

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS CALLED TODAY

FORMER GOVERNOR CATTS SCHEDULED FOR TRIAL AT PENSACOLA TODAY

IS UP FOR PEONAGE IN THE U. S. FEDERAL COURT TWO INDICTMENTS

PENSACOLA, Nov. 20.—Former Governor Catts is scheduled to go on trial here today in the United States District Court on a charge of peonage. Two indictments are pending against Catts, each charging he "unlawfully feloniously did hold in condition of peonage" each of two alleged persons involved "by compelling him against his will to perform labor, work to and from him in payment of debt claimed to be due him." The venire of forty-one summoned for trial said to include four negroes. The negroes cited in the indictment have been in jail nearly a year held as material witnesses but were released a few months ago by order of the court.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 20.—The Rev. Sidney J. Catts, Baptist minister and former governor of Florida from 1917 until early in January, 1921 and attorney at law, is scheduled for trial in federal court here today for peonage, the government charging that the former executive had forced two negroes paroled from the state prison, to work against their will on his plantation in Walton county during 1920.

Mr. Catts, formerly a resident of Alabama a few days more than the time necessary to qualify as a candidate for governor when he entered the Democratic primary in 1916 and began his campaign on an anti-Catholic platform. He was the victor in the five-cornered battle and was given the Democratic certificate of nomination. A contest by W. V. Knott, one of the defeated candidates resulted in a recount of the vote in several counties and the controversy finally reached the state supreme court which awarded the nomination to Knott. In the meantime, Mr. Catts had been nominated for governor by the prohibition party, which automatically placed his name on the ballot, but to make this doubly certain, petitions were filed in every county in the state to have him listed. The pre-election campaigns of Knott and Catts caused new political history to be written in Florida. Thousands of old line, so-called Democrats who had opposed Catts in the primary rallied to his standard, declaring he had won the fifty nomination fairly only to have it taken from him by alleged illegitimate methods. Charges and counter charges flew thick and fast, not the least of which was the allegation that on the recount Knott received in certain precincts more votes than there were registered voters. When the smoke of the November election cleared Mr. Catts had been elected governor by a majority greater than that ever polled by a gubernatorial candidate in the history of the state up to that time.

Trouble began immediately after his inauguration and the removal of county and other officials and appointment of his political friends to succeed them was of almost weekly occurrence. Members of his family and relatives were given appointive positions in the state capitol and elsewhere and criticism of his action in this respect is said to have brought forth from the governor the famous retort that "it would be a poor cat that wouldn't look after its own kittens."

Throughout the four years of Governor Catts' administration controversy followed controversy and during the last few months of his term the governor went so far as to publicly threaten to go to a distant part of the state with a shot gun and attend to one of his former staunch supporters

LIGHTNING BILL, IDOL OF AMERICA, DIED SUNDAY

FRANK BACON HAD APPEARED IN "LIGHTNING" 2,000 TIMES

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Hundreds of thousands of America's theatre-going public today mourned the death of Frank Bacon ("Lightning" Bill), who won wide fame in the play "Lightning" as preparations are being made for memorial and funeral scheduled for Wednesday. The actor died Sunday morning a week after retiring from the role in which he appeared almost two thousand times.

Mr. Catts, who had gone over to his enemies. A special legislative committee in 1921, some months after the retirement of Mr. Catts, conducted a lengthy investigation into his official acts. This resulted in an indictment in Bradford county circuit court charging him with having accepted money to influence his vote in the granting of pardons and the indictment for peonage was voted by the federal grand jury in this city a short time later.

The bribery charge, when the case was called in the state court, was dismissed on the grounds that the indictment was faulty. Throughout the state wide discussion, preceding the court's action Mr. Catts' attorney and his friends repeatedly had stressed the fact that under the laws of Florida the chief executive does not have the power to grant pardons. The law provides that a majority vote of the governor and four members of his cabinet, is necessary to obtain clemency, and it was pointed out that the cabinet is elected by the people and not appointed by the executive.

John Henry Rogers and Ed. Brown, the two negroes in the peonage case, were pardoned from the state prison in 1920 and went directly to the Catts plantation where Mr. Catts claims he hired them for $10 a month and board. One count of the original twelve in each indictment remaining after eleven counts had been dismissed in federal court some months ago, and under which Mr. Catts will be tried, charges that the former executive "unlawfully and feloniously did hold in condition of peonage" each negro "by compelling him against his will to perform labor and work to and from him in payment of a debt claimed to be due him."

The two negroes have been the worst sufferers since the indictment of Mr. Catts. They were arrested immediately as material witnesses and had spent nearly a year in jail here when released, a few months ago by order of the court.

Mr. Catts, who recently filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, is to be defended by State Senator John P. Stokes of this city and Colonel Ray Kinslow, of Montgomery, Ala., a friend of the Catts family. Senator Stokes in referring to the case during discussion in court this week of its several postponements, said Colonel Rushton had come to Florida at his own expense to assist in the defense.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK IS SET ASIDE BY PRESIDENT TODAY

Appoints December 3rd to 9th as Educational Week

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Harding in a proclamation made public today at the White House sets aside the week of Dec. 3 to 9 as American education week. He recommended to the appropriate national, state and local authorities that they give their cordial support and cooperation and also upon parents to enlist themselves in behalf of closer understandings between the school and the home.

The text of the proclamation follows:

"The ideals of democratic government and democratic education were planted simultaneously in our country. The fathers rightly believed that only a people trained to vision of public needs and duties could develop and maintain the institutions of popular government. The system of universal education, established in the beginning, has developed with the country and becomes one of the characteristic features of our life. In it we have found the foundation of that system of American culture which has enabled us to absorb and assimilate millions who have come to us from many countries bringing the traditions of widely varying institutions. In order that we may keep in mind the need constantly to improve our educational system, it is proposed that the week of Dec. 3-9, inclusive, be set aside for special observance as American education week. It is recommended to the governors of the states that they co-operate with the educational and civic authorities of their commonwealths to make the week a period for revival of interest in the broad work of national education."

