Zoning Improvements Outlined

Efforts of the Seminole County Zoning Board to improve conditions and appearances around the county were explained by Robert S. Brown, county zoning director, for members of the Bear Lake Community Club at their February meeting.

Asked what could be done about old cars and other junk dumped on vacant lots, Brown said, "the zoning board is doing all it possibly can about these conditions under the present laws but the county does not have the minimum housing code and owners are required to clean up their properties only when it is proved they are a health hazard."

He cited the case of one family which apparently lived only on canned goods and just tossed the empty cans out the back door. When the pile was so high no one could see over it, the owner was asked to clear it, but refused. The Health Department was called in and termed it a hazard after which it took six trucks to haul away the cans. "The zoning board couldn't do much here but the health department could," Brown pointed out.

As a solution to handling the old cars, he suggested they be buried until such time as might occur when steel mills would need tin again. He told of one neighborhood where two boys had a number of old cars in a backyard where they worked on them. The boys were called into the service and the cars left behind. The woman of the house made many efforts to have them removed before finally a scrap dealer agreed to haul them off.

Another case involved two men, nextdoor neighbors, who disliked each other intensely. One erected a junky tin fence with many nails protruding on the other side. The neighbor had five small children and felt the fence to be dangerous. He reported the man and he was asked to remove the fence, but refused. Finally a warrant was issued and served, bond was posted, and the man left town, supposedly to enter a hospital. When he returned, he was brought into court, retained an attorney who later refused to represent him in his plea of not guilty, his bond was withdrawn, and he was jailed. However, it took a total of 14 months to get the fence down and Brown said his office had a file of more than two inches thick on this one case alone.

COUNTY ZONING was discussed by Robert S. Brown (right), county zoning director, for Bear Lake Community Club. With him is Russell Loomis, first vice president and program chairman for the club. (Herald Photo)

"Much more control could be effected," Brown concluded, if we had the minimum housing law. It also would be desirable if federal or state government got into the act or doing something about the abandoned cars by purchasing wrecking equipment, wrecking the cars, and putting them in an abandoned base where they could be removed if and when needed."

When a call is made to the zoning board, the building inspector checks the complaint. A letter is sent from the zoning board, which, Brown informed, is often ignored until a third letter stating the complaint is to go to the Board of County Commissioners arrives. After this third letter, a certified letter is sent after which the board can take action and bring the case before a judge.

FHA Curbs Altamonte Homes

Growth in Altamonte Springs apparently came "to a grinding halt" with announcement last night that the Federal Housing Administration is now refusing commitments for homes in new plats there.

The situation came to light when a letter was read from the FHA office in Tampa notifying Greater Construction Company approval had been withdrawn on the 62 lots in Charter Oaks. Reason given by FHA for refusing the commitments is the lack of sanitary sewer system in the town.

Val Robbins, county sanitarian, invited to be present at the council meeting stated, "This looks serious. Altamonte Springs has enjoyed tremendous development. It now appears two federal agencies (FHA and Housing and Urban Development) and possibly others are calling a halt."

Mayor W. Lawrence Swofford gave the opinion future plats will probably not be approved by the town.

In attempting to alleviate the problem for Greater Construction Company, however, council and the Mayor pointed out Charter Oaks, in the southeast end of town, is not a new plat, but only a name change of an old plat.

Town Attorney S. J. Davis Jr., was instructed to correspond with FHA, forwarding a copy of his letter to HUD, explaining Charter Oaks is actually an old plat and the town's inability at this time to obtain financing of a sewage system.

The possibility of floating a bond issue for such a project was frowned on by the mayor who remarked, "I would not go for a bond issue to put sewers in Altamonte at this time. Too many people in town owe too much money on their homes here and cannot afford a bond issue now.

"I would, however, be willing to place the question of a bond issue on the ballot for a referendum," he declared.

Hint Altamonte May Still Get U. S. Funds

Indications Altamonte Springs quest for federal funds for extension of its municipal water system is not dead was shown Wednesday evening with adoption by council of a motion naming bond counsel for the project.

Bond counsel named was the firm of Bryant, Richardson, Freeman and Watson of Jacksonville

Instructions to be conveyed by Town Attorney S. J. Davis Jr. to the firm were to prepare the bond ordinance according to information to be supplied by Kirk Gunby, fiscal agent.

The bond issue will be for $275,000 for the water system improvements.

Fee Offices 'Shocked' Over Budget Controls

The three constitutional officers (county clerk, tax assessor, and tax collector) expressed shock and disbelief in The Herald today concerning the County Commission's decision made Tuesday to place their offices under its budgetary control.

The Commission agreed to seek local legislation placing the offices under its budgetary control so the budgets of all departments of the county can be reviewed and set by the commission. Only point to be worked out by the commission is whether the bill will also deny appeal to Tallahassee by these offices.

"I am not aware of any attempt by the Board to usurp the duties of the Clerk as set out in the Florida Statutes," Arthur Beckwith, county clerk said.

"If there is a movement afoot by the Board to take over any functions of the office, I was not extended the common courtesy of being invited to be present for whatever discussions occurred at the legislative work sessions Tuesday afternoon," he declared.

Beckwith's statement continues, "If it is true that the Board has desires to change the laws of the State governing the Clerk, it would appear to be a broad step toward centralization of government. I do not believe the people of our county favor such action.

"It is clearly evident to me that Seminole Countians expressed themselves in the last election on 'Big Brother' and the 'Big Take Over.' However, what ever system of government the people of Seminole County have an opportunity to approve, all officers would abide by the decision and accept, I am confident," Beckwith concluded.

Meanwhile Mary Earle Walker, tax assessor, declared, "The County Commission certainly went contrary to the indications they gave at previous meetings with the fee officers.

"When the commission is discussing offices they have nothing to do with why did they not invite us to the meeting so we would know what was going on? It seems to me this would be the proper thing for them to do.

"They haven't really given any good reason why they should have any thing to do with the budget of the tax assessor or any of the other fee offices.

Mrs. Walker asked if the County Commission plans to also request a budget commission be formed. "If they plan a budget commission, it must be elected by the people and members of it must be compensated. Where do they propose to get funds for that?" she concluded.

"I have not been apprised of the legislative work meeting of the Commission," Troy Bayless, tax collector said. "It's a surprise to me!"

'Grasshoppers' Are Coming

A welcome invasion of "grasshoppers" — girl pilots — to take place on March 1 and a wide-ranging discussion of airport possibilities and probabilities got top attention from the airport committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce at a meeting here today.

Bringing the good news of the "Grasshopper" event was Luci Payne, licensed pilot who had come to make the arrangements for this monthly gathering of the girl fliers. Formed five years ago the girls now have about 65 members living as far apart in Florida as Key West, Venice, Panama City and Jacksonville.

A "touch-down" at the Flying Seminole Ranch, greetings from officials of Sanford and Oviedo will precede a trip to the Naval Air Station in Sanford to be greeted by Capt. Herbert N. Houck, base commander. This to be followed by an inspection of the base facilities with emphasis on the airport.

And it was the airborne itself that took the center of sober discussion by the members of the committee with Gordon Frederick, chairman. Others on hand were LeRoy C. Robb, Ken McIntosh, Bob Crumley, Fred Wilson, Ernest Southward, Lee Wheeler, Walter Gielow, City Manager W. E. Knowles, City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham.

Sparked by the lively personal interest many committee members have in aviation the key to the future of aviation in Seminole county is held by the Navy. When NAS is definitely in the hands of the city of Sanford, its airport specifically defined, the industrial area determined a flood of ready plans can be activated.

The aviation industry looking far ahead into needs of air traffic in the next five years can find in the airport facilities at the base and its surrounding acreage a useful ally. Specific discussion brought out the possibilities of commercial plane use and introduced the probabilities of "float plane" and helicopter traffic in and around Sanford.

The chamber's committee had been researching such uses a few years back and now with the July 1, 1968 date for NAS vacating set was moving to ready plans for immediate consideration by interested users.

These plans will include full cooperation between the chamber's committee and the office of the City Manager. Knowles explained the ways in which the almost unbelievable demands of air traffic are becoming a daily problem for all of central Florida. The part that Sanford and Seminole County can play in this drama will be determined by the Navy's airport to a major extent but it will also be dependent on the interest and requirements of county residents.

KENNETH PLANTE, of Altamonte Springs, who served as state area coordinator in Republican Claude Kirk's successful campaign for governor, confirmed today he will be a GOP candidate in the special legislative election and said a formal announcement would be made this afternoon by the Seminole County Republican executive committee. It has been rumored Strongly throughout Orange and Seminole Counties, Plante will oppose the incumbent Democrat, Sen. Beth Johnson, in the 16th senatorial district.

Beth Makes It Official

Having qualified today for re-election as state senator for Seminole and Orange Counties, Sen. Beth Johnson, of Orlando, issued the following statement to The Herald:

"I regret this reapportionment has disrupted the representation of Seminole County, as it has most all other areas of Florida, but having worked closely with Seminole County officials before, I welcome the opportunity to represent all 73,000 of Seminole Countians in the future, and, if re-elected, I want to assure the county, cities, school board officials and all the people that their local legislation and their interests will receive from me the same consideration as do local bills and the citizens of Orange County.

SEN. BETH JOHNSON

"I regret that Senator (Mack) Cleveland is not running again and I earnestly hope that Rep. (Tom) McDonald will be re-elected. I shall endeavor to help Tom in his campaign. I do not blame Seminole County for some distrust, and I will be happy to take any local bills under advisement."

St. Johns Fish Get A 'Break'

Extended life to sports shad fishing in the St. Johns River was given today when commercial shad fishermen at Palatka agreed to give "a break" to the fish.

Area fishing camp operators had requested through John Krider, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce manager, the commercial fishermen to lift their gill nets from Friday sundown to Monday sunrise, allowing the shad to come through from the ocean to spawn here.

Randolph Hodges, State Board of Conservation director, informed Krider today the commercial fishermen had agreed to remove their nets from the river between Friday sundown and Sunday sundown.

C Of C Planners Set Meet On Jessup Causeway

The Lake Jessup Causeway will be the main item under discussion at a meeting of the Long Range Planning Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce which has been called for 7:30 p.m. Monday at Jim Spencer's Restaurant.

The committee will urge the County Commission to recommend the causeway be included in the primary and secondary road requests to be presented to the State Road Department, fifth district meeting in DeLand at 4:30 p.m. March 7.

Normally little more than 60 per cent of the requests made by the county for roads are budgeted by the SRD with work actually being done on only 25 per cent.

Last year, the county listed 12 primary requests and 16 secondary requests. Eight primary roads were budgeted while only six secondary requests were budgeted.

Actually work is underway on only three primary roads (SR 426 to Orange County line; I-4 interchange at Lake Mary and widening of three bridges on SR 419) while work on only one secondary road (SR 427 from Longwood to Hutchison Parkway) is being done currently.

School Board To Name Architect Mar. 9

The County School Board will name an architect to draw up plans for three new schools in the county at the March 9 meeting, Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee reported today.

Milwee said the board had listened to proposals from eight architects including two from Seminole County, John Burton and Eoghan Kelley.

The three schools are Sanford Junior High, Oviedo and Lyman schools. Cost of the schools has been set at $6 million.

Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's open housing civil rights proposal already in running into the same sort of congressional opposition that killed a similar plan last year.

Johnson proposed late Wednesday that a ban on discrimination in the sale and rental of housing not become fully effective until 1969.

Metro Phone Hookup Celebration Slated

A celebration of the initation of extended area telephone service for Seminole County will attract a long roster of prominent people that will be headed by members of the Florida Public Service Commission. The happy occasion will be held tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. at the Lookout Restaurant.

