Don't Deflate Christmas

The other day while doing a bit of shopping in a Sanford store, we saw a man make a disdainful gesture toward a counter heaped with red wrapping paper and gay tinsel ribbon and say, "That sort of thing is all right for children, but it's sickening the way Christmas turns a lot of ordinarily sane adults into temporary lunatics running around whispering and hiding packages and acting like a bunch of kids. At my house, I'm going to—" We moved away without hearing the end but we suppose this American edition of Charles Dickens' famous Mr. Scrooge is going to try to put a stop to Christmas. We are not worried about what is going to happen at his house because some Bob Cratchit will surely turn up and teach him what fun it is to whisper and hide packages and say with Tiny Tim, "God bless us all."

The very origin of gift giving at Christmas, the story of the wise men bringing their gold, frankincense, and myrrh to the Christ Child has so much vitality and beauty in it that its radiance shines down the centuries and sheds its light upon the presents that are made today. It must seem odd in the new Russia where Christmas has been wiped completely off the calendar by the Reds. We venture to guess that there are some old hearts in which the memory of this has not been erased. They must remember the Christmas service at their churches with their great wax tapers and green trees, and the happy times in their homes with their families and their presents made in the spirit of peace and good will. It is pathetic to think that to the little Russians, the absence of this magic day is not even missed for they have never known it.

It seems to us that this wondering at least once a year what someone else would like to have is an outward gesture that possesses inward grace as well. It makes one stop thinking of what he would like and turns his thoughts to others. Perhaps this graciousness may linger with him after the day itself has passed, and like Mr. Scrooge, he will find amid the holly and the mistletoe and the blazing plum pudding, the lovely spirit of generosity.

SIBLE VERSES FOR TODAY

THE MEASURE OF MERCY
Have mercy upon me O God, according to thy loving kindness: according to the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions.—Psalm 51, 1.

MOUNTAINS

"Unchanging as the mountains," people say,
As if they grope for something permanent.

Aware that youth and strength are quickly spent,
The bone and body mingle with the clay,
That fame dissolves in air, What thing will stay
The same through ages? Earth and firmament
Decay and change but man seems confident
In saying, "Mountains will not pass away."

Yet ask the winter storms of mountain strength,
And you will find its icy hands were thrust inside a rock.
Perseverently it prides
The surface loose till wind and rain at length
Changed solid rock to crumbling stone and dust
While vegetation climbed the mountain side.

Happy days are here again; five armed bandits staged a real old-fashioned hold-up in a beer saloon the other day and escaped with $10,000 in cash after a gun battle with police. We saw some "bad men" knocking off liquor bottles over the bar, shooting from the hip with both hands.

Four tourists, on their way here from New York, were injured in the northern part of the state when their automobile struck a cow on the highway. Hunters who return from the woods and report the usual shooting poor, may blame their lack on the theory that a mysterious storm is responsible for the quality shortage. Huey Long In Society

Whatever else Huey Long may be, it has never been argued that he was among the social elite. In fact, Huey himself has always proclaimed the contrary and has taken pride in proving it, often much to the distaste of those who happened to be near him. However, according to the social register, the Louisiana Kingfish is right up among the top-notchers, and according to the Miami Herald, "those listed in the social register may question the distinction when they learn that Senator Huey Long of Louisiana is enrolled in the 1934 edition of the blue book in Washington, while various other senators and leaders are omitted."

"The Kingfish has frequently shown his ignorance of proper conduct and his social manners must be sickening often, according to the reports and rumors and news dispatches. A man involved in such a disgusting episode as that of Sands Point would probably be kicked out of Hollywood as unfit for filmdom, but he not only retains his honorable position in the senate but is mentioned with some of our best people in the social registry."

"If Huey is to be regarded as belonging among the elite of the dress suit group, then the masses of the plain clothes folks may congratulate themselves that they are not. However, Senator Long, of course, is not truly representative of the social which is one of those sheep that manage to horn in somehow. The publisher of the Washington registry should be on guard. Everybody else in his book may sue him for libel."

