Orlando Students Give Interesting Program At School

By MARGARETH DYBON
On Feb. 4, Orlando High School presented a most interesting school program to the students of Seminole High School.

The Master of Ceremonies,

Mrs. Goforth, gave a short welcome in which he said how delighted Orlando was to be able to present this program.

The first number on the program was a Hill Billy Orchestra composed of Fred Ownby, Archie Clegg, Paul Moore, and Carly Stevenson. This quartet rendered five selections. The Symond Sisters, two very attractive girls, evoked much interest with their two vocal selections, "Mistress Mary" and "Siboney" which were rendered in their own distinctive style. "A Day at the Races", a humorous reading, was given by Mrs. Norman. In this number she personified a young woman who had bet five dollars on a certain horse and when it won, well, you can imagine the results.

A short play entitled "On a Hot Bench" was given by Frank Williams and Sue McCoy. Dorothy King gave a reading bearing the title "Cooking Lesson". In this poem she gave the recipe for baking a delicious apple pie but due to several interruptions she gave up.

Lou Ann Taylor and Leonard Long gave a selection from the Operetta "Pinafore". The next number was handsome Billy Fullender singing "I Won't Tell a Soul" and "I Love You Truly".

Last a melodrama was presented by a group of "Seminole Players". There's a Sandspur in Grandma's Stocking" Characters were:

The Heroine, Ohi beauty divine—Sara Norman.

The Hero, the original Hand-some Harry—Starling Hall.

The Villain, Mr. F. F. Fat Nadler.

The Father of the Heroine—Sigrid Lohr.

The Playwright, who relates the events of the comedy—Myrl Jones.

That Seminole High School students thoroughly enjoyed the program was proved by the spontaneous attention and enthusiastic applause.

Girl Dies Of Injuries In Auto Mishap

Grace Davis Crushed When She Is Pinned Under Overturned Auto Near Bridge

Coroner's Inquest Is Held In DeLand

Hitchhiker, Driver Escape Serious Injuries In Accident

Grace Davis died in a DeLand hospital late yesterday afternoon shortly after being admitted for treatment of injuries sustained when she was pinned under an overturned automobile on the DeLand highway just north of the St. Johns River Bridge, in which she and two others were riding.

The others Ruth Jones, the driver, and Paul Miller, a hitchhiker, were not seriously injured, it was revealed after an examination and first aid treatment in a DeLand hospital.

Eyewitnesses to the fatal mishap stated that the late model Chevrolet sedan in which the three were riding turned over at least seven times when the driver apparently lost control while driving at a high rate of speed and attempting to pass a truck. The accident occurred just beyond the bridge across the St. Johns River on State Road No. 3, four miles west of Sanford.

A coroner's jury was called late Sunday at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon to determine the cause of death of Grace E. Foster, in DeLand.

The Davis girl was thrown through an open door of the overturning auto which came to rest on her body, totally crushing her.

Deputy Sheriff Slaughter of DeLand said that very little was known about the girls other than that they were said to be from some small town in South Georgia. They were said to be returning to Jacksonville from Orlando in the car which bore a Leon county license plate and a Duval county bridge tag. It was reported that the auto belong to a Jackson ville man.

815 Ask For WPA Assistance In Seminole County

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 11.—During the calendar year 1938, 815 residents of Seminole County were certified to the Works Progress Administration for placement as employment became available. It was announced here today from headquarters of the State Welfare Board.

At the same time the announcement was made that during the year more than 90,000 investigations of applicants had been made in the state and that of this number 60,000 had been found eligible. Certifications prior to June 30 numbered 28,619 and for the succeeding six months 31,800.

The number of applications pending at the end of last week was announced as 4,882, indicating that the case load is declining as business conditions improve and seasonal employment increases.

President To Leave For Florida Monday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was better, his physician reported, but still confined to his bed in the White House with grippe. Dr. Leo T. McMurtry ordered the President to remain in bed tomorrow but said it would be all right for the Chief Executive to leave Monday night for Florida where he expects to board the Cruiser Reliance for a Caribbean cruise during which he will watch a part of the fleet's annual war games.

