TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Men's bodies have been burned at the stake, they have been headed and crucified but even on the Cross one can say: 'Into thy hands I commend my spirit.' The eternal God is my refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms.—Deut. 32:27.

Guess what? Margaret Truman is coming to Florida for a series of concerts.

Nine State agencies paid nine different prices for paper towels, the Tampa Tribune reveals, showing something of what it costs the people of Florida to neglect centralized purchasing. While the University of Florida was getting its towels for $2.50 a case, the Railroad and Public Utilities Commission was paying $6.25 and the Florida Industrial Commission was paying $7.50. And the people pay the bills. But the people don't mind paying. They like to pay.

We see where the federal debt has now risen above 257 billion dollars. There was a time when the late President Roosevelt said the country could safely stand a debt of 70 billion dollars, but that seems to have been completely forgotten by the people who are now running our country. The sky now seems to be the limit, and "Shoot the works" the motto. "Eat drink and be merry for tomorrow we die." And our children and our children's children can pick up the pieces.

The people are clamoring for tax relief. So says the headlines in hundreds of newspapers as Congress meets for its 81st session. But they won't get it. They will never get tax relief until they quit demanding additional government services, questionable pump priming, and wasteful extravagance. In the long run the only way the government can get the money it spends is through taxes which the people pay, and the more spending the more taxes. Any fool knows that. Lower taxes and more spending simply are not compatible.

We humbly apologize for our failure to do Wallie Windsor justice. Hardly had we put the paper to bed Wednesday afternoon when someone called up to inform us that it was not just one husband Wallie had before she married the Duke, but two. He was her third husband. More adequate information on the subject came the next morning when someone called to say that Wallie, who was Wallie Warfield, born in 1896, first married Louis, Earl W. Spencer in Pensacola, Fla. in 1916. She divorced him in 1927, and married Ernest Simpson in 1928, whom she later divorced before conquering the British Empire. That should, it seems to us, definitely put at rest any question as to her title of Champion Lover of the Half Century, or something like that. Wallie Britanica Long may she live!

Just how union labor, through administrative demands, sometimes manages to cut its own throat is illustrated by the recent sale of the New York Sun and its immediate acquisition by the World-Telegram. Higher production costs all along the line, finally made the Sun's sale, founded in 1833, the property of Charles A. Dana, supposed to be more than a century of age and built, boycotted and through a bitter, unprofitable battle, has been suspended. Then, the union leaders and left-wingers generally say more newspapers should be closed down. They say that the Sun was a competitor of the World-Telegram. They say that the Sun was a competitor of the World-Telegram. They say that the Sun was a competitor of the World-Telegram.

Mercy Killing

To many a person suffering endless pain in an illness where no hope of recovery is held, the prospect of death must appear to be one of mercy. Those who love the sufferer may look on it so. Why, it is often asked, does the law not permit a speedy end to be brought to such suffering?

But who knows that an illness is hopeless, or a disease incurable? A few years ago tuberculosis was thought to be incurable, along with bubonic plague, cholera, leprosy, and many other diseases to which patients are no longer abandoned as hopelessly marked for death. No one knows what disease, today called incurable, tomorrow may have its secret revealed. There is a point of peril to the body beyond which medicine holds out no hope; but every doctor of long practice can recall patients who have gone beyond that point only to return by some miracle of strength inexplicable to science. Many an hour of pain too great to be endured has been passed, with another and yet another hour, and has finally been overcome by the indomitable will to live which is the difference between life and death when medicine science has abandoned hope.

It may look like an act of mercy to bring release to one whose only end of pain is in death, who can never be useful again to himself or to others. But it is murder to end a life which might have one more useful and happy hour. Who is to draw the line between mercy and murder? Is it better to risk the murder of someone who might recover, rather than permit the suffering of someone who is doomed? Or was man born to risk suffering as a possible price of love and compassion? If anyone can give sure answers to questions like these, perhaps he can say whether it is right that life should be taken as an act of mercy. So far, the law says no.

Wonders Of The Age

Apparently there is almost no limit to the dreams of the wonders of life which may be held for the year 2000, based on the achievements of the years since 1900 turned up on the calendar. There are dreams of free and boundless energy from the sun and the tides, miraculous work from the atom, an end to the fear of diseases, speech and sight that circle the globe, the end of hunger, and many other marvelous things.

