Would Unseat Movie Star Champ's Son Challenges

REVEREND, Calif. (AP) — John V. Tunney, a tall attorney with lots of energy, an engaging smile and five years of experience as a congressman, launched today a quest for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

The 35-year-old son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney hopes to win the primary in June, then unseat incumbent former movie star George Murphy, 67, who says he'll seek a second term.

Tunney's theme, "California needs leaders of action and commitment," and Murphy is a "do-nothing" senator.

New Sub Important To U.S. Strategy

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A submarine capable of hitting the Soviet Union with nuclear missiles will be docked in a U.S. port to begin to play an important part in the Pentagon's strategic planning for the 1970s.

Ironically, the program, referred to by the Navy as "ULMS—ultra-long range missile system—was all but dead a few months ago.

The defense chief said the advanced sub-missile system or a new bomber to replace the aging B-52 may be necessary if the Soviet missile deployments continue or if there is no agreement at the Russian-U.S. arms limita-

Threats Follow Deaths

By LEE LINDER

CLARKSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Threats say two close aides of the late Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski have received threats, sending telephone calls since the slayings of the United Mine Workers' Union reformer, his wife and daughter.

State police said Wednesday the first report came from Marion Pellegrini, an official of UMW District 8 from nearby Conowingo.

Later, Elmer Brown, a Delberton, Va., coal miner who was Yablonski's vice president, told he had reported a threat to the FBI.

Pellegrini, who was questioned by four FBI agents, said his wife received a call from a man at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday. The caller simply said, "Warning. You're next," and hung up, he said.

"We don't know whether this is a crank call or not, but we're keeping patrol in the area," said Capt. Joseph Snyder, the trooper in charge of the investigation.

Pellegrini said he was sure the caller meant the threat.

"I take this seriously," he said. "The job is worth a person's life, especially if it is a threat to a person's family."