Townsend Draws Pension Attention

Mercury Falls Below Zero In Midwest States

Westerners Warned By Weatherman As Cold Moves Toward Atlantic Seaboard

By Associated Press
Another cold wave was moving eastward from the Mississippi Valley and the weather warned easterners to put on warmer clothes tomorrow. Sub-zero temperatures gripped the middle west, the mercury plunging to 20 below at Minneapolis.

Biting weather was general from the Great Lakes south to the Gulf of Mexico between the Appalachians and Dakotas. Madison, Wis., reported six below zero, and Des Moines, Iowa, had two below.

The mercury went down to 20 below at Havre, Mont., and 18 below at Sheridan, Wyo. Chicago had a low of only four degrees above zero. There was a temporary respite from the cold spell with the Atlantic seaboard but forecasts warned of more cold weather tomorrow.

Pen-pointing out a pension argument, Dr. Francis Townsend, right, ballyhooed his $200-a-month "plan to Representative Ralph Brewster of Maine. Townsend remains in pension foreground as he testifies before House Ways and Means Committee on proposed changes in social security set-up.

Mark Wilcox To Jinkins Reports Attend Hearing 41 Percent Of '38 Taxes Collected On Canal Feb. 20

Boat Owners Unite To Back Proposed Outlet To Atlantic

$131,315 Received By Collector Since Rolls Were Opened

Mark Wilcox, one of the most ardent supporters of the proposed St. Johns-Indian River canal while in Congress, was among those attending the hearing on the project to be conducted in the City Hall Feb. 20 by the Army Engineers, according to information received today.

Mr. Wilcox was extended an invitation by local boat owners who organized at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building last night to give support to the project.

The group is also making efforts to have Mr. Hendricks, representative from this district, present for the hearing. Senator Charles O. Andrews of Orlando spoke in behalf of the proposal on the first Monday in April, Mr. Jenkins said.

Mr. Jenkins reported to date his office has collected $131,315.00 for 1938 taxes since last November. The amount allowed early taxpayer amounted to $5,175.53. Those who pay their taxes during the month of February will be allowed a discount of one percent while no discount is allowed for payment in March and the taxes become delinquent if not paid on the first Monday in April, Mr. Jenkins said.

The taxes assessed on property in Seminole County during 1938 was $2,482,339 above the amount paid for 1937.

The taxes assessed on the 1938 roll amounted to $30,911.77 against $307,000.00 for 1937.

Taxes assessed on real estate for 1938 amounted to $238,885.28. Mr. Jenkins said while the personal property levy amounted to $10,800.00, the 1938 taxes for railroads and telegraph companies (Continued on Page Two)

Workers Are Continuing Improvement Of Links At Sanford Country Club

Work on improvement of the links at the Sanford Country Club is continuing under the supervision of the City Parks Department and with a few more rooms, Manager Bert Fort stated that the remaining nine holes will be in good condition for play.

It will be just too bad, Mr. Fort declared, if the person who has been driving an auto on the greens is ever caught. Mr. Fort said that for the second time one of the greens was dug up and ruined for play by an automobile running in circles over the delicate grass.

Andrews Charges Non-Compliance With Wages Law

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UPI)—The wages and hours administration launched federal court action yesterday against the New York operators of a Georgia textile mill where it was alleged wages had as low as eight cents an hour had forced employees to seek relief aid to live.

Administrator Andrews filed the suit, first of its kind in New York, against the Trueworth Manufacturing company, headed by Robert Korman of New York.

The company's plant in Jefferson, Ga., employs about 100 persons all white and makes men's shirt-trousers and overalls.

The civil enforcement section of the wages and hour act of 1938, which was invoked in the action, provides employees who have been underpaid may recover individual suits twice the minimum wage required by law less the amount already received.

Employers are required to pay attorney and court costs also in the event the employee wins the actions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—(UPI)—A new step in the "revolution" of a Fresno business group against Federal payroll taxes and the outburst of a farm leader against relief costs today marked apparently growing dissatisfaction in California over its social security situation.

The Fresno movement came to the attention of Congress when Representative Elliott D. Cudahy told the House Ways and Means Committee that a group of San Joaquin County employers had vowed to go to jail rather than pay any more taxes under the Social Security Law.

This group, under the leadership of John A. Martin, Fresno contractor, was also preparing for a meeting tonight to demand the immediate deportation of Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO director.

