sao Paulo is rising and indicate that shells have been falling in the center of the city where the theatre is located.

Up until Thursday the rebels had free access to the regions west and northwest of the city by two railroads which had been used for provisioning purposes. It is announced that the occupation by the federal forces of Corocuba which lies 40 miles west of the besieged capital, blocks the railroad in that direction. The troops at this point evidently were brought up from southern Brazil.

Former Business Manager of Herald Dies at Pensacola

Word has been received here of the death of Newton J. Lillard, age 66, veteran newspaperman and business manager of The Herald, at his home in Pensacola at 12:15 o'clock Wednesday morning. He is survived by his wife. Funeral services were held Thursday morning.

It was learned that Mr. Lillard was helpless for a number of months following a paralytic stroke in Andalusia, Fla., last fall. At that time he had purchased newspaper equipment in that city and was preparing to publish a daily paper. He never recovered from the stroke, however, and was unconscious for 10 days before his death.

Hays Says Picture Publicity is Hurtful

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—Exploitation of motion pictures, means of dishonest, untruthful or salacious publicity stories, must cease if the film industry is to free itself of accusations that its national bias is toward fifth, Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers of America, told members of the Wampus, an organization of publicity men, here Friday night.

DEMOCRATS HAVE PRESENTED NEW CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Combination of Democrats With Cousins to Probe Dry Enforcement Brings In New Fireworks. WASHINGTON, July 26.—Democratic members of the special senate committee appointed to investigate the internal revenue bureau effected an unexpected combination Friday with Senator Cousins, Michigan, Republican, who has been occasionally aligned with the La Follette group, and successfully embarked upon a program which is expected to add a new set of fireworks to the approaching presidential campaign.

The enforcement of the prohibition law by Secretary Mellon and the internal revenue bureau will furnish the question to be delved into, and the senatorial inquirers in their work will have the aid of special counsel versed in the intricacies of congressional inquiries. Hearings will begin September 1.

As the first move in the program yesterday, Senators King of Oregon and Jones of New Mexico, Democratic members of the committee, called with Senator Cousins upon Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, chairman of the committee. They told him that their three votes constituted a majority and that they intended to force the resumption of the investigation, at once and with legal aid. Chairman Watson protested, but his third Republican colleague, Senator Ernst of Kentucky, was out of the city, and in the ensuing discussion, the chairman gave notice that he would resign the direction of affairs in view of the new program.

Undoubtedly, the majority proceeded to indicate their purpose to accept the resignation, and to elect Senator Cousins chairman. The committee adjourned until tomorrow morning, when it will meet to ratify its purpose, and then disband while its local staff assembles evidence.

The committee's investigation of the internal revenue bureau, under which prohibition enforcement is conducted, was launched last winter when the full tide of investigation was sweeping through the state. The issues were laid upon a policy which will, in our opinion, give security to the bondholder. If this very simple and obvious fact is borne in mind, it will, I think, be found that most of the questions now under discussion answer themselves.

Arrested Man Says Brother Responsible

COATESVILLE, Pa., July 26.—Benjamin Dohrheimer, Atlantic City real estate dealer, under arrest here today charged with murder of his parents in Lancaster, Pa., 14 years ago, declares his arrest is the result of "spitwork" on the part of his brother, who swore to the warrant. The warrant alleges that the parents were asphyxiated while asleep to obtain possession of a rich estate.

County School Board Accepts Bid Seminole County Bank For Bonds

At the regular session of the County School Board Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock bids were received for bonds to the amount of $20,000 for the Chuluota School District. Of three bids which were received, that of the Seminole County Bank was the highest and the best and was therefore accepted, according to Supt. Lawton. The bid, according to Supt. Lawton, was secured by the bank and secured interest at the time of delivery.

French Won't Submit To Bankers' Demands; Morgan Denies Rumor

New Yorker Says that Bankers not Trying to Force Political Suggestions at Meet. Trip Nothing To Do With Parley. Reiterates Claim That Safeguards Must Be Provided For Loans.