Such dreams are not fantastic, as can readily be seen by considering what has been only since the first dawn of 1900. Consider how absurd would then have seemed any forecasts of some of the things which now are commonplace: The airplane, the modern car, radio and television, the sulphur drugs and penicillin, atomic energy, brain and heart surgery, and many others.

Only a fool would say that any conquest of which man may dream is impossible of achievement. The men who have dreamed, and believed in their dreams, have changed the world time and time again. The fools are a handicap, but not an insurmountable one.

A New Tumulty

Woodrow Wilson would have been interested in a recent piece of news from New Jersey. The Democratic members of the state legislature, who are in a minority, have chosen as their leader T. James Tumulty. His name immediately recalls Joseph P. Tumulty, Wilson's private secretary both during his governorship of New Jersey and his presidency.

Joseph P. Tumulty's book of reminiscences, "Woodrow Wilson As I Know Him," was a helpful first-hand account of this academic figure who carried away the high prizes of politics, guided the nation through the First World War, and advanced the doctrine of international friendship and unity which took abortive shape in the League of Nations and is now continued in the United Nations. New Jersey Democrats have not always been followers of the austere Wilson tradition. The new Tumulty on the state political scene perhaps owes his advancement in part to this. He has one special reason for preference which will be applauded by most outsiders. He has been a steadfast opponent of Boss Frank Hague.

Sanford Forum

Editor Sanford Herald Sanford, Florida Dear Sir: I have just read the letter by Julian Stenstrom printed tonight in the Sanford Forum. I feel it an obligation to answer it because I have presented some opposition to the proposal made to the City Commission by the Stadium Authority.

First, I must say, I do not feel my motivation stems from any feelings that are not progressive and intended in the best interest of Sanford. Nor do I think the members of the Stadium Authority are moved by "unprogressiveness". My arguments against the hasty appropriation or capital investment of the newly acquired Cigarette Tax are predicated solely on the theory that the City Commission is vitally interested in using all revenue and funds at their disposal to promote as greatly as possible the best interests of the community and that the decision as to what constitutes the best interests of Sanford can only be determined after thoughtful consideration of not one, but all, factors involved. To invest in the project which will contribute most to THE INDUSTRIAL GROWTH AND LONG RANGE ECONOMIC WELFARE of our town is surely a foremost responsibility of our Commission.

We would do well to look into the whereabouts of our young men who in the last decade have reached the age where they must seek their own support and careers. Have there been ample opportunities for them in those past years? Is there ample opportunity for them now? What will they be in the future? In short, is this proposed project the most urgent need of our town? I agree wholeheartedly with Julian. This is a very important question. To formulate an unbiased opinion it will be necessary for our Commission to study, probe and challenge. These studies which I am sure will be most enlightening and helpful. Because of the very nature of the project, I feel that the Commission should not be restricted by any artificial barrier to the study of the project. I feel that the Commission should be free to study the project in any way it sees fit. I feel that the Commission should be free to study the project in any way it sees fit. I feel that the Commission should be free to study the project in any way it sees fit.

of every resident of Sanford, it is especially a problem for all parents. My most sincere wishes are that the Citizens of Sanford will show their interest by attending the City Commission meeting on Monday night, at which this decision is to be made. I hope that all will express their views, both pro and con, and above all, that the final decision will be the one which will prove the happiest solution in the best interest of the greatest prosperity and growth for all Citizens of Sanford and their families. Sincerely yours, Sam Marline

The Sanford Daily Herald Sanford, Florida Dear Editor: There is such a vast difference in causes of shame. Many years ago this was brought to my notice very forcefully, while in a revival in a northern state. The Lord was saving souls and many who had lost their salvation were reclaimed, but as I was talking to the great blessings of the Lord, he was almost shouting so long as no sinners came that way. But it was really something how he could muffle down then.

Jesus said if we were ashamed to own Him here in this sinful world, he would be ashamed to own us before the Father. We should show our boldness in proclaiming Christ as our Saviour. We begin this new year, we certainly cannot look forward with optimism so far as earthly benefits are concerned. Many people who cannot blush in a bathing suit, will blush if asked if they are a born again Christian. In public the man or woman that has a living Christ in their life is not ashamed to tell it on the street or in the office or elsewhere. It is my honest opinion that the year 1950 is a crucial year for the Christian and the world. We must stay true to our faith. It is my plain that Commission is getting a tighter grip on the world, and in spite of the countless workers out of Moscow, the world is being taken over. The world is being taken over. The world is being taken over.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DeWitt Mackenzie AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

President Truman's blunt declaration of American intention to keep hands off the controversial island of Formosa affirms us as calculated to prevent any over zealous individuals from rocking the international boat in Asiatic waters.

