May Be Submitted Late To City Commissioners

Game Room Site Plan Tabled By Sanford P & Z

By Maryann Cress
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's Planning and Zoning Commission voted Thursday to table the site plan for a new home for the Rainbow Game Room and Deli until the next meeting because some commissioners felt they were not given the site plan early enough to review it properly.

Gary Wiley, president of the board of directors for Rainbow Futures, Inc., said he will try to get the site plan on the city commission's late agenda for the regular meeting Monday night.

Wiley said he will ask city commissioners for tentative site plan approval, with the understanding that any changes to the site required by the planning and zoning commission will be done immediately.

The site plan was a late agenda item for the P&Z and commissioners received it just before the meeting. Brent Carl said the site needs more lighting and possibly a fence between the building at 2888 Orlando Ave. and the adjacent ABC Liquors, Inc.

Elaine Wilson, who runs the game room along with her husband Del, said the lease on the building went into effect Nov. 1.

"We're losing money every day that we are closed," Wilson said.

The game room is a non-profit, self-supporting business established 18 months ago to provide youth with a drug- and alcohol-free recreation center. Wilson said the video games, pool tables, and other equipment were moved from the old game room location at 2701 Orlando Drive beginning two weeks ago.

Gators Gird For Georgia

By Mike Dams
Special to the Herald

GAINESVILLE — If the Florida Gators' football season were compared to a basketball game, there would be no doubt that it is crunch time.

After a disappointing 29-6 loss at Auburn last week, the Gators fell to 5-3, 2-2 in the Southeastern Conference. The setback dropped them seven places in the UPI Poll, from 11th to 18th.

A loss to Georgia would drop the Gators to 5-4, a duplicate of last year's mark after "the world's largest outdoor cocktail party." Head coach Galen Hall, however, feels very good about his squad's chances.

"A good football team responds in a positive way to a loss like we had at Auburn," he said. "I think we have a good team and we will go play hard against Georgia."

The Gators have a good football team, but they need to win a big game to prove it to the rest of the nation. A victory over Vince Dooley's Bulldogs would do them a world of good.

"It's Florida-Georgia and if you can't get fired up and ready to play in this one, then you can't get up at all," junior middle guard Jeff Roth said.

One thing the Gators must do to win is stop Georgia's powerful running attack. The Dawgs lead the SEC with a 287.5 yards per game rushing average, while Florida leads the SEC in rushing defense at 94 yards per game. Senior tailback Lars Tate leads Georgia with 778 yards on the season, while freshman tailback Rodney Hampton is averaging 85 yards per contest.

"We have got to do a much better job of stopping the running game than we did in the fourth quarter of the Auburn game," Hall said. "Georgia has a solid offensive line and those two tailbacks are premier college runners."

The Gators will also be working to re-establish their dangerous offensive game. Florida must eliminate mental errors, however, if it is to have any chance to win. Sophomore

Fired jail guard Richard Blount, left, follows his attorney Steven Laurence and attorney Leon Cheek accompanied by Cheek's client, fired guard Matthew McGill, from the cell area of the Seminole County jail where a juvenile inmate hanged himself when Blount and McGill were on duty in August. The four visited the cell block Thursday along with Civil Service Board members who continue today to hear the ex-guards' appeals that their firings by Sheriff John Polk, for neglect of duty — linked to the suicide, was unjust.

Ex-Guards: Firings Not Fair Pair Terminated After Teenager's Suicide

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Two fired Seminole County jail guards were back in a courtroom today, trying to get their jobs back. Today's Sheriff's Department Civil Service Board appeals hearing follows a 4½-hour kickoff Thursday in which five witnesses from a list of about 50 testified.

The guards say they were unjustly fired by Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, Sept. 3. The hearing resumed at 9 a.m. today.

The hearing for Richard Blount, 52, a guard for three years, and Matthew McGill, 42, a guard for eight years, who were fired along with two other guards following the Aug. 27 jailhouse suicide of a 17-year-old murder suspect, recessed for the day at 5 p.m. Thursday. Sheriff's Civil Service Board member, Sanford City Attorney Bill Colbert, is presiding over the hearing.

The appeals are being heard by the board comprised of Colbert, Sheriff's Chief Deputy Duane Harrell and sheriff's Sgt. Ken Starr.

Both Blount's attorney, Steven Laurence of Sanford, and McGill's attorney Leon Cheek of Casselberry, said that if the board does not decide to reinstate Blount and McGill they plan to pursue the case to the next level, into civil court.

Polk Thursday refused to comment on the case until after the hearing concluded. The board can either support Polk's decision to fire the guards or can order them reinstated.

Colbert said the issue to be determined by the board is "whether or not dismissal was made for reason other than just cause."

Two Precincts Supported Sales Tax, 95 Opposed

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Only two of Seminole County's 95 precincts gave majority approval to the proposed one-cent sales tax which was overwhelmingly defeated by a 2-1 margin Tuesday.

Precinct 17, which voted in the Casselberry City Hall council chambers, voted in favor of the measure by about the same margin voters as a whole rejected it—70 percent to 30 percent. That precinct also had one of the biggest turnouts in the county, with 42.9 percent of the registered voters casting ballots.

The other precinct which gave a majority vote to the sales tax proposition was Precinct 54, which voted in the Wekiva Presbyterian Church at 201 Wekiva Springs Road, Longwood. Only 19.6 percent of the registered voters in that precinct cast ballots, but a bare majority, 50.7 percent, were in favor of the tax.

The total county vote on the tax was 6,609, or 31 percent, in favor, and 15,550, or 69 percent, against.

It probably surprises no one that Sanford residents voted against the tax in the highest numbers. Sanford residents have been the most vocal opponents of the Seminole County Expressway route which cuts through the city, and a large portion of the proceeds from the proposed sales tax would have been used to build that road.

Sanford voters, although they only had the sales tax issue to vote on, with no city elections, turned out in about the same number as the county—27 percent of the registered voters cast ballots compared to 25.4 percent in the county as a whole. Most came out to register their disapproval of the sales tax, with 83 percent voting against it.

In Longwood, 37.6 percent of the registered voters cast ballots, and 35 percent of those voting favored the tax. Winter Springs was not far behind. The 35.6 percent of registered voters there who cast ballots gave 34 percent of their votes in favor of the tax.

Casselberry, where 31.3 percent of the registered voters cast ballots, gave a third of those votes in favor of the tax. Altamonte Springs, where only 19.6 percent of the registered voters turned out, gave 28.5 percent of those votes in favor of the tax.

The tax was proposed by Seminole County Commissioners under a law passed by the last session of the Florida Legislature authorizing local governments to levy up to a penny of sales tax to pay for the effect of population growth. It would have raised an estimated $19 million the first year.

Seminole County had a list of several road projects it intended to complete with the proceeds of the tax, and planned to use $60 million of it to pay the major cost of constructing the expressway between State Road 426 and Highways 17-92.

Cities in the county would have also got a portion of the tax under the law, and had proposed projects ranging from road construction to construction of public buildings to park development and sewer improvements as uses for the money.

Lake Mary Post Office Celebrates Centennial

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its post office Saturday from 8 a.m. until 12 noon at the city's post office building, 159 E. Wilbur Ave.

The observance starts at 8 a.m. with an open house lasting until noon. Lake Mary Post Master Naomi Wallace and her staff will conduct tours through the post office.

Each visitor will be given a memento of the occasion. There will be displays of old Lake Mary letters and pictures of former postmasters and Lake Mary post office sites.

The Lake Mary Historical Commission is trying to locate descendants of Lake Mary's first two postmasters, William N. Webster and Bertie C. Martin, in order to honor them at ceremonies marking the centennial of the establishment of the Lake Mary Post Office Nov. 7.

Webster was appointed postmaster Feb. 28, 1887, and Martin, wife of Joseph Martin, was appointed Oct. 31, 1906. They and their families seem to have vanished into the mist of past history. Any descendants of these persons are asked to call Margaret Wesley, community chairman of the celebration, at 323-3915.

Refreshments will be served by the post office staff and members of the Historical Commission, Lake Mary Woman's Club and volunteers.

A short program at 11 a.m. will honor all living postmasters of Lake Mary. Local Junior and Brownie Girl Scouts will make a flag presentation, and prizes will be awarded for the earliest Lake Mary postmark and for the earliest letter addressed to a Lake Mary address.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Florida's University System Is Ranked Among Nation's 10 Best

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida's university system is ranked among the 10 best in the country in a newly-published national survey, Chancellor Charlie Reed said Thursday.

Florida's nine-university system is listed at number 10. The best system in the country is California's, according to the survey, followed by systems in New York, Michigan, North Carolina, Illinois, Texas, Wisconsin, Ohio and Virginia.

The survey is by the Center for Policy Studies in Education at George Mason University in Virginia.

"This is extremely good news," Reed said. "Obviously, word's out around the country about how strong our universities have become."

Convicted Killer Gets New Trial

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Supreme Court Thursday ordered a new trial for Burley Gilliam Jr., who personally pleaded for the death penalty following his conviction for killing a Dade County woman.

Gilliam was sentenced to death for the murder, the death of Joyce Marlow after she was sexually assaulted.

The court, in a unanimous ruling, said the Dade Circuit Court judge presiding over the trial made a fundamental mistake when ignoring objections to the proposed jury raised by Gilliam, who was acting as his own lawyer.

Clean Water Proposal Protested

TAMPA (UPI) — Officials of the West Coast Regional Water Supply Authority say a proposal before the state Environmental Regulatory Commission to ease rules governing contaminants that affect ground water is a sell-out to industry lobbyists.

The proposal would exempt industries that existed prior to 1983 from meeting certain ground-water protection standards unless the state can prove waste from those businesses damages a current or potential drinking water supply.

State officials say the rule will give them a tool to protect ground water from aesthetic contamination, and steers a middle course between industries and environmentalists.

Church Will Comply With Request

Board Wants Landscaping Plan For Park

By Maryann Cross
Herald Staff Writer

The church that rents the city park at Eighth Street and Park Avenue may lose its lease if it does not develop a landscaping plan for the park.

Sanford's Scenic Improvement Board decided Wednesday to send a letter to Pastor Edmond Czarnecki of All Souls Catholic Church, 810 Oak Ave., informing him that the lease on the park expires Dec. 27 and asking him what the church intends to do to improve the appearance of the park.

SIB Chairperson Martha Yancey said if the church does not come up with a landscaping concept for the park before the lease expires in December, SIB will recommend to the city commission that the city not renew the lease. If the lease is not renewed, the city would take over the park.

Board members object to the barren nature of the park. A chainlink fence runs the length of three sides of the park. Inside the fence are a few trees, but most of the park is just level dirt.

Rose Mary Perrino, principal of All Souls School, said the church has brought in 20 truck loads of dirt over the past two years to reduce the low-lying flood areas. Perrino said the most recent work the church has done in the park is the final grading and leveling of the park.

The park is used by the church and the adjacent All Souls School as a recreation area for children. The church rents the park from the city for $1 per year. Perrino said the park is not just for the children of the All Souls School, but is there for all the citizens of Sanford to enjoy. She said a phase plan (landscaping concept) is being developed by church staff now and should be ready next week.

Perrino said the school is requesting from the city the following measures:

- Uncap and put into service the water located at the northwest corner of the park on Ninth Street;
- Provide water for irrigation without charge;
- Help with the installation of the irrigation system;

- Pave the sidewalk on Park Avenue opposite the school; and

- Enter into a ten-year lease.

Perrino said in turn the church will maintain the park and the parkway; install buffer plant areas; install a track on the outside perimeter of the park; be responsible for liability insurance; and install grass which will be used for a soccer field.

Lake Mary InterChange Tops County 'Wish List'

The Interstate 4-Lake Mary Boulevard interchange tops the list of Florida Department of Transportation projects Seminole County officials want to see completed.