NEW YORK, July 26.—J. P. Morgan, in an official statement issued last night on the eve of his departure for a vacation trip in Europe, stated that American bankers had no desire "to make any political suggestions, much less to attempt to force any political views," in connection with the discussions for a German loan now under way in London.

He reiterated that his trip had nothing to do with the London conference but indicated that if the loan was arranged and his advice as to terms sought, he would be glad to make suggestions for the sale of the bonds in this country. Statements in Full.

"I am sailing for my annual holiday, in accordance with plans made months ago. My trip has nothing to do with the London conference. Our position with reference to the matter now being discussed at that conference is very simple. We have been requested by the allied governments to advise as to what in our opinion are the necessary basis for the sale of German bonds to American investors. In response to that request, we have given our advice. We have no desire, nor is it within our province, to make any political suggestions, much less to attempt to force any political views. We address ourselves solely to the question asked us, and it is for the allied governments to determine whether what we believe to be the conditions of the American investment markets can be met."

Does Without Saying. "It goes without saying that as bankers we should not ask the American investors, in response to bonds unless, and until the same have in their own time, to make any political suggestions, much less to attempt to force any political views. We address ourselves solely to the question asked us, and it is for the allied governments to determine whether what we believe to be the conditions of the American investment markets can be met."

ATLANTA, Ga., July 26.—Ana G. Candler, millionaire founder of the Coca-Cola Company, made a cash settlement of $60,000 on his wife, Mrs. May Little Ragin Candler, prior to bringing his suit for divorce on grounds of cruelty, and she will not contest the case, the Atlanta Journal said Friday.

It is a 2,600-mile jump. He is confident he can negotiate it by winging his way in the high altitudes.

COMMISSIONERS WILL TRANSACT VITAL BUSINESS

Southern Utilities Co. Will Report on Gas Plant Offer To Advertise Bonds.

The meeting of the City Commission on next Monday will be one of the most important in its history, state the various commissioners who point out that vital steps in the growth and the development of Sanford and the community will take place at that time.

In an interview with Mayor Forest Lake this morning it was learned that the offer of the city to the Southern Utilities Company of $100,000 for the local gas plant will be reported upon by a representative of that company at Monday's session. When the offer was made at the last meeting of the commission, A. W. Houston, vice-president and general manager of the utilities company, stated that personally, he would accept the city's offer but that he did not think the company would be willing to sell at that price.

Mr. Lake states that the transaction of the gas plant business is not the only important matter which will be taken up at Monday's session. With the approval already of the City Planning Commission, the Chamber of Commerce and a representative of the Sanford Woman's Club, the City Commission will approve of the plans for the new municipal building that is to be erected here soon, he stated.

After the approval of the plans for the building by the commission, City Attorney George A. DeCotes will be instructed to advertise for the sale of bonds for its erection. It has been learned that Architect E. J. Moulton is now drawing final plans for the building which is a combination of two sets of plans submitted to the City Planning Commission at its last meeting.

French Become More Unyielding Than Ever Toward Giving Up Treaty Rights

Conference Is No Nearer Accord. Americans Believe Dawes Plan Ought Not to be Jeopardized.

LONDON, July 26.—Although the inter-allied conference marked time Friday, there was observable last night an unmistakable hardening in the attitude of all the delegates of the international financiers in formulation of a protocol to launch the Dawes plan.

The French spokesmen in expressing the views of Premier Herriot, were more unyielding than ever toward the surrender of any rights which France enjoys under the treaty of Versailles. In American circles it was stated that the Dawes plan was of such importance that it could not be jeopardized by the relatively unimportant disputes between the bankers and the delegates.

The British continued confident that a compromise would be reached on the question of security for a German loan that will satisfy both the bankers and the French politicians. Among not all the experts—observers and delegates—there is a concerted effort to settle the differences which have beset the parley for weeks and which at times have seemed to threaten the very existence of the conference. Friday afternoon, Frank B. Kellogg, the American ambassador, went so far as to say that the problems of the Dawes plan and their relations to security for the German loan would not necessarily have to be discussed in London. This view, however, is not shared by the other delegations, where it was said the issue the bankers have injected into the proceedings is paramount and that as soon as it is settled the conference can consider its work completed.