It is flat notice to the world that the United States has no predatory designs on Formosa or on any other Chinese territory. In short, America has no imperialist ambitions. The President's statement also will tend to counter-balance Britain's speedy recognition of the Chinese Communist regime before Washington is ready to act on that matter. It will make clear that there is no coalition between Formosa and American non-recognition.

There are of course those who place a high military value on the great island of Formosa. However, Formosa obviously doesn't believe the strategic worth is sufficient to warrant the United States getting involved militarily.

The cold and uncapable fact is that Formosa could very easily become the whipping ground for another major war involving the great powers.

American military intervention in Formosa could produce conflict between Russia and the United States. Did you ever stop to think what that would mean? It would mean that America would have to wait from sea and air, far from home, against an enemy strongly entrenched on the Asiatic continent. What a prospect!

Anyway, quite apart from the difficulties of the position, America doesn't very much like other ways of settling world affairs.

One way is to continue encouragement of anti-communism. President Truman's announcement in I take it, is calculated to reaffirm America's stand against imperialism and for national sovereignty.

This whole vast Asiatic political problem revolves about the question of anti-communism. The Russian brand of Communism is internationalism under which all nations would place their sovereignty in the hands of Moscow.

Marshal Tito's break with Russia was one that very much helped to restore to Yugoslavia's sovereignty.

The many countries of Asia which now are emerging into political freedom are nations of complete self-determination and absolute sovereignty are their aim. The more nationalism there is in Asia, the greater the barrier against the advance of Communism.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's aim was to restore to the Far East its war of ideologies. This war of ideologies is being waged in the Orient which will be settled on basic principles.

One swallow doesn't make a summer, nor does one example last to settle the Asiatic conflict. Whatever military victory Formosa may have must be gauged by its relation to the whole issue. Thus we hear from President Truman.

The United States has no desire to obtain special rights or privileges or to establish military bases on Formosa at this time.

on and Earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away. I am not to be surprised if the very thing that Paul the Apostle wrote to Timothy where he stated, we shall not all die, but (and this does not mean sinners) shall be changed in a moment, when gentle Christians will be caught up to meet the Lord.

We are now in a sitting and testing time. Of course, it's a mighty easier to get along with the Devil putting us on the back and many people can't see another way out at the rapting away of the Saints, folks will find they have not fooled them. We have many God robbers, gamblers, cigarette smokers and even sip some fire water some times, among the ranks of the pretenses.

Paul once said, I am not ashamed of the Gospel, and why should we? It's the only decent way to live and the only safe way to die. I like the feeling David must have had when he wrote the 23rd Psalm. Let's make the new year a great year for our Lord and Saviour.

Yours in Christ's Service, REV. B. W. MILLER, Miller Farms.

INVENTION of the cyclotron, to have tremendous implications later, was announced during the year. The world's economic plight worsened when Great Britain went off the gold standard Sept. 21, and was quickly followed by many smaller nations. Revolutions plagued the Latin American world with outbreaks in Peru, Cuba, Chile, Salvador and Paraguay. On April 16, King Alfonso XIII, fled Madrid, Spain and a republic was proclaimed. Alvaro Zomara became premier June 28. On May 1 the Empire State building, world's largest, was opened in New York City. It is 102 stories (1,250 feet) high. Knute Rockne, famed football coach of the University of Notre Dame, was killed in an airplane crash near Bazaar, Mich., March 31. In the World Series, the St. Louis Cardinals (Gas House Gang) defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 games to 3.

UNEMPLOYMENT and business failure became worse during the year. On June 2, a "Bonus Army" marched on Washington. Its 3,000 members coming from the east and middle west. U. S. troops drove them out of the capital July 28, using tanks and tear gas. One person was killed. British achievements were announced, Feb. 3, of the discovery of the neutron, the smallest particle and the isolation, April 4, of Vitamin C. On Jan. 27, Japanese troops landed on the Chinese mainland, began invading Shanghai on Jan. 29. Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., 19-month-old son of the famed flyer, was kidnapped, March 1, from his Hopewell, N. J. home. His body was found May 12. On Sept. 3, James J. Walker resigned, under fire as mayor of New York. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected President Nov. 8. The

New York Yankees defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4 games to 0, in the World Series.

