Anglo-American Treaty Will Not Throttle Nazis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Any one looking for the new Anglo-American trade treaty to draw a throttling cord around the neck of German trade likely will be disappointed.

Trade experts point out that German exports to this country are largely goods in which Germany specializes. Two of the largest classifications are chemicals of which this country's importations are extensive, and cameras and lenses. The boom in the German export of cameras to this country has been one of the outstanding trade developments in some time. Camera-conscious America is demanding an increasing portion of German type, as well as those made in America.

Since the German exports to this country are mostly her own specialties, trade experts say English goods are not likely to replace them extensively even with the concessions granted by the U. S. in the treaty.

Any blow at Germany will be found in the "Intangible" features in connection with the treaties. These treaties and others already negotiated have linked France, England, Canada and the United States in a trade group pledged to treat one another fairly and without discrimination. Among these nations and others willing to reciprocate trade will be on a non-preferential cash basis as distinguished from the German-style barter basis which has proved emorous to some nations.

It should be remembered that both the United States and the British Isles enjoy extensive trade with Germany in spite of barter difficulties. It is a fairly advantageous trade in both instances. Both the United States and England find Germany a good market for petroleum products. England also sells German coal, iron ore and copper, of which she has either plenty or access to plenty.

In turn, the United States sells to Germany cotton and a host of agricultural products, just such products as she sells to England. In recent years the cotton market has largely failed, being usurped by Brazil which is able to absorb in exchange for her cotton a large share of German manufactures than this country's competitive industries will permit. In 1931, how-

Cagney, O'Brien And Dead End Kids Star At The Ritz Friday

Angela with Duke, based on a semi-fictional melodrama of the man in the iron cage, starring the trio of James Cagney and Pat O'Brien and featuring the Dead End Kids, Ann Sheridan and George Raft will be the feature attraction at the Ritz Theatre Friday.

An interesting presentiment of two boys brought up together in the slums whose lives become widely divergent when one goes to refer to the other as a man which he is not yet. He comes along time ago to the underworld, becomes again when the gangster part of the movie is cut, the little brat, the punk, who is heading a "dead end" gang, his object being to save the thug and of course in his pursuit from the police. The young bandits become more and more like their country boys, and finally come along, the picture closing above the ruffian and file of gangsters.

Violent pictures critics have heaped praises upon in the acting of stars and upon the action of that famous ex-cult of gangsters, the "Dead End" kids. Ann Sheridan is said to handle her first strong dramatic role with remarkable ability, and Bogart and Barker are hailed as the most convincing of menaces.

Ronald Brown wrote the original story which was turned into a screen play by John Westley and Warren Duff, and Michael Curtiz directed.

"If I Were King" Presents Ronald Colman As Rogue Francois Villon

Five hundred years ago a vagabond poet from the backstreets of Paris became ruler of his country for one tumultuous week after the heart of a royal princess in defiance of the orders of the king and his nobles. He comes to the rescue of the people and saves France by leading a rabble army into battle against the most powerful armies of Europe!

The man was Francois Villon, rogue, lover, statesman and criminal whose story, running down the centuries, is as thrilling today as it was during the colorful age in which he lived. It comes to the screen in "If I Were King," the new Frank Lloyd production starring Ronald Colman and Frances Dee, which opens next Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

Scripted by Preston Sturges from the famous play by John Bally McRae, "If I Were King" presents the most glamorous escapades of Villon's life. As the Paris rogue, Colman looks a royal warehouse to give the starving populace food, kills a man in a tavern brawl and is made grand constable of France by a capricious king. As King Louis XI, the crafty and eccentric ruler of fifteenth century France.

Other leading roles in "If I Were King" are played by Helen Drew, cast as Colman's tavern wench; C. V. Francé, Henry Wilcoxon, Stanley Ridges and Ralph Forbes. The number of extras—the largest seen in Hollywood in many seasons—swells the cast to nearly two thousand people.

