

AFTER SHE HAS DEDICATED 365 DAYS TO US
WE DEDICATE ONE TO MOM, SO LET'S.....

MOTHER'S DAY
is May 13

Make it a great day for...

Mother

Mothers have received a place of honor since the earliest records of mankind. Down through the ages great writers, artists, poets and statesmen have turned to "Mother" as a source of inspiration. But it was Miss Anna Jarvis whose determination and efforts brought about national observance of Mother's Day. This year Americans everywhere pay tribute to Mothers on Sunday, May 13th.

Show Mother how much she means to you with the greatest gift you could give—next to your love and respect, a HOME OF HER VERY OWN. For in a home of her own, a Mother sees Security, the prime ingredient to her family's Peace and Happiness.

Mother Will Be Happy Beyond Her Fondest Dreams

Pancake Day Is Success

The first annual Pancake Day was a huge success yesterday as more than 400 people visited the Elk's Club to eat pancakes and to help the Women's Auxiliary of the Seminole Memorial Hospital in projects to furnish the hospital with much needed equipment.

More than 1,300 pancakes were cooked by the staff of the Sanford Herald. The affair starting at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, wound up at 7 o'clock last night interrupted only by a heavy mid-afternoon shower.

Visitors eating pancakes either before going to church or after returning from church, were served pancakes, sausage, syrup, butter and coffee.

No charge was made for pancakes and sausage, but contributions were received for the Women's Auxiliary.

At 7 o'clock last night, Mrs. Evelyn Epps, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Seminole Memorial Hospital said that a total of $333.23 had been collected as contributions toward the projects that were underway.

Mrs. Epps said, "Now we will be able to purchase the Hi-Fi music system that will furnish music for the patients at intervals during the day, furnish the family room on the mezzanine floor of the hospital, and buy a cart for transporting items from the hospital shop to patients throughout the hospital."

Helping to put the project underway yesterday morning, in addition to the staff of The Sanford Herald were Gus Schmah who prepared corn fritters and apple cakes, Cotton Brown, and Sheriff Denver Cordell.

From every side remarks were made of the "completed success" of the Pancake Day venture of The Sanford Herald.

Purchases of the food for the event were made from W. R. "Bill" Casabe of the Lovett's Store and contributed to the event by The Sanford Herald. The gross receipts from contributions went to the Women's Auxiliary.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON PAGE TWO

Election Party Set At Herald Office Tomorrow Night

An election party will be held on West First St. tomorrow night beginning at 7 o'clock when returns will start pouring in from precincts around the State.

Blackboards, lights, and a public address system are being provided by The Sanford Herald so that results can be tabulated and made public in record time.

Local election results will be posted on the boards which will be located on the east side of The Sanford Herald Building in the open lot which will accommodate hundreds of people.

The Sanford Herald Staff will coordinate the results from the 16 Seminole County precincts and post them with countywide totals in each race.

Results on statewide races will be received in The Sanford Herald newsrooms by way of Associated Press and immediately posted on the bulletin boards provided for the election party.

The public is invited to attend.

Negro Woman Is Stabbed To Death; Assailant In Jail

A 34-year-old Negro woman was stabbed to death Saturday night in a Goldsboro night spot and her assailant is being held in the Seminole County Jail without bond under a charge of murder in the first degree.

Annie Bell Fort, whose address was given as 1307 West 12th St., was stabbed Saturday night with a hunting knife wielded by a Sanford Negro farm worker who has been identified as 33-year-old Ishak McCoy.

The Negro woman died on the way to the local hospital following the slaying at 11:40 p. m. Saturday night.

Justices of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan, called to the scene, impounded a coroner's jury to view the body and the scene of the slaying. A coroner's inquest will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Seminole County Court House, Don Dales, local businessman, is foreman of the coroner's jury.

Investigating officers were Sanford Patrolman Carl Dodson and Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway.

S. Jacobson Named To Leadership Fraternity At Duke

Samuel Rigmund Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jacobson of 220 Sigum Ave. is one of 19 Duke University students who have been named members of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity for men.

Election to the honorary is based on outstanding leadership in one or more of five areas of campus activity: scholarship, publications, dramatics, athletics, and student government, social and religious work.

Jacobson is a rising senior at Duke.

Governorship Candidates Wind Up Bitter Campaign

Race Issue Tops Talks

Florida's governorship candidates make their final pitch to the voters today to wind up a bitter campaign in which segregation talk has all but drowned out other issues.

Tomorrow an estimated 800,000 Democrats will decide between Gov. Collins and five opponents seeking to be the state's chief executive for the next four years.

Collins, handsome Tallahassee attorney and former state senator, won election in 1954 to serve out the last two years of the term of Gov. Dan McCarthy who died in office.

Governor LeRoy Collins will be heard tonight from 8 to 9 p. m. over Radio Station WTRB and a statewide network.

The race has been a red hot battle between the 67-year-old Collins and three opponents: Fuller Warren, colorful Miami Beach attorney who was governor from 1949 to 1953; Sumner L. Lowry, 63, a 1944-46 U. S. Tampa insurance company executive and retired National Guard commander; and Farris Bryant, 41, Ocala attorney and legislative leader who was speaker of the 1955 House.

Other candidates are Pesaloe Streets, Lake Park constable who is the only candidate in the race to come out for integration; and W. H. Price, Jacksonville used car salesman.

The voters will mark a long ballot which includes races from constable to U. S. senator, George A. Smathers, Florida's junior U. S. senator, has drawn nominal opposition from Erle L. Griffin, Macclenny attorney who is a newcomer to Florida politics. Neither has done much campaigning.

All four of the major candidates for governor have endorsed segregation but they have disagreed sharply on methods.

Lowry has keyed his entire campaign to the segregation issue and has gotten off numerous blasts at the U. S. Supreme Court for its ruling banning segregation in the schools. He charged the court violated the state's rights guaranteed in the Constitution. He has urged an interposition resolution as a means of heading off integration.

Lowry and Warren have hit hard at Collins on the issue contending he should take a firmer stand.

Collins declared Florida was one of only three Southern states which have prevented any integration and that segregation would be preserved by every lawful and peaceful means but "without emotional furor and disorders."

B. L. Lasbury Dies Yesterday

Information was received today from Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lasbury Jr., of East Windsor Hill, Conn., advising of the death, May 6, of their youngest son, Benjamin Lee Lasbury, following an automobile accident.

Mrs. Lasbury is the daughter of the late Joshua Coffin Chase, and a cousin of Randall, Sydney and Frank Chase.

Juveniles Lead FHP Officers On Wild Chase Saturday

Two juveniles led Florida State Highway Patrol officers on a wild chase at 100 miles an hour Saturday night shortly before 10 o'clock, the climax of which came only after a crash with a parked car.

Trooper T. Mark Mack said yesterday that he picked up the trail of the speeding stolen car at Mobley's Corner, south of Sanford. Driving a 1955 Oldsmobile, stolen from J. R. Wells, an Orlando Attorney, the unnamed juveniles attempted to outrun Florida Highway Patrol officers at speeds up to 100 miles an hour into Sanford.

Trooper Mack said that in the wild drive, the speeding car hit a parked car, property of Chase and Company, as they attempted to pass two cars on the right near the 13th St. intersection of Park Ave.

The two youths jumped and ran when their car came to a stop off Park Ave. on Eighth St.

However, George Andrew Spear, local attorney, caught the first of the boys with Sanford Police Department patrolman Joe Hickson running the second offender down. The Sanford Police Department became involved in the speeding car after it was inside the city limits. Captain Arnold Williams investigated the accident.

Damage was estimated at four to five hundred dollars to the stolen Oldsmobile while $300 damage was estimated to the Chase and Company car.

Trooper Mack, who was assisted by Patrolman Carl Williams, said that the two juveniles were placed under protective custody pending action by Juvenile Judge Ernest Housholder today.

Women Of De Bary Garden Club Elect Officers At Meet

One hundred women of the De Bary Garden Club met Friday in the civic center to elect the following officers: Mrs. Theodore Broom, president; Mrs. A. L. Lincoln, first vice president; Mrs. John M. Byrn, second vice president; Mrs. Henry L. Wood, third vice president; Mrs. Arthur G. Watt, fourth vice president; Mrs. Price O. Goodson, recording secretary; Mrs. Albert Salisbury, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Frank R. Ballantyne, treasurer.

A reception honoring the new officers followed, with two beautifully decorated punch tables. A most successful plant sale was reported.

