TERMINAL WHOLESALE MARKETS WILL REDUCE HIGH COST OF LIVING

And Make It Easier For Farmer To Sell His Stuff ONE IN ATLANTA

AND SAVES INTERMEDIATE HAULING AND COLD STORAGE OF LONG HAULS.

Commodoring the Manufacturers' Record for its stand on the question of increased food production, and advocating the suspension of the Chinese Exclusion Act in order that the farmers, especially of the South, can secure a more liberal market for their products, the Manufacturers' Record has issued a pamphlet in which it advocates the establishment of terminal wholesale markets similar to those operating at Los Angeles and Atlanta, and under the plans proposed for terminal markets at Indianapolis, Memphis and Washington, D. C. The Bureau of Markets of the Department of Commerce endorses the establishment of terminal markets as a means of holding down the cost of food distribution, and recommends the establishment of such terminals in cities of 100,000 or more.

The Bureau's outline of the project is as follows:

The idea of a terminal food market is simple. Under the plan which it involves, all wholesaler houses are built in a locality which is convenient to all transportation lines. It is not necessary, or even desirable, to have them in the heart of the city, where land values are high. The incoming cargo of food is unloaded directly from the car or boat into a wholesale house and is taken away by retail trucks or wagon from the other side of the house.

There is no intermediate hauling or cartage. Cold-storage plants and packing rooms are also a part of a terminal food market. This system of food distribution eliminates the carting of cars. Under present conditions, unloading is often a matter of every week in the year. The carting of perishable products to the place where the wholesaler is located inside the railroad yards.

A well-planned city terminal food market has adequate truckage, storage and platforms which facilitate unloading of cars and prevent congestion inside and outside the yards. Quick release of cars is important if crops are to be moved to market. Furthermore, the terminal food market, by simplifying the carting of produce, concentrates the work of the wholesaler, and the work of the retailer, into one place, and becomes easier.

The biggest saving in money, however, comes in lessened cartage and handling and deterioration of the food. Where the wholesale district of a city is remote from transportation lines, the cartage of the food products to the freight house to the wholesaler amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. All of this is added to the bill the consumer pays. This includes the cost of the cartage of the trucks and wagons which carry the goods to the men who buy and unload them and drive.

Cartage costs must also be added to the losses caused by the deterioration of the food products during the long hauls. The fluctuations of temperature can cause considerable damage to perishable products in a short trip. The cost of the food which spoils in transportation is added to the cost of the food which is available when it reaches the consumer, and the price the consumer pays goes up another notch.

Farmers who ship on a consignment basis are able to get their returns quicker under a terminal system than they can where the wholesale district is scattered.

Mr. Loftin thinks that the best way of establishing these terminal markets is by organization of a private corporation managed on strictly business principles, with reasonable regulation and inspection by municipal authorities. The Farmers and Truck Growers' Terminal Market, now being organized at Indianapolis under the laws of the State of Indiana, will have a capital stock of $375,000 common and $375,000 preferred. The benefits to be derived from such an organization are stated by Mr. Loftin as follows:

"Farm organization naturally say through their spokesmen that if marketing conditions do not improve in such manner as to afford farmers fair profits, they must curtail production. Establishment of the wholesale terminals will save thousands of acres of high priced lands, now earning only a small per cent from grains and pasture, to be planted in truck crops, with returns intensified. As commissions earned by the company will be proportional to prices obtained for farmer patrons, shippers can rest assured of continued fair treatment. The immense volume of business will increase the amount of foodstuffs marketed. Costs of groceries, thence to consumers, will be greatly reduced."

"This is not a mere local enterprise. Large shipments have been promised from all over the country. One of the agricultural associations on the Gulf Coast promises enough to supply the market in season with Southern fruits, vegetables and other produce. One of the traction lines has agreed to put on an extra special produce train. Surrounding smaller cities, as well as Indianapolis, will afford consuming markets. Grocers from these will buy from the wholesale terminal market to save costs. Operation in Indianapolis will naturally be followed by similar establishments in other cities. Competent authorities say it will mean the end of food profiteering in the United States."

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION

WILL MEET IN FLORIDA NEXT YEAR AND MAKE TOUR OF STATE.

Dispatches from Boston to the Miami Metropolis last Friday stated that Miami had been selected as the place for holding the 1921 convention of the National Editorial Association.

Messages received in Bradenton on the same date from Mr. G. E. Hosmer, editor of the Manatee River Journal, who is attending the meeting of the association being held in Boston, stated that the editors would come to Florida next year.

Mr. Hosmer is due the credit for bringing this great convention to Florida, as it was he who first suggested the idea, and he has worked for the past several weeks in the interest of the plan, securing the cooperation of the Florida Development Board, a number of boards of trade, and D. C. Gillett, of Tampa.

Mr. Hosmer's plan, as outlined here, is to bring to Boston to attend the convention, was to bring the editors into the state by way of Pensacola where they would stop for a day or more and hold part of the meeting. Then on to Jacksonville, where another meeting would be held; then on to Tampa and Miami, holding sessions in each of the four principal cities, and taking side-tripping trips out into the surrounding territory of each section. It is also a part of the plan for the trip to be made by auto wherever possible, thereby giving the visiting editors a chance to see as much as possible of the state.

The plans for the present convention include a trip through Canada, and it is the desire to make the trip to Florida next year fully as interesting as the trip through Canada this year will be.

It is hoped that this nationally representative body of men will be given the opportunity to visit Sanford next year while motorizing from Tampa to Jacksonville.

Mr. Hosmer will accompany the party of editors on the trip through

Report of Methodist District Conference

ORLANDO DISTRICT FLORIDA CONFERENCE CONVENE AT SANFORD, JUNE 9TH 1920 AT 9 A. M. DR. J. P. HILBURN, PRESIDENT.

Preparatory sermon was delivered on Tuesday evening June 8th by Rev. W. F. Jones of Winter Haven, a very able and inspiring address, listened to by a large audience with closest interest.

An opening of Conference Wednesday morning the first address was selection of secretary, Bro. C. E. Gutteridge had served in that position so very acceptably that the brethren were loath to make a change but at his earnest request they elected another and Bro. K. Hollister was elected secretary with Bro. H. C. Hardin as assistant.

Business was then dispatched with the smoothness of a well built machine.

The devotional services were very inspiring and helpful to all who attended.

Dr. Hilburn is a great spiritual leader. The delegates lay and clerical were all cared for and entertained by the congregation of the Sanford church and with that open hearted and generous hospitality for which Sanford is noted.

Our church received a great blessing and inspiration from the visit of these splendid men and women who assembled here. We were surely well repaid for our hospitality for they left praising Sanford and Sanford folks.

The Conference was addressed by our Missionary secretary, Rev. S. Patterson on subject of Centenary forward movement. A very impressive address.

The Conference was addressed by our beloved and revered Bro. B. K. Thrower in the interest of the aged and retired preachers, a subject close to his heart so close that he can make every heart thrill for these aged heroes. We are always glad and our hearts are pulsing with joy when Bro. Thrower is around.

The Conference was entertained in a very interesting and pleasing manner by Bro. C. E. Howard secretary of Orphanage board. He showed a fine list of pictures relative to our orphanage at Enterprise. Mr. Howard is an enthusiastic and able worker for that institution and his serene work and lectures made a deep and lasting impression on all present.

Other notable attending conference adding to our pleasure were Mrs. J. P. Hilburn of Orlando, wife of our beloved and honored Presiding Elder; Mrs. W. A. Cooper of Orlando, wife of Dr. Cooper, tabernacle pastor of first M. E. Church, South Orlando; Miss E. S. Switzer District secretary of W. M. M. Society; and a great number of other ladies, all of whom were a great help and interest throughout the conference in the place and inspiration of the ladies of our church.

The following members and delegates attended: Dr. J. P. Hilburn, Orlando; Rev. B. K. Thrower, Tampa; Rev. R. F. Hodnett, Kissimmee; Dr. I. S. Patterson, Tampa; Rev. Alan MacFarlan, Hawthorne; Rev. W. F. Jones, Winter Haven; Rev. G. W. Stubbs, Oakland; Rev. W. J. Bartlett, Grant Island; Rev. A. M. Daiger, Umattilla; Rev. W. A. Fisher, Avon Park; Rev. K. Hollister, Frostproof; Rev. E. G. Cooper, Orlando; Rev. J. J. Thompson, Marlinton; Rev. L. E. Wright, Oakley; Rev. Geo. E. Sumners, Webster; Rev. F. M. C. Smith, Apopka; Rev. G. P. York, Monroeville.

