

Sen. Smathers Will Be Florida Day Luncheon Speaker

LAKELAND — Senator George Smathers (D., Fla.) will be the keynote speaker at the Florida Day Luncheon of the 63rd International Apple Association Convention in Cincinnati, August 7, it was announced by J. Dan Wright Jr., of Sanford, chairman of the Florida Day Speakers' Sub-Committee.

Sponsored by the Florida Citrus Commission and Florida Citrus Mutual, the Florida Day Luncheon is expected to attract between 800 and 1,000 persons and will be held in the beautiful Pavilion Caprice of the Netherlands Hilton Hotel. It is regarded as one of the highlights of the Convention.

Senator Smathers, Florida's junior senator, has long been identified as a friend of agriculture in general and a staunch supporter of Florida's big citrus industry. He is best known, however, for his work in binding the United States closer to the Latin America.

He has supported sound trade agreements for vegetable and fruit products, and was sponsor of a bill to insure truckers of vegetable and fruit crops the right to lease their trucks on return trips from Northern markets.

Senator Smathers is serving his seventh year in Congress. This is his seventh year in the Senate following two terms in the House of Representatives, where he represented the Fourth (Miami) District. He is a member of the powerful Senate Committee, a member of the important Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, and chairman of its sub-committee on surface transportation. He is a member of the Select Committee on Small Business, and chairman of its sub-committee on military procurement. He is chairman of the Special Investigating Committee on international air agreements.

mainly in the way of groves, farms, pastures, homes and other buildings on the tax roll," said Mrs. Walker.

"It has been necessary to employ extra help in the office to carry on the tremendous volume of work which is required to produce a tax assessment roll," said the Seminole County Tax Assessor added.

"I have had a man in the field since January 23, 1937, when I first took office and feel that the County has been thoroughly covered for improvements which have been placed on the 1937 tax roll," commented Mrs. Walker.

"In the future I expect to install a system which will enable me to make a complete review of all buildings and other improvements in the County," she stated in her press release late Friday afternoon.

"The first half of this year I have personally supervised the installation of an addressograph system which is owned and is being used by the Tax Assessor's Office and the Tax Collector's Office jointly. It is hoped this system will enable me to have more time to devote to assessment, study and actual review of assessments," Mrs. Walker said.

The foregoing information reflects the unusual growth which is being enjoyed by Seminole County, and I feel my office is doing a good job in what is being accomplished this my first year as Tax Assessor of Seminole County," she concluded.

"Florida's popular young Senator is a native of New Jersey, but moved to Miami when he was four years of age. He received his grade and high school education in the public schools of Miami. Smathers was graduated from the University of Florida Law School in 1933 after serving as president of the University student body. He immediately entered the practice of law, and in 1933 was appointed assistant district attorney at Miami. He successfully prosecuted the infamous La Palma white slavery ring, and won an award as Outstanding Young Man of Miami in 1930.

At the outbreak of World War II, Smathers drew assignment from the Department of Justice to organize the first enemy alien control board. In July of 1942, he volunteered for service with the Marine Corps and served four years, including 18 months in the South Pacific. He is now a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve.

In 1946, he ran for Congress and defeated a veteran of 10 years in the House. He entered the House in 1947 and was re-elected by a heavy majority in 1948. He was named Outstanding Young Man in the United States in the Field of Government by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1948.

In 1950, Smathers defeated an incumbent Senator of 14 years' service and became the junior Senator from Florida.

Teachers To Pass Through Sanford On 30-State Tour

Sanford school in a "classroom on wheels" is the good fortune of some 30 California elementary school teachers who left the West coast on July 30, in a chartered bus which is taking them on a 10,000 mile tour through thirty states, the District of Columbia, and Canada.

The group is scheduled to pass through Sanford, on Sunday, July 11, and while here will observe some of the local points of interest. The all-expense-paid trip, which began in Glendale, California, is sponsored by the Southern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and the participating teachers have been selected from the church's elementary school system in Los Angeles, Ventura, and Santa Barbara counties.

The "classroom on wheels" is a remnant of a real classroom since the guide is Dr. Charles Hirsch, professor of history at La Sierra College, Arlington, California. The teacher "students" are keeping copious notes on the places they visit and the brochure they collect en route provide the "outside reading" required for the course. Six hours of college credit will be awarded the participants.

Highlights of the journey include the visit locally plus a view of Catalina Geyser, Stephen Foster's Home, Ft. Sumner, Monticello, numerous Civic and Revolutionary War battle sites, the Smithsonian Institute, Plymouth Rock, the Statue of Liberty, and scores of other sights.

In addition, the group has noted many geographic landmarks which bear special interest relative to Seventh-day Adventist church history.

The trip covers a coast-to-coast circuit and will consume some 44 days on the highways of the nation, with the teachers scheduled to return to their California homes on August 18.

In commenting on the 1937 "Teacher Tour," John F. Knipschild, director of the church's parochial school system in Southern California, indicated that "when we launched the first tour last summer, we saw in it an opportunity for the elementary school teacher to fellowship with other members of the profession; to gain a first hand concept of many subjects of classroom discussion; and, of course, the teacher tourists were offered a well-deserved change of scenery from the classroom."

"Last year's trip proved so successful and popular with the teachers themselves that we determined to make it a regular thing. This provides a wider opportunity for participation too, since each tour is limited to the number who may go."

for the meeting tonight were distributed.

Possibilities are that subdivision expansion necessary to complete approximately 500 homes by the first of 1938 will be stopped unless action is taken on the treatment plant required by Board of Health authorities.

Other items to come before the commissioners tonight include a discussion with John Kennedy Jr. of Fern Park in regard to the jacking of a best sewage line head near the Sanford Civic Center. Commissioners, at their last meeting, stopped boat renovation until commissioners were assured that certain requirements would be met.

Three appointments are expected to be made at tonight's session of the commissioners. One member for two years in the Civil Service Commission due to the expiration of the term of Harry Lee and two police officers to the Board of Trustees of the Police and Pension Fund for a period of one year.

Also coming up for consideration is the possible use of the former trailer park area at 4th Street and French Ave. for the relocation of the Jaycee Information Bureau.

The ordinance will come up for its second reading in the morning of an area south of 25th St. between Palmetto and Magnolia Aves. from single family residential to neighborhood commercial. The first reading of an ordinance to amend the present Zoning Ordinance to remove the "two car" restriction on garages is slated for tonight's session.

Driverless Auto Crashes Into Home in Little Venice

An automobile, minus the driver, dashed across a Little Venice Street late Friday afternoon, to crash into a home on the opposite side of the street from where it was parked in the owners driveway.

Jim Hay, retired Navy veteran, was working on his car, a Nash Rambler, and was partly under the car with his head and arms inside the left door when his hand slipped as he pressed the accelerator to hit the starter.

The car started up dragging Hay along. However, Hay managed to throw himself clear of the car after tearing his watch off his arm and injuring his elbow.

Picking up momentum, the automobile left Hay's driveway, jumped the curb across the street, and crashed into a home owned by Clay Smith. The Smiths at the time were sitting on their porch and as soon as the sound of the car jumping the curb was heard, they rushed to their front door just as it crashed into the front of the Smith home.

Inside and outside walls of the home, made of concrete block, were cracked and ruined. Also shrubbery in the front of the house was destroyed. An inside wall between a bedroom and living room was cracked as was the living room wall around the front door.

Estimate of the damage was not made immediately.

Investigating the accident were Deputy Sheriffs A. E. Evans and Morgan McClelland.

Both the home and the automobile were insured.

objections of the Commission, the company has filed one general service schedule to replace three schedules that were set by sizes of towns and city limits.

It has filed two residential schedules to replace three such schedules and has abolished city limit zoning. The rate differential between the largest cities served and the smaller cities has been reduced.

At a meeting with the Commission on June 25, the company announced that it had concluded to recommend to the Board of Directors a revision of rates rather than subject the company to a lengthy and unnecessary rate case. The rate for filing rates upon our schedules, but upon other public utilities' schedules throughout the country. For a recent week, for example, railroad and industrial stocks went up while utility stocks went down. Neighboring utility stocks have shown almost as much decline as F&I stock, which tumbled in the first five days, after the Commission's order, some $6,000,000 in value.

Smith further stated, "We have obligated ourselves for a program twice as great as anything we have undertaken previously and we must go to the money markets at least twice a year to sell securities. We must therefore know what our rates are going to be in the future and what the Commission's attitude will be before we feel that we should undertake the sale of future securities."

"We had planned to finance 900,000 in September, but now that the market is settled and our investors' fears are allayed, we have never felt that the Commission would do anything to hurt our ability to finance because the Commission is just as interested in the progress of Florida as we are. There can be and are differences of opinion as to methods of arriving at the rate base, rate of return, and the many other matters that involve rate controversies.

However, for a company whose load base grows faster than its most optimistic estimates, we feel that every consideration should be given to the fact that we do not now have all of the plants and equipment needed to give proper and reliable service should emergencies occur.

"Furthermore, when a utility's load is doubling every four or five years, there is much greater risk of having too much investment upon which it could not earn should the rapid rate of growth fall appreciably.

"We believe there is merit in extending the city and town rates beyond the city limits. We also believe that because of the growth of many of our towns that did not have the so-called metropolitan rate, that this is some justification in lowering the differential between these towns.

"From a practical point of view, it is most difficult to say where one rate should stop and the other begin. In submitting these new schedules, we have adopted a new policy which means that, generally speaking, a customer would take the rate in the district in which he is served, regardless of city limits.

"This change in policy brings about a very great reduction in the unincorporated areas reducing such residential customers in some 12% to 15%. Florida is growing so fast that there may be a few rural customers in one neighborhood today, but in a few months there can be a huge shopping center in their midst with large residential subdivisions. Whereas the former policy might have been preferential to the city customers, the new policy could be said to be preferential to the rural customers, but in a territory that is developing as rapidly as ours is, we believe the Commission will consider this non-preferential."

