Commissioners Review Ambulance Service Contract

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners today will consider who will be providing emergency ambulance service in the county next year.

The matter will come up for review at a work session at 3 p.m. in the county agricultural center at the Five Points complex on U.S. Highway 17-92.

Herndon Ambulance Service, Inc. and Aero Products, Inc. have submitted proposals for a franchise and a county subsidy for fiscal 1982-83.

In late September, commissioners extended a contract with Herndon for three months to give Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser time to analyze the proposals.

Herndon had submitted a proposal which sought a $120,000 subsidy but two days before its contract was to expire, entered a new proposal, dropping the subsidy request to $100,000 and raising the cost for emergency calls from $60 to $70.

Aero Products, a Longwood firm operated by Scott Barnes, a former Herndon employee, submitted a detailed proposal for service and asked for a $257,340 subsidy to cover projected losses. The request equals more than 25 percent of the company's projected income.

Herndon's operations in Seminole County have been plagued with difficulties. County officials said the firm has had poor management practices which have led to 30 percent of the people transported for emergency service not paying their bills.

Herndon officials said the reduced subsidy request is a result of changes in the company's management policies.

Seminole County has a non-exclusive franchise, meaning both companies could legally be granted permission to provide ambulance service in the county.

But Kaiser said allowing a subsidized firm to operate alongside an unsubsidized one would be unwise.

Commissioners are anxious to take over dispatching duties for the ambulance service. They claim county control over dispatching would allow for response time.

But Herndon officials have claimed that they need to control dispatching because ambulances in Orange County are sometimes used in southern Seminole County.

Also today, commissioners are scheduled to discuss the filling of the safety officer's post.

Some changes may be considered to broaden the safety officer's duties or spread them among other jobs and eliminate the position.

Commissioners have discussed expanding the job to include responsibilities beyond coordinating safety programs. The safety officer is also responsible for investigating accidents involving county employees or equipment.

stadium in Longwood. Seven bands performed for an estimated 3,000 music lovers.

3,000 Enjoy Band Festival

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Approximately 3,000 persons thrilled to the weekend spectacular fireworks display and musical extravaganza presented by seven area bands at the eighth annual Seminole County High School Band Festival at the Lyman High School stadium in Longwood.

The band festival Saturday night is co-sponsored each year by the Optimist Club of Sanford and the Evening Herald. All ticket proceeds will go to the bands for uniforms, music and instruments.

Optimist John Blair, festival chairman and Seminole County schools fine arts coordinator, said if all the tickets were sold, each band would receive $650. But he said he does not yet have a complete report on the total proceeds.

"The weather was excellent and the stands were nearly full," said Blair. "The bands all gave an outstanding performance as always." The host band was the Lake Mary High School Band and its leader, Miss Terry Pattishall, was musical director for the festival. Other bands and their directors included Seminole High School, Bob Maguire; Blahop Moore of Orlando, Joe Derrico; Oviedo High School, Dick Feinberg; Lake Howell High School, Greg Martin; Lake Brantley High School of Forest City, Jack Herron; and Lyman High School, Don Schmaus.

The festival opened with the massed bands composed of some 800 musicians playing the Sousa march, Semper Fidels and the Star-Spangled Banner. Each band together with their drum majors, majorettes and members of the various flag, rifle and dance corps auxiliaries, was featured individually.

For the most part they presented their contest show that they will perform in the Nov. 20 Florida Bandmasters District Marching Festival at 5:30 p.m. at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Blair explained. They will be competing there with Orange and Seminole county bands.

The climax of Saturday night's event was the "Salute to America", a medley of patriotic numbers by the massed bands, accompanied by a fireworks presented by Vic Vickers. The fireworks included a Statue of Liberty and large American Flag with a spectacular display of aerial bursts for the finale.

Each band was presented a large trophy in appreciation for their participation in the festival by the Evening Herald.

The proceeds from the sale of advertisements in the festival program went to the Optimist Club to support the club's youth work in the community. Dale Coppick was program chairman. The club's other big project for youth work is the Christmas tree sale scheduled to begin Dec. 1, Blair said.

"I want to express my appreciation for the outstanding work and support by members of the Optimist club, the community and the Evening Herald, which went into making the festival a success," Blair said.

Voters: Take IDs To Polls; 40-53% To Vote Tuesday

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce warned voters in Tuesday's general election to take positive identification — their voter registration card or driver's license — with them to the polls or they may be turned away.

"It would be a shame if someone went to the polls only to be turned away to go home for identification before being allowed to vote," Mrs. Bruce said.

Mrs. Bruce, still smarting from the County's record of the poorest voter turnout in the state at 10.9 percent in the Oct. 5 second primary election, was sticking today with her prediction that 40 percent — 39,320 — to 53 percent — 60,175 — of county's 75,799 qualified voters will vote in Tuesday's election.

"I'm concerned that only 40 percent will turn out to vote," she said, adding she hopes the turnout will go as high as 53 percent, the average turnout in past non-presidential years.

"I thought averaging was as good a way as any to predict the election turnout," she said. "And this year is a lulu."

About 20 percent of the voters turned out in the county for the Sept. 7 primary.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State George Firestone is predicting a statewide turnout of 45 percent.

Mrs. Bruce's office was continuing to accept absentee ballots at both the offices in the courthouse annex at Sanford and the Interstate Mall in Altamonte Springs.

So far, 1,358 absenteees have been issued and 1,022 have been returned. Some 1,275 absentee ballots were turned in four years ago.

Persons who are ill may vote absentee until 7 p.m. Tuesday and those votes will be counted at the courthouse annex office in Sanford. Absentees for those in the south end of the county will be accepted at the Interstate Mall office until 5 p.m., she said.