Retired ACL Engineer Celebrates Birthday

Lincoln Grow, pioneer resident of Sanford and retired Atlantic Coast Line engineer, celebrated his 73rd birthday at his home on French Avenue this week.

Mr. Grow, known as "Shorty" to his fellow workers, has been a resident of Sanford for the past 35 years. He began his work with railroads 50 years ago as an engine wiper on the Central of New Jersey Railway. He was promoted to helper at the age of 16 and two years later became a fireman for that railroad. At 19 he was promoted to an engineer.

Before he became employed with the Atlantic Coast Line Railway in October of 1904, Mr. Grow was connected with the Big Four, the Union Pacific, and the Texas Pacific.

California's "campus style" group of state administrative buildings will be enlarged by $1,000,000 worth of construction in 1939.

BROTHERHOOD

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

We who love a cat
With her toes turned in
And her purr gentle
Are strangely kin.

We who love her sleeping
In the mellow sun
When her meal is over
And her toilet done,

Though we are distant
Each from the other,
Suddenly are actual
Sister and brother,

All of us finding Pleasure in purely
A cat's company
Are kindred, surely.

Controlling Drivers

The constant loss of life on public highways through carelessness, recklessness, and drunken driving must be stopped. It can be stopped only through the passage of adequate laws and the rigid enforcement of those laws. Every law-abiding citizen who drives a car or who has children or other members of his family who do drive, should be interested in the passage of a Standard Drivers License Law.

No reasonable person would think of allowing an absolutely insane man to drive a car on a crowded public highway, or a nearly blind person to operate an automobile through heavily congested traffic, and yet there is practically nothing done to prevent just such things from taking place.

As a matter of fact there are many persons who for one reason or another are just as unfit to drive a car as a blind person, or a crazy person, who are driving them every day. There are persons who are practically deaf, there are persons who for other physical reasons are incapacitated, there are persons who emotionally are unsuited to drive, who are met repeatedly on the highways, who contribute a major part of our highway accident totals.

Advocating the enactment by every state in the union of a Standard Drivers License Law, Sidney J. Williams, director of the National Safety Council's public safety division, says that unless such a law is enacted incompetent drivers are rarely discovered until they have caused at least one accident which may have caused serious injury or death.

Declaring that a Standard Drivers License law would eliminate many of the evils of present highway driving, Mr. Williams says such a law would enable the administrator to deny licenses to:

1. Persons under the legal age limit.

2. Drivers whose licenses have been revoked or suspended, while the revocation or suspension is in effect.

3. Habitual drunkards and narcotic addicts.

4. Anyone previously adjudged to be afflicted with or suffering from a mental disability or disease who has not at the time of application been restored to competency by methods provided by law.

5. Applicants who have not passed the examinations.

6. Anyone who has not deposited required proof of financial responsibility, provided the state has a financial responsibility law.

7. Applicants the commissioner has GOOD reason to believe could not operate a motor vehicle with safety.

Planting Bladderwort

Something as effective as draining swamps and marshes and much less harmful to ducks and other wild life has at last been discovered as a means for getting rid of mosquitoes. All you have to do is rid your neighborhood of this troublesome pest is to plant a few bladderwort, an aquatic growth which destroys the larvae before the mosquito develops.

Scientists for years have sought out natural or artificial enemies of that winged pest, the mosquito, some varieties of which carry disease while all are major annoyances", says the Tampa Tribune. "Research recently has discovered a plant which is a natural enemy of the insect and it is to be expected that authorities as well as private land owners will make wide use of this vegetable growth which, strangely enough, actually preys on the mosquito larvae.

The beneficent plant bears the unhandsome name of bladderwort but it has proved its worth. The plant is an aquatic one, growing beneath the surface. It has a delicate green foliage but sends yellow blossoms to the surface. The plant has no roots whatever but lives upon larvae. As everyone knows the mosquito lays its eggs on stagnant water surfaces. As these eggs hatch, larvae are produced which quickly, if unmolested, develop into full-blown mosquitoes. These then leave the water and begin their careers of bearing disease or, at the very least, causing irritation to men and even beasts stung.

