Games Set To Begin Next Week

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Golden Age Games Executive Committee held its last meeting today to wrap up final details before the opening of the week-long senior citizen event on Monday in Sanford. The also received their official Golden Age Games T-shirts.

The 9th Annual Golden Age Games will be held Monday through Saturday of next week with more than 2,000 participants 55 and older expected to enter at least one of the approximately 45 events.

More entries are needed to march or ride in the "Fallen Arches Stamped" parade at 8:30 a.m., which will proceed the 9 a.m. opening ceremonies at Sanford City Hall on Monday, according to parade chairman John Higgins. Former U.S. Olympian Jack Kelly, this year's honorary Games chairman, will be grand marshal and Games officials hope to have several Olympic Gold Medal winners on hand as well. They will be at Walt Disney World for a fund-raising weekend for the U.S. Olympic Team.

The Seminole High School Band and Dance Team, Sanford Middle School Band, and Lakeview Middle School Band will be marching in the parade.

A highlight of the opening ceremonies will be the release of 2,000 helium-filled balloons.

Spectators are welcome free of Sanford Chamber of Commerce at First Street and Sanford Avenue or from Over 50 Club members.

Dennis Keeler was introduced as the official photographer for this year's Games. He and his staff will be taking pictures at all events and the proofs will be on display at the Games headquarters at the chamber the next day. Photos may be ordered from the display.

American Red Cross first aid stations and/or emergency rescue personnel from the city and Central Florida Regional Hospital will be at the more active events.

Free breakfasts will be served to Games participants at 7 a.m. in Sanford Civic Center during the week.

Truck-Car Collision Kills Man

An Orlando man was killed and two other persons injured when an automobile and a truck collided head-on on State Road 46 at State Road 415A east of Sanford at 6:30 a.m. today.

The 1971 Ford boom truck, eastbound on State Road 46, was attempting to turn left onto S.R. 415A when it crossed the center line and struck a 1975 Buick car that was westbound on S.R. 46, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

The driver of the car, an Orlando man, was killed, a spokesman for the Seminole County Medical Examiner's office said. The FHP was withholding the man's name this morning until next of kin are notified.

Two passengers in the car, Lisa Love, 22, of 6851 Van Road, Orlando and her 9-month-old son Billy Love Jr., were taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

The infant, who sustained a fractured skull, was listed in guarded condition in the hospital's intensive care unit and Mrs. Love, who suffered "extensive injuries," was in unstable condition, a hospital spokesman said.

The driver of the auto was killed and two others injured in this head-on truck-car collision on State Road 46 east of Sanford early today.

The driver of the truck, Laverne Earl Clark, 28, of Route 109, Mt.

Dora, was not injured, the FHP said. The investigation is continuing and charges in the accident are pending, the FHP said.

The fatality brings to 23 the total killed on roads and highways in Seminole County so far this year, the Highway Patrol said.

Code Board Eyed As Enforcer Of County Rule

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners are getting ready to put some teeth into their building and zoning laws.

Commissioners Sandra Glenn, Robert Sturm and Robert G. "Bud" Feather said in a Tuesday work session they're in favor of establishing a code enforcement board which could levy fines of up to $250 a day for violators of the county code.

Commissioners Barbara Christensen and Bill Kirchhoff did not attend the work session but both said today they're in favor of establishing the code enforcement board.

option, McMillan said.

He began working on the code enforcement board legislation after commissioners met earlier this year with Midway residents about finding a way to eliminate substandard housing from that community.

He has studied code enforcement boards in other counties and believes Seminole County's board will have about 120 cases per year. Zoning, building, health and fire code violations can be brought to the board for action.

In other areas, McMillan said, close to 80 percent of the cases are resolved by a notice from the code enforcement board.

But in the cases that are not solved so easily, the code enforcement board will have the power to levy fines of up to $250 a day, McMillan said.

McMillan added that most violators will refuse to pay their fines even after they correct the violations.

But those people don't get off scot free. After a year, a lien can be filed on their property and if the fine is still not paid the property can be seized for non-payment.

The board's decisions would not be appealed to county commissioners as are the decisions of planning and zoning boards. Instead, any appeals would have to be filed directly in Seminole Circuit Court.

Feather was concerned that the $250 per day fine might be too steep.

But Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton told Feather the maximum fine should be "high enough to encourage people to comply."

Mrs. Glenn said the average fine is about $30 in Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Casselberry, which have had code enforcement boards for about 18 months.

Action to create the enforcement board will be included on the agenda for the commission's meeting next Tuesday. Commissioners will select the seven members for the board hope to get the group organized by the first of the year.

County officials currently are limited to taking code violations to the state attorney for prosecution. But because code violations are not a high priority for the state attorney, very few are prosecuted.

"We've had very poor response from the state attorney's office," said Land Management Manager Herb Hardin. One inspector said for every 20 cases he takes to the state attorney's office, only one is prosecuted.

When the cases aren't prosecuted it's hard to convince code violators to stop their violations, said Deputy County Attorney Bob McMillan. "With the code enforcement board, if they don't respond we'll have a mechanism to do something about it."

County officials will still be able to take cases to the state attorney for prosecution but the code enforcement board will give them another option, McMillan said.

Open House Opens Hearts

Among the more than 300 touring the new Seminole County Humane Society facility at U.S. Highway 17-92 and County Home Road at a recent open house were Greg Velho, 6, of Sleepy Hollow, Longwood, who was charmed by the kittens. The kittens and puppies were as appealing as possible and several succeeded in getting adopted.

Sewer Rates To Rise For Some

It's going to cost less to connect to Seminole County's sewer system but more for service to some of the system's wholesale customers under rate increases approved by county commissioners.

Commissioners voted 4-1 Tuesday to make the changes to the county's water and sewer rates which will cover increases in the costs of doing business. Sandra Glenn cast the lone dissenting vote. She wanted to delay the changes for two weeks to give her time to discuss the measure with residents of her district.

The new rates will go into effect Jan. 1.

Except for a few customers in the Lynwood area near Casselberry, the charge for hooking up to the county system may be reduced because of a new method of calculating sewage use, according to the rate package presented by Environmental Services Director Ken Hooper.

Commissioners approved a $1,400 per house connection fee last year. But efforts by the Mid-Central Florida Homebuilders Association were successful in convincing commissioners to base the hook-up charge on the actual amount of water used. The builders claim the variable rate would encourage developers and builders to improve water conservation measures.

New connections in The Lynwood area, where the sewage system is connected to Altamonte Springs Regional Sewage Treatment Plant, will be more expensive.

Altamonte officials raised their connection fee in June to $1,460. Added to that cost will be another $525 to help pay for the transmission line between the city and county systems and $115 for increased county costs.

A handful of customers on the Central V water and sewer system in the Altamonte Springs area will also see higher rates. The county will increase its cost for wholesale sewage service because of increased treatment costs, Hooper said.

Central V, the county's only wholesale sewage customer, will pay 33 cents more per $1,000 gallons of water use if the new rates are approved. The current rate is $1.17 per $1,000 gallons. An average customer uses about 10,000 gallons per month.

A rate of 52 cents per 1,000 gallons has been set as a wholesale price for water. The county currently has no wholesale water customers but negotiations are underway to provide water to a subdivision of Lake Mary.—Michael Beha

Two More Shopping Centers Being Built In Sanford

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Two shopping centers are under construction in Sanford.

Country Club Square Shopping Center is being built at the corner of Airport Boulevard and State Road 46A by Sandefur-Spolski Development Inc.

The major anchors in this center, said Kevin Spolski, one of the principals in the development company, will be a Winn-Dixie and a Revco drug store. Seventeen retail stores are planned. The first phase of development will include 60,000 square feet.

Value of the initial phase will be $3.4 million, Spolski said, adding construction of the first phase is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy in February.

A second phase in the future will include 40,000 square feet.

The second, dubbed the "Center Mall," is located east of U.S. 17-92 near the Sanford Plaza in Sanford. It will house eight or 10 specialty shops or chain retail outlets and possibly two nationally franchised restaurants. It is scheduled to be completed within the next month to six weeks.

The Center Mall is being built on the 1 1/2 acre tract owned by Harry and Ruth Jean Robson, the site of their marine sales for many years. General contractor for the project is Southeast Structure Inc. of DeLand.

Robson, a native of Sanford, has been in business since the late 1930's, beginning with a bowling alley downtown. His business career was interrupted when he joined the National Guard in 1942. Upon returning to Sanford in 1945 he opened a sporting business and has been in business ever since here.

He said the new Center Mall is strategically located, surrounded by Sanford Plaza on the one side, the K-Mart center on the other and the Zayre's Plaza across the street.

The mall will have 15,200 square feet of retail space. A steel structure, its frontage will be of plate glass and flagstone, said a spokesman for the general contractor. The interior will be dry wall plaster with acoustical ceiling tile.

The contractor said the building will be sufficient in size to house eight shops and four offices or the interior can be rearranged as a client desires.

Robson said he is currently negotiating with two nationally known franchise restaurants to locate facilities in his mall. He is also negotiating for a barber shop.

He noted that about 30 feet above the center will be a sign upon which

Two nationally franchised restaurants and eight to ten specialty shops or chain retail outlets will be located in the Center Mall, under construction near Sanford Plaza.

the names of the firms in the mall will be listed.

Robson could not estimate a value of the mall when construction is completed. "All I can say is that it will be very nice," he said.

Construction costs alone for the Center Mall are expected to exceed $200,000, according to city estimates for building permit purposes.—Donna Estes

IN BRIEF

Bolger Says Mail Still A Bargain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General William Bolger says the U.S. mail will still be a bargain even if the cost of posting a first-class letter is raised from 20 to 23 cents.

In addition to the hike for first-class mail, the postal service wants to raise the cost of mailing a postcard from 13-cents to 15-cents. Other postal costs also would go up.

The increase request must be approved by the Postal Rate Commission, a process that takes about 10 months. The hikes likely would go into effect in October 1984.

Bolger said increases for most classes of mail are needed to avoid a projected $800 million loss next year.

Stone Back To C. America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is sending special envoy Richard Stone back to Central America, apparently hoping the American military success in Grenada will spur peace negotiations in the region as a whole.

There has been some apprehension among Central American nations that the Grenada operation may prompt similar moves against Nicaragua, whose Sandinista regime is the target of CIA-backed rebels.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters Tuesday that he felt certain Stone "is prepared to discuss the U.S. reasons for the action in Grenada in detail and also to indicate some of the results of our activities there."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A mere half-inch of rain from a violent thunderstorm flooded suburban Los Angeles freeways up to 8 feet deep, knocked out power to thousands of people and sent hundreds of cars sliding into fender-benders and up embankments. At least one traffic fatality was blamed on the storm. Rain caused by moisture from the Gulf of Mexico spread up the mid-Mississippi Valley, with the heaviest amounts recorded in Missouri. Four inches fell at Warren and 3 1/2 at Clifton City. Dense fog that cut visibility to less than 1 mile was scattered early today over Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Wisconsin. The Los Angeles storm Tuesday spun off a tornado at Palmdale, Calif., and thunderstorms in Texas hurled a tornado at Port Bolivar, south of Houston. Thunderstorms over southern Florida poured 1.5 inches of rain on Miami Beach and 1 inch on Homestead. The Southern California storm was blamed for the death of a man in a car-van accident on a slippery highway near Marina Del Rey, and for hundreds of fender-bender and injury accidents. Cars stalled and some skidded off the highway and up embankments. Sheriff's deputies said several cars were submerged under 8 feet of water on the Imperial Highway in Norwalk where the road goes under a railroad trestle. All the motorists were rescued. Lightning struck a power station in the Los Angeles suburb of Burbank, briefly darkening half the city of 92,000 residents. A movie studio, a television station and a hospital all were left without power, and traffic was snarled when traffic lights were knocked out.

AREA FORECAST: Partly cloudy today with a 20 percent chance of showers. Highs around 80. Winds northeast to east near 15 mph. Tonight and Thursday partly cloudy. Only a few showers. Lows in the low 60s. Highs in the low 80s. Winds tonight northeast to east near 10 mph. Rain chance less than 20 percent both tonight and Thursday.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — A small craft advisory remains in effect. Wind northeasterly around 20 knots becoming northeast to east 15 to 20 knots by tonight diminishing to 10 to 15 knots by Thursday then easterly around 10 knots later in the day. Seas 6 to 9 feet subsiding to 4 to 7 feet early tonight and 3 to 5 feet by Thursday. Seas higher well offshore. Mostly cloudy with showers and a few thunderstorms.

House OKs Funds For Controversial Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is virtually assured of a key part of his military buildup with House approval of funds for constructing the MX missile, but opponents vow to never give up their battle against the weapon.

On a 217-208 vote Tuesday, the House rejected an amendment by Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., to delete $2.2 billion for building the first 21 of the 10-warhead, intercontinental nuclear weapons.

The nine-vote margin was even closer than when the House authorized production of the missiles July 20 with 13 votes to spare.

The House also endorsed an advanced funding plan for the B-1 bomber, rejecting arguments that approving money for future years is premature because the design of the aircraft is not yet complete.

The House expects to complete work today on a $247 billion military appropriations bill containing the MX funds and passage of the bill is all but assured.

The only remaining battle in the House is over whether to allow consideration of an amendment that would halt funding for U.S. troops in Lebanon after March 1, 1984.

The MX vote was the last House vote needed before the weapon, which has been under development for more than a decade, moves into production. The Senate also is expected to approve the production funds.

"This was the last opportunity to put the genie back in the bottle," Rep. Les AuCoin, D-Ore., said after the vote. "Once the production lines open, history has shown they are never closed."

But Common Cause President Fred Wertheimer vowed his organization would continue to fight the missile.

"No one should be fooled by the so-called 'conventional wisdom' that because the production pipeline has been opened, this issue is now over," he said. "It is not. The stakes are simply too high."

The B-1, the next generation of the U.S. bomber, is another part of Reagan's $180 billion strategic modernization program. It could carry air-launched cruise missiles and nuclear bombs.

The military appropriations bill will provide the money for weapons systems, research and development and operations and maintenance in 1984. It is $14 billion less than the administration request and $14.5 billion more than the 1983 appropriation.

During the MX debate, opponents appealed to about a dozen undecided members to consider the ramifications of approving a missile that even supporters concede will be vulnerable to Soviet attack.

"If we fund this weapon, we are in a hair-trigger state and that gives the incentive to one side or the other" to fire the first nuclear weapon, AuCoin said.

But Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., one of the architects of a compromise worked out with the White House calling for MX deployment in exchange for renewed efforts at arms control, argued now is not the time to back down on that agreement.

"It is not to be an invulnerable system," Aspin said. "It really is to be a bargaining chip with the Soviet Union."

Plant Officials Requested Added Patrols Before Fire

Officials of a Sanford paint products plant requested extra police patrols around the plant Friday, only a day before the facility was destroyed by a fire set by an arsonist.

Fearing possible reprisals by a "disgruntled" employee, officials of the United Solvents of America Corp. "thought it would be advisable" to request additional police patrols around the plant at Airport Boulevard and McCracken Road, according to Seminole County fire department investigator Ray Pippin.

Pippin said he would not identify the employee. The spectacular fire, which caused an estimated $2.5 million damage, started at about 5 a.m. Saturday and destroyed fuel tanks and barrels of petroleum products, and caused the evacuation of nearby residences.

Eight firemen were slightly injured as a result of contact with chemicals at the plant, officials said.

VEHICLES TAKEN

A car and a truck were stolen from Sanford residents in separate incidents recently, according to police reports.

A 1969 green Ford one-ton truck, which belongs to Stine Machine shop, 207 W. 2nd St., was taken between 10:30 a.m. Friday and 7:45 a.m. Sunday. The truck, valued at $2,500, was parked on the street near the shop.

A 1977 Pontiac belonging to Paul Dykes, 25, of 1421 Park Ave., was stolen between 6:15 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday.

The car, valued at $2,400, was parked near Dykes' residence and an extra set of car keys had been left in the glove compartment.

MUGGING

A 44-year-old Sanford woman was mugged as she was walking home from work on 11th Street at 9:48 p.m. Saturday.

Elizabeth Jean Hawse, of 310 W. 11th St., told police a man who came out of an alley between Elm and Laurel avenues grabbed her, threw her to the ground and took her purse which contained $44 in cash.

The attacker got into a light blue Toyota driven by another man and drove off, a Sanford police report said.

MAN ATTACKED

A 53-year-old Sanford man was listed in satisfactory condition at Central Florida Regional Hospital today after someone threw a hot oily substance into his face Saturday night.

Thomas C. Richardson, who lives at Wheeler's Boarding House at Southwest Road and Tangerine Street, said someone entered his room while he was sleeping at 11:30 p.m. Saturday and threw the hot substance into his face.

Richardson suffered second degree burns to his face and neck, a hospital spokesman said.

Richardson said he had broken up a fight between two men about an hour before the incident, a Seminole County sheriff's report said. Richardson said one of the men had threatened him with a knife and he hit him with a metal bar, the report said.

CAR RECOVERED

Charlie Luster thought something odd was going on when a man drove a car into some bushes near Luster's home at 2021 Dixie Avenue in Midway at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

The driver stopped two other men who were passing by and asked them to help him pull the car out. They agreed but couldn't move the car.

Grateful for their efforts, the driver gave the men a CB radio.

Luster told the men he was going to call the Seminole County Sheriff's Office and they left.

When deputies arrived and ran a check on the car they found that it had been stolen from Orange County.

RADIOS STOLEN

Someone entered a fenced-in compound at a Sanford junk yard and removed numerous radios from wrecked cars between 5 p.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Monday.

The manager of Ratliff and Sons, 2734 S. Orlando Drive, estimated the loss at $500, a police report said.

CARNIVAL CAPER

Someone stole a 9-year-old Sanford boy's bicycle while he was attending a Halloween carnival at Idyllwild Elementary School between 3 and 4:15 p.m. Saturday.

William Leitchworth of 125 Lockwood Drive said he parked his 20-inch silver Schwinn bike, valued at $100, at a bike rack in front of the school.

HEAVY STUFF

Some muscular thieves pried open the door to the weight room at Seminole High School in Sanford and took 495 pounds of weights and a number of bars between 5:30 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Monday.

The value of the stolen property is $805. The weight room is located under the football stands.

DUIs NOT PROSECUTED

The following persons were arrested and charged with driving under the influence, but the State Attorney's office has decided not to prosecute their cases:

- Tim A. Lancaster, 864 Winter Park Drive, Casselberry.
- Mark Brian Schwing, 1540 E. Hoarath Ave., Maitland.
- Francis V. Hilland, 2050 King Arthur Circle, Maitland.
- Suzette R. Batts, 717 Prospect Ave., Cocoa.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford fire department responded to the following calls:

Sunday

- 12:11 a.m., 25th Street and Country Club Road, rescue.
- 10:54 a.m., 1215 W. 9th St., pot overheated on stove.

Monday

- 9:08 a.m., 540 Pecan Ave., rescue.
- 9:57 a.m., 200 N. Mangoustine Ave., bomb scare.
- 10:17 a.m., 300 Magnolia Ave., rescue.
- 10:56 a.m., 1345 28th St., rescue.

Insanity Defense Limited

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than two years after President Reagan was shot, the House Judiciary Committee is responding to the public outcry over the acquittal of his assassin, John Hinckley Jr., by reason of insanity.

On a voice vote, the committee Tuesday endorsed a bill limiting use of the insanity defense and providing for a new verdict of "not responsible only by reason of insanity," instead of the current "not guilty by reason of insanity."

Similar legislation, generated by Hinckley's acquittal by reason of insanity on June 21, 1982, has already passed the Senate Judiciary Committee and is waiting for action by the full Senate.

A key feature of the House bill is a provision shifting the burden to an accused criminal to prove he is insane. Currently, the federal government must prove a defendant is sane and can be held responsible for his acts.

The difference can be important. For example, the government had the burden of proof in Hinckley's case, and failed to convince his Washington, D.C. jury that he was sane.

The measure also tightens the description of who qualifies for the protection of the insanity defense, in hopes of reserving it for those with severe mental diseases or severe retardation and not simply personality disorders.

IN BRIEF

Southern Bell Gets $8.5 Million...For Now

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Southern Bell Telephone Co. has won an $8.5 million mini-rate increase from the Public Service Commission, but the PSC may take back some of that later.

The $8.5 million granted by the five commissioners Tuesday is in addition to two rounds of earlier increases that totaled $115 million.

The Miami-based utility requested $404 million last year, but eventually scaled down its request to $349 million.