"Without vision the people perish." "Without education there can be little vision. Of education it may be said that it is twice blessed; it blesses him that gives and him that takes; it will be greatly worth the effort if, as incident to the observance of education, we can impress this thought upon the young manhood and womanhood of the nation and redirect their interest and patriotic zeal to the idea of making a proper contribution to educational work. It is regrettable that so few young men and women, equipped for such service, are nowadays disposed to give their time and talent to teaching. Education needs their youth, earnestness, zeal and enthusiasm. There is no training more effective than that in which the teacher goes to school. We could do no greater service than by convincing these young men and women who have enjoyed educational opportunities that they owe a reasonable share of their time and energies to teaching.

"The strength and security of the nation will always rest in the intelligent body of its people. Our education should implant conceptions of

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR BRIBE CASE

(By The Associated Press) OKMULGEE, Okla., Nov. 20.—Another chapter in the prosecution of Governor Roberts is being written in their time and talent to teaching. Education needs their youth, earnestness, zeal and enthusiasm. There is no training more effective than that in which the teacher goes to school. ### PARLIAMENT OPENS TODAY ELECT SPEAKER

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Oct. 20.—Parliament in which Ireland, with exception of part of Ulster, is not recognized, and in which the labor party appears chief contender for recognition as opposition, opened this afternoon. ### Everybody is Kin To J. H. Smith Who Died Recently

Was Supposed to Be Poor and Had No Relatives

(By The Associated Press) WEST PALM BEACH, Nov. 20.—J. H. Smith, aged reclus, who died a public charge here July 31, had more relatives than the old woman who lived in the shoe had children, according to innumerable claims to a share in the $7,000 cash and securities found on his body after death.

Little was known here of the man, where he had lived for several months. He kept to himself and spent most of his time wandering aimlessly about the streets. He gave appearance of, and was considered, a pauper.

A few days before his death he was adjudged insane by a lunacy commission but died in a local hospital before he could be sent to the state insane asylum. Then a search of his effects revealed the hidden wealth. The word of it went out and the steady stream of letters claiming relationship started in.

Unfortunately, however, according to officials of the bank where the estate is now on deposit, most of these purported relatives were not conversant with what the initials "J. H." in Smith's name stood for.

On the other hand some real bona-fide relatives have been heard from, they say.

In the meantime, a document purporting to be the last will of the deceased has been filed for probate in which Dr. C. Wade Page, formerly of Palatka, but now of Tampa, is named beneficiary with the exception of $500 to be given to an unnamed brother of Smith. The paper is drawn up in illiterate terms, and on its face, was signed at Palatka, December 17, 1919. The instrument is not constituted legally for all of the estate, legal authorities here say, but would serve to give its beneficiary personal property.

Don't forget that spraying is the surest method of prevention that is worth several pounds of cure.

CONGRESS IS CALLED IN SPECIAL SESSION TODAY BY PRESIDENT HARDING

DAILY HERALD IS REAL PAPER, SHOWS PROGRESS

SAYS W. T. DONNELLY WHO KNOWS SOMETHING ABOUT MAKING NEWSPAPERS

"It is always pleasing to receive a compliment from an old friend and it is more than pleasing to receive a compliment from an old friend who knows what he is talking about. W. T. Donnelly, one of the best friends that Sanford ever had and one who has worked faithfully for this city without any thought of reward, is watching the progress of the Daily Herald and sends us the following compliment that is appreciated beyond words:

New York, November 13, 1922

Mr. R. J. Holly, Editor, Sanford Daily Herald, Sanford, Florida.

My Dear Holly:

I am watching your paper, the Sanford Daily Herald, and in your issue of November 7th, I find the advance notice of your Anniversary Number which prompts me to offer my congratulations to you, on the possession of a real live newspaper, and as a further reason and excuse for my interest, I would submit the following:

"OFFICE OF T. HOE & CO., 501 Grand Street, N. Y.

"March 25th 1880.

"To Whom It May Concern:

"This is to certify that W. T. Donnelly served his apprenticeship of four years in our Drawing Office, and has worked one year with us since. He is a fair workman and now leaves of his own accord.

from which you will note that as a young man I served four years in the drafting room of a firm that has produced more large-printing presses than any other concern in America, and it is perhaps not too much to say more than any other concern in the world.

During a very considerable part of that time, it was my duty and privilege to receive sample copies of SUCCESSFUL NEWSPAPERS, SUCCESSFUL FOR THE REASON that they were in URGENT NECESSITY of having LARGER and BETTER PRINTING PRESS EQUIPMENT.

This work gave me the opportunity of comparing a very large number of successful daily newspapers from all over the United States and with this opportunity I may be pardoned for claiming to have developed somewhat of an eye as to what constitutes a successful newspaper; hence, my venturing to commend your paper.

It has further been my privilege to have traveled somewhat broadly throughout the United States and Canada, and having been identified with progressive undertakings throughout the United States, I therefore further venture to say that we have in Florida at the present time one of the MOST ACTIVE and PROGRESSIVE STATES IN THE UNION and in the CITY OF SANFORD one of the MOST ACTIVE, ENERGETIC and PROGRESSIVE CITIES IN THE STATE OF FLORIDA, and finally I wish to state that I am firmly convinced that very much of the SPIRIT, COURAGE and DETERMINATION SHOWN BY THE CITY OF SANFORD, is due to the fine aggressive work which your paper is doing, in that community.

Your paper reaches my office in New York every morning, and I wish you and my many Sanford friends to know that I find the records which it gives of their activities, interesting and inspiring.

Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM T. DONNELLY.

MOHAMMED VI ARRIVES AT MALTA

MALTA, Nov. 20.—The British dreadnaught Malaya with Sultan Mohammed VI, aboard, arrived this morning.