SOIL CONSERVATION DIST. USDA

Next Tuesday, July 9, an election will be held to elect three supervisors to serve on the governing board of the Seminole Soil Conservation District. The present terms of supervisors Henry Wright, C. A. Wales, and Bonner Carter expire on that date. These supervisors who have ably served on the board for several years have devoted much of their spare time in promoting the conservation of our land, water, and other natural resources. Henry Wright does not desire to run for another term.

Four candidates, Bonner Carter, Robert Lee, Elbert Cammack, and C. A. Wales have each been petitioned by 25 or more local land owners to serve for this District. The polling places for next Tuesday's election are: Lyman School in Longwood, Orville Drug Store in Orlovie, Tindel's store in Lake Moore, and The County Agent's office in the Court House. According to Secretary Cecil Tucker there are plenty of ballots and a good turnout of landowners is anticipated.

Soil Conservation Districts are organized by landowners for their benefit and for the benefit of all the people in the District. Seminole County is a soil conservation district. There are now 30 such districts in the state of Florida. Districts are a sub-division of the state government and operate under state law. They have self-determination and are not controlled by arm-chair theorists or any pressure group, but operate through the unassisted and unselfish leadership of five local landowners. These landowners or supervisors are elected by local farmers. These supervisors need technical help to carry out their program of soil and water conservation and through a memorandum of understanding with the Department of Agriculture, technicians are assigned to districts to help farmers plan and establish needed conservation measures under the guidance of district supervisors.

What does all this mean to the individual land owner? When a farmer asks his district for help, Supervisors OK his request, and the Soil Conservation Service then makes a survey of his farm which shows the types of soils, what the land is best capable of producing, needs for drainage and irrigation, and a list of other important things a farmer should know about his land.

The owner and the technician go over the entire farm. They study the land capabilities or natural abilities of the land. The farmer tells the technician the kind of farming he would like to do and the technician discusses with him the capacity of his land to do that kind of farming. Together they work out a conservation plan for every acre of the farm. This is strictly a volunteer program. The fine thing about it is that the district program sells itself. When a farmer sees his neighbor making better crops and more income as a result of good land use and water management, he is ready to get in himself. These services are free of cost to any landowner in the District.

NEWS ABOUT BERETS

Beret lovers, take note. This classic hat silhouette is given many new looks for summer. Look for versions in glamorous fabrics such as chiffon, organza, and in gay silk prints. Look for casual felt and fabric berets which are completely packable—designed to curl up in your suitcase and to store easily at home. Berets look wonderfully with the new smoother hairstyles. P.S. Be sure to wear yours at a jaunty angle.

Mayor Gatchel Sees Higher Taxes For City Government Next Year

Mayor David Gatchel made it plain last night that taxes in the City of Sanford will probably be raised for the next year.

The Mayor approached the question of taxes at last night's meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners when he said "I've been rather pessimistic about trying to develop a budget on the present millage.

"Our needs are getting over and above our ability to produce with seven mills," he told the board.

"The City Manager said 'This discussion is to get an indication on how the commission feels and if we are going to figure on a 13.5 mill revenue or not. The key is how we approach it.'"

Commissioner F. D. Scott told board members "The people I have talked to are willing for us to increase taxes, apparently."

And then Mayor Gatchel pointed out that "what I'm talking about is general government—not a treatment plant, docks and terminals, street paving and other capital improvements."

"The bite is on right now—what are we going to do about it," he said.

Commissioner A. L. Wilson admitted that he is against raising taxes, but added "We should face the city's needs and if it takes the raising of taxes, let's do it. If it takes 10-15 for it, he said.

Commissioner Merle Warner commented, "Let's make up the budget and then take a look at it."

Memorial Services Held At NAS Today For Crash Victims

Memorial services for the crew of four Navy men who died in a plane crash Saturday night were held this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Sanford Naval Air Station Chapel.

A spokesman for the Navy today revealed that the services were held for Lt. Henry Charles White, pilot of the ill-fated plane, Cdr. Charles William Carman, copilot; Eugene Oliver Seaman, AT 2/c, Third Crewman, and Joseph John Monaco, AQ 1/c, Observer.

Chaplain William Fuller conducted the memorial service along with Father Richard Lyons of All Souls Catholic Church.

Cdr. Carman will be interred at Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C. Friday at 2 o'clock. The family has requested that flowers be omitted and instead contributions be made to the Navy Relief Fund.

Lt. White will be buried at the National Cemetery at Pensacola on Friday.

AT 2/c Seaman will be buried Saturday afternoon at the Baltimore National Cemetery, Baltimore, Md.

AQ 1/c Monaco will be buried at Mount Carmel Cemetery, Chicago, Ill.

Federal Control Over Gas Prices To Be Relaxed

WASHINGTON — The House Commerce Committee today approved a bill to relax federal controls over producer prices for natural gas.

Members emerging from the closed meeting reported the vote was 15 to 13 in favor of the bill. Sponsors are determined to push the controversial measure through the House this year, even though the Senate is not expected to consider it until next year. This would avoid an election-year battle in the House where the bill apparently faces its strongest opposition.

Over protests of lawmakers from consuming areas a similar bill squeaked through the House by a margin of only six votes in 1955. That measure was vetoed by President Eisenhower. But sponsors believe they have assurances he won't veto this one.

The measure would abolish the present requirement for utility-type controls which are based on cost plus a fair return. Producers would be allowed the going field price for natural gas.

The Federal Power Commission in determining a "reasonable" market price would be barred from considering production costs of producers.

Dairy Farmer Knocks TV Quiz Champ Off Throne

NEW YORK — A New York State dairy farmer Monday night knocked Hank Bloomgarden from the quiz champion's throne he had occupied for 14 weeks on the "Twenty-One" television show.

The defeated champion, however, took home a $93,602 purse after he incorrectly answered a boxing question. His total winnings on the NBC show were second only to $129,000 won by Charles Van Doren.

Harold Craig, 38, of Granville, N. Y., the new champ, ran his winnings to $11,500. This amount was deducted from $116,000 which Bloomgarden had compiled in 13 previous appearances.

The contestants had battled to a draw two weeks in a row and also had tied in the first round of a final match.

WATER NO CHASER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — The state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department ruled that liquor could be sold throughout the day here despite an election on a 35-cent-million-dollar bond issue for an aqueduct. The board agreed that a water district vote didn't constitute a political election.

Local Citizens Are Urged To Support Audrey Relief Fund

The Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross today appealed to local citizens to contribute to the Audrey Relief Fund to aid victims of the recent hurricane.

A spokesman said "Thousands of hurricane victims are faced with hopeless tasks. To restore their homes, will cost more than they can afford. Many of them are out of work and faced with indefinite unemployment."

The local Red Cross Chapter spokesman, in a release this morning, stated "President Eisenhower has asked the American people to come to their aid. Federal funds will be used in the reconstruction of public works but not for individuals."

In pointing out that contributions should be sent to the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross, P. O. Box 599, the release stated "It is up to you and your Red Cross to help these people back to normal living."

Red Cross officials said Seminole County population is bordering 40,000 and to date contributions toward Hurricane Audrey Relief totals $44.

In an analysis of what funds will provide, the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross said there are 10,476 families affected with varying estimates on the number killed. However, they state that 4,503 people have been injured with 219 hospitalized and 34,268 in mass care. There were 1,331 homes destroyed, according to the analysis, with 19,183 homes damaged and 4,163 other buildings affected.

Funeral Services For Crash Victim Tomorrow Morning

Funeral services for Joseph J. Monaco, AQ1, who died Saturday night in the Naval plane crash, will be held Wednesday morning.

Mr. Monaco was an observer aboard the plane which went down near Silver Lake.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jeanne Monaco, four children, Jeanne, Nancy, Joseph and Marcella, Sanford; and his mother, Mrs. Mary Charovak of East Chicago, Ind.

The body will be laid to rest this evening at 7 p.m. at All Souls' Catholic Church and confessions will follow.

Funeral services for Mr. Monaco will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at All Souls Catholic Church with Father Richard Lyons officiating.

The remains will be shipped to Chicago, Ill., where interment will be in Mount Carmel Cemetery.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Club Members Will Meet At Robson's Camp For Cruise

Members of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club will participate in a moonlight cruise tomorrow night leaving from Harry Robson's Camp on the Wekiva River, officials of the club said today.

An announcement made yesterday referred to a cruise to High Banks. However, yesterday's announcement was incorrect.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said that the tentative budget is about to be completed and explained that he wanted to get some indication from the commissioners as to how the needs of the city will be approached.

"Department heads are trying to carry on their program of more work with the same number of men," said the City Manager. It was then that Mayor Gatchel said, "It's going to take more taxes."

The City Manager said "This discussion is to get an indication on how the commission feels and if we are going to figure on a 13.5 mill revenue or not. The key is how we approach it."

Commissioner F. D. Scott told board members "The people I have talked to are willing for us to increase taxes, apparently."

And then Mayor Gatchel pointed out that "what I'm talking about is general government—not a treatment plant, docks and terminals, street paving and other capital improvements."

"The bite is on right now—what are we going to do about it," he said.

Commissioner A. L. Wilson admitted that he is against raising taxes, but added "We should face the city's needs and if it takes the raising of taxes, let's do it. If it takes 10-15 for it, he said.

Commissioner Merle Warner commented, "Let's make up the budget and then take a look at it."

President Opposed To Legislation Revoking Plan

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today revealed to Republican congressional leaders his opposition to legislation aimed at cancelling the country's status of force agreements with foreign nations.

The matter was brought up at the President's weekly meeting with the GOP leaders.

Without saying exactly what the discussion was, House Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. told reporters there is "no question" that the President is "strongly opposed to the legislation because he believes it is a threat to the security of the U.S. and the free world."

The status of force agreements permit foreign nations to try U.S. servicemen for off-duty crimes committed in those countries.

Rep. John W. Vorys, R-Ohio, chief administration spokesman on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the administration and Republican leaders would make a "full-dress fight" to defeat or amend the legislation aimed at ending the agreements.

