This one-acre Leshaped parcel, adjacent to the Seminole County's animal control shelter at Five Points, is now being offered by the county commission to the Seminole County Humane Society as a site for its proposed new animal shelter. A humane society official says, however, it is not adequate for the group's needs.

County Offers Switch On Animal Shelter Site

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The exact location of a site to be donated by the county for a humane society animal shelter was uncertain

Seminole County Commissioners on a 3-2 vote one week ago agreed to lease for 25 years to the Seminole County Humane Society a 3-acre county-owned parcel off U.S. 17-92 and County Home Road.

Commissioners are now offering the society an alternate site adjacent to the county animal control facilities at Pive Points but a society official says that site will not meet their needs. But developments have occurred in the intervening week as follows:

-A planned county board of adjustment public hearing on the proposal acheduled for July 6 has been cancelled because it is not required by law.

The commissioners approval of the lease arrangement was given contingent upon a public hearing to be held to give nearby property owners an opportunity to air objections if they had any.

-Part of the site is located within the Sanford city limits and it must be determined if a zoning change la necessary for the facility to be located

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Peta" Knowles said today an official of the humane society spoke with a staff member in the city's planning and zoning office a week ago, but filed no requests for changes of zoning.

Knowles said today the city portion of the property is zoned commercial and kennels are an allowed use. But pasture land, which the society plans to locate on

"It would depend on where they want to locate their pasturcland," Knowles

Knowles suggested the county and the Humane Society comes into city hall and discuss the problem, adding that the city will be as helpful and cooperative as it is to any applicant.

County Director of Development John Percy, told commissioners Tuesday that a more preferred site for lease to the society would be a one-acre L-shaped parcel adjacent to the county's animal control facilities. He said this site would not interfere with expansion or new construction of any other needed county facilities. Percy said the society could use animal control pastureland and share some animal pens. Ruth Henry, executive director of the Humane Society, said, however, the newly offered site would not be adequate and the county has not communicated with the society to make the new offer.

"We aren't opposed to being adjacent to animal control, but that parcel would not be adequate for our needs. There is way we could share community exercise space or shelter. With one shelter so near the other, if there were an outbreak of an air-born virus at one it would quickly spread to the other," Ms. Henry said. "A little over an acre is not enough for our

Mixson In Dark; Won't Run Again?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) - Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixson says he has been kept out of major policy decisions by Gov. Bob Graham's two closest aides and may not run for re-election with Graham next year.

Mixson disclosed his feelings of frustration in an interview Tuesday. After Graham learned of the lieutenant governor's feelings, he summoned Mixson for a 90-minute meeting in his Mixson emerged from the meeting saying he would like to carry out a commitment he made in April to be Graham's running mate again, but will not unless there is a radical change in his role in the administration.

Mixson believes he has been shut out by Garry Smith, the governor's chief of staff, and Steve Hull, his press secretary and advisor, the Sentinel reported in today's editions.

"Garry and Steve are the two pillars Bob leans on in making decisions. I am completely out of it," Mixson said. "Garry Smith does not inform me of what the hell they are doing. . . To him, I have no right to know."

Jim Williams, who was Gov. Reubin Askew's second running mate, served as secretary of the Department of Administration with direct supervision over the budgetary and personnel activities of state governor, Mixson noted. Williams also was a close political advisor to Askew.

"There was some real clout there," he said. Graham said after the meeting with Mixson he had pledged to make much greater use of the lieutenant governor

"It is my intention, desire and commitment that Wayne be the closest person to me politically, and from now on, his advice is going to be sought heavily and listened to," the governor said. "He is going to be influential in every decision." Mixson's departure from the ticket could weaken Graham's

The lieutenant governor said he might consider running for a Cabinet seat if one of the incumbents decided against seeking re-election or running for the state Senate if he doesn't remain as part of the Graham team.

Mixson, 59, said his subservient role began even before Graham was inaugurated in January 1979.

"I was literally shocked, after all the discussions on what we would do if we were elected, to find the governor appointing people like Jim Tait to be in charge of all the governor's budget and others in key positions whom I knew were not qualified,"

"It made me furious that I was not even consulted on the appointments and had to hear about them secondhand.

Mixson said it took Graham "two months" to realize he had made a mistake in appointing Talt as director of budgeting and planning and "two years to rectify that mistake."

Tait was replaced by Tom Herndon last fall. One of the reasons for Tait's removal to a lower-level administration position was the poor reception among legislators of the governor's programs, including tax reform recommendations which were rejected in their entirely during a special session in December 1979.

Mixson said Graham asked him to take over direction of his lobbying affairs. Mixson did do so, but quit after the 1980 session because Smith was actually running things.

"I told him that as long as Garry Smith was going to hold all the reins, there wasn't any need for me to even try to do it."

Smith, who was manager of Graham's gubernatorial campaign, earns $51,000 as chief of state, while Mixson and members of the Cabinet earn $49,000, although they are soon to get

County: No Auto Inspections

The motor vehicle inspection (MVI) program, in operation in Seminole County for the past 13 years, will be closing by Sept. 30 and possibly sooner.

The Seminole County Commissioners on a 4-1 vote Tuesday, with Commission Chairman Bob Sturm casting the only negative vote, decided to discontinue the county's three MVI stations.

The Legislature during its recent session, on Gov. Graham's recommendation, adopted new law effective Oct. 1 discontinuing the state mandate for MVI, but granting counties the option of sponsoring their own programs.

The majority of Seminole commers decided Tuesday not to take advantage of the option.

At present the county employs 19 full time staffers at the three MVI stations time. All of the positions will be subsidized with other tax moneys. eliminated. According to County Per- The county budgeted $379,000 in

When state law was adopted in 1968 calling for motor vehicle inspections in the state, the county opted to build its own stations. Subsequently the county built stations off 25th Street in Sanford, on Triplett Drive, across from city hall in Casselberry, and at the Sanlando sanitary landfill-transfer station site.

During the early years of the program, the county received revenues over and above the costs of operating the program and used those excess funds for construction and maintenance of roads.

However, in recent months County Administrator Roger Neiswender warned county commissioners that the annual $3 fee, called for by the state for the inspections would have to be raised for the program to pay its own way in and 3 part time employees, and has 16 liscal 1961-62. Postal Workers To Picket

By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Staff Writer

Members of local unions of the American Postal Workers Union and National Association of Letter Carriers will picket on Thursday in front of the Casselberry and Sanford Post Offices to bring public attention to the unions' nationwide labor dispute with the U.S. Postal Service.

Deadline for the existing national contract is July 20. "After stalling negotiations for almost two months, the U.S. Postal Service finally agreed to sit down at the bargaining table on June 16 in Washington, D.C.," said Ciro Mirlocca, president of the Central Florida APWU local.

Originally scheduled to begin April 22, negotiations were delayed by the U.S. Postal Service which filed a petition and then an appeal with the National Labor Relations Roard challenging the bargaining unit status of the postal unions.

The Postal Service failed to show up for the opening of contract talks on April 22 and refused to bargain with the unions while the matter was pending before the NLRB, said Mirlocca. "The board rejected both the petition and subsequent appeal as lacking in merit and validity." "We American Postal Workers Union and the National Association of Letter Carriers are determined to negotiate a new contract by July 20," said Mirlocca and John Root, vice president of the NALC branch 1771,

"There is no reason why - if we work hard - we cannot hammer out sound, acceptable agreements in the next five weeks. We need only good faith, bargaining, mutual respect, and genuine consideration and understanding of the needs of the 603,000 postal workers," said Mirlocca.

The APWU and NALC have a combined membership of almost 500,000 in the 50 states, U.S. Possessions and territories.

John H. Jones, president of the NALC Branch $561, and Frank Fry, president of the APWU Local 6081, have announced members will picket the Casselberry Post Office in Live Oak Center from 24 p.m. on Thuraday. Because the post office is on private property, Jones said, the picketers will be posted on the sidewalk at the entrance to the center from Highway 17-92.

