A Casselberry man was killed instantly and a child injured when a motorcycle collided with a car on Red Bug Road late Sunday.

"I just begged him to get rid of that motorcycle," said Burwell Mize, father of Michael Shane Mize, 20, of 170 Lady Susan Court, who died in the 8:45 p.m. accident.

The youth's 1982 Kawasaki motorcycle was traveling westbound at a high rate of speed on the south Seminole County road when an eastbound 1982 Oldsmobile reportedly turned in front of him, according to the Florida Highway Patrol. Mize died instantly, an FHP trooper told the family.

Summit Collapses Over 'Star Wars'

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) - Atlantic wind. President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev went to the summit looking for movement in arms control, but an elemental clash over "Star Wars" derailed a sweeping plan to sharply carve nuclear arsenals and any plans for a summit meeting in Washington.

After stretching out the talks during their two-day rendezvous in Reykjavik to double its intended length so their negotiators could construct a package covering all the bones of contention, it came down to whether the two men could make the pieces fit.

In the end, they couldn't, and they left the talks at Hofdi House on Faxa Bay with a handshake Sunday and a lot of private paper work, but nothing to present to the people back home.

Senior U.S. officials said that negotiators, who worked through the night Saturday, had reached agreements in principal covering a 50 percent cut in strategic weapons over five years, a sharp reduction in intermediate-range nuclear missiles in Europe, and a basic accord on limiting nuclear testing. But the final toss was up to Reagan and Gorbachev, and Soviet insistence on limiting the Strategic Defense Initiative, a research program for a land- and space-based anti-missile system. to only laboratory work for. IO years would not fit for the president.

Referring to the Soviet stand, a senior U.S. official said, "That was just a deal-buster from the start.'

"The Soviet Union's objective was to kill off the SDI program. The president simply had to refuse to compromise," Secretary of State George Shultz said. Shultz said that at one juncture in the talks Reagan spoke a Russian phrase to Gorbachev - "Doveryay no proveryay," which loosely translated means "trust but verify." Shultz offered his own translation: "In God we trust --all others cash."

The Iceland summit was unusual from the start. Proposed by Gorbachev less than a month ago, it was to be informal, face-to-face, without pomp held in the quiet capital of a remote island above the Arctic Circle where sheep outnumber people 3-to-1.

Reagan agreed and said he hoped it could lead to an agreement on a date for a full-scale summit in Washington. They couldn't

Honor For Knowles: Ideas For Faison At Convention

Former Sanford City Manager Pete Knowles has received the Distinguished Service Award of the International City Management Association. The award was presented in San Diego.

Sanford City Manager Frank Falson returned from the association's convention last week with plenty of "food for thought," he said.

While Faison plans no change in city operations as a direct result of the meeting, he said there was much "energiging information" presented.

The convention was attended by nearly 5,000 municipal administrators from all over the world.

President Jose Napoleon Duarte late Sunday appealed for medicine and supplies to help the tens of thousands injured or left homeless by quakes that rocked the capital city of 1 million people Friday and Saturday.

"The first two days following the disaster we have tried to save lives ... but we cannot say the situation is stable," Duarte told a nationally televised news conference. "At this time we have, because we have counted and buried them, 890 people dead - there are still many more in the rubble," he said.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Jake Gillespie said late Sunday that two Americans were confirmed dead, and a Western diplomatic source said a third was believed to have been killed.

Duarte said as many as 10,000 people were injured and "possibly 200,000" were left homeless.

"I can tell you that we are practically without medicine. We are calling on friendly nations to help us in this respect," he said.

Duarte estimated damage from the quake would total about $2 billion.

"This will take years and years to rebuild, but I have faith the international community will help me," he said.

He noted that 20 planeloads of relief supplies had arrived since Friday.

Ernesto Rusconi, a spokesman for the Salvadoran Red Cross. said there were 400 confirmed deaths and 6,000 people seriously injured but added:

phone system comes on line Oct. 21. The network, which cost the county $780,000 to equip and staff, will be paid for by a 50-cent fee tacked onto county phone bills for 18 months, from April until October of 1987.

Program coordinator Roanne Rubin said the price is small for the lives that may be saved by the new system.

police aid, simply by dialing "911".

According to Ms. Rubin, callers don't have to know what city they are calling from.

In fact, if a heart attack victim couldn't speak after dialing the number, the closest law enforcement agency would be dispatched to investigate.

After dialing 911, a phone company computer in Oriando will direct the call to the public safety agency in the area the call originate. Simultaneously, a second computer near Ft. Lauderdale will flash the address of the caller on the 911 telephone operator's screen.

The Ft. Lauderdale route for the call is not unusuai, Ms. Rubin said. 911 calls from Atlanta, Georgia and Charleston, South Carolina are also sent through the computers there.

In addition, all calls placed to 911 will be recorded, and that the recording system has an instant playback device, so if a call is cut-off or a victim passes out, the caller's information can be

Those capabilities can also be used to identify prank callers. A false call to the 911 can result in misdemeanor charges, Ms. Rubin said.

"It's always exciting when you get a system like this in," Ms. Rubin said. "It's real hard to put a dollar figure on lives saved, but it's a real good feeling."

Ms. Rubin is not a newcomer to the 911 type system. Before arriving here in February 1985, she coordinated the system for the Mineapolis-St. Paul, Minn.

She said there's always something to do in keeping the system operating, including maintaining and monitoring the system, keeping phone number and address changes updated, and growth related additions, such as new roads and street names.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk. who chairs the 911 operating committee, said he "absolutely supports" the new system.

"All you have to do is dial three numbers. If a call comes in from a person who can't speak, we'll automatically dispatch the closest vehicle to the location to investigate.

"We'll be able to respond, even if the call comes from a phone booth, and even if the caller is unfamiliar with what city or part of the county he is in," Polk said. Ms. Rubin cautioned residents not to use the 911 number until Oct. 21. .

She said the system has been tested, and some calls from juveniles to the number have resulted in visits to their home by law enforcement agents, telling parents to caution children against dialing the number unless there is an actual emergency.

Communications Break Blamed For Fatal Amtrak Derailment

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) - An Amtrak train that derailed last week was never warned of an approaching treek change and was going 60 mph too fast when it reached the switch and veered off the tracks, a federal investigator said.

Monday, Oct. 13, 1966

Two engines and 10 cars of the Empire Builder, en route from Seattle to Chicago, derailed Thursday at a switch near Fall River, Wis., killing one crewman and injuring 33 of the 300 passengers.

Bill Pugh, a National Transportation Safety Board investigator, said Sunday operators should have notified the crew of the track change at a previous stop, but did not. apparently because they were too busy. He said subsequent attempts to contact the crew by radio apparently failed because of garbling.

"The engineer never received that instruction that he was going to cross over at the location, so he was not prepared," Pugh said. "He saw the switch for crossover. He immediately put the train brakes into emergency. The train started to slow, but it entered the crossover and started to go off the track."

The Empire Builder was traveling at nearly 70 mph when it passed over the switch, he said. The recommended speed for switching tracks is 10 mph.

Politician-Preacher In Gift Flap

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (UPI) - A hefty gift to lowa farmers from the Rev. Marion "Pat" Robertson's Christian Broadcasting Network has some critics complaining the evangelist is making political hay out of farmers' problems.

Critics, including Republicans, said Robertson, who may run for the GOP presidential nomination, is trying to buy support in lowa, the site of the nation's first 1988 presidential caucus, with his network's gift.

The charitable arm of Robertson's CBN, Operation Blessing, gave $213,000 to struggling farmers in Iowa — some 10 times more than CBN contributed to other struggling Midwestern farm states.

Robertson recently began a nationwide petition drive to garner the financial and political support of 3 million Americans.

Adjournment Hopes High

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Some "must-do" business has twice delayed Congress's scheduled adjournment, but lawmakers believe they will be sprung this week to go home and campaign, so they can come back.

Earlier target dates have come and gone in the past two weeks as Congress tried to untangle assorted legislative knots. Progress, however, has been made on each of the remaining issues, and House Democratic leader Jim Wright said Friday, "I believe I see light at the end of the tunnel."

Wright, of Texas, suggested the 99th Congress will adjourn Wednesday, mainly because lawmakers, anxious to get home and campaign, probably will not stay in town after that day.

That would give Congress only two working days this week, since today is Columbus Day. L. C. M. Thereford and the second second

Deal That Didn't Go Down

By Arnold Sawislak UPI Sealer Editor WASHINGTON (UPI) — Before the Iceland summit, President Reagan did not have to explain to anyone the agenda he was bringing to Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. Now he has to explain it to the harder now that the world knows what the American people.

Reagan is schedulet to give a televised address at 8 p.m. EDT tonight, and it could be the most important speech of his presidency. He has to convince the public that nuclear disarmament now is not worth giving up Star Wars in the future.

When the summit ended Sunday, Reagan, Gorbachev and Secretary of State George Shultz all emphasized how close the two leaders came to an agreement that might have radically changed the present mutual buildup of nuclear weapons into a real reduction of the two huge deadly arsenais that threaten everyone.

But Reagan said "no" to the key Soviet demand that would have clinched the deal. He refused to limit testing of the "Star Wars" missile defense system to the laboratory.

That issue seemed to make the rest of the two days of progress an exercise in futility.

Not so long ago, a president returning from a unsuccessful diplomatic mission could depend on the American public in general and Congress in particular to support him. But the days when "politics stops at the water's edge" are gone, and Reagan may have to face harsher judgment from his American critics than he will hear from abroad.

Congress may be the big problem. As the overwheiming override of his South African sanctions veto demonstrated to Reagan and the failure to ratify the SALT 2 Treaty showed Jimmy Carter, Congress no longer will relinquish total control of foreign relations to the president.