THE YEAR BEGAN in deepest gloom for the U. S. as the economic situation became desperate. A series of "bank holidays" began, Feb. 14, and on March 6, President Roosevelt closed all banks by proclamation. Stock exchanges also closed. The first Roosevelt "Firehose Chatter" was broadcast March 12. The United States went off the gold standard April 19. Congress passed the National Industrial Recovery Act (which brought about NRA), June 13. The Nazis seized power in Germany. Adolf Hitler became chancellor, Jan. 30, and dictator on March 9, following the burning of the Reichstag, Feb. 27, which aroused the Germans to a fury. The Century of Progress exposition opened in Chicago, May 27 (highlight: Sally Rand's fan dance). On Feb. 18, an assassin's bullet in Miami, Fla., missed Roosevelt, then president-elect, but struck and killed Chicago's Mayor Anton Cermak. On Nov. 17, the United States resumed diplomatic relations with Russia. The U. S. Navy dirigible Akron fell off New Jersey, drowning 73. Three-two beer became legal April 7 and Prohibition ended in the U. S. on Dec. 5 when Utah became the 36th state to ratify repeal. In the World Series the New York Giants beat the Washington Senators, 4 games to 1.

THOUGH STRENUOUS EFFORTS were made to combat the Depression, it was estimated there were 4,700,000 U. S. families on relief in April. On Feb. 27, King Albert of Belgium was killed in a fall from a cliff. He was succeeded by his son, Leopold III. Congress granted the Philippines independence, March 22, to be effective in 1946. A "blood purge" of recalcitrant Nazi leaders was staged by Hitler in Germany on June 30. Sixty-three Russian leaders were purged by the Kremlin the following Dec. 5. John Dillinger, Public Enemy No. 1, was shot to death, July 22, in Chicago by the FBI. Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was slain in a Nazi uprising, July 25, in Austria. King Alexander I of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Jean Louis Barthou were assassinated in Marseilles, Oct. 9. Fire aboard the liner Morro Castle, Sept. 8, off New Jersey killed 100. War broke out between Italy and Ethiopia, Dec. 9. The World Series triumph over the Detroit Tigers, 4 games to 3.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY still seemed far off with 22,000,000 reported on relief rolls in March. On April 8 Congress passed gigantic $4,880 million Work Relief Bill. On July 3 President Roosevelt signed the Wagner Labor Act and, on Aug. 14, he signed the far-reaching Social Security Act. The Saar Territory voted to return to Germany, Jan. 13. All Jews in Germany were divested of citizenship, Sept. 15. Will Rogers, famed comedian, was killed along with pilot Wiley Post in an air crash in Alaska, Aug. 15. U. S. Senator Huey Long was shot to death in the Louisiana state capitol, Sept. 8. On April 3, Bruno Hauptmann was electrocuted in New Jersey in the Lindbergh baby kidnap-murder case. Manuel Quezon became first president of the Philippines, Sept. 17. The World Series brought victory, 4 games to 2, to the Detroit Tigers over the Chicago Cubs.

As well known in principle as was the A-bomb. A hydrogen bomb would work on the opposite principle to an A-bomb. Instead of splitting to get energy, it would use synthetic fuel, building up of a chemical element.

Hydrogen, the lightest-weight chemical element, ordinarily has a weight of one, meaning its nucleus contains only one particle. Hydrogen of double weight, is also known, and it is what is commonly called heavy water. A wartime discovery in triple-weight hydrogen called tritium.

Each differs from hydrogen by possessing one to two extra particles in its nucleus. A fact known to scientists everywhere is that whenever one of these particles enters a nucleus, of any atom, the particle loses a little weight, or mass. This loss is in the form of energy.

Therefore scientists reason that if you can build up a lightweight atom into a heavier atom, the excess mass might make a bomb. How to do this has never been mentioned. The only new published fact in discovery how to make tritium in atomic ovens.

The helium bomb is better known. It is based on the fact that atoms of one form or helium split, and emit about seventeen million electron volts of energy. This splitting was discovered in laboratories many years ago, and furnished the first proof of Einstein's law that mass and energy are equivalent.

