PATTI WITTE formerly of Sanford is among this group of girls, all sponsored by their home-town Jaycee organizations, who will be among the 25 beauties seeking the coveted title of "Florida Citrus Queen" at the Florida Citrus Exposition in Winter Haven, Feb. 11-12. With an European tour and a one-year contract with the Florida Citrus Commission going to the winner, this is the third most important beauty contest in the world, topped only by the "Miss America" and "Miss Universe" shows. The pictures show, left to right, Patti Witte, 19 brunette, Fort Myers and Sanford; Beverly Laurent, brunette, Bartow and Marsha Monfort, 18, Tampa.

Contract For Park's Use, Upkeep Will Be Submitted To Board

The Seminole County Board of Commissioners discussed the Big Tree Park with Senator Douglas Stenstrom during the morning session of its meeting today. Senator Stenstrom represented the present caretaker of the park, Howard Hughes, who asked that his agreement with the county be extended until he is 65 years of age. It was proposed that $500 be turned over to the county by Hughes immediately and another $500 a year from this date, for improvements to the park. The proposal was made by Hughes attorney, Senator Stenstrom. Hughes has been at Big Tree Park since 1947 and still has three years to remain there to terminate his present agreement. "We are not using Big Tree Park as we should," said Stenstrom. Commissioner Lawrence Swafford (Continued on Page 8)

Commission Opens Bids On 6 Dump Trucks, Tractor

Bids were opened this morning at the Board of Seminole County Commissioners meeting for six dump trucks and one diesel wheel tractor. The apparent low bidder on the trucks was Strickland Morrison, Inc., who submitted a bid listing five different models of trucks with the low price $18,966.11. The proposal was for six trucks now used by the county was $250. Highest bid submitted by Strickland Morrison, Inc. was $17,710.11. Other bidders were: Haller Motor Sales on Chevrolet Dump Trucks for a net bid of $18,492.21; Sanford Motor Co., on Sudebaker trucks with a net bid of $17,977.46; Seminole County Motors on Dodge Dump Trucks with a net bid of $22,913.00; and GMC Trucks with a net bid of $18,211.32. Commissioners withheld the awarding of the bid until further study of the bids could be made during the afternoon session. Apparent low bidder on the Diesel Wheel Tractor was T & O Tractor Co. on a Case tractor for $4,350; Seminole Truck & Tractor Co. on an International tractor for $4,631.50; and Florida Georgia Tractor for an International tractor for $4,824. Awarding of the bid on the tractor was delayed until a later session.

Feb. 8 Proclaimed Founders Day Here

United Fund Plan Endorsed By Mental Health Association

The executive committee of the local Mental Health Assn. in a meeting held last night at First Federal Saving and Loan Assn. endorsed the united fund plan of charity savings and pledged cooperation in the movement. For the campaign this year Mrs. B. E. Chapman, vice president and Pilot club representative, was named as chairman. A committee of Mrs. A. R. Key, Mrs. Charles Park Sr. and Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith will survey the possibilities of providing bookend literature on mental health in the library and other information centers. The group expressed its delight in the fact that Sen. Douglas Stenstrom is a member of the legislative committee studying the mental health program for the state. The experience the law-maker had while serving as county judge and his subsequent study of the mental health problem makes him especially well qualified for the committee work, it was said. The teen-age counseling service being done by Mrs. Sidney Ives, III, at the Seminole High School was praised, and Mrs. Ives was commended for this voluntary service which has been helpful both to students and parents. Attending the meeting were Mrs. Key, Mrs. Park, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Mary D. Knox, Mrs. Irving Feinberg, Mrs. S. Piskorski, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Ives, Mrs. Sue Stevenson, the Rev. A. G. McInnis, Dr. Terry Bird. Presiding over the session was George Touhy, president.

Founders Day for the City of Sanford has been set for Feb. 8 in a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor David M. Gatchel. "For many years the City of Sanford has celebrated Feb. 8 as Founders Day," said Mayor Gatchel in the proclamation made public only yesterday. "Founders Day has additional significance this year because the General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum Building has been completed to house the library and paintings and other relics of the late General Henry Shelton Sanford, in whose honor our city was named," said the Mayor in his proclamation. "General Sanford contributed much to the founding of our City," the Mayor pointed out as he set aside Founders Day here. Mayor Gatchel requested the people of Sanford to honor the day by attending the dedication of the General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum Association building in Fort Mellon Park. Dedication of the new building, which now houses the library and paintings, as well as many valuable articles of furniture and art, will be attended by Mrs. Carola Dow, daughter of the late General Sanford. Mrs. Dow, who began negotiations to contribute the library and other articles to the city a number of years ago, will come to Sanford from her homeplace and the homeplace of General Sanford, in Derby, Conn. Other relatives of the general Sanford and of Mrs. Dow, are expected to be in Sanford for the event as the new Library Building is dedicated at 4 p. m. next Friday afternoon. Members of the General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum Association have been working feverishly to get the many books and paintings, as well as the items of furniture which includes General Sanford's desk and chair, properly arranged for the dedication and public inspection.

Dulles Expresses Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he has good grounds to hope Israel will comply with a United Nations resolution calling for speedy withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba. At his first news conference since Dec. 18, Dulles said the United States is not thinking of supporting sanctions against Israel. He said the government now is thinking only that Israel will comply with the U. N. resolution.

Dulles was asked by a reporter whether the United States would "go to the protection of Israel" in the event of aggression even if this meant risking war with the Soviet Union. Without mentioning Israel directly Dulles replied that the overall American policy is not to be deterred by fear of what the Soviet Union might do in any particular case. Dulles said the United States has repeatedly faced up to situations involving Soviet threats. He (Continued on Page 8)

Lcdr. Nordgren Retires After 30 Years With Navy

Lcdr. Gustaf O. Nordgren, USN, Commanding Officer of the Naval Reserve Training Center at Gadsden, Ala., retired from the Navy on Feb. 1 after 30 years of service. Lcdr. Nordgren, a native of Stockholm, Sweden, came to the United States at the age of nine and calls Sanford his home town. He entered the Navy as an enlisted man in 1927. During World War II he served at the Naval Base, Pearl Harbor, for two tours of duty, being there during the Japanese attack on the base on Dec. 7, 1941. He was the captain of the USS Sotoyama which was sunk during the Japanese attack. Promoted to warrant boatswain in May 1943, he served aboard the attack cargo ship USS Caslow taking part in the Gilbert and Marshall Islands campaign. Commissioned an Ensign in 1944, he returned to Pearl Harbor as a harbor pilot, remaining there until Dec. 1945 when he was transferred to Green Cove Springs as assistant operations officer. He then served as commanding officer of Patrol Craft 178, Key West, and as security officer at Naval Base, New Orleans. In May 1952 he was assigned to the USS Shenandoah, a destroyer-tender, which made two cruises to the Mediterranean with the Sixth Fleet. He was relieved in Nov. 1954 at Beirut, Lebanon and transferred to Gadsden.

He holds the Second Nicaraguan Campaign Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Medal with three combat stars, American Defense, American Theatre, Navy Occupation Service Medals and the Good Conduct Medal with three stars. He is married to the former Miss Alice L. Vihlen, also of Sanford. They have three children. Two of them are members of the U. S. Naval Reserve. Lcdr. Nordgren plans to remain in Gadsden, Ala., until summer.