Despite the delays which have occurred the atmosphere of the negotiations is described as not pessimistic, but as of "cautious confidence" and "restrained confidence." British officials last night said the technical work of the conference had been completed and that the conferences were ready for their next plenary session Monday at 4 o'clock.

Only three problems remain to be dealt with. The first problem is the all-important one of reconciling the bankers to the conference experts' proposed methods of dealing with German violations of the Dawes plan.

The second is a minor question of railroad control in the Ruhr, and the German representation at the conference. This last problem is expected to be settled promptly on Monday when the judicial committee reports to the delegates on the methods the conference should pursue in informing Germany how the Dawes plan will be instituted.

It is expected Berlin will be requested immediately to send delegates to London, and an arrangement will be made here for their arrival next Tuesday. In settling the first and most important of the three pieces of unfinished business before the delegates, it is increasingly evident that to get support for the $40,000,000 loan Europe's two specialist premiers do not intend to sign dotted lines anywhere the international financiers point their fingers. It is declared it would be politically suicidal for either Premier Herriot of France or Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain to do so.

Their supporters say that therefore the premiers are hesitating as much as possible that the conference should provide better guarantees. Two French financiers are said to be hurrying to London to strengthen M. Herriot's hands. The postponing of these financiers has been one of the suggestions in conference circles that in launching comparatively small loan under the Dawes plan reliance need not be placed on any one international banking group.

To Hear Ourselves As Others Hear Us

That efficient mother who had mirrors placed in every available place in her house in order that her children might grow up, "seeing themselves as others saw them" might have done another big service for her family if she had also had dictaphones installed in order that they might hear themselves as others heard them.

At the table the children of that clever mother had such good views of themselves as they used their knives and forks and chewed their food, they soon learned by observation what mannerisms to avoid. When they went about the house with scowling or sullen faces, they would suddenly meet themselves face-to-face in one of the big mirrors, and change their expressions in quick order. They did not "preen" before the mirrors, either, because that same wise mother showed them how ridiculous and disgusting obvious conceit can be.

As far as training for grace and poise were concerned those mirrors served admirably; and that particular mother having a cultivated voice herself may not have tolerated any other kind among her children. Her work in that direction, however, might have been aided by some sort of machinery that would have permitted the members of her family to hear themselves as others heard them. They never would have "bawled out" a servant after they had once heard their "bawling" voice faithfully reproduced. They never would have "squealed their delight" after they had once heard that "squealing" as it sounds to others' ears. They would not talk "down in their throats" and fail to enunciate clearly, if they could hear the messy sounds that slovenly pronunciation produces. And the harsh, the curt, the unkindly tones that sometimes mar a home would largely be eliminated if the speakers knew how they sounded to other people.

Cultivated voices register "quality" very accurately. And more often than not, the cultivation does not come by conscious effort. Refined families have refined voices sort of handed down from refined forebears. But now and then there are "streaks" of coarseness discernible. Women of seemingly refined taste will wrangle like bar-maids, and men of polished manners will lapse into the voices of muleteers when they are not on guard.

Perhaps more voice and language education is needed in the homes. A dictaphone, or some similar contrivance, might be as useful in the training of children as are the tell-tale mirrors.

This Must Agitate Miami

Those Miami gentlemen who are financing the big race track scheme in their city no doubt see something especially interesting in a recent Brisbane paragraph. The paragraph appeared on this page a week or so ago, and at that time in hundreds of progressive newspapers throughout the United States. Perhaps some of those progressive papers are imported into Miami and the race track promoters had a chance to read the bit of philosophy which must come close home to them. Brisbane said:

Epinard, one of the fastest and most beautiful horses in the world, is here. If, instead of Epinard, the French had sent their four greatest men from the Sorbonne, the four wouldn't have got one-half the free advertising that Epinard will get. It isn't that Epinard descends by strange and marvelous evolution from a little four-toed creature as big as a cat. He is a first class gambling machine. That's what interests. They will tell you, it is "love of the horse" that keeps racing alive. Nevertheless the tracks close, when gambling stops.