The trouble is lack of a chain reaction. A helium atom that splits doesn't automatically produce or split another helium atom. The hydrogen synthetic does happen on the sun. Helium syn-

About 90 persons called yesterday afternoon between the hours of 3:30 and 4:30 o'clock at the Garden Center on East First Street where members of the Garden Club were hostesses for a dinner tea for the purpose of acquainting the public with the completed portion of the new building. Lovely and unusual decorations were of Cherokee roses, carnations, and gladioluses which were used with greenery throughout the room. Small tables in the soft green walls held attractive arrangements of the rose and pink blossoms. On each side of the entrance was a long and Chinese urns which held pink gladioluses.

The entire event was under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Russell, courtesy chairman for the club, and the Rose Circle was in charge of decorations. The tables were covered with a linen damask cloth and centered with white gladiolus blossoms. Silver candelabra held white tapers and at each end of the table was a silver tea service. Garden Gate

By MRS. L. E. SPENCER

Just came from the tea at the Garden Center and it was a lovely affair. The arrangements were outstanding and the refreshments were very tasty, as well as attractive; thanks to Mrs. Miriam Russell who is courtesy chairman.

Have talked to several about you to scratch around your garden plants and see if they are too deep. The roots like to be just near the top of the ground, so that may be your trouble.

I can't stress enough the importance of watering. Your plants just can't be happy unless they have a drink of water, often. And by a drink, I do not mean a light sprinkle, but water until it goes down to the roots.

Light frosts in the garden can often be prevented by thoroughly wetting the garden soil in the afternoon just before sunset. Some gardeners have been successful in preventing or minimizing frost injury to their more tender plants by running water sprinkler all or part of the night. This is true only for very light frosts, however.

Mrs. Harry Heven at Twenty-third Street and Palmetto Avenue, has a fruit tree in her garden with six different varieties of fruit. She also has a plum tree with white, pink and red blossoms all on the same plant and her garden is very beautiful right now, so thought you might like to rubby and see the garden. The fruit tree and plum tree are on the south side of her house and can be seen from the street.

Hair Styles Should Suit Shape Of Face

By BEVY CLARKE

AP New-features Beauty Editor Unless treated hairdressers with long hair decide that the new haircut will shine in 1950, we should get through the year with a minimum of shock to our scalps.

Hairdressers have as yet what they want us. We can't let our hair grow more than an inch without having it fall into a shaggy mess, so we must go on getting it cut to keep it looking fairly neat.

Frequently hairdressers in trying to do a job about the crown of the head, neglect the temporal part of the head, creating a "pinwheel" effect. "Flower-of-the-mouth" bands and the contemporary desire to cut close to the head are all the while the poor "temples" are being neglected. A "pinwheel" effect is a "flower-of-the-mouth" band and the contemporary desire to cut close to the head are all the while the poor "temples" are being neglected.

It would be well if hairdressers could forget most of their old-fashioned creating wavy distinct designs on any old head that happens to be around.

There should be a hairdo after you to suit little St. baby after enrolled in the local college.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thacker and son Thomas and daughter Mrs. Hackett of Tampa were visitors at the Dickson home last week.

Mrs. Thompson, mother of Rev. C. A. Thompson, called to pay a visit to her son and daughter Mrs. Hackett and family over the holidays.

Mrs. Susan Jackson, Wrentham and Mrs. L. M. Moore were among the young people attending the conference at Leechburg for a week.

Mrs. Mabel Andrews of New Jersey arrived Friday to spend a few days with her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hammond and family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Standand and daughter spent the holidays with their daughter Mrs. J. T. Knight and family.

Mrs. J. E. Thompson returned to her home in Orlando Friday after having spent the holidays with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Foy.

She and Mom! You'll just have to shop around until you find a hairdresser who is willing to give you a nice simple hairstyle that suits your face, one that can be handled at home.

High Court Refuses Study Of Crime Gag

Baltimore Ruling Is Allowed To Stand Against Law Barring Crime Reporting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision which struck down Baltimore's unique gag rule on crime news.

The court's refusal was announced in an unusual opinion by Justice Frankfurter. It said the tribunal's action "simply means that fewer than four members of the court deemed it desirable to review a decision of the Maryland court as a matter of sound judicial discretion."