Smathers Proposes Bill To Establish Scholarship Fund

Senator George Smathers, in his first Washington Newsletter of the year, stated that "I proposed a bill to Congress that would establish a scholarship fund for the training for children of veterans of World War I, World War II, and the Korean conflict." The bill, described by Senator Smathers, would help overcome a serious shortage of trained engineers and scientists. "I propose that these scholarships be paid for by profits from the investment of confiscated enemy property," he said. Senator Smathers said "our country seized several hundred million dollars worth of enemy properties at the start of World (Continued on Page 8)

Weekend Accident Damage Report Is Over $1,000

Property damage estimated at over $1,000 was included in accident reports over the weekend, according to Florida Highway Patrolman Gene Coffman. The accidents occurred on State Route 426, 427, and 436. A 1953 Ford Pickup truck was slightly damaged as it attempted to turn into the driveway of the St. Luke's Christian Day School in Slavia. The truck, driven by John Mikler, 45-year-old farmer, was struck by a 1956 Chevrolet Coach driven by James Joseph Brennan, 23-year-old Orlando Air Force Base man, as he attempted to pass. Damage to the truck was estimated at $10 and to the car at $250. Time of the accident was reported (Continued on Page 8)

General's Daughter Marchesa Dow Will Arrive Thursday

Thursday noon upon the arrival of the streamliner, West Coast Champion, a delegation of Sanfordites will meet Mrs. Helene Carola Nancy Sanford Dow at the Sanford ACL railway station as she comes for the dedication of her father's memorial library on Friday at 4 p. m. Many years a widow, she left her husband's estate in New Hampshire to carry on the Sanford ancestral traditions in the family home at Derby, Conn. From there she recently supervised the shipment of the Sanford library, pictures and antiques which are to be dedicated at 4 p. m. on Friday at the new library building in Fort Mellon Park on East First St. Mrs. Carola Dow is designated the Marchesa Dow an Italian marchioness, because many years ago the Marquis di Poggio di Italy discovered that her mother's coat of arms was identical with his. Mrs. Dow is known as a brilliant conversationalist, writer and poet. Educated in Belgium and Paris, she has moved from childhood in high intellectual and social circles. One of her poetic publications, printed in Florence, Italy and in two languages, is the illustrated booklet "A Legend of Lucca." In "the fairest Chapel ever dreamed (Continued on Page 8)

CHAPTER 24
"ALVAREZ is a crook, Rita," said Priscilla. "And Look-out House is mixed up in it, although it isn't clear to me yet what Alvarez has done. Those lights flashing were real, though. They were flashing to Red Gallagher's shrimp boat, out there on the water."
"Well! You've really been finding things out. Why did Bill want you along on the adventure?"
"No particular reason. He thought it would give me a thrill, and it did. He said it would be something to tell my grandchildren someday, and that's true, unless I'm asleep and dreaming all this. Sometimes I have to pinch myself to know it's all happening. We'd better join the others... I'm thinking we'll be plenty cold when we get out, even though Peggy says the water is warm tonight."
"Well, think of the good hot coffee, bacon and eggs that are waiting for us." She laughed. "But there's more than that. Priscilla, I think they said."
The guests all went in the water some distance from the Silver Song. There was laughter and shouting. A fire of driftwood had been built on the beach. Alvarez was not with them. He had told them to go ahead and he would join them later, that he had to give last-minute instructions about the breakfast.
It was quiet on the yacht after the guests had gone, water lapping against the wharf, without a sign of figures moving about in the shadows, presumably on some business regarding the boat. The Molly B was still in darkness moving gently with the swells. Deep shadows lay between the two boats where the waning moon did not penetrate.
Two men left the Silver Song, stood around for a few minutes on the wharf, then walked a little way as though strolling for exercise. Presently they came back, were lost in the shadows, and stepped on the Molly B. Again there was no sign of life except about the Silver Song, and the shouts of those in the water some distance away. The transferral of the two small chests from the Molly B to the shadowed deck of the Silver Song was accomplished quickly and what has become of the chests? By what clever device have you hidden them?"
Alvarez merely shrugged.
"You may as well talk now as later, Alvarez. You see, I know the men came into this room. And they did not get off the boat. Perhaps it will make you more inclined to talk when I tell you there are more government men outside the door, and a government boat standing by."
Stalling for time, Alvarez said, "Of course I could say that someone asked me to keep those chests, that I have no knowledge of the contents. You have no proof that I do."
"Gallagher had that same idea. And you're smarter than that. He might be believed—about not knowing the contents, I mean. He could have just been hired to do the hauling. But he'll talk to save himself."
"May I sit down?"
"I'd rather you stand there against the wall—and don't move."
"You call me clever, I disagree. If I had been clever, this would not have happened. I suspected you at one time, then decided I was wrong. There were a number of times when my men wanted to do away with you and that's where I was stupid—I should have let them."
"But it didn't work out that way... You thought you would get those chests aboard; your accomplices who have been hanging around Apalachicola all day, unnoticed because of the crowd, would have your other loot and be on their way. They're not there now in custody."
Alvarez did not change his expression. There was no evidence yet—to connect him with those two.
"Not much time to waste, Alvarez. Where are the chests?"
"You've been so clever, Priscilla. Suppose you figure it out?"
"Oh, no. You're going to tell me—and without wasting more time. They've got to be hidden behind a wall or under the floor or the ceiling, but I haven't time to search. Of course, if you won't tell, we'll wreck the joint. Incidentally, how much is in the chests?"

Federal Taxes Will Hamper Economic Growth In Long Run

WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey says that federal taxes are "so high that they will in the long run hamper our economic growth."

But he renewed the administration's opposition to any general tax cut now. He also opposed any tax reductions for particular groups, such as small businesses, that would involve any substantial loss in federal revenue.

Such special tax relief, Humphrey said, would "postpone indefinitely the time when it will be possible to have general relief for all taxpayers."

As for the long-range tax picture, he said "the most important change that could be made to promote steady economic growth is to reduce the rates for all taxpayers."

The secretary made these statements to the joint House-Senate economic committee which is reviewing President Hoover's annual economic report. The committee sought from Humphrey a fuller explanation of his warning that there will be a "hair-curling" depression unless government spending is reduced in future years.

Taxpayer Aids

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth and last of a series of articles to help taxpayers in making out their federal income tax returns.

By RUSSELL C. HARRINGTON
Internal Revenue Commissioner
Written for United Press

WASHINGTON — Income when you are sick or injured, income from dividends, and pension or annuity policy income are all subjects which continue to give taxpayers trouble in filing their federal income tax returns.

In this final article I shall try to answer the most frequent questions.

Sickness and Injury — accident or health insurance payments, and amounts you receive as compensation for your injury or sickness, are exempt from tax.

Sick Pay — You may exclude from your income up to $100 a week of pay you receive under a plan which continues your wages while you are absent from work because of injury or illness. There are special rules which show up in the following examples:

Must Be Hospitalized — If you are sick at home for seven days or less, the pay you receive may not be excluded from your income. It is fully taxable unless you are hospitalized at least one day of your sickness.

If you are hospitalized for at least one day, you may exclude the entire amount of pay you receive during your period of sickness, up to the limit of $100 per week, whether you are sick for less than a week or for many weeks.

If you are sick at home for more than a week without ever being hospitalized, the pay you receive after the first week may be excluded from your income.

If you make any claims under these provisions be sure to attach a statement to your return to support the claim.

Dividends — The law allows you to exclude the first $30 or less of dividends you received during the year. It also allows you a credit against your tax, up to 4 per cent of the amount of dividends above $30. Generally speaking, these rules apply only to dividends paid on the common and preferred stock of U.S. corporations.