The interchange, now planned to be constructed in two years, was at the top of a list of nine projects county commissioners approved as a "wish list" for the DOT to include in its next five-year program. The DOT requested a prioritized list of projects from the county, based on traffic problems and future growth.

The other projects, listed according to importance, are: a Center Street overpass, the four-laning of State Road 434 between SR 426 and County Road 419; four-laning of SR 434 from SR 426 to the county line; six-laning of SR 436 from Highways 17-92 to the Orange County line; six-laning of SR 434 from Highways 17-92 to SR 436; construction of frontage roads along the proposed expressway in the SR 426 and Sanford areas; funding for the expressway between SR 426 and I-4, and an I-4 west-interchange with SR 46.

The county engineer's office also submitted, at the DOT's request, a list of traffic improvement projects it would like to see in the five-year plan. Those projects, also listed in priority, are:

Traffic signals at SR 426 and Chapman Road and at the west-bound off- and on-ramps at I-4 and SR 46; an extended right turn merge on SR 46 at the east-bound off-ramp; a three-lane section of SR 46 from Sanford to County Road (formerly State Road) 415 in the next five years; and widening to five lanes in the next 10 years; left-turn lanes for both east and westbound traffic on SR 46 at Osceola Road and at Mullet Lake Park Road, both in the eastern part of the county; east and westbound left turn lane and an eastbound right turn lane on SR 46 at intersections with both Orange Boulevard and Longwood Markham Road in the western part of the county.

Cheap Shot At George Bush

It's a disturbing omen for the 1988 presidential campaign.

Even as the vice president announces his bid for the White House, Newsweek comes out with a cover story titled "George Bush: fighting the wimp factor."

The magazine said the worrisome question about Bush, in the minds of many people, was whether he "is strong enough and forceful enough for the challenges of the Oval Office."

Newsweek didn't invent the issue; it has been kicking around for a long time and has been reflected in public opinion polls.

Even so, such an approach to judging presidential candidates is appallingly simplistic.

There are many important questions about Bush, and the other candidates as well, but they may never be answered if some small-bore notion such as the presumed hazards of electing a wimp is to become the chief focus of attention.

Bush's son says the candidate has been "reduced to a cartoon," but it's worse than that.

He has been reduced to a one-syllable term of derision, which itself rests on specious reasoning.

It assumes that a mild-mannered person, ipso facto, is incapable of effective leadership, and that a bold personality is evidence of strength and confidence.

In fact, such differences may only reflect variations in personal style. Even when significant, the differences may connote the opposite of what people assume.

A macho exterior may hide insecurity or a vacuous mind, and an unassuming manner may evince inner confidence.

In determining whether a candidate has real strengths and real weaknesses, the press and the public will have to look far beyond stereotypes and images.

Any truly strong candidate must understand the problems facing the world and possess intelligent ideas for dealing with them; command the respect of peers on the basis of ability, honesty and dedication to duty; and have the courage, wisdom and resilience needed to cope with crises.

Those are the paramount standards against which Bush and other candidates should be measured and measure themselves.

A particular danger in Bush's case is that he may try to repair his image by acting tough, as he did in 1984 with his tasteless remarks about Geraldine Ferraro, the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

If he succumbs to that temptation, he's likely to come off as merely silly and klutzy.

Moreover, in trying to prove he can "stand tall"—whatever that simple-minded phrase is supposed to mean—Bush may lock himself into rigidities that would prove harmful to the country if he were elected and tried to redeem his rhetoric.

At this point, we don't know how Bush or any of the other candidates would stand up under fully appropriate scrutiny.

But the proper functioning of a democracy requires that they have ample opportunity to prove themselves and to expose each other's deficiencies.

How can they do either if the campaign is trivialized by stereotyping.

BERRY'S WORLD

"What do you MEAN we're just going through a Prince Charles and Princess Diana thing?"

GEORGE McGOVERN

Walter Mondale 'Told Us So In 1984'

With the recent collapse of the stock market on Black Monday, numerous financial analysts and economists are saying that the frightening drop was an overdue reflection of the shaky condition of our economy. Nearly all those proposing a solution have called for a sharp reduction in the federal deficit through a tax increase and reduced spending.

This is precisely the formula Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale urged in 1984. It was said that this recommendation was a major factor in Mondale's landslide defeat. If so, this is another case of a realistic candidate paying a political price for speaking the truth.

If I may be pardoned a personal reference, I repeatedly warned voters in 1972 as the Democratic presidential nominee that the Nixon administration was "the most corrupt in our national history." There is considerable evidence that this harsh judgment was not only rejected by voters, but also added to the landslide character of my defeat. But shortly after the election, the Watergate scandals began to unfold. The president and vice president were forced to resign in disgrace. The attorney general, top White House staff and other key officials were sent to jail.

For 15 years I have resisted the temptation to say, "I told you so."

But perhaps it is acceptable for me to say in this current leadership crisis that "Mondale told us so in 1984."

I am pleased that at least one columnist, Richard Cohen of The Washington Post, has recognized that the prescriptions Mondale offered in 1984 are now being seriously considered amid the wreckage of the stock market.

Mondale warned that: "We are living on borrowed money and borrowed time. These deficits hike interest rates, clobber exports, stunt investment, kill jobs, undermine growth, cheat our kids and shrink our futures."

Pointing out that the deficit, the skyrocketing national debt and the burden of a growing interest load on the debt would force a tax increase in the future, Mondale bluntly stated that he would advocate such an increase if elected: "Mr. Reagan will raise taxes, and so will I. He won't tell you. I just did."

To be sure, Mr. Reagan did not raise taxes after his re-election, but almost every thoughtful person believes that he should have done so. As recently as early October, Mr. Reagan was saying that taxes would be raised "over my dead body." He was just as adamant against any reduction in his swollen military budget.

But with the huge drop in the stock market, the president is now telling us that he will meet with Congress to discuss reducing the deficit and that everything is on the table for discussion except Social Security. These are the kinds of discussions that a Mondale administration would have initiated nearly three years earlier. If they had been conducted then with the realistic look at the economy pledged by Mondale, we might not now be going through the economic jitters and instability that marks our economy.

Columnist Anthony Lewis of The New York Times has written that, "For nearly 15 more months, barring the unexpected, the United States will have as its president a man with no grasp of economic reality and no ability to deal with it."

AIDS And Youth

By United Press International

It's tough enough figuring out how to educate children about ways to avoid coming into contact with the AIDS virus, and a psychiatrist says some children may be harder to reach than others.

Dr. Harold Koplewicz says children with certain psychological disorders — conduct disorder, attention deficit disorder with hyperactivity or psychosis — are more likely to engage in high-risk behavior than other children.

Koplewicz says children with conduct disorders may defy authority, while hyperactive children may act impulsively. Psychotic children may be unable to think clearly.

"Any of these characteristics makes it more likely that a youngster will engage in intravenous drug abuse or unsafe sexual activity," said Koplewicz, director of child and adolescent psychiatry at Schneider Children's Hospital, Long Island Jewish Medical Center.

Koplewicz, speaking at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry in Washington, said special education programs must be developed for youngsters at particular risk for AIDS.

Organic matter in space

A recent NASA study indicates organic compounds known to exist in a certain class of meteorites may have originated in the outer asteroid belt.

Scientists say the findings support the belief that carbon-containing matter is widespread throughout the solar system and that complex organic molecules have been transported from deep space to Earth and other planets.

Robert Brown of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., and Dale Cruikshank of the Institute for Astronomy in Honolulu used the Infrared Telescope Facility at Mauna Kea, Hawaii, to study asteroid 130 Electra.

Spectral analysis indicated the presence of hydrocarbons on the asteroid typically associated with organic-compound-bearing meteorites called carbonaceous chondrites.

Meningitis vaccine

A study involving Apache Indian infants indicates that a new vaccine is apparently effective for protecting babies from an infection that can cause meningitis.

More than 20,000 infections of haemophilus influenzae type B occur each year in the United States among all types of children.

JEFFREY HART

Gay Rights Protest

The other day my wife and I found ourselves on an AMTRAK train leaving Penn Station in New York for Washington, D.C., where we would attend a wedding. There was something funny about our railroad car. Practically everyone on it was male. Most of them seemed to be wearing blue jeans. There was a lot of laughter. They all seemed to have some private joke in common.

We heard the word "demonstration" and the word "protest," and it dawned on us that this was a trainload of homosexuals on their way to Washington for a display of gay political power.

When we got to Washington, we checked in at the Willard Hotel, a historic place that has been completely resurrected and remodeled, but with wonderful fidelity to its 19th century style. Lincoln stayed at the Willard. So did Grant. Congress actually met at the Willard Hotel in the old days, before it had a building of its own. Charles Dickens stayed at the Willard. When we checked in, we found that it was the local command post for the gay rights demonstration, scheduled for the next day, at which some 200,000 homosexuals turned up.

It was not so clear what they wanted. Yeah, more money for AIDS research. It struck me as rather nerve for these people to be marching around Washington, asking for taxpayers' dollars, when, after all, and certainly not intending to do so, they have inflicted this AIDS outrage upon society.

But what the big demonstration really seemed to want was serious acknowledgement that homosexuality has "equal status" with heterosexuality. Thus a lesbian couple was demanding that they be allowed to file a joint income tax return.

Equal status? Come on. With very few exceptions, there is a human consensus that homosexuality is peculiar. The city state of Sparta honored homosexuality, but virtually no other society has done so, and for good reason. It has been the overwhelming consensus of human judgment that the family is the place to raise children and pass on the moral and cultural tradition. Human society, overwhelmingly, has honored the family—in law, in custom, in song and verse. As the family goes up, alternatives to it go down. The bachelor, the old maid, the spinster, the gay—the very language we use expresses the fundamental values of our civilization.

And the family deserves that kind of social support. It is expensive and self-sacrificial to raise children. The process often is not a joy. There is even a daily heroism involved, enduring disappointments along with the pleasures. But if millions of normal human beings did not undergo this process, things would very rapidly come to an end.

It did not seem to me that the 200,000 homosexuals in Washington made much political headway. We had a very black cab driver on our way to the wedding. He had previously had two men smooching in the back seat of his cab. He was disgusted. "In my country," he said, "we would kill them." Where was his country? "Ghana."

The politicalization of deviant sexuality was probably inevitable. Yet one remembers that there are tremendously gifted gays, people whose sensibilities may have been sharpened by their peculiarity; sometimes minority status can be a spur to creativity. But I don't think there were many specially creative homosexuals marching around in Washington that week, nor do I think that the marchers made any points. The whole thing just turned most people off.

On Delta, AIDS Patients Fly Second-Class

By Jack Anderson
and
Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Last year Delta Airlines promised to educate its employees about AIDS and the ways the deadly disease is transmitted. The company sought advice from recognized experts, and twice distributed AIDS information to airline personnel.

But a recent incident aboard a Delta plane suggests that the company's educational effort still has a few gaps. Here's what our reporter Jennifer Smith has learned:

Jim Leahy and John Schauer were flying Delta from Washington, D.C., to Orlando, Fla., on the morning of Oct. 12 after a business trip to the capital. They noticed that several passengers were wearing gay-rights badges from the weekend march on Washington, but thought no more about it.

Then, after a snack was served, Leahy pointed out to his companion that the flight attendant had put on disposable plastic gloves to retrieve the plates and leftovers from the passengers. Schauer, a frequent flyer, said he had never seen that before. When they changed planes in Atlanta, they noticed that no gloves were worn by attendants on the other Delta plane. The two men are heterosexuals.

Delta spokesman Jim Lundy said he didn't know why a flight attendant would wear gloves while picking up refuse, but said he guessed it was up to each attendant's discretion.