Market Realizing Slight Decrease

Business transacted at the Sanford State Farmers' Market last week amounted to 30 varieties totaling $67,452 packages at a gross valuation of $121,069.20," said Sandy Anderson, Sanford State Farmers' Market manager in his weekly newsletter released today.

However, Sandy Anderson said "We are experiencing a slight decrease each week in volume and valuation."

"Our good neighbor, R. N. Beville, and his Plant City Market in contributing his support, as Pompano, Pahokee and Belle Glade were doing during the winter months, in helping to keep our market clicking," said Anderson.

Stage Set For Hotly Contested Election

The stage is set for one of the most hotly contested elections in Seminole County in the past two decades.

Voting machines have been on display in the downtown business section of Sanford for the past week acquainting voters on the use of the new method of voting in most precincts.

Sixteen precincts are ready to open tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock when it is estimated that at least 80 per cent of the Seminole County registration list will turn out to cast their ballots in a statewide Governor's race as well as the local races for high county offices.

Each candidate is predicting his own success in the local races with no indication at pre-election time as to which way the voters will choose. Topmost races are the Sheriff's contest, the Board of County Commissioners race, House of Representatives contest, and the bidding for the office of Seminole County Assessor of Taxes, as well as race for the office of Clerk of Circuit Court.

Little or no variation in speeches was noticed throughout the series of 11 rallies staged by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee which took candidates to practically every precinct in the county.

No charges were made on the surface and no counter charges were forthcoming from the apparent stands made by each of the candidates.

One of the largest crowds to listen to the 32 candidates turned out Friday night to the final rally in Seminole County held at the Sanford Farmer's Auction Market. An estimated crowd of 900 gave candidates rousing applause as they outlined their platforms and spoke of their aims in their plea for votes.

Edgar Waybright of Jacksonville, speaking on behalf of Sumner Lowry and his candidacy for Governor of Florida and A. B. Peterson Jr., speaking on behalf of Senator George Smathers were the last speakers on a program that extended to two hours.

An extensive house to house campaign by candidates has spurred possibilities that tomorrow's election will create one of the biggest voter turnouts in Seminole County's history.

The election will be climaxed by an election party to be held at The Sanford Herald office tomorrow night beginning at 7 o'clock. It is expected, with the help of the immediate reading of totals on the voting machines, that final totals for Seminole County will be known by 10 p. m. Paper ballots will be tabulated in only the smaller precincts of the county. However, The Sanford Herald Election Party will continue until a trend is set in the Governor's race.

Helping to put the project underway yesterday morning, in addition to the staff of The Sanford Herald were Gus Schmah who prepared corn fritters and apple cakes, Cotton Brown, and Sheriff Denver Cordell.

From every side remarks were made of the "completed success" of the Pancake Day venture of The Sanford Herald.

Purchases of the food for the event were made from W. R. "Bill" Casabe of the Lovett's Store and contributed to the event by The Sanford Herald. The gross receipts from contributions went to the Women's Auxiliary.

The stellar line-up will include Lester Bush, Jimmy Cordell, Alex McKibbin, Bruce McCoy, Cecil Dandridge, George Harriet, Joe High, Earl Sumner, Wendell Brooks, Charlie English, Tony Gorman, Jimmy Halligan.

Dave Bramlett was chosen by the Cubs to augment their line-up, the privilege of picking a man from the other clubs being a privilege of the pennant winner each year.

George Stine and Ben Wiggins will continue to manage the Cubs, while the All-Stars will be under the wings of Sonny Powell and Bill Hutchison.

A practice session for the All-Stars has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 at the old ball park. The Cubs will get together at the same place on Wednesday to loosen up and be ready for the test of skill the following night.

Attendance Effort By Cancer Society Receives Publicity

Nationwide publicity has resulted from one of the efforts made by the Seminole County Unit, American Cancer Society in order to get greater attendance at one of the showings of a cancer film.

Mrs. Gertrude Dingfelder, writing from New York, states that the American Cancer Society Headquarters, located in New York City felt that the item was worthy of mention in the ACS Bulletin which is distributed nationwide.

Mrs. Kitty Walsh, director of the Nursery School, Palmisto Ave. and 5th St. made the nationwide publicity possible by keeping children in the nursery free while mothers saw the film being shown at the Ritz Theatre.

Mrs. Dingfelder, in her letter to The Sanford Herald, said "although the complete Florida Division campaign results had not been received at the time of my visit, it looks as though Florida is well measuring up to the other states in combating this treacherous silent disease — cancer."

Considerable cloudiness, scattered showers and thundershowers becoming partly cloudy with less numerous showers and thundershowers Tuesday; little temperature change.

Two groups were visiting Sanford by way of Atlantic Coast Line train, the other being from Winter Park School which increased the total number here by 25.

One youngster spoke up as the noon train blew its whistle, signaling its approach to the station. "This is the second time I've been on a train. The first time I came all the way here from California."

Most of the boys and girls remarked that they would like to stay longer and see more of Sanford but each remembered that the teacher had a surprise waiting for them on their return to school, one that none of them wanted to miss.

They were in charge of their teacher, Mrs. B. M. Smith, who said that their visit included a round of interesting points — the zoo, Midget City, and the Big Tree.

The project, sponsored by Wellborn Phillips Jr., kept garden circle members busy for as much as two weeks, planting their choice of shrubs and flowers, placing each plant in the spot where it would show up to the best advantage.

Home No. 3, landscaped by three circles of the Sanford Garden Club, the Central Circle, Driftwood Circle, and Magnolia Circle, was chosen as the top prize winner.

The three circles will receive the top prize of $125.

House No. 1 was chosen to receive second prize of $75 and House No. 2 was selected to receive third prize of $50.

The entire selection was done by visitors who stopped by the office of Wellborn Phillips Jr., in Loch Arbor to name their choice.

Unprecedented interest was built up in the landscaping efforts of the three groups of Sanford Garden Club members when the crowds viewed the homes chosen by Wellborn Phillips Jr., as those to be beautified. From 2:30 to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, visitors flocked to Loch Arbor for first-hand information and a closer look at the efforts of the Garden Club circles.

All-Star Team Is Picked By Manager For Game Thursday

The players of the Rotary League baseball clubs who will make up the roster of the All-Stars were selected over the weekend by the managers of the various teams.

These diamond artists will pit their skill against that of the championship Cubs in a game at Memorial stadium, Thursday, May 10 at 7:30 p. m. It was announced by Comar John Pope.

The stellar line-up will include Lester Bush, Jimmy Cordell, Alex McKibbin, Bruce McCoy, Cecil Dandridge, George Harriet, Joe High, Earl Sumner, Wendell Brooks, Charlie English, Tony Gorman, Jimmy Halligan.

Dave Bramlett was chosen by the Cubs to augment their line-up, the privilege of picking a man from the other clubs being a privilege of the pennant winner each year.

A practice session for the All-Stars has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 at the old ball park. The Cubs will get together at the same place on Wednesday to loosen up and be ready for the test of skill the following night.

Umpires for the game are W. C. (Red) Hires behind the plate with Brack Perkins and Orville Touchton on the bases.

Trophies awarded each year by Sonny Powell and Roy Heller for most valuable player and for outstanding sportsmanship will be presented to two boys whose names will not be announced until just before the game.

As part of the city recreation program the commissioners and City Manager Pete Knowles have donated the use of the stadium and the lights for this post-season classic that each year provides some spectacular baseball for the scores of interested spectators who support the activity.

Landscape Project Is Staged In Loch Arbor

The Sanford Garden Club project to landscape three homes in the Loch Arbor, Little Venice Section, climaxed yesterday when the winning home was selected by more than 500 people who visited the three projects in order to vote on their choice.

In spite of inclement weather, numbers of visitors turned out to see the landscaping efforts of the various circles of the club, and to see the homes around which the landscaping was placed.

The project, sponsored by Wellborn Phillips Jr., kept garden circle members busy for as much as two weeks, planting their choice of shrubs and flowers, placing each plant in the spot where it would show up to the best advantage.

National Music Week Proclaimed

"Where There's Life, There's Music," is the theme of the 30th annual National Music Week which is being observed through May 13 in Sanford, it was announced today by Peter J. Bukur of Bukur's Music Shop, a member of a national organization sponsoring the nationwide event.

Mayor F. D. Scott today proclaimed this week as National Music Week in Sanford. He said in his proclamation, "In this period when our world is beset by international problems, we may all turn toward the wonderful world of music wherein we are afforded momentary peace and contentment."

