Jail & Bail Tuesday

SANFORD — The American Cancer Society Sanford-Lake Mary unit will hold a Jail and Bail event Tuesday to benefit the local chapter.

According to Emy Bill who is organizing the event, "This is the chance of a lifetime. For $25, you can have your favorite person thrown in the slammer, right into our lovely plastic jail."

The "lock-up" area will be in the showroom of Willett Oldsmobile/Cadillac, 3700 Highway 17-92, in Sanford.

"Here's how it works," she said. "Just pick out a jailbird from among your friends, co-workers, (especially your boss). At our special time our volunteer "kops" will comically arrest the suspect and whisk them off to the special jail."

She continued, "They will be given use of a telephone to raise their bail in the form of pledges for the American Cancer Society. It's all in fun but vital to local fund raising activities."

The Jail & Bail will be held in the Sanford/Lake Mary area Tuesday, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Bill suggests people can arrange to have someone "nabbed" by phoning 321-7771 in advance of the event.

For additional information, call the Cancer Society office at 322-0849 or Emy Bill at 323-7629.

Preservation week observed

SANFORD — The 22nd National Historic Preservation Week is being observed this week.

Although not a legal holiday, it requires efforts from local historic organizations to bring it to a level of recognition.

In Sanford, historic landmarks are being renewed, revitalized neighborhoods are being toured, and community life is being celebrated in keeping with similar activities across the nation.

Co-sponsored by the National Trust for Historic Preservation and local groups such as the Sanford Historic Trust, the theme of this week-long celebration is "Preservation and Livable Communities: Make the Connection!"

Recently, the Sanford Historic Trust selected 10 local homes and buildings to be honored this week. Banners have been placed on the facilities so they may be easily identified.

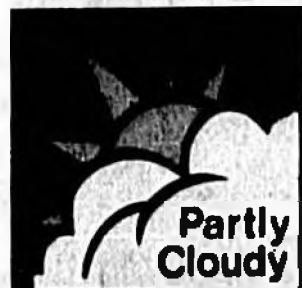

The Trust hopes to make this an annual event to further the celebration of the annual Preservation Week activities.

Cops nab 1 of 2 in shootout after Winn Dixie robbery

By NICK PFEIFAUPT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Armed robbers in a stolen car speed through Sanford, interrupting the pre-dawn quiet by shooting out the window of a police car in hot pursuit. The car crashes and the cop opens fire.

Not a TV show, but a real event that took place in the streets of Sanford early this morning, according to Sanford police.

Police apprehended one of two young black men who allegedly robbed a Winn Dixie store. Sanford Police Lt. Dennis Whitmire said the man has been identified as Johnny Knight, 19. The other man is still at large.

Judge has ideas about curbing crime

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Editor's note: This is the sixth in a juvenile justice series ending Sunday.

SANFORD — Judge Leonard Wood serves on the bench in juvenile court. Some of Judge Wood's comments on the juvenile delinquency problems he sees:

• "I was absolutely shocked when I realized more delinquency cases occur during the school terms than vacations. The only explanation I've got is during school, there is more intermingling and more opportunity to get in trouble."

• "I feel sorry for the teachers and administrators that have to deal with the type of problems that I know are on their campuses. It's a total frightening nightmare. From where I sit, that's the picture I have. It is a nightmare. They ought to pay them extra compensation called

Programs offer some alternatives

From Herald Staff Reports

SANFORD — By this summer, the newly-formed Police Athletic League hopes to offer diversions to crime to troubled youth in Seminole County.

"We want to try to develop positive role models for our youth through team sport activities," said Lt. Malt Stewart, PAL director.

Sheriff Don Eslinger established PAL as part of an effort to provide an outlet for youth from crime-infested neighborhoods who may be showing the first signs of following a path to crime. A 42-member board of community leaders has been formed, directed by a six-member executive board.

Board members include Bill Moore, principal of Sanford Middle School; Don Miller, director of Boys

SANFORD — It was not your ordinary barroom brawl.

Willie May Hayes and Darrell Tate got into a tiff outside the Tingo Tavern on 13th Street in Sanford and the quarrel turned violent.

The Tingo Tavern is located at 1013 W. 13th St., Sanford.

According to Lt. Dennis Whitmire of the Sanford Police Department, Hayes, of 1010 1/2 W. 13th St., Sanford, was charged with aggravated battery after he stabbed Tate twice in the neck and in the chest.

Booths busy today at free health, safety fair

By NICK PFEIFAUPT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The fourth annual Health and Safety Fair opened at 9 a.m. this morning at the Sanford Civic Center. Before the event concludes at 4 p.m. this afternoon, over a thousand people are expected to take advantage of the free offerings.

Sponsored by the City of Sanford, HCA-Central Florida Regional Hospital and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the day-long event features dozens of booths, exhibits and demonstrations aimed at helping to inform and educate the public on health and safety matters.

By 9:30, almost 60 persons had been registered at the door. At that time, only half of the planned 60 exhibits and booths had been set up, but hospital spokesperson Susan Pruther said everything was expected to be in place by 10 a.m.

As has been the case for the past health and safety fairs, the busiest booths this morning were those where free blood pressure and cholesterol checks were being given.

Thelma Beckendean of Deltona was among the early arrivals this morning. "I'm disappointed that some of the booths I wanted to visit aren't ready yet," she said, "but I'll probably be here for at least an hour or two, so I'll get to see everything."

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Lawmaker drops proposal for bed tax

ORLANDO — A state representative Thursday dropped his proposal to fund tourism promotions with a $1-a-night bed tax that was opposed by hoteliers and tourism executives.

State Rep. Also Reddick, D-Orlando, said a flat fee would be unfair to small, inexpensive hotels that charge no more than $30 to $40 for a room.

Instead, Reddick says he will support earlier proposals that would affect all lodgings equitably by levying a percentage surcharge on rooms.

"It seemed to me to be fairer," said Reddick at a meeting of the legislative committee for the Florida Tourism Commission. "As I talk to people, I realize this is something I can support."

The committee is exploring ways to tax the tourism industry to raise $40 million annually for marketing and promotion.

Hoteliers felt Reddick's $1-a-night proposal unfairly singled them out. Other tourism executives also opposed the measure because a portion of the proceeds would be used to finance economic development not related to tourism. It would have included such things as investment and new jobs in the state's African-American communities.

Confessed robber acquitted

GAINESVILLE — A federal jury has acquitted a confessed robber for a 1992 Gainesville bank heist, despite hearing him testify about the crime and two other bank robberies.

John Patrick Murray, 46, told the jury he robbed three Gainesville banks in March 1992 but was forced to do so by drug dealers who kept him high on crack cocaine.

Murray said two dealers he called "Tony" and "Olivia" threatened him at gunpoint, drove him to the banks and told him to rob three times over a three-day period.

"I was in fear for my life, I felt threatened," he told the 12-person jury.

The jury Wednesday unanimously cleared Murray of the March 12 robbery of SunBank branch.

Immediately after the verdict, Assistant U.S. Attorney Jerome Sanford asked that Murray be held for the Gainesville bank robberies that occurred March 10-11.

Alkins said he was angered by the government's decision to now charge Murray with the crimes.

Teen AIDS victim hospitalized

ST. PETERSBURG — One of three hemophilic brothers whose fight to attend school drew national attention to the plight of AIDS victims was in fair condition after being hospitalized with a leg infection.

Randy Ray, whose 15-year-old brother Ricky died in December of complications from AIDS, was in All Children's Hospital on Thursday with a persistent infection in his leg.

Randy, 13, has tested positive for the virus that causes AIDS.

A fall from a motor scooter a couple of weeks ago left Randy with a cut and an infection that "just doesn't seem to want to go away," said Judith Kavanaugh, who is acting as a family spokeswoman.

Ricky, Randy and their brother Robert, 15, are believed to have contracted HIV from tainted blood products used to treat their hemophilia.