FPSC Chairman W. T. (Billy) Mayo will have in his party his colleagues on the commission, Edwin L. Mason and Jerry W. Carter, and also Richard Christmas, Field Rate Analyst, and Willina Linhardt, Telephone Engineer.

The two companies that will be involved in the "cut-over" of service on February 19 will be represented by top level executives. Southern Bell T. & T. Co.'s Vice President and General Manager for Florida, L. E. (Ed) Rast, Jacksonville, heads that company's delegation. It also will include John Evans, William Amidon and Robert Shedden.

Pres. R. P. Hulbert of Winter Park Telephone Co. will lead a representation of his company that will include A. E. Ludisher, Frank Hutsell, and M. L. Barre. Joseph K. Galloway, one of the founders of the firm and erstwhile president also will be on hand to witness the success of the project that began in his administration.

For the local Chamber of Commerce a host of members who have worked on this project will attend. Among them will be immediate past president Vernon Mize, Pres. DeWitt Mathews and Executive Manager John Krider. Mack Cleveland and S. Joseph Davis, whose work in the cooperative effort with the FPSC members while the local men were representing the county in the Legislature during the progress of hearings, will be on hand as will Tom McDonald, incumbent legislator.

Pres. DeWitt Mathews, in speaking for the Seminole Chamber of Commerce, said "This is the culmination of many years of work by C of C members, endlessly, trying to promote the best interests of the area. This extended area phone service provided by Southern Bell Telephone Company and Winter Park Telephone Company is a giant step forward in a unified communications system. Public officials, state and local, are to be commended for their efforts in "modernizing" our community relations."

The first effort toward the end that is celebrated tomorrow occurred many years ago. Since that time many men and women have worked to get this improved phone service.

The effort was brought to a critical phase when the members of the Florida Public Service Commission (those gracing the assemblage tomorrow) agreed to a hearing. This was held on July 27, 1965.

Interested teachers, housewives, businessmen, public officials, striving to do all they could to make this "dream" a reality, filled the hearing room and overflowed into the halls. The presentation of the cause was handled by Mack Cleveland, who had been assisted by S. Joseph Davis.

The evidence and related elements were considered by the Commissioners and on September 10, 1965 they issued an order that the extended area service be established.

Representatives of the two communications companies involved immediately got together and worked out a date when the installation of equipment and its coordination could be worked out. It is a matter of pride to them and of high praise from others that the target date they established is being met.

The actual change in service will be effected at 12:01 a.m., February 19, just as they said it would be.

FTU Sets Groundbreaking Mar. 19; Kirk To Speak

Governor Claude Kirk will speak at the groundbreaking ceremony March 19 for Florida Technological University, according to Bill Warden, director of public relations, in a talk before the South Seminole Civic Council Wednesday evening.

Members of the Cabinet, Board of Regents, and area legislators also have been invited for the event.

The new university, which will be built near Oviedo, will open in September, 1968, with an estimated 1,500 freshmen and junior students and a faculty of 300.

Bids are being opened today for the first two buildings to be erected, the science center and library. All buildings on the 1,200 acre site will be air conditioned. Work is already started on the utilities plant.

Warden said Dr. Charles N. Millican, president of Florida Tech, plans to put the emphasis on the individual and students will not be just an IBM number.

The university will expand to a full four year operation in its second year and a master's program is planned by 1970. Degrees will be offered in the arts and sciences, business administration, and education. Present plans call for the implementation of a college of engineering and technology in July, 1968, with pre-engineering courses available to the freshmen class in September. In 1969 it will be offered to sophomores and upper division courses will be available in 1970.

Tuition for community students will be approximately $100, with books estimated to cost around $50. For those living on campus, total costs, including room and meals, will be approximately $435.

'Bloodiest Week' Tallied In War

SAIGON South Vietnam (AP) — Enemy and allied toll mounted today in the Vietnam war's bloodiest week of the new year, with 385 more Communists reported killed, moderate casualties to two U.S. companies of infantrymen and 13 U.S. helicopters downed.

South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen smashed a Viet Cong battalion during a two-day battle in the canal-laced Mekong Delta, killing 31 guerrillas and capturing six, a government spokesman said.

In the central highlands near the Cambodian border, two companies of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division suffered moderate casualties Wednesday in fighting that took the lives of 74 enemy.

Coupled with 243 guerrillas reported killed by Korean marines in a seesaw battle Wednesday, the three engagements accounted for 628 enemy dead.

Four American crewmen were killed and eight wounded in the downing of the 3 U.S. helicopters Wednesday.

Ten of the UH1 helicopters were shot down as they shuttled more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops in to reinforce two ranger companies in the raging delta battle 16 miles southwest of Saigon.

The two companies of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division were in separate perimeters some distance apart when the Communists opened fire with mortars and automatic weapons. Sporadic fighting continued throughout the day as American reinforcements were flown in.

Sporadic shooting continued today in the delta battle to which some 4,000 Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen have been committed. The action started Tuesday when government troops killed 56 Viet Cong and captured one.

Wednesday morning, two ranger companies sweeping about 16 miles north of Tuesday's fighting brushed against a guerrilla battalion estimated to number 500-600 men.

Within five hours, three battalions of the 21st Infantry Division and one battalion of rangers had been moved in by U.S. helicopters.

When the guerrillas broke contact just before dusk, the Vietnamese troops reported they had killed 255 of the enemy and captured five. They said they seized 16 crew-served weapons and 34 individual weapons plus mounds of medical equipment, ammunition and mines.

The Korean marines who reported killing 243 North Vietnamese soldiers Wednesday in a battle 340 miles northeast of Saigon came under mortar fire early today. U.S. Air Force AC47 Dragon ships flew in, dropped flares and struck at the Communist mortar positions with their rapid-fire Gatling guns.

Storms Whiplash U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent storms of one form or another whiplashed across the nation today, spawning heavy snows in the northern Plains and Great Lakes region, gale-force winds through the Midwest and thundershowers in Pennsylvania and New York.

A mammoth deep freeze tracked the bitter storms and temperatures fell below zero in many areas.

Fresh snows piled from 4 to 10 inches in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Eight inches of snow at Traverse City, Mich., Wednesday night closed a 5-mile section of U.S. 31. The snow struck the Upper Peninsula pushing the season's total to 201 inches in Keweenaw County. High winds in the Detroit area toppled power lines leaving 5,000 homes without electricity.

Minneapolis-St. Paul received 8 inches of snow which closed down most activity in the Twin Cities.

Schools closed in many parts of the state and early morning temperatures dipped to -30. It was -9 in Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Winds raging at more than 80 miles per hour in downtown Chicago blew the roof of a building under construction onto the tracks of a commuter railroad, disrupting service for several hours.

A 300-foot radio tower was knocked down near Medina, Ohio, as 76-mile gusts skipped along the northern tier of the state.

Tornadoes touched down at Muncie, Ind., and Waco, Ohio, tearing roofs and trees. No injuries were reported.

A violent line of thunderstorms tore across Pennsylvania and New York State.

Trees were downed, window panes smashed and power disrupted in the city.

The winds roared through Buffalo, N.Y. at more than 70 m.p.h. causing similar upheavals.

Firemen Run Ambulances

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Firemen handled five emergency ambulance runs the first day they were called to substitute for Jacksonville's striking private firms.

"All five calls were real emergencies — the only kind we intend to handle," said Assistant Fire Chief James Dowling Wednesday.

Dowling said a number of calls not deemed emergencies went unanswered.

Commercial ambulance services suspended in-city emergency service as of midnight Tuesday except in cases where they could obtain assurance of being paid. They said they would continue to answer Duval County emergency calls outside Jacksonville.

The commercial operators want the city to compensate them for runs on which they can not collect.

A fire spurred by winds at Kahoka, Mo., destroyed six businesses.

At Columbus, Ohio, two men were injured fighting a fire swept by 50-m.p.h. winds through several acres of landfill.

The wind and rain swung south into Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky and dumped hail on Washington, D.C.

Cold warnings were issued from Arkansas into New England.

Hospital Strikers Win Support

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The money woes of workers at South Florida State Hospital—but not their tactics to solve them—have the support of three Florida Cabinet members.

One, State Comptroller Fred Dickinson, said he was sure action would be taken at the Cabinet meeting Tuesday on raises the psychiatric aides have demanded.

"My position will be that we must raise these salaries," Dickinson was quoted as saying.

But, the comptroller said, "I don't condone the sick-leave walkouts."

South Florida State, with about 1,300 mental patients, has been short-staffed since Tuesday when the nonprofessional aides began calling in sick as a protest to salaries so low that many of them qualify for federal poverty programs.

The hospital's director said that defections, although relatively few, created a crisis something like a hurricane at the institution. Dr. Richard Parks said patients were "taking very well" an unaccustomed precautionary confinement.

"They're always cooperative during a hurricane," Parks said. "This is a crisis something like that."

Only 28 aides—nine less than Tuesday—of 76 phoned in sick for the Wednesday night shift.

Two other Cabinet members joined with Dickinson in sympathizing with the low-paid hospital workers.

Secretary of State Tom Adams said that "while I do not condone the strike, I sympathize with the request for higher pay.

"There is no question that they are underpaid. I hope the 1967 Legislature can meet this need, but at the present time and until the Legislature acts we simply do not have enough money to grant pay raises throughout our institutional system."

Mao Blasted

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party accused Mao Tse-tung today of planning new attempts to provide a break in Soviet-Chinese relations, while more anti-Soviet pronouncements were reported from Peking.

Claude And Erika Ready For Saturday Wedding

WEST PALM BEACH (AP)—Gov. Claude Kirk doesn't have to go to the courthouse to apply for his marriage license. . . the courthouse comes to him.

The application was delivered Wednesday to Kirk and his fiancee, Erika Mattfeld, by Lewis T. Creech, clerk of the Palm Beach County Court.

Miss Mattfeld, beautiful German-born beauty who met Kirk in Brazil, noted in the application that she and her first husband were divorced Feb. 7 in Juarez, Mexico.

Her attorney, Fernando Romero Figueroa, told reporters the petition alleged she and Brazilian Carlos Eduardo Dolabello had incompatible characters and that a legal separation already was in effect. He said the property settlement terms had been worked out previously.

Romero Figueroa said the divorce decree was signed by Judge Lorenzo Holgrin Cisneros of the First Civil Court in Juarez. The 22-year-old former model appeared before the judge but, Dolabella merely signed "waiver of consent," he said.

Meanwhile, wedding preparations were under way at the Polish Breakers Hotel in Palm Beach where Kirk and Miss Mattfeld will be wed Saturday afternoon in a simple, civil ceremony. Only seven persons have been invited, Kirk said.

Scheduled to attend the wedding are Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kirk Sr.; his children, Sarah, 16, Katherine, 17, and twin sons William and Frank, 12, and Ashley Verlander of Jacksonville, president of American Heritage Insurance Co., and a close friend of the governor.

The marriage license is scheduled to be delivered to Supreme Court Justice Millard Caldwell Friday. Justice Caldwell will perform the ceremony.

Kirk's office reported that security will be tightened for the nuptials. Jack Ledden, administrative aide to the governor, said Kirk had received threatening post cards at his Palm Beach home.

Ledden said the unsigned cards read: "They are going to get you like they got Jack Kennedy."

Aides said the FBI has been asked to investigate the notes.

Security for the wedding will be provided by Wackenhut Corp., headed by George Wackenhut who is leading Kirk's private War on Crime.

Women & Kids Demonstrate

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1,900 women and children have staged a noisy demonstration at the Pentagon to protest the war in Vietnam.

The women shouted "war criminal!" at passing military officers and screamed demands for a meeting with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, calling the U.S. defense chief "Mac the Knife."