Local groups throughout the country are being urged to observe the occasion by planning special musical programs, concerts, school bands exhibitions and school music assemblies. Most music stores will feature some type of musical activity during the period.

National Music Week comes at a time when more people are enjoying music than ever before. The American Music Conference estimates that there is currently in excess of 19,000,000 persons playing the piano, and one person in eight in the United States regularly plays some form of musical instrument.

There are 7,750,000 children now playing instruments and receiving instrumental music instruction in public and parochial schools and with private teachers. An estimated 250,000 new students are added to this total every year. Instrumental instruction is increasing daily as a standard item in school curricula. The importance of music to children will yet school enrollments roll toward their crest of 33,500,000 children in the next five years.

Since the war, school bands have increased 65% and school orchestras even more. Today there are over 56,000 instrumental musical organizations with more than 18,000 orchestras and 30,000 bands. Over 80% of the country's schools provide rhythm band training in kindergarten and primary grades.

Community orchestras are springing up all over the country. There are over 1,000 symphony orchestras composed of community neighbors. Many cities have businessmen's orchestras, some doctor's symphony orchestras, and other professional groups. One third of all these community groups are formed in cities of 50,000 population or less.

Bukur said, "Americans are growing more music-conscious each year, and more and more people are becoming interested in playing an instrument. National Music Week affords everyone the opportunity to reflect upon the importance of music in their lives. Those who know the rewarding benefits of music can easily tell why you should give music a place in your life."

FLOCK OF FOWLS

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Bob Peterson, Louisa high school basketball player, figures he owns some kind of record for personal fouls. He committed 19 in one night.

Peterson made five fouls in a junior varsity game. Because the Louisa team had only five players the opposing coach allowed Peterson to remain in the game. Then he played briefly in the varsity contest and committed two more fouls.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has been shifted to another date because of the conflict with election day.

According to a notice mailed to each member of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce membership, the meeting of the Board of Directors has been changed from Tuesday, May 8 to Monday, May 14.

At the meeting next week a report from the By-Laws Revision committee will be heard. Time and place of the meeting have not yet been named.

Water Skiing Is Taught In De Bary

By MARY FOWLER

Water skiing is so popular among the younger residents of De Bary that devotees gather round to watch instructions by Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Bruce who are not only ski experts but who operate a school up North.

Florida is a natural for the Bruce family who with their children, Debbie, 13 and Darwin, seven, moved to De Bary two years ago and immediately found a niche for themselves among the water sports enthusiasts of this section. A graduate of Michigan State and New York U., and an athletic instructor, Bruce is especially adept at teaching good sportsmanship to the youngsters who, with his children, take readily to the water and are becoming junior ski experts, too.

The Bruces are returning to Port Jefferson, N. J. this month but will be back next fall and hope to make their permanent residence here.

Asphalt is used as a sound deadener into auto body construction.

Mental Health Campaign To Get Underway Here

The campaign for Mental Health will get underway in Seminole County simultaneously with the nationwide program.

Heading the fund and educational drive in Seminole County will be George Touhy, Executive vice president of the First Federal Saving and Loan Association here, who was appointed chairman of the Seminole County Mental Health Association.

Named secretary-treasurer of the local organization was Mrs. Gustav Bamberger with M. S. E. Chapman, publicity chairman.

The campaign committee, named for the Seminole County portion of the nationwide event which gets underway Wednesday, May 9 are: Mayor F. D. Scott, A. L. Wilson, Mrs. Sidney Ives III, and Mrs. C. L. Park Sr.

A workers kit will be presented to each civic organization in Seminole County in the first step to get the fund campaign and educational drive underway.

This is the first concentrated effort in Seminole County to participate in the Mental Health program which is being stimulated throughout the State under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Siver of Miami, chairman of the Florida Mental Health Association.

Senator George Smathers is honorary chairman of the statewide organization.

peaceful means but "without emotional furor and disorders."

Collins attacked Lowry as "a candidate who seeks to embroil the state in an orgy of hate" and declared Warren off "a rerun of four years of buffoonery and bombast."

Bryant has challenged Collins' leadership qualities and said he failed to carry out his campaign pledges on reapportionment and other issues.

All four candidates made claims of eventual victory but none would claim election in the first primary. If none win clear majority, the two top men will run it off May 29 in the second primary.

Collins said at Lakeland yesterday before moving over to Tampa to close his campaign: "I am resting my case with the people. The issue is simple and clear—shall Florida continue forward in her great march of progress or shall we falter and fumble and grope with leadership determined on a course of disorder, distrust and disaster."

"I am confident of victory. We are going to lead the field and it's going to be a big lead. I hope and pray it is big enough."

Lowry said at Tampa: "I feel confident that the fine organizations of crusaders who have worked so hard for me in the campaign will put me in No. 1 position on election day."

Warren, Bryant and Collins conclude their campaigns today in the Tampa Bay area and return to their respective homes in Miami Beach, Ocala and Tallahassee tomorrow to vote.

Lowry winds up his campaign in Jacksonville where he makes a night TV talk.

The Democratic nominee will oppose the Republican candidate, William A. Washburne Jr., in November but in Florida Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

Dutch Tourists To See Sanford

Thirty Dutch tourists will see Sanford this year via the "St. Johns River Trail" on a Florida tour which Fred Weeda of Herten, Holland, is arranging, according to a letter received from Weeda recently.

The tourists from Holland will make their trip to the Sunshine State by chartered bus from New York. They will travel south on Highway One to Miami and return north by the St. Johns River Trail, a north and south route promoted some years ago by a group of central Florida citizens to attract motorists to the middle section of the state. At that time the St. Johns River Trail Association was formed with the late Edward Higgins as its first president, and thousands of "strip" maps describing the route were distributed.

In his letter Weeda asks for a supply of these maps and other material which the Chamber is sending, along with an invitation to the Dutch Tourists to stop off in Sanford.

Salvation Army Is Under New Charge

New officers are in command of the Salvation Army Headquarters in Sanford, it was revealed Friday.

Lt. Marcella Reynolds is in command of the local corps assisted by Lt. Virginia Kellner.

Lt. Reynolds came to Sanford from Tallahassee, where she had been stationed for the past 2 1/2 years. Lt. Kellner came here from Columbia, S. C. where she had been stationed for 10 months.

The two young, attractive ladies, replace Lt. Raymond Luce who had been in command of the Sanford Salvation Army Corps for six months. Lt. Luce left Sanford Sunday, March 26.

for better Florida Farming

A modern Florida farmer must perform a number of "do-it-yourself" jobs to keep his buildings in good repair. And perform them he does, quickly and efficiently, with modern power tools such as electric saws, drills, and paint sprayers.

Look around your farm. See all the ways the "Big Switch" to more electric switches can make Florida farming more productive for you!

for better Florida Living

In addition to an electric range, refrigerator, and laundry appliances, today's modern farm housewife uses a number of electric "tools," too: coffee-makers, toaster, mixers, waffle-irons, to name a few. They make cooking more fun, and give her added leisure to enjoy happier Florida living!

Matsu Island Could Well Be

MATSU ISLAND, UP — This small Nationalist stronghold in the East China Sea could well be named "Incredible outpost."

From even a short distance it seems to merge with Red China. By military logic it appears untenable in the face of assault from the mainland—but not to Chiang Kai-Shek's high command and the defenders.

Even Americans, it seems, think Matsu can be held.

Or else why, it might be asked, should they station a military team here to train and advise the troops of Maj. Gen. Hwa Hsin Chuan?

Why should millions of dollars worth of American guns, radar equipment and other material be shipped here?

But the really incredible thing about Matsu is the way in which the ever present threat of war has transformed this small island under the shadow of Red China's night.

Long trenches have been hewn out of hills and there are gun emplacements everywhere. Tunnels, supposedly impervious to conventional bombs and shells, house command posts. Cavernous ammunition bunkers have been dug.

The tiny island, which formerly had nothing more than trails, is crisscrossed with 31 miles of highway.

The civilians re about their work and play as if they had never heard of war.

No one pays any attention to the sound of shellbursts.

A Nationalist officer explains casually that the Reds are living at Kanceng, a tiny island within sight of Matsu and even closer to Communist China.

The soldiers who live here have scant recreation facilities, typified by an underground room with chairs, magazines and maybe a radio.

One striking impression of Matsu is the cleanliness of all military establishments.

Troops look in good physical condition. Their discipline is excellent and their morale appears very high. Most of the soldiers originally came from the mainland but have been retrained and reequipped in Formosa.

