Black man denied Santa job

HAYWARD, Calif. — A college student sued a shopping mall Thursday, contending he was denied a job as a part-time Santa Claus because he is black.

The federal civil rights suit by Michael Whiteside, 20, of Hayward, demands $1.2 million in damages and $1,300 he said he could have earned as a $10-per-hour Santa at the Southland Mall.

Whiteside, a commercial art student, told a news conference he responded to a newspaper advertisement for Santas that said, "A long white beard and a well-fed look is helpful, but not required."

When he showed up at the mall, the suit alleges, a supervisor told him he wouldn't be hired. "The color of your skin is too dark," the suit quotes the supervisor as saying.

The suit said that when Whiteside told her, "That's not right," she responded, "That's discrimination. I know, but we want fair, rosy cheeks for our Santa's image."

Whiteside said he declined the offer of a $7-per-hour job as a Santa's helper.

"This is something I'll never forget," Whiteside told reporters.

Menorah sparks controversy

LOS ANGELES — A judge ordered the city of Beverly Hills on Thursday to tear down a 28-foot Hanukkah menorah standing in a public park or erect a huge Christmas tree by its side, ruling that only together can the two be lit.

U.S. District Court Judge Terry Hatter issued the temporary order in a lawsuit filed against the city by the American Jewish Congress.

Costner film tops 1990 list of flicks

United Press International

NEW YORK — "Dances With Wolves," an Orion film directed by and starring Kevin Costner, was named best movie of 1990 by the National Board of Review, the world's oldest award-giving film group.

The National Board also named Costner best director of the year for his work on the film, but its best actor award was shared by Robin Williams and Robert DeNiro for "Awakenings."

Lake Mary counselor nominated for award

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — Janet Joan Floyd, a guidance counselor at Lake Mary High School, was named Seminole County's nominee for the Distinguished Black Educator Recognition Award in a surprise ceremony this morning.

Floyd, who has been a counselor in Seminole County for 17 years, was presented with flowers by Supt. Robert Hughes, school board chairman Joe Williams and principal Don Smith in the conference room at Lake Mary High School, 655 Longwood-Lake Mary Road, this morning.

"I'm surprised," she said. "No, I'm shocked."

The award is sponsored by the Florida Department of Education and the Sherason-Lehman-Hutton philanthropic organization.

Three finalists from across the state will be selected to compete for the right to represent Florida in a national competition which will begin next year.

The Distinguished Black Educator Awards program seeks to recognize black educators who make a significant contribution to education and who serve as a role model for other educators and young people who may

Beautification set for road

By NICK PFEIFAU

LAKE MARY — City and County Commissioners met in a joint work session at the Lake Mary City Hall yesterday afternoon to seek a landscaping project agreement for the $5 million Lake Mary Boulevard widening and beautification project.

County Engineer Jerry McCollum explained the options that had been determined after two weeks of concentrated discussions with city and county officials.

"It was two weeks," McCollum said, "but we've been working on this for three years."

In reaching their agreement, commissioners selected the second of two options, with certain minor changes involving specific types of trees. The total package included the landscaping project on Lake Mary Boulevard from Markham Woods Road to Country Club Road, C-15, which runs north and south through the center of Lake Mary.

Eventual widening of the two-lane boulevard will result in four lanes from C-15 to Rinehart Road, six lanes from Rinehart to I-4 and four lanes from I-4 to Markham Woods Road.

The beautification project for the improved roadway includes landscaping, installation of irrigation systems, special intersection markings, mast arm signals, and a maintenance program.

While the amount for the total gateway project is estimated at $5

Harold appointed to P&Z commission

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Juanita Harold, of Sanford, will replace longtime neighborhood defender Frank Shelton on the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission.

County commissioner Jennifer Kelley, who made the appointment this week, said Harold is a longtime friend and a retired Seminole High School teacher who taught at the same time Kelley taught school. A member of the Douglass North Star Republican Council, Harold was described by Kelley as a "dignified black Republican woman." Harold will take office in January.

Harold said she hasn't formed any views on Seminole County development yet.

"I just got a great big stack of information today and I'll be studying that," Harold said Thursday.

Harold, a Sanford native, retired in 1989 from teaching in Seminole County schools for 39 years. Previously she taught in Hamilton County for about three years. Harold said.

Kelley was critical of Shelton since he wrote the president of the Friends of the Wekiva River Inc. in March 1989 that he was betrayed by the Friends support of home clustering on the Plantation project.

Castor asks Chiles' help for schools

By MICHAEL MOLINE
United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Commissioner of Education Betty Castor asked Gov. elect Lawton Chiles Thursday to help her overcome legislative reluctance to give local school officials more control over their own budgets.

During a morning briefing, Castor told Chiles and Lt. Gov. elect Buddy MacKay that she favors eliminating a broad range of state restrictions on how local officials can spend state and local education funds.

She said the idea meshes with Chiles' proposed "downsizing" of state government, or shifting decision-making toward the local level.

But Castor said that in discussions with House members and senators, she has met reluctance to begin reversing a decade-long trend toward more state oversight of local schools.

"They did not run out and embrace this idea of repealing statutes, some of which many of them were responsible for," Castor told the governor-elect. "(But) you're in a position of great strength in taking that message" to lawmakers.

Chiles said the key is to devise an accountability system that lets local officials meet special local needs while ensuring they don't ignore state goals.

"They've got to understand that ultimately, we are going to approve a plan of accountability and they at some stage have to trust us that we care

Defense analysts sketch out war

By ELIOT BRENNER
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Retired military men and defense analysts sketched out for a House panel Thursday what an air and ground war to liberate Kuwait might look like and warned that thousands could be killed or wounded.

Depending on the mix of bombing and ground action, Iraq's reaction and the intensity, duration and location of fighting, U.S. casualties in an allied assault could range from 1,800 — including about 300 dead — to as many as 18,000, with 3,000 dead, said retired Col. T.N. Dupuy, a military historian.

Dupuy said that Iraq might suffer 60,000 casualties, among them about 15,000 dead.

Experts in air warfare also said U.S. forces should seek to kill Iraq President Saddam Hussein and, regardless of success in that, should try to knock out his top command to further isolate the troops in the field.

"If we must risk the life of a single

Force Gen. Russell Dougherty. "Also, an effective elimination of the ultimate Iraqi command and control node would dramatically shorten, if not end, the conflict."

Similar comments led to the recent dismissal of Air Force Chief of Staff Michael Dugan, who quietly retired Thursday at a ceremony at nearby Bolling Air Force Base while the hearing was in progress.

Dugan and others laid out a variety of troop movement scenarios — all preceded by a massive air attack against a variety of targets. The air strikes initially would be aimed at air defense sites and aircraft, then command and control bunkers, and finally supply lines and industrial operations.

The ground options included a siege to choke out the more than 250,000 Iraqi troops dug into three fortified layers in Kuwait; movements up the west border to cut Kuwait off from behind; and frontal assaults at weak spots in the southern border. Also available as an option to war planners is an

Students see Civil War through eyes of Blue and Grey soldiers

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Yesterday morning, 140 eighth graders from Tuskawilla Middle School took a new approach to learning about American history at the Seminole County Student Museum.

Hope Lyons clutched a basket of flowers in one hand and held on to her straw hat with the other. A flowered skirt and apron clung to her legs as she ran through the corridors to another classroom.

"I'm a confederate spy," she explained. "I hide messages in my hair and go back and forth."

Eight of the 140 students took on costumes of the day while the others admired the authentic clothing presented by the American Legacy League.

Lyons said she learned a lot about the civil war by wearing the clothes and looking at the military regalia and crafts from the mid-1800s.

"Yeah, I think I can learn a lot more than if I was just sitting in a classroom reading books."

She said she was a little embarrassed to be dressed in something other than the standard jeans and sweatshirt, but she felt better when she saw some of the boys in military uniforms.

"I'm glad the guys are doing this, too," she said.

Owen McCarron, assistant superintendent for administrative services for the school district, didn't understand why she would be embarrassed.

McCarron, dressed as a northern sergeant, stood in the main hall of the museum watching the proceedings. He was waiting to take his place on the steps outside to review the troops as they passed in review.

"The boys have been learning different marching formations this morning," he said. "At noon, they will march."

David Hunter, an Orlando

printer, turned the hand crank on his squeaky press and pumped out a wet page of copy.

"The ink's wet," he warned the students who gathered around to see how printing was done during the Civil War.

"Neat," said one student in the back.

"Not really," said another who was closer to the press.

Jim Elliot, district coordinator for social studies, said the program went well.

"This has been great," he said. "The students have been having a lot of fun, I think."

Elliot said the program has been very successful in its first two years and that he is sure they will be doing it again next year.

Terry Herring, first sergeant, shows guns from the Civil War era.