Lay Delegates: Mrs. Alan MacFarlan, Hawthorne; W. A. Lowden, Seville; Mrs. A. A. Miller, Francis; Wm. R. Smith, Barberville; Inez Morrison, Barberville; J. E. South, Montverde; Sam South, Montverde; Mrs. J. T. Hardin, Montverde; Neal Smith, Montverde; Gen. V. De Vault, Umattilla; G. F. B. Hannah Sr., Umattilla; Mrs. K. Hollister, Frostproof; Miss Johanna Drew, Frostproof; Mrs. C. F.

Canada and expects to return to the state in time to attend the annual meeting of the Florida State Press Association, which is to be held in Pensacola, June 17, 18, and 19.

Gutteridge, Haines City; J. E. Hutchinson, Haines City; A. T. Pattillo, DeLand; C. W. Stout, DeLand; J. J. Anderson, Apopka; Mrs. J. J. Anderson, Apopka; Mable Anderson, Apopka; Howard Anderson, Apopka; Raymond Anderson, Apopka; Miss Mary Ends, Apopka; Miss Katherine Ends, Apopka; W. P. Carter, Oviedo; I. E. Jordan, Oviedo; M. M. Lord, Ebnazer; J. M. Lord, Ebnazer; Mrs. I. M. Lord, Ebnazer; Mrs. Humphries, Ebnazer; Miss Min. Tucker, Enterprise; Mrs. H. G. Brooks, Enterprise; J. Z. Kizer, Mims; Mrs. Keyzer, Mims; Mrs. Britton, Mims; Annie Kizer, Mims; Earl Roll, Mims; Mrs. J. P. Phelps, Webster; S. S. Watkins, Webster; Kerman Watkins, Webster; C. I. Sainsbury, Winter Haven; Mrs. C. I. Sainsbury, Winter Haven; C. W. Bayless, Grand Island; Miss Elizabeth Booth, Tavares; Mrs. D. G. Gardner, Tavares; H. H. L. L. Orlando; D. H. M. Orlando; Miss Sable Moore, Orlando; C. C. Hamer, Bosteen; Mr. H. C. Thowser, Ocoee.

Called To Rest. In the early part of Wednesday morning, Mrs. W. F. Jones, of Winter Haven, died at her home in that city. She was 60 years of age and had been ill for several weeks.

Removal of the body of Mrs. Jones was made to St. Stephen's, and only a few minutes after the death of Mrs. Jones, all of whom were in the community and prominent throughout the Florida peninsula, called to rest in the home of a gracious young woman, Mrs. Jones, who had been in the community for many years and who had been a great help and inspiration to all who knew her. Her death was a great loss to the community and her funeral was held at St. Stephen's church, on Wednesday afternoon, June 10th, at 2 o'clock. The funeral was a most impressive one and was attended by a large number of friends.

Alma Evelyn Phillips was born in Sanford, March 1884 and was the only child of Mr. A. P. Phillips and of his first wife, Eugenia Rose Phillips of Tallahassee. She was married to Mr. Stephen O. Shindler, June 14th 1906, the day before she met the fourth anniversary of their wedding. Besides her husband and father and mother, the present Mrs. Phillips, she leaves four young children, Clifford, Stephen, Antonette and Edwin and several other relatives to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Shindler was a devoted member of the Methodist church, and was a member of the Sunday School and also a member of the Women's Club. All of these homes were largely represented at the funeral which took place from the Methodist church, Thursday morning at ten o'clock, her well loved pastor, Dr. S. W. Walker officiating, assisted by Dr. C. B. Brewer of the Congregational Church. The choir composed of Mrs. Claude H. Bennett, Mrs. W. A. Morgan, Mrs. Geo. Fox and Messrs. J. B. Parker and Joe Harold rendered most beautifully "Abide With Me" and "I'll Sing 'Till I'm Dead". At the grave they sang "Nearer My God To Thee". The grave was a lovely one. Flowers by the highest floral offerings in many beautiful arrangements, the loving tribute of friends.

A tender wife, mother and daughter, Mrs. Shindler was a very capable and successful business woman, and her death is a great loss to her family and to the community. Her funeral was a most impressive one and was attended by a large number of friends.

Active pall-bearers were: L. P. Hagan, T. F. Adams, B. E. Squire, O. J. Popr, Sam Bradford Ed Putnam. Interment was in Lake View cemetery conducted by F. L. Miller.

FLORIDA'S SUMMERS SHOULD BE ADVERTISED THROUGHOUT THE NORTH

Death of Mrs. Patricia. Mrs. Patricia Patten, of this city, died Sunday at the hospital after an illness of only a few days. She was stricken suddenly about a week ago at her home and it was several days before she was discovered, during which time she was in a semi-comatose condition. She was removed to the hospital where she was given the best of attention but it was known from the first that there was no hope for her recovery.

The deceased has been a resident of Sanford for several years and is well known here. Her husband resides in Lake View. Her death occurred Monday morning, Dr. Hagan officiating.

Remodeling Store. The J. M. Dresser Shop, 214 East First street has found it necessary to enlarge its store room to meet the exigencies of its growing trade. These alterations are completed in the fore part of the store, which will be ready for occupancy in ten days. Announcement of this sale you will find on page 12 of this issue.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ryan in Sanford. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ryan and family have arrived from Lake City and will reside in the home recently bought and renovated by Mr. Ernest Betts, which was formerly the Peabody home. Mr. Ryan is the newly installed City Manager. Mrs. Ryan is a sister of Mr. Geo. Lyman. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan who are being warmly welcomed here, will be an acquisition in the city.

REDUCE PRICE OF SUGAR BY GROWING

THIS STATE COULD RAISE ENOUGH TO SUPPLY THE UNITED STATES.

The interest aroused in the development of a big cane syrup and sugar industry in Florida first attracted outside capital and already millions of dollars have been invested in Florida lands for the purpose of raising sugar cane and manufacturing pure cane syrup and granulated sugar. In at least four instances work has been done in the development of these lands, and cane has been planted this year on them to the extent of several hundred acres. This cane to be used as seed cane to form the supply for large syrup and sugar factories next year and the year following.

Florida financiers and capitalists have been a bit slow to see the wonderful opportunities in the manufacture of syrup that is selling at $1.50 a gallon and sugar that is selling at 22 1/2 cents a pound whole-ale, but they are waking up to the possibilities of making fortunes in this line of endeavor and within the past three months at least fifty bankers and big business men and capitalists who have made most of their money in Florida, have invested in syrup and sugar companies that are being formed in the state.

In Jacksonville there are at least three organizations in operation. In one of these there are over twenty stockholders, with all of the capital stock taken and among these stockholders are the presidents of five of the leading banks in that city and a number of the largest property owners in the state as well as leading business and professional men. In another company is the president of one bank, the vice president of another bank, and a number of prominent business men. In the other company several of the most successful manufacturers in Florida are interested.

Miami bankers and big business men are interested in two big sugar

One Of States Greatest Talking Points GET SUMMER RATES

AND BRING PEOPLE HERE TO ENJOY FLORIDA'S ALL YEAR CLIMATE.

It is not too early for the Board of Trade and the people of this section generally to start advertising Sanford for the winter season but advertise now for the summer season. The City Line several years ago ran excursions from New York to Sanford and there were hundreds of people that took advantage of the cheap rates to visit this state. These were business men and people who would leave their work to visit Florida in the later and they proved to be the best advertisement for Florida they visited here in the middle of summer and found it cooler than their own homes in the north east. James Polk of the State Marketing Bureau of Jacksonville writing for the Times-Union gave the following salient facts about Florida's summer climate and they should be spread broadcast over the north:

"No citizen can go to Europe now without a passport and good reasons must be given to get one. The visitor is questioned at every part of departure, at every frontier, and at every railroad station his baggage is examined and he must officially register himself at police station, wherever he stops. He must pay a fee every time his passport is examined. Fee takers start visitors in the face at every turn, not to speak of tips on every side. The language is different every few miles. Foreign money is at a great discount and even experts find it difficult to avoid being held up. Red tape binds every movement. It is not likely that passports and foreign restrictions will be relaxed for a long time to come. Amid this situation in connection with the near approach of the time when the palm leaf and electric fans are busy in American cities of the money belt of the East, clear through the real belt of the West, there is very little hope for the weary except to come to Florida. To all such, a most conservative and reliable journal, The Christian Science Monitor, offers the following comforting facts:

"The progressive people of Florida have awakened to the fact that they have a delightful summer as well as a delightful winter climate to offer to the people of the state and provinces to the north. Visitors who have spent the summer months in the beautiful southern peninsula, the Italy of America, have been reporting complete satisfaction with the experience for the years past. Every year more tourists from the North have taken up summer residence in the winter resorts of Florida. As they have returned home word they have told hotel keepers in Tampa, Jacksonville, or in Tallahassee what a splendid summer they have spent in Orlando, Sanford, or St. Petersburg or St. Augustine, or West Palm Beach, or Daytona, or Miami, or Clearwater, DeLand, or Kissimmee or Lakeland, or Punta Gorda, or Key West, but only recently have the hotel keepers and others grasped the possibilities that such testimonials opened up.