The proposal, as it now stands, would order the President to start negotiations to revise the agreements. If a foreign country refused to negotiate, this nation would cancel its agreement outright.

Civil Rights Battle In Senate May Last Eight More Weeks

WASHINGTON — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland told President Eisenhower today the civil rights battle in the Senate could take "four, six or eight weeks" and possibly longer.

The California senator said Eisenhower is "fully aware" of the possibility that by giving priority to the filibuster-threatened civil rights debate the Senate may be prevented from acting this session on several of his legislative proposals.

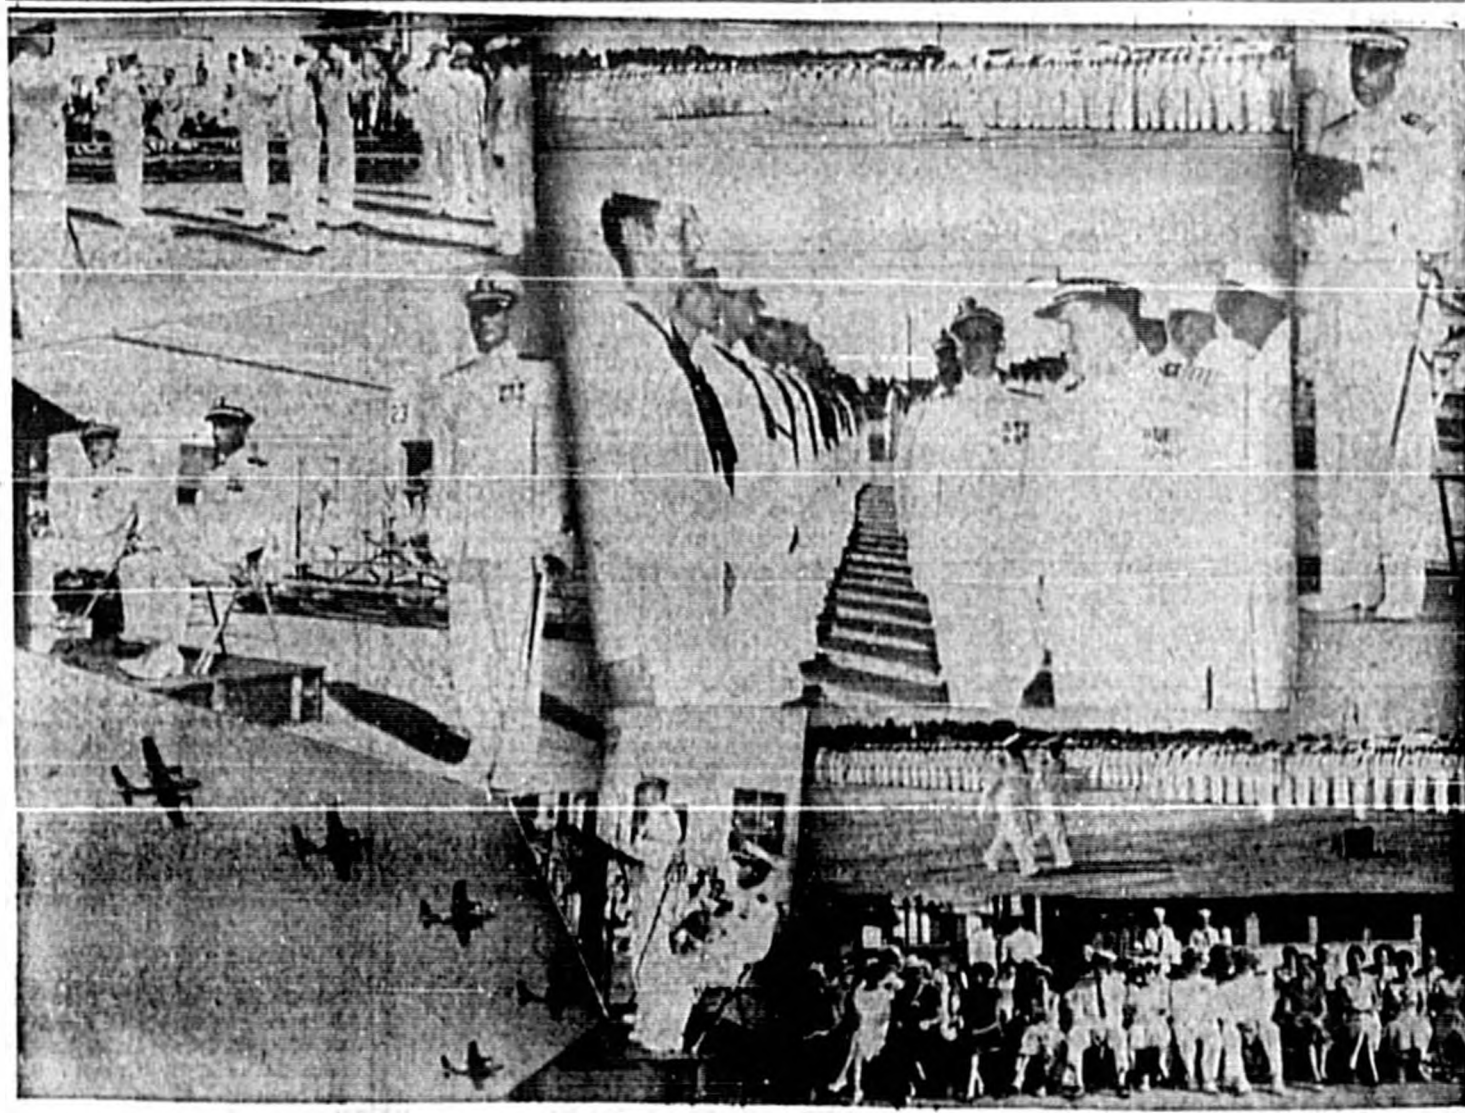

Knowland and other Republican congressional leaders who met at the White House with Eisenhower this morning declined to say whether the President approved of the party's parliamentary maneuvers which sidetracked other bills to turn the floor over to the civil rights debate.

He rarely told reporters that parliamentary matters are "in the hands of the body considering legislation."

He said the President "understands" that "if we are to come to grips with the matter" of civil rights legislation, other bills may get lost in the shuffle.

Knowland said he suggested, in a "humorous vein" that while the Senate is embroiled in the debate, the President and the House of Representatives could take off on vacations.

State Board Nixes City Sewer Expansion

Officials Plan Fight

The City of Sanford, faced with a clampdown on expansion because of a state board of health official's refusal to allow connections to the present sewer system until further plans are made for a treatment plant, began planning action to overcome the order.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles revealed that David B. Lee, Director, Bureau of Sanitary Engineering of the State Board of Health had refused to approve sewer plans for a subdivision already underway just outside of Sanford.

The letter "refusing to approve the plans was directed to the engineer for George H. Garrison, a developer who had planned the subdivision. It read: "We regret to inform you that this agency can not consider approval of the project until such time as the city has taken definite and decisive action relative to the construction of adequate sewage treatment facilities."

City Manager Knowles said "In a telephone conversation with Mr. Lee he said he would accept an interim treatment plant at the project which is equivalent to a septic tank.

"Such a project would increase the cost to the developer by about eight to 10 thousand dollars," said Knowles, "which would mean throwing away that amount of money over a period of one, two or three years, and in my way of thinking that is poor economics."

Knowles added "Access of their power to approve or disapprove can say this or that area is dead.

"Any subdivision will get the same treatment," he said, "which will stop growth for a lesser degree of sanitation."

Garrison told the Board of Sanford City Commissioners that he has a considerable amount of money tied up in the project. "We have already received 40 commitments from FHA," he told the board.

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham explained that a sewage treatment plant, as revealed by outstanding engineers before the Board of Commissioners, is desirable "but there will never be any danger until the city exceeds 500 thousand population."

"David Lee doesn't have the proper respect for our city, our citizens, and our financial ability," Higginbotham stated emphatically. "The City of Sanford is not in a position to build a treatment plant that would cost a half million dollars," he said.

Higginbotham stated "I am for running the sewers on out there and I don't believe there is a court in the world that would stop us."

"I am not going to sit here and let anybody tell us that Sanford cannot grow," Higginbotham said.

Mayor David Gatchel stated "It seems like a showdown is in order."

In answer to a question from Commissioner F. D. Scott on the cost of a treatment plant, City Manager Knowles said construction costs would be $305,000 with operation and maintenance estimated at $15,000.

Commissioner Sterling Warner questioned "Are they telling other cities this?"

Knowles' answer was "They claim they are. There's no question about our wanting the treatment plant," explained the City Manager, "It's—when can we?"

Discussing the treatment plant, City Manager Knowles told the Board of Commissioners that in 10 years, if Sanford doubles in population, the same amount of pollution will be going into the river.

"Then let's do something," said Commissioner Warner, "we can't let the city stop growing."

And it was then that the City Manager stated "their regulation has never been tested in a court of law to determine how far they can go."

Holt's Attorneys Attack Prosecution

TALLAHASSEE — Attorneys for Miami Circuit Judge E. Holt accused the prosecution at his impeachment trial today of trying to inject new and "inflammatory" charges.

Richard Hunt of Miami, chief defense counsel, ripped into prosecutors Thomas Heasley of DeFuniak Springs and A. J. Musselman of Pompano Beach as the impeachment trial entered its second day. He asked the Senate, sitting as an impeachment court, to toss out a bill of particulars which gives details of specific incidents which the prosecutors claim show Judge Holt is unfit to sit on the circuit bench.

Chief Justice Glenn Terrell promised a ruling on the bill of particulars before disposing of Holt's motion that the trial be called off.

The bill, an 18-page document, gives details of gifts and favors almost exchanged between Holt and lawyers practicing before him, spells out the amounts of allegedly excessive fees he awarded and also charges Holt with being "drunk" when he drove his Jaguar sports car into a motorcycle in Miami nearly three years ago.

Residents Warned Against Lincoln Penny Coin Albums

John Krider, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, warned residents of Seminole County today about Lincoln penny coin albums currently being advertised under a "buy-back" lure.