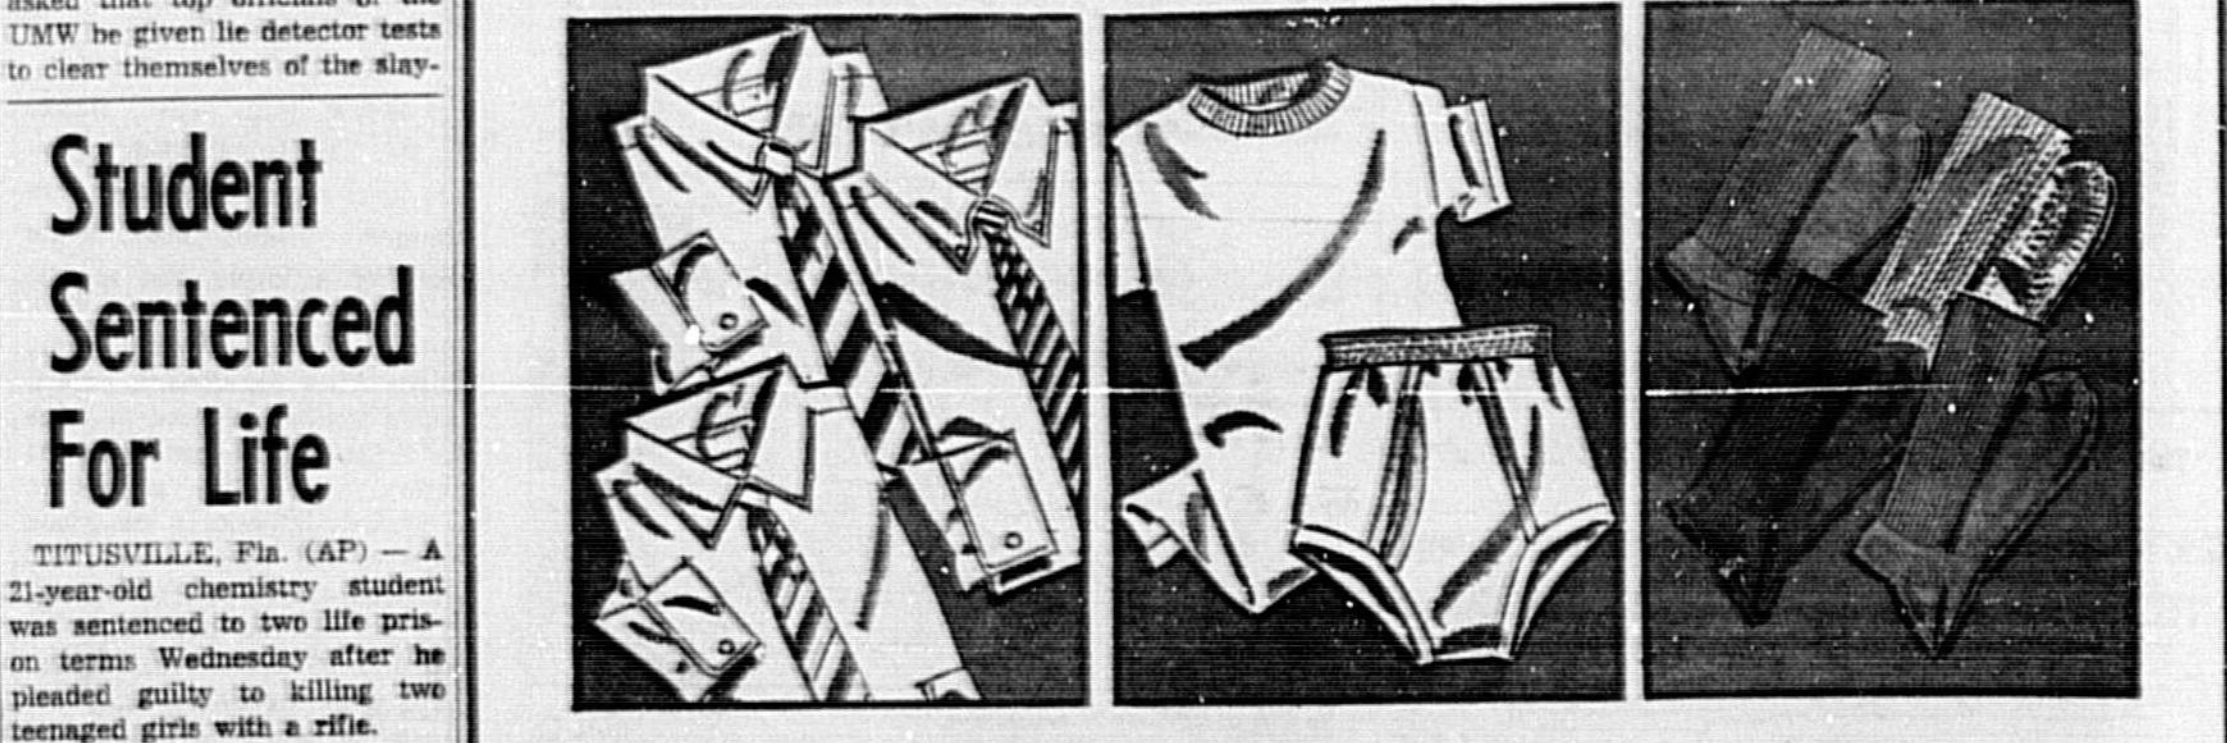

Brown said he received a telephone call a few days ago "warning me to mind my own business." He described it as "more or less a warning," saying he didn't take it too seriously.

In his report to the FBI, Brown asked that top officials of the UMW be given the detector tests to clear themselves of the slay-

Under, Over? Girls Win Right To Pants

Seminole County School Board has given permission for girls to wear pants . . . long pants . . . to school during cold weather. The decision by the board came after a delegation of Sanford Junior High School girls, led by Debbie Dyess, an eighth grader, requested board approval for the wearing of pants due to the cold weather and short mini-dresses.

Jean Bryant, board member, after hearing the girls said plight, moved to approve long pants for the rest of the winter and on predicted cold days at all county schools.

Mrs. Bryant reasoned that Seminole High and several other schools have relaxed dress codes to permit pants to be worn to school, and being a woman, herself, she could appreciate the "situation" of the girls. Allan F. Keith, board member, was the only "nay" vote cast to the Bryant motion and he explained his belief that each individual principal should be allowed to set rules for his school. Mrs. Bryant said she could speak from a woman's viewpoint on the problem. "On cold days we need more clothing to cover up," she advised. Keith indicated he could see his disapproval of viewpoint but would insist that young Miss Dyess stop referring to the garments as "pants" and use "slacks" instead.

This brought on howls of laughter and the motion was passed with only Keith opposed.

Cobia Launches Cutlass

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI
There'll be a christening today at Cobia's Monroe Harbour Marina in Sanford.

The Sanford-based boat builder, a subsidiary of the Ashland Oil and Refining Company is one of the three leading boat manufacturers in the Southeast.

It's with the introduction of the "Cutlass" 18 deep-vee bow rider that Vice President and General Manager Carl Deeter is hoping that Cobia will become "Number 1" in the boating industry.

According to Deeter, Cobia enters 1970 at the greatest production rate than at any time in the company's history.

"Last year we lost some ground by not being able to deliver the merchandise when our dealers wanted it . . . usually in 'yesterday's delivery' schedule," added Deeter.

In order to offset this problem, Cobia's inventory has been increased to 650 boats in preparation for the spring selling period at an investment of $425,000. This is the first year that Cobia has ever concentrated on extra inventory to be ready for the new model year.