Commissioner Joe Cresse is concerned a transfer of telephone equipment purchased by the consumer from Southern Bell to American Telephone & Telegraph as part of the AT&T anti-trust breakup was done improperly.

The PSC will try to determine Nov. 10 whether there is too much money in the rate increase for the transfer. Southern Bell rates will remain unchanged at least until after that meeting. If there is an additional increase on top of the earlier rate increases, the impact on the average residential telephone bill will be negligible, Cresse said.

Inmates Want To Work

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hollingsworth said more than half the inmates he has interviewed would rather work than sit idly behind bars.

To help them out, Hollingsworth persuaded the House Corrections Committee to approve 16-2 a bill Tuesday that would put another 2,000 prisoners to work cleaning up parks, streets and sewers and performing other tasks for local governments.

The House approved an identical bill in its last session but it was never taken up in the Senate.

Current inmate labor programs have about 800 inmates working on road gangs for the Department of Transportation and another 700 laboring for cities, counties and other forms of local government.

The bill by Hollingsworth, D-Lake City, would expand these programs by mandating the Department of Corrections supply working inmates to any locality requesting them.

Woman Loses Flu Suit

ORLANDO (UPI) — A federal judge has ruled that a Lake County woman did not become paralyzed from a swine flu vaccine in 1976.

The woman, Clara Mason, 66, of Tavares, had filed suit against the U.S. government charging negligence and had sought up to $4 million in damages.

But U.S. District Judge Elizabeth Kovachevich ruled Monday, that she believed the woman's condition was caused by a viral illness the woman suffered two weeks before the paralysis set in — not the flu shot.

Drunk Drivers Should Lose License On The Spot

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State Highway Safety Director Bob Butterworth says law enforcement officers should be able to yank the license of a drunken motorist on the spot.

Butterworth, during an appearance before the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee Tuesday, said officials should be able to immediately revoke the license of a driver who is legally drunk or who refuses to take a breathalyzer test.

The Legislature also should put a legal responsibility on bar and restaurant owners and managers to see that patrons who have too much to drink don't drive home, Butterworth said.

And the Florida Highway Patrol and other law enforcement agencies should get a portion of the fine collected on DUI convictions, with the money going for overtime pay.

Florida has had one of the toughest drunk driving laws in the country for the last year-and-a-half. First-time offenders lose their license for six months and have to put in 50 hours of public service work. Second-time offenders serve at least 10 days in jail, with three-time offenders being jailed for 30 days.

The law has resulted in a significant decline in alcohol-related traffic deaths and serious injuries and a big increase in DUI arrests because its enforcement has become a top FHP priority, Butterworth said.

But much of the impact the law had originally when its enactment and enforcement got lots of media coverage has disappeared. A stiffening of the statute not only would make it more effective, but it would get the public's attention again.

Although a DUI conviction carries with it a loss of driver's license, the suspension or revocation doesn't come until the trial, which may be three to six months after the arrest.

Butterworth proposed an immediate suspension, subject to restoration at an administrative hearing that would be held a few days after the arrest and before the trial.

Most people caught for drunk driving don't drive while intoxicated again, but 75 percent of the booze-related accidents are caused by a small group of habitual offenders, he said.

"In order to protect the public, we've got to get these people off the roads immediately," he said.

Butterworth said the Legislature should at least consider some sort of "dram shop law," which makes the party selling alcohol to someone liable for any accident, injuries or damages that might result.

The retail liquor industry would get a message and do more to see that people who have had too much to drink aren't served further and aren't allowed to drive, he said.

He said the FHP has run into a serious overtime problem because of its strict DUI law enforcement and the need for troopers to testify in court. The patrol doesn't pay cash overtime, so overtime work spent in court is compensated through time off, which reduces the amount of time spent on patrol.

The average trooper generates $15,000 a year for county or city coffers through traffic ticket charges and fines for traffic offenses like DUI, he said.

Senate Transportation Chairman Malcolm Beard said this proposal would amount to a return to the old fee system, under which police and other officers got paid according to how many traffic tickets they wrote. It was notorious because of the abuse.

Flooding

Floridians Unruffled By Greenhouse Prediction

By United Press International

A prediction by scientists that pollution will trap heat in the earth's atmosphere, melt the polar ice caps and flood Florida's beaches by the year 2100 appears too remote to worry residents of coastal areas.

If the so-called "greenhouse effect" comes to pass, it would mean the loss of a fortune in oceanfront high-rises and other beachfront dwellings.

Threatened areas include New Smyrna Beach, Key West, Cocoa Beach, Miami Beach, the Everglades, Fort Lauderdale, Palm Beach, Pompano Beach, Crystal River, Fort Myers, Naples and Port Charlotte.

The greenhouse theory holds those areas will become seabed by the year 2100. The idea gained new credibility this month when the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the prestigious National Research Council released studies on the implications of loading the atmosphere with carbon dioxide.

The EPA report said higher temperatures are inevitable and predicted "major changes" in 7 to 17 years, as well as a rise in sea level of 4 feet to 7 feet by 2100.

The National Research Council said a warming was "most likely."

It said ocean levels could rise 27 inches by 2100 and 6 feet each century thereafter.

Dr. E.J. Baker, a Florida State University geography professor who has conducted a number of coastal disaster studies, says beach erosion may be a more immediate danger.

Baker quoted studies concluding that a 3-foot ocean rise would erode 100 yards of coastland, regardless of its elevation. But he said he was "very surprised at that EPA stuff. The climatologists I have talked to always hedge their bets."

"One hundred and twenty-seven years is a long time," he said. "It is so uncertain there would be some unwillingness to take actions some think might be necessary."

In the meantime, Floridians are sticking with their beachfront condominiums. Most people feel it is too early to worry about the new studies.

"I don't see where there's any cause for alarm. It's just a continuation of scientific work that's been done. My geology professor at Purdue told me that in the 1950s," said Bob Elrod, president-elect of the Florida Association of Realtors and a former state senator and legislator.

Florida's temperature and agriculture would be affected less

Proposition 1 Threatens State's Quality Of Life

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Passage of the Proposition 1 tax cap would lower the quality of life in Florida, dissuading new industry from coming to the state, a University of Florida economist says.

"It could force us back to an economy that's twisted toward the old Florida, almost totally dependent upon tourism and population growth, without much manufacturing," Henry Fishkind said. "And we are just now beginning to attract manufacturing into the state."

Fishkind, associate director of the UF Bureau of Economic and Business Research, is one of the organizers of a conference of business and government officials at Lake Buena Vista Friday to discuss the ramifications of Proposition 1.

Proposition 1 says state and local government revenues can grow no more than two-thirds of the change in the national consumer price index for the preceding calendar year.

"Two special conditions limit property taxes," Fishkind said. "One, taxes due to new construction are excluded from the limit. Two, regardless of the change in the consumer price index, increases in property taxes (excluding new construction) cannot exceed 5 percent a year."

Fishkind said he is most concerned education could suffer as a result of the proposition's becoming law.

Not only would it reduce the quality of education because government would have less money to spend on it, but some areas of Florida such as Gainesville and Tallahassee that are economically dependent on universities would be hurt.

Fishkind said proponents of the measure say this could not happen because voters at any time could vote to increase revenues above the limit for a specific purpose for two years. If the public wants more money for education, the proponents say, they simply vote for more money.

Although Fishkind conceded this kind of citizen participation in government is possible, he said it is impractical because of the public's general lack of awareness of issues and low voter turnout.

He also said the public is not likely to increase revenues in areas where benefits do not directly affect them.

Bang! Bang! You're Dead

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Dressed in camouflaged fatigues and safety goggles, the paunchy office worker breathed noisily as he walked through the thick foliage. Grasped tightly in his hand was a small black pistol.

Without warning there came a loud pop. A small yellow splotch began to run on the clerk's crisp uniform just below his heart.

"Dang," he exclaimed. "He got me good. I'm dead."

Another player, "shot" with a paint pellet, had been eliminated from the Survival Game, a grown-up version of "capture the flag" now being played over a 35-acre tract of woods and fields on Jacksonville's west side.

For $35 a day, war-like civilians crouch behind trees and ambush their opponents. Their goal: to get to the opposition's "flag." The first team to capture the flag and return it to its home base wins.

Before that, however, they stalk their opponents. There are no prisoners. A "kill" is worth points, bagging a team captain is worth more and annihilating the other side means victory.

"I love it," said Grayson Williams, 33, a burly hardware salesman. "It brings out the little boy in me."

A splotch of white paint marks Williams as an early casualty. He was racing down a trail to snatch the flag when he was shot.

"This is definitely a competitor's game and I compete in everything," Williams said, reloading his pistol for the next game.

Russ Swartzel, 40, the man who shot Williams, described the predatory feeling:

"My heart started beating hard when I heard him coming," Swartzel said. "Until then, it was just lying on the ground and waiting. But I had a bead on him all the way down the trail."

The game began a few years ago in New Hampshire. A series of franchisees have cropped up around the country. The Jacksonville franchise, run by JAW Amusements Inc., opened a few weeks ago.

The franchise owners provide pistols, flags, goggles and the land on which to play. Strips of ribbon mark the routes through the heavy foliage.

Two referees, each on horseback and armed with portable radios, guide the teams to starting positions and then wait near the flag area. All players sign waivers releasing JAW from responsibility for injury.

The two sides use maps and coordinate strategy.

Once a player is hit, he is out of the game. Sometimes several dozen players will show up, giving rise to elaborate tactical maneuvers. The games often are limited to about an hour — but may end sooner.

What's In A Name...?

Now that we have figured out who the "neo-conservatives" are, we may have to start another list of "neo-liberals." A group of 200 politicians, academics and others used that term to describe themselves when they met recently at Reston, Va., to chart a course for what they perceive to be a new movement.

Neo-conservatives are people who considered themselves to be liberals until events of the 1960s and 1970s soured them on the traditional liberal outlook and drove them toward principles generally upheld by conservatives. They are called neo-, we presume, to distinguish them from people who have been conservatives all along.

The ideological slant of the neo-liberals isn't so clear. From the speeches made at Reston we can figure out where they've been but can't be sure where they're going. The best clue comes from Charles Peters, editor of The Washington Monthly, who coined the term neo-liberal and sponsored the Reston conference.

"First of all, and most important of all, we are liberals," he declared. "We criticize liberalism not to destroy it but to renew it by freeing it from its myths, from its old automatic responses in favor of unions and big government and against business and the military." Hooray for that, if the neo-liberals really mean it.

The new philosophy, said Mr. Peters, also means "voting for a candidate not on the basis of what he has done for you or your special group but on the basis of what he has done for the community as a whole." That's a winner, too.

The breast-beating at Reston was encouraging. Democratic Gov. Bruce Babbitt of Arizona admitted that his own party needed some neo-liberalizing to remove it from the bondage of the education establishment. Robert Nagel, a law professor from the University of Colorado, came down hard on liberal judges who make the courts look foolish by carrying constitutional rights to "any extremes."

A lot of what was said at Reston seemed to come straight out of a conservative primer. The conservatives have no monopoly on their ideas, of course, so they can't complain of plagiarism. But if the conservatives, the neo-conservatives and the neo-liberals all start saying the same things, how are we going to tell them apart?

A Heavy Toll

Once again a decision requiring air bags on new automobiles has been put off by the government.

It's an irresponsible act. Air bags are a proven safety device. They were sold as options on General Motors vehicles more than 10 years ago and demonstrated their reliability. If they were ordered installed in new vehicles, they could save as many as 10,000 lives and 100,000 disabling injuries a year.

The air bag has become a political football. In 1977 the Highway Safety Administration under President Carter ordered that new U.S.-made cars in the model year 1984 and thereafter be equipped with either the bags or automatic seat belts. The Reagan administration, in 1981, voided the order, only to be overruled in June by the Supreme Court, which called the revocation "arbitrary and capricious."

Now Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole is offering a list of alternatives ranging from no passive restraints to air bag tests on government vehicles. She has put off a final decision until next July.

The air bags are concealed devices that automatically inflate into an impact-cushioning pillow during a head-on crash, protecting front-seat occupants from flying into the dash and windshield. About 60 percent of the car crashes that result in death or serious injury are frontal crashes — the very type air bags protect against.

The government should not waver on the air bag, which is expected to add about $300 to the cost of a new car — and thus is opposed by Detroit. At least a portion of the added cost, however, could be regained in lower insurance payments.

Elizabeth Dole should mandate the air bag as standard auto equipment immediately. The sooner they are made available, the sooner the number of auto deaths will be reduced.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Don't worry, you have a temporary condition affecting many environmentalists — post-Watt Depression."

By Diane Petryk

Cpl. Jack Lee Martin, Oviedo, Fla. Another name added to the list of Marines killed in the Beirut terrorist bombing.

Martin's name showed up on the list being broadcast Sunday night on the cable news network.

"That was how Sanford Marine recruiter Sgt. Ike Moon found out one of his recruits had been killed. The first, in his 13 years as a Marine recruiter.

"I cried," Moon said. The tears came, he said, out of a deep feeling of sorrow and because "we are a band of brothers. It hurts every Marine to have one of his comrades fall."

And no, crying doesn't conflict with the Marines' tough image, he said. "Being in the Marine Corps doesn't turn us into machines," he said. "We have emotions, too. We're not exempt."

Moon said he knows his job as a Marine recruiter is vital, but he'd trade it all for one crack at a tour of duty in Beirut.

"I've sent young men over there. I looked after them when they were in high school. I feel cheated they're there and I'm not.

Moon has served in Washington D.C., Hawaii, North Carolina and here, but never in a combat situation. He said he's ready, however.

"I'm a gunnery sergeant. A leader of Marines. It's my duty to God, country and the corps."

What about his duty to his family?

"My wife wouldn't like me to go, but she realizes I'm a Marine first. My wife's a good Marine, too."

While talking in his Sanford office, the phone rings:

"No G.E.D.'s, no 'equivalency' exams," Moon says. "You must have a regular high school diploma. The Marines want you to spend time in school. Then we'll talk."

Other branches of the service are less strict, but as one of Moon's recruits said, "As long as I'm going to join, I asked myself, why not join the best?"

Getting adjusted to the shock of a casualty among his recruits, Moon said:

"All good Marines just go to Hell and regroup, that's all."

The Marines don't have a corner on bravery these days. Their parents are showing plenty, no exception being James and Linda Martin of Oviedo, who didn't learn their son Jack's fate until an agonizing week after the bombing. The 21-year-old Lance Corporal, a target spotter who joined the Marine Corps two years ago, will be buried in this area, they said.

"I'll never use the cliché 'there's never a policeman around when you need one.'"

Usually I carry two complete sets of keys to house, car, etc., but Sunday I knew I'd gotten the minute I pulled the house door shut. What felt like keys in my hand was a bunch of change. The spare set wasn't in my purse.

I had just given up with the credit card routine when Sanford patrolman Gary Harrell happened by.

He checked all the doors and windows and had to agree that I was locked out. But there was one high window open a crack. He said he'd try to get through it, but did I have a step-stool?

No, I said, everything's locked inside.

So he obtained a chair from his nearby grandmother's house and also brought back his cousin. Together they tried to pry the screen out of the window. It wasn't easy.

"This is one of those burglar-proof screens — they take longer," I was advised.

Ultimately the effort was a success. Thanks, Gary. Just don't tell my landlord the screen is now somewhat bent.

Campus Poll Shocker

If there remained any doubt that something dramatic is taking place on the American college campus, a recent poll of undergraduates at Dartmouth College should lay to rest any doubts.

I have not seen similar polls at other colleges and universities, and no doubt there would be local variations, but the biggest variation is between today's campus opinion and that of the 1960s.

The elite, Ivy League campuses are supposed to be white-wine and quiche country, right?

Well, not right. In a poll conducted by The Dartmouth, a campus student newspaper, and by the local student Republican and Democratic clubs, President Reagan defeated all of his Democratic rivals.

Reagan defeated John Glenn, for example, by 53.6 to 46.4. Mondale and Cranston lost by wider margins, and, perhaps surprisingly, the Democrat who came in fourth was neither George McGovern nor Gary Hart but Senator Fritz Hollings of South Carolina.

The curious "gender gap" showed up fairly dramatically in this student poll. Among undergraduate Dartmouth women, Glenn defeated Reagan by 56.9 to 43.1. But Reagan more than made up for this among undergraduate men.

A lot, I think, is going on in all of this. In 1980, The Dartmouth endorsed John Anderson instead of either Carter or Reagan, and at Harvard the student Crimson endorsed far-out candidate Barry Commoner. Of course, student newspapers rarely reflect mainstream campus opinion, but, in the light of the above polling results, such newspapers would lose all local credibility with such endorsements this year.

And the world has changed since 1980. Inflation is down from the 15-20 percent range to something like 3 percent, and the students and their parents know it. It costs about $12,000 per year to attend these schools and at the 1980 inflation rate the bill today would be more like $16,000. That sort of thing concentrates the mind.

The Soviet Union is perceived on campus as both detestable and dangerous, and though there is a good deal of sympathy for the nuclear freeze movement, that has been seriously undercut by a series of political shocks: Afghanistan, Poland, the Korean Airliner 007. Peace through strength has gained as against a phone call to Andropov.

And the sheer novelty of the new conservative newspapers may have played some part. There are now around 50 of them, in different styles and formats, including a brand new one at McGill University in Montreal. Simply having this alternative voice available may detract from the authority of liberal orthodoxy: maybe it really isn't true that the communists should take over in central America, or that we should permit the Soviets a nuclear monopoly.

Soviets Won Cuban Missile Crisis

WASHINGTON — In an earlier column, I revealed that the historic 1962 "agreement" between President John Kennedy and Premier Nikita Khrushchev over Soviet nuclear missiles in Cuba was never a real agreement, and certainly not the ironclad understanding the American public believes has existed for the past 21 years.

The State Department has determinedly covered up this situation, even withholding from top White House officials the secret documents that chronicle the delicate U.S.-Soviet negotiations in the fall of 1962. My associate Dale Van Atta has seen secret and top secret papers which show that the situation today is no better — and in some respects worse — than when the missile crisis took the world to the brink of nuclear war.

The Soviets have many more offensive weapons in Cuba — and far more sophisticated ones — than the 42 medium-range ballistic missiles that touched off the 1962 confrontation.

Faced with a determined President Kennedy and a clear American military superiority, Khrushchev reluctantly agreed not to deploy the missiles he had planned for Cuba, removing those already in place. But he balked at the U.S. insistence that the Soviets also pull out the IL-28 "Beagle" bombers on the island.

In a secret letter to the Soviets, U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson listed the weapons the United States considered offensive in nature. The list specifically included bombers.

In a Nov. 5, 1962, memo to the president, Attorney General Robert Kennedy reported on a meeting with Soviet ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin. He said he had told the Russian that "certainly it was very clear that the bombers, the IL-28s, had to go."

But Khrushchev did not agree. Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent Stevenson these top secret instructions on Nov. 7:

"Soviets take position that Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement related only to missiles.... Our primary purpose is to get the MRBMs (missiles) and IL-28 bombers out, and we would go far in reducing the list of offensive weapons in order to achieve this purpose."

On Nov. 20, Khrushchev wrote to President Kennedy, complaining that during their exchange of correspondence in October the president had not made "a single mention of bomber planes.... I informed you that the IL-28 planes are 12 years old and by their combat characteristics they at present cannot be classified as offensive types of weapons."

Khrushchev then added that "we intend to remove them within a month" anyhow, so the United States should call off its quarantine of Cuba. After some stalling, the Soviets did remove the bombers and the U.S. quarantine was then lifted.

But the sad fact is that the Soviets now have more and better warplanes in Cuba than they did in 1962. They have a dozen Tu-95 "Bear" bombers, some with strategic nuclear capability, and they have about 40 MiG-23 or MiG-27 fighter-bombers, the latter capable of carrying nuclear bombs. In secret testimony to Congress, top intelligence officials admitted that the United States has no reliable way to tell if the Soviet planes actually have nuclear weapons.

Delivery of at least six nuclear missiles by submarine was verified in 1972 and 1974, and the Cuban naval base of Cienfuegos is known to be linked by rail to a nuclear warhead storage facility.

Sens. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and Steven Symms, R-Idaho, have rightly raised questions about what they believed were Soviet violations of the 1962 agreement. The fact that there actually was no agreement doesn't lessen the practical dangers posed by the Soviets' offensive weapons 90 miles from the U.S. mainland.

ROBERT WALTERS

Suspicious Of Their Motives

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There may have been some justification for the military invasion of Grenada, but the subsequent actions of President Reagan and his most senior advisers serve only to inspire suspicion about their motives.