Jim Brown, a spokesman for the Health and Human Services Department, said wearing gloves for such a cleanup chore is not necessary to avoid AIDS contagion. "AIDS is not, I'll repeat, is not a casually transmitted disease," Brown said.

Delta's history of insensitivity to AIDS victims started at the top. In early 1985, the airline amended its contract of carriage to exclude passengers with AIDS. Ten days later, it rescinded the provision, after protests and a threat of legal action from gay rights organizations.

In August 1986, AIDS victim Mark Sigers flew Delta from San Francisco to Atlanta to visit his family. When Sigers boarded Delta to return to San Francisco, a flight attendant recognized him and claimed that he had required continual care by his companions on the first flight and had needed oxygen. He was then taken off the plane without explanation — while his painkillers and other medication in his suitcase were flown to San Francisco.

Sigers' companions, his brother and sister-in-law, said the flight attendant had lied. They said Sigers had been no trouble, sleeping most of the way, and had never used oxygen.

DICK WEST

Busy For Outdoor Sports?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for a company that shamelessly markets "computer software" says a survey underwritten by the firm "confirms our worst suspicions."

The study indicates business executives "are wasting millions of man hours" using the office computer for personal matters, he says.

Shucks, if that is the worst suspicion you have about the business executives, then we have little to worry about.

Personally, I don't consider balancing a checkbook on company time a waste. Somebody's got to do it, as the saying goes, and in the long run, or long column of figures, it may be cheaper for the executive to balance it personally than to turn the checkbook over to a secretary.

But balancing a checkbook on the office computer is by no means the only non-business activity turned up by the survey, conducted for Epyx Inc.

More than half of the executives questioned (57 percent to be precise) admitted they "play computer games" on the office machines. And, Epyx adds, a sizeable percentage of others either answer personal mail, write job resumes, "help family and friends with work" or "do homework."

I am wondering how that survey squares with one sponsored by the Center for Entrepreneurial Management Inc.

Yes, Virginia, there really is a Center for Entrepreneurial Management Inc. I'll swear I'm not making this up.

Anyway, the latter study shows that up to 80 percent of the entrepreneurs it contacted "never have sex with a partner other than spouse," nor jog, shoot a round of golf or play tennis.

I can only conclude that they are too busy playing games on the office computer.

However, an even bigger percentage "claimed that they stay after hours" to use the machine for personal chores. Of the 750 "top executives" responding to its survey, Epyx reports, 43 percent said they come in early and 40 percent do this work "during their lunch hour."

That excuse sounds perfectly plausible to me. If they didn't come in early or late, a colleague might invite them for a round of golf during lunch hour.

It also may explain why so many executives are undernourished. That's what comes of staying in to balance a checkbook when they could be out enjoying a two-martini lunch.

NATION IN BRIEF

Ginsburg's Drug Admission May Jeopardize His Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Douglas Ginsburg's admission that he used marijuana in the 1960s and 1970s has stunned his conservative supporters and could put his Supreme Court nomination in jeopardy. While the White House and the Justice Department moved quickly to shore up the sagging nominee — President Reagan even had a pep rally of sorts scheduled this afternoon — many senators said they took a dim view of the actions acknowledged Thursday by the 41-year-old former professor and prosecutor. Others, like arch-conservative Republican Sens. Orrin Hatch of Utah, Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire, found themselves in the unlikely position of defending an illegal drug user. "It is damaging," said Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho. "It is not conduct you expect of a Supreme Court nominee. ... The initial reaction was (that) it couldn't be — but it is."

Tribute Paid To Senator Stennis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John Stennis, who has served in the Senate through eight presidents, sat stern-faced and straight-backed in his wheelchair in the White House Rose Garden as the last of them noted his presence. For the 86-year-old Mississippi Democrat, it was his 40th anniversary in the Senate — but typically, Stennis was paying tribute to someone else. He was not there to be honored himself. And yet it was fitting that President Reagan, in his farewell to resigning Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, used the occasion also to praise Stennis, a staunch supporter of the military under all of the presidents he has served. "America will miss him," Reagan said Thursday, lauding the veteran Senate Appropriations Committee chairman for keeping the nation "strong and free."

Congressman Gets Prison Term

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sobbing Rep. Mario Biaggi said he was unable to understand why he was sentenced to 2 1/2 years in prison and fined $500,000 for his role in trying to prop up a sagging ship repair company. "I keep asking myself ... 'What did I do wrong,'" Biaggi told the judge before he was sentenced Thursday in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn for his Sept. 22 convictions on charges of interstate travel violations, obstruction of justice.

Residents Honored For Contributions

Education Week Events Planned

The Seminole County School Board is planning a series of events in conjunction with the week-long nationwide celebration of "American Education Week" from Nov. 15-21. The theme of this year's observance will be "We the people... Building Schools Together." Karen Coleman, a school district spokeswoman, said there will be district-wide activities going on throughout the week, with a major emphasis placed on honoring local residents, who have made contributions of their time, talents and experience throughout the past year. A "Friends of Education Breakfast" will be held on Friday, Nov. 20, to show the district's appreciation for the efforts of 11 local men and women, for their contribution to Seminole County schools. The breakfast will be held at Greenwood Lakes Middle School, at 8:15 a.m. Being honored at the event will be Kay Bartholomew, Central Florida Regional Hospital; Walter Cooper, Seminole County School Advisory Council; Joe Hayes, Davgar/Burger King; Richard King, Dividend; Pete Maupin, Sears Distribution Center; Dick Monroe, Red Lobster; Douglas Stenstrom, Stenstrom; Janice Springfield, Sun Bank; Lurien Sweeting, Seminole Community College and Sandy Traeger.

Seminole County Council of Parent Teacher Association's. Other activities for the week include: Nov. 17: The Seminole County Council PTA will begin a landscaping project at the school district office, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford. Nov. 18: There will be a reception for all retired Seminole County educators. The event will be held at Hamilton Elementary School, 1501 East Eighth Street, Sanford, at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 19: The Seminole County Council PTA will have a meeting at Casselberry Elementary School, 1075 Crystal Bowl Circle, at 9:30 a.m. On the same date there will be a Seminole County Advisory Committee meeting at Lake Mary High School, 855 Longwood/Lake Mary Road, at 7 p.m. Nov. 20: The Friend of Education Breakfast at Greenwood Lakes Middle School, 601 Lake Park Drive, Lake Mary. The Seminole Education Association will also be sponsoring a series of activities during American Education Week. These events include Special recognition of educators and support personnel throughout the district, a "Apple from the Teacher Award", SEA member recognition and a fun run to be held at Seminole Community College on Nov. 21, at 8:15 a.m. — Richard Whittaker

Carlucci Expected To Be Confirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary-designate Frank Carlucci predicts Caspar Weinberger will be a "hard act to follow," but the White House expects him to sail through the Senate confirmation process to gain the top Pentagon post. Weinberger, who plans to bow out of the Cabinet upon Carlucci's confirmation, puts it this way: "I don't have any doubts or worries that the nation's future course is going to change very dramatically at all." Carlucci, 57, was tapped Thursday to replace the 70-year-old Weinberger as the secretary formally tendered his resignation. The former Pentagon deputy, meanwhile, will be succeeded as national security adviser by his own deputy, Lt. Gen. Colin Powell, 50, the first black to achieve that White House post.

Carlucci has served nearly one year as the fifth head of President's Reagan National Security Council staff, taking over when the Iran-Contra scandal led to the ouster of his predecessor, Rear Adm. John Poindexter. White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater said "no difficulty is anticipated" in getting Carlucci confirmed to his new position by the Senate. But at the White House Thursday, where Weinberger's resignation was announced in a Rose Garden ceremony, it was — as Carlucci put it — "Cap's day."

"Large shoes, hard act to follow; however you want to describe it, it's a big job," Carlucci attested, reflecting on Weinberger's record as the overseer of the largest peacetime military buildup in U.S. history. Reagan used the occasion to heap praise on the friend who first served him during his California governorship 20 years ago. He commended Weinberger for personal "courage, constancy, loyalty, together with uncommon brilliance, decisiveness and determination."

Weinberger told Reagan in his resignation letter he decided to leave "because of personal family health problems with which you are familiar." The secretary apparently was referring to cancer and arthritis suffered by his wife, Jane. But Mrs. Weinberger, who sat in the front row for her husband's departure ceremony, scolded journalists before the event, insisting, "The stories you've been reporting are untrue." Asked if she was happy about her husband's resignation, she replied, "Not particularly." Yet earlier this week she told The New York Times she had been trying to get him to leave government "for eight years."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Nicaraguan President Promises Negotiations With Contras

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — President Daniel Ortega promised Thursday to begin indirect cease-fire negotiations with the U.S.-backed Contra rebels and offered pardons for 1,000 political prisoners in an attempt to comply with a regional peace plan. "We are willing to work for peace," Ortega told tens of thousands of supporters in Managua's Revolutionary Square on the day the peace plan signed by five Central American presidents went into effect. Ortega said the government is willing to negotiate a cease-fire with the Contras "through an intermediary," but he did not name the intermediary or say how the talks would be carried out. A Contra leader in Costa Rica called Ortega's announcement "a 180-degree reversal in Sandinista policy" and said it represented "a major victory for the Nicaraguan resistance."

Canada Rejects Water Diversion

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada, with one of the richest reserves of water on Earth, says it will not permit massive plans to divert water to parched areas of the United States and Mexico. Federal Environment Minister Tom McMillan told reporters after announcing the water policy Thursday that the nation could not afford large-scale diversions of water. McMillan described as "myths" statements that Canada is a water-rich nation, even though the country has one-seventh of the world's freshwater lakes, and less than 1 percent of the world's population. About 90 percent of the population lives in a thin ribbon along the Canada-U.S. border.

Several Diseases May Be Cured Be Replacing Defective Genes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Animal research shows a good gene can be inserted into a living cell to replace a faulty one, scientists say, opening the possibility that diseases like cystic fibrosis could be prevented. The technique allows insertion of new genes in cells where they will do the most good — in specific cells of the liver, if a liver defect is involved, or in the bone marrow for diseases involving cells produced there. The research, conducted only in mice so far, means someday it may be possible to replace a defective gene that causes disease such as cystic fibrosis or Parkinson's disease with a normal gene, preventing or lessening the effects of the disorder, researchers at the University of Utah reported Thursday. "The most immediate applications will be to make mouse models of these diseases so you can have an experimental system," explained Mario Capecchi, a biology professor and co-author of the report in the Journal Science. That can be done "right now," Capecchi said. "But there are also uses in gene therapy. Rather than sticking in a good gene and hoping it works, you can correct the defective gene." The first genetic therapy could take place in the next five years, he asserted, for treatment of immune diseases such as adenosine deaminase deficiency, whose victims lack the ability to fight off infection. Capecchi and his team in fact did the reverse of genetic therapy in their experiment. They specifically modified DNA — the molecule in genes that carries the blueprint of life — to make it defective. They then placed it in a cell from a three-day-old mouse embryo. This type of cell has not yet differentiated into a specific type of tissue. The new DNA exchanged information with the faulty DNA, converting a good gene into a mutant or defective one, the scientists reported.

The altered cells will be reimplanted in mice in a later experiment, said Capecchi. This sort of experiment has already been done, though not with laboratory-tailored genes, he noted. Researchers have inserted genes coding for black fur into white mice embryos, producing black and white mice. Capecchi believes that by inserting an altered gene into a mouse at this early stage, it will be possible to transmit the new characteristic to the mouse's descendants.

Doctors Still Hopeful For Transplant Baby

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Doctors treating Tabatha Foster, the longest surviving five-organ transplant patient, focused their attention on fighting life-threatening infections and preventing her body from rejecting the new tissues.

Dr. Thomas Starzl, head of the transplant team, refused to say Thursday whether he would perform a second operation to replace the organs if the 3-year-old girl rejected her new liver, small intestine, pancreas and parts of her stomach and colon.