Having invested four or five hundred thousand dollars in the story goes, in that race-track enterprise, those Miami gentlemen must read an assertion like Brisbane's with much concern. They cannot, of course, tolerate gambling at their race track. They are gentlemen, for the most part, who have been prominent in movements against the evils in which gambling takes a leading place. And even though they were men personally in favor of the race-track betting and its always-present sidelines, they know that the laws of Florida specifically prohibit gambling.

Summed up, if Brisbane is right, those Miami gentlemen have thrown their money to the four winds. Bona fide gate money, or bona fide concessions for legitimate stands and attractions can never bring them paying dividends on the amount of money they are reputed to be spending in getting that race-track in shape for the winter season.

Possibly, though, some one in Miami who knows the inside of things could explain just how those law-abiding Miami business men intend to get their money back from a race-track operated under Florida laws.

NOISY "DEMONSTRATIONS"

TAMPA TIMES

The custom of "demonstrations" over the nomination of a candidate for president originated with the Republicans away back in 1892. At their convention of that year at Minneapolis, a delegate from Colorado nominated James G. Blaine with such a spontaneous outburst of fervid oratory that it brought down the house, and touched off a demonstration that lasted fifteen minutes. It was an unpremeditated, unorganized, spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm that was without a parallel in political history up to that time. But it did not get the nomination for Blaine—that went to Benjamin Harrison.

ALCOHOL, ENEMY OF EFFICIENCY

ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

It was not only the wisdom of age that led Dr. Charles W. Elliot into the ranks of the prohibitionists. Dr. Elliot was familiar with the results of laboratory tests to show the effect of alcohol on the mind and body, but perhaps the examinations conducted by the United States Army during the World War did more for him and others to clinch the arguments of the laboratory than anything else that has happened in the long investigation of man's reaction to alcohol. In the full light of the country's extreme need for men alert of mind and fit of body, the army tests revealed that alcohol is an enemy of human efficiency. It is facts like these, facts which managers and workers in industry have long known, that the "wet" forces attack in vain with the argument of local option, personal liberty and on down the list of slogans held by those who yearn for drink with a kick. The fight to enforce prohibition often seems discouraging; that fight will win from year to year because young America is, of course, more susceptible to the new evidence about the poison of alcohol and more open-minded than the people of an older generation to new truths and consequent obligations upon the individual.

As Brisbane Sees It

Why Americans win. Women are sensitive. What do we care? Who is Wheeler?

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

IN ENGLAND, on Saturday, the pick of the British and American Olympic teams competed in track events. The meeting was a great success—Americans winning eleven out of fourteen events.

In the first event, 400 yards relay, Americans celebrated by breaking the world's record. That's gratifying to national vanity, but what is the meaning of such a victory, 11 to 37—is it due to climate? There is no doubt that our climate is more stimulating, more "nervous," than that of England.

Is the overwhelming American victory due to the fact that ours is a more thoroughly "mixed" race? That explains it partly. But the real explanation is found in the fact that all Americans are descendants of Europeans that had the courage, energy and ambition to get out of Europe.

Courage, energy and ambition are qualities handed by father and mother to son and daughter, and they are qualities that win races, wars and other things. DR. CHARLES GRAY SHAW, professor of philosophy, says women have more individuality and more morality than men, "in spite of their bobbed hair, short sleeves, cigarettes, canes, etc."

Of course women are better and always have been. That is why men have gradually changed from cave cannibals to flat dwellers. Woman, in her more reserved life and greater privacy, says Dr. Shaw, has developed personality more intense than that of man. Women feel more intensely than men; they resent injustice, cruelty, undeserved suffering with an earnestness unknown to men; and personality is only another name for intensity of feeling.