The stage in Wednesday's demonstration — organized by Women's Strike for Peace—the crowd of women blocked the doors of one Pentagon entrance for about a half-hour.

Police made no arrests and the crowd quieted after six demonstrators were permitted to enter the building and talk with Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas Morris. The women called the discussion with Morris unsatisfactory.

MONTELONGO, Father Raphael and Son Bill, handle photographic assignments with RVAH-8 at SNAS. (Navy Photo)

Join The Navy ... See Your Dad

Join the Navy and see your Dad. These may have been the words which Seaman Apprentice William R. Montelongo heard upon graduation from Lyman High School last June.

Montelongo is now serving at Sanford Naval Air Station attached to RVAH-8's fleet air photo lab, where his father, Chief Raphael Montelongo, is the chief petty officer in charge.

Bill Montelongo joined the Navy Oct. 24, 1966, and went to Great Lakes, Ill. for basic training. While there he requested duty with RVAH-8 at Sanford Naval Air Station. He got what he wanted and reported in to photo lab Jan. 30.

The ambition of Bill is to be a photographer, like his father, but so far he has not decided about making the Navy his career. He says he has four years obligated service so he will just see how it goes.

Chief Montelongo has served at Sanford since Jan. 1964, and is now awaiting orders. Chief Montelongo has spent 28 years in the Navy and during that time has had many interesting and different assignments, including one tour as official White House photographer for President Eisenhower. When asked if he had helped to influence his son's decision to join the Navy, Chief Montelongo replied with a simple "yes."

Although born in Senora, Mexico, Bill Montelongo, as well as his father, calls Douglas, Arizona home. Bill Montelongo is married to the former Miss Donna Bridge and they live in Casselberry.

11 Die In Ammo Explosion In Texas

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — A 105mm shell blew up as workers loaded it with high explosive and 11 persons suffered fatal injuries as searing flames followed the blast at the Army's giant ammunition depot west of here Wednesday night.

Thirteen other persons suffered injuries, but only four of them were kept in hospitals overnight.

The 11th death occurred at a hospital early today, more than seven hours after the assembly line explosion.

"We're pretty sure that's all," the commander of the semisecret installation, Lt. Col. Duane Harris, said after firemen finished searching the blackened ruins more than three hours later.

The dead and injured were civilian employes in the Lone Star wing of the huge arsenal, which manufactures and stores ammunition for the Army.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of relatives.

"A ball of fire went right down the line and several people's clothing caught on fire," said one witness, who works in a high-security area and did not want to be quoted by name.

The blast occurred at 10:30 p.m. and the fire burned fiercely until it was controlled about 12:15 a.m., destroying the roof of the tile building.

Extreme heat and a danger of further explosions kept investigators from entering for more than an hour.

"I wouldn't even try to estimate the damage at this point," Harris said, adding it may take days to determine what happened and evaluate the loss.

He said the explosion apparently occurred while an employe was loading a shell with high explosive. Such a projectile is about two feet long and weighs 33 pounds.

There are 7,000 employes at the depot, which is one of the largest such plants in the nation.

Of the injured, five remained in hospitals overnight and only one was reported in serious condition. Attendants said many suffered minor injuries from flying debris.

Fifteen persons were at work on the loading line where the explosion occurred and others among the dead or injured were in the immediate vicinity, Harris said.

The depot's Lone Star wing is 16 miles west of Texarkana on U.S. 82. It is in Zone E of the sprawling military reservation, which the commandant said was being blocked off while other operations continued today.

This was the second major explosion at the facility. One employe died and 21 were injured in a blast July 8, 1963.

GOP Collects For Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans charged with raising money to help elect GOP congressional candidates in 1968 have successfully tapped an unlikely source—some members of the exclusive President's Club.

The club is made up of donors of $1,000 or more to Democratic campaign warchests. But a Republican congressional source said Wednesday this didn't deter Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois or House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

They reportedly wrote a letter to President's Club members, asking them to subscribe to a $500-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner here March 1. The response, said the source, has been surprisingly good.

Powell's Wife Will Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marjorie Powell, the attractive, dark-haired third wife of Adam Clayton Powell, testifies today before a House committee investigating her estranged husband.

The committee hearing is to be open.

"I intend to answer everything I know," Mrs. Powell told reporters Wednesday on arriving from San Juan, P.R., in response to a subpoena from the select committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

"We are very hopeful she will testify and will give us a good deal of information," Celler said.

Science Class Hears Talk On Energy

Dr. E. A. Farber of the University of Florida Engineering Department, spoke recently to the eighth grade science classes of Richard H. Miller at South Seminole Junior High School.

Dr. Farber is on the staff of the Visiting Scientist Program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

His subjects were energy and conversion of energy. He discussed the different kinds of energy and the current waste in converting energy to useful purposes.

He proposed that scientists will need to discover economical ways for direct utilization of solar energy as energy stored in fossil fuels, such as coal, it is estimated, will be used up in approximately 200 years.

Homestead Exemption Filings Lag

With only six weeks remaining for Seminole Countians to file homestead exemption with the tax assessor's office, little more than half of the qualified property owners have filed, Mrs. Mary Earle Walker reported to The Herald today.

Out of an estimated 15,000 eligible to file, only 7,601 have availed themselves of the privilege.

Deadline for filing is April 1.

The office in the courthouse is open daily for the purpose of taking applications and tax returns. A representative of the assessor's office is also at the branch office in Seminole Plaza to take applications.

"Personnel in the office will be glad to assist the public in making proper application," Mrs. Walker said.

Renewal applications for homestead exemption and tangible and in-tangible personal property tax return forms were mailed Jan. 1. These may be completed, properly filled in and signed and either brought in or mailed into the office prior to April 1, according to Mrs. Walker.

The law requires application be made each and every year between Jan. 1 and April 1 in order to qualify for the exemption.

New applicants are required to present their property recorded deed or agreement for deed (must be recorded prior to Jan. 1, 1967) and 1966 Florida drivers license and 1966 Florida automobile tag registration. Proof of legal residence must also be provided—this in the form of voters registration or recorded Declaration of Domicile and Citizenship.

"The declaration will be filled out for persons needing assistance by the assessor's office," Mrs. Walker said.

Load Limits Up For Citrus

Monroe Jottings

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

Howdy. I'm so glad to be here. Even tho' it was hard to get started doing it. Although we have been having very cool mornings, the day time has been so "Spring" like and just makes you want to work (?) in the yard or even housework or starting that Easter sewing because Easter comes in March this year. And that rain Sunday evening was really a "Soaker" wasn't it? * * * The happiest young man out this way last weekend was little Mike Muse Why? Because he got to go down to see the fair in Tampa. This is his first year to get to go and he was so excited I bet he didn't sleep a wink the night before. Talking about Mike, his little sister Cindy has been ill this week. But like all gals do, she made up her mind to get well fast. That's a good gal, Cindy. * * * Also on the real sick list out that away is Elean (Annie) Coleman. Elean had pneumonia and was really a sick gal but hear she is doing fine now. Good for you, Elean. * * * And now home after a stay in the hospital is Margaret (Mrs. Cleveter) Boyd. Glad to hear she is doing fine too. * * * And still another one, Fern Boston, has also returned home from the hospital and hear she is doing wonderful, too. That's great. * * * And Buck Hawkins is still another one home, too. Gee, isn't it wonderful how they are getting well so quick? Glad you are home, too, Buck. * * * But sorry to hear that two more from here are now hospitalized. Joe Goveceli is there now and will undergo surgery. We will be thinking of him and wish him a speedy recovery. * * * Another sick one up there is Arnold Tindel. Hurry out of there Arnold so you can get back to work. * * * Mrs. Myrtle Pickett of Jacksonville spent last weekend here with her sister Rena Hawkins. Myrt looks good. Glad to have seen her. Got a call Tuesday from a most happy mother. Myrlene Bullard had just received a call from son Gene who is now back in Da Nang, Vietnam. She said he sounded real clear and seemed to be in very good spirits. It was 1:30 p.m. our time but already 2:30 a.m., Wednesday there. Sounds odd doesn't it? Hi! Gene. Glad you called and talked to your mom. Do it again soon if you can. Look in on Glenn Spivey over there. Hi to you, too, Glenn. Saw your mom the other day and talked to her about you. Did your ears burn? * * * Happy birthday to our daughter in-law, Marie. Sue Bot is in Louisiana with the Army. Expects to serve on six months duty so did not get to be with her to celebrate. We sure do miss him, too. * * * Don and Donna, are now back here to stay and are with us for the present time. Cindy and Carol are attending the Wilson Paola School. This Sunday we will celebrate Cindy's and our other granddaughter's birthday. Michele will be all of one year old and Cindy turns eight. * * * The Lake Monroe Homemakers Club met last Thursday evening. Mrs. Cecil Tucker gave an interesting demonstration on time management. I sure needed it. Time just doesn't seem to go anywhere. * * * Our thought this week . . . How little it costs to say a kind word, Or to help lift the load of a brother, How happy we feel at the end of a day, Filled with loving deeds for another . . . But when eventime comes and the day's work is done, And we gladly lie down to our rest, There's a feeling of sadness that fills our hearts, if for others we've not done our best. . . . How right this is.

YMCA Needs In Seminole Told Kiwanians

First step in realizing the benefits of YMCA activity in Sanford should be the securing of a full-time trained YMCA executive so that functioning as a non-equipment facility could be planned. This is the opinion of Bev Laws, who gave a talk on the YMCA before the Sanford Kiwanis Club Wednesday.

On hand to hear what Laws had to say were John Krider, executive of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and Jack Bolt, who is studying the feasibility of a YMCA in Sanford.

Laws told the audience of more than 100 interested Kiwanians and guests from the first days of the YMCA (1856 in Boston) through its development to the post WWII days when the growth of suburbia around the large cities forced the Y into a re-orientation of purpose. Formerly directed primarily at the male side of the family, these post-war years saw the YMCA becoming a basic family-interest facility.

But the Orange County Y official was frank: "I have come here to tell you what we have done in Orange County." And that record is impressive. Despite the ups and downs, the boom-and-bust and its recent burst of business and industrial activity, Orlando's Y has only recently attained its building goal which was dreamed of when founded in 1887 and started its present phase in 1943 when the Osceola Hotel on Magnolia Street, Orlando, was purchased.

In 1962 community branches were formed in the Northwest, Northeast - Winter Park and South areas of Orlando. An executive was assigned each branch to develop a de-centralized, non-equipment program. In fact this is the sort of program that it appeared Laws was favoring as a first-step in Sanford.

With illustrations to show the facilities of the new YMCA building, Laws explained the practical usefulness on a family basis of the gymnasium, indoor pool, hand-ball courts and the like. But the interest of the audience was on the ways in which YMCA programs could be brought into the experience of Sanfordites. That there is a large reservoir of basic goodwill and appreciation of the YMCA was evident when Laws asked for a show of hands of those men who had been part of the "Y" in their youth and the large number of upthrust arms gave his reply.

'Garbagemen' Collect Furs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About $16,000 worth of furs were hauled away from the Saks Fifth Avenue department store in a garbage can — but don't bother checking the county dump.

The garbage can was carried by two men wearing white smocks. They entered the store Wednesday, said "We're here to service the rest rooms" and asked a saleswoman for some wrapping paper.

"I'd say the door to the fur vault was unguarded for about 30 seconds while she got the paper," said James Ludwig, store manager.

The loot included a $3,400 Russian sable jacket and two $2,600 mink coats.

Goodson stated, "We are happy to be located here and feel the need to be close to our customers in this area. The success of our Orlando store led to this expansion."

