Ex-Cons May Get Armed Guard Jobs Due To FBI Policy

By TONI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Approximately half of Seminole County residents applying to the state for armed security guard licenses are turned down because of previous criminal records, Don Hazelton, director of the state Division of Licensing, said today. This ratio of denials is in keeping with statewide statistics, Hazelton added.

But, according to Secretary of State George Firestone, if the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) stops criminal background investigations of security guard applicants, as they propose, applicants with criminal records could become licensed armed security guards in Seminole County and statewide.

The FBI's new policy is to begin Oct. 1 and last a year to allow the federal agency to eliminate a huge backlog in fingerprint examination requests, Firestone said Thursday. He said he is asking Florida's congressmen and senators to pressure the FBI to reconsider their decision.

There are currently 886 unarmed security guards and 135 armed security guards licensed by the state employed in Seminole County, Hazelton said.

Firestone said it is not uncommon for his office to routinely check the records of applicants in Florida and find an unblemished past. However, upon checking the same applicant's through FBI records, it is often found the applicant has a "three-page felony rap sheet."

A recent sampling by Firestone's department of 1,800 applications for armed security guard licenses showed a 50 percent denial rate, with 14 percent of the denials triggered by the FBI fingerprint check, Hazelton said.

Hazelton added the denial rate for Seminole County would be "very close" with the statewide application denial rate because of an applicant's criminal record.

The denial rate for unarmed security guard applicants for Seminole County is approximately 25 percent, he said.

One Seminole County bank official employing security personnel said while he is sympathetic with the FBI's need to discontinue the service for a period, businesses will still need to maintain security. He added the action by the FBI would require businesses to seek the information elsewhere, passing the cost of the service on to the consumer.

Firestone said he is "deeply concerned about the recent decision in Washington." He said if the background security checks of applicants are eliminated, "we may unknowingly grant armed security guard licenses to convicted felons. I believe this is a very serious public policy issue."

It has been a common practice among some businesses such as banks, amusement centers, hotels-motels, shopping centers and others to employ security guards.

According to Firestone, if the FBI refuses to relent, he will adopt a rule requiring security guard license applicants to request their own fingerprint checks and criminal background files from the federal agency and present the results to his department.

The U.S. Freedom of Information Act requires the FBI to provide citizens, upon request, criminal information that may be compiled on that individual.

Firestone said this plan would mean long delays in granting licenses and it would not be effective.

NEW HOSPITAL TAKING SHAPE

Brick masons were busy this week as the walls began to go up for the three-story $25 million Central Florida Regional Hospital being built at Mangoustine Avenue and Seminole Boulevard in Sanford overlooking Lake Monroe. Due for completion in August, 1982, construction on the facility began in mid-July. Scheduled to open in September, 1982, the 226-bed hospital to be owned and operated by the Hospital Corporation of America, of Nashville, Tenn., will replace Seminole Memorial Hospital. Patient rooms will occupy the two top floors and other departments will be housed on the first floor.

Residents Say 'Take School Elsewhere'

Little more than a week after the Seminole County School Board raised property taxes in order to build a new elementary school in the Tuscawilla community, some Tuscawilla residents are complaining they do not want a school in the middle of their development.

Don Clark, representing about 40 Tuscawilla homeowners, told the school board Wednesday that a 35-acre tract which the school board already owns on Tuscawilla Road should be used as the school site rather than a 10-acre parcel designated within the development.

School Superintendent Robert Hughes said it will be about a month before a decision is made on exactly where the school should be located.

The 35-acre parcel, partly donated and partly purchased by the school administration some years ago, was at that time designated by Tuscawilla's developers as a future high school or middle school site, Hughes said.

He added, however, the property might be used for both an elementary and a future middle school. "We are not far enough along in the process to make a determination," Hughes said today.

He also noted it is not unusual for a school to be built within a housing development.

Clark said this morning that the proposed 10-acre school site is on Troutwood Boulevard between Sibleywood and Northern Way, while the 35-acre site is almost across the street.

A major difference in the two sites is that the school board would have to purchase one and already owns the other, Clark said. A second difference is that the 35-acre tract is readily accessible from Tuscawilla Road while getting to the 10-acre site would necessitate drivers traveling on subdivision streets, Clark added.

"We don't want the traffic in our development. Everyone has kids here," Clark said. "We don't want our neighborhood streets turned into a high traffic area."

Clark said he and his neighbors found that the school administration is considering the purchase of the tract within the subdivision "sheerly by accident." He said many homeowners in the area saw plans showing the school site designation before they purchased their homes, but were assured those plans had been abandoned.

Clark said when neighbors called the school office some time ago about whether plans still existed to use the property for a school, they were again assured that those plans were no longer under consideration.

In addition, Clark said the 10-acre tract is adjacent to a five-acre park and much of the entire 15 acres is presently being used for athletic activities by neighborhood children.

"We haven't yet had an opportunity to do serious negotiations on the 10-acre tract," Hughes said today. "We also haven't considered the desirability of using either property. We have to determine that very issue."

On Sept. 9, the school board, on Hughes' recommendation, raised property taxes by $2.20 per $1,000 assessed valuation and designated $2 of that increase — about $5 million — to purchase a school site, build and furnish a new elementary school in the Tuscawilla area and develop special education centers at four existing schools.

The cost of acquiring the property, building and furnishing the school, has been estimated at about $4.9 million. Money, available from other sources, is to be added to the revenues expected from the tax increase for the school and the special education centers.

Suspects Held In Trucker's Murder

Two New Jersey men have been arrested in connection with the murder of Sanford trucker Homer Russell who was found beaten to death Sept. 12 at a Kearny, N.J. truckstop.

Donald Robert Clark, 29, of Long Island, N.Y., was arrested Thursday afternoon on murder and robbery charges.

A second man, 29-year-old Richard Long of Jersey City, N.J., was arrested the previous evening as a material witness to the homicide, according to Lt. Farley of the Hudson County Homicide Squad.

Kearny police found Russell dead in the cab of his 18-wheel truck robbed of his glasses, clothes, shaving kit, personal papers, CB radio and $300. Russell left Sanford last week and was scheduled to return Saturday, the day his family was notified of his death.

Autopsy reports show Russell died of a fractured skull, Farley said, and it appeared Russell may have lain in his truck for several days before being found.

Farley said Clark and Long were implicated through information developed at the truckstop but he would not elaborate.

Both men were scheduled for an initial court appearance this morning.

Farley said the final charges will be released after the case is presented to a Hudson County grand jury "in the weeks to come." — BILL HORNUNG

Soviets Demand Radical Steps To Silence Polish Labor Union

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Soviet Union gave Poland's communist leaders a virtual ultimatum today to take "radical steps" to silence an anti-Soviet campaign by Solidarity that Moscow warned had reached dangerous limits.

In its most ominous attack to date on Poland's Communist leaders, the Soviet Union charged the government had failed to punish Solidarity and Polish dissidents for waging an "unbridled" campaign against Moscow.

Further leniency shown to any manifestation of anti-Sovietism does immense harm to Polish-Soviet relations and is in direct contradiction to Poland's obligation to its alliances and to the vital interest of the Polish nation," the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party said in a statement reported by the state-run news agency PAP.

"We expect that the party leadership and the government immediately take determined and radical steps to cut short the malicious anti-Soviet propaganda and action harmful to the Soviet Union," the statement said.

The statement, first reported by PAP's Russian-language service and carried early today by Polish media, gave no indication what action the Soviets would take against Polish authorities if their wishes were not carried out.

The statement — the Soviet Union's second tough warning in four months — was delivered by Boris Aristov, Soviet ambassador to Poland, to Polish party leader Stanislaw Kania and Prime Minister Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski.

Earlier the Polish cabinet itself denounced Solidarity's policies, which it said jeopardized Poland's existence as an independent nation. It said the government had discussed "definite measures" to defend Poland against counterrevolution.

Poland's Council of Ministers, chaired by Jaruzelski, met in emergency session Thursday and condemned the political ambitions of the Solidarity leadership.

It accused Solidarity's leaders of manipulating the union and spreading chaos. It also denounced Solidarity's message supporting free trade unions elsewhere in eastern Europe.

"If one adds to this the whole, wide anti-Soviet campaign, the adventurism of such activity becomes apparent. It puts in jeopardy the independent existence of the state," the council said in a communique.

"The government has discussed definite measures which might become necessary for the defense of socialism as well as the basic interests of the state and the Polish nation."

PLAY IT AGAIN, DON

No, Don Coleman, Seminole County's school purchasing agent, is not giving a concert and Hugh Carlton, the school board's director of auxiliary services, can't even carry a tune, some colleagues say. Coleman and Carlton were setting prices today on the thousands of surplus items ranging from vehicles to pianos to school desks, ovens and copying machines. The items are to be sold to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lake Monroe School storage center. The items on sale were declared surplus because they are no longer usable in any of the county's 42 public schools. Coleman said the piano shown is one of the more expensive items priced at $95.

Reagan's AWACs Deal Imperiled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional foes of President Reagan's proposed $8.5 billion arms sale to Saudi Arabia seem to be on the brink of killing the package and handing the White House a major foreign policy defeat.

With the Democratic-dominated House already overwhelmingly opposed to the sale, 50 senators — half the Senate's membership — joined a resolution Thursday to block the package that includes five sophisticated AWACS radar planes.

Unless both the House and Senate oppose the package on a majority vote by Oct. 30, it goes through. In the meantime, the administration plans an intensive lobbying campaign.

Thirty-two Senate Democrats and 18 Senate Republicans signed up to cosponsor the resolution of opposition led by Bob Packwood, R-Ore. They also claimed to have six other Senate allies, but refused to identify them.

"The president does not believe this is the end of the struggle," said David Gergen, White House communications director. "He thinks the struggle is just beginning."

With defeat considered certain in the House, the Republican-dominated Senate has become the battleground for Reagan's proposed arms sale to America's largest foreign oil supplier.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday that the sale is essential to U.S. strategic goals in the Middle East, including fending off possible Soviet encroachment

WORLD IN BRIEF

Son Shot After Mom Finks; Ayatollah Made Her Do It

By United Press International

An Iranian mother followed the edict of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and turned in her dissident son to be shot by a firing squad in Tehran's dreaded Evin Prison, Tehran radio reported.

The man was one of 19 people, including one woman, convicted by a revolutionary court of waging war against God and corruption on earth — the crimes usually attributed to Iranians seeking to remove the Islamic regime headed by Khomeini.

Ten were members of the leftist Mojahideen Khalq guerrilla organization, which has been accused of a series of spectacular assassinations.

It said one put to death was a member of the Peykar opposition group whose mother heeded Khomeini's call to report on any suspicious family members. The woman informed on her son and "thanked God" for her son's arrest, the radio said.

Flood Alert For 3,000 Miles

PEKING (UPI)— China's "River of Sorrow" inched toward the top of an endangered dam today and authorities ordered a flood alert along the entire 3,000 miles of the swollen Yellow River.

Official newspapers and broadcasts today said nearly 150,000 people had been mobilized to fight the Yellow River's high waters through all six provinces on its course. They mentioned no casualties, but acknowledged flooding in many places.

The focus of the man-against-nature battle was in Qinghai province near the headwaters. At Longyang Gorge, about 900 miles west-southwest of Peking, some 15,000 workers completed reinforcing a dam and waited to see if it would withstand the river's strongest current in more than 30 years.

PLO Blames Bomb On Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)— The Palestine Liberation Organization blamed Israel for a devastating bomb attack on a joint PLO-Lebanese militia headquarters in which at least 25 people were killed, but a shadowy Lebanese group claimed responsibility.

The mysterious "Front for the Liberation of Lebanon from Foreigners" also claimed responsibility for another Thursday bombing aimed at a cement factory in the northern town of Chekka that killed 10 people and wounded 10 others.

Although the group claimed it planted the 265-pound bomb in the militia headquarters in Sidon, the PLO said the attack was "part of the aggressive Israeli plot and Israel's continuous war of annihilation against the Palestinian and Lebanese people."

Lebanese officials said 25 people were killed and 100 wounded in the blast at Sidon, 27 miles south of Beirut, but radio reports said as many as 40 had died.

Gromyko To Meet Reagan

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, advocating "deepening detente," arrived for today's stormy session of the United Nations and the first high-level Soviet meetings with the Reagan administration.

"It is our firm conviction," Gromyko said, "it is possible, despite the complicated international situation, to overcome the present tensions and safeguard peace."

Heated debate at the U.N. General Assembly had been predicted for today's session finalizing its agenda and credentials of delegations, with the Soviet Union angrily denouncing the U.S. idea of debating alleged use of Soviet chemical weapons in Afghanistan and Cambodia.

Couple Jailed For Attack On Hitchhiker

A 21-year-old man and his common-law wife were sentenced in Circuit Court in Sanford Thursday to jail for the Dec. 2 sexual assault of a hitchhiker in south Seminole County.

Darrell F. Jim, 21, address unknown, was ordered jailed for nine months following his no contest plea in May to a charge of sexual battery. His wife — 20-year-old Annie Mae Cotton — pleaded guilty to a false imprisonment charge and was sentenced to 10 weekends in the county jail.

In addition to the jail time, Judge Vernon Mize Jr. ordered Jim to serve three years probation after being released. His wife will have to serve nine months probation.

According to police reports, the two picked up the female hitchhiker in Apopka and offered her a ride to Sanford. The couple drove the woman to a rural area north of Lake Mary where Jim dragged her from the car slapping, and choking her. Jim then took her back to the car and tried to force the woman to have sex with him while Cotton drove the vehicle.

William A. Leffler III, Cotton's lawyer, asked for leniency in sentencing since she was the sole supporter of the couple's two children until Jim's release. Mize indicated the weekend sentences could be arranged to fit into Cotton's work schedule.

Assistant Public Defender James E. Figgatt asked the court to let Jim go free and take advantage of a structured educational program available to him under the governor's Council on Indian Affairs. Figgatt said it would also be beneficial since Jim could help support the couple's children.

Mize agreed to sentence Jim to the county jail and ordered he be entered in the county's work-release program. Mize also directed Jim to attend alcohol abuse counseling during his probation.

CRIMESTOPPERS

With the help of witnesses, two men were arrested 12:35 a.m. Tuesday after they allegedly burglarized a vehicle parked in the Hideaway North Apartments parking lot, Altamonte Springs police said.

Kenneth Joseph Willette, 19, 99 Mark David Blvd., Casselberry and Jason Roy Smith, 18, 5310 Halyard Court, Orlando, were arrested and booked into the Seminole County Jail, police said. Police said both men confessed to breaking into the car owned by Joseph Franklin Huffman, 229 Lorraine Dr., Apt. 217, Altamonte Springs. They took a 40-watt stereo power booster.

Police said Huffman and Marlin M. McDowell, 260 Lorraine Dr., Apt. 327, Altamonte Springs, saw the two men standing around Huffman's car, one carrying a paper bag. When the two men saw Huffman and McDowell, they fled, dropping the paper bag. Huffman and McDowell told police they chased the two men, caught them and called the police. A 40-watt stereo booster was found in the dropped paper bag and entered into police evidence, police said.

Bond has been set at $5,000 for each, police said.

ternoon probably has workers at the Child Care Center, 211 Hunt Club Blvd., Longwood wondering who to believe.