In addition to nullifying the gag rule on crime news the lower court decision—given by the Maryland court of appeals—also upset contempt convictions of three Baltimore radio stations and a radio newscaster.

Frankfurter said "a variety of considerations" figured in the tribunal's refusal to review the state court's findings.

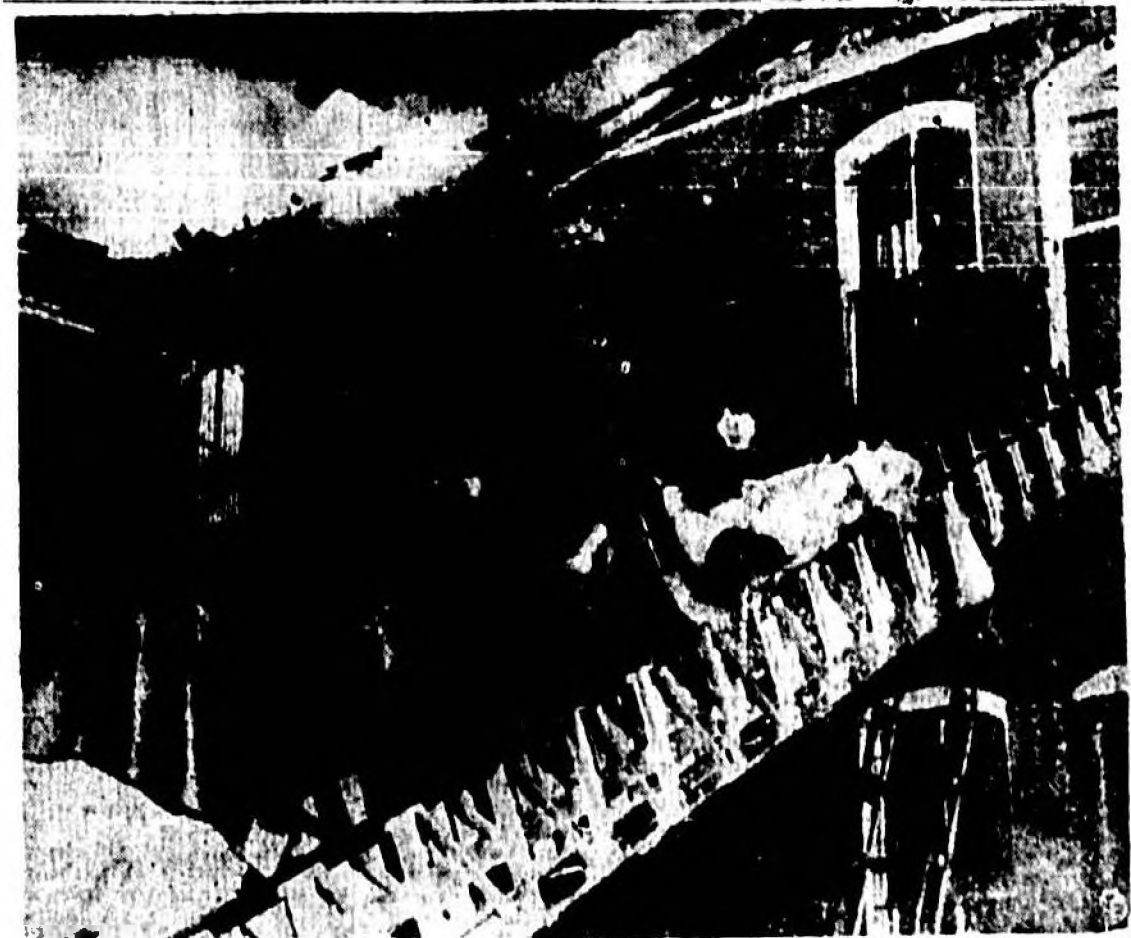

Then he went on to say that one thing that can be said with certainty about the refusal to review "is that it does not remotely imply approval or disapproval of what was said by the court of appeals of Maryland."

The crime news curbs are set forth in rule 604 of the Baltimore Supreme Court bench. Among other things they ban pre-trial publication of confessions in pending cases.

Radio stations WBFR, WCHM and WJZ and newscaster James P. Connolly were held in contempt because they broadcast news about a confession given by Eugene H. James, a Negro, who was convicted of killing an 11-year-old white girl. James was hanged. The contempt fines ranged from $100 to $500.