WILL CONSIDER SHIP SUBSIDY BILL FOR ADMINISTRATION WILL ADDRESS

Joint Session Tomorrow and Other Matters Will Come Up

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Congress convened at noon today for a special session of two weeks called by President Harding for consideration of the administration's ship subsidy bill upon which he is expected to address a joint session tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The program for both houses arranged to permit adjournment at once in respect of late Senator Watson of Georgia, and late Representative Nolan, of California.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Georgia, waited in vain for an hour and a half in the senate chamber to learn whether the senate leaders would permit her to take her seat as the first woman senator in view of recent election of Walter P. George as her successor. After much scratching of heads over the problem the senate managers decided to let the decision go over until tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The resignation of Senator Newberry, of Michigan, the central figure of a long bitter senate controversy, becomes effective tomorrow. Vice-President Coolidge was unable at today's brief session to present Newberry's resignation and named remained temporarily on the rolls.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Congress will meet at noon today in special session, called by President Harding primarily to consider the administration ship subsidy bill. With only two weeks remaining until the beginning of the regular December session, it is expected to continue until sine die adjournment, March 3.

Efforts of Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Georgia, first woman senator, to obtain a seat in the senate for a day promised unusual interest aside from customary cut-and-dried opening routine. Whether she will be seated still remains a problem awaiting developments on the senate floor. The 87-year-old "grand old lady of Georgia" was appointed by Governor Hardwick to succeed the late Senator Watson.

Walter P. George, bearing his credentials and commission under his election Nov. 7th arrived here yesterday accompanied by Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia. He said he would not present himself in the senate until after Mrs. Felton had an opportunity to claim the seat. He plans to remain in a senate cloak room pending a decision as to her status, and not to claim his seat until Tuesday.

Vice-President Coolidge and Senate leaders were disposed yesterday seat Mrs. Felton by unanimous consent, but a simple objection, it is said, probably would bar her. Leaders of both parties were said to agree that since Senator-elect George's election, she has had no legal right to be seated and could not receive mileage allowances or pay, but all appear reluctant to prevent her from taking the oath of office.

Neither the senate or house will plunge into work today. After roll calls and swearing in of new members the senate plans to adjourn out of respect to the late Senator Watson, of Georgia, and the house out of respect to Representative Nolan, Republic California, chairman of the legislative committee who died Saturday.

President Harding is expected to address congress in joint session today. The president's address, it is said, will be brief, and will deal with the shipping matters.

Have the Herald do your next job of printing. We have the equipment to do all kinds of job printing.

PERSONALS

Messrs. E. B. Menden and Ralph R. Doble, of the proposed Winter Park Herald, the new Sunday morning weekly newspaper, soon to be started at Winter Park, were here last evening, and of course called at the Daily Herald office, where they proceeded to peddle an unusually big batch of hot air—and they are artists in that particular line. They announce that the building that will house the new plant of the paper is nearing completion, and announce that the machinery will begin to arrive Monday and will at once be placed in position and that the new paper will appear as soon as the plant is ready. The new paper will start with a nice line of advertising and a good subscription list, as the ladies of two Winter Park churches are out securing subscriptions and are meeting with success. Well, they are new to the business and their troubles are all ahead of them, but they have all the best wishes of the entire Herald force, as they are really pretty good old scuts, at that.

A NEW BUSINESS ENTERPRISE FOR CITY SUBSTANTIAL

The Diamond Palace is the name of a new jewelry store that will open for business in Sanford about the middle of next week. It will be located in temporary quarters in a part of the S. Benjamin store on first street, but a lease has already been secured for much more desirable quarters which will be occupied in the near future.

The proprietor of the Diamond Palace is Mr. P. Weinberg, a jeweler and optician of many years experience. For 13 years he conducted a jewelry store at Key West and for the past three years he has lived in Orlando, where he conducted the Diamond Palace. On a recent visit here he was so impressed with the possibilities of this city that he determined to cast his lot with us, and from now on he will be a resident of the City Substantial.

PUBLIC FORUM

Oviedo, Fla., Nov. 13, 1922.

To the Editor of the Sanford Herald: Dear Sir:—A number of people, noticing my rather drastic letter on "Reapportionment," written on election day, have asked me what it was all about, saying that probably nine-tenths of our people did not understand what, if anything, was wrong about the situation.

Nothing has been settled by this election, the matter's one that affects every one of us, and has increasing importance with every day's growth of South Florida, so if you will permit me, I will state the whole case in as few words as possible.

About forty years ago, when South Florida was a largely uninhabited wilderness, the present constitution was adopted, giving fair representation to all sections according to population, as given by the census of 1880. But as some portions of the state were growing faster than others, the constitution commanded the legislature of 1887 to make a reapportionment according to population, and provided that every ten years thereafter a new reapportionment should be made on the basis of population.

In 1887 South Florida had already grown so as to be entitled to a larger representation, necessarily giving North and West Florida a smaller political power in proportion, and in order unlawfully to retain that power the legislature of 1887 violated its oath to obey the constitution and refused to make any reapportionment at all. Every legislature since 1887 has done the same thing, South Florida thus getting a smaller and smaller proportional representation as it grew in size and wealth, until now we have 124,000 more population than North and West Florida, we pay three-fourths of the taxes of the state, while nine-tenths of the taxes are spent in and for the benefit of North and West Florida; so far as I can recollect, no South Florida man has held any state office, and our special interests are ignored by the legislature because we are still in the same hopeless minority of legislative power that we were in 1880. We build nine-foot roads by bonds that we and our children must pay twice over—first by interest and then the principal, while North Florida gets sixty-foot roads at our expense, and so with many other matters.

Finally, the legislature gave us to understand that they will not now, or ever, give us the reapportionment commanded by the constitution, but if we will amend the constitution so as to keep the power in their hands they will give us six more representatives—and six more to Northwest Florida and permit the senate to have six more members, and if the legislature feels like it, by and by, South Florida may get one or more of them!

The amendment we voted on gave us all this and provided that on an average 12,469 South Florida people should have as much representation as 7,759 North Florida people. In detail some portions of South Florida fared much worse than this in the more populous counties, 8,500 in North Florida balancing from sixty to eighty thousand here. We were to have forty-four representatives to fifty-six in the Northwest, when we were entitled to seventy-two representatives to their fifty-six.