Lloyd spared no effort to make the picture the biggest production of his career. A producer with such triumphs as "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Wells Fargo" under his belt, and three times winner of the Academy Award, he determined to make "If I Were King" top them all. In the Paramount lot he constructed the biggest sets that can possibly be built, and Nancy Drew's first exploit as a motion picture heroine is the rescue from the hands of kidnappers of a wealthy old spider who has disappeared the day after he announced a gift of $250,000 to Nancy's school. In solving the mysterious disappearance, young Miss Drew has the courageous and clever assistance of Ted Nickerson, her favorite boy friend.

The youngsters make use of carrier pigeons, an airplane, an X-ray machine which Ted cleverly converts into a wireless sending set, and Nancy herself even resorts to gunplay when she and Ted are in what looks like a mighty tough spot.

BY J. R. WILLIAMS Sheriff Gets Candy For His Prisoners

DECATUR, Ill.—(AP)—Sheriff Emery Thornell sees that some of his county jail prisoners get candy—if they can pay for it.

He got the idea from an item to who said that the only thing the jail needed was candy for prisoners "coming off a drunk."

"A man shot off his liquor craves something sweet," the prisoner said, "and if you satisfy that craving you will create a better prisoner."

The sheriff tried it and found the theory worked well. So now Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Smith, night turnkey, gets candy for the prisoners wishing to buy it.

Problems To Be Discussed By Shippers

State's Celery Handlers Will Convene For Second Meet In Lakeland Tomorrow

Acreage Control Quotas Are Set

Growers Have 15 Days To Protest Goals Set By Committee

As celery growers in this section are planning a concerted attack on pressing problems, celery shippers, too, are seeking solutions for some of their pressing problems and for this purpose have organized an association of shippers which will hold a second meeting in Lakeland tomorrow afternoon to hear reports of committees which have been authorized to investigate certain problems.

In the meantime, County Agent C. R. Dawson announced that the Agriculture Adjustment Administration has approved celery quotas for all farmers in Seminole County and that everything is set in order for operation of the program this year.

The program is an experimental effort of the AAA to assist farmers through a crucial year by reducing the acreage which is hoped will bring a corresponding increase in price.

Mr. Dawson said that the growers have been advised of the farm quotas and that they have 15 days to make complaints and file requests to the Seminole County Soil Conservation

Reports Declare Vol Mentor Will Talk With Florida Alumni About Contract

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 5.—The Nashville Banner says it was learned that Mabel E. Neyland, University of Tennessee football coach, will confer in Jacksonville, Fla., on Wednesday with a group of University of Florida alumni on the possibility of his going to that institution as a coach.

The report comes on the heels of another, still lacking official confirmation, that Neyland, in completing his third year of a five-year contract with the Vols, would be offered and would accept a new five-year contract to remain there.

The Banner says an unnamed informant asserted Neyland is interested in going to Florida and that the alumni with whom he will confer have raised a large amount of money to be used in promoting Gator athletics.

Borrowing Of $15,000 Necessary Because Of State Inability

Arrangements for borrowing $15,000 have been completed by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction for payment of the November salaries of teachers in this county, according to Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawson.

The arrangements for borrowing the money were begun when State officials announced that the monthly allocations to the schools could not be met in full for November and there is little likelihood that the full amount of funds will be available for the December.

Most Dangerous Age

What is the most dangerous age in life? Booth Tarkington said it was seventeen, a age of vast perplexity and adolescent anarchy. But the Federal Bureau of Investigation says it is nineteen. At least that is what crime statistics tend to prove.

Nineteen year olds, according to the FBI, form the largest single age group of arrests each year. "The public knows that vaguely," says an editorial in the Rotarian magazine, "but residents of Georgia recently turned their minds specifically upon it." A survey made for their Department of Public Welfare by the Works Progress Administration showed that the average age of admissions to the State penitentiary is 19. It revealed also that 58 percent of the admissions were under 25 years of age, and of this group, half were under 21.