The first step in the life cycle is the search of the floating larvae for food. They dive or sink down into the water and if the submarine bladderwort is growing there, it reaches out vacuum tubes which are a part of its organism. The larvae are entrapped and the plant fed. This seems little short of miraculous and, like most things in nature, of course it is. But the scientists have proved their case by both laboratory and field experiments.

Bladderwort was placed in a glass bowl and then 1800 mosquito larvae dumped in. Out of the 1800 embryos, only three living mosquitoes managed to escape! This seems to be a rather thorough job, especially for a plant. No question of poison seems to be involved; the plant merely eats the mosquito larvae."

THEY HEAR THEY DON'T SEE EYE-TO-EYE ON SOME THINGS*Guam Suddenly Becomes Important To U. S.

By WILLIS THOMAS

In June of 1898, the U. S. Naval to imagine how the Guam cruiser Charleson have into the move looks in them. This is not an argument for or against fortifying Guam. It is the island, thinking it was a purely an effort to suggest that sailors, come out to explain that this move, once taken, commits the U. S. to obligations guns or ammunition. And the U. S. commander kindly explained that there was a war, and that the government, like Annie of the song, "didn't live there any more."

That is how the United States got Guam. And for 40 years the navy has governed it. The United States has spent money to keep it out of the poachers, with a trifle of copra as the reward.

Guam was kept in the moment of naval enthusiasm that swept the country after the Spanish War, when all countries were grabbing for "sealing stations" and "naval bases" all over the world. By the United States it has been largely forgotten except by naval officers who always regarded a tour of duty there as something like a French sentence to Devil's Island. Guam itself, as Guam, is nothing.

Now suddenly it is important again. For a proposal is being made to fortify it. This forsaken island in the south Pacific is to be turned into a Gibraltar, a Singapore, a Pearl Harbor.

This is something into which every American ought to look with the greatest care. It is vital; the decision made here may affect the whole future of the country.

Guam is 250 miles from San Francisco. And 950 miles from the Panama Canal.

It is 350 miles beyond Honolulu, which for years we have called our "outpost defense" in the Pacific. It is only 1,200 miles from Yokohama.

Assume that we are interested only in the defense of continental United States, the Panama Canal, and Alaska. That's been our usual assumption, for we are to leave the Philippines within a few years—we have promised.

There may be good military defensive reasons for fortifying Guam. That is for the military to show, and it would seem to want a lot of showing. The more natural assumption is that the ordinary men who had stopped there for several drinks, the Sheriff said.

Slaughter said that the hitch-hiker, whose thumb was nearly severed, was being held in a Volusia county jail as a witness, pending the outcome of the coroner's inquest today.

The Jones girl was in the hospital this morning but was dismissed from the institution before the inquest, it was reported.

Remembering the success of the chain store producer-consumer campaign, which helped move the bumper grapefruit crop of 1938-39 when it was called the nation's number one surplus problem, growers knew that co-operation with distributors would bring practical results.

"Distributors once again offered their assistance," continued Commander, "and by the end of October (this season) word had gone out to all member stores announcing three nationwide periods on citrus fruits: December 1-10, January 26-February 4, and March 2-12. Co-operating with the food chain stores and voluntary food chain stores advertising in newspapers and on the radio focused consumer attention on citrus fruit values and employees have been instructed to carry on an oral campaign to increase consumption."

"Growers have welcomed this assistance from distributors," added Commander. "Both chain stores and independent stores have stimulated citrus consumption and are trying to maintain prices paid growers. The balance of these marketing efforts intended both to stabilize market prices and increase distribution of the fruit."

In 1938, nearly 2,000 North Carolina farmers installed home water systems ranging in cost from $15 to several hundred dollars.

Hitler Challenges Trade Supremacy Of Democracies

Germany Sees Uncle Sam As Economic Enemy Number One

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. — (AP) — When Adolf Hitler read the fist act to the United States in the Reichstag the other day, he was challenging the democratic nations to a long-term struggle for supremacy in the field of world trade.

At least observers here of the world economic scene view it that way.

They take the view that the German leader has labelled Uncle Sam his Economic Enemy No. 1. They don't think he did it because this nation is actually his greatest trade rival, but because the Hull agreements concerning trade equality offer obstacles of trade treaties made to serve the needs of state instead of individuals.

At the same time the richest, and therefore the strongest advocate of democracy, offered to Hitler a strong contrast to illustrate his recital of the case of the totalitarian "have-nots" vs. the democratic "have" nations.

