Ford Believes That Dissatisfied People Really Rule World

In skill with the efficiency of the machine has no place in modern industry. These men should go back to the country and learn to make their living—become independent and self-sustaining.

A skilled man in the country can find plenty of ways to use his skill profitably. The person who can't find work in the city is out of place in the city.

But, this is only half of the story. Ford, for many years, has maintained laboratories to experiment with the use of agricultural products in industry.

"When I tell people to go back to the land and produce crops they cry over-production and point to the farmer who can't sell the crops he already produces."

Ford has farms scattered all over Michigan. He has sent men out to experiment with new crops. He also sent them out to learn the satisfaction of growing their own food.

"Intelligent farmers, assisted by chemists and researchers, will develop new crops for new purposes. We will be growing many raw materials instead of digging them out of the earth. In this way agriculture will become necessary to industry and the two will prosper together," he concluded.

A PIONEER OF MY HOME TOWN

By GEORGE H. HART

"In selecting General Sanford as the subject of my essay I feel that I have chosen one of the most outstanding of our city's pioneers. Not only was Sanford named for him, but he did much for our community that merits his recognition."

"General Henry Shelton Sanford was born June 15, 1823, at Woodbury, Connecticut. In childhood he was tutored and later studied at Cheshire Academy. He then attended Washington College, which is now known as Trinity, but after two years he was compelled to leave because of asthma. Physicians advised him to travel for his health. So in 1841 he took several sea voyages and later went to the West, where he lived among the Indians for a while. For a time he travelled abroad and studied at the University of Heidelberg, where the J. M. D. degree was conferred upon him. At Trinity he was given the LL.D. degree in 1849.

In 1849 his diplomatic career was begun when, at the age of twenty-three, he became an attaché to the American Embassy in Russia under Minister Ralph E. Ingersoll. From then to the time he became Minister Resident to Belgium on March 20, 1851, he performed various other diplomatic services.

"The married Gertrude De Puy of Philadelphia, and they had eight children.

"In 1851 General Sanford became interested in Florida. He took a trip up the St. Johns River and he decided to make it permanent in this section. He purchased 12,535 acres at Lake Monroe on the St. Johns River. This tract of land was then known as the Levi Grant. He became acquainted with Judge Welford Tucker, who had come here about 1850, and they formed a business partnership. The natural advantages of the location appealed to these two men, especially the river, which afforded easy and cheap transportation facilities, and they decided to lay the foundation of a town.

"The services of Captain J. H. Marks and Mr. John A. McDonald were secured to make a plan of the town. Sanford Avenue was the first street to be cut. In laying out the town, General Sanford generously donated land to each denomination which consented to build a church, also the lots for the schools and a park for each.

"In the winter of 1851 General Sanford returned to a vessel on his way to Sweden and settled them on a tract of land west of the town, which he called St. Gertrude in honor of his wife. Here an orange grove was started, but it was found that the land was not suited to the orange culture, and the high soil being preferred for orange groves, another site was chosen, where thirty acres were cleared and planted.

"This became known as the 'Pine Grove' when, in the fall of 1851, seventy-five more Swedes were brought over and located there. Because of the experimental and the general Sanford and his nursery and many acres of tall bearing orange groves and many other even more profitable with the same soil and climate of this plot.

"General Sanford's studies, travels, and connections about him enabled him to conduct a wide line of horticultural experiments. It is due to him that Florida was introduced to some new culture crops, many of which he was very liberal in distributing seeds for planting to other growers. Up to this time nothing but the native sweet orange had been cultivated.

"He imported many trees from Europe, such as lemons, oranges and limes. The other fruits on the grove included almonds, pineapples, native and imported, tangerines, figs, pomegranates, loquats or Japanese plum, sour cherries, hard apple, mandarin, apple, pear, percent from the 1929 month January's rise was 13.2 percent.

HOUSE UNABLE TO AGREE UPON VET MEASURES

several compromise suggestions were offered. Roosevelt bluntly told the congressional group the increase in veterans' allowances and government salaries voted by the Senate was unacceptable to him and left no doubt of a veto if the provisions were not modified.

This issue is one of the largest standing blocks confronting the Administration in the Congressional session and the House appropriations committees who now have the legislation left the White House with the promise to seek some adjustment. They conceded that several obstacles interfered. Earlier, the program of the veterans' amendment and other phases of the Congressional program were discussed by the President with Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, with the result that a program was drawn up contemplating adjustment between May 1 and May 15.

First importance was given the bill to return the air mail to commercial companies, the approval of tariff measures, the tax bill and appropriations. Knowledge of the stock exchange control bill was still held out as a possibility.

In outlining a legislative program, Senator Robinson emphasized that attention would be given to the President's last bargaining bill and expected to be acted on by the Senate "with reasonable promptness."

Robinson said the stock exchange control bill probably would be left to the House for the first action.

"It is expected," he said, "that it will be completed as much as possible so as to direct attention against well recognized evils which have been disclosed in the investigation."

His declaration was interpreted by some to mean that the pending Fletcher Rayburn control bill will have to be considerably modified.

Robinson said the municipal bankruptcy bill already passed by the House would be taken up in the Senate but with an amendment providing for an extension of time for payments and the reduction of interest rates on mortgages in the place of this method to scale down city obligations.

He said the emergency anti-trust legislation asked for by President Roosevelt to permit new contracts for the removal of oil reserves would be the next order of business in the Senate.

"You are entitled to every cent of the money you have earned and I have no objection to your doing so," he said. "I have no objection to your doing so."

MRS. PINCHOT HOT IN REPLY TO JOHNSON

"I recommended a definite change of policy, saying that the present plan of allowing the trust, the automobile, insurance and big business generally to float the government was an American utterance, wrong and must inevitably lead to failure for the NRA."

"That there are still many sweatshops cannot be denied. But workers are still paid a fraction of the new minimum cannot be denied. That a great number of workers have been dismissed for union activities cannot be denied. That neither labor nor management being adequately protected cannot be denied. That small business is in many cases being forced to the wall while big business has been allowed to strengthen its grip on the country cannot be denied."

"I am entitled to every cent of the money I have earned and I have no objection to your doing so."