Citing a bulletin from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated, Krider stated that, in a typical advertisement, the reader's interest is attracted by some such heading as "We pay $16.00 for only 50 Lincoln pennies."

Readers are told to send $1 for a Lincoln coin album "to hold your pennies," according to the Chamber executive. Purchasers are instructed to "fill the spaces with dates shown in album, return complete album and receive $16 by return air mail plus $1 back for album."

Nowhere in this advertising, the Chamber Manager stated, is the reader advised that the coins necessary to complete the album must bear specified mint marks, or, in some cases, the initials of the engraver.

In order to complete the album, certain rare coins would be required. The Chamber manager stated the following statement of the American Numismatic Association regarding certain of these coins:

"Established dealers offer to pay about $18.50 for the 1909 S-V. D.D. in poorest acceptable condition, and up to $110.00 for an uncirculated specimen. The 1914 D has a retail value of about $14.75 in just good condition (poorest acceptable condition) and much higher for those that are better. Anyone with a complete set of these coins, in any condition, would be foolish to sell it for $16.00 when just one of them is worth more than this."

The Chamber executive also stated that the National Better Business Bureau had asked the Post Office Department whether these offerings might be a violation of the postal lottery and fraud statutes. The Post Office Department gave the following opinion to the National Bureau:

"... the ability of the purchaser of the album to complete it as required would depend in some measure upon chance. Further, as indicated by your correspondence, it is a misrepresentation to sell the album under the conditions described with the suggestion that the purchaser would benefit from selling the completed album for $16.00. Accordingly, based upon

Outlook For Low Polio Toll Good

WASHINGTON — Public Health Service figures indicate that the outlook for a low polio toll this year is good.

A spokesman said there were only 1,403 polio cases reported in the first 26 weeks of this year, compared to 2,634 in the same period last year. Furthermore, the "median" figure for the years 1952-56 was 3,706 cases, considerably higher than the current trend.

The spokesman said the service has not made a survey to determine how many persons afflicted this year have had vaccinations.

So far, there is one trouble spot worrying the public service—Johnson City, Tenn. An expert has been sent to keep an eye on the outbreak there of some 50 cases. However, a spokesman pointed out that most of the cases were of the "mild non-paralytic" type and the outbreak is not considered great for a population of 29,000.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

Now Hear This! JACKY FENWICK

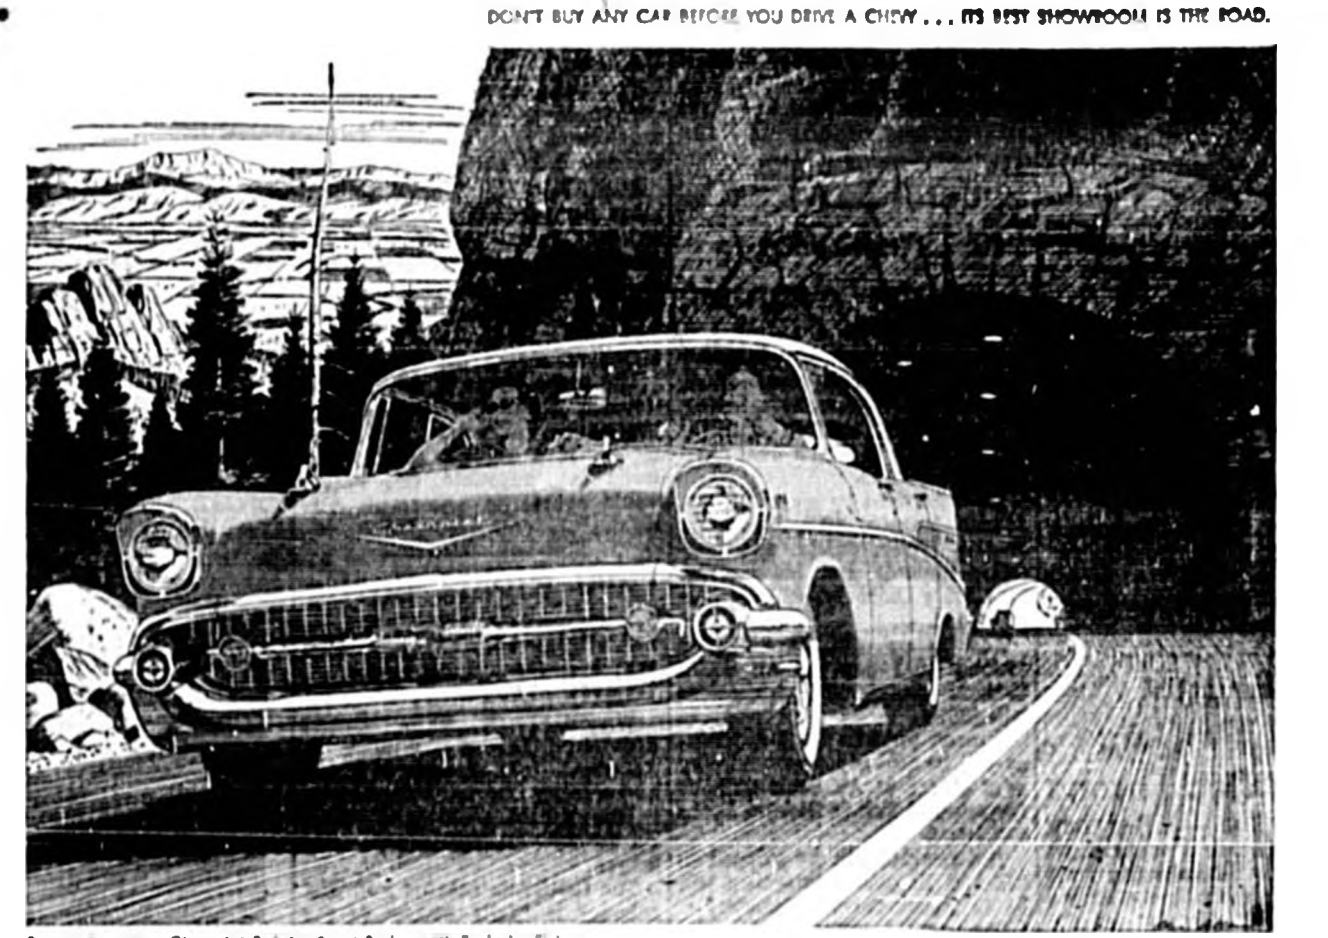

Yesterday morning saw the change of command of Heavy Attack Wing One. Capt. James R. Reedy took over command of the Wing from Capt. J. T. Blackburn who goes from here to duty in Washington, D.C. This was a particularly impressive ceremony due partly to the "fly over" of formations of planes stationed here at the Naval Air Station. The "fly over" was led by one of H.A.T.U.'s P2V's (Nep-tune), followed by five AJ Savage bombers. Three were from VAH-11, and the other two were from VAH-5. Piloting "5's" two AJ's were Lt. (jg) Gerald Ryan, and Lt. (jg) Dean Orfman. (This I know because my better half was in Lt. Orfman's plane!) Consequently, he wasn't around to "run down" any information for me, so if I omit names and details, it's because I tried a little too late to get the information. Sorry I wasn't able to obtain the names of the pilot's who flew for VAH-11. Following the AJ's were three TV's (jet trainers), from Fas-ton 51... and again I'm sorry I was too late to get names. The last part of the "fly over" was a formation of four ASD's from VAH-5. Flying these were Cdr. Joseph M. Tully, commanding officer of VAH-5, Cdr. I. W. Howell, executive officer of "5", Lcdr. C.O. Donnaud, and Lt. Robert Kennedy. Taking part in the ceremony on the ground were the bases new commanding officer, Capt. Lionel A. Arthur, the executive officer of N.A.S., Cdr. Lewis Tammy, and Cdr. J. F. McGuire, operations officer for the station. I have no way of knowing if Capt. Reedy will ever see this, but in the event he does, I would like to add my those he has already received, welcome and congratulations to and to hope he has a happy tour here in Sanford. I'm a little late in saying this but I would also like to congratulate Chaplain and Mrs. William Fuller on the birth of their little girl to have picked such daughter last week. SA's a smart! We have two new chief's aboard the station. The first one is Charles H. Williams, MMC, who comes to us from the communications base, Fort Amador, in Balboa, Canal Zone. The other is Warren G. Crews, ADC, who reported here from Patron 25.

Research scientists have now perfected some chemical re-agents that enable physicians to make a positive diagnosis of certain diseases. Often the cause of a sickness still has to be determined by skillful eliminating what it cannot be. Sometimes more than one visit is necessary to accomplish this. To impatiently rush from one physician to another is unwise. You can usually get well much more quickly if after choosing your physician, you give him the necessary time to find out what is wrong, so that he can help you most.

Because Chevrolet's sleek good looks, its advanced features, are only part of the story. The big bonus is its remarkable roadability, the crisp precision handling that has posted an entirely new standard for cars in every price class. There are reasons for this, of course: Chevrolet's balanced weight distribution that takes excessive loads off the front wheels, the wide stance of outrigger rear springs, Ball-Race steering, spherical-joint front suspension. Sure, you can admire the sculptured lines in the showroom. But Chevy's a car specifically designed for beautiful motion—you have to travel in this one to know just how terrific it is. Readjustment In County Tax Form Would Be Progressive Step

Just what can be done in a backward county came out in the news last Saturday in an announcement made by Tax Assessor Tewy McPherson of Gadsden County.

The northwest Florida county is about the same size as Seminole, in a predominantly agricultural area such as Seminole, with nearby military bases affecting its economy. According to the announcement, there will be a sharp readjustment in the Gadsden County tax structure which will levy taxes on approximately 1,200 homeowners who have never paid taxes before.

The new setup more than doubles the county's assessed valuations and, what's more important—and the fact that has been stressed here—cuts millage approximately in half.

Tax Assessor McPherson brought out in his announcement that the new tax structure will bring in $150,000 more for the 1957-58 budget than was levied for the 1956-57 budget, which is surprisingly equal to the Seminole County income from taxes and its budget, $570,000.