Savings and Retirement — U. S. Savings Bonds — If you report your income on the cash basis, you do not have to pay tax on the interest until you receive it. In the case of E bonds, that is not until you cash them in.

Retirement Pay — Let it be understood that you owe no federal income taxes at all on social security benefits, Railroad Retirement Act pensions, veterans pensions, benefits to families of veterans, or disability pay to military personnel who have retired. Provisions for other kinds of retirement income are somewhat like those for dividends. You need not pay tax on part of it and you may be able to claim a tax credit for some of the amount you do pay tax on. Generally speaking, any contributions you made toward a pension through the years you were working comes back to you tax free.

On the other hand, if your employer footed the bills, you are taxable for the payments as you receive them now. However, if you paid taxes on the contribution as he was making them to your pension fund, or if you paid part of the cost, you may now receive tax free the portion you paid in or paid taxes on.

Conclusion: I hope this series has been helpful.

Here again are several points which bear repeating. File your return as early as you can. The deadline is midnight, April 15.

Navy Reveals Plan To Crack Down On Contractors

WASHINGTON — The Navy has announced that it will crack down on contractors who spend too much of the taxpayers' money to recruit scarce engineers and technical personnel.

It said an investigation disclosed that one unidentified company spent $307,569 on help-wanted advertising and other recruiting expenses to get 193 new employees. The average cost per employee hired was $4,702.

The Navy said it henceforth will "exercise a greater degree of control over, and to limit the amounts" which firms can charge the Navy for such recruiting expenses.

Assistant Navy Secretary Albert Pratt disclosed the decision in sending the results of the Navy investigation to Rep. James C. Davis D-Ga.

Davis headed a House subcommittee which investigated personnel procurement costs of defense contracts in the last Congress. Davis said he was "pleased to see the Navy is taking corrective steps."

THE SANFORD HERALD

The Navy said it compared the amounts spent for recruitment of engineers and technicians by 37 firms engaged largely or wholly in government contract work with similar spending by 17 firms primarily engaged in commercial work.

The 37 defense firms spent $5,397,495 in hiring 7,815 new employees, or an average of $600 per employee. The 17 commercial firms spent $613,956 to hire 1,234 persons, or an average of $502 per new employee.

Davis said this demonstrated that "tax money is giving an unfair advantage" to firms with defense contracts. He said they are using taxpayers' money to "pirate" engineers from government as well as from other segments of private industry, thereby creating an "inflated demand" for engineers.

None of the 54 firms was identified. Pratt reported the Navy is asking for an explanation from firms whose defense contract costs appeared "significantly high."

Sweet, smooth and sassy—that's Chevrolet all over. Above, you're looking at the Bel Air Sport Coupe.

Clings to the road like a stripe of paint!

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that nicely, too—with up to 245 h.p.*

Sanford Needs Services Of City Planner To Help Better Community

Many people do not understand the broad scope of City Planning. Some think that it is merely a gimmick to plan for the addition to a city as it expands because of internal growth—the possible tracing of lines for future streets—and future buildings.

Frankly, City Planning does include a sprinkling of that. However, if this were the only problem faced by brilliant engineers who can peer somewhat into the future, most of the planning could be done in an office and on a drawing board, with probably only a topographical map as a guide.

This is just a small part of the job. A City Planner starts with what we have and within that, as a nucleus, begins to transform a city into the modern counterpart that it should be.

Narrow streets, hazardous traffic problems, blind corners, misplaced residential sections, fire lanes, internal growth which has not yet been accomplished, land usage, zoning, and myriads of details that now have most of our leaders puzzled, are some of the problems with which he is confronted.

The very thing that has law enforcement officials puzzled—the mounting accidents, injury, and property damage toll, comes into the picture for a City Planner. To straighten out these hazards is a part of his job. The widening of streets in the proper places, the closing of others, the one way lanes, the parking lot situation are very necessary portions of the City Planners duties.

That is why City Planning now is essential.

Sanford is growing beyond all measure of vision. It is outgrowing the very thoughts of those who hold the reins in our various places of city government—growing so fast that by necessity a haphazard planning must be utilized for the time being.

Before anything can grow there must be a plan—even in the growing of our agricultural commodities. When additions are made—as we are to our city right now—plans are necessary unless things are just "tacked on" temporarily. When crops are planted there must be a plan for fertilizing, planting the seed, the small plants, and then the cultivating, the harvesting, packing, and shipping and then to the laying by of the land until it is to be made ready for use again.

Right now we have no plan for the City of Sanford.

Some say, "Let's go slow on the deal." Go slow while neighboring cities are reaping the benefits. They're widening streets, installing sewers, water mains, adding new streets, new areas, making ready for new industries

New Brick Process Found From Study
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—A North Carolina State College research scientist says a recently-completed project at the school probably will have far-reaching effects in the field of architecture.

In an address here before delegates of the North Carolina chapter of the American Institute of Architects, Dr. W. C. Bell revealed that normally red-burning brick clays can now be made in take on nearly every color of the rainbow.

Bell says the bricks, the result of extensive research at State College and nearby brick plants, are permanent and acid and stain resistant, and soon will be commercially available at surprisingly low costs.

He said the bricks are the result of work in the relatively new field of crystalline chemistry, and that the new method differs from the well-known "glazing" system in several respects.

Bell said the new process is "far less expensive," and can be readily adapted to standard production in any modern brick and tile plant.

LAF-A-DAY

and new homes.

At the same time, while we're "going slow on the deal" people are being injured, property damage is going up—all because of inadequate streets to take care of the flow of traffic.

This is a time for action—while growth is knocking on our door. It's not safe to wait until the city has been growing crazy—quilt fashion—for then those who want to come live with us find greener pastures where modernization is the "rule of the thumb."

Realtors know that when property is bordered with modern streets, facilities are at hand, and growth is a part of the planning of the community, property values go up, it is in demand and the community flourishes.

Industrial investors want adequate streets for their employees to travel to and from work on, they want planning for their tax dollar.

All we can offer is vacant property, grown up in weeds and underbrush, said to be located where industry is sure to locate some day.

It is true "we can wish and watch the expansion all around us"—but we sooner or later wonder why we didn't attract them here.

All the while, the trouble lies in the fact that "we've been going slow on the deal." Planning is the answer! Planning to attract—planning a modern downtown shopping area—planning parking facilities, planning the location of new suburban fire stations, substations for the Police Department, planning new water and sewer mains, planning the new streets, zoning for development, new office buildings downtown, new stores to take care of the thousands of additional shoppers.

We're ten years late in our planning now—and every hour, day, week or month that is lost adds more years onto our lateness.

To be sure, we don't have the money now for tens of thousands of dollars worth of improvements. But we can have a plan to go by and accomplish as much of the newness that present funds or the securing of funds will permit. At least we will have a plan by which Sanford can attract the industry and the home building, and the traffic safety and modernization we've been missing.

This is the time to create the attractiveness to make people stay at home to shun—to furnish the attractiveness that will make Sanford citizens want to "come downtown" to see what's been done and to spend their dollars in a community that is growing to their needs—not away from them.

There's no intention toward being critical—these are the facts as we see them now. It is the manner by which other communities have thwarted the problem of haphazard growth, of patch-quilt zoning, of adding streets and facilities.

If we can't meet the demand with what we have—let's get someone who can help us meet them. If we can't solve our problems along—let's get someone who because of special training has the ability to cope with them.