LYNCH LAW IS DENOUNCED BY CIRCUIT JUDGE

After the mob had stormed the county jail for several hours. He was beaten, stabbed, hanged to a tree near the courthouse and his body burned in the presence of a crowd of about 5000.

"Every man who was active in that mob is guilty of murder in the first degree and should be indicted," Judge Gaddy charged the grand jury, which is made up of prominent citizens and headed by Henry King, banker and president of the public library board.

"The danger of the mob lies in the letting down of individual responsibility," said the jurist. "It means a failure to administer justice or prevent a recurrence of Warner's crime, which can be met against the law. It is the same reason that prevents any wrong."

"When you find the mob and you do not break it up, you are guilty of that mob. You are not only guilty of that mob but you are also guilty of the lynching. If you had been there that night, I doubt if you could have and made nominations by petitions bearing 10 signatures. In the steel, it also increased to 65 the employees' proposal that 49 men be elected. Yesterday's "new rules" did not basically change these rules, to which Weir took exception.

The letter accused the board of failing to follow an agreement reached on Oct. 16. It said testimony before the board would show it agreed, at the company's insistence, to hold the election at the next regularly scheduled election date of the employees' union.

Weir attacked the nominating plan of the board calling it "not only a vital change of plan but an inherently vicious and unfair."

If nominations are by petition, the persons who sign are subjected to criticism, threats and intimidation.

Weir said that "a great majority" of the Weir workers took part in yesterday's meeting despite the fact the unannounced association of workers and in workers had elected their followers to remain from participating.

The Commissioners authorized the payment of $175 to City Attorney F. R. Wilson to cover the cost of completing foreclosure proceedings on the bulk of property in which 1926 taxes is owed. These proceedings include a proceeding against the A. V. French property on French Avenue.

The Commissioners also okayed the purchase of an automobile license tag for J. D. Parker, cemetery custodian, and the payment of $127.70 to City Engineer Paul T. Wilson to cover the cost of several surveys of proposed CWA projects.

Judge Erickson Has Lost Sympathy For Escaped Prisoner

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP)—James LaRue, Florida chain gang fugitive, today was without the aid of his greatest benefactor in a fight to evade his being returned to serve out a five year prison sentence.

It was LaRue's past life that caused Judge Alfred Erickson to say that he was washing his hands of the whole affair after once promising to give the man "Every break" possible to win his freedom.

"LaRue lied to me," the judge said late last night, "he abused my confidence and now I wash my hands of the whole affair."

While I think the punishment in his case is too severe I believe that all law violators should be punished and made to pay a just penalty for their crimes."

Authorities said it was LaRue's criminal record which disclosed that he had been arrested on charges of automobile theft and carrying concealed weapons, that caused the judge to turn against him. He also had served a reformatory term. Governor Henry Horner has ordered his extradition to Florida.

New Flood Sweeps Down On Northwest Already Submerged

SEATTLE, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A new flood today threatened a section of the Pacific northwest already swept by swollen streams which have caused damage estimated in millions of dollars. Deaths of nine persons in Washington, Oregon and Idaho are blamed on lowland floods and mountain blizzards.

A new flood threat came in northwestern Washington as the Skagit and Snohomish Rivers were swollen by torrents pouring down from the mountains. High temperatures in the Cascades are expected to melt snow and more melting snow will be added to rising streams.

In southwestern Washington streams were receding today leaving behind scenes of desolation. The Puyallup River valley and at Tacoma, where two square miles of territory is submerged, counted a loss near to the $2,000,000 mark.

At Aberdeen and Hoquiam, officials of three railroad lines declined to promise any rail service until tomorrow. Several bridges in northwestern Idaho are washed away.

FOR YOUR INSPECTION

THE MERCHANT and manufacturer who advertise, actually are placing their merchandise before you for inspection. They invite your most critical attention and an uncompromising comparison. And their advertisements, so to speak, say to their products: "We have introduced you to the public—now stand on your own merits."

