Santas picket mall

WEST SENEC A, N.Y. — Two people in Santa Claus suits picketed a suburban Buffalo shopping mall Friday, angered by mall management claims that one of Santa's elves made a suggestive comment to an employee.

The two carried signs which read "Work Without Lives Out of Work" to protest being fired because an elf allegedly said he would like to "moose" a female employee at Seneca Mall.

Because of the allegation, the mall plans to break its contract with Old Style Music Co. to provide Santa, Mr. Claus, Frosty the Snowman, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, and elves for the holiday shopping rush.

He's just 'plane' crazy

CHICAGO — Toy Urbahn had his head in the clouds Saturday as the lifeguard airplane lover soared through the sky in an attempt to fly around the world in three days.

The suburban Chicago man took off Friday on an American Airlines flight from O'Hare International Airport for San Juan, Puerto Rico — the first leg of a 27,808-mile trek.

He hopes to land a spot in the Guinness Book of World Records. It is 10:30 a.m. Monday. Urbahn, 32, arrives home as scheduled on United Flight 44 from Honolulu. He will have covered six continents and over 20,000 miles.

Urbahn, a United Airlines employee, said he has been considering the global trip by commercial airline for three or four years.

I noticed two or three months ago that all the schedules fit like a jigsaw puzzle for this weekend. So I wrote to the airlines and most agreed to sponsor the resume exhibit.

After the stop in San Juan, Urbahn heads to Caracas, Venezuela; London; Cairo; Singapore; Sydney; Australia; Honolulu; and then back to Chicago. In all, six different airlines are involved.

Such a whirlwind trip may sound exhausting, but Urbahn said he won't be tired.

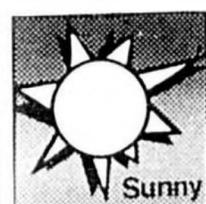

Since the rainy day against the rotation of the Earth, it'll have four nights while you have three.

Time's up for county

Legislators offer no aid for county deficit

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners will be on their own in trying to solve their $100 million deficit, two local lawmakers say.

It bothers me to some extent that the Growth Management Act was passed five years ago and local governments thought they could weaken it and soften it and not have to comply with it," said Rep. Art Grande, R-Altamonte Springs. "Now it's here and they're going to have to deal with it." "The county needs to first address everything that is an option to them now before coming to us," said Rep. Frank Stone, R-Oviedo.

County commissioners were stunned 10 days ago when they were told the county faces a $98 million deficit during the next five years to improve county services. And that deficit figure did not include inflation, which could drive the total figure to $120 million or more.

The deficit was created by a new state rule that requires counties and cities to provide adequate levels of services within the next five years for current residents. After current residents are accommodated, services must be increased steadily for new people moving to the county, a provision known as "future growth." Until services for current residents are provided, no new development may be allowed under the law in areas of the county with inadequate services. The county can define the level of services it will provide to residents, but the state will not allow poor service and can withhold state revenues and fine communities that fail to provide minimum services.

Road construction makes up the largest share of the county's deficit. County officials say they'll need to begin $125 million in road projects during the next five years or stop growth where roads are congested. Since the county will only have about $36.4 million for the projects, another

Buyers beware: Police warn holiday shoppers

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Criminals don't take a holiday.

The Christmas season is a time when many choose to prey on shoppers. With the shopping season in full swing, area law enforcement officers said they are beefing up efforts to help keep shoppers from being victimized.

Although police are on alert with increased patrols at high crime areas and at peak times, Sanford Police Chief Steven Harriett said citizens need to be aware and to take precautions against criminals.

"They need a basic sense of awareness that this time of year some are more vulnerable to certain people who prey on shoppers," Harriett said. "People have more valuables in their cars and houses." Harriett advises shoppers to team up and to not shop alone. Cars should be parked in lighted areas and locked even when occupied.

Sgt. Bill Morris, a property crimes investigator for the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, said packages should be stored out of sight in the trunk of the shopper's car. Or they should be covered up, out of view inside the vehicle.

"Lock your house even if you're leaving for a very short time," Morris said. Vehicles should also be locked. Houses should have an occupied appearance. In addition to road patrol deputies, special teams of property crimes investigators will be on duty nightly.

Lt. Al Sanchez, who heads the sheriff's crimes against persons investigations, said, beginning the second week in December, he will reassign his roving surveillance team.

Those investigators, Sanchez said, will watch over high crime areas, especially where robberies are likely to occur in the county through the first of the year. The team was developed during last year's Christmas season, and Sanchez reported there were no robberies when the team was on duty in a specific area.

Unraveling old yarns from way back when "Someone once said, 'Never believe everything you read in the newspapers.' After some of my yarns about way back when some folks have let me know when I was wrong.

For instance, don't believe that John "Red" Marion was the only 1939 Sanford ballplayer to marry a local lass. I've been reminded that the shortstop on that fabulous aggregation, Ricky Gillespie, married one of Sanford's prettiest and sweetest young ladies, Marion Estridge — daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Estridge.

After Rick's baseball days, the Rollins grad turned to teaching and later distinguished himself nationally as the long-time principal of the famed Space Coast high school in Melbourne. Unfortunately, Rick died earlier this year. Marion's brother is the well-known and retired Gene Estridge, a very active layman in Sanford's First Baptist Church.

And don't believe that the first name of the Mrs. Collins, who lived on East Union Avenue was Alice. Turns out her name was Josephine. Alice was her daughter. Also, the elder Mrs. Collins did not live to be over 100. She died at 98, we're told. But her grandson said she did live to be over 100.

Remember the yarn we did about Sid Hudson, the Sanford hurler in 1939 who went to the big leagues in one giant jump? Although no relation, there was another Hudson who was also a moundman for Sanford that same year. He was Frank Hudson — a big southpaw who hailed from Palatka.

Oh, yes, one other name in our East Union Avenue story needs a slight correction. The maiden name of Mrs. Denham Warren, who took her life in a fall from the top floor of the new First Union Bank building was not Minson. It was Misson. Some folks were concerned since there was a Sanford music teacher, Miss Fannie Roba Minson, who taught hundreds of Sanford youngsters to play the piano.

I realize you must wonder why we make so many references to baseball in recalling events of way back when. Well, aside from farming, railroading and downtown businesses, the city seemed to revolve around baseball. And when it wasn't baseball, it was Semmole High School football.

Many local families have been affected by Operation Desert Shield and communication is an often arduous task. Letters can take more than three weeks to travel in each direction.

A.J. Arborn, who works at the Sanford post office, said the delay is often with the military postal service.

'Pilgrims' parade against drug use during Sanford festival

By NICK PFEIFAUF
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Doug and Susan Cline threw a holiday party yesterday at Park on Park and several hundred turned out to say "no" to drugs and alcohol.

Based on a Thanksgiving theme of Pilgrims say no to drugs, the event featured a half dozen games, drinking booths, a puppet show and a one float parade around the block between Eighth and Ninth Streets on Park Avenue.

The parade float contained Pilgrim era type stocks holding young people portraying drug users and pushers. Others, many in pilgrim costumes, marched behind the float holding chains. The purpose of the stocks and chains was to portray drug users suffering for the error of their ways. It was pulled and pushed around the block by people power but escorted by members of the Sanford Police Department motorcycle corps and the Police Executive Council.

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Florida man dies in Texas crash

TATUM, Texas — Federal investigators have joined Rusk County officers in seeking the cause of a fatal helicopter crash in East Texas.

Witnesses said the small Gyro-copter, piloted by 61-year-old Audie Gene McDowell of Bell, Florida, crashed into a pasture from an altitude of about 150 feet.

The Friday accident happened near the home of the victim's brother — Lawrence McDowell, of Tatum, Texas, and was witnessed by several relatives, officers said.

Constable J.D. McGuire listed mechanical failure as the probable cause.

Few came to dinner

DAVIE — About 200 volunteers prepared 500 Thanksgiving Day dinners at an area bingo hall for the needy, but only 30 people showed up to partake, workers said.

The volunteers began looking for someone who needed extra food, giving dinners to Faith Farm and a Broward County Boy Scout troop. However, late Thursday, the group still had about 100 dinners left.

Volunteer Lee Carrato said the small turnout was the fault of hall owner Fred Borner, who sponsored the dinner but failed to advertise.

Incompetent veterans' estates limited

ST. PETERSBURG — A new rule limiting the estates of some veterans who have been declared incompetent will affect about 500 Florida residents, officials said.

Under the new Department of Veterans Affairs provisions, which went into effect Nov. 1, incompetent veterans with no dependents will not be allowed to have an estate worth more than $25,000.

If they do, the department could limit their compensation to no more than $90 a month until the veterans have drained their savings to less than $10,000.

One of those impacted by the rule change is David Wright. He was diagnosed as a paranoid schizophrenic shortly after returning from Vietnam. Veterans officials classified him as 100 percent disabled.

His father, Fred Wright, decided to let his son move in with him to save money. David Wright did, eventually saving more than $60,000. Now, he may lose it under the new rules.

Government officials said veterans, such as Wright, were saving large amounts of money, then dying and leaving the money to friends and distant relatives.

Officials said those people were not intended to be compensated and they want to make sure the money is spent on the veterans and no one else.

TAMPA — A national alumni group from Florida A&M University will proceed with a proposed boycott of several Tampa area hotels, during the annual Florida Classic football game, members said.

The hotels drew the wrath of alumni members when they tried to require Classic fans to pay cash, make advance deposits and stay a minimum of two nights.

The hotels have since made concessions to the group, but organizers said it's too late to inform participants of the policy changes. Hotel representatives informed the group of the adjustments Nov. 16.

Organizers said they plan to go through with the boycott because they want the hotels to take their concerns seriously.

The Florida Classic is an annual match between the predominantly black colleges of Florida A&M University and Bethune Cookman.

Barge rudder rips open gas pipeline

NEW YORK — A gas pipeline running along the floor of the Arthur Kill ruptured Saturday in a barge accident, sending a funnel of water into the air and forcing authorities to close the busy waterway, the Coast Guard said.

Petty Officer Howard Holmes, a Coast Guard spokesman, said the barge, owned by the Bouchard Co., was carrying some sort of petroleum product.

The tugboat was identified as the Captain Dan, a vessel owned by the Dan Ocean Towing, of Tampa, Fla., he said.

Natural gas spewed from the pipeline, owned by Texas Eastern Corp., and caused a funnel of water to rise 15 feet above the surface of the water, said Holmes.

"The force of it was pretty strong," the officer said.

The 16-inch pipeline, which runs parallel to the Staten Island shore, was ripped open about 3:20 a.m. as a tugboat pushed the barge through shallow water about one mile south of the Goethals Bridge, Holmes said.

The Coast Guard closed the waterway to marine traffic from Pralls Island to the Goethals Bridge as crews worked to contain the leak, bringing it under control about 9 a.m., he said.

Fire department officials were at the scene to monitor the "explosive possibilities," the officer said, adding that it was not known how much gas leaked from the pipe.

Convicted rapist arrested for theft

United Press International

TAMPA — The man who gained notoriety for raping a California teenager and hacking off her arms has been charged with stealing a $4 hat from a Florida store, his second arrest this year for petty theft.

Lawrence Singleton, 63, has been living in the Tampa area with his sister since 1985, following his controversial release from a California prison where he was serving a 14-year sentence for the 1978 rape and mutilation of a 15-year-old girl.

Singleton identified himself as Bill Johnson to Hillsborough County sheriff's deputies called to the scene Friday after employees at a Wal-Mart Store in the town of Seffner detained Singleton for allegedly smuggling a hat out of the store.

It was Singleton's second arrest in eight months on petty theft charges.

On Friday, a store security guard told deputies he saw Singleton pick up a white hat in the men's department and head for the cash register with his shopping cart.

Singleton paid for some diapers, but had allegedly rolled up the hat and stuffed it between his purchase and the shopping cart handle. He allegedly left the store without paying for the hat and was stopped. The Tampa Tribune reported Saturday.

Singleton insisted to deputies that his name was really Johnson. He also gave them the name and telephone number for a woman whom he insisted would verify his identity.

Investigators said the woman turned out to be his sister and she identified him as Singleton. He was subsequently cited for petty theft and resisting arrest without violence for giving a false name.

Deputies did not take Singleton to jail and released him at the scene after he signed a misdemeanor citation and agreed to appear in court in Plant City on Jan. 2.

In September, the Tampa native was released from the Hillsborough County Jail after serving two months of a six-month sentence for trying to shoplift a $10 disposable camera from a Brandon drug store in April.

Singleton — who served eight years of his 14-year sentence for raping the hitchhiker, chopping off her arms and leaving her for dead in a ditch — was paroled from prison in San Quentin, Calif., in 1987.

His release sparked a storm of protest in that state when authorities tried to find a town where he could serve his one-year parole.

The former merchant seaman and two-time divorcee decided to return to Florida.

Socialite stakes claim to Florida

United Press International

TAMPA — Some 170 years ago, Richard Meade loaned Uncle Sam $5 million to buy a choice piece of real estate called Florida. Now one of his heirs is suggesting the nation pay the money back.

The collateral on the debt, notes George Gordon Meade Esasy, a Philadelphia socialite who was knighted by the Dutch government for his charity work, was Florida itself.

Esasy isn't sure he would ever try to foreclose and become Florida's landlord, but "that's something to think about," he told The Tampa Tribune for Friday's editions.

However, Esasy does figure the government owes his family the $5 million principle plus interest.

Esasy said the U.S. government owes his family $300,000 per year in simple interest since 1818, or about $56 million.

According to Gary Mormino, a professor of history at the University of South Florida, Spain ceded Florida to the United States not for cash, but to unburden itself of responsibility for paying $5 million in damages from Indian raids and skirmishes.

Spain was obliged under a 1796 treaty to prevent Florida Indians from damaging property outside the territory. But Indian unrest was too widespread to be contained by the Spanish. The Indians raised havoc, and Spain was culpable.

When the United States assumed ownership, it also assumed the debt under the treaty that sealed the transaction. That document, said Mormino, provided that the United States could issue "stock" if it lacked the cash to pay off the claims.

