God Is My Friend

There seems to be far too much evidence that too many people have serious doubts about God. His existence, His goodness, His mercy. Some say God is Dead, some say He is too far off, still others hold that He has too little care for the wonderful creation. Children, sometimes have greater wisdom than grownups as evidenced by the following essay written by an eighth grade student, a winner in the contest at St. Mary School, Knoxville, Tennessee.

"Would you like to hear a secret? Well, it's not really a secret. I could shout it from the housetops. Can't you just hear me?"

"Attention, people of the world! GOD IS MY FRIEND! Of course I did that, a couple of men in white coats would probably climb up to the roof after me. With that fate in mind, I'll try to refrain myself in my more buoyant moods. Instead of shouting them, I'll try to write them down, the details of a beautiful friendship.

"God and I first met when I was a tiny infant, being baptized. I trust He remembers the occasion; I certainly don't. In the succeeding years I began to learn more about Him, but not as a friend I fear. God was a great, aloof, far-off Somebody I must pray to every night. He would officiate as Judge on the last day. I must perform certain rituals in His service, but I rarely thought about them.

"I never dreamed that my idea of God would change, but of course it did. In fact, a few years ago my whole universe seemed to turn upside down. It could not have happened overnight, but that was how suddenly I became aware that everything was different. You could say I had developed a Charlie Brown complex.

"At any rate, we shared the same psychological symptoms. I felt as if I were a failure, alone and friendless. Nothing seemed to work out right for me anymore. While I was going through this inner turmoil, God remained the same old God. He'd always been, secure in His distant heaven. Just how far, go now close, that is, I discovered one night.

"I made the great discovery while lying in bed waiting for the sandman. Before I go to sleep I usually send a few moments idly dreaming about whatever comes to mind. That particular night I was thinking that it might have been fun to live in another time, I thought of ancient Rome, medieval England and biblical Palestine. The latter was most interesting to me. I could have met Jesus in His human form. We might even have been friends. Wouldn't it be great to have a friend like that?"

"Yes? Why couldn't I? Jesus was in heaven but suddenly didn't seem so far away anymore. Heaven was only a thought away. God must be up there thinking of me right now, I thought. Imagine! God was actually thinking of me. He must really like me."

"It suddenly occurred to me that God was my friend. That idea made me feel important. It felt like somebody again. You couldn't ask for a better friend than God. He's entirely trustworthy. He shares His very life with me. If I offend Him, He's willing to meet me halfway when I want to apologize. God is always on hand because He's everywhere. He's even in other people, so that makes them my friends too.

"That heaven is right where I started, happy enough to float away. When I feel this way I have to do something crazy. Maybe I'll conquer the world just for the fun of it. I know what I'll do — Shoot it from the rooftops. Hey, world, catch on! My friend's conquer you. I can't lose because GOD IS MY FRIEND!"

New Furor Opened By Baptist Chief

Believe that you are not a Baptist," he told the denomination's executive committee in Nashville, Tenn. "If we have men who do not believe in our articles of faith, why don't these people leave us and join denominations where they would be happy?"

The comments unleashed a wave of reaction among Baptists, with their historically declared aversion to any imposed "creed," and their emphasis on rights of individual interpretation of Scripture.

The Rev. Stephen E. Alley of Richmond, Va., editor of the state's Baptist paper, the Religion Herald, called Dr. Criswell's statement "a stinging rebuke to the Baptist concept of freedom."

He said that basic concept "is the vital factor in the bond of fellowship that has held Baptists together for centuries, and it will be the Christian tie for the future as long as men agree to differ in a spirit of love."

At the same time, the reactions reflected the long-standing tradition of personal liberty in responding to the Bible and the general Southern Baptist emphasis on doctrinal orthodoxy.

"We share Dr. Criswell's concern for doctrinal integrity," wrote editor Jack Harwell of the Georgia Baptist paper, the Christian Index, in Atlanta. But he added that requirements should not go beyond the state "freed," and their emphasis on rights of individual interpretation of Scripture.

Although most Christians consider the Bible a decisive authority, conflicts over it have been particularly acute among Southern Baptists, because they disavow creedal impositions, such as vestal, understandings expressed in historic creeds.