Tabatha remained in critical but stable condition early today in the intensive care unit at Children's Hospital.

All of the organs, transplanted during a nearly 15-hour operation that ended Sunday, came from a brain-dead Virginia infant.

The operation has been performed only twice before and both patients died. The longest living patient before Tabatha survived four days at Rush-Presbyterian St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago earlier this year.

The Madisonville, Ky., toddler began her record fifth day after surgery at 12:45 p.m. Thursday as she played the "Itay Bitay Spider" game with a nurse and watched "Mary Poppins" on TV, a hospital spokeswoman said.

"Tabatha is now the longest survivor of a five-organ transplant," spokeswoman Lynn McMahon said. "The nurse was singing 'Itay Bitay Spider' and Tabatha was making the spider motions with her hand."

Playoff-Bound 'Noles Can't Let Guard Down

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

The celebration is over. After winning the District 4A-7 championship last week and assuring themselves of a spot in the state playoffs, Seminole High School is still savoring its 18-3 victory over Oviedo.

But Seminole coach Roger Beathard said that although he is ecstatic about making the playoffs, his team has come back down to earth after its most emotional game of the season.

"Last week's game was just great, and I'll cherish the memory for a long time to come," Beathard said. "But we still have three games to play, and I want to make sure that we go into our playoff game on a roll."

The 'Noles (4-3 overall), will be facing another tough task tonight at 8 when they entertain Lyman in a Seminole Athletic Conference meeting. Both Seminole and Lyman come in with 1-2 SAC records.

Seminole will host the District 4A-8 winner in its opening-round playoff game on Nov. 27, either Land O' Lakes, Dade City Pasco or Brooksville Hernando.

Football

Beathard said that his team realizes that it needs to play well in its last three games before the playoffs. "We can still effect the outcome in the conference," Beathard, whose team will end the season with contests at Lake Howell and at DeLand, said. "These county games are always good rivalries, and the kids know that they are going to have to play well in order to beat these guys."

Seminole offensive coordinator Emory Blake concurred. "We can't let our guard down in these last three games," Blake said. "If the ball would have bounced our way a few more times this season, we could have a lot better record."

"But I think that we showed a lot of character after coming back from three straight losses," Blake continued. "It has made us stronger."

The Greyhounds (5-2 overall), have been playing well lately as they have trounced Spruce Creek (20-7) and Daytona Beach Mainland (40-7) in their last two games. "Lyman gas got an excellent defense," Beathard said. "Their offense isn't too shabby either."

"(Victor) Farrier is in a class with (Lake Mary's) John Curry," Beathard continued. "And that linebacker (Mike Whittaker) is one of the best in the defensive players in the county."

Farrier leads the county is rushing with 1,006 yards and also leads in touchdowns with 17. Whittaker is leading the SAC tackling race with 15.8 stops per game.

The game will feature two of the toughest defenses in the county. Last year's encounter was decided late in the game when Lyman's Scott Radcliff booted a field goal, giving Lyman a hard-fought 3-0 win.

"This one is going to be a bruter," Lyman defensive coordinator Jack Bloomingdale said. See SEMINOLE, Page 6A

Lady Patriots Capture 4A-9 Crown

Determined Brantley Knocks Off DeLand

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — A spectacle occurred at Lake Mary High Thursday night.

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots, who won just five matches last year, claimed their 20th victory of 1987 and captured the 4A-9 District Championship, 15-8, 1-15, 15-8, over DeLand's Lady Bulldogs before 241 fans. At the same time, Lake Brantley broke Volusia County's four-year stranglehold on the district.

"We pulled it out Lake Brantley style," senior Wendy Vickery said. "We dug down deep inside and played like we know we can."

The Lady Patriots, 20-7 and winners of eight in a row, advance to the 4A-5 Region playoff Tuesday night at home against the winner of tonight's District 10 final between Orlando Evans and Orlando Colonial at Winter Park.

"We fell apart a little the second game but the girls went back out the third game and knew they could do it," Lake Brantley coach Stephanie Glance said. "The kids on the floor support each other and always have a positive word for each other. They never stopped believing in themselves."

In the first game of the finals, Lake Brantley buried the Lady Bulldogs under a barrage of spikes, many of them by Vickery, who had six kills in the game. Senior Kim Gunderson contributed three kills in the

"We lost it mentally in the second game," Brantley's Gebhart said. "But we came back in the third game and said, 'It's a new match.' We got back up and kept attacking."

DeLand kept its second-game momentum going in the early going of the third as Renee Bellamy served five points in a row. Hayden had two kills during the rally. DeLand then got a side out and Hayden's block gave the Lady Bulldogs a 6-0 lead.

Thursday night was not a good time to get caught in an Interstate 4 traffic jam if you were headed for Orlando Jones High and the 3A-6 District Tournament. If you did not get there promptly at 7 p.m., there's a good chance you missed most of the championship match.

Oviedo's Lady Lions turned their attack up to full throttle Thursday night and totaled Kissimmee Gateway's Lady Panthers in less than 30 minutes, 15-4, 15-6. It was the eighth consecutive district title for the Lady Lions.

"It reminded me of the first match with DeLand (15-1, 15-2 victory)," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "Everything went right for us. We served well and attacked well and never let Gateway get anything going."

The Lady Lions, 21-2 for the season and winners of eight matches in a row, will play in the 3A-3 Region playoff Tuesday at the district 5 champion (Gainesville-Ocala area). Gateway finished at 16-6.

"Gateway played a good match against Osceola (semifinals)," Carlson said. "They served well and played bump, set, spike. But, right from the beginning tonight, it was obvious they were really nervous and intimidated."

Bobbie Kelley got Oviedo off to a good start as she served four points in a row and the Lady Lions never looked back. Oviedo built up a 14-1 lead, including ace serves by Anna Hollis, in the first game before Gateway finally got something going. Gateway scored three points to make it 15-4 before Anne Wolary served out the game for Oviedo.

In game two, Oviedo again had success serving and hitting. This time, Gateway tied the score early, 3-3, before the Lady Lions got cranked up and pulled away. Jill Knutson and Jodie Switzer had several big hits for Oviedo in both games while Suzanne Hughes put down two kills in the second game.

"Jodie (Switzer) and Jill (Knutson) had a really good night both setting and hitting," Carlson said. "One time, Jill got a set close to the net from Jodie and she hit one ball so hard you could hardly see it."

Payne Looks To Vets To Lead '87 Raiders

By Mark Dwyer
Special to the Herald

The Seminole Community College men's basketball team will hope a few veterans can pull a relatively young squad together in hopes of another fine season.

Only a handful of players remain from last year's state qualifying team that was beat in the semifinals of the state tournament.

The Raiders opened this season with a 127-78 victory over the SCC Alumni and will open the regular season on the road Saturday when they take on Indian River Community College.

"We came out a little nervous," SCC head coach Bill Payne said. "We played everyone and we're searching for the right combinations during the game."

Three sophomores will be starting at key positions for the Raiders including Holly Keller (point guard) Barry Dunning (strong forward) and Malcolm Houston (shooting guard).

"Those three will have to be our leaders on the floor," Payne said. "We have a lot of new players and until we have a solid first team they will have to hold things together."

SCC will have its hands full against Indian River a team in which it eliminated from last year's state tournament.

"Indian River will be tough," Payne said. "They have their top scorer returning plus a couple of experienced guards."

Payne doesn't know what to expect Saturday but hopes a competitive effort will be put forth in the Raiders' first showing. "Until we have a solid top group to go with I'm not sure what to expect. We'll be doing things differently each game and find the right combinations each night."

Gardening

Winter Best Time To Plant Trees And Shrubs

With winter fast approaching, it soon will be time for major tree and shrub planting and transplanting. There are several advantages in planting during the winter, instead of waiting until spring. The plants are not actively growing during this time and less apt to be injured by shock from planting. Too, the weather and moisture during the winter season is very conducive to good plant adjustment as well as good working weather for the gardener.

Winter planting of trees and shrubs allows the plants to become well established prior to spring growth and bloom and prior to summer heat. Research shows that roots of plants continue to grow and to develop during mild winter days, even though foliage does not.

You will find also that your nurseryman has a good stock of plants during the fall and winter, and too, he can give you more time and attention during this season, whereas he cannot during the rush of spring.

The success of your landscape will depend greatly on your ability to select plants which will fit your particular landscape need and situation.

Trees are always a must in most landscape whether their purpose is for shade, windbreaks, food, atmosphere, to add color and beauty with bloom and foliage, or to add esthetic and real estate value to the property.

The ideal landscape tree does not exist. Trees which have desirable features also have those that are undesirable. A tree may have beautiful flowers in the spring, followed by undesirable fruit or seed pods in the fall. If a tree is a fast grower, it may also be brittle and short-lived.

All trees have advantages and disadvantages, thus your selection must be carefully considered. Points for consideration in choosing the proper tree should include the following:

(1) Be sure the tree you choose will fit your landscape need. For example, fast growing for quick shade, broad and spreading for shade, dense for a windbreak or for screening or attractive blooms for an accent.

(2) Know the tree you select and its growth requirements. Know the tree's ultimate size and plant accordingly. Does the tree require special soil (dogwood and redbud require acid soil)? Does the tree have serious insects and diseases and will require routine maintenance?

(3) Be sure the tree is tolerant of your local weather conditions. Will it tolerate Florida's summer heat, or is it too tender for Northern and Central Florida's winters.

(4) Do you want an evergreen or deciduous tree? Deciduous shade trees are recommended as they allow the desirable sun when void of leaves in the winter, whereas an evergreen tree may be desirable for screening.

(5) Consider overhead lines, underground waterlines, septic tanks, etc., as well as walks, drives and paved surfaces which may be damaged by tree roots.

(6) Know the tolerance of the tree to salt spray. The southern magnolia, cajeput-tree and the live oak are a few among the group of trees tolerant of salt spray.

(7) Lastly, obtain a quality tree from a reliable nurseryman and plant it in a carefully prepared spot, following good horticultural practices as to proper soil, location, exposure, watering and spraying, so that your investment in the tree is not lost through carelessness and lack of planning.

Funds Needed To Help Youth On Ball Teams

Mid-Florida Pop Warner Youth Football and Cheerleading Team is a group of five football and cheerleading teams, ranging from 7 to 15 years of age. There are 14 coaches, five cheerleading coaches, an advisory group, a board of directors and many interested parents.

The need for our children to be involved in activities which will foster good attitudes, good sportsmanship, good conduct and good relationships with others is eminent.

This group is working hard to provide activities and recreation to enable children to become well-rounded individuals and to provide experiences and opportunities that many will not receive without this program. The Sanford Seminole Little League of Pop Warner Youth Football games are played at Seminole High's Football Field stadium.

Teams are Mighty Mites, Junior Pee Wee, Pee Wee, Junior Midget and Senior Midget.

Coaches are Robert Fields, Deon Brown, Wes Childers, Jerome Henderson, and Tommy Thompson. Out of the seven games played the Mites are 5-1-1, Jr. Pee Wee 7-0-0, Pee Wee, 6-1-0, Jr. Midget, 5-0-2, and Sr. Midget 7-0-0.

The following volunteers are members of the board of directors: Tommy Thompson, commissioner; Jan Henry, director; Velma Williams, president; Marquette Gathers, secretary; Constance Anderson, treasurer; Turner Davis, public relations chairman; Gloria Beasley, fund-raising chairman; and Joyce Jones, cheerleading coordinator.

Many of these children on the teams and in the community have the talent to play and would like to be a part of one of these teams, but are unable to do so because they are not financially able.

In light of this problem, we are seeking help from people and groups who would like to donate. There is a need of financial support to provide game equipment, uniforms, transportation and insurance for the members of the teams. If you can be of any assistance make all checks to Winter Park YMCA tax deductions.