Residents Oppose Psychiatric Hospital In Goldenrod Area

Residents of several subdivisions and apartment complexes in the Goldenrod area are expected to present petitions opposing the location of a proposed 80bed long term psychiatric hospital to the Health Systems Agency (HSA) board Thursday night.

The HSA Board is scheduled to meet at 8 p.m., Thursday, at the University Quality Inn on Highway 50 near Alfaya Trail to review an application by Health Care Corp. of Chatlanooga to build the psychiatric care facility on a 7.5 acre site on Howell Branch Road in southeast Seminole County. The site is near the Orange County line and nearby residents in both Seminole and Orange are circulating petitions.

Don Grider, president of the Village Green Homeowners Association, who is spearheading the opposition, said the president of the HSA Board has agreed to allow the residents to present their petition, state their objections and acquaint the board members with the area by the use of slides.

Grider said the petitions were also distributed on Monday to the homeowners' associations in Woodcrest, Wrenwood, Arrowhead Estates, Howell Estates, Howell Lake Estates, Georgetown and Woodside Village and to the Shoals Apartments and Goldesrod jection is to the inappropriateness of the proposed site."

"We are concerned about the safety of the community and the residents," be said. "First, the hospital would introduce an unstable element with little security to prevent someone from walking away. The facility is dedicating half its beds to the treatment of youth with drinking and alcohol-related problems in effect in an open ward facility.

Equally important is the traffic problem on Howell Branch Road, which is two-laned and the county has no plans to widen it," Grider pointed out. There is no traffic light at the Aloma Avenue intersection. Howell Branch cannot possible accommodate the traffic which the hospital would generate with staff, visitors and patients as well as emergency vehicles.

"Since the beginning of the year two condominium and apartment complexes have opened within 200 yards of the site.

There are three spots where the county has required the developments to put in a third deceleration lane within 500 yards and the entire traffic situation is chaos," Grider said.

The $3.5 million psychiatric hispital would be only 1.5 miles from the Lake Howell Academy which has been sold for conversion to an alcoholic rehabilitation center. The center was given a special exception over the protests of area residents, Grider said. "Now we'll have not one, but two," he added. The hospital site is zoned C-2 Commercial, which allows hospitals.

"All the people I have contacted have been gravely concerned about safety and traffic problems that the hospital might cause," Grider said. "We're pulling Health Systems Agency and the applicant on notice that they're moving into unitiently tetritory."

A 19-year-old Orlando woman may have escaped being raped Tuesday when she kicked her assailant in the groin during an early morning attack.

Juanita Marie Lyles, a dancer at the Club Juana in Casselberry, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was driving down State Road 436 about 2 a.m. when a man, who had apparently gotten into her car when she made a stop at a convenience store, sat up in the back seat and forced her to pull off the road.

The mysterious hitchhiker then drove the car to Lake Ann Lane in Caselberry where he stopped and tried to tear Lyles' clothes off, she said. Lyles kicked the man in the crotch, jumped in her car and fled.

DOG TRACK SUIT CONTINUES

Following a three-hour hearing, Chief Seminole Circuit Court Judge Kenneth Leffler Tuesday ordered the state of Florida to post a $471,000 bond during its appeal of Leffler's June 16 ruling striking down the 1960 law allowing conversion of Seminole Park from a horse racing to greyhound racing

Leffler said the bond is intended to protect the Daytona Beach Kennel Club from possible financial losses suffered as a result of its head-on competition with Seminole Park. The Seminole and Daytona Beach tracks have nearly identical racing seasons -- May through September. The Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, which sided with the Daytona track in a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the 1980 conversion statute runs winter races.

The state entered the legal battle in mid-March for two reasons: 1) to defend the integrity of the conversion law, and 2) to protect the state's multi-raillien taxing stake in the continued operation of the race tracks.

It was the State Attorney General's office which appealed Leffler's June 18 decision, sending the case to the Fifth District Court of Appeals in Daytona Beach and effectively suspending the judge's order that Seminole Park cease operations.

In making his ruling a week ago, Leffler said that the 1980 statute is unconstitutional because it applies only to the Seminole greyhound track, and extends a special state privilege to a private rather than a public corporation.

Adult Entertainment Ordinances Get Tentative Approval

There are no topless bars in the city of Longwood and by adopting two stringent anti-nudity ordinances the city commission hopes to discourage any from locating there.

The commission meeting Monday night tentatively adopted an ordinance prohibiting nudity, lap dancing, physical contact between customers and employees; partitioned or acreened booths, 'mingling,' and simulated sex acts between entertainers in establishments which sell or serve alcoholic beverages. Another ordinance which regulates mude and semi-mude entertainment in any other commercial establishments, but does not ban it completely was also tentatively adopted in a 5-0 vote.

Public hearings and final vote on the two ordinances have been set for July 13.

Tabled until July 13 to give City Attorney Marvin Rooks to make some revisions was an ordinance prescribing distances between establishments licensed to sell alcoholid beverages and other such establishments and between Lou Blanc, of Southern Development Co., Winter Park, who was represented by Long John Silver, said the State Department of Transportation has taken this into consideration in location of their entrances and exits.

In other action, the council on a 2-1 vote failed to grant a $1 per month rate increase to H & W Refuse Service, Inc. Had the increase passed, H & W's roughly 3,000 customers in Winter Springs would have seen their trash collection bills go up to $7 per month.

However, councilman Hartman, citing an informal telephone survey of other area garbage companies, said the $7 figure is too high. "In light of that, I don't think the increase is justified," he said. "But look at all the restrictions they place on their services," Arnold retorted. "H & W has no limitations. Besides, anybody who can't afford $7 for this kind of garbage service ought to move out of Winter Springs."

Because of a provision in H & W's contract with the city governing rate increases, the collection firm will not be permitted to make another rate hike request until January. H & W hasn't raised the price it charges its Winter Springs customers since Jan. 1980.

Despite some opposition from residents who protested that the watering hours were too few and inconvenient city officials imposed an even more restrictive ban, fearing what Utilities Director Ed Keuling called "an extremely critical situation." Mayor Owen Sheppard told council members Monday reports from the utilities division have indicated people are still using too much water. Pressure in the system remains dangerously low, he said. In addition to extending the moratorium's end date from June 30 to July 31, the city council banned the use of water outside between 12:00 noon and 4 a.m. everyday. Oddnumbered addresses will only be allowed to water on oddnumbered days and even-numbered addresses on even days.

One resident protested that the residents of Casselberry were being legally penalized for using water outside while unincorporated areas of the county such as Deer Run and Tanglewood use "as much water as they like." Sheppard admitted that outlying areas served by Casselberry utilities were a problem since the county holds jurisdiction.

"I know how you feel," Council Chairman Torn Embree said. "My lawn is burned just like yours is. But right now, we're in trouble and we just have to bite the bullet until things get better." Monday night's emergency moratorium could be called off at anytime before the July 31 deadline, said Shep-"Things might get better in the next two weeks. We just never know. Friday was extremely hot and the system pumped over 16 million gallons of water. And today it rained, we only pumped two million. So we just don't know how it'll go.' Officials said local restaurants would be asked to voluntarily conserve water by giving glames of water only to those customers who specially request it.

"That may seem like a pretty small thing, Sheppard said. I guess the glasses of water won't amount to much, but when you think about the water it takes to wash them, then it's a dil-

Napa Valley Fires Cause $30 Million In Damages

YOUNTVILLE, Calif. (UPI) - Firefighters today had almost halted the spread of a giant brush fire raging through the heart of California wine country that destroyed $500,000 mansions, cremated terrified animals and injured 10 people.

The blaze caused $30 million in property damage including 26,000 charred acres in Napa County. Authorities said an arsonist was to blame.