If the manufacturer and merchant did not have confidence in their wares, they would hesitate to call attention to them. For advertising strictly tests the maker, the seller and the merchandise. Business so tested, and found not wanting, is prosperous.

In the long run, you can depend on the man who advertises, as well as on his product. That is one reason why people have found that it pays to read advertisements.

It is through advertising that the excellent things of the world are brought to the attention of those who are seeking for the best and most economical way to spend their money.

Read the advertisements. They are news.

Children Urged To Cut Out Coupon For Circus

Here you are, kiddies! The coupon which will admit you to Barnett Bros. circus at a greatly reduced price is appearing in an adjoining column today. Clip the coupon out now and put it in a safe place where it will be ready for use Thursday when the circus comes to town. In case you misplace the coupon, another will appear in tomorrow's paper, but you had better play safe and clip the coupon appearing today. The afternoon performance of Barnett Bros. Circus has been especially designed to appeal to the youngsters. The many shows will go out of their way to make the performance one to be long remembered by the children.

Another feature of the afternoon show which always appeals to the children is the performance of Junie, an elephant, Prince, a great Dane dog, and Snookie, a Shetland pony. This is unique in circus history as it is the only known instance where an elephant, dog and pony work together in the same ring at the same time. These three animals were raised together on a circus and a

Fletcher Seeks Funds To Complete Highway

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Senator Fletcher called at the White House today to seek $6,000,000 in public works funds for the construction of three bridges to complete a highway to Key West.

He placed the proposal before Louis How, presidential secretary, and pointed out that these bridges would provide a complete highway from Maine to the tip of Florida. He argued that the bridges could be made largely self liquidating on a toll basis.

BASE DAILY MOVES ON RELIEF IN STARS

Ancient Almanack Has Wide Sale As Tome Predicting Future

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—Millions of men believe in the stars. Many have their every-day lives on what they forecast, from the way they dress to the way they carry an umbrella if it looks like it will rain.

They don't star-gaze themselves, but buy the forecasts, ready-made, a year in advance for only a few cents. This is a curious little book, called "Old Moore's Almanack." Who Old Moore was, and when his almanack first appeared, nobody seems to know. The issue for 1934 is the twenty-third of King George's reign.

Illustrated by crude cartoons, the book, which is usually sold street-vendors, gives predictions for each month of the year. It does not give exact dates, but something regarding fixed events is to be found.

And its predictions have an uncanny habit of being correct. In March of this year it said that a man owner might win the National Steeplechase; that nine and seven were the lucky numbers; and that blue and yellow were the lucky colors. Mrs. Ambrose Clark won the race with Kallaboro J. K. whose saddle number was seven. Mrs. Clark's race colors were yellow and blue. In October, the almanack said:

Germany is a...
League of Nations may be reconstructed...
On Saturday, Dec. 15, Germany unexpectedly and sensationally withdrew from the League and the disarmament conference.

For November the almanack predicted that "Young Germany would be openly aggressive to France," and in December it records the death of a member of the royal family.

Its predictions for 1934 are generally gloomy, ranging through stock exchange slumps, strikes, disasters, a new sanitation, and warfare. Briefly, it forecasts, month by month:

January: Stocks and shares slump badly. Revolutionary acts in India. A great public figure dies.

February: Railway accidents and transport strikes. Communist rioting in the industrial districts. Religious revolt in Portugal.

March: Changes of government due to lack of policy. An Irish victory in the Grand Nation. Submarine disaster.

April: War talk in Germany and France. Heavy loss of life in explosions in buildings and mines. Political assassination in London.

May: Riots, particularly in Ireland, Poland, Germany, and Russia.

June: Sterling improves in United States. Anglo-American trade agreements. Favorable budget. War clash threatened between United States and Japan.

July: Royalty fortunate—hinting royal marriage. Disturbances in Ireland leading to representations by the United States. Pope has nearly fatal gastric illness.