A City Planner is the answer right now. For all we need is a pattern by which we can grow, attract, serve, and better the community in every respect.

The services of such a man costs money—that we know. But no one has ever expanded his or her business without an investment.

Bell said the new brick has a soft, natural, unglazed appearance and that it would be especially desirable for exposed brick interiors of homes, schools and similar constructions.

SNOW WHITE AND THE 170 MILLION DWARFS

Diplomacy Administration's Symbol

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Personal diplomacy will remain the trademark of Eisenhower administration foreign policy despite the slight served up by New York City and state to the President's current guest.

Mr. Eisenhower told a recent news conference that negotiations were going on to bring an un-stated number of prime ministers or heads of states to Washington after the visit of King Saud, who arrived Wednesday.

Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia is among these. There has been no indication from the White House nor the State Department that political or other opposition to Tito would cause the invitation to be withdrawn. Belgrade dispatches, however, have indicated doubt in Tito's mind whether he would accept an invitation to the United States under conditions now prevailing.

Citizens Equal Hosts
A high State Department official expressed the viewpoint that an invitation from the President of the United States was "equally in the name of the people of the United States. On that line of reasoning, all hands are co-hosts to a presidential guest, the mayor of New York City and the governor of New York state equally with the meanest citizen in their city or state.

Mr. Eisenhower estimated recently that 43 or more chiefs of states or governments or highly representatives of the same have visited him in the past four years. Meanwhile, Mr. Eisenhower has dispatched Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on world tours and sorties which have placed him among the most travelled of men.

That is the way the President intends to continue to play it, with the occasional substitution of Vice President Richard M. Nixon as his traveling representative. Mr. Eisenhower feels that his own constitutional position is such that it is simpler for the world's big men to come to him than for him to go to them.

On the path of personal diplomacy, Mr. Eisenhower is in the footsteps of some of his notable predecessors whose personal diplomacy was not always notably successful.

Woodrow Wilson enjoyed an unexampled personal triumph when he visited Europe after World War I to help draft the peace treaty and to organize the League of Nations. Mr. Wilson's triumph was limited to Europe, however. The United States never ratified the treaty nor did it join the WASHINGTON — The world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

Swifl Defense Shift
Val Peterson is on his way out as federal Civil Defense administrator, Washington reports. He has an attractive offer for a non-government job. He has submitted his resignation to the White House. But President Eisenhower has asked him to remain until a successor can be found.

AMM VERSUS ICBM
Things are getting complicated in the missile field. You can look out now for the anti-missile missile AMM. Experts believe it may catch up with the intercontinental ballistic missile. A host of bugs in the ICBM must be exterminated before it can join the arsenal as a dependable weapon. By that time, scientists — particularly those working with superfast electronic computers — may have perfected an anti-missile missile capable of countering the ICBM. It would be a sensational technological feat. But experts say it's neither impossible nor necessarily impractical.

Clouds Over NATO
Administration officials are worried over the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The reasons: 1. Britain is determined to cut defense spending. London says two of the four British divisions in Germany probably will be pulled out soon. 2. Germany's rearmament is lagging and a bitter political campaign is shaping up. 3. France already has withdrawn most of its NATO troops for service in Algeria. Paris says it may ask Washington for aid in guided missiles so that the army can be further reduced.

Studebaker-Packard matches the superior performance of its built-in Supercharger with the most effective brakes on the road.

Today's higher horsepowers, greater weight, higher speeds demand brakes with extra margins of safety. Here are four important ways that Studebaker-Packard gives you this additional safety:

- Largest brake linings. 195.3 square inches of brake lining are carried by the Studebaker Golden Hawk—largest, safest brake lining area per pound of car of any automobile made today!
- Air-cooled drums. Heat robs brakes of their effectiveness. Studebaker-Packard was first with specially "finned" air-cooled brake drums that actually double the effective cooling surface.
- Self-Centering. The entire, oversized brake lining area is automatically brought into uniform contact with the drums. Reduces wear and assures unswerving, straight-line stops.
- Self-Energizing. The forward motion of the car itself helps apply the brakes. You get greater safety, easier pedal action.

Better brakes, superior acceleration, surer handling add up to Command Performance. Drive the '57 Studebakers and Packards at your dealer's, today.

MISS MARTHA SHANNON

Graduate Council Grants Fellowship To Sanford Girl

Martha Shannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shannon, of 2800 French Drive, received her B.S. Degree in Secondary Education from Florida State University Feb. 2. She was graduated cum laude. Although she is anxious to begin teaching immediately, that will have to wait until next September, because she has been granted a Fellowship by the Graduate Council at Florida State University to begin work on a Master's Degree during the spring semester.

As an undergraduate, her program of study consisted of a major in Secondary Education with teacher certification in English, speech, and Journalism. As a graduate student, Miss Shannon plans to change her curriculum and pursue a course of study centered around Guidance as a major and Administration and Supervision as a minor.

While attending Florida State University, Miss Shannon was a part-time employee of the State Department of Education. Two scholarships awarded to Martha due to high scholastic achievement further assisted her financially.

Martha Shannon was born in Sanford in 1931 and attended the Sanford public schools graduating from Seminole High School in 1951 as valedictorian of her class. She worked a year for the late attorney, Garland W. S. Spencer of Sanford, and one year in Washington, D. C. with the Department of the Army, Civil Service, before beginning her college career at Florida State University.

She is a member of the following organizations: Epsilon Chi (Professional English organization), Sigma Tau Beta (National English honorary), Kappa Delta Pi (National Education honorary), Alpha Lambda Delta (Scholastic honorary), Future Teachers of America, Florida Education Association, National Education Association, and National Council of Teachers of English.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, for many years the City of Sanford, Florida, has celebrated February 8th as Founders Day in honor of the founders of our beautiful city, and said day has additional significance at this time because THE HENRY SHELTON SANFORD MEMORIAL AND MUSEUM BUILDING has been completed to house the library and paintings and other relics of the late GENERAL HENRY SHELTON SANFORD, in whose honor our city was named and who contributed so much to its founding;

NOW, THEREFORE, I DAVID M. GATCHEL, as Mayor of the City of Sanford, Florida, do hereby proclaim again February 8th as Founders Day and request the people to honor the day by attending the dedication of THE HENRY SHELTON SANFORD MEMORIAL LIBRARY AND MUSEUM ASSOCIATION building in Fort Mellon Park.

DONE this 4th day of February, 1957.

Dropped in on the scenery committee this morning, all hard at work in Patrick's warehouse, and I'll tell you right now, Broadway has nothing on us for professional scenery. The flats are terrific from the front of Yowell's to the Rocket ship, and the ocean waves. The girls were working on the backdrops for the Frankie and Johnny numbers. Anita Hadden heads this committee, and her excellent staff consists of Polly Brubaker, Mary Stuntz, Pat Todd, Betty Young, Joan Pelling, Bob Hadden, John and Spook Hook, Cliff Duncan, Betty McClane and Betty McBratne. This is a hard, long, but I think rewarding job. There are hours spent on hands and knees painting, sore fingers from hammer bruises and aching backs, but wait till you see it! Even our boss director (isn't really) is very impressed.