In one high-priced neighborhood, nine frantic neighbors and their dogs stranded on a roof panicked as the house next door went up in flames. To escape, they were driven through a wall of flames by a forest

Ranchers cut their fences so cattle and horses could flee. A fire official said seared carcases of wild deer littered the road. But the area's vineyards were

The 'Fat Lady Conspiracy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A federal appeals court has let stand the convictions of seven members of the "Fat Lady Conspiracy" - a Washington-based ring that used overweight women to obtain prescription drugs for illegal resale.

By a vote of 3-0 Tuesday, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia rejected their appeals filed on a variety of grounds, including several procedural challenges.

The drug trafficking operation "sent groups of overweight women on a regular basis to Philadelphia and New York, and sporadically to Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Miami and Birmingham, Ala.," the court

The women visited physicians to obtain prescriptions for preludin, a drug prescribed to induce weight loss. They also would complain of pain in order to get prescriptions for the pain-reliever dilaudid, the court

New Daylight Saving Time?

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Congress is considering proposals to extend Daylight Saving Time from six to eight months a year to provide more daylight for Halloween "trick-or-treaters" and even move clocks ahead two hours in July and August.

Hearings on the proposals were held Tuesday in the House and Senate, with administration witnesses urging the two-month extension as an energy-saving measure.

Richard Walsh, director of the Transportation Department's Office of Economics and Public Investment, said the department supports an eightmonth daylight saving period running from late February through the last Sunday in October.

Daylight Saving Time now begins the last Sunday in

Florida Giant, Ball, Dead

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UPI) - Ed Ball, the 93-yearold chief trustee of the billion-dollar Alfred I. duPont Trust, died today at the Ochsner Foundation Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

"After constant gradual deterioration, Mr. Edward Ball died at 6:20 a.m. today," spokeswoman Karen Nabonne said.

Ball, of Jacksonville, Fla., had entered the hospital last April 16 initially to await surgery to repair an abdominal aneurysm.

DETROIT (UPI) - Flying "in the face of the tax revolt," voters heeded Mayor Coleman Young's warning that the nation's sixth largest city was threatened with bankruptcy and soundly approved a hike in their city income tax.

With 87.89 percent of the vote counted today, the one percentage point hike in the city income tax to raise extra funds was winning by a margin of 62.3 percent in favor to 37.7 percent opposed - 144,220 to 87,284.

City officials said by the time the final returns were counted they expected a nearly 40 percent turnout by the electorate the highest ever in Detroit for a special election.

"This flies in the face of the tax revolt," said Detroit Mayor

Coleman Young. "I think it's a remarkable tribute." Voters were asked Tuesday to increase the city income tax from 2 percent to 3 percent and the non-resident tax from 0.5

Iran Turmoil Is Worsening

Most Americans couldn't care less about the political fortunes of ousted Iranian President Bani-Sadr, or, for that matter, about Iran itself. Memories of the hostage crisis are still too harsh to permit much more than smug satisfaction at Iran's political turmoil and Bani-Sadr's slide from

But that attitude ignores Iran's immense strategic value as a barrier separating the Soviet Union from the oil treasure of the Persian Gulf region. As for Bani-Sadr, his political demise almost certainly moves Iran that much closer to civil war, and the likelihood of a Soviet-assisted grab for power by Iranian leftists and Communists.

The fall of the shah in January 1979 left five distinct factions competing for control in Iran: Ismamic fundamentalists, pro-shah loyalists, moderate leftists, hard-line leftists and pro-Soviet Communists Abolhassan Bani-Sadr managed to collect 70 percent of Iran's presidential votes last year by combining support from the Ayatollah Khomeini's Islamic fundamentalists and the moderate left. Since then, he has angered Islamic zealots, and the ayatollah, by resisting the regime's anti-Western excesses.

His centrist views have likewise earned him the enmity of the pro-Palestinina left and Iran's Tudeh Communist Party, wholly controlled by

An Iranian parliament dominated by the fundamentalist Islamic Revolutionary Party has stripped the president of most of his powers and now threatens alternately to impeach him or put him on trial for treason. Doing either would further fracture Iran's political structure and aggravate the risk of civil war.

Why? Because, for all his enemies on the religious right and the extreme left, the man most Iranian voters chose last year as president still speaks for a moderate coalition that includes the armed forces, much of Iran's middle class, and others tired of misrule by the mullahs and fearful of an even worse fate at the hands of would-be commissars.

Turning Abolhassan Bani-Sadr into a martyr might be just the spark needed to provoke his supporters into open rebellion. And that, in turn, could create the kind of chaos that would all but invite a Soviet-aided takeover by the far left.

Thin-Skinned Beauty

Americans really believe thin is beautiful. They want to slip their sleek bodies into those glovetight designer jeans and wow the world.

One of the latest big sellers is The Beverly Hills Diet." It's a six-week adventure into gorging on tropical fruit.

It may not be as much fun, but it makes a lot more sense.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Fourth of July Committee is gearing up for the annual celebration in Fort Mellon Park. Many local organizations and agencies will be partleipating in the event which will kick off at 11 a.m. and run until dark. Climaxing the day's activities will be the fireworks display to be launched from the north side of the Monroe

Those sponsoring booths are asked to donate a minimum of $25 toward the cost of the fireworks, according to Jack Horner, Chamber executive

There will be plenty of old-fashioned fun such as the greased pole climb, watermelon eating contest, cake walk, pony rides, sack race and a Seminole Youth Baseball Little League game. "Soul Food" will be served by Mary Smith to benefit the Good Samaritan Home as well as other goodies that will be on sale.

The Red Cross will provide First Aid and Visiting Nurses Association will be taking blood

Speaking of Jack Horner,... he is scheduled to be installed as the new president of Sanford Rotary Monday night nt the Civic center. Jack will take over the reins from the outgoing president, Sanford City Manager Pete Knowles. The local club will have as its guest for the occasion the governor of the newly created District 698, Gene Colley.

Although the public feels many times governments are slow to respond to their needs, here's an example to the contrary. While the Longwood Woman's Club members awere still scurrying around collecting 1,140 signatures on a petition asking for a traffic light on County Road 427 and Church Avenue, Seminole County approached Longwood with a proposal.

As the result a recent traffic count and the grassroot rumblings, the county beat them to the punch offering to install and maintain the signal if the city would foot half the cost of installation. Although he muttered something about "it's the county's deal and they ought to be taking care of it all together," Commissioner J.R. Grant joined the others in voting to shell out $25,000 as the city's share

"Hello...hello...hello."

Longwood Mayor John Hepp is hearing voices and after three years, he told the city commission Monday night he's getting pretty fed up with sleepless nights. He hears the voice over his radio, television, organ head set, and even the intercome in his home.

"Hello...hello...hello," the voice blares out in the middle of the night. In case you may think the strain of his mayoral duties has been too much on his honor, he hastily adds, "It's not just me, it's all around the neighborhood.

Hepp suspects a neighborhood radio ham operator is the source of the disturbance.

"Some of the neighbors are threatening to go after his cable with an axe and if they do I might be tempted to look the other way," he added.

Defense Lobby Funding

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Who's paying the bill for the high-powered lobbying operations conducted by major defense contractors to pressure Congress into approving weapons systems those corporations want to sell to the federal government?

Most of those costs are being borne by the same people who finance a host of other outrageous activities in this capital - the nation's taxpayers.

The scheme under which the country's largest and wealthiest defense contractors recoup much of their lobbying expenses is considerably more scandalous, however, than most other forms of legalized fraud conducted

The practice was never even seriously questioned until the mid-1970s, when the Defense Contract Audit Agency, the Pentagon's principal financial watchdog, undertook a probe of the Washington offices of 10 defense contractors.

Those DCAA audits were, in substantial measure, a public relations gesture initiated by the Defense Department in the wake of a scandal involving unethical favors proffered to Pentagon officials by military contractors.