HOW LITTLE we know, or care, about earth's distant places. The Chu-Kiang has overflowed its banks. We guess that the Chu-Kiang is in China. Streets of the great city of Canton are flooded. The dikes give way, there will be terrible loss of life. The Si-Kiang, Tung-Kiang and Pei-Kiang, which are the west, east and north rivers of that far-off region, cause heavy floods; villages are swept away.

IT ALL MEANS so little to us, as though we read that dikes had given way on the canals of Mars. We're a provincial human race, as yet. Flying machines and a universal language will cure us of that, in 100,000 years or so.

WHEELER, running with LaFollette, insists that he is still a Democrat, and so he is if he chooses to be. Financial newspapers now solemnly read Wheeler out of the Democratic party and LaFollette out of the Republican party because they presume to run and vote independently. Those Tory newspapers did not read the Gold Democrats out of their party when they voted, walked and paid their good money to defeat the Democratic candidate, Bryan. Why?

WHEELER, of Montana, is an interesting American. The son of a village shoemaker, born at Hudson, Mass., the youngest of eight children, he made his way at every step. And having worked to get ahead, fought upward against the copper trust to the senate, he helped other workers.

AS A LAWYER, after graduating from Michigan Law School, he undertook and won "fortiori" hope against the employing companies that had the state in their grip. First he helped send Senator Wainwright to the senate and then went there himself. Between them they have proved that men amount to more than copper in Montana. Both are good men.

THE OLDEST woman "vanity case" has been found by Professor Zussor, Russian archaeologist, in the tomb of a Greek woman buried 2,400 years ago with tufts of false hair, silver bracelets, etc. He found a bag with a rouge stick for the lips and a pencil for eyebrows. But 800 B. C. is not ancient for such a find. Ten thousand years earlier, women were smearing their faces with red clay and staining their front teeth black.

IT DOES NOT mean that women have always been foolish, but that men, Heaven knows why, have foolishly preferred women with something artificial about them. It is hard to understand, but, of course, there is Divine wisdom back of it. Vanity is one of the evils that have driven us ahead and men with their changing fashions are accomplishing some important work in psychic evolution, although we don't know what it is.

NATIONAL officers and general chairman representing 300,000 members of the railroad shippers' union declare for LaFollette at a meeting in Detroit. That is one group that McAdoo would have had. Railroad men would have been with him at least 89 per cent.

DR. BACKLUND, president of the American Chemical Society, says chemistry is at war against waste, disease, poverty, narrowness. That is a big fight, but the statement is no exaggeration. At the beginning of this century chemists believed that they knew about all there was to know in chemistry. They know today that more has been learned in the last 24 years than in the preceding 2,400 years, and that knowledge is just beginning.

THERE ARE TOO MANY CRACKS IN OUR GRANARY

AMERICA IN LONDON

NEW YORK WORLD

Mr. Hughes still finds it necessary to talk as if the American Government were not taking part in the London Conference. As a matter of plain fact, the Government is at the conference in full force.

The American Secretary of State in London pretending for Hiram Johnson's sake that it is an unofficial visit, but in reality he is conferring with the European leaders in private and is backing the Dawes plan in effectively public speeches. Mr. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury, is also in London, and any one who thinks he is studying the tomb in Westminster Abbey is probably entitled to guess again.

The American Ambassador to London, Col. Logan, who has lived with reparations since the treaty was signed; Owen Young, who negotiated so large a part of the Dawes plan; and Mr. Belmont of J. P. Morgan's are all in London and all are active in the conference. Everybody is there, in fact, who is needed to make up an effective American delegation.

This is as it should be, and we have no desire to dwell now upon the clever way in which the Administration mobilized secretly for participation in this highly important conference. If Mr. Coolidge finds it necessary to do the right thing by subterfuge, we can at least be glad he is doing it.

The Americans in London hold one of the keys to the European settlement. They alone can produce the money to set the Dawes plan in operation. Without the $200,000,000 loan to Germany the plan cannot be started, and if the plan is not started the prospects for Germany are a new economic crisis, and for France no reparations payments whatever and another failure of the franc.