According to Seminole County sheriff's reports a man identifying himself as Bob Mohrhardt of the Orlando Police Department called Many Holtham — a worker at the center — and asked permission to tap the phone in an effort to catch an obscene phone caller. Providing a lot of details, down to giving Holtham his badge number, the man told her if she received an obscene phone call to try and keep the conversation going as long as possible while police traced the call.

Sure enough, about 45 minutes later, an obscene phone call came in. As Holtham talked to the foul-mouthed stranger, other workers used another phone to contact Orlando police.

Police department officials, however, said they didn't have an officer by the name of Mohrhardt.

Holtham said the voice sounded like that of a white male between the ages of 25 and 35.

'ENTERTAINING' BURGLARY

Two color televisions and a stereo valued at $1,500 were taken during an afternoon burglary Wednesday from Bond and Lois Walker's home, 401 Lakeview, Sanford, according to sheriff's reports.

Mrs. Walker said she had noticed an old, green Ford or Pontiac parked in the area when she came home for lunch around 1 p.m.

When her husband returned home about 5:15 p.m., he found a front sliding glass door had been broken with a pair of pruning shears. It appeared the burglar may have severely cut himself during the break-in since blood was found throughout the house.

A console television valued at $700, a portable television valued at $450 and a stereo worth $350 were taken, the report said.

BROTHERLY ARRESTS

Wilbur and Craig Joyner, 22 and 18 respectively, were arrested Monday for burglary of an occupied dwelling, according to sheriff's reports.

The two were arrested while inside a home at 3512 Mayflower Lane. Deputies found the screen door cut and footprints leading inside while driving by.

BOMBED AT THE BAR

Paula Reep reported to sheriff's deputies a man sounding between the ages of 45 and 50 called her at the "All In The Family Bar" and threatened to blow up the building if a relative of hers didn't return $1,800 to him.

The man said a relative of hers robbed him of $1,800 and a friend of $2,700. Reep said the man mentioned he had either two sticks or two cases of dynamite to blow up the bar.

Reep and her relative, both of Longwood, are part owners of the bar, according to sheriff's reports.

KIDNAPPING CONVICTION

William Beaver, 21, Sanford, was convicted in circuit court in Sanford Thursday of kidnapping and battery in connection with the June 14 assault on a convenience store clerk.

The six-member jury deliberated for about an hour before returning its verdict.

Judge Joseph Davis Jr. ordered Beaver jailed pending completion of an investigation into his background and sentencing.

AS A RIVER FLOWS

The parking lot of the Cork and Cleaver restaurant, 900 E. State Road 436, Casselberry, looked more like a river Monday after someone removed the sewer head cap from a nearby sewer pipe, Casselberry police said.

Police said the $40 cap was removed and a constant flow of water ran into the parking lot until the pipe was sealed. No arrests were made.

IN THE SERVICE

RICKY L. FUDGE

Airman Ricky L. Fudge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berton D. Fudge of 705 Wilshire Drive, Casselberry, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field. Fudge is a 1980 graduate of Oviedo High School.

JON C. HILL

Airman Jon C. Hill, son of John H. Hill of 181 Meadowcreek Cove, Longwood, and Kay R. Hill of 1810 Craston Ave., Bloomington, Ill., has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance training course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course were trained in aircraft maintenance, repair and service, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Hill will now serve at Dyess Air Force Base, Texas, with the 63rd Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

He is a 1980 graduate of Lyman High School, Longwood.

During the training, students receive instructions in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military court ley, military justice first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Highlight Longwood Agenda

Used Cars, Policy Changes

Considering a request from a used car salesman who wants to open up shop on State Road 434, and reviewing a proposed personnel policy manual for the city will highlight the agenda for Monday's 7:30 p.m. Longwood city commission meeting.

E.M. Birdsong has requested that the commission permit him to operate a used car business on State Road 434, east of Myrtle Avenue.

Representatives of Gallimore Homes Inc. are scheduled to come before the board to ask for approval to construct 27 duplexes in an area to be called Meadow Ridge. The community will be located on the east side of Range Lane Road if the site plan is approved by the commissioners.

City commissioners will also consider adopting their own personnel policy manual, rather than continuing to operate under the Seminole County Personnel Policy Manual, according to city clerk, Don Terry.

"We're a small city and some of the county's policies don't meet our needs," Terry said.

One of the proposed changes the city's manual would include would deal with sick leave for city employees.

If the policy is accepted, city workers would earn six sick days per year instead of the five days currently given.

In addition, employees who don't use their sick leave may be paid for the time at a half-salary rate after accumulating 15 days of unused sick leave.

City Administrator David Chacey will also ask the board for a date to set up a

Lyman PTSA Meet Tuesday

The Lyman High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association will hold its first business meeting of the school year at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school auditorium. After a short business meeting, parents will follow their son's or daughter's class schedules and meet with teachers in their classrooms.

Sanford To Appoint Committee Members

Sanford City Commissioners at their Sept. 28 meeting will appoint two new members to the charter revision committee.

Harry Stafford, an instructor at Seminole Community College, resigned from the committee because he was scheduled to teach a class on Tuesday nights when the committee normally meets.

Commissioners in recent weeks named Dan Pelham, principal at Sanford Middle School to the advisory group, after former City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan and Clyde "Robbie" Robertson resigned.

Other members of the study group are: John LeRoy; George Willis Jr.; Richard Barnett; Evelyn Crabtree, Dr. Julius Klingling; Dr. Velma Williams, secretary; Mrs. Chalfont Howell; vice chairman; and Tom Wilson, chairman.

The group has been considering revisions to the city charter since mid-March.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Hurricane Harvey maintained minimal hurricane winds of 75 mph overnight, but forecasters predicted further weakening of the storm that once threatened Bermuda with 130-mph winds. Harvey was considered a threat only to shipping. At 10:30 p.m. EDT Thursday, the hurricane was centered about 700 miles south of Cape Haze, Newfoundland, moving toward the east-northeast about 13 mph. Forecasters said it should maintain that course, continuing to weaken, over the next 24 hours. Meanwhile, the hurricane center kept close watch on a tropical weather disturbance located about 800 miles east of the Caribbean's Leeward Islands. It was moving westward at about 15 to 20 mph, but forecasters said the system showed no signs of development. Another weather front was spotted in the Mexican Bay of Campeche but forecasters said "any further development will be slow to occur."

For Criminal Record

Insurance Agent's License Revoked

A Longwood insurance agent had his license revoked by state Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter Thursday for withholding information about a previous criminal record.

Robert Ray Tanner, 104 Oaks Ways, stated he had never been charged or convicted of a felony when he applied for an ordinary life and disability insurance agent's license on Jan. 20, 1980.

A background investigation by the state Insurance Department revealed he was convicted of numerous felonies, including breaking and entering with intent to commit grand theft on Aug. 2, 1971.

Tanner was given 21 days to request a hearing but since he did not reply, Gunter revoked his license and his eligibility to hold any insurance license in Florida.

Having a felony record generally disqualifies an individual from obtaining a Florida insurance license. Further, making a misrepresentation when applying is grounds for revoking an agent's license, according to Insurance Department officials.

IN BRIEF

Court Clears Way For Oswald's Exhumation

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) — A state appeals court dissolved an injunction preventing exhumation of Lee Harvey Oswald's body but the alleged assassin's brother planned more legal action to keep the grave closed.

Attorneys for Oswald's older brother, Robert, were expected to go before a Fort Worth judge today with a motion for a temporary restraining order against Oswald's widow, Marina Oswald Porter, and the cemetery to prevent exhumation.

The five-page ruling Thursday by the Texas Court of Appeals was a victory for Mrs. Porter, who wants to open the grave to determine who — if anyone — is buried in it.

The court dissolved a temporary injunction issued a year ago by state District Judge James E. Wright, at Robert Oswald's request, banning British author Michael Eddowes and anyone acting for him from seeking to exhume the remains of the man generally assumed to have assassinated President John F. Kennedy in Dallas almost 18 years ago.

Eddowes contends a Soviet secret agent assumed Oswald's identity after Oswald's defection to the Soviet Union in 1959, then returned to Dallas and shot Kennedy.

Oops! It Must Be Catching

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — Former President Gerald Ford had a reputation for stumbling and bumping his head. But President Reagan seems to have acquired the trait and this time Ford got the save.

Reagan stumbled Thursday, when he stepped out of Air Force One to descend the ramp on arrival for the dedication of Ford's presidential museum.

Ford had gone up the steps moments before to welcome Reagan to Grand Rapids on the gloomy, rainy day and it was Ford, right behind Reagan, who grabbed the president's arm and escorted him down the steps.

Throughout his campaign in 1976, Ford's stumbles were well publicized. His most classic moment was in Salzburg, Austria, when he slipped on the steps on his arrival for a state visit. It was raining then too.

Measles 'Imported' To U.S.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Federal health officials, seeking to eradicate measles from the United States by October 1982, today urged U.S. citizens traveling outside the country to make sure they are immune to the disease.

The suggestion was triggered by a report from the national Centers for Disease Control that an increasing proportion of measles cases in the U.S. resulted from persons bringing the disease into this country from abroad.

The CDC said that in the 18-month period from December 30, 1979 through July 4 of this year, 146 cases of measles were imported.

The proportion of cases reported as being imported increased from less than one percent in 1980 to more than two percent during the first 26 weeks of 1981. The number of importations remained roughly the same, averaging 1.8 importations per week in 1980 and 2.0 importations per week in 1981.

Currently, there are no federal requirements for measles immunization for U.S. residents traveling abroad or for foreigners entering this country.

Porno Filmmaker Arraigned

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A 41-year-old man accused of luring Baltimore children to perform in films produced for an international pornography ring will be arraigned today in a Miami federal court, an FBI spokesman says.

Special Agent Edward G. Hegarty said David E. Houstle, who eluded law enforcement officials for more than three years, was arrested Thursday afternoon when he arrived on an overseas flight at Miami's airport.

Houstle and five other men were indicted May 3, 1978 on 24 charges related to an international child pornography ring allegedly headquartered in a Baltimore garage.

The federal grand jury indictment charged that the operation involved the production, processing and international distribution of obscene films depicting explicit sexual acts of children between the ages of six and 15, who were recruited in Baltimore.

'Geriatric Guard' A Big Hit

By BILL HORNUNG
Herald Staff Writer

The only problem with the Sanford Police Department's "Geriatric Guard" program is some of the participants forget to tell the department they'll be stepping out for the day. And the search is on.

Usually it is a simple matter of talking to a neighbor, friend or relative and then the responding officer can relax, said Chief Ben Butler.

"Geriatric Guard" is a code name of sorts for a program in which older persons can have a police department representative check on them each day. Usually a phone call or a quick stop at the house is all it takes to let the participants know someone cares.

Butler said the program has been a "real success" with 13 regularly involved in the program and as many as 25 periodically.

Butler said the program will probably peak at 35 members. Many of the older people in town still have nearby relatives or friends, he said, so the program should not grow too large.

Others are invited to join the program, he said, by calling 322-4082

Once it is determined a caller actually needs the service, a police department representative will be sent to the home to collect certain information like relatives' addresses, medication requirements and general habits.

The program is structured on a need-basis and is not a transportation or errand-running service.

The "Geriatric Guard" is similar to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office Project Concern and Lifeline programs. There are more than 100 persons involved in the two programs.

'Gypsy Moths' Demand Deeper Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Moderate House Republicans who stood by President Reagan in earlier budget fights say they may oppose his new plans to cut spending unless the president slashes deeper into defense.

The loosely knit group said Thursday they want Reagan to cut defense next year by more than four times his proposed $2 billion.

"We reached the conclusion that $9 billion was a reasonable figure," said Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Mich., chairman of the group of more than 30 northern Republicans.

Known as the "gypsy moths," they delivered their message to House GOP Leader Bob Michel of Illinois Wednesday night and at a news conference on Capitol Hill Thursday.

Reagan told reporters Thursday he would resist pressures to cut any more than $2 billion from Pentagon spending next year.

The president could not have won his earlier budget fights without the solid support of Republicans and withdrawal of support by the moderate group would likely endanger his chances of getting the cuts he wants.

Congress already has cut $35 billion from fiscal 1982 spending, but the administration is seeking about $16 billion in additional reductions to keep the 1982 deficit from exceeding Reagan's goal of $42.5 billion.

"Spend a little now to save a lot."

"I would say that any time you can spend a little money now to save a lot of money over a long period it's a pretty good investment. And that's how I feel about insulation and those other energy-saving features in our house," says Mr. Robert McMahon of Cocoa. He and his wife, Jean, estimate they save $30 to $40 a month because of their initial investment in the Watt-Wise Living™ package at the time they built their home.

What's a Watt-Wise™ package? It's a combination of features that meet FPL's energy-saving standards and can be easily included in the construction of a new home. Over a period of years they can save you substantially more than they cost.

Watt-Wise homes have cost-saving features like extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar or heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump. Power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors, with glass areas planned to minimize heat build-up.

Today, there are many ways to save on electricity without giving up comfort. You'll find them in FPL's Watt-Wise Living Program. Today, it's one of the wisest investments you could make. Stop by your local FPL office and pick up a free brochure.

Toward Lasting Mideast Peace

The talks at the White House between President Reagan and Premier Menachem Begin of Israel could be the most important conversations Ronald Reagan has ever held on U.S. foreign policy.

The course this country follows in the Middle East in months and years to come may well reflect the impressions given and the lessons learned in these first meetings between Reagan and Begin.

Reagan brought to the White House a strong inclination to support and defend the state of Israel against its Arab enemies.

But that predisposition has been tested by Begin's air raids against an Iraqi nuclear reactor outside Baghdad and against the headquarters of the Palestine Liberation Organization in downtown Beirut, Lebanon. Moreover, when the United States suspended shipments of modern jet fighters to Israel after the Israeli air strikes, Begin criticized the U.S. action and said Israel would never put itself in the position of having to ask permission to take the actions deemed necessary for national survival.

On the other hand, Begin has objected to the Reagan proposal to sell AWACS radar planes and other modern weapons to Saudi Arabia, on the ground that the Saudi weapons could threaten Israel's security.

Thus Begin is in the position of claiming absolute authority to use in any way he sees fit the modern weapons provided him by the United States (as part of an Israel aid package that costs American taxpayers $2 billion a year) while also claiming the right to veto an arms sale by the United States to the Saudis (which would result in payment by the Saudis of $8 billion to American defense firms).

More important than these arms sales controversies, however, is the future of the Camp David peace process, President Carter's proudest achievement in the foreign policy field.

President Reagan has seemed reluctant to follow up on Carter's initiative. Carter sent Robert Strauss and Sol Linowitz as his personal emissaries to press the Israelis and the Egyptians to an agreement on autonomy for the Palestinians who live under Israeli military rule in the West Bank and Gaza Strip areas seized by Israel from the Arabs in the 1967 war.

But no agreement was reached. And the autonomy talks have been stalled for a year. Reagan has not named a new negotiator and his administration was surprised when Begin and Egypt's President Anwar el-Sadat recently agreed to reopen the talks.

Some Americans believe we should keep hands off, let the Israelis and the Arabs go their own ways, and hope for the best. That hasn't worked before. The Camp David agreement would never have come to pass without American leadership.