There is little doubt that the Soviet Union and Cuba were moving aggressively toward military, political and economic domination of the island nation in the southeastern corner of the Caribbean.

The Soviet Union's ambassador to Grenada is a four-star general — an extraordinary form of diplomatic representation. When U.S. troops landed on the island, they encountered not only Cuban construction workers equipped with small arms but also a full battalion of Cuban military forces.

Grenada's location accounts for much of its strategic importance because it stands astride shipping lanes to and from the Panama Canal. The island could be used as a base to disrupt not only that maritime traffic but also the shipment of crude oil from the Middle East to Gulf Coast refineries and of petroleum from Mexico and Venezuela across the Atlantic Ocean.

In addition, the unstable military junta which seized control of Grenada's government in mid-October might have become desperate enough to take as hostages some of the more than 1,000 U.S. citizens living on the island.

But none of this justifies the revival of "gunboat diplomacy" — a root of hatred, fear and suspicion of this country virtually everywhere south of the Rio Grande — or the deception and duplicity which rapidly became hallmarks of the invasion.

Moreover, the president, Secretary of State George P. Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger appear to be thoroughly oblivious to the irony of promoting democracy through the use of military force.

At a press conference on the day following the invasion, Shultz destroyed his own credibility by repeatedly refusing to acknowledge that this country's fear of a Soviet or Cuban takeover of Grenada was in any way related to the decision to initiate the military strike.

The only official hint of ideological motivation during the fighting, buried amid a torrent of sanctimonious Reagan administration rhetoric about the restoration of democratic values, came from the president's brief reference to "a brutal group of leftist thugs."

At another press conference, Weinberger proclaimed that "we have rescued... a number of Americans" but conveniently ignored the fact that approximately half of those "rescued" resisted efforts to evacuate them from Grenada and clearly preferred remaining on the island.

JULIAN BOND

The Big-Shot Business

It was my good friend Robinson, all deeked out in a three-piece suit. "You're looking prosperous," I said. "I gather you've finally found gainful employment."

"You're absolutely right," Robinson said. "I'm making more money now than ever before. I've gone into the political consulting business, working mainly for Democrats, although I'm doing a few small jobs for the president."

"By 'president,'" I asked, "do you mean Ronald Wilson Reagan, president of the United States?"

"That's the one," said Robinson. "I'm doing my bit for the re-election effort."

"That's not surprising," I groused. "You were always ready to make a fast dollar, no matter what morality was at stake. You would work for a president who's been more hostile to civil rights for your own people than any other I can remember. How could you?"

"Easy," said Robinson. "Actually, I think I'm helping to make Reagan a better president in his second term. I'm holding sensitivity sessions for the president and his Cabinet. It's something they need following the unfortunate slip of the lip by James Watt. I've really been busy, and it hasn't been easy."

"I guess it hasn't," I snarled. "What in heaven's name have you done for the Democrats?"

"That's been much easier," Robinson said. "I actually got the idea from an Atlanta newspaper. I saw a story about which black leader was supporting which white Democratic presidential candidate. They quoted one black politician who said he couldn't support Mondale because too many black big shots were already in the Mondale camp. That's when I got my idea."

"What idea?" I demanded. "I immediately went to all the other candidates — Glenn, Hart, Hollings, Askew, Cranston, McGovern — and offered to set up official black not-so-big-shot committees in their name."

"How does it work?" I asked.

"I get to a town and find out who's already in the Mondale camp," Robinson said, smirking. "Then I immediately approach every other black person and tell him that since the big shots are all supporting Mondale, he'd better support my man. My man, of course, is the one who's paying me."

"Do you mean to say," I asked angrily, "that you tell people they must support your candidate because they're not important enough to support former Vice President Mondale? And it actually works?"

"Of course it works," Robinson said. "Jimmy Carter was the first to try it out. When he began, only one big shot — Andy Young — supported him. He got other blacks to join his campaign by telling them that all the black big shots — except Andy — were against him, and that if a black person joined his campaign, he'd be treated like a big shot too. Now Andy Young is suspected to be a Mondale supporter. That's enough to line up hundreds of supporters for John Glenn and Gary Hart. In Atlanta, blacks are falling all over themselves to avoid the big-shot heavy Mondale campaign so they can be big shots by themselves somewhere else. It's what we in the political game call human nature."

"It sure is," I sighed. "But what happens when the not-so-big-shots join another campaign and become big shots there?"

"I just move down the list," Robinson said, clutching my arm. "As I was saying, don't you want to sign up now with Reubin Askew. He'll give you a chance to really shine. If you're a big shot in the big-shot forest, you aren't any bigger than anyone else. But if you become the first tree in a grassy meadow, you stand head and shoulders above the rest."

"And you deserve to be chopped down," I said.

"Hush, brother," said Robinson. "The not-so-big-shot business is booming."

Voters Sought

Voter registration will be held 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at Midway Community Center at Williams Avenue and 21st St., Midway, in conjunction with a yard sale, bake sale, and barbecue. The registration will continue each Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the regular meetings of MCNEAT (Midway-Canaan Neighborhood Economic Action Team) at the Midway Community Center.

Ceremonies Planned For Veteran's Day

The Rev. Amos C. Jones, pastor of St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church, Sanford, will be the principal speaker at the annual Veterans Day program to be held on Nov. 11 in Sanford's Veterans Memorial Park on the lakefront. The Amvets will be the host organization and Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce President Jack Horner will be master of ceremonies for the event, which will begin at the traditional hour of 11 a.m. Other groups and auxiliaries scheduled to participate include the Disabled American Veterans Seminole Chapter 30, American Legion Post 53, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Fleet Reserve Association, the Military Order of the Purple Heart, The Knights of Columbus color guard and the National Guard rifle squad, will also take part. The Seminole High School Band will play. The organizations will line up in front of the VFW Post Home at 10:30 a.m. for the march on Seminole Boulevard to the park for the ceremonies.

Cake For Two Reasons

Would-Be Restaurateur Loses Zoning Bid - And Property, Too

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

A man who wants to build a Woogie's Pub along State Road 436 just east of Casselberry has probably had better days than the one he had Tuesday. In a matter of minutes, Don Badger, representing the Central Florida pub chain, had his request to build a restaurant on the property, beside Semoran Skateway near Lake Howell Road, rejected by county commissioners and learned that the property is being sold to a national restaurant chain. After several months of wrangling with county staff, Badger, who had an option to buy the property if zoning was approved, asked commissioners Tuesday to permit him to go ahead with plans to build 180-seat restaurant which would also serve beer and wine. This spring, Badger applied for a special exception to county zoning regulations which would permit him to build a bar. But after considerable opposition from neighborhood residents, Badger withdrew his application and said he would build a restaurant on the property. Plans were submitted to Land Management officials for a 180-seat restaurant which needed no special exception but Land Management Manager Herb Hardin refused to approve the plans because "it's still a bar." "All I want is permission to go ahead and build a restaurant," Badger said Tuesday. But Hardin replied, "I've not yet seen plans submitted for a restaurant." Commissioners unanimously agreed with Hardin. But even if commissioners had approved the request it's unlikely Badger would have been able to build the facility because it violates health department standards. Bud Corbett, of the Health Department said Badger doesn't have the necessary sewage service to operate a 180-seat restaurant. Corbett said the largest available septic tank for the property has a capacity of 300,000 gallons per day. That size septic tank is only large enough to serve a 50-seat restaurant, he said. By using paper plates and plastic silverware the restaurant could have a capacity of 100 people, Badger said.

He added that the restaurant could not install a second septic tank even if it had sufficient land because of state regulations. And a variance from the state is unlikely, Corbett said. But in the end the whole argument became a moot point. "This whole thing is really academic," said real estate agent Alan Bixby, who has a contract to market the property. "I have a letter from a national chain of restaurants that is willing to wait to build until there's sewer service available from Casselberry." Bixby said he anticipates Casselberry will run sewer lines to the area within a year. "The company is perfectly willing to wait." Bixby refused to name the national restaurant chain.

Strike Has Domino-Effect

TWINSBURG, Ohio (UPI) — A strike at a Chrysler Corp. plant that makes front doors and floors is causing a domino-effect shutdown for the nation's No. 3 automaker, resulting in layoffs of 6,300 non-strikers and threatening the jobs of another 14,700. Chrysler announced Tuesday the walkout by 3,200 Twinsburg stamping plant workers forced the closing of two of its eight assembly plants, where 6,300 employees work. The non-striking plants were shut down because the Twinsburg factory makes front doors and underbodies for all Chrysler cars. The company says it will make a decision on four other plants, where 14,700 workers are employed, "on a day-to-day basis." Negotiations between United Auto Workers Local 122 and Chrysler were to resume at 1 p.m. EST today. Bargainers met for 21 hours straight and talks recessed to give the exhausted negotiators a rest. For 15 months, the two sides have tried to reach a local work rule agreement on safety issues, job assignments and scheduling at the suburban Cleveland plant. Workers have complained they are required to work too much overtime. The union reported some progress during the 21-hour session, but both sides blamed the other. "Despite our best efforts to settle, the local union insists on imposing upon Chrysler an intolerable list of demands, which, if granted, would totally thwart our ability to operate the plant efficiently," a company spokesman said. "A strike over these issues is inexcusable." However, Local 122 President Bob Weissman said, "They waited until the last minute to begin to move, and then it was too little, too late." Weissman claimed the strike will cost Chrysler $50 million in profits. A company spokesman said he did not know how much the strike will cost. The spokesman said Chrysler's Pilette truck assembly plant in Windsor, Ont., and the Belvedere, Ill., plant shut down after Tuesday's afternoon shift. Four other plants — Detroit Jefferson Avenue, Newark, Del., and two in Fenton, Mo. — will be looked at on a daily basis, and the Warren, Mich., truck plant and Windsor, Ont., plant would remain open through the week, he said.

FAMILY DENTIST

A few years ago dental research scientists began to look for a way to replace missing teeth that would conserve the tooth structure of the remaining teeth — be strong — and good looking — and economical.

Various methods were tried with some success. However, the real breakthrough came recently at the University of Maryland when researchers found that a bridge could be connected to the adjacent natural teeth with small hidden metal attachments. These attachments could be electrolytically etched in a way so that they could actually be bonded to the outer tooth structure of the remaining teeth. There would be minimal tooth preparation; hence, usually no anesthetic would be required. Further, we would not have to depend on the deeper portions of the tooth for holding power.

Obviously, the success of this entire procedure would depend on the strength of the metal attachment and the ability of the attachment to be fastened (in this case, etch bonded) to the remaining teeth.

It was at the University of Maryland that a major required step took place. Researchers found that it was possible to electrolytically etch the inner metal surfaces of the attachments in such a way that the bond to the metal would be two or three times as strong as resin bonding to etched tooth enamel.

The "Maryland Bridge" procedure means that you would spend less than half the time allotted, say, for a conventional fixed bridge.

This revolutionary technique is rapidly becoming the preferred alternative to conventional methods. Of course, there is significant cost reduction.

Because of possible bite related problems, not everyone is a candidate for this revolutionary new technique. However, we will certainly be glad to evaluate the possibilities for you. Why not call today.

New Tribes Wants To Buy Old Nursing Home, But County Doesn't Want To Sell

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

New Tribes, Mission has offered $75,000 to the county to purchase a vacant nursing home adjacent to the old Seminole Memorial Hospital, but the county doesn't want to sell.

Attorney Kirby Moncrief, representing the mission, made the offer to the county in a letter to Purchasing Director Joann Blackmon.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn said today the offer is being considered but said the county is more interested in leasing the property than selling it.

New Tribes, however, is not interested in leasing the 10,000-square-foot facility, Moncrief said.

The Seminole County Mental Health Agency's building committee will meet Thursday afternoon to discuss the old nursing home and another facility in Sanford as possible locations for the agency's offices and a crisis care unit.

Executive Director Jim Berko said he has toured the facility and feels it would be ideal for the agency's needs. Berko is interested in moving the agency's offices from Crane's Roost in Altamonte Springs where it pays about $60,000 a year in rent.

The St. Johns River Water Management District has also expressed interest in leasing the building when its lease expires next year on its current headquarters in Eustis.

County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said commissioners would prefer to lease, rather than sell, the building for at least a year to determine whether the space may be needed later for county offices. The county is currently renovating the old hospital to serve as office space for commissioners, their staff offices and the supervisor of elections, property appraiser and tax collector's offices.

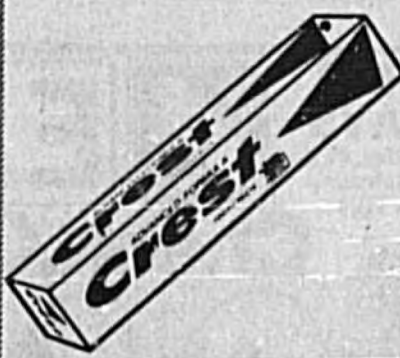

Rose said he hopes to be able to solicit bids for a lease on the nursing home in about 30 days.

"Don't forget to wear your galoshes!"

Mothers always used to say things like that, and they still do. "Be careful when you cross the street," and, "Don't gulp your milk!" sound as familiar to kids today as they did a couple of generations ago.

And we think that's good. Because it's a demonstration of caring which is carried from generation to generation — and caring is what funeral service is all about.

Americans Consume 8 Tons Of Lead Daily

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. population's daily intake of lead from the air, food and water totals eight tons, the Environmental Protection Agency reports in a massive study of the nation's lead contamination problem.

A copy of the four-volume draft report, made available to United Press International by Science Trends newsletter, said city dwellers receive higher exposure to lead contamination, and lead levels in the atmosphere "are 10,000 to 20,000-fold higher in some urban areas than in the most remote regions of Earth."

Agency scientists concluded that cutting back on lead pollution, particularly in the air, "would then result in significant widespread reductions in levels of lead in human blood," the Washington-based newsletter reports.

According to EPA figures, the average American ingests about 100 milligrams of lead each day, or about 1.25 ounces annually.

"It appears that, with the exception of extraordinary cases of exposure, about 100 milligrams of lead are consumed daily by each American. This amounts to eight tons," the report found.

While scientists have not determined precisely what levels of lead exposure begin to cause health problems, low level exposure has been linked to childhood learning disabilities, lower intelligence test scores and poorer classroom performance.

At extremely high exposure levels, lead contamination can cause central nervous system disorders, as well as impairment of mental processes, retardation and even death.

The 2,000-page EPA study, now under review by outside scientists, is "a serious step in our process toward a full and complete understanding of what we might do in the future about lead," said EPA spokesman Rusty Brashear.

While there have been some reductions in U.S. lead levels through the federal government's "phase-down" of leaded gasoline and improvements in food packaging and public drinking water systems, Brashear said the EPA is considering whether further restrictions may be necessary.

"We consider lead, along with asbestos, one of the leading environmental problems we face," said Brashear.

Other major findings of the study include:

—Processing of foods, particularly canning, can significantly add to their background lead content, although it appears the impact of this is being lessened with the trend away from use of lead-soldered cans.

—Home food preparation can also be a source of additional lead in cases where food preparation surfaces are exposed to moderate amounts of high-lead household dust.

—Young children are at greatest risk for experiencing lead-induced health effects, particularly in the urbanized, low-income segments of the pediatric population.

—A second group at increased risk is pregnant women, because of exposure of the fetus to lead.

"There is no new evidence to indicate we should shoot for further reductions," said Dr. Robert Putnam, environmental health director of the New York-based Lead Industries Association.

WORLD IN BRIEF

U.S. Forces Capture 17 Grenadian Soldiers

ST. GEORGES, Grenada (UPI) — U.S. forces invading the island of Carriacou off the northern coast of Grenada captured 17 Grenadian soldiers and used a key from local residents to unlock a warehouse storing a cache of weapons, officials said.

On the main island of Grenada, the U.S.-led invasion forces fanned out across the island, continuing their search for pockets of resistance to their occupation and taking six people prisoner.

The Pentagon raised the U.S. military death toll in the invasion of Grenada to 18 — with 86 wounded and one soldier listed as missing.

At the United Nations, the General Assembly agreed to a Nicaraguan request for an urgent debate on the U.S.-led invasion in which six Caribbean nations are participating. The debate was scheduled to begin today.

The U.S. Army said in Barbados a group of 290 Marines of the 22nd Marine Amphibious Unit landed on Carriacou, 15 miles north of Grenada Tuesday.

No fighting was reported on Carriacou — a possession of Grenada with a population of about 7,000 — but 17 members of the Grenadian Peoples Revolutionary Army were captured, the Army said.

Shouf Fighting Heats Up

DEIR EL QAMAR, Lebanon (UPI) — Fighting escalated in the Shouf mountains with Syrian-backed Druze Moslem rebels seeking today to strengthen their positions in case Lebanon's peace talks collapse in Switzerland.

In Geneva, Lebanese President Amin Gemayel and Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam reportedly held icy private talks Tuesday on Syria's demand that Lebanon scrap its May 17 troop withdrawal agreement with Israel.

Spokesmen for the Druze and their Christian rivals warned a breakdown in Lebanon's national reconciliation talks in Geneva could shatter a Sept. 26 cease-fire in the Shouf mountains southeast of Beirut.

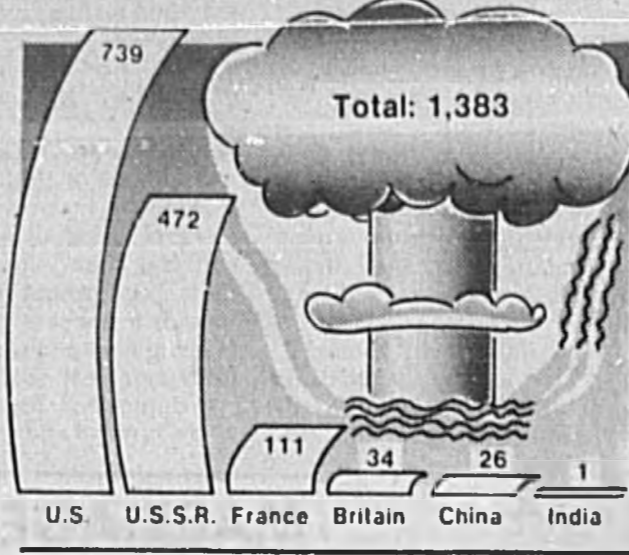

An artillery duel between Druze militiamen and Christian-led government troops erupted Tuesday night in the mountains around the strategic town of Souk el Gharb, on the southern approaches to Beirut and close to the U.S. Marine base at Beirut airport.

Rebel Massacre Reported

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Military sources said rebels killed 87 soldiers and three officers after they surrendered in a besieged northeastern town but El Salvador's Defense Ministry denied any massacre.

The ministry said two soldiers were killed and reported troops were advancing "to recover" the town of Ciudad Barrios, 110 miles northeast of San Salvador.

Nuclear War After Attack, Scientists See Cold, Dark, Dead World

SOURCE: Center for Defense Information NEA/Moffitt Center

A new warning by a group of scientists on the dangers of nuclear war is underscored by the fact that since 1945, there have been 1,383 nuclear explosions, more than half by the U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An all-out nuclear war would envelop the world in darkness and cold that could starve the human race into extinction, a group of scientists warns.

They said up to 750 million people would be incinerated and the rest would face a very bleak future.

In a statement delivered by two of its members, the group said the effects of fallout, the impact of nuclear war on the southern hemisphere and the aftermath of smoke and dust caused by nuclear explosions have been underestimated.

"The long-term effect (of nuclear war) may be the disappearance of our species from the planet," said Paul Ehrlich, an author and a professor of biology and population sciences at Stanford University.

Ehrlich described the biological consequences of nuclear war and Carl Sagan, a professor of space sciences at Cornell University, delivered comments on the atmospheric consequences during a conference on the aftermath of nuclear war.

They said smoke and dust raised by bombs aimed at major industrial, population and military centers in the northern hemisphere and other areas would block out sunlight, causing darkness and freezing temperatures that would make agriculture impossible.

Dust and smoke carried by global wind patterns may also plunge the tropics and southern hemisphere into cold and dark, they said. Previously, it was believed effects in the southern hemisphere would be minor, the two men said.

This "nuclear winter" combined with radiation, fire, illness and disease and increased ultraviolet radiation because of damage to the earth's ozone layer would destroy much animal life, wipe out organized society and eventually, the human race, they said.

They said their statements represented the consensus of 40 biologists who examined two years of studies on the impact of dust and smoke particles generated in nuclear war. The statements were reviewed by dozens of other scientists, they said.