"Those familiar with the tropics and sub-tropics will tell you that the air in these climates is always cool in the shade. This is particularly true of Florida, which caters to the air currents from the Atlantic as well as those from the Gulf of Mexico. As a matter of fact, breezes from the ocean and Gulf cool every part of Florida, and the temperature on an average is ten degrees lower than it is through the more northern states and the central states."

To hear bird voices in the tall trees, the roaring of ocean billows, to escape days without sunstroke and enjoy nights in refreshing sleep, to see the glory of exuberant sunsets.

Military Units To Meet At Re-Union
Tampa, Fla., June 11.—One of the biggest features of the first annual re-union of the American Legion of Florida in Tampa June 21 and 22 will be the bringing together of all ex-service men from this State who fought in the different Divisions of the U. S. Army during the World War. Permanent organizations of former members of these Divisions will be formed and arrangements made to bring these men together at each re-union.

Only headquarters for the 31st, 81st and 82nd Divisions and the Navy have been designated at it would be impossible to have headquarters for every unit in the service. However, most of the men from Florida served in these organizations. The following designations of Divisional headquarters for the re-union have been made:

- 31st Div. Hillsboro Hotel; Morris H. Jackson in charge.
- 81st Div. Bayview Hotel; William H. Jackson in charge.
- 82nd Div. De Soto Hotel; William H. H. Hammond in charge.
- Navy 9 Y. M. C. A.; Bernie Brochardt in charge.

London.—Since the inauguration of the national scheme for the employment of disabled men last September 9,500 firms have given necessary undertaking to employ an agreed percentage of disabled men on their staffs.

The quota is generally 5 per cent and employment has been guaranteed for 50,000. There are still 10,000 disabled men waiting for work and the hospitals have many more to dis-charge.

Men who have lost a leg are working as clerks, cabinet-makers, toy makers, weavers, etc., and men with only one arm are acting as messengers, watchmen, postmen, inspectors and teachers.

NOT AN ARMENIAN NEED

The mandate most strongly urged on the United States, that for Armenia, is opposed by former Ambassador Gerard. He says that one very practical form of government aid would be to open a route from the Black Sea and to send in over this route food and clothing to meet the needs of the near future. But the work of insuring safe communication might be done by a force of marines, who could be withdrawn after a short time. In his view, what Armenia requires is formal recognition by the great powers as an independent nation, permission to form an army of her own of about 20,000 men and such other assistance in the way of credit as may be supplied from private sources. "The Armenians do not want to be nursed," Mr. Gerard wrote the senate. "The very fact that they do not want to be nursed is an excellent guarantee of creditable national achievement in the future." "Nursing" only impairs the sense of responsibility and incubates a feeling that whatever the difficulties they involve themselves in they have only to call on someone else to extricate them, says St. Louis Post-Dispatch. If the Armenians, after centuries of racial existence, cannot work out their own salvation, now that they are freed from oppression and given their chance under the normal support of the world, when will they be able to assume a self-respecting position?

ELDER SPRINGS WATER

THOMAS D. BAKER, Ph. D.

Analytical and Consulting Chemist - Professional of Natural Science Emeritus, Rollins College, Florida

Mr. T. O. Charles Sanford, Fla.
Dear Sir:

I have completed careful chemical analysis of the sample of water that you brought me early last week. and have obtained the following results:

Color	Clear	Chlorine	1.25 parts per million
Reaction	Neutral	Total solids	8.00 parts per million
Total Ammonia	00 parts per million	Hardness	23.03 parts per million
Aluminum Ammonia	Trace	Nitrates	Trace

The absence practically of free and aluminum ammonia in this water and its very small amount of chlorine indicates its excellent quality for household purposes. In addition to the good quality characteristics of superior household water, it possesses special features of much value, especially those of excellent natural aeration and LOW degree of hardness.

The bacteriological analysis, resulting in an average total count, in four samples of the water, of 3 bacteria per cubic centimeter, and in finding no colony of either harmful bacteria, fully confirm its good quality indicated by the CHEMICAL analysis.

Of the many waters of this and other regions that I have analyzed, I have found none superior in all good qualities to that of the "Elder Water".
Yours very respectfully,
(Signed) THOMAS D. BAKER

THE FRANKLIN CAR

It's Superior Performance Is a Matter of Motor Car History

- 20 Miles to the gallon of gasoline
  - 14,500 miles to the set of tires
  - 50 per cent slower yearly depreciation
- (National Averages)

THE measure of satisfactory motoring today is what a car does. And motorists are realizing that it is quality and the principles—not luck—which enable Franklin owners to get the above results.

The Franklin Car is the easiest riding, safest driving, least fatiguing car today. Requiring least care, it gives least trouble and creates least expense. It is the most advanced automobile in design and construction. That's why these road records in different parts of the country have been possible—and with only one driver at the wheel constantly on each trip.

- New York to Boston and return 458.8 miles in 12 hours and 5 minutes—
- Indianapolis to Syracuse and beyond (832.6 miles) in 22 1/2 hours—

BRIDGEND

The people of the new mill town of Bridgend, Fla., was royally entertained Sunday afternoon by the Union Sunday School, in Children Day exercises. It was the first entertainment of any kind ever given in the town and all things considered was an elaborate affair. A grand success and a surprise to all the town people even to some who have seen such entertainments given in the cities. Much credit is due to the leaders who gave their talents, time and patience to the training of the children, from the "little tot" up to the young ladies and gentlemen belonging to the school.

Rev. A. L. Metcalf was chief decorator and with flowers, palms and palmettos trimmed the school room most effectively. Mrs. Metcalf and Miss Mary Bowie, Sunday School teachers taught the children how to speak and given the necessary education Mrs. Rosa McFarlan conducted the musical end.

HOW EUROPE CAN ESCAPE COLLAPSE

We Must Aid by Extending Credits, Says Davison.

GRAVE MENACE TO U. S. A.
European Ruin Would Involve America—Starvation and Disease Rampant.

Des Moines, Ia.—Speaking before the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Board of Governors of the League of Red Cross Societies, said:

As chairman of the Convention of Red Cross Societies, composed of representatives of twenty-seven nations that met recently in Geneva, I am custodian of authoritative reports recording appalling conditions among millions of people living in eastern Europe.

One of the most terrible tragedies in the history of the human race is being enacted within the broad belt of territory lying between the Baltic and the Black and Adriatic Seas.

This area includes the new Baltic States—Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Ukraine, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Montenegro, Albania and Serbia.

The reports which come to us make it clear that in these war-ravaged lands civilization has broken down. Disease, bereavement and suffering are present in practically every household, while food and clothing are insufficient to make life tolerable.

Men, women and children are dying by thousands, and over vast once-civilized areas there are to be found neither medicinal appliances nor medical skill sufficient to cope with the devastating plagues.

Wholesale starvation is threatened in Poland this summer unless she can procure food supplies in large quantities. There are now approximately 250,000 cases of typhus in Poland and in the area occupied by Polish troops.

Worst Typhus Epidemic in History.
This is already one of the worst typhus epidemics in the world's history. In Galicia whole towns are crippled and business suspended. In some districts there is but one doctor to each 150,000 people.

In the Ukraine, we were told, typhus and influenza have affected most of the population. A report from Vienna, dated February 12, said: "There are ration lines for three weeks. Death stalks through the streets of Vienna and takes unhindered toll."

Budapest, according to our information, is one vast city of misery and suffering. The number of deaths is double that of births. Of the 100,000 children in the schools, 100,000 are dependent on public charity. There are 150,000 workers idle.

Typhus and smallpox have invaded the four countries composing Czechoslovakia, and there is lack of medicines, soap and physicians.

In Serbia typhus has broken out again and there are but 200 physicians to minister to the needs of that entire country.

In Montenegro, where food is running short, there are but five physicians for a population of 450,000.

America Overflowing With Riches.
Returning to the United States a few weeks ago with all these horrors ringing in my ears, I found myself once more in a land whose granaries were overflowing, where health and plenty abounded and where life and activity and eager enterprise were in the full flood.