Peace with justice in the Middle East is too important an objective of American foreign policy to be cultivated with benign neglect. We have been, are and we will be too deeply involved to wash our hands of the whole affair at this point.

The tidal currents of history flow strongly, stop and then reverse. The tide toward peace and Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist must be kept running—and that will require continued leadership from the White House.

"Say something Orwellian about nuclear war!"

By TENI YARBOROUGH

You can bet this fits the, "a funny thing happened on the way to the office," category.

I received a call from my brother-in-law, Bill Townsend, the other day and he said I might be interested in something that happened to the office secretary at Formitex cabinet manufacturers, where he works.

When I got to the shop in Port-of-Sanford, this is what I was told:

It seems Thelma Bringardner, 32, 136 Bedford Court, Port-of-Sanford, was driving to work one morning — as usual. But, this morning wasn't usual. In fact, what happened to Mrs. Bringardner has made her vow to "never go down that road again."

On her way to work, Mrs. Bringardner said she stopped behind a school bus. When the bus pulled away from the curb, she noticed it swerved a bit and suddenly she knew why. There in the middle of her path stood a man.

"I just couldn't imagine what he was doing in the middle of the road," Mrs. Bringardner said. "But then he walked up to my window and asked if he could ride with me. I found that a bit odd and I said no you can't because I'm going to work."

But the man wasn't convinced Mrs. Bringardner didn't need a traveling companion. So, he jumped on the hood of her car as Thelma attempted to drive off.

"Then, he jumped onto the roof and started banging so loudly I could hardly hear," Mrs. Bringardner said.

Mrs. Bringardner said she is still amazed he didn't fall off the car because "I didn't slow down either. All I could think of was just get to Formitex and the men will take care of it."

She said at one time the man did fall off the roof and he landed on the hood. He also restricted her vision by lying against the windshield.

"When I got to Formitex, I just blew the horn until the men came out," Mrs. Bringardner said. "They were so good about it. No one started fighting, they just made him get off the car and leave."

"You could have hit that man with a two-by-four and it wouldn't have fazed him," Formitex Manager Harry Stiffler said. "It was sad; you could tell something was wrong with him."

"We made him go on down the road," Townsend said. "Then, we called the police just to let them know about him." Townsend added Seminole County deputies took the man to Florida Hospital-Altamonte.

Unions Are In Trouble

On Saturday, the AFL-CIO is scheduled to hold a protest rally in Washington under the title of "Solidarity Day." The name for the demonstration undoubtedly is an effort to link the protest to the Polish organization that stands up against abuses of power by the Communist Party in that country.

The AFL-CIO seems a bit off target, however. It will be hard to equate the Reagan administration with the Polish regime. President Reagan's spending and tax cuts will be the target of the protest.

The idea of a day of protest in the Capitol may prove to be counter-productive. There's no indication that union members, let alone the vast majority of non-union workers, are outraged by the Reagan effort to eliminate welfare abuses and achieve economical government. The blue-collar vote is increasingly conservative.

The AFL-CIO's decision to use the demonstration tactic suggests that many of its leaders are out of touch with the views of industrial workers.

Douglas M. McCabe, assistant professor of Industrial and Labor Relations at Georgetown University, recently commented on the changes in the union movement.

In a recent newspaper article, Prof. McCabe said that "cracks are appearing" in the foundations of union philosophy. He made these comments:

"The productivity of the American worker is scandalously low. Despite an increasing population, the percentage of the working force which is unionized is at its lowest point in recent decades — around 20 percent. Employers are plagued with absenteeism, tardiness, drugged workers and shoddy workmanship. Companies are going abroad for the production of component parts and finished products. Misappropriation of pension funds by union leaders in some unions is a way of life."

This is a harsh indictment of unionism and its effects. But the unions need to face up to the need for change and the public's demand for it.

One of the fundamental changes needed in the union movement is the introduction of democracy into its operations. The ordinary union member has little or no voice in union decision-making. National union leaders are far removed from the rank and file. They are isolated figures who call for the return of the New Deal era. They completely ignore the vital issue of worker productivity, for instance.

A recent article in the Wall Street Journal suggested that a few AFL-CIO staff members realize that a new public relations approach is necessary. The unions will have to sell their product to working people. This makes more sense than trying to shut down public services and industries, as a demonstration of union power, which one labor leader wants to do. That will only antagonize the public.

Unions, as they exist at this time are obsolete. They fail to address real problems in the working place. They completely fail to realize that the interests of workers lie with higher production and increased corporate profitability. Until there is recognition of that fact, the union movement is in danger of extinction.

Smokers 'Very Stupid,' Says Ad Agency

WASHINGTON — Cigarette smokers will be interested to learn that a leading New York advertising agency considers them to be illogical, irrational and stupid.

That's the description used in a confidential 1975 report by the Ted Bates ad agency to Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., the maker of Viceroy cigarettes. The confidential report — seen by my associate Tony Capaccio — notes that many smokers perceive their habit as "dirty" and dangerous, and think only "very stupid people" get hooked by it.

"Thus," the Bates report observes, "the smokers have to face the fact that they are illogical, irrational and stupid. People find it hard to go throughout life with such negative presentation and evaluation of self. The savors are rationalization and the repression that end up and result in a defense mechanism." Needless to say, the cigarette companies' ad men are more than willing to help cigarette smokers bolster their defense mechanisms against attacks of self-loathing. Their enthusiasm in this endeavor cost the tobacco companies a record $1 billion for advertising in 1979, according to official government figures.

In a section defensively titled, "How to Reduce Objections to a Cigarette," the Bates report acknowledges that there are "not any real, absolute, positive qualities and attributes in a cigarette." So to reduce objections, the advertising must give smokers a rationale for their illogical, irrational and stupid behavior.

A Brown & Williamson internal document, dated March 3, 1978, entitled "Viceroy Strategy," notes repeatedly that its advertising campaign must provide consumers with a rationalization for smoking and a "means of repressing their health concerns about smoking a full flavor Viceroy."

The company's strategy report concedes that smokers of "full flavor" cigarettes — those which have plenty of flavorful tars — are particularly prone to guilt trips, and thus badly in need of encouraging advertising.

"Full flavor smokers perceive cigarette smoking as dangerous to their health," the strategy report observes. "Given their awareness of the smoking and health situation, they are faced with the fact that they are behaving illogically. They respond to this inconsistency by providing themselves with either a rationalization for smoking or by repressing their perceptions of the possible dangers involved."

The B & W battle plan pursues its Freudian theme in describing how Viceroy's competitors have dealt with smoker angst: "To date, major full flavor brands have either consciously or unconsciously 'coped' with the smoking and health issues in advertising by appealing to repression."

In Brown & Williamson's view, the whole smoking scene is rampant with dingbats — irrational puffery repressing their reasoning processes and unconscious puff artists desperately trying to cope with the task of selling a product with no positive qualities.

About the only positive approaches proposed by the B & W strategists are "to communicate effectively that Viceroy is a satisfying, flavorful cigarette which young adult smokers enjoy," and what they call the "feels good" campaign.

The latter is a frontal assault on the smoker of breathtaking, Napoleonic simplicity: It "appeals to the smoker by repressing the concerns he may feel about smoking by justification: If it feels good, do it; if it feels

Class Of 1981

The news from the post-commencement campus is both good and bad, depending upon what this year's graduates may have gotten out of their four years of blood, sweat and black coffee.

If it is a degree in engineering, the recipients are at the top of the class as far as prospects for getting a good start in their profession are concerned. The College Placement Council, an academic survey organization based in Bethlehem, Pa., reports that engineering graduates are most in demand by employers hiring talent fresh from the campus — 65 percent of all job offers — and can also expect higher beginning salaries than other four-year majors — in the $25,000 range.

Business graduates did not do quite so well, receiving 22 percent of the offers with the highest salaries going to accounting majors — an average $17,016.

And now we come to the academic welfare cases — the graduates in humanities and the social sciences. They represent 33 percent of all '81 degree recipients (compared with 7 percent for the engineers) but had to scramble for only 4 percent of the offers. And the rewards for the few successful seekers of jobs in their chosen fields were not all that sweet — beginning salaries averaging some $14,000.

That would appear to be a discouraging commentary on the standing of the arts and softer sciences in our society. On the other hand, it may reveal precisely the opposite. Although the practical professions are clearly where the money is, great numbers of younger Americans are still willing to settle for less to pursue more aesthetic interests.

The arts are not only alive, but persistently popular.

Final note: In a class by themselves are the top graduates of the law schools. The very best from the best schools have been recruited by New York City's most prestigious firms, highly competitive standard-setters for the profession, at starting salaries of as much as $43,000.

That could be even more revealing about our litigious society, if you want to make a case of it.

Built-in obsolescence may be a thing of the manufacturing past if the innovation of one firm catches on.

A cookware maker is offering a 100-year limited guarantee on its line of aluminum pots and pans. General Houseware Corp. is so confident of the durability of its Magnalite Professional products that it says it is prepared to repair or replace items defective in material or workmanship free for a century from date of purchase.

The long-term backing also guarantees heirloom value to those who will acquire the still usable utensils from the original buyers, who won't be around to see the warranty out. There had to be a catch.

Second Thoughts on Headlines Department:

"OPEC sets price talks next week."
From the New York Times, reporting a special meeting of oil ministers in Geneva to renew efforts to unify exporters' prices.)

Yes, and we already know who as usual will be set upon.

Some Interest In Lupus

By JAN ZIEGLER

BOSTON (UPI) — Henrietta Aladjem once met up with a disease called the red wolf. She, unlike many others, survived to talk about it.

The disease is systemic lupus erythematosus. Lupus is Latin for wolf; erythematosus means red in Greek.

It is incurable, but no longer obscure.

"For the first time in centuries, there is suddenly an interest in the disease," Mrs. Aladjem said. "People of importance are stepping forward to give us a hand."

Lupus is a chronic inflammatory disease which can affect the skin, blood, kidney, heart and nervous system. It afflicts more people than muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, cystic fibrosis or leukemia.

Nearly half a million Americans are victims of the disease, which strikes primarily women of childbearing age and kills more than 5,000 women in the United States each year.

Composer Ludwig von Beethoven and poet Emily Dickenson may have been victims of lupus. Georgia novelist Flannery O'Connor was a victim of lupus.

The first mention of lupus in medical literature was in 1278 when it was thought to be a skin disease, Mrs. Aladjem said. Its marks sometimes resembled the bite of a wolf, which gave the disease its name.

Mrs. Aladjem, 64, a Newton, Mass., resident originally from Bulgaria, was diagnosed as a lupus victim in 1953 after nearly 10 years of unexplained illness.

After costly, painful treatments and a battle with nearly all the symptoms the disease has, her lupus mysteriously went into remission in 1970.

Since then, Mrs. Aladjem has become a one-woman crusade against lupus. Seven years ago she helped start the Lupus Foundation of America with Dr. Peter Schur of Brigham and Women's Hospital.

Schur said lupus patients are victims of their own immune systems, which become overactive and attack the patient's own cells rather than bacteria and other invaders.

"The imbalance probably occurs in individuals who are genetically predisposed," he said. "The triggering factor may vary from person to person — but it includes certain drugs, virus infection, excess sun exposure, pregnancy and other unknown factors."

It may begin with any combination of symptoms, including a rash, weakness, fever, anemia, joint pain, arthritis, hair or weight loss, pleurisy, kidney inflammation, bruising, seizures, false positive tests for syphilis, vomiting, severe headache and exhaustion or confusion.

The disease can attack various organs, causing their failure and the victim's death.

In 1954, Schur said, only 40 percent of lupus victims could be expected to live for three years. Now, the survival rate is much higher. Ten years after diagnosis, 90 percent of lupus sufferers are still alive.

The reason is that tests to detect lupus are better and available nearly everywhere. Also, drug treatments have become more effective, and sunscreens are available for lupus patients who are allergic to sunlight.

Some victims are often diagnosed as having other diseases or psychosomatic disorders — or they aren't diagnosed at all. Sufferers have been labeled as neurotic or schizophrenic when they have lupus of the central nervous system.

Mrs. Aladjem said most sufferers of the disease are plagued by chronic fatigue.

"The majority of patients experience a fatigue. It's not just that you're tired. It's as if you're dead, but you're alive," she said.

Mrs. Aladjem said she has found there are still doctors who haven't heard of lupus. Many doctors — especially those who finished medical school in the 1940s and 1950s — know little about the illness, she said.

"To them, lupus is a paragraph in a textbook."

Appeal Set In Ruling On School Hiring Dispute

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A ruling by an arbitrator, which School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. says "usurps the power of the county's school superintendent," is being appealed to the Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court.

Arbitrator Harold Kramer ruled some weeks ago that the School Board violated its contract with the Seminole County Bus Drivers Association when a secretary rather than a bus driver was hired as assistant route manager in the schools' transportation department.

While the school board admits that the July, 1980 contract with the bus drivers' union promised to give "first consideration" to currently employed drivers for openings in the transportation department, Julian insists the school board had no authority to grant that concession. He told the board state law gives the superintendent the power to recommend persons for appointment to positions and the board only has the power to approve or disapprove his appointments.

In the recently ratified new contract with the drivers, that language no longer exists. The new contract says present employees shall be given equal consideration with all other applicants.

Kramer ruled that the board must declare the position vacant, readvertise the position and give bus drivers preferential treatment in an appointment.

Ron Boeth, business agent for the bus drivers told the school board Wednesday night that a "crucial morale problem is involved." By appealing the arbitrator's decision, he said the board would be "making a mockery of labor relations."

School Superintendent Robert Hughes said, however, that while state laws concerning school superintendents, school boards and collective bargaining may not be consistent, a negotiated contract cannot supersede state law. And, as Julian said, state law gives the superintendent the authority to appoint personnel.

The dispute between the union and Woodrow Burnsed, supervisor of transportation, arose after Burnsed announced he was hiring a secretary for the post.

Burnsed agreed to interview other applicants. He interviewed four bus drivers and the secretary before hiring the secretary.

A grievance was filed with Burnsed, appealed to then-School Superintendent William P. Laver and finally appealed to the school board. The appeal was denied at all three levels before the issue went to arbitration.

Julian urged the board to deny arbitration, saying they contract giving preferential treatment to bus drivers violates state law.

The board this week on a vote of 3-1 authorized an appeal to the circuit court to set aside the arbitrator's ruling. Member Roland Williams was absent. Voting in favor of the appeal to the court were William Kroll, Al Keeth and Pat Telson. Nancy Warren voted against.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Safe And Secure Florida Means Big Tourist Bucks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The issue of law and order in Florida is important not only to the state's residents but also to the people outside the state planning a visit, Gov. Bob Graham said Thursday.

"It's important to the tourists in deciding where they want to spend a quiet, pleasant week," Graham told the closing luncheon of the 14th annual Governor's Conference on Tourism.

That is why the Legislature's decision to increase the budget for state law enforcement agencies, including the state attorneys' offices, by $100 million ultimately will reassure Florida-bound tourists, he said.

"It's an investment in a safe and secure Florida," the governor said.

The governor predicted "another great year" for Florida tourism in 1981 and said the final figures could challenge the record set in 1980 of more than 1 million visitors spending $17 billion.

Nazi Surrogates Shot Jews

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — A Holocaust survivor called to the witness stand by government prosecutors trying to revoke the naturalized citizenship of a Fort Lauderdale man has testified she saw Ukrainian police participating in atrocities against Polish Jews during World War II.