Here are the facts that were brought out in the announcement that is so important to Seminole County: property assessments this year total $45,770,680 compared to the $21,041,405; also taxable property this year totals $31,900,000. Last year taxable property in Gadsden County figured $12,800,000. Millage in Gadsden County is expected to drop from last year's base rate of 45 mills to about 22.5 mills this year—exactly one half of the millage levied.

If such a program were undertaken here with the present millage at 35.5 the expected millage could be around 17 or 18 mills.

The program came about when the increased assessment and lower millage were voted last year by the Gadsden County Citizens Tax Council, the Board of Gadsden County Commissioners and the Gadsden County Board of Education.

For several years the Gadsden County School Board had levied its state regulated maximum of 20 mills as has been done here in Seminole County. And similarly, the Gadsden County Board of Commissioners had to underwrite school board expenses for the last two years with state race track revenue.

Under the new tax structure in Gadsden County, the new assessment will bring in, it is calculated, an additional $150,000 for school board use. The county commission's budget will remain substantially the same. And here's the good news for the Gadsden County people, of the proposed 22.5 mill levy, approximately 13 mills go to school board use.

This shining example accomplished in Gadsden County can be accomplished right here in Seminole County. Not only is the tax equalized with property owners paying their just share of the tax burden, but the businessmen of the county are benefitting by the reduction in millage.

In Gadsden County, under the new Tax Structure homestead exempt property totals $13,863,680 compared to $8,736,680 last year.

The Tax Assessor in the county that now joins the forward looking counties of the state, stated in his news release that approximately 1,200 homes which had always fallen under the homestead exemption figure are assessed at more than $5,000 this year.

The Gadsden County Board of Commissioners will meet July 15 at 2:30 p. m. as a board of tax equalization to hear complaints on the new roll.

There are two ways to look at the new picture in Gadsden County—the school board will benefit by at least $100,000 this tax year to take care of teacher pay raises and yet, the millage assessed by the school board is less than the maximum authorized by the state statutes. Then, the businessmen, those who have had the burden of paying the largest portion of the taxes, will now be relieved with a lower overall millage.

As has been pointed out on several occasions, the City of Sanford pays about twenty one-twenty eighths of the Seminole County taxes. Yet, as many have seen, the growth of the county, in the fringe area of the city of Sanford and in the southern portion of the county has been tremendous.

As was done in the Gadsden County—the same headline could appear here in Seminole County "Reassessment Boosts Income, Cuts Millage."

The readjustment in the tax structure of Seminole County would be one of the most progressive steps ever taken in the community and provide a real attraction for business, industry and homeowners.

Nobody shot anybody, no sirens screamed, no Indians bit the dust, no hero swaggered into the "Last Chance Saloon," but still it was a good picture.

I have my wife to thank for seeing it. She hates crime and western and wild bang, bang, boogie, blood screen and television features that the national survey shows to be most popular.

I came home from the office tired and had kicked off my shoes prepared for a comfortable evening at home when she timidly suggested that there was a picture she would like to see at one of the local theatres.

Like the guy who had read a "book" I wasn't very interested. I had seen "pictures." But it seems this was a picture that was different. It dealt with a story of an inspired doctor who had given up everything to go to Africa and establish a hospital in Gabon.

Not because I wanted to see the picture, but rather to please the wife I put my shoes back on and agreed to go. I'm glad I did. It was an unusual picture, and an inspiring picture. Although it lacked sex-appeal and suspense and horror, it portrayed a simple life and courageous effort of one man to do something to advance the welfare of his fellows and give evidence of his worth on earth.

It was the story of the life of Dr. Alfred Schweitzer, the son of an Alsace, Lutheran preacher who dedicated his life to the service of his fellow man and who became famous as a result. Even as a youth, Dr. Schweitzer's mind carried him far beyond the limits of average mortal thinking. He did not know the answers but he wanted to. Brought up in a strict religious atmosphere he read the Bible. Why, he asked himself, isn't the peace and harmony in the world after 2,000 years of Christ-

How Long Can Diabetic Expect He Will Live?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CALL the average diabetic expect to live as long as persons not troubled with the disease? Unfortunately, the answer is "No."

While we've come a long way in helping the diabetic to lead a more normal and fuller life, we've still got a long way to go. Through use of insulin and carefully programmed diets, most diabetics have been able to add years to their lives.

In Recent Years

In fact, it has been only in recent years that persons who contracted diabetes early in childhood have managed to attain the age of 45.

Insulin, you see, was introduced a scant 35 years ago. Until that time, children afflicted with the disease could expect to live relatively few years.

Yet even now longevity of diabetics continues to be well under that for nondiabetics. The plain fact is that we still do not have perfect control over the disease.

Recent Analysis

An analysis made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of the life expectancy of the diabetic shows quite a disparity with the nondiabetic in many instances.

This is especially true among children and young adults.

The analysis, based on the experience of the Joslyn Clinic of Boston for the period between 1947 and 1951, showed the death rates for young diabetics were from 5 to 10 times the rates for the general population. In middle and later life, the ratio was at least two to one.

At the age of 10, for example, a diabetic youngster could expect another 44.3 years of life. That is about 17 years less than the life expectancy for in a general population in the same age group.

At the age of 30, a diabetic could look forward to another 30.1 years—about 12½ years less than the non-diabetic 30-year-olds.

At Fifty

A 50-year-old diabetic could expect to live 18.9 years more. The average nondiabetic at that age could count on 26.9 additional years of life.

However, I want to emphasize that this does not mean that all diabetics will not outlive their healthier neighbors. These are statistical averages only and do not refer to individual cases.

Besides, our scientists are constantly coming up with ideas for new types of therapy.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T. V.: What is osteoporosis and how can it be treated?

Answer: Osteoporosis is the loss of vital minerals, particularly calcium, of bone.

It may occur with old age, with disease of a limb and in women passing through the menopause.

Usually, a combination of male and female hormones, along with an adequate diet and calcium and phosphorus preparation, will correct this condition.

Actually, Khrushchev and Bulganin had pursued their policy of "co-existence" despite Molotov. When he opposed the personal contact technique, Khrushchev and Bulganin simply left him home while they made personal contact visits abroad. A year ago, they threw him out of his post of foreign minister.

But Molotov, who once had been regarded as Josef Stalin's heir, Malenkov, who succeeded Stalin as premier only to be deposed, and Kaganovich kept on fighting. How serious the situation became is shown by the fact that in the big shake-up five of the eleven members of the Communist Presidium—the men who really rule Russia—were ousted. Naturally, the shake-up has strengthened Khrushchev as the No. 1 man in Russia's collective leadership.

Whether, as some suggest, Khrushchev is on the way to becoming a Stalin-type dictator remains to be seen. If he is, nearly all experts on Russia will have been proved wrong. They have insisted that Russia really has a collective leadership. They say that nobody including Khrushchev, wants a return to one-man rule. That sounds reasonable.

Mrs. Mitchell Tells Of Trip Through Southeastern Area

Mrs. Velma Mitchell has returned to Sanford after a two week tour of eight southern states. Mrs. Mitchell was accompanied by her husband and two grandchildren. The trip started off with breakfast in Leesburg at Howard Johnson's and ended the same way with dinner two weeks later. Among the sights and sites of interest was the state capitol at Tallahassee, and a visit to Davy Crockett's cabin in Tennessee. By the time the foursome reached Charleston, West Virginia, Mr. Mitchell decided that since they had not planned a summer in Canada, the car should be pointed in another direction. The famous skyline drive in Virginia offered a magnificent subject for future discussion, as did the mountainous country in Kentucky where the Mitchells perched on the side of a perpendicular ledge. Of special interest to Mrs. Mitchell in her position as principal of Southside school was the information gleaned from her innocent and talkative grandchildren. As they visited famous landmarks and historic buildings they treated grandmother to the whys and wherefores of the Orlando school system. And "out of the month of babes," Mrs. Mitchell received much data which will no doubt become apparent at the Southside P. T. A. next fall.

Fasron 51, Burpee Seedmen Win One Game Each In Doubleheader

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALRY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK 9S — Wiry, wispy Abe Attell, at 71 still as fit as any featherweight around, looks at the current boxing investigations with satirical speculation. Abe figures that the truth will out. He's a great believer in justice, this little man, because he was able to prove his own innocence 43 years ago.

That's when Abe was investigated—to provoke one of the most humorous incidents of his long career.

It seems that, in 1912, Abe was scheduled to box one Knockout Brown. This was a gladiator who, Abe admits, "shouldn't have hit me in the rumble seat with a violin." But just before the bout Abe broke his thumb. Rather than call off the fight, he had it shot full of novocaine.

"The doctor gave me an overdose and when I got in the ring I couldn't hardly see," he recalls with a grin. "This guy I should have taken left-handed makes a bum out of me."

Grown Up Cavalier

The boxing commission thought it detected the odor of grown up cavalier and invited Abe to a full-blown inquiry. Abe told his story and the commissioners, believing he had taken a swan dive into the tank, listened sneeringly. Finally, disbelieving him, they summoned Brown to the stand. The testimony went like this:

"Did you see Mr. Attell before going to the club?"

"No sir."

"When Mr. Attell entered the ring, did he speak to you?"

"Yes, sir."

There was an uproar in the room. The commissioners, it was evident, thought they had sure evidence of collusion. Almost gleefully they pounced on Brown.

"And what," demanded one in the voice of doom, "did he say to you?"

The room was tense and expectant. Everyone leaned forward, anticipation on their faces. Brown looked around fearfully.

It was a "turn about fair play" game in the citywide recreation department's softball league last night between Hatu Fasron 51 and the Burpee Seed Co. teams.

A double header featured the evening's play as rained out games were made up in the midseason softball diamond tilt.

In the first game the Hatu Fasron 51 outfit belted the Burpee Seedmen to the tune of 6-3. The navyites collected 5 hits for their 6 runs with the Seedmen taking an equal number of hits but racking up only 3 runs.