Both said they hoped voters would take the message to government representatives and press for action to reduce or eliminate the chance of nuclear war.

They did not elaborate on what type of action they hoped for, but did present their findings to members of Congress at a hearing before their speech.

Sagan said the statements were based on computer projections of what would happen after a 5,000 megaton exchange, a realistic estimate for full scale nuclear war using less than half the existing nuclear arsenal.

It has been estimated 750 million people would die from the blast alone in such a conflict, Ehrlich said.

Teens Worry Nuclear Weapons Could Lead To War

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than half of 2,000 top high school students polled last summer think the world's present stock of nuclear weapons can lead to war and nearly 25 percent believe "nuclear war is inevitable" in their lifetimes, a survey showed.

About half of the junior and senior high school students, most of them age 17, said the Soviet Union and the United States should reduce their stockpiles of nuclear weapons to equalize the number owned by both sides.

When asked about nuclear war, 24.3 percent of the students agreed it was "inevitable in my lifetime," while 30.1 percent said they think they will never see a nuclear war.

The findings also showed:

—53.8 percent felt the present number of nuclear weapons can lead to war.

—51.7 percent agreed that both the Soviet Union and the United States should reduce production of certain kinds of nuclear weapons to equalize the number.

—45.3 percent thought production of nuclear arms should be frozen at present levels.

—28.3 percent felt American security would be reduced if fewer nuclear weapons were produced.

—14.3 percent believed America needs to produce more nuclear weapons to limit the threat of war with the Soviet Union.

—7.7 percent favored the use of nuclear arms for warfare.

Alfonsin Triumph: Political Savvy And Backlash

By Daniel Drosdoff
UPI Senior Editor

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Raul Alfonsin swept to victory as the next president of Argentina through a potent combination of savvy politics, courage and a backlash in a middle class fearing union hooliganism.

The 56-year-old small town lawyer brought a revolution to Argentine political life by his sophisticated use of the mass media, clever timing, skillful advertising and mass mobilization.

Alfonsin led the Radical Civic Union party to victory in presidential elections Sunday by focusing his well-organized political campaign on attacking human rights abuses by the 74-year-old military regime.

He barnstormed for more than a year Argentina's small towns, conference chambers, churches and synagogues, lecturing on the need to return to democratic rule, blaming the military for recession, unemployment and indebtedness.

Analysis

"Alfonsin has the momentum," said one of his campaign advisers.

The platforms of Alfonsin and his chief rival, Peronist Party candidate Italo Argentino Luder, were not strikingly different. Both candidates pledged to keep intact Argentina's current mixed economy and reduce military spending.

But Alfonsin got a head start in campaigning, launching his bid more than a year ago, while Luder only in early September was confirmed as the Peronists' choice at a riotous convention in which one person was wounded by gunfire.

Alfonsin was active in human rights long before he launched his election bid. He joined a lawyers committee demanding an investigation into the disappearance of 6,000 persons believed kidnapped and killed by secret police during the late 1970s.

On the other hand, Luder, a 67-year-old constitutional and criminal lawyer, appeared to play catch-up.

He followed Alfonsin in demanding the abolition of the post of army commander-in-chief and pledging to repeal a controversial amnesty law that would exonerate police and military agents guilty of abuses during political crackdowns.

Just as important to Alfonsin's victory were blunders by the Peronists.

The choice of Lorenzo Miguel, the powerful head of the Metallurgical union, as a vice president of the Peronist Party led to fears by middle class voters that labor unions could accumulate too much power.

Miguel through the years earned a reputation for his strong-arm tactics. He is suing one person for accusing him of murdering one of his bodyguards.

His unpopularity among the Peronist rank and file forced him to abandon the speakers' platform at a major Peronist rally in a soccer field two weeks ago under a barrage of sticks and bottles.

The same crowd cheered Miguel's chief rival for power in the Peronist movement, former union activist Herminio Iglesias, who won the Peronist nomination for governor over Miguel's objections.

But Iglesias also proved to be an albatross around Luder's neck by embarrassing the Peronist Party.

The Radical party published Iglesias' three-time arrest record and waged an effective whispering campaign, accusing him of underworld connections.

The "Iglesias factor" contributed to the Peronists' defeat in their stronghold of Buenos Aires province, which has 25 percent of the votes in the electoral college and is considered the traditional bellwether of national political life.

Alfonsin also reinforced middle class fears of union hooliganism by launching an attack on the "union-military pact," an arrangement in which the military shares power with labor unions.

By staging mass rallies, Alfonsin revolutionized the tactics of his Radical party, which until recently was a rather staid, traditional organization that was founded in 1890.

DOT Trying To Improve Its Image

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Department of Transportation wants to do something about its bad image.

Steve Albee, a Sarasota public relations consultant and a former high-level official at the Department of Commerce, has been hired as a $45,800-a-year director of media and lobbying for the agency.

Albee is trying to expand the agency's public information bureau. He has sent DOT Secretary Paul Pappas on the road to generate good publicity for the department.

"I don't know a newspaper in the state that has a nice thing to say about the DOT, but the truth is, they do a pretty good job," he told the Tallahassee Democrat.

Pappas went to four Florida cities last week to join legislators at news conferences announcing local transportation projects.

The tour gave legislators a chance to show voters what they are getting for transportation tax increases passed last spring. DOT and Pappas used news conferences to try to improve the agency's traditionally strained relationship with the Legislature.

An added benefit for all of the officials involved is a chance to work against the "Citizen's Choice" tax-cutting amendment by showing citizens good works being produced by their tax dollars.

After the tours, Albee said he would conduct "an aggressive" public relations program, including presentations throughout Florida to show how the giant agency operates.

To help pull this off, Albee wants funding to increase DOT's information office from four staffers to 12 and put information officers at six department offices around the state.

"With the amount of exposure the secretary and governor want to get out of DOT, it's going to take more people," he said. "The extent of the program is going to depend on the resources."

County Football Leaders

Wellon, Bowers Turn In Top Performances

Despite a meager 34 yards Lake Howell's Jay Robey held onto the rushing lead over Oviedo's Barry Williams (598-566) while Lake Howell quarter Darin Slack continues to pass the county throwers. Lake Mary's Donald Grayson leads the receivers and Lake Mary's Bill Caughell is the leading tackler.

Lake Mary's Neal Wellon (113 yards) had one of the top rushing performances while Oviedo's Charles "Pop" Bowers (109 yards) wasn't too far behind. Both made noticeable jumps in the rushing department.

Lake Mary's Grayson had another good week with seven catches for 97 yards while his sophomore quarterback Ray Hartsfield picked up some ground on Slack by hitting 11 of 22 passes for 159 yards and two TDs against undefeated Apopka.

Caughell and Lyman's Mike Henley, both juniors, has their usual nights defensively to remain close in total tacklers. Oviedo's Kevin Yentz improved his stock with eight solos four assists. Lake Brantley's two tough linebackers, Byron Bush and Pat James, picked up seven solos and three assists apiece.

Hats Off To Pernfors, McQuagge, Emma

We all knew that Mike Pernfors, SCC's All-American on the 1982 and 1983 National champions was good. Just how good though was somewhat of a mystery because he was never really tested in his two years at SCC.

After all, he won 160 singles and doubles matches without losing and only lost nine sets in his two years with the Raiders. Well, news from the University of Georgia received this week proves that he is even better than we thought. Mike is playing #1 for the Georgia Bulldogs, the nation's #3 ranked NCAA team. He has not been beaten this fall. He has won three big collegiate tournaments including the prestigious southern intercollegiate. Coach Dan McGill of the Georgia team thinks that Mike has a good chance of being ranked #1 in the nation among Division I players in the soon to come out coaches poll.

Now that SCC no longer has a varsity tennis program it is up to UCF and Rollins to fight it out for the top college tennis team in Central Florida. Veteran coach Norm Copeland of Rollins appears to have another strong team this year. What else is new? Coach Copeland always has a strong team, one that should once again be in the top five in the nation in NCAA Division II. With such standouts as Brian Talgo, Rob Bates and Brian Morrissey coming back, Rollins will be hard to beat.

Larry Castle
Former SCC Tennis Coach

New UCF men's coach Troy McQuagge is also very optimistic about his chances this year. McQuagge is a former standout player at SCC and UCF and is in his first year of coaching. UCF has one of the top players in the nation playing #1 for them this year. His name is Mike DeFranco and he is a player of great talent. If Coach McQuagge can come up with some depth to go along with DeFranco the battle with Rollins could be very interesting.

Rich Shanklin, former Lake Brantley and SCC standout, has graduated from Old Dominion University and is seeking a teaching position in the area. Rich is currently employed at AT&T but wants to get back on the courts and back in Florida. He is currently living and working in Bonton, New Jersey.

Louie Ballentyne and Cliff Crider, both former high school standouts in the area are now members of the Florida Junior College tennis team in Jacksonville. Louie played at Apopka and Cliff at Winter Park. We understand that Louie is a starter in singles and doubles and that Cliff will start in doubles.

Two rising young tennis stars in the Sanford area are Lake Mary freshmen, Mike Renaud and Shea Whigham. Mike and Shea seem to possess all the physical tools to become very good players, but more importantly they have developed the proper mental approach to the game. Mike is the son of Ronald (Lefty) and Jan Renaud of Sanford, and Shea is the son of Frank and Beth Whigham also of Sanford. The parents of both young men are superb athletes in their own right so the background is there for Mike and Shea to make it big. Look for these two young men to go right to the top in years to come.

Hats off to Ms. Emma Spencer, Sanford's first lady of tennis, on her recent selection into the Seminole County Sports Hall of Fame. Emma's contribution to sports in the area cannot be measured. She has been active in many, many sports as well as tennis and for many, many years had the only courts in Sanford. She started literally hundreds of local players in the game. No one deserves this honor more than Ms. Spencer and we congratulate her and wish her continued success.

Lyman's Donna Ball prepares to set up teammate Lori Helms (number 8) in the Lady Greyhounds match with Apopka Tuesday at Lake Mary High. Lyman dropped the first game of the match, but bounced back to take the next two and stay alive in the 4A-9 District Tournament. The Lady Greyhounds go up against Lake Brantley in first-round action today at 3:30 p.m. In other games, DeLand faces Mainland at 5, Lake Howell goes up against Spruce Creek at 6:30 and Lake Mary faces Seminole at 8.

Lyman Ousts Apopka In 3

Apopka's Lady Blue Darters, winless during the regular season, almost caught Lyman's Lady Greyhounds napping Tuesday, but Lyman woke up in time and rallied to a three-game victory, 6-15, 15-5, 15-9, in the opening round of the District 4A-9 Volleyball Tournament at Lake Mary High.

In tonight's first-round action, Lyman faces third seeded Lake Brantley at 3:30 p.m., top seeded DeLand goes up against Mainland at 5, second seeded Lake

District Volleyball

Howell battles Spruce Creek at 6:30 and, in the feature match, fourth seeded Seminole faces host Lake Mary at 8.

"Apopka plays a different style than we do," Lyman coach Annette Griffin said. "We pass the ball and try and set up for a spike, but they just hit the ball over the net on the first or second hit. That messed up our transition from offense to defense and caused some confusion. Some balls were dropping in that never should have. We're a much better team than we showed today."

In the opening game, Apopka zipped out to a 6-1 lead before Lyman's Kim Reis served five straight points, including one ace, to tie the score at 6-6.

Apopka reeled off five more points before losing the serve, and the Darters got it right back on a missed serve by Lyman. Apopka then scored two straight points to take a 13-6 lead and, after Lyman failed to score again, the Lady Blue Darters closed out the game on the serve of Connie Dennison.

"We beat them (Apopka) twice during the regular season," Griffin said. "And we talked about being overconfident. We weren't really ready in the first game. We stood back and waited too long."

Lyman jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the second game on the serve of Reis, but Apopka cut it to 5-3 on LaShey Phillips' serve. Lyman eventually built a 10-4 lead and Reis came on to serve three more points for a 13-4 lead.

Apopka scored one more point before the Lady Greyhounds regained the serve and Regan Stump served two points as Lyman won the second game, 15-5, and forced a third and deciding game.

The third game was a see-saw affair in the beginning, but Lyman, leading 5-4, broke it open as Dawn Boyensen served six straight points for a 11-4 lead. Apopka came back to cut it to 11-7 on the serve of Sue Grant but, a missed spike gave it back to the Lady Greyhounds.

An illegal set by Lyman gave Apopka the serve and the Lady Darters cut the lead to 11-9 on June Warren's serve. Lyman's Sonya Hester then took over and the serve and her off-speed floater was good for three points as the Lady Greyhounds took a 14-9 lead. The 14th point came on a nice spike by Stump.

A dink by Kim Forsyth enabled Lyman to regain the serve without giving up a point and Stump came on to serve the final point with a nice save by Reis keeping the rally alive.

"We will play 100 percent better against Lake Brantley," Griffin said. "We had two good matches with them (Brantley) during the season and we can beat them if we get it together. It will depend a lot on which team is up for it."

Five Sanford Gymnasts Move On

Sanford Gymnastics traveled to Orlando this past weekend for the Class III Sectional Gymnastics Meet at Brown's Gym. The following girls participated for Sanford: Sheri James, Camilla Kennedy, Jennifer Kopp, Shannon Wilcoxson, Tracy Kalecl, Kimatha Kelly, Shari Siegrist, Cherie Van Camp, Shannon Raynard, Nika Lorman and Mary Buggs.

The girls had to get an all-around score of 29.0 or better in order to advance to the next meet which will be held later this month in Tampa.

These girls qualified for the next meet: Shari Siegrist (32.15), Cherie Van Camp (31.75), Sheri James (30.85), Shannon Wilcoxson (30.40) and Kimatha Kelly (34.55).

Posey Dismisses Lawrence, Debose, Tanner

As if the heartbreaking, three-overtime defeat to DeLand wasn't enough to ruin Sanford's Fighting Seminoles' weekend, coach Jerry Posey announced some more bad news for the Tribe Tuesday when he dismissed three players from the team.

Senior Tim Lawrence along with juniors Bryan Debose and Mike Tanner were all dropped from the squad for breaking training rules before Friday's game against DeLand.

"We felt the severity of the problem was to the extent that they should be dismissed," said Posey, who would not disclose what training rule was broken.

All three will be missed. Lawrence was the offensive back of the week for the past three weeks and rushed for 79 yards and four TDs in the loss to DeLand. Debose has been one of the Tribe's leading tacklers all year while Tanner has just been coming into this own on defense, according to Posey.

Rams, Patriots Tune Up For Districts, Sweep Foes

The Lake Mary and Lake Brantley swim teams tuned up for next week's district meet by sweeping to easy victories over their opponents Tuesday. Lake Mary's boys rolled past Eustis, 107-44, while the Lady Rams doubled the score on Eustis, 100-50. Lake Brantley's boys sailed to a 110-35 victory over Apopka and the Lady Patriots cruised to a 113-46 triumph.

The district meet, which includes Five Star and Metro Conference teams, gets under way next Thursday at the Sharidan Aquatic Club in Longwood with the diving competition at 5 p.m. The swimming competition starts on Friday at 5 with the swimming finals slated for Saturday night at 7:30. The Five Star-Metro district is considered the strongest in the state with perennial powerhouse Winter Park favored to go all the way again.

Eight different performers for Lake Mary's boys team took first places Tuesday against Eustis and both relay teams also won. Trey Siebold won the 200 freestyle with a time of 2:10.59 and other first places for the Rams included, Todd Stebbins' 2:26.95 in the 200 individual medley, Scott Wise's 1:01.83 in the 100 fly, Richard Kurtz' 58.05 in the 100 free, Mark Kramer's 6:12.95 in the 500 free, Kyle Kilger's 1:07.22 in the 100 backstroke, Brian Cook's 1:13.49 in the 100 breaststroke and Mark Klein's 1:54.95 points in the diving competition. Tim Orange was second in the 50 free at 25.43.

The 200 medley relay team of Stebbins, Cook, Wise and Kurtz won with a time of 1:57.89 while the 400 free relay team of Stebbins, Kurtz, Siebold and Wise won with a time of 3:50.54.

For the Lady Rams, Sheri Clayton, Amy Maher and Teresa Prince won two events each. Clayton won the 200 individual medley at 2:30.65 and she also won the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:48.35. Maher came in first in the 500 free at 27.62 and in the 100 fly at 1:10.84. Prince won the 100 free with a time of 1:03.27 and the 100 back at 1:16.66.

Other first places for the Lady Rams included, Kelly McKeel's 2:20.63 in the 200 free, Sherry Purkerson's 1:19.68 in the 100 breaststroke and Kandi Kilger's 95.4 points in the diving competition.

Lake Mary also won both relays as the team of Prince, Purkerson, Clayton and Maher won the 200 medley relay at 2:08.81 and the team of Shelly Orange, Kim Boden, Claire Pittman and McKeel won the 400 free relay at 4:38.55.

Lake Mary's boys team ended the regular season with a 11-2 record while the girls were 7-6.

Denny Named NL Cy Young Winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Using a closing 13-1 surge to replace Steve Carlton as the undisputed ace of the Philadelphia Phillies' staff, crafty right-hander John Denny today was named the runaway winner to succeed Carlton as recipient of the National League Cy Young Award.

The recognition as the league's premier pitcher had added meaning for the 30-year-old Denny because he was coming off the most disappointing season in his 9-year career in the majors.

UPI's National League Comeback Player of the Year, Denny posted a 19-6 mark and a 2.37 ERA in hurling the Phillies to the NL crown in 1983. In 1982, Denny was 0-2 with Philadelphia after being acquired from Cleveland, where he was 6-11 with a 5.01 ERA.

Baseball

Denny, who led the NL in wins and finished second in ERA this year, received 20 of a possible 24 first-place votes and finished with 103 points. Finishing second, with two first-place votes and 61 points, was Cincinnati right-hander Mario Soto, who led the NL with 18 complete games while posting a 17-13 record. New York Mets' reliever Jesse Orosco (13-7, 1.47 ERA) placed third with 19 points and Montreal's Steve Rogers received 15 points for fourth, with each earning one first-place ballot.

When Denny dropped a 3-1 decision to Cincinnati on July 8, he was struggling with a 6-5 record and the Phillies were treading water at 38-37. Denny then ripped off a 7-game winning streak over the next five weeks, shook off a loss to Los Angeles Aug. 28 and led Philadelphia's pennant surge with a 6-0 September.

Also receiving votes were Larry McWilliams of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia reliever Al Holland, Atlanta's Craig McMurtry, Bob Welch of Los Angeles, Houston's Nolan Ryan and Chicago relief pitcher Lee Smith.

Carter Upstages Sampson

Tuesday night's game at Indianapolis was billed as a duel between the 7-foot-4 Sampson and the 6-11 Stipanovich, the first two players selected in the NBA draft.

But it was Carter, a 6-5 guard drafted way back on the second round in 1981, who provided the big baskets as the Indiana Pacers pulled away in the second half to a 116-108 triumph over the Houston Rockets.

Carter, acquired from Los Angeles in 1981 for a third-round choice, tied his career high with 42 points, twice as many as Sampson, to give Indiana its first victory in three games. Sampson won his statistical matchup with Stipanovich, grabbing 18 rebounds and shooting 8-for-15 from the floor. Stipanovich hit on 5-of-12 shots en route to a 12-point, 7-rebound performance.

76ers 99, Bulls 91

Julius Erving scored 13 of his 22 points in the last six minutes as the 76ers remained unbeaten, but Bulls' coach Kevin Loughery protested the game because of what he termed the "incompetency of the officials." The NBA's regular referees have locked out in a labor dispute with the league. The game was worked by Bill Jones and Tommy Wood, who officiated in the NBA several years ago before being dropped.

"I don't like to talk about officials but we've got to get the other guys back," Loughery said. "These two had no control over the game."

Nets 125, Cavaliers 113

Buck Williams scored 12 of his 18 points in the second half to lead seven New Jersey players in double figures. Leading 78-76 with four minutes left in the third quarter, New Jersey closed with a 16-3 spurt.

Pistons 106, Bucks 93

Kelly Tripucka scored 23 of his 39 points in the second half and John Long finished with 21 to lead Detroit. The Pistons outscored Milwaukee 11-2 in the first four minutes of the third quarter to erase a 51-48 halftime deficit.

Hawks 95, Bullets 92

Dan Roundfield scored 17 points and Scott Hastings added 15 rebounds to spark the Hawks. Atlanta went ahead to stay at 90-88 with 2:42 left when Dominique Wilkins hit two free throws.