Maria Frohlich, 59, said Thursday she never saw Bohdan Kozly, who the government says was a Ukrainian policeman who patrolled Poland for the Nazis in the early days of the war.

But she described the role played by the Ukrainians in atrocities that included the killings of several thousand Jews and in their daily repression.

Mrs. Frohlich, a student in Stanislaw in the early days of the war, described the day two Ukrainian policemen showed up at her house and led her and her parents to a massing of Jews in the middle of town that culminated in the shooting deaths of thousands.

The Ukrainian policemen led her father to a truck filled with Jews, she said. That was the next-to-the-last time she ever saw him. Later that day she caught a distant glimpse of him in a cemetery where the Jews were being shot.

Florida Don Before Jury

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Santo Trafficante Jr., reputed head of the Mafia in Florida, made a brief appearance before a federal grand jury in Tampa Thursday.

He spent less than 15 minutes before the panel and when he exited, refused to talk to reporters.

U.S. Strike Force attorneys Bill James and Chris Hoyer refused to identify any of the several other witnesses going before the grand jury, nor would they say what was under investigation.

Trafficante, 66, surrendered to federal marshals in Miami in June to face a charge he was involved in a union insurance kickback scheme.

Burglars 'Bugged' To Death

MIAMI (UPI) — Police hope the deaths of two burglars prowling through a house that was being fumigated will end a string of similar breakins at tented homes throughout south Florida.

Three policemen investigating a reported burglary found the men inside the home, which had been tented and sealed off and then filled with an anti-termites mixture of methylene bromide and tear gas.

Calvin Davis, 21, of Miami, died Thursday afternoon at Jackson Memorial Hospital. A few hours earlier, Johnny Anderson, 21, also of Miami, died after police pulled the two from a tented home they were trying to burglarize.

"This should be a warning to everybody," Dr. Bednarczyk said. "Don't go into a house that's tented."

A Golden Cure For Economic Ills?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the nation grapples with inflation, high interest rates and economic stagnation, one group claims it has a remedy for all of these ills — gold.

Today, a 17-member federal commission was to hold its first open meeting to examine arguments for and against a return to some form of "gold standard" under which the dollar would be convertible into gold at a fixed rate.

Chaired by Treasury Secretary Donald Regan, the panel includes seven members of Congress, three governors of the Federal Reserve Board, two members of the president's Council of Economic Advisers and four private citizens. One of its first tasks will be to decide whether to request longer life.

Congress created the commission last year. But the administration didn't appoint its members until this past June. The panel met once in July. Now it will expire Oct. 7 unless extended by Congress.

Some members have said they would have nothing to do with such a quick study.

In an interview this week, Regan said he would seek an extension and aim for a report "by the first part of 1982." Until then, he said, he would remain "absolutely neutral."

But addressing 800 people at a civic federation dinner in Chicago this week, Regan said, "I don't think the odds are very good that the United States will adopt a gold standard."

The classical gold standard, under which a nation defined its currency in gold and then bought and sold gold to maintain the price, was adopted by Britain in 1816, by the United States in 1879 and operated in most of the world until World War I. Other kinds of gold standards came and went in later eras.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt ended the domestic gold standard in 1933 and President Nixon erased its last vestiges by closing the government's international gold window in 1971.

Some of the same "supply-side" economists who pushed the Reagan administration's tax cut say a gold standard is the next logical step. California economist Arthur Laffer says it would reduce inflation, lower interest rates and foster economic growth.

Lewis E. Lehrman, a New York businessman and a member of the commission, says the classical gold standard produced 100 years of price stability, while inconvertible paper money throughout history has brought inflation.

Their basic idea is that gold, a commodity whose supply grows slowly, is a natural monetary regulator.

Move To Downplay JFK Name Laid To Reagan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and some Harvard University faculty members say the school is trying to de-emphasize the use of John F. Kennedy's name at the JFK School of Government.

Students at orientation week have been given brochures referring to the "Harvard School of Government," rather than the Kennedy school.

Harvard officials deny they are trying to discount the Kennedy name, the late president's brother isn't so sure. Edward Kennedy reportedly is trying to find a copy of a 1966 letter in which Nathan Pusey, then the university's president, and former U.S. Sen. Robert Kennedy agreed the Kennedy name would be permanently affiliated with the school, which opened several years ago. Harvard President Derek Bok said "there is not now, there never has been, nor will there ever be any proposal or effort to change the name of the John F. Kennedy School of Government."

Police Pay Bargaining To Be Set Soon

Negotiations between Casselberry and the police union could begin anytime, according to Orange County Police Benevolent Association (PBA) President Eric Manuel.

The Casselberry Police Department recently voted to be represented by the PBA.

"I sent a letter to Mayor Sheppard, at his request, telling him of our desire to all down and negotiate," Manuel said. "I also told him that if the budget is approved as is at Monday's council meeting, the PBA would file an unfair labor action against the city."

Police are protesting the deletion of the $300 annual public safety incentive pay in the proposed fiscal 1981-82 budget. Final approval of the budget is slated for Monday, Sept. 21.

According to Sheppard, the incentive pay is no longer necessary and an unfair labor action is "erroneous."

"The purpose of the pay in the first place was to bring starting pay up to parity," Sheppard said earlier. "With the cost of living raises the public safety personnel have received, the incentive pay is no longer necessary."

Manuel said he is waiting to hear from the Casselberry administration on a date to begin labor negotiations. — TENI YARBOROUGH

Sanford Faces Howell In 'Gotta Give' Game

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole At Lake Howell

Something's gotta give. Coach Jerry Posey's Fighting Seminoles travel to Lake Howell tonight for an 8 o'clock battle with Coach Mike Blaceglia's Silver Hawks. Both squads were shut out last week in their season openers.

Elsewhere in the county, Lake Brantley entertains Apopka in another key Five Star clash and Oviedo travels to St. Cloud. Trinity Prep opens its season on the road against always tough Frostproof. Lyman was blanked by Daytona Beach Mainland Thursday night, 19-0.

Titusville Astronaut blanked the Tribe a week ago, 19-0. Bishop Moore stunned the Hawks, 20-0. Seminole ran the ball fairly well as fullback Lenny Sutton piled up 89 yards and wingback Johnnie Little chipped in 88 on just nine carries.

Lake Howell, on the other hand, didn't do much right. The "Slippery Hawks" fumbled eight times. Scott Frick, who had several good outings last year as a backup to Bob Capobianco, couldn't generate any offense from Howell's veer attack. Sophomore Troy Quackenbush took a shot too, but didn't fare any better.

"This is the worst game I've ever been associated with," Blaceglia said following last Friday's nightmare. "We had a total breakdown, it was a team loss."

Tonight, the game takes on a greater significance since it's the first Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 contest. Howell won the conference and the district last year. Seminole won it two years ago.

This early season matchup will probably come down to defense. This isn't any great revelation since neither has crossed goal line yet, although Seminole did reach the five yard line against the War Eagles.

Tribe defensive coordinator Dave Mosure was encouraged by his defense in the late going of the Astronaut setback. "The positive aspect is that on the last possession by Astronaut the kids could have lain down and let Astronaut walk into the end zone.

"But they didn't do that. They stuck them and in fact stuck hard enough to knock their tailback out of the game," said the fiery ex-South Miami head coach.

Mosure will be looking for the same fire again tonight from his defense. Defensive back Vince Edwards had a great night for Seminole with 11 tackles. On one occasion, the county 440-sprint champ of last year ran down an Astronaut running back from 20 yards back to save a touchdown.

Posey too, was impressed with the defensive performance. The personable Seminole coach was on hand Wednesday at the Sanford Optimist Club meeting to hand out Edwards' Player of the Week Award.

"A lot of guys might have just pulled up when they saw that guy 20 yards ahead of him," Posey pointed out about Edwards' rundown effort. "But Vince really went after him. That's the kind of performance we're going to need at Lake Howell."

Tonight, the Tribe will key on Howell halfback Scott Grant, who rambled for over 500 yards in his first three games last year, but had a lackluster night against the Hornets.

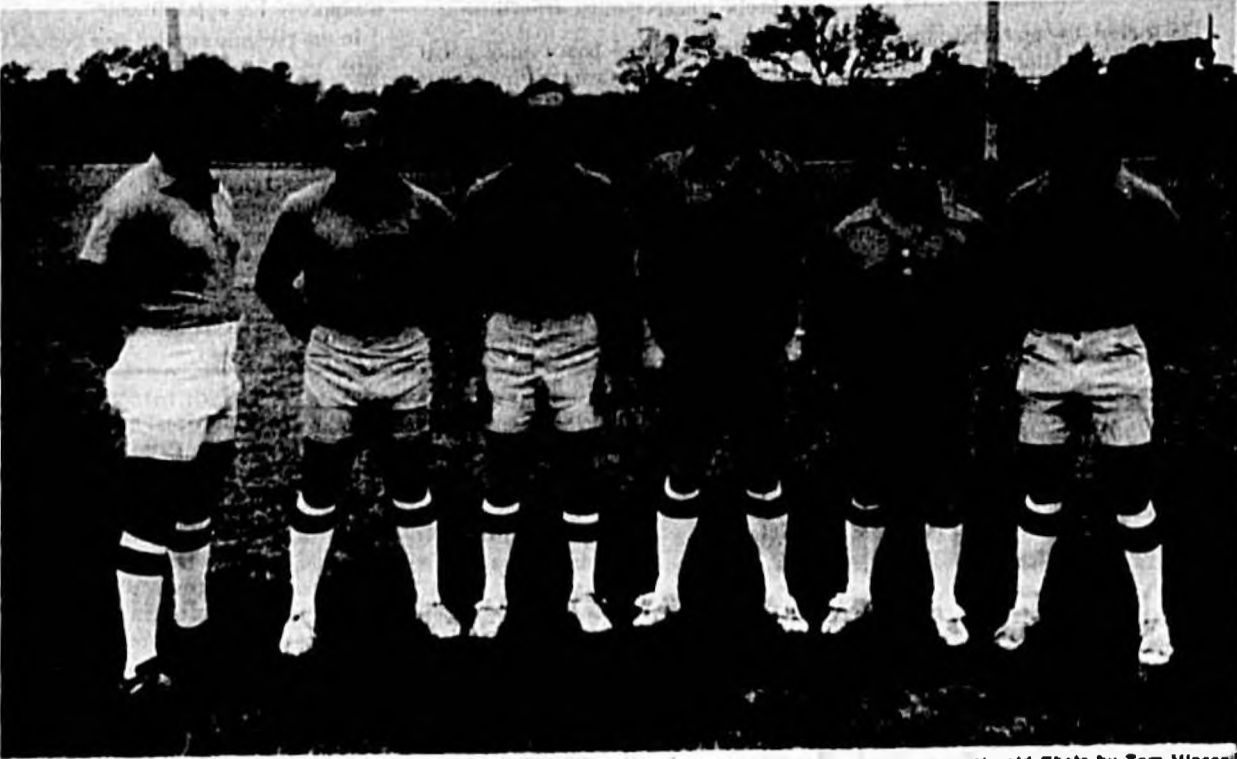

Grant is joined by Billy Mosblech and Ricci Magaro in the backfield along with Frick. The Hawks may open the air attack tonight as Carlos Payas and Nat Edmonds are two sure-handed wideouts.

Posey, nevertheless, is worried about his team's execution. "We killed ourselves with the offsides and the clipping last week," said Posey. "We were dominating on the ground, but we had four or five penalties that kept us from moving the ball."

Heading Seminole's relentless ground game are guards Donald Crosslyn and Doug Sanders along with center Jay Hauck. Six-foot-3, 243-pound tackle Isaac Williams always lines up strong side on the Tribe offense.

"I saw a lot of stuff I liked," assessed Posey about last Friday's opener. "But one thing we got to do is to punch the ball in when we get down close."

"I'm hopeful that the reason we didn't punch it in was because Lenny (Sutton) wasn't there," said Posey. Sutton sprained his ankle on a carry at the five yard line when he lost two yards and missed the whole fourth quarter.

"We just don't have the depth. (Tackle) David Williams had to go both ways all night," continued Posey. "We've had to use Sutton some at linebacker."

"When somebody goes down for us, we've got to shuffle real fast," concluded Posey.

The Tribe boss hopes that shuffle will take them into the end zone a few times tonight.

Edgewater Performance Satisfies Hammontree, Brantley Captures Girls

Cross Country

Lake Howell cross country coach Tom Hammontree was looking for consistency. He got it. Lake Brantley cross country coach Jim Marshall was looking for victory. He got it.

The two girls, Seminole County rivals, left the Edgewater Invitational Thursday afternoon at Trinity Prep's course with satisfaction as Marshall's girls won the team title and Howell placed third.

"We're where we want to be," said Hammontree about his girls who scored 81 points for the second straight week. "I was pleased with the 81 points because the competition was a lot tougher this week."

Ellen Stern headed Brantley's big trio of Tracy Bonham (fifth) and Kathryn Hayward (13th) with a fourth place finish as the Patriots captured their second team crown within a week. Last Saturday they won the Greyhound Invitational.

While Stern improved her time for the two mile by 15 seconds with a 12:33 clocking and Bonham clipped off 19 seconds by running 12:35.9, Marshall pointed to his fourth and fifth place runners as making the difference.

"Dayna Miller and Traci Rowland made the difference in our win," said Marshall about the 67-79 edge over DeLand. "It was Dayna's first race and she ran very well."

Miller and Rowland, both sophomores, finished 20th and 25th respectively for Brantley.

In the girls junior varsity competition, Lake Mary freshman Kim Averill ran third at Lyman against Joe Laughlin's JV title by 41 points.

Averill eclipsed the school record held by her with a 13:42 time for the two-mile course. It broke the previous mark by 19 seconds.

The Rams boys' record also fell when Mark Blythe placed 20th in 18:02 for the three-mile course. The time shattered Blythe's previous best by 53 seconds. The Ram girls finished eighth with just four runners. The boys were 12th.

In the girls 3A and under, Andrea Pollitowicz and Sanford's Tracy Johnson, helped Trinity Prep to a third place spot. Pollitowicz ran a 12:30 for third. Johnson was 12th in 13:34.2.

Gina Miller (sixth, 14:05) and Debbie Vanorden (ninth, 14:26) paced the winning effort. "We're just lucky enough to have so many girls," pointed out Hammontree. "Our varsity and JV roster changes each week."

In the boys part of the meet, Edgewater blew away the rest of the field with 24 points. Lyman was next with 85. Doug McBroom, Adam DeMino and senior Randy Beary were the top three Greyhound finishers.

The next big meet on tap for the county team is next Saturday at the Lake Brantley Patriot Invitational. The girls JV begins at 9:30 a.m., followed by the girls varsity at 10 a.m. The boys varsity will be at 10:30 a.m. and the boys JV at 11 a.m.

Saturday, Nate Perkins Seminole girls ran at Lyman against Joe Laughlin's girls at 9 a.m.

Lake Mary High School's Jeff Hopkins (above) booted the all-important extra point with just 1:29 to play to lift the Rams to their first football victory ever, 14-13 over Lake Brantley. Running back Greg Shatto scored the TD to tie the game on a one yard run. Lake Mary plays its third game of the season Thursday at home against Spruce Creek. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Lake Mary 'Rams' First Victory Into Record Book

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary's Rams made football history Thursday night.