Edward Atchley, vice president of marketing said that Cobia sales are continuing to run ahead of last year. "At a matter of fact, since August 1, our sales have been eight per cent ahead of the same period last year."

Employment stands at 185 as compared to 177 this time last year and represents an annual payroll of $1 million to the local economy.

Cobia has a dealer organization of over 200 in 25 different states handling four lines of boats: "Banlando," "Cutlass," "Caribbean," and the "Mobile Mini-Yacht"—all totaling 25 different models in three hull designs—conventional, deep-vee and tri-hull.

Tonight Will Be Critical

By CHARNER LEONE

"Damage to fruit crops in the area is still hard to assess but I don't think there was much," said Frank Jasa, Seminole County Agricultural agent. Last night's freezing temperatures were similar to the previous night's cold. There was little or no frost, he said.

But the damage is cumulative, he warned. "The longer the severe cold persists the worse it will be," said Jasa. For instance, the dehydration of the trees will become more critical if the freezing temperatures persist.

"We need a gradual warming up," said the agent. "Rapid evaporation from the fruit and leaves causes more damage." The early fruit is hardest hit by severe cold. But that fruit has been picked. The late fruit that is widely grown here can withstand more cold, explained Jasa.

The freeze won't affect next year's crop unless the branches and other woody parts of the tree are frozen. If only the leaves fall off as the result of the freeze the undamaged branches will be able to produce new fruit next year. If the woody part of the tree is frozen new branches would have to grow before the tree could produce fruit again.

"I don't believe there has been any freezing of the woody part of the tree locally," said Jasa.

"Tonight's predicted low is 22 to 28 degrees. Unless there is a heavy frost (if the wind dies down) the picture won't change much."

The picture for the produce grown in the area isn't as comforting.

"We're bound to have some damage," said Charles Fox, salesman for the Harold Koster Company, produce broker. "It will take several days to know the extent of the damage, however."

"The cabbage definitely will be retarded," he said. "The lettuce probably will come through all right."

"We seldom have three days of such cold in a row," said Fox. "Tonight will be critical."

Watershed Area At Altamonte Bid

By MARION BETHA

Altamonte's Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford would appear to have a vendetta against the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, and at a meeting of city council last night it ran the gamut from flooding of homes at Lake Orienta to the duplication of bonds for laying sewer lines.

Donald Mason advised council that the water level in Lake Orienta is causing difficulty to homes. Complaints were registered with various state agencies, who replied that they had no jurisdiction in the matter since the lake was privately owned.

Swafford stated that he had attempted a solution to the matter as far back as 1959 but that the council listened to "Al" Caponi (E. R. Caponi, chairman of the Altamonte planning and zoning board) and disregarded him. Swafford continued that the County Commission doesn't "intend to do anything."

The mayor's remedy would be to set up a water shed district which would cost, in his words, "$3 a home or about the price of a half dozen cans of beer." Swafford continued his tirade against the "trouble maker Caponi" by saying both the City Council and County Commission were influenced by Caponi's contention that there are only six homes affected by the lake, which during the past year has had increased run-off and become land-locked.

Swafford lashed out at Orange County had established drainage ditches countywide and put in lift stations to relieve the problems, and that since the function of a county commission is to serve "all the people," Seminole County should establish a similar criteria.

Several persons in the audience commented that homes in the area of the lake had to be sandbagged, that there was water in two, and that even though a manhole was opened, it afforded little relief.

Swafford advised Mason, who queried if the new sewer system had to be entirely completed before Lake Orienta area residents could tie in, that lift stations were needed first and relief in this district was 15-18 months away. Residents also stated that while the district commissioner, Greg Drummond had been apprised of the difficulties, he had not "to their knowledge" made a survey of the area. Swafford maintained that the County Commission had to take action in the matter since Altamonte had no authority outside the city limits.

City clerk Rolfe Wagner was authorized to write a letter to the County Commission asking its cooperation and requesting a conference.

The controversy over the bonding arose over the county's policy of requiring a bond in addition to the contractor's post-arrange of a performance bond, which Swafford terms a duplication not practiced by any other government body. The county has insisted that Altamonte post a $10,000 bond before permission will be granted to install sewer lines on Hattaway Drive. The bond will cost the municipality $100.

Weather Claims 12 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weeklong siege of arctic cold clung to the nation's eastern half today and caused a growing toll in hardship, inconvenience and deaths.

Temperatures eased slightly in parts of the Rockies and Plains. But the cold intensified in much of the East and South. Overnight lows of zero or below ranged from the Rockies to New England and south into Georgia.

Weather-related deaths numbered 12.

Residents went without heat in scattered sections of the Midwest and South as heating systems failed or proved inadequate, or fuel supplies were curtailed. Schools were closed in scores of communities.

Utility companies continued to report record outages of natural gas and electricity, but the weather slowed delivery in many cases.