I asked myself: "What if this plague and famine were here in the great territory between the Atlantic seaboard and the Mississippi valley, which roughly parallels the extent of these ravaged countries and that 65,000,000 of our own people condemned to illness by lack of raw material and whose fields had been devastated by invasion and rapine were racked by starvation and pestilence and if we had lifted up our voices and invoked the attention of our brothers in happier Europe to our own deep miseries and our cries had fallen on deaf ears would we not in our despair exclaim against their heartlessness?"

Only Three Ways to Help Europe.
There are only three ways by which these stricken lands can secure supplies from the outside world. One is by payment, one by credit, and the third is by exchange of commodities. If these peoples tried to buy materials and supplies in America at the present market value of their currencies, Austria would have to pay forty times the original cost, Germany thirteen times, Greece just double, Czechoslovakia fourteen times and Poland fifty times. These figures are official and are a true index of the economic plight of these countries.

It is clear, therefore, that they can not give us gold for the things they must have, nor have they either products or securities to offer in return for credit. If only they could obtain raw material which these idle millions of theirs could convert into manufactured products they would have something to tender the world in return for its raw material, food and medicine. But if they have neither money nor credit how are they to take this first great step towards redemption?

One-half the world may not eat while the other half starves. How long do you believe the plague of typhus that is taking a hideous death toll in Estonia and Poland and the Ukraine and eating along the fringes of Germany and Czechoslovakia will confine itself to these remote lands? Only last Saturday our health comtees. The animal had been dead several days, but the trees all around showed that it had put up a desperate struggle with starvation by eating all the bark and shrubbery within reach.

Chicago Official Refused Salary Raise
Declaring the county needed the money worse than he did, William J. Graham, deputy county comptroller, of Chicago, refused to accept a $1000 salary increase.

BOY IS SCIENTIFIC MARVEL

Federal department of justice agents are making a country-wide search for Harold C. Sever, Harvard's "boy scientific marvel," who recently perfected a new receiving set for wireless. The youth served in the Harvard radio school and saw active sea service. He left his home in Valparaiso, Ind., for Chicago to exhibit his invention to a Chicago firm. He never reached Chicago and to date private detectives, railroad police and federal agents have not found a single trace of the "wireless wizard."

It is believed by some authorities that his disappearance is due to being waylaid by secret agents of foreign powers eager to secure the invention which he had with him when he started to Chicago.

TALLEST MAN IN A. E. F. ASKS K. C. FOR JOB

Robert J. Redington, drama major of the Three Hundred and Eleventh field artillery band, Seventy-ninth division, and the tallest man in the A. E. F., came all the way from Pittston, Pa., to ask the K. C. employment bureau at the Longacre hotel, Forty-sixth street and Broadway, New York, for a job. He is 70 inches, or 6 feet, 8 inches tall. He wants to sell goods. Beside him is standing Bert Vogel of 1421 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, who looks small beside Redington, but isn't.

WIRELESS TELEPHONES USED BY FORESTERS

Preliminary Tests Show Invention Can Be Employed to Advantage.

Preliminary tests of the wireless telephone by officers of the forest service, United States department of agriculture, in the vicinity of Portland, Ore., lead to the belief that this invention can be utilized extensively in the national forests, especially in fire-prevention work. While it is recognized that there are conditions limiting wireless telephone transmission, the results so far are pronounced very satisfactory.

One of the sets used in the tests was installed on Mount Hood, Oregon, where the problem of providing a satisfactory support for the antennae was a difficult one, since a mast was needed which would be strong enough to resist the 70 or 80 mile gales that sweep the mountains. At the same time the mast had to be light enough for the men to be able to raise and lower it before the steel storms. A 50-foot bamboo pole was finally selected as the support.

In the telephone conversations between the sets, some of which were ten miles apart, the voice carried very clearly and was about as loud as over a wire line. Telegraph signals from many stations scattered over the continent were picked up. On Mount Hood they often were so loud as to be audible in any part of the cabin.

FINED $200 FOR POEM

Women Declared Lyric Composer Annoyed Her.

Ben Fields, secondhand typewriter salesman and alleged composer of "Sob Lyrics," was assessed a fine of $200 in Kansas City on complaint of pretty Miss Madeline McKinn, instructor for a telephone company.

For the last five months, according to Miss McKinn, Fields had annoyed her with his attentions and poems. She had him arrested on a former occasion, she said, but he forfeited his bond and continued his protestations of love.

Finally, Miss McKinn told the court, she received a poem entitled "I Never Knew My Love for You Till You Were Gone." This was too much. She again sought a policeman.

A peculiar accident led to the death of a valuable horse belonging to Edward Newman of Baylis, Ill. The horse, with a new harness and a bug gy, disappeared and the supposition was that it had been stolen from the hitching rack. Curt Allen, crossing a pasture seven miles northeast of Baylis, found the horse wedged between

SKINNY WATTS WITH TAMPA NEW MEN EXPECTED

Out of the first thirty games that the Feds played this season they won one dozen of them with a percentage of nearly one hundred below the five hundred mark. And the Sanford fans are not used to this kind of a record inasmuch as they have always had pennant winning teams in times gone by.

However, what hasn't there come up this season that hasn't had something to do towards marring the progress of our team? We have had everything to contend with that was ever known to any team and with it we still have a hard working manager, quite a few good players and a plucky bunch of fans that will see them through. And they will see them in the running yet, as Manager Gaffney has strings out for players from some of them on the road here, and will fill up the weak spots.

Our weakest spot has been the pitching staff since the beginning. It seems that we have had players that looked them, we have players that can't pull a horse race in a while, however the less it is pitchers that we have needed.

At the beginning of the season we counted on Register, Ellis and ... and they have all thrown us a ... Register reported here at the season opened, signed his contract and left with the intention of returning. At least he came to the club officials that he was coming back sure. But he didn't come. John Martin wired that he was coming and then signed with some other club. Ellis has been promising for some time and now it is doubtful whether or not he will get here.

"Skinny" Watts, the man that we counted on as the "big boy" for this season will wear a Sanford uniform no longer. The club closed a deal with Tampa several days ago and sold him for a cash consideration and Watts will report to them.

After the ones we had counted on failed to show up, Richmond and Chapman were hired and were both going good up until the time they were hurt. Richmond, however, was to have left Sanford for his home the night of the accident anyway.

And Richmond, better known as "Dynamite" Dan, was one man the Feds and the fans hated to see go. Working hard all the time, never letting up no matter what the score was, and using his noodle at every stage of the game, he worked his way into the hearts of the fans and every one of them hope to see the time when he will come back to this burg of ours to play some more.

In the game with Bartow last Monday, Dan, while trying to steal second sprained his ankle. He was then released by Chapman. It was just an inning or so after that when Chapman stopped one of Anderson's but with his nose, breaking and shattering it so that he will be out of the game for some little time.

This leaves us with Boswell, Schweitering and our new man from Rochester to look after the pitching end until new pitchers arrive.

But the Feds, with all their hard luck with the pitchers, the hard luck they have had with umpires decisions, the hard luck they have had with Mr. Rose's suspensions, etc are not beat yet by any means. There is too much "fight to the end" spirit about Sanford to let her team go down to stay down. We intend to show Daytona, St. Pete or any of these other towns that have been having hard luck this season, that we can and will support our team and stay right with them until they are put in the running.

And that old saying, "he that laughs last, laughs best" applies to our case and all you fans who are not even smiling, get your faces set right because you are going to have some real laughing days yet and take it from us they are not far distant.

CELERY SEED

By CHAS. L. BRITT

"Skinny" is Tampa bound. Tampa claims that "Skinny" is to take the place of Corcho and Humphries. They are not expecting much from him at that, but we will say this—Tampa is getting a good pitcher—if he pitches. "Skinny" is as good as any in the league, better than most of them—when he pitches.

Mr. G. Bunk says "Skinny" was to have gone to Connie Mack if we hadn't kept him from it. Now all we have to say about that is that no one ever told us about Mack wanting him except "Skinny". When ever Mack or any one else wants one of our players, let 'em talk to us, just like Tampa did.

But after all is said and done "Skinny" ought to go good in Tampa if we fans of the club will see that he gets plenty of stick candy and don't try to have work to fast on a hot day—AND MAKE HIM

Mr. Bart Bunk also jumps on Tommy Leach for standing up for his rights with the umpire. Says out of the "scrabbing" claim that when ever any one in Tampa learns enough Base Ball to tell Tommy something he doesn't know, then let 'em talk.

Gene Gaffney is making us one sweet little manager. He hasn't had time yet to get his team going like he wants it—but after he is on the job long enough—then watch us.