Treason rejected in abortion ruling

PENSACOLA — A judge rejected treason as grounds for declaring the death penalty invalid in the case of an anti-abortion protester accused of murdering an abortionist.

Michael F. Griffin, charged with the 1988 shooting of Dr. David Gunn as the physician arrived to perform abortions at a Pensacola women's clinic in the midst of a protest, filed the handwritten motion without assistance from a lawyer Monday.

Griffin argued that the Supreme Court's Roe vs. Wade ruling that upheld the legality of abortions was an act of treason because it violated "the will of our Creator" and the right to life in the Declaration of Independence.

"Inasmuch as the Supreme Court is acting within the bounds of its constitutional authority, it is illogical to conclude that its acts are 'treasonous,'" Circuit Judge John Farnham wrote Thursday in a three-page order denying the motion. "Rendering a judicial decision is not an act of treason as defined by applicable law."

Crewmen ordered held without bond

MIAMI (AP) — Five crewmen from a freighter intercepted in the Pacific with 11,000 pounds of cocaine aboard were ordered held without bond.

Five remaining crewmen, including the captain of the Sea Chariot, were to appear today before U.S. Magistrate William Turnoff for their bond hearings.

The 252-foot freighter, registered in the Caribbean island nation of St. Vincent, was spotted April 22 in the Pacific Ocean about 300 miles from the Panama Canal.

The seizure was the second-largest cocaine load ever intercepted at sea, according to the U.S. Customs Service.

Foster Care denied

Police officer charges racism over custody of nephews

By The Associated Press

TAMPA — A police officer charges racism is the only explanation for why she is being denied custody of her twin nephews.

Delores Williams, who has earned high marks in her 12 years as a St. Petersburg police officer, is black. Her 2-year-old nephews are racially mixed, one is fair-skinned, blue-eyed and blond; the other has olive skin, green eyes and dark hair.

Williams already gets the twins for a day each week.

But a court-appointed advocate for the children who opposes custody for the aunt says such matters are more complex.

"Race would never be an issue," said advocate Joel Valdes, who is barred by confidentiality laws from speaking about any specific case.

"We feel it is racist, and racist only," said Williams' lawyer, Henry Nobles of Tampa.

A hearing on the case is scheduled for next month. Nobles said he plans to raise the issue of racial discrimination at the hearing.

The guardian has pointed to a psychological evaluation that says the twins — born two months premature — need attention that would be hard for a single working woman such as Williams to provide, according to Williams and Nobles.

Yet, the same evaluation says the boys should be in a special, developmental day-care program, said Williams, 34. If that were the case, Williams said she should be able to work while the boys were in day care. And, she said, her sister has offered to care for the children during the day.

"I hated to think it is racially motivated," Williams said. "But I could see no other reason that it could be."

HRS frequently places children in the homes of single foster or adoptive parents, and even in two-parent homes, both after work, said agency spokesman Tom Jones.

State law requires HRS to give preference to relatives in placing children. The agency also is supposed to try to place children with members of the same race, and biracial children typically are placed in black homes.

The twins' mother, Mary Maskrey, is serving a 18-year sentence for killing a man whom she says molested other children. Maskrey, 36, is scheduled for release in 1998 and wants to try then to regain custody of her five younger children, including the twins.

But she said she wants them to live with Williams for now.

"I think she would be excellent," Maskrey said.

Sylvester Williams III, the twins' father and Williams' brother, has a history of drug arrests. He is unable to raise the children now, Williams said.

Disney honors ex-con

FORT LAUDERDALE — A former drug dealer and ex-convict who said getting shot was a blessing because it straightened his life out is being honored by Walt Disney World.

Five years ago, Anthony Brown was in and out of jail, frequently suspended from school, dealing drugs. And he was only 15.

The worst came on March 26, 1988. Brown lay on the ground with a paid hitman standing over him. He already had six bullets in his body — including one in the spine.

But today, Anthony Brown is being honored by Walt Disney World with the Disney Dreamers and Doers award, presented to students across the state who demonstrate curiosity, confidence and courage.

The 20-year-old created a program to teach kids not to use guns. He is student council vice president and has a 3.0 grade point average. He produces pamphlets and videos for the school and does just about anything that's needed there.

"It's hard to wake up every morning, knowing you have to get up and get in the wheelchair, but that's life," Brown said. "If it weren't for this, I'd be six feet under."

His mission now is to save other kids from the wheelchair he will need for the rest of his life. Brown, a quadriplegic, can't walk or use his hands to write.

He once overheard a 10-year-old talking about drug dealers all decked out in gold jewelry. That's what he wanted to be, the boy said.

Brown wheeled over. "I sold drugs and look where I'm at," he said.

A month later, the boy's mother saw Brown and told him about the changes in her son. He became an A student and was staying away from trouble.

Brown could graduate in August, but plans to spend another year in school.

Man nabbed after cashing dead aunt's checks for over 40 years

By The Associated Press

POMPAÑO BEACH — A 72-year-old man was arrested for cashing $125,000 worth of pension checks of his aunt — an aunt who has been dead since 1950.

Olive Preto would be 107 in January, but officials with the state retirement office thought she was still going strong, cashing her monthly checks at a military surplus store in Pompano Beach.

"For 40 years, we had no reason to be suspicious," said Pat Connolly, chief of Florida's Bureau of Benefit Payments. "There were even letters in her files dating from the '70s — a change of address and that sort of thing. There are verifications on file that she was still living up until we caught him."

Police say Preto's nephew, Lars Copeland of Pompano Beach, was cashing the checks.

Copeland was charged with second-degree grand theft and 36 counts of forgery — one for each of the retirement checks he allegedly cashed over the past three years.

He was arrested Thursday after being secretly filmed cashing Preto's last check, state investigators said. Copeland was being held in the Broward County Jail on $41,000 bond Thursday.

Officials say they suspect that Copeland's mother — Preto's sister — first started cashing the checks after Preto died. When Copeland's mother died in 1984, he continued the tradition, said Don McCrindle, special agent with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

Preto had been earning about $50 a month when she retired from the Franklin County School District in 1947 at age 61. But adjustments for inflation and other increases eventually turned her pension check into $548.46 a month.

State retirement officials say the case was particularly difficult to break because Preto taught at a time when many teachers didn't have Social Security numbers.

She died before national death records were put on computer tapes, making it harder for auditors to match against elderly state employees still receiving retirement benefits.

The state first grew suspicious last year during an audit of the handful of retirees over the age of 100 receiving pensions. Notarized forms showed that a relative had power of attorney over Preto's account because she was too ill to handle it herself, but auditors grew nervous when they could not reach her by phone.

In May 1992, Copeland called the retirement benefits office to say his aunt had just died. But auditors couldn't find her death certificate until searching for several months.

Final stage in selection of jury in cop's trial

By IKE FLORES Associated Press Writer

ORLANDO — Jury selection in the manslaughter trial of a suspended Miami police officer went into its final stages late Thursday, with questioning of what could be a final group of 38 candidates, including four blacks and three Hispanics.

Lawyers hoped to come up with a panel of six, and three alternates, by Friday afternoon. If that happens, opening statements and testimony would begin Monday, said Circuit Judge W. Thomas Spencer.

The 38 potential jurors made it through individual questioning by lawyers, who considered questionnaires from about 140 individuals.

If the attorneys and judge can't agree on nine panelists by the end of the week, they will call in more people from a large jury pool.

Lozano, 33, is being retried on two manslaughter counts in the slaying of two black motorcycleists in Miami's predominantly black Overtown district Jan. 16, 1989.

The Colombian-born officer shot and killed the motorcycle driver, Clement Lloyd, 23, the passenger, Allan Blanchard, 24, was fatally injured in the subsequent crash. The two were speeding away from another officer.

The incident set off three nights of rioting.

Lozano was convicted of manslaughter in December 1989, but an appeals court overturned the conviction in 1991, ruling that the jury may have been influenced by the possibility of more racial violence.