Critical analysis of Biblical origins also is a touchy point among Southern Baptists. Their articles of faith say the Bible is free of error.

REV. DEWITT MATHEWS (center) receives congratulations from Rev. Fred B. Chance (right) after being ordained as a Baptist minister by Rev. Dan F. Thomas of DeLand, district field secretary for Seminole Association, Sunday night at First Baptist Church of Sanford. A former Sanford banker, Rev. Mathews is enrolled at Baptist Bible Institute of Greenville and is pastor of Holmes Creek Baptist Church of Chipley, Fla. At left are deacons at the service were Harold Rowland, Bill Ryan and Robert Steele.

Padded Grades Laid To College Teachers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — College teachers at San Francisco State College have been accused of giving inflated grades to students according to whether they supported or opposed campus unrest last year. The campus newspaper Phoenix said a computer study showed that more than 75 percent of all grades given in the semester last spring were As and Bs, averaging 3.22 on a scale rating 4 as an A. This compared with the previous record high average of 2.57 in 1967.

If you've been away from home awhile, and are greeted with a musty odor when you open the door, make a quick inspection for signs of mildew.

Mildew allowed the "run of the house" attacks fabrics, wood, leather, paper, plaster, concrete, plastic, paint, resilient flooring materials, and other household items. It causes stains and discoloration and eventually destroys these materials if not treated.

Thallium Sulfate Banned By USDA

By FRANK J. JASA
County Agricultural Agent

Federal registration of the use of thallium sulfate in homes was cancelled by USDA's Agricultural Research Service in 1965 after a number of accidental poisonings of children occurred that prevented the label instructions were not being followed.

Dealers and homeowners who may have thallium sulfate pesticides on hand are encouraged to dispose of them by either burying them 3 feet deep in a level isolated place so they will not contaminate water supplies or by wrapping them in newspaper and putting them in trash cans for disposal at incinerators.

DUFFING WITH DON

WGA . . . On The Way:
Well, the Mayfair WGA tourney is history, and by all rights it was a great event, with one exception. That was the crowds. We were very disappointed in our local fans that they would not see fit to support this contest in a more serious manner.

By our calculations the WGA had to lose at least ten thousand dollars in prize money alone, without figuring on those expenses. We don't know how much the Milers people put up, but we know they were willing to absorb, but we do hope that this tour can make it go.

You of course know by now that Jimmy Black was the big prize taker in the Mayfair contest. He played some great golf and had that little item called luck with him all the way. We understand he shanked one on number six, and still made his par, and we saw him chllip one on seventeen.

Rolling Hills:
Don Sanderson had to break the magic 80 mark for the first time at Rolling Hills.

Mayfair:
Well, a good time was had by all and a special Salute to Jerry Jernigan for highlighting the latest Mayfair Men's Association steak supper. It was super Jerry, and we all appreciate your working so hard.

Seminole:
The Seminole ladies had a legjam in their weekly event with six of the girls tying for first place honors. Dotty Bethy the eventual prize winner on a match of cards, and Mary Wilkes, Pat Sanderson, Sherry Karr and Gloria Toole.

America's Best Loved Team THE WORLD CHAMPION METS

By MIKE RATHIE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was exactly 43 minutes after the New York Mets had won their first World Series when Broadway star Pearl Bailey accepted a kiss on the cheek from manager Gil Hodges in his quarters under Shea Stadium and, waving a bank of sod apostrophed from the field, said with a broad grin: "This is my powder puff now."

Then she pointed to her cheek and daintily patted it with the green square of sod, exclaiming: "Look—a miracle. No wrinkles."

It was a little incident in the crowded manager's room was no more important than the call Mrs. Joan Payson, the Mets' owner, received from President Nixon, nor the congratulations Hodges received from Shea's other tenants, the football Jets, through Coach Woody Eshbach.

SEC Clashes Headline Vols

By ED SHERRER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Seventh-ranked Tennessee's alert pass defense faces its stiffest test of the season Saturday when the Vols tangle with Alabama in the leading attraction of the Southeastern Conference football card.