Although denied access to many of the contractors' records, the DCAA auditors found evidence of entertainment expenses, country club dues, tickets to professional football games and other lobbying expenditures for which reimbursement was claimed under government contracts.

DCAA argued persuasively that "costs relating to lobbying should not be allowed" to qualify for federal reimbursement - with money collected from the taxpayers because there was no justification for "attempts by contractors to influence legislation favoring procurement of their products."

In addition, DCAA cited a federal criminal statute that specifically prohibited the use of federal funds to finance any effort "to influence in any manner a member of Congress to favor or oppose... any legislation or appropriation."

Although the DCAA audits were confined to a two-year period, the agency identified hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of lobbying expenses improperly reimbursed by the government to the contractors in 1974 and

Efforts to require refunds of that money were undercut, however, in late 1976 when a policy paper was distributed throughout the Pentagon establishing new guidelines for the classification of contractors' lobbying costs.

The memo was written by Dale R. Babione, a high-ranking Defense Department official. In August 1979, he resigned to become director of government business relations for the Boeing Co., one of the firms under investigation.

Under the policy enunciated by Babione, a contractor could claim full reimbursement for the time registered lobbvists spent on Capitol Hill attending hearings, gathering information and meeting with legislators as long as they were not directly attempting to influence legislation.

In the late 1970s, the contractors launched a campaign to further undermine DCAA's attempts to demand refunds, claiming that the policy represented an abridgment of their First Amendment right to petition their

Yes, the Interstate highways are worn out in many areas, but it wasn't the automobile that did it. It was the heavy trucks that ruined many Interstates.

Trucks Ruin Roads

The heavy trucks have had practically a free ride at taxpayers' expense for 25 years on the Interstates. It's time to either change the trucks proportionately in taxes, according to the damage they do to the highways, or

I believe you know what is causing turn the Interstates into toll roads where the offenders cannot escape paying their way.

The ridiculously low license and fuel taxes paid by heavy trucks are only a small fraction of the costs they cause in highway maintenance. Studies have indicated that an 18-wheeler truck, fully loaded, causes several thousand times the damage to a highway as a 4,000pound automobile does.

We will never again see the Interstate system in good condition until the costs of maintenance are properly allocated to those who benefit the most, and at the same time cause that maintenance.

Thanks For Support

We are thankful to you and our many friends for the support given and interest shown during our Open House on Sunday, May 17, 1961.

Some tell us that prayer is all in the mind; that the only result is the solace we find; that God does not answer nor hear when we call.

We commune with our hearts in prayer that is all. But we who have knelt with our burdens and care and made all our problems a matter of prayer have seen God reach down from his heaven above, move mountains, touch hearts in his infinite love.

We know that God works in a wonderful way on behalf of his children who trust and pray.

We the staff of the Good Samaritan Home hope that you enjoy your visit; not because of this special day but because Jesus came along this way. For we know that without God we can do nothing.

JEFINY HART A New Idea On

As soon as the dust settles on the political struggle about the Reagan economic package, the abortion issue is going to move to the center of the stage.

Abortion

The argument will concern a bill introduced by Senator Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Rep. Henry Hyde of Illinois, according to which Congress will vote on whether or not life "shall be deemed to exist from con-

If the bill passes, and is held to be constitutional, it would empower the states to legislate as they wish on the subject of abortion.

In a picturesque moment, both Robert Bork, former Nixon solicitor general, and Archibald Cox, the special Watergate prosecutor whom Bork fired, testified before a senate subcommittee that the Helms-Hyde bill is unconstitutional. Other scholars vigorously disagreed.

In practical terms, the Helms-Hyde bill may be starting at the wrong end of pregnancy, with its focus on conception.

Would we not be likely to reach a consensus much more easily regarding later-stage abortions?

The definition of an early fetus as "human" depends on a kind of philosophical argument, not convincing to everyone. It is certainly "human life" — not animal or vegetable but there is no consensus that it is a "human

But where the later stages are concerned, the visual evidence is pretty convincing. The developing fetus looks like a child. It has fingers, toes, a heartbeat. It experiences pleasure and pain. At a certain stage, it even behaves like a child, using the womb as a kind of exercise area.

The photographs of fetuses aborted in the later stages are completely unnerving. They look like bables

Moreover, the aborted later-stage fetuses obviously suffer. As I understand it, they utter small cries of pain. They know that they are being killed.

It is extraordinary that, as in one notorious case, an "abortion" can result in a successful birth - and then the viable child can be killed with impunity.

Wouldn't it be possible for us to reach a legislative consensus that would prohibit abortions after three months?

I have no windom of my own about the three-month deadline; perhaps two months would be preferable. These things can be worked out in the timetried way of political compromise.

But at a certain point in the development of the fetus I think practically everyone would agree that the new being is a child, is a separate and visibly human entity - and not "part of the woman's body," over which she has the right to exercise absolute control.

If such a consensus would exist, as I think it should, then it would politically isolate the pro-abortion absolutists.

Helms-Hyde, in contrast, may politically isolate the anti-abortion absolutists who would ban everything all the way back, perhaps, to the pill and the I.U.D.

San Juan's New Court: GSA's Blunder

WASHINGTON - The proverbial horse that can be led to water - but not made to drink - has its counterpart in San Juna, Puerto Rico. The federal judges have had a luxurious new courthouse waiting for them in nearby Hato Rey for five years now, but no amount of persuasion by the General Services Administration can get them to move in.

The situation would be comical but for one thing: It's costing the taxpayers literally millions of dollars, liere's the story.

GSA, the federal government's housekeeper and general factotum, decided in the early 1960s that the federal courthouse in San Juan was too old, obsolete and overcrowded to uphold the majesty of American justice in a proper manner. The solution, in time-honored bureaucratic tradition, was to build a new courthouse.

GSA spared no expense. The one-story courthouse in Hato Rey cost some $4 million.

It is fully air-conditioned, with high ceilings, expensive carpeting and a lobby the size of a basketball court. One awed observer described it as looking like a Hollywood set.

An internal report by the GSA's inspector general says, "The new facility is prestigious, even luxurious, by any standards.

It is also available, and has been since 1976. But the judges have simply refused to move in. They are clearly not taken in by GSA's use of the word "prestigious." What can a bunch of GSA pencil-pushers tell a federal judge about prestige?

The trouble seems to be, as GSA sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado, that for all its decay and overcrowding, the present courthouse in Old San Juan is the judges idea of prestigious. Apparently, it's the neighborhood: To the Judges, Old San Juan is "in," Hato Rey is "out." It's that simple.

But the judges couldn't come right out and say that. So they found myriad excuses for not moving into their elegant new courthouse: It wasn't safe. No bulletproof windows. One courtroom wasn't big enough.

GSA, desperate to get the building occupied, tried to appears the judges. It installed bulletproof windows and enlarged the unacceptable courtroom at an additional cost of $350,000.

But in the ensuing years Congress had approved several more judges for Puerto Rico. Ahal You see? the judges cried. The new courthouse im't big enough. What must be done is to renovata our old courthouse. Incredibly, GSA agree. It spent $622,000 to fix up the crumbling courthouse in Old San Juan. The judges had even less reason to move to Hato Rey. So the fancy new courthouse sits largely empty to this day: Only one-third of it is occupied. Mildew Ricks the unused narrature. Exterminators had to be called in to slay the termites. Part of a ceiling in what was intended to be a judge's chamber collapsed one

Determined to win over the recalcitrant jurists no matter how much it costs the taxpayers, GSA is now planning to sink another $2.2 million into the phantom courthouse of Hato Roy. The money will go to expand the building and presumably answer the judges' complaint that there won't be room for their new colleagues. If approved by Congress, the proposed expansion would take five years to complete. As one disgusted official noted, this would extend the courthouse's vacancy to more than 16 years, or 20 percent of the building's useful

And here's the final rub: The GSA still doesn't know whether the judges will move in once the expansion is completed, though a court spokesman assured me they will.