And Gene stars at the bat, is an A No. 1 fielder, didn't do half bad in the pitchers box, and say! who can tell us any one in the league that can hold down that third base any better than him.

And they rave about the Daytona fans sticking to the team, even when they loose. And what about us? It's a fact we don't have the grand stand crowded at every game, but we have got one regular bunch of fans that are sticking and they are going to continue to stick, and they are going to get plenty to make them happy yet before this thing is over.

Gaffney Now Batting .329

The above averages were released by letter and show that Gaffney is beginning to close in on him. There are about 29 points different in Gaffney's favor. We don't believe that Olechny has hit his stride as yet and we are looking for him to be right up along with Gaffney and Burke before the end of this coming week. Both Ollerman and Inman picked up somewhat this week and show a substantial increase.

Bradentown wired to the Sanford club to help themoust Umpire Franklin. I guess we will—NOT. Who is it down that way that reaches out a hand and helps us when the whole bunch are trying to slip something over us. It is Bradentown, isn't it? It is—NOY. And who were the main guys that voted to take the pennant away from Sanford last year? And who was the first man to come out "class" man on the board of club. Bradentown can tell you.

And Franklin is all right, and so is Kubat, and so is Daugherty.

Where He Was Weak

The other day, my little cousin brought home his report card marked A plus for everything except deportment. His father said: "Why, John, how does this happen?" John's reply was: "Well, but daddy, that's my hardest study."—Exchange.

Animals as Weather Prophets.

Few beliefs are older or more widespread than that animals, and especially wild animals, have foreknowledge of what the weather is to be, and something that amounts to such foreknowledge many of them doubtless do possess, but there is no reason, and only poor excuses, for assuming that there is a source of information accurate enough and of application remote enough to give any appreciable extension to the weather bureau's prognostications.—Exchange.

Tree Furnished Timber for Church.

A unique church has recently been completed in Santa Rosa, Cal. Every piece of timber in it, except the floor, was cut from one tree—a giant redwood, 18 feet in diameter. The tree, which produced 78,000 feet of timber, grew on a high mountain range near Greenville, 15 miles from the Pacific ocean, and when cut was found to be about eight hundred years old.

Cornish Tin Miners.

The men who work in the Cornish tin mines are a class by themselves, and all their differences are adjusted by the stannary courts, as they are called from the Latin word stannum. These curious courts have existed in their present form since the middle of the thirteenth century, and, in a simpler form, much earlier; and the miners claim to be free from all other jurisdiction, "except in matters affecting the land, life or limb."

Useful Kerosene.

Housewives, with but few exceptions, do not properly value kerosene. As a lubricant a drop or two will set things going which refused to go before. As a cleanser it can often be used with great advantage in place of soap and water. Floors can be more quickly and more thoroughly cleaned with a well-oiled mop than with soap and water, leaving a bright, shining surface.

Selfishness Gains Nothing.

Men should see life as more than a means of personal advancement. Selfishness may relieve, but its inglorious name will soon be forgotten in the "sound of yesterdays." It's life that lives for the common good that lays tribute on humanity and carves an indelible name in the very foundations of history. Call it Utopian if you will. Facts show that men must die to really live. And men who give themselves a human betterment live as they raise others from unreasonable drudgery to honorable toil and common comforts.

Prolific Mesquite Tree.

A historical mesquite tree, cut down in Honolulu, Hawaii, October 23, 1919, which served as a valuable source of seed, and had been a landmark attracting the interest of thousands of tourists traversing the Pacific ocean, and during the ninety-two years of its existence, been the progenitor of thousands of trees which now cover throughout the Hawaiian island group approximately 90,000 acres of mostly barren land which formerly was worthless.

Standard English Pound.

The original English pound was derived from the weight of 7,680 grains of wheat taken from the middle of the ears and well dried. This remained the standard from the time of William the Conqueror to the time of Henry VIII, in whose reign the avoirdupois pound of 7,000 grains came into use. This was established as the standard pound during the reign of Queen Elizabeth and has been continued to the present day.

Well it is all over now.

What a relief to the winners and losers alike.

This is the time to forget petty differences and all pull for Sanford.

There are many big things that should be put over here and they should be put over now.

Many of the state papers are having fun with Governor Catts because he was defeated. We never say anything about a defeated candidate that would cause him or his family any heartaches.

In fact the only way to get the picture is to get it with both feet. Next Monday we will see what the people really think about the campaign.

There is a possibility that the people will get a better picture of the situation if they will only get out and see for themselves.

The people of Sanford are entitled to know the truth about the situation.

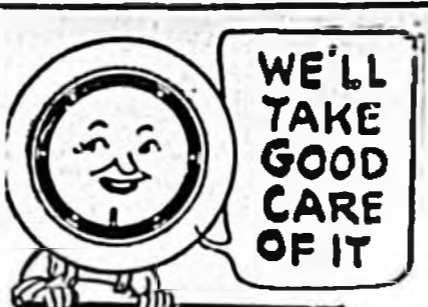

The people of Sanford are entitled to know the truth about the situation.

Florida. And we would like to see some of those folks who have been staying away from meetings of this sort come out and take a hand in making Sanford. We need a good strong pull from every man in this city and county in the days to come.

BIG THINGS IN STORE

There are big things in store for Sanford and while this paper has been informed about them publicity cannot be given them at this time but it will soon take its rightful place among the big cities of Florida for if these things come to pass and the chances are excellent for them to become facts there will be no holding back the progress of Sanford. For many years this city has lagged in the onward march toward prosperity in the many essentials that spell city building. We have had prosperity in a large measure but it has all been in the farming interests and we have lost sight of the important fact that Sanford is at the head of navigation on the great St. John's river, we have lost sight of the fact that it could be made one of the most attractive tourist cities in the state, we have lost sight of the fact that it is one of the healthiest, best located cities in the state with miles of good roads, with miles of river front and a fine view of the city from the water, we have lost sight of the fact that it is one of the best located cities in the state with miles of good roads, with miles of river front and a fine view of the city from the water.

Get After Congress

The 20th Congress is slow in moving about from Washington and getting after the business of the country. It is slow in getting after the business of the country.

Now this Congress is slow in moving about from Washington and getting after the business of the country.

The general tendency is to want that the control of the vote lies in the hands of the people.

the hands of wealth. But it does not; it lies in the hands of the modest majority. If the majority of a congressman's constituents demand that he produce the goods, he will have to get busy and produce them.

GO TO EXTREMES

Health Faddists Apt to Become a Nuisance.

Hard to Deny That There Are Many Like the Unfortunate Jiggins, Who Literally "Dumb-Bell" Themselves to Death.

The following editorial from the Gary Times is printed by the Journal of the American Medical Association as a lesson to health faddists:

There is a great deal of truth in the satirical story of Jiggins, who had the health habit. Jiggins lived 20 years ago, and health was a disease with him. The Dallas News says that Jiggins took a cold plunge every morning. He said it opened the pores. After it he took a hot sponge. He said it closed the pores. He got so that he could open and shut his pores at will.

Jiggins used to stand and breathe at an open window for half an hour before dressing. He said it expanded his lungs. He might, of course, have had it done in a shoe shop with a boot stretcher; but, after all it cost him nothing this way. And what is half an hour?

After he had got his vest on, Jiggins used to hitch himself up like a dog in harness and do shadow exercises. He did them forward, backward and hindside up.

He could have got a job as a dog anywhere. He spent all his time of this kind of thing. In his spare time at the office he used to lie on his stomach on the floor and see if he could lift himself up with his knuckles. If he could, then he tried some other way until he found one that he couldn't do. Then he would spend the rest of his lunch hour on his stomach perfectly happy.

In the evenings, in his room, he used to lift iron bars, cannon balls, heavy dumb-bells and haul himself up to the ceiling with his teeth.

He liked it. He spent half the night slinging himself around his room. He said it made his brain clear. When he got his brain perfectly clear he went to bed and slept. As soon as he awoke he began clearing it a bit.

It was a dead end. He was, of course, a faddist; but the fact that he dumb-belled himself to death at an early age does not prevent a whole generation of young men from following in his path.

They are robbed by the health mania.

They make themselves a nuisance. They get up at impossible hours. They go out in silly little suits and run marathon heats before breakfast. They chase around barefoot to get the dew on their feet. They hunt for ozone. They bother about poison. They won't eat meat because it has too much nitrogen. They won't eat fruit because it hasn't got any. They prefer almonds and starch to huckleberry pie and doughnuts. They won't drink water out of a tap. They won't eat sardines out of a tin. They won't use oysters out of a shell. They won't drink milk out of a glass. They are afraid. Yes, sir, afraid. Cowards!