Trail Blazers 126, Spurs 124

Jim Paxson's long jumper with 47 seconds left lifted Portland in a shootout. Calvin Natt led five Trail Blazers in double figures with 26 points while Gene Banks led San Antonio with 27 points, including 11 in the fourth period.

Kings 116, Warriors 114

Diving Accident Paralyzes Former Twins Pitcher

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Doctors said they would decide today whether to operate on former Minnesota Twins and Southern Cal pitcher Pete Redfern, who is paralyzed from the neck down after striking his head on the ocean floor.

Redfern, 29, severely injured his spinal cord Saturday night when he dived into less than two feet of water while helping a friend tie up his sailboat. The original diagnosis was a severed spinal cord but Redfern's friend and lawyer, Jay Jaffe, said Tuesday the cord was severely damaged but not severed.

Redfern is in the intensive care unit of Hoag Memorial Hospital, and Jaffe said doctors told him they would decide today whether or not to perform surgery.

Jaffe said Redfern was in good spirits and experienced some sensation Tuesday in an arm and a leg where he had felt nothing since the accident.

There is, however, still no motor function, Jaffe said, and "The doctor told me that he felt there would be a very slim chance of any recovery, any motor function, returning."

Redfern, who is married and has a young son, was with friends Saturday night on Balboa Island when the accident occurred, Jaffe said. He apparently dived into water only one or two feet deep.

"It was totally deceptive," Jaffe said of the water's depth. The attorney said he would investigate the possibility of a lawsuit.

Redfern started on USC's baseball team and was Minors' No. 1 pick in the secondary phase of the 1975 draft. He pitched in parts of seven seasons for the Twins with a best year of 7-3 in 1979. After the 1982 season he underwent elbow surgery and the Twins cut him last spring.

The Los Angeles Dodgers signed him as a free agent at midseason and sent him to their Triple A club in Albuquerque, N.M. Redfern got his release notice from the Dodgers Saturday, the same day as the accident.

Gus Williams scored a game-high 31 points and Seattle notched the game's final 11 points to rally from a 93-92 deficit. Walter Davis led Phoenix with 18 points, followed by Rory White with a career-high 17.

Mavericks 130, Nuggets 124

Rolando Blackman scored 10 of his 22 points in the final eight minutes and Mark Aguirre added 39 to lead the Mavericks. Kiki Vandeweghe had 28 points, Alex English 27 and Dan Issel 22 for Denver.

UPI Names Hemond Top A.L. Executive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roland Hemond, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, has been named major league baseball's Executive of the Year by United Press International for building the club into an American League division pennant winner.

In a balloting of 32 UPI baseball correspondents from across the nation, Hemond received 20 votes to win the award in a landslide. Hank Peters, general manager of the world champion Baltimore Orioles, finished second with eight votes and Pat Gillick, general manager of the Toronto Blue Jays, was third with two votes.

The 54-year-old Hemond, the lone carryover from the Bill Veckel regime, made two significant moves as a general manager, beginning in December of last year, that turned the White Sox into AL West pennant winners this season. He was instrumental in the club's signing of free agent pitcher Floyd Bannister and he also engineered the trade that brought second baseman Julio Cruz to the team.

"The way I was treated by Roland and everyone else, it was such class, it sold me," said Bannister, who posted a 16-10 record after a shaky start and was instrumental in the White Sox' second half surge to the division title.

A shrewd judge of talent who goes about his business in a low-key fashion, the 54-year-old Hemond swung a mid-season deal for Cruz that many baseball observers felt was the turning point of the campaign for the White Sox.

Florida-Georgia — Do Or Die

Football Roundup

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The magnitude of this weekend's Georgia-Florida contest — from his team's perspective — is not lost on Gator Coach Charley Pell.

"This is a big, big game," Pell said Tuesday at his weekly news conference.

Having lost last Saturday at Auburn in a game that ended with hurt feelings and flying accusations, the 10th-ranked Gators are faced with a do-or-die situation this week.

If they beat No. 4 Georgia in their annual meeting in Jacksonville Saturday afternoon, the Gators are still in the hunt for a share of the Southeastern Conference title.

If they lose, the Gators will be denied the title for the 51st consecutive year.

In Georgia, Florida is taking on a team that has lost only one of its last 30 conference games.

"In the last 30 SEC games, only one coach has been able to say, 'We've beaten Georgia,'" said Pell, alluding to former Auburn Coach Doug Barfield. "Take the frustration of those 29 coaches, quadruple it and that's the way I feel about not beating them."

Pell has lost to Vince Dooley and Georgia each of his four years in Gainesville, including last year's 44-0 Bulldog rout.

Georgia enters the game 7-0-1 overall and 4-0 in the SEC. The Bulldogs and Auburn are the only unbeaten conference teams, while Alabama, Tennessee and Florida all have just one loss apiece.

Florida is 6-1-1 overall, 3-1 in the SEC.

"This is a different Georgia team," said Pell. "Last year, they had the greatest running back in college football (Herschel Walker). Now, all of their people are involved in their offense."

"Before, it was 'Stop Herschel,' but now there's no one player to concentrate on."

After the loss to Auburn last week, Pell accused Tiger Coach Pat Dye and his players of intimidating the game officials. Pell also questioned several calls by the officials.

Pell later offered an apology for his post-game outburst. On Tuesday, Pell said he talked with Dye about the charges and counter-charges following the game.

In a brief statement, Pell said, "Both of us agreed we should take the lead in putting this experience aside and developing a relationship so all future games are kept in perspective and played on the field on Saturdays."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — George Allen, an assistant under George Halas in the 1960's, Monday night called the football great a "tireless worker" and a "tremendous leader."

"One of the characteristics of my coaching career was hard work, preparation and total commitment," said Allen, coach of the Arizona Wranglers of the U.S. Football League. "That's how George Halas was. No detail was too small."

Halas, the founder and owner of the Chicago Bears and an innovative giant of pro football, died Monday night at age 88.

Allen, one of football's top coaches, remembered Halas as "a tireless worker who always outworked everybody on the staff, even at an advanced age."

Allen left Halas' staff after the 1965 season for a head coaching position with the Los Angeles Rams and later coached the Washington Redskins to a Super Bowl berth.

Last season, Allen coached the Chicago Blitz of the USFL before moving to Arizona after a change of ownership in the off-season.

Allen praised Halas as a football pioneer.

"Without him, maybe the NFL wouldn't have gotten off the ground," Allen said. "He sold tickets, he was the business manager, coach, owner, he did everything. He was a tremendous leader who was always encouraging others when they were down."

CHICAGO (UPI) — Quotes from George Halas — founder, owner, president and coach of the Chicago Bears:

On winning in the NFL — "Never go to bed a loser. Look, you can have a session with your girlfriend. What's that last you? Twenty minutes, half an hour? Or you can go out and get stiff with the boys. A few hours, right? But to win a game in the National Football League! That lasts a whole week!"

On coaching — "When things go bad, nobody should be blamed but the head coach — me."

On sports management — "The bottom line is to avoid fiscal insanity. The game will always be good. To me this game is great and it can become greater and the game itself will continue to be great unless fiscal insanity prevails."

On his work ethic — "Nothing is work unless you'd rather be doing something else."

On overexposure of football on television — "If they gripe about it too much, they can always turn that little button. For some reason (football) has a special attraction for them, so they continue to watch it. And as long as they watch it, there's no oversaturation."

Holiday Feast For 4 Captures Traditional Spirit

Build a holiday feast around stuffed Cornish hens

Traditionally, holiday time has meant a turkey with all the trimmings and the whole family seated around the dinner table to celebrate and share in the festivities. But for the growing number of smaller households, big holiday dinners are often too large for their needs with days and days of leftovers afterwards.

So, here's a scaled-down menu for four that's full of all that wonderful spirit... plus elegant eating!

MENU
Holiday Hens for Four
 Easy Asparagus Elegante Crunchy Baked Tomatoes
 Tossed Salad Warm Demi Bread Loaves
 White Wine or Cider
 Peanut Butter Pumpkin Pie
 Tea or Coffee

Instead of a big turkey, this menu features four Cornish hens as a perfect "no-leftovers" alternative. The hens are first stuffed with a savory mixture of bread cubes, instant onion soup mix, peanuts, raisins and a dash of ginger. Because peanuts contain protein, fiber, niacin and other nutrients, they give the stuffing a nutritious boost... as well as a delicious crunch. In just 45 minutes, the hens bake to a juicy tenderness, filling the house with a tantalizing aroma. Instant cream of chicken flavor soup mix, with its perfect blend of seasonings, combines easily with water and pan drippings for a wonderful no-fuss gravy to serve with the stuffed hens.

For accompanying vegetables, Easy Asparagus Elegante and Crunchy Baked Tomatoes are colorful and tasty additions to the holiday dinner table. Hot cooked asparagus spears go festive with an elegantly easy sauce of instant cream of mushroom soup mix, white wine and parsley. Tomato halves, with a tempting topping of chopped peanuts, Cheddar cheese, bread crumbs and spices, bake for just 15 minutes in a 2 1/2-quart glass-ceramic casserole that is pretty enough to double as a serving dish. A crispy tossed salad and warm bread round out the main course. And the table setting, with a floral centerpiece, candles and your best dinnerware, makes for a stunning and inviting feast for the eyes.

For dessert, nothing but pumpkin pie will do! And this pie teams pumpkin and spices with creamy peanut butter for a taste of tradition with a delightful twist. This pie can be made ahead, baked and frozen and served all in the same attractive glass-ceramic pie plate. And leftovers — if any — can be wrapped and frozen in individual slices for a quick dessert later on.

So, remember, even the smallest celebrations can be full of festive tradition. After all, the holiday spirit isn't measured by looking around the table and counting heads, but rather by looking within ourselves and counting our blessings.

HOLIDAY HENS FOR FOUR

- 1 envelope instant onion soup mix
- 1 3/4 cups water
- 2 cups unseasoned cube stuffing mix
- 1/2 cup chopped roasted peanuts
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 4 Cornish hens (1 to 1 1/2 lbs. ea.)
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 2 envelopes instant cream of chicken flavor soup mix

Preheat oven to 375°F.
 In medium bowl, blend instant onion soup mix with 3/4 cup water; stir in stuffing mix, peanuts, raisins and ginger. Stuff hens with mixture; secure opening with skewers or wooden toothpicks. Place hens in shallow baking dish; brush with butter. Bake 45 minutes or until hens are tender. Remove hens to serving platter and keep warm; reserve 3 tablespoons drippings.

In medium saucepan, blend reserved drippings, remaining 1 cup water and instant cream of chicken flavor soup mix; heat through. Serve with hens and stuffing. Makes about 4 servings.

EASY ASPARAGUS ELEGANTE

- 2 envelopes instant cream of mushroom soup mix
- 1 cup boiling water
- 2 tablespoons dry white wine
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Hot cooked asparagus or broccoli spears
 In small bowl, blend instant cream of mushroom soup mix, water, wine and parsley. Serve over hot asparagus. Makes about 4 servings.

CRUNCHY BAKED TOMATOES

- 2 large tomatoes
- Peanut oil
- Salt
- 1/2 cup chopped roasted peanuts
- 1/4 cup sharp Cheddar cheese, grated

- 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 teaspoon basil leaves, crumbled

Dash cayenne pepper
 Preheat oven to 350°F.
 Wash tomatoes and cut in half crosswise. Lightly brush outer skin with oil. Place cut-side up in a glass-ceramic baking dish. Sprinkle cut-side with salt; set aside. In small bowl, combine peanuts, cheese, bread crumbs, melted butter, basil and pepper. Evenly spoon cheese mixture on top of each tomato. Bake 15 minutes or until tomatoes are tender. Makes 4 servings.

PEANUT BUTTER PUMPKIN PIE

Pastry for single-crust pie
 3 eggs
 1 can (16 oz.) pumpkin
 1/2 cup light brown sugar
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice*
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup (1/2 pt.) light cream or half and half
 Preheat oven to 350°F.
 Press pastry into 10-inch glass-ceramic pie/quiche dish or 9-inch deep-dish pie plate; set aside.
 In large bowl, beat eggs. Add pumpkin, sugars, peanut butter, spices and salt; beat well. Gradually add light cream, beating until blended. Pour into prepared crust and bake 65 to 70 minutes or until pie tests done. Let cool.

To serve, garnish, if desired, with whipped cream. Makes about 8 servings.
 *Substitution: Use 1/2 teaspoon each ground cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger and allspice.

HOLIDAY TIPS

- A scaled-down celebration means you can afford to splurge on otherwise "too expensive" appetizers like shrimp cocktail or caviar. You can also sample small pieces of exotic and unusual cheeses bought from a local supermarket or gourmet shop.
- Instead of using a big dining room table, a coffee table or kitchen table (moved into the living room) can be just the right size for a cozy holiday meal for four.
- No matter what the table size, make it a stunner! A floral centerpiece, an array of scented candles, your best china, stemware, silver, tablecloth and napkins all up to the festive spirit. Try folding the napkins into a different shape as illustrated:
 1. With right side down, fold into quarters. Turn over with ornamented point up.
 2. Fold back left and right corners.
 3. Pleat softly and fold bottom point up 2". Slip on napkin ring.
- Scoop cranberry sauce into four small, individual glass dishes or cups. Use mini cookie cutters or molds to shape butter pats, put on bread plates just before dinner is served.

Farm-Raised Catfish New Space-Age Food Product

"Compared to other meat proteins, catfish are efficient food converters," states Alan Yeager, a fisheries biologist and live production manager for Country Skillet Catfish, a division of ConAgra.

"It takes a catfish farmer just 1.5 to 1.75 pounds of feed to put a pound of meat on the catfish. By comparison, poultry requires more than a two to one conversion ratio, while beef demands 8 to 12 pounds for each pound of weight gain," he said.

"The catfish is an outstanding example of the results of today's space-age food technology," Yeager says. "It is an excellent tasting fish with a mild, delicate flavor; yet it is high in protein, low in calories and cholesterol. It matches the American trend to lighter, more healthy eating, and has no objectionable 'fish' odor, one of the reasons consumers hesitate to prepare fish at home," he added.

The following recipes show the versatility of the new farm-raised catfish. Broccoli Stuffed Catfish Rolls fit in with the trend to lighter, more healthy eating patterns by combining the delicate, sweet-tasting catfish fillets with colorful broccoli spears and cheese, in an herb-seasoned tomato sauce.

BROCCOLI STUFFED CATFISH ROLLS

6 Country Skillet Catfish fillets (about 1 1/2 lb.)
 1/2 cup (1 1/2 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
 1 package (10 oz.) frozen broccoli spears, cooked and drained
 1/4 cup sliced green onion
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 1 can (16 oz.) whole peeled tomatoes, chopped
 1/2 teaspoon crushed oregano leaves
 1 bay leaf
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 Place catfish skin side up; top each with cheese and broccoli. Roll up fillets and secure with toothpicks. In large skillet, saute green onion and garlic in oil until onion is transparent. Add tomatoes, oregano, bay leaf and pepper. Heat to boiling. Add catfish. Simmer 15 minutes or until fish is flaky, basting occasionally. Remove catfish from skillet. Cook sauce until reduced to 1 1/2 cups, remove bay leaf. Serve with catfish. Makes 6 servings.

CATFISH KABOBS

2 tablespoons lime juice
 1/4 cup grated lime peel
 2 tablespoons dry white wine
 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1/4 teaspoon crushed tarragon leaves
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 pound Country Skillet Catfish fillets, cut into 1-inch pieces
 2 medium zucchini, cut into 1-inch slices
 2 fresh or frozen thawed ears of corn, cut into 2-inch pieces
 8 cherry tomatoes

In shallow glass dish, combine lime juice, lime peel, wine, oil, garlic, tarragon and pepper. Add catfish turning to coat all sides. Marinate, covered, in refrigerator 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally. Remove catfish. Drain. Reserve marinade. In medium saucepan, cook zucchini and corn in boiling water 4 minutes. Drain. On four metal skewers, alternate catfish, zucchini and corn. On broiler rack sprayed with non-stick cooking spray, arrange skewers. Broil 6 inches from heat 12 minutes, turning and brushing with reserved marinade occasionally. Add cherry tomatoes. Broil 3 minutes or until fish is flaky. Makes 4 servings.

CATFISH GUMBO

3/4 cup chopped celery
 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 1 can (16 oz.) whole peeled tomatoes, chopped
 1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped okra, thawed and drained
 1/2 cup water
 1 bay leaf
 1/4 teaspoon crushed thyme leaves
 1/2 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 4 Country Skillet Catfish steaks, quartered (about 1 pound)

In medium saucepan, saute celery, green pepper, onion and garlic in oil until green pepper is tender-crisp. Add tomatoes, okra, water, bay leaf, thyme hot pepper sauce and pepper. Heat to boiling. Simmer, uncovered, 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add catfish. Simmer 10 minutes or until fish is flaky. Remove bay leaf. Makes 4 servings.

Turkey: The Second Time Around

CHICAGO (UPI) — What does a famous meat chef do with leftover turkey?

Chef Hans Aeschbacher, of Lawry's The Prime Rib, makes turkey hash. He says it takes 10 minutes to prepare and 20 minutes to cook.

He also makes a fancier turkey stuffing than most people.

CHEF HANS' APRICOT-SAUSAGE STUFFING

1 cup drained, diced, canned apricot and their syrup
 1/4 ounce golden raisins
 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 4 tablespoons butter
 1 medium onion, peeled and minced
 1 stalk celery, finely chopped
 8 ounces (half a one pound loaf) day old whole wheat bread cut into half inch croutons
 1/2 cup water
 1 pound bulk pork sausage
 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
 1 teaspoon fresh thyme (or 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme)

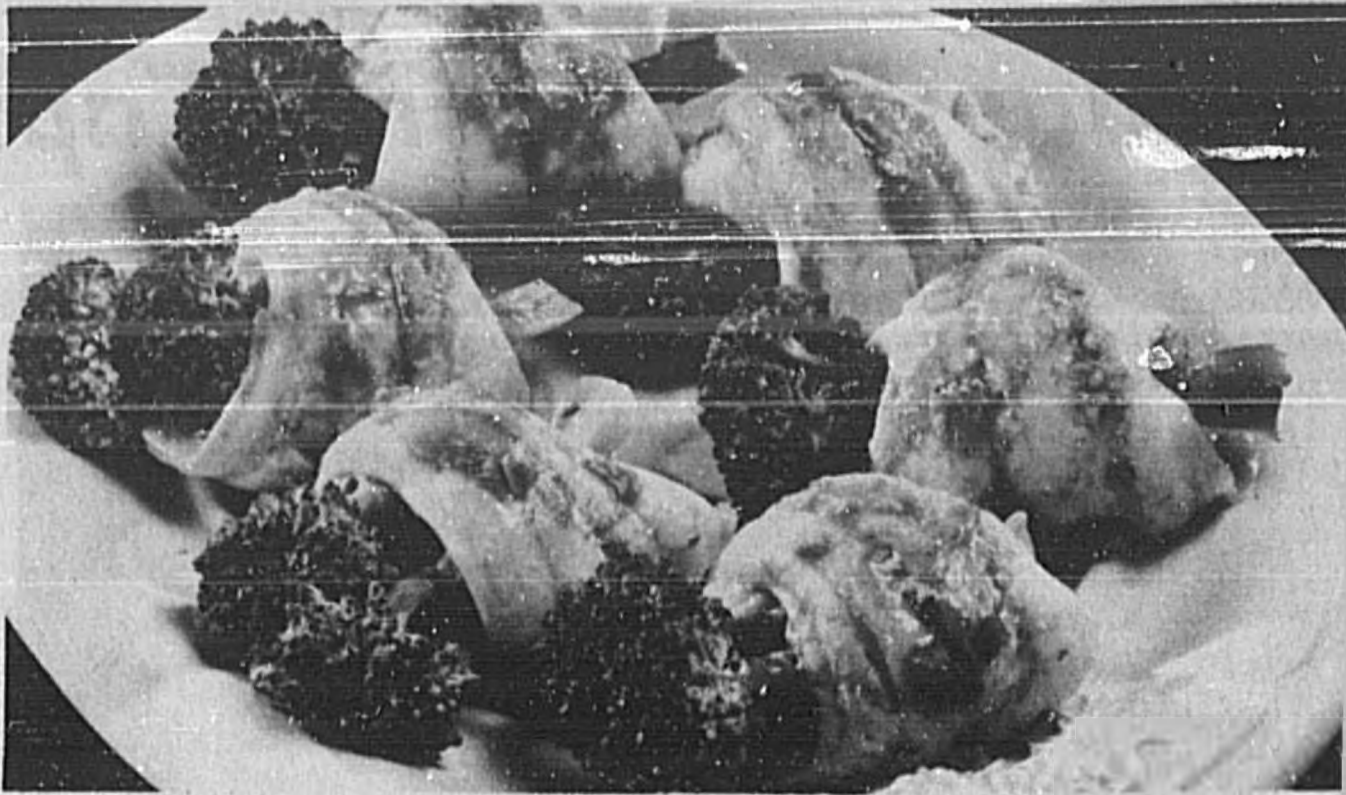

Salt and pepper to taste
 Cut apricots into half-inch pieces. In a small bowl combine apricots, raisins and walnuts and cover with the apricot syrup to marinate while you prepare the stuffing.