Nonsense Over FTU

The proposal to move Florida Technological University to "Disney World" is comparable to deciding a patient needs brain surgery after the incision already has been made for an appendectomy.

It doesn't make sense.

Almost $1 million has been spent for the 1,228 acres of land near Oviedo which FTU will use as a campus.

Bids on the first two academic buildings are to be opened this week and groundbreaking is scheduled for next month.

With these and uncounted other smaller details done and behind the FTU planners, common sense dictates the location of the institution has long since passed the point of no return.

The Ocala dentist who is credited with dreaming up the proposed site shift is quoted by Associated Press as being worried Florida citizens will ask 20 years from now why the change wasn't made.

If Florida growth and educational needs continue at anything like the pace of the past 50 years, the next generation long since will have built their college in "Disney World," built it so far ahead of the 50-year measure the walls will be draped with ivy by then.

Too, the time to think of this was well over a year ago, if at all. Former Gov. Haydon Burns told the world the "Disney World" development was coming, told them where and the magnitude.

The Board of Regents then might have considered the City of Tomorrow as an ideal location for an institution of higher learning.

But in one breath the Regents talk of setting aside plans for state universities at Pensacola, Orlando, Miami and Jacksonville to save money while in the next there is this nonsensical chatter of abandoning the million-dollar plus investment already made for FTU.

As far as Seminole County is concerned, the location of FTU is of vital importance. Since our county only has a two-year junior college it looks like the only fulltime institution of higher learning with FTU as close as it presently plans to be.

Seminole County will never get a four-year university and with FTU just by the county line, it's the closest we can ever get to graduate level school work.

The point here is the alarming statements coming concurrently from the Regents.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—To get federal assistance under the ballooning, controversial grants-in-aid programs, the 50 states commit themselves to certain substantial expenditures that they appear to be keeping very poor track of.

A major example:

Under the famed interstate highway system, the federal government in most instances puts up 90 per cent of the construction cost, the participating state the remaining 10 per cent.

Yet for the entire life of the roads involved, and these could come to hundreds or even thousands of miles in particular states, the state is committed to paying maintenance, repair and related service costs—such as the cost of police patrolling.

Drawing on figures supplied by highway officials, the Bureau of Public Roads has given congressional committees an estimate that when the entire 41,000-mile interstate network is completed, it will cost the 50 states at least $400 million a year to maintain and service these roadways. The figure is probably quite conservative.

Federal-state specialists suggest that very sizable maintenance sums are involved in other "brick and mortar" federal grant programs, including construction of hospitals, college dormitories, airports, water, sewer and other community facilities.

A canvass of this field indicates, however, that nearly all the states are painfully fuzzy on the amount and nature of these supplementary expenditures induced by participation in juicy federal programs.

At the behest of the National Association of State Budget Officers, the states submitted their complaints against the working of grant programs at the state-local level. The association's compact 22-page report listed 69 specific "impediments" but never mentioned the problem of inescapable maintenance and service costs.

Nor is the matter being discussed before Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's Senate subcommittee which is presently looking into federal-state fiscal relations.

New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller told the committee that his state spent a disproportionate amount of money and time merely to try to qualify for some federal planning funds—and to date has received less than a sixth of the requested sum. He echoed other officials who complained that the grant-in-aid system distorts state-local finances, and who urge some form of federal-state tax-sharing.

Nevertheless, the states' arguments—current and past— have been thought to be weakened by the evidence that they have not generally kept their own financial houses in good order.

Their fussiness on the issue of supplementary maintenance and service costs of federal aid programs is no help to their case. Experts in federal-state relations and in some of the affected federal agencies say bookkeeping practices among the states are far too vague to give them (with occasional exceptions) an accurate reading on what they lay out over the years to keep in running order what Washington has "given" them.

If they set out boldly what now amount almost to hidden extra charges for these programs, some states might not be so eager to join in. Without that clear indication, a 90-10 matching ratio such as prevails in the interstate highway program is, in the words of one authority, "so strong an inducement it's coercive."

Despite state complaints, the attractiveness of federal aid programs seems unlikely to lessen. They are expected to spend at least as much for major construction in the next decade as they did in the last. They need outside help. The U.S. government, which now provides almost a fifth of state-local funds, is the obvious source.

"You Fellows Have the Wrong View of Vietnam!"

Hal Boyle Says:

NEW YORK (AP) — Why is it so many women today say they would like to be men but so few men say they would like to be women?

When a woman remarks that, if she were reborn, she would prefer to be male, she is expressing a real desire, an actual envy.

But when a man expresses a supposed yearning to be reborn as a woman, he is only kidding. He is probably one of those uncouth husbands who have a fixed idea that women live an easy life. He thinks that, after sending their husbands off to work with a pat on the back and a peck on the cheek, wives just sit on the sofa with their feet on the cocktail table and sip coffee and gossip until noon.

However, whether wives really do or don't live the life of Mrs. Riley, few husbands would be willing to change places with them.

In his heart of hearts the average man feels sorry for the other sex. He rather wonders how women can stand being women. He is silently grateful that he is not one of them—and never will be.

Why not?

Well, he realizes that despite women's quest for equal rights, they still dwell in a world in which their real freedoms are ruthlessly rationed. A woman can't even scratch herself in public without becoming an object of immediate criticism and the verdict, "She's no lady."

That goal—the desire to act like and be treated like a lady—still makes of womanhood a serfdom in skirts.

A man can act directly in almost any situation. He lives in a clearcut world of "yes" or "no." But a woman must achieve most of her aims by indirection, and dwells in a world made up of "maybes."

At a party, though she be dying of pneumonia and a blizzard is sweeping through an open window, she cannot rise and shut it. At the most she can sneeze meekly, "Does anyone feel a draft?"

As a result of this kind of feminine talk, men have the idea that they are honest and women are hypocritical. They don't realize that women aren't born hypocrites; women become hypocrites to please men who want them to be ladylike.

The real reason men prefer to be men is that they can escape the prisonership of themselves. They can flee their own identity in their work. A woman rarely can. She is always and eternally self-aware.

A man can get up, shower, shave and dress and be on his way in a few minutes.

Not a woman. Every part of her requires her brooding close attention. She must bathe her integernails, anoint her body, roll on a deodorant, slap on rouge and lipstick, gird up her girdle, put perfume behind her ears, brush goo on her eyelids, and spray something on her hair that will make it look and feel like wire.

She is never through doing some kind of salvage operation on herself. All day long she must keep peeking into a mirror to be sure she is still there—the real her.

And that's why no man really wants to be a woman. He can't stand the thought of being that much of a nuisance to himself. And he wonders why women don't seem to mind it at all. They actually seem to enjoy being a nuisance to themselves.

Letters

To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

I have just finished reading your editorial in Monday's Herald, and Larry Vershel Around the Clock article in the same issue of the paper. Regarding the last weeks statements made by FEA's president, George Dabbs.

It is in my opinion that Mr. Dabbs threats as to what they will do if the Legislature does not meet their demands, has damaged the image made by the FEA over the past years.

If these sanctions are ever used Mr. Dabbs will probably find that many teachers in Seminole County, as well as all over the state, will not follow his suggestions.

I also feel that the FEA's "Legislature data sheets" has hurt the cause of the teachers. If I were a member of the Legislature, I would resent such a request. Unless and until the same type of questions were answered by all teachers. How many teachers would like to furnish the Legislature or School Boards with information, as to how many cocktail parties they attended each school year. How many smoked on the school premise each day and to state whether they attended the church of their choice each and every Sunday. A dedicated teacher should set the same kind of example, as we expect of our ministers, and then they would have more influence over our children.

Were I the State School Superintendent, or the County Superintendent, I would inform all teachers that if they were able to do better for themselves in other types of employment, they should feel free to leave at any time, as slavery was abolished many years ago.

We hear so much about how they are underpaid, and how much more they could make at other types of work. It is true that some can get better paying positions, but a great many of them would find that they are now making more than they could get elsewhere. When I was in Sanford High School the mathematics teacher was also the football coach, and he received the grand amount of $6,500 per month, and even that amount was sometimes several months behind with the monthly checks. We have come a long way since then in improving the pay of our teachers.

Keep in mind that the Legislature has obligations to others in the state besides school teachers, and the straw that broke the camels back has about been reached in taxes.

R. A. COBB

Editor, Herald:

You and your newspaper have taken many a left-handed slap at unions and organized labor in general recently in your editorializing on the teachers' sanctions. Your reference is that organized labor members are something less than first class citizens and this I resent most vehemently. The writer of your articles either knows nothing of the inner working of most unions and has probably not taken the time nor has the inclination to find out or is just plain anti-labor.

It may interest you to know that Organized Labor from practically its inception has fought historically in the Legislative halls—nationally, state, county and municipally—for the betterment of all educational systems. They were the champions for taking the children out of the sweat shops of our nation, in the passage of the child labor laws in many states, the enactment of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 and Workman's Compensation and and much else.

Labor has consistently fought for a fair and better wage for not only the teaching profession but all working people.

I have personally been in Tallahassee during Legislative sessions when lobbists for the FEA and other educational groups have asked for Labor's support and received it for passage of their bills as have other groups in the state.

The "strike" is as I see it a constitutional right and whether it be for a union or a purported one by a teachers association the "strike" or threatened strike is usually the last resort step to try to call to public attention a serious problem that needs a solution.

One of the more painful blows below the belt is the price of restaurant meals.

A woman lost a $10 bill in a supermarket. There went $5 worth of groceries.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Paul shows the psychiatric value of music. Ancient King Saul was brought out of his insane bouts by David's playing on the harp. Some people fritter away their zooming energy via dancing while others are trained to think more creatively via music. School dropouts and delinquents are more likely to be non-musical!

CASE B-564: Paul P., aged 28, is a high-pressure business executive.

"Dr. Crane," his wife began, "Paul often comes home in an angry mood.

"Fortunately, he doesn't take it out on me.

"For he is an excellent piano player. So he sits down at the keyboard.

"Then the music that comes from that piano reveals the degree of his ire.

"For it is fierce and wild and martial. You can hear the booming of cannons and the sound of marching soldiers.

"After he expends his emotional outburst in this manner, the music begins to shift to a sweeter vein, being both softer and more sentimental.

"After he gets his anger out of his system, he then will come out to the dinner table and be a happy husband once more.

"Don't you think it would be well if more boys were thus taught to play the piano, partly to give them this emotional outlet?"

Music In Psychiatry

Yes, indeed, it would be wonderful if all children could play on some musical instrument, if only the mouth harp.

For music has many psychological values.

In the Bible we read that King Saul, during his attacks of insanity, would have young David play the harp before him.

And as a result of David's music, King Saul would be soothed and restored to a more normal mental outlook.

Shakespeare also noted the value of music as a diagnostic aid in spotting criminals, for Shakespeare wrote:

"The man that hath no music in himself

"Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,

"Is fit for treason, stratagems, and spoils."

Chapter 10 in my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," deals with music and starts off with that quotation from Shakespeare.

Many people flee from the petty irritations and frustrations of this world via music, which thus serves as a melodic Pegasus.

They may thus daydream to the notes from violin or piano. Or they grow literary and can compose better.

Others, trained to dancing, simply drain off their potential creative energy via shuffling their feet.

In my case, I find that music serves better than caffeine beverages to spur me into creative writing.

In fact, my children still ridicule me because I will lock my automatic record player so it keeps repeating a certain piece that stimulates me superbly.

I have sat for four hours at a stretch with that same record just playing and replaying till the rest of my family were nauseated by it.

But it zooms my morale and speeds up my thoughts to the point where I may turn out twice as much copy as when I am typing without the musical backdrop.

Music is also widely used in industry, piped in to factories where it doesn't distract, and thus can relieve boredom of the workers.