And after all their fuss they profit only incur some simple, old-fashioned illness and die like anybody else.

Artificial Tree for Birds. Dr. H. B. Warren is having a concrete tree built on his lawn at West Chester, Pa., to provide homes for birds. The tree is upon a wire frame 15 feet high. Holes of different sizes will lure the birds to meet and rest. At the base of the tree will be a large concrete bath to provide the guests with running water at all times. Imitation limbs of the "tree" will give perching accommodations. But the question is, will the birds be fooled by this elaborately counterfeited tree? We have seen some most elaborate and expensive bird houses empty after year.

Notice to Contractors. Sealed bids will be received by the City Commissioners of Sanford on or before 8 p. m. June 28, 1920 for the furnishing of all materials and constructing a sewer in Block 9, Tier 8 and in Blocks 10, 11 and 12, Tier 9, approximately 1480 feet long.

Also for the laying of a sewer pipe to be used for drainage on West First Street from Cloud Branch east 540 feet.

Plans and Specifications can be seen at the office of the City Clerk or at the office of the City Engineers, Fred T. Williams.

The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids. H. R. STEVENS, Mayor. L. R. PHILLIPS, City Clerk.

ANNOUNCING An Increase in Price of the Stock of the Armstrong-Emley Crankless Engine Company JULY 1st.

ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT

The Armstrong-Emley Crankless Engine Company is a regular corporation, incorporated under the laws of Florida. The organization is as clean as a hound's tooth. If anyone can make it cleaner, we want to know how. It is being financed at a cost less than any similar company that ever was financed in this State.

THE CRANKLESS ENGINE

Get it out of your mind that there is no real engine. This engine has been put to all the practical pulling tests known to mechanical engineering and verifies the judgment of all the mechanical engineers in the country who have had an opportunity to see it. Among these men are some of the best in the country, with an international reputation.

Can the engine be operated with gasoline? Certainly! This engine has the same pistons and cylinders that any other gasoline engine has. We are now how to expand a fluid in a cylinder to produce energy. The difference between the crankless engine and the crankshaft type of engine is only in the method of converting reciprocal to rotary motion. The Emley principle has shown how to convert reciprocal to rotary motion without a crank shaft, and at the same time eliminated friction, the great enemy of motion to the extent of probably at least 90 per cent. It also eliminates the many sources of wear and tear, and wear-joint bearings. We all know how often these burn out. The upkeep cost of these engines will be a fraction of only a small fraction of that of the present type of engines. You know that such an engine will sell, and that any Company producing such an engine will make money. That is why the stock of this Company is worth the consideration of every one who has money.

A REAL INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

Everyone is aware of the large profits that have been made, and large dividends that have been paid by Ford Motor, Continental Motors, Knight Motor, Falls Motor, Northway Motor, and many others.

The Armstrong-Emley Crankless Engine Company can equal the record of the best of these because it not only has an automobile motor, but one that will serve every purpose for which motive power is necessary and also whether the fuel used is gasoline, kerosene or steam.

The world is looking for a motor with greater power and less upkeep, and the Crankless Engine fits these requirements and will cost less to build at the same time.

With a clean organization such as this Company has, and a product of superior merit, nothing is left to be desired by the most conservative investor with funds. An opportunity to invest in a Company like this comes once in a lifetime and if you have any regrets in the future, they will be because you didn't investigate our claims and purchase an interest in the Company.

Now is your time to become financially interested in this company while the shares are selling at par, $10.00. The price will advance to $11.00 per share on July 1st.

Armstrong-Emley Crankless Engine Co. Jacksonville, Fla. Dear Sirs: Without any obligation on my part have a representative of your company call if possible, before July 1st. Name Address

A Little Bit of The Sunday School History

The Bridgmont Union Sunday School was organized nine months ago with six children in attendance. A lot of American grit and will, God our Father on our side. Last quarter we had a gain of 15 children and average attendance of 95 per cent. Cash paid out for school including good time at Christmas for the full time $44.50.

1620, 1620

This year is the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. "The breaking waves of God high in a storm and rock-bound coast" — we all are familiar with the poem, "The Pilgrims, their Story, their Faith, their Service," which is the subject at the Congregational Church Sunday evening.

In the evening, "Followers of the Gleam" will be the subject of a sermon by the pastor. Meeting begins at 7:30. Christian Endeavor opens at 8:30.

Rev. Mr. Upson leaves next week to attend the International Council of Home Missions, which will be held at the University of Chicago, Ill.

EX-KAISER OWES FALL TO ILL-STARRED GEM

So Some Folks Believe in View of History of "Blaze of Glory."
An ill-starred diamond, which last shone as central gem in the crown of Prussia, is now credited with having been a factor in bringing about the ruin of the Hohenzollern dynasty. It is known as the "Blaze of Glory."
According to the tale about it, the diamond was given by King Solomon to the Queen of Sheba, having been plucked by him from his turban for her adornment. Curious carvings on two sides of it are supposed to be heretic tokens of the two ancient lovers. Tales of the gem were carried into Persia, where they excited the greed of the nomadic King El-Hakim II, who robbed the Queen of Sheba's grave to secure it for himself. Within two weeks thereafter he was slain in his palace, and thereafter, through the centuries, rulers and princes who acquired the gem came to grief.
The margrave of Brandenburg, whose house started the Prussian dynasty, found the gem on a Jewish merchant in one of the margrave's raids into Silesia, and seized it, declaring that he would place it in the crown of a great kingdom he was to establish. The merchant was instantly slain when he ventured to remind the captor of the evil influence of the diamond. It seems to have been handed down the Prussian line until finally it reached the one time emperor now in retreat in Holland.
It is said that Herr Zunkelhorn, a learned antiquary, who had learned the fateful history of the gem and who in some way had forecast that ruin would come to its owner between the years 1918 and 1922, implored the young emperor to rid himself of it before his coronation, and that to this entreaty William replied:
"You must understand that I am crowned by the Spirit of God and the will of my people. The Hohenzollerns evil can harm our dynasty."

So he kept the gem in his crown, and tradition seems to have justified itself.

RED MEN FLOURISH

Idea That Indians Are Dying Out Is Erroneous.

Probably the Race Is Scarcely Less Numerous Today Than When Columbus Landed on the Shores of America.

Despite popular belief that the civilization forced upon him by the white man means his ultimate extinction, the North American Indian, reviving from a long period of decadence, has shown such substantial increase in population in recent years that he probably is scarcely less numerous today than when Columbus discovered America.

Starting as this assertion may be to those who have pictured American forests in the discoverer's time as swarming with red men, it is freely advanced by experts of the government's Indian bureau, who maintain that the Indian necessarily formed an exceedingly scant population which probably at no period materially exceeded the total of 233,702 Indians reported by the bureau for last year.

"The Indian no longer is to be thought of as a dying race," declared Dr. Lawrence W. White, an Indian authority of the bureau. "In support of that statement it is necessary, in the first place, to disabuse the public mind of the tradition handed down by discoverers and early colonists that American forests in their day swarmed with the dusky figures of the red man.

As the Indian neglected agriculture almost completely, it is highly improbable that this country, considered as a whole, could have supported a population of more than 200,000 Indians, said Dr. White.

While many estimates or guesses of the Indian population were made during the past century," said Dr. White, "ranging from less than 100,000 to 10,000,000, the first reliable census was made by the Indian bureau in 1870 when the population was placed at 233,702. So figures demonstrate that in the last 50 years the Indian population has made a substantial net gain."

Pointing to statistics which show an excess of births over deaths of 1,522 in 1916 and almost as great an excess in 1917, normal years which were not affected by the epidemic of influenza, Dr. White declared these figures "fully reflected the generosity of a government that has increased its Indian health appropriation alone from $100,000 in 1911 to $250,000 in 1917 and subsequent years."

They demonstrate, he said, that with the schools, hospitals and other advantages now provided for them, the Indian, he believed, is not a dying race, but rather a flourishing one. "Had he been treated as other nations have treated savage tribes, Dr. White concluded, there probably would not be a vestige of the race within our republic today."

AUSTRIAN DESPOT IN ITALY

Excellent Reasons Why Commandant in Town of Buje Was Feared and Detested.

During the war, Austria, fearing and hating the Italians of Istria, placed every town under drastic military control.