At 9:33 p.m., head coach Roger Beathard chalked up Lake Mary's first pigskin win in the school's infantile history by edging Lake Brantley's JV Patriots, 14-13.

The Rams had to make optimum use of a late Patriot turnover and a brilliant effort by the Pat's super sophomore Donald McKenzie who rambled for 230 yards on 20 carries and notched both of Lake Brantley's touchdowns.

Trailing 13-7 with 3:13 left in the game, a high snap on a Patriot punt attempt set the Rams up for the game-winning score with a first and 10 at Lake Brantley's 11-yard line.

Fullback Greg Shatto carried four straight times, notching the winning score with just 1:29 to play. Jeff Hopkins trotted on to boot the successful PAT and put the lid on Lake Mary's first win.

"It feels real good," said Beathard about his first victory as a head coach and Lake Mary's first win for the record books.

"After last week's close loss we talked about reaching down for what it takes to be a winner. It's something that doesn't come easy."

The Ram's first score of the night came plenty easy. And early. Halfback Will LaValle gathered the game's opening kickoff, squirted up the middle, then bounced outside to dash 90 yards for a touchdown. Hopkins made good on his first of two PAT's to put Lake Mary in front with a quick 7-0 lead.

Both the Patriots and the Rams managed to move throughout the remainder of the first half.

McKenzie and the Patriots got things going quickly in the third period. Lake Brantley took the opening kickoff and scored four minutes into the stanza on a zig-zag 32-yard scoring scamper by McKenzie. John Harris' PAT attempt was partially blocked, however, leaving the Patriots behind 7-6.

After recovering a Ram fumble midway through the final period, McKenzie flashed into the end zone again for Lake Brantley. His second scoring romp covered 53 yards while Chuck Stallings booted home the all-important PAT to push the Patriots in front 13-7 with 8:06 to play.

The Patriots were unable to move and with 3:28 showing attempted to punt from Lake Brantley's 25. A high snap sent both squads scrambling for the ball before defensive tackle Mark Hudson recovered for Lake Mary at the Patriot 11.

From there Shatto did the scoring honors to tie the game and Hopkins' PAT sealed the win.

Will It Be 'The Barn,' Or 'The Mohawk' ?

While Joan Biscaglia and a friend were sitting in Conneaut, Pa. waiting for the ferry one night, some curly-haired guy came along and told them the ferry was closed.

Joan and her friend believed that one. After all, if you were going to a place called "The Barn," you'd probably believe it too. So when Joan and her friend caught a ride with this guy named Mike Blaceglia and his brother, they headed off to "The Barn."

Much to her dismay, however, when they reached "The Barn," she couldn't get in because she was only 19. "Then we were stuck with them all night," recalled Joan with a laugh.

The evening wasn't a total loss, though, because they went to "The Mohawk." Wow, was Jerry Posey there? He's Fighting Seminole. That's pretty close to a Mohawk.

Posey, I'm sure, would like to have his linebacking corps of Antonio Davis, Greg Register and Byron Washington checking identification of Silver Hawk touchdowns and then turn them away.

It will all be decided Friday night at Lake Howell. Will it be "The Barn" or will it be "The Mohawk"?

Joan responded that Posey wasn't there, but she had been thinking about Indians this week. And she hopes her husband-coach Biscaglia and his Lake Howell team will enter the Seminole end zone tonight as easily as she entered "The Mohawk."

Our other county forecaster this week is Mary Montgomery, the wife of Oviedo football coach Joe. Mary received her indoctrination into football at an early age, so the transition was an easy one into Joe's lifestyle.

"I was supposed to be a boy," recalled Mary. "I used to tag along with my father to all the football games."

The Montgomerys were high school sweethearts in Warner Robbins, Ga., but the flame flickered slightly after graduation and they didn't get back together until they both attended the University of Georgia.

Mary insists on a Lion victory tonight at St. Cloud. "I'm not dumb about football, you know," she was quick to point out. "My father trained me."

We'll see how good of a job he did after this weekend. — SAM COOK and JOE DeSANTIS

Montgomery Rolls Up Yards As Eagles Whip Bills, 20-14

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Wilbert Montgomery wanted to run Thursday night and the Philadelphia Eagles let him. So did the Buffalo Bills. Montgomery was part of an Eagles' ground attack that gained 160 yards against the Bills in the nationally televised game. He rolled up 125 yards on 27 carries against a Buffalo defense that had only allowed 175 yards on the ground in its first two games.

"I'm feeling good and I wanted to run," the five-year veteran said. "They gave me the ball. You can't shut down every team that comes in here with a running game like ours."

The unbeaten Eagles' ability to move the ball on the ground opened up their air attack, with Ron Jaworski connecting on a pair of touchdown passes to Keith Krepfle and Harold Carmichael for a 20-14 victory.

The touchdown to Krepfle gave Philadelphia a 7-0 lead in the first quarter and silenced a boisterous, sellout crowd at Rich Stadium. The Bills came right back, however, when Joe Cribbs ran over the right side early in the second quarter to make it 7-7.

The Eagles countered with a 29-yard field goal by barefooted kicker Tony Franklin, but the Bills gained a 14-10 halftime lead when Joe Ferguson found wide receiver Frank Lewis on the receiving end of a 20-yard scoring pass.

Valenzuela Ties Shutout Record

By United Press International
Fernando Valenzuela became the first 13-game winner in the National League Thursday night in the process of snagging a piece of baseball history.

"It pleases me to do that well," Fernando Valenzuela said Thursday night after setting a National League record and tying the major-league standard of eight shutouts by a rookie by hurling the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-0 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

"Those records have special meaning, especially for a rookie," continued the 20-year-old lefthander.

Valenzuela shares the major-league record with Ewell Russell of the 1913 Chicago White Sox.

Even in a year of heroics, Valenzuela has seldom pitched a better game. He allowed but three hits and struck out six. At one point he retired 12 in a row and allowed no hits until two out in the fifth.

"The only thing that's important is that we won," he said. "I wasn't tired but I lost a little control in the late innings. I'm pleased we won and that I got a win."

In becoming the first 13-game winner in the league, Valenzuela, 13-4, also aided his own cause by singling in a run off loser Rick Mahler, 5-6.

At San Diego, Craig Reynolds capped a five-run first with a bases-loaded triple and Danny Heep stroked a pair of two-run singles in support of Joe Niekro's second shutout of the season.

At Montreal, Darrell Porter bashed his fourth career grand slam and doubled in another run. The win moved the first-place Cardinals 3½ games ahead of Montreal in the East.

Kuhn, Aaron Make Up

ATLANTA (UPI) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and home run king Henry Aaron mended a 7-year-old controversy Thursday during a luncheon at which Kuhn termed this year's split-season as one "better forgotten."

The controversy erupted back in 1974 when Kuhn ordered the Braves to play Aaron on the road, despite the team's wishes that the man known as "the Hammer" break Babe Ruth's home run record before hometown fans. Although Aaron hit the tybird cinnati, the record-breaker, No. 715, came in Atlanta on April 8 of that year.

Kuhn's absence at the game where Aaron shattered the record widened the rift and drew criticism from Aaron.

But the two men shook hands and said all was forgotten.

Red Sox Rip Detroit, 6-1; Heat Up Pennant Race

By United Press International
The pennant race arrives in Boston tonight and Boston Red Sox pitcher Bill Campbell foresees a sell-out crowd.

"I think you'll find it tough to get a seat in Fenway Park this weekend," he said Thursday night after the Red Sox ripped Detroit, 6-1, to complete a four-game sweep and set up a weekend series against the Yankees.

"I've got a feeling there'll be a few people here," agreed lefthander Frank Tanana, who will oppose New York's Rick Reuschel in Friday's opener. "But... at this point we have to keep playing like we are and winning like we are."

By polishing off the fading Bengals, the Sox find themselves within a half-game of first place in the AL East. They also are meeting the team that took the 1978 division from them in a late-season, four-game sweep still referred to as the Boston Massacre.

"I don't look at the past, this is a different ballclub," said Jim Rice, a member of the '78 team.

homer in the eighth. Rookie Bob Ojeda raised his record to 6-2 by struggling through seven innings.

"I couldn't get the ball inside," said Ojeda, who threw 134 pitches and walked five in a seven-inning stint.

"Jimmy's home run provided a nice cushion," said Campbell, who pitched the final two innings, striking out four to earn his sixth save. Detroit scored its only run, in the sixth, when Ron Jackson led off with a single to right, moved to third on a single up the middle by John Wockenfuss and scored on a Brooksens' sacrifice fly to deep center.

"We've just got to get together again and do the things that got us winning," said Jackson, who had two of Detroit's seven hits.

In the only other game in the AL, Baltimore downed Cleveland, 6-2. In the NL, it was Los Angeles 2, Atlanta 0; Cincinnati 1, San Francisco 0, in 10 innings; Houston 9, San Diego 0; St. Louis 7, Montreal 4, and Philadelphia 3, New York 2.

At Cleveland, Eddie Murray, who has a .329 career average against Indian pitching, singled home two runs to highlight a four-run seventh inning to pace the Orioles.

Baltimore's Scott McGregor, who needed relief help from Tim Lardner in the eighth, scattered 10 hits, struck out five and walked none in picking up his 11th victory against three losses.

Leonard-Hearns — Good Fight, But Not Greatest

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Even with the $8 million he'll get for his 14th-round technical knockout over Thomas Hearns in what was a good fight but certainly not the greatest one in history, Sugar Ray Leonard short-changed himself a bit.

"I proved my point," he said after the fight, wearing dark glasses to cover a bulging purplish welt under his left eye. "I proved I'm the best welterweight in the world."

That he did. Plus a little more. He proved he could take it on the jaw from a fighter like the lanky, dangerous Hearns, possessor of the hardest right hand of any man in his division, and he also proved he has a good enough punch himself to dissipate the notion he's basically a stylish boxer and little of anything else.

The first words Leonard said to Mike Trainer, his longtime friend and adviser, after the fight was over, suggested Leonard knew there was a question among some people about those two points.

"We did it!" he said to Trainer. "We showed 'em."

"I pulled this one out by reaching down into my guts, into my heart," said the now undisputed world welterweight champ. "I knew I had to reach down and pull out the different. That was the round in which Leonard suddenly took the initiative. It was at this juncture much of the steam suddenly seemed to go out of Hearns. Whether it was because he was tired or because he couldn't formulate an adequate defense, he allowed Sugar Ray to press his advantage in the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds.

Hearns rallied momentarily in the 10th but still wasn't the same fighter he had been in the early part of the contest.

After Hearns picked up the pace somewhat to take both the 11th and 12th, Leonard gave a foreshadowing of things to come in the 13th when he thundered into Hearns with such fury and force with both hands, he nearly drove him through the ropes.

Hearns, who never had been knocked down to the canvas before and actually still wasn't, was so completely helpless sitting on one of the rope strands Pearl began counting. The referee reached the count of nine when the bell rang, which was just about the time Hearns moved off the ropes.

Leonard was after Hearns like a flash to start the 14th, hammering away at him relentlessly with both hands. Hearns again sought refuge in the ropes and by then the outcome was so clear in Leonard's mind that he raised both hands in a victory gesture even before Pearl stopped the fight.

Behaving perfectly at the end, Leonard didn't rub it in on Hearns at the news conference. He said the loser was "not just a good fighter, but proved he was a marketable commodity" and had given him the toughest fight he had ever had. He also apologized to Hearns for having said he had "no brains" before the fight.

"I asked him if he was hurt at the end of the sixth round," Leonard said, "but he didn't respond."

Hearns said Leonard had hurt him but he still had his wits about him in the 14th and felt the referee shouldn't have stopped the contest when he did.

"I knew I was ahead," he said. "He's a very good fighter and I would like to say there is no animosity between me and Ray. Definitely, I'd like a rematch. I did the best I could but it just wasn't good enough. As they say in Detroit, 'I shall be back.'"

Hearns managed a smile. "Better luck next time," he wished himself.

Blue Darters, Pats Look For Equality

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Sports Writer

Apopka At Lake Brantley

All games are created equal. But some games are more equal than others.

While last Friday night's prep season opens certainly count in the win-loss column, this week's slate takes on even more significance. It's called play-in in your own backyard. It's district game time for the Five Star and Orange Belt. Time for would-be challengers to take the first step in the path to a playoff berth.

Two squads who ground their respective ways to tough defensive battles on opening night — Apopka and Lake Brantley — square off at "Big Blue" country in just one of several backyard brawls.

Chip Gierke's Blue Darters, pre-season picks by many to win the conference, went down, 7-0 to Evans last Thursday night in a monsoon.

Dave Tullis' Patriots played under balmy skies and came out on the short end of a 6-0 double tie breaker to Colonial as the Metro Conference roughed up two Five Stars.

While both the Darters and the Pats displayed the ability to stop the ball in week one, it's the success in moving the pigskin that has both Tullis and Gierke pondering.

"I'm very concerned about the consistency in the offense," Tullis agreed. "We've got to find some plays we can hang our hats on and do something with."

Tullis hinted that while there wouldn't be any wholesale shakeups, the Patriot lineup could have a few different faces.

"We know this is a district game, but we take all of our games as important," added Tullis. "It gives us a chance to redeem ourselves and look good, or bad."

While Tullis had nothing but praise for a stellar defensive effort sparked by Burger King Defensive Player of the Week linebacker Kyle Davis, he's a little concerned about another defense. Apopka's.

"They always seem to come up with strong defensive teams, and I think they've got one of the better ones this year than they've had in the past."

Gierke thinks so too.

"We made a commitment to defense right from the start this year," offered Gierke. "You know, some nights you can come out and not do the things you want to do offensively, or maybe you have to play in the rain which can hurt your offense."

"But if you come out every Friday night and play good defense, you'll be in all of your ball games."

The Blue Darter defense bottled up Evans all night only to lose to a turnover combined with poor field position.

"I don't think there's any question that we whipped them. The turnover hurt, but defensively I think we're deeper than we've ever been."

Offensively, the Blue Darters had their share of problems.