The retrial was moved from Miami to Orlando, then to Tallahassee and finally back to Orlando in efforts to seat an ethnically balanced jury.

Jury selection began Monday. Testimony is expected to take two or three weeks.

AAA: Gasoline prices are up

By The Associated Press

HEATHROW — The average price for self-serve regular gasoline in May rose 2.1 cents, to $1.135 per gallon, marking the second straight monthly rise of more than 2 cents, AAA Clubs of Florida reported Thursday.

The average price for self-serve mid-grade unleaded rose 1.4 cents to $1.258, while self-serve premium unleaded was up 1.4 cents over April prices, to $1.341.

But the price differences for May compared to April for full-serve unleaded gasolines offered better news for motorists.

Full-serve regular unleaded averaged $1.497, up 0.1 cents, while full-serve mid-grade dropped 0.2 cents to $1.591 per gallon and full-serve premium unleaded was down 0.1 cents to $1.675.

Port Richey had the lowest price for self-serve regular unleaded in mid-May, $1.079, with the highest price paid statewide for the same gasoline in Gainesville, where it cost $1.079.

"An increase in gas prices is typical for this time of year," said Tom Schroder, spokesman for the Florida branch of the American Automobile Association.

"The summer formula is more expensive to produce, and the cost is passed along to the customers," Schroder said.

Complete child care guide now available

ORLANDO — Central Florida families now have access to a guide that lists all child day care, medical and special needs services for children in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties.

"The Complete Guide to Child Care in Central Florida," just released by Community Coordinated Child Care (4C) for Central Florida, Inc. was underwritten by corporate sponsors. Copies are free to the public.

The guide gives comprehensive information about each child care facility, including a complete description, price, location and services available. The directory is divided into nine geographic sectors and is indexed by service category.

The guide will be officially introduced to the public at the Florida Power/4C Children's Festival May 15 at the Central Florida fairgrounds. One hundred copies will be given away at the festival. Directories are also available at the 4C headquarters, 1612 E. Colonial Drive, Orlando.

Community Coordinated Child Care for Central Florida, Inc. is a community-based, non-profit children's services coordination agency based in Orlando.

Wishing Teen Challenge much success

Teen Challenge, 3706 S. Sanford Avenue, is now in business. The operation is a live-in facility aimed at helping youth, adults and families with drug and alcohol problems.

After a $75,000 renovation project underway since early this year, the former Cardinal Office complex has been rebuilt to serve as classrooms and living quarters for persons entering the program as well as staff members.

The official grand opening is being held today and tomorrow. We urge residents to tour the operation and learn about the rehabilitation program they offer.

When the project was first proposed in early January, there were questions about an operation which planned to bring alcoholics and drug abusers into the Sanford community. Through a tour of the facility and more information about the aims and goals of Teen Challenge, these fears should be alleviated.

This is not new and un-tried. Teen Challenge has proven to be a successful and welcomed operation across the nation and around the world. There are presently 117 centers in the U.S., and 165 overseas.

Teen Challenge has a religious basis, but the method of help in overcoming addictions is non-religious. The program also presents classes on life-skills, character and integrity. For those in need of improved education, it gives the opportunity to earn a High School Equivalency diploma.

Presently there are 40 men and 12 women living at the facility. Plans call for an expansion to possibly 100 in the years ahead.

In a recent research project, the National Institute of Drug Abuse reported Teen Challenge had an 86 percent cure rate.

As they observe their grand opening this weekend, we welcome the people of Teen Challenge to Sanford, and wish them success.

Sister should have played the dozens

When Richard Nixon was asked how his college buddies referred to egregiously unattractive women, he quipped, "They were dogs."

Add this insult to the list of cultural differences this columnist has with the former president. When I was in school, we called those of the ungainly physiognomy "bears." My son's generation differentiates between genders. "A woman is busted, but a man is just a plain ugly (expletive deleted)."

But words do not define. Impressions do. Like Plato, all of us are constantly "beholding beauty with the eye of the mind." In our love and appreciation for each other, we embrace Emerson's wisdom, "One man's beauty (is) another's ugliness."

Is there a difference between a racial slur and an insult based on the lack of attractiveness? A few months ago, a black woman student at the University of Pennsylvania was called a "water buffalo." As she and a few of her female friends noisily passed a white fraternity house, several students yelled out obscenities. One student, Eden, called them "water buffaloes." The women complained to the campus policemen. Only Eden admitted to the police that he had shouted out of the window.

But Eden denied that he knew the women were African-Americans. "I was just thinking they were making a lot of noise while I'm trying to write a paper and my roommate is trying to sleep."

Subsequently, Eden did admit to a newspaper reporter that he knew the women were African-Americans. This ethnic awareness convinced a university judicial officer that, in the incident's context, "water buffalo," was a racial epithet.

The Wall Street Journal, devout foe of political correctness, called the incident "one of the more Kafkaesque chapters in the ongoing campus follies."

That's what happens when you take yourself too seriously. More than anything, the incident was a denial of black history's deliciously outrageous sense of humor.

But words do not define, impressions do.

Black people have forgotten the very principles of their origin when they forget how much their self-deprecating humor and lacerating wit sustained them and enabled them to "get over" on "Mr. Charlie" (the generic white man).

Suppose somebody had played the dozens with that sister at Penn? The "dozens" is a series of savagely insulting ripostes played between brothers.

"Your mamma is so ugly that the stork that brought her should be locked by the FBI."

Those sisters at Penn should have stood outside Eden's window and done what the "signifyin' monkey" did to the lion, "talked about his mamma in the most terrible way."

Are words and phrases such as "water buffalo" or "gorilla" racist when applied to black people? Some people think so. But if you ask me, they could all take a lesson from Johnny Mercer, who sang one of the all-time tributes to the ecumenicity of ugliness:

"Hey, you're ugly, man, you're ugly. You're some ugly child...."

"You're big foot, barefoot, slew-footed, too. How'd they ever get a pair of shoes on you? Your hair is nappy. Who's your pappy? You're some ugly child...."

Charleston fights base closings

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Suppose your community was about to be hit by a natural disaster and some supreme being showed up to hold a public hearing on whether you will be spared. What would it be like? Probably much like the hearing the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission recently held here.

The downsized Navy of the future will mainly berth at two "superports" — one on the East Coast (Norfolk, Va.) and one on the West Coast (San Diego) — and in a number of much smaller satellite ports like Kings Bay, Ga., and Ingalls, Texas. This has left Charleston, the country's third largest naval base, as the odd one out.

The Navy is proposing to shut down the Charleston Naval Station, the Charleston Shipyard, the Naval Electronic Systems Engineering Center (NAVELEX), the Charleston Naval Hospital, the Naval Supply Center and the Defense Distribution Depot.

The Navy's proposal has stunned the town and state. As Mayor Joseph P. Riley Jr. put it: "We're a Navy town, we have been one since the Revolution. We thought that no community in America has done more for the Navy, nor has had a better relationship. Many of our people simply don't understand why this is happening."

The recent hearing was Charleston's one public chance to try to prove the Navy's decision wrong. Privately, the community, its elected officials and some highly paid consultants have been lobbying the commission and its staff for months, and this is likely to continue until the commission's final vote on July 1.

By law, the Navy had to follow eight specific criteria in making its decisions on which bases to close. To remove a base from the Navy's closure list, the commission must find "substantial deviation" from those criteria. Thus Charleston's plea was at once highly technical — showing how the Navy failed to follow the criteria — yet, at the same time, very emotional.

"If this happens," Riley told the commission, "it will rip the economic heart out of this community. It will cause a depression that will take generations to recover from."

He went on to explain that if the Navy leaves, 18,380 direct jobs and another 20,000 indirect jobs will be lost. The total cumulative job loss would add up to 27 percent of the jobs in the three-county area around Charleston. Because the average Navy salary is $36,600, as compared to the community average salary of about $18,000, the closings would eliminate approximately one out of every three dollars now in the local economy.