August: Changes of government in France, Italy, Rumania and Australia. German government resigns. A serious earthquake in Japan with heavy loss of life, on the eighteenth or nineteenth. The Emperor may succumb.

September: The situation in Ireland worsens. Riots in Poland. Unemployment increases.

October: Financial disputes between European countries, involving France, Italy and Russia. Anglo-French relations less cordial due to financial trade agreement will break down at the last minute.

November: Epidemic of smallpox. Roosevelt fatal for rulers, particularly Roosevelt, Hitler, de Valera, Smuts and Mussolini, in that order.

December: Disasters in Whitehall. A leading minister resigns.

McLucas Faces Task Of Building Hoop Team

By George Stovall
After yanking through a difficult schedule on the gridiron with a patchy record, Coach Leonard McLucas now faces another difficult problem in the forming of a basketball team that will be able to hold its own in the tough schedule being arranged for it.

Coach McLucas must fill in the places vacated by forwards Smith and Couper who were the main cogs of last year's team. His problem at guards, however, does not seem to be as great, for his two last year men, Hughes and Knight, are still in the running. Glenn Govocsek appears to be the only experienced center on the team.

Hughes, Knight and Kelly are the only letter men returning. However Govocsek, Miller, Herndon and Whitten have seen service and may be counted on to give others a stiff fight for their position. Jordan, star half-back on the football squad, has shown up well in his gym classes and may be out in front as soon as the season begins.

There are quite a number of men who received considerable experience on last year's "B" squad who may be ready to come up and fill the shoes of some of the veterans.

In the first practice yesterday most of the time was spent in drills on pivoting, shooting and passing, and various light warming-up exercises.

Big Bill Roper In Dead After Long Illness

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—(AP)—William W. Roper, former Princeton university football coach, attorney, and member of the Philadelphia city council since 1918, died today after a long illness. He was 53.

Despite his numerous political and business activities, Roper, probably was most widely known as football coach at Princeton for a number of years.

He served his alma mater in that capacity almost continuously from 1888 until his voluntary retirement at the end of the 1900 season. He spent coaching in 1913 more time for business.

Big League Moguls Meet At Chicago To Swap Ivory, Cash In Hopes Of Winning Flags

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Baseball's trade winds whipped into a veritable gale last night as major league club owners and their pilots, all of them out to get their men, sailed into Chicago for their annual winter meeting and shopping tour.

No less than a score of players in both leagues were reported to be on the ivory block and the magnates, confronted with important problems in baseball such as the adoption of a uniform ball and what to do about radio broadcasts of games, admitted happily that they anticipated the biggest turnover of talent in many years. The various problems will be discussed in separate meetings today and Wednesday while the trades and sales will be completed in hotel lobbies, nooks and corners.

As the baseball writers watched for news and impending trades yesterday, they spied one of the first arrivals and a central figure in one of the outstanding deals about to be completed, Mickey Cochrane. The Athletic catcher was reported already sold to Detroit as manager and catcher and was straining at the leash, waiting for Connie Mack and Frank Navin of the Tigers to arrive to announce it officially. Navin already has announced he was certain of getting Cochrane, and planned to clinch the deal after a short conference with the tactician of the Athletics. Cochrane was enthusiastic over the deal and was planning trades and sales in his mind and discussing Detroit's proposals for 1934.

As far as the league meetings were concerned, the leaders expected to adopt a uniform baseball for both circuits and offer Kansas Mountain Leads another contract as committioner. The radio problem appeared to be unsettled and the best information was that those clubs that so desired could broadcast, but that the league or clubs would ask for a cut in the profits accruing from the baseball broadcasts.

"Personally, I don't look for any change in the radio policy," said Will Harridge, president of the American league. "Some want it some don't. The situation is about the same as a year ago."

Both President Harridge and President John Heyler of the National league agreed that a uniform baseball would be advantageous, but the big question was which ball—the American or National league sphere?

Going back to trades and sales, here are the news and rumors, take 'em or leave 'em:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Detroit—Cochrane to manage the Tigers, plugging up the weak spot of years—catching.