Who put the slug in one of the Sultan's bottles? The evidence all boils down to an American Legion member who saluted an Elk with a bad coin. There is a warrant out for this man. I believe the penalty may be putting a penny in every jar in town. These jars may not have been noticed by everyone, but they are in the banks and in the drugstore, and in Mrs. Appleby's restaurant. Put your pennies in them. If you are impartial put one in each. If you bear a grudge, ignore one, if you are wild about one, put all your pennies in one jar—but show your preference in some way, or yours truly may be standing on a corner ringing a bell, while my poor little ones are crying for me at home. In this great humanitarian cause, help out by dumping your change in which ever jar you choose. In a way, this is a popularity contest, so if I were a potential sultan I wouldn't be against salting my own jar. George Maybury, David Gatchel, Kirby Fite, Harold Kastner and Buddy Rawls showed up this morning to have their pictures taken in the sultan costumes, and charmers they were too. The chorus line was rehearsing at the moment and it was with difficulty that these busy men had to tear themselves away back to the dry old world of business.

Didn't think it possible to write a column today at all, since the baby has been screaming ever since I started, but it's surprising how much paper one can cover by writing what runs through the mind, no matter how trivial. Not that what has gone before is so trivial, since there are many things I could put down that are more so,—but I have been thinking of the New York Times editorial on winter, and how to rephrase it to apply to Florida. However, the editorial is in the other room, and I'm lazy, so picture yourself in the North, and I'll give you a rundown on how nice it is down in the sunny south. The still mornings, foggy and gray, the sun filtering through the fog and the moss covered trees, until suddenly the mist vanishes and all the dampness is remembered only in the dew sparkling on the grass and the threads of a spider web. Awards Presented At Friday's Cub Scout Meeting

On Friday evening, Feb. 1, Cub Scouts Pack Ten met at the First Methodist Church. Ordinarily, the regular monthly meeting night continues to be the third Thursday.

Den 4 opened the meeting, leading the pledge to the flag. Cubmaster Ted Williams inspected the boys, and the Webelos Den took first honors, followed by Den 14.

There were three skills, highlighted by Den 14's well-rehearsed and educational trip to the moon in their silver space-ship. Den count found Den 14 the best represented, with Den 2 in second place.

The week starting Feb. 10 was announced as Scout Week, and all Cub Scouts were urged to attend the First Methodist Church, which is Pack Ten's sponsor, on February 10. The boys will attend in uniform, in a body, at the 11 a. m. service.

Awards were made by committee chairman, E. D. Kirchhoff, as follows: Richard Bauer and Charles Scott, Wolf Badges; John King, Bear badge; Jay Payne, Lion badge; George Towell, gold arrow and Lion book; Emory Spier, Bear book; Joe Helms, Bear book; Michael Galloway, Bear book; David Todd, Lion book; and Dick O'Connor, gold and silver arrows and denner's stripe.

Four new Bobcats were inducted into the Pack; Lionel Lamar Bass, Craig Vann Savage, Louis Marc Simmons, and Ronald Herring.

The next regular committee meeting will be Feb. 11, but a special charter meeting was called for Monday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in McKinley Hall at the First Methodist Church. All past and present committee members, prospective den mothers, and fathers, and anyone else interested were urged to come and register in order that the Pack might receive its annual charter promptly.

A second purpose of this meeting was to be the discussion of policy in handling the over-expansion of Pack Ten in the past year. A second Cub Pack has re-

Those who don't enjoy dancing can do many other things for entertainment such as ping pong, cards, T.V., checkers or writing letters home.

Sunday night, Feb. 3 was quiet night at the "home away from home" for the boys with the main attraction just relaxing and talking, some playing records and others watching T. V. The U. S. Seminoles Will Attempt To Upset Visiting Blue Darters Tonight

Unable to knock off the two top basketball powers in the Orange Belt Conference in the second meeting, the Sanford Seminoles cage quintet will lower their sights tonight and attempt to upset the visiting Apopka Blue Darters, the third seeded team in the OBC at 9 p. m. on the courts of Seminole High School.

The Blue Darters from Apopka will throw their 5-4 conference against Sanford's unimpressive cellar record of 1-4.

Should the Seminoles upset the visitors tonight they would change conference standings with Lakeview of Winter Garden, the only conference team that Sanford has beaten.

The chances of an upset are not unprobable. As the only other meeting between the two teams Sanford proved to be tough customers and the Blue Darters had a hard time topping them 55-40. All the quarters were close but one, and Sanford put on a final stanza push that narrowed the competition.

The big, tall problem facing the Seminoles will be 6-4 James Dickens, who tallied 18 points for the victors in the last meeting.

But good performance doesn't end there. Carl Cousins is a threat in three sports, basketball not being an exception, and Roger Altman is no slouch.

Otis Balkom has proven a consistent work-horse for the Apopka five, showing a keen defensive player and excellent on working the ball.

The last meeting of the Darters and the Seminoles ended in a big man's game. Joe High and Claude Hillitt sparked the Seminole attack, while sharp shooters like Cecil Dandridge and Ken McMurray saw little effectiveness.

The JV games got underway at 7 p. m. in a preliminary round in which the scrappy JVs will be trying to reverse themselves of a 21-20 licking they suffered at the hands of the baby Blue Darters in mid-January.

Varsity action gets underway at 8 p. m. tonight in the Seminole High School auditorium.

'Morse Joe' Makes Hall of Fame

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—The "man who pushed the buttons" was, even on his greatest day, all by himself.

There was more than a hint that "Morse Joe" McCarthy would make it into the baseball Hall of Fame. And he did it long last Sunday along with "Wahoo Sam" Crawford.

But the iron-jawed Irishman from Buffalo as usual had the door to his office closed.

That usually was the story when he managed the Chicago Cubs, those great teams of the New York Yankees and those disappointing teams on the Boston Red Sox.

He could be approached but it was difficult.

Because Joe McCarthy always was a "loner."

New Winner Leads Pro Golf Tournament Tour

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P)—A new winner led professional golf's tournament tour into Tucson, Ariz., yesterday.

Bill Casper Jr., playing only his second full year on the big money circuit, walked away with the Phoenix Open championship and $2,000 in prize money Sunday with a nine under-par 271 for the 72-hole grind.

The 25-year-old Bonita, Calif., par-buster set his sights on winning the $15,000 Tucson Open, beginning Thursday. If he does, he'll be the first double winner of 1957.

In five tournaments thus far, there have been five, different victors. Doug Ford won the Los Angeles Open; Ed Furgol, the California Open; Jay Hebert, the Bing Crosby Tournament; Jimmy Demaret, the Thunderbird Invitational at Palm Springs, and Casper here.

The new Phoenix Open champ shot great golf to beat out defending titlist Cary Middlecoff, National Open champion, and Mike Souchak. Middlecoff and Souchak tied for second, three strokes behind the winner.

Lloyd Mangrum, former National Open champion and still a tough competitor, although he now is a grandfather and playing the tournaments mainly for kicks, was four strokes back in third place with a 275.

Keen Race Assured In National Sports Car Races Feb. 9

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla.—The entrance of Troy Ruttman of Lynwood, Calif., colorful Indianapolis driver and one time winner of the big 500-mile race, for the first annual National Sports Car races at New Smyrna Beach Airport has assured a keen battle between outstanding stars of the nation's top racing circuits.

With Carroll Shelby of Dallas, Texas, the SCCA unlimited champion, and Paul O'Shea of New York, winner of the class C division SCAA crown, already among the entries along with such outstanding NASCAR competitors as Curtis Turner of Roanoke, Va., and Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, the field has already exceeded 75 drivers with all indications pointing to a total of more than 125 contestants.

Race Director Paul Whiteman anticipates keen competition in all classes for the two-day program opening at 12:30 p. m. Saturday, February 9, and winding up with four major events on Sunday, February 10, starting at 1:00 o'clock.