Voters in five county precincts were polling places have been changed were notified by mail of the new polling places by Mrs. Bruce's office. The new places were not correctly reported.

The changes include the following: Precinct

Halloween

Few Bad Trick-Or-Treat Incidents Reported Here

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Although two motorists told Seminole County sheriff's deputies they were attacked and robbed after a costume-clad man jumped in front of their car Sunday night and a Casselberry boy told police he received a bottle of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules in his treat bag while trick or treating, authorities here say this Halloween has been one of the safest and most uneventful of all.

'Halloween' Film Is Switched

Although the movie "Halloween" was originally scheduled to air over the weekend, WESH-TV Channel 2 officials say they decided to run another movie instead but that the switch had nothing to do with the cloud of concern and fear which enveloped the year's festivities across the nation.

According to Ken Smith, program manager, his office has received several inquiries concerning the airing of "Chinatown" at 9 p.m. Sunday, instead of Halloween.

"I can assure you the switch had nothing to do with the Halloween scare or with the content of the movie," he said. "The movie Halloween has already been aired once on Channel 2. We decided to run Chinatown."

... Reporter Finds Some True Trick-Or-Treaters

By BRITTI SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: On Saturday night, not one trick or treaters showed up at the door of Herald reporter Britt Smith. And by 8 p.m. Sunday, only one had shown up. So, Smith took to the streets in search of Halloweeners.

Halloween, that most sacred night for all the world's ghouls and goblins, is filled with a virtual kaleidoscope of emotions — bright-eyed enthusiasm, greed and fear born of over-active imaginations.

Hefty doses of all three were embodied in the army of small-fry monsters who made their annual rounds Sunday night in search of tricks or treats.

For the few children who participated, the occasion was more than just the one night a year they can beg sweets from total strangers. It was an adventure, the stuff of which life-long memories are made.

But sometimes, adults put a damper on the fun. The case of 12-year-old Tracy Goodwin of Longwood is a good example. Radiant in her fairy princess costume, she confidently claimed that she can handle witches and vampires, but her parents are something else.

The serious-minded grownups had given her strict orders not to eat any of the goodies she had collected until they inspected it for razor-blade-bearing apples or spiked candy.

"What's the fun of having to wait until you get home to start stuffing your face?" she giggled, dipping into her half-full bag, pulling out a malted milk ball and popping it into her mouth in open defiance.

A lot of adults simply don't know what Halloween is all about, according to 12-year-old Craig Murphy of Sanford. To him, "fruit givers are the pits."

"We can get apples and oranges at home anytime," he complained. "Halloween is for gum, cookies, candy bars ... all that stuff my parents

Seminole Mails Out Tax Bills To 87,000

Tax bills for 1982 have been sent out to owners of approximately 87,000 pieces of property in Seminole County, a spokesman in the tax collector's office said today.

The spokesman said property owners who pay their taxes in November will receive a 4 percent discount. In December, the discount will drop to 2 percent. In January, the discount will be 1 percent. After January there is no discount.

The spokesman said the department's phones have been busy today with property owners calling with questions about their tax bills.

She said the bills, which were mailed out last week, are higher than last year for most property owners because of an increase in property valuations, even though the tax rate is lower than last year.

Residents of incorporated areas are paying $4.44 per $1,000 value in county taxes while residents of unincorporated areas are paying $6.15 per $1,000 valuation.

Last year, the tax rate was $5.23 per $1,000 in incorporated areas and $8.14 per $1,000 in unincorporated areas.

County residents also pay $6.99 per $1,000 valuation for school district taxes. Last year, that rate was $8.28. — MICHAEL BEHA.

IN BRIEF

Racy Pulitzer Divorce Trial Resumes Today

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Attorneys for white-haired publishing icon Herbert "Peter" Pulitzer and his young wife Roxanne say they will prove the charges and counter-charges of kinky sex and drug abuse that have hit this jet-set town on its ear.

The judge who has to hear it all vows he will finish the sensational divorce trial by Thanksgiving.

After a three-week hiatus, one of the bitterest—and certainly the raciest—divorce proceedings ever to hit Palm Beach resumes today.

It is for the custody of the couple's twin sons and for a fortune estimated at between $2.5 and $25 million by opposing lawyers, that the proceedings are taking place. So far Mrs. Pulitzer, 31, has been accused of excessive cocaine use, affairs with a variety of lovers, menage-a-trois sex, occultism and lesbianism.

Counter charges of drug use, drug smuggling and incest have been hurled at Pulitzer, the 52-year-old grandson of turn-of-the-century publishing king Joseph Pulitzer.

Fishing To Begin Slowly

CLEWISTON (UPI)—Lake Okeechobee's once booming commercial fishing industry, shut down in May 1981 because of drought, will start making a limited comeback today.

Officials suspended commercial fishing on the lake when the water level dropped below 10 feet, and in so doing put hundreds of fishermen and fish-processing plant employees out of work. The lake-front economy lost $5.3 million a year.

Now just 10 commercial permits have been issued, down from a total of 130 permits in 1981. But officials of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission say the lake must be reopened slowly.

Amendment Stays On Ballot

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court today unanimously rejected an appeal challenging a proposed constitutional amendment appearing on Tuesday's general election ballot.

In their 6-0 ruling, the justices decided that the ballot summary of the proposal clearly states its purpose and voters should have a chance to approve or reject it. The proposed amendment would change Florida's standards on the admission of improperly obtained evidence to match those of the federal government.

Gov. Bob Graham and other proponents claim the change would prevent criminals from beating criminal charges on technicalities. Opponents assert it would erode Florida's standards on civil liberties.