The North Florida politicians were determined to fasten this amendment on us, since if it were enacted, they would not longer be perjuring themselves at every session, violating their oaths to obey the constitution in order to hold superior power by fraud and force, but the injustice would be legalized and made permanent, probably forever.

So at the last election the secretary of state issued official ballots to all the North and West Florida counties that were perfectly valid. To all the counties of South Florida he issued ballots in which essential words were omitted, so that if the case came before the courts the whole vote of South Florida would be thrown out, and the amendment might be declared adopted by the sole vote of the North and West.

The election shows such a decisive majority against the amendment that it is not probable that this attempt will be made. Many votes were cast against it in the North and West—maybe the people saw the injustice, maybe they grudged us even the extra half dozen representatives offered us as a sop.

At every election South Florida casts the majority of the votes that elect our governor and state officers. If we use this power and at the next election elect a governor who is a South Florida man and determined that justice shall be done to every part of the state, he can veto every appropriation of money until a fair appropriation has been made. When the South Florida money, and, in fact, all the money has thus been cut off, the legislature will come to terms rather than politically starve, and we will get our just rights and representation—we ask nothing more and should accept nothing less.

THEODORE L. MEAD.

Smiles Saved Woman From Gallows, Men On Jury Admit It

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Clara Phillips was saved from the gallows by her smiles.

The men members of the jury which found her guilty if second degree murder for beating Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows to death were quoted today as admitting that had it not been for the defendant's smile, she probably would have been convicted of first degree murder, without a recommendation for clemency, thus making death the only penalty. They said that Mrs. Phillips seemed to study them, one at a time, and to flash frequent smiles at them.

The women jurors were not affected by it, it was stated, as all three favored a verdict which would have sent Mrs. Phillips to the gallows. The defense planned to ask a new trial Monday, the time set for passing sentence, which may be any period of years from ten to life.

One newspaper reporter quoted Mrs. Phillips as saying:

"I don't know whether I killed Alberta Meadows or not, but if I did, it was for mother love, for Phillips, my husband, is my only boy, and when I realized he was being taken away from me, I fought, and fought and fought, so I might have him always."

BRITISH AUTHORITIES ACCUSE THREE CUBANS OF MURDERING SAILOR

SURGIDERO DE BATABA, Havana, Province, Cuba, Nov. 18.—The British authorities at Grand Cayman are holding the three men two weeks ago brought the auxiliary schooner Juan Mercedes into port and declared that four members of the crew had died had been buried at sea, according to the captain of a coastwise schooner which arrived here last night from Grand Cayman.

A Cuban revenue cutter has ordered to bring the schooner into port and the three survivors to this port will be tried on charges of piracy and murder on the high seas. The Juan Mercedes sailed from Cienfuegos on Oct. 30, for Tunzaza, but was not heard from last Monday, when word was received she was being held at Grand Cayman.

The Princess

HOUSE PETERS, VIRGINIA VALLI, MATT MOORE And an All-Star Cast in "THE STORM"

A stupendous screen version of George Broadhurst's New York production of the sensational stage success. What would you do? IF you were a young girl and a tremendous blizzard forced you to remain shut in a cabin in the North Woods for three months alone with a rugged woodsman and a polished gentleman. Both professing love for you and you knew if you admitted love for one the other would kill him. Would you do what the French Canadian girl did? Thrilling scenes, mighty climaxes, forest fires, with excitement bounding throughout. Novelties, also.

Sole cultivation may be considered something new. In this country, the Indian tribes had learned to grow corn when Columbus came to the new world. How long they had cultivated this one crop no one knows. The early races of this continent, and of the entire world for that matter, lived thousands of years, scientists say millions of years, before they discovered that the soil itself was a means of supplying their needs. Previously man had relied upon the fish from the rivers, lakes and the ocean, and upon wild animals. That they should find sustenance springing up from the soil in the way of plants, herbs, nuts and various kinds of fruits was not a long time ago a new idea. This is not strange. Indeed when you come to think of it, how remarkable it is that such valuable products should spring up from the soil.

A monument was dedicated to the Delicious Apple at Winterset, Iowa, on August 15, 1922. On it is inscribed the following words: "To commemorate the discovery in Madison county, Iowa, of a variety of apple by Jesse Hiett, A. D. 1872, and called by him the Hawkeye. Sole right to propagation acquired by C. M. Stark, A. D. 1894, and by him renamed, introduced and disseminated throughout the apple world as the Delicious Apple. Erected A. D. 1922. Iowa State Horticultural Society, Madison County Historical Society, Historical Department of Iowa." The original tree is still standing and bears a good crop this year. It is surrounded by a strong wire fence to prevent its fruit from being injured by the stock.

YOU ARE HERE AND MAKE THE BEST OF IT

By Moses Folsom.
Regardless of all theories of his origin, man is here, and each should make the best of it. "There is nothing great on earth but man and nothing great in man but mind," said Sir William Hamilton, the Scotch philosopher. We are living in the present and each man has his share in making a worse or better world. What a man's ancestry is counts but little. The world today looks to the individual. Napoleon never pointed to his ancestry as the source of his unparalleled ambition and achievements, but said, "I am my own ancestry." A patrician once said to Cicero, "You are a plebeian." "I am," said Cicero. "The nobility of my family begins with me; that of yours ends with you." Better be the foundation of a new pyramid than the apex of an old one. Better make your family proud of you than be foolishly proud of your family, with nothing in you to retain the compliment.

Occasionally there are persons who say they can figure out descent from William the Conqueror. This freebooter lived from 1027 to 1087. Some twelve centuries ago. A generation as time is figured in the life of man is 33 years. William lived 36 generations back in the past. You have two parents. The second generation gives you four grand parents. The third generation gives you eight grand parents. Multiply each succeeding generation by two and we find 16, 32, 64, 128, 256, 512, 1,024. At 1,024 you have reached the 10th generation. Keep right on up to the 20th generation and you will find William as one of a vast number of your ancestors. Geneologists claim they can figure out ancestry for a fee, and give you a good one, but an amateur will find some difficulty to connect with William.