St. John Missionary Baptist Church will celebrate its annual Homecoming Nov. 8 at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. The morning speaker will be the Rev. Rufus Boykin, and at the 3 p.m. service, the Rev. Arthur Graham and St. Matthew Missionary Baptist Church will be in charge. The community is invited. Rev. J.C. Shannon is pastor.

Members of New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church will dedicate the new part of their edifice at the 11 a.m. service Nov. 8. The Rev. Robert Doctor will deliver the dedication message. Music will be by Choir No. Three.

The city of Sanford will hold a neighborhood meeting to discuss the city of Sanford's New City Plan Draft at 7 p.m. Nov. 12 at the Westside Recreation Center, Persimmon Avenue. The community is invited.

Happy birthday to Oliver Harold, Mary McClaren and Willie J. White.

Club Inducts 12 Members

Twelve new members were inducted into the Women's Club of Sanford Inc. at the November meeting in a candlelight ceremony conducted by Jeri Kirk, second vice president, and Mayor Bettye Smith, club president. The club now has capacity membership with a waiting list established. New members are, front row, from left: Rose Edith Jacobson, Marge Rogers, Lucie Hinson and Fran Hammerli. Back row, from left: Jone Porter, Bonnie Rhodes, Barbara Ray and Sharon Rader. Other new members are: Doris Hinson, Carrie Greene, Mary Lee Gaunt and Pat Harden.

Modern Myths Run Forever Without A Leg To Stand On

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a lady regarding the horrible consequences suffered by a young woman when she overused the facilities at a tanning salon. The story she told was obviously farfetched. Why did you print the lady's name? You must have known it would embarrass her.

I have read your column for many years, and while I don't always agree with you, I have always looked forward to seeing what you had to say. No longer, I think printing the lady's name, when you knew it would make her look foolish, was just plain mean! Now every time I read your column, I feel resentment. Please notice, I am not signing my name. You are not to be trusted with it.

UNIGNED IN OREGON

DEAR UNIGNED: I'm glad you wrote because other readers may have felt as you did, and I welcome the opportunity to publicly state that before I published the woman's letter, I obtained permission to use her name. Furthermore, if I had thought she might be embarrassed by the publicity, I would not have identified her.

Incidentally, after that item appeared, I heard from folklorist Jan Harold Brunvand, author, columnist and professor in the Department of English at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

Artists To Meet Monday

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association will meet at 7 p.m. Nov. 9 in the Florida Power and Light Building, 301 N. Myrtle Ave. in Sanford. A lecture and demonstration will be the feature by Ashby Jones.

Jones will present a new method of charcoal sketching which he has been studying for the past year.

Anyone interested in joining is welcome to attend.

CORRECTION

In the Nov. 2 Dear Abby column, released by Universal Press Syndicate, a sentence stated that Charlie's hiccups were temporarily cured through the use of carbon monoxide. The sentence should have read: "Using carbon dioxide, the doctor cured Charlie's hiccups for 30 minutes...."

The Herald regrets the error.

standing on her front porch when a stray bullet first passed through the scrotum of a young Union cavalryman, then lodged in the reproductive tract of the young woman, who thus became pregnant by a man she had not been within 100 feet of! And nine months later she gave birth to a healthy baby.

You don't believe it? If it hadn't been published in the very reliable American Heritage magazine (December 1971, page 99, in a story titled "The Case of the Miraculous Bullet"), I wouldn't have believed it either.

LELANDE E. SMITH,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

DEAR MR. SMITH: Several years ago I ran that item in this space, which brought me a letter from a 90-year-old South Dakota Indian. He said he had heard a different version of the same story. Only the girl wasn't a Virginia farm girl, she was an Indian maiden who claimed she had been impregnated by a bow and arrow.

Maybe that's where the traditional Indian greeting "How?" originated.

Breast Check

WHAT IS SCREENING MAMMOGRAPHY?

Mammography is a simple X-ray examination of the breast to detect breast cancer before it can be detected by your own examination or your doctor's examination. With breast self examination it affords you the best chance to detect breast cancer early, while it's still curable.

The Breast Check network understands the needs of ladies to have a place to feel secure and private while having a mammogram. You'll find that our facilities meet these needs, if not surpassing. For a Breast Check, you don't need a physician's order. But remember, the Breast Check isn't for everyone, only those ladies who need a baseline or routine examination. If you have a new lump or other problem, check with your doctor or ask for a diagnostic examination, also available from the Breast Check network.

Seek Doctor's Advice About Using Omega-3

DEAR DR. GOTT - Your article on Omega-3 oil was informative. However, you failed to mention that walnut and linseed oil are also high in Omega-3. Are these oils safe to use?

DEAR READER - As far as I know, walnut and linseed oil are safe to use in moderation. However, they have not been as fully investigated as have fish oils. To date, the final word is not in on the benefits of any Omega-3 oils. Experts have stopped short of recommending oil supplements for the public at large. Don't self-medicate with Omega-3 oils from any source until you either have your doctor's approval or enough information has been gathered to permit general medical acceptance of these compounds.

DEAR DR. GOTT - What are the differences between hair transplants and microfilamental non-surgical hair transplants?

DEAR READER - The primary difference is that hair transplants are "natural" - they are taken from the person's own body - and microfilaments are not. Therefore, the artificial substance can cause a distressing amount of tissue reaction and infection. Also, the less "natural" compound doesn't hold up as well with time.

DEAR DR. GOTT - At age 6 months, my daughter, now 2, became very light-sensitive. Most days she will not open her eyes in the morning. When we go outside she buries her face against me so she won't have to look. Her eyelids are swollen (not crusty), and if you pry her eyes open, about 3/5 teaspoon of clear liquid will run out. Three specialists gave her drops, which only helped temporarily. What's the next step?

DEAR READER - Your daughter seems to have an eye irritation, such as conjunctivitis or corneal abrasions, that should be investigated by an ophthalmologist. If she has already seen eye specialists, request a referral to a pediatric ophthalmology clinic at a

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Dr. Harold Hays, declarer in today's grand slam contract, wrote a bridge article years ago in which he claimed that doctors are above-average players because they have analytical and problem-solving minds. It's fair to state that his own play of today's deal bears out his contention.

It was reasonable for the doctor to bid the grand slam. Partner could have had the jack of clubs, dummy might have had a doubleton diamond, or the club suit might not have divided so badly. Even so, Dr. Hays proved his mettle in the play. He won his king of clubs and cashed two spades. Then he played a club to dummy's ace, cashed the queen of clubs on which he pitched a diamond, and then

He next began playing his long trumps, discarding first a diamond and then a club from dummy. Finally came the last trump from declarer. West had to come down to two cards.

Since he certainly had to hold on to the high club to keep dummy's seven from being a winner, he blanked his heart queen. That discard enabled declarer to throw the last club from dummy. Now it was up to East. He still had the queen of diamonds and the K-9 of hearts. What should he throw? If a diamond, declarer would cash the seven; if the nine of hearts, declarer would play to dummy's ace, both the queen and the king falling, and the jack would take the 13th trick.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bode Cool YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 7, 1987

Two people whom you were helpful to in the past will go out of their way to reciprocate in the year ahead. Their efforts will be directed to advance your secret ambition.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You can be instrumental today in helping another person alter a business situation of small promise into something beneficial that you can share in as well. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It will be up to you today to show more initiative than a friend in an important matter that is of equal concern to you both. Be the leader. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Because you are likely to be ambitious today in an area where others fail to get moving, the lion's share of the spoils could be yours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In social activities with friends today, make it a point to put yourself out a little more than usual. Make sure that everyone is having a good time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There are strong indications that you could reap material benefits today. They will come in two areas that you do not normally depend on as sources of personal gain.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's time to stop talking about what you intend to do and start taking action. Do something about it today, before both time and your inclinations run out.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This should be a materially rewarding day for you, provided you play your cards right. However, be prepared to work for that which you hope to gain.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a competent, capable person, but if something comes up that you can't manage today, don't be too proud to let someone who is more skilled take over.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's OK to delegate certain assignments to others today, but to be on the safe side, you'd be wise to do the one that has lots of critical details yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Others will be responsive to your requests today, because they'll know you won't ask anything of them that you could not or would not do yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Lessons you've learned from experience will greatly benefit you at this time. It looks like you are going to profit today from yesterday's mistakes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your possibilities for success will be greatly enhanced today if you proceed one step at a time. Impulsive or erratic actions could retard your progress. (C)1987, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher Friday in active trading of New York Stock exchange issues as investors built on momentum from a solid rise in the previous session.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 0.12 Thursday, was up 11.44 to 1898.85 shortly after the market opened.

Advances outpaced declines 806-391 among the 1,815 issues crossing the New York Stock exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 32,485,000 shares.

The stock market's advance Thursday, on the heels of a prime rate cut and despite a reeling dollar, signaled an end to the bear market that began late last summer, analysts say.

"The bear market is over and a new mini-bull market, or helper market if you will, has begun," said Michael Metz of Oppenheimer & Co. "The worst is over."

Stock prices gained after the nation's major banks lowered their base lending rate by a quarter percentage point to 8.75 percent, ignoring a dive by the dollar and losses on Far Eastern stock exchanges.

Metz said the dollar's rapid decline was a positive factor for the stock market.

Dollar Falls To Lows In Japan and Zurich

The dollar slid to new lows at the opening of trading on major world money markets Friday. The price of gold rose marginally.

European dealers said trading was still reacting to statements by U.S. Treasury Secretary James Baker published Thursday indicating Washington will accept an even weaker dollar.

In Zurich the dollar opened at 1.3815 Swiss francs, a new all-time low. Thursday's close was 1.3927, the dollar's previous record low. In later trading the dollar headed further down, and one dealer said, "We see it going even lower as long as the Americans do nothing."

The dollar also fell to a new low in Frankfurt, opening at 1.68 German marks, down from its previous low on Thursday of 1.6825.

In his statements to the Wall Street Journal, Baker said the Reagan administration's priority was to avoid a recession by holding down interest rates, even at the risk of weakening the dollar.

In London the pound opened at a new 5-year high, registering $1.7825 compared with $1.7817 on Thursday.

new location," Wilson said. "But we need to have the site plan approved first. Right now we're just paying rent." Wilson said there will also be a laffrit store in the building to help raise funds.

Wilson announced the plans for the new building at a meeting Oct. 22 and said then that the organization needed $6,000 by Nov. 1 to pay for the deposit and first months rent on the building. Wilson said some of the teen-agers who come to the game room have raised $800 in the past two weeks through fund-raising activities such as car washes and bake sales.

"The kids have been just great," Wilson said. "They supported us 100 percent in trying to raise money for the new building."

Wilson said other funds have been raised through area businesses and organizations, but they are still $1,000 short of the money needed for the deposit and first months rent.

The Lake Mary Key Club plans to put on a carnival at the new building on Nov. 21 to raise more funds.

Other actions taken by the Planning and Zoning Commission include:

• The request to rezone property at 714 Airport Blvd. from single family residential district to restricted industrial district was denied by a unanimous vote of the commission. William Maliczowski, representing property owners

Marion and Sara Cross, said he thought the city would welcome the rezoning, since there are other industrial and warehouse distribution activities adjacent to the site. However, the site is approximately 7,540-square-feet and the minimum land area for a restricted industrial district is 10,000-square-feet. City Planner Jay Marder recommended denial of the request based on insufficient land area to meet minimum code requirements.

• The commission voted to deny the request to consider a conditional use permitting a two-family dwelling in a single family residential district the property at 1104 Myrtle Ave. Tom LeBlanc, representing property owners Edmund and Geraldine Corino, said the property has been on the market for two years but has not been sold because of the zoning. However, the site is about 5,850-square-feet and the minimum required lot area for a two-family dwelling in a single family district is 7,500. Marder recommended denying the request based on insufficient lot area.