Qualification, Registration Deadlines Looming In Seminole

Candidate qualifying for two Sanford City Commission seats in the Dec. 7 municipal election will end at noon Tuesday, according to city clerk Henry Tamm.

Commissioner Milton Smith is being opposed by Patricia "Pat" Baxley, co-owner of a Sanford restaurant and an account executive at the Southern Bell Telephone Co. And Commissioner David Farr is unopposed.

Meanwhile, in Casselberry where an election is also scheduled for Dec. 7, candidate qualification will remain open until 5 p.m. Friday.

Three City Council seats and the one year remaining in the term of Mayor Owen Sheppard are up for election. Sheppard has resigned effective Jan. 10.

Qualifying in Casselberry so far are incumbent Councilman Frank Schulte and Bill Grier. The council seat held by Jim Lavigne is also up for grabs. So far, Richard Russo and Bertha Rines have qualified for that post. Lavigne's resignation from his council seat becomes effective today. He resigned to run unsuccessfully against Republican House candidate earlier this year.

Casselberry City Clerk Mary Hawthorne said that Charles Glascock, a former councilman, has qualified to run for the mayor's office.

Sanford has 8,783 voters while Casselberry has 6,031. The final day for potential voters in Sanford, Casselberry, Longwood and Lake Mary to register to vote is Friday.

In addition to Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce's courthouse annex office in Sanford and the branch office at the Interstate Mall in Altamonte Springs, would-be voters may also register at the Lake Mary, Longwood and Casselberry City Halls. Candidate qualification periods in Longwood and Lake Mary have already closed.

... Election Day Tuesday

A lengthy ballot awaits the voters Tuesday. They will choose between Lawton Chiles, D-Lakeland, the incumbent, and Van B. Poole, Republican, for the U.S. Senate; state Rep. Dick Batchelor, D-Orlando, and U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, the incumbent, for the U.S. House of Representatives; Gov. Bob Graham and Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixson, Democrats and incumbents, and U.S. Rep. L.A. "Skip" Bafalis and Leo Callahan, Republicans, for governor and lieutenant governor; Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner, Democrat and incumbent, and Barbara Lindsey, Republican, for commissioner of agriculture.

Candidates in six legislative races will be considered by various county voters, including: John Vogt Democrat incumbent and state Rep. Jason Steele, state Senate, District 17; Florence Hunter, Democrat, and state Sen. Richard Langley, incumbent, state Senate, District 11; State Rep. Robert Hattaway, Democrat, and Sen. Toni Jennings, Republican incumbent, state Senate, District 15; Betty D. Smith, Democrat, and Art Grindle, Republican, state House of Representatives, District 35; Winter Springs Mayor Troy Piland, Democrat, and Carl Selph, Republican, state House of Representatives, District 34; Glenn Turner, Democrat and state Rep. Tom Drage, Republican incumbent, state House of Representatives, District 36.

All voters in the county will choose between Edward M. Jackson and Jere E. Lober for circuit judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit, Group 3, non-partisan; Jean Bryant and Kenneth Patrick, the Board of Education, District 5, non-partisan; and Bob Sturm, Republican incumbent, and Bob French, Democrat, County Commission, District 2.

In addition, the voters will decide whether Appeal Court Judges Joe A. Cowart Jr. and James C. Daukach, should be retained in office.

Two proposed state constitutional amendments are also on the ballot; one to construe the state search and seizure law in conformity with decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court and the second to permit judges to deny bond to persons charged with crimes if the judge believes the person will commit another crime while on bond or not show up for trial if he is allowed to post bond.

In Winter Springs, the city election for three commission seats and the mayor's office will be held at four polling places in conjunction with the general election.

Some 4,957 voters are eligible to vote in the city contest.

City Commissioners John V. Torcaso and Martin Trencher are vying for the mayor's office being vacated at midnight today by 11½-year city official Troy Piland, who resigned to seek a seat in the Florida house of Representatives.

Torcaso as deputy mayor is scheduled to be sworn in as mayor at a 9 a.m. Tuesday ceremony at city hall, 400 N. Edgemoon Ave., by Piland. Piland served three years as a city commissioner and 8½ years as mayor. He was re-elected mayor a year ago to a three-year term.

Torcaso's elevation to the mayor's office will be Dec. 6 when either he or Trencher will take office to complete the remaining two years in Piland's term.

Winter Springs voters a year ago approved a charter amendment changing terms of office of the mayor and commissioners from two years to three years.

Running for three city commission seats for three-year terms are: Jim Hartman, completing his first two-year term on the board, and George Kaplan, chairman of the city's planning and zoning commission, for the group 1 seat; Inez Linville, Harry G. Reid, who is currently on the city's board of adjustment, and Ellen Weiss, currently chairman of the board of adjustment, for the group 2 seat.

Hunt has run unsuccessfully twice before.

The four city polling places are: Precinct 67, Winter Springs Elementary School; 13, police and fire station on North Moss Road; 24, Seventh-day Adventist Church, South Moss Road and 50 at the Tuscahville fire station, on Northern Way.

In Altamonte Springs, Commissioners Lee Constantine and Bob Reis are unopposed, but their names will be on the city election ballot anyway in Altamonte Springs precincts for additional two year terms.

Some 9,160 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the Altamonte city election.

... Halloween Quiet

Robert T. Hatton, 17, of 723 Eagle Ave., Longwood and Bryan Curtis Ogle, 17, of 1313 E. Tulane Drive, Altamonte Springs, told deputies they were driving along State Road 427 when a man dressed in a black costume and wearing a mask jumped in front of their vehicle at about 10:45 p.m.