Esasy claims his ancestor — who was the father of Civil War Gen. George Gordon Meade — bought up all the stock but was never repaid. The stock purchased by Meade carried 8 percent annual interest.

In his late 60s, and with no close heirs, Esasy said he would share any payoff with some distant cousins.

Winter blackouts could leave state shivering in the dark if another deep freeze descends

United Press International

TAMPA — The rolling blackouts that left much of Florida shivering in the dark last Christmas could be repeated this winter if another deep freeze hits, according to a spokesman for the Tampa Electric Co.

Last year's problems were caused by unusually cold weather and the fact that a number of power stations were out for servicing. But even with all its plants on line, TECO could not meet the demand if similar cold weather hits, said spokesman Mike Mahoney.

"If the same kind of weather like last year were to come through, yes, there could still be an emergency where rolling blackouts were necessary," Mahoney said.

Two TECO generators were down during last Christmas' freeze. Even if they were running, demand was over 3,200 megawatts, which exceeded the system's generating capacity, Mahoney said.

Last winter's problems were blamed on the shutting down of plants for routine maintenance plus unexpected malfunctions. All the plants are expected to be up and running by mid-December, the utility official said.

But even so, the system could not meet demand levels seen during last year's freeze. That would mean more outages if the weather repeats itself. But because of reforms imposed after last year's problems, the outages would be shorter and more evenly distributed, Mahoney said.

Tallahassee tradition: snubbing governors

By MICHAEL HOLINE

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — The Democrats who control the Florida Legislature showed Gov.-elect Lawton Chiles last week that when it comes to snubbing governors, they can rise above partisanship.

Legislative leaders expect much better relations with Democrat Chiles than were ever enjoyed by Bob Martinez, a Republican who spent most of the past four years feuding with the Democrat-dominated House and Senate.

But when Chiles urged lawmakers to delay a special session on ethics reform so that his pet issue of campaign finance reform could be considered at the same time, they vociferously ignored him.

Chiles, who served in the state Senate 20 years ago, acknowledged to reporters later that while governors have priorities, so does the Legislature, and the two are not always the same.

"The Legislature is always going to work its own will, and I think the governor works his own will," Chiles said.

"It's easier (dealing with Chiles), but we're not going to just roll over for anybody, be they Republican or Democrat," said T.K. Wetherell, the new House speaker. "The House never has, and I don't expect them to."

The House and Senate clearly felt obliged to make the ethics bill a priority. A number of lawmakers are currently under investigation for failure to report acceptance of expensive lobbyist-paid trips. The appearance that lawmakers profited by their public positions dogged incumbents during the campaigns.

"This is one we needed to get behind us," Sen. Tom Brown, D-Port Orange, said during debate on the ethics bill he helped draft.

The measure imposed a $100 limit on gifts from lobbyists, clarified that trips are the same as gifts if someone else pays for them, and banned public officials from soliciting gifts.

Deputy made bomb threats, is arrested

UPI report

TAMPA — A Hillsborough sheriff's deputy with an addiction to painkillers has been arrested for making bomb threats to pharmacies so he could steal drugs when the stores were evacuated.

Raymond Leo Novitis, 40, was fired Friday after nine years as a deputy when he admitted to telephoning 17 threats in 24 days to feed his drug habit, said sheriff's Col. H. Cal Henderson.

Novitis told investigators he became addicted to painkillers, particularly the synthetic codeine Lortab, after an operation to remove his appendix in July.

He had been on light-duty status until Oct. 20, when he returned to patrol duty in eastern Hillsborough. The first of a rash of bomb threats at Brandon-area drug stores started Oct. 31, Henderson said.

"He was very remorseful. It's a sad situation, but it shows it can happen to anyone," Henderson said.

Novitis has been under surveillance since last week.

Nude intruder discovered under bed

SANFORD — City police who reported to a burglary scene at 36 Rock Cove Court, Sanford, said they found a nude intruder under a bed there at about 2:40 a.m. Saturday.

That brought a charge of burglary to an occupied dwelling for Ricky Lee Murphy, 22, 208 Red Coach Court, Sanford. The owner of the dwelling said Murphy did not have his permission to be there.

Arrest made in auto burglary

SANFORD — Michael John Nowak, 19, 2023 Hartwell Ave., Sanford has been charged with burglary to a vehicle and grand theft in connection with a Sanford police case.

Police reported fingerprints found on the burglarized car at Franklin Arms Apartments, Florida Avenue, after the Nov. 12 burglary helped lead to the arrest Friday of Nowak at his house. He is charged with burglary. Items with a combined value of $850, including tools were stolen from the car, police said.

Seminole County DUI arrests

SANFORD — The following persons face a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) in Seminole County:

• James Edward Pleasant, 18, 2413 Summerlin Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 12:17 a.m. Saturday after his car was in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92, near Sanford.

• Raymond Albert Herra, 38, 677 Morning Dove Circle, Lake Mary, was arrested at 11:26 p.m. Friday after driving erratically on County Road 427 near County Home Road, Sanford. He is also charged with reckless driving.

• Mark A. Simmons, 28, 2106 N. Lake Drive, Sanford, was arrested at 11:32 p.m. Friday after his car was clocked traveling 70 mph on U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford.

Average home value rises in Lake Mary

LAKE MARY — The value of the average home being built in Lake Mary increased by over $18,000 between September and October of this year, according to city records. Most of the new construction is centered in the Country Club Oaks and Timacuan areas of the city.

According to figures released earlier this month, nine new single family residential building permits were taken out during October in Lake Mary ranging in value from $94,000 to $170,500. The average value of the homes is $123,198.

In September, 11 permits were taken out for single family homes with an average value of $106,062. Individual new home values ranged from $70,000 to $118,000 during that month.

Although the number of new residential unit building permit applications has fluctuated through last summer, average new home values have remained steadily in the six figure bracket for most of 1980.

Lake Mary also reported 10 building permits taken out during October for commercial buildings.

Including all permit fees paid for all types of building permits, including residential and commercial, as well as those for improvements on existing homes and businesses during October alone increased the city's coffers by just under $30 thousand.

In comparison, October figures for the City of Sanford showed seven single family residential building permits taken out for an average value of $43,267. The preceding month, there were three permits, averaging $62,066.

For the first 10 months of 1980, Sanford has reported a total of 111 building permits issued, with the dollar value of the average home at $54,226.

The total fees received by Sanford for all permits issued during October came to $33,480.

Four farm workers die in Lake County collision; 28 lives lost in accidents during holiday period

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Twenty-eight people have died on the state's roadways over the holiday counting period, including four farm workers killed in an accident near Eustis, Florida Highway Patrol officers said Saturday.

State officials had predicted that 42 people would lose their lives during the official holiday traffic fatality counting period that began at 8 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday. Last year, 41 people died.

At 1:40 p.m. EST Saturday, the last reported fatality had occurred in Orange County at 2:30 a.m. when Alberta A. Bancroft, 54, lost control of her car on State Road 600 and slammed into a concrete structure, killing her instantly.

The Friday Lake County accident involving the farm workers was the most deadly single crash. Seven others were also injured in that wreck.

Investigators said foggy conditions contributed to the accident. A van carrying the farm workers was sideswiped at an intersection by a sand truck that ripped away a huge piece of metal from the van's rear and sent the vehicle careening for several hundred yards, spilling its occupants.

The farmworkers were from the Simmons Labor Camp in Putnam County.

A camp spokesman identified the dead as Marion Lovelace, Robert Odum, Curtis Cannon and Alphonso Marshall. State troopers were withholding confirmation of names pending notification of next of kin.

The driver of the tractor-trailer rig was identified as Steven William Cola, 30, of east Lake County. He said he was unable to stop in time when he saw the flashing red light and stop sign.

The Orlando Sentinel reported Saturday that the camp, owned by Willie Lee 'Buddy' Simmons, was being investigated by the U.S. Labor Department over wages and transportation safety issues.

Authorities said the van's seating — planks on concrete blocks — violated federal standards requiring solidly attached seating. Additionally, federal officials said Simmons lacked the necessary permits to transport workers.

Several pedestrians also have been killed, including a 50-year-old man struck by a car as he attempted to cross a Dade County street and a 30-year-old woman — also from Dade County — who died from injuries sustained when she stepped into the roadway as she got out of a broken down car.

The 25th recorded death of the holiday weekend was a 42-year-old Lee County woman who died Friday on her birthday after she lost control of her car and it overturned, throwing her into the roadway.

Other accidents claimed the lives of an unborn baby girl and her 18-year-old mother, a 16-year-old youth, a 4-year-old Sebring boy, and an 11-year-old Ormond Beach girl.

Cancer Society offers gift for golfers

By MIKE PFEPAUF
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The American Cancer Society is offering the perfect holiday gift for the golfer in the family, a card that will waive green fees at 225 golf courses throughout the state of Florida.

For a minimum donation of $25 per card, this gift certificate will allow 450 rounds of golf with free green fees at 225 courses, including unlimited play at 95 of them. Golf carts are required at the courses, and are not included in the offer.

Fourteen of the courses are located in the Orange/Seminole/Osceola County area, with an additional 13 courses in Volusia County and seven in Brevard County. The rest include courses throughout the state.

While the minimum amount is $25 per card, the society hopes the donation will be larger. The donation enables the American Cancer Society to provide many services to cancer patients and their families in the two-city area, as well as support for research programs currently underway.

The golf card is available at the American Cancer Society office, 200 W. First Street, Sanford, in the Sun Bank building Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until noon, and from 1 until 3 p.m.

The golfer gift card is an annual offering of the American Cancer Society's Sanford/Lake Mary unit.

For further information, call Maggie Elliott at the society office at 322-0849.

PUBLIC NOTICE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

SEMINOLE COUNTY HAS ADOPTED THE FOLLOWING STANDARDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF ASSURING THAT RESIDENTIAL STRUCTURES REHABILITATED WITH COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT (CDBG) FUNDS ARE RENTED TO LOW OR MODERATE INCOME PERSONS AT AFFORDABLE RENTS.

1. ALL SINGLE-UNIT STRUCTURES MUST BE OCCUPIED BY LOW OR MODERATE INCOME HOUSEHOLDS, ALL DUPLEX STRUCTURES MUST HAVE AT LEAST ONE OF THEIR DWELLING UNITS OCCUPIED BY A LOW AND MODERATE INCOME HOUSEHOLD, AND ALL STRUCTURES WITH MORE THAN TWO DWELLING UNITS MUST HAVE AT LEAST 51% OF THEIR DWELLING UNITS OCCUPIED BY LOW OR MODERATE INCOME HOUSEHOLDS.

2. LOW AND MODERATE INCOME HOUSEHOLD, OR LOWER INCOME HOUSEHOLD, MEANS A HOUSEHOLD HAVING AN INCOME NOT GREATER THAN THE SECTION 8 LOWER INCOME LIMITS ESTABLISHED BY THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, AND AVAILABLE FROM THE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT SECTION OF THE SEMINOLE COUNTY PLANNING OFFICE UPON REQUEST. GENERALLY, THOSE HOUSEHOLDS EARNING 80% OR LESS OF THE ORLANDO METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA'S MEDIAN FAMILY INCOME, ADJUSTED FOR HOUSEHOLD SIZE, ARE CONSIDERED LOWER INCOME HOUSEHOLDS.

3. AFFORDABLE RENTS ARE RENTS WHICH DO NOT EXCEED 35% OF GROSS HOUSEHOLD INCOME OF THE LOWER INCOME RENTER-OCCUPANT OF THE CDBG-ASSISTED DWELLING UNIT.

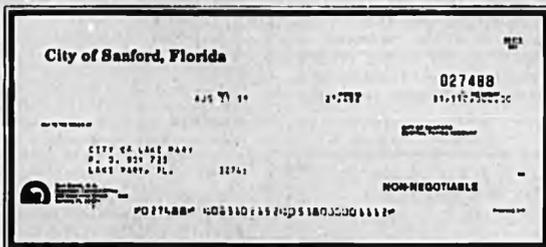

Do You Like Wasteful Spending of Taxpayers Money?

My opponent voted to pay Lake Mary $2.2 million of taxpayers money, to take Sanford's reclaimed water - 750,000 gallons per day for 25 years - and paid $500,000 to pipe the water to Lake Mary.

If Sanford Residents get the water, they will pay for it!

IS THIS "SEASONED" EXPERIENCE?

It is giving taxpayer's money away. No wonder the city is in a "Crunch". This check is a copy of the first payment to Lake Mary.

Another check of the same amount will be paid to Lake Mary when they pull the switch to turn on the water - this is public record at Sanford City Hall.

THINK ABOUT IT, SANFORD!

Hell in Guatemala

Prodded by cuts in U.S. economic and military aid and the threat of more to come just a month before national elections, Guatemalan authorities have arrested five soldiers in connection with the murder last June of an American innkeeper who lived in Guatemala. The U.S. Embassy says it is "satisfied" with the action taken so far. There's little reason it should be, given Guatemala's appalling human-rights record and the unlikely prospect of real justice being rendered in a country that has seen so little of it.

As in most of Central America, it's a long way from arrest to conviction when it comes to human-rights abuses by anyone wearing a uniform: No Guatemalan army officer ever has been convicted of any of thousands of political killings in Guatemala. If it happens now, it will be only out of fear of losing U.S. aid. As one embittered Guatemalan politician put it: "They kill one gringo and the whole world moves, but they kill Guatemalans every day and nothing happens."

For 36 years, since a U.S.-engineered coup ousted an elected leftist government, Guatemala has been run either directly by military dictators or, as now, by civilians with no effective power. During those years, human-rights groups estimate, more than 100,000 persons have disappeared — presumably also killed — at the hands of security forces, which have used a leftist insurgency as an excuse to murder virtually anyone suspected of being anti-regime or even promoting social programs seen as threatening to an entrenched oligarchy. The victims include thousands of Indians whose persecution borders on genocide.

U.S. military aid, cut off during the Carter administration, was resumed by the Reagan administration in 1986 after the election of a civilian president and a sharp drop in political murders. But recently the level of violence, including the murders of a number of candidates for office, has escalated so much that the Bush administration has cut non-lethal military aid from $7 million to $3.3 million. Unless there's a major improvement in Guatemala's human rights performance, any amount is too much.