In a casual sort of way the trade struggle has been developing ever since the World War. The first sign of its coming was the ascent of Lenin's and Stalin's communism, inaugurating, as it did, economic theories previously untested by any important world power.

After Lenin and Stalin, Mussolini burst upon the Italian scene, limiting private capitalism, and setting up the so-called corporate state. After Mussolini came Hitler and state socialism.

These phenomena of government are variously understood and as variously defined. But one element stands out. The men who established these systems succeeded by their own boast, because they molded the individual to the will of the all-powerful state.

Meanwhile, beginning in 1928, the depression sapped the vitality of the democracies, and Japan joined the totalitarian group as a "have-not" nation on the make. These two developments began the process of balancing the scales between the two forces.

As the experts view the world picture in retrospect, some kind of conflict was inevitable in the field of trade, since trade is controlled by the state in the totalitarian group, and by individuals in the democratic nations.

Rich Uncle Sam and poverty-ridden Germany unwittingly supplied the makings for the economic war as far back as 1932.

With little gold to offer for goods, Germany instituted the so-called barter system. Any nation trading with Germany is obliged to accept goods in payment.

About the same time, Trader Hull, as Secretary of State for President Roosevelt, set up his reciprocal trade program as a device to increase trade by spreading concessions in a sort of round robin of treaties.

Thus the lines were drawn between two theories, one blasting open trade channels, the other restricting them to specially arranged routes.

The struggle developed like this:

1. The Hull plan guaranteed equality of treatment to all nations that signed up, with the single exception of Germany. The Reich was barred on the ground that Germany was the big, big power refusing to cooperate.

2. Germany selected Latin America as a special field for expansion, and by 1937 had risen from third place in Latin American trade to second, replacing Great Britain behind the leading United States.

3. Early last December the United States signed reciprocal trade treaties with the United Kingdom and Canada, bringing to 18 the nations within the American trade-equality orbit. Many of these nations were in South America.

4. Only a few weeks ago, President Roosevelt hinted in his annual message to Congress that he would propose a sort of war against the present Pan-American economic system. Since then he has received benefits from the United States. Since then he may have been beaten.

5. Among the little discussed factors in the recent Pan-American Conference was a resolution of the American Economic Doctrine. It economic world war of the century is on in deadly earnest,

Disputes Mark Short Session At Washington

Appointments Of Judges, Foreign Policy Causes Debate Among Congressmen

U.S. Will Fight To Keep Freedom

Hull Warns America Will Defend Cherished Interests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Disputes over presidential judgeship appointments and the Administration's foreign policy continued today in a legislative session shortened by adjournment out of respect to Pope Pius XI.

Senator King (D-Utah) blocked for second time Senate confirmation of James V. Allred to a federal district judge in Texas. Opposed to the nomination of the former Texas governor on the ground he was not a resident of the judicial circuit involved, King said he would ask for a voice vote on confirmation later.

The Senate Military Committee rejected, 10 to 6, a motion to make public the testimony it had taken on the sale of American warplanes to France. Ways and Means substituted a bill to substitute "national security" for "national defense." The Senate would increase the amount of the budget by the remaining $100 million.

Do Residents' Fishing License Is Given Support

ORLANDO, Feb. 13.—A dollar fishing license for all residents of Florida will be sought at the forthcoming session of the Legislature, it was announced there by officials of the Florida Wildlife Federation, who will sponsor the bill.

At present there is no license fee for citizens fishing in their own counties but there is a $2.25 license charge if persons fish outside their counties. Under the new proposal the $2.25 license law will be repealed and replaced by the $1.00 law. This license would permit fishing in any fresh water in the State.

The bill would apply to persons above 15 years of age and only those persons fishing with a rod and reel, artificial lure or fly. Florida Wildlife Federation officials said the bill in substance was designed to affect only sports fishermen and not those who fish with a line and pole.

It was reported here that Dr. L. N. Kennedy, Tallahassee, executive secretary of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, had approved this dollar license law legislation.

The State Federation will also ask the lawmakers to revise the fishing license charges for non-residents. Under existing law a three-day trip license is available for $1.75. This would be charged for $2.00 for a 10-day license.