Included among other recent entries for the races are Lance H. Reventlow of Hollywood, Calif., driving a Maserati; William A. Ong of Kansas City, Mo., with a Triumph; Charles Brecht of West Palm Beach, with a Crosley Special; Charles Wallace of Chevy Chase, Md., with a Porsche; Ritchie Ginther of Hollywood, Calif., and Barry Spiegelman of Los Angeles, Calif., with two 4.9 Ferraris owned by Tony Paravanzano.

Dean McCarthy of Cortland, N. Y., with a Chevrolet Corvette, and Edward F. Droesch of Sands Point, N. Y., with an Austin-Healey.

Turner, Ruttman and Roberts are all scheduled to drive Ford Thunderbirds in the modified division with Shelby slated to pilot a Ferrari. O'Shea will be driving a Mercedes-Benz.

Big 'lfs' In Life Of Alston

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—There are two big "lfs" in the life of Walter Alston.

One is a 24-year-old blond with an aching back named Johnny Podres. The other is sorcerer Roy Campanella.

"If" the Brooklyn Dodger manager can get a painless parlay out of this battery in the coming season most of his pennant worries figure to be ended.

"Campy is the big key to next year and how far we go," Alston admitted as he looked ahead to the onrushing season. "And the manner in which the pitching staff works out depends to a great deal on whether Podres can pitch regularly."

Depends On Hands

Campanella even at 33 "should have a few years left in him" if his hands are left in him, Alston figures.

Baseball Players' Golf Tournament Gets New Entries

MIAMI, Fla.—Cleveland pitcher Herb Score and Cincinnati Manager George "Birdie" Tebbetts were among five new entries received Friday for the major league division of the National Baseball Players' Golf tournament here Feb. 13-17.

With the total entry nearing the 80 mark, Tournament Director George R. Jacobus, Ridgewood, N. J., golf professional said 38 active major leaguers were entered as well as seven inactive major leaguers.

Other new entries, in addition to Score and Tebbetts were Athletics pitcher Glen Cox, Red outfielder Art Schult and Yankee pitcher Mickey McDermott. Tebbetts listed his entry as "tentative."

Eleven major league teams were represented with the Yankees leading the field with nine entries.

The fast shooting Sanfordites had little trouble sewing the game with the fine defensive maneuvering of Banura and Constantino.

The game, played in Orlando, saw Lake the hustler of the game. He sparked the team both offensively and defensively.

In a 9th grade game the St. Charles topped the baskets and won a close 23-20 victory with All Souls' Fred Teslo the high point man with 12 points.

All Souls Cagers Dump St. Charles Of Orlando 26-19

The high stepping All Soul Parochials continued their basketballing ways yesterday, dumping St. Charles of Orlando 26-19, with hot-shot John Lake still the work-horse.

Not a Seminole County Junior High Basketball League contest, Grimm, Frank Lane, Sal Maglie, Roy Mark, Bill Veeck and many other.

"Is it a sure thing that I'll be elected?" he asked when he was invited to sit on the dais.

He's Still Alone

He was alone again on what should have been his greatest day, sitting in solitude on his Buffalo estate while the baseball world made merry in the plush atmosphere of a New York hotel.

They were all on hand for the New York baseball writers dinner.

There was Casey Stengel and Bucky Harris, who succeeded him at the helm of the mighty Yankees; Joe DiMaggio, whom he called "the most natural player of them all; George Selkirk, "one of my favorite players;" guys who had played for him like Phil Rizzuto and Tommy Henrich, and people with whom he had been associated over the years.

They would have liked to have had him there; Yankee owners Del Webb and Dan Topping, General Manager George Weiss and people he knew such as Bob Feller, Hank Greenberg, Charlie

Mixed League Now Has Six Full Teams

With only four weeks gone in the second half of the season and 11 bright weeks ahead the Mixed League, who bowl on Thursday nights, beginning at 8 p. m., have conquered their troubles of a first year in existence.

The League is now complete, with six full teams and at least one woman on each team. Powell's Office Supply and Clyde's are the first place last week, and since they face each other this week on bowling night, it will be a game well worth spectator attendance and a promising battle to the finish.

Ellen Betts is keeping her beautiful bowling form in order, continuing to hold high average of all the women with an eye-raising 137. Up and coming right behind her, however, are two ladies: Lillian Donat with a 151 and Dot Powell with a 147.

The league high average is held by Dr. Ring with an impressive 174. In second place at 168 is Jesse Cook, and not far behind in third place is Jim Maloney with 161.

The high game on the league so far is a beautiful 225, which, incidentally was scored by a woman, Lillian Donat.

Dr. Ring holds the record of the highest three-game series with a 547.

According to bowling reports, although the pins have really been upset this second half and considerably changed things from the first half, the Mixed League is here to stay; and a cordial welcome is extended to the citizenry. "We have a good league and a lot of fun is had by all. Come one and come all and watch the Mixed League in action every Thursday night at 8 p.m."

This Week's Schedule
Clyde's Grill vs. Powell's Office Supply
Harvey's Plumbing Co. vs. Weibolt Camera Shop
Sanford Bowling Alley vs. Seminole Dry Cleaners.

United Drive Plans To Be Made Feb. 13

The members of the seven organizations who agreed to cooperate in a United Drive are being asked to meet at the City Hall on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 8 p.m. said John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

"We are also asking that two representatives of each civic club meet with us to formulate the plans for a United Drive," said Krider.

War II." He explained "at the end of World War II in the treaty with Germany and Japan we agreed to keep these properties instead of collecting reparations on them."
"These funds are just lying there idle and I feel it's about time they be put to some worthwhile use," he said.
Senator Smathers also revealed in his newsletter that "one of the biggest problems in our state and in all states is the shortage of fresh water."
"We've been working closely with the Department of Interior and other groups that are studying possible solutions to this problem," he said.
"Several research projects are underway, some at our own University of Florida, designed to find a practical way of changing sea water into useable fresh," said the Senator.
"By compiling the results of these studies," he said, "we have high hopes of coming across a workable plan that will help the dry areas of our states."

ford said "I won't recommend a contract of this kind to the commissioners."
"If Mr. Hughes hasn't made more than 400 an hour he should have moved long ago," said Swofford. "We need a fence, a trail, a road, and other improvements for told Stenstrom and the commission "and it is my belief that the project could pay the county something."
"I'm going to agree with you 100 per cent," said Stenstrom, "and I don't want to be far off before the county will begin to receive revenue from Big Tree Park."
"It is long overdue" reported Commissioner Swofford.
Commission Chairman Fred Dyson suggested "that we study the offer and think about it before taking any action."
However, Commissioner Swofford didn't drop the subject and said "I have reasons to believe that the income of Hughes at Big Tree Park was well over $5,000 and something should be done—it isn't a credit to Seminole County."
Commissioner Homer Little, however, questioned whether or not Howard Hughes could make over $5,000 "selling a few cold drinks and gifts."
"Seminole County hasn't put $25 into Big Tree Park in the last 10 years," said Senator Stenstrom.
Commissioner Swofford suggested that Senator Stenstrom submit a proposed contract with the county for the use of Big Tree Park and for the care taking of the county's only attraction.
"Will you consider sitting down and talking this proposition over," said Senator Stenstrom.
Commissioner Swofford agreed.