Batteries for Hatu Fasron 51 were Harvell and Williams. For the Burpee Seedmen Hart and Lockett.

The second game drew fire when Frank Stafford of the Burpee Seed Co. aggregation drew a home run in the first inning. From then on the seedmen stacked up hits to the tune of 10 on which they completed 6 runs.

Metts, pitching for the Burpee Seed Co. team allowed only two hits to the navy men on which they completed 6 runs.

It was the seedmen's game all griped noisily and then gave his answer.

"Will, Mr. Attell come right over to me and he said—'Hello, you sully lookin' ham!'"

Hearing broke up

That broke up the hearing. It's one of Abe's most cherished memories, standing right next to the night when he was 13-year-old and his mother discovered he was to have his first amateur fight. Mrs. Attell was dead set against fighting, told him never to darken the family portals again if he boxed and finally relented on his promise that to preserve his "manly" reputation he would have only the one bout.

the way through with the final scored 6-2. Metts and Lockett were the batteries for Burpee Seed Co. Harvell and Williams for the navy men.

Florida High School All-Star Football Game Set Aug. 8

GAINESVILLE — Quarterbacks of both the North and South squads for the Aug. 8 Florida High School All-Star Football Game at Florida Field have one important thing in common—the winning habit.

Carl Meyer of Melbourne and Bobby Conrad of Marianna, North Squad field generals, guided their teams to a combined record of 17 victories, two losses and one tie during the 1956 season.

South Quarterbacks Denny Kline of Coral Gables and Dale Landress of Avon Park directed their high school teams to a combined 19 wins and one defeat.

Kline quarterbacked Gables to the State, Big Ten and City of Miami championships and is the only All-Star quarterback whose team went undefeated last season.

Despite the fact he is but five feet ten and 155 pounds, Kline played in 19 high school games, 15 of them as a starter. He has never quarterbacked a losing team since becoming a starter against Miami Edison, winning 15 straight since. During his high school career, he completed 47 per cent of his passes for more than 1,000 yards gained by air.

Landress has proved himself a capable teammate for Kline, for the five foot ten, 145 pound leader of Avon Park's Ridge Conference champions threw no less than nine touchdown passes last season.

But, when it comes to passing the South All-Stars will have a job on their hands trying to defend against the North's Conrad. Last season he threw 160 times completing 132 to lead Marianna to the Northwest Florida Conference championship.

Conrad is a giant of a man, compared to his North teammate Meyer and two South signal callers. He weighs 195 pounds and is six feet one. Meyer is five feet eleven and 145 pounds.

A superior runner and passer, Meyer directed Melbourne to the Orange Belt title, claiming all-conference honors for himself in both 1955 and 1956, plus recognition on the all-state, all mid-state and little all state squads.

The annual football game is played on the campus of the University of Florida by select seniors from last year's high school football teams in the state. The grid contest climaxes the Florida Athletic Coaches coaching clinic on the campus and follows by one night the all star basketball game in Florida Gymnasium.

Bunning Or Loes Start For League All-Star Game

By STAN MCKELER
United Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS 9P — Jim Bunning of Detroit or Billy Loes of Baltimore will start for the American League All-Star Game, while National League skipper Walt Alton leaned toward one of two left handers—Curt Simmons of the Phillies or Johnny Antonelli of the Giants.

American League Manager Casey Stengel had considered starting Early Wynn of Cleveland but those plans went out the window when Wynn pitched—and lost—the nightcap of a doubleheader with the White Sox Sunday.

Alton wants a southpaw to start for him because the American League's starting lineup is packed with such left handed power hitters as Yogi Berra, Ted Williams and Vic Wertz. Alton also has Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn available to start but he indicated he would go with either Simmons or Antonelli.

Nationals Favored

The weatherman predicted a warm day for the game and the old-timers predicted a National League victory.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Williams are the granddaddy types in the lineup. This will be Stan's 14th appearance in the classic and the 13th for Ted.

Musial is having one of his greatest years and the Boston better is in the thick of the batting and home run race.

Other All-Star old timers are Yogi Berra in his eighth, George Kell, the sixth, and Nellie Fox, the fifth. The only freshman on either starting lineup is Cincinnati third baseman Don Hoak.

Using "Home" Park

Several factors contribute to the slim odds edge the Nationals have in the betting odds. They will be seeking their seventh victory in the last eight games of the inter-league rivalry and they will

Moore Must Sign By Saturday

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. 9P — Archie Moore must sign by Saturday for a defense of his light heavyweight title or he is stripped of the 175-pound crown. National Boxing Assn. President Floyd Stevens said.

The aging Moore's title was supposed to have been vacated Sunday but Stevens agreed to give the champion until Saturday to sign for a defense after a plea by Charlie Johnston, manager of the light heavyweight king.

Stevens said Johnston called him July 4 and "told me a bout with Tony Anthony was all but signed. He said he needed more time to tie up television details so I've made up my mind to wait until Saturday."

However, Stevens pointed out that Moore won't actually have to be playing in a National League park. Also, their combined batting average is nine points above the Americans even 300.

Going for the Americans, however, is an overall advantage of 13-10 in the big game, which dates back to 1933 and skips only the war year of 1945.

This will be the third All-Star Game for St. Louis and it will be a rubber game as far as the city is concerned. The now defunct Browns were hosts for an American League, 5-2 victory in 1918 and the Cards entertained for a 4-0 National Victory in 1940.

defend his title until August 29 because he understands that was the defense deadline set by the World Boxing Commission.

But the NBA president said he will stick to his demand that Moore sign for the defense by Saturday or lose the title.

CHAMP TO TURN PRO—Australian tennis ace Lew Hoad, winner of the Wimbledon singles title for the second year in succession, holds his cup after it was presented to him by Prince Philip. This is probably the last amateur trophy Hoad will win since he said he had been offered $125,000 to turn professional and the chances of turning it down were "one in a hundred." Ford wins the battle of the builds

- Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secret of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford states them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.
1. Only Ford in its field offers a frame design that lets you ride within the frame side members for greater roominess, more smoothness and increased safety.
 2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for smoothness, quietness, longer-lived operation.
 3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride on either low or high road conditions.
 4. Only Ford in its field offers new strengthened ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch" on rough, lumpy roads.
 5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof... greater quiet and safety.
 6. Only Ford offers such a savingsful car. A Ford Six beats all other cars in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.
 7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with 3 tubular cross members. These are 5 cross members in all... enabling the frame to withstand stress from all directions.
 8. Only Ford, among all makes, electrically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.
 9. Only Ford in its field offers an earth soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road and weather conditions.
 10. Only Ford in its field offers such a new sealed body for greater freedom from dust and weather wherever you travel.
 11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door spring and two-position front door checks for easier entrance and exit.

FPL Distributing Florida Folder

Summer fun and recreation is the theme of a colorful Passport Florida folder being distributed by Florida Power & Light Co. Just the right size to slip into an envelope with a letter, it is the latest in a series of community services sponsored by FPL to build summer business in the state.

The bright green cover carries the great seal of the State of Florida and is titled "Vacation Passport, Florida U.S.A." In formal style suitable to a real passport the prospective visitor is extended all the courtesy, friendship, directions and aid he may require, wherever he visits throughout the state.

A blank space is provided where his name can be written. Below, Reddy Kibowitz smiles a greeting.

"In Florida, all roads lead to fun!" The entire folder supports this statement with fundful photos. It shows people playing golf, catching big fish, water skiing and watching thrilling races, as well as glimpses of beautiful farmland, groves and scenic spots.

The state is divided into five areas such as West Florida and Central Florida, with places of interest listed for quick and easy reference.

A handy mileage chart shows distance between 32 Florida cities. A "diner" at the close of the folder is designed to make the reader hurry to the sunny south land. It is a thermometer, with readings showing that Miami temperatures are cooler by far than in fifteen other cities in the U. S. "Florida's summers are mild," the folder states, "Water cooled by ocean, Gulf and lakes." Last year's version of the Florida Passport was one of the most popular promotion pieces ever distributed. Now, dressed up in sparkling new color and again free for the asking as Florida Power & Light Co. offers, it is expected to encourage vacationers by the thousands to visit, play and stay in Florida during the summer.

FPL hopes that Floridians will drop by the Company offices and pick up a handful to send to dozens of friends in the North, urging them to spend the summer in Florida.

Higinbotham later said "When he (David Lee) says he would rather see septic tanks being used than having sewage run into a body of water, as large as the St. Johns River, he is prejudiced against the community."

Garrison, accompanied to the meeting by his attorney Jim K. Rush and his engineer, stated to the board that he expected to build 324 homes in the area "all on the assumption that I could hook into the sewer and water system."

"As it is now," Garrison said, "that land is worthless. I can't back out now," Garrison explained, "for I have invested a tremendous sum of money—this has got to work out some way."

It is expected that City Officials will confer with Wilson Holt of Goodbody and Co., the city's fiscal agent, relative to Sanford's position in financing a sewage treatment plant.

David Lee will be asked to confer with the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, he's sometime later this week.

Retired Navy Man Now Automobile Salesman Here

A retired Navy chief petty officer, formerly attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station, is now employed by Nicholas Bulek Company in its sales department, according to an announcement made today by W. B. Nicholson, Gerald G. Myers, said Nicholson, "is now with our firm selling both new and used cars."

Myers served at the Sanford Naval Air Station as a Chief Petty Officer since 1932 until his retirement.

He makes his home in Sanford with his wife and three children, at 902 West 25th St.

Myers said "I am happy to be a member of the Nicholas Bulek Company sales staff and would like to invite all of my friends and acquaintances in the Sanford area to come by to see me."

New Florida Bar Executive Officer To Take Post Soon

TALLAHASSEE — It has been announced that Fred B. Comstock of Washington, D. C., will take office on July 16 as Executive Director of The Florida Bar. His office will be in the Supreme Court Building in Tallahassee. Announcement of the new Bar officer was made in St. Petersburg by President Bays M. Harrison Jr.