In a medium skillet, melt butter over moderate heat. Add onion and celery and saute until soft and golden, stirring occasionally. Scrape into a large bowl; add croutons and water and toss briefly. In the same skillet cook the sausage, stirring to break up into small pieces, until golden brown. Strain off fat. Add sausage to croutons, toss lightly. Add parsley, thyme, pepper, salt and the marinated fruit with its liquid. Toss to mix.

Bake in a buttered, covered dish alongside the turkey until heated through, about 30 minutes, or stuff it loosely into the turkey after the bird has cooked one hour.

TURKEY HASH

4 tablespoons red chicken fat or butter
 1 large onion, peeled and finely chopped
 5 small boiled potatoes, peeled, cooled and diced
 1 large green pepper, stemmed, seeded and diced
 Pinch of finely minced rosemary, fresh or dried oned salt and seasoned pepper
 3 1/2 cups diced, cooked turkey, light or dark meat or a combination
 1/4 cup turkey gravy or, if you've run out, gravy made from a mix
 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
 4 poached eggs (optional)
 Melt the chicken fat or butter in a skillet and saute the onion until golden. Add the diced potatoes and green pepper. Season with a little crushed rosemary and seasoned salt and pepper, to taste. Mix in diced turkey and cook gently five minutes. Add gravy and cook down a few minutes longer. Quickly fold in chopped parsley. Serve immediately, topping each serving with a poached egg, if desired. Serves 4.

Apples Add Flavor To Side Dishes

Johnny Apple Seed did us all a favor when he planted those apple seeds across our country. The apple has had a prominent place in our American food heritage. Hardly a cookbook can be found without recipes for apples as a dessert or accompaniment.

This column will present recipes that combine apples with other foods that are native to America, namely the cranberry and squash.

Apples are available year round; however, at the time the fruit is in season, it's quality will be the highest and the price will be the lowest.

CRAN-APPLE CRISP

- 2 cups raw cranberries
- 4 cups sliced, peeled apples
- 3/4 cup sugar

Topping:

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup rolled oats
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine cranberries, apples and sugar in a 9-inch baking dish; mix lightly and spread evenly. Set aside.

Microwave at 100% power the butter in a mixing bowl until soft, 30-50 seconds. Blend in brown sugar; mix in flour, oats, and cinnamon until crumbly. Crumble over cranberries and apples. Microwave at 100% power, uncovered, for 10-12 minutes or until fruits are tender. Serve with whipped cream.

FALL FRUIT-FILLED SQUASH RINGS

- 2-3 whole acorn squash
 - 1 can whole-berry cranberry sauce or use sauce made from fresh berries
 - 1 cup chopped nuts
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- Wash squash, pierce deeply several times with fork. Place on paper towel in oven. Microwave at 100% power for 13-15 minutes or until squash feels soft and yields to the touch. Let stand 10 minutes. Mix remaining ingredients in a 1-quart casserole.

Microwave at 100% power for 3-6 minutes or until thickened. Stir twice during cooking. Cool. Cut squash into 1-inch rings. Discard seeds. Place rings in single layer in 2 12x8-inch baking dishes. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 4-7 minutes or until. Remove to serving plate. Fill with cran-apple mixture.

Here is a wonderful complement to a roast pork meal:

SPICED APPLE RELISH

- 6 cups chopped apples
 - 1/2 cups chopped onions
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1/4 cup raisins
 - 1/4 cup water
 - 1/4 teaspoon clove
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- Combine all ingredients in a 2-quart casserole. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 10-15 minutes or until apples are soft. Stir twice during cooking.

APPLE PUDDING

- 2 tart apples
 - 1 cup walnuts
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 4 tablespoons flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Peel, core and quarter the apples. Chop the nuts and dice the apples. Beat the eggs, add the sugar, salt, flour, baking powder, cinnamon, and lemon juice. Stir in the apples and nuts. Mix well. Pour into a buttered 8-inch square baking dish. Shield corners with aluminum foil. Microwave on 100% power for 8-10 minutes or until the sides draw away from the dish and the center is firm. Serve warm with whipped cream dusted with nutmeg.

Cook's Almanac
International Cuisine Calls For Spices

By Jacqueline Heriteau
Spices and herbs add special flavorings to any dish, a truism learned centuries ago. Among the most important herbs and spices to have handy for most modern and international cooking are: cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, thyme, bay, parsley, cloves (whole and ground), marjoram, tarragon, celery seed, onion, garlic, oregano, basil, cumin, sage, cardamom, curry, turmeric, coriander, cumin, ground ginger, fresh ginger, soy sauce, paprika, cayenne, black pepper, coriander, sea or kosher salt.

Another flavoring source is vinegar or vin aigre, French for sour wine. However, its early uses tended to be more medicinal. For example, the most popular disinfectants in England and in Colonial America were herbal vinegars. Scented with many different garden herbs, they were used to ward off plague germs, to perfume sickrooms, and to improve poor ventilation. In the seventeenth century, vinegars were used to soak sponges which were to be sniffed if you felt faint. The heads of walking canes had compartments to hold vinegar-soaked sponges. During epidemics men and women washed their hands and faces in vinegar and sprinkled vinegar over linens and bedclothes.

In time, these aromatic vinegars went into vinaigrettes which Victorian ladies wore on chains around their necks. Those were the days when ladies, laced to their chins, fainted easily, and vinegar was used as a resuscitant. Herb vinegars were also used to scent the bath. Here is an example from "The Toilet of Flora," written in the eighteenth century:

Handful of rosemary, wormwood, lavender and mint to be put into a jar with a gallon of strong vinegar, keep near a fire for four days, strain, an ounce of powder camphor added, and then bottled for pleasure.

Another very basic seasoning is garlic. It has attracted more attention, perhaps than any other herb. Throughout history a garlic diet has been promoted as the solution to everything from hardened arteries to wounds. Here's a partial list: aging skin, asthma, bladder disease, boils, bronchitis, cancer, cholera, colds, colitis, constipation, cramps, croup, diabetes, diarrhea, diphtheria, dysentery, ear inflammation, encephalitis, eye inflammation, flatulence, fluid retention, gallstones, high blood pressure, indigestion, insect bites, intestinal worms, kidney dysfunction, kidney stones, laryngitis, malaria, nervous tension, neuralgia, nicotine poisoning, paralysis, pimples, pleurisy, pneumonia, poison antidote, rheumatism, snake bite, tonsillitis, toothache, tuberculosis, tumors, ulcers, whooping cough, worms and wounds.

Garlic was considered an energy food by Pliny and Herodotus, and the slaves who built the pyramids are said to have lived on it and onions. Athletes ate garlic to stay fit. Muhammed, we are told, had high regard for it as an antidote for snake bites.

Meanwhile, both dried and fresh herbs are used in cooking. The rule of thumb is 1/2 teaspoon dried herb equals the flavoring capacity of one teaspoon of the minced and packed fresh herb.

Chicken Supreme Low In Sodium

Use of fresh fruit juices and herbs and spices increase the flavors of our favorite dishes without the need for added salt. Many are watching their sodium intake yet want dishes that are not flat in taste. A lime chicken dish includes scallions and garlic for added zest.

- LIME CHICKEN SUPREME
- 1 chicken (3 pounds), cut in pieces
 - 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 - 2 tablespoons unsalted butter or margarine
 - 1/4 teaspoon minced garlic (2 large cloves)
 - 1/2 cup sliced scallions
 - 1 teaspoon flour
 - 1/4 cup water
 - 3 tablespoons freshly squeezed lime juice (about 2 limes)
 - 1/4 teaspoon sugar
 - 1 lime, thinly sliced
- Wash chicken and pat dry. In large skillet, heat oil. Brown chicken pieces well on all sides, turning often. It will take about 30 minutes over medium heat for well-cooked chicken. When chicken is tender remove from skillet to serving platter; keep warm. Pour fat from skillet. Melt butter in skillet, saute garlic and scallions until tender. Stir in flour; cook 1 minute. Gradually add water, lime juice and sugar; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Pour sauce over chicken. Garnish with fresh lime slices. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Cook Of The Week

Her Apple Pie A Country Fair Favorite

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

Sometimes she even amazes herself. Monica Marcarelli is a financial analyst at Stromberg-Carlson in Lake Mary and the mother of two very active boys, Brian, 10, and Paul, 5. Monica is such a good homemaker, her Winter Springs home always looks like a picture in a "good housekeeping book." Then there is night school which she attends at Seminole Community College where she is majoring in finance.

Still, she finds time to enjoy her kitchen and the fruits of her labors there.

Monica grew up in New York City, graduating from St. Jean Baptiste High School in Manhattan. "My mother was Slovak, and my father was Polish," Monica states. "I guess that makes me a Polish Slovak!"

She learned to be a good cook at her mother's side by assisting. Then when her mom took a parttime job, Monica found it easy to start the "pork chops" or whatever, so her family's evening meal was "on its way" by the time the lady of the house came home.

When Monica moved to California in 1965 (where she lived for the next nine years), she paid a visit to the famous Knott's Berry Farm. "What a fantastic place," Monica recalls. There were the usual things that an amusement park has to offer including a parachute jump and a western show complete with a train robbery. "The real treat came, though, when you got to the various restaurants." Naturally, they sold the jams and jellies that put them on the map, and lots of homemade candies.

While Monica lived in California, she obtained a recipe for "a country fair favorite," School House Apple Pie, which came from the Knott's recipe collection. Says this week's cook, "This is my favorite recipe — I treasure it because it is the best apple pie you'll ever eat."

Monica is also sharing a recipe from a file card in her collection that is yellow with age. It is a seasonally good recipe for Raisin Nut Bread. This is perfect for preparing for your own family, and it makes a nice gift, too.

Do you ever get frustrated with what to do with the poultry in your life? Monica has a fantastic way of sprucing it up a bit. Try her Chicken With Pineapple.

Monica Marcarelli "spruces up" chicken with pineapple for a delightfully different twist.

Bake pie in preheated 350-degree oven for 40 minutes or until apples are cooked.
*Brush unbaked pie shell with three tablespoons apricot preserves.

RAISIN NUT BREAD

2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 cup raisins
1 egg
1 cup evaporated milk, diluted
3 tablespoons melted shortening
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add nuts and raisins. Beat egg. Add milk and shortening. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only until flour is moistened. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS

2 medium onions, chopped
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 lbs. ground lean beef
3 slices fresh bread
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup beef bouillon
1/2 cup milk or cream
2 tablespoons sherry (optional)

Fry onions in butter until golden brown. Soak bread in milk. Combine meat with fried onions, soaked bread, eggs, salt and pepper. Roll into 1-inch balls and fry in butter or oil until evenly browned. Shake pan often to keep balls round. Remove meat balls, add flour to fat and blend. Add bouillon and milk, cook and stir until sauce is smooth and thick. Add sherry and correct seasoning if necessary. Add meatballs, cover and simmer for 15 min. Yield: 6 servings.

CARBONNADE OF BEEF

1 cup dry white wine or beef bouillon
1 10-oz. package frozen cut corn, cooked & drained
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 1/2 lbs. lean stewing beef, cut in 1 1/2-inch pieces
1 1/2 cups sliced onion
3 cups cooked rice
beef bouillon
1 lb. ripe, red tomatoes, peeled and sliced or 1 1-lb. can tomatoes, sliced pinch saffron
1/2 teaspoon brown sugar pinch cinnamon
salt and pepper to taste
Combine cooked rice and corn; set aside. Heat oil in skillet, add meat, brown well. Lift browned meat to 3-quart casserole. Lower heat under skillet, add onions, saute lightly; add onions to meat. Pour fat from skillet, add wine, heat and stir to loosen browned juices; pour over meat. Add tomatoes, saffron, brown sugar and cinnamon to casserole. Salt and pepper to taste. Cover; bake at 325 degrees for 1 1/2 to 2 hours until meat is tender. Remove casserole from oven, skim off fat. Add rice and corn; more wine if necessary to keep mixture moist. Cover; bake 30 minutes longer. Yield: 6 servings.

CHICKEN WITH PINEAPPLE

1 1/4-lb. roasting chicken
1/2 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 14 1/2-ounce can sliced pineapple
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons oil
1 large onion, sliced
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen peas chicken bouillon
salt and pepper
Cut chicken into serving pieces and coat with a mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Drain pineapple slices, reserving juice. Heat butter in a heavy skillet and brown pineapple lightly on both sides. Remove from skillet. Add oil and cook onion rings until golden. Remove onion, then brown chicken in the same fat. Place chicken and onion in a casserole dish. Measure pineapple juice and add enough chicken bouillon to make 2 cups, pour over chicken, season with salt and pepper and bake for about 30 min. in a 350 degree oven. Twenty minutes before serving add defrosted peas and pineapple slices. Yield: 4-6 servings.

SCHOOL HOUSE APPLE PIE

1 10-inch pie shell*
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon flour
6 cups peeled, cored and sliced green apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
Crumb Topping (recipe below)
Combine sugar, cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and flour in a large mixing bowl. Add apples, lemon juice and toss gently. Fill partially baked pie shell and dot with butter. Cover apples with crumb topping.

Crumb Topping

1/2 cup sugar
3/4 cup flour
1/2 cup butter
Mix sugar with flour and cut in butter until crumbly.

Seminar Set For Teenage Parents

The Junior Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., in conjunction with Central Florida Regional Hospital, Seminole Community College, and the Parent Resource Center, will present a seminar entitled "Positive Pointers for Teenage Parents."

The seminar will be held on Thursday, Nov. 10, at Central Florida Regional Hospital in the classroom. The seminar begins at 7:30 p.m. and there is no admission fee.

Two parenting professionals will make presentations. Mimi Hull, founder and director of Professional Parenting Consultants, will speak on child development, and Nancy Monaco will discuss how to avoid potentially dangerous stressful situations.

A spokesperson for the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, Inc., said that the seminar will be very informal, allowing the teenage parents a chance to ask important questions they may have. "There will be no lecturing or negativism. Just a chance for young parents to get some help." Babysitting and transportation will also be available.

Further information about the seminar is available from the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, Inc., 322-6184.

Registry Helps Adoptees, Parents Arrange Meeting

DEAR ABBY: What are your views on adopted children one day being able to meet their birth parents?

Dear Abby

Nineteen years ago my parents forced me to give up a baby girl for adoption because I was 16, unmarried and pregnant. I was very bitter at the time because I wanted to keep my daughter, but I realize that my parents did what they thought was best for me.

I am now a happily married mother of three, but my nightly prayer is to meet my first-born child. I have no desire to "surprise" her with a telephone call or an unexpected visit. I want to meet her only if she wants to meet me.

I heard that there is a national organization with whom birth parents and adopted children may register, and if all parties are agreeable to meeting, they may do so.

I am not a wealthy person, Abby, but I would gladly pay a fee. Thanks for any help you can give me.

MY NIGHTLY PRAYER

DEAR PRAYER: There is such an organization. It is: International Soundex Reunion Registry, P.O. Box 2312, Carson City, Nev. 89702.

I have checked the organization out and have found it to be a legitimate, non-profit corporation that provides this charitable, humanitarian service gratis. Contributions are welcome in order to keep the operation going, but no fee is charged for services.

For a registration form, write to the above address, and please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: I am having a formal debutante party and need to know if it's OK to send a copy of the guest list to the kids I've invited. They want to know who's coming so they won't mention the party in front of any of the kids who aren't invited. (They don't want to hurt their feelings.)

SMALL TOWN, USA

DEAR SMALL TOWN: It would be easier to smuggle down past a rooster than to hush up a formal debutante party in a small town. Moreover, we all need to learn how to handle rejection, so it's unwise to try to protect our friends from such inevitable slights.

DEAR ABBY: Although this is not a common problem, I hope you will help me. I am a 5-foot-10-inch woman who weighs 120 pounds, and I'm fed up with people telling me how "skinny" I am. I have been asked if I'm "anorexic," which I consider an extreme put-down because I most definitely am not!

No one would say to an overweight person, "Gee, you're fat!" I have never dieted to get thin — in fact, I have tried unsuccessfully to gain weight, and I am plain sick and tired of being picked on because I'm so thin. By the way, I'm in excellent health. Please give me a witty comeback to use when people tell me I am painfully thin.

THIN BUT HEALTHY

DEAR THIN: Those who would remind someone that he/she is fat, thin, short or tall are either woefully ignorant or brutally insensitive, or possibly both. So resist the desire to respond with wit and assure them that you are in excellent health, then quickly change the subject.

Girl Scouts Calendars

Damaris Bechir, left, Junior Scout Troop #333, Sanford, and Tremeka Stile, Brownie Troop #858, Sanford, give a sneak preview of the 1984 Girl Scout Calendar. Girl Scouts across the nation will be selling as the end of 1983 nears. The colorful wall and pocket-size calendars will go on sale on Nov. 4 and will be available until Dec. 5, for $1 each. Every troop receives 25 cents of the dollar to be used for camping trips, service projects and other troop activities. If no Girl Scout comes to your door, call the local Girl Scout office for a calendar.

Homemakers Set Holiday Showcase

The Seminole County Extension Homemakers will hold their annual Holiday Showcase on Friday, Nov. 4 at the Sanford Civic Center, 401 E. Seminole Blvd., Sanford, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

A 50 cent donation includes homemade cookies and punch or coffee and a chance to win one of the forty homemade door prizes to be given away. There will be a variety of homemade gifts and crafts for sale and a Country Store which includes homemade baked goods for sale.

For a $1 donation a 6 1/2-foot Christmas tree, completely decorated with over 200 homemade ornaments, will also be raffled off. Monies made will be used for community projects.

For more information call the Seminole County Agriculture Center at 323-2500, ext. 183.

Diabetes Group To Meet

The Lake Monroe Chapter of the American Diabetes Association will hold its monthly meeting Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

The program will be presented by the Ames Pharmaceutical Company, Sandy Hoffman, the local representative, as well as a national representative of the company, will discuss and demonstrate their newest changes for monitoring glucose levels.

Because there have been so many requests for members to share their favorite diabetic recipes, it is requested you bring yours with you and copies will be made for everyone.

Season's Bounty Heralds Harvest Get-Together

It's the season for fall fruits and vegetables, stews and chowders. Throw a harvest get-together with some of the following ideas in mind:

HARVEST FRUIT SALAD
1 8-oz bottle French dressing
¼ cup honey
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup pear slices
1 cup peeled orange slices
1 cup apple slices
1½ qts. torn assorted greens

Granola cereal
Combine dressing, honey and cloves; mix well. Arrange fruit on greens-covered plates. Top with dressing mixture; sprinkle with granola. 4 to 6 servings.

PORK AND CHEESY BERRY STUFFING
6 pork chops, ½ inch thick
2 tablespoons margarine
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
2 cups whole-grain bread cubes
2 cups white bread bread cubes
2 cups (8 ozs.) shredded natural Monterey Jack cheese

½ cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Brown chops; remove from skillet. Add margarine; saute celery and onion in margarine. Add bread, ¼ cups cheese, cranberries, nuts and seasonings; mix lightly. Spoon stuffing into 12x8-inch baking dish; top with chops. Bake at 350°, 30 minutes. Top with remaining cheese; continue baking until cheese is melted. 6 servings.

DOUBLE BAKED SWEET POTATOES
6 sweet potatoes, baked
6 tablespoons apple juice
½ cup margarine
2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon ground ginger

1 cup miniature marshmallows
½ cup flaked coconut
1 tablespoon margarine
Slice potatoes in half lengthwise; scoop out centers, leaving ½ in. shell. Mash potato. Combine with juice, margarine, sugar and ginger; beat until fluffy. Spoon into shells.

Combine marshmallows, coconut and margarine; mix well. Spoon onto potatoes, 12 servings.

Variations: Substitute 11-oz. can mandarin oranges, drained, and ½ cup whole berry cranberry relish for marshmallows, coconut and margarine. Substitute mandarin orange liquid for apple juice.