• The final plat for Tropic Park, a nine lot commercial subdivision located at 4201 Orlando Drive was unanimously approved by the commission. Bill Simmons, Sanford's planning and zoning director, said his staff has reviewed the plat and recommended approval.

• The commission unanimously approved the entrance sign and landscaping plan for Brynhaven subdivision. Representative Bill Miller said $10,000 will be spent to landscape the median islands and parkway of Stenstrom Blvd. at the entrance of the housing project.

Jobless Rate Up To Six Percent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate rose in October to 6 percent, the first rise in 13 months, the Labor Department said Friday.

A tiny rise in the number of unemployed seeking work vs. the overall job force was just enough to make October's civilian jobless rate rise to 6 percent from September's 5.9 percent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Nevertheless, October's change will go down as the first increase in unemployment since September 1986. It also will join the stock market crash in making October remembered as the month the economy turned sour.

The government's survey of households, which it uses to figure the jobless rate, found the number of workers nationwide rose 415,000 to reach 113.19 million, while the number of unemployed people seeking jobs fell by 85,000 to total 7.17 million.

Another Labor Department survey that examines the types of work created found a 549,000-job increase in the number of non-farm workers added to the U.S. economy. Some 441,000 were in service-producing jobs, including 85,000 teachers and other school personnel who ended strikes and 70,000 new retail employees who started work, the government said.

The number of goods-producing jobs went up by 108,000.

The average worker in private industry worked 34.8 hours a week in October, up 0.2 hour from September. Manufacturers, meanwhile, averaged 41.1 hours a week, up 0.7 hour, and the amount of overtime put in rose 0.4 hour to hit 4 hours a week, the highest level in 14 years.

Adult women accounted for much of October's increase in the labor force. As a result, the unemployment rate for that group dropped 0.2 percentage point to hit 5.2 percent, while the rate for adult men rose 0.1 percentage point to 5.1 percent.

Teenagers saw their rate rise 1.1 percentage point to 17.4 percent.

The rate for whites moved up 0.1 percentage point to 5.2 percent, for blacks it fell 0.3 percentage point to 12 and for Hispanics it moved up 0.1 percentage point to 8.3 percent.

The actual change in the civilian unemployment rate was just 0.046 percentage point — 5.9143 percent in September versus 5.8604 percent in October — but because of rounding up it was enough to make the difference.

The overall employment rate, which also takes in military personnel stationed in the United States, rose 0.1 percentage point to 5.9 percent.

"Generally, the outlook for the U.S. economy in 1988 and 1989 is looking more and more gloomy," according to Allen Sinai, Shearson's chief economist. "The string does seem to be running out" on the nation's 5-year-old expansion "and on the options to sustain it."

Polk's attorney Frank Kruppenbacher of Orlando, was the first to call witnesses, with Assistant Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. Sara Irgang testifying that the suicide victim Edwin Bateman died between 1 and 3 a.m. Aug. 27. His body was not found, hanging in his cell, until about 8:30 a.m. when guard Bob Spencer was bringing food to the juvenile prisoners in the maximum security area of the jail.

Under state law, and under what Polk said are jailhouse rules and practice, guards are supposed to physically check on juvenile inmates every 15 minutes and note into a log that the checks were made.

Polk fired McGill and Blount, along with short-time guards Dean High and Douglas Faula, because, Polk said, they failed to make the checks as required and logged that the checks were made.

High and Faula did not work for Polk long enough to qualify to appeal their firings.

Both Blount and McGill testified that they knew that the state required 15 minute checks on juveniles and they claim that throughout their careers at the Seminole County jail they did check juveniles, using procedures outlined orally by their supervisors. Blount and McGill said they did not falsify logs when they noted they made the required checks, because they claim, they made the check in the manner they had been told and in the same way all Seminole County jail guards who have that duty carry out that assignment.

Blount and McGill said that the checks are made from a glass-enclosed control booth from which guards can see into the cell block, but from which they do not have a full view into the cells where inmates are housed.

Polk has said that the guards are required under state law to go into the cell block and look into each cell to check on the juveniles.

Jail officials have not produced documents showing that procedures for performing those checks at the Seminole County jail have been specifically spelled out. Jail officials refer to the law, which simply states the checks must be made, and does not describe how the checks are to be made at specific jails.

The ex-guards said that entering the cell block to make the checks has never been the practice in the new section of the jail since prisoners were moved into that area in July. Blount and McGill said that they had been told by supervisors that the checks were to be made from the control booth. They also said that for a guard to be able to enter a cell block to make such a close check, under jail policy he would have to be accompanied by another guard and a third guard would have to remain outside to hold the keys and to let them out of the cell block. Sometimes only one guard is on duty in the cell block, they say.

Keys, they say, cannot be taken into a cell block and they claim that jail policy was that a guard was not to enter a cell block alone, although jail officials say that isn't true.

The exguards said that locks within the jail do not lock properly, so a single guard entering a cell block might be in danger of being attacked by inmates who should be locked into their cells but who, because of faulty locks, might not be.

Laurence and Cheek pointed out that the area the guards were assigned to watch is a high security area where accused murderers are housed.

Kruppenbacher stated that Bateman was known by jail officials to be suicidal. But he had not been put on suicide watch — in isolation with 15 minute guard checks specified.

Both Blount and McGill said that on the night Bateman died they did see a portion of Bateman's bunk from the control booth. They believed he was lying asleep there, covered from head to foot by a sheet and blanket. Instead he was hanging from a wall-mounted shelf with a ripped sheet tied around his neck. His body could only be seen by someone who walked up to his cell door to get a view of the complete interior of his cell, both exguards said.

His body was found after another inmate yelled out "Bateman," when guard Spencer entered the cell block with food and then checked on Bateman.

Jail nurse Gail Harris, who was called to the cell after Bateman's body was found, testified that she looked at his bunk and would not have thought that he was lying covered in that bed.

However, on cross examination, she said she could not say if the bed or the body had been touched by someone else before she entered the cell, which guards and inmates had entered before her.

Jail Sgt. Mark Metz, who on the night Bateman died was assistant to Sgt. Jimmy Furguson who was the staff supervisor that night, said that he has no personal knowledge that physical checks on the juveniles had ever been made at the jail. He said he can only go by what he has been told by guards and what has been written into the logs, which show that the checks have been made.

Metz said that it was his understanding that guards were entering the cell block to make the checks, although he said he had witnessed such a check on only two occasions and could not name the guards who made those checks.

He said he had never instructed guards to make the checks from the control booths and that if a guard needed assistance to perform the checks, Metz said, he would expect the guard to ask a supervisor for assistance. Metz said that before Bateman's death, he was not aware that the checks on the juveniles were made from the control booth.

Procedures have been more specifically outlined since then, a policy has been issued, and guards have been trained to enter the cell block for the checks, he said.

Metz said that he is aware that locks to some jailhouse doors sometimes malfunction, but he said he is not aware of malfunctioning of lights in control booths, which indicate if a door is unlocked. Cheek said that he expects a lengthy list of jail guards to testify that the lights do malfunction and the doors don't always lock.

Blount and McGill said that they performed their duty as they had been instructed by their superiors and that they did their duty in the same way all Seminole County jail guards performed the same job.

The bulk of the remainder of the list of witnesses to be called in the case are jail guards.

Jugglers Have Their Ups

And Downs

Skills Are Legacy From Cavemen

Story And Photos
By Susan Loden
Harold Staff Writer

A caveman was probably the first who tossed a few stones or clubs into the air and with a bit of practice kept them all airborne while alternately tossing and catching them to the amazement of his cavemates.

Most of us today are proficient in a form of this art of jugglery — but we're concerned with keeping the complex elements of life afloat, instead of sticks and stones.

Some, however, do carry on the tradition of the true performing jugglers, who over the ages have enthralled audiences with amazing coordination.

A California juggler, a couple of years ago, wrote to President Reagan to suggest that a juggler be assigned to a space shuttle crew, to take this art into outer space.

Alan Johnson wondered if the weightlessness of space would completely negate the trajectory and recovery of juggled objects. And he wondered if a space juggler would have to develop bounce techniques or if juggled objects to his wrists. "What will space juggling look like? I'd like to find out and I think the rest of the world would too," Johnson said.

Apparently Reagan and NASA weren't as curious about space juggling as Johnson was. He got no response for his request to be booked as the official space shuttle juggler, although he said his tossing around of a few balls and scarves in space would liven up the space program.

"Imagine," Johnson said, "seeing a juggling act from space beamed around the world." Officials apparently were able to contain their excitement over that idea, and Johnson's vision of becoming a space juggler remains his dream.

Juggling survived that snub. But it has yet to reach the heights of outer space, and is no longer even at the forefront of earthbound showbusiness.

The juggler who tosses running chainsaws or other potentially deadly objects is about the only one getting much attention from today's jaded audiences.

The thrill may have faded from the fascination with juggling, but Don Tietig, 22, of Altamonte Springs, said juggling is a skill he learned to enhance potential as an entertainer.

Tietig, whose other persona is that of "Tieg" the clown, who performs at Orlando's Peddler's Market, said that juggling adds to his act.

Tietig, who is a singer, songwriter and a musician, also takes his act on the road to voluntary amaze youngsters and the elderly with his juggling feats as well as his other talents.

"Entertainment is my life. I love to entertain. I get my happiness through making others happy," said Tietig, as he transformed himself into Tieg, with white face, red wig, red nose, and a blue star on his cheek.

"It's easy to juggle with a music beat. When you get into the rhythm it's pretty easy," he said. But Tietig, who is a self-taught juggler, as most are, said it takes patient practice to master the art.

"It's easiest to start out juggling scarves. Tennis balls are also ideal for the juggler," he said. "I wouldn't do chainsaws or swords unless I got real good."

The secrets to juggling, Tietig said, are: Keep your eyes focused at the top-most point where the juggled objects travel, and "Don't try to look at the balls. Look straight ahead at that top point where the balls come together. The rule of juggling is never let your right hand know what your left hand is doing.

"I was shown how to juggle once by a friend about three years ago. I started to practice. If you throw the object up and make a mistake you cover up the mistake by being on the upbeat and making light of the mistake," Tietig said.

"I tried to juggle sticks that were alive. It worked out dangerously. I wouldn't advise you to try it. You might burn the house down."

Although Tietig said he doesn't expect to set the world afire with his juggling feats, he does hope that his stint as a juggler/clown will lead him to a life of entertaining others, especially with his music, which he said is upbeat, progressive, mellow rock.

He became a clown about three years ago when he painted on a happy face to perform for the Special Olympics players.

And once you become a clown, there is no escape from being a clown, even without costume and makeup.

"For kids, a clown is a clown, he's not a person. When a child sees a clown he doesn't see a person. For a kid a clown is a reality in itself. We're idols to kids. They look up to clowns," Tietig said.

And even without makeup, he said, "A child will recognize a clown, just like a wineo will recognize another wineo. I'll always be recognized as a clown whether I'm dressed as a clown or not."

And Tietig said he uses his clown persona, his juggling and songs to take the message to children that life isn't as hard as it may seem and they don't have to turn to drugs. They could even take up juggling.

He said he has traveled across the country performing for children and the elderly. "I don't play in clubs. I want to keep high standards of morals, of how we see life. There is a better way to go.

Alan Johnson applies the appropriate make-up for his performance amid dreams of being the first juggler in space.

There are always going to be positive and negative forces. You're the master of every situation you meet. Therefore, the solution is present. You don't have to make that wrong choice."

And Tietig said that as a performer, whether he is paid for or not, he always gives 110 percent. "I give my best." And his best includes a bit of juggling along with his clowning around.