For their thoughts can ride away on that melodic Pegasus and soar far beyond the astronauts though their hands are methodically doing tasks.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Let It Snow! Let It Snow! Let It Snow!

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — What makes a New Yorker — or a Bostonian of a Chicagoan —say to heck with tight money, inflation and things like that and hop off to Florida?

A nose-nipping, pipe-freezing, cat-burying blizzard, that's what.

And today, in the pastel-colored inns along Miami Beach, proprietors are rubbing their hands gleefully and humming in harmony: "Let it snow! Let it snow! Let it snow!"

That good old white stuff in which northerners are up to their ears has revived what is reverently referred to down here as "The Season."

The winter tourist season, when Florida's landscape turns green with Yankee money, was slow starting. The weather up North had been — horrors! — exceptionally fair and mild in January. South Florida business was off 10 to 15 per cent from a year ago.

To the casual observer, this may not seem like something to cry about — because last season was a record-breaker.

But try to console a Miami Beach hotel keeper by telling him, "You can't expect to set records every year." He'll ask, with a plaintive little whimper, "why?"

He's never happy until his hostelry is packed to the penthouse.

That's the way they're filling up now. The "snow birds," as the winter tourists are affectionately called, have flown South in great numbers in recent days.

A press agent for a major airline, asked today if business into Florida had not increased greatly since the northern blizzards, replied: "That's a good question. I hadn't thought of it. Let me call you back."

"Hey!" he said, later, "you're right. We're flying more than 5,000 people a day into Miami, 20 per cent more than last year."

Even in January, the airlines did a booming business, but this doesn't necessarily mean that Florida hotels and night clubs will fare likewise.

Many well-heeled tourists who used to patronize the luxury hotels now lease apartments. The same person may fly into Miami a dozen times during the winter and go straight to his private digs.

Also, lured by the gambling casinos, many tourists continue on from Miami to the Bahamas and Puerto Rico.

Ordinarily, the season begins to swing with the opening of Hialeah race track, which broke attendance and betting records last winter. In the first 20 days, it was sadly reported that the gate count was off 5.8 per cent and the handle 10.2 per cent.

Now the parimutuel tunes are clicking a merrier tune. But the fact that northerners fled the ice box doesn't mean they intend to drop a bundle. Biggest declines have been at the $50 and $100 windows.

Lighting Teased, Tickled To See If It Misbehaves

By JOHN CUNNIFF . . .

EMERYVILLE, Calif. (AP) — At a laboratory here researchers tickle and tease man-made lightning to see if it misbehaves.

They want to find out how to handle 500,000 volts safely.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co., the nation's largest investor-owned gas and electric utility, is erecting more than 1,000 miles of 500,000-volt extrahigh voltage lines in Northern and central California. It will cost $185 million.

Although many firms have contributed to research on such heavy voltages, the work on such a large project is largely pioneering.

When Congress approved a vast Pacific Coast power grid complex in 1964, Elwyn Lambert, PG&E supervising electrical engineer, remarked, "There are only three lines in the nation operating at over 345,000 volts — and they are experimental.

"If we want answers to certain extrahigh voltage operating questions, we must find them for ourselves."

PG&E is finding them.

Tests over one section of the utility firm's line at a full 500,000 volts are scheduled for about March 1, with regular operations to begin around July 1. The system will be completed next year, linking the Pacific Northwest and the Pacific Southwest in a giant web of power production and consumption.

Electricity will flow north in the winter when the Northwest's electric heaters are turned high but generation at Bonneville Dam on the Columbia River is comparatively low. In summer, when California air conditioners and irrigation pumps are working away and the Columbia is strong with spring rains and snow melt, the power flow will be south.

Prayer Change Is Approved

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan House of Representatives has moved to amend a prayer.

The House journal carried a prayer by the Rev. Elwin Fuller at Monday night's session.

The journal text included this sentence: "We ask Thee, Lord, to help our House of Representatives and its leader, Lord, for the things that they dissipate in."

House members said they were certain the Rev. Mr. Fuller had said: "Participate in."

The change was ordered Wednesday.

'Gold Days' Saloon Burns

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The Palace Saloon and Cafe, a relic of gold rush days which had been restored for the Alaska 67 centennial opening in May, has been destroyed by fire.

Firemen prevented the flames from spreading Wednesday to other buildings on the exposition site.

The saloon and cafe were in a building erected during the early days of Fairbanks and contained a bar flown here last fall from Flat, Alaska. Before it was at Flat, the bar had been at Idaho Jarad, site of the gold rush of 1906.

The cause of the fire was not determined. The temperature was 25 below.

SOS "Spalski on Sports"

No sir, Mr. Program Director, I don't think I'll need to sit down for this radio announcers audition. I'm doing fine standing, thank you.

The red light flashes and you hear the voice—"You're on!"

The free-flowing oxygen turns into lumps of lead in your throat and all you can cough out is, "Chair, please."

That happened a long time ago and you were only a kid, John. So, relax.

As you approach the tee, (in front of all those crowds of clowns who are just hoping to see one of the golfers dribble one in front of the tee) . . . these terrifying thoughts form a kaleidoscope of nightmares.

You don't even remember taking the backswing, but now, here you are just praying that the clubhead will at least touch the ball as you (close your eyes) come down and swing at the ball.

CRACK!!!! You did it . . . you made contact with the ball. . . . Eureka. . . .

Dribble it, you ask? Ha!

You've hooked it almost onto the next fairway. (Please ground . . . open up and swallow me right now.)

And that's the true story of a start of a heck-of-a-day in the Pro-Am Tourney at the Mayfair.

Thanks to the encouraging remarks from fellahs like Guy Sapp and Harold Sherwood ("Don't jump into the lake on the seventh hole, John . . . we still have 11 more fun-filled holes to go!"), I don't think I would have made it.

It was an eye-opener for me. The first golfing tournament I've ever been in. And now just wait until I get a chance to play in that Safari Sandtrap coming up for the Citrus Open. Say, I'll show them a thing or two . . . (these pros sure did teach me how to gain an extra 20 to 30 yards on my drives!)). Just as you're walking up to hit the pellet from the fairway . . . GIVE IT A GOOD SOLID KICK . . . that'll add at least another 20 to those booming 75-yarders of yours, Johnny-babe!

And talking about Sherwood, this guy has to be the Cassius of the golf course. He bends, crouches and comes out swinging, I'll tell you.

(A shame they finished the season last week, Wise Guy!!!!!) . . . Not that I want to rush you or anything but did you know that Florida's Gators start spring football next Saturday? (Don't know what took Graves so long, actually . . . were I in his shoes I'd have called an emergency meeting of the legislature asking help for a replacement for Spurrier. What Do The Pros Think Of Us?

Who did more to promote Sanford and the surrounding area in the last couple of days than Mike Welchel and Bob Cooke of the Mayfair Country Club?

As far as I know, nobody.

I fed the story of their tournament to the Associated Press and they carried it on their wire services.

That afternoon I was listening to an out-or-town radio station and heard the exact release, which started, "Sanford . . . etc."

So, you see they do hear about us in the Big City.

And don't give me that "dollars-in-your-eyes" stare, either, about how much money they made with all those pros coming out for the event.

Did you know that a pro doesn't pay any greens fee? And further, did you realize that during the three actual playing days, plus the extra outings of practice rounds, etc, Welchel didn't make penny one?

Don't get me wrong, he isn't grinding any axe. However, I do feel that this point should be made in regards to the touring pros' feelings.

On an average, they spend approximately $200 during the 3-day tourney, what with lodgings, meals, gasoline, caddy fees, laundry bills, to name just a few.

There were more than 100 in town you know, so they brought and spent about $20,000 in three day's time.

There wasn't a vacant motel room within 20 miles of Sanford with many of them staying in Orlando and even DeLand.

And yet, for them to hope to make some loot or at least break even, they have to come in no less than third place.

PRETTY STRONG ODDS ISN'T IT? SOMETHING LIKE 100 TO 1.

For another hundred or so, they could actually try for the big time circuit and shoot for a hundred grand deal like the upcoming Citrus Open.

Although be made appeals to local merchants this year, and didn't get co-operation from any contacted, I hope it changes next year.

As a matter of fact, whether it be a swimming or tennis or basketball or even something like our bowling tournament starting tomorrow . . . every promotion needs the support of the local patrons if it's ever to grow in stature.

Underdog Lyman Opens OBC Tourney

The Orange Belt Conference Tournament begins tonight in Apopka, with the Lyman Greyhounds pitted against the host Darters, defending tourney champions, in the first round game at 8:30 p.m. Coach Murray Arnold's cagers from Longwood, have battled to a 16-5 regular season record and second place in the OBC standings, are faced with a tough struggle for the coveted league crown.

Lyman, runners-up to Apopka in last year's play-off, has hopes of pulling a major upset and capturing the title over top-seeded DeLand (19-3). The Bulldogs, who drew a bye in the opening round, were undefeated in OBC competition, including a pair of decisive wins over the Greyhounds. Lyman would like nothing better than a repeat of last year's semi-finals, when the Hounds upset heavily favored DeLand in overtime.

Arnold's cagers, however, must advance to the finals to get a stab at the Bulldogs. Apopka (9-12) could prove to be too much for the Hounds to handle. Lyman squeaked by the Darters twice during the season, 56-54 and 52-47, but has had trouble scoring against Apopka's stingy defense.

The Greyhounds will need a big night from sharpshooters Makie Hargis (16.0 score average) and Lenny West (8.6), plus a banner effort from 6' 4" Bruce Stuart (13.6) to advance to tomorrow's semi-finals.

Arnold will most likely use a starting five of West, and sophomore Chris Butterworth (71 assists) at the guards, Hargis and Stuart at the forwards, and 6' 5" Ron Tulbert at the pivot. Center Darrel Allgaier, forward Bob Meanz, and guard George Milwee are the top reserves.

Leading point makers for Apopka have been cornerman R. E. Stokes (14.0) and center Howard Beckett (11.0). Other Darter standouts are Roger McNeely, Mike Grandy, Steve Hendricks, and Tim Robinson.

The Hounds will have their work cut out for them against the proud Darters, who have made a habit of winning the OBC Tourney. They started slowly this season, came on strong in the last few weeks and will have the added benefit of valuable home court advantage.

In other first round games, Kissimmee (9-13) is a slight favorite over Leesburg (8-12) in this afternoon's opener, while the Lakeview Red Devils (17-6) are heavy favorites over Wildwood (1-17). If the Hounds defeat the Darters, they will play the winner of the Lakeview-Wildwood game tomorrow night. DeLand will move into the winner of the Kissimmee-Leesburg tilt.

Slow-Pitch Sets Meet Monday

The Sanford Recreation Department will hold an organizational meeting for Slow-Pitch Softball Teams on Monday. This meeting will be held in the recreation office in the Civic Center at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in entering a team in the 1967 Metro Softball League of the 1967 Church Softball League should have a representative present at this meeting.

Good attendance is important for the proper organization of both leagues.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Foreign-born athletes suspended by the AAU were invited to participate in the 42nd annual Kansas Relays.

First Meet Saturday

Thinclads Open Season

The fate of Seminole High's Class A defending state championship track team rests squarely on the shoulders of three returning state competitors—Bill Frisby, Al Peeples, and Ken Martin. They will be expected to lead what Coach Dick Williams terms as a better balanced and more diversified squad than last year's state cinder champs.

Frisby will compete in the 100 yard dash while Martin and Peeples will run in the hurdles. They will combine to form two-thirds of the Seminole's relay teams.