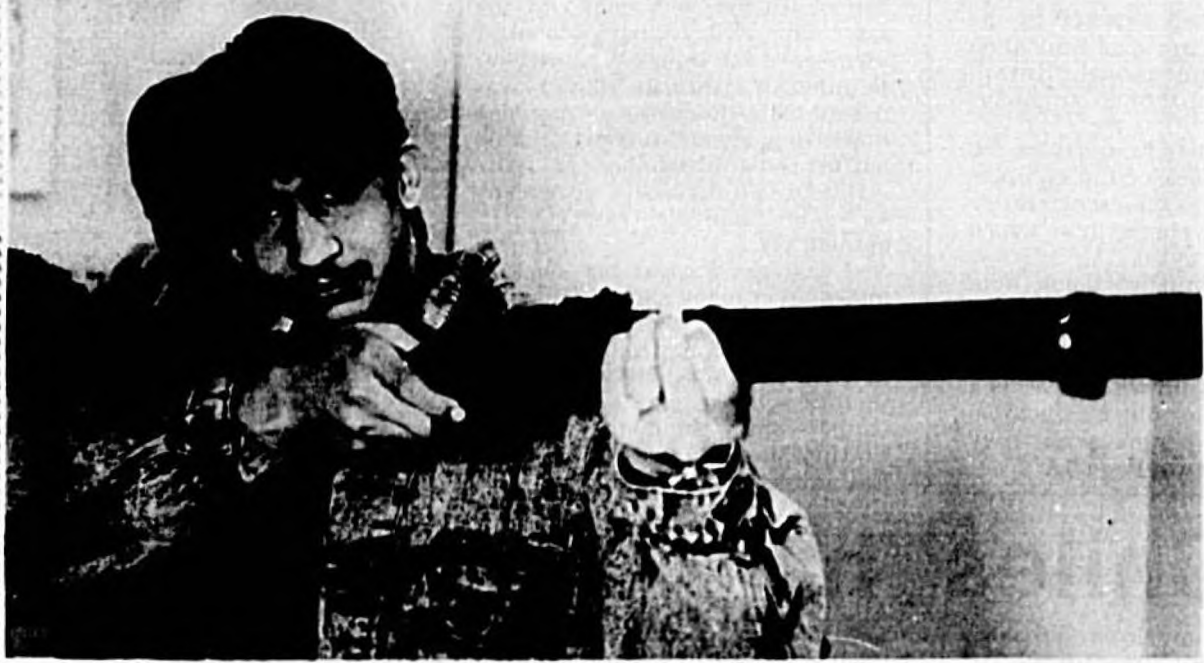

Erica Snigg, 13, holds gun ammunition from the guns that were displayed at the Student Museum.

Natasha Townsend, 13, looks at Civil War relics.

Teacher Debi Farmer (l to r) dresses up Hope Lyons, 14.

Arrest made in Jihad's theft

SANFORD — Rodney Armstrong, 25, 1320 Williams Ave., Sanford, was arrested last night on charges of grand theft. According to a Sanford Police Department report, Armstrong broke a window in the west side kitchen of Jihad's Bar-B-Q, 1926 13th St., Sanford, and entered the building. The report stated that he stole a Sears Kenmore microwave oven, valued at $350, and sold it to an unknown person. He was arrested without incident. The microwave, however, has not been recovered.

Seminole County DUI arrests

SANFORD — The following persons face a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) in Seminole County: Robert Edward Hauser, 50, 1950 Canal St., Oviedo, was arrested at 7:24 p.m. Thursday after his car was in an accident on 13th Street, Sanford. He is also charged with careless driving and disorderly intoxication. Ernest Julius Polly, 57, 2418 Cedar Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 12:42 a.m. Friday after Sanford police received a report of a suspected drunk driver in the area of Park Drive and Elm Avenue. A charge of careless driving was added.

Theft from car investigated

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies are investigating a burglary to the car of Lester Watson, 2790 Bungalow Blvd., Sanford. According to a sheriff's report the burglary was reported at about 8:30 p.m. Dec. 5. The car was located on Sipes Avenue, Midway, when items, with a value estimated at $100 by deputies, were stolen.

Arrest made in chiropractor search

LAKE MARY — Seminole County sheriff's deputies assisting state investigators with a warrant in removing records from a Lake Mary chiropractic office report arresting a man who allegedly wouldn't identify himself. Theodore Thomas Navolio, 54, of Port Orange, was charged with resisting arrest without violence. He was the only arrest in connection with the search. Navolio was arrested at 9:15 p.m. Thursday at Advanced Chiropractic Clinic, 641 W. Lake Mary Blvd. Investigators for the state insurance commissioner reportedly told deputies Navolio is allegedly associated with the chiropractic office, which is under investigation. The state agents reportedly said he is known by several names and they wanted him identified at the scene. Navolio reportedly refused to show a driver's license to law officers.

Sanford police patrolman suspended in probe

By SUSAN LODEN
 Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sanford police patrolman Joseph D. Lebbano Jr., 31, of Sanford, remains suspended with pay pending the disposition of criminal charges filed against him last night, and the outcome of a police internal administrative probe. Lebbano surrendered to Seminole County sheriff's deputies at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility to face charges of battery and false imprisonment. Sanford Police Chief Steven Harriett, who by law can't comment on the internal probe until it is concluded, said Florida Department of Law Enforcement investigators probed alleged criminal conduct by Lebbano. That probe led to the FDLE presenting findings of probable cause for the arrest to the Seminole State Attorney. The State Attorney requested the arrest warrant issued in Sanford Thursday, Harriett said. The criminal charges, Harriett said, stem from allegations by an 18-year-old Sanford woman who alleges Lebbano, who was on patrol duty on Nov. 2, drove her home in a police car after a traffic stop. The woman alleges she went home to get her driver's license and Lebbano entered her house.

She alleges that he grabbed her and held her against her will. Harriett said it was reportedly a "brief encounter" case.

The woman filed a complaint with Sanford police and because of the alleged crimes involved and in the interest of fairness and objectivity, Harriett said he asked FDLE to pick up that portion of the investigation.

Lebbano has been released from the jail in Sanford on $2,000 bond. He has been a Sanford policeman for about three years. The FDLE continues to investigate other allegations against Lebbano, Harriett said.

Florida murderer executed for Virginia killing

By G.L. MARSHALL
 United Press International

RICHMOND, Va. — Buddy Earl Justus, believed to be the only man under a death sentence in three states, was executed Thursday night for the 1978 rape and murder of a pregnant nurse.

Justus, 38, was pronounced dead at 11:06 p.m. EST in the electric chair at the State Penitentiary in downtown Richmond. Justus, who had suspended final appeals, said hours earlier he "was ready to go to a better place."

Justus was condemned to die for the Oct. 3, 1978 rape and murder of Ida Mae Moses, a nurse of Ironto, Va., who was 8 1/2 months pregnant when Justus broke into her home, sexually assaulted her and shot her in the head.

Justus, who was abused as a child and went on to marry and divorce his foster mother, had asked Gov. L. Douglas Wilder to either commute his sentence to life or watch the execution in person, but Wilder refused.

Justus dined on steak and French fries for a last meal.

Justus also was under death sentences in Florida and Georgia for the murders of saleswoman Stephanie Hawkins in Tampa, Fla., and Rosemary Jackson, a housewife in Mountain Park, Ga., before his Oct. 11, 1978 arrest.

His lawyer says Justus suffers from brain damage, but in an interview with Roanoke radio station WFIR, Justus accepted responsibility for the crimes, while citing his history of drug use and an abusive father.

"I was able to forgive myself. I'm at peace with myself. I'm ready to go to a better place," he said. "In order to be forgiven, you've got to forgive others."

"I still take the responsibility solely for myself because I wasn't strong enough to turn away" and avoid drugs and handle the child abuse, he said. "I hold responsibility for my actions because I should have been strong enough to resist those drugs."

He also said he was prepared to die in Virginia's electric chair though he opposes capital punishment.

"We are supposed to be a society that's supposed to be caring ... and that to continue capital punishment is taking steps backward. There's better ways to deal with it than to take lives."

He said he tried to commit suicide at Mecklenburg Correctional Center several months ago because he felt no useful purpose any longer.

On Wednesday, attorney James Copacino said he persuaded Justus, who has refused to continue his appeal, to allow him to petition the governor for clemency. The petition was based on new tests that reveal the killer suffers from organic brain damage.

"It's a real outside shot," said Copacino, a Georgetown University law professor. "A lot of people disagreed with my decision not to file anything in court on Buddy's behalf."

Earlier this week, Wilder, who has refused to intervene in two previous executions this year, indicated he would allow the execution to proceed unless some startling new evidence emerged.

Copacino extended an invitation to Wilder to witness the execution at the State Penitentiary if he were to deny clemency, but the governor rejected it.

Justus, the oldest of seven children, was beaten repeatedly by his alcoholic father. At age 13, officials say he intentionally stole a pistol, bicycle and a truck so that welfare officials would remove him from his home.

Justus would be the 11th person executed in Virginia and the 143rd in the United States since the Supreme Court lifted a ban on capital punishment in 1976.

VanPlan aims to reduce SR 436 congestion

By J. MARK BARFIELD
 Herald staff writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — If you're tired of battling the State Road 436 traffic jam twice a day, then a new program by Tri-County Transit may help.

Under the "VanPlan," a group of eight to 15 commuters will receive use of a van to ride to and from work each day for $45 to $65 each per month. The price includes all lease payments, gas, repairs and insurance costs.