Seminole:
The Seminole ladies had a legjam in their weekly event with six of the girls tying for first place honors. Dotty Bethy the eventual prize winner on a match of cards, and Mary Wilkes, Pat Sanderson, Sherry Karr and Gloria Toole.

Mayfair:

Seminole:
The Seminole ladies had a legjam in their weekly event with six of the girls tying for first place honors. Dotty Bethy the eventual prize winner on a match of cards, and Mary Wilkes, Pat Sanderson, Sherry Karr and Gloria Toole.

They wore home plate from its moorings, scooped up the other bases, took sections of the outfield, set off orange-colored fire bombs and hoisted an improvised plastic banner on the center field line pole that said: "We want all the way, baby!"

Those who watched the Mets through the inept years when they were the unchallenged laughing stock of baseball and have witnessed the events of the 1969 season are almost unanimously agreed that they were guided by a hand of destiny.

Those who know baseball do not exist in a world of bats, balls and gloves cannot accept that method of explaining what seemed so implausible at the start of the season.

"I don't think we're a cinderella team," said Hodges. "We're professionals. We do things right."

"It's wrong to say they're lucky and have greatness going for them," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "They're a good ball club."

"That doesn't sound like a miracle," he said.

"They got all the breaks and we got none," said Baltimore owner Jerry Hoffberger. "My guys gave 120 per cent. I still think we have the better team."

"The Mets," said Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, "best the best damn ball club in sight."

That sounds like a miracle. Whether it was or nor will be debated through the years as the 1970 World Series, which took place during baseball's 100th anniversary season, is embellished by time and the storytellers.

They didn't accomplish things the way the Orioles did with super stars such as Frank Robinson and Boog Powell. But by coming up with a hero whenever one was needed. And that's the way it was in the World Series, so much so that instead of the sports car that usually is given to the outstanding player it was suggested that the award this time be 25 motorcycles.

Panthers Host Hawks

ORLANDO — This Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Tangerine Bowl the LADIES will be admitted free when the Orlando Panthers tackle the visiting Alabama Hawks.

Also, the men get a break with all their tickets going for the same price — except that male students aged 17 and under can see the champs for a small fee each.

This game Sunday, October 19th, is an extra home game for the PANTHERS and, therefore, regular season tickets for all previously scheduled home games cannot cover admission for this extra home game.

Although the PANTHERS beat the Hawks here 49-10 on October 6th, still only one game separates the two from first place in the Atlantic Division.

By virtue of Norfolk's victory over Orlando last week end, when the NEPS nipped the PANTHERS' existent 51 record, these two teams are tied with five wins each.

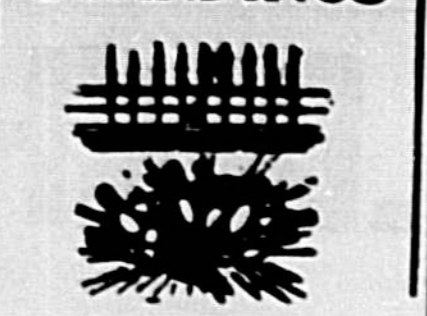

According to the week's statistics, QB Don Jones again leads in the CFL in aerials, with 86 receptions in 353 attempts for 1,354 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Norfolk's Joe Hightower has 10 catches for 145 yards and one lead scoring total.

Now, ahead to the "Forecasters' Choice" for games of Oct. 18.

Ballroom Teams Dance Back To Popularity

DANCING DUO... Andre Dechmann and Ed Sims are delighted with the renewed popularity of ballroom dancing. But it's not the lifts and carries

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Service Writer
Cheek to cheek dancing is making a comeback among the younger sets and as trends go that means that ballroom dance teams are not far behind. Ed Sims one-half of a dance team that includes blonde Andre Dechmann one-time Miss America contestant suggests that ballroom dance teams may be enjoying a new popularity because "people are tired of listening to old style jokes."

Whatever the reasons Ed and Andre have been enjoying enthusiastic audience receptions that have been unknown since Mary and Gower Champion retired ten years ago.

And their admirers aren't on the other side of 30 either. Andre happily explains that young people are looking—and enjoying. Of course Ed and Andre's routines are a blend of the old and the new. They update the dancing with a formula that includes ballet rock 'n' roll and a trace of African primitive.