And, of particular concern to Reagan, he faces a Congress - probably no matter how the November elections turn out - that is badly split on whether "Star Wars" will work or whether it is worth the expense if it docs

The project has funds now, but that money came with difficulty. It may be even Soviet Union will give up to keep "Star Wars" weapons out of the skies.

There is another potential problem for the president as a politician. While foreign policy seldom provides pivotal issues in congressional elections, it has happened in the past.

In the aftermath of Reykjavik, the deal that didn't happen might become the focus of the voting that will shape a new House of Representatives and a third of the Senate less than a month from now. Reagan might be willing to face that challenge, but there probably are plenty of Republican can-didates who would rather not.

Kennedy Reacts

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., says the opportunity for a historic arms agreement was lost in Iceland because President Reagan insisted on pursuing his uncertain and untested "Star Wars" missile defense shield.

Kennedy said the world would have been better off if Reagan had agreed to delay for 10 years the testing, development and deployment of space weapons in what is formally known as the Strategic Defense Initiative or SDI.

"That grand and historic opportunity was there in Iceland, but it has been sacrificed at least for the moment - on the uncertain alter of SDI," Kennedy said in a statement.

"Whatever one might think about the SDI promise - and I support a strong and robust research program in SDI technology - the failure in Iceland to move toward sweeping reductions can only be viewed as disappointing and ultimately as selfdefeating," Kennedy said.

Supreme Court Again Debates Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Two cases have forced the Supreme Court to return to an issue they believed settled 10 years ago the debate over capital punishment, and whether it discriminates against blacks convicted of killing whites.

The justices will hear arguments Wednesday from attorneys for Georgia, which says its death penalty is fairly applied, and inmate Warren McCleskey, who says he was sentenced to death because he is black and killed a white. The justices also will hear a related case from Florida to determine if capital defendants have a right to present evidence showing race-based disparities in the way the death penalty is ad-ministered.

"Regardless of how you look at the figures, what we're finding is that all those accused of murdering white victims are many more times likely to receive a sentence of death than if they killed a black person," said Tanya Coke of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund.

"Within that group of defendants with white victims, blacks are even more likely to receive the death penalty," she said.

In 1976, the court thought it had settled the issue in a series of rulings known collectively as Gregg vs. Georgia. That decision, which ended a four-year moratorium on capital punishment, was intended to set standards to eliminate "arbitrary and capricious" use of the death penalty. But a study by David Baldus of the University of Iowa argues the death penalty still is arbitrary, depending on the race of a defendant and the victim.

Heart Transplants Defended

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) - The unprecedented decision to put a second artificial heart in Bernadette Chayrez gave her eight extra months to share with her family and provided a wealth of medical information, her doctor says.

Although it was a failed human heart transplant that resulted in Chayrez's death Saturday at University Medical Center, Dr. Jack Copeland said the case also showed that artificial hearts are best used only as temporary measures. Ghayres, 40, died on the operating table when a donor heart failed shortly after it replaced the plastic model that had kept her alive since Feb. 9.

Chayres received her first Jarvik-7-70, a miniature version of the polyurethane Jarvik-7, Feb. 3 after flu destroyed 40 percent of her heart muscle. A human heart was transplanted Feb. 7, but she rejected it two days later.

Polish Sanctions May Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) - One result of the feeland summit could be the lifting of some economic sanctions against Poland that have been in effect for five years, since the imposition of martial law, officials say.

A paper has been prepared for Secretary of State George Shultz that outlines a gradual step-by-step procedure on lifting the economic sanctions, officials said last week.

Shults returns Wednesday from reporting to the NATO allies on the summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Two key sanctions mentioned are the suspension of "most favored nation" status on tariff treatment and a ban on new U.S. credit guarantees.

An Early Winter In The Midwest

By United Press International

A wintry storm that dumped up to 16 inches of snow on New Mexico and Colorado pushed toward the Plains today while record cold temperatures as low as the teens were already stinging the nation's midaection for a second day.

"Winter came a little early this year," Joe Healy of the New Mexico highway department said Sunday. "I'm wearing a wool shirt, and I'm freezing my butt."

The cold in the central United States arrived as floods fed by record rain from tropical typhoon Carmen washed across south-central Alaska, forcing hundreds of evacuations Sunday and cutting the only direct highway link between the state's two largest cities, Anchorage and Fairbanks. National Guard troops used helicopters to transport food to those trapped by floods that spilled out of streams swollen by up to 14.5 inches of rain. Gov. Bill Sheffjeld declared disaster areas in and around four towns.

Record lows were reached today in the Plains with readings of 16 degrees in North Platte, Neb., and 32 in Dodge City., Kan., and freeze warnings were posted in Iowa. Nebraska. Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Record lows were set Sunday in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, Texas and Kansas. It was 31 in Albuquerque, N.M., where the 3 inches of snow that fell was the most ever this early in the season.

Eight inches of snow fell as far south as Grant in westcentral New Mexico, while 16 inches fell at Sandia Crest and 14 inches was reported in Chama near the border with Colorado, where up to a foot

"There were a lot of cars that slipped and slid off the road." Maria Dwire, a state police dispatcher in Albuquerque said early today. "Other than that there were no major fatal accidents."

Several hunters were reported missing at various times during the first weekend of Colorado's combined elk-deer season. But all of the hunters either walked to safety or were eventually found, officials said. Thunderstorms late Sunday reached from the central Gulf Coast to northwest Florida, where a flash flood watch was issued. Nearly 8.5 inches of rain fell at Penascola, Fla., and some flooding was reported.

Flooding also was reported in southeast Nebraska, where parts of Highway 136 east of Auburn were closed Sunday. A flood warning was posted for the Missouri River from Nebraska City southward.

Winds gusting to 60 mph roared through Houston Sunday, uprooting trees, ripping apart billboards and downing power lines. Some 60,000 customers were blacked out, a spokeswoman for Houston Lighting and Power said.

"People are really nice until the football game starts, and then they get a little testy," said power company apokeaman Jerry Konigaberg. who estimated 40,000 customers were without power by kickoff time Sunday.

"People can do without eating, but they can't do without their Sunday sports." Konigsbeerg said.

Four Face Cocaine Trafficking Charges

Four Sanford residents including a Haitian native were arrested by Drug Enforcement Agents after a buy was set up in Sanford.

Jacob Cohen, of the DEA, said agents met with the Haitian and a 28-year-old man Sept. 18 at 2026 Blackston Ave., and purchased an ounce of crack cocaine for $1,000.

On Sept. 23 at the McAlister Motel, 2102 Southwest Road, agents reportedly met with the Haitian, the 28-year-old man, and a woman and bought $1,500 worth of crack.

Motivation More Greed Than Ideology Report Cites Spies, Spies And More Spies

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A bureaucracy that breeds cynicism contributes to Soviet spying in the United States and most agents are Americans lured on the social circuit or who volunteer for the thrill or financial gain, a new report says.

The report released last week by the Senate Intelligence Committee provides a rare look into the ways the Soviets capitalize on the freedoms and foibles in the American system, leaving no agency or avenue untouched in their search for information.

This "hostile intelligence threat," the 141-page report said, "is more serious than anyone in the government has yet acknowledged publicly."

The report, the unclassified section of a larger study on "the Year of the Spy," calls for sweeping changes in government security and counterintelligence and cites problems in the system used for classifying secret documents, computer security and personnel standards.

It found the government classification system 'unduly complicated" and said it "breeds cynicism and confusion in those who create and use classified information."

The Soviets find the easiest way to acquire some secret information - especially about technology - is simply to steal it.

But uncovering official government secrets and inflitrating intelligence ranks can take years and sometimes involves a sophisticated understanding of the American psyche.

"The spy of the 1980s has been described as a new breed, motivated more by greed than ideology," the report said, but of the dozens of embarrassing cases uncovered in the past two years, political beliefs, intrigue and job dissatisfaction were also important motivations.

"Most Americans arrested for espionage in recent years actually volunteered their services to the other side," the report said.

Targets by the Soviets are U.S. Embassy employees, journalists, business leaders, scientists and students with job prospects in sensitive positions.

"The agents who steal most of the U.S. classified information lost through human espionage are not foreign nationals ... but Americans already employed in sensitive positions who are recruited or who volunteer," the report said. "Social occasions and situations are a favorite hunting ground for Soviet-bloc intelligence officers," it said. "Recruitment of this sort is a process of salesmanship, almost of seduction."

In one case cited in KGB training manuals, an intelligence officer working as an interpreter for a Soviet scientist zeroed in on a young, poorly dressed lab assistant who turned out to be married and attending graduate school, with little income.

The KGB officer developed a friendship with $23.91 to the county Supervisor him and then began requests for unclassified of Elections Office for a District information in return for payment. Ultimately he Three voters list. persuaded the lab employee to join him in forming a consulting firm to sell scientific data service as the Sanford Chamber and the employee was persuaded to provide of Commerce's goodwill amsecret as well as unclassified information.

Similar techniques apparently were used by Gennadi Zakharov, the Soviet physicist at the United Nations who was arrested Aug. 23 and whose return to Moscow was linked to the release of American journalist Nicholas Daniloff.

Zakharov was arrested for buying classified documents from an FBI-controlled double agent whom he had attempted to recruit. Details of the Zakharov case are classified.

The FBI estimates that at least 30 percent of Soviet-bloc officials and representatives in the United States are professional intelligence officers and many more Soviets work as spies "illegally" with false identities.

The rest are American agents.

The Soviets are especially effective in using U.N. organizations, the report said.