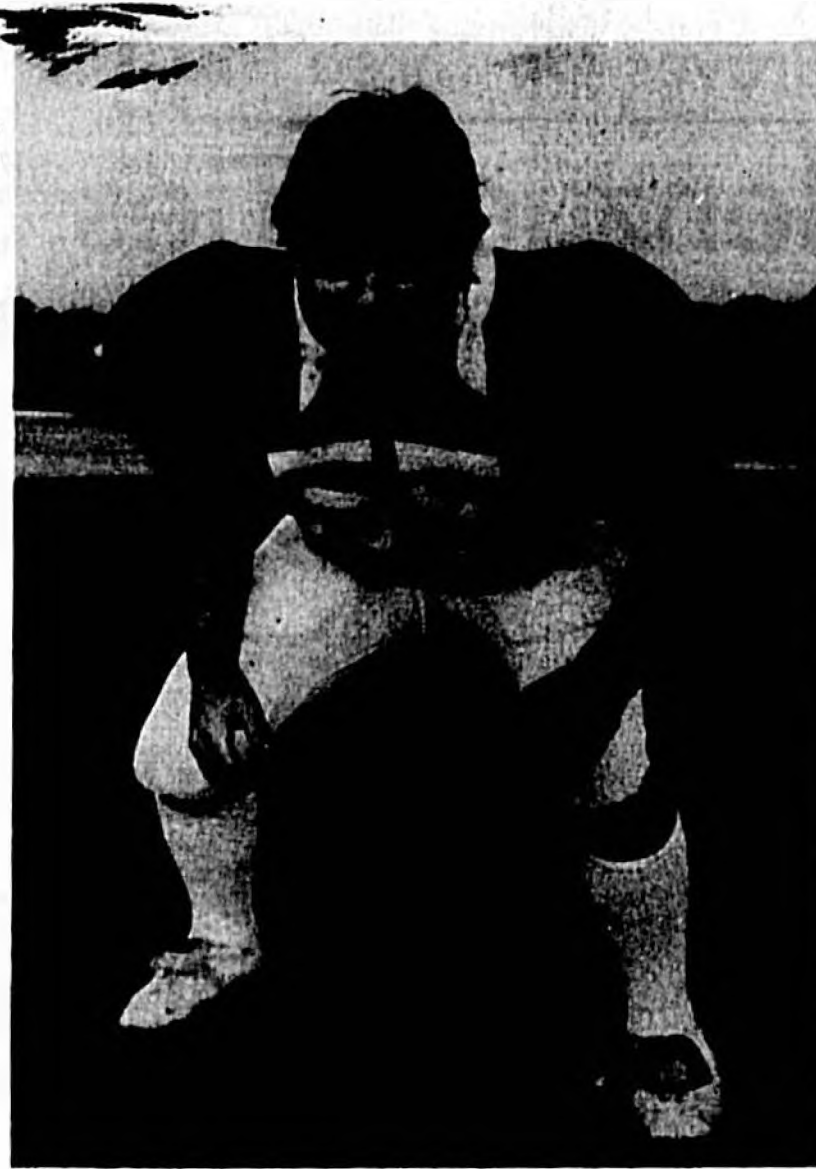

"It's execution," understated Gierke. "But we've got a quarterback that I feel is really going to develop. He had a basic case of opening night jitters."

One starting performer Gierke won't have to wait on to blossom is senior halfback Arnel Lykes, who turned in 20 carries for 104 yards in the Darter's opener.

"He's just getting healthy, too," says Gierke. "Friday night he should be back to 100 percent and his endurance will be improved after an ankle injury. Anytime Arnel is healthy, you have a distinct advantage," said Gierke.

"He can start one way and wind up going eight different ways," agreed Tullis. "We have to practice our pursuit angles because of his speed."

Thanks to a Thursday opener, Gierke

Pats' Kyle Davis...best defensive player was one of several thousand on hand to see Lake Brantley against Colonial.

"I think their backs will be a little more determined to run against us," assessed Gierke. "But I don't think they'll be able to run too much on us. I wouldn't be surprised to see number 44 (Fred Baber) in there at quarterback."

"Neither one of us scored last week," reminded Tullis, "so something's got to give."

"We know the importance of the game and they know it," agreed Gierke. "We needed a tough opener so we could come prepared to play, I'm sure Lake Brantley has the same thing in mind."

PATRIOT POPS — After reviewing game films, Tullis and the Patriot coaching staff selected their outstanding players from the Colonial contest.

Offensive tackle Billy Hartman picked up the Offensive Player of the Week award while hard hitting Kyle Davis notched the Pat's Defensive Player of the game laurels. Davis, who seemed to all over the field against the Grenadiers also picked up Lake Brantley's Hit Man award for the hardest hit of the game, which severed a Grenadier return man from the pigskin on the game's opening night.

Greyhound 'Tip' Pays Off, Mainland Cashes In Win

Lyman

DAYTONA BEACH — Mainland's Buccaneers received a tip on a greyhound here Thursday night and turned it into a Five Star Conference victory.

The 2-0 Bucs parlayed two "tipped" pass plays into touchdowns for a 19-0 victory over the Lyman Greyhounds in the opening Five Star contest for both schools at Memorial Stadium.

Mainland upped its record to 2-0 and 1-0 in conference. Bill Scott's 'Hounds leveled off at 1-1 and 0-1 in the Five Star.

While the "tipped" passes were instrumental in Mainland's second two scores, it was a short punt by Johnny Poor which gave the Bucs excellent field position early in the first quarter.

Lyman received the kickoff but was unable to move. Poor got off a low, line-drive boot which Isaac Pell grabbed at the 'Hounds' 41 yard line and returned four yards.

After halfback Al Hawkins lost a yard, senior quarterback Marty Edwards found Eric Somerlund on a down-and-out pattern for 23 yards and a first down at Lyman's 15.

Edwards lost a yard and then threw incomplete. On third down, Bell ripped off seven yards on a trap play to set up a fourth-and-three situation. Bell got the call again and the nimble junior went off tackle for a first down at the four yard line.

Greyhound defensive end Gene Allen sacked Edwards for a loss to the six yard line, but Hawkins came back on an inside trap play and darted into the end zone.

And when Bell booted the extra point, Mainland held a 7-0 edge with just 4:42 remaining in the first segment.

On Lyman's second possession, junior tailback Vince Presley picked up 19 yards in three carries for the 'Hounds' initial first down. An offside penalty plus two more runs by Presley and Theo Jones gave Lyman good field position at its own 47.

Junior signal caller Jerry Axley rolled left on the next play and lost the handle on the football while optioning down the line. Pat Reese recovered the ball for Mainland.

The "tipping" surfaced in the second quarter. The Buccaneers marched to the Lyman 35, but when the 'Hounds' held tough, Brad Davis arched a punt toward the coffin corner.

Before it reached the corner, though, junior return man Todd Marriott mistakenly downed the ball on the one yard line. After three Presleys produced only two yards, Poor atoned for his earlier short kick by booming a beauty to the midfield stripe.

Bell picked up the ball on the fly and returned it 16 yards to the 34. Bell slipped off tackle for nine yards before Earl Griggs lost three yards.

On the next play, Edwards pitched to Bell, who headed toward the right and then pulled up and arched a wobbler down field. Safety Carl Quisenberry zeroed in on the underthrown toss, but the ball tipped off his hands and into those of wideout Alvin Hudson who frolicked into the end zone as "Quiz" rolled languishly on the ground.

The kick was wide, but the first tip gave Mainland a 13-0 bulge with 6:43 to play before intermission. The pass play covered 25 yards.

Presley again ran for a Lyman first down at the 47 yard line with 10 yards in three tries. On first down, Axley rolled right and uncorked a pass which linebacker Joe Rotinski tipped into the air. Cornerback Paul Watson alertly picked off the deflection and returned it to the Buccaneer 48.

Edwards then marched the Bucs 52 yards in 10 plays for Mainland's third score of the first half. The key plays were a nifty 24 yard keeper by Edwards and a personal foul penalty.

The late hit gave the Bucs a first and goal at the seven yard line. Hawkins ran for five and Edwards squeezed through the middle on the next play for the TD. A run for the points after failed. Only 1:58 remained, but the Mainland lead had been built to 19-0.

Nelson's Football Prediction Formula Proves 70 Percent Successful

Editor's note. Lake Mary's Cliff Nelson is a former Lake Mary city councilman who has been predicting football for his own fun and enjoyment for several years. The former Naval Aviator has developed six formulas to predict the outcome of professional football games. Beginning Sunday in the Evening Herald, Nelson will tell football fans about one of his six formulas and give his choices for the week. Nelson is married to the former Virginia Smith and has one son, Chris, who lives in Sanford. The following is Nelson's account of how he became interested in predicting football games.

By CLIFF NELSON
Football Prognosticator

Predicting the results of professional football games started as an incidental hobby — an accidental adjunct of being a football fan. I have always been an avid football fan, although I never played the game for any high school.

Too small to play football in high school, too busy to play in college and the war years, and too old to play after the war, I simply became one of the faceless millions of Americans who never missed the big game on Saturday or Sunday afternoons.

Football is such a fine spectator sport, that watching the game with a congenial group doubles everybody's pleasure. We always had such groups, and everybody had a favorite team. This naturally led to much good natured bickering about whose team was best and for what reasons, and inevitably led to a little betting as a means of settling the argument.

This in turn led to an argument over point spreads, and exactly how many points should Joe give in order to bet his favorite team. This is a fine sport, and one team always won. But the losers still smarted in defeat, and paid up grudgingly with many snide comments about how the point spread was determined. I was always one of the sorest losers. I still am.

We usually used one of the syndicated experts like Jimmy the Greek, or Harrah's, or Dunkel to be the final factor in determining point spread, but I observed that these experts were frequently wrong. A brief investigation revealed that they were only right about 60 percent of the time. But that 10 percent plus edge over 50 percent was enough to keep them in business. The average American bettor bets on instinct and loyalty, and very rarely on facts. This makes him wrong more than 50 percent of the time.

I reasoned that the results of these games were predictable, or the gambling moguls would be out of business. Fixing that many players was unthinkable. If they could predict the point spread of future games, they must have a system or formula using past performance statistics, because obviously that is all that is available. But which statistics? And what formulas? I was determined to find out. Unfortunately you just can't ask for this information. You might as well ask a miser to turn over his gold.

Here was the real challenge. I wanted to find out how it was done. Jimmy the Greek puts his pants on one leg at a time, just like everybody, and I'll bet he never played football in his life. If he could do it, by Golly, so could I! If I could come up with a formula, not only could I have the edge on the group betting, but I could take credit on all the winners and blame the formula for all the losses.

I did it, but it didn't come easy. I spent the summer of 1976, 1977, and 1978 accumulating and analyzing football statistics, devising formulas from carefully screened constants, and carefully replaying every game of the previous year to prove or disprove the validity of an idea.

The bookkeeping chore was so overwhelming, that I eliminated college football and concentrated on just the NFL so that data could be more manageable. The sheer number of statistics on yards gained passing, yards gained rushing, individual player statistics, field goal and punting records, points scored by a team, points scored against a team, and games won or lost numbed the mind.

Each formula dreamed up (and there were about a dozen) had to be checked and double checked before it was tossed out, or retained for further testing. Each year I used a formula that was new, or an old one with improvements. The results improved steadily, but were far from perfect. My predicted win percentage climbed from 58 percent to 60 percent to 63 percent to over 70 percent which it is today, but I still look for the elusive small factor which will make the results better.

That is the basic flaw in using statistics of past performances to predict future events in sports. The game is not static, is fiercely competitive, and the variables affecting the scoring are countless. The most perfect formula cannot account for these variables.

Every team and coaching staff roster is constantly changing, some games are played indoors on artificial turf, and others are played in the mud, the rain, and the snow. Jet lag affects players as they are whisked from coast to coast each week. The fact that the results are predictable at all is amazing.

My original objective was to devise a formula or system which would enable me to predict the winners of professional football games with higher accuracy than the established experts. This I have done for the past two seasons. However, my objective has now changed. There is an ultimate percentage less than 100 that can be reached in the consistent prediction of winners in professional football. I am sure that it is higher than my record last season of 73.21 percent.

My new objective is to find that ultimate percentage point. Somewhere

CLIFF NELSON
... picks the pros

there are one or more small factors which I have overlooked, not found, or considered in the wrong context. As I find each one, my capability to predict winners will increase by a tiny increment. It is an intriguing quest. But I will keep looking for these winning edge factors. Possibly forever.

Pell Prepares Gators For Tech

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida coach Charley Pell had a few of the boys over to his house last Saturday after the Gators beat Furman, 35-7, when a rumor began circulating that Georgia Tech had upset Alabama, 24-21.

Some of the guests assured Pell it was true, others denied it, saying Alabama had trounced Georgia Tech, 27-0. To find out the real story, someone called the local newspaper, which verified the Yellow Jackets had won.

"Suddenly, that coke I was drinking didn't taste nearly as good," said Pell, an Alabama alumnus who says Gators must play the Yellow Jackets Saturday at 1:30 p.m. on Florida Field.

The question of whether Georgia Tech's win was a fluke naturally arises. Tech finished 1-9-1 last year. Florida, which mauled Georgia Tech, 45-12, in 1980, has the dubious honor of learning the answer first.

The party in Gainesville was tame compared with the celebrating in Atlanta, where second-year Georgia Tech coach Bill Curry basked in the limelight after returning victorious from Birmingham.

"I've never been around a group of young men who kept their heads up after being so maligned, insulted and under-rated as they were," Curry exulted.

But the Georgia Tech team of 1981 is not the same one as last year. For openers, they've got freshman tailback Robert Lavette, whose high school rushing statistics are second only to Herschel Walker in Georgia history.

Against Alabama, Lavette returned three kickoffs for 56 yards, rushed for two touchdowns and caught a pass.

Lavette is Georgia Tech's No. 3 tailback behind Jimmy Stanley, who sat out most of 1980 with an injury. David Allen, last year's starter, is now a third-teamer. All this means there's less pressure on fullback Ronny Cone.

CHARLEY PELL
... looks for second win

The improved running attack also helps pass-minded quarterback Mike Kelley, a three-year starter. He completed 9 of 19, including a 22-yard scoring pass to Cone, against Alabama.

Florida has been plagued with injuries, the major ones being ankle injuries that have slowed or forced to the sidelines defensive tackle David Galloway, a pre-season All-America pick, and noseguard Robin Fisher.

Other key players who have been hobbled are fullback James Jones (ankle), tight end Chris Faulkner (turf toe), wide receiver Tyrone Young (knee), and defensive tackle John Whitaker (knee).

Florida's strongest position now is quarterback, where sophomore Wayne Peace and junior Bob Hewko both see action.

Peace is 22-44-5 for 277 yards, while Hewko, who has played less time, is 7-17-1 for 89 yards. Each has passed for two touchdowns apiece.

Kaff-Kaff! Michigan Can't Stop Irish

Egad, friends, the season is still in knee pants — heh-heh — but this could be the week that was for some of the major powers. Um-kumph!

Yes, dear readers, this may be the week that was for the loser of the Michigan-Notre Dame clash in Ann Arbor, Mich.; for the tail-ender in the Nebraska-Florida State encounter at Lincoln, Neb.; for the loser in the Miami-Houston tussle under the moon over Miami; and for the second-place finisher in the Clemson-Georgia engagement at the Tigers' Memorial Stadium.

This — kaff-kaff — a sad fact of football life that someone wins and someone loses. Um-kumph!

Over the past two seasons Notre Dame has defeated Michigan by a total of four points — 13-10 in 1979, 29-27 in 1980. Jove! You can't play them much closer than that.

This Saturday some 105,000 lucky spectators at Michigan Stadium will see some spectacular plays by Wolverine wide receiver par-excellence Anthony Carter and by Notre Dame's All-America running back Phil Carter. The Battle of the Carls will be worth the price of admission. We look for the "luck of the Irish" to prevail as Notre Dame records a three-point win, 31-28. Har-rumph!

When Florida State takes the field against Nebraska, the Seminoles will be embarking on probably the most difficult five-week voyage ever attempted by a collegiate eleven. During those five weeks they'll face Nebraska, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Louisiana State — all on the road. Egad, Seminoles coach Bobby Bowden was right when he said the last one to attempt a schedule like that was General Custer. Kaff-kaff!