Washington's tough new line recognizes the fact that Vinco Cerezo, the civilian president elected in 1985 after 17 years of dictatorship, is powerless to control the military's abuses. Moreover, the field of candidates in next month's presidential election is such an appalling collection of right-wingers — military officers and corrupt politicians — that whoever wins is likely to do little if anything to stop the bloodshed in the most violence-plagued country in the Americas.

Most U.S. aid, more than $100 million a year, is in the form of economic assistance that's badly needed in a country where 70 percent of the people live in poverty. Subject to stringent controls, that aid ought to continue. As for military aid, the United States must not accept the promise of yet-to-be-seen justice in the killing of one American as evidence that Guatemala's murderous military is somehow reforming itself. Cut it off.

Report cards can harm self esteem

Acknowledging that many, many young Floridians were experiencing failure in kindergarten and first grade, legislation was passed targeted to rectify this situation. It was recognized that failure at the initiation of children's school life might cause incalculable damage to their self-esteem.

Self-esteem are feelings an individual has about his value and worth. It is a self-evaluation that reflects his sense of acceptance, belonging and accomplishment as an individual.

The saliency of self-esteem to the learning process has been documented. Research conducted on the east coast and the midwest found that approximately 80 percent of children entering first grade rated high in self-esteem; the percentage dropped drastically to 20 percent by third grade and only five percent by high school. Children's self-esteem declined as they traveled through the school system.

Research also revealed that no single event shatters a child's self-esteem as much as a poor report card. This is easy to understand since the child feels he is doubly in trouble with the significant others in his world, his parents and his teacher.

Traditionally, children have been homogeneously grouped because it was erroneously believed that children with similar abilities learned best when grouped together. Slavin in 1987 reported that tracking in elementary school had little benefit for student achievement. This conclusion was also supported by Paul S. George, University of Florida.

He indicated that "the effect of tracking on individual and classroom groups effectively is powerfully negative, especially for students in low tracks."

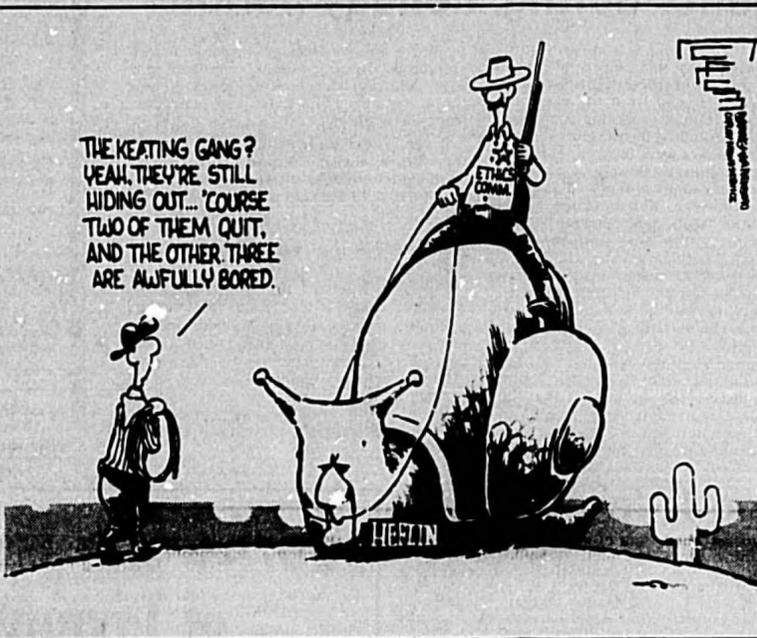

Children know when they are in the low track. Year after year in the low track produces great damage to self esteem and leads to self defeating behaviors.

These behaviors are exhibited by: dropping out of school, drug and alcohol addictions, teenage pregnancy and other delinquent acts. Poor self-esteem is the common variable permeating the personality structure of all of these children. Children with poor self esteem may feel that they have never been accepted, respected or belonged to the "in group" at school. School may have been a great source of pain and humiliation. Their behaviors at school, which have been the source of problems with teachers and other school personnel, represent defensive activities to protect whatever shred of "ego" they had left.

Fortunately, Seminole County is heterogeneously grouping children at the elementary level. In addition, the newly adopted Language Arts Program stresses cooperative learning, which is more conducive to building positive self-esteem than a competitive learning environment.

Building self-esteem is the responsibility of parents and educators. Self-esteem is that quality that makes a person willing to take risk, to accept his imperfections and still consider himself worthwhile, and to confidently persevere in the face of obstacles. School success can be more accurately predicted by determining how a child feels about himself than from his intelligence quotient.

Thanks for recognition

As one of the founders, several times past Chairman, and currently member ex officio of the Seminole County Veterans Advisory Council, I wish to extend my warmest and most sincere congratulations to The Sanford Herald for the outstanding coverage provided regarding Veterans' Day, celebrated locally on 12 November. Your thoughtfulness in interviewing Bud Tobin in his "War Room," and obtaining candid interviews with two naval veterans, Al Tounzen and Dana Roach afforded readers a rare opportunity to understand the personal feelings of men who served in several wars.

In Navy parley, BRAVO ZULU!! In spite of your efforts, participation of nearly twenty veterans organizations, and three units from the U.S. Naval Training Center, there was, unfortunately, a tremendous lack...people, particularly our youngsters in school. Recognizing that budgets and holidays are tight, it nevertheless occurs to me that as a course in practical freedom and democracy, at the very least field trips could and should be scheduled to Memorial and Veterans Day. Without these two holidays, in all probability, we would be unable to celebrate or recognize any others.

What better opportunity is offered to and for our young women and men in school to view and hear veterans representing all wars since and including The Great War, the War to end all wars, WWII, Korea, Vietnam, Granada, Panama, and PUEBLO...certainly it is our responsibility as adults to continue our interest and education responsive to the millions of dead and wounded who participated in the wars mentioned above. It is even a greater responsibility we enjoy to educate our youngsters. Unfortunately, they too, in all probability, will someday be veterans. Let these "to be" veterans, the most important resource the United States has, learn something of their heritage from the women and men who served so well, preserving that heritage.

Our grade, middle, and high school students should be afforded the opportunity to participate in these most important holidays. And once the opportunity is afforded, we adults should ensure that the opportunity is prevailed upon.

Longwood was 'duped'

"Oh what tangled webs we weave." What say ye now Longwood? Reality set in like a blow to the back of the head to many, when it dawned on them, they had been duped and are now faced with digging themselves out of a political and financial quagmire! So willing were they, to listen to the inexperienced, uninformed challengers, who touted the city should pay as you go, they sat in stunned silence, amid the shouts, at last night's city commission meeting as their fair haired boys (Paul Lovestrand, and Gary Hefter) attempted to back-track on their campaign promises.

Who's going to bail them out...obviously not the man with a "plan," since the Hardy majority took care of that when they ousted City Administrator, Mike Abels, last Friday. As the old saying goes "Pay me now, or pay me later, but sooner or later you're going to pay!"

Guess what folks, despite warnings by many, including myself, you elected two, who, along with Hank Hardy, are going to try and keep the very tax money you opposed, Is there something wrong with this picture? You aren't getting redevelopment, you aren't getting your utility problem corrected, and you apparently aren't going to get your money back either.

Gary Hefter attempted to lay the blame on the past commission by claiming, "We have to use this (redevelopment tax) to bail us out of what the previous commission did" — WRONG! That may have worked in the past, but not this time. Evidently he didn't bother doing his homework, or he would have known the ongoing utility problem was literally born out of lack of planning and foresight several years ago! Therefore, his lame attempt to point at the past commission won't hold water (no pun intended). But, if he feels he must point, he need only to look to his right for one of the culprits. It might behoove him to ask Mr. Hardy (the longest sitting commissioner), what he did to correct the problem — Zip! Logic, coupled with common sense, dictates you don't simply treat symptoms — you seek cures, and you don't send in a ditch digger to do brain surgery. Unless of course, you're in Longwood.

Gez guys, (particularly you, Hank), what's all this garbage about being surprised by the utility problem, where have you been the past several years, didn't you bother reading the newspapers, or the proposed budget, and what do you suppose Dr. Abels and the majority of the past commission was trying to correct, despite your continued interference? Could it be good buddy Jimmy Ross's "pay as you go" system, you've so dearly embraced?

At any rate folks, here's your opportunity to put your money where your mouth is — just squeeze it in right next to your feet!

Have fun!

Europe snubbing our tourist dollars

WASHINGTON — The dwindling value of the dollar is keeping many dedicated Europhiles at home, but not just because the dollar buys so much less in Europe than it did in the good old days. True, the hapless buck, combined with some European inflation, means that a cup of coffee that cost 75 cents two years ago is now $1.50, and the modest hotel room that went for $50 is now $70 or more. But what has saddened some Americans and irritated others is not their reduced buying power, but the "anub factor" when they produce dollars, traveler's checks or American-based credit cards.

Some restaurants, stores and hotels have put a surcharge on American credit cards. Others refuse outright to take them, fearing that U.S. financial institutions are so shaky that payments might suddenly cease. Tellers in some banks are patronizing when dollars or U.S. traveler's checks are presented for exchange. "You must feel awful," they say. "The rate is down today." By contrast, the banks are all smiles when Germans or Japanese appear with their strong currencies. Europeans say that the "ugly Americans" of years past created a climate in which today's Americans are getting the backlash. The widespread contempt for the dollar is having an effect. Some dedicated American skiers, who used to make regular trips to the slopes of Europe, are putting the bucks back in the United States. In Colorado and Utah, Americans are not treated like impoverished immigrants. And they will swear the snow is better anyway.

If American tourists stay away because they feel snubbed, some Western European tourists are also staying away because their interests are being drawn elsewhere. Young Western Europeans, in the past, used their vacations to tour their own region. Now the fad is to see what has been behind the Iron Curtain for years — Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. Their sturdy francs, deutschmarks and liras get them farther afield than ever, but the main draw is curiosity.

For years they have heard the communist nations boast about their workers' paradise. Now the young people are going in legions to find out for themselves, encouraged by travel agents in Moscow, Prague, Warsaw, Budapest, and even Bucharest and Sophia. Those returning tell of optimistic people but grim, cold realities.

'Pawns' deserve visitors

The American relatives of Saddam Hussein's hostages are agonizing over whether to accept his invitation for them to visit their captive loved ones for the holidays. The State Department compounded their agony by advising against the visits, saying the relatives were just pawns in Saddam's public relations ploy. It isn't fair to place that burden on the backs of those who already are carrying more than their share of heartache over the Persian Gulf crisis.

The relatives should visit the hostages and let Saddam make of it what he will. The world knows better.

Yarns

former University of Florida football coach who later coached the Sanford semi-pro Black Cats in the late 1930s was the late Sanford attorney and municipal judge, S.A.B. Wilkinson. The oldest of the six Odham brothers, Billy, and I organized the Black Cats and we were able to get the judge to consent to coach the team.

Speaking of the judge, as he was always called, there are many old timers who remember that for a couple of years he supervised a weekly boxing program for kids and teenagers. A bunch of us youngsters found a door open into an abandoned warehouse on the northeast corner of Elm and Fourth Street. We found the electricity was still on. A couple of our guys got into an argument. We found some rope, set up a boxing ring, and let 'em battle it out. The loser said he'd be back next week to fight again. The following week a full house appeared. When the bout was over more challenges were made and more fights ensued.

One evening Judge Wilkinson walked by (he lived only three blocks away) and heard all the noise. He came in, took charge and supervised the weekly boxing programs for quite some time. Standing room only crowds of kids, teenagers and adults were on hand week after week.

I recall one of the most outstanding bouts ever. One night one of the Odham boys, Warren, a hefty youngster challenged a kid named Volie Williams Jr. Everybody considered it a mismatch and expected Williams would be maimed for life. At the opening bell, however, Williams came out throwing punches with both fists that all Odham could do was wait for Williams to stop to get his breath. But Williams didn't stop.

For three rounds Williams mauled Odham. I don't think Odham ever threw a punch as he tried to protect himself. Williams won a rousing unanimous decision. He retired undefeated.

The Williams boy we're talking about is now Volie A. Williams Jr., retired attorney, legislator and circuit court judge.

Unfortunately, Warren Odham was killed in an accident near Cocoa Beach some years ago. We're planning a story about Volie and his brother Charles. In the not too distant future, you'll be surprised at some of the heights these two reached.

County

$87 million will be needed for the road-building program.

The remainder of the deficit amount will be needed for drainage and other county services that will have to be upgraded to meet the provisions of the state requirements.

County officials will know by Dec. 10 how much money will be needed for each of the next five years. Until then, only the totals are known. County staff is currently preparing a year-by-year needs analysis and potential revenue sources to meet those needs.

Although commissioner Fred Streetman said the state may relax the requirements as the state's economy levels, both Seminole County lawmakers say they would not support such changes to the landmark 1985 growth management law.

"I'm opposed to softening growth management and concurrency in general," Grindle said. "Although there may be room for some minor adjustment, I don't see a need for major changes now."

"I'm not amenable to gutting concurrency," Stone said.

County officials have few options available to them. Property taxes currently raise about $8 million per year, but are paid by everyone. Portions of the deficit will be created to provide services to unincorporated residents.

The county has one penny of gasoline tax available but that requires voter approval. Voters turned down the "Green Penny" in 1989 when commissioners pledged to spend it for road beautification. The penny would raise about $1.3 million annually for the county, according to information provided by the state Advisory Council on Intergovernmental Relations.

Both Grindle and Stone said they'd be willing to support a provision to allow commissioners to impose the penny gas tax with a "super majority" vote of the commission, meaning at least four of five county commissioners would have to approve the tax.

Commissioners also can ask voters to approve a half-cent or penny sales tax increase for up to 15 years for purchases less than $5,000. Recently sought by Sheriff John Polk, the "Copper Penny" failed miserably in the polls earlier this month when Polk sought the revenues for a jail expansion and new administration building.