"The KGB has held the position of assistant to the secretary general," the report said. "The Soviets take full advantage of U.N. personnel procedures such as liberal sick leave. This permits KGB U.N. employees to be absent as often as they desire, enabling them to carry out intelligence activities further abetted by the comparative freedom of movement enjoyed by U.N. employees.'

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar denounced that part of the report as unfair.

The Movement To The Right

The Democratic Party, which consistently downplays portents of a domestic political realignment, seems determined to position itself to ride the rising tide of conservatism in this country. How else explain such long-time Democratic powerhouses like Sheriff John Polk and others in Seminole County switching parties? And how else explain the 71-page statement issued by the Democratic National Committee?

"New Choices in a Changing America" is billed as a guideline by DNC chairman Paul Kirk, who insists the document is in no way binding on party officials. Mr. Kirk's euphemisms notwithstanding, the Democrats are scrambling about for a way to regain the political momentum they have lost during the last five years to Ronald Reagan and the Republicans.

Indeed, from the moment Mr. Kirk assumed his duties in the wake of the Mondale/Ferraro debacle of 1984, he has been charting a course to lure wayward Democrats back to the party fold. Chief among his priorities is changing the party's negative image.

Hence the new-and-improved statement of Democratic principles, which includes a wariness about Soviet global objectives, a call for a strong U.S. military, a commitment to stronger families, and an enthusiasm for an additional 25 years. private investment and entrepreneurship. Although the document stops short of comes to an end early in the next endorsing aid to the Contras, it contains no century, its owners are likely to criticism of the Reagan administration's Nicaragua policy.

This rightward movement reflects the influence of the Democratic Party's neoliberal wing, represented by such figures as Sens. Bill Bradley of New Jersey, Sam Nunn of Georgia and former Virginia Gov. Charles Robb. In fact, the recent document resembles, in many respects, the statements issued by the Democratic Leadership Council, whose moderate-to-conservative philosophy infuri- mission allows utilities to choose ates the liberal faithful. In fact, some activists among three decommissioning accuse the party of sacrificing its principles on the altar of political expediency.

Mr. Kirk is unfazed by such criticisms. To the contrary, he insists that Democratic ates are doomed to deleat so long as they remain out of step with the American shipped to a burial ground. The people. Which is why the panel that drew up the principles was made up of politicians who have won elections. To be sure, the Democratic Party is far from being an endangered species. Approximately 43 percent of all voters still call themselves Democrats, and the party still controls the House of Representatives as well as a majority of the governorships and state houses. In order to regain control of the Senate and the White House, however, the Democrats must dominate the national debate, which means winning over a largely disaffected middle class. And that won't happen so long as the party clings to the discredited policies of the past. Simply stated, the Democrats must come to terms with the fact that Big Government cannot solve everyone's problems. Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., said as much as two years ago: "We cannot just play pork-barrel politics with the nation. We are going to have to tell some people that they can't have all they want." This blunt, albeit accurate, analysis was echoed several months ago by Gov. Robb. How ironical that the late Lyndon Johnson's son-in-law concedes that the Great Society programs spawned a paternalistic welfare system, which in turn has contributed to a crippling cycle of dependence among many blacks. Instead of being denounced as a racist, Gov. Robb was praised by numerous black leaders for his candid appraisal of an abysmal situation. If the Democratic Party is to regain the political momentum, it must follow the lead of pragmatists such as Paul Kirk. Charles Robb, Sam Nunn, Bill Bradley, and those like them who realize that the days of tax-andspend and blame-America-first are gone. That much is implicit in the Democratic statement of principles, which will be ignored at the party's peril.

BEN WATTENBERG What's More Important, Words Or Deeds?

and the second second

The Democratic Party has come out with a fine document called "New Choices in a Changing America." Within this document is a chapter on foreign policy and national defense that is better, tougher and more sensible than anything the Democrats have come out with since the party was fractured by the Vietnam War.

While I wouldn't agree with everything in it, most of the right words and thoughts are there. It says, for example, "We understand that the Soviet Union poses the greatest threat to world peace and freedom." It talks about "the Democratic Party's long tradition and commitment to internationalism."

It comes out in favor (i) of some expensive weapon systems, such as the Stealth bomber, the Midgetman missile and the Trident submarine with its D-5 missile. It condemns waste in the Pentagon, condemns the lack of overall strategic planning in the Reagan administration, but does not call for defense cuts. In fact, it endorses more spending for conventional weapons.

in several passages, it supports the use of force when necessary. It pointedly does not oppose aid to the contras in Nicaragua, although neither does it offer support for that effort.

Perhaps most important, the document is suffused with a certain idealism that says America ought not only defend and protect freedom in the world, but ought to try to extend it. Thus: "With America's full range of defense and foreign policy instruments, and with time and patience, we can foster the world revolution toward greater freedom and prosperity."

Credit for this prudently tough-minded chapter should go mostly to tough-minded Rep. Les Aspin and his staff. It was worked on, and worked over, by scores of elected officials and by many factions in the party (including one 1 belong to, the Coalition for a Democratic Majority).

The document will be sent to 20,000 key Democrats around the country, including those running for office. It is the closest thing the party has to a national platform. It can help insulate Democrats from charges of being "soft on defense." It can be a great step toward the dream of many Democrats "to bring the party back toward the center." That's where disaf-fected Democrats, who often vote Republican. reside. If those Democrats can be brought back. the Democrats could recapture the Senate in 1986 and the presidency in 1988.

So: is there still a problem on defense within the party? You bet there is.

Something else was going on while these good words were being arduously crafted. Democrats in the House of Representatives - some of whose names are affixed to the document were, for a variety of reasons leading the charge for deep defense cuts. They were undercutting administration positions that, while summitry is going on, should usually be negotiated between the Soviet and American leaders, not between the U.S. president and the U.S. Congress. These include: anti-satellite weapons, Star Wars, a nuclear test ban treaty and the chemical weapons program.

This leads to an interesting political question: What is more important, words or deeds?

The quick, usual and often correct answer is "deeds." As once-upon-a-time Attorney General John Mitchel said, "Watch what we do, not what we say."

ROBER' WALTERS Funds, Faulty Plans

PRESCOTT, Ore. (NEA) - The Trojan nuclear power plant, on the banks of the Columbia River in northwestern Oregon, has functioned well for a decade and presumably will continue to operate for

But when the plant's useful life have neither adequate funds nor a secure method to decommission or dismantle the highly radioactive facility.

Trojan is hardly unique. Among the 100 commercial nuclear power plants in operation across the nation, scores rely upon potentially unsafe decommissioning plans or unsuitable funding mechanisms.

The Nuclear Regulatory Comalternatives:

ROBERT WAGMAN Incumbent Shoo-Ins

BOSTON (NEA) - Few contests in New England are generating any real voter interest this November as most incumbents seem certain to be re-elected. The most heated battle may not be for an elective office but over an anti-abortion initiative on the Massachusetts ballot.

"Question 1," as it is called, would allow the Massachusetts legislature to regulate or prohibit abortions to the extent allowed by the U.S. Constitution. Right-to-life groups are pushing the initiative under the assumption the Supreme Court will overturn or modify the 1971 Roe vs. Wade decision, which allowed abortions. If the court does that, and the initiative passes, the Massachusetts legislature would be in a position to act immediately.

that 62 percent of voters oppose the initiative while only 27 percent favor it. But Law's intervention has raised the stakes.

Elsewhere most incumbent statewide candidates and representatives appear on their way to re-election. The most interesting Senate race is in Vermont where former GOP Gov. Richard Snelling

WASHINGTON WORLD Mama, Where's My Pa?

By Arnold Sawislah WASHINGTON (UPI) - About three months before the 1884 election, a newspaper reported that the Democratic presidential nominee had an affair with a local woman and had fathered her illegitimate child. The Democrats asked their candidate what they should do and Grover Cleveland replied, "Tell the truth."

The truth, Cleveland said, was that he had sexual relations with the woman but did not know if the child was his. (Neither, says historian Stefan Lorant in his book, "The Presidency," was the woman sure who was the child's father.)

The Republicans pounced on the issue, parading to the chant. "Mal Mal Where's my pa? Gone to the White House, ha, ha, ha.'

However, they also had a problem: the GOP candidate, James G. Blaine, was accused by the Demo-crats of taking bribes. He denied it, but the Democrats had their own chant: "Blaine, Blaine. James G. Blaine, continental liar from the state of Maine." In what some historians have called the dirtiest presidential campaign in history, the voters had to choose between one candidate with a tarnished personal life but an impeccable reputation as a public official, and another with a questionable record for honesty in office but a pristine personal life. So they gave Cleveland the highest public office in the land and retired Blaine to private life. But it was a close question: 10 million votes were cast and Cleveland won by 23,000. All this is by way of noting that 102 years later a similar situation is unfolding in Baltimore. Recently, the Republican can-didate for the congressional scat being vacated by Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., produced documents relating to paternity suits filed in 1968 and 1970 naming his Democratic opponent, Kweisi Mfume. GOP candidate St. George Crosse said the suits showed Mfume was part of the problem of teenage pregnancy and unfit to serve in Congress.

BERRY'S WORLD

(BU) Safstor: This calls for preliminary decontamination before the plant is stored for 50 years to allow short-lived radioactive isotopes to decay. Full dismantling follows.

(BU) Entomb: The least safe method, it involves preliminary decontamination followed by entombment of all radioactive materials and components in a semipermanent shroud of steelreinforced concrete.

However, some isotopes will remain highly radioactive long after the concrete blanket disintegrates. Nickel 59, for example, has a half-life of 20,000 years.

A report issued earlier this year by the Worldwatch Institute, an independent research organization based in Washington, D.C., says:

"Although once viewed as the cheap and easy way out, entombment is no longer considered a realistic option because of the longevity of several radioisotopes. The protective structure would decay long before the radioactivity within."