"This will wreak havoc on our community," said Riley. "This community will suffer an economic implosion if this goes through. Its devastation will be greater than any natural disaster I could imagine."

At the same time Gov. Carroll Campbell told the commission about the impact the closures would have on the state. "Benefits to the unemployed and their dependents could top $1 billion ... while state revenue lost would be $185 million in a total state budget of only $1.7 billion. This will cause a depression here, not a recession."

While the emotional issues were clear, Charleston will ultimately win or lose on the merits of its complex technical arguments. Some of the evidence it presented was startling.

The community's case to save the Naval Station was presented by a panel of retired Naval officers led by Capt. Robin White, a former base commander.

"We believe the Navy's data is fatally flawed," White told the commissioners, and then he and several other former high-ranking officers spent more than an hour detailing an amazing list of apparent errors, omissions or misinterpretations that led to the Navy's decision to close Charleston rather than other bases.

White's panel was followed by others arguing the Navy made similar critical errors in the decision-making process in deciding to close each of the other Charleston facilities. Each of the panels, in turn, gave the commission a suggested list of alternative bases and facilities to close that would make more sense militarily, and would save the taxpayers money.

When all was said and done, the commissioners promised nothing publicly, only that they would study all of Charleston's data closely. Mayor Riley pronounced himself satisfied with the two days of hearings, saying, "I think the whole matter has been reopened and is back on the table."

Privately, even before the hearing was over, members of the commission's staff were already deep in an analysis of the data Charleston had gathered. As one noted: "They have made a very compelling case. We're going to have to go back to the Navy and ask some very tough questions."

This has left Charleston, the country's third largest naval base, as the odd one out.

RTC contracting practices in need of reform

WASHINGTON — When doing business with the Resolution Trust Corp., sometimes who you know is better than what you know.

Since its creation in 1989 to clean up the savings and loan crisis, the RTC has suffered a string of embarrassing revelations about its contracting practices. As the largest consumer of private legal services in the federal government, the RTC has been criticized for awarding bids non-competitively and stacking the deck against smaller firms. Agency officials recently set out to reform the system by opening up the process and paying more attention to small and minority-owned firms.

As the RTC undergoes internal reforms, the agency's inspector general is in the midst of its second probe into whether one of its most senior lawyers supervised agency work performed by her former law firm. Internal RTC documents show that Sheila M. Cahill, the vice president and associate general counsel for the RTC's department of asset disposition, is being probed for possible ethics violations in connection with her dealings with the New York law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft. Cahill declined to comment on the probe, citing rules prohibiting her from talking to the press.

After the inspector general finished its first investigation of Cahill, no decision was made to either punish her or clear her name. A number of lawyers in the RTC believe their agency dropped the ball by declining to act, and are determined to see that history doesn't repeat itself. In repeated memos to RTC ethics officials, they complain that lower pay-grade employees get the book thrown at them for ethics violations, while Cahill's alleged problem has been deliberately minimized on account of her senior status.

Now, a new agent has been assigned to the case and a second investigation has begun. The problems began in early 1992 when Michael Jungman, who was then the vice president and associate general counsel of the RTC's department of asset disposition, transferred to another division within the RTC. According to RTC documents, Jungman and other senior officials wanted to hire Cahill, a lawyer at Cadwalader, to fill the job and to oversee a major agency project.

At the same time, the RTC also wanted to contract with Cahill's firm to work on the project. Such an arrangement, however, would present a clear ethical conflict if Cahill, as an employee of the RTC, signed the contract with her old firm. According to a Jan. 28, 1993, memo to ethics officials by an RTC associate general counsel, Jungman and others allegedly arranged for the contract to be signed before Cahill came aboard. In order to find "a way around the ethical problem," Jungman declined to comment on the affair, citing internal agency rules. There is no indication whether Jungman is under investigation.

Once Cahill was hired, documents suggest she began managing a number of RTC projects with help from her former law firm.

After RTC lawyers complained that Cahill was relying exclusively on her old firm for paid advice, the inspector general began investigating and ethics officials advised her to recuse herself. Cahill complied, but her July 23 letter of recusal raised more eyebrows because it listed a new oversight attorney who reported directly back to her in the chain of command. RTC ethics rules forbid employees from delegating to subordinates as a means of recusing themselves from potential conflicts of interest.

hazardous pay."
 "I come down very hard on any kid that's carrying a firearm. When they come before the court, the first thing I inquire about is, are they going to school? Where are they going to school? What were their grades on their last report card? If they are not going to school, what are they doing to further their education? Do they have employment? There is a tremendous underground of information. The kids know what's going on in the justice system."
 "Parents make a tremendous mistake giving their kids a car as soon as they turn 16. They just don't want to have the headaches of transporting their kids around."
 "Parents don't set reasonable curfews. A kid brings home three F's and three D's and parents let them stay out until 2 in the morning on weekends and midnight on weeknights. That's not a curfew. That's a license to get into trouble."

"I think the bottom line is too high a percentage of our youth have no effective family structure. That's not the kids' fault." Asked if the high divorce rate today factors into the problem, Wood said, "I see too many kids in here whose parents were never married to start with." He added he sees some juveniles who have been rejected by step parents, when divorced parents remarry.

"The best way to keep a kid out of trouble is to get him interested in something constructive from the start so he won't be distracted by certain peer pressures."

Wood praised the school resource officer program and the cooperation he has received from the school principals and administrators as well as HRS personnel who, he said, are hampered by administrative policies, and a lack of funds and programs.

Stabbing

Police reports say a lock blade knife was used in the attack and the weapon was located at the scene.
 Whitmire said he was unaware if the two men were friends or if they had ever met before the incident last night.
 Tate was immediately airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center.
 Whitmire said that one of the officers who responded to the scene told him that Hayes was dressed in women's shorts, a blouse, earrings and had curlers in his hair.
 Witnesses reported that

Hayes, 33, had approached Tate and began to assault him without provocation.

According to Whitmire, Hayes was interviewed at the Sanford Police Department after his arrest and he told them that Tate had battered him twice while they were in the bar.

He said that he had stabbed Tate once and then had to stab him a second time in self defense.

"We don't have many details on this incident yet," Whitmire said.

Orlando Regional Medical Center could not offer any information about Tate's condition this morning.

Cruisin' through historic downtown

By NICK PFEIFAU

SANFORD — Classic cars will be cruising and parking in downtown Sanford Saturday. The Sanford Historic Downtown Waterfront Association will be holding a "Super Saturday Night Cruise."

Cars provided by the Celery City Cruisers will be touring the downtown area as well as parking for public display, from 7 until 10 p.m.

In keeping with the mood reminiscent of the 50's and 60's, SHDWA is throwing a big block party at Magnolia Square.

Chris Cranias, co-president of SHDWA said the event will also feature music of the era by the rock & roll band Rumbleseat, and an Elvia impersonator.

being sought.

Police this morning were sifting through evidence in the stolen getaway car, which was impounded after the chase. Police said money allegedly taken in the robbery was found in an orange canvas bag imprinted with 'Seminole High 91-92' and the name 'Knight.'

Peggy Leroy, secretary to Principal Gretchen Schapker, said Knight had been a student at Seminole High until withdrawing earlier this year.

Knight, allegedly shot by police in the left arm during an escape attempt, was airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center for treatment of his wounds. He was stable, awake and alert this morning according to an ORMC spokesman.

The two men reportedly broke into the Winn Dixie Store at Highway 17-92 and Lake Mary Blvd. at approximately 2:43 this morning, Lt. Whitmire said. Indications are that they climbed on top of refrigeration units at the rear of the building and managed to break in while employees were re-stocking the store during the closing hours.

"Once they got inside they apparently tried to obtain as much money as possible," Whitmire said.

Police officer John Evans, was said to be passing the store at the time, heard the shots being fired, and called for back-up units before approaching the building.