Voters also soundly defeated the same sales tax in 1987 when commissioners proposed to spend revenues for the Seminole County Expressway and several other road projects.

The sales tax, with the cumbersome title "Local Government Infrastructure Surtax," can be used for a variety of government needs, including road construction. Tax revenues must be shared with the cities unless they agree to allow the county to use all the money.

Countywide, a penny sales tax is estimated to generate about $24.7 million during 1991, ac-ording to ACIR information. If shared among the cities and county, the county would collect about $15.6 million during 1991 and the balance of about $9 million would be shared among the cities.

Although efforts to pass the sales tax have failed twice, Stone says voters will approve it if commissioners show them the need is true.

"If you approach it correctly, you can pass things," Stone said.

But on a suggestion from Streetman and other commissioners the state should allow counties to increase taxes by four to five cents, Stone had this warning: "If the people turn down a penny gas tax, it's kind of hard for me to approve a new gas tax when the voters said no."

Grindle agrees. He said he does not think the county needs additional gasoline taxes to meet road money shortfalls. Grindle is preparing legislation that would create a $500,000 test program in Central Florida that would allow people to rent vans from the state for $1 annually in return for pledges to transport at least people to work each workday.

In short, Grindle said he'd rather buy people vans to carpool and reduce traffic on roads than to give counties more money to widen those roads.

The county has one other untapped revenue source that might assist with providing services and road maintenance. As a charter county, commissioners can impose a tax on utility services such as electricity, telephone and water provided to unincorporated residents.

The amount the county can raise from the tax was not available from the Seminole County Office of Management and Budget this week. But Sarasota and Volusia counties, counties similar in size to Seminole County, each raised about $8 million in utility taxes in 1988, officials from those counties said.

Grindle and Stone said they were also unwilling to grant counties other new revenues such as a transportation utility fee proposed by a Winter Park engineer earlier this year. Chuck Burdick, a former engineer with the firm Boyer-Singleton & Associates, proposed the fees to help counties and cities to raise the money needed for deficient roads and transportation systems.

Burdick said a monthly fee of $5 to $10 for each resident in Central Florida could raise the $338 million or more needed to improve roads and transit for Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties. Orlando is currently considering the fee to help pay for road maintenance.

While Grindle and Stone say such a concept remains an option, it is one they are not willing to consider until the county has exhausted all other fund-raising opportunities already granted by lawmakers.

dressed in a Pilgrim costume and carrying a bullhorn, opened up the various games and urged people to get involved in the activities.

"I'm a bit disappointed over the turnout," Cline said. "When we did this around Valentine's Day we had over 300 people." Attendance at the gathering, however, numbered well over 200 and as the afternoon wore on, more passers-by were stopping to join in the celebration.

The party also featured free hot dogs and soft drinks, with candy being awarded for such games as throwing a wet sponge at a person in the window of a "crack house," bursting balloons, and the "Dunk-a-Pusher" water war game.

Cline summed up the reason for the party in the hand bill passed out to publicize the event. "If we care enough to break the back of our drug problems, then we as a community must get involved. Please remember that just like the Pilgrims of old made sacrifices for the freedom they received, we need freedom today from drug abuse. We need their courage and sacrificial efforts to get it."

Cline, who was responsible for building all the booths, games and the float, was pleased at yesterday's large turnout of children between the ages of 7 and 15, the ages where strong impressions and habits are first formulated. He hoped they will remember the theme of the event, and join in saying no to drugs.

same amount as it would be to mail it within the United States.

At Wrap 'N' Mail, a packaging and shipping store at 2504 S. French Ave., Sanford, manager Frank Lewis and his wife Sandra, who owns the store, said they wanted to make things a little easier for their customers who loved ones "over there." At the store, customers can fax letters to their loved ones.

"And we wanted to let the soldiers over there know that we're behind them," he said.

So far, he said, they've only had three or four takers on the offer, but he expected the numbers would rise as Christmas gets closer.

"It'll get over there today," he said noting, however, that there could be no guarantees made as to the swiftness with which the military would distribute the letters, especially to their remote posts.

"I'm sure it's a lot faster than the mail," he said.

He said the few customers who have come in to take advantage of the offer since the sign advertising it went up on the corner of French Avenue and 25th Street last week, have transmitted short one- or two-page letters to the Middle East.

He said they haven't had to put any limits on the number of pages people may send because the customers have not tried to take advantage of the free service. He said he might "have to say something" if someone tried to do that.

He had some suggestions for those who planned to send Christmas photos.

"We don't recommend they try to send photos," he said. "They end up pretty bad, like if you copied it on a copy machine."

The Lewises have another Mail 'N' Wrap store in Oviedo which is providing a similar service.

Harriett said drivers also need to be cautious as traffic increases during the holidays and more drunk drivers are on the roads. Party goes, he said, should plan their rides home in advance and should have a designated driver, or alternative transportation if they plan to drink alcoholic beverages.

Harriett said his officers will be rescheduled to make more manpower available during peak crime and traffic hazard times.

The public is asked to report suspected drunk drivers to police.

AmeriCares sends food to Soviet Union

NEW CANAAN, Conn. — AmeriCares will airlift more than 340,000 pounds of food and medicines to the Soviet Union to ease shortages in orphanages and hospitals during the Christmas holiday, the private relief group said Friday.

The first two flights will leave Connecticut for Moscow on Dec. 23 and Dec. 26, with a third planned for late January to aid children, the ill and the elderly during the harsh Russian winter.

The Soviet government has said it had no plans to release emergency food reserves because it does not believe shortages are severe enough.

Wildfire destroys 14 homes

BOULDER, Colo. — A resident dragging a burning mattress out of his rural home early Saturday sparked a wind-whipped fire that raged out of control across more than 2,000 acres, destroying 14 homes and forcing the evacuation of residents from a 2-square mile area.

Iraq's 'nuclear ambitions'

Bush warns Iraq may soon be nuclear power

By JIM ANDERSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush's warning that an Iraqi nuclear weapon may be only months away is not supported by recent assessments from experts inside and outside the U.S. government.

Although he said no one can know when Iraq will become a nuclear power, Bush told a military audience in Saudi Arabia on Thanksgiving Day that those who estimate the time needed in terms of years "may be seriously underestimating the reality of that situation."

Bush thus made clear this week what he had warned about two weeks ago when he talked of "incalculable consequences" if Saddam Hussein were not stopped.

Leonard Spector of the Carnegie Endowment for Peace, in his recent book "Nuclear Ambitions," says, "Iraq has begun a program to build a uranium enrichment plant and to acquire components for nuclear arms, steps which could permit it to manufacture nuclear weapons within the next five to 10 years."

A government expert, speaking on the condition of anonymity, takes a more pessimistic view. "Whether it is one or two or five years off, Iraq is on the course for producing nuclear weapons."

Recent evidence has come to light that Iraq this year tried, and failed, to get the kind of electronic switches and capacitors required for the precise timing for a uranium bomb.

But a more primitive weapon, a plutonium bomb similar to the U.S. weapon dropped on Hiroshima in 1945, does not require the same kind of precise timing mechanisms and could be put together relatively quickly. But experts say it would be chancy and maybe even suicidal for Iraq to set off such a weapon without testing it first.

Once a test was detected by the United States and other nuclear powers, including Israel, they could launch a quick attack on Iraq's nuclear installations. Saddam, however, has moved some of those facilities into air raid-proof underground bunkers.

Iraq has slightly more than 25 pounds of enriched uranium fuel, enough to make one small bomb. But the Iraqi government, which has signed the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, has recently given permission for international inspection of its nuclear facilities, including the site where the uranium fuel is stored.

That is seen as a sign that Iraq is not using that French-supplied enriched fuel for a weapon, at least not yet.

Swiss clash with press, diplomats

GENEVA — Swiss security officials on duty for President Bush's visit Friday verbally abused White House chief of staff John Sununu and "shoved a machine gun" into the stomach of a U.S. diplomat in an effort to prevent him from boarding Air Force One. White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater said.

"I have never seen that kind of brutal and vicious treatment by a security force," said Fitzwater.

Court asked to rule on homeless right to beg

By GREG HENDERSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON — As many Americans take pause this time of year to give thanks for what they have, New York vagrants are asking the nation's highest court to grant them one special wish: the right to beg in the city's subway system.

A group of the city's poorest residents, in a class-action suit, claim 1989 regulations prohibiting panhandling but allowing other forms of charitable solicitation in the massive subway system violates their First Amendment right to free speech and their 14th Amendment guarantee to equal protection.

The Supreme Court could announce as early as Monday whether it will review the case or let the ban on begging stand.

Twenty-five states have statutes restricting begging. Homeless rights advocates contend the subway case is another government effort to deny a growing national problem.

The New York City Transit Authority says the ban was

The First Amendment does not permit the governmental suppression of unwelcome news or repugnant ideas.

— National Coalition for the Homeless spokesperson implemented to improve safety for the 3.5 million people who pay to use the 468-station subway system daily, noting that its own study showed most riders had been intimidated into giving money to beggars.

Others claim if similar sorts of speech are permitted in the subway system, begging cannot be indiscriminately banned.

The transit agency, backed by the state of New York, "singled out begging" for disfavored treatment because of their conviction that a stranger's request for money for herself is inherently threatening and intimidating, while a stranger's request for money for someone else is not," wrote the Legal Action Center for the Homeless, counsel for the panhandlers.

"In (the transit agency's) view the words 'give to me' are alarming but the words 'give to my charity' are innocuous," the group wrote in its appeal to the high court. "It is difficult to imagine a clearer example of a regulation that accords 'preferential treatment' to the expression of views on one particular subject."

The National Coalition for the Homeless, which says that in New York alone more than 250,000 adults suffer from chronic hunger, claims if the regulations are allowed to stand, it would open the way for states and locales to ban begging in a wider range of circumstances.

"The First Amendment does not permit the governmental suppression of unwelcome news or repugnant ideas," the group told the high court.

Hurricanes hammer Syracuse

MIAMI — Tackle Russell Maryland and the rest of the Cotton Bowl-bound Miami defense shut down Syracuse Saturday to give the No. 2 Hurricanes a 33-7 victory, their 38th straight victory in the Orange Bowl.

Maryland, an Outland Trophy candidate, had two sacks, a forced fumble and six tackles to lead the defense. Syracuse managed only a 4-yard touchdown run by quarterback Marvin Graves with 3:52 left in the game.

Miami scored on quarterback Craig Erickson's 15-yard scramble and 4-yard pass to Wesley Carroll and a 4-yard run by Steve McGulre. Carlos Huerta added two 33-yard field goals along with a 52-yarder and a 26-yarder.

Huerta also broke the NCAA record of 135 straight extra points with his first PAT and now holds the record at 138.

GOLF

Germany wins World Cup title

ORLANDO — Bernhard Langer and Torsten Gledson gave Germany its first team victory in any sport by winning Saturday the World Cup golf title by three strokes over England.

Langer, the 1985 U.S. Masters champion, fired a 3-under-par 69 in the final round, while Gledson shot a 72 at the Grand Cypress Golf Club. Both golfers finished at 10-under-par 278, and compiled a team score of 20-under 556, three strokes better than the teams from England and Ireland (559).

Langer, playing in the World Cup for the first time since 1980, said the victory "will have a major impact on golf in Germany. We need more golf courses for the game to grow. This could be a major step toward building them."

Payne Stewart of the United States, the only player to break 70 all four days, captured the International Trophy for individual honors. Stewart fired a 66 Saturday to finish with 271.

Grilla's last-second kick advances Knights in playoffs

United Press International

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — Franco Grilla kicked a 34-yard field goal as time ran out and Mark Glacone rushed a school record 191 yards Saturday to lift the University of Central Florida to a 20-17 win over previously undefeated Youngstown State in an NCAA Division I-AA playoff game.

UCF, with a 9-3 record and a five-game win streak, hosts William & Mary next Saturday in the quarterfinals. Youngstown State bowed out at 11-1.

Youngstown's Jeff Wilkins tied the game at 17-17 on a 41-yard field goal, his third of the day, at 9:09 of the fourth quarter.

The Knights started a game-winning drive on its 12-yard line with 3:33 left, marching 71 yards in 10 plays to set up Grilla's second field goal of the game. The winning drive was highlighted by a pair of passes from Ron Johnson — a 31-yarder to Sean Beckton, followed by a 14-yarder to John Osborne at the Youngstown State 23.

After three running plays gained six yards, UCF called time out with 3 seconds left for Grilla's kick.

Glacone, who scored on a 14-yard run, broke his own Central Florida single game rushing record of 177 yards. He also has amassed 1,037 rushing yards this season, becoming the school's first player to crack the 1,000-yard milestone.

Willie English scored on a 4-yard run for the Knights, while Tamron Smith had a one-yard run for Youngstown's only TD.

Tribe, Silver Hawks upset

'Noles foiled by Spongers

By DEAN SMITH

TARPON SPRINGS — The Seminole High School football team must have felt like Rod Serling had been resurrected to write the script for this game.

In a game in which every break seemed to go Tarpon Springs' way, the Spongers came away with a miracle-finish 24-20 victory over the Fighting Seminoles to claim the Class 4A-Region IV title at Sponger Field Friday night.

Rain, strange, rarely called penalties, dropped passes, dropped interceptions and assorted other quandries kept the Fighting Seminoles from repeating as regional champion.

The winning score for Tarpon Springs came on a fourth-and-9 situation with 1:34 to play.

With Seminole leading 20-17, Sponger kicker Kevin Reid lined up for a 42-yard field goal attempt that would tie the game and force overtime.