The rest were recruited under compulsory military service laws introduced by the Nationalists in Formosa.

This time last year most of the troops were billeted in tents.

Today they are housed in quarters gouged out of the hills and afforded good protection against conventional bombing.

Civilian life in the 10 villages on the island is much more spartan.

Dwellings are crude and dilapidated, smells strong and pungent, and there are many flies.

But the civilians, all things considered, are cheerful, good-natured and optimistic.

Nationalist officers say that if Chinese Communists in vade Matsu they will be met with resistance as stern as American Marines found in invading Iwo Jima in World War II.

But the outcome, they assert, will be different: The Americans took Iwo Jima—the Chinese Reds will not take Matsu.

50 Million To Be Inoculated Against Polio By Oct. 30

WASHINGTON, UP—More than 50 million children should be inoculated against polio by Oct. 30, surgeon general Leonard Scheele says.

He told a news conference yesterday sufficient Salk vaccine should be available for that program. Addressing a closed meeting of doctors and health officers, he urged that immunization be continued during the summer months.

The meeting did not express my view on the summer program. Scheele reported some doctors have favored discontinuing shots during the summer, when the incidence of the diseases normally is highest.

Scheele said promised increases in vaccine production will be sufficient to provide two or three shots for all the 31 million children under 15 and for present women who want them. Officials estimate that about 20 million of the women and children already have received one or more shots.

CUBS TRY COLLEGE STAR
CHICAGO, UP—Don Eaddy, third baseman getting a trial with the Cubs this spring, is a former University of Michigan star athlete. He was selected for the All-Conference diamond squad four years in a row and made the All-Conference basketball team his senior year. After graduating last June he played for Burlington in the I League, batting .304 in 32 games.

Excessive speed was the principal cause of traffic accidents in 1955.

Mrs. J. Guivillig Says Women Will Elect Presidents

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Staff Editor

From now on it's the women who will elect the presidents, says a brisk young woman who is chairman of the 1956 election campaign committee of the Women's National Republican Club.

Jacqueline Guivillig first became sold on the importance of public service during the war, when she was in Europe as a lieutenant colonel with the Department of Psychological Warfare, attached to Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters. Her husband, meanwhile, was a major in the Air Force, stationed in India.

Jackuelin puts in a full working day five days a week at the club headquarters in New York, cooperating with the party's local, state and national committees and contacting all national women's organizations urging them to get their members out to register and vote.

"In the last presidential election, 52 per cent of the total voters were women," she says. "In the country there is a potential of two million more women voters than men. That's a big margin, and a big responsibility."

Young Mrs. Guivillig has found political work exciting and engrossing, and urges more women to try it.

"If you've never done anything of the sort before," she says, "the way to start is to go to the local district leader or club of the party of your choice. If you don't know where they are, look in the phone book."

"You may be sure you will be greeted with enthusiasm and gratitude, and will be given all the work you have time or energy for. Political organizations need all the intelligent women workers they can get. If you can't do anything else you can address envelopes. Or you can go out and ring doorbells. You can offer your car to drive people to the polls. You can act as a baby sitter for mothers who want to go out and vote."

"If you are good at public speaking, you can go out on sound trucks and make election speeches."

PREFERS DEER TO PEOPLE

New Anti-Diabetes Drug May Soon Be Available In U. S.

FRANKFURT, Germany, UP—A new German anti-diabetes drug, which can be taken orally, may soon be available in the United States, say its producers here.

Elderly diabetics—provided they have a case history of less than five years—have a good chance of being able to switch from the insulin needle to two or three pills a day, German doctors who tested the drug say there is also hope for other diabetic types, excluding children.

Under the name BZ 53, the drug was clinically tested on more than 3,000 diabetics. It is undergoing more tests in the United States before it is licensed there. In Germany it is on sale as Invenol and as Nadia.

If it passes tests, the new drug will be put on market under the name "Orinate" by the Upjohn Pharmaceutical Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Diabetes, a disease characterized by emaciation, great hunger and thirst, is generally fatal in severe cases. Victims suffer from excessive accumulation of sugar in the blood which their body cannot burn. Swiss medical statistics established in 1953 when a Berlin doctor tested it in the treatment of pneumonia. He noticed that it caused—like insulin does—a decrease of the sugar level in the blood.

New York Giants Are Important Part Of Sanford's Economic Life

A new era in the history of Sanford has begun.

The New York Giants Farm System training base will be moved back to Sanford with the completion of a modern building which will house its administrative offices and dormitory.

No doubt, the new building, which will be erected on property at the corner of Mellonville Avenue and 8th Street, will create a brand new vision on the part of many people as to the prospects of Sanford's continued growth.

The New York Giants Farm System will bring upward of 300 young men here each year for Spring training. It will add to the growing Sanford and Seminole County economy the spending of a quarter of a million dollars each year.

What many Sanford and Seminole County folks do not realize is the fact that the Giants organization investment in Sanford and Seminole County is now nearing one million dollars. So, their organization can be considered one of the community's biggest investors and tax payers.

The building of the administrative office and dormitory for the Farm System's spring training schedule is coupled with the announcement that the Giants will also add a huge Annex to their plush Mayfair Inn winter resort—a building to accommodate 48 people—which will be open the year around.

This new development will bring hundreds of people to Sanford, as summer tourists, transient visitors, and a stopping place for those who choose the finest. The Annex, according to last week's announcement, will be completely air conditioned throughout and will be coupled with golf club, swimming pool, and tennis court facilities for recreation and play.

The investment of the New York Giants'

No Application for homestead tax exemption form to be used

Dear Mr. Sloan:

In reply to your letter of recent date relative to the filing of applications for homestead tax exemption.

The forms are prescribed by Section 192.15, Statutes of Florida, and the language to be used in said forms being set out in the statute. We find nothing in the statute prescribing the type of paper, card or other instrument to be used in printing such forms. They being true, in substance, legal in form, and in the use of instruments, the same are not subject to the provisions of the statute which require that forms prescribed by the statute be used in full on the card.

It may be that some forms are supplied by the State Department in which case the type of form prescribed should have to be used unless repeated in full on the card.

Senator Smathers Has An Idea

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Sen. Smathers has an idea.

The Florida Democrat thinks no one should be allowed to serve on the Supreme Court unless he has previously served at least five years as judge of a lower federal court or a state supreme court.

If his idea had prevailed throughout American history:

1. Only 3 of the 14 chief justices who have presided over the court since its beginning could have held the job. The two—William Howard Taft and Fred M. Vinson—headed the court in this century.
2. Only one of the nine present members of the Supreme Court—Justice Sherman Minton—could be sitting there now.

Smathers offered his proposal to the Senate this week. He said the members of the court should have a "judicial" temperament, meaning previous experience as judges.

He acknowledged that some Supreme Court justices who had never had judicial experience before turned out to be distinguished justices. But, he said, didn't.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) challenged him at once to name names, state cases and give a bill of particulars.

SOMETIMES YOU CAN'T GIVE FISH AWAY
DENVER — Generous sportsmen in Colorado are learning it's a complicated process just to hand out a fish to a friend.

A "certificate of donation" must accompany the gift.

State game and fish regulations say: "No game or fish taken on a regular hunting or fishing license shall be disposed of to another except by actual donation and having attached thereto a certificate of donation (in the form of a letter or other written statement) showing in whose name the license was issued, he type and kind, the number and year, the date the game or fish were legally taken, the date of donation and the signature of donor . . ."

'Yes Man' Is Term Of Contempt

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Curstone comments of a Pavement Plato: He shouts the glories of the boss. In his eyes whatever the boss does is not only okay, it's wonderful. The term "yes man" has long been one of contempt in America, where the breed has by no means been confined to Hollywood but flourished in all walks of life. It symbolizes a spineless creature, the worm that never turns—that is always looking ahead for an angle by which to curry favor in the eyes of his superior.

There are signs now that the old "hallelujah" man is falling in some disfavor in Russia, a land in which it has been risky to say "No" for a long, long time.

Over the weekend A.N. Shelepin, secretary of the Young Communist League, spoke out strongly against the Soviet's "hallelujah men."

He blamed the "hallelujah men" for raising the late and presently unlamented Joseph Stalin to the stature of a demigod in his own lifetime.

Shelepin accused the "hallelujah men" of playing "follow the leader." This, he added smugly, had led in the Soviet Union to the rise of a dangerous "cult of personality."