"We understand the burglars wanted to know where the keys were to the office and when the employees said they didn't know, one of the men started shooting into the air," he said. "They fired between eight and 10 shots into the ceiling, probably to stress the fact that they meant business."

"While one man had the gun," he continued, "the other man had a golf club, and went through the store smashing everything he could."

After obtaining an undetermined amount of money, police said the men took car keys from one of the employees, then forced all seven of them

Much of her time was spent visiting booths sponsored by organizations which deal in elderly affairs including AARP, Better Living for Seniors, Alzheimer Resource Center, Dietary and Meals on Wheels.

Beckendean, who gave her age as 72, said she seldom drives. "But I come to Sanford for this event every year. I wouldn't miss it because I think the city and the hospital are really providing something good for everyone, especially those of us with a few years behind us."

Prather indicated a large crowd is expected around the noon hour. "That's when many people who are working will take the time to stop in here," she said. "This has been the case for the past several years."

A majority of the booths provided free literature to visitors. At the entrance door, plastic tote-bags were being distributed to carry the items. Several persons who left early had little room left in their bags.

With a large number of attractions designed specifically for children, groups were to be bused at various times of the day today. A number of daycare centers are using the fair as a field trip.

"but at the present time, we have not been able to locate him."

Both the police vehicle and the car used in the getaway were impounded. Police plan to interrogate Knight this morning.

"In the rear of the get-away car," Whitmire said, "is a container, something like a small trash can, which contains what we believe is part, if not most of the loot taken in the burglary. We are waiting for additional information to determine what is missing from the store."

The employees were said to be unharmed. They apparently were locked in the cooler for 45 minutes to an hour before officer Mullins found them and opened the door.

"At this time we don't know what type of weapon was used until we get a ballistics expert to check the bullets," Whitmire said. "Judging from what was described as three shots at a time being fired in rapid succession we have reason to believe it may have been an AK-47, but we are not certain at this time."

Housing Authority

SANFORD — The Sanford Housing Authority realizes that young people need to be kept busy or they will be tempted to get into trouble.

To that end they are constructing year round programs that are designed to be an alternative to illegal and criminal activity. Currently, a plethora of summer programs for all ages from kindergarten through high school is being put together.

"We want to keep the young people busy," said Linda Williams, director of management and resident services for the housing authority. "We want to provide them with activities that are fun."

Williams said the housing authority will begin enrolling youngsters this week in a program they have entitled WORTH (Worthy Opportunities for Recreation Through Holistic approaches).

"We will be offering artistic and cultural alternatives to discourage vandalism, drugs and other activities," Williams explained.

She said that she hopes to have 35 to 50 young people enrolled in each age group for that program.

Already underway this year is the first basketball league sponsored by the housing authority, Williams said.

The program, though it is open to youngsters community-wide, has been very popular with young men from the Lake Monroe Terrace housing area, she noted.

Sanford Recreation

SANFORD — Mike Kirby, director of Parks and Recreation for the City of Sanford, is pleased with the programs being offered for older teenagers during the summer months.

"We capped out on our programs for ages 12 and under after just a short time," he said, "but we have plenty to do for the older ages."

All but a few events are in the category of team sports. The exceptions include: Soap Box Derby participation, through age 16; Aerobics and Karate for ages 13 and older; and the Lakeside Road Race, age 13 and up.

Aerobics and Karate classes continue year round. Teens wishing to participate may sign up at any time.

The Soap Box Derby will be held July 11, and the Lakeside Road Race, formerly in September, is tentatively scheduled for next February as a one-time event.

For team sports, Kirby lists the following: Babe Ruth Baseball, age 13-18; Girls Softball, age 13-18; Mens Softball, age 18 and over; Ladies Softball, age 17 and over; Basketball, through age 15; Co-Ed Volleyball, 18 and older; Open Basketball Play (At Roy A. Allen Gymnasium, Crooms School of Choices).

The Sanford Recreation office is located on the ground floor, west wing of the Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Avenue in Sanford.

Lake Mary Recreation

LAKE MARY — Registration for Lake Mary summer recreation programs has already been closed. Parks and Recreation Director John Holland explained, "We had intended to have no more than 75 children this year, but we exceeded that number and had to close it off."

The city's summer recreation program is for youngsters between the ages of five and eleven only. "We don't have any programs for youngsters over the age of 12," Holland said. "It is a matter we are giving serious consideration for the future, and we expect to have some events scheduled as we get closer to summer."

Holland indicated there would be many activities, mostly in the sports areas for the older age group once the new Lake Mary sports complex is completely finished and in full operation.

For the first time this year, the youth recreation program has been expanded beyond only morning events. With the use of Lake Mary Elementary School facilities, events have now been scheduled from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. each weekday.

Seminole YMCA

The Seminole YMCA will be providing three separate day camps for Seminole County. They will be offering five (5) convenient locations where parents may drop off their children as early as 7:30 a.m. and pick up as late as 6 p.m. All camps offer a wide variety of activities including swimming, arts and crafts, archery, plus a field trip twice a week to places like Rock Springs Park and area water parks.

Oviedo Recreation

Calling all kids! The Oviedo Recreation and Parks Department is looking for kids looking for summer fun. Club Riverside is a five-week program from 7:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. for kids who have completed kindergarten through sixth grade. Each week has an educational theme with activities planned around that theme. Field trips are scheduled to be taken every Friday with special events planned for Wednesdays. Interested parents can call Riverside Park for a brochure or additional information, 407-359-5660.

The Grove

The Goldsboro Family Support Service, a component of The Grove Counseling Center, Inc., continues to assist the community, by helping youth between the ages of 6 to 17 and their families with issues related to drug education, social skills, parenting skills and employability skills. The program is housed at the West Sanford Boys and Girls Club and is opened to club members as well as family members. All residents are invited to attend the activities that are offered.

One of the services provided is Employability Skills Training. This program assists young adults in sharpening their skills, improving their chances of getting a job, building their self-esteem, and providing an interest in the job market.

The program has been successful in placing teen participants in jobs and other placements with P.I.C. The counselor, Gary Mathews, says education is the key to providing life skills needed by youth to reach their goals and to build a better community. Mathews says the Family Support Service Center recognizes that the youth of today need the skills their program offers to improve their chances for success and to help the Goldsboro community. Mathews feels that by continuing to offer employability skills training, the program can help in keeping youth off the street and help them start thinking about their future. He also stated that this program can help steer those with special talents in the right direction.

The Employability Skills group is offered 7 to 8 p.m. on Monday nights.

Private Industry

The Private Industry Council of Central Florida, a part of the Jobs Training Partnership Act, provides job training and summer employment to hundreds of youth.

While the Private Industry Council provides job training to adults all year long, they do provide training for young people in the summertime.

The Private Industry Council (PIC) pays half of the young person's salary for the summer and the participating employer pays the other half.

The jobs are mostly minimum wage positions and last only for the summer under PIC auspices.

Sometimes the young people, ages 18 to 21 will be hired by their summer employers at the conclusion of the program.

Boys & Girls Club

Boys & Girls Clubs of Central Florida, Inc., has started registration for its low cost summer programs, which include breakfast and lunch, at its three Seminole County locations.

West Sanford, East Altamonte and Midway extensions of the national organization will run summer programs from June 14 through Aug. 18. Fees and membership dues are kept low to help facilitate the family so that every youth who wants to belong to the club can.

As a youth development organization, the Boys & Girls Clubs focus on a strategy that gives its members a sense of competence, usefulness, belonging and a sense of power or influence.

Five core program areas help to achieve personal and education development, citizenship and leadership, cultural enrichment, health and physical education, social recreation and outdoor and environmental recreation.

Hours and charges per club are as follows:

● West Sanford, 919 S. Palmetto Ave., Sanford, 330-2456. For 6-15 year olds, a two-week session is $5, family rates are available to some, plus a $1 year membership (if not already a member). Hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. for ages 6-12, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for ages 13-15.