Program administrator Ann Joslin said groups from Altamonte Springs and Casselberry have already begun using the VanPlan and another group from Deltona is forming. Joslin said the plan is open to anyone that uses SR 436 to get to work. It is financed by a state program designed to relieve traffic congestion on the busy Interstate 4 to south Orlando connector.

Joslin said every member of the group does not have to use SR 436 daily to qualify.

"Even if they cross SR 436 they may be eligible," Joslin said.

Besides relieving SR 446 congestion, the VanPool program can help all of us breathe a little easier. The removal of just one car from the road eliminates 9 lbs. of hydrocarbons, 63 lbs. of carbon monoxide, 5 lbs. of nitrogen oxides and 1 pound of particulates from the air annually, Joslin said.

Tri-County program coordinators will also calculate the average financial savings for each group members.

Van drivers are allowed use of the van during evening hours and weekend for any purpose. Joslin said as many of the riders as possible should be designated drivers, taking turns at the wheel and using the van after hours. She said the driving records of potential van drivers are checked to assure they are safe motorists.

The riders work out pick-up schedules, routes and drop-off points among themselves.

Tri-County Transit also operates a car-pooling clearinghouse. For more information on the VanPlan or car pooling, call 843-POOL (843-7665) weekdays from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Runway perils

Air travelers can easily be lulled into a false sense of security when their plane is on the ground. It should be remembered, however, that the deadliest accident in aviation history was a 1977 runway collision between two fully loaded Boeing 747s in the Canary Islands. That crash killed 583 people.

The recent collision between two Northwest Airlines jetliners at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, which claimed eight lives, is all the more disturbing because of the relative frequency of close calls at airports around the country.

Each year there are nearly 300 "runway incursions," according to the Federal Aviation Administration. The FAA's euphemism encompasses a wide range of situations in which planes narrowly miss each other as they cross runways and taxiways. The National Transportation Safety Board warned last year that ground accidents pose "a high potential for catastrophe." During the last four years, the agency has placed ground safety improvements on its list of "Most Wanted" recommendations.

But how many years will it take for these vital improvements to be implemented at all major airports?

Preliminary indications are that heavy fog was a major contributor to the Detroit collision. Had Detroit Metro been equipped with a ground radar system, it's altogether likely that this tragedy would have been averted.

Yet only a handful of airports have even antiquated radar systems for tracking planes on the ground. As a consequence, it is commonplace for air traffic controllers to guide pilots on the ground during periods of poor visibility to ensure they do not stray into the path of another aircraft. In the case of the Detroit mishap, however, visibility was so restricted that controllers in the airport's tower could not see the planes on the ground.

The FAA is testing sophisticated radar and computer systems in 12 cities and plans to install upgraded tracking devices in 20 more cities during the next three years. But, like anything else the FAA does, this long delayed upgrade is bogged down in bureaucratic red tape.

For starters, the program was supposed to be operational this year but has been delayed until next year, largely because of technical problems. A lack of funding also was a factor behind the delay. Joseph Del Balzo, who is overseeing the FAA's operation, conceded to a congressional committee earlier this year: "There are things that we could have done better, faster."

The FAA should accelerate its testing program. At the same time, it should ensure that all U.S. airports have standardized markings, signs and lights at runway entrances and other critical locations. The Air Line Pilots Association and the Air Traffic Controllers Association have requested such improvements as well as changes in the way flight clearances are issued to pilots.

The collision in Detroit tragically underscores the need to deal with the confusing and potentially unsafe conditions at other major airports.

Democrats will pay for 'quota' bill

Congressional Democrats have painted themselves into a corner so tight that it may wind up costing them the 1992 presidential election.

The trouble began, as so many troubles do, with Sen. Ted Kennedy, who introduced in the last Congress what it pleased him to call "the Civil Rights bill." (After all, who could possibly be against a Civil Rights bill?) Several recent decisions of the Supreme Court have held that a plaintiff who alleges racial discrimination by an employer has the burden of proving it. The controversial provision of the Kennedy bill would in effect reverse these rulings, putting the burden on the employer to prove that he had not discriminated.

President Bush objected to the bill as drafted, pointing out that under it the only sure way an employer could prove he hadn't discriminated would be by adhering rigidly to racial hiring quotas — something Mr. Bush and a great many other people oppose. Sen. Kennedy blandly denied that his bill would in effect mandate quotas, and even added some language to the text denying gratuitously that it had any such purpose. But he refused to modify the provision shifting the burden of proof. Mr. Bush thereupon vetoed the bill, and his veto was sustained in both houses.

The Democrats have vowed to reintroduce the bill in the next Congress and fight for it to the bitter end. But they are beginning to sense uneasily that they are holding the short end of this particular stick, and that the issue, if dragged into the 1992 presidential campaign, may do them deadly damage. (They are already convinced that it was responsible for the defeat last month of their liberal black candidate, Harvey Gantt, by Sen. Jesse Helms.)

Thus far, however, the congressional Democrats and their liberal allies in the media have remained on their collision course with disaster in this regard. Democratic spokesmen are quoted by the media as rejecting

The trouble began, as so many troubles do, with Sen. Ted Kennedy.

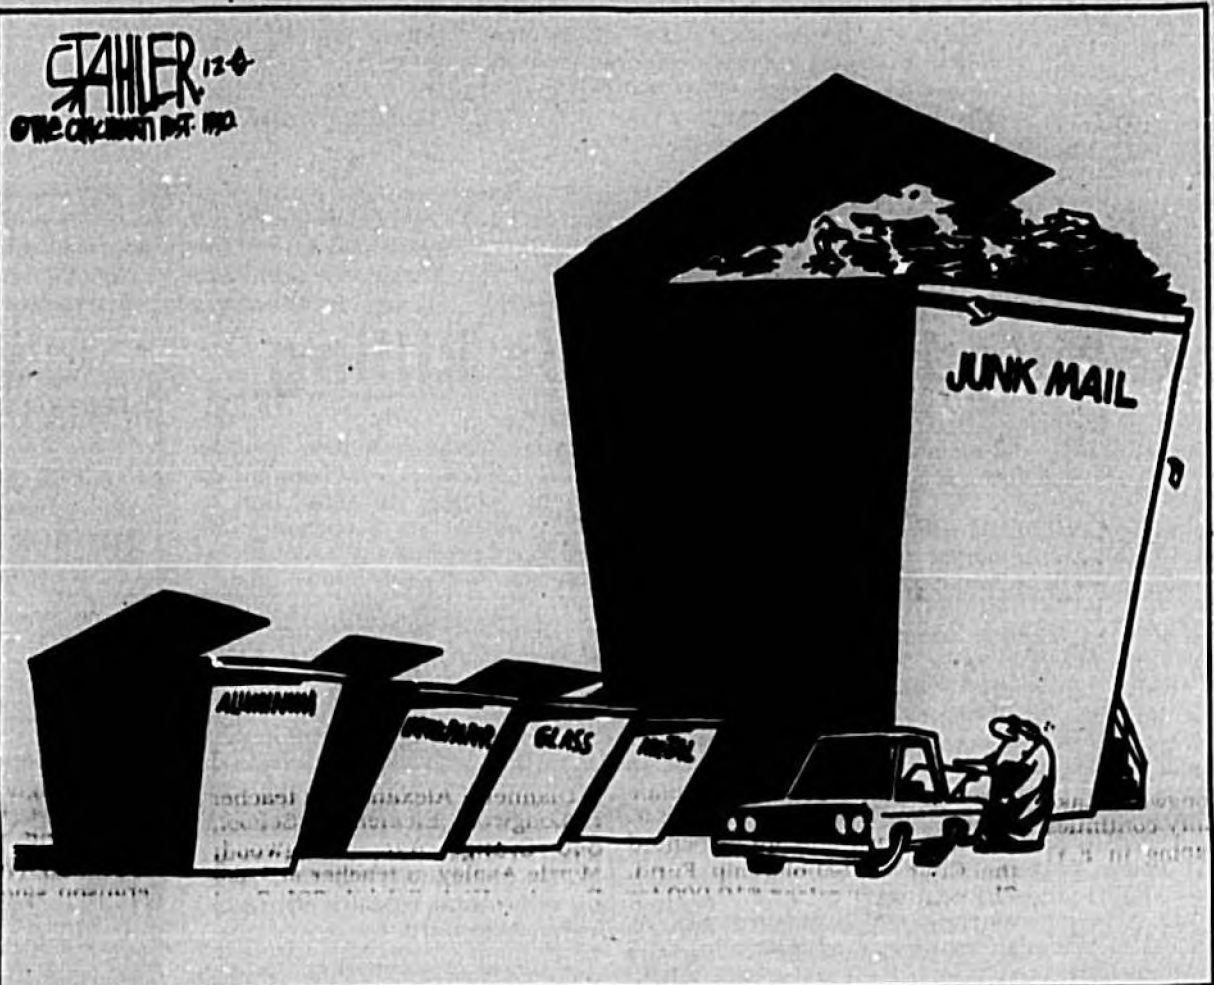

"angrily" or "furiously" the contention that Kennedy's measure is a quota bill — which merely means that they are petrified by the charge. They have lashed out at the bill's Republican critics, charging them with "racism" — probably the ugliest accusation currently available in the lexicon of American politics.