Deputies said Hatton brought his car to a quick halt and the two youths were descended upon by numerous youths, ranging in ages from 10 to 17, who climbed atop the car's hood and roof, breaking the vehicle's sunroof and attacking and robbing Hatton and Ogle.

Hatton said they attempted to fight off the attackers who stole $10 from him and a watch and $15 cash from Ogle, deputies said. Deputies added that Hatton managed to drive away from the area but that both youths received scratches and bruises in the assault.

Meanwhile, Casselberry police received a call from one Casselberry resident who said his son had been given a bottle of Extra-Strength Tylenol pain killer capsules while trick or treating near Winter Park Drive.

Seven people in the Chicago area died last month after ingesting the capsules which had been laced with poison.

Police said they confiscated the capsules and sent them to the police laboratory for testing but no results have been released. Casselberry police added that no one to their knowledge, was injured or became ill as a result of eating Halloween candy over the weekend.

"We had our usual amount of criminal mischief but you can have that on any given weekend or week night," said Casselberry Police Chief Fred McGowan. "Overall, though, we had a quiet weekend."

Lake Mary police reported they had a "pretty quiet weekend" except for incidents where youths were throwing eggs, oranges and rocks at passing motorists. However, police said no one was injured by the culprits. Sheriff's deputies said they received a couple reports of suspected tainted candy but that, upon investigation, "nothing appears out of the ordinary and there is no apparent indication of foul play," said Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

"We had one woman who said she became ill after eating a candy bar which a co-worker had given her," Spolski said. "But the woman's family had eaten the candy with no ill effects and a doctor said the woman may have just had the flu."

"Another report was that a suspected piece of metal was found in a piece of gum, but upon inspection, it turned out to be a splinter of wood apparently from the barrel which the gum had been stored in," he said. "No one was injured in either case. Overall, things were pretty quiet."

"This was probably one of the quietest Saturday nights we've had in a long time," said Sanford police spokesman Herb Shea. Shea's department issued a stiff warning just prior to the weekend festivities saying his department would "not tolerate any foolishness and arrests will be made."

"We're very happy with the results and feel the warning in the paper greatly helped matters," he said.

Altamonte Springs, Longwood and Winter Springs also reported few problems in connection with the Halloween weekend.

Kay Bartholomew, spokeswoman for the Central Florida Regional Hospital, said although hospital workers were met with a "steady stream of kids showing up to have their candy X-rayed," there were no incidents of razor blades, needles or any other metal objects in the candy.

At Kmart in the Sanford Plaza, sales of Halloween costumes and candy were not affected by the scare, a store spokesman said.

The store planned for about a 20 percent increase in sales this year and bought more candy and costumes.

"We sold what we bought," the spokesman said.

Voters In Six Counties Will Vote Tuesday On Penny Tax Issue

MIAMI (UPI) — Voters in six Florida counties decide Tuesday whether to add an extra penny to the sales tax for one year to finance more than $370 million worth of sports stadiums and arenas, theaters and cultural centers. Few of the initiatives are expected to pass.

The Legislature, acting mostly on the behest of the Dade County delegation, voted last spring to allow certain counties to tack an extra cent to the 5 percent sales tax during 1983 only to finance capital improvements.

Commissions in Dade, Orange, Hillsborough, Broward, Palm Beach and DeSoto Counties bit on the opportunity to collect the extra money. Although Gov. Bob Graham says he supports the initiatives, observers in most of the counties say it has been an uphill struggle to win favor for the proposals.

Arguments in favor of the proposals are that they represent a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to improve the community, boost tourism and produce long-range revenue.

Arguments against the initiatives are that in a slumping economy when people are suffering, priorities are being badly misplaced by people trying to spend all that money on sports and other entertainment.

The biggest proposal by far is one for $134 million in Dade County to finance a 75,000-seat sports stadium on the Orange Bowl site, a 16,000-seat sports arena, a performing arts center and improvements at the Miami Beach Convention Center.

Supporters hid a news conference featuring local sports coaches last week, but denied they were worried.

"We are not on our knees making a last gasp effort to sports fans," said Rick Horrow, executive director of the Dade County Sports Authority. "But this has been a political issue for too long because it has been covered in a political way."

"It's about time people realize it's a sports issue too," Horrow said.

There have been no public polls issued on the proposal's chances, but informal call-in surveys in the Miami area have indicated strong opposition.

The issue also is sports oriented in Orange County, but in the remainder of the counties, it is mostly cultural centers that are at stake.

Voters in the Orlando area are being asked for an extra penny sales tax to finance a $30 million downtown Orlando arena and 11 other sports, cultural and recreational projects. Two of the projects are expansion of the Tangerine Bowl and the Orange County Convention and Civic Center.

The tax is projected to raise $55.3 million. It has been dubbed the "Penny for Progress."

"It is important that people decide for the Penny for Progress," said Graham during a campaign stop in Orlando this week. "I'm going to vote for it in Dade County because we need in this state to be looking for our opportunities."

45% Florida Turnout Expected

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — With most major elections considered runaways, another low turnout is expected in Tuesday's general election.

Secretary of State George Firestone, who oversees the state Division of Elections, predicted a 45 percent turnout of registered voters, which would be the lowest for a general election in two decades.

Turnouts during this year's primaries set 20-year records for apathy. There was a 30.2 percent turnout for the Sept. 7 election and an 18.5 percent turnout for the Oct. 5 runoff.

Tuesday's balloting will elect a U.S. senator, 19 congressmen, a governor, a new state cabinet and an entire Legislature.

Polls showed incumbent Democrat Lawton Chiles comfortably ahead of challenger Van Poole in the U.S. Senate race.