Philadelphia—Connie Mack is going to sell or trade George Earnshaw, Lefty Grove, Rube Walberg and Max Bishop to the highest bidder.

St. Louis—Manager Rogers Hornsby needs a power hitter and likes Earl Averill, of Cleveland, but Cleveland wants him to swap Oscar Meullo for two other players.

Cleveland—The Indians want a second baseman that can hit.

Chicago—Rumors say the White Sox already have completed a cash deal for George Earnshaw.

New York—Rumor has Tony Laverri up at bat for the best deal. Manager Joe McCarthy out to rebuild infield.

Boston—Only three members of 1931 club left and club wide open for deals.

Washington—Joe Cronin said he was pretty well satisfied but on the lookout for anything that looked good.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
New York—Manager Bill Terry says he's all set since the purchase of Joe Bowman, star right handed pitcher from Portland, but could use another good hitter.

Chicago—It was reported a hitch has developed in the rumored deal by which Pitcher Pat Malone and Outfielder Kiki Cuyler would go to Cincinnati for Outfielder Chick Harty, but that it would be overcome and the swap made.

Brooklyn—The Dodgers are hot after a southpaw pitcher.

St. Louis—All set but always ready for a deal.

Cincinnati—An apparently well-founded report is going around that the Reds have given up hope of landing Catcher Jimmy Wilson from the Phillies and plan to name Jim Bottomley as manager. More punch and tighter fielding needed.

Pittsburgh—The Pirates, with lots of trading material, are after a star pitcher and second baseman of proven ability.

Boston—Looking for a good pitcher.

Philadelphia—Phillies are looking for a good hitter.

McLucas Praises Barefooted Boy On Wildwood '11

An interesting comment among the many made with the announcement of the annual All-Southern High School football team yesterday was the fact that Coach Leonard McLucas of Seminole High School, one of the several hundred coaches or sports-writers who helped select the team, credited Tom Daugherty, the barefooted Wildwood halfback as the boy who led the Wildcats to a 7 to 0 victory over Seminole High.

Florida drew four places on the mythical All-Southern team which found a place for Murray Kanner, giant Sanford center of 1933. The 1933 team includes Midston Mumauer, Lakeland end; Rusty Smitherman, Landon halfback; Moe Bonno, Andrew Jackson tackle; and Joe Hardwick, Daytona Beach tackle.

Here is the press comment concerning McLucas' vote for Daugherty:

"From the little town of Wildwood a boy playing in his bare feet by the name of Daugherty, is recommended by Coach Leonard McLucas, of Sanford, as the lad who led him in Sanford some time ago. Daugherty weighs 195 pounds and he will exceed you any time an opponent wants to get on his barefeet, so he is formed Sanford's team recently.

The Wildwood lad is also endorsed by other coaches around the state in the smaller communities. Coach McLucas states he would like to see this boy graduate next year by all means. Wildwood plays Sanford

Ten sports writers and seven high school coaches sent ballots to the board this year. The four selected as All-Southern compared most favorably with those chosen last season.

ALL-AMERICA TEAM SELECTED BY 100 COACHES

The diagram shows a central oval labeled "ALL-AMERICA CHARLES CEPPi-PRINCETON '33 END Parke H. Davis Consensus Team Sponsored by GULF REFINING CO." surrounded by 14 circular portraits of players from various colleges and states. The players are: BERNARD MICHIGAN, CORBUS STANFORD, PURVIS PURDUE, BUCKLER ARMY, FEATHERS TENNESSEE, SKLADANY PITTSBURGH, CEPPi PRINCETON, GEISLER CENTENARY, SCHWAMMEL OREGON STATE, ROSENBERG SO. CALIFORNIA, MONTGOMERY COLUMBIA, and PARKE H. DAVIS.