"I KNOW the water table is low, but WHY does If have to rain on WEEKENDS?

He predicted that 26 people will die in traffic accidents during the 78-hour holiday. The holiday will run from 7 p.m. Thursday, July 2 to midnight Sunday July Records show that 22 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents over the Independence Day hollday last year. They also reflect that of the 12 fatalities in motor vehicles that had safety equipment, none was using it. Of the 12, three were thrown from the vehicle.

Insurance Rate Hike Denied

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) - Florida's high risk automobile insurance pool managers must decide soon if they will accept or challenge denial of a proposed $11 million rate increase in the high risk pool.

Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter denied the increase Tuesday, saying it was excessive.

The increase, requested by managers of the Florida Joint Underwriting Association, would have boosted the average premium of 350,000 motorists covered by the pool by 7.4 percent.

Refugees May Affect Legislative Districts

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) - A U.S. Census Bureau official says the mass exodus of Cubans and Haltians into Florida could have an impact on the drawing of new Legislative district boundaries.

However, Marshal Turner, assistant chief of the Census Bureau in Washington, said officials aren't sure how many of the illegal aliens showed up in last year's census count.

Turner spoke to state legislators Tuesday at the opening of a two-day seminar on reapportloument sponsored by Senate President W.D. Childers and the National Conference of State Legislators.

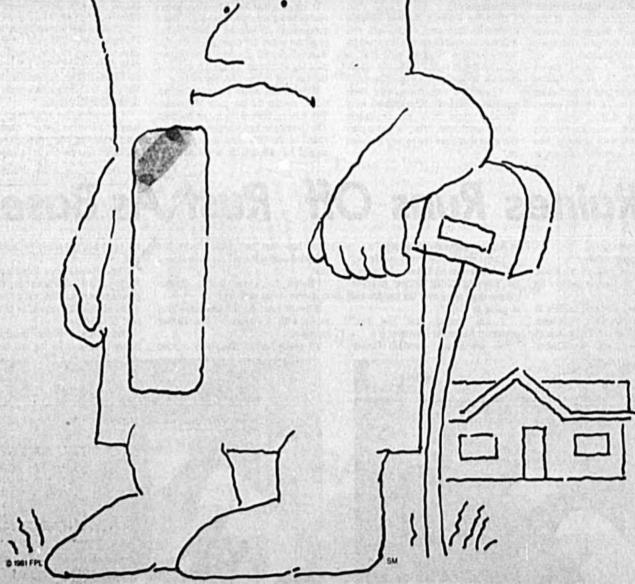

"If the illegal entrants chose to fill out the census form, then that could have an effect on reapportionment," said Turner.

"However, we think that many people without legal-entrant status would want to avoid any contact with the government." Turner said a majority of the refugees came to Fiorida after the census count had begun, and probably weren't included in

Florida's population has ballooned so greatly in the last 10 years, the state gained four additional congressional seats, giving it a total of 19. The division of the districts could determine whether Republicans or Democrats have an edge

We don't like it any better than you do, but Big Bill is coming.

As temperatures rise, electric bills get bigger mainly because of the increased use of air conditioning. And this year they'll be bigger than last, because the price of fuel oil used in generating electricity is much higher than last year, even with recent declines. This means a higher fuel adjustment charge on your bills. Add the inflated prices of the other goods and services we must buy and the result is much higher bills than last year. For FPL and you.

But there is something you can do this summer. By conserving electricity, you can minimize the increase. For example, air conditioning accounts for over 50% of the power used in the typical home, so check your air conditioner. Have it serviced if necessary. Clean or change the filter. If you replace your air conditioner, choose one with a high efficiency rating. Install sufficient insulation (R-19 in the attic, R-5 for walls). Weatherstrip doors and windows. Seal cracks with caulking. Use reflective film (or draperies) to keep out direct sunlight. Install ceiling fans to help improve air flow.

Your water heater typically uses about 21% of your total electricity, so install flow restrictors in faucets and showerheads. They'll help reduce hot water usage significantly.

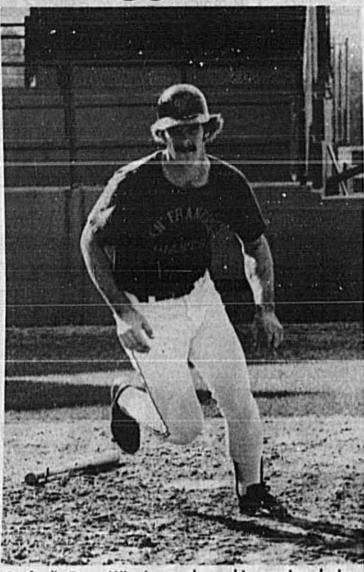

You'll find many other important energy saving tips in the helpful folder we're sending you, and in other folders available at your local Florida Power & Light office. We hope you'll read them carefully, then follow their advice. The more you do, the more you'll hold down Big Bill.

WAITING GAME

Wiggins Faces Crowded Outfield At Phoenix...

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's Dave Wiggins has turned in

Despite Wiggins' .320 average, the former Seminole baseball-basketball standout has become a victim of the "number's game," Wiggins' season salary ($6500) can't compete with some of his celebrated teammates.

Chili Davis are in the $30-$40,000 range. All three have major league experience. Leonard, who the Gianta received in a trade with Houston, has spent most of his career in the major

Which leaves Wiggins the oddman out. Due to injuries and one of the three being on the imajor league club at one time or another, Wiggins won a starting job. All he did was hit 382 and for a while lead the Pacific Coast League in that category.

Then the Phoenix outfield became crowded. Leonard came off the disabled list and Davis was demoted by San Francisco. Wiggins went from a solid starter in right field to the bench. Now he makes cameo appearances.

"I guess I can understand their position," said the blond-haired lefty Tuesday night from his Scottsdale (Ariz.) apartment, "They've got to play the guys they have the money invested

The Phoenix Glants' outfielder draws a bead.

Wiggins signed a split contract offering him $1000 a month if he played (AA) and $1300 a month if he made (AAA). He proceeded to have an out-standing spring training which carried over to the season until the crowd formed two weeks ago.

It appears that San Francisco didn't realize how good Dave Wiggins is. But a strenuous off-season conditioning program under the guidance of Florida Baseball School operator Wes Rinker paid big dividends. At least it did until the log jam in the Phoenix outfield. Wiggins has made a gradual climb, much similar to the path Montreal's Tim Raines, loward the major leagues. The Giants plucked Wiggins in the third round of the 1978 June draft, He was signed for $25,000 by acout "Chick"

He went to the Rookie League at Great Falls (Mont.) and batted .307 with 33 RBI in 49 games. In (A) ball Wiggins plated 69 runs along with a .296 average. Last year at Spreveport (I.i.), the Giants (AA) outfit, Wiggins batted .270 with three homers and 42

So, when he moved right into the Phoenix lineup this year, it shouldn't have surprised anyone, considering his past track record. The adjustment to the bench, though, has not been easy for Wiggins, It's position he's never played in his athletic career.

"I'm making the adjustment, but it's tough," admitted Dave. "When you're used to playing every day, all your life, it's hard to get used to three innings at a workouts under the direction of Wes Rinker.

Despite Wiggins' lack of activity, he feels that when the players' strike is over, his situation will improve.

"From what I've heard, the Giants are ready to make some changes," said Wiggins. "(Frank) Robinson (San Francisco manager) is not very happy with the team's outfielders."

So, Wiggins will continue to bide his time and wait for his lucky number to come up. Considering his past accomplishments, it may not take too

The Knights of Columbus grouped a pair of early touchdowns and then held off a Kiwanis rally to capture the opener of the Sanford Junior League championship 22-15 in a four-hour marathon.

Kiwanis took the first step to defending its title by scoring three unearned runs in the bottom of the first.