● Midway extension is at Midway Elementary School, 2251 Jitway Ave., Sanford, 324-5681. A $1 year membership fee is required for 6-12 year olds. Hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

● East Altamonte extension is at New Bethel A.M.E. Church, 307 Marker St., Altamonte Springs, 834-4959. A $1 membership fee is required. Hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For more info call Cory Clarke at 359-5660.

Cubs trim Suns

ORLANDO — Matt Franco hit a two-run homer in the first as the Cubs defeated Jacksonville 2-1.

Jeff Hartsock (3-3) picked up the win, and Travis Willis recorded his seventh save of the season for the Cubs.

Dave Flemming (0-2), on a rehab assignment from the Seattle Mariners, allowed four hits and two runs in five and two-thirds innings pitched.

AROUND THE WORLD

Expos out-homer Marlins

MONTREAL — Mike Lansing scored the winning run on a close play at the plate in the bottom of the ninth, giving the Montreal Expos a 5-4 victory over the Florida Marlins.

Lansing drew a one-out walk, stole second and scored on Marquis Grissom's single to center off Jim Corsi (0-1). John Wetteland (2-0) got credit for the win after blowing a save opportunity in the ninth when Greg Biley hit an RBI double.

The Marlins led 3-0 entering the sixth, but Grissom and Larry Walker hit back-to-back homers off Jack Armstrong. Walker's homer struck the 15th and last row of the bleacher seats in right-center field, about 450 feet away.

With two out in the eighth, Frank Delfino drew a walk and Wil Cordero followed with a home run to give the Expos a 4-3 lead.

Florida tied the game on a leadoff triple to Jeff Conine and a one-out double to Biley.

The Marlins scored in the first when Orestes DeSaade singled in Carr. Benito Santiago made it 3-0 in the sixth with a two-run homer.

Courier reaches quarterfinals

ROME — The quarterfinal matchups in the $1.75 million Italian Open pairs No. 7 Sergi Bruguera against No. 2 Jim Courier, No. 4 seed Goran Ivanisevic against the unseeded Marcelo Filippini, No. 1 Pete Sampras against unseeded Guillermo Perez-Roldan, and No. 6 Michael Chang against Chesnokov.

Defending champion Courier, from Dade City and originally from Sanford, had little trouble in overpowering Fabrice Santoro of France 6-3, 6-3. The No. 2 seed put on a show of power tennis on clay, and dominated the match until suddenly losing his touch in the second set against the No. 16 seed.

With Courier up 4-0, Santoro rallied to make it 4-3, and had two break points when Courier came back to life. The American held serve and then broke the Frenchman to win the match.

"Once the clouds came in, the ball got much slower and heavier," Courier said. "It took me a few games to get the hang of it."

Third baseman Matt Diemer (No. 7) and his Seminole teammates will play at Lake Wales tonight in the 3A Section II championship game.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Can they do it two years in a row?

A year ago, Seminole High School completed a unique perfecta, winning state championships in boys track and baseball over a 24-hour period.

While the Florida High School Activities Association has altered the scheduling of the two events so that they're not conducted on the same weekend, the Fighting Seminoles are in position today to take a step closer toward repeating the feat.

This afternoon at the Percy Beard Complex in Gainesville, the Seminole boys and girls track teams will compete in the Class 3A state meet. Field preliminaries are scheduled to begin at 3 p.m., running preliminaries at 4:43 p.m., and running finals at 7 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m. this evening, the Seminole baseball team will play at Lake Wales in the 3A-Section II championship game. The winner advances to the state semifinals next weekend in Sarasota.

The Seminole boys track team, led by triple jumper/long jumper Andre Scott and discus/shot put thrower Bernard Sparrow, will be chasing their second consecutive state championship and their third in the last four years.

Last week Seminole dominated the 3A Region II meet, the boys outscoring runner-up Titusville Astromani 85-44 while the girls bested runner-up Fort Pierce Central 67-33.

Also competing in the state meet for the Seminole boys will be Gerard Shine (shot put), Cory Wilson (100-meter dash), Brent Deese (200-meter dash), Bryant Moore (200-meter dash), Gary Rowe (400-meter dash), and the 4 x 100-meter and 4 x 400-meter relays.

State meet qualifiers for the Seminole girls were Belinda Morgan (triple jump, long jump). See Seminole, Page 2B

'Hounds, Patriots lead 4A charge

From Staff Reports

Lyman High School's track teams and the Lake Brantley High School baseball team will lead the Seminole County charge into the Class 4A state track meet and sectional baseball playoffs.

A week ago, the Lyman Greyhounds were the highest scoring county teams at the 4A-Region III track meet, the girls finishing third and the boys claiming fifth.

This Saturday, May 15, the Greyhounds will lead a county contingent of 16 athletes and three relays into the Class 4A state track meet at the Percy Beard Complex in Gainesville.

Field event preliminaries and finals are scheduled to begin at 3 p.m., the running preliminaries at 4:30 p.m., and the running finals at 7 p.m.

Representing the Lyman boys will be Todd Cleveland (200-meter dash), Rob Evans (3,200-meter run), Demil Gonzalez (1,600-meter run) and Bobby Washington (high jump).

Lyman girls who qualified for the state meet are Danielle Garrett (triple jump), Tasha Talley (shot put), Kianah Bresnick (3,200-meter run) and the 4 x 100-meter and 4 x 400-meter relays.

Also qualifying for the Class 4A boys' state meet were Dan Hilley (1,600-meter and 3,200-meter runs) and Daryl Bush (discus) from Lake Brantley and Lake Howell's Matt Bowman.

Raines, Red Sox win Series opener

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — So much for being the favorites.

The undefeated Railroader Cubs are unseated no longer, the Sunniland Corporation Red Sox ripping the National Division champs 13-0 in 4 1/2 innings Thursday night at Roy Holler Field to take a 1-0 lead in the Sanford Recreation Little Major Baseball League City Championship Series.

Game No. 2 of the best-of-three playoff is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Saturday morning. The "it never rains" game would be played Monday night at 6 p.m.

Levi Raines, who was left off the Little Majors All-Star team, won his second postseason start for the Red Sox, tossing a six-hit shutout. Raines was the winning pitcher in the Red Sox 10-1 win over the Rinker Material Dodgers in the semifinals last Saturday.

In 11 postseason innings, Raines has allowed one run on nine hits while striking out 15 against a pair teams that were a combined 23-3 during the regular season.

He also hit a bases-loaded triple to highlight the Red Sox's eight-run rally in the third inning. Terrance Daniels led off the game with a single for the Cubs, but Raines came right back to strike out the side. The Red Sox then struck for three runs on three hits in the bottom of the first to give Raines all the offensive support he would need.

Jimmy Franklin led off with a single, moved to second on a pass ball, went to third on a ground out, and scored on Donald White's single. White then stole second base and scored on Justin Erickson's single.

After Nick Erickson walked, Bud Bennett hit into a fielder's choice, forcing Justin Erickson at third. But on the wild throw to first base, Nick Erickson came around to score the third run of the inning.

The Red Sox increased their lead to 5-0 in the bottom of the second, when Franklin hit a two-run double to score Adam Frank and Toy Brinson.

Execution keeps R.E. Templeton undefeated

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The key to winning in any athletic endeavor is performing in the clutch.

Thursday night at Chase Park, R.E. Templeton Co. Inc. did and Hancock Hardware didn't.

Both teams had 14 hits, but R.E. Templeton did a better job of producing with men in scoring position as it overcame an early 2-0 deficit to post a 6-3 victory over Hancock Hardware in Sanford Recreation Department Men's Thursday Night Spring Slowpitch Softball League action.

The Templeton-Hancock game was the only contest that was actually played as the matchup between Myers Tree Service and Florida Sport Wear was rescheduled for later in the season and the game between Bamboo Cafe and Sanford Boat Sales ended as a 7-0 forfeit in favor of Bamboo Cafe after Sanford Boat Sales had a player ejected and did not have enough players left to field a team.