Presumably the personality they exalted was only that of Stalin, because nobody develops his own personality by saying yes all the time.

It is hard to figure out just whom Shelepin is casting a stone at—but he certainly didn't show the courage to cast the first stone. The hurling of mud on Stalin's memory began some time ago.

The truth is that Shelepin has thrown a boulder at himself, and a bigger boulder at his entire people. For a quarter of a century the Soviet Union has been, for all practical purposes, a nation of from 180 to 200 million "hallelujah men."

In all that time there have been only two places where a Russian could say "No"—nyet—safely: 1. In the United Nations. 2. In his sleep—if he slept alone. If he said "Nyet" anywhere else, he faced the likelihood of being purged—or the probability he soon would be mailing his "Wish you were here" postcards from an address in Siberia Even for falling to shout hallelujah" often enough and convincingly enough he might get a one-way ticket on the slow train to Siberia's Winter Wonderland.

An optimist might hope that Shelepin's attack presaged the fall of the old "hallelujah men" and the emergence of a new class of "Nyet men," sturdy men of conscience who have the courage to say "no" loudly and clearly to whatever they thought was wrong.

Such a hope, alas, is unlikely to come true.

Once a "yes man," either in Hollywood or Russia, always a "yes man." The successful "yes man" never has to change his principles, for he has only one principle—stay on top himself by echoing whatever boss is in power. He merely has to have the chameleon's power to suit his coloration to the one prevailing.

No, Shelepin is hardly the forerunner of Russia's new "nyet men." He merely has added a high clear tenor to the swelling chorus of the Soviet Union's new "hallelujah men."

Far from saying "Nyet" to the new regime, Shelepin has cheerfully joined in the game of following the new leader who doesn't even have the strength to yell "Help!"

Washington To Get Faculty Member

ST. LOUIS — Dr. Edward U. Condon, controversial former director of the National Bureau of Standards, will become professor of physics and head of that department at Washington University Sept. 1.

The appointment of the atomic scientist, now visiting professor of physics at the University of Pennsylvania, has announced yesterday by Chancellor Ethan A. K. Shepley.

Dr. Condon quit as director of research and development for the Corning (N.Y.) Glass Works in 1954 when he gave up an effort to win final security clearance on Navy contracts.

He said at the time he didn't think he could get a fair ruling in the Navy review of his security status although his loyalty already had been "clearly and formally established."

Announcement was made that the P-TA scrap book will be on display in the front hall of the school. This book covers all activities for the P-TA for the past several years.

Devotional was led by Mrs. John L. Lee after which an installation of officers was made by Mrs. J. B. St. John, county council president.

Officers include John Kader, president; Mrs. G. Bamberger, first vice president; Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, second vice president; Mrs. John L. Lee, secretary; D. G. Walton, treasurer and the Rev. David Carnell, historian.

A display of the county art supervisor's paintings were shown in the auditorium and Miss Gene Nungilly led the group in singing songs in the luncheonroom.

The second grade won the attendance prize after which refreshments were served in the luncheonroom.

Hostesses were the room mothers from the rooms of Mrs. Hilda Davis, Miss Dorothy Chambers, Mrs. Frances Walton, and Mrs. Barbara Hartwig.

Philips Wins Jaycee Tennis Tourney Crown

The champion and the runner-up of the Jaycee Tennis Tournament completed Saturday afternoon at the Mayfair Inn Tennis courts will be sent to Coral Gables this summer to participate in the Florida Jaycee Tennis Tournament.

Wally Philips Jr. defeated Michael Moss 6-3, 6-4, in the finals of the tournament Saturday afternoon. Moss took the lead in the second set but Philips came back to win three straight sets to capture the championship.

The tournament, sponsored by the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, was played Friday and Saturday, under the direction of Frank Deane, Mayfair Inn Tennis Pro. Charlie Morrison umpired. Bob Crumley was chairman of the Jaycee Tournament Committee that staged the event.

Crumley said Saturday that 21 boys and girls participated in the tournament. "Much interest was shown by the seventh and eighth graders of Junior High School," Crumley said.

In the girls portion of the tournament, a hard fought three of four games was won by Merritt Philips, to become the Junior Girls champion.

Tennis balls used in the Jaycee's Junior Tennis Tournament were donated by Robson Sporting Goods Co., Pennsylvania Athletic Company, and approved by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association in the interest of promoting tennis in this county.

Melinda McMurray was the runner-up in the girls group playing last Saturday.

NEW GRAND SLAMMERS

Cubs, All Stars Battle Thursday

The Cubs, champions of the Rotary league, and All-Stars, a club of selected players of the other three clubs, will match slants and slams at the Memorial stadium, Thurs. at 7:30 p. m. It was announced this weekend by Commr. John Pope.

Manager's since the close of the regular season on Friday have been making selections of those boys they think should be on the roster of the stellar squad. The Cubs have the privilege of picking two men to help fill out their roll.

The game will be a five inning affair which will be preceded by ceremonies recognizing the pennant winning club members through the presentation of gold baseball pendants.

Also the Powell trophy presented by Sonny Powell and the Heller trophy given by Roy Heller will be awarded to the two boys chosen as "most valuable player" and "best sportsman". These festivities will be held just prior to the first inning.

Pres. Bill Bush, Rotary president, expressed appreciation of the civic club to the city commissioners for their cooperation in permitting the use of the old ball park for the regular season and for making available the Memorial stadium and the lights for the tussle Thursday night.

W. C. Hires who has umpired the games during the past five weeks will be behind the plate for the Cub-All-star contest with Brack Perkins and Orville Touchton on the bases.

There will be no admission for this game which each year has been a real thriller. Commr. Pope expressed the hope that everyone

Pennant-Winning Cubs Try New Battery In Rotary League Game

The pennant winning Cubs tried a new battery of Bill Robinson and Don Carter, Friday in the Rotary league but had to call in the Ken McMurray-Doyle Corley combination to put out the fire. After working up hill, the champs managed to even the count at six all with the Tigers before the curfew ended the tussle and closed the regular season of play.

The first place Cubs will tangle with a team of All-stars selected by the managers from the other clubs' players on Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. at the Memorial stadium.

Dave Bramlett, who continued his keen defensive game Friday, led off in the first by greeting Robinson with a single. This may have unnerved the aspiring moundman because he walked the next five men and with three runs in, three men on the bases and none out, McMurray took over the relief.

While the next three men went down on strikes, two passed balls opened the door for another pair of runs, and when the league leaders came to bat they were on the short end of a 5-0 score.

The Tigers managed another tally in the next session at bat when Bramlett was safe on an error and successfully made the round trip.

After drawing life on Bush's bobbie, Christensen made the first run for the Cubs in the initial stanza. And in the deuce frame Butner added another after being walked.

Trouble for the Tigers broke loose in the third inning as McMurray stroked, Corley singled and both runners rode home on Robinson's safety. Bramlett snapped up Carter's hard hit roller and beat him to first with the throw and Butner made the second out when he lofted a fly to the mound after Clause had stole second, having walked on. Barks singled, and Clause raced home. The uprising ended with four runs when Barks was caught trying to steal second base.

In their half of the final inning it looked like the tie was soon to be broken as Powell doled along the left field foul line. But there he languished as Adams and Goemmel whiffed and Bramlett popped to Christensen at third.

Al Whitehouse Remembers One

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—All Whitehouse recalls one major disappointment in a life that has served up a remarkable string of successes.

Gene Tunney was the man who finally flattened Jack Dempsey. "I had my heart set on being the first guy to lick Dempsey," says the man who today suddenly finds himself fighting labor battles for seven million American workers.

Whitehouse was a professional heavyweight boxer for years before he could dream of reaching his present job—director of the massive industrial union department of the newly merged AFL and CIO.

The powerful young Whitehouse had been hardened for the prize ring by toil in a steel mill. It was the era of the 84 and 96-hour work week, and unionism was in its infancy.

So it developed that a hand injury turned Whitehouse from boxing to a career that has carried him into a job he'd much rather have than the world's heavyweight championship.

At 50, he stands 6 feet and weighs 212. Such physical well-being is essential to his crowded calendar.

Some find it hard to believe that his prominence in labor work is overshadowed in some respects by his prominence in church work. He is in constant demand as a speaker at religious gatherings.

His associates are puzzled sometimes by his straightforward manner of doing things. He's so firmly set in his convictions as to non-egotism with them, they say, that pressure will not sway him, political or otherwise.