You may believe yourself to be a direct descendant of Bishop Umpire rump, or some other fellow who was at the head of his push back three or four hundred years ago in England or maybe you think your progenitor was an Irish King, but if you figure credentials by generations it will be found that your stock has been considerably watered. Nature plays havoc with the heredity game. Genuses and boneheads are not bred in continuous succession for the reason the world would be all working for the world would be all working for the same family of giants in thought and action. Nature keeps mankind guessing.

World beaters come from humble life, while the talented and most famed family is often forced to worry along with ivory-headed sons and daughters. Individuals are gifted in one way or another. Caruso worked as a barber in Italy until somebody discovered he was favored with a good voice. His vocal chords happened to be better adjusted for clearness than those of his neighbors and ancestors. Later he was given a college president's annual salary for a night's performance in opera—or for an afternoon's songs in a phonographic record factory.

Your zenith for no man else is true; Your beam from the sun comes alone to you, And the thought the great God gave to your brain, Is your own for the world, else the world is vain." The instances of obstacles, surmounted and of triumphs achieved under difficulties, are so numerous as to almost justify the proverb that "With will one can do anything." Take, for instance, the remarkable fact that from the barber's shop came Jeremy Taylor, the most practical of divines; Sir Richard Arkwright, the inventor of the spinning jenny; Lord Tenterden, one of England's most distinguished lord chief justices, and Joseph Turner, the greatest among landscape painters; Jean Millet, the famous French painter, was the son of a peasant.

Abraham Lincoln was born in a log cabin and his early life was one of extreme want. Andrew Jackson and Andrew Johnson were born in poverty and made their way to the front by sheer force of ability. Horace Greeley and James Gordon Bennett built up great newspapers from very small beginnings. Vanderbilt, Gould, Sage, Huntington, Harriman, Hill, Carnegie, Rockefeller, Edison, Burbank and Flagler had nobody to grub stake them at the start. Henry Ford was a plodding mechanic, William Dean Howell, who died in his 84th year, began life as a "devil" in a printing office, and left more than sixty meritorious books as evidence of his industry. Sir Thomas Lipton began life as a poorly paid clerk in a grocery store.

Thomas Wolsey, English cardinal and statesman, who exercised great power, Daniel DeFoe, author of Robinson Crusoe, and whose other publications include over 375 titles; Mark Twain and Kirk White, the poets; and John Jacob Astor, founder of a wealthy family and who himself began life as a peddler of clocks, were the sons of butchers. Richard Cobden, the economist, known as the Apostle of Free Trade, was the son of a farmer unable to support his family, and the lad drifted to London where he began life as a warehouse boy. And speaking of warehouses, the great Chicago meat packers, Armour, Swift, Cudahy and others began business on the "ground floor" to use a term of the street. Philip Danforth Armour's favorite way of summing up his work and desires was: "I'm a butcher who is trying to get to heaven." He was noted for saying terse things:

"We can't help the past, but we can look out for the future."
"When a man speaks the language of hell, he proclaims his nativity."
"Some folks enjoy trouble so much that they can't enjoy honey for thinking of how the bees might have stung them."

Said Thomas Paine: "The duty of man is not a wilderness of turnpike gates, through which he is to pass tickets from one to another. It is plain and simple and consists of but two points—his duty to God, which every man must feel; and with respect to his neighbor, to do as he would be done by."

Success in industrial, commercial and professional life depends upon Doing New Things or upon Doing Old Things in New Ways. Teachers are handicapped because vociferous parents and misfit members of boards of education insist that their children and grand children shall be taught as they were. There is too often a premium among folks of that class upon being a half of a century behind the times. Sid Thomas Carlyle: "Our grand business is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance but to what lies clearly at hand."

One does not need to look back a very long time without seeing our forefathers living in log cabins, hewing down the trees, rolling logs into piles for burning, piling brush and reeking up new land with rude plows drawn by oxen. Their clothing was of the coarsest material, they traveled on horseback or in stages or sail boats. There were no public schools, and why enumerate? Think it over, and it won't take long to run down the short list of real things our forefathers enjoyed compared with existing conveniences and advantages.

Said John Ruskin: "All the best things and treasures of this world are not to be produced by each generation for itself, but we are all indebted, not to carve our work in snow that will melt, but each and all of us to be continually rolling a great white gathering snowball higher, larger and larger, along the Alps of Roman power." America is trying to do things, that is, there is a large progressive element trying to do, but they are handicapped by some who insist on the old being good enough.

Said Emerson: "All our progress is an unfolding like the vegetable bud. You have first an instinct, then an opinion, then a knowledge as the plant has root, bud and fruit. Trust he instinct to the end, though you can render no reason." Without the effort and experiment we would have no railroads, steamers, telegraphs, electric lights, automobiles, airplanes, submarines and skyscrapers.

People cannot be great without being busy and accepting responsibility. Inaction is as fatal to physical, mental and moral growth, as it is to allow a building to stand vacant. The man, the wooden thing both rapidly become decrepit and useless.

There are new and vital phases in education, transportation, marketing, sanitation, illumination and many other things before us. Life is becoming extensive, intensive and complex.

Said Rev. T. L. Cuyler: "Every man has in himself a continent of undiscovered character. Happy is he who sets the Columbus of his own soul." The man, however, who sits on the tail of modern progress and shouts, "Whoo!" and through a megaphone yells out that what was good enough for his father is good enough for him is very much in the back number class. Said Harriet Martineau, a woman who suffered under many handicaps: "Beneath this starry arch, Naugh resteth or is still; But all things hold their march As if by one great will. Move one, move all; Hark to the footfall, On, on, forever."

JAPANESE OIL INDUSTRY SUFFERS FROM COMPETITION

Tokio, Oct. 25.—(By Mil)—The oil industry in Japan which made noticeable development under the protective policy of the government, is suffering greatly from the competition of foreign oils. Under ordinary circumstances the demand for oil receives at this time of the year and the price shows a rise but this year there has been no particular demand. The consequence has been that the stock continues to increase and the quotations to fall instead of rising.

The farm may have modern machinery; but if the house has not modern conveniences, the farm is not modern.