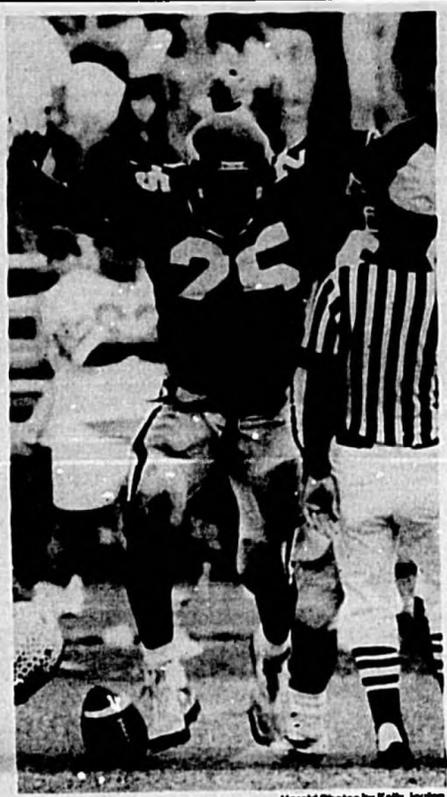

But the center snapped the ball directly to Reid, who tried to hit Jim Harrison, who had gotten behind the Seminole defense. The throw was short and it appeared Seminole defensive back Derrick Taylor would make the game-clinching interception. But the wet ball slipped through his fingers and into Harrison's hands, who stumbled the final 10 yards into the end zone for the winning score.

"We had everything covered," said Seminole coach Emory Blake. "We were expecting a fake. We said let them kick the field goal and get to overtime, but we missed the interception and they get the win. But you can't blame everything on the last play. We had several chances to shut them down on the last series but we just couldn't make the big play."

The catch by Harrison was the culmination of a night of frustration. See Seminoles, Page 4B

Lake Howell's Marquette Smith (No. 22, left) rushed for a game-high 158 yards and two touchdowns while Thomas Demps (No. 25, right) blocked a field goal, a punt and had a sack Saturday afternoon.

Turnovers, penalties stop Lake Howell

WINTER PARK — As people milled about Lake Howell High School's Richard L. Evans Field following Lake City-Columbia's stunning 21-18 upset of the host Silver Hawks in the 5A-Region II playoff game Saturday, the comment most often heard was "It was a great game."

If you were Columbia Coach Joe Montgomery, the Tigers or one of their many fans who made the trip to watch the game, it was all of that.

If you were just a high school football fan who squeezed his or her way into Evans Field to watch the game, it was certainly that.

WINTER PARK — Judging from the reactions of Larry Betsinger and Gerhardt Tauscher, neither Bishop Moore nor Lake Howell lost the championship game of the Lake Howell Thanksgiving Turkey Shootout.

And in one sense, neither team did lose. Although the Hornets slipped by with a 1-0 overtime win to take the title for the second consecutive year, the Silver Hawks found out just how strong their defense was against one of Central Florida's premiere offenses.

"The girls really played well," said Tauscher about his team's effort in the tourney final. "The game was beneficial for both teams. Bishop Moore fought hard. They really looked good. They played an excellent game."

Amy Geltz blocked one penalty kick and watched another bounce off the right post as the Hornets improved to 5-0-1. They have yet to be scored upon this season. Jill Geltz provided the final penalty kick for Bishop Moore.

Ford, Nason help Raiders stop losing streak at four

From staff reports

SANFORD — Dennard Ford and Brian Nason combined for 42 points as the Seminole Community College men's basketball team broke a four-game losing streak with an 87-76 triumph over visiting Columbia State Community College of Columbia, Tennessee at the Health and Physical Education Center Saturday night.

The win raised the Raiders season record to 2-4 and Columbia State fell to 4-4. SCC will play at home again Wednesday night when they host the tough Lancers of Manatee Community College at 7:30 p.m. at the Health and Physical Education Center.

Ford came off the bench to score 15 first-half points as the Raiders broke from a 30-29 advantage to take a 45-35 halftime advantage. He also led SCC with 12 rebounds and seven assists.

"It was good to see Dennard surface again," said SCC coach Bill Payne. "He had not played well since the alumni game. It was also good to see us hold them to only 76 points. If we can keep our opponents in the 70s, we ought to do pretty well."

Nason hit four three-pointers (three in the second half) on his way to tying Ford for game high honors with 21 points. Also having big nights for the Raiders were John Mackey (14 points, eight rebounds) and Sanford's Robert Moore (17 points, 7 for 10 shooting, eight rebounds).

Columbia State fought back to tie the game at 63-63 on a three-pointer by Titus Gilbert, but SCC went to Moore and Nason down the stretch to claim the win.

Simple strategies are best when on the water

Some people might think that I'm a boring, unimaginative fisherman. If I'm going offshore, I catch live bait and head straight for BA or Pelican Flats. I will fish these two reefs exclusively, while other anglers search far and wide for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Other anglers also may think that I'm not too bright, for I will fish for hours on end without a strike. These people shake their heads and look at me with sympathy, reasoning that I've been out in the sun too long or perhaps that I'm just not smart enough to do something else.

Even I have to admit that I'm simple minded in my approach to ocean angling. I know what works and I stick with it. I never forget the basics.

Fishing does not have to be complicated. After all, how smart is a fish? Many anglers, however, overlook the obvious in their search for success. Perhaps they get caught up in the chase, or maybe they get mesmerized with all of the technology. Maybe fish are attributed supernatural powers of thought and reason...

I like to cut through the glitter and get to the heart of the matter. Boats, lorans, depth recorders and radars are nice, but they are simply tools — a means to an end. If the goal is to catch fish, then these items are utilitarian in purpose and not an end in themselves.

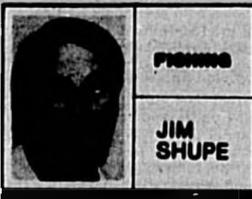

No. 1 — Try to follow my simple thought process. The ocean is big and fish concentrate over reef areas for food and shelter. Why bounce all over the ocean when I already know where the fish will be?

No. 2 — Furthermore, fish that grow offshore reefs love to dine on live bait. Why try something else when live bait is the best?

No. 3 — Just as the Marines want a few good men, I only want a few good fish. Reef fish are big, and I don't need a strike every 30 minutes in order to have a very successful trip.

These three simplistic realizations have made me a very consistent offshore angler, and I very rarely return to port without at least a few quality fish.

Think about your angling strategies. Are you making things too complicated? Everyday living is complicated enough without complicating your leisure time.

FISHING

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Have confidence in yourself as a fisherman and stick to what works for you. You will catch more fish in the long run.

FISHING FORECAST

With the upcoming long weekend, fishermen should get at least one or two days of nice weather.

George from George's Bait and Tackle said that specks are hitting in front of the power plant on Lake Monroe. The I-4 bridge and railroad trestle are also good spots for specks. Bass are hitting around the newly planted reefs in Lake Monroe.

Steve Gard at the Osteen Bridge Fish Camp said that specks are the hot item. Some good stringers are coming from the mouth of the old river channel and in front of the power plant. Bream and catfish are hitting around Marina Isle, while bass are scattered.

Sebastian Inlet is hot for flounder, redfish and snook. It will be packed this weekend, so be prepared to fight the crowds for fishing space. Live finger mullet bounced along the bottom will take all three species. A one-ounce jig is the best all around lure. Bluefish, ladyfish and jack crevalle will also be present in good numbers.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral has little to report with offshore action as high seas have kept boats in port. Bottom fishing will be excellent for grouper and snapper as these fish make their annual pilgrimage into shallower waters.

Inside the Port, mangrove snapper, bluefish, snook, jack crevalle and flounder are hitting with regularity. Reds and trout are active on the flats of the Banana and Indian rivers.

Huge bluefish and giant sheepshead should soon start making their winter appearance at Ponce Inlet. The tip of the south jetty has traditionally been the best spot for sure action. Some nice flounder are being taken from the south jetty on finger mullet.

to neutralize any scoring chances. Lake Howell held Amy Geltz, who holds the state record for most goals in one season, to just five shots and no breakaway opportunities. The Hornets totaled only 10 shots in the game.

Sweeper Michelle Harris played a large role in limiting Geltz's productivity, as did defenders Monica Compton, Teresa Mallardi and Jessica Cardarelli.

In the game, only 18 shots were taken. Silver Hawk goalkeeper Kellie Cahlon came up with six saves while Corti Valleau saved three of the Lake Howell's eight shots.

Both teams had shots come within inches of scoring during the game. Midway through the first half, Michelle Cook headed a Harris corner kick into the crossbar. A wild scramble in front of the goal ensued, but Valleau pounced on the ball.

Bishop Moore just missed scoring with the three minutes left in the contest when Stephanie Gringer's bullet from 15 yards out nailed the crossbar.

In overtime, Harris, Compton and Beverly Dickinson all converted from the penalty spot for Lake Howell. Amy Geltz, Gringer, Stephanie Fueller and Jill Geltz knocked in shots for the Hornets.

For Betaniger, the well-played meant as much as the win. "It was tremendous game," said Betaniger. "Coach Tauscher has to be proud of his kids. This team (Lake Howell) looks like the best one in years. They are one of the best teams around. We had some opportunities but they shut them down quickly."

"You get at a loss for words watching good play from both sides. This is an example of why Central Florida is the best area for soccer in the state."

Despite having 11 free kicks in the first half, Lake Howell mustered only three shots. But they started strong in the second half, the last of which rocketed off the foot of Harris, whose 30-yard shot bounced past Valleau but slid just wide of the goal.

The Silver Hawks had an excellent opportunity later in the half when Leslie King gathered in a rebound off Joanna Abbott's shot, but her attempt sailed just high.

Basketball

foul line, where they hit 17 out of 29 attempts while the Rams could only manage eight out of 18 attempts.

"I told the girls that we can't foul so much," said Lake Mary Coach Anna Van Landingham. "Because it keeps the other team in the ball game or can give them control of the game."

Coll hit two shots in the last 3:00 of the first quarter including a three-pointer to give Bishop Moore a 13-8 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Hornets were able to extend their lead in the second quarter behind the strong play of Crawford and Joey Mayle. Each scored four points in the quarter and Mayle collected a pair of offensive rebounds during a 10-3 run during the last 4:15 of the second quarter to give the Hornets a 27-17 lead at halftime.

Crawford took charge early in the third quarter with a pair of buckets and five rebounds to extend the lead to 34-21.

"They beat us on the boards all night long," said Van Landingham. "We need to get tougher on the boards against good teams like Bishop Moore."

Tera Hurr buried a pair of three-pointers and Melissa Mau scored four of her team-high 12 points as the Rams tried to mount a comeback. Cymonda Scrubbs hit a pair of free throws at the end of the third quarter to bring Lake Mary to within 38-29 going into the fourth quarter.

But Bishop Moore extended its lead to 47-33 with 1:30 remaining before the Rams got on track.

Lake Mary went on a 7-0 run to finish the game. LaShawn Merrick making three steals in the final minute. But the Rams ran out of time and Bishop Moore held on to win 47-40.

"We've got to learn to be constant from one night to the next. Today we didn't start playing basketball until the fourth quarter," said Van Landingham. "We got to come out from the start playing tough instead of showing up at the fourth quarter."

Hurts too much to laugh and too big to cry
That's just about the way the Lake Howell Silver Hawks felt after dropping an 21-18 decision to the Lake City-Columbia Tigers in the SA-Region II playoff game on Saturday. Lake Howell outgained Columbia offensively, but gave the ball away five times.

Seminole

for the Fighting Seminoles who seemingly had several interceptions lined up only to either tip the ball to the offensive team or just plain get outligned for the catch. Sponger receiver Israel Carr caught 10 passes for 154 yards and just about every one of them was a made with a Seminole defender all over him.

"Every break went their way," said Blake. "Our defense tips the ball in the air they make the reception, their defense tips the ball they get the interception."

Seminole got off to its typically slow start as Tarpon Springs took the opening kickoff and drove 60-yards on 13 plays with Jeff Batten scoring on a 16-yard draw play on third down and 15.

The Seminole offense came right back with a six play, 71-yard drive capped by a 44-yard Kerry Wiggins to Georgia Davison pass play. Davison had two receptions in the drive for 60 yards.

Seminole went up 10-7 on its next possession as Davison boomed a 46-yard field goal.

Tarpon Springs had a chance to retake the lead when it took the ensuing kickoff and drove to the Tribe 2-yard line. But Seminole linebacker Bernard Brown stopped Batten's dive for the end zone and SHS took over.

After forcing Seminole to punt, Tarpon Springs took over on the Tribe 46. The Spongers used three consecutive completions to move down to the 19, but back-to-back penalties pushed the ball back to 30 with only seconds remaining in the half. Reid then threw a pass that Seminole defensive back Rodney Hooks appeared to have a shot at the ball but Carr came away with it and strolled in to give Tarpon Springs the lead with two seconds left in the half.

During halftime the complexion of the game changed as the heavens opened up and the second half was played in a steady downpour.

Tarpon Springs fumbled on its first two plays of the second half but Seminole only came away with a 24-yard Davison field goal that got SHS within one point.

The Spongers came back to regain the four point advantage long runs at critical times and flagged for a season's worth of crippling penalties, great is not exactly the adjective you'd use.

For Montgomery, who coached at Oviedo High School for six years before going to Lake City by way of Pensacola-Pine Forest, and the Tigers, it was the second regional championship in three years. Last year, Lake Howell defeated Columbia in the regional game played in Lake City.

"I have a lot of friends here," said Montgomery when asked if this regional championship was sweeter because it was won near his old stomping grounds. "Truthfully, yes, it does make it sweeter."

The Tigers, who were out-rushed by Lake Howell 254-252 and out-passed 51-30, took advantage of four Silver Hawk fumbles and an interception of a Ryan Thomas pass to keep Lake Howell from getting its offense in full swing.

Lake Howell's defense was also victimized by Columbia.

104 yards of the Tigers' rushing yards coming on two plays. Roger Allen's 46-yard dash set by Daniel Fulton's game-tying 1-yard run while quarterback Demetrick Jackson put the Tigers ahead to stay with a 63-yard touchdown run. Both runs came in the second quarter.

If that weren't enough, the Silver Hawks were whittled for 80 yards in penalties, including four majors. Two of those major penalties added Columbia scoring drives.

"We had some calls that didn't go our way," said Lake Howell Coach Mike Baccaglia. "Those things are going to happen. We had our chances."

Lake Howell took the early lead, Marquette Smith (15th yards on 31 carries), scoring on a 7-yard run five seconds into the second quarter. But the Tigers answered with the touchdowns by Fulton and Allen to go up 14-7. Ted Lane kicked a 33-yard field goal as time ran out at halftime to cut the lead to 14-10 for Lake Howell.