Returning lettermen Darrell Vodopitch and John Farkis will also be expected to take on a big role in the coming track season which will open Saturday at Edgewater for the Wildcat Open Meet. The Open is a running-meet only and Coach Williams is expected to find out just what kind of team he has from this meet.

The Seminoles lost three members of their state track team through graduation this past year; Sterl Weber, Mike Gray and Rick Walstrom.

Mike Gibson and Bobby Hallback are the Seminoles top prospects in the distance events. Bill Wheaton is another top prospect, but his time is presently being occupied with basketball.

Quarter Finals

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Marty Riessen, Ron Holmberg and Bob Lutz defeated the first, second, and third foreign seeds to set up an all-American men's singles quarter-finals in the U.S. Indoor Championships.

The University of Vermont football team set a school record last season by scoring 200 points in eight games.

Roll Up 110 Points Over Alachua

Raiders Go On A Cage Scoring Spree

Scoring 55 points in both halves the Seminole Junior College Raiders ended their season with a 110-53 triumph over Santa Fe Junior College in Alachua last night. The SJC quint, in winning its 15th game against four losses, erased a high game mark of 103 points scored against Santa Fe earlier in the season.

The Seminole Raiders had six boys in double figures in the contest. Steve Groover, who left the game with 12:50 left on the clock, tallied 23 markers to lead the attack. Fred Milton, scoring on tip-ins and short jumpers inside the key, accounted for 19 markers while John Thomas, Earl Strokes, and Gary Loyd added 12 each. Jacob Wallace came into double figures with 10.

In all, the Raiders put in 49 field goals and made 12 of 21 charity shots for their record breaking total.

The Seminole quintet was plagued with bad ball handling and inability to stick the ball in the hoop from under the bucket. However, due to the board work of Groover, Milton and Wallace, they were able to keep the defensive boards clear and get the second, third, and sometimes fourth shot at the offensive hoop.

The first team left the contest with 11 minutes remaining and the second unit was given the assignment of breaking the Santa Fe press and scoring 35 points for the final margin.

Comeback Team Of The Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New Mexico State is the comeback team of the year in college basketball this season.

The Aggies from Las Cruces cemented their claim to the honor by whipping Texas Western, the national champions, 64-53 Wednesday night for the second time.

It was the Aggies' sixth victory in their last seven games and upped their over-all record to 14-8 compared to their dismal 4-22 mark last season.

The second straight road defeat of nationally eighth-ranked Texas Western overshadowed Syracuse's 11th straight victory.

The 10th-ranked Orange, in The Associated Press Top Ten for the first time, whipped Colgate on the road 100-86. Seventh-ranked Houston romped over St., Mary's of Texas 122-58 at home.

Mal Graham, the nation's leading major college scorer, threw in 45 points to lead NYU over Manhattan 76-63.

Villanova edged Canisius 47-44, Toledo whacked Bowling Green 103-83, Georgia Tech downed Georgia 87-79, Virginia Tech thumped George Washington 78-66, Dayton walloped Northern Illinois 101-60, Marquette nipped Xavier of Ohio 71-69, Chicago Loyola squeaked by Western Michigan 85-84 in overtime and Denver defeated the Air Force 75-73.

Bob Evans, with 16 points, led New Mexico State to a 29-11 halftime lead as the Aggies handed the national champs from El Paso their fifth defeat against 16 triumphs.

Torrid Pace For Lundberg

Carol Lundbergs' 180-457 led the Fleurs "6" to a clean sweep over the Wee Tried team in the Holler Motor Navy Wives league.

Eleanor Clemens' 179-457 enabled the Vigil Annies to win 2½ points from the Retired Chiefs Wives.

Janet Leons' 170-464 was high for the NAS Stars as they won three points from the Savagettes.

Sandi Jordans' 175-421 led the Bowling Bags and Lucy McNeills' 171-467 was high for the Navy Astronuts as they split the points.

Caroline Hardy was queen of the split circle when she spared the 6-7.

Joan Albers converted the 5-6-10; Ethel Quelland 5-7-9; and Mary Niblett 4-5-7.

The 2-7 fell for Eleanor Clemens, Janet Leon and Jackie White.

Caroline Hardy and Peg Patey spared the 5-7; Lucy McNeill 5-10; and the 3-10 fell for Bernice Cobean and Shirley Simas.

Turkeys were rolled by Sandi Jordan, Carol Lundberg, Suzy Reno and Janet Walters.

Wizard Of Ox Stuns NBA Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oscar Robertson looks like a man from Mars in the cumbersome face guard he wears to protect his injured mouth but he's just the same old Wizard of Ox to the New York Knockerbockers.

Robertson put on one of his routine shows against the Knicks Wednesday night, leading Cincinnati to a 129-118 homecourt victory. The Big O scored 46 points and added 14 assists in his one-man blitz against New York.

In other games Wednesday, Philadelphia downed Detroit 127-121 and Los Angeles whipped Boston 124-114. As a result, the 76ers opened up a 7½ game lead over the Celtics in the Eastern Division race.

Robertson hit on 15 of 28 field goal attempts and raised his average against the Knicks this season to better than 34 points per game. He got scoring help from Happy Hairston, who had 24 points and Adrian Smith, who added 22.

Dick Barnett led the Knicks with 21 and Dick Van Arsdale had 20.

The victory moved Cincinnati within two games of New York in the race for third place in the BA's Eastern Division.

At Detroit, Wally Jones did the early scoring and Billy Cunningham picked up the late points as Philadelphia whipped the Pistons for the seventh straight time.

Jones, who finished with 26 points, scored 12 in the first period and Cunningham had 13 of his 34 in the final quarter for the 76ers.

Dave Big and Eddie Miles led the Pistons with 24 each.

On the West Coast, veteran Elgin Baylor collected 39 points and snared 21 rebounds in triggering Los Angeles to its ninth victory in the last 12 outings. Jery West added 33 points while John Havlicek topped Boston with 24.

The Celtics led 32-30 at the end of the first period and 65-59 at halftime before the Lakers began to click. Los Angeles went ahead 90-82 after three quarters while outscoring Boston 31-17 and pulled away to a 117-101 bulge with slightly more than three minutes to play.

The victory enabled the third place Lakers to move with 2½ games of runner-up St. Louis in the Western Division.

SEC 'Giants' Set For Showdown

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vanderbilt's Bob Warren, virtually a midget among giants in Southeastern Conference rebounding, has been looking up at people like Tom Boerwinkle, Gary Keller and Jerry Brawner all season. So one day last week he simply grew an inch.

Warren is the SEC's eighth-ranked rebounder, and his performance on the boards Saturday night against Tennessee could be the determining factor in this crucial SEC basketball showdown.

Until Feb. 10, the Commodore junior was listed on the roster at 6-foot-3, but he made a confession:

"Shucks, I haven't been 6 - 3 since my freshman year. I've grown almost an inch and a half and gained 15 pounds since those heights and weights were passed around."

Now, Warren is 6-4½, but he's still looking up at 7-foot Boerwinkle, whom he will battle on the boards in Knoxville Saturday night. The vols, led by Boerwinkle, Ron Widby and Bill Justus, hold a half-game edge over Vandy in the SEC title race with an 11-2 won - lost record.

On Jan. 9, when he was only 6-3, Warren pulled down seven rebounds to Boerwinkle's eight as Vandy, on its home court, defeated the Vols, 65-59. Tennessee has improved greatly since then.

"We'll have to have a good night shooting, and we'll have to do a job on the boards at Knoxville," Vanderbilt coach Roy Skinner said today. "In the second half against Kentucky Monday night, Tennessee was as good as any team I've seen."

Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp, commenting on the Vol- Vandy clash, said Tennessee doesn't make mistakes and Vanderbilt does.

A Winning Habit For Lyman JV Coach

Lyman junior varsity coach Tom Barnes has a habit of directing winning basketball teams. In five years of coaching, two at South Seminole Jr. High and the past three as JayVee coach in Longwood, he has never had a losing season. This year was certainly no exception.

The Lyman Greypups finished in a rush with five consecutive victories to log a season record of 14 wins and 7 losses. After losing four of their first five outings, Barnes' cagers did a complete turnabout and lost only three tilts in the remaining sixteen contests, wrapping up with an impressive 65-35 romp over the Kissimmee JayVees last Friday night at home.

Season statistics showed the Greypups to be a well-balanced scoring crew, outstanding on defense and aggressive beneath the boards. They averaged nearly 58 points per game as opposed to just 44 for their opponents. Barnes' Pups shot 40% from the floor and 55% from the foul line, superior figures for a junior varsity outfit. They outrebounded nearly every team they faced, averaging 50 rebounds per tilt as compared to the opponents' 30.8.

Two Lyman players averaged in double figures for the season, while another pair came very close. Sophomore forward Tom Pinnock averaged 11.0 points per contest, the leading scorer on the club. Center Mike Rickett, a 6-3 junior, was second with a 10.5 scoring mark. Mark Dowell, a forward, barely missed with a 9.8 average, while Rif West tallied at a 9.4 clip. West, a 5-7 junior playmaker, played in only ten games before moving up to the varsity squad at mid-season. However, he still led the team in assists with a 3.4 average (34 in ten games). Soph guard Alan Clack (5.2 scoring average) had 45 assists, Bobby Owens, a 5-5 soph, took West's place as a starter and came on strong late in the campaign, scoring in double figures in each of the last three outings. He finished with a 4.5 scoring mark and 20 assists.

Rickett and Dowell were the top rebounders all season. Rickett led the team with 282 rebounds and a 13.4 average. Dowell finished with 267 and an average of 12.7 per game.

Other performers, valuble throughout the year, were Glenn Dabbs, Charlie McLaughlin, Gary Mayhew, Tom Richardson, and David Rutenkroger.

DWIGHT HAWKINS has been appointed by Mackle Brothers to be the Recreation Director for Deltona homes. In addition to all of the area's recreational programs, Hawkins will also be in charge of the Adult Educational Program. (Herald Photo)

Folley Next On Clay's Agenda

NEW YORK (AP) — By the time Cassius Clay has disposed of 34-year-old Zora Folley on the night of March 22, he will have defended his world heavyweight title seven times in 12 months.

No wonder the great man, who insists his foes call him by his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, is looking for new worlds to conquer.

"I'd like to say one more thing," said Clay Wednesday at a news conference to announce Defense No. 9 against Folley in Madison Square Garden.

"I would like to start working on those top basketball players after I finish whupping this man."

Clay drew a laugh because there have been stories recently that he had been lined up for a bout with Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 pro basketball star. Herbert Muhammad, Clay's manager, reportedly nixed the match.

Apparently the champ, who is appealing his 1-A draft status on the grounds that he is a Muslim minister, intends to keep fighting as often as possible.

Johnny Persol of New York, who will box Clay's stablemate, James Ellis, in a 10-round semifinal on the March 22 Garden card, was in the audience. He heckled Clay about a shot at the title.

"Ellis is better than the last two contenders," said Clay. "If I can hit James and get away with it in training I know I'm ready. If Persol can whup Ellis he will be among the men considered. I'm fighting at least six men this year and you (pointing to Persol) have got to be involved. Just keep talking."

Although Folley is ranked the leading contender now that Clay has beaten Ernie Terrell, he will be a longshot. Main Bout, Inc., the closed circuit people who usually handle Clay's bouts, are not involved.

The 5-round match will be seen on home television by a special network of RKO-General and the Garden with New York blacked out. The payoff for Clay will be modest, compared with the big money from the closed circuit shows. The champ gets 50 per cent of the Garden gate and a guarantee of $150,000 from the ancillary rights. Folley gets 15 per cent of the gate and a $25,000 guarantee from the ancillary.

AFL Paves Way On Pensions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The pension plan for American Football League players goes on a par, effective at once, with that of the National League.