Undoubtedly the most secure method of financing heavy decommissioning costs involves prepayment of all expected "back end" expenses when the plant first becomes operable. These costs are then amortized during the facility's life.

"The Coalition For Responsible Government," which supports the initiative, has raised more than $250,000 to push the measure. Pro-choice advocates, under the name "The Campaign For Choice." have raised at least as much.

The intensity of the debate was turned up a notch when Roman Catholic Cardinal Bernard Law threw the weight of his church behind the initiative. In a recorded sermon played in all Catholic churches in the state, Law said: "You and I will have an opportunity in November to vote our conviction about the sacredness of life. I certainly have no doubt about the way I will vote."

In recent years, the Catholic, Church has a poor track record in swaying Massachusetts voters. In 1982 Law's predecessor. Cardinal Humberto Medeiros, urged Catholics to vote against incumbent Reps. Jim Shannon and Barney Frank because of their pro-abortion views. Both men were easily reelected.

A recent statewide poll showed

Recalls

is making things a little hot for incumbent Democrat Patrick Leahy. But Leahy is well ahead in the polls and seems a safe bet for re-election.

In another Vermont race, incumbent Democratic Gov. Madeleine Kunin is under sharp attack from both the right and the left in her bid for a second term. She is being opposed by a Republican and by a supporter of Jesse Jackson's Rainbow Coalition who claims that Kunin is too conservative. Under Vermont law, if Kunin gets less than a clear majority of the vole, the state senate chooses the governor. In that event the staunchly Democratic senate. would assure her of a win.

The most interesting House race in the region is in Rhode Island where the GOP is pulling out all the stops trying to defeat longtime Democratic incumbent Rep. Fernand St Germain.

St Germain, hardly a household name, is nonetheless one of the most powerful men on Capitol Hill and in financial circles, because he chairs the House Banking Committee.

Late last year newspaper articles alleged that St Germain had amassed a multimillion-dollar fortune by using his chairmanship to help friends and investors, allegations he heatedly denies. But the GOP thinks he's vulnerable and is pouring money into the campaign against him.

Mfume's response was much the same as Cleveland's. He told the truth, which was that he not only had fathered the two children named in the suits but three others when he was between 17 and 22 years old.

The district is solidly Democratic and Mfume is almost sure to be going to Congress in January.

JACK ANDERSON Union

And Dele Van Atta

WASHINGTON - Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fia., has received the ultimate rebuke from a mail-order "university" that he exposed for awarding him a Ph.D after he sent in four book reports and a check for $1,780. His "alma mater," Union University of Los Angeles, has asked Pepper to mail back his diploma.

In a three-page letter explaining the decision, a member of the board of the now-defunct institution blamed the original award of the degree last December to misplaced respect for the 86-year-old representative and an excess of Christmas spirit. The school officials responsible were of Japanese heritage, the letter explained, and were simply treating Pepper with the traditional veneration that Japanese give their elderly.

"They also thought the degree would be a great Christmas gift for the gentleman, who may not have too much time left to enjoy his doctorate," the letter added. "Shakespeare called it the milk of human kindness. A group of people acting in good faith made an error. and they would have committed a hari kari had it occurred in the old Japan."

In short, the letter explained, "human frailty played an important part in swaying the minds" of the suicidal school officials who decided to give Pepper his mail-order degree.

Pepper. who holds two legitimate academic degrees (University of Alabama '21, Harvard Law School '24), worked with Postal Service inspectors and his own Subcommittee on Health and Long-Term Care to get his Ph.D. in a muchpublicized sting operation last year. Their intention was to show how

At a hearing on Dec. 11, postal inspectors told how the caper began when they answered an ad in Popular Mechanics that offered "university degrees by special evaluation of existing job experience, education, achievement, fast and inexpensive." A questionnaire soon arrived, on which Pepper indicated that he wanted a Ph.D. as soon as possible and for no more than $950.

The cost turned out to be nearly double, but Pepper had no difficulty meeting Union University's academic requirement: four book reports of about three pages each on any of the 44 books (many of them bestsellers) that the doctoral candidate said he had read.

A postal inspector picked up Pepper's sheepskin at the university, which was also a center for acupuncture and Oriental medicine.

congressional hearing room, Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., awarded Pepper his diploma. "Well, well. well," said Pepper, "I have always wanted to be a Dr. Pepper."

Pepper's Degree

He told our associate Stewart Harris he hasn't decided whether he'll return the degree as requested. Union University closed down last month, shortly after demanding the return of Pepper's diploma.

Unfortunately, not all diploma mill operations are as harmless as the one that issued Pepper's Ph.D. In 1983, postal inspectors learned that 98 people had received spurious medical degrees from a man in Alexandria, Va., after paying $20,000 to $28,000 and attending graduation ceremonies in the Dominican Republic. At least five of these phony doctors then got licenses to practice medicine in the United States.

Smokeless Tobacco Labeling Rules Proposal Causes Strife

WASHINGTON (UPI) - When Congress approved legislation early this year requiring health warning labels on snuff and chewing tobacco, health groups and the industry thought the issue was behind them. They were wrong.

The controversy resumed this summer as the Federal Trade Commission struggles to hammer out rules implementing the law.

Like the similar health issue of cigarette smoking, the labeling of smokeless tobacco products pits tobacco-state lawmakers against legislators who would like to see a smoke-free society. and health experts against the industry.

A House aide accuses the FTC of "trying to legislate through regulation." Michael Kerrigan of the Smokeless Tobacco Council claims pro-labeling forces are trying to win back in rulemaking what it negotiated away to get the law.

The FTC's final rules were due Aug. 27. An FTC spokesman could not say Friday when the regulations will be finished.

Surgeon General C. Everett Koop has reported that at least 12 million Americans used some form of smokeless tobacco last year and said its use was increasing, especially among young men.

He said use of smokeless products can cause mouth cancer and addiction to nicotine. The subject won national attention when Betty Marsee sued

Vancouver Braces For Expo Hangover VANCOUVER. British Col. has been minimal, in some cases

umbia (UPI) - When Expo 86 closes its gates today, it can boast of being the most popular world's fair in 16 years.

For 5 1/2 months Expo crammed camera-laden tourists onto its downtown waterfront site. It filled them with fast food and scared them on the rides.

It herded them into hour-long

In August, unemployment actually increased fractionally to 12.3 percent, giving British Columbia the second-highest jobless rate in Canada. On Monday, when the fair closes, another 5,000 people will be looking for work.

that's going to happen. Some of these visits have been borrowed from 1987 and 1988."

By then, British Columbia taxpayers will have made a dent in their Expo debt payments. Their government poured almost $600 million into the black hole. And long before Expo opened, the government said it

A smattering of English royalty, Russian ballet and Italian opera added some dignity. But mostly the $1 billion fair was a middle-class dream, a cheap trip round the world through the pavilions of 54 nations.

With attendance topping 21 million, it easily outdrew the last two North American world's fairs combined.

The 1982 Nashville world's fair saw only 11 million pass through its gates, while New Orleans' disastrous 1984 fair ended in bankruptcy after drawing only 7 million visitors. Not since Japan's Osaka '70 has a world's fair been busier.

But Expo's hosts, the taxpayers of British Columbia, are still waiting for the prosperity promised by its promoters. The provcincial government, Expo's official sponsor, touted it as a springboard out of a recession that has dogged British Columbla for five years.

But Expo's economic impact

The fair had its winners. But they were mostly such American-based chains as McDonald's, which set new burger records at its Expo outlets, and Scattlebased Ace Novelty, which bought an exclusive contract to sell Expo souvenirs.

Vancouver restaurateurs, retailers and night club owners took to calling Expo a "black hole," sucking in tourists dollars and returning nothing.

LEESBURG, Va. (UPI) - Eight months after his organization scored a smashing political upset, radical Lyndon LaRouche is caught up in a criminal investigation that threatens to topple his cult-like empire.

State and federal officials are sorting through two truckloads of financial records seized from LaRouche headquarters last week in an inquiry of suspected credit card fraud and securities violations.

Ten people have been indicted in a scam officials charge helped finance LaRouche's two-decade-old multimillion-dollar organization, believed to have up to 1,200 members worldwide.

Whether there is enough evidence to charge LaRouche is the big question," said a source close to the investigation. "We don't know yet. It might take a couple of weeks, a couple of months, to figure out. He is a target."

In a telegram Monday to President Reagan, just hours after about 300 state and federal lawmen swooped down on his offices in rural Leesburg. LaRouche, who denies any wrongdoing, wrote:

"I will defend myself. ... Any arrest or attempt to arrest me would be an attempt to kill me."

For years, LaRouche, 64, once a Marxist and four times a presidential candidate, operated in relative obscurity on the political fringes.

But in March, he suddenly reveled in a national spotlight when two of his followers won stunning victories in the Illinois Democratic primary for lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

LaRouche called the results evidence of growing public support of his often baffling politics. which include charges the queen of England is a dope dealer, Henry Kissinger is an agent of Soviet influence and the United States is trying to cover up the "AIDS epidemic."

Critics called the Illinois election a fluke caused by a lack of knowledge by voters and a lack of vigilance by the Democratic Party.

After last week's raids, a combative LaRouche, who lives on a heavily fortified 171-acre estate outside Leesburg, charged he was the victim of a conspiracy between the White House and the Kremlin.

"The million-dollar Leesburg 'panty raid' ... was politically motivated with no legal merit of fact," LaRouche said in a statement.

The crackdown coincided with a federal grand jury in Boston capping a two-year investigation by indicting 10 LaRouche associates on charges related to the alleged credit card fraud and security violations.