Even with his attributes of steadiness and integrity, Whitehouse was a surprise choice for the big job presented by the merged unions. His labor activities had rarely made news outside the area of Southern Ohio and Northern Kentucky.

He took over as industrial union department chief in January.

"The department is concerned with this general program: to further the interests of industrial unions in every way possible, and all trade unions in general," Whitehouse says.

"Trade unions are anxious to reach the prominence they should enjoy," he says.

are 60 million workers, as the census indicates, we only have about one-fourth of them. We should double our membership fast."

In all of his union work, he is most satisfied with the negotiations with Newport Steel in 1952.

He introduced to the steel industry a contract providing for dues checkoffs—deduction of union dues from members' paychecks.

Whitehouse tells with a chuckle how he finally won the battle.

"I had to promise," he says, "that we wouldn't put anything in the papers about it."

The same man who cracked that hard nut of contract negotiations has another significant first to his credit, which brings us around to the other side of this two-in-one man: Whitehouse the churchman.

In December 1954 Whitehouse was elected to a three-year term as vice president of the National Council of Churches of Christ of the USA, an organization representing 35 million members.

Teacher To Return To Class But Mix Drinks At Home

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Teacher Theodore Colton, 27, can return to his science classroom at Corwin Junior High School this fall if he wishes, but he'll have to mix his drinks at home.

Six trustees of School District 60 voted unanimously last night to offer Colton a 1956-57 teaching contract under a resolution which forbids employment in any phase of the liquor industry.

Colton, a science teacher here for three years, has tumbled bar nights for two years at a hotel cocktail lounge. Friends say he wanted to supplement his teaching salary, estimated at $4,300 a year.

The School Board came under heavy fire from teachers, students and parents after three of its members voted April 10 not to offer Colton a new contract. Members of the Pueblo Teachers Foundation began a resignation-a-day campaign in protest.

President To Speak At Commencement Exercise At Baylor

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will make an address on "important phases of international affairs" at Baylor University commencement exercises May 23.

Announcing this Thursday, the White House said the President will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at the ceremonies in Waco, Tex.

"The subject matter of the President's speech will deal with important phases of international affairs," press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen.

The invitation for Eisenhower to speak at Baylor was extended by the university's president, Dr. William R. White.

Hagerty said Eisenhower will speak from a prepared text for about 20 minutes. Since taking office the President has made it a policy to attend commencement exercises of two institutions of higher learning each year.

In reply to questions, Hagerty said Eisenhower quite likely will continue that policy this year, but the press secretary added he did not know which other of several invitations the chief executive will accept.

You should expect your Governor to have a record of courageous support of that which is good in government and of fearless opposition to that which is bad.

You should expect your Governor to have a record of calm, foresighted, intelligent leadership without demagoguery or buffoonery.

Do you want as your Governor a man who just a few years ago served in that capacity and, by his buffoonery and hypocrisy, brought national discredit to Florida and caused us to apologize continually for his conduct?

Do you want as your Governor a man who admittedly knows nothing of the vast problems and important issues with which he would be confronted in this important office—a man who pitches his entire campaign on the incitement of hate and disorder?

Do you want as your Governor a man who pursues his own ambitions to the extent that he misrepresents the record and seeks to undermine the causes for which he has expressed such great devotion?

COLLINS MEASURES UP!

Examine the record of Governor LeRoy Collins and you'll find that he is the only candidate who offers what you should—and almost certainly do—expect of a Governor. There is only one candidate who can measure up to these specifications—LeRoy Collins.

Soil Conservation News

BY BEN WIGGINS
Soil Conservationist, USDA

During the last few days several land owners have requested information concerning cover crops which are adaptable to the soils in this District. The moisture conditions are good and the time is now right for planting cover crops in young citrus groves, truck crop land, and on any cleared land that is not being used at present.

Indigo is the outstanding cover crop for young citrus groves. It is a soil building plant that adds nitrogen and organic matter to the soil. It also protects the soil from leaching and erosion caused by excessive wind and heavy rain-fall. Indigo thrives well on most of our well drained citrus types of soils. In young groves the tree middles should be disked to eliminate any weeds or grass then the indigo should be broadcast over the area at the rate of six pounds per acre. No covering or disking after seeding is necessary. The developed especially for citrus early maturing strain has been groves. All strains or varieties of indigo contain a high percentage of hard seeds—seeds that will not germinate the first year. Freshly scarified seed should be seeded at approximately 1/2 the normal rate. Scarification "abrades" the surface of the seed, thus enabling them to absorb moisture and germinate readily.

In order to obtain the maximum benefits from the indigo cover crop it should remain standing in the tree middles all during the heavy rainy season. The green foliage breaks the raindrops and the growing stems and roots hold the soil in place. It should be mowed or cut into the soil surface as a mulching material just before the first killing frost, around 1st. of December each year. This allows better air drainage or air movement throughout the grove. If the cover crop produces a good crop of seed the farmer may also realize a profit by having it harvested. Combine operators will usually combine the seed on a share basis.

Recent observations of young groves in this area shows that the groves containing the most dead organic matter or mulch survived the drought better than the ones with little or no organic material.

Crotalaria and Sesbania are Sanford area. Sesbania requires tilled truck-crop land around the both good cover crops for the a rather high water table that must be maintained during the entire summer. On the truck crop land having low water level the crotalaria is recommended. Sesbania is recommended for all muck land.

Immediately after the spring truck crops are harvested the land should be disked and one of the above cover crops should then be broadcast over the land. These seeds should be disked lightly into the soil with the disk blades set straight.

Cover crops on truck crop land should remain standing until just a few days before the fall truck crop land is to be prepared. It should then be mowed and allowed to dry on the soil surface before ploughing under. The dried stems and leaves will allow better air and water movement through the soil and will not decompose as rapidly as when turned under as a green manure crop. On new land, that is not compacted, the green manure appears to give better results.

"The real wealth of our nation—food, minerals, and fibers—comes from the soil, and conservation practices are prolonging the soil's usefulness for decades, even centuries." John F. Cunningham, Dean of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (A)—Ever wonder why Hollywood hires actors from all over the world?

Partly, of course, it's because the movie business needs all kinds of bright talent, and talent knows no nationality.

But there's a cold business reason, too. Foreign receipts are getting to be close to half of the film industry's earnings. Hollywood can no longer rely on the United States alone for survival, as it did in World War II. So it pays to have casts with an international flavor.

Take "Raintree County," the costliest epic MGM has made here. It's strictly an American story—the Civil War years in an Indiana town. Added to the American cast is Nigel Patrick, one of the bright stars of the English stage and screen.

Patrick left the London company of "The Remarkable Mr. Panypacker" and came to America for the first time. His accent was no hazard for the role, since the teacher's nationality is never defined in the novel or the script. Besides, his accent is slight—"that comes from having seen hundreds of American movies as a boy."

Would he like to settle here? "Well, it is a little early to decide," he said. "I have to go right back for a picture in England."

"But I will say that it is the ambition of every young actor in England to make it to the west end. And I suppose every film actor would like to make it to the capital of the movie industry."

What delights him about Amer-

Magnani Coming Back To Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (A)—Anne Magnani will be coming back to Hollywood. That is the word from producer Hal Wallis, who wishes to correct reports that the Italian star wouldn't return here and thought little of her recent Academy Award. As proof, he offered a personal letter he recently received from Magnani. Here are some excerpts with Miss Magnani's capitalizations:

"After the famous news of the OSCAR, received on March 21 at 6 o'clock in the morning from an American reporter, I spent four days and four nights sleepless. My home was literally invaded from reporters of all nationality, from radio men of all parts of the world, from television reporters, and dozens and dozens of photographers every day."

"At the end of the fourth day, when I was through with all my obligations as a WINNER I collapsed from weariness, FROM HAPPINESS AND GLORY, AND I SLEPT I BELIEVE, SOMETHING LIKE 14 HOURS!"

"When I woke up I thought it was all but a wonderful dream! Instead it was the actual truth! For a few days after I was unable to realize that I had won! Just imagine, Hal, I was dumfounded from a motion and happiness. Rome was completely drunk from victory, and the common man as well as the important people, the man in the street, the policeman directing the traffic, all of them sent their congratulations because they felt that my victory was a national affair...."

"I never believed to win the most coveted prize an artist can wish. The names of my rivals were names of big actresses and I had already won so many prizes for my interpretation, that I was positive not to win."

So positive was she that she bet two Paramount men $50 apiece that she would lose. She added: "I lost and paid 1 I HAPPILY BELIEVE ME! Think! I've lost a hundred dollars but won the OSCAR!"