R.E. Templeton remains atop the league with a perfect 4-0 record, while Bamboo Cafe is

R.E. Templeton Co. Inc.	000	003	1 - 4 - 14
Hancock Hardware	020	001	0 - 3 - 14

3-1, Florida Sport Wear 2-1, Myers Tree Service 1-2, Hancock Hardware 1-3 and Sanford Boat Works 0-4.

Next week, Florida Sport Wear challenges R.E. Templeton at 6:30 p.m.; Hancock Hardware takes on Bamboo Cafe at 7:30 p.m.; and Sanford Boat Works faces Myers Tree Service at 8:30 p.m.

Hancock Hardware scored a pair of runs in the bottom of the second inning. With one out, Phil Hancock singled and scored on a double by Otis Raines. After a single by Jack Eltonhead, Raines scored on a fielders choice by Tony DeSornier.

The league-leaders came back with three runs in the top of the fourth inning. Tom Holland Sr. led off with a single and advanced to second on an error off a grounder by Jeff Berryhill. Brian Jones then singled to load the bases and Felix Ramos singled to score Holland. Wayne Kelly followed with a sacrifice fly and Ken Perry grounded out to plate the go-ahead run.

Templeton increased the advantage to 5-2 in the sixth as, with one out, Ramos doubled and moved to third on a single by Wayne Kelly. Perry singled to score Ramos and Tom Holland Jr. grounded out to score Kelly.

Hancock's final run came in the sixth on singles by Mark Whitley and Hancock, an error that loaded the bases and a sacrifice fly by Eltonhead. A walk loaded the bases, but a fly out ended the threat.

Templeton scored its final two runs in the seventh. With two out, Bill Terwilliger walked, Tom Holland Sr. singled and Terwilliger scored on an error.

Hancock missed a chance to get back in the game in the bottom of the seventh, putting two on with no one out, but failing to score anyone.

Contributing to the R.E. Templeton offense were Ramos (double, two singles, run, RBI), Kelly (two singles, run, RBI), Tom Holland Sr. (two singles, run), Perry (single, two RBI), Tom Worn which fail to heal. Melanoma skin cancers usually start as a mole or dark spot on your skin. The shape may be irregular, the edges ragged or blurred. The color may not be uniform; they range from tan to black, to green, blue, grey or red. They normally start out small, the size of a pea, and may grow slowly or rapidly.

Watch out for the sun
The hotter the sun, the more chance of skin cancer
Summer days will be soon with us. With these days will come the hot, burning sun and with it that sun more skin cancer will develop. Each year Americans will develop more than 800,000 new cases of basal and squamous skin cancers and over 32,000 new cases of melanoma. The three types of skin cancer are: basal, squamous and melanoma. While melanoma is the least common, it is the most deadly. There are 6,800 deaths due to melanoma and 2,000 deaths due to the other skin cancers each year in the United States.

Apply a sun block with a sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or more to your skin which is exposed to the sun. Follow the direction on the product as to the amount and frequency of application. Light-skinned persons, particularly those with freckles, blond hair and blue eyes are more likely to develop skin cancers. Like-wise, children and teenagers who suffer severe sunburns which cause the skin to peel or blister are more likely to develop skin cancer during middle age. Make sure your children are protected from the sun. Avoid the sun during midday — 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. — when the sun is the hottest and the damage is greatest. No one enjoys skin cancer. It is ugly, uncomfortable and the treatment is painful and can result in life-long scars. And should the skin cancer penetrate the skin, the cancer can attack other body parts. This can result in disfigurement and even death. There are things you should do to reduce your chances of developing skin cancer. These are:
• Wear a broad-brimmed hat, not a cap. The hat provides more shade to your neck, ears, face and lips.
• Wear a light-weight, light-colored shirt

Waiting To Hear

Life without a mailbox would be lonely indeed. Everybody wants to hear from someone.

Why is communication so essential to man's well-being? Because we feel that life is incomplete without the fulfillment that comes to us from other lives.

And yet a wide circle of friends can also leave gaps in our lives. And so we pray. For we require divine guidance as often as we need human support. Just as we need to renew the ties of family and friends, so always we need to be in touch with the God who is Father of us all.

Would you like to hear from God? Before you even realized it - God is waiting to hear from your prayer is that simple... that universal.

IN BRIEF

Boards observe anniversary

SANFORD — The New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church Deacons Board and Missionary Board No. One will observe its anniversary Sunday at the 3 p.m. worship service. The guest speaker will be Sister Ruthenia Moses, a member of the Eatonville Church of God. Music will be by Choir No. Two. Sisters Pearl McGill and Martha Franklin are co-presidents. The Rev. Bobby J. Player is pastor.

Ten Challenge Ministries featured

SANFORD — Emmanuel Assembly of God, 320 E. Commercial St., will host an opportunity for the community to experience a life-changing message from the Florida Teen Challenge Ministries on Sunday during the 10 a.m. service. Teen Challenge ministers to those who once had a life controlling problem, such as drug addiction and alcoholism. Anyone suffering from any of these problems are encouraged to bring them to hear the testimonies of how Jesus Christ has set them free from crack, alcohol, prescription drugs, and immoral lifestyles. The event is open to the public. For more information, call 321-5462.

Resume writing clinic planned

SANFORD — A resume writing clinic/seminar, sponsored by the Rescue Church of God, 1700 W. 13th St., will be offered on Saturday at 3 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend the event for assistance in constructing a current resume. For information, call Calvin Donaldson at 262-7422 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or 322-1573 after 5:30 p.m.

Parent-Baby Dedication Day

LAKE MARY — On Sunday, First Baptist Church Markham Woods, 5400 Markham Woods Rd., will celebrate new life in a Parent-Baby Dedication Day Commitment time during the 10:45 a.m. worship service. Dr. Bob Parker, pastor, will be bringing the morning message. Nursery provided for all services. For information, call 333-2085.

Worship with Zion Hope

SANFORD — The public is invited to worship with Zion Hope Missionary Baptist Church, 712 Orange Ave., at 11 a.m. on Sunday, during its annual "Family and Friends Day" celebration. The theme for the day is Family and Friends working together in Christian love. There will be inspirational singing, praise, preaching and refreshments.

Choirs combine forces

SANFORD — The adult choirs of First Baptist Church and Central Baptist Church, will combine to present the musical, "God With Us," on Saturday and Sunday at 7 p.m. The two churches are inviting the community to join them as they share this powerful musical. For more information, call 322-6041 or 322-2914. Both performances will be held at Central Baptist Church, West First Street, Sanford.

Installation to be an event

SANFORD — B.A.S.I.C., Brothers And Sisters In Christ, an ensemble from the FAMU Gospel Choir, will be featured in the installation service of the Rev. Leonard Jenkins-Wilson at St. Matthew M.B. Church on Saturday at 7 p.m. St. Matthew's Mass Choir and Pizazz will also perform.

A call for voices

Calling all singers who would like to have the privilege of singing for the Bobby Jones Gospel Explosion VIII in Atlanta on June 30-July 4. The Sanford Community Workshop Choir will be making plans to carry a 75-voice gospel choir to Atlanta. Would you like to become a member of the group? Call the founder/president, Mary L. DeBoer or Vernon "Poppa" Jones, director to join the choir for this momentous occasion. All voices are needed; all faiths are asked to be a part of this spiritual movement.