But the Republicans have kept their cool, as they ought to. In the words of House Republican whip Newt Gingrich, "People who want some kind of quota or set-aside based on your racial background should be forced to debate in public their vision of America."

The truth is that the Democrats, in their tireless pursuit of black voters, have gotten in the bad habit of disregarding the legitimate interests of white Americans. Their only hope now is to prevent anybody from raising the point by denouncing everyone who does so as "racist."

But even this malignant tactic has its limitations. Most Americans, after all, are white, and their resistance to reverse discrimination in hiring (which is what quotas amount to) is likely to rise if that recession the Democrats have been praying for actually arrives and the unemployment statistics begin to climb.

It is hard to see what political benefit the Democrats can hope to squeeze out of this issue.

Services vie for share of war

WASHINGTON — It will probably be weeks, or perhaps months, before American forces go into battle in the Persian Gulf — if there is to be a war.

But ever since Saddam Hussein's forces entered Kuwait, the various U.S. armed services have been locked in their own battle, to insure that each gets its own piece of the action no matter the cost in dollars or lives.

The Pentagon and its military commanders speak glowingly of the new unified command structure. It was instituted after the lessons of Vietnam to insure that inter-service rivalries will not interfere with the completion of military missions. But in the face of shrinking budgets and a plan to cut the active duty force by as much as 500,000 over the next five years, that rivalry has turned into an intense war for dollars. And each service's greatest worry is being shown up as not needed when U.S. forces are actually sent into battle.

By the time the U.S. buildup in the Gulf is completed — the U.N. deadline for the possible use of force is Jan. 15 — more than 400,000 Americans will be committed. They include large percentages of the active Army (more than eight full divisions), Navy (six of its 13 aircraft carrier battle groups, plus a battleship and other ships), Air Force (planes from half of its 24 air wings), Marines (two expeditionary forces — two-thirds of the Corp's entire battle strength), and even the Coast Guard (six ships and additional personnel assigned to Navy ships for embargo duty in the Gulf).

This force, larger than the combined force actually used in Vietnam, in part reflects the military philosophy of Joint Chiefs of Staff chairman Gen. Colin Powell. He represents the prevalent thought in the Pentagon that the biggest mistake the United States made in Vietnam was the slow and gradual buildup of force. It allowed the enemy to adjust to the growing force and to successfully resist it in the end. The new philosophy is that if the United States must go into battle, it should have an irresistible force in place before the first shot is fired.

That was true in Granada and that was true in Panama. In both instances, the number of U.S. forces committed to the action was vastly more than what was called for strictly from a military perspective. But the size of the forces used in both Granada and Panama were also increased through each service fighting for its piece of the glory.

Initially, in the hours and days after the Iraqi invasion, the priority was getting enough troops and planes on the ground to dissuade Saddam from rolling across Kuwait into the oil fields of Saudi Arabia. It was simply a matter of using whatever ready forces were available from whatever branch of service. But once it became clear that the buildup was going to be large and extended, then the service chiefs began their fight to make sure that they had just as many people and weapon systems committed to the Gulf as their rivals.

Now that the size of the buildup has been completely committed, the internal war in the Pentagon has shifted to the order of battle. Each service wants to insure that if a shooting war begins, it will be allowed to do what it has been trained to do.

This shift of emphasis from buildup to order of battle has already brought about the first major casualty in the Pentagon's internal war.

Air Force chief-of-staff Gen. Michael J. Dugan was fired, and he is being forced to retire, after telling reporters that the way to defeat Saddam Hussein is to simply bomb Iraq back into the stone age.

It was generally assumed that Dugan's firing was for making the highly injudicious statement at a time when the United States was pushing in the United Nations for the imposition of economic sanctions and the military option was being soft-pedaled.

But Pentagon insiders say the reason Dugan was sacked was that his interview infuriated Army Gen. Powell and Desert Shield field commander Army Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf. They read the interview as Dugan telling reporters that air power alone could bring Saddam to his knees and that the large use of ground forces was unnecessary.

To the Army that thought it is absolute heresy, and reportedly both Powell and Schwarzkopf urged Defense Secretary Dick Cheney to fire Dugan.

If all that was at stake here was the unnecessary spending of tens of millions it would be one thing. But Pentagon insiders say that the insistence of all the services that they get their fair share of the action is going to result in needless U.S. casualties.

Simply put, Dugan may have spoken injudiciously, but he was speaking the truth: Military planners say that it is very likely that Iraq can largely be defeated from the air and that large-scale ground operations — with their high casualty ratios — are unnecessary.

It was simply a matter of using whatever ready forces were available from whatever branch of service.

Iraq could have deadly missiles

WASHINGTON — Iraq has an arsenal of formidable long-range missiles, which may include the Soviet SS-12 "Scaleboard" missiles that the Soviets agreed to destroy under the 1987 Intermediate Nuclear Forces Treaty. The Soviets made the missiles to carry nuclear warheads, but it is unlikely that if the SS-12s were given to Iraq, the Soviets would have been foolhardy enough to include the nuclear warheads. Top-secret Central Intelligence Agency and Defense Intelligence Agency reports say that a Soviet diplomat in Baghdad has secretly warned both Turkish and U.S. diplomats there that the Scaleboards were given to Iraq. The transaction predated the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

The Scaleboards and other Iraqi-produced missiles have the capability of dropping chemical and conventional warheads on American troops in Saudi Arabia and on Saddam Hussein's most hated enemies, Israel and Syria.

The only bright spot in the alarming reports is that Iraq has such a limited number of missile launchers for its several hundred missiles that it is currently trying to jury-rig flatbed trucks as launchers. One classified estimate says Iraq has no more than 60 fixed launch pads and 36 mobile launchers. Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze has confidentially told U.S. officials that the Soviets never gave Iraq any SS-12 missiles. And given the glowing Soviet record of nuclear non-proliferation, it is extremely unlikely that any nuclear warhead changed hands.

But the recent warnings from lower-level Soviet diplomatic channels are puzzling. At first, a Soviet diplomat in Baghdad told the Turkish military attache there that Iraq had received SS-12s. Presumably, the Soviet ally, the United States. Then, the same Soviet diplomat set up a meeting with a U.S. diplomat in Baghdad and repeated the message directly. The SS-12s, according to a secret Defense Intelligence Agency report, have a range of more than 500 miles and could give the Iraqis pinpoint accuracy that they don't have with other long-range missiles.

Even without the SS-12s, the Iraqi missile stockpile is formidable. Iraq builds its own at the $200 million Saad-16 complex north of Baghdad. It was designed by an Austrian firm. Another $400 million complex near the town of Mosul, code-named "Project 395," is used to build and assemble rockets and develop the warheads to go with them.

Rocket fuel and other components are made at two sites south of Baghdad. At one of those sites, Eakanarya, a huge explosion occurred in August 1989, reportedly killing hundreds of workers. A British journalist who tried to find out what happened there was arrested by Iraqi police and hanged earlier this year as a spy. A year ago, Iraq announced the launching of its first space rocket, the Abid. That and its sister missile, the Tammuz-1, have the potential to become Iraq's first intercontinental ballistic missiles with a range of 1,250 miles. The man Saddam Hussein has chosen to oversee his missile program is Hussein Kamil al-Majid. And as fits Saddam's pattern, the man is not only a loyal employee, but a trusted relative.

Even without the SS-12s, the Iraqi missile stockpile is formidable.

Zoo offers gift ideas

SANFORD — The Central Florida Zoological Park has a gift suggestion for this year's holidays: a membership or an engraved plank for the boardwalk.

A zoo membership provides members with unlimited free admission to the zoo, a quarterly newsletter, free or discounted admission to over 100 zoos and aquariums throughout the nation, plus a 10-percent discount on zoo gift shop purchases and birthday parties.

The plank, to be placed on the boardwalk at the zoo, can be engraved with a personal name or a company name.

The zoo gift is also a contribution toward wildlife conservation programs.

For information regarding the zoo gift ideas, contact the Central Florida Zoological Park in Sanford at 323-4450 or 843-2341. Memberships and planks may also be purchased at the zoo's ticket office.

Beautify

million, the $1,088,801 cost of the landscaping program will be shared almost equally between Lake Mary and Seminole County.

The amount of expense connected to the beautification project was the only area that slowed discussions yesterday. County Commissioners Jennifer Kelley and Larry Furlong both expressed concern over the amount of money to be allocated by the County.

Kelley discussed the fact that the County was short on money. "We had to let ten people go recently," she said, "some of them had children to feed. It makes you wonder what's more important, buying trees or feeding children."

Furlong said, "What am I supposed to say when someone asks me, how come I can't get my street paved and you are going to spend $5 million in Lake Mary?"

Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris told the group, "We fully realize the County can't be expected to do it all. Lake Mary is willing to cooperate in any way we can."