Everything, therefore, depends upon the loan. But of course neither Mr. Hughes nor Mr. Lamont, nor any one else at the conference has the money to make the loan. The money for it will have to be raised by the sale of German bonds to British and American investors. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the British bankers would not and could not and should not attempt to sell German bonds which are not a safe investment. At London, therefore, the British and the Americans unite in insisting that the solvency of Germany should be guaranteed against French military invasions.

M. Herriot, under the pressure of the Poincare groups at home, is afraid to give this guarantee. He is struggling to obtain the loan without surrendering France's right to reinstate the Ruhr. This is the fundamental issue at London. The French position is that Germany will not be willing to pay after several years have passed unless the French army is there to collect. The British-American position is that Germany will not be able to pay if the French army can march where it pleases. This is the old dilemma which has beset every attempt at settlement since the armistice: a Germany strong enough to pay would be strong enough to refuse to pay; a Germany weak enough to be made to pay for a generation would be too poor to pay very much.

The issue cannot be settled finally so long as the French continue to expect enormous payments for an indefinite period of time. Reasonable people in France, elsewhere, have long since ceased to expect them. What people with a true sense of international politics are really working for today, once all pretenses and face-savers are laid aside, is an arrangement by which France and Germany can live for ten years or so. Such an arrangement involves lending money to both of them in the hope that time and the development of common sense will take care of the rest. Only politicians on the stump still pretend to think that one nation will pay tribute to another for fifty years.

Everybody in London knows this, M. Herriot included. But he cannot admit it, and because he cannot admit it somebody will either have to invent a formula to save his face or France will have to give up the benefits of the German loan. TRUTHFUL ADVERTISEMENTS PALM BEACH POST

For many long years advertisers did not see the necessity of sticking too closely to the truth in the space they used. There were numerous tricks used and many unethical methods practiced. Finally men who operated magazines and newspapers began to refuse advertising that apparently did not conform to the principles of truth and honesty, and today it is almost impossible for any advertiser not holding to the truth to procure space in reputable publications. Legitimate advertisements, together with legitimate publications, however, just about have run out of business the dishonest advertiser and the dishonest publication.

Just how important truth is in advertising was shown at the recent meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in London, Spain which came this declaration: "Every dollar spent for advertising space adds to the necessity for exactness of statement and integrity of product."

That is, if advertising is to be true sales aid and business stimulant, it must be truthful. The public must have faith in it, and faith can be maintained only by turning out goods that fulfill the promises of the ads.

Even the cynical consumer, annoyed by the multiplicity of ads and addicted to taking their glowing statements with a grain of salt, must admit that on the whole, honesty in advertising is becoming the universal rule. There are still a few cheaters and fakers in the imperfect world, and some of them advertise their wares with unblushing misrepresentation, but they are exceptional. Their words rarely appear in reputable magazines and newspapers and then only through mischance. Rejoicing over these things, one cannot help hoping that good taste will follow honest advertising, and that the day will arrive when all the dishonest advertisers will follow the example of a few large concerns and remove their wares with a clean conscience from the face of the marketplace. Honesty is quite as desirable as honesty.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

FORT MYERS PRESS

What a rosy hue remembrance casts about the past. How pleasant appear the "good old days" when old cronies got together. Remember the old swimming hole back on that farm in Kansas? Big and broad, and attractive as it seemed in youth, how it does grow in retrospect. The real truth about the "good old days" probably is that they never existed as we picture them. Go back to the swimming hole after luxuriating in the waters of a Florida beach, and it will surprise you how small and dry it looks. The eye turned toward the future sees more accurately. We live in the present and hope for the future. It is just as well to leave the past alone, except when one of the "old gals" comes along. Then, "oh it will grow on you like a fish story!"

DAN DOBBS

Even if all the world the best way to act is to lead to the treasury. Fools rush in where fear to wad. Some men look so give themselves away. From the low pay salvation is almost free.

The best thing about a pillow is it is in the second-hand store. Making a fool of a woman is where the fun is. Those rising by alms are able to fall.