Substitute 8¼ oz. can crushed pineapple, drained, and ½ cup chopped pecans for marshmallows, coconut and margarine. Substitute pineapple liquid for apple juice.

Substitute 1 cup granola and 1 cup raisins for marshmallows and coconut.

CARAMEL PECAN PIE

Pastry for 1 crust 9-inch pie

1 cup pecan halves
¼ cup Caramel Topping
2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs

On lightly floured surface, roll pastry to 12-inch circle. Place in 9-inch pie plate. Turn under edge; flute. Place pecans in bottom of pastry shell; cover with topping. Combine cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Pour over topping. Bake at 325°, 45 minutes. Chill. Garnish with additional pecans and drizzle with additional topping.

GOLDEN CREAM SOUP

1 cup water
½ cup celery slices
½ cup carrot slices
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 chicken bouillon cube
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons flour

½ lb. Pasteurized Process Cheese Spread, cubed
Combine potato, water, celery, carrot, onion, parsley flakes, seasonings and bouillon. Cover; simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Gradually add milk to flour, stirring until well blended. Gradually add flour mixture to hot vegetables, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Add process cheese spread; stir until melted. Four 1¼ cup servings

FIRSTMATE'S STEW
1 28-oz. can tomatoes
1 cup 1-inch celery chunks
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup green pepper chunks
1 cup yellow squash slices
½ cup barbecue sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 lb. frozen fish fillets, partially thawed, cut into 1-inch cubes
Combine vegetables, barbecue sauce and salt in

Dutch oven. Cover; simmer 20 minutes. Add fish to vegetable mixture. Cover; continue simmering 8 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork, stirring occasionally. 6 servings.
MAC N' SAUSAGE CHOWDER
1 7¼-oz. pkg. macaroni and cheese dinner
1 cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped red pepper

¼ cup margarine
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
1 lb. smoked sausage, cut into ½-inch pieces
Prepare macaroni as directed on package. Saute vegetables in margarine in 3-quart saucepan until tender. Blend in flour; cook 3 minutes. Add cheese sauce mix and salt; stir until well blended. Gradually add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add macaroni and sausage. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Eight 1-cup servings.

COUNTRY CHICKEN PIE
¼ cup margarine
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon dried basil leaves, crushed
1½ cups buttermilk
2½ cups chopped cooked chicken
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen green peas and onions, thawed, drained
1 cup thin carrot slices
½ cup celery slices

1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup margarine
2 tablespoons chopped chives
1 egg, beaten
½ cup buttermilk
Melt margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour and seasonings, gradually add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add chicken and vegetables; continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon into 1½-quart casserole. Combine dry ingredients; cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in chives. Reserve 2 tablespoons egg. Add combined remaining egg and buttermilk, mixing just until moistened. On lightly floured surface, knead dough ten times. Roll dough to circle slightly smaller than top of casserole.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 3, 1983
You will establish several enviable relationships this coming year. The ones apt to prove the most beneficial will be with persons older than yourself.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Appealing to the nobler emotions of others could work to your benefit in financial matters today, especially when dealing with persons you've helped.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your chances for getting appropriate help pertaining to a difficult task you've been avoiding look good today.

High Blood Pressure Or Simple Anxiety?

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am wondering if it takes a skilled practitioner to take blood pressure. It seems to me that if the person taking it squeezes too hard on the arm and especially if that action brings on a feeling of anxiety in the patient, it might make the blood pressure soar.

I had my blood pressure taken by a young nurse twice lately and just before she released the band she really squeezed tightly. Both times it was unexpected and I became anxious.

My blood pressure was 88. About the same time I went into a do-it-yourself place and when I felt the band getting tight it scared me. My blood pressure was 100. These were the second (low) readings, of course. The first readings were comparable.

DEAR READER - You have put your finger on one of the problems we have in diagnosing high blood pressure, whether the patient is relaxed or not. Even if the person taking the reading is highly skilled in the procedure, an anxious patient may have a high reading.

That helps to explain some reports on high blood pressure. Some patients have anxiety, not high blood pressure, as a disease. If they are treated in any way and become less anxious, the blood pressure gets lower.

best results for the lower reading. Such measurements should be considered as a screening procedure and those with high readings should see their doctor.

Your readings are not bad. DEAR DR. LAMB - Will you please help me? My neighbor has shingles. I understand it is a chicken pox virus. Are they contagious to people who have not had chicken pox, especially preschool children?

I'm afraid I hurt my neighbor's feelings because I kept my great-grandchild from visiting her. I called the communicable disease department and talked with the doctor in charge. He told me it was possible for my grandchild to get chicken pox if I had let him visit with her. Am I being overly cautious?

DEAR READER - No, you are not being overly cautious - you are being sensible. Individuals who have not had chicken pox can get it from a person who has herpes zoster, better known as shingles. It is not nearly as contagious as the usual case of chicken pox but the attack rate is estimated as high as 15 percent in susceptible persons. The blisters may contain contagious viruses, but the scabs that form are not contagious. And after the blisters are gone it is not contagious. Some people with herpes zoster are left with severe pain. At that stage the disease is no longer contagious.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with bridge hand details: NORTH 11-3-4, WEST 8-6-4, SOUTH 8-7-2, EAST 8-6-4. Includes dealer information and opening lead.

The North-South pair were using this form of Blackwood in the St. Louis regionals, so North was able to show that he did not like his hand in spite of holding two aces.

South didn't bother to ask for kings. With two kings plus two aces North would have liked his hand and would have responded five spades.

South felt that if North held the diamond king and a singleton club, seven diamonds might be a very good contract, but that seven no-trump would be on a club finesse at best.

The game was match points. Six no-trump bid and made would surely be a good score, so he bid it.

South won the heart with dummy's ace and led a diamond. He planned to play his ace if a small diamond appeared (the standard safety play to lose just one trick when missing K-J-x-x), but when East produced the jack, he could afford the queen finesse in an effort to make an overtrick. West scored his king, but that ended proceedings for the defense.

'Mastersleaze Theatre' On PBS

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Public television viewers next year will have the opportunity to view a controversial 13-part series containing nudity, profane language and a segment on a purported cure for homosexuality.

Michael Mears, producer of the series called No Sacred Cows, explained his creation Tuesday to more than 200 programmers of Public Broadcasting Service affiliates.

The affiliates will be offered the first segment on Feb. 5 and each will decide whether to air it. No excerpts were shown to programmers Tuesday. Mears said complete programs would be previewed at PBS stations in late November.

"He said the series 'will ask whether the American public wants to get turned on and really involve people in the experience that is television.'"

The $295,000 cost of the series is being completely borne by PBS and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

The first program contains "light frontal nudity," Mears told the programmers. It features Monty Python's John Cleese in a 1974 period piece set in czarist Russia.

Another program will be an unedited videotape of conservative Phyllis Schlafly at a rally celebrating the defeat of the Equal Rights Amendment. She blasts the media for paying more attention to the losers. Other episodes deal with suicide, abortion, homosexuality and cruelty to animals.

Mears said No Sacred Cows, in essence, will ask viewers what they want out of television, and they will be able to respond on a 900 telephone number.

Shelley Hack Doesn't Look Back

By Peter Meade

Even though saying yes to a weekly series is the most unhealthy thing you can do to yourself, Shelley Hack couldn't say no.

"We put in a minimum 12-hour day," says Miss Hack, of her schedule as one of the trio of young doctors on CBS' new series "Cutter to Houston."

There certainly isn't much time left to take care of herself because her daily routine requires an hour each way to get to work, at least 12 hours on the job and the necessary eight hours sleep.

"That leaves two hours a day to talk to the dog and my boyfriend," says Miss Hack.

But don't think she is complaining. Her career has taken a giant step forward and it may all be because of her solid performance as the receptionist in "The King of Comedy." She has two more movies, "Max and Sam" and "Trackdown," that will be appearing later this season.

She has put her profitable career as a model behind her. But why did she decide to return to series television after her first attempt, as one of "Charlie's Angels," can only be kindly termed a "memorable" experience?

"I wasn't really interested in doing TV," she says. "A series may not be the most fun — but it pays the rent. My character is a modern woman with plenty of room for character development. It's also nice to have a show where I can wear sneakers and hospital greens all day."

Sensitive Men Equal Macho Men In Affairs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gentle, sensitive men are as likely to have extramarital affairs as macho men, according to a Florida State University researcher.

Dr. Bruce M. Hyman, a marital counselor associated with the FSU Department of Human Services and Studies, reported Tuesday a study of men found nearly half of them had cheated on their wives at least once.

But he said there was no significant difference between extremely masculine men and those who are caring, sympathetic and emotional.

"The picture of the dominant, emotionally inexpressive male — the strong, silent, macho type — as the guy who carves notches in his belt for each 'score' outside his marriage — is simply not true," Hyman said.

The study found 44 percent of 102 male subjects had had at least one affair. Of these, 43 percent reported between three and nine partners outside their marriage. One subject claimed to have had 50 partners over five years.

"Interest in sexual variety is universal," Hyman said. "It's true of women as well as men. Even faithful, monogamous men have a desire for sexual variety. What sets them apart from non-monogamous men is greater fear of disrupting their marriage and family life and more guilt."

The researcher said many men who cheat claim they love their wives.

"Men are not necessarily seeking love in extramarital affairs," Hyman said. "They may be after sexual variety or they may be trying to recapture some of the freedom they feel they've lost in the marital relationship."

Affairs can sometimes stabilize marriages, he said.

"If not for the infidelity, the couple would have to look more closely at the quality of the relationship and focus on what they're not getting, what they're afraid of."

War Powers Act

House: Get The Troops Home By Christmas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House wants President Reagan to get U.S. troops out of Grenada by Christmas or be required to seek congressional approval for a longer stay, but the legislation's fate in the Senate is uncertain.

By an overwhelming 403-23 vote Tuesday, the House passed the joint resolution invoking the war powers act on troops in Grenada and sent the measure to the Senate. The resolution received strong Republican support because it did not criticize either Reagan or the invasion.

Both the House and Senate must pass the same joint resolution, and the president must sign it, before it can become law.

But informed Senate Republican sources said late Tuesday there are no plans for a vote on the same resolution in the Senate.

The Senate approved a similar provision last week as an amendment to legislation to raise the national debt limit. Although the debt bill was defeated Monday, a motion to reconsider has kept it at least technically alive.

Congress passed the War Powers Resolution in 1973 to assure Congress a voice in committing U.S. troops overseas and prevent the nation from getting involved in another situation like the Vietnam War.

The House joint resolution would start the clock on the 60-day limit set by the war powers act for deployment of U.S. troops in combat areas without congressional authorization. That gives Reagan until Christmas to pull the troops out or win congressional approval of a longer mission on Grenada.

The president could extend the time limit by 30 days if he informs Congress in writing the time is necessary for the safe withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Reagan submitted a report to Congress on October 25 concerning the use of U.S. forces in the Grenada invasion.

Reagan said the report was made "consistent with the War Powers Resolution," and that he acted in accordance with the president's constitutional authority regarding the conduct of foreign relations and as commander in chief.

Reagan also said in the report that U.S. forces in Grenada "will remain only so long as their presence is required."

Fire Kills 6 Aboard Carrier USS Ranger

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — The trouble-plagued aircraft carrier USS Ranger sailed the northern Arabian Sea today despite equipment damage, and the Navy investigated fires that swept through an engine compartment, killing six crewmen and injuring 35 others.

The Navy would not specify how the six men died, but spokesmen said the fires swept through one of four main engine compartments Tuesday and spread to adjacent auxiliary power equipment spaces.

Firefighters concentrated efforts in the main machinery space where two of the ship's main boilers are located, along with one propulsion engine and related equipment.

The auxiliary space contains equipment for making fresh water, turbogenerators, air conditioning equipment and water and fuel pumps.

Capt. Arthur H. Fredrickson, the Ranger's commanding officer, told headquarters the fires were extinguished in about an hour. Flight operations resumed later in the day.

The Navy late Tuesday identified four of the six victims as Seaman Recruit Paul R. Chappell Jr., 20, Crowley, Texas; Fireman Gregory W. Cochran, 27, Washington, W.Va.; Petty Officer 3rd Class Rick A. Teichert, 25, Callendar, Iowa, and Petty Officer 3rd Class Larry W. Somner, 21, Henderson, Nev.

The Navy withheld the names of the other two persons killed pending notification of next of kin.

The extent of the damage was not immediately announced except that the Navy said the fires did not hamper the Ranger's operations, which are within aircraft-launching range of the Persian Gulf.

The voyage has been a troubled one. On July 18, the exhaust blast of a jet blew a crewman overboard. He was declared lost at sea.

The Ranger was headed toward Central American waters the following day when it collided with the oiler Wichita during a refueling operation.

Water, Code Enforcement Top Lake Mary Agenda

A code enforcement board, a hydrological study of the city, and water conservation top the agenda for the Lake Mary City Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting Thursday.

The city commission turned down the idea of appointing a code enforcement board three times during the past year. However, freshman Commission Colin Keogh urged his colleagues to reconsider during a meeting two weeks ago, saying such a board is an absolute necessity if city laws are going to be enforced.

State law permits cities to appoint code enforcement boards to act in a similar fashion as the old municipal courts in enforcing local ordinances. Code enforcement boards are authorized to levy fines, but cannot give jail sentences.

Lake Mary is the only city among the seven in Seminole County which doesn't have a code enforcement board.

In other business, the commission is scheduled to discuss with James Jensen, a geologist at the University of Florida, the possibilities of graduate students doing a hydrological study of the city.

In preparation for acquiring its own water supply, the commission is also scheduled to adopt an ordinance giving city officials the power to call for mandatory water conservation by banning the use of water for lawn sprinkling, car washing, and the filling of swimming pools, ponds and lakes during periods of drought. — Donna Estes

King Holiday Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan today signed legislation creating a national holiday honoring Martin Luther King Jr., marking the culmination of an effort begun just after the civil rights leader's death 15 years ago.

Originally the ceremony was to be a small one in the Oval Office with members of the King family and Congress. But it was moved to the historic East Room of the White House to accommodate more people.

The holiday, the 10th on the national calendar, will be observed on the third Monday in January beginning in 1986. King's birthday was Jan. 15.

King was killed by a sniper in Memphis, Tenn. in 1968 at the age of 39. The movement to commemorate him with a national holiday began soon after.

King's work against racism in America won him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1963.

The president initially indicated he opposed the bill honoring King on grounds that it would pave the way for similar requests for other national figures. He suggested a holiday on a Sunday instead. But he later said he would sign it if passed by Congress.

The House passed the bill 338-90 on Oct. 2. The Senate approved it 78-22 Oct. 19 after Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., gave up his filibuster against the measure.

Besides stressing the cost of a holiday, which the Congressional Budget Office estimated at $18 million in lost productivity for the federal government, Helms charged King was influenced by communists.

Japanese Car Import Level Raised

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors sees more sales, but other U.S. automakers and union leaders see unfair competition and more U.S. layoffs because of the new agreement to let Japan sell more cars to the United States in 1984.

The agreement to raise Japanese imports from 1.68 million to 1.85 million cars a year, starting in March, was announced Tuesday in Tokyo by U.S. Special Trade Representative William Brock and Japanese Trade Minister Sosuke Uno.

GM said it found the increase "equitable," and its plans to import 200,000 Isuzu and 100,000 Suzuki models should not be threatened.

Greyhound Strike At Midnight

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Nearly 4,000 Greyhound buses made final runs today before tonight's strike against the nation's largest transportation company which carries 57 million riders each year.

Greyhound's 12,700 employees, including 7,500 drivers, have rejected proposed pay cuts of up to 25 percent and prepared to walk off their jobs at 11:59 p.m. MST today. The strike was delayed two days to allow bus travelers to reach their destinations.

Greyhound, struck by the union for six days in 1974, said its more than 3,800 buses would be idle for several weeks while new drivers are hired and trained.

The bus line, which carries about 60 percent of all bus passengers, makes about 14,000 scheduled stops each day on its routes.

Negotiations between union and management broke off Monday after the Amalgamated Council of Greyhound Local Unions rejected Greyhound's request for pay cuts of 20 to 25 percent.

The company earlier had sought salary reductions as high as 50 percent, saying Greyhound employees were better paid than those of competing bus lines.

There was no movement by either side Tuesday and Greyhound spokeswoman Leslie White said it appeared there was "an impasse."

Officials of Trailways Inc., Greyhound's main competitor, said they could accommodate Greyhound passengers during the strike.

Some Greyhound passengers grumbled that they were not informed of the pending strike.

Emmalene Fisher, traveling to Florida with her 19-month-old son and her sister-in-law, said they should have been warned about the strike.

"They should have told everyone before buying their tickets," she said at the Phoenix Greyhound terminal.

Greyhound said its bus drivers earn an average of $27,437 annually with terminal workers earning $20,429, maintenance workers $21,576 and office workers $16,947.

Shocked Prisoners Ordered Out Of Jail

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city began releasing hundreds of suspects from overcrowded jails, astounding prisoners who couldn't make bail — one of whom refused to leave because his jail job "was the best he ever had."

"Can I go home?" asked Rogers Williams, 24, who was the first inmate to be let out of the Brooklyn House of Detention for Men Tuesday.

The city said it will eventually release 341 prisoners from its jails to comply with a court order to ease prison overcrowding.

Williams, who faces charges of attempted robbery and assault, paid $50 of his $501 bail.

A Correction Department spokesman said another inmate who was told he could leave was not interested.

"The first fellow to qualify said he didn't want to go," spokesman Ed Hershey said. "The guy said he's on suicide watch and it was the best job he ever had."

Hershey said "about two dozen" inmates would be released on the first day of the release program.

The decision to release the inmates was the result of an order from U.S. District Judge Morris Lasker on Monday that the city ease conditions in its overcrowded jails.

The department has deemed that to comply with his order 341 inmates should be released.

Mayor Edward Koch said he regarded the release of the prisoners as "terrible," but added he did not dispute Lasker's decision.

"I accept it. I wish it were otherwise," he said.

Those to be released will include inmates who are awaiting trial and are being held on bail of $1,500 or less. Correction Commissioner Benjamin Ward said such inmates would be required to post 10 percent of the bail in cash to secure release.

There are 840 male detainees who are currently being held on $1,500 bail or less, he said. Inmates held on the lowest bail amounts would be let out first, he said.

Ward said most inmates held on low bail were accused of "less dangerous offenses," such as crimes against property.

Inside the Brooklyn jail Tuesday night, about 40 prisoners jammed behind blue-painted bars to use two pay telephones to ask relatives and friends to bail them out.

Student council representatives will be responsible for planning the school's calendar of events and fund-raising for special activities.

Soviets Gaining Supremacy In Race For The Planets

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The Soviet Union is fast gaining supremacy in the race for the planets and the resources of space with two satellites orbiting Venus and another to be launched for Mars in three years, says a NASA analyst.

By the time the United States renews its planetary program with the 1988 launch of a robot spacecraft to Venus, the Soviets will likely be far ahead in exploring the resources beyond Earth, said Dr. David Morrison of the University of Hawaii.

"We do have the serious prospect of falling behind Russia and losing leadership in this area because of our inattention and inactivity in the last few years," said Morrison, chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Solar System Exploration Committee.

Morrison said what makes the space race significant "is the reasonable prospect that a critical element of the future of humanity will involve the rest of the solar system; that we will be living, working, obtaining resources there, perhaps, although I hope not, fighting wars there."

"Beyond the sheer joy of exploration, we can gain understanding of the origin and evolution of the planets, of the way the earth operates. If humans expand into space, whether in space colonies, on the moon or ultimately even on Mars, we are going to need to utilize the resources that exist in near-Earth space."

The study of Venus has particular importance to Earth since both planets "are the same size, made of the same chemical constituents, nearly the same distance from the sun — yet dramatically divergent."

Whereas Earth has a pleasant, life-supporting climate, Morrison said, "the surface of Venus is close to the classical idea of hell, with an oppressive atmosphere 100 times the pressure on Earth, laden with carbon dioxide, sulfur clouds and temperatures hot enough to melt lead."

By learning about the mecha-anism of the greenhouse effect — intimately involved in Venus' surface environment, "we might gain insight as to what Earth's future might be if we keep pumping carbon dioxide into the atmosphere."

Morrison said the "golden age of planetary exploration" that began with the 1962 launch of the first U.S. spacecraft has been followed by five years of "serious threat to terminate planetary exploration" and a drop in funding to 20 percent of the mid-1970s level.