Remember The Sabbath

By MARION BETHA
"For where two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them." "Come unto Me, all ye who labor and are heavy laden." "These poignant and beautiful passages from the Bible are conducive to gathering with fellow members for Sabbath services, but are we, as a nation, becoming apostate and selfish? The fourth commandment admonishes us to "remember the Sabbath and keep it holy." Is apathy and indolence making our "spiritual slip" show?

The annual Gallup poll showed that American church attendance was at an all time low during 1969 at 42 per cent. The survey pointed out that only 65 per cent of Catholics, 27 per cent of Protestants, and 22 per cent of Jews reported regular attendance at church services, with young adults having the lowest record.

In a cross section of pastors were interviewed in this area. Various religious denominations to ascertain if the same trend existed here. Pastor Elmer Reischer, of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, stated that attendance was slightly decreasing this year but that the overall attendance in recent years had a tendency to be lower. Pastor Reischer attributes this to the fact that the church had attained a new minister, which often gives rise to a "wait and see" attitude in most congregations.

The Lutheran minister continued that, indeed, young people have had a low attendance. Pastor Reischer estimates that the average attendance in his church last year was around 40 per cent, which is comparable with the national average.

Rev. Freddie Smith, pastor of Central Baptist Church, reported that there is an increase in congregation of about 10 per cent, and that the young people are attending with marked regularity. When queried about the decrease in the national trend, Reverend Smith feels that the fault lies with ministers who are not "working with the Bible." He is of the opinion that ministers have recently had a tendency to become involved in riots and demonstrations, causing much controversy.

Reverend Smith opines that this involvement on the part of the clergy has caused people to become disinterested with church. Pastors must attend church, according to Reverend Smith, to find solutions to their problems and spiritual growth. The Baptist minister strongly urges that ministers get "back to the Book."

Rev. Leroy Soper, pastor of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, remarked that the attendance with his flock was down "slightly." Father Soper attributes this to the closing of the Navy base, with resulting loss of members. However, Father Soper does feel that in 1969 the church experienced the largest attendance in the history of the church. Social welfare programs, entered into by national churches, were also given as a contributing factor in diminishing national attendance by Reverend Soper.

Divergent approaches in sections of the country to social reforms may have had an adverse effect upon church attendance in the south, Reverend Soper feels, with some people being offended. He is also of the opinion that the country is experiencing a "backlash" and getting down to reality concerning "Communism," which has not been true for a long time. Some persons are not "yuking up" Christians and want to church to "others" rather than to believe, "in the estimation of Father Soper, and now have given up the pretense.

Father Soper feels that these are agonizing times for young people, that they are trying desperately to "relate" to someone or something if young people are discriminated in the church pews, evidently the church is not supplying the answer, in Father Soper's opinion.

Proponents of the left foot flat on the ground will give you much greater stability. Well, it will give you more stability at the expense of hampering your swing.

The left foot must have motion so that the left knee may move laterally to the right and in turn releases the hips so that they may turn.

The hip turn is an essential part of a powerful swing. The foot, the knee and the hips are all connected in the swing. And so, if we keep the left foot flat on the ground we will end with a powerful hip turn that will cause our swing to be less effective.

Blind Singer Will Stir British

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jose Feliciano, the sightless guitarist-singer who touched off a minor national outburst by his recent performance at the National Anthem at a World Series game two years ago, is being told he may be back to Britain for a concert and to appear on several television programs.
Feliciano, a native of Puerto Rico, performs his bluesy, melodic music with a six-stringed electric guitar and a harmonica. He was blind from birth.
"My wife helped me find my way around. But because I'm blind, I didn't have any mobility. And I found myself in a lot of trouble," he said.
Feliciano plans to return to his native country in the next few months.
"I'm glad to go back to my home. I want to see my friends and family. I want to see my country."

Trial Seats Saved For Press By Polk

By MARION BETHIA

The trial of Mrs. Mabel Frances Thompson, who is accused of murdering her fireman husband, Bobby, and stuffing his body in a closet while authorities conducted a missing persons investigation, will begin next Monday, Jan. 19. The trial was changed from Oct. 20, when defense attorney, Mack Cleveland requested a continuance after state's attorney, Abbott Herring subpoenaed 15 additional witnesses. The date was set for Dec. 15, and was again postponed due to the conflict with Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Although a packed courtroom is anticipated, ample space has been provided for press coverage, according to Seminole County Sheriff, John Polk. Polk stated that 10 seats in the first two rows, looking right from the judge's bench, have been reserved for members of the fourth estate.

A venire of 227 has been summoned, and 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed by the prosecution. Mrs. Thompson was indicted on Jan. 28, 1969, after the decomposed body of her husband was found by Sanford detectives Ralph Russell and Donald Brumley in the unoccupied Thompson home. She was arraigned on Feb. 2, 1969.