The Maryland court in throwing out the contempt convictions said the news curbs were "in the nature of censorship."

Nehru Advises Bolstering Asia As Red Defense

Commonwealth Conference Discusses Communism, War

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India told the British Commonwealth conference today the best way to defeat Communism in Asia is to build up the prosperity of Asiatic peoples.

Nehru spoke at the opening session of a conference of the foreign ministers of eight British Commonwealth nations. The conference is dedicated to exploring means of averting a third World War and stopping the spread of Communism.

Nehru, whose government has recognized the conquest of China by the Communists, told the opening session the Chinese Reds had fulfilled to some extent the demands of the Chinese people for social justice.

He repeated statements he recently made that the tactics used in fighting the cold war in Europe could not be applied to Asia.

British foreign secretary Ernest Bevin began the conference with a review of the present international situation, a communique announced. He spoke for more than an hour, giving what a delegate called a "very general" review of the commonwealth's relations with the Soviet Union, steps needed to strengthen European stability and security, and the role of the Atlantic Pact in Europe.

The conference aims were outlined by Philip Noel-Baker, British Commonwealth minister, as the delegates assembled before a statue of Queen Victoria under a (Continued on Page Two)

Police Capture Man Suspected Of Burglary Attempt

An intruder who fled from the kitchen of a home on Palmto Avenue near Tenth Street after he had been seen by the housewife, was picked up by Patrolmen Jack Hickson and S. H. Spencer, enroute near by, and at the Police Station shortly after 11:30 o'clock, was identified as the man who had entered her home.

The intruder, tall, light haired and wearing a plaid shirt, is William H. O'Hare, 21, who about 30 days ago was released "on good behavior" from Raiford Penitentiary where he had been sentenced to a three year term for breaking and entering. He is being held for investigation on a charge of attempted house robbery, said Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

A telephone call to the police station by the housewife, and a quick radio flash from headquarters to patrol cars, led to the arrest, and O'Hare was nabbed as he was hurrying toward Sanford Avenue on Tenth Street, when Patrolmen Hickson and Spencer, enroute nearby, picked up the man. O'Hare was unarmed and surrendered without resistance, they stated.

Kiwanis District Meet Is Addressed By Dr. Brownlee

Leonard Usina Is Installed As Florida District Governor

The way to peace is through the incorporation of the spiritual aims of the churches in the hearts of men. Dr. E. D. Brownlee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, told a gathering of 331 Kiwanis at the Fellowship luncheon yesterday noon, which climaxed the two day and state conference of the Florida District Kiwanis International, at the Miami Inn.

Dr. Brownlee's address followed one on a similar theme by Leonard A. Usina, a past district governor whose subject was "The Kiwanis Club and the Church." Songs were featured by the West Palm Beach Male Quartet.

"The spiritual aims of the churches," said Dr. Brownlee, "are to reach people of God, to give them the best of what we have, with respect to men, they help to cement them of the brotherhood of man, the Golden Rule and to teach them to be kind and thoughtful."

Citing the recent advances in science, he pointed out that they would not lead to good if not in the hands of good men. "The way to peace in the world is to make men good, otherwise, there will be no peace," he declared.

The addition of the divorce problem, Dr. Brownlee told the Kiwanis, is to put love and understanding into the hearts of men and women. These spiritual qualities would also solve the juvenile problem if put into the hearts of boys and girls. He summed up his address by pointing out the satisfaction derived by industry, other to accept the principles for which the churches stand.

Big Tournament Is Being Planned By Sanford Tourists

One of the biggest shuffleboard tournaments ever held in Sanford will be sponsored Wednesday morning starting at 10:00 o'clock by the Sanford Tourist Shuffleboard Club when 18 teams, comprising 108 players, will compete at the courts on the lake front.

Play is expected to continue until 10:00 o'clock at night, and will require the services of 20 referees and 20 score-keepers. The teams will represent cities throughout north Florida.

A plate luncheon will be served at noon at the Tourist Center to players and guests, following which members will be served. The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has invited leaders of civic and veterans' organizations to be present at the luncheon.

The Tourist Club is planning to start an amateur night program soon, and hopes to find a lot of local talent, said D. Seudder, club president.