"We are taking most songs and playing them in a straight 4-4 time which gets us away from the generation gap," Sims explains. "We are giving the kids something that resembles their own sophisticated primitive dancing. The woman with the clap under the leg is basically from the African bush."

Miss Winger, S. G. Balint Jr. Wed In Double Ring Rites

Miss Lymne Ellen Winger and Stephen G. Balint Jr. were united in Holy Matrimony, Sept. 27, at 2 p.m., at First Presbyterian Church, Gainesville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Winger of Naples and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Balint Sr. of Sanford.

Leslie C. Tucker Jr. was officiating clergyman at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride chose for her vows a formal gown elegantly designed of silk organza over paired 6 soles. Fashioned a long the Empire silhouette, the gown featured long sleeves lavishly trimmed with white lace trim over pink satin ribbon. The same trim was repeated at the high neckline, front panel and flowing train which terminated in a chapel sweep. Pink satin ribbon highlighted the hairline waistline.

Her full length veil of imported silk illusion was secured by a formal headpiece enhanced with a pink satin bow and she carried a formal cascade of white roses centered with pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Laurie Ann Winger, attendant her sister as maid of honor wearing a pink cotton A-Line gown embellished with lace trim and carrying a Colonial nosegay of miniature white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

Michael Lysohr served the bridegroom as best man and others were Bob Adams and Steve Hibbe, all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony Gator Room, University Inn, Gainesville, was the reception site. Miss Jackie Goldstein, former roommate of the bride registered the guests in the bride's book.

The parents of the bridegroom entertained at a wedding dinner party after the reception.

The bride is a member of the College of Education in the Alpha Chi Omega society. A senior at the University of Florida Mr. Balint is majoring in Business Administration and is a member of Sigma Xi Fraternity.

It's a Wife-Saver
Copper furnishes almost times as quickly as silver. Winter months are hardest on metals since heating systems contribute to smoke and gases in the air. The new tarnish preventative spray is a wife-saver because it lessens the time spent polishing each year. Disposables Continue In Full Swing

By AP News Service
The United States is moving rapidly toward a throwaway society where a product is used once then discarded. Already people use and toss aside billions of bottles can paper plates and cups as well as containers of plastic foil or paperboard.

When disposable garments were first introduced consumers and businessmen alike considered them a gag or at best a fad. But the idea caught on and now it has mushroomed until businessmen refer to "disposable revolution."

Housewives were delighted to find in the department store racks disposable kitchen utensils. "If there's anything a woman doesn't want to do, it's wash dishes," says Sol Tepper, vice chairman of the board of Hunter Manufacturing Corp., manufacturer of the disposable utensils for restaurants, home use, hospitals etc.

Multiply a housewife's dishes by the number of patients in a hospital or the number of customers in a restaurant and you have another vast market for disposable utensils, study by a Cleveland business research firm says sale of disposable hospital supplies will increase from an estimated $246 million in 1968 to $800 million in 1978.

The further increase in disposables is expected to result from the following:

1. More women are working cutting down their time for household chores.
2. Domestic help is hard to find and expensive when you find it.
3. More people are buying vacation homes dictating a great reliance on throwaway items.

A. At-home entertaining is part of the American life.

5. Medicare and other health programs for the elderly have increased the load at hospitals and nursing homes.

Disposables manufacturers say they are making first-generation items now—the market is vast and untapped.

Housewives' restaurants and hospital administrators are happy. Now what about the garbage men?

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every time a letter appears in your column from someone who hates cigarettes and puts out cigarette smokers my husband accuses me of writing. You had such a letter in your column recently and since I got the "credit" for writing it, even though I didn't, I am now putting in two cents worth.

I'll put it in the form of a DEAR ABBY letter.

Dear Abby: It is my lovely new furniture already has cigarette burns in it, and your husband always smokes like he's been lighting fire in a tobacco warehouse, and the smell of stale tobacco on his breath kills all inspiration for me. These sufficient for the driver? My husband's KISSSES taste terrible. He is a very effeminate man, and he KNOWS how I feel about his smoking because I have told him that is the reason for my holding out in the romance department, so WHY IN HEAVEN'S NAME does he continue to smoke? HOLDING OUT DEAR HOLDING OUT: You became your husband, poor slave, he "hooked" me. How far has he been unable to kick the habit. But I don't recommend the "hold out" technique. He might turn to something (or someone) else.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my 15-year-old daughter came back from a two-week beach vacation. She went with two other girls from the office where she works. I happened to notice when she was trying herself after a shower that she was tan ALL OVER!