It was the chief task of Colonel Vogelhuber, commander of Buje, to make the Italians feel his presence. They had felt it one day, incensed by his latest decrees, they had come in crowds below his windows, discussing, gesticulating, angrily demanding an audience, until his troops had rained them in the stomach with the butts of rifles and driven them off to their homes where they would find that during their absence a few more objects had mysteriously disappeared.

He had had a good day but he would have a better evening. They had wanted an audience. Very well. That evening he would grant an audience to the leading citizens. More than that, he would dine them.

The leading citizens of Buje will not soon forget that dinner. The meal itself was excellent, infinitely better than any that they had had for months. It consisted of meats "regimented" from their own herds and flocks, grains from their own fields, wine from their own cellars.

He called the attention of the Italians of Buje to the fact that he had sent very few of them to Austrian concentration camps. He emphasized his tolerance and liberality in this matter. His name, however, had been guided by a definite purpose. It might please them to be informed as to the purpose which he had had in mind.

"I do not care to inform you," he said, in a soothing climax, "because I prefer to execute you!"

The troops of Italy are at present making some advance. A wish simply to announce to you now that before they ever reach Buje I shall have the pleasure of seeing every man of you shot. Good night, gentlemen. The pleasure has been mine.

Then, showing the yellow streak always present in such natures, he hastily summoned his soldiers, and every guest was escorted to the street at the point of a bayonet.

A gay, dashing wag was Vogelhuber. Dashing he was certainly, a few weeks later, when the Italian Bersagliere swept into Buje so suddenly that he did not have time to make good his promise, but found it prudent to run to save his own skin, even leaving a precious carload of stolen treasures behind him. Willard Price, in World Outlook.

Thermometers Vary.

The readings of old mercury thermometers are often too high, while spirit thermometers with age are liable to give indications lower than the actual temperatures. Shrinkage of the bulb, forcing the mercury up the tube, has been suggested as the cause of the high readings.

Shellac.

Shellac is the joint product of insects and plants and comes from India. The lac insects are about 1.25 of an inch long, a bright red in color. They suck the juices of plants, digest them and exude them in the form of resin, which soon encases the whole insect.

Customs Worth Preserving.

In Bavaria, before the war at least, there were all sorts of kindly little celebrations and other things which made life friendlier and more pleasant. If an employee had remained in the same place for five, seven, ten years, etc., his employer frequently gave him a sort of little jubilee celebration.

BUILDINGS GOING UP THIS SUMMER

SANFORD WILL HAVE ONE OF THE BIGGEST SEASONS IN HISTORY.

The beautiful appearance of the Welaka building recently purchased and remodeled by E. A. Douglas and Roy Simes the work being handled under the careful supervision of Contractor Holman demonstrates just what can be done with brick buildings that have outlived their usefulness in their present form and must be rehabilitated in order to keep up with the procession. The new Hotel Valdez, is another instance of this kind and was worked over and rebuilt by the same men and it is one of the prettiest buildings in the state.

All of this great work brings on other jobs and probably helped to start the movement for the sale of the old Sanford House property and the many big things contemplated by the Lake Front Improvement and that the company of Sanford houses is not to be something big for this city is a large one. It has been public opinion that has been the public's opinion that it is a fine town and a big business building of a new type, a new type of apartment houses, an apartment house for one many other improvements that will make Sanford the most beautiful town in the state. The Hotel property being purchased by E. W. Phillips & Co. of Orlando at the corner of Park Ave and Second streets will soon be made into a fine apartment house or an office building and business building. The Y. Igon who are now occupying the corner will move on the first of the month and Mr. Phillips expects to get to work at once on the improvement of this one property.

There are many other changes being made in the business part of the city and at least one big business block is contemplated for the summer and in the red line section of the city many new homes are being built or contemplated and as lumber is coming down there will be much activity soon on the building line here.

SANFORD HAS 5,588 POPULATION

NEW CENSUS FIGURES SHOW AN INCREASE OF 55.5 PER CENT OVER 1910.

Sanford's population has increased 55.5 per cent in the past ten years. The official announcement was made from Washington on Saturday where the returns of the census enumerators are being tabulated, giving Sanford a population of 5,588 or an increase of 2,018 over the 1910 census.

While it is believed by many that we may have a larger population and while it is the custom throughout the country to kick about the census report shows a very nice increase and one of which we may be justly proud, the increase ranking far above the average.

It is of course impossible for census enumerators, however careful and painstaking to find every one in these canvases. The Sanford enumerators did their best and worked hard and faithfully and secured a great deal of credit for their work.

The Seminole county census has not been announced but it is believed that it will go well above 15,000.

Things Mend.

Every line of history inspires a confidence that we shall not go far wrong; that things mend. That is the moral of all we learn, that it warrants hope, the profile mother of reforms. Our part is plainly not to throw ourselves across the track, to block improvement and sit still we are stone but to watch the uprise of successive mornings and to conspire with the new works of new days.—Emerson.

A Learned Capital.

Aarau, capital of the Swiss canton of Argovia, possesses one of the hardest working libraries in the world. Though the library consists of only 80,000 volumes—which is not so large as public institutions go in the United States—the population of the capital itself is only 10,000. With eight volumes per inhabitant, the library of Aarau has just cause to boast of itself as a miniature Athens.

NEW PROCESS KEEPS FOOD INDEFINITELY

Revolutionizes Feeding of Troops in War Time.

NO CHANCE FOR PTOMAINES

Add Water and Boil, Diases Resulting Are the Same as Fresh Products, Experts Say—French Commission Calls It a Remarkable Discovery—Tried Out in Our Army—Produce Meals With Speed of Prestidigitator.

Gone are the good old days when a woman is expected to spend four hours in a kitchen, wrestling with the problems of some new dish and struggling with the unintelligible jargon of the cookbook. No longer need a man wait in vain for his natural bush, only to discover after a goodly interval that while just couldn't put the old chopp- ing machine together and there must be a piece missing or something. All this is as dead as the dole.

The resources of food specialists, dietitians, French chefs and medical men have been combined in a complete out-of-the-kitchen campaign for the housekeeper, enabling her to produce meals with almost, if not quite, the speed of the prestidigitator producing rabbits out of the traditional hat. Just add hot water and boil a few minutes is the story.

And cheap—well, here's an example of the cost. Uncle Sam figured that he could give his doughboys a full dish of vegetable soup and a fine apple portion of corned beef hash by using this new process instantaneous food for the vast outfit of 3 eggs per doughboy.

William Edward Fitch, late Major C. S. M. C. and M. D. in his own right, has devised a lot of hard work, to the new product. He will prepare a cup of clam broth while the interested listener is trying to read the title of one of the doctor's works. "Dietotherapy, Chemistry of Digestion, Classification and Analysis of Foods Complete in three volumes. Published with the permission of the Surgeon General of the Army," is part of the title. But the clam broth is ready.

Like Freshly Prepared Food.

First the major produced a mouthful of soup, something like the average worker's pay envelope—deadly, small. Opening it, he displayed about a tablespoonful of fragments of brown fish, dried substances. This and a little water boiled for less than five minutes produce the clam broth. The investigator is asked to taste the substance which is strained off, and will find slices of clams, celery and other usual ingredients and nothing to indicate that they are any different from fresh food. If you should stop and read two titles, the major explains, the consequent lengthened time of boiling does not spoil the broth. If curiosity is aroused as to why it was necessary to have the surgeon general's permission, the answer is contained in the fact that about 150 pages of the work deal with army rations, food economies in the war, etc.

But to return to the clam broth. The major is inquiring how you like it. He is also saying that usually the chef prepares it, but that he has gone home. Honesty compels the admission that, chef or no chef, it has not ceased to suffer.

"Everything is retained," says the major. "Food value, flavor, etc. The tools are put up in little cardboard cartons, or in paper envelopes. There are no tins and no glass. Moreover, no artificial preservatives are used, even the so-called most harmless ones. The package may be opened and part of the contents used. The balance may be set aside and used next week, next month or next year, and it will be as good as when first opened.

Food Products Keep Indefinitely.

"Here is some lamb stew, now," continues the dietary expert, placing on the table something resembling, somewhat a section of brown nut candy. "It will keep indefinitely. If the mice will let it alone. I see one has been nibbling here at this end. This is very old, but all I would have to do is put it in water and let it boil for about twenty minutes and it would be a most appetizing stew. It has, combined with lamb, onions, potatoes, and other vegetables, also seasoning. "The soups containing a quantity of vegetables can stand about fifteen minutes' boiling and the meat products twenty to twenty-five minutes. We already have twenty-seven clear soups, thirty-one creamed soups, twenty vegetable products, twenty fish products—fish cakes for instance—and twenty-five meat products. Corned beef hash, chicken hash, roast beef hash, lamb stew, codfish cakes, creamed fish, and lobster à la Newburg are included in the list of dishes prepared by the new process.