More than 100 members of the club attended the program Friday night at the Tourist Center. Mrs. Sam Wade conducted an interesting quiz contest concerning famous Americans. How ladies sometimes are demonstrated by George Clark. A hilarious husband calling contest was staged by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wade. Mrs. George Clark sang several selections, and Miss Jane McGill, pianist and pupil of Miss Madeline Mathew, entertained.

Sympathy to the bereaved family of the late Rev. C. G. McConnell of Elmira, N. Y., who died Friday, and who was a member of the Club, was expressed by Mr. Seudder.

Comedian Bob Hope Injured In Smashup

RIVERVIEW, Calif., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Bob Hope was injured last night when his car skidded off a road during a rainstorm and overturned 10 miles south of here.

The comedian, who was driving, and his passenger, Fred Williams, one of his gag-writers, were hurled from the machine. They were returning from a weekend in Palm Springs.

Hope, taken with Williams to Riverdale Community Hospital, said:

"I feel fine. The doc says my shoulder is dislocated but he may be underplaying it."

The physician, who requested that his name not be used, said Hope suffered only from a dislocation between the clavicle and shoulder.

The car rammed into a Walnut tree beside the highway.

Williams was treated for bruises. After Hope's shoulder was X-rayed, his arm was placed in a sling. Later both left for Hollywood.

Clergymen Argue In Sermons If 'Mercy Killing' Is Justified

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Several clergymen devoted Sunday sermons to mercy killing in the city where Dr. Hermann N. Sander is charged with the murder of a young cancer stricken.

The clergymen were divided on the right or wrong of mercy killing as they discussed the subject from their pulpits.

Dr. Sander, 40-year-old oncologist Dartmouth college, was captured, is free in $25,000 bail. He is charged with killing Mrs. Abbie Bonavia, 59, by injecting into her veins four cubic centimeters of air four times in quick succession.

The Rev. William W. Peck, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, told his congregation "this highly charged atmosphere is due to the persistence of the ancient beliefs of the early church fathers whose authority today supersedes the authority of even doctors."

Mr. Peck said he had revised his sermon after receiving a telephone call asking him not to discuss the issue. He did not discuss the name of the caller or anything further about the conversation.

The Rev. Napoleon J. Gilbert, pastor of St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, said in a sermon preached at all masses "the right to life is inviolable and only the Creator has the right to take life away."

The Rev. Franklin T. Free, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, declared "no one should usurp the Almighty's right to final decision as to when life should end and death."

He gave his indictment on a first degree murder charge. Dr. Sander has said through his attorney that he has no desire to be tried as "a religious martyr."

Dr. Charles Francis Potter, founder of the Euthanasia Society said in Boston that Dr. Sander "martyr or not, has focused attention on the fact the law is far behind the times."

Not a harsh word was spoken except as criticism of the Republican party.

There was nothing but praise for those who conducted Jacksonville Day dinners throughout the state to raise party funds, although some quarters had expected this might raise a little discussion.

"We ironed out that matter before we met," said former judge William V. Albury of Key West, chairman of the committee on resolutions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The defense in the Judith Coplin-Voluntia Gable-Hiss spy conspiracy case was permitted today to have an expert examine a number of FBI wire tap recordings to see if they have been "tampered with."

Federal Judge Alexander J. Ryan ordered permission for the defense to examine the recordings after the FBI had refused to let the defense examine them. The defense is trying to show that the government's case depends solely on wire tap evidence and that should be discarded. The Supreme Court has ruled that such evidence cannot be used in court.

Mr. Coplin, an ex-government official, was arrested in London in 1950 and Gable-Hiss, a Russian spy, was suspended from his United Nations post, are scheduled to go on trial when the hearing continues, they succeed in getting the indictment against them dismissed.

The document outlining it was sent to the Capitol by messenger. It included a 7,000-word message and a series of tables and charts—on bulk about the size of a metropolitan telephone directory.

But many of the lawmakers needed only a look at it was too much.

Senator J. Lee Rankin said it "was only a rough sketch" and that he would only "talk about" it. He said the proposal for another $5,000,000,000 deficit "adding that much to the national debt, 'accents' attention to the possibility for right economic conditions. Mr. Rankin said that he would only look at it if it stands alone, but he would not look at it if it stands alone."

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., (Missouri), House Republican leader, said he would not examine the proposal until after the next session of Congress. He said he would not examine the proposal until after the next session of Congress.