In the second half, Columbia did a nice job of keeping the ball away from Lake Howell, limiting the Silver Hawks to just 15 offensive plays while running 37 of their own.

"They (Columbia) did a nice job," said Baccaglia. "They controlled the ball like they wanted to."

The teams traded touchdowns in the second half. Columbia parlayed a Lake Howell fumbled into Jackson's second touchdown that made the score 21-10 in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter, Smith sprinted 68 yards for his second touchdown, then vaulted into the end zone for the two-point conversion.

Lost in the frustrating defeat was outstanding defensive effort by Thomas Demps, who blocked a punt, a field goal and recorded a sack for Lake Howell as well as being in on a sack of tackles. Sheldon Walker forced a fumbled that Kevin Toto recovered in the fourth quarter.

when Reid nailed a 40-yard field goal. The big play of the 49-yard drive was a 33 yard run on a reverse by Chris Campbell on which he broke five tackles.

Seminole took the kickoff and drove 46 yards on seven running plays to take the lead. Bruce McClary had a 24-yard run down to the two that set up Wiggins' 1-yard touchdown plunge with 7:21 left in the game.

Getting the ball at their own 13 with 7:15 to play, the Spongers drove the length of the field on 13 plays capped by Harrison's catch with 1:27 left.

Tarpon Springs converted three fourth-down plays and Carr made two circus catches to keep the drive alive.

"The rain really hamstrung our passing game," said Blake. "We were coming out of the half with the same plan as the first half but the rain changed all that. It was a good game but the defense gave up too many big plays. But the games over and I wish them (Tarpon Springs) all the luck."

"I honestly feel we had the best team but things just didn't work out, but we came and represented Sanford well and that's what is important."

Institutions ponder Quebec separation

By LAURE WATSON
United Press International

OTTAWA — Canada's Finance Department and central bank already are gearing up for Quebec's possible secession, including monetary union between English and French-speaking Canada, a leading Quebec economist said Friday.

Pierre Fortin, economics professor at the University of Quebec in Montreal, said in a telephone interview the Finance Department was calculating Quebec's share of the national debt, estimated to be $400 billion, while the Bank of Canada was considering a future monetary union.

"They are doing their homework. Competent managers should be prepared to face the worst scenario," Fortin said.

Fortin estimated Quebec would be responsible for 23 percent or 24 percent of the national debt, but would get credit for its share of about $120 billion worth of federal buildings and other assets scattered across the country.

"They are doing their homework. Competent managers should be prepared to face the worst scenario."

-Pierre Fortin

"There is a stunning ignorance outside Quebec of what is happening," Fortin said, adding that nearly 65 percent of Quebecers now favor sovereignty. "There's a big train coming and the momentum of that train is very strong," he said.

A spokesman for the Department of Finance in Ottawa said he was unaware of any special project concerning Quebec's possible autonomy but did not rule out the possibility the government was working on it.

A spokesperson for the Bank of Canada said: "The only thing I can tell you is the bank keeps up on different points of view."

A commission sponsored by the Quebec government, which is to report next spring on the province's political and constitutional future, is expected to call for sweeping changes in Quebec's relationship with Canada.

Fortin said the commission, which is conducting public hearings throughout the province, is hearing mainly from those who want the province to separate or believe it should be far more autonomous.

He said the commission probably would urge Quebec to negotiate autonomy over the environment, justice, communications, education, health and culture. "These are very profound changes," he said.

Quebec, which rejected separation in a historic 1981 referendum, has been reconsidering the question since the defeat in June of the so-called Meech Lake accord.

Make a wish come true at Quincy's

SANFORD — Quincy's Family Steakhouse and K-92 FM are working together this holiday season to bring Christmas joy to underprivileged children in Sanford. Last year this program was a huge success with over 20,000 gifts being given.

A "Wishing Tree" at Quincy's will be decorated with ornaments with names and gift suggestions for underprivileged children in the area. Gifts brought to Quincy's will be distributed by the Health and Rehabilitative Services in time for Christmas.

All 213 Quincy's restaurants throughout the Southeast are sponsoring the "Wishing Tree" program with a local charity in each market. Customers can bring a gift for an underprivileged child through Dec. 17 to any Quincy's. Every participating customer will receive a thank you coupon.

"Quincy's 'Wishing Tree' will provide gifts to thousands of children who otherwise would not have a gift from Santa," said Bill Burton, division leader of Quincy's operations. "We can't think of a better way to celebrate the holiday season than helping bring smiles to children on Christmas morning."

In addition to supplying the Christmas Wishing Tree and special gift tag ornaments, the company has developed other on-site point of purchase materials to generate awareness for this holiday project with the theme "Quincy's Wishing Tree — You Can Make a Child's Wish Come True."

Employee theft above shoplifters

By United Press International

CHICAGO — Retailers looking to cut their theft losses would do well to leave the customers alone and keep a wary eye on their own employees, according to a new survey.

Employee theft accounts for seven times more revenue loss for retailers than shoplifting, said the annual loss-prevention survey by Ernst & Young, released Friday.

The survey, "An Ounce of Prevention," showed retailers reported $2.2 billion in 1989 theft losses, an average of $21 million for the 160 companies responding and an increase of 10 percent compared to 1988.

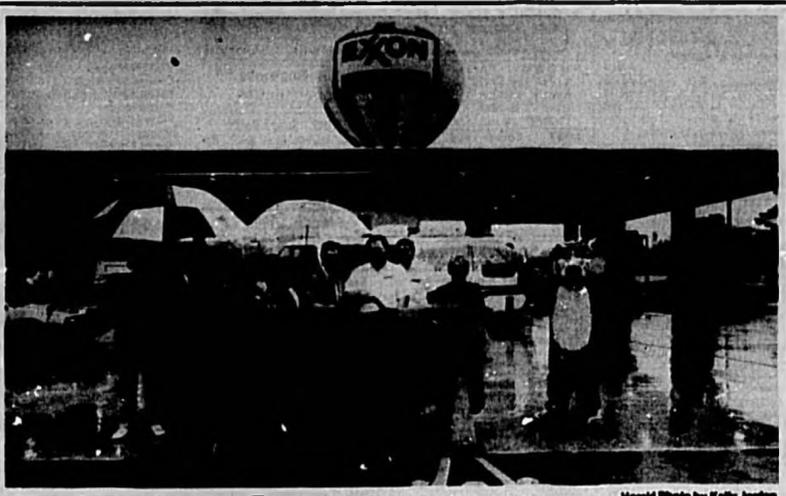

"The average recovery per employee apprehended was $1,350, compared to an average of just $196 recovered from each customer taken into custody, even though 93 percent of those apprehended were customers," said Gerald Smith, who heads the firm's retail group in Chicago.

Smith said it's not just a "front door-back door" problem as employees learn how to manipulate the sales system to steal both money and merchandise.

The survey said 45 percent of thefts were detected at the point-of-sale, the cash register.

Common methods of employee theft included ringing up a sale and then voiding it, doing a phony return and undercharging friends for merchandise. About 10 percent of the thefts were reported in the stock area.

"At a time like this with retail sales slowing down, it's more important than ever for retailers to find ways to save money," Smith said. "By reducing losses caused by thefts, retailers can help offset sluggish sales."

Big Three automakers idle plants to trim unsold cars and trucks

By United Press International

DETROIT — The Big Three automakers said recently they will temporarily idle at least a dozen plants this week and beyond to trim bloated stocks of unsold cars and trucks, affecting more than 36,000 workers.

Industry leader General Motors Corp. plans to temporarily idle at least six U.S. plants this week because of high supplies of unsold cars and vans.

Nearly 19,000 workers will be affected.

GM plants to be temporarily shuttered include ones in Wentzville, Mo.; Lansing, Mich. (A and B plants); Lordstown, Ohio (van plant); Kansas City, Kan. (Fairfax); and Van Nuys, Calif.

Second-ranked Ford Motor Co. was slated to idle several U.S. assembly plants for two weeks starting Monday because of a shortage of dealer orders, affecting 12,700 workers.

Among them is its Wayne, Mich., plant that produces the all-new Escort subcompact car. Ford has pinned high hopes on the Escort to help it meet government fuel-economy laws.

Chrysler Corp. announced plans to idle its Jeep plant in Toledo for one week starting Monday because of high inventories. The move will affect about 4,700 hourly people, a company spokesman said.

Eva Smith

Celebrating 92 years

Eva Smith, long-time Sanford resident, celebrated her 92nd birthday recently, at her Lakeview Nursing Home residence. Family members visited and held a small party in her honor.

Director announced

Joan S. Hansen, Longwood, has been appointed Director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program of Orange County by the Florida Senior Programs, Inc.

Joan Hansen

Hansen, who previously directed the RSVP programs of Seminole and Martin Counties, will direct the project which has over 900 senior volunteers serving at 115 volunteer stations.

The primary objective of RSVP is to provide a variety of meaningful volunteer opportunities for retired persons 60 or older to participate more fully in the life of the community through significant volunteer service.

Volunteers in action.

Helping neighbors

When an elderly Lake Mary resident's home fell in disrepair recently, city officials were forced to inform her of safety code violations. In the spirit of the holidays, employees of Liberator Roofing volunteered their expertise and repaired the home before fines accrued.

Her students excel

Principal believes students shouldn't be allowed to fail

By VICKI BOGOMAN

SANFORD — Barbara Kirby has some strong ideas about education and she's not afraid to let people know about them.

Kirby, principal of the Crooms School of Choice since its inception in September 1986, believes that students should not be allowed to fail regardless of their background or socio-economic situation.

"I believe it is the job of the schools to help students excel," Kirby said.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Collins of Sanford, Kirby graduated in 1966 from Crooms which was then a segregated black high school.

"Sanford is still home for me," she said. She and her son William, a student at Hamilton Elementary School, are both lifelong residents of the city.

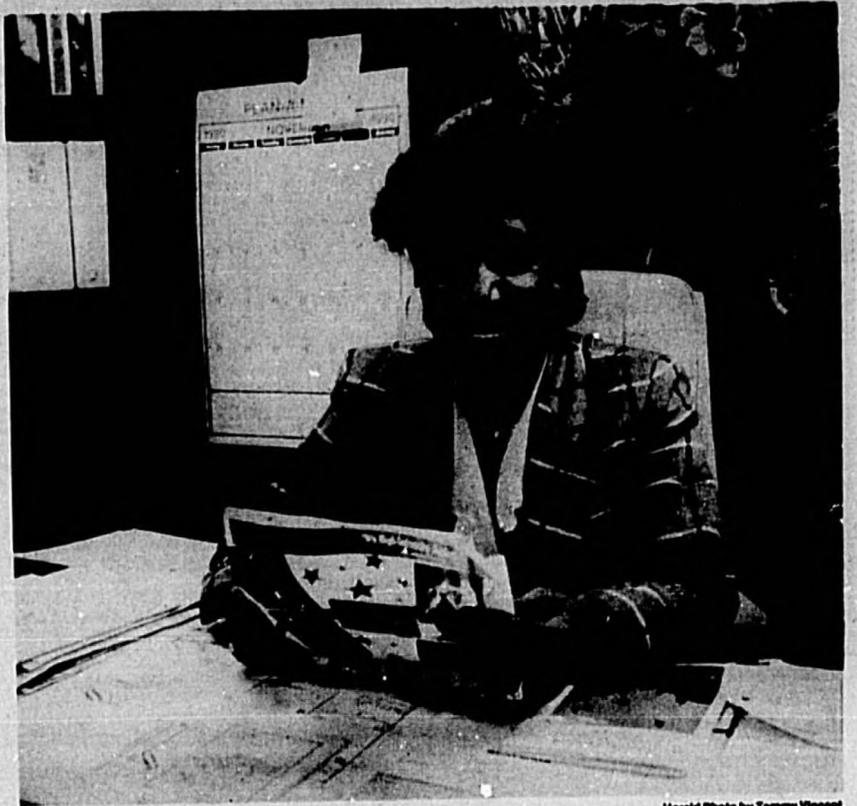

Kirby graduated from Knoxville (Tennessee) College in 1970 with a bachelors degree in psychology. She had intended to pursue a career as a counselor, but the job market was tight when she began looking for a position in her chosen field upon graduation.

"It was September of 1970 and I was still working in the credit department at J.C. Penney's when a neighbor told me about a teaching position that was open at Altamonte Elementary," she recalled.

She said she applied for the job that morning and by the afternoon she had been hired as a fourth grade teacher.

While she was teaching elementary school, Kirby earned her masters degree in elementary education from the University of Central Florida

Local Army man upholds 44 years of tradition, walks 100 miles to honor American soldiers

U.S. Army Specialist Jeffrey Lavallee prepares for patrol.

Special to the Herald

NIJMEGEN, Netherlands — A colorful array of brightly hued banners wave triumphantly in the morning breeze, some with horizontal or vertical stripes of red, white or blue; others adorned with white, red, or green crosses. One has a huge maple leaf in the center.

Each flag is held high by a member of the military team accompanying it. Marching briskly down cobblestone streets bordered by green bushy vegetation, crowds of onlookers wearing colorful as the banners cheer the gathering of soldiers. Dozens of golden haired children dart intermittently between marchers to get handshakes and souvenirs. This scene was repeated countless times during the 74th annual Nijmegen Marches held in this small town in Holland.

U.S. Army Specialist Jeffrey P. Lavallee, son of Paul and Elaine Lavallee, 1057 Weaver Drive, Oviedo, walked in the march. Each unit marches 25 miles per day for four days to complete 100 miles. This is the 44th year of participation by U.S. armed forces.

Though civilians initiated the marches in 1909, the four-day walkathon also honors American soldiers of the 82nd Airborne Division and 1st Airborne British soldiers who fought to secure bridges occupied by Nazi soldiers during World War II. Americans volunteered to work or march in Nijmegen this year.

"My company picked me to march here because they knew I could do it," said the 20-year-old military policeman stationed at Hanau, West Germany.