On Oct. 7 of last year, a motion was entered to control prejudicial publicity in the case, and police, sheriff's department, state's attorney, defense attorney, and courthouse officials were enjoined from comment on the case. Public records in the court clerk's office were not affected by the ruling.

Judge Thom Hamberger also ordered that photos of the defendant were not to be taken on or about the courthouse.

Look, modesty forbids that I gloat on correctly selecting the Kansas City Chiefs over the Vikings yesterday. But if you insist on proof, check with little Johnny (one of the neighborhood kids) and have him verify our nickel bet!

That No. 87 of the Chiefs (Brown?) just has to be the most valuable player in my book. The Vikings' qb Joe Kapp never had a chance to unload and was finally removed from the game via the injury route... by this same behemoth... Brown.

Oh well, another couple of years and we'll be able to watch another super star do that kind of tackling... Seminole High's sophomore Dallas Brown... (any relation?).

But in all honesty, the "pick of the week" for the most outstanding (and hilarious) athletic feat on the boob-tube just had to be that ref chasing the guy who stole the ball from the field of play at Saturday's Hula Bowl.

Are you a "chicken barbeque" devotee? There's a good one coming your way on Jan. 17, thanks to the Sanford Friendship Committee of the Women of the Moose. They'll be serving from 4 to 8 p.m.

Tickled me... those legal secretaries know how to use the "right" word. They're going to hold their Bosses' Night at Chappie's tomorrow and there'll be an "attitude adjustment" hour prior to the dinner and presentations.

Long about four months ago we bailed you with a tid bit about something big happening to our area... it's starting to crack, with Guy Thornton's Toyota agency being planned for the corner of Hwy. 17-92 and Onora Road.

Big things coming... Understad Sheriff John Polk will start a crackdown on topless "Go-Go" nightclubs in county. Just a reminder to our favorite sheriff. It has been tried in three other counties and state supreme court has ruled that "topless" is legal.

The Sanford Seminole Jaycees are seeking nominations for their annual Distinguished Service Award.

Nominees must live in Seminole County and have made an outstanding contribution in the area during the last year. The age limits are from 21 to 35.

Project Is On Display

By BILL SCOTT

A scale model of the project with artist's renderings showing the $1.5 million federal project is expected to be on display for those persons who maintain the erection of the unit to house 140 elderly citizens will become a stigma and hurt property values.

At least 60 one occupant efficiency apartments and 40 one-bedroom units for a husband and wife are slated for construction on a 4.53 acre site.

Newly renamed Redding Gardens in honor of Clarence Redding, who recently died, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) approved the grant to cover construction costs on a site selected by the governmental group.

According to HUD sources, the present site was picked to avoid having the project located in an all white or all black neighborhood in line with latest governmental requirements.

Present location would place the facility in a "gray" or a black - white neighborhood, where the racial composition is nearly equal.

A second public hearing on another federally financed low income housing project will follow the elderly presentation.

This low rent HUD financed project is scheduled to house 150 families on 13.8 acres in the Goldsboro area between Third and Sixth Streets and Avocado and Jasmine Avenues.

Some opposition to this project has also been evident from property owners who are objecting to what they call the "low price" offered for their land.

Public hearings for federally financed housing are required by only Orange and Seminole Counties within the state and is a result of a special act passed by the two-county legislative delegation.

Also on tonight's agenda for commission action is a resolution on condemning 13 dwellings termed in a dilapidated condition by city building officials.

A public hearing is expected to be set to bring the blighted housing under city mandate to either fix up or demolish.

At least two appointments to the Sanford Industrial Commission are also on the agenda for commission approval.

Replacements are needed for Carl Schika and Clifford McKinlin, two SIC commissioners, who have either resigned or served length of service.

New Council Chairman Seen Blow's Appointments 'Up' Tonight

By TOM ALEXANDER

A controversial and lengthy agenda is on tap for tonight's Casselberry City council meeting. The main subject will be appointments by the mayor, specifically concerning present police chief Donald Brumley who was not reappointed by Mayor Curtis Blow.

The second controversial subject could be the election of a new chairman for the five member council. Dr. Edith Duerr presently chairs the council, but it is understood from reliable news sources that a move is underway by council members to ask councilman Thomas Napier as the new chairman.

It was not known at press time today if Mayor Blow would submit a tentative appointment to replace Chief Brumley. However, it appears from council reaction during the month long controversy over Brumley that a majority of the council will continue to back him (Brumley) as police head and refuse any other appointment for the post.

Another hot spot on tonight's agenda will be a move by Councilman Richard Wirz to confiscate the mayor's police band radio. Wirz said, in a planning session several weeks ago, that he felt the mayor should not have such a radio with a police wave length, but one on the city's utility channel. Blow is expected to ask the council to leave the radio the way it is.