Walking isn't as good as riding in second-hand. Butchers don't have making ends meet. Wish it took as long money as it does to earn. Love may be blind, but an expensive cure.

Isn't it strange how picks on married men? The school of expense open all night. Many a man's woman is formed by misker.

If you don't get a summer you will be last year's by next year. Which daughter comes with red hands, she has 'ing' her face, not a mprder.

"How does he do it?"

"He earns no more than I do, but he had money enough to buy that house." (They didn't know that their friend paid for his home with money he had saved.) A fund for a home can be accumulated in a few years by opening an Interest Account, with us and depositing a small amount every week.

FILM REVEALS TRUTH IN FALL OF CARPENTIER

Motion Pictures of Fight Show Decisively that Tunney's Blow Was Not a Foul—Des Champs Says Blow Was From Knee, Not the Gloved Hand—Carpentier Will Not Pack Up and Leave the United States

NEW YORK, July 26.—Motion pictures of the Carpentier-Tunney match of Thursday night reveal that the blow which felled the Frenchman in the fourteenth round was not foul. Many ringside spectators had declared the blow to have been below the belt.

Carpentier and Tunney, with their managers, Francois Des Champs and Billy Gibson and Jack Curley, Carpentier's friend and adviser, attended a public showing of the films at a Broadway theater this afternoon after which Des Champs gave out the following statement:

"A mistaken impression prevails over the blow which knocked Carpentier to the rosined floor of the ring in writhing pain. It was not Tunney's gloved fist that committed the alleged foul blow; it was Tunney's knee.

"We are making this assertion merely to give our side of the battle with no intention of registering any complaint against any of the officials of the public. We are both satisfied that the referee was fair and honest, meant us no harm, and we are satisfied to abide by his decision. In conclusion, we hope for a return match with Tunney, and feel confident if allowed another chance we can reverse the decision."

Despite promises made by Carpentier before the fight that if he lost to Tunney he would hang up his gloves for good and all, there is every indication that he will continue to engage in ring activities. He is scheduled to meet Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo August 4, but neither Des Champs nor Carpentier himself would venture an opinion Friday as to his future plans, preferring to wait until he has recuperated from the beating he took at Tunney's hands.

Carpentier Friday was a sorry looking spectacle. His head was swollen and his eyes were rimmed with blue and black bruises. Carpentier said he probably would go back to Great Neck, Long Island, and spend a few days at Jack Curley's home resting up, after which he would sail for France unless he decides to fill other engagements already booked.

Tunney Friday emphatically denied that the crucial blow in the fourteenth round, the final blow of the contest, was foul. "It was an uppercut to the pit of the stomach," said Tunney. "I had been laying for the blow all through the fight," added Gene. "It's a dangerous one to use against a man with a straight right such as Carpentier depends on. I told the blow first in the second round and was promptly mailed with a terrific overhand right to the chin. But in the fourteenth round I was very tired and finally left the opening I was looking for and I took advantage of it."

Cologne Demolishes Walls to Make Fields
COLOGNE, Germany, July 26.—Some of the ancient walls of Cologne, which date back to the days of the Romans, are to give way to modern sport fields which are provided for in the city's plans for expansion as announced recently by Dr. Max Adenauer, chief burgomaster. A great sports stadium, built chiefly by men classed as among the "unemployed," has already been completed, and fifty football fields, golf links, and space for other games have been provided for in the rearrangement of the districts on the edge of this ancient city.

Preliminary steps have been taken to encircle Cologne with a great green strip some 25 miles in length and averaging five-eighths of a mile in width. It is within this strip that space will be left for sport grounds of various kinds.

GAS FOR CUBAN SOLDIERS
HAVANA, July 26.—Orders have been approved for the Cuban army to receive instruction in gas attacks, especially in the use of tear gas, according to an announcement made by the secretary of war. German Inhabitants Hike in Bathing Suits
GORLAR, Germany, July 26.—Inhabitants of the beautiful Hars region are accustomed to seeing tourists in all sorts of exotic garb, but they think it's going a bit too far when hikers now come through clad in nothing but bathing trunks and the inevitable knapsack. Numerous complaints have reached the Hars police, demanding that this nuisance be stopped.