Would that we could pick Florida State to win this Saturday. But, alas, that is not to be. The Cornhuskers will be gunning to avenge the 18-14 defeat hung on them by the Seminoles last season. In a wild and woolly affair, we see Nebraska prevailing by a 35-21 count.

The Orange Bowl will be rocking Saturday night as the veteran Houston Cougars, sporting 23 lettermen, do battle with the host Miami Hurricanes, who number 41 lettermen on their roster. The home-field advantage and the pinpoint passing of QB Jim Kelly will give Miami a 20-21 victory.

The Clemson-Georgia showdown will be a two-man show with spectacular QB Homer Jordan starring for Clemson and glittering Herschel Walker rambling at will for Georgia. The Hoopie scouts see Heisman candidate Walker putting more numbers on the board than Jordan, thus insuring a Bulldog triumph, 33-24.

Here is how we see some of the other featured matchups: Arizona State 20, Wichita State 8; Florida 28, Georgia Tech 18; BYU 48, UTEP 7 (in the — haw-haw — Alphabet Soup Bowl); Southern Cal 33, Indiana 15; Alabama 36, Kentucky 14; North Carolina 26, Miami (Ohio) 13; Pitt 36, Cincinnati 10; Ohio State 30, Michigan State 22; Texas 30, North Texas State 16; Washington 28, Kansas State 7; and UCLA 38, Wisconsin 21.

The Ivy League kicks off a full schedule with Harvard downing Columbia, 21-14; Dartmouth taking Princeton, 31-18; Yale defeating Brown, 21-4; and Cornell whipping Penn, 28-7.

In the West, the Stanford-San Jose State contest will be a bitter-sweet situation for Coach Jack Elway Sr.

Elway's San Jose Spartans will give their usual good account of themselves. But they will fall prey to the all-around abilities of Stanford's exceptional quarterback — Jack Elway Jr. This father-son confrontation will go to the son's forces, 35-21. Hak-kaff!

Saving the best for last, we give you the Hoopie Three-Star Upset Special of the day: The Grambling State Tigers in their first-ever meeting with SMU will stun the Mustangs, 29-27. It will be another glorious triumph for veteran coach Eddie Robinson — who in his 39 years at Grambling has amassed an amazing 291 victories, only 92 losses and 12 ties. Truly remarkable!

Remember, dear readers, you saw it first in Hoopie. Har-rumph!

Ball Moss Will Not Kill A Healthy Tree

Ball moss and Spanish moss are a natural and beautiful part of the Florida landscape.

Contrary to popular belief, these WILL NOT KILL A HEALTHY tree.

Each year we receive many reports from county residents of persons coming around door-to-door saying that there is ball moss in your trees and unless you pay to have it removed or sprayed the trees will die.

Beware, because this procedure is not only costly but usually unnecessary.

Tom Davis
Urban Horticulturist
322-3238

Both ball moss and Spanish moss are epiphytes or air plants, not parasites, and they manufacture and obtain food and nutrients from the air, sun and rainwater. They do not take any food or nutrients from the trees as people are often told.

Most of the calls I get concerning moss control are in oaks, usually larger trees. To help understand the nature of moss you first need to know a little about the life cycle of our oak trees.

First of all, it is quite common to lose a number of smaller branches each year due to dieback, particularly on larger oaks. There is no way to prevent this natural occurrence from happening. This is when ball moss and Spanish moss get the blame because when the foliage falls off, the moss becomes much more obvious and stands out.

Then, when you are inspecting your trees and see smaller branches which have died back and all this moss on them, it is natural for one to put the blame on the moss.

However, this is not the case. If you look a little harder you will note that the moss is on the healthiest of branches as well. It isn't nearly as obvious because the branches have foliage on them.

As for as controlling moss, there are certain situations when it is advisable. These are as follows: (1) If there is just so much Spanish moss on the tree that the limbs are being heavily shaded from sunlight or (2) If there is an over abundance of moss on a particular limb that you fear breakage due to the moss being waterlogged after much rainfall, and (3) If you personally just don't like the appearance of the moss.

Control can be achieved by pulling the moss from trees with a long hook pole or by spraying the moss with copper sulfate. For exact rates contact our office for instruction.

Mike Martin, our Urban Forester, concurs fully with the facts and recommendations in this article and also has publications on both Spanish moss and ball moss which are free upon request through our office.

RSVP 10th Anniversary Celebration Set

The 8-year-old Program in Seminole County joins the nation in the anniversary celebration Wednesday. Leona Brown volunteers her service at Altamonte Springs Library and Cultural Center where she worked with preschoolers during the summer.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Seminole County will celebrate its 10th anniversary Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. at the Senior Citizen Multipurpose Center, 200 N. Lake Triplet Drive, Casselberry.

In 10 short years, the RSVP program has grown nationally from 11 projects in 1971 to 707 projects with more than 260,000 volunteers operating in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and Guam.

In Seminole County, the RSVP program began in July 1973 with four volunteers reporting 16 hours. Last July, 320 volunteers served 5,354.5 hours.

The volunteers serve at nonprofit community service organizations, health care facilities; governmental agencies and schools.

This year the RSVP volunteers will enrich the county by 65,000 hours of service.

The public is invited to attend the reception.

For most of the men and women in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, it's not enough for them to merely "be busy," they want to be involved in the community in a way that will enrich their lives and help improve the quality of life for others.

Sure, many of them enjoy bridge, trips, dances and precious time with friends, but somehow that doesn't fill the need in their lives to do something meaningful — to reach out — to touch another in a way to make his/her life better or easier — to help a child struggling to understand a mathematical concept or to learn the ABC's; to bring a bit of cheer into the life of a nursing home resident who has no one who cares; or to assist with the nutritional needs of a housebound individual.

When Charles Pastor retired from the post office two years ago, he and his wife, Julia, decided they wanted to do something — "not just sit around."

"We like being busy, and we love helping other people," explains Julia.

So for four hours a day, five days a week, the Pastors assist in preparing for delivery the Meals on Wheels and in the feeding of approximately 60-90 individuals who congregate at a meal site to satisfy social and nutritional needs over a hot, nutritious lunch.

"I love it," declares Charles, whose smile never seems to fade. "It gives me great satisfaction to help other people...to take a look at them and know I can help them — not financially but in other ways. It does me a lot of good, even though it's a lot of responsibility."

While Charles Pastor chose an area to volunteer work that differs from his life's work, Marion Aaronson, a retired beautician chose to stay in her professional area.

She explains that she has a "desire to help people enhance their appearance which in turn helps with their self-esteem."

Every Monday morning, Mrs. Aaronson, bright and bubbly, boards the RSVP van and heads to Life Care Center where the residents are anxiously awaiting the special treatment that Mrs. Aaronson patiently and lovingly extends to them.

"She wouldn't dream of rushing through her special customers, as she massages their scalps, gives permanents, cuts, shampoos and sets."

"It's a personal desire on my part to see that people get the personal care that they were in the habit of giving themselves years ago," explains the 76-year-old volunteer. Also volunteering at Life Care is Florence Garrity.

Although she was 80 years old in March, she continues her twice weekly visits to the nursing home where for five hours she brightens the lives of residents as she delivers ice water and tends to the patients' needs.

Most RSVP volunteers work four hours weekly at a station of their choosing. Occasionally, in addition, they serve at a different location, which adds variety to their service.

Leona Brown has worked at the Information Desk at the Seminole County Courthouse for the past five years. However, this summer she helped at the Altamonte Springs Library in the summer storybook hour.

These volunteers are not unique. There are 325 more like them in the RSVP program, which will celebrate its eighth year of service in Seminole County. — JOAN MADISON

Husband Picks Bone Over Wife's Puppy Love Caper

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married only three weeks, and we just had our first really serious argument. The two of us were having dinner at a very nice steak house where the tables are quite close together.

Two couples were sitting at the next table, just finishing their steaks, so I leaned over and very politely said, "When you're finished, may we have your steak bones for our dog?"

One of the women said in a very snotty tone, "Sorry, but we happen to have a dog of our own!" Then they all laughed.

My husband gave me a tongue-lashing all the way home. He said he had never been so embarrassed in his life.

Now, tell me, Dear Abby, what was so terrible about asking for their bones?
LOVES MY DOG

DEAR LOVES: Nothing. But in the future, perhaps you should first ask your steak-eating neighbors if they have a dog; then your husband will have no bones to pick with you.

DEAR ABBY: My sister's son is being married at this very moment in a church less than a mile from here. My whole family is there having a wonderful time with all of the out-of-town relatives and here I sit. I am physically well, have a beautiful outfit I could have worn, and of course I was invited, so why am I not there enjoying myself with the rest of them? I am ashamed to tell you. I didn't go because I am terrified of leaving this house and going out-of-doors! I know it doesn't make any sense, but this terrible fear hits me as soon as I walk out the door.

Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. I am not "crazy." This is the only thing that is the matter with my thinking. I can't explain it, and I can't seem to talk myself out of it.

Maybe if one of your readers who has had the same problem would write in, it would help me. Sometimes just knowing how someone else has been able to overcome a problem is much more helpful than any head doctor.

Thank you, Abby.

ASHAMED BUT HELPLESS IN OMAHA

DEAR ASHAMED: No need to be ashamed. You have a condition known as "agoraphobia"—a fear of open spaces. It is much more common than you think.

Please consult a psychiatrist for this condition. There is a new form of drug treatment for agoraphobia that helps a large percentage of sufferers within a relatively short time. Any competent psychiatrist will know about this treatment. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Now that "back-to-school" clothes are on everyone's shopping list, it might do well to caution mothers, especially grandmothers, that sweaters, mittens, caps and schoolbags with children's first names on them are not just "cute," they are dangerous. It gives strangers an opportunity to address the child by name and claim a family or friendly relationship, thus disarming an otherwise wary youngster. Department stores should be discouraged from "personalizing" children's clothes.

NO NAMES PLEASE

DEAR NO NAMES: Ten years ago I would have said, "Oh, don't be so paranoid!" Today, I say, "Thanks for pointing out yet another danger in these troubled times."

Everybody needs friends. For some practical tips on how to be popular, get Abby's Popularity booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed stamped (35 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, 12660 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90230.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to EM-BARRASSED, regarding guests who ask for a "grand tour" of the house: May I suggest how some of San Francisco's sharpest (also wealthiest) hostesses handle this? They simply say, "This is our entertainment area; the rest of the house is private." Period.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12660 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90230.

Youth Forum

The Sanford-Seminole Jayceettes are sponsoring a Youth Forum on Tuesday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce Building on East First Street.

Guest speakers will include Cheryl Laws from the Single Intake Division of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services who will speak on the requirements for being a Shelter Care Home and Barbara Stafford from Foster Care Services Division of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services who will present the requirements for being a Foster home.

The general public is asked to attend this forum to learn about becoming a Foster or Shelter Care Home.

Seminole County needs more homes in which to place abused or neglected children who are taken into custody by the Department, according to Eileen Mack, a Jayceette spokesman.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

September 19, 1981

The year following your birthday should be a very active and exciting one for you.

MARSH (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone you didn't expect to see may cross your path today, turning this already successful day into a fun one as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Putting your head together with trusted allies today could produce some innovative ideas which would be exceptionally fortunate for all involved.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're highly perceptive today and have a keen insight into what makes the world go around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Through your involvements with others you may hear of something today that could benefit you greatly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If it comes down to a battle of wits today you could be the winner with almost any challenger.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The good news that you've been waiting to hear of from a distant source may come today.

today. It could have something to do with your work or career.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Sick to socializing today among persons with whom you share much in common.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Teaming with clever persons today will take a great load off your shoulders.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Putting your head together with trusted allies today could produce some innovative ideas which would be exceptionally fortunate for all involved.

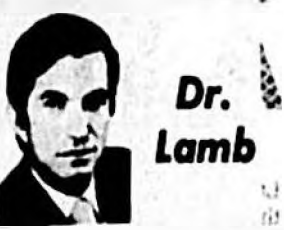

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There is a good chance you'll run into someone who could make this day a memorable one for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you've chosen this day for a party at your place, you'll have selected a good one.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There is someone interested in your welfare who will visibly demonstrate it in both deed and word today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A pleasant surprise gesture made by someone in your social circle today could be extremely beneficial for you.

To Examine Or Not That's The Question

DEAR DR. LAMB - I know you think people should have a regular medical examination. But I have read recently that people who did not have regular checkups had just as good an outlook as people who did see a doctor.

DEAR READER - For years many segments in our society have urged that we have preventive medicine and have castigated physicians for not being more prevention oriented.

There are studies that are dutifully reported by the news media that show on a cost-accounting basis that regular examinations may not pay for themselves.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 22-year-old male who would like to become more masculine looking.

DEAR READER - If you already have a normal endocrine system, you don't need hormones.

Beyond that is the quality of life. Examinations of the eyes may detect conditions that need immediate attention to prevent blindness.

To give you a more balanced view of what you can expect from a regular medical examination I am sending you The Health Letter number 10-2, Your Valuable Medical Examination.

WIN AT BRIDGE

So the beginner wins the first diamond and tries to cash his second top diamond.

A very careful beginner or an expert is going to remember that West doubled and that maybe his double was based on a singleton diamond.

Now he leads a low diamond at trick two. Later on he is going to be able to ruff his last low diamond with dummy's king of trumps.

It is worthy of note that if West had opened a trump he would have beaten the contract. In fact South might well go down two since he would then be forced to try to cash his two top diamonds.

Fred Karpin points out that even a beginner sitting South will see that he has to try to ruff a diamond in dummy.

Sun-Belt Dream Becomes A Sweltering Nightmare

MUNITH, Mich. (UPI) — Last year, the Marshalls and thousands of other Michigan families packed their belongings and headed for Texas in search of a dream.

But 11 months later, they were back, disillusioned by oppressive Sun Belt heat, insects, and snakes, and minus the hoped-for riches.

"We went for more money and it turned out to be just a mess," said Sue Marshall, happy to be back in tiny Munith—a town of about 500, 20 miles southeast of Lansing.

When Michigan's economy turned sour more than a year ago, Jim and Sue Marshall thought Texas held more promise for them than did his job as a lineman with Consumers Power Co.

With their four children and belongings in tow, they headed to suburban Houston where some of Mrs. Marshall's relatives operate an oil rigging company.

Although the family had lived briefly in Texas in the mid-1970s, Mrs. Marshall said this time "we had only been down there about two weeks when we knew we were coming home."

"The weather was as bad as I remembered it and had tried hard to forget," she said. But their Munith home—a quaint, older house they restored just before the move—had been rented and the six Marshalls, their dog and cat spent the next few months in a 14-by-70-foot mobile home.

Mrs. Marshall said Michigan residents, drawn to Texas by reports of low unemployment rates and year-around warm weather, are unaware many high-paying jobs require skills many unemployed assembly-line workers do not have. And the hot weather comes complete with often unbearable humidity.

"It's hot and humid no matter which way you look at it," she said. "We didn't see a day under 100 degrees until October."

Winter heating bills in Michigan drain less of the family budget than does the

Joan Cameron, right, of Cameron's Carousel, decorates a cake with a helping hand from her sister, Julie Archambault, 12, while son, Ricky, 4, who is just learning to decorate cakes, watches in fascination.