City Commissioner Paul Tremel said there were an estimated 30,000 trips daily over that roadway. "When you consider Lake Mary has only about 5600 residents, you realize that we're doing this project for more than just ourselves, we're doing it for a great part of this area."

County Commissioner Bob Sturm, who is also a resident of Lake Mary, commented on the concern voiced by his fellow commissioners. "Yes, we're concerned," he said, "but we've been working on this project for the past three years. I think it's time we either flash or cut bait."

Sturm reminded the gathering that "This project was estimated at $2.4 million when we first started considering it, now it's down to less than half of that amount. I think we're really getting somewhere with this."

One stumbling block is the cost of trees to be used in landscaping. Kelley suggested that there must be someone willing to help by purchasing trees.

"I know that some school classes might take this on as a class project," she said, "and maybe some civic groups or even businesses might want to get involved in buying trees."

She added that people who have a direct connection with such landscaping might also be more prone to help keep it clean.

When the meeting got around to the financial aspects of the project, Lake Mary City Manager John Litton and City Planner Matt West presented an estimated cost breakdown.

For Fiscal Year 1992, the beginning of the beautification efforts, Lake Mary's portion of the expenses will be $318,450 while the County will pay $239,735 which includes complete irrigation, intersections and mast arms. In F.Y. 1993, Seminole County will pay $190,875 while Lake Mary will begin paying $25,000 per year for maintenance from Lake Emma Rd., to Longwood-Lake Mary Rd. The County continues to pay for landscaping in F.Y.

Schools

about these things," Chiles said.

Public school enrollment has increased by 100,000 students or more in each of the past several years. Yet the schools must also contend with budgetary constraints forced by lagging state revenues during the current economic downturn.

Some $262 million had to be cut from the current year's $27 billion budget last fall, and another $270 million in cuts are expected next month.

Castor said the state has developed computer programs that give policymakers a better handle on where tax dollars for education are being spent. Statewide, she said, 83 percent of state and local education money is spent in the schools, with only 7 percent going for administrators in school district offices.

Of the in-school expenditures, 77 percent pays teachers and librarians. Ten percent is for classroom supplies and support staff including custodians. In-school administrators get 7 percent and the remainder is to run cafeterias and school buses.

"As we enter a period of additional cutbacks for all state services, it is increasingly important to assure that school site expenses become the priority," Castor said.

Cars

General Motors led all automakers, placing 19 models on the "special value" list of 51 cars rated exceptional insurance values because their insurance premiums are much lower than average for cars with similar price tags. Ford placed 13 cars on the list and Chrysler 11.

More than 200 cars were rated in this year's list — based on a compilation of the company's loss data for 1990 models insured, and results of crash tests that determine what kind of damage cars sustain and how expensive it is to repair.

"The rating information is extremely valuable to consumers who plan to buy a car in the next several months," said Mike LaMonica.

The best actress award went to Mia Farrow for "Alice," which is being released this month.

The awards, considered accurate predictors of the Oscars, are voted by the board's membership, including educators, film critics and film historians. The board was founded in 1909 and has been giving its annual awards since 1917.

Other awards named were: —2nd best picture "Hamlet," Warner Brothers, starring Mel Gibson and Glenn Close.

—3rd "Goodfellas," Warner Brothers, starring Robert DeNiro and Joe Pecci.

—4th "Awakenings," Columbia, starring Robin Williams and Robert DeNiro.

—5th "Reverend of Fortune," Warner Bros., starring Jeremy Irons and Glenn Close.

"I think she is a fine example of the kind of caring educator we have at Lake Mary," Smith said.

The 1990 Teacher of the Year for Seminole County was Diane Lewis, a science teacher at Lake Mary High School.

Those who were nominated to represent the district, but not chosen were:

Diannetta Alexander, a teacher at Longwood Elementary School, 840 Orange Ave., Longwood; Myrtle Ashley, a teacher at Lake Brantley High School, 991 Sand Lake Road, Altamonte Springs; Betty Louise Brown, a teacher at Sanford Middle School, 1700 French Ave., Sanford; Delora Campbell, a teacher at Tusawkilla Middle School, 1801 Tusawkilla Road, Oviedo; Gerald Casanova, an assistant principal at Lake Mary High School; Zenobia Craig, a teacher at Eastbrook Elementary School, 5525 Tangerine Ave., Winter Park; Janice Hamilton-Kelly, a teacher at Bear Lake Elementary School, 3399 Gleaves Court, Apopka; Barbara Kirby, principal at the Crooms School of Choice, 2200 W. 13th St., Sanford; Lurlene Sweeting, guidance counselor at Wilson Elementary School, 985 Orange Ave., Sanford; Christine Watkins, a teacher at Lake Mary Elementary School, 132 Country Club Road, Lake Mary; and Edward Wilson, a guidance counselor at Seminole High School, 2701 Ridgewood, Sanford.

"I believe we have to implement programs which help our students achieve academic success," she said.

She said last year she began a minority awareness program which she hopes to continue this year. The program, she said, brought together students and business and community leaders from Seminole and Orange counties for a day of learning and discussion.

"We wanted to help motivate the students," she said. "We wanted to raise their awareness about social concerns and career."

Floyd believes that education is the key to success. To that end, she has established a tutoring program, in conjunction with the University of Central Florida's McKnight Center of Excellence, to establish a tutoring program to

"The reason we are doing this to ensure we have adequate blood to support the expected influx of personnel to Operation Desert Shield by early next year," Pentagon spokeswoman Susan Hansen said Thursday.

Hansen emphasized that the Defense Department will continue to conduct its own blood drives among active and reserve military personnel and their relatives. "This (the civilian drive) represents a small supplement to what we need overall," she said.

Beginning Monday, the two civilian blood groups each have been asked to begin sending 375 units of blood to the McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey each week and were told to prepare to supply a minimum of 600 units of blood per day.

ambitious assault on the gulf coast.

The United Nations has authorized the use of military might to dislodge Iraqi forces from Kuwait after Jan. 15 unless Saddam withdraws before then. Dupuy said weather conditions would make fighting difficult after early March.

The U.S.-led multinational force would have to contend with brief spring rains that can soften the ground, followed by strong desert winds and the onset of summer in late March running through late August.

"It should be done as soon as possible after the 15th of January," Dupuy said.

Retired Air Force Gen. Charles Donnelly Jr. said Iraq has good air defense equipment, bought from Moscow.

She said her sister's medication costs run $104 per month. "On top of that she has a monthly rent of $350 to pay, plus a $28 phone bill so she can keep her telephone in case of an emergency."

Ferguson's mother had made a number of clothed teddy bears, which Ferguson was allowed to sell through the Army Navy store, with all profits going directly to help her sister. "Now I not only don't have a place to sell them, but the entire stock of teddy bears is gone," she said, and now I need help desperately for my sister."

Ferguson's home phone number is 323-1232.

As for the investigation into the blaze itself, investigators have not made any estimate on the total amount of damage to the Army Navy store and the adjoining buildings, which were used for a furniture storehouse and headquarters for Amvets Post 17.

Although some evidence leading officials to believe the fire started under suspicious circumstances was believed to have been found, authorities would not reveal any specifics following an intensive search of the rubble of the burned businesses.

Meanwhile, the owners of Al's Army Navy Surplus Store have announced that they have found a new location.

Ferguson said, "A 10-year lease was signed Wednesday to take over a former furniture store building, a quonset hut, at 1401 French Ave."

Ferguson said she expected to be in operation at the new location by the first of February.

Niel and Frank Crasnow, owners of the establishment, had purchased the building in July of this year, from Melvin Siskind, who had owned and operated the Army Navy Surplus store at the Sanford Avenue location since April 1980.

The Crasnows also own and operate Army Navy Surplus Stores in DeLand and Orlando. Merchandise in the new Sanford store will be taken in part from the two facilities as well as new purchases.

"This fire was sure a blow to all of us," Ferguson said. "We had recently re-stocked the store and were straightening it up. Just this last Saturday alone, I took in over $2,500."

Ferguson commented, "Things were going so well. We finally got rid of our old cash register and had just gone into a computerized register system."

At noon on Thursday, an old cash register was recovered from among the piles of twisted metal roofing and debris of the demolished surplus store, and was placed in the middle of Sanford Avenue.

Former store owner Melvin Siskind reported that as far as he knew, the cash register, which had been used for some time in the store, was manufactured before 1930.

Raiders prepare for Christmas

SANFORD — The 10th ranked men's basketball team of Seminole Community College will play its last pre-Christmas game Saturday night when it hosts fifth ranked St. Petersburg Junior College starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Health and Physical Education Center.

This will be the second time this season that SCC has faced the 8-0 Trojans. SJJC completely dominated the first contest 91-69 as forward Barry Brown and Lincoln Roach scored 35 and 19 points, respectively. Brown is the second leading scorer in the state at 28 per game and Roach is sixth at 23.8.

The Raiders were led by Brian Nason (19), Darnell Robinson (15) and John Mackey (13). Nason is SCC's scoring leader at 19.9 per contest.

SCC came up with a free win Thursday when North Florida Community College was forced to forfeit its game with the Raiders after a bench-clearing brawl at St. John's Wednesday night. The 2-0 win gives SCC a 9-5 record going into the Saturday's game.