"It is not a dehydrating process and it bears no resemblance to the canning process. But, of which one is honoring so much these days in connection with the fatal olive poisoning cases, and ptomaine poisoning, are both impossible with this process. The flavor is not lost as in canning. All the nutritive and palatable qualities of the fresh food are retained."

To the newlywed innocent of the art of cookery, the new instantaneous missioner of New York, Dr. Copeland, sailed for the other side just to measure the danger and take precaution against such an invasion.

This is one menace at our threshold. The other, more threatening, more terrible, is the menace of the world's ill will. We can afford to die, but to be despised forever as a greedy and pharisaical nation is a fate that we must not incur.

The French government has many serious problems to solve, but the French peasant is working and the French artisan, while still sadly in need of raw materials, has not lost his habit of industry and thrift. The most encouraging fact about France today is that her people are alive to the seriousness of France's problem, and they are going forward bravely to solve that problem.

Italy, despite her great shortage of raw material, is looking forward and not backward. Italy can be relied upon to do her part!

England is meeting the problems of reconstruction just as those who knew her past should have expected her to meet them.

Plan to Aid Central Europe.

It is not for the purpose to give in detail a formula for solution of the world's ills, but as I have been asked many times, "What would you do?" I am glad to give my own answer.

Accordingly, I would ask:

1 That Congress immediately pass a bill appropriating a sum not to exceed $200,000,000 for the use of Central and Eastern Europe.

2 That Congress call upon the President to appoint a nonpartisan commission of three Americans, distinguished for their character and executive ability and commanding the respect of the American people. Said commission should include men of the type of General Pershing, Mr. Hoover or ex-Secretary Lane. The investment that commission will require.

3 I would have the commission instructed to proceed at once to the study of the conditions in Central and Eastern Europe and then set for the restoration of those countries under such conditions and upon such terms as the commission itself may decide to be practicable and effective. Among the conditions should be provided that there should be no local interference with the free and untrammelled exercise to the commission of its own prerogative of allowing materials, governmental policies should be eliminated; unequal and prejudicial barriers between the various countries should be removed, and such substantial guarantees as may be available should be extended in order that the conditions imposed should be fulfilled.

4 As to financial terms, I should make them liberal. I would charge no interest for the first three years; for the next three years, 4 per cent, with provision that such interest might be funded if the economic conditions of the country were not approaching normal or if its exchange conditions were so adverse as to make payment unduly burdensome. I should make the maturity of the obligation 15 years from its date, and I should have no doubt as to its final payment.

5 Immediately the plan was adopted I would have our government invite other governments in a position to assist, to participate in the undertaking.

6 To set forth completely my opinion, I should add that in the final instructions the American people, through their government, should say to the commission:

"We want you to go and do this job in such a manner as, after study, you think it should be done. This is no ordinary undertaking. The American people trust you to see that it is done right."

I would also say to the commission: "Use so much of this money as is needed." Personally, I am confident that with the assistance and co-operation which would come from other parts of the world the sum of $200,000,000 from the United States would be more than enough to start these countries on their way to self support and the restoration of normal conditions.

The whole plan, of course, involves many practical considerations, the most serious of which is that of obtaining the money, whether by issuing additional Liberty bonds, an increase in the floating debt or by taxation. But I think we could properly say to the treasury department:

"We know how serious your financial problems are; we know the difficulties which are immediately confronting you; we know the importance of deflation, and we know that the government must economize and that individuals must economize, but we also know that the American government advanced $100,000,000 to its allies to attain victory and peace. Certainly it is worth making the additional advance in order to realize the peace for which we have already struggled, for nothing is more certain than that until normal conditions are restored in Europe there can be no peace."

Above all things, I would say that whatever action is taken should be taken immediately. The crisis is so acute that the situation does not admit of delay, except with the possibility of consequences one hardly dares contemplate.

The situation that I have spread out here is far beyond the scope of individual charity. Only the action of governments, our own and the others whose resources enable them to cooperate, can all be given in sufficient volume. I am also confident that our action would be followed by the governments of Great Britain, of Holland, of the Scandinavian countries, of Spain and Japan, and that France and Belgium and Italy, notwithstanding all of their losses, would help to the best of their ability.

BURIED IN JUNGLE

Tropic Growth Overwhelmed City of Angkor Thom.

Devastation Wrought, Especially by the Deadly Fig Tree, is So Complete as to Be Almost Unbelievable.

In the heart of Cambodia, one of the five provinces of French Indo-China, lie the ruins of the royal city of Angkor Thom, built somewhere between the fifth and seventh centuries, and of the marvelous temple, Angkor Wat. The architecture, which is Hindu, is being disentangled from jungle growth by French archeologists. The city and temple are thought to have been built by the Khmers, a long-vanished race which certainly has no connection with the Cambodians of the present day.

Writing in Harper's, Ellen S. La Motte describes a trip through the jungle on an elephant to visit one of the more remote ruins. "In about ten minutes," she writes, "we found ourselves climbing over the fallen stones of an immense temple that lay completely buried and overgrown by the forest. So thick was the foliage that only a dim twilight prevailed. The supreme loneliness of that buried temple, the utter isolation and silence that enveloped it, were appalling and our scrambling feet and hushed voices only intensified the awful stillness—the silence of centuries.

"The horror and indelible nature of the jungle! Everywhere giant stones were overthrown, pushed out of place and toppled over by heaps through the sinister vitality of that deadly tree, the fig tree of the tropics. The roots of the tree hung in innocent, horrible tangles which occupied themselves with the capture of the great stones and slip through the openings and cracks then grow and develop with an evil vigor that nothing can withstand. They never die, they are stored out these fine, hairlike roots. The big stones never crush or fall from them. Year by year, century by century, their force strong life is fostered by the fierce heat and their roots of the tropics until they overthrow and destroy everything in their pathway, the fearful tree that wandered in its course through a whole corridor of thirty centuries was 100 meters in length, with the circumference of an elephant. And the tree is useless, too just strongly, porous wood unfit for anything.

"For an hour we wandered through the ruined chambers, scrambled and climbed over fallen pillars and curves of great beauty and delicate, intricate design—all in utter ruin and the fig tree of destruction in supreme control. It was good to reach our elephants again and to leave behind that overwhelmed and evil spot. . . . "Only the most important and beautiful ruins are being restored from the forest. These in Angkor Thom as well as in Angkor Wat. These outstanding ones are still left as originally planned, built and smoothed by an everlasting forest. To me they are for more interesting in this sinister setting, choked and swamped by the luxuriant growth of the tropical jungle. They afford more thrills to me than any not an archeologist than the picked up, restored and cleared ruins that the government is reclaiming.

"Of course one cannot see them very well, those buried temples, swamped in undergrowth and enveloped by a twilight gloom. And as I scramble over fallen jungles, over barbaric sculptures, my mind is largely set on serpents. And when we reach a fairly open space it turns to monkeys—the agile black gibbons that hoot and leap overhead at our coming, furious at the intrusion upon their solitude. Between snakes and monkeys there are times when I forget to admire these old temples, supposed to be among the most marvelous in the world."

Marshal Foch's Cane.

From the first days of the war Marshal Foch always carried a dapper stick with him. There is an interesting story connected with the cane that the head of the allied armies regarded so necessary. "It was carried for him in the early days of the war by one of his beloved pupils of the trenches," says the Home Sector, the ex-soldiers' weekly. "Since which time, if reports are true, it has never left his side. It has made itself useful as well as ornamental on occasions, and there is a legend that it was used to mop out the great strokes and counter-strokes of the summer and fall of 1918 by which the war was ended."

Saving the Wood.

"Our noble forests must be saved," exclaimed the theoretical conservationist.

"They must," assented the man who goes into small details; "even if manufacturers are required to produce matches that will produce a light without using up half a box to each cigarette."

No Soldier Did This.

According to the new Standard Dictionary it is:

Crap, n. (Local, U. S.) A game of chance in which the object is to guess the numbers thrown on two dice.—Home Sector.

Silence Is Golden.

First Private—Can you imagine anything worse than having coughs?
Second Private—Yes, suppose you had 'em, and they chirped.—The American Legion Weekly.

The Tricolor.

This really owes its origin to Mary Queen of Scots. It was she who, according to tradition, gave the tricolor device to Paris—the white to represent the house of her royal husband, the dauphin, the blue for Scotland, and the red for the red-coated Swiss of the royal bodyguard. The Revolutionists in 1793 adopted Mary's colors for their own.