A 1954 Chevrolet sedan went out of control as it rounded a curve on State Road 427, 6 miles south of Sanford last Friday night.
The car, driven by Earl Shelby Higginbotham Jr., of 124 Pinecrest Dr., Sanford, smashed into a concrete bridge abutment. Damage to the car was estimated at $200 and to the bridge at $40.
Saturday night, at 11:05 p.m., 6 miles east of Apopka on State Road 436, a 1946 Ford Convertible, driven by Grady Forman Benbow of Jay, went off the road on the wrong side colliding with a 1950 Chevrolet sedan.
The Chevrolet sedan driven by Willie Lee Gahay, 23-year-old Negro of Oviedo flipped over completely before coming to a stop.
Damage to the convertible was estimated at $10 and to the Chevrolet at $300.
No injuries were reported.

1. Said he has no plans now to resign or retire as secretary of state. He defended the administration's policies in the Middle East as honorable and predicted history would justify this estimate. He said it was heartwarming to hear President Eisenhower refer to him as a man of unparalleled wisdom and knowledge.
2. There has been no discussion of a summit meeting of Mr. Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French Premier Guy Mollet. But it would be normal for them to meet separately.
3. Congressional delay on the Eisenhower Doctrine has not been serious yet. The delay may have weakened, the psychological effect somewhat, but everyone recognizes that Congress has been following dilatory tactics.
4. A visit to the United States by Yugoslavia Marshal Tito would be useful as a way to exchange views with Mr. Eisenhower. Vigorous congressional objections prompted Tito to put off the visit "for the time being."
5. There is no change whatever in United States' diplomatic or trade policies toward Red China.
6. Oil shipments from the United States have been lower than expected largely because of the reluctance of Texas to increase production. But he said oil is being sent to Europe in substantial quantities.

Garden Club Guest Speaker Says Birds Conservationists

By Mary Fowler
DEBARY — The DeBary Garden Club met yesterday at the civic association auditorium, with Mrs. Arthur G. Watt as featured speaker. Mrs. Watt showed pictures of wildlife for which she is famous, having won acclaim in art centers from Chicago to New York, to London and South Africa. She spoke of our feathered friends as true conservationists through their devouring of insects, beetles and caterpillars.
Mrs. Watt described her invention for a seed container, which was a hollowed out branch or small tree limb and could be set, like her pine cone peanut butter holder, onto a plaster of Paris base. The flickers are true tree conservationists, she assured the club, for they are busy on the job eating grubs that would otherwise eat the young trees. The Florida birds also consume enormous amounts of weed seeds and insect eggs.
Mrs. Henry Wood, chairman of the horticulture department, announced that her committee would meet at 10 a.m. Thursday in the civic rooms, with Mrs. Arthur Lambert as head of a discussion group on landscaping our DeBary homesites. Mrs. William Ferguson, visiting gardens chairman reported on a recent trip to the Barn in Eustis.
The following new member were welcomed: Mrs. Howard Sharp, Mrs. Frances Thurber, Mrs. Herman Batson, Mrs. Laura Arrington and Mrs. David R. Thomas.

Lt. Root's Tour Of Active Duty Is Extended

Lieutenant J. B. Root Jr., USNR, currently serving as the Legal and Discipline Officer for the Florida Group of the Atlantic Reserve Fleet in Green Cove Springs, has received official notification from the Navy Department in Washington, that his termination date of Active Duty has been extended to Oct. 31, 1957.
Lieutenant Root is a native of Sanford where his father Dr. J. Bernard Root is an established resident. He attended Law School at Stetson University and subsequent to his graduation, entered the Navy as a member of the Naval Reserve on Active Duty. He attended the Navy's Officers Candidate School at Newport, R. I. and upon graduation, was commissioned an Ensign and assigned to duty with the Legal Department of the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.
Since reporting to the Florida Zipper Fleet in 1955, Lieutenant Root has reorganized that Command's Legal Department, which included consolidation of Four Sub Group Legal Offices into a centralized unit. In his current billet as Staff Legal Officer, he acts in the capacity of Legal Advisor to The Commander Florida Group, as well as representing the Navy on legal matters and reviewing Court Martials.
Upon the completion of his extended tour of Active Duty in the Navy, he plans to return to Sanford where he will establish his law practice.

She fancied that they were not the masterpiece of the sculptor Matteo Civitti, but were real angels come straight down from heaven and imprisoned in marble for a while.
The story is that these two guardian "Angels of the Adoration" named "Faith" and "Peace", at a critical point in the commemoration of the passion of Christ on Good Friday, for an hour came to life and wing their way through the various rooms of the cathedral before returning to kneel in worship at the shrine.

Flood Threat Keeps Many From Homes In Mississippi

By UNITED PRESS
Flood danger kept hundreds of residents from their homes in Mississippi and set off an expected long alert in other areas today.
Families fled the overflowing Tombigbee River at several points in northeast Mississippi. The Oostauqua threatened serious flooding in north Georgia and Alabama.
Weathermen kept close watch on the Mississippi River at points from Carthersville, Mo., downward along the Tennessee border where crests within a foot or less of flood stage were expected this week.
There was a prospect of some flooding at Paducah, Ky., where the Tennessee empties into the Ohio after its side loop from extreme northeast Tennessee, down through Alabama and back across two states.

Ike Believes Israel Will Withdraw Forces

Avoids U. S. Aid Mention

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today he believes Israel will withdraw her forces from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba in response to the United Nations appeal.

Mr. Eisenhower carefully avoided any direct mention of U.S. support for sanctions that might be imposed against Israel if it does not withdraw. But he said the United States is committed to support the United Nations.

The President told his news conference this country is doing everything it can to reach a Middle East settlement and it is not merely trying to stop fighting there. The whole range of complaints, including the question of violation of Israel's sovereignty, has to be considered and adjusted, he said.

Seeks Arab Support
The President spoke as the United States stepped up its fast-moving drive to win new Arab support and understanding for his plan to use U.S. troops, if necessary, to protect the Middle East from Communist penetration.

On other Middle East problems, the President:

1. Said he would deplore any delay by Congress, just for the sake of delay, in considering his Middle East doctrine. But he would not quarrel with the rights of Congress to investigate important issues.
2. Said he firmly believes his talks with King Saud of Saudi Arabia and other Middle East leaders help keep the peace by clearing away much misunderstanding about U.S. policies and plans in the area.
3. Officially confirmed that talks are under way with Britain on a possible meeting between himself and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Police Department Is Cracking Down On Traffic Violators

The Sanford Police Department is cracking down on traffic violators in an attempt to reduce automobile accidents, property damage, and injuries in collisions in the city.

Last week, in the seven day period from Jan. 27 to Feb. 2, arrests were made for careless and negligent driving or reckless driving totaling 8. Arrests for exceeding the speed limit totaled 14, and 8 arrests were made for running a red light or stop sign.

These arrests form a partial list of a very heavy court schedule held Monday afternoon in Sanford City Court.

"The crackdown is still in force," said City Manager Warren E. Knowles, "and it will be diligently pursued."

Each week, a boxscore showing the number of arrests made in traffic cases by members of the Police Department will be carried by the Sanford Herald to point up the effort being made to reduce accidents within the city.

Traffic cases also include such violations as: driving under the influence of intoxicating liquors, illegal parking, failure to yield the right of way, driving on the wrong side of the street, parking all night, and other violations covered by ordinances of the City of Sanford.

Local Officers Get Reward For Arrest Of Cattle Thieves

Three Sanford law enforcement officers shared the reward offered by both the Florida Cattlemen's Association and the Seminole County Cattlemen's Association for the arrest and conviction of cattle thieves.