As executive Director, Comstock will perform the duties of administrative head of Florida's integrated bar, and will be in charge of the Tallahassee office. The Florida Bar was integrated in 1928 as an official arm of the Supreme Court of Florida, and the membership of the group is approximately 7,000 lawyers.

Comstock replaces Kenneth B. Sherouse Jr., who has held the post of Executive Director and Editor of The Florida Bar Journal since 1928. Sherouse will resign the position to enter private practice in Miami July 15. He will affiliate with the Tampa-Miami firm of Fowler, White, Gillen, Yancey and Hummer.

Before his appointment to the Bar office, Comstock was on the professional staff of the Operations Coordinating Board in President Eisenhower's Executive Offices and served as executive secretary of several Governmental committees. During the Korean War he served as planning assistant to the U. S. Psychological Strategy Board and subsequently served as projects officer for the Special Assistant to the President.

A native of Oklahoma, Comstock is 35. He holds B.A. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Oklahoma and a master's degree in public law from Columbia University. He has been a guest lecturer at the Army War College in Carlisle, Pa., and George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

During World War II, Comstock served overseas as an intelligence officer on General Omar Bradley's staff and with G-2 Headquarters in Washington. He received official commendations from the War Department, the European Theatre Commander and the King of Belgium for secret military intelligence work.

Currently a Major in the active Military Intelligence Reserve, Comstock is a member of the Reserve Officers' Association, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He holds membership in the Oklahoma Bar Association and Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity.

LOS ANGELES

Lawman caught up with Jesse James today and put him behind bars for mail robbery. The 44-year-old truck driver for the Los Angeles post office was accused of stealing some 3,000 letters Saturday night.

the Snapshot Guild

An A filter brought out the clouds in all their billowy whiteness in this shot.

The ABC's of Filter Facts

A number of our readers have asked us to tell them something about filters. In the main, their questions are concerned with when to use them and what kind to choose.

Though there are a great many different filters, we'd like to describe the three that you'd probably find most useful to you in your black-and-white snapshotting this summer. These are a red or A filter, a medium yellow one called K2, and a deep yellow or G filter.

If you're looking for dramatic dark-sky effects with sharply contrasted clouds, try slipping a red filter over your camera lens. It's amazing what that little piece of dyed gelatine can do in turning an average shot into something quite spectacular.

A medium yellow or K2 filter will cut any haze there might be at sunset time. But for a truly brilliant scene, the deep yellow G filter is in order. It's that G filter again for landscapes where distant details are important, and for bringing out textures of stone and sand under sunlit blue skies.

You'll find that marine or water scenes can also be much more effective when filters go to work on the job. To show up the shimmer and sparkle in water, a medium yellow (K2) filter is a good choice—but if you prefer your print to have the water more dramatically darkened, a deep yellow (G) filter is the one to do the trick for you.

COLD-BLOODED THIEVES

HASTINGS, Mich. — Thieves who looted the William Crawford home apparently were getting ready for a long, hard winter. Sheriff's deputies said articles in the $1,600 theft included a man's topcoat, a woman's beaver coat, two snow tires and five men's winter suits.

THE GIANT BALLOON for the scheduled "hood" atomic blast is shown as a dummy shot at an experimental "dry run" at the Nevada test site. Senate Delays Today's Closed Session In Holt Impeachment Trial

TALLAHASSEE — The Senate today delayed a scheduled closed session in the Holt impeachment trial in order to hear opposing attorneys discuss the actual law governing sufficiency of impeachment charges.

MIAMI — Little Billy McCoy won parents of her very own today when a Florida judge made her the legally adopted child of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Ellis after a long inter-faith battle in the courts.

Rotarians Quiz Quizmaster

A well-known public relations director and "good will ambassador" for a local automobile concern was on the receiving end of a good natured "ribbing" Monday afternoon at the weekly meeting of the Sanford Rotary Club when several members disagreed with the answers of Quizmaster Charles Morrison in the staging of his program.

PARIS — A government official said today that France would not extradite a former American officer and his wife accused of spying for Russia unless the United States can prove they were criminals.

WASHINGTON — Experts plotting the recent Kremlin shake-up together said today Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev apparently failed to see eye-to-eye at an important stage of the party's power battle.

JERUSALEM, Israel — Israeli officials described the Syrian border situation today as "grave" and there were reports the Soviet Union was urging Syria to further attacks on Israeli villages. But the officials said it was unlikely Tuesday a 10-hour artillery duel would precipitate an all out war; observers thought it more likely Israeli troops might attack, occupy and destroy the Syrian position then retire across the border into Israel.

Graham Holds Outdoor Rally On Wall Street

NEW YORK — Evangelist Billy Graham makes "big money" today, precisely where he hopes his words will have their most pointed effect—in the heart of the Wall St. financial district.

The North Carolina Baptist minister holds an outdoor rally at Nassau and Wall Sts. on the steps of the U. S. Subterranean Building, where George Washington delivered his historic first inaugural address.

Graham's 25-minute talk to the men of high finance was not to be his first on how "money corrupts," as he puts it. He has said repeatedly in his Madison Square Garden sermons that materialism, "the greed for and love of money," is one of America's great failings.

He has also said that "the accepted rule in business today is lying and cheating, stabbing competitors in the back, all for the sake of making more money." Graham announced Tuesday night before his Garden sermon that "there's a good possibility" he will conduct a short crusade in Buffalo, N. Y., this fall, as a "logical follow-up" to his New York Crusade.

He announced also that he will conduct a crusade in Charlotte, N. C., in the fall of 1958. Graham has lived in Charlotte and maintains his home in Montreal, N. C.

Parks In 'Terrible' Condition

The Seminole County Board of Commissioners inspected county parks yesterday afternoon and reported "conditions are deplorable in all of them."

Everything seemed to be running smoothly until Morrison, in a "True or False" category, made the statement that the word most used over the telephone was "Hello." Jimmy Holtzclaw, manager of the Sanford Coca-Cola Bottling plant, was of the opinion the statement was correct. Morrison said "No, no. The word 'I' is the most used." Randall Chase, president of Chase and Co. apparently prompted Holtzclaw to say that "I" was not a word but a personal pronoun. Morrison came back with the remark that he didn't care if it was a pronoun or no-pronoun, it is a word. Other Rotarians got into the act, one member saying "I" was not a word but a letter; Morrison maintaining that "I" was a word because it was spoken. Club president Myron "Mike" Beck, on the verge of appointing a committee to search several dictionaries, finally told the program conductor to proceed. "Mildred Goose was an imaginary character," was the next statement he made followed by "George Washington was the first president of the U. S." Another difference of opinion arose when Morrison said both statements were false. Mrs. Isaac Gooss, of Boston, Mass., and John Hanson, of Maryland, were elected president by the first conference on the confederation on Nov. 5, 1781. Five-Day Wildcat Strike At 2 FPL Plants Settled MIAMI — Company and union officials announced today that the five-day wildcat strike at Florida Power and Light Co. facilities in Dade and Broward counties had been settled.

The settlement, details of which were not immediately announced, also ended a supporting strike at the power company's Daytona Beach plant.

One of the major points of the dispute had been the status of Orin F. Patten, superintendent of the Fort Lauderdale plant. The striking Brotherhood of Electrical Workers had asked that Patten be removed. The company had refused up until late Tuesday night.

McGregor Smith, chairman of the board of FPL, and Alvie Moore, business manager of the union, announced that agreement was reached at the conference table at 1:30 a.m. after a long session.

Smith and Moore said that crews were immediately called back to work and that by the end of the day all of the 1,000 Dade and Broward workers would be back at their jobs.

Krider said, "and is an area that we would not like to invite our tourists to see at this time."

In the other three parks the commissioners found that all need cleaning up. Benches and picnic tables are needed in each area and modern restroom facilities provided to make them attractive for visitors and local citizens to use.

"It was a profitable trip," Commissioner Krider said, "and I am sure that immediate action will be taken to provide sufficient funds in the budget to make the necessary improvements in all the county's parks."

ColC Directors Recommend Okay Of Airport Site

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors last night recommended the approval of an International Airport site near Sorrento in the west central portion of Central Florida.

Directors discussed the proposal and commented that "should all of the nine counties which the airport would serve get together—it might be built."

Representatives of the local chamber of commerce attended a meeting in Tavares when the proposal to locate an international airport in the area came up.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon, it was announced, at which representatives of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce will voice the local recommendation.

The committee is already at work, said Housholder, "in preparing to zone the hazy areas around the Sanford Naval Air Station."

Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr. told the group "people will appreciate the bill in years to come," as he spoke of the general zoning bill which authorized the Board of Seminole County Commissioners to set in motion a county zoning plan and regulations.

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors approved a recommendation that the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, in cooperation with the County Tax Assessor, do everything possible to bring about a thorough and realistic re-evaluation of properties in Seminole County.

Khrushchev Starts 9-Day Tour Of Prague

Chief Attacks West

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev began a nine-day visit to Prague today by accusing the West of trying to start a "counter revolution" in Czechoslovakia and other Communist countries.

"But this, comrades, will never happen," Khrushchev told a cheering crowd estimated by Czech officials at 200,000 persons.

The Soviet party chief looked fresh and buoyant as he swung down from a special train. In contrast, Premier Nikolai Bulganin appeared tired and drawn after their 24-hour "white stop" trip across Czechoslovakia from the Soviet border.

Khrushchev told a respectfully attentive audience that the West planned to "regenerate" Germany in the role of a shock force in the preparation of a new war.

"We must be vigilant," Khrushchev said.

"There is a constant danger as long as imperialism exists," the Hungarian events quite clearly showed the real character of the designs of the imperialists," he said.

"But this, comrades, will never happen." "No one will ever succeed in shaking and destroying our great commonwealth. The peoples of the Socialist countries will understand that in their fraternal unity and solidarity lies the most reliable guarantee of their freedom and independence."

The crowd in City Hall Square had been matched only once before this year—when American Olympic athlete Harold County of Boston cut through the Iron Curtain and tape to marry his Czech Olympic sweetheart, Olga Filonova.