But the Knights of Columbus struck back in the second, sending 16 batters to the plate in a 12-run inning. Ten walks, a double and a single by second baseman William Carr and two other run-scoring singles accounted for the big outburst which shelved starting Kiwanis pitcher

A Michael Wright bases-loaded double was the big blow as Kiwanis clawed for four runs in their half of the second to close the gap to 12-7.

Kiwanis used a two-out rally in the fourth to tie the game. Three walks filled the bases before Wright picked up his third and fourth RBI's of the night with a single to right.

In the meantime reliever Bruce Franklin shut down the Knights of Columbus on just one walk between the third and fifth innings. They reached Franklin, however, for five runs in the sixth on four walks, a run-scoring Theron Liggons single and three Kiwanis errors.

The Knights of Columbus added five more insurance runs in the seventh to notch the first victory in the best-of-three series to be continued tonight at 7:30.

Fred Miller went the distance to pick up the mound victory. Despite allowing 15 Kiwanis runs, Miller issued only six hits while striking out 14. He walked 15. Second baseman William Carr led the Knights of Columbus attack with a 4 for 5 night which included a double, triple, five runs batted in, five stolen bases and two runs scored. Left fielder Theron Liggons was a perfect 3 for 3 with a clutch RBI single in the five-run sixth.

Smith had half of the Kiwanis hits off Miller while Jones scored five runs. Strike Talks Resume

NEW YORK (UPI) - The two sides in major-league baseball's labor negotiations resume their talks today after a four-day break.

Federal mediator Ken Moffett called on the striking baseball players and owners' representatives to resume negotiations at a midtown Manhattan hotel at 2 p.m. EDT, even though there is no indication either side has softened its position.

Moffett said he did not know if either side planned to put forth a new proposal.

"As far as the specific question (about whether either side is planning to offer new proposals), the answer is no," Moffett said from his Washington office. "But the nuances are such there is more of an interest in meeting than previously indicated. I don't want to get into particulars. It might screw things up."

"I've been making soundings ever since I left (New York last week)," Moffett said Tuesday. "There's more of a willingness (for players and owners) to talk (now)."

Donald Fehr spokesman for the Players Association, said the players were "fresh out of ideas" to end the strike, and he stressed it was the owners' turn to move the negotiations

"I hope they're ready to bargain because if they're not it's going to be a short meeting," Fehr said. "Their entire stance has been, 'If the Players Association proposes something, our response is no."

"I thought the girls did real well considering they only had four days to practice," said Coach Dottie Hogan, who was assisted by Jill Harper.

The Lassies received a bye Friday in the age 9-12 competition. Saturday they dropped their initial game to Daytona ach 15-5. The two teams were tied after six innings at 5-5, but six Sanford errors handed Daytona the victory.

And that's how it goes on day after day, morning after morning at Rinker's Florida Baseball School as the two baseball fanatics kiddingly hanter at each other during the daily workouts.

One day a visitor appeared intact with a television camera. He wanted to know why Raines wasn't out fishing or having a good time like his fellow ball players during the strike.

He couldn't understand why Raines was breaking his back every day in the hot sun during a strike which may linger into next season.

"Well, I'm a rookle going for Lou-Brock's (stolen base) record," Raines told the interviewer. "I've got to stay in shape if I want to get the record (118 steals)."

- Tim Raines

Raines was well ahead of Brock's pace with 50 steals in 55 games when the players walked out Friday, June 12. Thirty games shead to be exact. But every day the strike continues, Raines sees a chance of a lifetime slip a little further away.

"I'm not involved in the negotiations, but I'm definitely on the player's side," informed Tim, "It was the owners who paid all that money which raised the salary's so high."

Raines attempted to negotiate his $35,000 salary after his tremendous start, but didn't make much headway with the Expos' top brass.

"It's not that easy to renegotiate a contract," said Raines who found that out when he suggested it to Montreal. िका स्थित एक्टिक स्टिप्ट अस्ति पेर्ट अवस्ति ।

"But they didn't go for it. I'm just going to wait until next year. They said that they'd take care of me. They've treated me pretty well so far," said Raines about the Montreal organization.

And Raines has treated the organization pretty well too. Along with his 50 steals, Tim is batting a solid 321, (seventh in the league) and also leads the NL in walks - which shows pretty good patience for a rookle.

The Lou Brock assault, however, is the biggest thing on Raines' mind. "If' we get back (to playing) before the All Star game, I think I can still do it," said Raines. "If I can average one a game, I'll need 70 games to get the record." Unfortunately for Tim, those 70 games may not be left up to him to

Cut Your Own Beef-In-A-Bag

By LOIS SMITH Herald Correspondent

What is Beef-in-a-bag? "Basically, beef-in-a-bag is a boneless section of beef that is trimmed of excess fat and then vacuum packaged in a plastic bag," state the meat managers

Recently, Seminole County Extension Home Economics and Publix Supermarkets sponsored a Beef-in-a-bag meat cutting demonstration at the Agri-Center auditorium.

Three area Publix meat managers were present to demonstrate how to make various cuts from large piece of meat. They include Jeff Porter from Butler Plaza, Paul Bowan from Altamonte Springs and Dick Heath from Sanford.

The advantage of buying bulk bagged meat, which is essentially what is referred to as beef-in-a-bag, is economics. It is estimated that dollar savings usually range from 20 to 50 cents per pound.

The meat managers selected four cuts of beef to use in their demonstration. They displayed their expertise and skill with a knife by quickly reducing a whole bottom round, a whole sirioin tip, a whole top round and a rib eye section into an eye appealing array of steaks, roasts and cubed meats.

Publix area Market Supervisor Royce Andrews answered questions from the audience on cutting techniques and offered suggestions on the cutting, freezing and cooking of beef. He suggested a good sharp carbon steel knife as a pre-requisite to any meat cutting.

He also stated, "All meat should be cut across the grain and the use of a meat thermometer is important in cooking. Beef-in a-bag can be left scaled in the refrigerator from 4 to 6 weeks to age if desired.

Additionally, he said he prefers plastic ziplock bags for

Keep Your Cool On July 4th With Creative Sala

The hoopla surrounding the Fourth of July in the United States mounts with the years.

Whether it is a traditional Down East clambake or a Texas beef barbecue, the holiday is marked by parades, fireworks and get togethers, often featuring casual outdoor cooking.

This Fourth, you can save by leaning more heavily on salads to go with your favorite barbecued spareribs, chicken, hamburgers or hot dogs.

The United States is still in its salad days, and there is no better way to celebrate than by serving a wide range of creative salads along with refreshing drinks for all ages and tastes. These are primarily make-ahead recipes so that everyone can enjoy the big day.

SAVORY POTATO SALAD

6 medium potatoes (about 2 pounds)

1 teaspoon salt

Water

2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped 1 cup chopped celery

1/2 carrot, pared and shredded 4 cup chopped parsley

4 slices bacon

1-3 cup chopped onion

1-3 cup chopped green pepper

large clove garlic, minced 4 cup cider vinegar

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce 14 teaspoon salt

14 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

1 egg, beaten

Place unpared potatoes in saucepan; sprinkle with 1 teaspoon sait. Cover with water,. Place over high heat and bring to a botl. Reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes or until potatoes are tender when pierced with a fork.

Drain and cool 10 minutes or until potatoes are cool enough to handle. Remove peel, cut into 4-inch cubes and place in large bowl. Add eggs, celery, carrot and parsley.