The marches were initiated by the Royal Netherlands League for Physical Culture to encourage Dutch people to participate in physical activity. U.S. Army and Air Force volunteers went through rigorous training in preparation for the grueling walkathon.

"During the past three months, my unit suffered both physical and mental pain. We started with 26 people, doing 10 kilometers a day. That seemed like a lifetime, with blisters and adding weight to backpacks. We lost about seven people. Training for this was an 'experience-and-a-half,' but I'm glad I made the team," Lavallee said.

The Americans were joined in the march by soldiers from countries such as: the Netherlands, France, Italy, Sweden, Belgium, Norway, Denmark, Switzerland, Poland, Chile, United Kingdom, Canada, Luxembourg, and Spain. The walkathon was combined with a festival Nijmegen hosts each year. An estimated two million visitors enjoyed marching, musical bands, and shopping for souvenirs.

Friendly rivalries developed between the soldiers as they marched and chanted; keeping morale and enthusiasm high throughout the four days.

"To stay motivated I think about a lot of things while marching, such as going back to the States. It keeps my mind off the pain," said Lavallee.

Granddaughter and grandpa base relationship on respect

Tom Yost and his granddaughter, Roxsan Strine, discuss important matters.

By LACY DOMEN
Herald People Editor

SANFORD — To complete a class project, Roxsan Strine, a fifth-grader in Edra Russi's class at Pinecrest Elementary School, wanted to know what things were like 40 years ago. So she wrote a letter to the smartest man she knows, her grandfather. He was around back then.

Tom Yost wrote back to Roxsan, answering her questions.

Some things have changed in 40 years, and some things have not, both Roxsan and Yost agree.

Yost says his fondest memory of boyhood is "seeing baby chickens being hatched from eggs for the first time ever."

Roxsan has a fond memory of girlhood.

"My fondest memory is of boys," she giggled and said.

Yost, who is a consumer credit counselor and a political science instructor at Valencia Community College answered Roxsan's question about a favorite activity around town.

"Teaching other people about government and being with your grandmother," he wrote to Roxsan.

Roxsan prefers jetting around town to the malls.

Yost did not profess to understand today's music and dances, but said kids danced in his day, too.

"I know it was probably some square dancing," Roxsan teasingly said. "Can you dance to M.C. Hammer?" she asked her grandfather.

Yost said he couldn't place the name.

Roxsan had formed her own opinions about life in the late 40's.

"I don't think they had pizza. Or 'New Kids on the Block.' And I don't think my grandpa would wear tights like boys now. Would you?" she asked.

"No," he answered.

Roxsan, inspired by Yost, ran for class treasurer and won. Her mom, Kris, helped her with her campaign.

"But next time I'm going to ask you to be my campaign manager," she told Yost as she hugged him.

Roxsan said Yost's letter opened up a dimension of her grandfather's life which she would like to continue to share with him, just as she shares her thoughts with him about being a kid in the 90's.

"I think it would be horrible if I didn't have him," she said.

Roxsan said she could think of one other horrible thing. "I would have died if he had flunked," she said. "It would have cost me."

Roxsan's dad, Butch, pays her $1 for each A she receives.

Russi awarded Yost an A for his effort and Roxsan says, she also received an A.

"Maybe my dad will pay grandpa $1, too," she mused.

'Superwoman' is 90 years young

Mrs. Herbert A. (Nita) Moreland celebrated her 90th birthday on Nov. 21 with those she loved at her home on Palmetto Avenue when she was honored by her daughter, Shirley Cox, of Austin, Texas.

During the afternoon, from 3 to 5, members of Nita's Sunday school class at the First Baptist Church and also members of her Hibiscus Circle of Sanford Garden Club called at a reception to wish the honor guest many more happy returns. The guests were served birthday cake and punch.

That evening, the family gathered at the home to celebrate the happy occasion. Assisting Shirley was Camille Moreland, widow of the honoree's other child, the late Herbert A. "Speed" Moreland Jr. There are seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Born in Tifton, Ga. on Nov. 21, 1900, Nita met her husband in Jacksonville where they were married in June, 1924 and moved to Sanford shortly afterward. She has spent her lifetime as a homemaker and volunteer. She is still active in her church and garden club. Also, Nita is still driving and is considered a "superwoman."

When Shirley and her husband, Ralph Cox, were stationed in Puerto Rico, Nita went there annually where she spent several months during the six years the Coxes lived there. Shirley and Ralph return to Sanford about every three months and Nita has accompanied them back to Austin on numerous occasions.

First birthday marked cake with extreme caution. Should she or shouldn't she? Quite frankly, the petite celebrant had never tasted cake and it was, well, like "yuck!"

But it didn't take long before charming Chelsea got the drift and smeared the cake and frosting on her face and in her hair with the airs of a seasoned pro at a birthday party celebrating her first birthday, Nov. 19.

The first birthday gala, held on Nov. 17 and given by Chelsea's parents, Terri and Cary Smith, was held at the Regatta Shores Clubhouse. Guests included Chelsea's playmates from her neighborhood and the maternal grandparents, Irene and Randall Grant, and paternal grandparents, Mayor Bettye and Dr. Bob Smith.

A festive party atmosphere was dominant at the clubhouse. Colorful balloons drifted overhead while table decorations featured a variety of party favors and beautifully wrapped gifts.

The celebration may have been double because Terri's birthday was Nov. 18. "Chelsea is my very best little birthday present," Terri said.

Opening the gifts was a highlight of the party, but the cake-smearing ceremony stole the show. "She's (Chelsea's) a little show-off. Everybody enjoyed it when she got into the cake," Terri said.

Chelsea is very special to her grandparents. She is the only girl grandchild on both sides. Terri added, "She's like IT — the number one honcho right now."

325 eat barbecue

The elegant Sanford Woman's Club took on a new image Nov. 17 when cowboys and cowgirls took over for the club's Annual Country Barbecue. About 325 hungry patrons were served a delicious meal of barbecue chicken and pork complete with all the fixin's.

Chairman Audrey Roush, first vice president, and her committee did an excellent job of planning and serving the country fare.

The doors were open at 4:30 p.m., and according to Marty Colegrove, club president, "The crowd stayed very steady — a constant, steady crowd."

Tyres move to Sanford

Bill and Lois (Chapman) Tyre, both graduates of Seminole High School, are now making their home back in Sanford. The Tyres moved here recently from Lake Toxay, NC. Welcome in the word.

Emy Bill on the mend

Emy Bill is much better. The volunteer and civic leader was injured in a fall at a political gathering on Sept. 20. After being hospitalized, she was transferred to a convalescent center for three weeks. Emy is now back at her home, 216 Woodmere Blvd.

We don't say that she's fit as a fiddle, but happily, she is getting there. Atta girl, Emy.

Museum open house

The General Henry S. Sanford Library Museum will hold open house Saturday, Dec. 8, from 1 to 4 p.m. The public is invited. During this time recent gifts to the museum will be on exhibit.

The gifts include: The Vincent Collection, an extensive display of photographs and memorabilia of Sanford, loaned to the museum by Donald Vincent.

Also, Julian Stenstrom has donated to the museum a German accordion which belonged to his grandfather, Neia Julius Stenstrom, who brought it to America from Sweden.

Among the other gifts the museum has received are Chase and Co. citrus labels from the Chase family and numerous family photos from Paul Biggers and Roy Mixon.

Artists to party

Sanford-Seminole Art Association will hold the annual Christmas party, Monday, Dec. 10, at the American Legion building, 2874 Sanford Ave. A prime rib dinner will be served and there will also be a gift exchange and entertainment.

For information, call Faye Siler, 322-5684.

Cooking for fun

By now, everybody knows that W.E. "Duke" Adamson, president of Rich Plan, has a passion for the finest of foods. On any given day, an outsider is apt to catch Duke in his chef's hat and apron trying and testing new recipes that have crossed his desk.

But cooking is not all the gourmet cook and connoisseur is up to. Family recipes from all-Florida have been compiled into a charming cookbook, "Family Favorites."

For information on the cookbook and how to receive one, call 322-3663.

Coming up

Two events coming up this week include: The ultra suede and ultra leather sale to benefit the St. Lucia Festival will be held on Nov. 29 and 30, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Lake Forrest Clubhouse on Hwy. 46. The public is welcome at no admission charge.

The Sanford Garden Club will hold the annual Holiday Bazaar on Friday, Nov. 30, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The public is invited at no admission charge.

Many local students, teachers strive to make a difference

On November 13, the Optimist Club of Lake Mary held the 2nd Annual Appreciation and Awards Banquet in Lake Mary. A gathering of nearly 80 people were treated to a very entertaining evening.

Each year, the Optimist Club personally interviews students nominated from Greenwood Lakes Middle School and Lake Mary High School in four separate categories of exceptional achievement: Leadership, Academics, Music and Athletics. The nominations are made by the faculty and administration at each school and the award winners are chosen through the Optimist Club interviews.

"We feel it is so important to recognize the outstanding qualities that our young people possess. This is especially needed because of the negative publicity about today's young people," stated Rick Howe of the Lake Mary Optimists in his opening remarks Tuesday night.

LMHS Principal, Mr. Don Smith, was in attendance and reiterated the need and benefits of recognizing the "positive role models" among our community's youth.

This year's winners were: Lake Mary High School: Leadership — Katie Gilliam; Academics — Dan Carrizosa; Music — Mark Murray; Athletics — Joe Menello.

Greenwood Lakes Middle: Leadership — Jarrod Graziano;

LAKE MARY LONGWOOD
LACY DOMEN

Academics — Jenni Drury; Music — Erin Cain; Athletics — Laura Ragucci.

In addition to recognizing the outstanding youth in the community, the Optimist Club honored the businesses that helped support the numerous projects conducted by the Lake Mary Optimists.

The outstanding businesses were: AAA Trophies and Baseball Cards; Go Direct, Inc.; Lake Mary Florist; Sandefur Properties; Shoney's Restaurant; Tru-Dimensions Printing.

Families adopted and fed

This year, the Lake Mary Optimist Club adopted three families in the Lake Mary-Sanford area to provide a complete Thanksgiving feast with all the trimmings. These needy families would not have had a Thanksgiving meal without the Optimists' efforts. In conjunction with Seminole County Social Work Services, this is the second year they have adopted families. Last year the Optimists bought and delivered presents and food for Christmas to other families in need.

"This is one of our most rewarding projects of the year," said Rick Howe, project chairman. "You just can't realize how much this little bit we do seems to mean to these wonderful families," he added.

The Optimists plan to repeat the Christmas "Adopt-A-Family" project again this year and hope to include even more families.

Optimists meet each Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. at Shoney's Restaurant, Highway 17-92, Sanford. The public is welcome. For more information call Charlotte Keiger at 332-7750. Along with helping families at Christmas, the Optimists have placed a Toys For Tots barrel in Shoney's. Donations of new toys are appreciated.

Buy a real tree

It's really time to start dreaming of a green Christmas, which includes a fragrant, traditional real tree!

The Optimist Club of Lake Mary will be holding its annual Christmas tree sale fund raiser starting November 26 and continuing through December 22. The lot is located at the Shoppes of Lake Mary Shopping Center at the corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and Country Club Road. All proceeds are raised to benefit the community and the young people of the community. During the four week period of the tree lot, there will be various youth groups visiting the lot to entertain the public. Anyone interested in ordering a special type or size tree, may contact Kevin Greene at 322-8787.

Rotary makes a difference

Lake Mary Rotary Club members are staying very busy making our community a pleasant place to live. They have adopted Rinehart Road as an ongoing clean-up project, and have, for the second time, honored local students who show outstanding leadership and scholastic potential.

Ernie Cavallaro is in charge of the program which also honors teachers for their outstanding contributions. Selections of both student and teacher are made by each principal for Rotary, according to Ernie.

Honored this month from Wilson Elementary School are: Student Scott Hillinsky and his teacher Linda 'Cookie' Paul; from Lake Mary Elementary School, student Dean Markovich and his teacher Patricia Vick; from Greenwood Lakes Middle School, student Tara Short and her teacher Elizabeth McIntosh; and from Lake Mary High School, student Katia Rivera and her teacher Evon Lisle.

Heathrow to light up

Santa Claus will be in Heathrow November 28 at 6 p.m. to throw the switch to light more than 20,000 twinkling white lights lining the Heathrow development's grand entrance off Interstate 4 and Lake Mary Boulevard.

Joining Santa at the second annual "Light Up the Night" ceremony will be David Guy, president of Arvida's Central Florida Division, which is sponsoring the holiday event.

Santa will arrive at 5:15 p.m. on a fire truck. Children will be invited to climb onto Santa's lap and tell him their fondest holiday gift wishes.

In addition to refreshments, which will be supplied courtesy of Heathrow Country Club and Publix Super Markets, there will be drawings for gifts contributed by the Heathrow merchants. On display will be four vintage Model A cars courtesy of the Greater Orlando Model A Club. The free event is open to the public and parking will be available at the Shops of Heathrow. For more information about Santa's visit to Heathrow, call 333-1000.

Women artists hold sale

The Women Artists' Group will hold its first boutique sale, December 1, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Sunshine Artists building, 1700 Sunset Dr., Longwood. Hand crafted items and paintings by the students and teachers of the group will be on sale. New members are welcome to participate.

Migrant education council holds quarterly meeting

Strides made through community awareness, participants honored

Seminole County Chapter I/Migrant District Parent Advisory Council held its meeting with Idyllwild being the host school. Students, teachers and parents of the migrant education program gather quarterly for a special program and present to the parents and community what the migrant education program is toward the improvement of the children in this program.

The pledge to the flag was given by the Midway roadrunners. The PAC cheer was led by the Midway roadrunners. Schools throughout the school district made presentations. "Peter and his Turkey" was presented by All Souls School; "Migrant Rap", Early Intervention under the direction of Cynthia Oliver; "America" and "This Land is my Land" by the Midway Recorder Band. Also presented: "Tribute to America" by Midway and "A Drama Special" by Midway Live.