In response to "that real crisis," NASA formed the exploration committee, charged with proposing a plan for planetary exploration through the end of the century.

Before the first approved mission, however, Halley's comet will return to earth. "Literally a once in a lifetime opportunity to study a large active comet."

The Soviet Union will launch two spacecraft, Europe one, Japan one — but the United States none — to investigate the comet, Morrison told a Stanford University audience.

Post Cereals, Sanka Coupons Valuable

For the 45 million Americans over the age of 55, collecting coupons from Post Cereals and Sanka Brand Decaffeinated Coffee could mean free bicycles, tennis rackets, golf sets or any one of 50 pieces of quality equipment for their community club, retirement village or elderly center.

Post and Sanka Brand are teaming up to make this offer nationwide through senior citizen organizations as part of a "Golden Age Fun 'n Fitness" campaign to foster healthy, active lifestyles among the older population. The Golden Age program is an extension of the already successful junior Post Fun 'n fitness program which enables schools to receive free athletic equipment.

Proof-of-purchase from Post and Sanka Brand packages can be exchanged for recreation equipment specially selected to meet the needs of senior citizens.

Equipment is earned through a points system. Proof-of-purchase seals vary in value from two to four points depending on the size of the product package. Each item of equipment has a designated point value, which allows participants to set seal collecting goals. For example, jump ropes, exercise mats and softball bats require from 300 to 400 points each, whereas exercise cycles, golf clubs and golf bags can be obtained for 1,500 to 2,000 points each.

Collecting seals can be fun and challenging to the imagination. Community groups might stage flea markets where goods are bought with seals; sporting tournaments for which seals are the entry fee; or a senior citizen organization might place collection barrels in strategic locations — supermarkets, shopping malls or on street corners.

Under the Fun 'n Fitness umbrella Post underwrites the Golden Age

Games, a national sports gathering open to anyone 55 and older. Held in Sanford from Nov. 7-12, the games feature 34 competitive events and attract more than 3,000 entries from the U.S.,

Canada and Puerto Rico. Catalogs detailing the Golden Age Fun 'n Fitness program, with ideas for accumulating seals, will be mailed to 10,000 senior centers nationwide. Order forms and photos of the recreational equipment offered are also included.

If your local organization wants a catalog or if you wish additional information, call toll-free 800-435-7678.

2,000 Choose To Participate, Not Vegetate

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

"Participate Don't Vegetate," that's the slogan on the new Golden Age Games bumper sticker. It's obvious watching the thousands of lively senior citizens who flock to Sanford during the second week of November each year that they have chosen to participate. At least 2,000 seniors are expected to enter at least one event coming here from as far away as California and Puerto Rico.

And participate they do — in track and field events, the decathlon, golf, tennis, bowling, swimming, sailing, walk racing, diving, bicycling, canoeing, and shuffleboard.

Or maybe they go in for horticulture, bridge, billiards, ping pong, cribbage, dominoes, horse-shoes, croquet, knitting, photography, art, needlework, dancing, singing or playing an instrument. If you are 55 and over and still breathing, there is something for you. Some participants are in their mid-90s and still going strong. James Mason of Sanford, who will be 95 in December, still bowls four times a week.

The 9th annual Golden Age Games will be held in Sanford Nov. 7-12. The week's activities will kick off with the traditional "Fallen Arches Stampede," an informal parade for the fun-loving. The parade will form at 8:30 a.m. at Fifth Street and Park and move on to the Sanford City Hall patio for the opening ceremonies, which begin at 9 a.m.

The grand marshal of the parade will be this year's honorary chairman of the games, John "Jack" Kelly, vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, and a former Olympian.

The Father Lyons Chapter of the Knights of Columbus will provide the color guard for the parade. Individuals or groups wishing to enter the parade or other events may obtain entry forms and schedules at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce at First Street and Sanford Avenue.

Miss Florida, Kimberly Anne Boyce of Bradenton, is scheduled to be on hand for the opening ceremonies as will local dignitaries.

Seminole County Sports Hall of Famers Emma Spencer, 76, and Buddy Lake, 70, will have the honor of lighting the Olympic style flame to officially open the games.

Jack Kelly

The first Golden Age event was held in Sanford in November 1975 and has grown in popularity every year since. It was first proposed to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce by Chamber Director Vic Arnett, who is still active on the Executive Committee. The Games are co-sponsored by the chamber, the city, and General Foods' Post Cereals and Sanka Coffee to spotlight the capabilities and community spirit of the senior citizens of this or any area.

Individual events are sponsored by local civic clubs and organizations under the able chairmanship of Jim Jernigan, director of Parks and Recreation for the city of Sanford.

One of the most popular events during the week is a non-competitive one—the annual Jubilee Dinner-Dance held at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, at the Sanford Civic Center. Attendance is limited to 400 so anyone should obtain their tickets as soon as possible in order not to be disappointed. It features a buffet dinner and dancing to music by the Sanford Serenaders. Tickets may be obtained at the chamber office or from Over 50 Club, which sponsors the event.

Another popular event enjoyed by the whole community as well as the visiting seniors is the talent contest held at 7 p.m. on Thursday. Admission is $1 at the door.

The city hall will be the setting for the hobby show and photography exhibit which will be open to the public from 2-5 p.m. Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday.

A complimentary breakfast is served courtesy of Post Cereals each morning prior to the Games at the Sanford Civic Center.

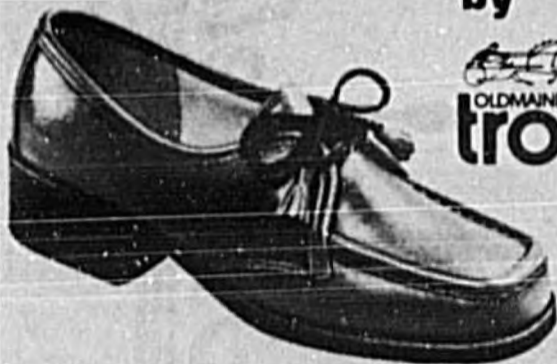

Those entering the games will receive a T-shirt and plastic identification. Orange-Seminole Cablevision is donating badge and sweat bands for the head and wrist. Sea World will provide $2 off the regular admission certificates. Golden Age Games bumper strips are on sale for 50 cents at the chamber, which will serve as headquarters coordinating the various events which will take place at several sites around the city.

The Seminole County Library will have paperback books and free book marks available during the week for the Games participants to provide reading material for their spare time while visiting here.

World Class Athlete Enters Decathlon

World class athlete Gilberto Gonzalez of San Juan, Puerto Rico has registered to participate in this year's Golden Age games decathlon.

Gonzalez, 70, is a regular competitor in Master's AAU events around the world and last year recorded several personal records including a 15-foot, one-inch long jump which would have set an age bracket decathlon record if the event was sanctioned by the AAU.

Track and field chairman Vic Arnett of the Sanford Kiwanis Club said this year's event will be basically the same as last year's, meaning the softball hit and throw, events which don't appear in regular decathlons, remain in the 10-event lineup.

"We've taken the position that we don't care whether we're sanctioned," said Arnett. "We've never worried about being sanctioned."

The remaining events in the decathlon are the discus, shot put, high jump, long jump, and 50-yard, 100-yard, 220-yard and 440-yard runs.

Gonzalez should face stiff competition in the 65 and older age bracket from Donald Hull, of Port Orange, last year's third place finisher in the 55 to 64 age group. Hull won three of four running events last year to place behind Marshall Davenport and winner John Ulam of McMurray, Pa., for first place.

Hull is also on the world master's circuit.

But Hull, Ulam and identical twins Bill and Earl Downey have not yet registered for this year's event. The Downeys were strong challengers in last year's competition, particularly in the footraces, long jump and high jump.

Raymond Summey, of Harrisburg, Pa., who finished third in last year's 65 and up bracket and his wife, Anna, who finished first in the woman's 65 and up bracket, are registered for this year's decathlon along with Leslie Thomas of Youngstown, Ohio, who finished second in the men's 65-and-up in 1981 and Kay Thomson, 66, of Lake Mary.

The decathlon will be held Nov. 9 and 10 at Seminole High School.

Sixteen people, including 85-year-old Joseph Hackney of Atlantic City, have registered for the track meet which will be held Nov. 12. Hackney plans to participate in the football throw, shot put and softball throw.

...Race

Early entries include returning racewalkers Al Christiansen who won the 1982 racewalk competition with a time of 19:14 minutes, and Carl Mays, runnerup in the 55-59 age category.

Women are well-represented in all age categories for this year's racewalk. The best woman's time for the 1982 racewalk was set by Jane Osborn of Winter Haven with a time of 24:58 minutes.

The racewalking sport, always a crowd pleaser, is an Olympic event and is enjoying increased participation throughout the country.

It is an efficient aerobic exercise and is proving a suitable alternative to running.

Come out and racewalk. Entries limited to those 55 years old and older. Seating availability is unlimited for those who just want to come and watch.

Still A Lot Of Fire In Games' Flame Lighters

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's Sports Hall of Famers, Emma Spencer, 76, and Bernard David "Buddy" Lake, 70, will light the torch to open the ninth annual Golden Age Games in Sanford at 9 a.m., Nov. 7, at city hall ceremonies.

James Jernigan, general chairman of the games and Sanford's parks and recreation director, said the two famous and beloved senior citizens and athletes, carrying the flame, will run around the city facility to present the torch at the ceremony on the city hall patio.

Mrs. Spencer and Lake were inducted into the Seminole County Sports Hall of Fame at ceremonies during halftime of a football game between Lake Mary and Seminole High Schools on Nov. 11 at the Lake Mary school.

Mrs. Spencer and Lake are considered legends in their respective sports.

Mrs. Spencer played basketball and tennis before launching a coaching career which made the complete cycle when she returned to Sanford to begin the Seminole Community College boys' program. She was ahead of her time as a female athlete, excelling in everything she attempted.

"I guess I was sort of a tomboy," she says. "I loved to play football with the boys, and baseball too."

She attended Sanford High School where she played on the first girls' basketball team until graduation in 1924. Then she headed for Florida State College for Women (now Florida State) where she participated in basketball, field hockey, baseball, swimming and modern dance.

After graduating in 1928, Mrs. Spencer went to Teachers College, Columbia University in New York,

Teaching and coaching stops were made in Stephen College, Mo., Sam Houston State Teachers College, Texas; University of Washington, Stanford in Palo Alto, Calif.; University of Portland, Oregon and the University of California before she returned to Sanford in 1963.

Mrs. Spencer, who lists coaching the great team at Seminole Community College and teaching modern dance and tennis among her greatest accomplishments, is said to have had a hand in the development of just about every tennis player to come through the county. On her back yard courts, which she opened in April 1964, she has nurtured the growth of some of the best players Seminole had to offer.

"I take great satisfaction in the fact that I have been able to help so many of the youngsters in the area," she said.

Mrs. Spencer lettered in basketball and field hockey all four years at FSU. She has received gold, silver and bronze medals in the Golden Age Tennis Tournament. She was the Division II Tennis Coach of the Year in 1974-75 at SCC. In 1973, she was named "Woman of the Year" by the Florida Tennis Association.

Meanwhile, Lake, figured out his life's love—baseball—very early. He moved from Louisville, Ky., to Crescent City in 1916; to Lake Monroe, 1919, and finally to Sanford in 1926 where he began high school. "That's when I cut my teeth in baseball," he remembers. "I was out there in the old bleachers, watching the Sanford team in the old Florida State League in the early 1920's."

After a distinguished athletic career in football and baseball at Sanford High, Lake met Ben Cantwell, a pitcher for the Boston Braves.

"Ben kind of took me under his wing," said Lake.

Lake spent three years in the minors before he was sidetracked by arm trouble. Then, he played in the Florida State League in St. Augustine for three years before baseball was interrupted by World War II. By 1940, Lake had turned hitter and led the FSL with a .352 batting average.

When the league resumed play in 1946, Lake returned to Sanford to play. "I had my most satisfying time playing in Sanford amongst my family and friends," Lake says. "That's what I really got a kick out of, playing before the hometown fans."

Message From The Games Chairman

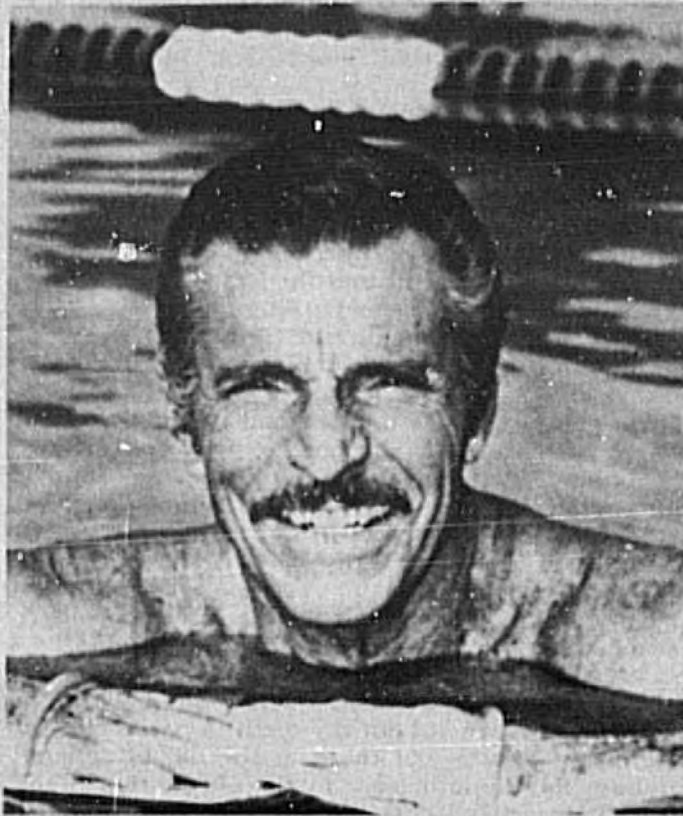

I welcome all citizens to join the fun and festivities the week of November 7-12, 1983 for the latest edition of the Golden Age Games.

The Golden Age Games were created and are presented the second week of November each year specifically to provide an opportunity for seniors, age 55 and up, to keep physically and mentally fit.

The Games are the result of a combined effort of individuals, groups, organizations and governmental agencies all working together to offer a week of happenings in the lives of those who have retired from active work and still wish to remain active recreationally.

People from all parts of the United States and several foreign countries and/or territories come together to complete the week of festivities and compete against each other for recognition and build warm friendships.—Jim Jernigan, Chairman, Golden Age Games.

Buster Crabbe

'83 Games Dedicated To Buster Crabbe

The 1983 Golden Age Games are dedicated to the late Buster Crabbe, Olympic Gold Medal swimmer and internationally famous film star, who died earlier this year at the age of 75.

Known for his roles as Tarzan, Flash Gordon, and Buck Rogers, Crabbe served as honorary chairman of the Golden Age Games twice and gained it national media coverage.

He swam two or more miles a day to keep fit and despite his age, was a tan dynamo with rippling muscles and powerful arms and legs, who looked like he could still cope with those creatures of the universe and jungle.

Crabbe won his Olympic medal in the 400-meter freestyle event in the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles.

"The Frenchman almost beat me," Crabbe said. "I watched him in the trials and he always slowed down near the end and got beat by one of two guys. I figured he wasn't in shape. But I found out it was all part of his act."

"In the last 50 meters we were dead even. As I hit the wall I looked over and saw his head bob in his final stroke and I knew I'd whipped him. Got him by one-tenth of a second."

Grace Kelly's Brother

Meet Honorary Chairman Jack Kelly

John "Jack" Brenden Kelly Jr., as he appeared in earlier sporting days. Kelly, brother of the late Princess Grace, represented the United States in four consecutive Olympic Games.

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The honorary chairman for the 1983 Golden Age Games in Sanford, John "Jack" Brenden Kelly Jr., of Philadelphia, represented the United States in four consecutive Olympic Games.

Prior to the Golden Age Games (Nov. 7-12) he will participate in the Walt Disney World fund raising weekend to honor U.S. Olympic athletes and raise funds for the U.S. Olympic Committee, Nov. 4, 5 and 6.

He will be grand marshal for the parade that will open the Golden Age Games on Monday morning.

The 56-year-old Kelly, now vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, was on the U.S. Olympic team in the singles sculls in 1948, 1952 and 1956 and the double sculls in 1960. Kelly followed in the wake of his father, John Sr., a three-time Olympic Gold Medal winner who passed along the Olympic torch in rowing to his son, but apparently not his luck, as John Jr. was not fortunate enough to bring home the Olympic Gold.

An even more famous member of the family is Kelly's late sister, actress Grace Kelly, who became Princess Grace of Monaco.

Although his Olympic medal eluded him, he was a champion in many other international rowing events such as the Pan American Games, where he was singles champion in 1955 and doubles champion in 1959. His first title was as Ocean City and South Jersey Lifeguard rowing champion in 1944, followed by the U.S. Schoolboy singles championship in 1944 and 1945. He received the AAU Sullivan Award for outstanding amateur athlete in the U.S. in 1947. He is in the Helms Sports Hall of Fame and the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame. He was eight times U.S. singles champion, six times Canadian singles champion, and 10 times Philadelphia singles champion. He was Diamond Sculls singles champ at the Henley Regatta in England in 1947 and 1949, World singles champ, 1949; Swiss and Belgium singles champion, 1949, and Mexican singles champion in 1953. He rowed with the University of Pennsylvania 8-oared crew in 1949 and 1950.

Kelly still competes in masters' rowing events.

Chairman of the Board of John B. Kelly, Inc. of Pennsylvania, masonry contractors, Kelly learned his trade from the bottom up. He won Pennsylvania State Apprentice Bricklaying Championships in 1953.

A U.S. Navy veteran he served as an enlisted man from 1945-46; an ensign on a destroyer, 1951-52; and a lieutenant j.g. in the Navy Reserve, 1952-56.

He was member at large of the Philadelphia City Council from 1968 to 1980 and served as chairman of the Recreation Commission.

He is on the executive committee and board of directors of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee. It is expected he will serve as president of the U.S. Olympic Committee in the next quadrennial, which begins after the 1984 Olympics.

He was president of the International Swimming Hall of Fame from 1980-82 and is a former national chairman of AAU Swimming and is a trustee for Pop Warner Football.

He serves on the boards of numerous sports related, civic and charitable organizations.

Kelly and his wife have five daughters and one son.

Aquatics At New Site

Golden Age Games aquatic events will be held at new locations this year. Sanford Landing Apartments at 1800 W. First Street will host the competitive swimming events and canoeing for the first time.

The swimming competition will begin at 9 a.m. on Thursday in the Sanford Landing pool and the canoeing sprint race will begin at 2 p.m. Monday in the canal. The canoeing obstacle competition will be held at 3 p.m. on Monday.

Because the Sanford Landing pool is not of sufficient depth to accommodate the synchronized swimming and diving so these events will take place at the Sanford Bath and Tennis Club at the Sanford Airport. The duets, solos and team synchronized competition will begin at 2 p.m. on Monday and the diving will be held at 2:30 p.m.

The sailing event will take place on Monday at 11 a.m. at the Monroe Harbour Marina.

All of these events are sponsored by the American Red Cross Central Florida Chapter and co-sponsored by the host organizations.

General Rules & Information

1. Persons must be 55 years of age or older to participate. Persons will participate in one age category, except where age groups are listed.

2. Each event will carry an entry fee to be determined prior to registration — see Golden Age Games Entry Form — prices will be $1.00 each event unless otherwise stated.

3. MEDALS AND AWARDS

First Place shall be Gold
Second Place shall be Silver
Third Place shall be Bronze

4. The Golden Age Games are open to men and women regardless of residency or citizenship. To be eligible to enter any of the events, you must be 55 years of age, fill out a Registration Form and a Standard Release Form. We strongly encourage you to pre-register to insure your participation in the events of your choice. Each event will have scheduled check-in times and event chairman will be instructed to close all competition in their respective events as per printed master schedule.

5. Entry forms are available by contacting The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce located at 400 E. First Street, Sanford. Mailing address: P.O. Drawer CC, Sanford, Florida 32772-0868 or phone (305) 322-2212.

The Golden Age Games are sponsored by The Greater Sanford

Chamber of Commerce, The City of Sanford, and The Post Cereal and Sanka Coffee Divisions of General Foods to spotlight the capabilities and community spirit of the Senior Citizens of this or any area.

The Games are held in Sanford, Florida annually during the second week of November.

Helen Lutz, 64, and Grace McGonigle, 65, both of Sanford, play the violin and piano respectively in their silver-medal winning performance in the musical instrument division of the '82 Games.