Revenue from the various licenses, under the bill, is alleged to the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, and used for conservation purposes only.

CORRECTION

With the view of correcting any erroneous impression which might arise from the statement in Saturday's Herald, as reported by the Sheriff's office, that the trio involved in the fatal accident near the Lake Monroe bridge Friday afternoon had presumably stopped at the Dew Drop Inn for "several drinks," Jack Zimmerman, proprietor of the inn, today declared that the persons involved had been at his place for sandwiches and a bottle of beer. He stressed the point that no hard drinks had been sold to the trio.

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—To get a straight hold on the elusive question of American foreign policy, go back to the President's annual message to Congress a month ago and sneak up on the puzzling sentence:

"There are methods, short of war, but stronger and more effective than words, of bringing home to aggressor governments the aggregate sentiments of our own people."

Washington observers are sure now that he was talking about such things as:

1. The expanding national defense program that may cost the peace-time record sum this year of a billion and a quarter dollars.

2. The Navy's suggested plan to improve Guam, right under Tokyo's nose.

3. The $25,000,000 loan made recently to China for industrial improvements, in the face of Japan's known disapproval.

4. The visit of Foreign Minister Araujo of Brazil to Washington, perhaps to discuss a loan to Brazil and other possible loans to Latin American republics.

Early History Of Sanford Is Given By T. W. Lawton At Meeting Of DAR

A historical sketch of Sanford's early history was given by T. W. Lawton, county superintendent of schools, at the regular meeting of the local DAR chapter last Friday during which Mrs. F. E. Roush, chairman of the Founders' Day Committee, also expressed appreciation on behalf of the Sallie Harrison Chapter to all those contributing to the success of the observance of the city's 102nd anniversary last Wednesday.

In outlining the history of early Sanford, Mr. Lawton told of the labors of General Harney, for whom Lake Harney was named, in connection with the Indian wars and also of Capt. Mellon who was killed in a fight with Indians at Camp Monroe which was later named Fort Mellon in his honor.

Mr. Lawton spoke of Gen. Stanford who purchased 12,500 acres of land which now comprise Sanford and of Col. Pinnington who was in charge of Fort Mellon for a short time. He also stated that the early history of Sanford reveals that Capt. Mellon and the 14 others who were killed in an encounter with the warring Indians at Camp Monroe were buried at a point somewhere near the present site of the Mayfield Bridge but that high waters following the burial erased all signs of the graves.

During the DAR meeting Mrs. W. H. Ballard and Mrs. C. R. Denson were elected delegates to the Continental Congress which will convene in Washington. D. C. Mrs. L. P. Hayes and Mrs. J. B. Ray were named alternates.

After the business meeting adjourned on page Two

Manslaughter Charged In Fatal Accident; 2 Die In Auto Misadventures Over Week-End

J. D. Simpson of Deland was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs by County Judge A. W. Ware this morning after the former had entered a plea of guilty to charges of drunken driving in connection with the auto mishap on Seminole Boulevard about two miles west of Sanford Sunday afternoon.

Simpson was unconscious for several hours in the Central Loughran Memorial Hospital last night after the auto in which he was riding with Mrs. Louise Taylor of Cocoa, overturned. Miss Taylor was not injured.

The Sheriff's office reported that the couple were enroute to Cocoa after a visit with Simpson's relatives in Deland and that Mrs. Taylor was driving. Simpson was said to have grabbed the steering wheel and lost control of the car to overturn.

Ruth Jones, driver of the auto which overturned, and her husband the St. John River Bridge, died Friday afternoon, totally crushing Grace Davis, who was charged with manslaughter by Deland coroner's physician Saturday evening.

Pete Miller, 3, of Melbourne, was the only occupant of the auto at the time of the fatal accident. (Continued on page Two)

THE "APOSTLE OF PEACE" PASSES

Clergy and Vatican dignitaries are shown kneeling in silent prayer at the bedside of Pope Pius shortly after the beloved "Apostle of Peace" breathed his last at dawn Feb. 10. Members of the Swiss Guard, in dress uniform, are shown standing at the head of the bed a bed so straight and simple in design of sharply contrast with the magnificent appointments of the papal palace. This picture was telephoned from Rome to London, radiated to New York, then telephoned to Atlanta.