"Why should youths barely old enough to start on their first job turn to crime? Perhaps that question answers itself. Most of them can't get that first job. Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam finds, has the young person reacts in one of two ways to lack of opportunity to work. Either he wants to fight . . . simply rebels against the present setup; or he takes an attitude of complete resignation." The fighter turns to crime, sabotage, violent actions of all sorts, alcohol, and dope. The resigned turns to futile brooding. And the net result is a serious and usually permanent violation of youth's vital morale.

Now, the enlightened businessman can tell you quite a little in non-academic language, thank goodness about crime and its causes and cures, and he usually concludes with that old chestnut about an ounce of prevention. He likes it, says that he finds it the best answer to date to the problem of crime. And so he makes a place in his shipping room for a poor lad the social worker told him about . . . campaigns for funds for the Boy Scout troop down in the slums, canvasses for Girl Scouts, and never denies an audience, at least, to a young person earnestly seeking a job. And he helps a dozen other agencies in the same way and in other ways.

"Sometimes, like any other adult, he'd like to climb up on the roof and shout to all the young folks in the world, 'For heaven's sake, be decent!' But he knows what a ridiculous, what a pathetic figure he'd cut! And so, instead, he starts at home to give young people there a respectable chance to be decent."

What Is Opportunity?

Most people who never amount to anything lay the blame at the door of opportunity. Or rather, lack of opportunity. How many people do you know who insist they never had an opportunity? And how many of them know what opportunity is?

Opportunity is not simply a rich uncle who dies and leaves you a million dollars. Nor is it simply the chance to cash in on a lucky break in the stock market. Opportunity is the generous giving of something from yourself for which the world recognizes a real value.

As defined by The Silent Partner, "Opportunity is simply an opportunity for you to prove that you are able to handle one."

"Opportunity is a vacant store, a track-walker's job, a nightwatchman's chance."

"Opportunity looks like work, it acts like work—it is work, and nothing else."

"There is not an opportunity in all the world that will work successfully without work."

"Right where one man fails, another man succeeds. Right where the farmer starved, the Standard Oil started. Right where the inactive, lazy, indifferent neighbors said it couldn't be done, the wide-awake worker went ahead and did it."

"Opportunity! It's 50 percent intelligent industry, 49 percent patience to wait and 1 percent luck."

"'Luck' is good luck when it is not bad luck."

"If you lack the patience to wait and the willingness to work, try this idea of 'luck.' You have one chance in one hundred to win."

Initial Practice Held For Seminole Basketball Players

Ocala Is First Foe Of Ceiley Fed Cagers Who Begin '39 Season On Jan. 13

By JULIAN STENSTRUM
Herald Sports Editor

About 50 youngsters who attended the Seminole High School visited the school's basketball court this afternoon to prepare for a big 1939 cage season, according to Coach Leonard L. McLucas.

The Seminole High School Ceiley Feds will attempt to retain their Northeast Florida Conference crown which they gained last season during the conference tournament in Leesburg.

This year the Feds have four lettermen returning for duty with many good players graduating from the Baby Feds of last season. The Feds will have a fast cage five for their tough schedule which will take them to Miami and many other places in the state.

The present group will work out for about two weeks before Coach McLucas begins cutting the squad. He said he will use a squad of about 26 men during the season with ten men on the varsity and 16 men on the Baby Fed squad.

Practices will be held every afternoon and it is probable that the outfit will hold practices twice daily during the holiday season.

The first team on the schedule is Ocala on Jan. 13. McLucas said that it is probable that he will schedule six or eight more games than have been arranged at present.

Those expected to be out for the varsity this afternoon will be center Jim Riser, forwards Pete Echols, Art Williams and Pete Tillis and guards Darrell Ferguson and Bucky Ferguson.