The globe-trotting Soviet glad handlers arrived by train at 9 a.m. 4 a.m. EST at Prague's Central Station and were greeted by a crowd of 200,000 which packed the square in front of the station.

Czech Communist Party leaders including President Antonin Zatepsky were in the reception committee.

They came in slowly, men in khaki and men in white. Men who had come here today to say farewell for the last time to their friends and shipmates who perished Saturday night in the flaming horror of a plane crash.

Slowly they came and slowly they filed the chapel until there was no room. Each man had sorrow written on his face. The services began, and the quiet voices of the priest and chaplain were disturbed only by the roar of planes in the background, a reminder that no matter what the tragedy life must go on. These four men died serving their country and their fellow men must fill the gap. The defense of our country cannot be denied.

As those assembled united in prayer for the dead, there was no one present who did not feel that the souls of those who had died were purged and rested. The loss will hurt for a long time, but a feeling of peace replaced this afternoon the compelling disturbance of grief.

Blackburn Has Wide Experience With A3D's

Captain J. T. Blackburn, USN, who has been Commander Heavy Attack Wing ONE since August 1955, until relieved by Captain James R. Reedy on July 8, has had wide experience with the Navy's biggest carrier based bombers. His previous background includes a stint as Commanding Officer, Heavy Attack Squadron FIVE, and his more recent accomplishments include a cross-country speed run piloting the A3D Skywarrior in connection with the Oklahoma City Air Show last year.

The Skelton family flew here after making a brief stopover in Copenhagen. With Skelton on the polar flight from Los Angeles were his wife, 10-year-old daughter Valentina, and Richard, who is suffering from leukemia, a fatal blood disease.

They were met at the airport by Nils N. Sam, an old family friend and the Skelton's lawyer. The Skeltons will stay at Nils Sam's summer residence.

Richard asked what he wanted to see most while in Sweden, said the Skeltons will go to Denmark before continuing on to Germany, Italy and Spain.

Captain Blackburn Is Devoted To Navy

AN EDITORIAL One of the by-products of a military career is the continual moving from one place to another.

As one becomes more experienced as a military man his services are needed at this base or that one to increase the efficiency of the defense of our country.

That is the reason we lose such valuable citizens to Sanford as Captain J. T. Blackburn, who for two years has commanded Heavy Attack Wing One at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Captain Blackburn is a military man devoted to his Navy—and devoted too, to the air arm of the Navy and the carriers that which aircraft operate.

With his first love the Navy, Captain Blackburn became devoted to Sanford and became one of its leading citizens as he participated in many of the activities which formed the daily life of a community. Even though in the background, so to speak, because of his extremely heavy obligations, Captain Blackburn worked hard and long for the progress of the Sanford community, for as the Navy progressed here so did the community of which the Navy is an integral part.

The Heavy Attack Squadron which made up what is known as HatWingOne were constantly training for greater efficiency, and the training program under the direction of Captain Blackburn was wide, strong, forceful and competent.

Jaycee Directors Propose Club's Name Be Changed

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has agreed to change the name of the organization with the stipulation that club members voice their opinion by vote on the proposed change.

The name change would involve the adding of a name to their present title. The proposed name change would be Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Reasons for the proposed change, proponents in the young businessmen organization pointed out would provide better advertising of Sanford and Seminole County by bringing them together. It would also provide a better identification at conferences and conventions; pave the way for new Jaycee Clubs in the county, and give a more realistic name to the club which is not now countywide.

A charter and bylaws committee was appointed to investigate the proposal and recommended these changes.

Other proposals in bylaw changes were to increase the value of real estate the club may hold and increase the indebtedness to which the club may subject itself. This change, it was stated in the Jaycee Journal, is necessary to carry out the Jaycee Building Project.

Another change would increase the number of directors by adding a third vice president, a historian, and two additional directors.

The entire proposal will be discussed at tomorrow's luncheon meeting at the Yacht Club and a vote taken.

Shipmates Say Last Farewells

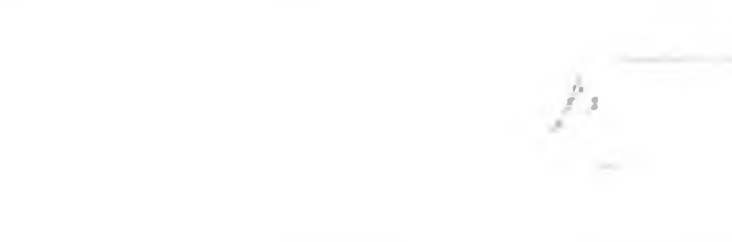

A hot wind blew across the air station as it baked under the summer sky. The chapel was white and cool after the hot sun. A single wreath was a reminder of this solemn occasion.

They came in slowly, men in khaki and men in white. Men who had come here today to say farewell for the last time to their friends and shipmates who perished Saturday night in the flaming horror of a plane crash.

FPL Distributing Florida Folder

Summer fun and recreation is the theme of a colorful Passport Florida folder being distributed by Florida Power & Light Co. Just the right size to slip into an envelope with a letter, it is the latest in a series of community services sponsored by FPL to build summer business in the state.

The bright green cover carries the great seal of the State of Florida and is titled "Vacation Passport, Florida U.S.A." In formal style suitable to a real passport the prospective visitor is extended all the courtesy, friendship, directions and aid he may require, wherever he visits throughout the state.

A blank space is provided where his name can be written. Below, Reddy Kibowitz smiles a greeting.

"In Florida, all roads lead to fun!" The entire folder supports this statement with fundful photos. It shows people playing golf, catching big fish, water skiing and watching thrilling races, as well as glimpses of beautiful farmland, groves and scenic spots.

The state is divided into five areas such as West Florida and Central Florida, with places of interest listed for quick and easy reference.

A handy mileage chart shows distance between 32 Florida cities. A "diner" at the close of the folder is designed to make the reader hurry to the sunny south land. It is a thermometer, with readings showing that Miami temperatures are cooler by far than in fifteen other cities in the U. S. "Florida's summers are mild," the folder states, "Water cooled by ocean, Gulf and lakes." Last year's version of the Florida Passport was one of the most popular promotion pieces ever distributed. Now, dressed up in sparkling new color and again free for the asking as Florida Power & Light Co. offers, it is expected to encourage vacationers by the thousands to visit, play and stay in Florida during the summer.

FPL hopes that Floridians will drop by the Company offices and pick up a handful to send to dozens of friends in the North, urging them to spend the summer in Florida.

Higinbotham later said "When he (David Lee) says he would rather see septic tanks being used than having sewage run into a body of water, as large as the St. Johns River, he is prejudiced against the community."

Garrison, accompanied to the meeting by his attorney Jim K. Rush and his engineer, stated to the board that he expected to build 324 homes in the area "all on the assumption that I could hook into the sewer and water system."

"As it is now," Garrison said, "that land is worthless. I can't back out now," Garrison explained, "for I have invested a tremendous sum of money—this has got to work out some way."

It is expected that City Officials will confer with Wilson Holt of Goodbody and Co., the city's fiscal agent, relative to Sanford's position in financing a sewage treatment plant.

David Lee will be asked to confer with the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, he's sometime later this week.

New Florida Bar Executive Officer To Take Post Soon

TALLAHASSEE — It has been announced that Fred B. Comstock of Washington, D. C., will take office on July 16 as Executive Director of The Florida Bar. His office will be in the Supreme Court Building in Tallahassee. Announcement of the new Bar officer was made in St. Petersburg by President Bays M. Harrison Jr.

As executive Director, Comstock will perform the duties of administrative head of Florida's integrated bar, and will be in charge of the Tallahassee office. The Florida Bar was integrated in 1928 as an official arm of the Supreme Court of Florida, and the membership of the group is approximately 7,000 lawyers.

Comstock replaces Kenneth B. Sherouse Jr., who has held the post of Executive Director and Editor of The Florida Bar Journal since 1928. Sherouse will resign the position to enter private practice in Miami July 15. He will affiliate with the Tampa-Miami firm of Fowler, White, Gillen, Yancey and Hummer.

Before his appointment to the Bar office, Comstock was on the professional staff of the Operations Coordinating Board in President Eisenhower's Executive Offices and served as executive secretary of several Governmental committees. During the Korean War he served as planning assistant to the U. S. Psychological Strategy Board and subsequently served as projects officer for the Special Assistant to the President.

A native of Oklahoma, Comstock is 35. He holds B.A. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Oklahoma and a master's degree in public law from Columbia University. He has been a guest lecturer at the Army War College in Carlisle, Pa., and George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

During World War II, Comstock served overseas as an intelligence officer on General Omar Bradley's staff and with G-2 Headquarters in Washington. He received official commendations from the War Department, the European Theatre Command and the King of Belgium for secret military intelligence work.

Currently a Major in the active Military Intelligence Reserve, Comstock is a member of the Reserve Officers' Association, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He holds membership in the Oklahoma Bar Association and Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity.

An J filter brought out the clouds in all their billowy whiteness in this shot.

The ABC's of Filter Facts

A number of our readers have asked us to tell them something about filters. In the main, their questions are concerned with when to use them and what kind to choose.

Though there are a great many different filters, we'd like to describe the three that you'd probably find most useful to you in your black-and-white snapshotting this summer. These are a red or A filter, a medium yellow one called K2, and a deep yellow or G filter.

If you're looking for dramatic dark-sky effects with sharply contrasted clouds, try slipping a red filter over your camera lens. It's amazing what that little piece of dyed gelatine can do in turning an average shot into something quite spectacular. A medium yellow or K2 filter will cut any haze there might be at sunset time. But for a truly brilliant scene, the deep yellow G filter is in order. It's that G filter again for landscapes where distant details are important, and for bringing out textures of stone and sand under sunlit blue skies.

You'll find that marine or water scenes can also be much more effective when filters go to work on the job. To show up the shimmer and sparkle in water, a medium yellow (K2) filter is a good choice—but if you prefer your print to have the water more dramatically darkened, a deep yellow (G) filter is the one to do the trick for you.