Gov. Bob Graham also appeared headed for an easy victory over Skip Bafalis.

Bafalis, a Fort Myers Beach Republican, had been talked into leaving his safe congressional seat by top Republican leaders, including President Reagan, for the challenge to Graham. However, when Bafalis' campaign failed to catch fire quickly, many of these same GOP leaders abandoned him.

Graham, nevertheless, campaigned hard and expensively, apparently seeking an overwhelming victory to wave as a mandate before the Legislature and possibly to use as a base for further political ambitions.

Only two of the six state Cabinet members drew general election opposition with both challengers little known and considered longshots.

Firestone faces Rep. Jim Smith, R-Clearwater, and Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner is being challenged by Barbara Lindsey, a Stuart resident.

Smith fared better than expected in some pre-election polls, possibly because of citizen confusion over him and his namesake, Attorney General Jim Smith.

Elected Officials' Salaries Are Listed

Seminole County voters will go to the polls Tuesday to help elect a governor, lieutenant governor, two Cabinet members, a U.S. Senator, a congressman, three members of the state House of Representatives, three state senators and a circuit judge.

Seminole Countians will elect a county commissioner and a school board member.

But what are the annual salaries of these offices? U.S. senators and congressmen are paid $60,662.50 annually. The governor of Florida receives $69,550 while the lieutenant governor is paid $60,445.

Members of the Florida Cabinet are paid $59,385. Florida Senate and House members are paid $12,000 annually.

The salary of circuit judges is $56,710 a year. Salaries of county commissioners and Board of Education members are set by state law according to population.

Seminole County commissioners' salaries were raised from $23,059 to $25,203 on Oct. 1. Seminole school board salaries went from $12,077 to $13,016, also on Oct. 1.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Gemayel Wants Arab Help In The Search For Peace

United Press International

Lebanese President Amin Gemayel turned to Arab states for aid in bringing peace to his war-devastated nation on a trip today to Morocco, amid fears of new violence between Syrian and Israeli forces in the eastern Bekaa Valley.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli commission investigating the Sept. 16-18 massacre of Palestinian civilians in two Beirut refugee camps today called the first non-Israelis to testify — two doctors and a nurse who witnessed the slaughter.

Syria fired two Soviet-built SAM missiles at Israeli reconnaissance jets Sunday over the Bekaa, the Israeli army said. The attack failed but Israel called it a "serious" violation of the Lebanese cease-fire.

The incident raised fears of an Israeli retaliatory strike before U.S. envoy Morris Draper could arrange a withdrawal of some 70,000 Israeli, 30,000 Syrian and 10,000 Palestinian fighters squared off in the volatile eastern Bekaa.

Pope Visiting Spain

AVILA. Spain (UPI) — Thousands of cheering Spaniards greeted Pope John Paul II today at the ancient walled city of Avila where the pontiff came to honor the two best known saints of the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic nation.

John Paul, 62, set the tone of his visit Sunday by telling King Juan Carlos in an arrival ceremony at Madrid airport that his tour was "strictly religious" and "above any political motives."

But he could not help mentioning the tense climate in a nation where rightist officers staged an unsuccessful coup 20 months ago and were caught plotting another before last week's balloting that elected Socialist Felipe Gonzalez.

World's Fair Ends On Champagne Toast

KNOXVILLE (UPI)—The 1982 World's Fair ended its six-month run with 1,127,786 visitors and its organizers celebrated with a sparkle of fireworks and a champagne toast to the "scruffy little city" that hosted it.

The fair ended Sunday in the black, causing officials to declare it a financial success.

"These mountain folks should be proud because we have been able to do what most people said we couldn't do — to have a successful World's Fair," Jake Butcher, the millionaire Knoxville banker who helped arrange federal financing, said at a final ceremony Sunday night.

"I'd like to take a couple of (champagne) bottles and pour them over the heads of the people who said we couldn't do it," Butcher said.

Fair officials had hoped to attract 11 million people and were 127,786 over that figure, exceeding the totals of the 1975 fair in Spokane, Wash., and the 1962 exposition in Seattle.

Promoters made the last payment on loans for the $11.5 million extravaganza three weeks ago and fair president S.H. "Bo" Roberts said the event will end up with a profit, although he declined to say how big. It may be several weeks before a final figure is available.

The fair opened May 1 with a visit from President Reagan and for the closing day some 85,870 tourists turned out for a last peek at exhibits from 22 nations and many of them flocked to souvenir shops for special closeout sales of items that would be obsolete today.

"The scruffy little city did it," said Ed Keen, a fair vice president, referring to early criticism about the prospects of a small college town in the Great Smokey Mountains staging a successful World's Fair.

Butcher used his ties with Tennessee Sens. Howard Baker and Jim Sasser, President Jimmy Carter and his former budget director, Bert Lance, to obtain $44 million in federal grants and loans to erect several structures.

The going was rough for the fair in the beginning. Citizens were refused a referendum and were upset. Loans were hard to come by, corporations were hard to attract and the fair nearly went broke.