Longwood Driving Park Activity To Begin This Week

Training horse racing men have started arriving and activity out at Seminole Driving Park will get underway in full swing this week as training of colts is started.

Ben White arrived last week and will have 25 horses in training here this winter.

W. K. Dickerson, of New York, who handles all horses owned by E. R. Harriman, came in Friday and was awaiting the arrival of the next 10 days with 25 head, including Greyhounds, world's champion trotter.

Mr. Dickerson said he would have 25 horses at the park this year.

"During the past summer we bought $36,335 worth of colts," Mr. Dickerson stated. "At the sight chances of getting hurt in New York sale we purchased a million working hours compared with $10,000 worth of horses, $16,735 with 31 chances, 15 years ago."

CALCUTTA, Dec. 5—(AP)—The absence of a bird reportedly held up the annual procession of the Raia of Jharia (Bihar) on Dussehra festival day.

After immersing the idol of the goddess Durga, the raia started to return to his palace.

He covered a considerable portion of the route without sighting the auspicious bird Nilkantha.

According to tradition the Raia of Jharia should not return to the palace without seeing this bird on Dussehra day.

A drive was instituted to bring out a Nilkantha. After a two-hour's wait the raia saw the bird carrier. ## Payments In Installments Provided In New Ordinance

Urging that immediate arrangements be made for settlement of delinquent city taxes and fees, Mayor Edward Higgins warned owners of Sanford property on which these assessments have been levied and have not been paid that the authority of the City to grant adjustments expires on Dec. 31 and that after that time it will be necessary for the City to begin foreclosure proceedings against property, the owners of which have made no attempts to make settlement.

"The City is not going to ask for, in fact it will oppose any further tax adjustment legislation," Mr. Higgins said, adding that "it is the opinion of the Commission that owners of property on which fees and taxes are delinquent have been given ample time and terms in which to prove their equity in property if they intend to do so."

Mayor Higgins pointed out that as a further incentive for owners to protect their equity in vacant property, the City has granted a 20 percent reduction in taxation for next year's taxes. This reduction, however, does not extend to improved property of any kind.

"When the authority of the City Commission as a delinquent tax adjustment board expires, the only remedy the City will have is foreclosure against those who fail to take advantage of the lenient terms for settlement," Mr. Higgins continued.

For the years of 1934 and prior, to which the authority of the commission as a tax adjustment board applies, all delinquent taxes are settled for 10 percent of the principal. Full payment of principal and penalties, however, is required for 1934 and subsequent years.

In adjustment of paving fees against property, Mayor Higgins pointed out that all interests is cancelled and settlement is made on the basis of 10 percent of the principal.

So as to assist those who are unable to raise the full amount of the taxes on the adjusted basis, the City Commission has made arrangements for payment on the installment plan. An ordinance passed at the last regular meeting of the Commission extends its authority to accept payment of the adjusted settlement in installments over a period of seven years.

The ordinance provides that full payment must be made of the 1938 taxes before becoming delinquent; that 1-7 of the adjusted settlement will be paid down, and

Wilson Explains Nazi Methods In Debt Settlement

Germans Duck Obligations At Expense Of Yankee Investors

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Frothy talk from Germany, Austria and Hungary, who have seized their finger on a choice little piece of international doughnut, hand by which Germany is waging at much of her foreign debt at the expense of Yankee investors.

German financiers have invented more new financial tricks than the world ever has known in order to fit itself in tightfisted times, but their methods of shucking international debts are not new in any sense. Young and other financial experts over there to help pull the country out of the hole. Davis took some time to study the German economy, but he continued his efforts to domesticize it and the result of his work can be seen in the way he is now regarded throughout the country.

In some respects, the process is similar to the one followed in Germany through the 1930's, in that the government has been unable to get the people to accept the new deal, and has changed construction in the budget to get the people to accept the new deal.

On the international front, they have been expected to talk to the information front.

But except for a few exceptions, the German government and the German people have been