All complaints about building flaws on the new city municipal complex are expected to be resolved tonight as the council will discuss a letter from architect Eoghan Kelley on suggested changes to be made. It is understood that Kelley spent a full morning at the building last week in an effort to study changes desired by the council and to lay-out plans to do so.

Other main agenda items tonight include swearing in the mayor and council, considering Mrs. Hilbard Casselberry's zoning request, discussing and possible approval of a beverage permit for the High Chaparral restaurant and approving bids for street paving.

Various other items are also listed.

Hospital Slasher Taken

A 20-year-old Sanford man has been charged with armed robbery in connection with the Dec. 15 early morning slaying and robbery of a hospital switchboard operator, according to Ben Butler, Sanford police chief.

Butler said Anthony B. Wright, 1412 Lake Avenue, was charged with the theft of $109 and cutting the arm of Lois Avery Esterre in an incident that occurred during the early morning hours at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Police reported that at the time the woman was cut and robbed by a man who crawled through a small opening between the cashier's cage and the floor to rob and cut the woman.

The woman was released after posting $1,500 total bond on the two violations.

Angel Disputes Dope Claim

Seminole County School Superintendent John Angel does not agree with published reports that at least 50 per cent of Lyman and Seminole High School students have been in contact with drugs.

Angel said personally, I am not prone to agree, that, generally speaking, high school youths in contact with drugs are a small minority.

The educator was replying to a boy's questions from The Herald over a statement made by Dr. Luis Perez, Sanford physician, during a recent Rotary Club luncheon, in which Perez was the guest speaker on narcotics.

The doctor, a former Cuban known for his fight against dope and communism, indicated at the same luncheon that over some junior high school students were buying narcotics, which were being sold along Highway 17-92 at various places by pushers who traffic in LSD and marijuana.

Angel admitted that "in a few instances drugs have been found on students at schools, but it is not rampant in any school."

The superintendent said he had recommended that school principals report to him any drug discoveries.