Authorities say the investigation focuses on unauthorized withdrawals from LaRouche contributors' credit card accounts and .nlawfully obtained loans, many of which were never paid back.

At a bond hearing Thursday for three defendants, an FBI agent testified that a former LaRouche security consultant quoted LaRouche as saying the federal prosecutor in charge of the investigation "should get a bullet between the CVCS.

Agent Richard Egan testified that one of those arrested, Roy Frankhouser, 47, of Reading, Pa., quoted LaRouche as saying that former U.S. Attorney William Weld "doesn't deserve to live."

Weld, who headed the Boston investigation of the LaRouche organization, is now chief of the Justice Department's criminal division.

Dana Scanlon, a LaRouche spokeswoman, said. "He (Frankhouser) is a liar. I think this is another product of a well-paid imagination."

Egan said Frankhouser and at least 15 other former LaRouche associates are cooperating with federal authorities.

The LaRouche organization includes several publications, a political action committee and an intelligence-gathering consulting firm. Members belong to the National Democratic Policy Committee, a name close enough to the Democratic National Committee to confuse voters and worry Democrats.

Law enforcement sources said the LaRouche operation, which started as a leftist sect in the 1960s and careened to the right in the 1970s, is being examined in about a dozen states and at least one other federal grand jury.

Longtime LaRouche watchers predict the probes will cripple his fund-raising, much of it by followers selling magazines or seeking contributions at airports, and will have a chilling effect on his overall network.

"There is no question that this will organization financially in a big wa Dennis King, a New York freelance journ has written about LaRouche for a decade.

"But it is absolutely too early to say i death blow," said King. "It could be, b seen him suffer major setbacks in the bounce back."

Terry Michael, spokesman for the De National Committee, said, "When dealing cult, you're not dealing with someone playing with a full deck - you're dea true believers.

"I don't think they'll go away. They the corners of airports. But in terms effective in furthering their bizarre causes, I don't 1 think so. They never have been." he said.

The sudden surge of publicity from the Illinois primary seems to have boomeranged against LaRouche. The election raised his public profile and spurred a stunned Democratic Party to campaign against him.

Since then, LaRouche followers have lost hundreds of elections for posts ranging from state legislator to member of Congress. They won a few uncontested primaries but are expected to lose in the general election.

Michael said of the LaRouche organization, "I think they are headed down the tubes."

A law enforcement source said it might take two months for the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI and Virginia officials to go through the "gold mine" of evidence selzed in Monday's raids.

Cards 'Stump' Bucs, 30-19

TAMPA (UPI) — It was a double play for football's St. Louis Cardinals.

They won their first game under Gene Stallings Sunday, and Stump Mitchell had his big day less than a week after his tailback sidekick Ottis "O.J." Anderson was traded.

Mitchell gained 126 yards and scored two touchdowns, including the clincher, in a 30-19 victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. St. Louis improved to 1-5 and Tampa dropped to 1-5.

"I feel good," Stallings understated. "I've been around a lot of big wins and this was a big win. "We made some plays when we had to. It will make practice more fun next week," he said.

Stallings said the win also took the pressure off him for the trade with the New York Glants.

"I felt it was for the best interest of our team, and Stump played very well today. The whole team played tough," he said.

Mitchell now has the job all to himself, but he is careful not to seem too happy about it.

"That never bothered me, not being No. 1. O.J. was a super back," Mitchell said.

Mitchell was pretty super himself on a third and six with 1:45 left in the game.

The Cardinals had built a 23-7 lead, but by the time of Mitchell's game-breaking carry, the Bucs had rallied back to 23-19.

Mitchell had been running successfully to the left side of his own offensive line all afternoon. This time, however, he started off to his right, trying to pick his way.

"I saw a big hole on the inside and thought, 'I've got to score,' so I hit it," he said.

The final score of the game put the Bucs away, thwarting a determined late effort for the third week in a row. The Bucs were coming off two straight overtime losses and Coach Leeman Bennett felt about as bad as Stallings felt good.

"Quick summary - we were equally poor on offense and defense. We couldn't stop them and we couldn't move the football," Bennett said.

The Bucs started well, scoring on 15-yard pass from Steve DeBerg to Calvin Magee on a fake field goal that caught the Cardinals completely by surprise.

St. Louis came back with a 38-yard field goal by John Lee early in the second quarter and took the lead for good with four seconds to go in the half on a three-yard burst over the left side by Mitchell.

Quarterback Neil Lomax then cranked out a pair of touchdown passes late in the third quarter and early in the fourth. Fullback Earl Ferrell turned a swing pass into a 30-yard touchdown by breaking three tackles and then Chas Fox juggled the ball

Into the end zone on a 38-yard play. The Bucs were down 23-7 with only 11 minutes to go, but began their move. Donald Igwebuike hit a 23-yard field goal, and then Steve Young fired a 30-yard touchdown to Phil Freeman, his first scoring catch.

Lionel Washington blocked Igwebuike's extra point, making it 23-16, but the Bucs weren't through yet.

The Bucs got the ball back but had to settle for a 46-yard field goal by Igwebulke, making it 23-19 with more than five minutes left.

But then the Cards drove back and Mitchell sailed to his clinching touchdown.

Young finished the game discouraged, although he had 15 completions in 29 attempts, one touchdown and 47 yards rushing.

'I think when it comes down to making the big play, we have trouble on both sides of the ball," Young said. "We did get after them in the fourth quarter."

He said the reason for that may have been that he was throwing the ball more late in could do little else ofthe game.

Steve DeBerg threw a TD pass on a fake field-goal attempt Sunday but the Bucs fensively.

Seminole Athletic Conference. The Hawks' 28-0 dumping of Lake Mary puts them in good position to walk away with the SAC crown.

Hawks, Rams

Switch Roles;

Lake Howell upped its SAC record to 2-0. Seminole, which handled Lake Brantley Friday, is one-half game behind with a 2-1 mark. Lyman and Oviedo, both with 1-0 records, are also onehalf game back. Lake Mary, 0-2, trails by two games and Lake Brantley, 0-3, is 21/2 back and out of the chase.

Since Lake Howell also holds a victory over Seminole, finishing in a tie with the 'Noles would give coach Mike Bisceglia's team the SAC title. Howell has SAC games remaining with Lyman, Oviedo and Lake Brantley.

Impressive is the only word that can be used to describe the Silver Hawks. The balanced offense moved the ball at will against the helpless Rams while the defensive unit held the Rams to a grand total of 66 yards.

•Lake Mary and Lake Howell seem to have switched roles. Usually the Rams are the dominating team, but that has not been the case this year as Lake Mary lost its third game in a row dropping its record to 1-3.

Harry Nelson's Rams lost only three games in the past two years, yet they have equaled that total in four outings this scason.

Perhaps the Rams are playing on tradition. Their teams the past two years have been superb and after their opening win over Apopka, Lake Mary figured to repeat with another good season. Maybe the players expect to win just because they are Lake Mary and are used to winning. Last year, Lake Mary used the big play to pull out five games. This year, it is missing.

The Lake Mary problem this season is easy to figure out: players are simply not playing well. The Rams have the talent to be a good football team. On paper they figured to be nothing short of spectacular yet they are in a horrible slump which they can't shake.

Lake Mary has another problem. Other teams do not like Lake Mary. Why? Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon said: "They always have their nose up in the air. They think they're better than you are."

No doubt some of this feeling comes from a jealously of the Rams' success of the past two scasons. Regardless, opponents always want to beat them more than any other team on the schedule. The teams are skyhigh when they play Lake Mary.

The Rams are learning first hand this year that what was accomplished in previous years means nothing. Each season is different and each team changes.

Now that the Rams are basically out of the race for the SAC and District 5A-4 titles, it will be interesting to see what kind of character they have. They have a choice to make: Either they can pick things up and salvage what's left of the season, or they can mope around and feel sorry for themselves.

Lake Mary travels to Spruce Creek this Friday for a district game.

• Lake Howell's biggest test of the season comes Friday at home against Winter Park in District 5A-5 action. Quite simply, the game is a must win for Lake Howell. If the Hawks have any playoff hopes, they will have to win this game. It is the district record that decides if a team makes the playoffs, not the conference record.

The Hawks already have a district loss (a 10-7 loss to Apopka) and another loss could extinguish their playoff hopes.

Winter Park is tough this season. The Wildcats creamed Apopka, 25-0, earlier this season and had an easy time with Lake Brantley. They also have one of

Howell Looks For Repeat Of County Postal Success

By Chris Pister Herald Sports Writer

Lake Howell High has had the nation's second-best Postal Run performance the past two years. Coach Tom Hammontree has another solid team this season and his Lady Silver Hawks will see how high they can fly tonight in the Seminole County Postal Run at Lake Mary High.

The meet begins tonight at 6:30 with the junior varsity girls (one mile around the track), followed by girls varsity at 6:45 (two miles), senior recognition at 7:10, varsity boys at 7:25 (two miles) and junior varsity boys at 7:45 (two miles).

This year's Postal Run will be held on the brand-new Lake Mary High track which was resurfaced over the summer.

"It's the second-best track in Central Florida," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "Showalter Field has the best track and that's the site of the state meets."

Gibson said the only problem with the new rubberized-asphalt track is football players walking on it with their cleats.

Lake Howell, the top-ranked cross country team in the state, has some of the area's best distance runners on the track as well led by Lisa Samocki and Martha Fonacca, state-qualifiers in track last scason. Also boosting Lake Howell's chances of another place in the national standings are Jenny Bolt. Bonnie Oliver, Mary Fonseca and Tammy Bolt.