STOCK SHOW TO PICTURE AMERICAN ANIMAL INDUSTRY

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A comprehensive picture of the animal industry of the North American continent will be presented in the displays at the International Live Stock Exposition, to be held here December 2 to 9, under plans of the management.

Cattle will be gathered from every agricultural region of the country. The finest hogs produced from California, to Georgia and Delaware will be found under a single enclosure. Premier flocks of sheep scattered from New York to California and from Oklahoma to Ontario, will strive for supreme honors. The horses will be representatives of the most famous strains of the continent.

An educational exhibit treating many phases of agriculture will comprise an entire section of the show, to be prepared by the United States department of agriculture.

Individual entries in almost every line of stock already have exceeded all previous records in the twenty-two years' history of the show. Thirty-three distinct breeds of livestock will be represented in the 843 classes of the exposition and more than $100,000 will be distributed among prize winners.

An added feature will be the First National Boys' and Girls' Club Exposition under the direction of Ivan L. Hobson, States Relations Service, department of agriculture. The annual tour of 500 champion club members from 30 states will be conducted during the week of the show for the fourth consecutive year.

An open rate of fare and one-third for the round trip with a minimum excursion fare of $2 will apply on tickets sold from points in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, east of the Missouri river, Winnipeg, and points in Montana, on November 30 to December 5, and from other points on December 1 to 5. Final return limit is December 11.

BERMUDA'S "PERFECT VEGETABLE" "AIN'T WHAT SUE USED TO BE"

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 25.—(By Mail).—The Bermuda onion is not what it used to be, according to E. A. McCallan, Bermuda director of agriculture. He says the United States tariff, competition of Texas growers and the "pink root" disease is largely responsible. "Since the days in which Mark Twain wrote that in Bermudian metaphor the onion stood for absolute perfection, that vegetable has fallen from its high estate and is becoming of decreasing importance," says Mr. McCallan in the agricultural bulletin of the Bermuda Department of Agriculture. "The new United States tariff places an almost prohibitive duty on Bermuda onions, and it is necessary to look elsewhere for a market. Canada is that market."

words, luck is on the side of the man who practices the best business methods.

INCREASED BUSINESS PREDICTED FOR ALASKA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Considerable improvement in business in Alaska is foreseen by Associate Forester E. A. Sherman, of the Department of Agriculture, who recently visited that territory. Exports of fish, for the last 10 or 12 years the great source of cash returns, will be surprisingly heavy this year, he reports, while a mining revival is in evidence and exports of high-grade lumber, cut from the Tongass National Forest, show a promising beginning.

"The people of southern Alaska are particularly pleased with the efforts of the Forest Service to establish a pulp and paper industry there, and with the roads built by the Service and by the Bureau of Public Roads," Mr. Sherman says. "The road problem in Alaska is unlike that encountered elsewhere. In the States, travel and traffic exists before the Government begins building roads; in Alaska we have had to anticipate the demand."

The completion, probably next January, of the Government railroad from Seward to Fairbanks—a distance almost as great as from Washington to Boston—will greatly benefit the mining industry in the interior, in the opinion of Mr. Sherman.

who predicts cheaper fuel for the mines.

The output of canned salmon from Alaska this year will be about the average of the past 10 or 12 years—something over 4,000,000 cases," he states. "It looked last year as though the salmon industry was facing early destruction, but the run this year was in some cases greater than ever before."

The relatively new herring curing industry also has seen increased activity. Alaska last year shipped about 170,000 barrels of mild-cured herring, which was more than in any previous year. A shipment of almost twice as much is expected to be this year's total.

Mr. Sherman says that at one season he saw a vessel loading a cargo of 1,800,000 feet of Alaska lumber for Australia. It was only part of a 5,000,000 feet order to that country. Other lumber shipments the past summer were to London, to Chicago, and to the Atlantic seaboard.

Speaking of Christmas presents—would not the home town newspaper prove a splendid gift to one who has moved away but who still retains an interest in what happens there?

Lad Chained to Fire Escape

Aroused by the wailing of Andrew Caro, 6, neighbors called New York police. They found the lad chained to a fire escape and secured by a padlock. John Caro, the father, was arrested.

THE STATE MARKETING BUREAU SAYS

The Quarterly Bulletin of the Florida Department of Agriculture, for October, 1922, is entitled "General Information Concerning Florida's Resources and Government." It is a full of information as an eye in meat and deserves a place in every home interested in the progress of our wonderful state. Copies can be had from W. A. McKee, Commissioner of Agriculture, Tallahassee, Fla., as long as the supply lasts.

The October forecast of the national corn crop is for a yield of 2,853,399,000 bushels against the 1921 crop of 3,080,372,000, the prospect for 1922 being some 20,000,000 bushels above the five year average.

A company has been organized in Jacksonville, with offices in the Clark building, to dehydrate, freeze, and store milk, eggs, fish, etc. Drying, freezing, means merely the extraction of water by means of a vacuum and less in the drying process of the material. The drying process is very large. For example, it is said that it takes 17 freight cars to ship the amount of canned tomatoes which, if dehydrated, could be shipped in one car.

The State Marketing Bureau has received from the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry samples of the Chayote (pronounced chio-tay) a vegetable of the cucurbit family. It grows in the Gulf states and there are many varieties, with fruits of different shapes, colors and sizes and growing as high as two pounds in weight. The fruit has a single large flat seed which is without a hard seed coat and consequently is eaten with the rest of the vegetable. Chayotes may be eaten when quite immature, but the quality improves as the fruit approaches maturity. It can be served in many ways and recipes for cooking it can be had free from the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington, D. C.

The soil survey of Flagler county, Florida, made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been finished and the report, containing in addition to the information on all the soil types and a colored soil map, many facts on crops, climate, history, population and transportation, has just been issued by the department. Persons interested can get copies by writing to the department, Washington, D. C.

"Lady Jewell," a White Leghorn hen belonging to J. M. Leathers, of Woodland, Clarke county, Washington, laid 335 eggs for the year closing Nov. 1, 1922. She was one of the many hens in a contest at the Western Washington Experiment Station.