Skyraider Crashes Near Lake George; Pilot Is Killed

A Navy single engine Skyraider attack bomber crashed into a wooded area 20 miles west of the southern tip of Lake George yesterday afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock.

The pilot, Lt. Cdr. Glen F. Gallagher was killed in the crash when his plane went down because of apparent engine trouble.

The Navy plane, in the restricted Pinecastle area west of Lake George, was flying out of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, according to local Navy officials.

A helicopter was dispatched from the Sanford Naval Air Station to the scene where Dr. G. L. Backer found the pilot dead. The rescue helicopter was piloted by Cdr. W. M. Webber.

Extent of damage has not been ascertained, according to local Naval Air Station officials. However, they did say "extensive damage was done."

A Board of Investigators from the Jacksonville Naval Air Station is scheduled to meet at the scene of the crash today to attempt to determine the cause of the plane's smashing into the wooded area.

Local curiosity was aroused at mid-afternoon yesterday when an ambulance, a crash truck and other vehicles were dispatched to the scene by local Naval Air Station authorities.

Lt. Cdr. Gallagher is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sue Ann Gallagher, who lives in Jacksonville.

TAMPA — Gov. LeRoy Collins said Tuesday that some of Florida's correctional institutions rank among the nation's very worst and pledged to make them the nation's best before he leaves office.

The governor in a detailed speech outlining the state's needs said long-range planning in all sections of state government is the first "practical problem" now facing the state. He touched on such varied subjects as schools and roads, but emphasized the need for reform in the correctional institutions.

"Overcrowding, silt, poor administration with badly limited personnel, inadequate supervision and little emphasis on returning a good citizen to society are commonplace," in state prisons and correction institutions, the governor said.

"Now that I've had an opportunity to get a really close look . . . it is just impossible to describe conditions . . . other than to say they are ghastly."

He told the annual Governor's Day lunch here that the entire correctional system must be revamped. The lunch was sponsored by the Florida State Fair Assn. range planning in other fields of the governor called for long-range government as well.

"Stopgap efforts," he warned "will only pile up for others in the future even more awesome problems."

He pointed out that Florida has the highest percentage of increase in traffic and said the state will spend an estimated $19 million dollars on roads in the next four years.

Collins said the state "can hold its head reasonably high" in the field of education, but pointed out that it now has a backlog of school building needs amounting to $8 million dollars.

He said the school enrollment is increasing at the rate of 50,000 every year, and that Florida needs at least 5,000 well-trained new teachers.

Wave Of Vandalism Told At SHS; Two Taken Into Custody

Two youths were taken into custody last night, Sanford Police Chief Roy Williams said today and turned over to their parents pending a hearing in Juvenile Court.

The teenage boys were allegedly involved in a wave of vandalism at Seminole High School.

Investigating officers, Lt. Joe Hickson and Patrolman C. C. Dodson arrested the boys following the alleged taking of gasoline from Seminole High School and turned them over to Juvenile Judge Ernest Housholder.

Blocks were torn away from a track on the Seminole High School athletic field last week, an apparent act of vandals on the nights of local basketball games.

Names of the boys are being withheld due to Florida State laws which prohibit the publishing of them.

An automobile was involved in the gas taking last night, according to Chief Williams.

Teenagers Riot Over Presence Of U. S. Rock 'n' Roll King

LONDON (UP)—Police called reinforcements into central London today to forestall new teenage riots of joy at the presence of American rock 'n' roll king Bill Haley.

Haley arrived Tuesday for a three week tour of Britain and ran into scenes of frenzied adoration that injured one person and badly damaged his car. It took the efforts of 50 policemen to free him.

He gives his first concert at London's Dominion Theatre tonight and a spokesman at Tottenham Court Road police station across the street said reinforcements were being drafted to handle the situation.

Just "fantabulous" "We don't want any trouble," a police spokesman said.

Haley expressed the same sentiments at a press conference Tuesday night. He admitted he and his wife had been badly frightened when the mob surged around the car, crushing a police woman.

But Haley told the news conference he was convinced rock and roll has no greater effect on juvenile delinquency than any other kind of music.

"It was just 'fantabulous'" said an article under his byline in the tabloid Daily Mirror.

High Fever Follies Is Said 'Terrific'

High Fever Follies, being presented Friday and Saturday night at the Seminole High School auditorium is "Four Oh" Mrs. Robert S. Stone, general chairman of the production for the Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Stone, at the final rehearsal before putting the show together tonight and the first class rehearsal tomorrow night said of the show "I think it's terrific!"

The general chairman would not cite any one part of the program as being better than the other. Instead, she said "The cast has been wonderful about rehearsals, in fact, I am most pleased."

She paid particular tribute to the "unsung heroes" as she called them, the ladies who have stayed at home to take care of children of members of the cast and doing the extra jobs which call for no appearance in the show at all.

Last night, with the morale of the cast at its highest, everyone joining in for laughter and a review of the show in which they had no particular part, upward of 125 people gathered at the Elks Club to go over their lines, rehearse their parts, and brush up on stage appearance.

High Fever Follies is divided into two acts, each with 12 scenes. The first act contains scenes such as the "Hollywood Star Interview," "Beach Scene," "Fashion Show" and particularly highlighting "The Stage In A World."

Act 2 features such scenes as the "Frankie and Johnnie" number, the "Speak Easy" scene "Love and Marriage" and "Take Back Your Minks."

Mrs. A. W. Epps, Sr., Chairman of the Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital said last night she was busy whipping each act into shape for the "putting together" of the show tonight and the dress rehearsal tomorrow night. However, he had time to say that "The show is out of this world. These people of Sanford are the finest I have ever seen. And their cooperation has been unusually fine."

"We're going to have a fine High Fever Follies and everyone who sees it will agree when Sanford's talent is displayed Friday and Saturday nights," Reeder commented.

Gen. Sanford Led Interesting Life

By DR. FRED ENSMINGER
Henry Shelton Sanford was born at Woodbury in southwestern Connecticut—"the land of steady habits" on June 1, 1821, and, in spite of handicaps, lived a vigorous and fruitful life for almost 69 years. He pleased his parents and tutors by his application to his studies. He went to an academy at Cheshire and to Trinity College at Hartford. Asthma and failing eyesight prevented his graduation but he won high honors and Trinity later gave him an honorary Doctor of Laws. After a sea voyage for his health he studied at the University of Heidelberg in Germany and passed his examinations "cum laude." Readers helped him with his education. In Germany he studied law and became known for his knowledge of international law. While on a visit to St. Petersburg he was asked by our Minister to Russia to become Secretary (Continued On Page Seven)

Feb. 20 Deadline For Getting '57 Automobile Tags

John L. Galloway, Tax Collector, who acts as Agent for the Motor Vehicle Department calls attention to the fact that the deadline for obtaining 1957 automobile tags is Wednesday, Feb. 20. After that date any person found driving with a 1956 tag on his vehicle will be doing so in violation of the law.

Mr. Galloway commented that to date a total of 7798 tags have been sold as compared with a total of 16983 for the year 1956 which means that "we have a long way to go in a very short time," he said. Those who have not obtained their 1957 tags are urged to do so now and not wait until the last day so as to avoid having to wait in line. Those who wait until the last day will probably have to stand in long lines and be forced to wait.

Mr. Galloway added that all a local resident needs to buy his 1957 tag is the number of his 1956 tag. Those buying tags here for the first time must present their registration card and out of state people must have title or other required papers.