"Just think that the morning of March 21 when a reporter insisted to talk to me, I thought it was a joke and hang up on him. He called back to ask me if I was crazy! I What happened after I leave that up to your imagination." Miss Magnani, who does most everything intensely, added 11 exclamation marks after that sentence.)

She concluded: "Dear Hal, keep going for the second picture, it must be a big success, A VERY BIG SUCCESS! GOOD LUCK! I HAVE FAITH IN YOU."

See? One of the things is flipping the TV dial to different channels and studying the variety of offerings.

Detroit Widow Named American Mother Of 1956

DETROIT (A)—A Detroit widow whose busy hands have brought love and a happy home to 45 children is the American mother of 1956.

She is Jane Maxwell Pritchard, who at 67 still spends nearly all her waking hours making a home for 17 lively girls who live in her rambling brick house on Detroit's East Side. All are children from broken homes, placed under her care by the Juvenile Court.

In past years, Mrs. Pritchard has been a foster parent to 17 other youngsters and reared 11 more, only one of them her own. All call her mother.

Her oldest "child" is an adopted daughter, now 43. The youngest of her formally adopted brood are a pair of 14-year-old twins. Her own son Dale is 38.

Almost from the time of her marriage to machinist Benjamin Pritchard 48 years ago, her home has reverberated with the shouts and laughter of children. Some stayed until they were married and held their weddings in her home. Others even took her name.

Busy as always, Mrs. Pritchard was sorting laundry when word came Wednesday that a jury of the American Mothers Committee, meeting in New York, had chosen her as the outstanding mother of the year.

"I'm moved to tears," she said with a soft smile, then added quickly, "But I never want anyone to see my tears."

"I've had an abundant life," she said. "I need no reward. When I see my married girls and their families come home, I know that all the work has been worthwhile."

Mrs. Pritchard will fly to New York next Monday to be guest of honor at the annual Mothers Conference.

"It will be my first Mother's day away from my family," she said. "I hope I am worthy."

Mrs. Pritchard is a native of Youngstown, Ohio.

It's Bigger than Both of 'em

—but its price makes it one of America's 3 best sellers!

It's simple as this: Only two cars in all creation outsell Buick. And they are two of the well-known smaller cars.

So maybe it will pay you to ask how come Buick has zoomed to the No. 3 spot with such fast-selling company.

Well, one answer is the beautiful and brawny Buick SPECIAL you see pictured here—and the low price it carries.

It's the biggest bundle of high-powered performance and high-fashion luxury ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

And that means more people want it and can afford it, because it's priced only a few dollars more than its two smaller-car rivals—even less than some models of those very same cars.

But the big answer comes from a sure fact more folks have discovered: you get more pure automobile for your money in Buick than you get elsewhere.

Here, you get the extra wallop of big new Buick power

Added to a new high—and pouring in smooth whirrer from a brand-new 332-cubic-inch V8 engine of true high compression.

Here, you get the matchless buoyancy of Buick's great new ride—the extra-safely feeling of Buick's new handling ease—the extra stretch-out comfort of Buick roominess—the extra solidity and strength of Buick structure—the extra pride and prestige of Buick's new styling and dash.

Here, too—and nowhere else—you can get the silky-smooth performance and flash-fast response of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—the world's only transmission with the gas-saving mileage and switch-pitch action of the modern airplane propeller.

This week—this very day, if you wish—you can sample all these Buick blessings to your heart's content and your pocket's joy. Why not drop in on us and do just that?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Daly Has Ideas For Politicians

NEW YORK (AP)—John Charles Daly, a charming, glib-tongued actor who also is vice president of the American Broadcasting Co., has some ideas that may help politicians this year.

Notice of fact, ABC and its network stations are setting up television teaching schools around the country to guide political candidates making their first appearances before the camera. Many will need help, he will the public.

But about the candidates making their TV debut, Daly's first advice is this:

"Relax. Be natural. Remember, the TV camera is so intimate as your drawing room. Talk as if you were talking to a small group of people in your drawing room."

(Editor's note: And remember these common touch. Don't, for heaven's sake, refer to it as the drawing room or you'll be laughed out of every living room in America.)

"Don't roar and pound the table. That's not the way you'd talk to guests in your home."

"TV is a means to conveying your personality. Don't build a

Lawrence Welk Is Giant-Killer Of TV

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A soft-spoken accordion player from Strasburg, N.C., is the new giant-killer of television.

When Lawrence Welk and his band went on TV, not many expected him to do very well. There were three strikes against him:

1. He was up against stiff competition in the prized Saturday night time slot.
2. He was on ABC, not noted for high ratings except for Disneyland.
3. Bands have never clicked on TV.

But Welk baffled all the doubters. He amassed healthy ratings, even whipping some spectaculars that were pitted against him. Now both NBC and CBS are replacing the shows opposite him, including Jimmy Durante, Janis Paige and Herb Shriner.

Welk attributes his success to the loyalty of his fans. His loyalty is no accident. It is the result of his entering to the likes of sweet band devotees. Furthermore, he coddles the fans like no one else in the band business.

"Most leaders like to take a 15-minute break between sets," he says. "I don't. I always stay on the bandstand and talk with the people. Of the 2,000 people who come to see you, usually 1,000 want to talk to you. They want to say how their two-year-old pronounces 'Lawrence Welk,' how she can dance like the champagne woman and so forth."

Welk is no stay-at-home bandman. He often embarks on one-night tours through various parts of the country, making friends as he goes. He's also on radio five times weekly and has a strenuous recording schedule.

It's apparent that the other networks are bringing up their big guns to blast away at the Welk ratings. NBC is moving Sid Caesar back to Saturday night to oppose him. But the bland bandman isn't worried.

"I don't think he'll give us much trouble," he commented. "If he does, we'll just have to give away some more cars."

Mayor To Throw 1st Ball In All-Star, Cub Game Thursday

With true big league fashion the baseball game between the Cubs, champions of the Rotary league, and the All-stars will get underway when Mayor F. D. Scott throws the first ball in the tussle at Memorial Stadium Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Who will catch the toss from the fireball artist has not yet been told, for Commr. John Pope, seeking some equally prominent man capable of handling the pitch - no matter where it goes. Prior to the game itself there will be ceremonies in which miniature gold baseballs will be given to the members of the pennant winning team and the Sonny Powell and Roy Holler trophies will be awarded.

Ken McMurray, mound star for the Cubs and his battery-mate, Doyle Corley, are in fine fettle and undoubtedly will get the call for the Thursday evening battle of bats and balls.

During the season, pitching chores have been handled by Lester Bush, Bruce McCoy, Cecil Handridge, Earl Summersell, Wendell Brooks and Charlie English. Mgrs. Sonny Powell and Bill Hutchison, therefore, have quite a field from which to choose. Handridge, McCoy, George Harriet and Tony Getman have all worked as receivers. After a siege with mumps, and some enforced rest, Earl Summersell has had a sore arm and unless it has improved in the last week, he probably will be seen at an infield position.

The Cubs will have a chance to work into their lineup one of the leading defensive players in the league for they selected Dave Bramlett to play with them. Dave as a member of the Tigers is a heads-up infielder and his .238 batting average for the season will be a nice addition to the walloping willows of the champs.

Election Party Begins Tonight At 7 O'Clock

The Sanford Herald's Election Party will begin tonight at 7 o'clock when returns from all over the state will start trickling in from the early reporting precincts.

It is expected that returns will reach their greatest peak about 9 o'clock this evening on the statewide races as well as all of the statewide races.

Local returns, however, on the important county offices, will be reported earlier than ever because of the use of voting machines in seven of the county's precincts. Two at three machines will be in use. The Sanford Herald will have the returns posted on a huge board which will be lighted. A public address system is being installed so that the entire crowd gathered at the Sanford Herald Building will have an opportunity to hear the returns as they come in to the local paper's headquarters.

Statewide results will come to the Sanford Herald by Associated Press leased wires while local returns will be tabulated by the Sanford Herald Staff.

Everybody is invited to the Herald's Election Party where returns will be available momentarily as they are reported from around the state and from the local 16 precincts in Seminole County.

It is expected that the voting in Sanford and Seminole County will run as high as 8,500 out of the 10,388 registered voters.

Enthusiasm High In Local Election

Enthusiasm is running high in the election of local officials in Seminole County.

Voters were at the polls early this morning ready to cast their ballots as the polls opened at 7 o'clock with lines forming in order to name their favorite candidates.