Methodists plan annual conference

More than 2,000 clergy and lay delegates are expected to attend the 115th session of the Florida Annual Conference of The United Methodist Church on May 24-27 in the Lakeland Civic Center. Representing more than 735 churches from the Appalachian River east to Jacksonville and south through the Keys, delegates will debate and vote on a variety of business matters, hear reports from United Methodist committees, commissions, agencies and institutions, and honor individuals and churches for their ministry. Florida area Bishop H. Hasbrouch Hughes, Jr., of Lakeland will provide over the four-day meeting. He will deliver his Episcopal (State of the Church) address on Monday, May 24. Delegates will be asked to approve a 1994 budget of $14,746,014, a 3.17 percent decrease over this year's budget. Other business will include: ● a vote on 19 General Church constitutional Amendments, most involve changing the words "ministers" and "ministerial" to "clergy." ● hear a report by the Strategic Planning Committee. ● vote to continue support of the "Vision 2000" program which is aimed at involving both clergy and layperson in doing the evangelistic ministry of the church. ● hear a report on the "Claim the Flame" $6.4 million capital funds campaign which has a year to go.

Lutherans celebrates 40 years

SANFORD — Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, 2525 Oak Ave., will celebrate its 40th anniversary with special services at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday.

The Rev. Elmer A. Reuscher, pastor, who has served the congregation since December of 1953, has set the theme of the observance as "Celebrating Four Decades of God's Grace." "The worship service will celebrate God's blessings on our congregation since 1953," according to Reuscher.

At noon, following the worship service, the anniversary dinner will be held. The meal will be catered and feature a buffet with sirloin tips and chicken as the main entrees. Tickets are being sold for the meal for $10 for adults and $5 for children 8 years of age and under.

The congregation was organized in April of 1953, and the first Sunday worship service was held May 10, Mother's Day, at the Sanford Yacht Club on Lake Monroe, located across from the old Sanford Zoo where the City Hall now stands. Pastor Reuscher and the members of the congregation invite the public to their morning worship service.

Terry Law ministers in Longwood

LONGWOOD — Terry Law, president and founder of Terry Law Ministries and Living South International will be ministering at Wekiva Assembly, 1675 Dixon Rd., on Sunday at 8 and 10:30 a.m.

In the late 1960's, Law began an international ministry team called Living Sound. In the past 20 years, he has ministered extensively behind the Iron Curtain to crowds in excess of 100,000 people.

In their new book, "Yet Will I Praise Him," Law and his wife, Shirley, share the inspiring story of their journey from tragedy to victory through their faith in God.

Fellowship and fun

A sellout crowd was in attendance at the Second Annual Ladies Luncheon at First Baptist Church this past weekend. Women from a number of local congregations gathered at the church for fellowship, food and a fashion show featuring S. S. Enterprises of Casselberry, Lorena Flatter, below, models one of the many creations of Shirley Flatter, of Sanford, and Jean Jones, Orlando, owners of the fashion house.

When to stop using prescription drugs

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please write something so my mom will stop using so many drugs. She reads what you have to say every day. She went into the hospital twice last year, once because her heart was sick and once because her liver was sick. She gets sick a lot. Her doctor says her body can't fight germs very well any more, and I think if she stopped the drugs, she would get better. She is on Calan, Lanoxin, Tegretol and Prozac. I copied the names off the bottles. She takes them lots of times every day. Help!

DEAR READER: Possibly. Hashimoto's disease is inflammation of the thyroid, causing an underactive gland. While I doubt that your daughter had a seizure related to her thyroid disease (or its treatment), decongestants have been implicated as an unusual cause of convulsions. She should see her doctor for examination and testing, which will include a brain-wave test (EEG), blood analyses and (possibly) a spinal tap. Because an unexpected seizure may occur again, she is at risk of harming herself (from falling) or others (if she's driving).

DEAR READER: From the sound of her predicament, I believe your mother probably needs all -- or most of -- the drugs she has been prescribed. Calan is used for high blood pressure and various heart ailments. Lanoxin for a weak heart action. Tegretol for seizures and treatment of trigeminal neuralgia (nerve pain in the face), and Prozac for depression.

While it's possible that your mother may suffer some side effects from the drugs -- notably constipation, fatigue, nausea, dizziness, anxiety, nervousness, and insomnia -- her doctor is the best judge of which medicines she should take and how much.

Having said this, I'll now share a specific concern: Tegretol is known to reduce the number of infection-fighting white blood cells. Therefore, if any drug is affecting your mother's resistance. Tegretol is probably the one. This can be easily checked with a blood count. If the white blood cells are deficient, the medicine should be discontinued.

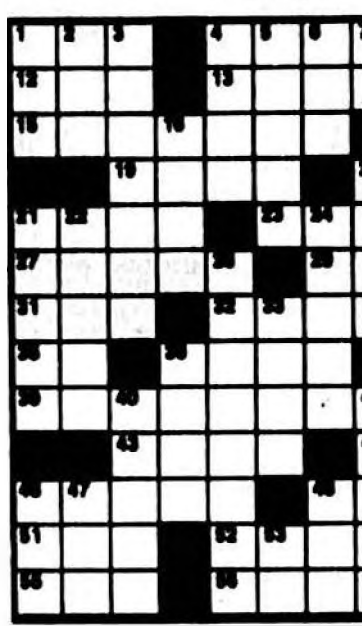

DEAR DR. GOTT: Could an unprecedented seizure without loss of control of bladder or bowels be caused by metabolic disturbances? Our daughter for eight years because of Hashimoto's disease and has been on decongestants for severe congestion. Is there a connection?

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

To what does this refer: "Age cannot wither her, nor custom stale her infinite variety"? It sounds as if it could be bridge. There is so much variety in the game, and although themes recur, usually there is some small twist that makes every contract different.

Today's deal contains possibilities for both sides. After North opened with a weak two-bid, South opted to take a shot at three no-trump rather than try for a game in hearts.

West, hoping to find a useful honor in his partner's hand, led the spade five rather than the traditional 10. After winning the first trick with the spade seven, declarer led the heart 10: queen, king, five. This was a good play by East, who was intent on killing dummy's heart suit even if South had the spade king. Declarer led dummy's diamond queen. East correctly making a second ducking play. Now South crossed to his hand with a club and ran the heart eight. However, East won with the nine and returned a club. The contract, which had been alling from the start, was finally pronounced dead.

Suppose that instead of covering the heart queen with the king, declarer plays low from the dummy. At first glance, he will establish the hearts and win nine tricks by way of three spades, four hearts and two clubs. But West has a brilliant riptoste. After winning with the heart queen, he leads the spade king. This is a Merrimac Coup, killing dummy's entry before the hearts are established.

The comment at the beginning? It was about Cleopatra, written by you know who.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 15, 1993

In the year ahead, an old friend with whom you were once very chummy might re-enter your life. The circumstances that bring you together again might not be favorable, but the renewed friendship will be.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If a misunderstanding arises today between you and a proven ally, it should be resolved immediately. There's a chance you'll read too much into an insignificant development. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, NY 10163.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Things you enjoy doing are likely to be done well today, while tasks you dislike may be severely botched up. Don't be negatively selective.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today, a curious third party might try to make you disclose some confidential information you know about a mutual friend. Don't betray the trust.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone who is not one of your favorite people might try to trip you up today if he or she knows in advance about your intended objective. Keep your intentions to yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you ask others to give you their honest opinions regarding something about which you're enthused, you might get irrelevant answers you won't want to hear.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone who did you a favor recently might call in the marker today. Unfortunately, what this person wants from you could be far more than you got from him or her.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Associates can be led today, but they cannot be pushed in an arrangement where collective effort is required. If you attempt to do so, you could produce an undesirable reaction.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're an effective worker today, provided you aren't doing something where a lot of details are involved. Small complications could sever your patience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Guard against inclinations today to prejudice events from a negative perspective. A poor attitude could have a debilitating effect upon your performance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you compare what you have with others who have more, you could become discontented with your lot in life today. Be smart and grateful by thinking about people who have less.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Failing to weigh your words carefully could cause you to make some comments today that you'll wish you could retract. Bite your tongue rather than speaking without thinking.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Something that you're involved with could be meaningful to you in material ways, and it can be improved upon to your benefit, but it will take some serious adjustments.