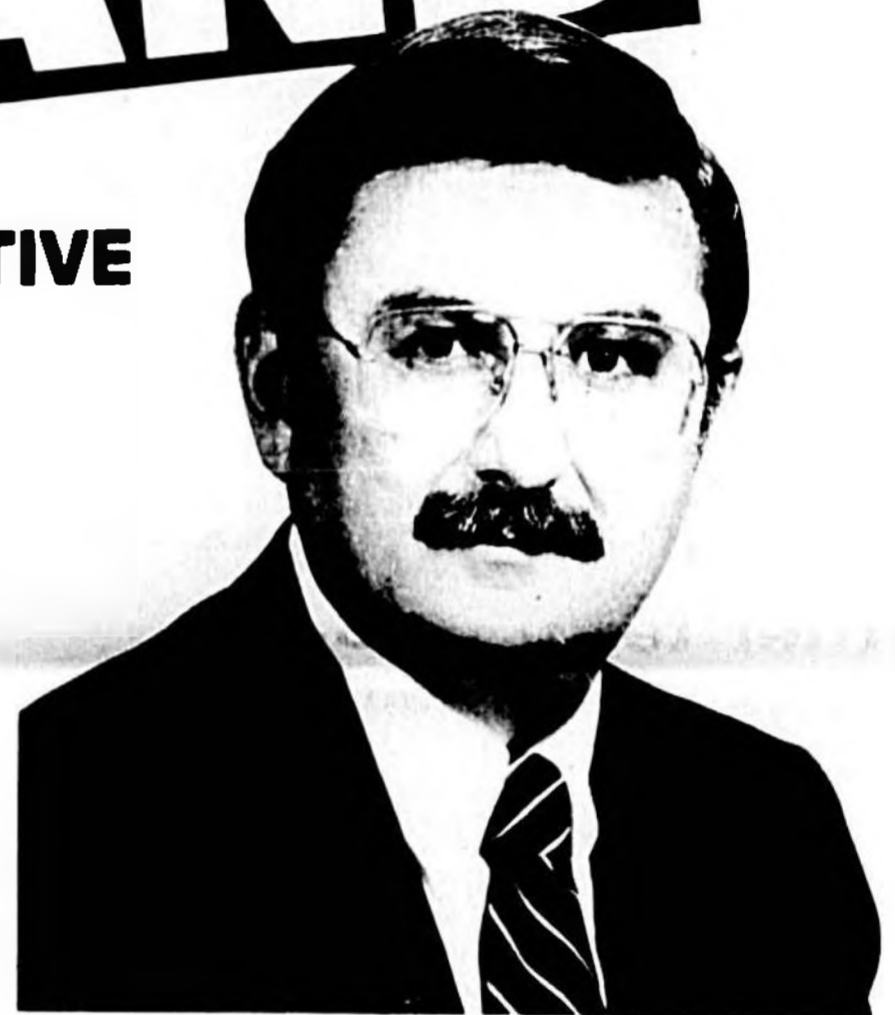

As many as several hundred residents of Knoxville were evicted from their apartments so the dwellings could be rented out to tourists by greedy landlords. Lines were sometimes long to energy-themed exhibits that were called boring by some. Thousands of tourists lost money through the fair's lodging system, which has sparked numerous lawsuits that will take months to settle.

Left hanging as the World's Fair ends is the fate of the $20.8 million U.S. Pavilion, a six-story permanent structure that the government has no use for. City officials say it may have to be torn down.

John Vogt deserves another term in Senate

Two years ago, state Sen. John Vogt of Cocoa Beach was re-elected to a new four-year term. But he is back seeking re-election already because of legislative redistricting and a state Supreme Court ruling which took away half the terms of half the senators.

The shorter term was necessitated by the fact that the territory represented by the members of the Senate had been changed considerably. Senate District 17, represented by Vogt, no longer includes all of Brevard, only the northern half.

We believe Vogt's record over the past 10 years makes him the clear choice for Senate District 17 over Republican Jason Steele, a freshman member of the House of Representatives.

Steele, a Rockledge resident and real estate broker, decided to challenge his fellow Brevard delegation member for the Senate seat after his own House district was drastically changed in the redistricting plan. (That district's population base is now in Seminole.)

Steele's performance as a member of the House has been no better than average for a freshman. By contrast, Vogt has shown himself to be effective in getting significant bills passed. Not only has he been recognized for his service by awards from outside groups, he is in a position to play a leadership role in the Senate in the next two years. He is all but assured a key committee slot in the appropriations process.

Vogt's expertise as an engineer is an important plus to have in the Legislature.

As a newcomer and member of the minority party, Steele would have little, if any, clout in the Senate.

Philosophically, Steele is somewhat more conservative than Vogt, but the incumbent's more moderate position seems to fit the Space Coast well.

We strongly support the re-election of state Sen. John Vogt.

For the Florida Senate District 17

(Parts of Seminole, Brevard, Orange and Osceola)

John Vogt has served 10 years in the Florida Senate, and he has served his constituents well.

The Cocoa Beach Democrat has been a low-key legislator in a district that meanders into four Central Florida counties. During those 10 years he has won awards from business groups, educators and environmentalists. For the last five years, he has served as chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

In the last legislative session, Mr. Vogt voted for a sales tax increase to help Florida meet its critical needs in transportation, education and law enforcement. In the wake of the Harbour Cay condominium collapse, he pushed legislation to clean up statewide building practices. It is a solid record of recognizing Florida's needs and doing something about them.

His opponent, Rep. Jason Steele of Indian River, is an articulate first-term legislator. He has campaigned as a hard-core conservative who wants an elected state Public Service Commission, more Americanism in public schools and, perhaps, a state textbook review board to protect students from profanity. He has suggested a state lottery as a way to meet Florida's revenue needs.

Mr. Vogt's record is one of steady conservatism. By contrast, we believe Mr. Steele's proposals are uneven and, in some cases, unwise.

We recommend Sen. John Vogt for a fourth term in the Florida senate.

Vogt To Tallahassee

Seminole County has been fortunate in having State Sen. John Vogt represent us in Tallahassee since 1972.

That's because Sen. Vogt is a highly-motivated human being who worked his way through college and applies the same energies to a responsible performance in the best interests of Florida residents.