During 1921 a total of 1,954 children were killed by accidents in New York City, or an average of 29 each week. A monument was erected to their memory in Central Park, following a parade of school children who bore banners containing warning notes.

The U. S. Bureau of Chemistry has announced the methods for extracting resins for stains, varnishes, insulating materials, printing plates, and many other articles. Furfural has been made commercially from oat hulls and has been selling for about 50 cents a pound, but when made from coals it is estimated that it can be manufactured at a cost of about 10 cents a pound. Coals give the greatest yield of furfural of any of the common agricultural materials that contain carbon.

G. M. West is reporting in the Panama City that his factory of "Old St. Joe," once an important city with 5,000 population but now a memory; in 1922 the first Constitutional Convention of Florida met there. It was the shipping point for a large territory and vessels from foreign countries came there for cotton and lumber. A government is being built on the spot where the first convention was held and adopted a constitution for the new State of Florida.

The Town State Fair in October attracted 251,261 paid visitors and receipts amounted to $110,000, a large increase in both respects over the estimate of 1921. It was an agricultural state and was a success. It was the first fair of the kind in the South and the first fair of the kind in the world. It was a success in every way. It was a success in every way. It was a success in every way.

The Bible is filled with references to fruit. Fruit is one of the most important of the products of the soil. Most readers are familiar with the story of the apple in the Garden of Eden and writers have concluded that this apple was a Ben Davis, for had it been a real good one Eve would have eaten all of it and had none left to tempt Adam.

One of a series of shrinkage tests to determine identification for the price discount which has always been applied to soft and oily hogs, was completed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The tests indicate that the discrimination against soft pork and the price discounts, usually ranging from $0.05 to $0.09 per 100 lbs., are due to the lack of attractiveness of the pork rather than because of any heavy shrinkage in weight. Detailed descriptions of the tests, together with the results obtained, are given in the Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1020, "Method Shrinkage of Soft-Pork Under Commercial Conditions," and may be obtained free on request to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SONS AND FATHERS

This is Father and Son week. It is a signal week in many homes. It is a time of introductions and renewed acquaintance and dawdling congeniality and good fellowship. It belongs to Father and the Boys, Mother and Sister—uncomplainingly take back seats. Father and the boys won't keep their new companionship to themselves—they will put on their best and go out to dinner with a lot of other fathers and boys—each one in a little shy and no end of a time and all eager for the war-

gray-haired father will hold the stage and furrow his forehead over the problem, BOY. And just as often a youth with impish dimple will discuss FATHER — from the boys' standpoint; and greatly to the amazement of Dad, he is a problem, too: Can you doubt there will be plenty of discussion after that?

The "troublesome" boy may come closer to Dad and put his problems to this new-found friend. The fathers who are conspicuous successes as fathers may get busy and talk with rare insight and inspiration. Boy experts, they are, and the talk of books and music and gardens and pets and sports and enthusiasm and all the things that boys love.

A famous librarian once told us how he came to love the books that had blessed his life. His wise father gave him two dollars and went with him to a bookstore where the boy chose for himself a Life of Lincoln. He carried it home and put it on the shelf in his own room. It was his most cherished possession. When he had read and reread it, he made another pilgrimage to the store and he chose a Life of Washington. Later one of Benjamin Franklin and one of Cromwell. Thus as his own small library grew on its shelf in his room, the love of books grew into his soul. And he had solace for the many grey days of living and the best companionship possible when his path led far from home.

Many a father's hobby is his garden. "Father's always out diggin' in the dirt," says son. That father can tell his son of the culture and joy that come from growing things, and remind him how God started the human race in a garden. If you would expand a boy's soul, fill it with reverence and the way to do that is to let him grow something. The boy who has planted a garden is one of the mainstays of the world. He gets health and respect for honest toil and discipline and persistence. The boy who has weeded a long row of onions in his own hands and knees in the hot sun is not likely to grow up a slob and a spender. He has won too great a measure of self-respect.

One very successful father recommends: "Take your boy with you on trips. Introduce him to our big men; let him shake their hands and hear them talk. Let him see the places that are only names to him in his geography and history. Let him delight in them and give over them. The world will teach him moderation later on; but if his enthusiasm is stifled it is gone forever."

An athlete talking of sports, and sportsmanship and of being a good sport will light the faces of young and old alike.

And then there is the boy who needs a little encouragement in school, and the father who needs a little understanding. A great boy specialist brings the word of cheer not to discourage about the boy that is slow in school.

James Russell Lowell was twice suspended from Harvard because of poor class work. But he is said to have earned his Harvard degree through his own industry. Harvard had enough real culture to recognize an inquiring mind when it found one and to honor the intellect that was too impatient to serve its fellow men to be much interested in technical text.

And so Harvard granted the young poet over an accumulation of seven conditions. Kitchener was quick in mathematics but thick-headed in every other study. He floundered to scramble into Woolwich, but no one ever dreamed he would be the idol of the British Empire. The tree has spells of growing and periods of quiet. So does the mind of a boy. Impulsiveness is the rule of the world; brilliancy the exception.

Father and Son week is being celebrated throughout the nation. Many hearts and consciences have been aroused and many homes will hereafter be the homier and happier. Father will lose a year of age for each day that he is re-learning the boy's viewpoint, and the little hard crust of independence and standoffishness that shut in the boy will dissolve in that wonderful solvent—comradeship.—Jacksonville Journal.

Daily Fashion Hint

ATTRACTIVE MODES FOR CHILDREN

The frock to the left is equally appropriate for the maid of six and the dapper of fourteen, hence the flapper will be reconciled to its being worn by children's fashions. The frock is suitable to development in tub, woolen or silk fabrics. It closed at the back, and is trimmed with collar, cuffs, and patch pockets of self-material. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch or 2 yards of 54-inch material.