BASEBALL

Card Show at Civic Center

SANFORD — Sports Collectables of Flea World will sponsor a baseball card show at the Sanford Civic Center Sunday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Also on the agenda will be an autograph signing session by the number 1 pick in this year's free agent draft, Chipper Jones of the Atlanta Braves. Jones' autograph will be available for $3.

PRO FOOTBALL

Holtz looking at Bucs

PHILADELPHIA — Despite his dentals, Notre Dame football coach Lou Holtz has intensified his interest in head coaching position with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Sources told the Daily News that the impetus for Holtz's job hunt is the NCAA's 2 1/2-year investigation of the University of Minnesota, where Holtz coached in 1984 and 1985.

The NCAA investigation focused on reports of payments to Minnesota athletes, including about a dozen football players, by Luther Darville, a former athletic department administrator.

PRO BASKETBALL

Magic lose 11th road game

PHOENIX — Kevin Johnson scored 15 of his season-high 38 points in the fourth quarter Thursday night to lead the Phoenix Suns to their fourth straight triumph, a 125-114 decision over the Orlando Magic.

Tom Chambers scored 25 points, Jeff Hornacek 23 and Xavier McDaniel 16 for the Suns. Scott Skiles led Orlando with 25 points and rookie Dennis Scott added 22.

The Magic lost for the 11th time in 12 road games.

COLLEGE HOOPS

Florida Southern still unbeaten

LAKELAND — A 25-point performance by Derek Flowers led Florida Southern to a 105-64 victory over Knox College on Thursday.

Florida Southern remains undefeated through seven games. Knox fell to 4-3.

Flowers, who also had 11 rebounds, scored 13 of his points in the first half as the Moccasins outscored Knox 56-32 in the first period. Calvetti Pate contributed 14 of his 20 points in the first half for Florida Southern.

AUTO RACING

Buicks practice

DAYTONA BEACH — Buick Motor Division teams testing their stock cars at Daytona International Speedway on Thursday were frustrated at being slightly slower than the Chevrolet teams that had tested earlier.

"Our car's running pretty well, but it's not as quick as those Chevrolets," said team owner Bobby Allison, whose driver, Hut Stricklin, posted the days' fastest lap at 191.734 mph.

Brett Bodine had a best lap of 191.164 mph. Ricky Rudd, in a Chevrolet, turned in the best lap of the winter in pre-season testing on Tuesday, 195.355 mph.

The Buick teams, as well as two cars from the Dodge International Race of Champions, are scheduled to test on Friday.

Lyman Christmas Tourney

Wrestling event in its 19th year

By TONY DeBORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — For the 19th year, Lyman High School will host one of the state's most prestigious wrestling events — the Lyman Christmas Wrestling Tournament.

Five Seminole County schools — Lake Mary, Lake Howell, Lake Brantley, Oviedo and host Lyman — highlight a 16-team field that will participate in this year's tourney.

Rounding out the field are Apopka, Bishop Moore, Colonial, Dr. Phillips, Evans, West Orange, Winter Park, University, Flagler-Palm Coast, Stuart-Martin County and New Smyrna Beach.

While defending team champion Sarasota is not back, Bishop Moore, Dr. Phillips and New Smyrna Beach finished second, third and fourth, respectively, last year.

Lake Mary and Lyman were the highest-placing Seminole County teams last year, finishing in a tie for eighth.

Last year, only 12 Seminole County wrestlers placed in the top four of their respective weight classes: Lake Brantley's Jason Trusler (1st, 103); John Roberts (2nd, 103) and Ken Times (2nd, 220) of Lake Howell; Lyman's Willie Campos

(3rd, 119), Aaron Jordan (4th, 125), Danny Giammo (1st, 145) and Tom Calliguri (3rd, 171); and Bart Buchanan (4th, 135), Adam Van Diver (3rd, 145), Tom Henning (4th, 152), Carl Bergman (3rd, 160) and Chris Israel (4th, 220) of Lake Mary.

There will be two rounds in this evening's session, the first round scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. with the quarterfinals set to start at 8 p.m.

On Saturday, there will be two sessions. The morning session will feature the semifinals beginning at 10 a.m. with the wrestlebacks to follow at noon. The Saturday evening session will consist of the consolation finals at 6 p.m. and the championship finals at 8 p.m.

Admission is $3 per session.

Flu-bitten Seminole able to handle heat, Patriots

By TONY DeBORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — Things got uncomfortably warm at Seminole High School's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium on Thursday night.

With the central heat creating an oven-like feeling in the building, the Fighting Seminoles had to turn away a pair of late charges by the Lake Brantley Patriots to pull out a 52-39 Seminole Athletic Conference girls' basketball victory.

The win advances Seminole to 8-0, 3-0 in the SAC, while Lake Brantley falls to 1-5, 0-3.

Trailing 31-17 early in the third quarter, the Patriots put together an 11-0 run over a four-minute period to pull within three points, 31-28. Seminole responded by scoring the next eight points, only to see Lake Brantley rally once again, cutting the score to 39-34 on Shelly Spencer's free throw with 4:57 left in the game.

But Seminole again stopped the Patriots, outscoring the visitors 9-3 down the stretch to keep Coach John McNamara's record perfect

With only one game left before the holidays, McNamara said that he is looking forward to getting his team some solid practice time as well as a healthy dose of rest for those team members who have been fighting the flu.

Morris takes charge, leads Lake Mary to overtime win

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — After a quiet first half, sophomore Karen Morris took over the game in the fourth quarter and led Lake Mary to a 59-58 overtime win over Lake Howell in an exciting Seminole Athletic Conference girls' basketball game.

Morris scored nine of the Rams' 12 fourth-quarter points as Lake Mary rallied from a 43-42 deficit after three quarters to force overtime.

In overtime, Morris scored Lake Mary's first four points before Pam Fischl converted the front end of a one-and-one to put the Rams up by five. Fischl's free throw would turn out to be crucial as Lake Howell scored the game's last four points.

Hawks hand Rams fifth tie

From staff reports

WINTER PARK — In a game of constantly changing momentum, Lake Howell and Lake Mary played to a 1-1 draw in a Seminole Athletic Conference girls' soccer match played at Lake Howell's Richard L. Evans Field.

For the Lake Mary Rams it was the fifth tie of the season, making their record 4-2-5 while Lake Howell is now 7-4-2.

"It was a well-played game," said Lake Howell Coach Gerhard Tauscher. "The momentum kept swinging back and forth. We pressured in the first half but they scored right before halftime. We controlled play early in the second half but they pressured us well in the middle of the second half and near the end of the game."

Dana Hoover gave Lake Mary a 1-0 when she intercepted the ball and rifled a shot of the goal past 25 minutes into the game. The Silver Hawks equalized two minutes into the second half when Michelle Harris scored on an assist from Delahoussaye.

"Both teams played a very strong game," said Tauscher.

Lake Mary had a 14-13 edge in shots on goal and a 4-2 advantage in corner kicks, forcing Joelle Fries, Lake Howell's new goalkeeper, to make nine saves. Lake Mary goalie Jen Preston made seven saves.

Next action for both teams will be in the first round of the Burger King Invitational Tournament on Wednesday.

Patriots blank Tribe

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Nicole Delahoussaye and Marc Stark each scored two goals Thursday afternoon to lead the Lake Brantley Patriots to a 6-0 win over Seminole in a Seminole Athletic Conference girls' soccer match at Lake Brantley's Tom Storey Field.

Alyssa O'Brien made a save on Seminole's only shot on goal to register her eighth shutout in 10 games. By comparison, Seminole keeper Christy Oliver made 38 saves as the Patriots took 58 shots on goal.

"We played a lot of different people and tried different things," said Lake Brantley Coach John Schaefer. "Seminole played a nice game. They hung in there."

Delahoussaye opened the scoring with a goal at 6:15, Carrie Larson getting the assist. Six minutes later, Sarah Roberts scored an unassisted goal before Delahoussaye and Larson teamed up again at 16:19. Stark's first goal came at 29:08 on an assist from Jody Burkhart.

Stacy Fox made it 5-0 with her unassisted goal in the 52nd minute. Stark capped the scoring with a goal in the 69th minute on an assist from Delahoussaye.

"Even though we were on the losing end, I'm satisfied with what the girls did," said Seminole Coach Suzy Reno. "We were flat in the first half, but in the second half, the girls played great defense. Christy Amy (Williams) and Jennifer (Benge) really shined today."

Lake Brantley, 9-0-1 overall and 6-0 in the SAC, hosts state power Orange Park on Saturday before heading into the Burger King next Thursday. Seminole, 6-6-0, will play an Alumni Game on Saturday before hosting Manland on Monday.

Even though returning starter Amy Myers (No. 9, right) has been slowed by an injury, the Lyman Greyhounds are still off to a 9-1 start. But as of Thursday, Lyman Coach Jim Thompson said Myers is back at full strength.

Greyhounds romp

DAYTONA BEACH — Danielle Garrett and Beth Robinson both scored twice in Lyman's 7-0 girls' soccer win over host Daytona Beach Seabreeze on Thursday afternoon.