"We've had pretty good success at the Postal Run the past two years." Hammontree said. "Hopefully, the girls will go out and run competitively again."

The team results are based on combining the times of the top four runners on each team. Lake Howell holds the Seminole County Postal Run record for team time with a total of 60 12.2 in 1984.

Both Baylor and Henderson did so, but not before an RBI double by Rob Wilfong and a sacrifice fly by Brian Downing improved the Angels lead to 5-3 in the seventh.

Bill Buckner singled to lead off the Boston ninth and, one out later, Baylor belted a pitch from starter Mike Witt over the leftfield wall. After Dwight Evans popped up, Mauch brought in reliever Gary Lucas.

Lucas, who had only two saves this year, threw only one pitch, hitting Rich Gedman. Donnie Moore then relieved to face Henderson, who cracked another two-run homer to left and Boston led 6-5.

Witt was not pleased with his departure.

'That's not up to me," Witt said. "That's the manager's decision. I can't say anymore than that. It's his move.'

Brewer, Gators Get 52-9 Confidence Builder

United Press International

The Florida Gators and quarterback Rodney Brewer had confidence-building performances as the Gators won for the first time since August in a 52-9 victory over Kent State Saturday at Florida Field.

Apopka's Brewer, maligned last year for his role in a 28-28 tie with Rutgers, completed 13 of 16 passes for 230 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Gators, 2-4, to their first win since defeating Dvision 1-AA Georgia Southern in the season opener Aug. 30, and their first 1986 win over a Division 1-A school.

In other games involving Florida teams, No. 1 Miami easily handled West Virginia 58-14 in Morgantown, W.Va., Florida State topped Tulane 54-21, Wichita State edged Central Florida 9-6, Central State (Ohio) romped over Florida A&M 41-3, and Georgia Southern beat Bethune-

In Gainesville. The Gators jumped out to a 28-3 halftime advantage and coasted home in front of 73,718 fans at the Florida homecoming game.

"It was a long time coming," said Coach Galen Hall. "I'm very happy for our players, fans and coaching staff. I'm proud of the way the players stayed together the past couple of weeks. This is the start of turning things around."

It also was the first time since the Georgia Southern game the Gators had played a team that was not ranked in the Top 20. Florida suffered consecutive losses to Miami, Alabama, Mississippi State, and Louisiana State.

Brewer, an outfielder on the Gator baseball team, also was booed by fans when he dropped a fly ball that helped Miami defeat Florida in the NCAA regionals and go on to win the College World Series in 1985. Brewer did not fumble or throw an interception.

Football

"I hope I showed a few people I could play." Brewer said. "And I hope I showed my teammates that they could have confidence in me. It feels good to win again."

In Morgantown, Miami scored three touchdowns in the first six minutes of the game and rolled to a 42.7 halftime advantage, taking advantage of West Virginia mistakes and poor tackling by the Mountaineers. Miami is now 6-0, with a road game at Cincinnati scheduled for next Saturday.

"I haven't ever seen a better team than us," said quarterback Vinny Testaverde, who threw for 188 yards and three touchdowns. "If we play like we're capable, I don't think we can be beaten."

Saturday, the Hurricanes looked awesome at times. Miami scored on passes of 11 and 15 yards from Testaverde to Michael Irvin, a 33yard run by Melvin Bratton, a 9-yard run by Warren Williams, a fumble recovery in the end zone by Alfredo Roberts, an 11-yard run by Alonzo Highsmith, a 45-yard pass from Geoff Torretta to David Kintigh, and a 30-yard field goal by Greg Cox.

In Tallahassee at Doak Campbell Stadium, the Florida State Seminoles also posted their first win since an Aug. 30 victory over Toledo by scoring 40 points in the second half. The Seminoles - behind quarterback Danny McManus, making his first start in more than a year - improved 2-2-1, while Tulane fell to 1-4.

"We needed a win real bad," said FSU Coach Bobby Bowden. "It took us a while to get started, but then we finally got it rolling. Danny McManus did a real job. I think he's made it back. I wasn't surprised at how well he played. When he's healthy, he's a pretty good quarterback."

McManus was forced to sit out the last half of 1985 with dizzy spells caused by being knocked unconscious in two straight games. He finished the night 16 of 25 for 171 yards and an interception.

He also scored on a 1-yard quarterback sneak, in which he took his first blow to the head of the scason.

"I expected to take my first hard lick on a sack, or after I got off a pass." he said. "Instead, I took it on the quarterback sneak. Guy hit me square on the head."

Police Rule Out Foul Play In Cash Death

BEAVER ISLAND, Mich. (UPI) - Police ruled out foul play in the apparent drowning of former Detroit Tigers slugger Norm Cash, winner of the 1961 American League batting crown.

While the death was still being in-vestigated by the Charlevolx County Sheriff's Department, Deputy Patrick Avery said Cash, 52, had "apparently drowned."

His body was found floating Sunday in 15 feet of water near the shore of Beaver Island. about 20 miles off the northwest coast of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. He was identified by his wife shortly after 4 p.m.

Other details surrounding the death were not available, but authorities ruled out foul play. Cash had never fully recovered from a minor stroke he suffered a few years after he retired as a player in 1974.

"Norm Cash was a fine ball player." Detroit president and chief executive officer Jim Campbell said after learning of Cash's death. The left-handed first baseman played with Detroit from 1960-74 after two seasons with the Chicago White Sox.

Cash, who lived in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., a Detroit suburb, is survived by his wife, Dorothy. Campbell called Cash a "free spirit ... He was one of the more entertaining guys I've ever been around. He got along with the fans, the media, with everybody.

'He was never ashamed that he sometimes got his nights and days mixed up," Campbell said, "and along with it he was one of the great ball players in Tiger history.'

Cash, a native of Justiceburg, Texas, was obtained by Detroit from Cleveland on April 12, 1960, in return for third baseman Steve Demeter. The Indians obtained him from the Chicago White Sox in December, 1959.

Five days after acquiring Cash, Detroit traded batting champion Harvey Kuenn to Cleveland for home run champion Rocky Colavito and made a stirring run at the New York Yankees in 1961 but fell short.

Cash batted .361 to win the AL batting title that season but never hit .300 in a scason again.

Secondary Gets Break, Dolphins Pass Bills

MIAMI (UPI) - Miami's secondary got a welcome break from the barrage of long passes they had grown used to seeing.

The Dolphins came into the game Sunday with the worst defense in the NFL and had surrendered 2,077 yards passing, but Buffalo stuck mostly to a short passing game in Miami's 27-14 win at the Orange Bowl Sunday.

Buffalo lost its 20th straight road game and is 1-5 on the year, while Miami is 2-4.

The Dolphins scored on field goals of 22 and 36 yards by Fuad Reveiz, runs of 4 and 1 yards by Lorenzo Hampton, and a 30-yard pass from Dan Marino to Mark Duper. Buffalo scored on a 1-yard run by Greg Bell, who left the game in th did not return, and a 6-yard pass from Jim Kelly to Andre Reed with 3:03 left in the game.

Wide receivers such as Wesley Walker, Jerry Rice and Stanley Morgan had been burning the Miami defensive backs as the Dolphins lost three straight games to the New York Jets, San Francisco 49ers and New England Patriots. Sunday, Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly completed only two passes to wide receivers for a total of 18 yards.

The Bills tried a long pass to Reed on their sixth play from scrimmage that was knocked away by Paul Lankford in the end zone, and didn't go back to the deep pass until the second half. In all, the Bills attempted seven passes to intercepted.

"I was surprised they didn't test us deeper," Miami defensive coordinator Chuck Studley said. "I guess Kelly hasn't grasped all of their offense. Donovan Rose really played well out there and it gives our secondary some needed speed.'

Rose, an NFL rookie with five years of Canadian Football League experience, was activated off injured reserve Saturday and started in place of the injured Lyle Blackwood at free safety. He and fellow safety Mike Kozlowski each had an interception.

Miami also recovered two Buffalo fumbles, and the Bills recovered two Dolphin fumbles and picked off a Marino pass.

Sunday was the most expensive quarterback battle in NFL history as Kelly, under a contract that pays him $8 million, and Marino, under a $9 million contract, met for the first time. Both were first-round picks in the 1983 draft that had six quarterbacks tapped in the first round.

Marino finished 24 of 41 for 337 yards, a touchdown and an interception, while Kelly was 20 of 28 for 218 yards, two interceptions and a touchdown.

Kelly appeared to be aggravated by the Buffalo game plan that called for short passes.

"As a guarterback, you want to say things but you can't." Kelly said, then quickly changed his tune. "The core ners were rolling up, they were playing two-deep safeties and that freed up the middle for our tight ends and backs." We had a game plan but there some things we had to do and didn't."

Marino, bouncing back from a two-game slump in which he threw, seven interceptions, said the team's confidence was improving.

"We have to feel good about how we played as a team." Marino said. "We needed a win here and were able to get it. We have to play well every week now and figure some way we can get into the playoffs."

Miami Coach Don Shula said the win was a step in the right direction.

At Indianapolis, Rueben Mayes ran for 108 y completion percentage, yards gained per pass, touchdown throws and interceptions, the NFL number wizards have concluded that Malone's so-called "rating" this week is 40.5. That is very bad.

Using a formula that includes statistics.

The next worst passer, Randy Wright of Green Bay, is 47.7 The best passer, New England's Tony Eason, is way up there at 107.9. Cincinnati's Boomer Esiason is in the middle at 77.5. Malone has the worst completion percentage in the NFL (43.7), lowest average gain per pass (4.8 yards) and the second most interceptions (10).

Noll still disagrees with the interpretation of the numbers, and defends his quarterback against the barbs of the tough Pittsburgh fans.