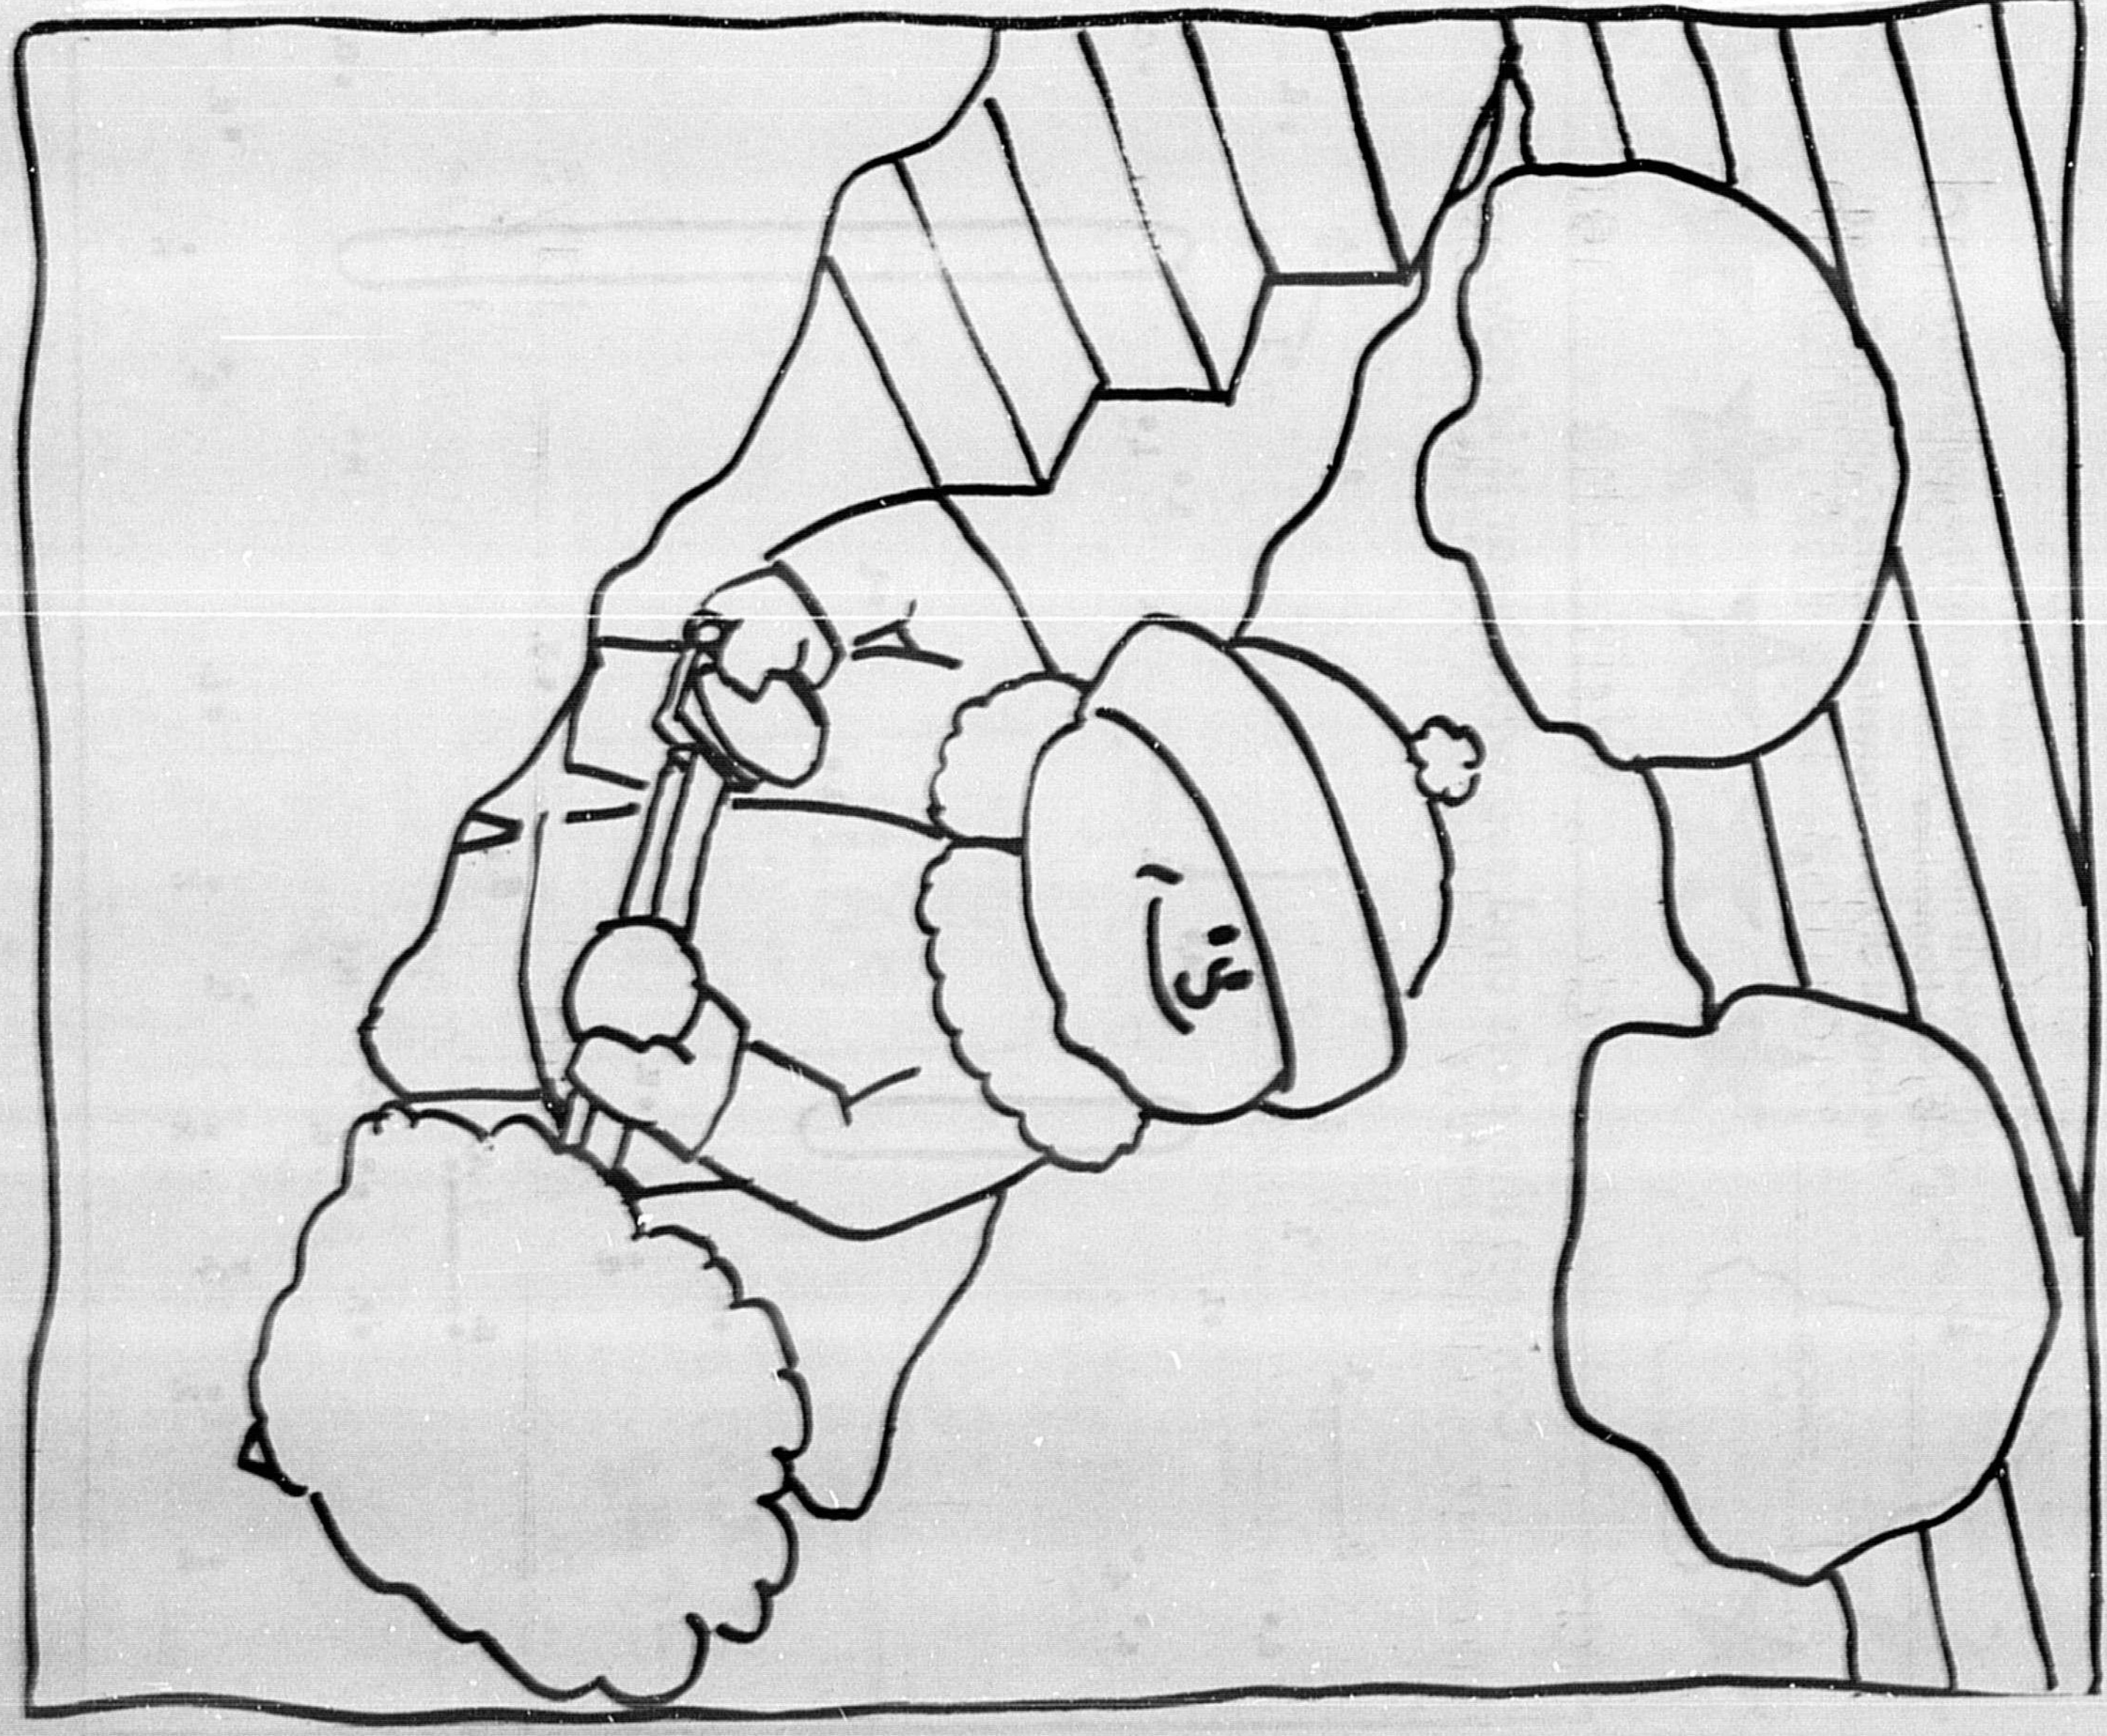

Angel said he did not want teachers to call parents of youths in whose possession the narcotics were found.

"The teacher should notify the principal of any incidents of drugs and we will handle it," he advised.

Asked if the school officials hold any "shakedown" of suspected drug users, the superintendent said "if a principal knew anything or suspected anything that had been reported to him, he would investigate the person under suspicion."

Angel said there are no investigations being made of lockers or personal belongings in a search for drugs.

The educator said narcotics is not a school problem, but rather a community problem.