AFL owners took the step Wednesday, paving the way for interleague trades. Disparity of pensions plans had been viewed as the biggest obstacle to such deals.

DELIVERY FOR A Small Charge In Our Own Trucks

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband's business associate (Mr. G.) recently lost his wife after a marriage of nearly 40 years, so we telephoned him (he lives in Indiana) and invited him to our little winter home in Florida to rest up and get over his grief. Mr. G. said he would love to come for a few weeks.

About 10 minutes later he called us back asking if he could bring his "girl friend!" Abby, we were shocked! My husband said, "But we have only one guest room." Mr. G. said, "That's all right. I want to see how this gal looks in the morning before she puts her face on."

With that he hung up, so now we are trapped. We certainly don't want that kind of set up here, but what can we do?

TRAPPED IN FLA.

DEAR TRAPPED: If you can catch Mr. G. before he heads south, call him and tell him that the invitation was for him, alone. And if he has in mind auditioning "new talent" while he recovers from his grief, he'll have to find friends with a larger home.

DEAR ABBY: We belong to a women's church group. One of the older members happens to be a very nice lady who is well-liked by everyone and for many years has been a devoted worker in the church. But Abby, she keeps cats, and lets them climb all over her sink, her table, and even her stove when it's not on.

The problem is when she entertains at home no one wants to eat her food. We realize she goes to a lot of trouble and expense preparing refreshments, but when she serves it, we all look at each other and our stomachs turn. She is the kind of hostess who watches to see that everyone eats, but how can we, knowing that the food probably is full of cat hair? We hate to hurt her feelings.

CHURCH LADIES

DEAR LADIES: If you "hate to hurt her feelings," eat what you can and leave the rest. And if you forget about the "cat hair" you'll be bothered less about it.

DEAR ABBY: I sure wish I knew what to do about my husband. He is so jealous if someone looks at me he thinks they are going to grab me and run. He has lots of friends and he thinks all of them are (or at one time have been) in love with me.

I have to think over every statement 10 times before I say it to be sure I don't mention some man's name, because if I do, I will have a fight on my hands.

I am no raving beauty and I am not forward or overly friendly to men. I am a good woman, Abby, and I was when he married me. He knows that for certain, but he's still jealous.

He is making a nervous wreck of me. I am 25 and he is 29 and if I have to put up with this the rest of my life I will crack up.

A WRECK

DEAR WRECK: It's your husband who has the problem. He is tormented by fantasies, self-doubts and insecurity. Insist that he get some professional help (and I do mean a doctor) or your marriage is headed for the rocks.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CINDY LOU": All of us have been taken advantage of in our lives. But the man who is ALWAYS complaining about how everyone has "done him wrong," could be the wrong number. Steer clear of him, unless you want to be a lifetime wailing wall.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed envelope.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

When you miss five to the queen, the finesse play is far superior to the drop. Your problem is not whether to finesse but rather how and when to finesse.

In general your plan is to take the finesse on the second round. The reason for this is that if the suit is going to break 4-1 then one in five times the singleton will be the queen and by postponing the finesse you may pick that up singleton queen.

After these preliminary instructions we present a hand for the Department of Utter Confusion. It tends to show that a little learning is apt to be dangerous.

South's seven no-trump call was optimistic. If North were to hold solid diamonds and the ace-king of hearts North could go to seven once South asked for kings. When you do make an optimistic bid it pays to be able to play the hand properly and South went wrong.

At trick two he led a diamond to dummy's king. Then he came back to his hand and finessed successfully against the queen of diamonds. Unfortunately, this second-round finesse came a trifle too late. There was no way to pick up North's queen.

South made the usual complaint about bad luck but it was bad play rather than bad luck that led to his downfall.

This was one time when South should have taken a first-round diamond finesse. The reason was that if the diamonds were going to break 4-3 he would lose to a singleton queen but he would gain a trick against a singleton small diamond.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Mrs. J. that it is impossible to get a crease out of permanently pressed trousers. When I bought some for my grandson I was told to be sure of the size and length as they could not be altered due to the heavy pressure used in putting in the hems. Before you buy be sure you have the right length and waist measure.—MRS. G. L.

DEAR GIRLS—While many of you sent ways to remove these creases a department store buyer of such clothes told us that Mrs. G. L. is absolutely right concerning PERMANENTLY pressed pants.—POLLY

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—I have several teakwood carvings and some of them are cracking. Could someone please tell me what I can do to prevent this? —MARILYN

DEAR MARILYN—Hot, dry air often causes wood to crack. Perhaps your stands are too near a heating outlet. A container of water kept in the room might added enough moisture to the air to prevent future cracking.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—If you have gold fish that keep jumping out of the bowl, put a hair net over the top of the bowl and that will help keep them where they belong.—MRS. L. S.

DEAR POLLY—When you do not have the right shade of mending yarn to darn that stack of color-blended wool socks, take strands of darning yarn from two or three cards and mix to match the socks.—D. H. Y.

GIRLS—This would be good to remember for mending sweaters made of mottled or var-colored yarn.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Don't laugh but our coffee cups used to be so stained until I tried denture cleaner in them. They are clean in just a few minutes. I have a special cup in the bathroom for my teeth so don't be afraid to stop in for coffee sometimes. —DOROTHY

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

I have just finished reading a book for modern women entitled "Modern Women's Encyclopedia," edited by Anna Mantel Fishbein.

Each chapter is written by a distinguished woman physician, all well-known in their respective fields.

I have found some interesting things in this book, which I believe should be in the hands of every modern woman, especially those after-40. There's information for your use as well as for daughters and daughters-in-law.

The chapter on menopause contains this quote from Beatrice E. Tucker, M. D.: "The healthy middle-aged woman can be beautiful. Every age has its own special appeal. The adolescent appears half-baked compared with the middle-aged, mature, fulfilled woman. Character is reflected in her face. If a prevading spirit isn't already there, it is time for it to be nurtured." (I like that.)

Dr. Janet R. Kinney writes the chapter "The Years After 65"—In it she says, "The years after 65 are said to be the 'Age of Serenity.' If this is true, you would not be reading this chapter and I would not be writing it!" (How true!)

Dr. Kinney continues, "In 1900 life expectancy for a baby girl was 49. In 1960 it was 70, and in 1965 it reached 75. Married women outlive their husbands by an average of eight years. This prolongation of life brings problems for womankind and society."

This book makes sense and answers many of the questions you may have in mind that puzzle and perplex. There is an index which gives much-needed explanations. Your doctors does not always have the time to give you explanations of the various medical terms he uses and you, as a layman, do not always understand.

This is a book for women by women.

We The Women:

By Muriel Lawrence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you scared that your mental health may be less than 10 per cent?

I'm not. I've long known that what sanity I possess is only a matter of degree. So, once when a mental hospital's admission clerk, confusing me with an adolescent friend who was committing herself to its care, asked me "Are you the patient?", I laughed. I said, "Not today. But tomorrow? Just maybe. Who knows?"

As I am no paragon of humility, I insist on crediting you with the same willingness to know yourself to be less than 100 per cent rational. All of which is a prelude to my suggestion that it is our irrationality which infects children with schizophrenia, that most baffling form of mental illness.

I've not had the courage to say this before. But an article in a recent issue of Mental Hygiene, publication of the National Association of Mental Health has given it to me. It's the work of two clinical psychologists—director and co-director of the Schizophrenic Research Project of Boston's Judge Baker Guidance Center. And what they have to say about our influence on the development of this disease in children possesses the creative venturesomeness of the artist and none of their profession's stupid enslavement to graphs, tests, to the mathematical measurements of what cannot be measured because it is always escapably human.

First, they tell us that the schizophrenic's generalized helplessness" may be the result of our squashing of the child's initiative, the damming of his self-trusting reach toward independent action that can end in his later recoil from all self-serving, enterprising performance in his mental illness.

Second, they would remind us that intrusion into his private fantasy world is the heresy from readers but because of the volume of mail she cannot answer all letters personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in the column.

Highlights

TV Time Previews

7:30-8 p.m. (ABC) Batman. "The Joker's Epitaph." (Color). The comic books have finally caught up with Batman. In tonight's episode, The Joker (guest villain Cesar Romero) gets Robin in the comic book factory where he is printing up "funny money" to swamp Bruce Wayne's bank with. The evil pranksters intend to print Robin up into one of the world's great comic books.

8-8:30 p.m. (ABC) F Troop. "The Day They Shot Agarn." (Color). Agarn is up before a firing squad for killing Sergeant O'Rourke. That's right, but before you think the series is ended, a flashback reveals that Agarn allowed a prisoner to escape, and after O'Rourke went in search of the prisoner Delaney (Victory French), Wrangler Jane found O'Rourke's hat filled with bullets. Funny as usual, with a fine ballad woven around the episode title.

8:30-9:30 p.m. (NBC) Star Trek. "Space Seed." (Color). The Enterprise finds an ancient cargo vessel floating in space with one inhabitant: a strangely dressed man in a state of suspended animation. The man turns out to be Khan (guest star Ricardo Montalban), who tried to conquer the world in the 20th century and tries again on tonight's episode. Montalban is excellent combining madness with his unavoidable Spanish-Hidalgo attitude, and is ably assisted by generously endowed Madlyn Rhue, who plays Enterprise crewmember taken in by Khan's suavity.

9-11:30 p.m. (CBS) The CBS Thursday Night Movies. "One-Eyed Jacks." (1961) (Color). (Rerun). Marlon Brando stars in a tense little drama of revenge. After five years in a Mexican prison, Rio (Brando), an uninformed young man with deep passions, escapes and heads for Monterrey to kill his former accomplice, Dad Longworth (Karl Malden). Katy Jurado plays Dad's wife, and Pina Pellicer is Maria's daughter Louisa who falls in love with Rio. Brando directed it and it's a little heavy on the dark silences and guttural remarks, and considerably too violent for the young, but it's a pretty good flick all the same.

10-11 p.m. (NBC) The Dean Martin Show. (Color). All kinds of singers tonight, and they all do a stand-up solo except Sid Caesar who doesn't really need to. All he has to do is stand up. Dean's other guests are operatic soprano Patrice Munsel, Trini Lopez and Adam West, who forsakes his Batman cape to sing "Call Me." Not many skits, but who needs them?

10-11 p.m. (ABC) "Holiday On Ice." (Color). (Rerun). Milton Berle is host for a glacial extravaganza that includes skating champions from 19 countries. The comic end is held up by Hami Brown, The Peacocks and Hugh Forgie and Shirley-Marie, not to mention Jonny Holiday the chimpanzee on blades. And of course Uncle Miltie, who wouldn't let anything like a rink full of professionals dampen his spirits.

Making More, Reading Less

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The number of books borrowed from Johannesburg's City Library appears to be a reflection of the prosperity of its citizens.

City librarian Anna Smith claims that when people are prosperous, they read less and go out more. When money is scarce more books are borrowed for home reading.

Miss Smith said in her annual report Johannesburg's white population of about 385,000 read 3,765,720 library books last year—about 900,000 less than the year before.

Argentina's climate varies so widely that both penguins and parrots live there.

Elections Will Be Wet

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Alcoholic beverages may be sold on three upcoming legislative election days because they are not regular elections, says Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth.

In an opinion requested by State Beverage Director Don Meiklejohn, he said the elections of Feb. 28, March 14 and 28 are special primaries and a special election and "thus places dispensing alcoholic beverages may, under state law, remain open during the hours the polls are open on these particular election days."

State law requires that liquor establishments be closed during polling hours on regular primary and election dates.

Thirsty Pigeons Desert City

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A weapon shrouded in secrecy for the past six months was disclosed Wednesday.