In medium skillet, cook bacon until lightly browned; remove from pan, crumble and reserve. Add onion, green pepper and garlic; cook until tender. Stir in vinegar and seasonings; heat

Stir a little warm sauce into beaten egg and return to skillet. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Do not boil. Add to potato salad; mix well. Top with crumbled bacon, Serve warm, at room temperature or cold. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

ORANGE SPINACH SALAD

1 package (10 ounces) fresh spinach, washed and drained 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained and diced 1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and diced

4 oranges, sectioned

is cup salad oil 2 tablespoons vinegar

2 tablespoons orange juice

1 tablespoon soy sauce

teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

hi teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon dry mustard % cup crumbled cooked bacon

Coarsely tear spinach into large salad bowl. Add drained mushrooms, diced water chestnuts and orange sections. Mix oil, vinegar, orange juice, soy sauce, Tabasco pepper sauce, salt and dry mustard. Toss with spinach mixtus

Sprinkle crumbled bacon over salad. Substitute 1 cup sunflower seeds or chopped almonds for water chestnuts, if you prefer. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

TRADEWINDS FRUIT SALAD

The Fiber Diet

Weight Controlled Successfully

Many health professionals agree that the addition of foods high in fiber would be beneficial to the typical American diet. Dietary fiber is the portion of plants that is largely indigestible by humans. Because of an additional concern with weight control in this country, the Fiber Diet has been developed.

The Fiber Diet combines a higher than average intake of dietary fiber with a reduced calorie intake. The diet includes a variety of commonly eaten foods which makes it easy to follow. When successfully tested in two major medical centers, participants found that their appetites were satisfied. Because high fiber foods generally require more chewing, take longer to eat and tend to be bulky, they help create a "full" feeling. A wide variety of grain products, fruits and vegetables are good sources of dietary fiber. The Fiber Diet recommends a daily intake of 20 to 25 grams of dietary fiber along with 1,200 or 1,500 Calories.

A suggested day's menu for the Fiber Diet may include appetite-appealing recipes like Pineapple Bran Muffins for breakfast, Creamy Yogurt-Tuna Salad for lunch and Meatball Vegetable Soup for dinner. With such an array of delicioussounding foods, dieting need not be a struggle. In fact, the Fiber Diet can be the beginning of a healthler, life-long dietary regimen. Of course, before undertaking any new diet plan, it should be reviewed and approved by a personal physician.

Sea Trout A Quick Dish For Summer

The heat of June may send you searching for light dinnerentrees which won t keep you in the kitchen, till will help you keep that lithe nummertime shape. Seafood automatically comes to mind when thinking of quick, easy, low calorie dishes.

The Florida Department of Natural Resources offers a delightful combination in Sea Trout Marguery; Poached Fish with Shrimp Sauce. Sea trout, a lean fish with a delicate taste is teamed with shrimp, America's favorite seafood.

Posching is a simple method of cooking in liquid which is flavored with seasonings and sometimes butter. The poaching liquid is reserved and utilized to enhance the light shrimp sauce. The elegant results will belie the fact that preparation takes less than 30 minutes.

SEA TROUT MARGUERY

POACHED FISH WITH SHRIMP SAUCE 2 pounds sea trout fillets, or other thick fish fillets, fresh or

2 cups boiling water

4 cup dry white wine 1 tablespoon margarine or butter

1 teaspoon salt

3 peppercorns 1 bay leaf

In leaspoon dried thyme leaves, crushed

1 slice lemon

Thaw fish if frezen. Remove skin and bonez from fish. Cut fish into 6 portions if desired. Place fish in a well-greased 10inch fry pan. Add next 8 ingredients. Cover and simmer for 5 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork, Reserve poaching liquid. Carefully remove fish to a hot platter. Pour Shrimp Sauce over the fish. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

SHRIMP SAUCE

12 pound cooked, peeled, deveined shrimp, fresh or frozen 12 cup margarine or butter

14 cup all-purpose flour

2 cups strained poaching liquid 2 large egg yolks, lightly beaten

12 cup sliced fresh mushrooms

1 tablespoon lemon juice

Thaw shrimp if frozen. Split in half lengthwise. Melt margarine in saucepan. Stir in flour. Add poaching liquid gradually and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Gradually stir small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks; add to remaining sauce, stirring constantly. Heat just until thickened. Stir in shrimp, mushrooms and lemon juice. Heat, but do not boil. Makes 312 cups sauce.

The Asners Prepare Food Together

Spontaneous get-togethers are the Asner family's style of entertaining and cooking. Although Ed's wife, Nancy, is the boss in the kitchen, everybody gets into the act, including Ed, their teenage twins

Matthew and Liza, and younger daughter Kate. "We never plan very far ahead and we usually prepare meals together on the weekend," says Ed who is kept busy during the week shooting his television series, LOU GHANT. Ed also enjoys challenging his abilities with other roles in between his tapings. His latest project is the narration of "Lights! Action! Africa!", a one-hour documentary which will air July 1, 8:00-9:00 p.m. ET on the CBS Television Network.

The Special program, sponsored by Kraft, takes viewers behind the scenes to witness the magic of capturing some of nature's most incredible creatures on film. Featured are Joan and Alan Root, award winning wildlife photographers based in Kenya. For this husband and wife team, danger, thrills and hair-raising excitement are an everyday way of life.

"This is a special project for me," says Ed. "I'm a great fan of the Roots," Asner belongs to a number of wildlife organizations including the prestigious Audubon Society, Slerra Club and Defenders of Wildlife.

The Asner's three dogs and three cats are the closest the family comes to "wildlife" on a day-to-day basis. However, when on vacation, they enjoy watching for exotic birds and uncommon animals.

"We also make a point of trying to duplicate favorite dishes we've eaten on trips," says Nancy, "The children are especially fond of one which was presented to them by a chef during a vacation in Hawaii."

There are camps and then there is camping. There is the elaborate, expensive all-summer camp, there are vacationschool camps, scout camps, along with farm camps. And then there is the less formal "camping" situation when with a small congenial company, you get away from school or work to be really alive for a few delightful hours. Whatever the camping situation and however varied its setting, one thing is certain camping builds up a healthy thirst!

When you've lost your sense of direction, reach for the compass, the map and refreshing soft drink mix. Whoever packed the hamper had the right idea - a trio of sparkling coolers to hit the spot on a hot summer day.

For many people, there's nothing that beats the taste of Iced Spiced Tea for thirst relief. Orange flavor sugar-sweetened soft drink mix combines with instant tea and spices and is designed to help you think cool and keep cool.

In the foreground of the picture is Scrumptious Scrog - a fun name and fun to prepare. The name derives from a combination of five flavors of sugar-sweetened soft drink mix strawberry, cherry, raspberry, orange and grape - and this blend of flavors is an expecially refreshing warm-weather

While the campers of our photo came well-prepared with ice chest, hamper and all, envelopes of sugar-sweetened soft drink mix are ideal for backpackers as well. When space is tight, just tuck these packets in a canvas pocket and when you come to the first watering hole, stir it up and enjoy.

Scanning Supermarkets

By now, most food shoppers are familiar with the universal product code (UPC) found on nearly 100,000 items sold in supermarkets. The UPC symbol, a series of bars with a 10-digit number, identifies the product type, weight, size and

As an item passes through checkout, the symbol is instantly read by a laser scanner and fed into a computerized cash

Until recently, however, this symbol was just that-a symbolto most shoppers. Now, widespread installation of scanners that read the UPC finally has begun in supermarkets across the country, and more consumers are reaping the benefits of this computerization. Itemized receipts, speedy service and increased confidence in checkout accuracy are the most obvious advantages to consumers from UPC scanning.

For the retailer, inventory and shelf supply are continuously monitored and areas liable to human miscalculation-taxes. multiple purchases, coupons and eligible food stamp itemsare figured automatically by the computer. With all these time-money-and labor-savings for the store and the consumer, scanners may well be one of the most significant contributions to controlling food costs in the future.

From fewer than 100 scanner units in 1976, the number of stores with scanners rose at a rate of about 100 a month in 1979, to a total of 1,450. The rate grew to an average of 150 per month in 1980. Many grocers now predict that 10,000 stores, almost one-third of the nation's supermarkets, will have full-scale scanning by the end of the decade.