Sen. Vogt has demonstrated his leadership in Tallahassee in such key issues as environment, the reorganization of government and health care.

He is a strong traditionalist, emphasizing the strength of family and moral values and appears committed to representing his District 17 constituency diligently.

Sen. Vogt is a people-oriented legislator who has been recognized by a large number of civic organizations for having applied himself to their causes.

He also supports strong legislation to deal effectively with the growing problem of crime in our state and is working toward even stiffer penalties for drug trafficking.

Sen. Vogt was first elected in 1972 to a four-year term as state senator, re-elected in 1976 and again in 1980.

Redistricting and a Supreme Court mandate that all state senators seek re-election in 1982 has brought John Vogt before the voters again. We recommend the voters send him right back to Tallahassee for another four years on Nov. 2.

Congressional Races Viewed

Batchelor, McCollum Contest Close

MIAMI (UPI) — Republicans think they could take as many as 10 seats on Florida's congressional delegation, Democrats think it could drop to three and voters Tuesday are expected to settle for something in between.

"We're figuring six districts are ours, and we figure we have a chance to win in three or four other districts that could go either way," says state Republican Chairman Henry Saylor.

Democratic Chairman Charlie Whitehead says if things go the way he figures, the voters will "make it 16-3 in our favor and we'll take that."

Sixteen seats on the 19-member delegation are up for grabs in the general election. Three congressmen return to Washington unopposed. Five contested seats have no incumbents.

The 1980 census awarded the Sunshine State four additional seats and Republican U.S. Rep. L.A. "Skip" Bafalis decided to forgo a reelection bid in order to campaign for governor. The breakdown now stands at 11 Democrats and four Republicans.

Both parties think they have a shot against at least one opposition incumbent. Saylor says former Miami television news anchorman Glenn Rinker has a good chance against Rep. Dante Fascell, a ranking Democratic member of the House Foreign Relations Committee seeking his 15th term.

"I think the closest race in the state is No. 19 between Rinker and Fascell," Saylor says.

To a degree, Whitehead agrees: "Dante will win. It's a close race, but Dante will win."

Conversely, Whitehead thinks Democrat Dick Batchelor of Orlando has a chance against first-term House member Bill McCollum of Altamonte Springs in the 5th District.

"Batchelor absolutely has a chance. It's a very heated campaign and it's very close. The 5 percent undecided could decide that race," Whitehead said.

He also said another two-year GOP incumbent, E. Clay Shaw of Fort Lauderdale, is getting a fight in the 15th from former Broward County Sheriff Ed Stack, 72, who lost his seat in the Democratic primary in 1980 after one term on Capitol Hill.

"I'll tell you what — that's going to be a surprise," says Whitehead. "That race is very, very close. It could be the surprise of the election."

Saylor cautions that the 5th and 15th are two of the six districts the GOP "owns" and expects no trouble.

In the five districts with no incumbents, the hottest race is expected to develop between state Rep. George Sheldon, D-Tampa, and Tarpon Springs businessman Mike Billirakis in the 9th district, which covers Pasco County and parts of Pinellas and Hillsborough. The Democrats and Republicans are both marking that one in their win column.

Both parties also have hopes in the 16th District where Democratic state Rep. Larry Smith of Hollywood is a mild favorite over Port Everglades Commissioner Mike Berkowitz.

GOP state Sen. Tom Lewis of North Palm Beach is favored over Brad Culverhouse of Fort Pierce in the 12th District, vacated by Bafalis.

In the 8th District, former U.S. Senate candidate Buddy Mackay is given the nod over Lake County property assessor and proposition 13 advocate Ed Havill. But Saylor isn't ready to give up on that one yet.

Connie Mack, a Republican banker from Cape Coral, is given a big edge over Dana Stevens in the west coast's 13th District, which Saylor calls "one of the most Republican districts in the entire U.S."

Favored incumbent Democrats with opposition Tuesday are Earl Hutto of Panama City in the 1st, Don Fuqua of Tallahassee in the 2nd, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville in the 3rd, Bill Chappell of Daytona Beach Shores in the 4th, Sam Gibbons of Tampa in the 7th, Bill Nelson of Melbourne in the 11th, Dan Mica of West Palm Beach in the 14th, and Claude Pepper of Miami in the 18th.

The 82-year-old Pepper, the Hill's most senior congressman, is heavily favored over Ricardo Nunez, a 49-year-old real estate broker and former national director of the Cuban Refugee Program.

In fact, Pepper has spent most of his time out of the state this fall campaigning for Democratic colleagues instead of working to return himself to Capitol Hill where he has represented south Florida since 1936.

Democratic Reps. William Lehman of North Miami Beach in the 17th District and Andy Ireland of Winter Haven in the 10th are being returned to Washington without opposition. District 8 Republican Rep. C.W. "Bill" Young of Treasure Island also faces no opposition.

1 Vote Makes A Difference

"My vote doesn't mean anything." This tired refrain from voters who fail to show up at the polls Tuesday doesn't hold water, according to available statistics on the value of a single vote.

Just consider the following instances.

— In 1649, England's King Charles I literally lost his head when the vote to behead him was 67 against and 68 for — the ax fell, thanks to one vote. One vote also placed George I on the throne in 1714.

— In the 1800 U.S. Presidential election, Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr tied in electoral college votes, throwing the election to the U.S. House of Representatives. After 36 separate ballots, Jefferson finally won the election — by one vote.

— In the 1824 presidential race, none of the four candidates running received an electoral majority. The election was again thrown into the House of Representatives where John Quincy Adams defeated front-runner Andrew Jackson by one vote.

— By a margin of just one vote, Texas, California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho became states in 1845, 1850, 1859, 1889, and 1890 respectively.