In collaboration with Parke H. Davis, famous football authority, 100 football coaches including Chief of Princeton, Sutherland of Pittsburgh, Bible of Nebraska, Madigan of St. Mary's, Stuhldreher of Villanova, McMillan of Centre and McLaughry of Brown selected the above players as 1933 consensus All-American team. This is the first time football coaches have banded together in the selection of an All-American team. Newspaper men and sports critics call this move logical and authoritative. Gold footballs are being presented to members of the team through the courtesy of the Gulf Refining Company.

St. Augustine Cancels Plan For Game Friday

YOUTH JAILED AS MEMBER OF SAN JOSE MOB

Civil Liberties Union Sponsoring Arrest Of Persons Having Part In Lynching

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 13.—(A.P.)—The first step toward prosecution of the lynchers of Thomas T. Thurmond and John H. Holmes, confessed abductors of Brooks Hart, was taken here yesterday when an 18-year-old youth was arrested, on information furnished by representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union, and charged with being a member of the mob. While the youth, Anthony Catelli, was being booked on a charge of violating the new state law against lynching—a statute providing penalties of one to 20 years imprisonment—Governor Ralph Jr., whose celebration of the mob hanging continued on Page Two.

Coast Guards Look For Blast Survivors

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—(A.P.)—Searching boats ploughed through seas five miles off shore and 85 miles south of here today in an effort to find the possible survivors of a machine bomber which apparently sent a flaming unidentified boat plunging beneath mountainous waves. A later message from a coast guard craft in the vicinity of Headquarters told a strong probability explosion aboard the stricken vessel last night, and the apparent sinking while enemy seas laid about rescue craft striving to bring aid. The coast and geodetic survey boat arrived at Monterey today with three 25 gallon oil tanks, one of them blasted, had been found in the vicinity but nothing more except a piece of charred timber which might help in identifying the boat.

Local Persons Attend Rites For L. P. Mills

City and county officials, Chamber of Commerce members, and many local business men were in Ojeda this afternoon attending funeral services for the late Luther P. Mills, county commissioner, and Ojeda mayor, who died in an Orlando hospital late Monday night. The services were held from the Ojeda Baptist Church and burial was in Ojeda Cemetery with the Masonic Order in charge of final rites. Scores of floral tributes indicated to the bereaved members of Mr. Mills' family the esteem with which he was held by many residents of the city and county.

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 13.—(A.P.)—Angel Alberto Giraudy, Cuban minister of labor declared in committee of the Pan-American Conference today that the United States had intervened in Cuba by not recognizing the government of President Ramon Grau San Martin. He flared up at a meeting with "El Ambascador Welles" is propagating a revolution as charged by the Uruguayan minister to Havana. He said intervention and if by upholding the mercenary group against the wishes of the people of its surrounding island with warships is not intervention then the United States never intervened in Cuba.

Southerners Agree To Aid In Plan To Lower Tariff Walls

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(A.P.)—The Southern States Association today approved a plan to aid in the lowering of tariff walls between the United States and other nations. The plan, which was adopted by a vote of 100 to 10, calls for a gradual reduction of tariffs and other barriers to "mutually profitable movement of goods and services and capital between nations" at the earliest practicable date. The subscribing governments simultaneously would initiate negotiations or legislative agreements for the removal of tariff barriers and restrictions. Restrictions would include the operation of reciprocity energy, or other economic programs primarily for national economic recovery. The object of the project would be to maintain the broad economic policy of combining with existing domestic programs a suitable program of international economic cooperation, as each nation emerges from current restrictions.

Currency Can Be Increased Without Sign Of Inflation Say Federal Reserve Heads

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(A.P.)—While the inflation debate continued to absorb statesmen and economists, federal reserve figures disclosed yesterday that the system had sufficient gold resources to increase the currency in circulation by more than 50 percent without resorting to any inflationary measure. It was described as ready to do this as rapidly as new notes issues could be pushed into the channels of industry and commerce. The difficulty is that its outlets are clogged. Loans by member banks were shown to be continuing at a low level with consequent small demands by the latter upon the federal reserve banks for cash. Member bank deposits were high. The gold buying program remained at a standstill yesterday.