Sanford polling places are equipped today with Shoup Voting Machines with most of the voters familiar with their use. However, miniature machines are on hand at each polling place in order to instruct those who do not know the use of such voting procedures.

First persons voting this morning at precinct No. 15, located in the National Guard Armory on East First St., were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Moore.

Early estimates of an 8,500 vote in Seminole County seem to be edging upward with the possibilities of even a greater percentage of registered voters turning out to mark their ballots or turn the lever opposite the names of favorite candidates.

Candidates are still busy, at press time today, urging voters to go to the polls to cast their ballots in possibly what might be the heaviest vote ever tabulated in Seminole County.

Returns will start pouring in to the Sanford Herald shortly after 7 o'clock this evening when tabulations will be made momentarily on the total vote cast for each candidate.

A crowd is expected to gather at the Sanford Herald building this evening at a glee election party when loudspeakers and bulletin boards will carry final results from each precinct until the final tally is made in the smaller precincts where voting machines are not yet in use.

Speculations as to the outcome of today's election are being made in every section of Sanford with those who have followed the election closely attempting to pinpoint the outcome ahead of time.

Voting began this morning in the 16 precincts in Seminole County simultaneously. No Seminole County precinct reports ahead of time and all polls will close at 7 o'clock this evening giving every voter an opportunity to cast his or her ballot.

Drive Begins Tomorrow

Seminole County's initial effort to identify itself as a vital part of the state-wide movement to raise the standards of mental health in Florida will be packed into a two weeks period starting tomorrow and ending May 23, it was said today by Mrs. B. E. Chapman, local publicity director.

The committee that has undertaken the assignment to point out the importance of the drive is made up of George Touhy, F. D. Scott, Mrs. Charles Park Sr., Mrs. Sidney Ives III and A. L. Wilson. Mrs. Gustav Damberger as treasurer and Mrs. Chapman complete the local campaign group.

Civic leaders many of whom have been conscious of the importance of raising the standards of care of those suffering from mental illness are expected to lend their enthusiastic support to the drive. Research has been seriously handicapped by lack of funds and this phase of work in meeting the ever-increasing number of cases cannot be over-emphasized it was said. Public officials are aware of the need for more hospitals, more doctors and nurses, better food and conditions in the state institutions but under pressure from other sources for tax monies, have not met the issue squarely, a local professional man has said.

Civic organizations dedicated to the improvement of conditions are being asked to support this brief drive vigorously, giving not only of their funds but of their time with each member soliciting five friends. Work packs are going out to club presidents today.

The funds raised through this local effort and ones like it throughout the state will be used in part both for research and for bringing to the active attention of legislators and other interested state officers the urgency of increased appropriations for this segment of society. Sixty-five per cent of the Seminole County funds are used in the county, the balance goes for the state-wide activities.

At the present time there is only one paid worker in the mental health work within the state with patient care.

A majority of the money going for this county should be extremely concerned with the success of the drive, for it is being considered as one of the sites for the proposed Central Florida State Hospital. It is hoped that a decision on this matter can be reached in the next session of the legislature.

Inspector General Rates Local Guard Unit 'Excellent'

Major Roy D. Greene, Post Commander, of the local National Guard, received word yesterday that Company "B", 154th Armored Infantry Battalion was rated "Excellent" by the Inspector General from the Third Corps Headquarters, Atlanta, Ga.

The inspection was conducted recently of the Sanford Armory facilities which included every phase of the Company's operation. Captain Joseph D. Bryant, Commanding Officer of the local National Guard Company, reported yesterday to Fort Knox, Ky., for a two weeks officers refresher course at the Armored School.

During Bryant's absence Company B will be commanded by First Lieutenant John C. Keeling Jr., of Sanford.

Mediterranean Fruit Fly Traps Placed In County

Mediterranean fruit fly traps are being placed in Seminole County simultaneously with traps being located in seven other Central Florida counties.

The belt of traps was stretched across Central Florida today to measure the amount of infestation in the deadly pest's second invasion of the state.

The brightly colored fly was found in a large orange producing area of Broward County yesterday, the first invasion of commercial groves found to date. It had been found last week in the town of Davie, a few miles to the east.

Growers still have thousands of boxes of fruit to sell and now face the possibility of an embargo. Pest experts found two more invasions in Fort Lauderdale and two more in Hollywood yesterday. The center of infestation apparently lies in Dade and Broward counties.

But fly fighters spread the traps in Polk, Hillsborough, Osceola, Orange, Seminole, Lake, Volusia and Palm Beach.

No flies have been found outside Dade and Broward. But if any fly shows up in the Central Florida traps the battle lines will have to fall back and the stage will be set for an all out fight similar to that which followed the fly's first invasion in 1929 and 1930.

Jaycees To See Film Thursday

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will show a film, "People, Places, and Things of 1970," at their noon luncheon meeting Thursday at the Yacht Club.

The film is one sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and is in full color. The duration of the film, the Jaycee Journal reported, is 25 minutes.

Those who are curious about what they may be doing in 1970 are invited to see the film which has been termed one of "the most interesting ever to be shown here."

Feeley, in the telephone interview, said "John Krider has done more than any one person toward bringing us back to Sanford."

"He hasn't stopped working for two years—and throughout that time there has been a continual stream of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls, all relative to the establishing of our spring training camp in Sanford," said Feeley.

In his words, "John Krider has at no time let up in trying to get us back there."

Feeley admitted in his conversation with The Sanford Herald that "We should have never left Sanford." And he added, "The people are wonderful to us there and we are looking forward to great things with the New York Giant Organization back in Sanford."

Illegal Whiskey Still Destroyed Last Night

An illegal whiskey still of a 250-gallon capacity was destroyed early last night by Sheriff Denver Cordell and his deputies.

The huge moonshine operation was located immediately northeast of Chuluota in a dense hammock that could be reached only by crossing a number of pastures.

Sheriff Cordell said that the still was located late yesterday afternoon. Just after 8 o'clock eight barrels of mash had been completed. Charcoal, in two interchangeable pans underneath the still, was still hot and glowing when the stills were torn down and destroyed shortly after 7 o'clock last night.

Those in the Sheriff's party confiscating the still included Deputy Sheriffs Cotton Brown and Denton Prevatt and Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway.

Sheriff Cordell stated that the still would be valued at much more than a thousand dollars. The total amount of mash being fermented and ready to run off was estimated at more than 1100 gallons.

A skid tank usually used for loading and transporting gasoline made up the boiler part of the still. This was placed on four (Continued on Page Eight)

800,000 Turnout Predicted

Early reports of extremely heavy voting in major population centers indicated that a forecast of 800,000 turnout in today's Democratic Primary election may have to be revised upwards.

Florida Democrats are saying today in a bitter all-day man gubernatorial race in which gation talk and personality clashes.

Warm weather and scattered, afternoon showers — forecast for the primary election in which the voters are marking a long ballot listing candidates from constable to U. S. senator.

Republicans also hold a primary but no statewide contests are up and no more than 100,000 are expected to vote on the GOP side. No crossing of party lines is permitted in the primaries.

The racial issue boiled up in the governor's race on the proposition of methods of preserving segregation rather than upon the question of segregation itself, since all four major candidates took a stand for continued separation of the races.

Gov. Collins, who has contended that integrity in government was the real issue, has said that he favored preserving segregation by all legal means but "without emotional furor and disorders."

Two of his opponents, Sumner Lowry, 63-year-old retired National Guard commander from Tampa; and Fuller Warren, colored 51-year-old former governor, have charged that Collins actually favored gradual integration and demanded that he take a stand.

The former state candidate, former House Speaker Farris Bryant, has charged that Collins lacked legislative leadership and has attacked him on other issues.

Collins, Warren and Bryant closed out their campaigns last night with radio and television appearances in the Tampa Bay area where almost 800,000 of the state's 1,277,000 registered Democrats live.

Lowry wound up his campaign in Jacksonville where he repeated charges that "the state is well along toward integration in all phases of our economic life under Collins."

The four returned home today to vote.

All four candidates made forecasts of eventual victory but none made an outright claim of winning in the first primary. If no candidate gets a majority, the two top men go into the May 20 runoff.

Collins is rated to have his greatest strength in Dade where almost 200,000 registered voters reside, and in adjoining Broward and Palm Beach.

Two years ago Dade gave Collins a 57,000 vote majority when he won election over Charles E. Johns for the last two years of (Continued on Page Eight)