Congratulations to Midway Elementary School and its migrant program; they were chosen to have the computer lab setup at their school and they won the most persons in attendance at this district meeting with 65 persons. This program review and update was given by Dr. Sammie Tomblin and Mr. Robert Leidner. There are over 13,000 kids in reading classes in seven public schools and one private school here in Seminole County.

The special presentation to Mrs. Eliza Pringle was made by Dr. Tomblin. Mrs. Pringle has volunteered her services to the migrant school program. She worked most successfully with the needs assessment program. Mrs. Pringle, a retired Seminole County teacher, can be seen doing much volunteer work in this community, especially with the children of the community, as children have always been her life's work and concern. She is helping to improve and make life better for our youth.

It was my pleasure to share the evening of appreciation from the Seminole County Chapter I migrant program. For media support of the Chapter I program, my thanks for the privilege to serve such a dedicated, much needed and involved program that touches the lives of the kids whose needs educationally are great.

Seniors treated

Sweet Harmony Order of Eastern Star treated the residents of Redding Gardens senior citizens to a pre-Thanksgiving dinner with a program of joy and love expressed to those attending. Happy Thanksgiving from Sweet Harmony, Eartha Melton, Mastron and all the members of the Lodge for 1990. Among those sharing the dinner and having a grand time were: Doris Johnson, Fannie Lawrence, Willie Mae Johnson and Louise Russel. Sweet Harmony can be seen throughout the year doing good and helping those in need.

Mature citizens honored

Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha, honored mature citizens at a luncheon Nov. 17th at noon, at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce Building.

The program of praise and thanksgiving was rendered by a musical group. The citizens enjoyed an afternoon of fun, joy and thanksgiving and dined on turkey and all of the special foods that makes Thanksgiving very special. Caregivers need a little TLC themselves

DEAR ABBY: This is for "The Lonesome Caretaker," who cared for her husband who had Alzheimer's disease for 14 years. She is to be commended for her loyalty and devotion.

It is all too common for one person to bear the burden of caring for an ailing spouse, parent or loved one with little help from other family members.

We have a fairly new help group in Gadsden, Ala. We caregivers meet with other caregivers, exchanging information and finding comfort in the company of others who share the same kind of loneliness and problems. We have a gentleman in our group who has taken care of his wife for 16 years. (She suffers from Alzheimer's.)

We call our group "W.I.M.," which stands for "Women in the Middle." Anyone wanting information on how to start a W.I.M. group in his or her area should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Women in the Middle Inc., P.O. Box 2811, Gadsden, Ala. 35903.

This group is not exclusively for women — it's a support group for the entire family. We call ourselves "women" in the middle because caregiving — the never-ending laundry, cooking, cleaning and nurturing that go along with caring for those who are unable to care for themselves — has traditionally been the role of women. Please print this, Abby, and spread the word.

CAROL J. HAMILTON, COLLINSVILLE, ALA.

DEAR CAROL: Your letter could not have been more timely. Congress has officially designated Nov. 24-30 as National Caregivers Week.

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Thank you for alerting other caregivers that there is strength as well as comfort and camaraderie in organizing.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a church pastor for many years, during which time I have officiated at hundreds of weddings and attended almost as many wedding receptions. Some of these weddings are for non-church members who suddenly need a minister to marry them. I counsel them, rehearse them, conduct the ceremonies and remain for the pictures. So often, as they leave the church, they say, "By the way, Reverend, we'd love to have you and your wife come to our reception."

Abby, my wife and I agreed long ago to attend only receptions to which we had received formal invitations. I always decline such last-minute invitations graciously. I wonder why so many couples extend these verbal invitations to a wedding reception that had been planned months in advance? If we were sincerely wanted, why were we not sent an invitation in the mail like all the other folks who were properly invited in that fashion?
ANONYMOUS PASTOR

DEAR PASTOR: I have heard from brides over the years who have said, "We'd really like to have our pastor and his wife attend our wedding reception, but we hesitate to mail them a formal invitation because it might look like we're fishing for a wedding gift."

However, having seen both sides of this sticky wicket, I am still of the opinion that the clergyman officiating at weddings should be sent formal invitations.

DEAR ABBY: I am speaking on behalf of police dispatchers who respond to 911 calls.

So many people are not clear about when to call 911. In a nutshell, they should call only when there is an immediate threat to human life or property.

Do not call because a dog is barking and you can't sleep. Do not call if your cat is in a tree and you can't get it down.

Do not call if you notice sparks come out of your television. If you smell something burning in either the apartment above you, below you, on either side of you (but you are sure it's not in your apartment), do not call 911. Call the Fire Department!

If you are witnessing a crime — call immediately. If you wait 20 minutes to call because you were on your way home when you saw it happen, we probably won't be able to do anything except take a report. If you had called immediately, we might have been able to catch the bad guy.

Also, when you call 911, expect to answer some questions. They are important or we wouldn't ask them. Callers think all they have to do is say, "Send police," and we will rush over.

Unfortunately, that is not the case. Only on TV do they get a call and send the police out in five seconds. Also, we could get a patrol car out faster if the caller would stop cursing, yelling and insulting us.

We try to be professional, courteous and fast, but the abuse we get is unbelievable.

We dispatchers work various shifts. We are open 24 hours around the clock, and somebody has to work weekends and holidays, so we all take our turns.

Thanks, Abby, for printing this. I've seen everything from soup to nuts in your column, so this should make it. Just sign this...

DEAR ABBY: I have a married daughter who has two children. I also have a son. He is not married. How should the amount I spend for Christmas gifts be figured?

For example, if I spend $100 per person for Christmas, my daughter's family will get a total of $400. Should I give my unmarried son $100 — or the same I give my daughter's family, which is $400?

I want to be fair, but I don't think my son should be cheated because he's not married. What do you think?

FEELING GUILTY IN WARREN, MICH.

DEAR FEELING GUILTY: Your son is not being cheated. If you plan on giving $100 to each person, your daughter's family is comprised of four people — hence $400 is appropriate.

Since your son has no wife and family, your gift of $100 to him is fair. You have no reason to feel guilty.

Driving after smoking dope very dangerous

DEAR MARY: Is it safe for a person to drive after he's smoked dope, even if he hasn't smoked for an hour before? When my boyfriend and I are watching TV at my apartment, we like to share a joint or two. We never smoke right before he goes home because we don't want him to smell like marijuana if he should get stopped, but I still worry about him getting into an accident and getting hurt. IN LOVE DEAR IN LOVE: You have every reason to be worried if the man you love is smoking marijuana and then driving. It doesn't matter that your boyfriend may not feel high when he leaves your apartment, since the effect of marijuana may last for several hours after the high has passed. Marijuana delays a person's response to sights and sounds, so it takes a driver longer to react to a dangerous situation. The greater the demands of the driving situation, the less able he will be to respond quickly and appropriately. Additionally, the combined use of marijuana and alcohol is even more hazardous than using either alone. It is irresponsible and illegal to drive under the influence of any drug, and if your boyfriend continues to do so, the consequences can be both dangerous and deadly. BOOK REVIEWS

Rushdie return is a triumph

Haroun and the Sea of Stories By Salman Rushdie (Granta/Viking, $19 pp., $18.95) There will be, for those familiar with harrowing, unhappy days of Salman Rushdie since the publication of "The Satanic Verses" and the Ayatollah Khomeini's death threat, a kind of pathos in this novel of a story teller whose lost his gift of gab. And while that pathos remains as a flickering shadow in the background, Rushdie is such a wonderfully delightful teller of tall tales that "Haroun" emerges as a triumph, the perfect follow-up to "The Satanic Verses." On its most basic level, "Haroun" is a child's story. Rushdie says he began it as a bedtime story for his son but its subtext is all about the nature — and necessity — of storytelling in a world, like the city of Alifbay in the story, that is "so ruinously sad it had forgotten its name." The novel is centered on a professional storyteller, Rashid Khalifa, known to his admirers as "The Ocean of Notions" but to his detractors as "The Shah of Blah," and his son, Haroun. As they must in all stories, things go awry for Rashid when his wife runs off with a neighbor, a pinched-up little clerk, and his son has a crisis of faith in his father, asking him, "What's the use of stories that aren't even true?" The twin crises strip Rashid of his storytelling ability. But then, as they must in all stories, the crises also launch Rashid and Haroun on a series of adventures, propelled by Haroun's effort to retrieve his father's special gift, and it is on these adventures that Rushdie's imagination soars to childlike heights — to the earth's invisible second moon, the magnificent city of Gup and an epic battle between the forces of light and dark. "Haroun and the Sea of Stories" is a masterpiece, one of those books that should be an instant classic — delightful and thoughtful, a book for both children and adults, pulled off with verve and cunning. It's the perfect answer to all the dour ayatollahs — in Iran and America — who would silence the tellers of tales.

Kirby

Continued from Page 1C and Specialist in Education degree from Stetson University. She taught for five years at Altamonte Elementary and another eight at Lake Orla Elementary School, also in Altamonte Springs before submitting her qualifications for the job she currently holds.

"I love teaching and working with youth," said Kirby, who added that she would not trade her job for anything. She said she has turned down a marketing job with IBM to continue working with youngsters.

When she is not at work, Kirby is active with the youth at St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church in Sanford. Kirby said that not all students at Crooms School of Choice are discipline problems. As a matter of fact, only about 10 percent of the student body fits that description.

"Most of the students, 140 of them to be exact, are alternative education students. Some are teen parents. Only 20 are actual discipline problems who were recommended by the board as an alternative to expulsion," she explained.

The majority of the students are "average or better." It is Kirby's particular forte to help those students work up to their potential.

"We give them alternative ways of learning," said Kirby who said that emphasis is placed on hands-on learning, a technique regularly abandoned after elementary school.

Kirby was appointed by Education Commissioner Betty Castor to the Teen Parent Task Force to study the special problems of educating teen parents. She is currently the secretary of the Seminole Association of School Administrators.

She is a member of the board of directors of the Seminole County Red Cross. Kirby said the Sanford community has been very supportive of her efforts at Crooms. The school has nine business partners who work with them on various projects, donating time as well as money to their cause.

"There is not one business that I have approached who has not come through for the school," she said.

Rams finish this month while looking to the next

By ALLISON SLATER
High school correspondent

LAKE MARY — November has been an exciting month for Lake Mary High School.

After winning Seminole's Homecoming game 24-21 with a nail-biting last four minutes of play, the Rams accepted an invitation to play in the Thanksgiving Day Rotary Bowl against Dr. Phillips High School played at Lyman.

Thrilled studentlike junior Emily Adams, whose older brother Sean plays center on the team. "I'm really happy for the team," she commented. "They played a good game against Seminole and they worked hard for the win."

Last week, nearly every first period class in the school planned and organized a service project for December. Students and teachers decided what project they wanted, such as sponsoring needy families, donating to the Missing Children's Center, writing letters to the soldiers in the Middle East and cleaning up the school's adopted road. This program was designed by the administration to keep the whole school working on the "Rama Care" theme, which seems especially important during the holiday season.

Clubs are also planning projects during the season. The National Honor Society chapter has organized a toy drive for migrant families and sent a package and holiday greeting cards to the Middle East. Interact is collecting canned food and will help entertain terminally ill children at Christmas and Student Government will go caroling at nursing homes.

Students offer their help to needy school bus driver

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald staff writer

OVIEDO — The students at Tuskawilla Middle School, 1801 Tuskawilla Rd. in Oviedo, have presented a check for more than $700 to Grace Tincher, a Seminole County school bus driver.

They have donated the money to help defray some of her family medical expenses.

Tincher's daughter, Helen Dodge Eastridge, was pregnant with her first child when she was killed in an automobile accident in September. The child died eight days later.

Eastridge, a graduate of Seminole High School, was attempting to drive herself to the hospital, when she lost consciousness due to severe hemorrhaging and drove off the road.

Doctors were able to deliver her son, James Eastridge Jr., but because his oxygen supply had been cut off for nearly 20 minutes, there was little brain function.

The Eastridges had no medical insurance to help pay the thousands of dollars of neonatal care incurred at the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women in Orlando where the child was transported after the accident which occurred in Sanford.

About $500 of the $722 which the students gave to Tincher was raised by the 19 members of Joyce Joseph's Lions International-sponsored Quest class.

The class, similar to one taught at Lakeview Middle School in Sanford, teaches decision making and self-esteem building skills to adolescents.

"One of the ways we help them to build their self esteem is to get them involved in a service project in the school or in the community," Joseph said.

Joseph said that the youngsters had been looking for a cause to take up as a class in the pages of the newspapers, but had been unable to narrow their selections down.

"They had three or four," she said, "but when I came to them with this directive that the district office had sent to the teachers and administrators, this is the one they wanted."

Joseph said the students felt they wanted to help Tincher because of the intense personal tragedy she had suffered. None of the students knew her personally, according to Joseph.

Tincher's bus route takes her to Seminole High School.

The students raised money from the teachers, administrators and other students at the school.

"They went all out," Joseph said. "They went from classroom to classroom with envelopes. They made signs asking people to bring money. They collected change at lunch."

The remaining money was raised by a student government-sponsored dance.

Gym additions and excitement build on Seminole campus

By SHANNON LATIMER
High school correspondent

SANFORD — There's more construction going on at Seminole High School.

On November 5, the Bill Fleming Gymnasium began a facelift: old wooden bleachers were exchanged for automatic ones.

The new bleachers make the gymnasium look bigger and at the same time look better.

Construction on the gym ended November 18th, just in time to have comfortable seats for basketball season. The new bleachers will be there for the first home basketball game when the varsity girls play Daytona-Seabreeze: game time, 7:30 p.m.

While the campus gained an added plus, students received an Honors Breakfast on November 20th. The breakfast honored those students who earned no grade lower than a "B" for the past grading period. Students on the principal's list, no grade lower than an "A" in any class, received certificates for their accomplishments.

Students also got into the holiday spirit by aiding in the Park on Park activities.

Those who signed up helped with games and encouraged a drug-free holiday weekend.

National Honor Society members collected canned foods November 2nd through the 5th to aid needy families.

Students carried spirit from Homecoming week to the week before Thanksgiving. The giving and happiness was alive despite a loss to Lake Mary during the Homecoming game.