"I have a closer look at him than the people putting the heat on him," said Noll. "I have a better look at what he's trying to do.

"A lot of the bad things that have happened to us haven't been his fault. He is capable of doing an excellent job. We've just got to get everybody else supporting him properly and he will be fine."

"I was very relaxed today and simply try to do my best each week," Riggs said.

At Dallas, the Cowboys improved to 4-2 and moved within a game of the first-place Redskins and New York Giants, both 15-1, in the NFC East.

"Walker is exceptional, Washington Coach Joe Gibbs said. "He is hard to get down. Guys bounce off him. You don't do all the things he has done unless you are a fine football player and he certainly is." Despite the performances of expected to continue playing behind Tony Dorsett and Danny White, respectively. Dorsett played sparingly in his return from a knee injury and gained 22 yards and White is still bothered by a hip injury.

"I'm not going to worry right now whether Herschel is starting or not," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said. "And if Danny is ready, he will start. But because of the depth we have. I had a good feeling about this team when the season started. I still do.

Bears 20, Oilers 7

At Houston, Dennis Gentry and Walter Payton each rushed for a touchdown and Kevin Butler kicked two field goals to help the Bears stay unbeaten.

McEnroe Edges Past Curren To Win WCT Scottsdale Open

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz (UPI) - Top seeded John McEnroe edged past Kevin Curren, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 Sunday to win the Championship of the $279,000 WCT Scottadale Open before a capacity crowd of 7,500 in the first year of this tennis tournament.

McEnroe, working hard for a spot in the Nabisco Masters in December, broke Curren's serve at 30 with a forehand passing shot in the eighth game of the first set and then held for the set.

Curren, seeded third, took advantage of McEnroe's unforced backhand error in game two of the second set, and although McEnroe had two chances to break back, he was unable to do so.

In the third set, McEnroe hit a backhand winner past Curren after the fourth deuce in game four for his initial break of that set, but was broken back in the next game. With Curren coming in behind his serves, McEnroe combined two backhand passing shots down the line and a topspin forehand lob to break in the next game for a 4-2 lead.

"This was not one of Kevin's good serving days," said McEnroe, "and as the match went on I could see he was losing confidence in his serve. Also, he was giving second chances on his volleys."

Carter Sets 'Midnight Madness'

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - Basketball season is just around the corner and the University Central Florida men's coach Phil Carter can't wait to get started.

That's why he's scheduled "Midnight Madness II" beginning at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 14. Events that evening, open to the public, will lead to the Knights' first official practice, scheduled for 12:01 a.m., Oct. 15.

"We want to encourage everyone to come out and help us tip off the 1986-87 basketball season," Carter said. "It should be a fun night for all UCF basketball fans."

Refreshments will be served at the team's tip-off party, for members of the Knights Boosters, Inc. beginning at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 14.

Then, UCF fans get a chance to "meet the Knights." Beginning at 11 p.m., Coach Carter and his team will be available for interviews, autographs and photographs.

Rahal Gets Third CART Victory

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) - Bobby Rahal, the 1986 Indy champion and Indy car racing's first $1-million, singleseason winner, won his third straight CART Monterey Grand Prix title Sunday at Laguna Seca Raceway.

Rahal collected $50,000 for the victory and 21 points, 20 for winning the race and one for leading the most laps in the year-long driving championship competition.

Danny Sullivan finished second and Michael Andretti third.

With two races remaining, Rahal leads second-place Andretti by nine points - 159-150 - in the prestigious overall driving standings.

Shockers Hold Off UCF, 9-6

By Scott Bander Herald Sports Writer

The University of Central Florida football team had a chance on Saturday to gain the respect and recognition that it so Craves.

The Knights traveled to Wichita, Kansas to take on Division I-A Wichita State. UCF. playing two divisions over its Division II status, gave the Shockers all they could handle, and then some.

Unfortunately for UCF, the Knights came out on the short end of a 9-6 score on a day where football was was played under the worst consitions. There was a solid downpour of rain, making the field very muddy and a 40-degree temperature which chilled the Knights' passing attack.

The setback drops the Knights to 4.2. It is the eighth consecutive road loss for UCF. Both of the UCF losses have been to teams above its level and both have been by three points. (UCF lost at Akron, a I-AA team two weeks ago, 20-17)

UCF is desperately trying to make the Division II playoffs. Things won't get easier for the Knights as they will travel to Richmond, Kentucky on Saturday to take on Eastern Kentucky, another I-AA school. Next month, the Knights will host Georgia Southern, the defending I-AA national champions.

"We will have to win eight games in order to make the playoffs," UCF coach Gene McDowell said. "We need to start winning these close games."

McDowell said UCF had an ample amount of opportunities to defeat the bigger Shockers. Two bad snaps on field goal attempts by Brian Makar and a botched PAT cost the Knights the game.

Both offenses struggled in the game as the conditions were horrible.

On the first series of the game an 88-yard touchdown pass from Darin Slack to Ted Wilson was called back on a holding penalty. A total of 104 passing yards were called back on the first

Douglass Grabs Fourth Seniors

MELBOURNE (UPI) - Senior Tour rookie Dale Douglass shot a 4 under par 68 Sunday and a three-round 203 to win the Fairfield-Barnett Senior Tour Golf Classic by one stroke to earn his fourth win of the year.

Douglass collected $26,250 for the win and upped his 1986 earnings to $265,067, good for third place.

Douglass won the event when runner-up Miller Barber bogled the final hole to shoot his third consecutive round of 68 and finish at 204.

On 18, Barber had an unplayable lie off his tee shot and later missed a seven-foot putt for par. He also missed a four-foot putt on the 17th hole, which would have given him a one stroke lead.

Douglass had only three wins during his 22 years on the regular tour.

Bernstein Takes Fallnationals

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) - Kenny Bernstein won the second annual Castrol GTX Failnationals at Firebird International Raceway Sunday to clinch his second straight National Hot Rod Association Winston Funny Car world championship.

Bernstein, of Newport Beach, Calif., defeated Jim Head, of Columbus, Ohio, in the final round to earn his fourth triumph of the season. Bernstein's 1986 Ford Tempo was timed in a track-record 5.59 seconds at 259.89 mph to Head's 5.801 at 246.50 mph.

Bob Glidden, of Whiteland, Ind., won his 51st career NHRA Pro Stock title and Dick LaHaie added his fifth Top Fuel victory.

Rain Shortens Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA (UPI) - The final two rounds of the $300,000 Pensacola Open were postponed by rain Sunday and the tournament will be shortened to 54 holes.

Ernie Gonzalez (128) leads Joey Sindelar (129) by one stroke heading into the final 18 holes, scheduled to begin Monday at 9:15 a.m. CDT. Because of rain Thursday, the opening round was not completed until Friday and Gonzalez shot a second-round 63 on Saturday.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Mother Theresa Unhurt In Fatal Plane Crash

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) - Nobel Peace Prize winner Mother Theresa was "in perfect health" Sunday, one day after she escaped unhurt from a plane accident that killed five people, a church employee said.

A CONTRACT OF A

The small aircraft she was traveling in failed to reach proper altitude after takeoff Saturday at Hombolo in central Tanzania and swerved to the side of the airstrip, ploughing into a crowd of well-wishers.

Five people, including a member of Mother Theresa's order of the Missionaries of Charity, were killed and two other nuns injured, radio Tanzania said.

Mother Theresa, the two nuns accompanying her and the pilot of the chartered aircraft escaped unhurt.

"Mother Theresa did not have a scratch on her body," an airport official said Sunday. Tanzanian officials said they did not know what caused the accident.

Bangladesh Police Detain Leader

DHAKA, Bangladesh (UPI) - Police detained the head of a right-wing party during raids on the homes of opposition leaders today, the first day of a three-day opposition campaign to resist this week's presidential elections.

The Jamaat-e-Islami said in a statement the party's acting president, Abbas Ali Khan, and secretary general, Moulana Yousef, were detained by police during pre-dawn raids on their homes.

Other opposition parties also reported a number of workers detained.

Americans Win Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) - The Swedish Karolinska Institute today awarded the 1986 Nobel Prize for Medicine to two Americans, Stanley Cohen and Rita Levi-Montalcini. The two won the award for cellular discoveries that "opened new fields of widespread importance to basic science," the Swedish Karolinska Institute announced.

Cohen, a 63-year-old biochemist, and Levi-Montalcini, a 77-year-old developmental biologist, were cited by the awarding institute for their discoveries of "growth factors." Their trail-blazing work is of "fundamental importance for our understanding of the mechanisms which regulate cell and organ growth." the institute said in a statement.

China Welcomes Queen Elizabeth

PEKING (UPI) - Britain's Queen Elizabeth II began the first full day of her historic, weeklong tour of China today with a sparkling, red carpet welcome in Tiananmen Square and a meeting with Chinese President Li Xiannian.

"I've seen much about your majesty on television," the 77-year-old Li told the queen, who arrived in Peking Sunday to become the first British monarch ever to set foot in China.

More than 100 people clutched plastic buckets and bags and lined up at a small dusty park to receive water, and a share of rice and beans. Those left homeless by the quake will further burden the strapped economy of the wartorn nation where some 500,000 people already have been displaced by a seven-year civil war.

Duarte said Sunday night that the government planned to distribute "some small piece of plastic" to families left homeless by the quake so they would have some shelter from the weather.

concerned. Faison also said the conventions provide opportunity for city administrators to improve management techniques, municipal programs and technologies. "They're an opportunity for us to avail ourselves to professional enhancement," he said of the annual meetings. "Any professional who doesn't have some sort of in-service retraining mechanism, such as conventions with their colleagues, is going to lose touch. We learn from each other as well as the significant keynote speakers who come in." Convention topics focussed on three key areas, professional development, personal development and nuts and bolts of municipal operation, and all information was supplemented by talks the managers had among themselves, Faison said.