Outshooting Seabreeze by a 33-6 margin, the Greyhounds took a 4-0 lead at halftime on goals by Garrett, Sara Kane, Robinson and Heather Rogers. Sara Kane, Adrian Kane and Tracy Sher each had an assist during the half.

In the second half, Amy Smith scored an unassisted goal. Kristina Musante set up Garrett's second goal and Robinson scored on an assist from Stephanie Calloway.

 "The girls did everything we wanted them to do," said Lyman Coach Jim Thompson. "We asked them to go to a short passing game and they did a nice job. We would have four or five touches on the ball before a goal. We really worked the ball well."

The victory was augmented by the return to full-time status by returning starters Amy Myers and Cindy Kirkeconnell.
 Becky Carr made one save during the half she played in the Greyhound goal. Sher and Gar-ret shared time in the second half, combining to make three saves in the shutout.

 Lyman, 9-1-1, will next play in the first round of the Burge King Tournament on Wednesday.

Hoops

 Morris had a chance to give Lake Mary some breathing room after she was fouled, but she missed the front end of her one-and-one. Lake Howell rebounded the shot and quickly moved the ball up court, where a Ram committed another foul with six seconds left, giving the Silver Hawks a chance to move ahead.
 But the first shot was off the mark and Morris pulled in the rebound.

Deltona rallies by Lyman
 DELTONA - Trailing 34-28 after three quarters, the host Deltona Wolves outscored the Lyman Greyhounds 15-5 in the final period to post a 48-39 win in high school girls' basketball action Thursday night.
 Deltona improves to 5-2 while Lyman falls to 6-3. The Greyhounds are now done for the 1990 calendar year, their next scheduled game being on Jan. 3 at Lake Mary.
 "It was a beautiful game," said Lyman Coach Steve Carmichael. "Deltona outexecuted us in the fourth quarter. They're well-coached and deserve to win. We need to work harder on our defense."
 Jody Smith scored 13 points and Melissa Mudez added 11 for the Wolves. For Lyman, Jennifer Kruger tossed in four three-point field goals on her way to scoring a game-high 15 points. Teisha Robinson chipped in with 11.

Parke leads OCS boys
 MAITLAND - Daniel Parke scored 24 points and Tim Seness 14 to lead Orangewood Christian to a 68-51 triumph over Melbourne Central Catholic in a Class 1A-district 8 contest at Maitland Thursday night.
 Every member of the Rams team got a lot of playing time as they ran out to a 34-20 halftime advantage and cruised to their fourth district win in five outings. Overall Orangewood improved to 5-3.
 Also having big games for the Rams were David Jacobs (eight

 After Monday's game at Daytona Beach Seabreeze, the Seminoles will take off for several days over the Christmas holidays. For Nikki Washington, who played less than 10 minutes against Lake Brantley, and other Seminoles who have been under the weather, the time off couldn't come at a better time.
 Because of the number of players who are either getting sick, are sick or just getting over being sick, McNamara was forced to use an unusual number of combinations, some of which worked.

 "I was trying to get the healthy players out there," he said. "We did it out of necessity, but we were able to see what happens in different situations."
 Ruthann Williams scored a game-high 14 points for Seminole, including making all six of her free throws. Koscia Kennon added 10 while Washington had eight in limited action. Kay Kay Mullins pulled in a game-high 11 rebounds.
 For Lake Brantley, Christa Schroefel had 13 points while Kristen Forst contributed seven points and nine rebounds.

Welcome foreign guests for holidays

ORLANDO — International Visitor Council of Central Florida invites area residents to host mid-winter community seminar participants over the holidays. Unable to return to their distant homes, 35 individuals will be visiting Central Florida for a 10 day program entitled "Tourism in Central Florida: Economic Development and Environmental Considerations".

You can open your home to one of the participants on December 25. Share your holiday traditions while learning about another culture. The opportunity to experience a traditional American holiday is a unique and priceless memory from students who are eager to learn about our customs and traditions firsthand. Observation and participation in this holiday is often the highlight of their Central Florida visit. The countries represented are: Bolivia, Botswana, Burkino Faso, Cameroon, Costa Rica, Dominica, Guatemala, Honduras, India, Indonesia, Jordan, Morocco, Pakistan, Peru, Philippines, St. Lucia, Swaziland, Taiwan, Thailand and Yemen.

The visitors are mid-career leaders in their countries who are currently in the United States in various master's and doctoral programs sponsored by the United States Agency for International Development.

In addition to hosting visitors Christmas Day, you are invited to welcome them at a breakfast and to join in a Farewell Covered Dish Dinner and Dance.

Call 246-0849 in Orlando for more information.

Deck the windows

Kris Harich, 20, transformed the plate-glass window at Famous Recipe Chicken, Sanford, into a Christmas canvas, as he painted holiday scenes depicting the religious and cultural sides of the season.

Husband haunted by wife's sexual past

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your articles for a long time, but I've never seen a problem like mine.

I've been married for 16 years. When I was married, I was 25 and my wife was 22. I was a virgin, but she wasn't. On our honeymoon she confessed that she had slept with four of her previous boyfriends. Now, every time we make love, I wonder who she's thinking of — and who she's comparing me with.

It also bothers me during the daytime when my co-workers talk about who's fooling around, because I wonder if they know about my wife's past.

Abby, please urge your readers to abstain from sex until marriage, because the most important gift a person can give a spouse is virginity.

How do others deal with this? I have forgiven my wife, but I am still haunted by her past sins.

DEAR BOTHERED: You can't rewrite history, so don't dwell on the past. Not to belittle the value of virginity, but one who is not able to give a spouse that very special gift is not necessarily a bad person. A far greater gift would be a lifetime of devotion.

DEAR ABBY: A reader wanted to know why joggers and runners run in the streets instead of on sidewalks. The reasons are varied: There may not be a sidewalk; the sidewalk may not be continuous; the sidewalk may be in poor repair, blocked by low branches, made hazardous by drivers who don't slow down when backing out of driveways, or be occupied by other pedestrians or small children playing. The sidewalk may be concrete, whereas the street may be blacktop — and therefore a softer surface upon which to run.

As for runners who run at night, those branches overhanging the sidewalks can be even more hazardous at night when they are obscured by the darkness than in the daytime when they are just an inconvenience.

If those who choose to run for aerobic exercise are to live in harmony with motorists, bicyclists and pedestrians, these suggestions should keep everyone safe and happy:

Runners should run on sidewalks or designated pathways whenever possible. They should always remember to wear bright or reflective pieces of clothing, always run on the left-hand side of the road in order to see oncoming traffic that's on the same side, always cross at corners and obey other traffic and pedestrian laws, and always carry identification.

RUNNING SAFE IN DOWNER'S GROVE

DEAR RUNNING SAFE: Thank you for some useful tips for runners. According to the California Department of Motor Vehicles, walkers and joggers should always FACE oncoming traffic. Carrying identification is also important. A reader wrote to relate the tragedy of a loved one who was killed by a hit-and-run driver. And because he carried no identification, he remained unidentified until the bureau of missing persons located him in the county morgue.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please do road travelers a favor by printing this as an open letter to disc jockeys everywhere?

"Dear Disc Jockey: We appreciate the information and entertainment you provide, but please, please tell us the city you are broadcasting from. Station call letters mean nothing to a stranger in your area, so we don't know whether you are in front of or behind us. This can be very important when you are giving weather and road information; plus, you do a disservice to your advertisers, because many times we would have stopped to purchase the products or services they were selling — if only we knew where they were located!

"We are retired and travel with an RV, so we are free to stop whenever and wherever we choose. There are literally thousands of us roaming the highways who are apt to stop for a day, week or month in your community if something strikes our fancy, and we always leave money behind! So, let us know where you are, and we may just stop by for a while."

Thanks, Abby, for printing this.

HELENA, MONT.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL PARENTS: Parents who want to train their child in the way he should go should go that way themselves.

VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Who said, "I'd rather be right than be president"? I say it was Wendell Wilkie. My husband says it was Adlai Stevenson.

EUNICE AND SHELDON

DEAR E. AND S.: You're both wrong. It was Henry Clay, who campaigned unsuccessfully for president five times. (P.S. I think what this country needs is a person who can be right and be president at the same time.)

Three of a kind

At this point these three kittens are not very different from one another. Similar markings... all cuddly... identically impelled with a desire to explore the world. Later they will begin to show individuality and respond to the personalities of those humans who soon become their world.

The human process of growing up has parallels. Only gradually does individuality become evident. The developing child will also be strongly influenced by those closest who, likewise, become his or her world.

Our churches and synagogues in their ministry to families build upon this principle. While strengthening family relationships, they help children to grow spiritually at their own pace. Their emphasis on truth and commitment makes the example of grownups more effective, more inspiring.

Your children deserve and your family needs God's ministry to YOU.

FROM THE PULPIT

Partake in active peace this season

It was a circus at the mall today. There were so many people it was hard to walk around. The public address system blared its announcements, conversation sounded like bees swarming around a hive and recorded Christmas music from competing stores ("O Little Town of Bethlehem" didn't stand a chance against "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer") made for a cacophony of confusion.