Fringe is no respecter of persons, though it elects to appear in diminutive swills on models for very small girls, such as the one shown to the right. ### Irving Bacheller Offers Gold Medals For Good English

WINTER PARK, Nov. 20. (Special.)—In order to stimulate interest in good English and in sound Americanism among the students of the eleventh and twelfth grades of Florida senior high schools, Irving Bacheller, the distinguished author who is a resident of Winter Park, and a trustee of Rollins College offers each year two gold medals, one to be given to a young man and the other to a young woman, for the best essays written on the subjects named by the prize contest committee. This year the delivery of the essays will occur on February 23, 1923, during Founder's Week at Rollins College.

The subjects for the proposed essays will be announced in the very near future, so those students who are inclined to try for the medals will have practically two months in which to prepare the essays. The rules of the contest require that all essays must be in the hands of the Prize Contest Committee, Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, not later than January 20, 1923. The essays are judged by the committee who base their decisions upon thought, originality and expression. The six best essays, three by young men and three by young women, will be chosen from the group and these six will be the ones delivered at the essay contest in February. Miss Gayle Marshall, representing Sanford High School, and Edward McGill, representing Waldo High School, were the winners in the contest last spring.

Yassum—we did lost a game by heek.

But that ton and a half of Miami beef had to do some tall hustling to win at that.

And then, too, Mr. Observer, please take into consideration the fact that Sanford rode all night in automobiles to Palm Beach and stopped there long enough to win a game before proceeding to Miami.

Fort Meade is going strong this season, but we are afraid they are going to run slap up against some-thing tough when they land in Sanford this week.

Leonard McLucas was reported as being injured and out of the game in Miami. False alarm—glad to say—as without Leonard it would almost be as a ship without rudder.

We notice where the Gator Rats are going some this season. Looks to us like maybe their next year's first team will have some material that will show up even better than this season.

Fort Meade's triumphed Kissimmee, 31 to 0 last Saturday. And Sanford triumphed Ft. Meade this coming Saturday.

FLORIDA TEARS TULANE INTO SEVERAL PIECES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20.—Battered down to but a hollow shell of its real strength, Tulane vainly tried to stave off the onslaughts of the University of Florida football team at Tulane stadium this afternoon.

AND THEN WALKS AWAY WITH EASY VICTORY

The victory hammered down the lighter Tulane men into submission and then started an aerial attack that completely routed their opponents.

When the final whistle blew, there was hardly a regular Tulane player left on the field, nearly all of them going out through injuries or exhaustion.

Dickson, Florida's fullback, and Newton, half fullback, were the big factors in Tulane's defeat, their tackling and ordinal passing being spectacular.

MIAMI ADMINISTERS FIRST DEFEAT OF THE SEASON TO SANFORD HIGH

After Winning Over Palm Beach Friday Sanford Drops One to Miami—Final Score 40-13.

After winning a game over the West Palm Beach High School Warriors, in an easy fashion the Sanford aggregation motored on to Miami fully expectant of continuing their long string of victories.

Chaplin, Miami's high school wonder, stood head and shoulders above all the players, his tackling was deadly and sure and many was the time he picked forward passes out of the air that were aimed at a Sanford player.

Although the score showed a wide margin in favor of Miami they admitted that their victory was earned only after desperate playing. Not until the final quarter was Sanford way was the issue fully decided and the big lead they had over our team did not keep them from fighting every inch up until the last.

Miami fans stated that it was worth and big men only that defeated Sanford as Miami was out-thought and out-guessed at every turn in the game and there were times in the game when some of Miami's great work and the other Sanford players' brilliant playing had Miami gasping as to what was going on and what might happen next.

This defeat at the hands of Miami is no discredit to our local eleven and the mere fact that they crossed their goal line and held such a heavy team to such a score shows that Sanford was in the game and right up to scratch at all times.

In their game against Palm Beach the day before Sanford played in an easy fashion and would have had little difficulty in piling up a big score against their opponents were it not that they were working time.

Fort Meade will play in Sanford this week and another hard battle is looked for as this eleven is leading through the same club that Sanford has beaten and these fans that want to see some real foot ball should mark their calendar so that nothing will interfere with their being at the game.

Browns Take Care of Harvard—3-0

Boston's football eleven, beaten by Yale a few weeks ago, won from Harvard Saturday. The score was 3 to 0, the points being made on a field goal, kicked as the first play of the fourth period by Fullback Adams from the 16-yard line.

Neither Captain Buell nor George Owen was in the game today. Other wins, it was Harvard's varsity team, and all the efforts of the Crimson coaches who departed from the usual policy of sending substitutes only against Brown, aided. The Harvard attack went into sustained action only once, when Colburn crossed the Brown goal line with the ball, but holding by Hubbard of Harvard caused officials to recall the play, and to penalize Harvard 15 yards. Harvard had to try for score by field goal and Hammond, kicking from the 16-yard line failed.

Carolina State Loses to Ga. Tech.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—Although they lost Saturday's game to Georgia Tech, 17 to 0, the North Carolina State players bewildered the Yellow Jackets in the last seven minutes of play by marching eighty yards down the field when they completed eight out of thirteen forward passes, making a total of fifteen aerial passes the North Carolinians completed out of twenty-eight attempts.

Henry Reeves, a Tech substitute in the fourth quarter, drop-kicked a field goal from the forty-yard line, the ball sailing between the posts at right angles.

Barron scored both touchdowns for Tech after he had gone around the ends for long runs. Tech used its second string team throughout the game.

STEVENSON STEPS OUT AND HEADS LEAGUE IN INDIVIDUAL AVERAGES

Amann Still Close to the Top and May Regain the Lead After Next Few Games

At the start of the fourth week of the City Bowling League a review of past events show that the same leaders are in their old place with one new one added. Stevenson, bowling his first game with the Congregationals this season has set a pace that should he hold it will be hard to beat.

Emil Amann, however, is a close contender and Stevenson will not be allowed to weaken a particle or Mr. Amann will pass him. The following shows the best fifteen bowlers to date, and as last week, there appears sixteen names in the list on account of three being tied for last place:

Table with columns: Name, Club, TP, Ave. Stevenson (Cong.) 3 547 .182 Amann (Farmers) 5 1159 .169 Pennington (Cong.) 5 1426 .158