Jacqueline Bisset Brings History Alive

By Frank Banella

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Ten years ago Jacqueline Bisset wore a wet T-shirt in "The Deep" and she was called a leading candidate for the title of the world's most beautiful woman.

Now, at 41, the British actress is still a contender. But she's playing more substantial roles these days instead of cavorting around the Bahamas in a clingy outfit looking for sunken treasure.

In a TV movie, Bisset played one of the great tragic heroines of world literature, "Anna Karenina." She was the adulterous but sympathetic wife of an alcoholic writer in John Huston's film "Under the Volcano." And HBO's "Forbidden" cast her as a German aristocrat who sheltered her Jewish lover from the Nazis.

Next Bisset has a larger-than-life role as the wife of an emperor in "Napoleon and Josephine: A Love Story," a six-hour ABC-TV miniseries

(on Nov. 10, 11 and 12). Armand Assante plays Napoleon; Anthony Perkins is his chief minister, Talleyrand.

Bisset had planned to stay away from TV and concentrate on feature films, but the role of Josephine, who became empress of France in 1804, was strong enough to lure her back. The actress, who loves costume dramas, says the part allowed her to escape from playing suffering women.

Even though Napoleon often treated his wife shabbily and ended the marriage when they failed to produce an heir, Bisset says, "Josephine fought back and gave as good as she got.

"She told Napoleon she didn't love him. She married him because the times were dangerous and she had two children (by a previous marriage) that she wanted to protect.

"Right after they married, Napoleon was off to fight a war in Italy, and Josephine was off to have an affair with a handsome young army officer."

Says Bisset: "I like parts with a bit of grit in them."

During the French Revolution, before she met Napoleon, Josephine and her first husband were thrown into prison because of their aristocratic backgrounds. Her husband was beheaded during the Reign of Terror, but Josephine was spared.

The miniseries begins just as Josephine is released from prison.

Bisset researched the role to find out what kind of life Josephine led before the revolution. She found even more "grit."

The daughter of an impoverished aristocrat, Josephine grew up poorly educated on the Caribbean island of Martinique. Her marriage to a sophisticated Parisian was a disaster. Her embarrassed husband locked her up in a convent.

Armand Assante stars as Napoleon Bonaparte in the ABC miniseries "Napoleon and Josephine: A Love Story." Part one airs Tuesday, Nov. 10; parts two and three air Nov. 11 and 12.

After finding the old love letters that John had written to Donna, Michael realized that Marley and Victoria are probably John's daughters. Rachel confided to Frickie that she's afraid that Amanda (Mandy) is falling in love with Sam. After getting caught in a rain storm, Mandy (Amanda) spent a platonic night at Sam's pad. Amanda (Mandy) was shocked when Rachel admitted that Sam is Mitch's brother but Sam is keeping his true identity a secret. Vicki made up her mind to tell Michael that she thinks Donna and John are having an affair, but realized that Michael already knows.

AS THE WORLD TURNS

Rod (Josh) reentered Lily from Nick, who shot and critically wounded Rod. Corinne threatened to kill James after she caught him making love to her daughter, Monica. Emily told James that she's pregnant. Emily offered to give him the child if he'll leave Paul alone. Holden overheard Lucinda phone Tomko and accept Tomko's offer to kill James. Lance arrived in Oakdale to see Lily. Barbara believed Lucinda, who said she didn't intend to help James take Paul away from Barbara. Paul agreed to go away with James, who knocked John out during a scuffle and was about to finish him off permanently. Emily took her gun from the dream driver. Meg admitted to Tomko that James forced her to sleep with him. Pam is upset that Dusty's mind is always on Lily. Casey and Lynn told Taylor that they're getting married. James punched out Tomko before he could carry out his plan to shoot James.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

On the witness stand, Ron lied that Caroline picked him up in the bar, insisted that he walk her home and then seduced him. Stephanie freaked when Ridge said he's going to have Clark's post checked out because he thinks Kristen is romantically interested in Clark. Caroline was stunned when Ridge testified at the rape trial that she was a virgin and that she had refused to sleep with him before marriage. Donna raises Marco, who started his new job at Forrester Design.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

Shane was skeptical when Eve confessed that she's his daughter. Serena, strangely, ordered Stavros not to kill Victor and Justin when she saw that Diana was with Victor. Janice and Bill snatched after quarrelling about Mike. Bill accused Mickey of aggravating Maggie, who was hospitalized when she had trouble breathing. Gabrielle hopes that she never becomes as lonely and bitter about life as Patch is. Eve was arrested after she stole a car and then accidentally ran over Maggie's daughter, Sarah. Kimberly objected when Shane pulled Eve out of jail and brought her back into their home. Roman and Diana began making love after they were locked in a fortress together while tending Serena. Justin flipped when Victor told him that Stavros is the man who killed Justin's parents. Stavros was left unconscious on the street after he was followed by an unidentified person.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

In Miami, Melissa and Lori were locked in a room by two pimps, Al and Rock. Rock prevented Melissa from getting help for Lori, who took doctors. Bobbi looked a fight to Miami after Corey planned to say that he's on Melissa's trail. Lucy and Tony were married in the tullest ceremony of the year. Lucy was shocked when Tony hired Charlene to be their maid. Robert learned that Herbert and Autumn's father had once been business partners. Amy and Patrick romped in the sack. Autumn showed a romantic interest in Robert. When Herbert's accountant, Pritchett, was murdered, Autumn insisted that Herbert was the person the killer was really after. Martha, who returned to Port Charles, was upset to learn that Melissa is missing. Robert caught up to Zack. Duke is unaware that Carruthers is using the pad he rented from Duke as a gambling parlor. The McKens are suing for temporary custody of Martha's children.

QUEEN OF HEAVEN

Alan-Michael and Dinah weren't hurt when he crashed Frank's motorcycle into Frank's car. Frank kissed Dinah after she helped Harley deliver her baby. Alan told Vanessa to take her time and consider his marriage proposal. Johnny pulled his airplane out of a crash-bound nose-dive when he thought he saw another plane in his path. Rosie and Johnny, who were reunited after he landed his plane safely, believe that God saved Johnny from his attempted suicide. Alan refused to bail Alan-Michael out of jail after he was arrested for stealing Frank's motorcycle. Rick and Meredith were shocked when Johnny told them that he's not going to go through with his cancer surgery. Sonni gleefully agreed to renew her marriage vows with Josh. Sarah fumed that Reva agreed to accompany Alan on a business trip to Hawaii. Dinah told a shocked Frank that Harley plans to put her baby up for adoption.

LOVING

After having more flashbacks, Jim saw Dr. Secka, a shrink who advised him to tell Shane that his memory may be returning. Lily fumed when Dr. Secka suggested that she's not really receiving phone calls from the man who attacked Lily. Ann is convinced that Gwyneth deliberately seduced Harry in order to get even with Ann. Clay ordered Gwyneth to fire Rick from his cushy Alden Enterprises job. Ned flipped when he learned that April is thinking about leaving town. Ava signed Clay's pre-nuptial agreement and then asked him to include her in his will.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE

Max knocked Jamie unconscious, but not before Jamie shot Clint in the head. The police arrested Jamie and Buzz. To protect Max, Tina lied to Rafe that Jamie took her out of prison after abducting her. Jamie freaked after he shot Kate in the arm. Viki fretted over Clint, who underwent surgery. Geoffrey nixed helping Elizabeth out Lee from the Sanders fold. Tina was cleared of murdering Maria after Wade's mother, Roberta, told the police that she saw Maria steal the poison that she accidentally killed herself with. Bille boasted to Mari Lynn that she once had a sexual relationship with Wade. Mari Lynn rebuffed Brent's unwelcome attentions. Gabrielle told Steve that she's not ready to move in with him. Roberta was suspicious of where Wade got the money to pay her back rent. Tina and Max romped in the

Wednesday's Treasures

Something awfully is happening on Wednesday nights, one of those unbelievable happy coincidences, like when a meteor hits the neighbor's cat, or a fish coughs up your long-lost diamond ring.

Believe it or not, on Wednesdays this fall, ABC and NBC have been running three excellent new shows in the same hour. To paraphrase John F. Kennedy in another context, the networks have brought together the greatest concentration of TV talent since Ernie Kovacs worked alone.

Based on last year's successful miniseries, NBC's "A Year in the Life" — from the folks responsible for "St. Elsewhere" — is the opposite of formula television. The stories twist and turn, delving into every aspect of the lives of widower Joe Gardner (Richard Kiley) and the members of his upper-middle-class extended family.

The show has no gimmick: no big star, no eccentric crime-fighter, no wisecracking dwarflike children. "A Year in the Life" is good because it's characters are just plain interesting. Few people who tune in fail to be impressed.

The trouble is that few people have been tuning in, thanks no doubt to "Hooperman," another remarkably good series that's on ABC at the same time.

"Hooperman" does have a big star: John Ritter, an actor who is so talented that for seven years he made "Three's Company" almost watchable. In "Hooperman," he doesn't have to work as hard; there's a wealth of talent associated with this show.

Steven Bochco and Terry Louise Fisher (who created "L.A. Law") share credit for the concept. Leon Tokatyan (who developed "Lou Grant") is one of the producers and a writer for the series. Mike Post ("Hill Street Blues," "The Rockford Files") wrote the theme song. Heck, even the dog is great.

The elements are familiar enough to videotape. Hooperman is a police detective. He inherited an apartment building and a nasty dog. He has sort of a girlfriend. He's surrounded by broadly played odd characters.

But, following the lead of shows such as "The Days and Nights of Molly Dodd," "Hooperman" doesn't segregate humor from drama.

From week to week, you don't know whether you'll be seeing a comedy or an adventure show or a little of both. One episode is about the dog's problems with flatulence; the next involves jailing a rapist. Call it a sitcom without a laugh track, or a dramatic series with a sense of humor. Either way, it works.

"Hooperman" is followed by "The 'Slap' Maxwell Story," where Dabney Coleman plays a quirky fading, middle-aged sports columnist.

Maxwell has several unusual traits for a lead character in a TV series. He's an egomaniac, a bully, a toady, a bigot, pretty much a wart on the backside of humanity.

Julie (Dixie Carter) protests when Reese (Hal Holbrook) overexerts himself to show off for an old rival on CBS's "Designing Women." It airs Monday, Nov. 9.

Will 'Kings Row' Ever Be On Television?

Dear Dick: My husband and I would like to know if the film "Kings Row," starring Ronald Reagan, will ever be shown. He likes the president and has never seen it. — Mr. and Mrs. B., Hollywood, Fla.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. B.: I can't tell you when and where, but I'm sure that movie will be on some late show sometime. It was a good one, far and away the best one our president made.

Dear Dick: Did the police in California ever find out who killed Bob Crane from "Megan's Heroes"? If so, what was the disposition of the case? — S., Houston.

Dear S.: No. That case is still unsolved.
Dear Dick: Please tell me whatever became of Peter Dinklage of "Alias Smith and Jones." Why was he replaced by Roger Davis in the later episodes? — T.S., Scottsbluff, Neb.

Dear T.S.: One answer for both questions: Deuel committed suicide in 1971.

Dear Dick: Is Donald Sutherland any relation to Kiefer Sutherland? — Unsigned, Houston.

Dear Unsigned: Yes, he's his father.

Dear Dick: The funniest movie I ever remember seeing was "Brooklyn Orchid," made around 1940. It starred William Bendix. Is it available on video cassette? — G.W.B., Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Dear Dick: I would like to know if any of the

Ask Dick Kleiner

"Ma and Pa Kettle" movies are out on video. — L.D., Schoolcraft, Mich.

Dear G.W.B. and L.D.: My lists of available movies do not show either "Brooklyn Orchid" (that's the funniest movie you remember seeing?) or any of the "Ma and Pa Kettle" films as being available on cassette.