Decorating That Hits The Spot

By MERLA MANOR
Herald Staff Writer

The ideal occupation should earn money, give creative satisfaction and benefit others. Add to that being able to keep your young child with you to share and learn the skill and you have really attained a superlative activity.

Joan Cameron of Cameron's Carousel has achieved this enviable position. The interesting part is that she did it all by herself without formal instruction or training.

"In June, 1978, I decided I would like to learn to decorate cakes," she said, "so I bought a book and a few tubes and taught myself. Two weeks later, I was skilled enough to decorate a cake for a friend. In two months I owned this cake decorating shop and was winning awards for my cakes.

"I teach cake decorating classes with ages from 8 years to 73. However I am going to have to lower the age limit. My four year old son, Ricky, began playing with left over icing and he has done so well that he will enter a cake in the next show."

When asked if the hobby wasn't rather expensive she replied, "Not really. My beginners class buys $18 worth of supplies and that lasts them for the whole 10 weeks. You can use any kind of cake, carrot to German Chocolate. And the basic recipe is quite simple.

Here is Joan's Butter Cream Icing Recipe:

$\frac{3}{4}$  cup of Crisco (no substitutions)

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon of any flavoring

1 - 1 lb box of confectioners sugar

Just enough water to make it of a smooth consistency, about 5 tablespoons.

"Then you divide and color," she said. "It's best to use concentrated paste colors. You get a more vivid color. Those you buy from the super-markets water it down too much."

From there on the novice cake decorator is on her own, and anything goes. Cakes can be cut into any shape and reassembled into replicas of almost anything.

"Once you know the basics you can put several steps together and you have an advanced-type cake. A 9-layer wedding cake is simply 9 single layers put together.

"Analyze your cake, step-by-step and do one step at a time and try not to do everything at once. The tubes from which icing is squeezed have nozzles cut to produce different designs. Many clever designs are achieved by simply squeezing the proper tube. Many people panic at the prospect of doing the basket-weave design, but there is a tube cut especially for that. Then, too, a lot of work can be done ahead of time and allowed to dry and then simply picked up and placed on the cake."

Joan has won a First place and Best of Professional Division in Daytona for a cake made in the shape of a food-mixer. One decorated to look like a box of Crayolas took a second place prize in DeLand.

She organized, and is president, of the Cake Arts Society of Sanford. The society serves several functions: to give programs for those interested in cake decorating, to provide a social occasion the better to get acquainted and exchange recipes, and (the main objective really) to provide cakes and holiday meals for the recipients of Meals-on-Wheels.

On Sept. 28 the society will sponsor a contest to be held at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce to benefit Meals-On-Wheels.

Meals-On-Wheels provides hot meals to elderly shut-ins. It's administered by the Federation of Senior Citizens Clubs of Seminole County.

"Our goal for this year's show is really very worthwhile. With proceeds we hope to bake and decorate 70 birthday cakes for the elderly shut-ins on the Meals-On-Wheels Program here in Sanford, plus provide presents and Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners," she said.

Meals-On-Wheels does not normally deliver meals on those holidays.

"Besides the awards, the show is going to be a fun thing," she said. "We will have two live decorating contests. One is for experienced decorators, who will be given an iced cake and allowed 15 minutes to create a masterpiece. For the other the mayor, two city commissioners and their wives and Jack Horner, executive manager of the chamber of commerce have agreed to take icing bag in hand, for the first time ever, and create something in 15 minutes.

Deadline for entering the contest is Sept. 19. There are age group divisions and categories such as wedding cakes, birthday cakes and novelty cakes.

Five judges will each award up to 25 points per cake for a total of 125 possible points. Cakes will be judged on the following:

0-5 points — COLOR.... are the colors coordinated and do they suit the occasion.

0-5 points — CREATIVITY.... artistic inventiveness, did thought and planning go in to this design.

0-5 points — BORDERS AND EDGES.... proportioned to cake, even, level and uniform.

0-5 points — CAKE.... smooth, level, no mars or bulges.

0-5 points — ACCENTS.... flowers or ornaments made well, attractive and balanced design.

The society is asking a $1 donation from contest entrants, proceeds to go to Meals-On-Wheels. So it's a worthy cause, Joan said.

And, win or lose, entrants can always have their cakes and eat them, too.

WHAT'S YUMMY TO YOUNGSTERS?

Dick Van Dyke will be the only adult among 15 youngsters in "How to Eat Like a Child," a one-hour comedy-musical that takes a look at the manners, language and logic of children — otherwise known as "adults in training." Based on Della Ephron's best seller of the same name, the show will air on the Project Peacock series Tuesday at 8 p.m. on NBC.

These poems are by Seminole County students kindergarten through 12th grade. They resulted from the Florida Poetry in the Schools program taught by poet Bob Wischoff of Oviedo and Evelyn Mants of DeLand. pupils are provided with a general theme, but are not told what they should write.

Missed Music Era

David Soul Stars In 'Salem's Lot'

"I sometimes feel my career began too late," David Soul says. "Ten years earlier and I could have been a threat, musically, in all those bright, bubbly musicals the studios were turning out."

Music has always played a major role in the blond actor's life.

Soul plays a non-musical role as the star of "Salem's Lot," the three-hour drama to be rebroadcast Tuesday on CBS.

He first became involved with music as a small boy. His father, a Lutheran minister, moved the entire family to Germany, where he worked for a refugee organization. His mother, a former classical concert singer, taught David and his brother, John, to sing lieder.

By the time he was 10, Soul was singing in a boy's choir in Berlin. When he was 14, his family returned to the United States, briefly, before moving on to Mexico City, where his father was teaching.

"I was intrigued with Mexico's folk music," Soul recalls. "I acquired a guitar and, with a little help from my friends, learned some Mexican songs. I've been playing and singing ever since. There was a time when I made my living by playing in folk-music clubs around the country. It was a struggle."

Eventually, thanks to a gimmick, Soul began to make an impression as a singer and musician.

"I bought a ski mask, cut holes in it for my eyes and mouth, had some very glossy photographs taken and sent them, along with some singing tapes, to record companies," he says. "I called myself 'The Covered Man.' It worked, at least as far as creating interest was concerned."

He then signed a contract with a talent agency in New York and began singing in clubs throughout the country, and occasionally on television, always wearing the mask.

"Finally, the gimmick seemed to have run its course," Soul says, "and I appeared on Merv's show sans mask. Something strange happened. My career as a singer came to a grinding halt."

When a chain of horrible events hits the small town of Salem's Lot, novelist Ben Mears (played by David Soul, left) pleads with the town's constable (Kenneth McMillan) not to leave. In "Salem's Lot," a chilling three-hour drama to be rebroadcast TUESDAY (8:00-11:00 PM, ET) on CBS.

A Hollywood casting agent saw him on the show and gave him a role in "Here Come the Brides." That was followed by a number of appearances in episodic television and a co-starring role as Lee Majors' replacement in the "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law" series. Eventually Soul was cast in "Starsky & Hutch."

Soul still pursues his musical interests. He has written the score for a musical and has made a number of recordings, singing his own compositions.

Steven Ford Plays In Soap Opera

DEAR DICK: I heard that Steven Ford, the son of the former president, was one of the actors in a soap opera. I would like to know the name of the soap opera. Which one is he in, please? E. Blake, Trenton, N.J.

Steven Ford is playing a character named Andy on the CBS soap opera "The Young and the Restless." And you'll be happy to know that his fellow soapers are saying he's a very nice young man and seems to have the makings of a genuine actor.

DEAR DICK: My daughter, Barbara, was visiting from Modesto and wanted to know if I remembered a movie (that aired when she was a little girl, called "B'li and Coo," about birds. They were dressed up and did tricks. Can you give us any information on what year and who produced it? Barbara Molen, La Puente, Calif.

Ask Dick Kleiner

By DICK KLEINER

Sure, that was a famous film. It was produced by comedian-filmmaker Ken Murray in 1947 — and he was given a special Oscar for his efforts. It was a live-action film that used trained birds.

DEAR DICK: Would you settle a bet? Did Bob Ely ever play as Tarzan? My friend says he didn't, I say he did. J. Munson, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Munson wins again. Ely — his name is Ron, not Bob, incidentally — was the TV Tarzan in the series that ran from '66 to '69.

DEAR DICK: Is William Conrad of "Nero Wolfe" any relation to Robert Conrad? Randy Kuehn, Warsaw, Ind. Not in the least.

DEAR DICK: I've been a Beatles fan since 1964. I have every album they made. When John Lennon died, a part of me just fell to pieces. Do you think there could ever be another group like the Beatles? Beatles Fan, Vancouver, Wash.

No, not like the Beatles exactly. There probably can be, and probably will be, another group that comes along some day and captures the public, as the Beatles did. But it will be different. Ringo Starr told me, not long ago, that he is surprised that there hasn't yet been another group to become as big as they were. He says he expects it will happen any day.

DEAR DICK: Now running on a syndicated basis here are "The Beverly Hillbillies." What year did this series air originally? The cars don't seem very old, yet it's in black and white. Edward E. Bossard, Naples Park, Fla. Those cars are 20 years old, or close to it, because that series was originally filmed and ran from '62 to '71.

DEAR DICK: Could you please let me know the name of a movie that starred Stephanie Zimballist and Tom Bosley. It was about a big fire in a sewing factory. It came out a few years ago. Mrs. F. Glardin, East Detroit, Mich.

That was a TV movie called "The Triangle Factory Fire" and it was shown originally in 1979. It also starred David Dukes, Tovah Feldshuh and Jane Margolin.

DEAR DICK: After I saw "Miracle On Ice" I wondered if the Olympic Games they had shown were the actual Olympic Games or if they had been acted out just for the movie. Ann Reynolds, Wrightstown, N.J.

There were a few long shots of the actual Olympic hockey final match, but the close-ups and medium shots were all staged just for the movie. And it was a tricky job to get all the players in the movie to be in the exact places that the actual players were in the actual game. It was a very difficult thing to recreate.

At 46, Rabbit Is Still Running

The first two Rabbit books — "Rabbit Run" (1960) and "Rabbit Redux" (1971) — have endeared both John Updike and Rabbit to such a large public that the arrival of the third installment, "Rabbit Is Rich" (Knopf, $13.95), is setting off a national quiver of delight.

Never mind that Updike is one of the most informed and intelligent critics writing today or that he continues to write poetry, that most obscure form of expression. Americans love him for "Rabbit" Harry Angstrom, the long-armed ex-jock, ex-typesetter, ex-Toyota salesman.

Still the husband of Janice and father of now 23-year-old Nelson, Rabbit at 46 is co-owner (with Janice, whose father brought him into the business) of the Brewer, Penn., Toyota dealership. He's "king of the lot," a member of Kiwanis, Rotary, C of C and the gauche-rich new country club, The Flying Eagle. He's rich, a bit paunchy, reasonably happy and still lusty.

Nothing overtly drastic happens in "Rabbit Is Rich." Charlie Slavros, a longtime car salesman, takes a trip with a cute vegetarian pal whom ex-Kent Stater Nelson sends home from Colorado. Nelson comes back too and wants to be taken into the dealership. It turns out that he's going to be a father and is feeling stirrings of responsibility. The vegetarian is not the mother; she's just protecting Nelson from bolting.

Rabbit feels leaned on by his son, and he eases out his old friend Charlie to make room for the boy. He buys a new house, a model more fitted to his self-image than his mother-in-law's crowded, unpretentious bungalow.

Rabbit himself is dogged by a hunch that he fathered a child by a girlfriend 20 years before. He is sure that the child, now a willowy young woman, has been in the showroom, checking out Toyotas. He follows a trail of wispy clues to a rundown farm, where he furtively watches for her from behind trees.

He pants after Cindy Murkett, one of the Flying Eagle tennis gals, but it's Thelma Harrison, another club wife, who wants (and devours) Rabbit while the three couples are in the Caribbean on an impulsively planned breakaway binge. And finally, Nelson's stringy wife Pru gives Rabbit his first grandchild.

The rat-a-tat-tat cadences of Rabbit's 40s end with the sigh of his newborn granddaughter. Almost without comment, using insistent detail and comic hyperbole, Updike has painted an idelible portrait of mid-life. The pressures to succeed, the shock of having money, the fears of not matching substance to appearance, the heat of women's ill-defined but rasping desires, and the threat of the next generation's energies are wonderfully counterpoised by moments when the coming decay is much more than a specter.

John Wayne Told Him 'That's All That Counts'

NEW YORK — The limo craze is over in the Big Orange. Cber chugs along in a jeep, James Fonda huffs along in a station wagon and John Travolta, Kate Jackson and Johnny Carson make it around town in Mercedes... Did you know James Caan is a black belt in karate? Well, now that you know, don't pick on him... Looks like the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant 1982 will be televised live next July from Uruguay... Kenny Rogers and his Marianne will get an expected present this Christmas. If Santa's reindeer can't show up he'll send for the stork.

FLIP WILSON

From Flip Wilson; "Anybody who isn't confused today just isn't well-informed"... From Joey Adams; "Our leaders are being shot at, our senior citizens are in danger of losing their Social Security and the Mideast is edging toward war. See, I told you this would happen if we let Walter Cronkite retire"... From Arthur Godfrey; "Some of TV today is OK but a whole lot of it stinketh." From Lee Remick; "Maybe if I lived in California I'd get better roles but it's not worth the sacrifice to live out there and suffer the brain damage." Little Ricky Schroder told how big John Wayne said to him, "Rick, the critics never liked me but the people did and that's all that counts"... Is Farrah Fawcett to get her own TV series?

Feelings Run Strong On The Set

How much in-fighting goes on behind the scenes between television personalities and producers and networks? Some, certainly. But all the feuds publicized are not necessarily for real. There are more positive examples than negative ones of compatibility behind the TV scenes, according to our unscientific sampling. The one highly publicized negative example is about blond bombshell Suzanne Somers who, in her last season on "Three's Company," was quoted publicly as saying that she felt isolated on the show — no rapport with the cast since her husband, acting as her agent, tried to negotiate for much bigger bucks. Now the ABC series starts a new year with a new blonde and Suzanne is involved in a development deal with CBS. So much for the bad news. What about the actors who tell you they're involved in an all-for-one, one-for-all rapport worthy of the "Three Musketeers?" They usually check out. Sustained good will is hard to fake when you report for work at 5 a.m. and are still on the job 14 hours later. Handsome Michael Goodwin, who will co-star in ABC's upcoming series "Strike Force," says of the large cast that came together just for the pilot movie: "We all knew from that one time that we had that great thing — instant-ensemble." This was a team in which each member enhanced the other. Michael gives credit to the top star, Robert Stack (as the head lawman in this contemporary crime-solving series), and also to the producers who let each actor work to redefine his character before locking in the format.

Spotlight On 'The Rocket Pilots'

Some of the heroic men who first flew in space in a special kind of airplane — the X-15 rocket aircraft that was the forerunner of the space shuttle — will be focused on in "An American Adventure — The Rocket Pilots," to air on NBC

Wednesday.

"Columbia, America's first space shuttle, opened a new age in the exploration of space," says NBC news correspondent Lloyd Dobyns, who narrates the program. "But Columbia was not the first winged aircraft to fly in space, return, and land safely. That honor went to the X-15."

Using original film footage, much of it never shown before on television, the program focuses on three rocket pilots, each of whom achieved break-throughs in space.