— President James K. Polk's request for a Declaration of War against Mexico in 1846 was approved by the U.S. Senate by a margin of just one vote.

— The Alaska Purchase of 1867 was ratified by just one vote, paving the way for the eventual annexation of America's largest state.

— Military conscription was enacted in 1941 when Congress approved the war-time draft by one vote.

— If Thomas E. Dewey had gotten one more vote per precinct in Ohio and California, the presidential election of 1948 would have been thrown into the House of Representatives where Dewey enjoyed more support than his rival, incumbent Harry Truman. As it was, Dewey was expected to win the general election by a landslide so most Republicans stayed home. Only 51.5 percent of the electorate voted. Truman defeated Dewey.

— In local elections in Huron, Ohio, in 1955 and in Rose Creek and Odin, Minnesota in 1959, mayors were elected to office by one vote.

— In the presidential election of 1960, one additional vote per precinct in Illinois, Missouri, New Jersey and Texas may have altered the course of America's modern history by denying John F. Kennedy the presidency and placing Richard Nixon in the White House eight years sooner.

It was just one year ago that Ray Ambrose in a first time bid for public office won in a race for mayor of Altamonte Springs by three votes.

But Incredibly Manly? No Way!

DEAR ABBY: I read your column for chuckles every morning in the Chicago

Tribune and can't believe that there are so many people out there leading such dull, unrewarding lives. So, I'm writing to tell you about myself just to brighten your day with the knowledge that we are not all such miserable wretches.

At the age of 17, I enlisted in the U.S. Army's Special Forces and received an awesome collection of combat decorations for my work against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese army.

A week after my discharge, I founded my own company. It became hugely successful and allows me to spend my summers in Europe, while my hirelings look after my growing interests.

Most people who meet me find me ruggedly handsome and incredibly manly. I have more girlfriends than I can handle, and I've slept with the wives of most of my acquaintances. They all tell me I am the best lover they've ever had.

I have more money than I will ever need, and I enjoy the universal respect of my colleagues in a highly competitive industry.

In short, I am what everybody would like to be: successful, wealthy, influential and admired. And most important... ADORED IN CHICAGO DEAR ADORED: I congratulate you on your outstanding service record on behalf of your country.

Strict Fasting Diet Called Very Foolish

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a friend who is on a diet. He eats no food at all and just drinks water for two weeks. After 10 days he is still OK. As you don't recommend unsupervised diets, could you please comment on what the effects could be?

DEAR READER—That is very foolish. Anyone who has listened to the news about the fasts in Ireland should know that you can die from such a practice if it is continued long enough.

centration camps. Because of the low protein in the body, water will start to accumulate causing the swollen limbs and belly.

At the beginning of a fast, as you are describing, the body will lose a lot of normal body water and wash out needed body salts. That causes weakness and a tendency to faint. It also causes severe fatigue.

Fat can deposit in large amounts in the liver causing liver damage as well. The total picture is pretty grim. Now, two weeks will not do all of this but it is dangerous and particularly so if a person has any underlying medical problem. It is far better to decrease your calories a little, increase your exercise and lose weight slowly. You are more likely to keep the body fat off that way, too.

The person may not have an excessive appetite as you would imagine. The hunger center seems to be shut off because of the chemical derangement of the body. The loss of water and salt makes a person think he has lost a lot of weight—and he has, but it is water, not body fat. He is like a wilted plant that has dried up from lack of water.

DEAR DR. LAMB—On the topic of caffeine, I am surprised that you have not recommended Postum as a substitute for coffee or tea. Mr. Post of cereal fame invented it because he felt people who worked for him drank far too much coffee and there should be a healthy substitute. I enjoy a pint thermos of Postum at my desk job, made with a spoon of sugar and some milk. It bridges the gap from breakfast to lunch quite nicely.

During the fast a person will lose about a half pound of muscle and a half pound of fat a day, plus water. We know that because the protein that comes from the muscle and is used for energy releases nitrogen in the urine. By measuring the nitrogen we can calculate how much protein was used for energy.

DEAR READER—I used to drink it as a child. It certainly does not cause the problem posed by consuming too much caffeine. Some people might not like the idea of a sweet drink—coffee, tea or Postum. The milk is good as a source of protein and calcium.

YOUR BIRTHDAY November 2, 1982
Your material prospects look very encouraging for the year ahead. However, there will be times when you might need business or financial advice. You must be sure to deal only with experts.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't make promises or agreements today merely to get another off your back. You might later regret not coming out with a "no." Order now: the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019.

I would suggest that many people might prefer to make their Postum drink with far less than the amount included on the label, but that is a matter of taste. It is sometimes hard to find Postum but many stores still carry it.

Oswald: "Seems fine. I suppose you have one for today."
Jim: "Here is a hand that illustrates the need to play safe for your contract in rubber bridge."
Oswald: "I can see what happened at the table. West opened the ace of clubs and must have continued with the queen. South took dummy's king, discarding a diamond and proceeded to lay down his ace and king of trumps. Then the bad trump, spade and diamond breaks left him one trick short."
Jim: "There was an unusual safety play available, but this declarer missed it. He should cash just one high trump and then start on spades. West would ruff the third spade, but would not be able to lead a trump without sacrificing a trick. South would get to ruff his last spade and be home with the bacon."
Oswald: "Your first hand for the column is a very tough one. Our readers can, if they wish, study the whole hand carefully and see why this safety play is sure to work once both defenders follow to the first trump lead."
By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
Jim: "I'm ready to put in a lot of work now that I'm back with the column again. How about using these Monday talks to discuss a principle of bidding or play?"