Dear Dick: Please settle a disagreement between my boyfriend and myself. I claim there was a weekly television show about a man's mother who was reincarnated as a car, called "My Mother, the Car." He says that no such show ever existed. Can you give me the years it was on? — T.R., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Dear T.R.: That was the Edsel of sitcoms, and it really did exist. It may have been the worst show of all time, at least until "ALF" came along. Ann Sothern supplied the voice of the talking car. It aired on NBC in 1965-66.

Dear Dick: Could you please tell me where "Cheers" is filmed? My boyfriend and I think it is Boston. Are we right? — H.F., Reading, Pa.

Dear H.F.: Wrong again. It is supposed to be in Boston. The opening was shot in Boston, but the action is filmed where virtually all shows are filmed — Hollywood, California.

Dear Dick: Could you tell me if Cameron Mitchell is the son of the late, great character actor, Thomas Mitchell? — C.C.R., Miramar, Fla.

Dear C.C.R.: Yes, I could. No, he isn't.

Dear Dick: I'm a big fan of "Happy Days" and have seen just about every episode. Please correct me if I'm wrong, but didn't Richie and Joanie have an older brother when the show first came on? If so, what happened to him? — S.S. Houston.

Dear S.S.: Yes, you're right. Originally, there was an older brother — Chuck was his name — who soon went off to college. Two actors played him: Gavan O'Herlihy in 1974 and Randolph Roberts followed in 1975. Afterwards he was never seen nor heard about again. Apparently, the show's creators just decided to forget he ever existed.

CREASE AND MULTIPLY? Actress Ellen Burstyn narrates this overview of the growing world population vs. the role of family planning organizations.

The Forgotten Cinematographer

By Vernon Scott

UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The most underrated, under-recognized member of a movie team is one of its most vital, the cinematographer, the men and women who run the camera crews.

True, there have been a few stars among the anonymous — James Wong Howe, Greg Toland, William Fraker, Bob Surtees and of late Vilmos Zsigmond and Sven Nykvist — names the public vaguely recognizes.

But the studios and major producers are acutely aware of just how essential a gifted director of photography is to any top-flight movie.

The great ones provide an unmistakable "look" to a film that is as important to its success as direction, cast and story. Indeed, some movies end up being praised for nothing but their great "look" when other components are ordinary.

Such a film was "Blade Runner," a sci-fi epic that gave audiences an eerie glimpse into a mordant future.

The look of a film is an integral part of its style and substance and the smart director works closely with his cinematographer to attain specific screen appeal.

Among the fastest rising young cinematographers is Steven Poster, who has given a distinguished look to "Someone to Watch Over Me," the current hit cop drama starring Tom Berenger and Mimi Rogers, directed by Ridley Scott.

Poster — with short-cropped beard, dark-rimmed spectacles and upbeat energy — loves his work and enjoys talking about it.

"The job of a cinematographer is to interpret and illustrate the script for the director," he said. "Each relationship with an individual director is different from every other."

"Some directors leave almost everything to the director of photography and the actors. Others are more hands-on, take-charge guys."

"I try to involve the director in what I'm doing to get as much input from him as possible. You deal with tough guys who want to do it all and with them you are polite."

"Ridley (Scott) has a reputation for doing it all, as if he were working in a vacuum. But we had a sharing relationship. I had done TV commercials with him and was cinematographer on second units for 'Blade Runner,' so we didn't have to make any major adjustments."

On a major film the director of photography is called on to boss a crew of 30 or 40 stagehands.

"Our job is a very misunderstood position," Poster said, "and most of us labor in anonymity. We do most of the work and get the least recognition of anyone on the picture."

The cinematographer is not the guy riding the camera dolly, peering through the lens during a take. That's the camera operator, one of the cinematographer's minions along with an assistant, a loader, grips and gaffers.

Poster said a good cinematographer must combine artistic instincts with diverse and complex technical knowledge of cameras and lenses. He must also be aware of the uses and most effective procedures involving hand-held cameras and the tricky steadicam.

Like most cinematographers, Poster likes best to work with Panavision cameras. The reason is simple. Panavision only leases its equipment, never sells it. And a leased camera comes equipped with every up-to-date technological improvement.

"We have to provide the methodology to make the film look like the director wants it. You start with an understanding of light and composition, from which the mechanics are developed. You have to be an artist and a technician."

"I can use as many as a half-dozen different lenses — knowing precisely what effect each one will produce — in a single day of shooting. Then there are the filters for the lenses, scrims and various sized lights that must be combined to produce a desired effect."

It is important, however, that the cinematographer doesn't get carried away to the extent that the look of the picture or the camera angles become a distraction to the flow of the action and story.

How many times have filmgoers groaned when a scene is shot through the flickering flames of a fireplace, or when the camera is fastened to a flagpole just for a reaction from the audience?

"There's no question we are seeing more flashy camera techniques all the time," Poster said with displeasure. "It is the influence of MTV videos and commercials."

"It's a major problem in recent films. Style is becoming more important than substance, which is detrimental to the whole project."

"Photography should help tell the story and not be the element that people go to see. On the other hand, if you have a bad script, no amount of good photography can make it better."

"In 'Someone to Watch Over Me' Ridley and I captured the feeling of New York City without too many cliches. But you have to establish the locale, and you can't do that without some identifying structure or natural phenomenon."

In this case, the picture opens with a helicopter shot of the Chrysler Building in Manhattan by night. The audience knows at once it is New York. Just as shots of the Gateway Arch in St. Louis or the Golden Gate bridge in San Francisco provide an immediate sense of place and time.

"In the rest of the scenes Ridley and I wanted to have New York look different, so we searched the city for different vistas and views that hadn't been shown before. Yet at the same time we didn't photograph areas that weren't distinctively New York. That's very tricky."

Of his own work, Poster is most proud of "The Boy Who Could Fly," "Testament" and "Strange Brew."

And it was Poster's impressive second unit shots of the opening of "The River" that gave significant impact to that drama. The rest of the film was the work of Zsigmond.

According to Poster's personal preferences, the five most effectively photographed motion pictures of all time were "Fat City" with cinematography by Conrad Hall, Zsigmond's "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," Carl Struss' "Sunrise," Greg Toland's "The Magnificent Ambersons" and Jordan Cronenweth's "Blade Runner."

"You have to be a gambler to be a successful director of photography," Poster said with a grin. "No matter how competent you become with lenses, film speed, lighting and all the rest, you can never be sure how a scene will turn out."

Infrequently producers and directors are shocked when a day's film is returned from the lab too dark, too light or too contrasty to use. Sometimes a day's work must be junked.

"This is not a business for nervous people because there is so much money at stake every day. I believe fortune favors the brave."

each while they were on the run from the cops.

RYAN'S HOPE

Lizze told a hospitalized Nancy that Lizze and Ben are in love and that Nancy will never win Ben back. Richard refuses to sever his romance with Emily. Jack and Emily were shocked to find Richard, who had let himself into Emily's apartment. Ryan was impressed with Chaz's knowledge of boarder babies, who are destined to spend their young lives in hospitals. Merve is upset that she and Johnny continually argue over Dakota. Art warned Dakota not to try to stop the malpractice suit Augie's widow lodged against Pat.

SANTA BARBARA

The jury found Cruz guilty of murdering Elena. Pamela lied in court that she didn't see the person who fled the scene of Elena's murder. Pamela later asked Alex why he hasn't admitted that he was the man she saw leaving the scene of Elena's murder. During a fight with Gina, C.C. threw her to the ground, which caused her to lose consciousness. C.C. ripped when Keith accused him of paying Pamela to testify in favor of Cruz. C.C. later admitted that he gave Pamela big bucks in order to get her to leave town. Pamela told C.C. that she's going to stay in Santa Barbara. Julia insisted to a disbelieving Tari that nothing physical is going on between Julia and Mason. Kelly was shocked when Jeffrey told her that Pamela is his mother and he has invited her to their wedding. Mason was shocked when Pamela realized that Samantha is his child. C.C. insisted to Sophia that he loves her, not Pamela.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Faren (Michelle) told Evan that she's beginning to regain her memory and then she asked Evan to give her visitation rights to Betsy. Steven fretted that Leanna, whose real name is Leanna Randolph, will find him. Ray and Jill said they'd escort Nina to the airport after Nina agreed to accept their big bucks bribe to leave town and forget her claim that Philip is the father of her baby. David warned Jill that Rex is taking advantage of her financially, but she insisted it's worth every penny she's paying Rex to win Ray. Danny was skeptical of Gina's claim that she saw their father in the elevator at Fenmore's Department Store. Jack teased Jill about Skip after he saw Skip giving Jill a sexy message. Jack met Leanna, who said her name is "Leigh." Realizing that Leanna had no money, Jack paid for her dinner and offered to rent her a pad above Gina's Place. Leanna found Steven's office.

Youth Gangs Are No Problem In Sanford

Compiled from staff and wire reports

Youth gangs are growing more sophisticated and surfacing in urban areas from Miami to Tallahassee, peddling drugs, violence and spreading racism, a House report showed this week. However, such is not the case in Sanford, according to police and school reports.

The gangs draw upon the youth of the urban poor, giving them a sense of belonging and power, the report says. The report also notes the growth of gangs of more affluent neo-Nazi youth called "skinheads" who promote white supremacy by harassing blacks, Jews and homosexuals.

In Miami, the report showed four youth gangs with 32 members in 1980. By this year, the number of gangs had increased to 60, with membership estimated at 1,500 members.

The report says the gangs are spreading to Tampa, Jacksonville and Orlando, which currently have the level of gang activity Miami reported in 1981.

According to Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett, however, Sanford does not have a problem with "structured, organized street gangs."

"Sanford is not like New York or Los Angeles," Harriett said. "From time to time you might see clusters of youths on the streets, but the groups don't have names or jackets or anything like that. Street gangs are not prevalent here. Occasionally we come across motorcycle gangs passing through, but that's it."

Lamar Richardson, assistant principal for Seminole High School, said there are no gangs at his school.

"The kids know that we don't accept that type of activity and they don't try it," Richardson said. "They know that we'll deal fairly with them if they deal fairly with us. I think gangs at other schools may form where there is an uneven racial balance, but here we have a 49-51 percent ratio of white to black. Most of our kids have gone to school together since elementary school and I think that makes a difference, too."

Sanford seems to be the exception in Florida. According to Rep. Alzo Reddick, D-Orlando, chairman of the House Committee on Youth, "Virtually every major community in this state from Miami to Tallahassee is experiencing a gang problem to some degree."

"We found that youth gangs operating in this state have not yet reached the level of sophistication or organization that exists in Los Angeles, Chicago and other areas that have a long history of gang activity," Reddick said. "If we act fast, we will be able to address this problem before it becomes a tragic part of our urban landscape." Reddick's committee meets Tuesday morning to discuss the report and other issues relating to juvenile justice.

Firefighters Honored By City of Lake Mary

The Lake Mary City Commission passed a resolution praising efforts of 17 Lake Mary Fire Department members in going "above and beyond the call of duty" in a recent fire call.

When responding to a mobile home fire around 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30, at 828 W. Plantation Blvd., in The Forest, a retirement community off Lake Mary Boulevard, firefighters found Adrian S. Eisele, a 72-year-old retired medical doctor, in the structure, the apparent victim of suicide. Eisele apparently set fire to the home, then shot himself in the head with a .38-caliber revolver, said Lake Mary Police Sgt. Tom Taggart.

Responding to the scene, the firefighters found a dangerously complicated situation and had to protect adjoining property, search for and rescue any other victims and protect evidence of a possible felony.

"Their execution of these complicated tasks was performed without flaw in spite of the fact that their extra care increased their personal risks," Lake Mary Police Chief Charles Lauderdale said in his request for a special resolution.

"The professionalism and concern these men and women continually demonstrate for their fellow citizens reflects a spirit that can never be appropriately recognized."