One weary-faced mother had the appearance of a walking Christmas present. She had gifts piled up so high in front of her that she could hardly see where she was going, and the heavy bags dangling from both arms caused her body to droop. Add to that a crying three-year-old clinging to the hem of her dress and the scene had all the ingredients of a classic Norman Rockwell painting.

It would need a title. I thought. Something tongue-in-cheek like "Christmas Peace." Funny? Yes and no. The problem is that the harassed mother represents many of us in microcosm. Christ's birth is upon us and there's still so much to do. Will that mother find peace this Christmas? Will we? That may depend on our definition of peace. There are two kinds, I believe, one passive and one active.

Passive peace suggests highly unrealistic no-stress, no-conflict, no-strain living. It is best achieved in isolation from the real world. Active peace is a by-product that comes from exhausting one's self on a worthwhile mission or endeavor, the outcome of which may not be known immediately, if ever.

The latter I would submit is the spiritual peace God gives to those who engage themselves in the welfare of others. You and I will find peace this Christmas in direct proportion to the degree we spend ourselves. It will come not from withdrawal, but from involvement; not from receiving, but from giving; not from wrapping presents, but wrapping people — in our love.

Show me the way to Your peace, Lord, the kind the world knows not of.

Holy Cross receives grant for renovations

By INCK PFEIFER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 410 S. Magnolia Ave., has been notified that it will receive a grant of $25,000 from the special state commission for historical restoration.

The grant given to Holy Cross was the largest amount given by the commission during its recent session.

The money will be used for the replacement of the roof on the church building. The grant is expected to be received by no later than mid-February.

Drs. Storm and Jeannie Richards, along with Bob and Bette Sonnenberg were instrumental in helping obtain the grant through their work with local committee members as well as lobbying efforts in Tallahassee.

The church was founded in 1873, mostly through the efforts of Gertrude Sanford, wife of city founder Henry Sheldon Sanford. It is the oldest church in Sanford and the fourth oldest Episcopal Church in the entire state of Florida.

A hurricane that struck Sanford in 1880 demolished the original church building. Even though the same storm wiped out the citrus crops of many of the parishioners, money was raised by the 42-family congregation, and a new church was built, being completed in 1882. Its high spire stood as a landmark in the area for many years.

Then, after a period of marked growth, another disaster. Fire demolished most of the building and all of its records in 1923.

Again a successful rebuilding project was undertaken, and the building as it stands today was finished in 1925.

Money collected from the congregation and from this latest grant will be used for a new roof, remodeling the bell tower, repainting the exterior and waterproofing the basement.

Church officials hope to apply for another grant in the summer of 1991, to be used for re-roofing of the Parish hall.

The altar is the only feature changed in the 65-year-old church.

What do you say on Christmas Day?

What do you say to a mother and father whose year-old son dies on Christmas Eve? What do you say to yourself — if you are a clergyman who has been telling people that Christmas means God loves us?

These were the questions haunting the young priest.

"When I finished speaking," he explained, "the family rose and came out to the aiale beside the casket. They stood there for a moment. Then the father, the mother and each of the children bent over, kissed the baby and turned and walked to the back of the church.

"And through blurred vision, I followed the server back to the sacristy."

The question stuck like a hard lump in his throat: Why, God, of all times, on Christmas Eve? He thought of what the Church would say — that "God was taking baby Robbie to a happiness even greater than he had known in his family." But right now, although he may have believed that, he couldn't buy it. "Why, God, on Christmas Eve?"

And through many Christmas Eves after that, the question always came back. Now older and wiser, the priest still has no answer. But he feels today that the question itself was wrong. "We spend too much time asking questions about the meaning of life and the meaning of our own existence. The meaning," he has discovered, "is in living itself."

And that no doubt is true. Studdert-Kennedy said that when he stood before the eternal judgment seat, he expected God to ask him just one question: "Well, what did you make of it?" Not "how did life treat you?" — so that those whose lives were filled with misfortune and tragedy would have it made up to them in heaven.

What shall we say on Christmas Day — this Christmas Day? Only the old story in the old way: God's love is with us still. And wander as we will, and far as we may stray, Oh, never doubt, His love will search us out. On Christmas Day.

Though faith may falter, with her banners furled, Still, still across a grim and dark'ning world, He follows there. So take your Father's hand, You will not lose the way. Love will be near, and Love will understand. On Christmas Day.

Candida infection causes vaginitis

DEAR DR. GOTT: Have you ever heard of Candida syndrome? What causes it, and what is the treatment?

DEAR READER: Candida is a yeast that causes oral infection (thrush) in infants, vaginitis in women taking antibiotics and various skin infections in diabetics and persons with deficient immune systems.

A few years ago, the concept of a yeast syndrome, called chronic candidiasis, was popularized by several non-M.D. authors who believed that it caused chronic fatigue, depression and ill health. Candidiasis became a fad illness, a designer disease that toppled hypoglycemia as the affliction of the decade. (Candidiasis has subsequently been nudged out of first place by chronic Epstein-Barr virus infection.)

Candidiasis is diagnosed by a fungus culture, and it is treated with nystatin (Mycostatin).

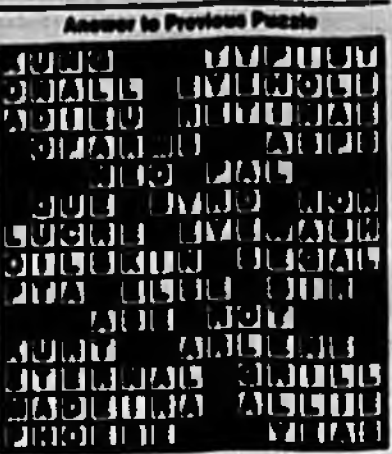

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a rash and blisters all over my body, which my dermatologist has diagnosed as pemphigoid dermatitis. He says there is no known cause, no known cure and it will last 12-18 months. I'm taking tetracycline three times a day. Can you comment on this?

DEAR READER: Pemphigoid is an unusual skin disorder, marked by areas of itchy, raised, large, reddish blisters. It is not a harmful condition and is believed to be an autoimmune disease, in which patients become allergic to their own skin. Prednisone (cortisone) is the preferred treatment and will usually shorten the course of the ailment and prevent new lesions from breaking out. Pemphigoid must be differentiated (by biopsy) from pemphigus, a serious, related disease that is much more difficult to treat and can lead to generalized infection and death. Evidently, your dermatologist chose to administer the antibiotic tetracycline.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

At the world championships held in September in Geneva, Ralph Katz made a deceptive defensive play that caused declarer to fail. I have changed declarer's hand slightly and have also altered the bidding to conform to standard methods. After North's two no-trump opening, South's bids of three spades and four diamonds were natural. North assumed that South had values that would produce slam, and so bid six diamonds. On lead, Katz tabled his singleton club. Declarer took dummy's ace and quickly cashed the A-K-Q of hearts, throwing away his losing clubs. He next led a low diamond from dummy. He thought he could get an indication from East of where the diamond king might be located. When East played low without distress, declarer rightly assumed the king was with West, so he put in the seven-spot. It's easy to see the normal outcome. West wins the jack, plays a heart ruffed by declarer, who now finesse West for the trump king, picks up the suit and runs the spades to make his contract. But Katz won the first diamond trick, not with the jack but with the king, and he then led a spade. Declarer won the ace in dummy and cashed the ace of diamonds, certain that the remaining jack was with East. When East showed out, the contract was set. Of course the play did not have to work (declarer might have played a low diamond from dummy on the second round, rather than the ace), but West's deception gave declarer the opportunity to go wrong.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Oso

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Dec. 18, 1990

The year ahead could be a very favorable one for you because some of your innermost desires might be fulfilled, especially those which are of a financial or worldly nature.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Conditions in general look rather benevolent for you in this cycle both socially and materially. Happy times are ahead if you keep a foot in each camp. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something of real significance financially might develop for you at this time through the capable efforts of someone to whom you're emotionally linked.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Because of your inclinations to treat everyone with whom you're involved equally, regardless of their titles or influence, you could be in for a pleasant surprise through a person you'd least suspect.

FISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be afraid to elevate your sights in this time frame where your objectives and goals are concerned. You could be luckier than you think going after big game.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be lucky today through your social associations, either with individuals per se or through some club or organization. It behooves you to make your presence felt.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today is a great day to present your case to the exact person who can do you the most good. Your chances of gaining his/her cooperation are excellent.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who has your best interest at heart might make a decision on your behalf today that could have far reaching, favorable effects. This person has intervened for you previously.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You are now in a cycle where you should be able to find ways to increase your earning capacity, either through your present sources or a new side venture.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Endeavors in which you have an active management role have excellent chances of producing desirable results at this time. Don't abdicate your authority.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) At present the ways and means might not be totally discernible to you, but positive influences are starting to permeate your affairs. You may now know success where you previously experienced failure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Either today or very shortly you may receive some news that will elevate your expectations and optimism. It pertains to a development you've been wishing would happen.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your long range financial projections are starting to look better and better. Lady Luck might intervene at this time to start you off on a new, more lucrative path.