The managers culled from their failures as well as successes, which enabled all "to learn from one another in addition to receiving pertinant information from the keynote speakers that were brought in,'

he said.

Featured speakers included 60 Minutes correspondant Ed Bradely, Colorado Gov. Richard Lamb and Dr. Warren Bennis, co-aothor of "Leaders: The Strategies of Taking Charge."

Also on hand was Dr. Matt Weinstein, who discussed the causes, effects and potential avenues for dealing with stress, Faison said.

To avoid tension's getting the upper hand, Weinstein cited 'the important need in one's life for there to be a balance of stress vs. relief," Faison said.

The doctor's talk was part of the convention's personal development tract which Falson said has become increasingly popular in recent years. The "biggest benefits" for managers attending the annual conventions are the opportunity they provide for administrators to hear talk's such as Weinstein's, and be among their peers to discuss like problems and share successful municipal strategies.

Sister Says Storeowner Capitalizing On Brother's Death

MIAMI (UPI) — The sister of a burglar who was caught and electrocuted in a booby trap says the storeowner who rigged the trap is capitalizing on her brother's death.

Prentice Rasheed, owner of a Liberty City general store, has been charged with manslaughter and setting a mantrap in the death of Odell Hicks, whose body was found entangled in a trap designed to keep intruders out of the store.

"He's giving people ideas about how to kill people," Aretha Hicks said, "If he gets away with this, it will be the beginning. You'll see worse booby traps."

Police said Hicks, 26, a crack cocaine addict, removed several loads of discount clothing from the store and was killed when he touched an electrified metal grate on his way out.

State Funds Helped Pajcic Client

MIAMI (UPI) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Steve Pajcic defended his role in helping to obtain $7 million in state money to finance transportation projects that would benefit a developer who is one his law firm's largest clients.

The projects, two road expansions and an elevated tramway, form part of Jacksonville's downtown redevelopment program, the Miami Herald reported Sunday. They border a two-block parcel where Charles "Bucky" Clarkson and several partners plan to build a $90 million office and hotel complex.

Pajcic said Clarkson, a friend since their time together at Princeton, did not retain his firm in connection with the office-hotel complex or any transportation improvements. The former state representative from Jacksonville added that he and his wife have no interest in the complex.

Car Phone Bills Cost Taxpayers

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) - Palm Beach County taxpayers owe $13,564.04 on telephone calls made by their commissioners from their cars over 15 months.

The car phone bills are paid by the county out of a $2.4 million communications fund. Commissioners face no limit on the number of calls they can make, no celling on how big their bills can be, and no rules on whom they can and cannot call.

In Seminole County, none of the commissioners have county-provided car phones, although the Public Safety Department has five, said county Public Safety Director Gary Kalser.

In Pal Beach County, Dorothy Wilkin is the biggest talker on the board. Her calls account for $5,460.91, or 40 percent of the total bill. Her latest monthly bill, due Monday, comes to $628.13. Only one call, three minutes to New York, was long-distance.

Young Mother's Faith Won't Cover Up Her Topless Career

アイアイドリッション アイアイ アイアイ アイアイアイ アイアイ アイアイ アイアン アンアンアン

DEAR ABBY: I was disappointed in your answer to "Concerned and Praying," the young single mother who says she is a good Christian, yet she supports her children by dancing topless in a nightclub. I admire her for going to college and living a respectable lifestyle, but when she asked you if a person could believe in God and dance topless, you should have replied with a firm no!

This woman is mistaken if she considers her job harmless to her spiritual life. No woman can dance topless and be a Christian. If she reads her Bible, she will know that merely believing in God does not make her a good Christian - it's how she lives in front of others that counts.

This woman is actually instilling lust in men, and the Bible tells us that any man who looks upon a woman with lust has already committed adultery in his heart. So even if (as she says) she doesn't go out with anyone after work, she has already done the damage. I will pray for her.

I am a Christian counselor. Please forgive this poorly typed letter, but it isn't easy sitting in an office trying to write a letter while the phone is ringing and people keep bursting in unannounced. Perhaps you can pray for me, too. Ha hal

SINCERELY IN CHRIST IN OHIO DEAR SINCERELY: My mail has been running 100-to-1 in your favor. But in the interest of fairness, let's give the letter side a chance to be heard:

DEAR ABBY: I read in our local paper, The Daily Reflector, the letter from "Concerned and Praying." who was concerned about her topless dancing. In my opinion all good things cometh from the Lord! I also believe that a thing of beauty is a joy forever. May I also add that there is none of us righteous. No, not one, and if there be in us any righteousness whatsoever, it is not in ourselves, but we are made righteous through the sacrifice of the blood of Jesus who died on the cross.

If "Concerned and Praying" dancing topless, she is a better Christian than many of those she sits beside in church.

MARVIN TURNER, GREENVILLE, N.C. DEAR MARVIN: Amen. brother.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Quiet, Please," who hated "background music" while dining, has prompted me to write.

Years ago I played in organ in a popular restaurant in the Midwest. I often was asked to play special numbers, and with those requests was usually sent a dollar or two.

The waiter once brought me a note with a $10 bill, which was a lot of money in those days. The note read: "Will you please take a 10-minute break so we can hear each other talk?"

Pet Fair Expands Format

The Orlando Science Center Pet Fair returns to Orlando's Loch Haven Park Saturday, Dec. 6 and Sunday, Dec. 7. Now in its 21st year, the Pet Fair is a production of The Guild of the Orlando Science Center and features a kid's pet show combined with Mames E. Strates carnival rides, food, entertainment and lots of family fun, all at reasonable prices.

This year's expanded format includes more carnival rides. roving entertainment, clowns. and costumed characters, which promises to make this year's Pet Fair the biggest and best yet. For adults the fair offers a chance to do some Christmas shopping at the auction, bake sale and plant salc.

All young people aged 18 and under are invited to enter their pets in the gala kid's pet show.

This year's Pet Fair will include more carnival rides, roving entertainment, clowns, and costumed characters.

Last year an all-time record 377 pets entered - everything from iguanas, phthons, a bull frogs to toy terriers, skunks, and siamese cats. There will be two big contests: one on Saturday, beginning at 1 p.m. (registration at 11:00 a.m.), and the other on Sunday beginning at 1 p.m. (registration at 11 a.m.). Pet categories include: the best dressed pet, the most unusual pets, birds, reptiles and small animals, as well as a wide variety of dog and cat categories. There is a $1/pet registration fee.

Pet Fair hours ac 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 6 and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 7. Parking and admission to the loch Haven Park grounds are free. Special all-day-ride tickets, which allow the bearer to ride all of the carnival rides for one day on an unlimited basis are available in advance of Pet Fair at various ticket outlets. Special discount coupons are also available at all Burger King outlets.

ANT THE PARLE MEANING WILL BE MEANING ANT AND ANALY

The Effects Of X-Rays Appear Cumulative

DEAR DR. GOTT - If one has unwittingly, or of necessity, received large or excessive doses of X-rays, is there a way to reduce the future impact?

DEAR READER - No. there isn't. However, such a person should be checked periodically to make sure that the excessive radiation hasn't caused damage to reproductive tissue, bone marrow or other organs. In addition. I would suggest that future X-ray doses be minimized because, in some respects, X-ray dosage appears to be cumulative.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I've been bothered by boils in my puble area for three years. They develop in the same place every two weeks, then drain and go away, but the spot feels hard under the skin. I'm a very clean person and have tried different soaps. My gynecologist prescribed an anti-biotic, which didn't work. Do you know of anything that could help?

DEAR READER - You could have chronic folliculitis - recurring infections within the same group of hair follicles. Surgery may be necessary to remove the inflamed portions so that they won't continue to break out.

DEAR DR. GOTT - My face and right leg are numb, and my hands get numb and tingly. What could be wrong? The neurologist says he doesn't know.

DEAR READER - Numbress usually indicates malfunction of the nerves of sensation. Although neurological diseases can cause this symptom, so can circulatory difficulties. I recommend that you make an appointment with an internist (a doctor who specializes in diagnosing medical illnesses). You may need blood tests and other laboratory investigation.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I'm a 63-year-old male. Several years ago, my doctor prescribed Tagamet for an over-acid stomach condition. After about two months I noticed breast enlargement, so I quit taking it. My medical book lists that as one of the side effects. Can this condition be reversed?

DEAR READER - The gynecomastia (breast enlargement) in people who take Tagamet is rare. The condition usually will disappear within a few weeks after stopping the medicine. If your breasts remain full or tender after a couple of months, see a general doctor for further evaluation.

If you're having an operation, you should know all you can about it. Dr. Gott's new Health Report, AN INFORMED APPROACH TO SURGERY. covers everything from second opinions to outpatient surgery. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-

DEAR DR. GOTT - Could you tell me something about what my doctor calls the fat back blood patch? He said a piece of fat is put in the back for the sciatic nerve to rub against, which stops back pain.

DEAR READER - This is new to me. I cannot conceive of any scientific rationale for this folk-medicine remedy. Are you sure that your doctor is an M.D.?

A REAL STREET & LANDAR MARKED AND A

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When the opening lead is obviously a singleton, declarer does not have to be a genius to see into the future. If he can identify the circumstances that will defeat his contract, he should then look for a way to change them. In a recent pairs competition, many declarers who arrived at four spades were confronted with the opening club lead. Why not all? Because it is not usually best to lead a singleton in declarer's suit. Often partner holds cards that will produce a trick or two if declarer is left to his own devices. That was not the case with the current deal.