It was a specially treated corn mash that cleared the Atlantic City boardwalk of pigeons.

A group of boardwalk businessmen asked the D'Amato Bird Control Corp. to get rid of some 7,000 of the pesty pigeons.

A boardwalk realtor, Albert Johnson, said the Philadelphia firm fed the birds a treated, cracked corn mash. The special feed, the company vice president, Joseph D'Amato said, works by making the pigeons thirsty. And that, he said, drove the birds to a woods ten miles away in search of fresh water.

What's the secret? D'Amato's not saying. "Too many people would like to know," he declared.

CP Gets $267

The Longwood Fire Department was on hand Sunday at the fire station to accept contributions for the annual United Cerebral Palsy Telethon. According to Carl Lommler, fire chief, $267 was collected for the cause.

A LOAF OF BREAD was worth $25,000 to Mrs. Maxine Bullock of Topeka, Kan. Her recipe for "muffin mix buffet bread" was the grand prize winner in a nationwide baking contest. (NEA Telephoto)

Killer Whales Gam Captured

SEATTLE (AP) — Ted Griffin, whose famous killer whale Namu died last year, has captured several more.

Griffin, director of the Seattle Marine Aquarium, said he believed he had "10 or more whales ranging from small to pretty good size." It was too dark to count them.

Namu drowned last July 9 when he became entangled in a net at the aquarium.

Griffin was notified Tuesday by the Coast Guard that killer whales had been spotted at Port Angeles, Wash., headed this way. Griffin began the search Wednesday morning and ran the whales down about 6 p.m. in the Yukon harbor area of Puget Sound.

He was assisted by a helicopter and an airplane. He hopes to bring the whales to Seattle, a distance of about seven miles, in a floating pen.

Bachelor's Tax Seen Subsidy On Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — A single person with a taxable income of $6,000 will pay $130 more in federal income tax this April than a married couple will pay on the same amount.

This situation has persisted since the late 1940s despite the inability of anyone to convince the single taxpayer that it is fair. To him, it amounts to a subsidy of marriages and babies.

Moreover, some single persons are finding the situation becoming more burdensome. The higher the income the wider is the payment disparity. And more Americans are working up into these higher income brackets.

A married taxpayer with $6,000 taxable income is scheduled to pay, according to the official charts, a tax of $1,380. On this same income the single taxpayer will pay $1,630, or $250 more.

At a taxable income of $24,000 this differences reaches a peak in percentage. At that figure the married taxpayer pays $5,560. The single taxpayer pays $8,030, or $2,470 or 29.5 per cent more.

Tax authorities now note that there are many more workers in the $6,000 or higher categories than in 1948, when the present law was passed, and that it can be argued that the present tax setup is thus becoming more discriminatory.

In answer to the argument that a married couple is entitled to a tax break they draw attention to the fact that a married couple gets an automatic deduction of $1,200, or $600 more than the single person.

How did this situation develop?

In the 1940s nine states had laws, upheld later in the courts, that said earned income and property income belonged equally to the husband and the wife. More states made plans to copy these laws.

What did this mean? Well, look at your income tax schedule of rates. It is progressive. More, proportionately, is taken from an $8,000 income —a bit more than 20 per cent—than from a $6,000 income—about 19 per cent. The tax take escalates.

So, the single taxpayer with $8,000 taxable income must pay $1,630.

Under these state laws, however, the married taxpayer could divide his $8,000 income into two $4,000 incomes—one for him and one for his wife.

Because a $4,000 income is taxed proportionately less—$690 — two $4,000 incomes are taxed a total of only $1,380, a $250 difference.

Well, in 1948 the federal government decided that if some states had this advantage it must be applied to all.

Tanglewood To Hear Talk On Taxes

Assistant county tax assessor S. O. Dorminey will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Tanglewood Civic Association to be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at St. Richards Episcopal Church.

He will discuss how new homes are assessed for tax purposes and other subjects of interest.

There will be a baby sitter service for those who must bring their young children to the meeting.

Residents of Tanglewood, Temple Terrace, and Ridge High are asked to fill out and return the questionnaire concerning the association that was included in the newsletter distributed this week.

Butterflies

Steve Ryan, an eighth grade student at All Souls Parochial School, Sanford, spoke to the biology and science classes of Mrs. C. Humphrey at South Seminole Junior High School, Casselberry, Friday on the topic of insect collecting. He displayed his collection of butterflies, most of which were collected in Trinidad when his father, Cdr. P. J. Ryan was stationed there for a year in the Navy. Some of the specimens were collected in Florida.

Some 16,000 freedom of choice forms went out to parents the other day. School officials concerned because the forms are not completely filled out . . . Don't forget to "X" the school of your choice . . . You'll have 20 days to do it

Jaycees have invited all legislative candidates to speak at their meeting next Thursday starting at noon . . . Public is invited.

• • •

Which reminds me, legislative hearing set next Saturday and don't be surprised if the candidates outnumber the citizens . . . Look for an all-out battle between fee offices and county commissioners on budget controls.

City almost lost its $7,500 lift station out by Academy Manor . . . Sewer line leading into it cracked allowing sand to come through . . . crews had to replace the line real fast like.

Dearborn Electronics (they tell everybody they're in Orlando) were given a citation from Bendix today for zero defects.

Flash fire out at Cobia Boat works yesterday morning . . . two persons burned and hospitalized . . . Safety experts looking into it.

Candidate Claude Kirk during his campaign for the state's top job pointed a censuring finger at "the Gold Coast" (more particularly at Miami, since his opponent was mayor of that city) for its crime. He vowed that if he were made governor, he would correct it . . . Not long after he took the oath as governor he announced the "Warkenhut Plan" for "stamping out crime" . . . The state sheriff organization said "let us do the job" . . . The Governor didn't say so, but probably thought "well, lads, you've had many a year to clean up this mess." But he did say "all right, I'll ahelve Wackenhut for the time being to see if you mean it, but he'll be standing by for a quick substitution if this syndicate dominated lawlessness continues." . . . So far, it looks like we're back in the "do nothing" era . . . And "the mob" (so-called) seems to be in full sway in our south state metropolis. . . . Now, what was that you were saying, Governor?

Al Peeples stars on SHS football and track teams . . . and in other ways, too. He was telling his mother the track and field needed about $1,500 worth of renovation. "Talk to your father," Mrs. Peeples suggested. Al talked to his father, Eric J. Peeples, who is a retired Navy chief and a foreman at the Cobia boat works. The father advised the son to have the track coach call on Cobia officials. Result: One Cobia cruiser, with trailer, for the track team to use. Like raising the necessary funds to put their field in shape. But school officials decided otherwise and will put the money in a general fund.

The City of Longwood certainly pays its bills promptly. Even paid its attorney his $1,200 annual retainer a year in advance according to the January financial statement.

Demo Candidate Breaks Up Unity

Democratic party unity in the new Seminole-Orange coalition was "thrown out the window" today when Marty Sullivan, Orlando, qualified to seek the House of Representatives seat now held by Sanford's Tom McDonald.

Orange County incumbent Democrats had announced they were running as a slate and requested no opposition in that county against McDonald. In turn, it was expected no Seminole Democrats would file against the Orange Democrats in the party primary Feb. 28.

Deadline for qualifying was 5 p.m. today in the secretary of state's office at Tallahassee. At noon today McDonald was the only Seminole candidate to qualify.

However, William Medcalf, chairman of the Seminole County Republican executive committee, announced at noon today that three Seminole GOP candidates were en route to Tallahassee to qualify before the 5 p.m. deadline for the Feb. 28 Republican primary.

E. P. BASSETT

JAN FORTUNE

The GOP "boss" confirmed today the report in Thursday's Sanford Herald that Kenneth Plante would qualify against incumbent Sen. Beth Johnson, Orange Democrat, for the 16th senatorial district, in the March 28 general election.

Plante served as state area co-ordinator for Republican Claude Kirk in his successful campaign last year for governor. Plante resides in Altamonte Springs.

Medcalf said that E. Pope Bassett, Republican state committeeman for Seminole County, was to qualify for the seat held by McDonald in the House, and former Rep. Jan Fortune was to qualify for the House seat in district 43.

Medcalf said the Orange County Republican executive committee also had lined up a slate of GOP candidates to run against the Democrats in Orange in the general election.

Associated Press reported the secretary of state's office was braced for a last minute rush today before the 5 p.m. deadline.

Update Charters

Area Cities Go Modern

Modern and updated charters for the cities of Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Oviedo will be submitted to the legislative delegation on Saturday, Feb. 25.

Information on the type of government to be called for in Longwood's new charter was not available. However, Mayor A. R. Lormann revealed a rough draft will be submitted to the legislative delegation with the charter in its final form to be submitted at a later date.

Mayor Lormann stated, "It is my hope a series of public hearings will be scheduled prior to and even after beginning of the session of the Legislature to inform the citizens of Longwood on the new charter."

Lormann also remarked, "The charter may be adopted with or without a referendum."

Altamonte Springs charter will continue the present strong mayor type government. Major changes include provision for all offices to be elected by a majority of the electorate with run-off elections called if necessary.

A referendum of the people to vote for or against the charter will also be included and public hearings will be scheduled.

Oviedo also plans to update its charter, leaving the same type of government, but permitting hiring of a city manager at a later date, if council desires.

Determination as to whether a referendum will be included has not been made.

The City of Casselberry has not decided at this time if local legislation or charter changes will be sought.

Florida Tech To 'Stay' At Oviedo Site

The executive committee of the board of regents has decided not to change the site of Florida Technological University and has opened bids for the first buildings.

Smith and Sapp of Orlando was the apparent low bidder for construction of a library building and a science building at the university, south of Oviedo.

The firm's bid of $1,148,010 was approved yesterday by the executive committee. Regents Architect Forrest Kelley said the construction can start next month, following approval of the contract by the state cabinet.

Attending the meeting were Regents Chairman Chester Ferguson of Tampa, Vice Chairman Wayne McCall of Ocala, and members Henry Kramer of Jacksonville and Dr. Louis Murray of Orlando.

The action came after Gov. Claude Kirk visited the regents office and looked over the master plan for university construction during the next 10 years.

The possibility of moving the new university, which will open next year, to the Disneyworld complex was brought up at the regula regents board meeting earlier this month.

McCall was named chairman of a special committee to investigate the feasibility of moving the university to the entertainment complex site, 12 miles southwest of Orlando.

The committee's report, approved by the executive committee, recommended that the university be built at the original site.

It also recommended that Orange and Seminole Counties be asked to provide proper zoning for adequate "buffer zones" around the campus.

Measles Battle Set For Feb. 26 Here

Free vaccination against measles will be offered in Seminole County, Sunday, Feb. 26, for the first time, Dr. Frank Leone, director of the Seminole County Health Department, has announced.

The vaccine, which will be given with special equipment (no needles used) will be available from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. that date at Midway Elementary School, Jackson Heights School in Oviedo, Altamonte Elementary on W. SR 436, and at Seminole High School in Sanford.

Application blanks are available at the County Health Center, 900 French Avenue, Sanford.

The program is being supported by the State Health Department and the Seminole County Medical Society in cooperation with the county.

Dr Leone points out that complications of measles are the major problem. One-fourth of all who develop encephalitis (inflammation of the brain) die and another third suffer some form of permanent damage such as paralysis or mental impairment.

"The time of year when measles are most prevalent is nearing and the time for vaccination is now! It takes weeks to build up enough immunity for protection and the chain of immunity is weakest today where it should be strongest—in children from one to five years old. All children one through eight years should be immunized," Dr. Leone stressed.

Feb. 26 will be the only time an intensive county-wide measles immunization campaign is conducted and parents are strongly urged to take advantage of this opportunity to protect their children.