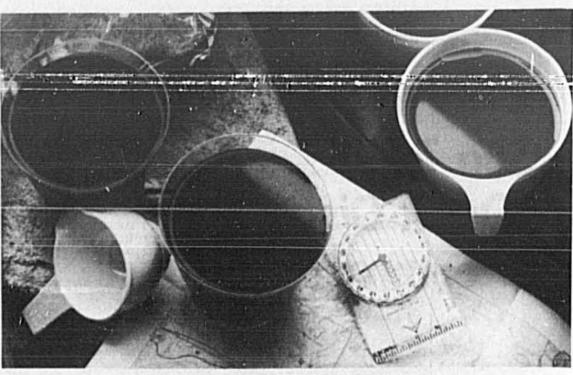

Store in tightly covered jar. Makes about 2 cups mix. For each iced serving, dissolve 2 well-rounded teaspoons of mix in 34 cup boiling water. Pour over ice cubes in tall glass or serve well-chilled.

Old-Fashioned Favorite 'Good' Wholesome Dessert

Despite the findings from a recent national opinion poll that a majority of consumers don't expect desserts to be nutritious, isn't it preferable to end a meal with something more than

This updated version of an English tradition -bread pudding-shows how wholesome a dessert can be. If you think gormets will sneer, remind tham that "bread-and-butter" pudding is the featured dessert served by one of London's most elite hotels.

Several healthful ingredients add nutritional significance to this bread pudding: bread (obviously), apples, milk, raisins, eggs. Besides being "good for you", bread pudding tastes good too. Even people who thought they didn't like bread pudding raved about this recipe with its rich custard accented by spicy

Although this dessert can be made with odds and ends of stale bread that's accumulated, it's an economical dessert even if you buy bread especially for the recipe. Use whole wheat or oatmeal bread for hearty texture. For golden goodness and elegance, challah bread is recommended

Novice cooks unfamiliar with making bread pudding might recognize similarities between this dessert and those everpopular main dish strata recipes; layers of bread with a filling in-between bound together by an egg-milk custard. Like strata recipes, bread pudding can be assembled in advance and refrigerated overnight before baking.

One last comment: leftovers make a unorthodox but very nutritious breakfast!

APPLE BREAD PUDDING

- 8 slices bread, toasted
- 4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 can (20 oz.) apple pie filling 12 cup raisins
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- cup milk
- I cup hot water
- 4 cup dark brown sugar
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- nutmeg

Shredded Cheddar Cheese (optional)

Spread toasted bread with butter. Arrange 4 slices bread, buttered side up, in well-oiled baking pan. (A 9x9x2-inch pan is a good "fit" for bread; for other size pans, cut bread to make a flat bottom layer.)

Spread pie filling over bread. Top with raisins and cinnamon. Cut remaining bread into cubes or irregular pieces (about 2-inches); arrange over apples covering entire surface.

Stir brown sugar and hot water together until sugar is somewhat dissolved. Then add milk, eggs, salt, and vanilla; pour over bread. (May be refrigerated for several hours at this

Sprinkle top with nutmeg; bake at 350 degrees F. for 50-60 minutes or until custard is set. Remove from oven and immediately sprinkle with shredded cheddar, if desired, for added flavor. Let pudding stand 15-20 minutes before serving. Serve with "pour" cream or whipped topping.

Celebrate Independence With Torte

strawberries, deep blue blueberries and creamy white filling are layered in one glorious torte. It takes good advantage of convenience products and prepared ingredients on a day when the independence of the family cook is celebrated, too.

Note that the light, moist cake, which is sliced crosswise, filled and topped, begins from a "surprise" ingredient — the original pancake mix that you most likely have on hand. It's so easy to use because it has the flour, leavening and salt already added - that means less measuring and less clean up too. Red, White and Blue Torte will become a tradition in your family.

RED, WHITE & BLUE TORTE

3 cups original pancake mix two-thirds cup sugar

2 cups milk

2 tablespoons vebetable oil

2 teaspoons vanilla Filling and Topping:

2 cups prepared non-dairy whipped topping, thawed 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

One 17.5-oz, can vanilla pudding, chilled

114 cups blueberries, rinsed, dried on absorbent paper 1 cup strawberry slices

For cake, heat oven to 350 degrees F. In large bowl, combine pancake mix and sugar; mix well. Add remaining ingredients, mixing just until batter is fairly smooth. Pour batter evenly into 2 greased and floured 8-inch round layer cake pans. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean and cake is light golden brown. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pans. Cool completely on wire rack. Wrap cake securely; refrigerate for easy slicing. Slice each layer crosswise into 2 layers.

For filling and topping, fold whipped topping and almond extract into pudding. Place 1 cake layer on serving plate; spread with two-thirds cup pudding mixture. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup blueberries. Top with second cake layer; spread with twothirds cup pudding mixture. Top pudding with 1/2 cup strawberries. Top with third cake layer and two-thirds cup pudding mixture; sprinkle with 1/2 cup blueberries. Top with fourth cake layer.

Spread top of cake with remaining pudding mixture. Arrange remaining 1/4 cup blueberries and 1/2 cup strawberries on top of cake. Refrigerate several hours before serving. Makes one 4 layer torte.

Colorful torte perfect for July 4th.

British Bill Nixes Automatic Birthright

LONDON (UPI) - The House of Commons has approved legislation that for the lirst time in at least seven centuries will remove the automatic right of anyone born in this country to become a British citizen.

The Nationality bill, now before the House of Lords. also creates three classes of British citizen, only one of which will have the right to live here. It is by far the most controversial piece of legislation in the current session of parliament and raises far-reaching constitutional and legal questions.

The bill has come under attack from black and Asian communities in Britain, from all the major churches and from opposition Labor and Liberal parties,

Said Liberal leader David Steel, summing up the most frequently heard objection to the bill:

"The certainty that any child born here was British has been an important factor in encouraging the security of ethnic minorities. Even a limited departure from that principle undermines that security.

John Tilley, a Labor spokesman on home affairs, warned that "for the first time there will be stateless kids born in Britain."

The government insists the bill merely brings the concept of nationality into line with the past 10 years of immigration practice. Home Secretary William Whitelaw said it was "quite wrong to see the bill as a precursor of changes in voting and civic rights."

This, however, is exactly the way many blacks and Asians see it.

"We are in great danger of paving the way to a pass-law society," Steel said.

The bill abandons "ius solis" - a principle dating back to the 13th century in this country and widespread elsewhere - that the place of birth determines nationality. Instead, nationality will be based on parentage and ommilment to Britain.

To become a citizen, a child must have one parent who is British or "ordinarily resident" here. Britons living abroad will be able to tranamit citizenship to their children, but this cannot be handed on to the next DEJ 136 generation.

Labor's chief spokesman on home affairs, Roy Hattersley, warned that the bill "will mean that many British citizens by birth will be regulred at some point in their lives to prove they are British by birth in a way no British citizen has been asked to do before." He said Labor will repeal the measure if returned to power.

Under the barrage of criticism, the government did make two significant concessions. One will give children the right to British nationality after 10 years of continuous residence. The other will allow naturalized Britons living abroad to pass on British nationality to their children.

Women as well as men will be able to transmit citizenship, which the government says is a recognition of sex equality. But foreign women marrying Britons no longer will have an automatic right to citizenship, but will have to apply for naturalization.

The bill continues the home offices last word on naturalization, for which candidates will have to prove good character and ability to apeak English or Welsh, No judicial appeal will be allowed against the decisions reached by bureaucrais.

In what appears to be an attempt to minimize the number of people with claims on Britain, the bill also creates a separate citizenship of British dependent territories for an estimated 3 million colonial subjects, the majority of whom live in Hung Kong. Their passports will give them the right to live only in their own territories.

This creates anomalies. Black residents of French islands in the Caribbean will be able to live in Britain because of their citizenship in the European Economic Community, while British dependent citizens on neighWhen Portugal joins the community, people from its overseas territory of Macao apparently will have the unfettered right to enter Britain, unlike British passport holders across the water in Hong Kong.