I commented on this asking where she could get a sun-tan without a bathing suit. She said an overnight "quick tan" lotion was responsible.

I accepted her explanation until this week. While cleaning her room, I knocked a book over, and when I picked it up, some snapshots fell out. I was shocked beyond belief when I saw several pictures of my daughter and her girlfriends (all of them) completely naked!

When I asked her about the pictures, she said they had found a deserted section of the beach where they were able to get an all-over tan, and another girl took the pictures.

I told her I would have to tell her father. She said if I did, she would leave home.

EMBARRASSED: A 15-year-old is too big to be dressed by her mother. Parents could spare themselves much "embarrassment" if they realized that they are not responsible for their adult offspring's conduct. If they are not responsible for their adult offspring, they are not responsible for their adult offspring's conduct.

Jacoby On Bridge

Here is another hand from the August ACBL Bulletin. This one is from the brilliant pen and brush of Jacoby on Bridge, and illustrates some of the differences between bridge and duplicate.

The opening bid North and South had a partnership of 60 but once they got started bidding they couldn't seem to stop short of the slam.

South looked over dummy and was quite pleased with his contract. Assuming reasonable breaks in all suits, he could count 12 tricks if either 1-1 diamond or spade finesse worked. The ace king and jack of diamonds accounted for the last three tricks.

South happened to be a pessimistic expert and he thought a trifle further. Suppose neither

Recently you had a letter from a reader telling about her neighbor who always called her husband over to help her fix the car. I had this happen to me. I do not consider my husband a "handy man" for me or for another woman. My husband went all to willingly. I thought so one day I went over and sat down in my neighbor's living room. I asked for a cup of coffee. I sat and made conversation with the lady. This happened several times and suddenly one day she called my husband any more. Well, smart woman!

There is always a way to put an end to things like that. I also had the "helpful" neighbor trouble. She went to the handy man in the neighborhood and told him that her neighbor had a lot of work for him - to go to the lady and say that she sent him. She writes that she calls for her husband to go over, ceased!

I am going to have my six year old grandson visit me while his mother and father go to Europe for six weeks. The boy is darling but spoiled and a bit stubborn. Do you think this is too much for a sixty five year old woman at times? R. P.

EAST, WEST LOVE IS BEST

See and Lee were only names to me when I first saw their picture. Incredible - that the children I now mother tenderly, once were strangers!

It seems only yesterday Dan wrote he was bringing them home. How frantic I was with worry and self-doubt. Could I love, as my own, children with stunted eyes and twisted limbs? Would I fail them? Could I fulfill Dan's faith in me? We had been longing for children, true - but not forever!

In desperation, I called my pastor. Calmly and with understanding, he spoke to me of God's love as the common denomination of all nations.

And from that moment I saw them, See and Lee have been my own, bringing laughter and joy without measure. How grateful I am for God and His Church and the wisdom they teach - in Christ there is no East nor West. Without the truth my arm might still be empty.

State Plans Action On Crossing Signal

By FRED VAN PELT
 TALLAHASSEE — Immediate action on the installation of railroad crossing signals at the SR 436 and SR 434 Seaboard Coastline crossings was promised here today by Commissioner Jay W. Brown of the State Department of Transportation (formerly the State Road Department).

Brown, reading through the five-year program for Seminole County and its road requirements, could find no request for installation of signals at these two crossings.

Informed that the Seminole County Commission two weeks ago voted to update a resolution already submitted, Brown promised that the state department would take immediate action if the county commission will include in its new resolution that it requests "top priority" for these signal lights.

Brown was informed that the county is requesting a change from its earlier resolution, which asked for signal lights at SR 436 and SR 431. The commission agreed to renew its request for signals on 434 at a later date.

Cost of the signal lights will be funded from county secondary road funds, approved by the state department, and the actual installation will be accomplished by the Seaboard Coastline.