DEMONSTRATION AGENT STATES IS EXTREMELY BUSY

Called to Telephone at Daylight to Advise About Canning—Many Farmers Are Now Canning Vegetables.

TALLAHASSEE, July 26.—"These are the days that I'm called to the telephone at daylight to advise about canning."

This declared Miss Siprell, home demonstration agent for Putnam county in her monthly report for June to home demonstration headquarters here.

The experiences of other agents are not unlike those of the Putnam county leader, according to the descriptions they report of canning activities in many other sections.

Many of the farmers who have lost in shipping are canning for market, reports Miss McFerron, of Marion county. They have ordered a number of sealers and divers to expedite the work. In Lee county the girls are taking a great interest in the canning that was started trying for a good price at the fairs in the winter.

Surprising results have been shown in the Oak Hill section of Volusia county, says the report of Miss Cole, who says that much interest is also shown in the work at Osteen.

From Citrus county, Mrs. Moore reported: "Many people are canning now. I started one man with canning and he has canned 500 No. 3 cans of tomatoes, soup mixture and tomato and okra. Some are canning on halves and some for a commission. I have given 17 demonstrations in canning. Chili sauce soup mixture, canned tomatoes and green tomato pickles have been the main demictions."

Columbia county (Mrs. Warren): "Evelyn Brinkley learned to can at the State Short Course in Tallahassee and has canned 30 quarts of vegetables and fruits since she returned home."

Volusia county (Miss Pickens): "Ten bushels of tomatoes from Mr. Mobley's field were brought in and divided between the Glenwood and Barberville girls' clubs. Relishes, pickles, and mincemeat were made. In addition the Glenwood girls made Dixie relish. The two Glenwood girls did such fine work that we have their nineteen containers on exhibition in their community."

Gainesville to Vote on Improvement Bonds
GAINESVILLE, July 26.—City Council has authorized the calling of a bond election to pass on an issue of $366,000 for civic improvements to take the place of the bonds voted last year and which was declared by the city attorney and a New York bond expert to be invalid. Projects incorporated in the proposed issue will be voted on separately and include: Hospital, $50,000; erection or acquisition of a municipal building, $60,000; street paving, $102,000; water works, $38,000; sewerage system, $63,000.

Tourists Are Fooled By Painted Sparrows
FUNCHAL, Madeira, July 26.—Canary birds are much sought by tourists on the various liners which stop at this crossroads of the ocean. Bird-dealers rush to greet incoming steamers and do a thriving business.

But tourists recently have found that many of the canaries chased here began, after a few days, to fade. They were sparrows which had been painted a bright yellow. Disgusted purchasers reported the frauds to their consuls in Funchal, and crews of the passenger steamers now warn passengers to look out for hand-made canaries.

Say Boy Scout Camp at Silver Lake Proved Best in History of Council

When the Boy Scout Camp at Silver Lake closed last Saturday afternoon, it was the consensus of opinion that it had been by far the most successful outing scouts have had since the organization of the council all three years ago. The officers and members of Central Florida Council did everything—in their power—to make the camp a success. In fact they overlooked no detail. It is said, that "safety" to all the scouts.

Each department was well-organized and headed by competent leadership throughout the time of the camp. Only one boy reported at camp he could not swim, but when the Life Saving Squad got going, you would have thought he was a duck. The eats were all that could be desired. It was learned that many of the boys would have eaten themselves sick had they been permitted to do so.

The morale of the camp never reached a higher standard than at this season. Less sickness was reported than at any previous outing. For a day or two, the first aid tents did a land office business in patching up scratches, cuts and stings. The scouts in the camps heretofore have shown more or less of a deficit. The scouts have been promised a 40-acre tract for a permanent camp and they are all looking forward to one month's work under adult supervision for next year. The officers of the council wish to thank all the merchants and individuals who contributed to the success of the camp, assuring them of their full appreciation of what has been done for the boys.