(An overall picture of the new road situation in Seminole County was obtained from Brown and will be presented in another article in Tuesday's Sanford Herald.)

United Fund's dinner Thursday evening is labeled "Victory Dinner." That ought to cue you in that the goal of $50,000 is to be reached. Jack Horner, campaign chairman, says "You'd better believe that we'll make this. This team has been working hard—and just will not fail." But to lend a helping hand, you folks who may not have turned in your "fair share" pledge yet, may do so by calling the UF office. That will help make certain that Thursday's goal will truly be a victory for the deserving agencies who depend on these funds.

David Wigfins won the punt-pass-kick competition for 10-year-olds and now moves to Jacksonville on Oct. 25 to see how he stacks up against other state lads. Best wishes, David, from the clock.

A lot of good, our getting it officially entered into the Congressional Record, thanks to Congressman Claude Pepper. Someday . . .

First Step Slated School Compliance Hearing

By BILL SCOTT
 The first step in a long series of compliance proceedings against the Seminole County Board of Education is scheduled for Nov. 19 at 10 a. m. before a U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) hearing clerk at Washington, D. C.

Notice of the scheduled hearing was received Friday by county school Superintendent John Angel.

J. Marker Dern has been designated HEW examiner for the hearing, which will determine if federal funds already deferred by the agency will be permanently withheld until the freedom of choice school plan adopted by the county board for 1969-70 term is withdrawn in favor of a more acceptable plan by the board.

Douglas Stenstrom, school board attorney, said today, "we requested a hearing in our answer to 30 HEW allegations filed in September, but requested a date not be set as we were anticipating a court suit."

The attorney implied that HEW set the hearing since the suit has not been filed.

GOP Shows Gain

By MARION BETHA
 Although this is an "off year" for most elections, registrations continue to multiply. As of Oct. 17, there were 29,127 registered voters, an increase of 629 over last year's total of 28,498, according to information received from the office of the supervisor of elections.

Republicans show the greatest increase in registration, although still mostly in the minority. The Grand Old Party, however, has 12,068 voters this year, as compared with 7,011 last year. Democrats total 17,295, increasing their voting potential 130 over last year's 17,265. Other voters with no party preference increased one during the year, from 73 to 74. Independents number 51 this year, no increase.

Precinct number 11 has the most registered voters, 1,406. Only 367 are counted in the precinct having the last, unlucky number 17. There are a total of 23 precincts.

Registration books for the city elections close on Oct. 31. Books open again on Nov. 10 for the regular elections. The only item on the ballot is the constitutional amendment which in effect proposes an amendment to Article 12 Section 9 of the Constitution of the State of Florida to restrict the term of office of the county clerk until June 30, 1972, the authority to issue revenue bonds on tax anticipation certificates under the authority of Act 12, Section 19 of the Constitution of 1965 as amended.

Bankers Review Scheduled

More than 500 top bankers from Central Florida will meet at the Hilton Inn in Orlando on October 23 to review the annual plans of the Orlando-based Florida Bankers Association. The group is one of eight located in various geographic areas of the State which promote the efforts of the statewide association of 470 Florida banks and trust companies.

Group Chairman C. Howard McNulty, President, Florida State Bank, Sanford, who will preside at the meeting, stated

C. HOWARD McNULTY

Today: "Consumer credit has been a key phrase in recent months. Bankers as well as consumers have been affected by recently passed legislation, and more is yet to come. Consumer credit, however, is only part of the legislative proposals which will be discussed at this meeting. We will concern ourselves with all phases of bank-related legislation scheduled for introduction in the upcoming session of the Legislature."

An address by the Honorable Lawton M. Childs, Jr., chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, State of Florida, will highlight the Annual Meeting of Group Five Florida Bankers Association. The meeting will be held at the Hilton Inn, Orlando, on October 23.

Senator Childs will speak upon the tax sharing program between Federal and State governments, and the road situation in Central Florida as related to Disney World. Senator Childs represents Senate District 25, Lakeview.

The program will include reports from association officers, election of officers for the coming year, and a business meeting. A social hour, pool side, and dinner in the Chalety Room of the Hilton, will follow the meeting.
